Happy Ending For Romance Is Reached

Duke Startles Guests With His Loud "I Will;" Leave Tonight On Honeymoon

BY JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHATEAU DE CANDE, Monts, France, June 3—The radiant Duke of Windsor took Wallis Warfield as his bride and duchess today in two serene and dignified marriage ceremonies.

Just 25 weeks ago today he gave up his crown of England and empire because she could not be his queen.

"I will," the duke supremely htppy, answered in a firm, loud voice to the Anglican poor man's parson who gave him the unsanctioned blessing of the Church of England.

Bride Is Unkissed

As far as I could see neither the duke nor anyone else kissed the bride.

The duke raised his voice so high in his eagerness to take the "woman I love" as his wife that he startled the 34 guests in the flower-banked music room of this old chateau.

After him, his blue-eyed lady answered "I will." Her voice was just as firm as Edward's, but more hushed.

The religious service ended at 2:14 p. m. (5:15 a. m. CST) after the wedding party had come in from highballs and cocktails on the terrace.

Follows Civil Service

This burst of gayety followed polypoly Dr. Charles Mercier's civil service as mayor of his hamlet. The Anglican preacher who defied his bishops was the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, "poor man's vicar" of Darlington, England.

The duke gave his bride a beautiful diamond diadem to wear on the brow no crown may adorn.

By nightfall the two will be on their way to their "haunted" honeymoon castle of Wasserleonburg near Noetsch, Austria, with 226 pieces of luggage.

The American-born Duchess of Windsor, a member of the British royal family although by royal decree she must not style herself "her royal highness," was clad in light Wallis blue"—her husband's favorite shade—from head to foot.

Breakfast Is Served

After the religious ceremony the duke and duchess led their guests back to the terrace. There, a buffet wedding breakfast had been spread.

Edward made a short speech, thanking "all of you people for coming on this occasion so important for us."

The bridal couple disappeared for a brief time and then returned to their company.

The duchess had changed to another costume and the duke had doffed his cutaway for a blue serge suit.

Just five minutes after Monts' country physician-mayor began the French legal ceremony in the chateau salon, Wallis Warfield was the Duchess of Windsor, wed to the man who laid aside a crown to share that moment with her.

The defense sought to show he fell on his head as he alighted from a police car.

Entire State Being Soaked By Rainfall

Moisture Which Brought High Waters To Panhandle Moves Into East Texas Areas

(By The Associated Press)

Rains which brought high water to the Panhandle and Central-West Texas Thursday moved into East Texas, falling on produce and fruit regions where moisture has been badly needed for weeks.

At Dallas, the United States weather bureau reported clearing conditions in West Texas and saw the possibilty of further showers in East Texas. "Partly cloudy" was the official forecast for most of Texas.

Dry Spell Broken

A steady and beneficial rain fell at Palestine Thursday morning, breaking a dry spell of several weeks duration. The rain continued. Heavy showers in the Tyler area were of great benefit to the tomato crop. Approximately half an inch fell over Navarro county (Corsicana) Thursday morning, furnishing enough moisture to keep corn growing and bring up late planted cotton. The last rain at Corsicana was .48 of a inch May 11.

Heavy rains Wednesday night dumped from five to six and a half inches of water in the Abilene area, ear Aspermont, Swenson and Peacock a near-cloudburst turned tiny creeks into formidable rivers.

Traffic Is Halted

Stinking creek swept out of its narrow banks to halt traffic between Sweson and Peacock yesterday. Two bridges were reported torn from their foundations.

At Ballinger another torrential fall, three and a half inches, sent creeks up rapidly. Lightning accompanied the rain. The rain was fairly geeral in 10 counties north of Abilene, while precipitation was spotted east, west and south of there.

Farther north the Canadian river continued its rampage after reaching its highest level in 30 years. It began to fall slowly. Small streams near Dalhart continued overburdened but torrential rains of the last several days were draining off rapidly.

Passengers Taken Off

The 36 passengers on a marooned train near Perico were taken off last night. They were hauled to safety in wagons after an enforced stop of 24 hours.

Heavy rains fell at Coleman where the streets were flooded. In the hill country around Llano downpours filled numerous streams and near Bluffton the Buchanan dam backed water to within 15 feet of the highway bridge floor.

Governor Of Oklahoma Plans Broad Program For Aiding Convicts In State Prison

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 3.—A broad rehabilitation program designed to take Oklahoma's "reformable convicts" out of prison and place them on the land after "graduation" from an agricultural training school has been announced today by Governor E. W. Marland.

The school will be established at the state prison farm at Stringtown, about 30 miles from the McAlester state penitentiary.

Barracks—with unbarred windows—will be built to accommodate about 1,000 prisoners selected as trusties from the McAlester institution, the governor said. About 350 trusties are assigned to the farm at present under an "honor system."

Marland said engineers and architects from Oklahoma A. & M. college would supervise the needed construction and that Dr. Henry G. Bennett, president of the college, would take a group of 10 or 12 instructors to Stringtown to organize the school.

"When the prisoners complete their courses, if they measure up to proper standards, we will parole them," the governor said. "If they try to run away, we will put them behind the walls at McAlester."

There will be no guards on duty with firearms.

Marland said he believed "graduates" of the school would

Hope For Peace In Strike Zone Held

(By The Associated Press)

Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio sounded an optimistic note in the seven-state steel strike today with the announcement he was "hopeful" of an early settlement which would send 72,000 men back to the mills of indepdent producers.

After conferring with officials of two of the strike affected companies, Gov. Davey asserted "if there is not too much said, I feel that progress can be made."

To Tighten Lines

At the same time Philip Murray, SWOC leader, summoned a strategy council for a general tightening up of the strike battle line.

Sherman Dalrymple, chief of the United Rubber Workers, pledged support of the Akron, O., rubber workers to the steel strikers' cause.

At Cleveland, a councilman planned to protest to the mayor use of an east side flying field as a supply base for airplanes taking food into Republic's besieged Warren and Niles, O., plants.

Challenge Is Issued

Van A. Bittner, director of the SWOC in the Chicago area, challenged the steel firms involved in the strike to "carry their case" to President Rooseveit.

A mass funeral was held today for five of the six men killed in the strike riot Memorial day near the Republic plant in South Chicago.

Approximately 700 miners were to return to the Superior Coal company's No. 4 mine at Wilsonville, Ill., today, marking the end of a 200-hour underground sit-down strike. President Fred S. Pfahler agreed, with reservations, to a "share-the-work" program demanded by the miners.

Quiet Night Is Reported By Police; Get Two Calls

Police knocked on wood today after having yawned through a night termed by Chief H. L. (Bud) Johnston the quietest in two months.

Just two calls were received during the night, he related. One was a "drunk" call and the other was to make a minor investigation.

Johnston attributed the almost mostentire absence of crime to the fact that Lubbock, in spite of its business activity, has kept peculiarly free of itinerants.

"The word seems to have been pretty wel spread among foaters," said Johnston, "that Lubbock is a tough place for vagrants. We expect to continue it that way."

Steady Climb In Building Is Being Reported In City

Building permits for two small projects issued by City Building Inspector D. J. Schlag this morning increased authorized construction for the two and one-half days of June to $29,808.

One of the permits today was to Mt. Gilead Baptist church to reroof the structure at 1606 Avenue A at a cost of $798, and the other was to B. N. Duff to repair and remodel the residence at 2118 Eighteenth street at a cost of $500.

Late Wednesday afternoon a permit was issued to Higginbotham-Bartlett company to build a brick and masonry warehouse at 1405 Avenue H at a cost of 11,200 to replace one destroyed by fire several weeks ago. It was the second warehouse permit of the day. Wooten Grocery company have been authorized earlier to build a two-story structure costing $10,000 at 718 Texas avenue.

Another permit of Wednesday afternoon was to E. E. Snodgrass to build an addition costing $1,000 to the residence at 1722 Twenty-third street.

Speedy Action Is Promised By Governor

Message Given To Legislature Today; Tighter Statutes On Bookmaking Being Planned

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 3—Governor James V. Allred officially advised the senate today he would submit tightening of the statutes against horse race bookmaking as soon as a bill outlawing track betting was passed.

His message was delivered as the upper chamber prepared to begin debate on repeal of the track betting law. Some legislators had taken the position that the races should not be driven from Texas as long as nothing was done to curb the bookie shops.

Official Notification

"This is to officially advise you," the governor said, "that immediately after the passage of a bill outlawing race track betting, I will submit the matter of outlawing betting at dog races, tightening and strengthening of the laws against bookmaking and other forms of gambling. . . ."

The house already had recorded a 6 to 1 majority for repeal of track betting and proponents maintained the senate would pass a repeal bill later today.

Atmosphere Is Tense

Atmosphere in the senate was tense as the session began. Many representatives had come over to watch the proceedings while in the galleries there was a fair-sized crowd. Governor Allred himself brought up his message.

Repealists scored an early tactical point when Lieut.-Gov. Waalter F. Woodul overruled an objection by Senator Clint Small of Amarillo that a bill which originated in the senate and bore the favorable recommendation of a committee was not within the governor's official call.

It was contended the governor's proclamation provided for considering only the subject of out-lawing pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing while the bill included prohibitions not only against such betting but also against bookies and gambling of all kinds.

Can You Pick Out Bride Of 14?

Duke And Dutchess Express Their Thanks To Public

(By The Associated Press)

MONTS, France, June 3.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor voiced their hope today for a "happy and useful private life" after the "trying time" of Edward's abdication preceding their marriage.

The duke in a statement addressed to "the public" thanked all who had wished him and his beloved Wallis happiness.

He said:

"The duchess and I wish to thank all those who have so kindly sent presents and good wishes on the occasion of our marriage.

"We shall never forget their friendly messages which mean so much to us today. After the trying time we have been through we now look forward to a happy and useful private life and to that measure of peace which we hope will be granted to us."

In another statement, to the press, the duke thanked newspapermen for their treatment of him and the duchess. He appealed for "the privacy they feel now is their due," and promised that he would not withdraw into secrecy.

Two Sweethearts Are Sentenced To Prison Terms Of 29 To 30 Years Today In The Hatchet-Slaying Of Girl's Mother

(By The Associated Press)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 3.—Gladys MacKnight, 17, and her former choir boy sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 19, were sentenced today to from twenty-nine to thirty years each at hard labor in state prison for the murder of the girl's mother, Mrs. Helen MacKnight.

The sentences were imposed by Judge Thomas F. Meaney, who presided at the ten-day trial which ended a week ago in the conviction of the young couple of second degree murder.

Maximum Thirty Years

The maximum penalty the judge could impose was thirty years.

The state had asked the death penalty for the pair, each of whom accused the other from the witness stand of striking the hatchet blows which killed Mrs. MacKnight.

Calm and with heads bowed, Donald and Gladys stood before Judge Meaney for sentence and heard him say:

"I have no quarrel with the verdict of the jury."

He thereupon pronounced the sentences.

Germany And Italy To Aid Offensive

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, June 3.—Premier Mussolini and Field Marshall Werner Von Blomberg, German minister of war, were reported today to be coordinating Italian and German forces in Spain for an intensified drive under insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco against besieged Bilbao.

The new development was believed to be the outgrowth of an hour's conference between Il Duce, acting as his own war minister, and Germany's first ranking war lord on the tense E uropean situation arising from German bombardment of Spanish Almeria.

Must Be Pushed

The two were said to have agreed the insurgent offensive against the capital of the semi-autonomous Basque republic on the northern coast of Spain must be pushed vigorously.

Gen. Emilio Mola's army has been hammering at the gates of Bilbao more than a month, blocked by a determined defense of the northern Basque allies of the Madrid-Valencia government along a miniature "Maginot line" of fortifica-

Business Here Shows Boost

Paced by telephone stations, utilities, concededly one of the most positive barometers of economic conditions, have crowded into the ledgers figures that indicate notable business advances.

A 100-per-cent increase for telephone installations in the first five months of 1937 as compared with the same period for 1936 is significant.

For Lubbock Alone

The increase is for Lubbock alone, but the Southwestern Bell Telephone company also serves Slaton, Snyder and Spur, in each of which places there was a mounting index of new business.

The telephone company recently completed an expansion of its plant at a cost of $100,000 and additional provision likely will be made soon for anticipated further increase in business.

Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co. sent electric bills to 223 more people in Lubbock the first five months of 1937 than in the same period last year. Fifty new irrigation wells in the Muleshoe, Lockney and Hereford areas have been connected since Jan. 1. It is chiefly for irrigation purposes that the company is stringing lines for rural electrification.

Electricity In Demand

In the 50 surrounding towns served by Texas-New Mexico Utilities there has been an increase of 971 electricity users. Consumers are putting electricity to more uses, fig-

Favorites In Golf Tourney At Santone Advance In Rounds

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, June 3.—Bronzed Marion Miley, defending her title forthe third year, started with a rush today in eliminating Mrs. A. E. Brown of San Antonio, 7 and 5, in the opening round of the eleventh annual Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

The Lexington, Ky., youngster, around the first nine holes in 39, one over women's par, went into the incoming line with a seven up lead and coasted to a finish at the thirteenth green.

Kansas City's veteran, Mrs. Opal S. Hill, her putts running true to the hole, eliminated Mrs. J. W. Phillips of Bartlesville, Okla., 9 and 8, with the most convincing golf of the tourney.

Mrs. Hill was one under par 38 on the first nine and added another par at the short tenth to close out the match.

Mrs. Lucille Robinson Mann of Milwaukee had little trouble defeating Miss Kay Pearson of Houston, 7 and 6. The former

Flood, Drouth Control Plan Is Proposed

Seven "Little TVA's" Planned By President For Safeguards Against Nature's Whims

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 3—President Roosevelt asked congress today to set up seven "regional authorities" to administer federal power projects and to plan safeguards against floods, drouths and dust storms.

A comprehensive program for the seven "little TVA's" was outlined in a special message.

Guard Against Calamities

It said the hydro-electric projects which have been or may be undertaken were part of a "multiple purpose watershed development" designed not only to guard against nature's calamities but to prevent their occurrence.

"The water-power resources of the nation must be protected from private monopoly and used for the benefit of the people," the president said in what was expected to be his last major legislative recommendation for this session.

Bills were ready for introduction in both houses to carry out his suggestions.

Seven Agencies Planned

The seven regional authorities or agencies would plan and in some cases administer projects in the following areas:

1—Atlantic seaboard.

2—Great Lakes and Ohio valley.

3—Tennessee and Cumberland rivers' drainage basin.

4—Missouri and Red river of the north drainage basins.

5—Arkansas, Red and Rio Grande drainage basins.

6—Colorado and rivers flowing into the Pacific south of the California-Oregon line.

7—Columbia river basin.

The president said he would leave undisturbed the existing Mississippi river commission because it was "well equipped to handle the problems immediately attending the channel of that great river."

Interest Of Economy

Declaring the proposal was in the "interest of economy and the prevention of overlapping or one-sided developments," Mr. Roosevelt said it would leave congress free to determine what projects should be undertaken within the limits of annual budgetary and national public works plannings policies.

"If for example, he said, "the congress could have had before it at this session a complete picture of immediate and long-term needs I think its task in providing for flood prevention and drouth emergencies would have been an easier one."

Dallas Affray Claims One

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, June 3.—Marvin Clevanger, 24, was shot to death early today as he kept an appointment with a 21-year old man to settle their differences.

The shooting occurred in the presence of witnesses. The younger man surrendered to police, telephoning them "I guess you're looking for me."

Hand In Pocket

Police were told Clevanger arrived at the appointed scene and saw the other man with his hand in a pocket. "I haven't any gun," he was quoted as saying. "If you want to fight let's settle it with our fists."

"I'm not going to fight you with fists," the other man was quoted as answering. Two shots hit Clevanger in the chest. Witnesses were listed as Miss Mildred Hagewood, with whom Clevanger had kept company; Miss Margaret Wier and Gilbert Appler.

Holden Rites To Be Today

Funeral services were to be held at the home at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. Olive Holden, 34, reference librarian and instructor of orientation and library research at Texas Technological college, who died in a local hospital shortly after 7 o'clock last night. The family resides at 3109 Twentieth street.

Mrs. Holden had been seriously ill since April 17.

Burial this afternoon will be in Lubbock cemetery, directed by Rix funeral home.

Surviving Mrs. Holden are her husband, Dr. William Curry Holden, head of the history department and director of archaeological research at Texas Tech, and a daughter, Jane, 8 years old. Her nearest other relative is Dean Ira P. Hildebrand, of the University of Texas law school, an uncle and her girlhood guardian. Mrs. Holden's mother died at her birth and her father died when she was five years old.

Ill More Than Six Weeks

After a severe dysentary caused an intestinal obstruction, Mrs. Holden was operated on Monday, April 19. Desperately ill, her condition became of the gravest when, 14 days later, she became victim of a blood stream infection. Several times her condition became so serious that death was believed imminent, but each time, through sheer physical courage and will power, she rallied. Ten days ago attending physicians began to hold some hope for her recovery but a sudden collapse last Friday noon presaged her death. After that time she grew gradually weaker until, her strength exhausted, death came.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Holden have been among the most prominent and popular of the college community. They moved to Lubbock in 1929 from Abilene, where they had been connected with McMurry college. Since then Mrs. Holden has been carrying on her library work and teaching and her husband has been among the foremost of Southwestern archaeologists and historians.

Mrs. Holden's education was broad and varied. Her elementary work was done in the Lewis School for Girls, in San Antonio, where she was reared by a grandmother after her birth, as Ira Olive Price, in Sabinal. From the Lewis school she transferred to Westmoreland college, also in San Antonio, and later went to University of Texas where she and Doctor Holden attended the same classes and received, together, their bachelor of arts degrees. They were married in Austin in 1926, while Doctor Holden was working on his doctorate. In 1935, Mrs. Holden received her master's at Texas Tech. In addition she had studied one summer at Southwestern university, Georgetown, and another summer at Columbia university, New York City. Last summer she and Doctor Holden sponsored a Eurpean tour and she had planned two similar tours for the coming summer. Her teaching work at Tech consisted of lecturing freshmen students in the use of the library and students in the higher brackets in library research.

Relatives To Arrive Today

A number of out-of-town relatives of both Dr. and Mrs. Holden are expected to arrive today to attend the funeral. Among them are: Dean Hildebrand, of Austin; Mrs. Holden's sister, Mrs. Eugene Corder, her husband and three children, of Sabinal; her cousin, Rollin Hildebrand, of San Antonio; her aunt, Mrs. Edith Hildebrand, of Gonzales; her cousin, Mrs. C. E. Vance and husband, of Garden City, Kansas; and another cousin, Mrs. Janie Fertsch, of San Angelo. Mr. and Mrs. Holden of Littlefield, Dr. Holden's parents, Tom Holden, his brother, who is superintendent of schools at Sierra Blanca, arrived last night.

In addition to those from out of the city, Doctor Holden has relatives here. They are Mrs. Mary Ellison, an aunt; Misses Dale Ellison and Mary Edith Holden, Mrs. Carrie Lou Allred, Robert, Earl and J. T. Ellison, Miss Mary Grace Ellison and Mrs. Johnnie Mae Mathis, all his cousins.

Funeral Arrangements Made

Funeral arrangements include musical selections, "Lead Kindly Light" and "The Last Roundup," with Rex Webster as soloist. Dr. Albert Cunningham, a member of the English faculty at Texas Tech, will deliver the oration and Rev. J. Hodge Alves, rector of St. Paul's will read the Episcopal ritual. Pallbearers were announced as:

Active: Dr. W. A. Jackson, former Judge Clark M. Mullican, Walter S. Posey, Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Prof. James H. Murdough and W. G. McMillan.

Honorary: Dr. Bradford Knapp, Dean James M. Gordon, Warren P. Clement, Chas. A. Guy, George W. Dupree, A. B. Davis, Dr. Charles J. Wagner, Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, Prof. Edgar Shelton, Dr. W. H. Abbitt, Dr. S. S. McKay, Prof. C. D. Eaves, Dr. R. E. Garlin, Rev. Dr. W. M. Pearce, W. T. Gaston, James L. Quicksall and W. C. Pryor, all of Lubbock; and Clifford B. Jones, of Spur, and Lawson A. Ashcroft, of Weatherford.

Members of KoShari club at Texas Tech, of which Mrs. Holden was a faculty sponsor, will attend the services in a group and were asked by Miss Sophie Hardgrave to meet at her home, 2418 20th street, at 4:30 p. m.

Formal Acceptance Received From New School Head

Formal acceptance of appointment as Lubbock city school superintendent was received from W. B. Irvin, present superintendent at Perryton, by the board of trustees here late Wednesday.

The message brought confirmation of expectations that Irvin would be released by the Perryton trustees from a contract there which has one year more to continue so that he might accept the enlarged opportunity in Lubbock.

Irvin was elected to the superintendency by the school board here Tuesday night as successor to Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, who resigned recently to accept a similar position in Long Beach, Calif.

The new superintendent, according to information to trustees, probably will be here late this week for discussions relative to the position. He plans his permanent removal to Lubbock by July 1, when his one-year contract with the school board becomes operative.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 2 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Happy Ending For Romance

in signing civil documents to comply with the French law.

"By one of those whims of destiny," the mayor told the bridal couple, "it is under the blue sky and among the flowers of the garden of France, in the laughing valley of the Indre, that the most moving of all idylls has just unfolded itself . . .

"Permit him who has just received the mutual consent uniting your destinies to give you . . . the most sincere wishes for your happiness . . ."

When the couple re-entered the turretted chateau from the terrace during the cocktail interim between services they went separately to the music room where I was seated with the other guests.

Stands Beside Altar

The Rev. Mr. Jardine, his glasses on his nose, stood beside the hastily improvised altar—made up of borrowings from neighborhood churches—wearing his white surplice and waitin gto read the service.

He performed the service without the authority of the church, which does not like remarriage after divorce. He did it, he said, on the authority of his conscience alone.

Edward, accompanied by his best man, Major Edward Dudley Metcalfe, came up the corridor from the dining room past before where we guests were assembled.

He stood before the altar, in the center of which stood a two-foot golden cross.

Bride Escorted In

A moment later, Herman L. Rogers, steadfast American friend of the couple, escorted in the bride.

Soft notes came from the organ as Marcel Dupre played a wedding prelude. It made a peaceful setting of the scene.

The Rev. Mr. Jardine immediately began reading the marriage ceremony. He took it from the Church of England's old book of common prayer.

Calling the duke by all his given names the vicar asked:

". . . "Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David" . . . "wilt thou love her comfort her, honor her and keep her? . . .

"I will," the duke answered loudly.

The minister then asked the duchess, calling her "Bessie Wallis," if she would "obey, serve, love and honor."

The bride, repeating after the parson, answered in steady, hushed voice:

". . . And to obey until death do us part."

Slips Ring On Finger

Windsor, also follwoing the minister's reading, took the wedding ring of Welsh gold from the Rev. Mr. Jardine and slipped it on his bride's finger.

"With this ring I thee wed," Edward said, ". . . and with all my worldly goods I thee endow . . ."

The vicar called upon the assemblage to pray, asking that God give his blessing "to this man and to this woman."

"May they remain in perfect love and peace together," the preacher added in prayer.

"Those whom God has joined together let no man put asunder . . . I pronounce that they be man and wife together, in the name of the father, and of the son and of the holy ghost. Amen."

Man And Wife

It was exactly 12:14 p. m. (5:14 a. m., C. S. T.) when Edward and Wallis arose, man and wife, from the white satin cushions on which they hed knelt to receive the church's unwilling blessing.

Now the guests arose and headed for the long table for the buffet wedding breakfast.

Champagne was passed to al the guests and Major Metcalfe proposed a toast to the happiness of the newly-married couple.

The bridegroom, in bubbling spirits all morning long, was as self-conscious as a boy at graduation when his friends called upon him to speak.

At Loss For Words

He shifted first to one foot and then to the other, abashed and at a loss for words.

He just thanked his guests for coming.

I, one of the few newspapermen permitted to witness the ceremony, was in a position to describe the marriage exactly as it took place.

Later, I talked to the bride and the bridegorom and saw at first hand their exuberant happiness.

The wedding was simple if smart; the guest list slim and quite "American," the chateau itself borrowed from Charles E. Bedeaux of New York, no member of Edward's family was present.

No Briton appeared officially, and Wallis Warfield became a duchess but not a royal highness—thus did the frigid hand of British government linger on the romance that sustained the abdication of an empire's throne.

News Is Announced

News was conveyed by telephone to the outside world that Edward and Mrs. Warfield had shared the moment for which they had waited so long.

An official message was sent from the chateau to the main gate and announced just eight minutes after Dr. Mercier had finished the ceremony.

Cheers burst in a babel of half a dozen languages from the crowds that thronged the main gate.

English tourists, who had hidden champagne in a mossy bank, brought it out. Even strangers shared their toast with them.

Soon after the announcement steel helmeted mobile guards cleared the shady lane leading to the main gate.

The picked patrol, resplendent in new blue uniforms and glistening boots, was deaf to many pleas for entrance.

Visitors To Tech's Campus Are Impressed By Flowers; J. H. Grimsley Responsible

Tech graduates and ex-students who returned to the college for the Alumni banquet were struck with the beauty of the flowers which flank the drives and are massed in a profusion of color about the campus.

Many of those students attended Tech when there were no flower beds on the campus, and the only trees were two cottonwoods and three elms west of the home economics building. The trees had been in front of a house which was moved when the land was purchased for a college campus.

Takes Unusual Interest

Credit for the flowers goes to J. H. Grimsley, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the college. Grimsley takes an unusual interest in them and hopes in the future to have flower beds over the entire campus; with exception of a few out-lying stretches down toward Eighth street and over on the western side.

While people are now enjoying larkspur, poppies, phlox, and yellow daisies, Grimsley is anxiously watching the aster plants, in paper cups, now growing in his office. These flowers will be blooming for the late summer school and fall term students. Also, big beds of cosmos have been planted to bloom at that time. Petunias are thick among the larkspur and will be blooming soon, to take the place of the larkspur.

Planted Last Fall

The flowers which are now blooming in such profusion were planted last fall and cared for during the winter. Grimsley finds them particularly good, because, unlike most other flowers, they need slight care in the spring. It is most important, he says, that they get root growth in the winter.

When Grimsley came to Tech in 1928, he launched his beautification program immediately by planting flowers around the bookstore and the home economics building. Each year he increased the number of his beds, but no great headway could be made until the paving of the main drives was completed in '34. When other drives are paved they will be beautified.

Seeds Constantly Gathered

Seeds are constantly gathered to be resown. Year before last when the larkspur seeds were thrashed and winded out, they filled a 50-gallon barrell. Poppy and petunia seed filled several buckets.

The ex-students of Tech also are appreciative of the trees. Of the original five, only the three elms stand. The two cottonwoods were cut down last year. They were unable to withstand the drouth of several years ago, even though at the time, water was carried to them through a hose from the home economics building.

It was these trees that photographers made a special effort to include in their pictures of the main building. Now they go unnoticed among the many elms planted since.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, off 1 to 5 points. Lower Liverpool cables were partly offset by trade and foreign buying. Jly 12.72; Oct. 12.70; Dec. 12.67; Jan. 12.67B; Mch. 12.69; May 12.75.

An overnight crumulation of buying orders was supplied by local and southern selling together with continued July liquidation. In the absence of further outstanding demand prices showed a tendency to sag during the first half hour.

Reports of rain in Central Texas and a private crop report pointing to an increase of 14.4 per cent in acreage and placing the end May condition at 76.4 per cent seemed to attract some of the selling.

Liverpool also came to the selling side. Oct. eased from 12.70 to 12.61. Shortly after the first half hour prices were ruling at the lows and at net losses of 9 to 10 points.

The later buying was limited to price fixing, partly for Japanese account.

Liverpool was easier and owing to favorable American crop weather conditions and uncertainties over the gold price.

Cut Ants Are Threatening East Texas Pines, Forester Warns

BEAUMONT, June 3. (AP) — Cut ants are threatening East Texas pines planted in abandoned fields, M. E. Brashers, disfrict forester at state forest No. 3, Maydelle, warned today.

The ants have practically destroyed one plantation of 5,000 slash pines near Palestine and have damaged young pines set out on state forest No. 5 at Weches, he said.

Normally cut ants attack broad leafed species of shrubs and herebaceous plants. These leaves are not used as food but are cut into small pieces to line underground tunnels. When fields are abandoned, thereby depriving the ants of the leaves of cotton and other crops, the ants turn to pine needles for the lining material and strip the young trees, Brashers said.

No Charges Filed In Shooting Case

BROWNWOOD, June 3. (AP) — County Attorney Conner Scott said tonight no charges would be filed in connection with a double shooting fatal to Mrs. Mattie England, 38, pending the outcome of her husband's fight against a critical bullet wound.

J. DeWitt England, 41, her farmer-husband, was shot with a .22 caliber rifle in the garden of his farm home near Salt Creek community. He was given small chance to survive.

C. F. England, the wounded man's brother, made a statement to Scott ascribing the shooting to domestic trouble. He said Mr. and Mrs. England separated May 24 and that she had been living with her mother in Brownwood. She was at the farm today, visiting a niece, when England arrived with his brother to get his personal belongings, the brother said.

The estranged husband ran toward his wife and a moment later the shooting followed, the brother stated. Mrs. England died instantly. When officers arrived England, wounded, was sitting by his wife's side.

Tax Publicity Plans Altered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A critical house committee altered today a part of the Roosevelt administration's program to use publicity as a weapon against wealthy persons accused of evading taxes.

A provision authorizing a joint congressional committee, which would conduct an inquiry into alleged tax dodging, to make public data obtained from tax returns and other treasury documents, was stricken out.

Would Not Preclude Hearings

However, Representative O'Connor (D-NY,) chairman of the rules committee, said that the publicity amendment would not preclude open hearings at which tax returns might be made the basis of questions put to witnesses.

The joint committee, by another alteration in the resolution, would be directed to submit the returns to the house ways and means and senate finance committees. These committees would decide whether the information should go to the whole house, or senate.

Section Is Struck Out

In addition, a section to which O'Connor objected, authorizing agents of the treasury to pursue the investigation, at the discretion of the joint committee, was struck out in its entirety.

The senate passed the resolution yesterday, unanimously. Chairman Doughton of the ways and means committee, sought unanimous consent to bring it before the house today, but encountered the objection of O'Connor and Representative Maverick (D-Tex).

Neither O'Connor nor Maverick opposed the tax investigation, but they did complain vehemently of the procedure leaders sought to follow.

Objects To Swiftness

Maverick objected to efforts to pass the legislation swiftly. He complained of the technique whereby legislation is prepared in executive departments, and then sent to congress. Some of the bills, he said, looked as though they had been written in foreign lands.

"We are constantly accused of being rubber stamps," he said. "I do not admit that, but I do want to say I do not believe that anything like this should be so suddenly considered."

Convict Charged In Slaying Case

(By The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, June 3—H. [illegible] Turney, convicted robber from Harris county, was indicted today on a murder charge in connection with the fatal stabbing of another convict at a motion picture show in the Texas prison chapel several days ago.

The indictment charged that Turney slipped into the room, crouched behind Alton Crowson, Chin Springs convict, placed the point of a knife at the back of Crowson's neck, and while holding the knife with his left hand, used the right hand as a hammer to drive the knife to the hilt.

Seek Death Penalty

District Attorney Reginald Brace said well, in announcing that an effort would be made to bring the case to trial at this term of court, termed the killing "one of the worst assassinations I have known in the prison system." He said the death penalty would be asked.

Turney went to the penitentiary from Harris county in 1931. He and Erron Dunson pleaded guilty to charges of robbery by assault. They were given 10 years each in each of the cases, but the sentences were allowed to run concurrently.

Former Aggies Will Attend Exercises

Back in '17, three Texas A. & M. college cadets who live now in Lubbock listened to the beat of martial music and, a month or two before commencement exercises, forsook education and joined the colors.

Today through Saturday, two of them, Ray Chappelle and J. B. Rountree, will participate in commencement there with more youthful cadets, C. C. Jobson, county agent, had too much work piled on his desk and was not enabled to go.

Extended In Recognition

Engraved cards of invitation said, in part: "This invitation is extended in recognition of patriotic devotion to duty that derived the class of 1917 of its well-earned commencement exercises and honors when this class rushed to the service of our country in the World war."

Of the 143 members of the class, 13 died in action. Nine could not be located. Fifty indicated they would be present today.

Average 25.3 Pounds More

In a light vein, called Left-Hand Chatter, invitations included a bulletin that showed those who will attend average 25.3 pounds more than when they were trim cadets and, contrary preponderance of females born in the world, had become fathers of 77 children, 42 of which were boys. None reported having grandchildren.

Sustained Activity In Land Leasing Reported Here

Sustained activity in oil, gas and mineral leasings was reflected by filings involving more than 500 acres Wednesday, according to report of Ed D. Allen, county clerk. Leases were obtained by John C. Ryan, trustee, of Fort Worth.

Persons from whom the rights were obtained were:

Chas. Long and wife, Millie Long, southwest quarter of section 20, block D-6.

Anton E. Hlavaty and wife, Monica Hlavaty, 220 acres out of the south one-half of survey 14, block 20.

Total number on which rights were obtained was 540 acres.

More Rainfall Seen During Past Month

More rainfall, less windrun and greater temperature than in other Mays was reflected in official figures for the month past.

Total precipitation for the first five months of this year in Lubbock was 8.09 inches, or 2.19 inches above the normal for the period. Half the moisture fell in May, as shown by the records of Don L. Jones, superintendent of the agricultural experiment sub-station. Over a period of five years average rainfall in May was 3.52 inches, while the average over a 27-year period was only 2.33.

Temperature Readings Higher

The records also show that May mean temperature was three degrees higher than the 24-year average. There was practically no difference in the mean average the first five months of this year and that of the preceding five years, or even the preceding 24 years.

The mean temperature for May of this year was 70.03 degrees, and for the first five months of 1937 it was 51.08 degrees.

The total wind run for May was 17 per cent less than the normal. There were 15 clear, 10 partly cloudy, and six cloudy days.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1937

Pied Piper Of Fishdom Is Here

No, it isn't a snap of the late Will Rogers, although a lot of people used to mistake them, one from the other. It's Jack Lamb, the dean of bass fishermen, who is calling on Lubbock today and for the remainder of the week. Jack, who fishes because he likes to fish, doesn't mind letting others in on his secrets. He'll appear at the Terry & Childress Hardware and Sporting Goods store for an hour Saturday afternoon, and will follow up with a free exhibition of bait casting, probably on the courthouse lawn. Fishermen of the section are invited to attend the store meeting, at which time he will answer all questions pertaining to fishing, and to attend the exhibition. Lamb, who is the author of six books on fishing and who writes articles for several leading magazines, is here in quest of subjects and matter for future magazine and book articles. While here, he plans to wet a hook or two in the Buffalo Springs lake, where several fine bass have been caught recently.

ANOTHER DISILLUSIONMENT came our way last evening.

Maybe it came to the other wrestling fans, too.

Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah is not a "killer" type of person. "Why I don't want to fight anybody," he told this corner in a personal interview at this office yesterday afternoon.

The Sheik, who won easily over Jack Terry of Canada last night (there was another disillusionment, too; Terry had claimed he'd been on the Sheik's trail for a year, ever since he lost to Mar Allah's fouling tactics in Hawaii. But he showed little yen for revenge last night) hit town yesterday afternoon. Remembering this dept. after more than two years, he invaded the office, and there followed a pleasant conversation.

The Sheik is a very pleasant fellow, outside the ring. He is educated. He is very much of a man. He likes to talk, and can talk of most any subject you bring up, from amateur wresting to English derbies and world series baseball. He has seen them all. He knows a lot about the world outside of sports, too, and can describe to you the form of government of almost any country in the world. The Sheik reminds us of the Masked Marvel, because he knows what's going on, and why it is.

In the general routine of questions and answers, we finally came to the one: "When did you last visit the folks in the old homeland?"

"It's been ten years," sighed the Prince, with a faraway look in his voice.

"I wanted to go home several times," he continued, "and had arrangements made last year. But my father wrote me that unless I wanted to stay in the country for two years or more, I better not come. I'd be drafted into the army. I'd have to stay at least two years in the army."

The dark skinned, black bearded man with the sparkling eyes and the pearly teeth, who can look like the very devil in the wrestling ring, sort of bowed his head, wagged it from side to side. "I don't want to join the army. I don't want to fight. I don't want to shoot anybody. Fighting is a terrible thing. Why do people want to kill each other? . . . So, I have postponed my visit home until things settle down. I'm 30 years old now. If I were younger, I might want to join the army and fight. But that's foolish. Nobody should go to war. Only the very young and the very evil and the very selfish and conceited people want to go to war, all for a different reason.

"I am no coward," and the offspring of a one-time powerful Persian tribe ruler straightened up and his eyes sparkled, "but I'm not mad at anybody; I don't want to go to war to kill people. I don't want to get killed, either. I like to wrestle, and I like to live in the sunshine, with nearly all my clothes off. I have explained this to my father, and he understands. He tells me not to come home for a while yet. I would like to see him because he is getting old. He is a disappointed man, too."

The Sheik became more bowed down now, as he explained:

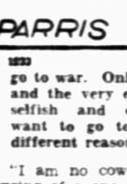

"The old tribes of Persia are no more. The country has become unified; it is under a single government. The people are all one. There are no more tribes. Tribe chiefs have no more authority. My father was chief, or king, of a large tribe. I grew up as a prince, and I was an honored person in my tribe. My father's word was law. Now? It is nothing. The Persian government is the boss of all the tribes. It is one big tribe now. There may be harmony of a sort, but times are not as peaceful as they were when I was a boy. This my father says in his letters. He still calls me his 'little prince.' I was only 19 when I left home.

"But," and the eyes sparkled again, "I was wrestling champion in my weight, and I went to other countries to wrestle. I am still going. Wrestling has become my business, but I try not to overdo it. I do not like to wrestle more than once a week. The rest of the time I like to live in the sun."

Asked how long he planned to be in this section, the Sheik replied:

Dizzy Again Threatens To Resign

Opening Fireworks Steal Show In Rassle Ring Last Night

The preliminary fireworks stole the show at Sled Allen's Auditorium last night when Vic Weber trounced Ace Freeman in the semi-final after a newcomer, Tarzan Krause, and Jack Hagen had battled to an exciting draw in the curtain raiser.

The main event was going along swell until the finish, when a justifiable but rather smelly windup saw Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah take the third and deciding fall from young Jack Terry in what looked more like a pre-arranged conclusion than the Auditorium has ever offered. It was the Sheik's second straight victory over the Canadian.

The first time the Sheik beat Terry was nearly a year ago in Honolulu, according to available records. And, according to available records, Jack has been on the Sheik's trail ever since. As he invaded this circuit, he asked Promoter Dutch Mantell at Amarillo and Sled Allen at Lubbock to be on the look out for Mar Allah, "because he done me dirty with a foul in Hawaii, and has been running from me since then. I want him, but badly."

But Terry Not Mad

So they came together last night, quite by accident. And the Sheik didn't run from Terry, and Terry looked anything but a vindictive, angry, revenge seeking individual. In fact, he looked much worse than he has in recent supporting card events. He looked quite terrible, especially toward the last. So did the Sheik, for that matter, but it is a well known fact hereabouts that Mar Allah, who didn't show an ounce of wrestling courage or anything fancy last night, is one of the hardest of them all to handle.

Mar Allah looked easy last night, but Terry looked easier. The Sheik, in praying position, demonstrated the power of mind over muscles when he caused Terry to hesitate before pouncing on, after he gained a lead. As he hesitated, Mar Allah, a very crafty person who now wrestles with his head as well as his brawny muscles, dived for the Terry legs, came up with a Japanese crab to win the first fall in 11 minutes. Champ Terry came back to take the second in 16 with a flying body scissors and pin after delivering three half-hearted blows to the Persian's chin. The finish of the third was putrid. They went for 17 minutes, Jack holding Mar Allah down with head and body scissors most of the time. They came to their feet finally, exchanged a few very light, slightly touching flying tackles, and the Sheik was the winner with a body smother. He could have won at any minute during the fight, according to Terry's showing last night. The fans left the arena with fingers clutching their nostrils.

The Auditorium show was saved, however, and in pleasing fashion, by the supporting card. The preliminary and the semi-final each was much better and more exciting, pleasing and hilarious than the main go.

A newcomer was exposed in the curtain raiser, and Tarzan "Silent" Krause can wrestle for Lubbock and vicinity. He met Jack Hagen, the clever Louisianan, and he outwrestled Hagen just about two to one. He seemed to be taking it easy, never opened up, but he made Jack look around for him half a dozen times, so fast and tricky was the newcomer. A middleweight prototype of the general conception of the Tarzan of comic strip and novel fame, Krause took his time, never became excited, and never emotional. He was roughed up considerably, but he fought a calm, cool battle, opening a valve or two toward the finish just to show the folks he could shine on offensive as well as the defensive. The battle was a draw.

Vic Weber, an angry person after his rebuff last week in main event battle, lost little time last night, whipping Ace Freeman, a fellow New Yorker, in 22 minutes of their semi-final engagement. Vic did it by wrestling, most of the way, winding up with three hard uppercuts after Ace opened the rough stuff, and a single anchored wrist whip off the ropes, followed by a body smother.

No Apologies Promised By Star Hurler

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean today tossed the gauntlet to President Ford Frick of the National league, declaring he would quit baseball rather than sign the letter of apology tendered following his indefinite suspension "for conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball."

The show down was due this morning when the hurling ace of the St. Louis Cardinals and Manager Frankie Frisch conferred with Frick in the league officers. Diz declared he would go home and spend the remainder of his life playing golf rather than apologize for something he insists he never said.

Breaks Like Bomb-Shell

Frick's disciplinary action, which broke like a bomb-shell yesterday, climaxed a series of incidents that have kept Dean in the headlines since the spring training season. The latest sequence began May 19 when the New York Giants and Carl Hubbell beat the Cards and Dean 4-1 in a game that ended in a ninth-inning riot.

Dizzy was fined $50 for his part in the free-for-all, the outgrowth of a balk called on him by Umpire George Barr during a Giant rally in the sixth inning.

Subsequently, Frick charges, Dean spoke out of turn about the league in general and its president and umpires in particular. The star right hander was quoted as saying he would give $1,000 to the newspaper man who could print exactly what he (Dean) thought of Frick, that he would not play in this year's all-star game, if selected, and that "George Barr and Ford Frick are the 'two biggest crooks' in baseball today." The latter statement was attributed to Dean at a father and sons banquet at Belleville, Ill.

"It's down to the question of whether Dean is bigger than the National league," said Frick. "I don't think he is but this can all be settled quickly if Dean sees the error of his ways and frankly apologizes to the league for the things he has said or implied and put it in writing."

That's what Jerome Herman emphatically declared he would not do.

"I'd rather jump out of that window (he was on the 20th floor of a hotel) than sign that letter of apology," said Dean.

"I not only didn't call Frick and Barr the biggest crooks in the league but have witnesses to prove that I didn't."

"What I did say was that Barr had given the Cards the unfairest decision I ever saw. As for playing in the all-star game, I would be only too glad to pitch, if selected."

Dean has had a turbulent career since he became a Cardinal regular in 1932.

The club has fined him three times for missing train connections and failing to appear for exhibition games.

Firing In Trans-Miss Tourney Will Get Under Way Today

SAN ANTONIO, June 3. (AP)—Championship flight qualifiers faced two gruelling rounds in the women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament here today while rain again threatened to hinder play.

Drawings after 149 golfers trudged around the San Antonio country club's soggy, wind-swept course yesterday, featured a number of excellent matches.

Top Matches Slated

Among these was the pairing of Helen Hoffman of Fort Douglas, Utah, the nation's leading distance slugger, with Mrs. R. D. Roper, of Phoenix, Ariz., top-notcher exponent of the short game.

Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, used her experience and well-rounded play against Mrs. J. W. Phillips of Bartlesville, Okla., in a determined effort to take her fifth Trans-Mississippi crown.

Co-medalists Mrs. Frank Golthwaite of Fort Worth and Miss Patty Berg of Minneapolis, Curtis cup team mates, both were in the lower bracket of the first round.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, former Texas and Southern champion, tangled with Mrs. W. H. Ainsworth of Houston, while the sensational young Patty was opposed by Mrs. F. P. Hodge of Port Arthur, Texas.

Paired With Runner-Up

Miss Shirley Ann Johnson, beauteous blonde of Winnetka, Ill., playing her third year of competitive golf, duelled with Miss Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, who was runner-up to Marion Miley, last year's winner.

Miss Miley, who carded an 80 during an early practice round yesterday in her first chance to try the course, was not expected to encounter trouble from Mrs. A. E. Brown of San Antonio, who scored a 95.

Other battles included Mrs. Lucille Mann of Milwaukee, runner-up in 1934 and former Curtis cup team member, versus Miss Kay Pearson of Houston, one-time nationally-known tennis star; Miss Edna Saenger of Shreveport, Louisiana champion, versus Mrs. F. B. Shaw of Denver; Miss Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas title-holder, versus Miss Anna Sue Kennedy of Columbia, Mo., and Miss Goldie Bateson of Milwaukee versus Miss Phyllis Buchanan of Denver. All turned in good medal scores.

Equal Women's Par

Mrs. Goldthwaite and Miss Berg equalled women's par of 78 to emerge two strokes under those of their nearest rivals.

Three carded 80's, including Miss Jameson, an 18-year-old schoolgirl who went out badly in 42 but finished strong with a 38, Mrs. Hill, who yesterday celebrated an unnamed birthday at her favorite pastime, and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, medalist of her last six tournaments.

The 36-hole championship match will be played Sunday with semi-finals Saturday and quarter-finals tomorrow. The tourney was delayed 24 hours because of torrential rains earlier in the week.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Cy Blanton, Pirates—Held Bees to six hits and fanned six in scoring sixth victory, 2-0, for third shutout of season.

George Tebbetts, Tigers—His home run with two on base in eleventh gave Detroit dizzy 11-3 decision over Senators.

Ernie Lombardi, Reds—Home run and single drove in four runs in 8-4 setback of Phillies.

Van Mungo and Heinie Manush, Dodgers—Mungo's seven-hit, seven-strikeout pitching stopped Cardinals, 6-2; Manush paced winning attack with two doubles and two singles for perfect day at plate.

Charley Root, Cubs—Struck out pinch-hitter Sam Leslie in ninth with tying and winning runs on base to run Chicago winning streak to seven in 2-1 defeat of Giants.

Red Ruffing, Yankees—Won fourth straight game with seven-hit, 8-4, trimming of Indians.

The fan is regarded as an emblem of life in Japan.

Lubbock Independents Winners Over Sudan On Wednesday

SUDAN, June 3—(Special)—In one of the closest baseball contests ever staged on the South Plains, the Lubbock Independents edged out the Sudan ball club, 1 to 0, here Wednesday afternoon.

Minyard, steady little righthander for Sudan, gave up but three hits during the game, but one of these, together with an error, allowed a run and the Lubbock team was the victor.

The visitors played errorless ball. Slats Maguire pitched five hit ball for the Lubbock team. Tot Allen did the receiving. Both played for Anton last year.

Pitchers Come To Life For Victories

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

While Dizzy Dean was being banned and refusing to sign any and all apologies yesterday, three other old-established firms and two new ones were making potent bids for recognition on a basis of services rendered.

The trio of veterans who passed new milestones of effectiveness were, in the order of their teams' standing: Darrell Elijah (Cy) Blanton, Charley Ruffing and Van Lingle Mungo.

Three Pitchers Win

Blanton pitched his third shutout in setting down the Boston Bees, 2-0, and keeping the Pirates on top of the National heap; Ruffing got his fourth straight victory in a seven hit, 8-4 shellacking of the Indians to stretch the Yankees' American league margin to four games, and Mungo, big Brooklyn right hander who pitched the Dodgers to within a half game of the Cards by halting St. Louis, 6-2.

Newcomer Lefty Clyde Shoun, 22-year old Chicago Cub recruit, won 2-1 over the Giants for his fourth of the year and the Cubs' seventh straight, and George Robert Tebbetts, the Tigers' chunky third string catcher, hit an eleventh inning homer with two on to give Detroit an 11-8 verdict over the Senators.

Old Established Firms

But Blanton and Mungo and Ruffing, who has won every game he's pitched since making his holdout-delayed start on May 16, are major leaguers of established reputation and ability. Shoun, on the other hand, was with Birmingham of the Southern association last season while Tebbetts, except for the last ten games of the season, spent all of the 1936 campaign with Beaumont of the Texas league.

Shoun already has built up a name as a giant-killer. Three of his four victories have been scored at the expense of Bill Terry's club.

MEMBERS of the directorate of Texas Tech will study, during the summer, a proposal to legalize Greek letter fraternities for the institution. We hope they will get and sift to the bottom information not only from those who are rabidly for or against fraternities, but also from those who, with an unbiased viewpoint, know the workings of such organizations.

Attorney-General McCraw said while visiting here the other day that should Tech be admitted to the Southwest conference it would mean the addition of 500 students at the next enrollment period.

Along that line, The Plainsman predicts that a fraternity system at Texas Tech would attract many, many students who otherwise would not come here and that many of those students would have plenty of money to spend down town.

That's only one reason why it is important to Lubbock that the question of fraternities be carefully studied by the college directors.

THOSE who know the social setup at Texas Tech know that the local collegians have all of the bad points of a fraternity system now, and very few of the good points.

Those who have watched the human race from the cradle to the grave know that human beings are naturally gregarious and that they are going to "gang up" in all sorts of clubs, societies, fraternal and church orders, bridge and sewing groups whenever they get a chance.

That's all a college fraternity is—a vehicle by which college youngsters of similar likes and dislikes, ideas and ideals can draw themselves together.

No longer is the Greek letter fraternity "a gentleman's drinking club" if, indeed, it ever was as it was thought to be when grandfather was a member.

No longer is it a conglomeration of rich men's sons—or daughters—whose only idea is to play society to the limit and loll around in a mansion.

Instead the Greek letter fraternity and sorority of today is a great national organization which demands of its chapters and their members first, morality; second, scholarship; third, campus activities; fourth, campus citizenship, and fifth, that they be a working part of the organization's brotherhood.

A correctly operated fraternity—and chapters of nearly all of them are correctly operated—can be and frequently is the needed guide for students during those formative years they spend in college.

Texas Tech needs fraternities much more than the fraternities need Texas Tech. As a matter of fact, if they are legalized it will be years before the better Greek letter orders will grant charters.

AS one who belonged to a fraternity throughout college and as the father of three sons whom he hopes some day will follow him into the same fraternity, The Plainsman frankly admits that his fraternity membership and connections have been of more value than his one college degree and the equivalent of a second. If he had to toss out of the window the sheepskin which hangs on his wall, or the plaque of Phi Gamma Delta, it wouldn't take a minute to start the sheepskin sailing.

In spite of the fact that former mishandling of fraternities at University of Texas has given them a black eye in the state, your humble servant believes it's to the interest of any school not only to permit them, but to invite them. They'll be of great service to Texas Tech and if The Plainsman didn't believe that, if he didn't know from first hand experience, he wouldn't want fraternities within 100 miles of the campus west of town.

Probably you've heard about that tender-hearted motorist. He put balloon tires on his car because they're easier on the pedestrian!

That Man on Avenue Q says the fellow who travels in the best circles never has to square things at home.

* * *

MRS. ETHRIDGE EAGAN, who has long been one of The Plainsman's favorite young matrons, was up visiting Margaret Turner the other day, which gave your humble servant the opportunity to say to Mrs. Eagan what he has frequently said about her, namely, that she has one of the most pleasing contralto voices in all this part of the country.

In answer to the remark, Mrs. Eagan said "Thank you for the compliment. I don't get very many of them" and that gave The Plainsman an idea.

If Mrs. Eagan doesn't get very many compliments she is not in an unusual position. Neither does anyone else. Whether it is because human nature is human nature, or for some other reason, most of us would rather say something derogatory about a person than to say something nice. And that's too bad.

* * *

Of course everybody knows that old verse, "Flowers To The Living," which has a paragraph running:

"If with pleasure you are viewing
Anything we may be doing,
If you like us or our business,
Tell us now!
Don't withhold your approbation
'Til the Parson makes ovation
And we lie with snowy lilies
O'er our brow."

But it's a pretty good old rhyme, just the same. And it's a shame that more of us don't pass to those who deserve it a verbal pat-on-the-back when the occasion arises.

There's so much unpleasantness in the world that a little pleasantness once-in-awhile is a real—and welcome—tonic.

* * *

BILL BLAIR of El Paso was here yestidy and dropped the following pearl of wisdom: "Influence is something you think you have until you try to use it."

Not bad!

The new bride poked her sleeping husband in the ribs.

"Jim! Jim!", she whispered. "Wake up! There are burglars in the pantry!"

"What do we care," he snorted as he rolled over, "as long as they don't die in the house?"

* * *

SINCE this column last year bemoaned the fates which took Dr. Charles B. Qualia, head of the department of romance languages, from Texas Tech and deposited him in a similar chair at University of Kansas, it is reasonable that we emit a journalistic cheer over the fact that the brilliant and affable young professor is returning to his old post at the college here.

Aside from being eminently fitted for his work, Charlie Qualia is what we call, in the language of modern conversation, "a swell egg."

He and his charming family were missed when they left and will be welcomed when they return.

Trailer Adventure

BY NARD JONES
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When BETTY HAYNES drove off from the Long Beach auto camp with JACK SPEDDON and failed to return, MARTHA BRITTAIN first turned to police. But they were little help. So when mysterious, handsome GERRY NEAL reappeared on the scene, Martha leaned on him for help. And she fell in love with him.

Neal helped Martha search in San Francisco for Betty but with no results. And finallyy yMartha decided that she must not let her love interfere with her better judgment, so she had Neal arrested, charging him with being implicated in Betty's disappearance.

Then she sped north, only to find that Speddon had crossed out of California but without a woman passenger. Arriving in Portland, Martha received a strange note from Betty, referring to a "Ciznik in Seattle." Police said they thought Speddon was carrying Betty along "for safety" and then they hinted she might have been murdered. Ciznik, they told her, was an underworld character.

Martha went on to Seattle where she received a letter from ARNOLD SLOSS of the Airspeed Trailer Company, telling her to turn over her equipment to a designated agent who would meet her at the Yukon parking block. And when she reached the block, Martha was startled to recognize Speddon, in disguise. Terrified, she screamed for assistance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

But so quick was Speddon that no sound issued from Martha's throat. She was conscious of his pale fist, crashing down like a lightning flash. There were sudden silver streaks against her eyelids as the blow struck—and then everything went black. But so swift is the mind that she knew, even in that febrile instant, what was to happen. In less than a quarter of a minute he would knock her unconscious, shove her into the trailer, and drive away.

This was her final impression; and when she opened her eyes she was startled to see, not the smooth painted ceiling of the trailer, but rough, high rafters. She lay upon several layers of thick, unclean burlap, and her hands and feet were securely tied. It was not until a moment later that she was aware of the tight adhesive tape strapped so securely across her mouth.

"I mustn't get panicky," she thought. "I mustn't lose my head."

She rolled over on her side, staring into a bleak, almost empty interior. It seemed to be a poorly stocked warehouse—and then, suddenly, she heard below her the unmistakable sound of waves against wood piling. She knew then that she was imprisoned in a dock warehouse.

As far as she could tell, she was the only human within the bare confines of that vast place. The few window openings were high, and shed little light. Try as she might, she could not see through the darkness more than 15 or 20 feet in any direction.

Her jaw ached from the force of Spoddon's cruel, cowardly blow. There was a queer feeling in her head and ears, too, as if she might have been under an anaesthetic. Surely, she thought, Speddon's fist couldn't have held her unconscious for so long a time. How far was she from the spot where it had happened? It came to her in sudden fear that she was not in Seattle at all. Perhaps this dock was on the waterfront of some little town north along the Sound. She might be 100 miles from Seattle. There was no wayy of knowing now. Sometimes she thought she heard the muffled sound of traffic, blocks away, but these sounds mingled with the slapping waves beneath the floor, and she could not be certain. Curiously she remembered Marshall's words in Portland: "If you do find Speddon it will be the last thing you ever do!"

And now her tortured thoughts told her that there must be some terrifying connection between Jack Speddon and Arnold Sloss. She was certain now that her first fears, there in San Diego, had been valid. There was something wrong about Sloss and Carrington. The Airspeed Trailer was a "blind" for something—but what? What was this thing into which she and Betty had stumbled so blindly?

She recalled Gerry Neal's warning that she had become involved in something much more serious than she realized. It must have known all along what it was; he was, apparently, involved in the very fiber of it. And she had been fool enough to let herself be attracted to him, to allow him to mislead and delay her.

She lay there on the rough burlap, her mind in turmoil with thoughts like these, and finally, from sheer nervous exhaustion, she dozed. When she awakened she was conscious of a figure standing close. The high windows of the dock were black now. Martha's heart skipped a beat. She tried to cry out, but the tight tape over her lips prevented it.

The man drew closer. Somehow she knew that it was Speddon. Martha cringed, wondring if he might strike her again. Then she heard him say, "Feeling better?" His voice was harsh, and there was in it none of the sympathy connoted by his words.

"Hold still now," he said, kneeling beside her. "I'm going to yank the tape off your mouth. But if you start to yell I'll give you another sock." She felt his damp hand against her cheek, and shuddered. "This'll hurt less if I give it a quick yank," he said. She felt his rough fingers at the end of the tape. Then there was a sudden, smarting pain and the adhesive tape was off. Martha's lips felt sore and bruised, but she cried out instantly, "What have you done with Betty Haynes?"

Speddon laughed in the darkness. "She's okay."

"But where is she? You didn't bring her out of California."

"How do you figure that?" asked Speddon quickly.

"The state patrol told me that you went over the border without her."

There was a moment's silence. Then Speddon said coldly, "So you popped off? You couldn't take the advice you had."

"You mean those telegrams. You wrote them—not Betty?"

"You're a smart babe, ain't you?" Speddon said. Then: "The blond babe is okay. She's got a little cold, that's all, and we're keepin' her nice and quiet. But she's all right."

"Then she's near here?"

"Sure. You can see her if you want," Speddon told Martha.

"I do want to." Martha answered quickly. "But what—what are you going to do with us?"

"Just keep you under cover a while, that's all. The Haynes dame is across the Sound. If you be a good girl and not try to yell all over the place I might take you where she is."

"I'll go quietly," Martha promised. "Just take me to her. That's all I ask."

"Okay. I'll slap this tape back on your kisser while I go and get you something to eat. We can't get over to see your friend until a little later, and in the meantime I suppose you could eat, couldn't you?"

It was not until then that Martha was conscious of her gnawing hunger. "Yes," she told Speddon sullenly. "But I want to see Betty as soon as I can."

"You will . . ." He taped her lips again, smoothing it down tight with fingers that smelled of nicotine. "That's all she's been talking about—seeing you. You babes must be pretty good buddies." Speddon got to his feet. "I'll get you something to eat." She heard his footfalls fading into the darkness. Then, once again, there was only silence.

She wondered if Speddon's promise was a trap—or the truth. Perhaps Betty was dead, as Marshtll in Portland had suggested. Perhaps this was only a trick to bring Martha to the same fate. Yet why should Speddon be so elaborate about it? He could have killed her a dozen times since they met in the parking lot. And his remark that Betty had talked of nothing else but wanting to see Martha indicated that maybe, after all, she was still alive.

She had not been in the darkness long before Speddon returned. Again he ripped off the unpleasant tape, and this time cut the rope which held her hands together. Then he held out to her in the darkness a warm cardboard box.

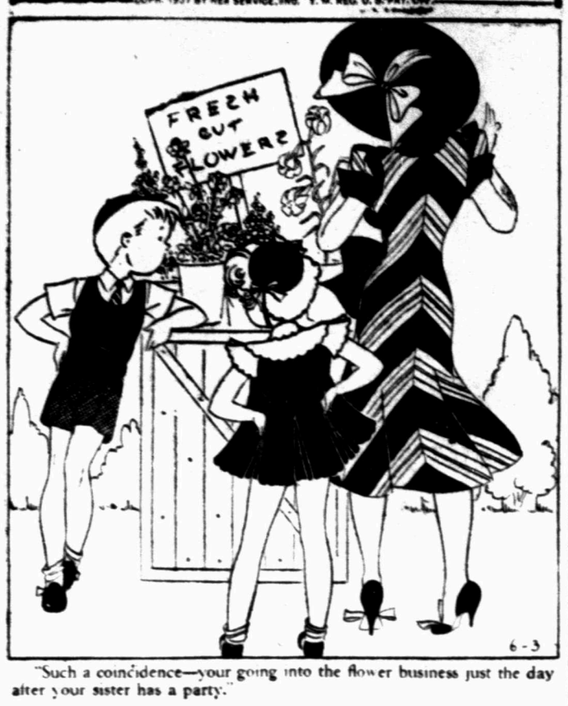

"There's a couple of hamburgers and some potato chips," he said. "And I got a thermoe of hot coffee here."

Martha was grateful for the food. But despite her hunger there was one thought uppermost in her mind. "When will we go to see Betty?"

"Go ahead and feed your face," Speddon said unfeelingly. "We'll start in about an hour."

DOCTORS DEGREES AND TEACHING ABILITY

Two generations ago, holders of bachelor degrees were few and far between.

Most of us can remember when people spoke almost with awe of the "college bred man" and when a bachelor degree was considered "sumpin'."

But in recent years, college diplomas have become so numerous that the person without the first degree is almost the exception, rather than the rule. And as a result, the value of a bachelor degree has slumped on the open educational market.

Unless our colleges and universities are careful, the same thing is going to happen to the various doctors degrees. The first thing we know there's going to be so many of them that the holder of a doctorate is going to be fully as common as the holder of a bachelor degree was 15 years ago.

Of course, that might not be a bad idea. So many colleges and high schools have been demanding that their teachers hold doctor's degrees that they have been hiring doctors, rather than teachers. If the rank and file of doctors increases to such an extent that the degree is no novelty, doubtless school boards and directorates will be able to pick and choose among the doctors with an eye upon teaching experience and ability, personally and accomplishment, rather than on the letters behind the names of applicants.

The Journal doesn't mean by these comments that all holders of doctors degrees are the possessors of nothing but their degrees. All of us here know better than that.

We do mean, however, that just because a man has completed graduate work leading past the masters degree and into the doctorates is no guarantee that he is a good teacher. And in this thought we doubtless will draw many an "amen" from the doctors within our gates.

A Thought . .

No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.—St. Luke 16:13.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 3. — Short takes: A couple of taxicabs swept to the curb before the Chinese Theater the other evening, and obsequious doormen leaped to attend the arrivals. As they held the doors open, out stepped 10 studio strikers, with signs, and began picketing the place.

If some of Hollywood's animal actors can hang up records for longevity, they'll be taken care of in their last days. The business office of Universal methodically has been deducting 1 per cent from paychecks for the services of horses, dogs, pigeons and the like for the federal old age pension. How long since you've seen a chimpanzee with a Social Security number?

* * *

Gypsy Rose Lee, stripped of her burlesque-stage name for billing in pictures as Louise Hovick, said she'd rather use her own name in trying to build a dramatic career.

Polished Shields

If you've been wondering what has happened to Frank Shields, the tennis ace who has been around so long, he's still being groomed for stardom by Samuel Goldwyn. He has had a few minor roles, takes dramatic lessons every day, and now is being loaned to an independent studio for a leading part.

* * *

With a crash that reverberated throughout the film capital, three of Jane Withers's baby teeth fell out the other day. The gaps are filled with bridges while she's working in "Wild and Woolly."

Grace Bradley showed up on the Paramount lot smoking a pipe. A dainty one, but still a pipe. Nobody could figure what was in it, though; smelled like fudge cooking.

Ernst Lubitsch, the producing director who hasn't appeared in a picture since silent days, has been asked by Cecil DeMille to play Napoleon in "Buccaneer."

That will make the fourth portrayal of the little emperor in a year, but still none by Peter Lorre, who is the only actor in town who looks like Napoleon.

Surprise!

Add to the list of temperamental youngsters the name of Shirley Ross. Out at Metro, where she first was under contract, Miss Ross didn't have anything to get temperamental about because she was given practically nothing to do.

Paramount treated her better, though; gave her one lead after another. Only recently she was assigned to appear with Buddy Rogers in "This Way, Please."

When shooting began she became notional and fractious. However—surprise, surprise!— nobody humored her. Betty Grable was called in and given the role.

Director Leigh Jason, an expectant father, was ribbed by his "New Faces" company with the presentation of a wheel chair. To everyone's surprise, he's tickled silly with it; reclines there all day and does his directing through a portable microphone.

Doc Townsend's Borrowing Plan Is Kiboshed By SEC; Van Devanter Is Human After All!

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 3. — Dr. Townsend recently tried to borrow $5,000,000 from his devoted followers.

He offered personal promissory notes for loans of $10 and up.

The Securities Exchange commission heard about it and quietly told the doctor that anyone who offered notes to the public for more than $100,000 came under the securities act and would have to file an application for registration.

Dutcher

There has been considerale bitterness about it inside the Townsend movement, and now the Townsend clubs are going to hold their third national convention with headquarters at the Pawhatan hotel, directly across Pennsylvania avenue from the SEC.

No demonstrations against the SEC have been announced, but you can't tell.

Meanwhile Townsend has notified all those who had advanced money and don't want him to let him have it as a gift that their loans will be returned.

The $5,000,000 Townsend General Welfare fund has been changed from a loan fund to a $5,000,000 gift fund—for the same announced purpose of financing educational campaigns, mass meetings, national broadcasts and the national convention in order to get Congress to pass the general welfare bill embodying the Townsend plan.

Individuals and clubs are enthusiastically sending in gifts of from $10 to $100.

In his original appeal for loans Townsend said: "My personal assets at this time, aside from the Townsend National Weekly which is already pledged to the Townsend movement, are about $500."

J. W. Brinton, manager of the weekly, recently discovered that some clubs were admitting members for dues of 25 cents a year instead of the $2 officially required. He has sounded a stern reproof, exclaiming:

"And these Townsend club members—who pay half a cent a week to the support of the Townsend movement—expect Dr. Townsend and the Townsend clubs to put over a national program which will bring them an income for life after 60!"

The McReynolds Dollar

Edgar Bright Wilson, who many years ago practiced law in New York with the now Supreme Court Justice James Clark McReynolds, well remembers his old partner's virtue of Scotch thrift. The other day he read how McReynolds had given a bootblack in the capitol barbershop a dollar with which to go to the circus, and had promised to make it $5 if the colored boy would stick his head in the lion's cage.

"Dear Mac:" wrote Wilson to the justice, "Your friends are alarmed about you since we read in the paper about your affair with the bootblack. You are getting more generous with your money than Harry Hopkins is with ours."

Van Devanter's Biggest Thril

Justice Willis Van Devanter is retiring from the court at t of 78 after a distinguished ca conservatism, served drinks fo tographers the other day Maryland farm.

As might have been expecte drinks turned out to be old ioned cocktails.

The aged justice has been ing so much obvious enjo from visits of cameramen an respondents as to create th picion that he craved the quaintanceship through many of cloistered life in the court at his farm he has shown th his hogs, horses, wheat and f pumped water for them fro well, explained to them h couldn't hold his pipe witho false teeth he had asked his to bring from the house, and inisced of youthful days wh used to break horses in Wyo

Proudly he displayed a hi sheep's head over the fi which he said he shot in 18 and a friend followed the tracks through the snow and ted it about 500 yards away. Devanter shot first because h the poorer shot. The sheep, calls proudly, lurched forward That incident, Van Devante was one of the greatest thr his life.

Comforting Relief For Women at the Time They Need It Mo

Nature has a way with some women, at that "trying time of the month," of accompanying this period with severe headaches and intense backaches. When these aches are due to functional disturbances, relieve them the "BC" way.

The "BC" formula contains several reliable, quick-acting ingredients, widely prescribed by physicians. "BC" is a trustworthy remedy and may be used for quickly re ordinary headaches, neuralgia cular aches, pain and discomfo to simple head colds, and fo ple nervousness.

"BC" does not contain opi any of its derivatives. Give it and see if it doesn't give you in just a few minutes. Conv 10c and 25c sizes, or by the d fountains. (adv.)

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

A Plan For Employment
Most high school and college graduates are interested in employment and careers. But millions have the same goal. Those who would lift themselves above the crowd—who want to enhance their chances for employment and advancement—must prepare to serve more acceptably than the average. Because employers in all lines of business know that our students come here for one purpose—to prepare to serve them profitably from the beginning—we can usually place graduates promptly. Those voters opposing said proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:
"AGAINST the Amendment to the State Constitution providing that property shall never be assessed for taxes at more than its fair cash market value, and providing that in order to encourage the prompt payment of ad valorem taxes, the Legislature shall have the power to permit a discount for the payment of same before they become delinquent."
If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

The above is a true and correct copy.
EDWARD CLARK,
Secretary of State.

Daley Chosen Head Of Peace Officers

FORT SMITH, Ark., June 3. (AP)—The Interstate Peace Officers association closed its summer convention here with election of Col. Charles W. Daley, Oklahoma City, state crime bureau superintendent, as president.

Daley had been serving as vice-president.

Other officers named were Capt. John Draper, Texas public safety department, Wichita Falls, first vice-president; Police Chief John Moyer, Baxter Springs, Kas., second vice-president; Bob LaFollette, assistant Arkansas state police superintendent, third vice-president; Gen. L. F. Guerre, Louisiana state police superintendent, fourth vice-president; C. J. Elliott, Joplin, Mo., secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected included Homer Garrison, Texas public safety department, Austin.

Columbus, Kas., was awarded the fall convention to be held in October.

The summer convention was attended by delegates from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, and Louisiana.

Cooperation Of Employers In Social Security Asked

Cooperation of employers in making certain that their employes have obtained social security numbers was asked in a letter Wednesday to E. E. Merriman, field representative here for Texas Unemployment compensation commission, from Orville S. Carpenter, state chairman-director at Austin.

The numbers, Merriman explained, are available on application at any postoffice prior to June 30.

Unless an employe has been assigned a social security account number, Carpenter's note said, it is impossible for his employer to report completely and it likewise is impossible for the commission to make certain that the employe's earnings are credited to the correct account.

The employe, Carpenter said, should report his account number to the employer, but the account card is the employe's property and should be held by him.

Ralph Lane, Virginia's first governor, is credited with the introduction of the tobacco pipe into Europe in 1586. He taught Sir Walter Raleigh how to smoke a pipe.

Improvement In Condition Of Jarett Child Reported

Improvement in the condition of Irwin Jarett, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jarett, 1723 Thirty-first street, whose skull was fractured when struck by a golf club in the hands of a playmate Wednesday afternoon, was reported at Lubbock sanitarium today.

In a delicate decompression operation performed at the sanitarium two pieces of bone about an inch long and some smaller pieces were removed, one-third of a gram of brain matter was removed and the tissue enclosing the brain was sewn up. The injury was on the left side of the forehead.

Reports said a group of children were playing in the yard of the Jarett home when one of them attempted to hit a golf ball. Irwin was in the path of the down swing, the report continued, and was struck on the side of the head.

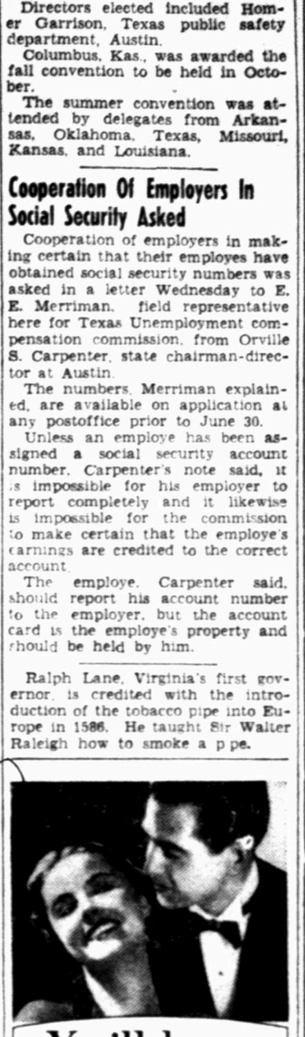

Hundreds Of Students Leave Today As Exams Close

Hundreds of students planned departures for home today with the close of examinations at Texas Technological college.

Final examinations, which began last week, will end at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Many students already have completed their examinations and returned to their homes.

The vacation will be of short duration for students planning to return for the first term of summer school. Registration will be conducted Monday, and classes will begin at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The first summer term will end July 16. Second term will be held from July 19 to Aug. 25.

now only a half game ahead of the Cubs.

Tebbetts getting his chance through the injury to Manager Mickey Cochrane, is batting .407 for the eight games he has played. His game winning homer was his second in three days and broke up a wild ball game during which the Tiger infielders made six errors. Jack Russell, who pitched the last inning, was credited with the victory, and Joe Cascarella, who hurled the last two, was the loser for the Nats.

In the only other game played the Cincinnati Reds, with three double plays to their rivals' four whipped the Phillies, 8-4. The Athletics, at St. Louis, and the Red Sox, at Chicago, were rained out.

Beavers were extinct in Illinois and wild turkeys in Wisconsin, so a trade was engineered by the U. S. Forestry Service; a truckload of turkeys for a truckload of beavers.

"Maybe all summer, I hope. I like this part of the country in the summer time. It is a fine climate. I probably shall live at Amarillo, but I like Lubbock very much. I shall spend a lot of time camping at Buffalo Springs. I shall wrestle when they want me, but I shall not spend much time in the town. I am nervous and jittery in the town. I like the country, where I can run up hills, in shorts, and expose myself to the sun."

Mar Allah became acquainted with the vicinity, and Buffalo Springs, when he was here more than two years ago. He spent a lot of time at the resort.

We are about to forget one important thing, or two very important things in the life of Sheik Mar Allah. He reverted to these important subjects in nearly every other sentence.

Since leaving here, the Sheik has taken unto himself a wife. That was shortly after his visit here. Now he is the proud, very, very proud, papa of a four-months old son. The mother and son are at Amarillo.

"He is a fine young Sheik," Ben Ali gloats, "and his mother is the best of all. We spent the winter in the Hawaiian islands, then came to California, where the boy was born. I have wrestled in Mexico City, in California, and in Oklahoma before coming here. But we shall probably stay here through the summer, because of the weather, and because of the young boy."

Not a popular wrestler, in the gentlemanly sense, Mar Allah is one of the best showmen in the dodge. In succeeding issues, this department probably will rake him over the coals plenty for his chicanery and villainy in the ring. The foregoing is intended merely as a partial insight into the private life and moods of the husky Persian, who may strike you as cocky, confident and crazy, even in his non-wrestling moments, but who is a pretty nice sort of fellow after all. At any rate he is a personality.

An average-size whale will supply about 40 tons of oil fit for lubrication and other purposes, and 70 tons of byproducts from the flesh and bones.

Once-Mighty Steers Drop Into Cellar

(By The Associated Press)

If the once-mighty Dallas Steers are given to brooding they might well consider this day one of the most forlorn in their recent Texas league careers.

From their lofty estate as leaders of the league virtually all of last season the Bovines have descended far this season; they have, in fact, reached the bedrock of the cellar. They slipped into that spot last night despite valiant overtime efforts in successive games with Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Tuesday night the Indians beat them in 17 innings, 7 to 6. Before a home-town crowd the Steers went to pieces in the twelfth inning against Tulsa and lost 11 to 7.

Five In Twelfth

Last night's loss could be attributed to a heavy dose of the fumbling baseball the Steers have played all season. Tulsa scored five runs in the twelfth.

San Antonio's challenging Missions ran into a stone wall in Houston, which snapped a Padre winning streak of six games with a 3-to-1 victory. The league-leaders from Oklahoma City thumped Fort Worth 9 to 6 to keep their relative advantage over Beaumont, which was trimming Galveston 13 to 1.

Reporter Reaches Top Of A Peak And Hunts Way Down

SALT LAKE CITY, June 3—(AP)—The Salt Lake Telegram received a dispatch by carrier pigeon today from a reporter assigned with a party searching for the lost Western Air Express transport near Alpine, 25 miles south of here.

The reporter said he had clambered to the top of a peak. He described the weather. He told of the view.

"What I'm wondering now," his dispatch concluded, "is how I am going to get down from here."

WAS ALMOST A CRIPPLE DUE TO RHEUMATIC PAIN

Her Sluggish Kidneys and Gaseous Indigestion Filled System With Impurities; But Now Van-Tage Has Given Her Blessed Relief.

Mrs. Chas. Green, of 415 21st St. Denver, Colo., is now adding her name to the Long List of Widely-Known people of This Vicinity who are publicly praising and endorsing the Amazing New Medicine, Known as VAN-TAGE, which is now being introduced to the local public at The Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway. Just a few days ago, Mrs. Green said:

MRS. CHAS. GREEN

Rheumatic Pain So Bad She Used Crutches

"I had been practically an invalid for years and years—longer than I care to remember—because of constipation, gaseous indigestion, sluggish kidneys and rheumatic pains. My food seemed to cause gas every time I ate. I had pains all through the region of my sluggish kidneys. My system became so contaminated from the sluggishness of my kidneys and stomach that I began to have rheumatic pains which settled in my legs and I couldn't get around without crutches. Oh, how miserable and I was beginning to think I would never find anything to help me. Then recently I was urged to try Van-Tage. After the second bottle, I find myself so much improved that I can hardly believe I'm the same person! It relieved the gassy indigestion and acted as a fine bowel cleanser, and my bowels act more normally than in years. It flushed out my sluggish kidneys. Best of all, it helped clear out much of the poisonous waste that contaminated my system, and now my rheumatic pains are easing up. I believe everyone who suffers like I have should be thankful for a medicine like Van-Tage."

Over 30 Ingredients In This Great Compound

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 Ingredients (including 21 Great Herbs) which help cleanse bowels, bring forth gas from stomach and invigorate kidney action. People declare It has made them feel like different men and women. Another thing—due to large sales, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. Get it—TODAY—at The Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway.
