Fail To See Khomeini, Hostages...

Iran Rebukes Ministers

By The Associated Press
Four black ministers from Houston were rebuked in attempts to meet with Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini Saturday to try to persuade him to free the 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran. Islamic militants also refused to let them meet with the Americans, now in their 77th day of captivity.

But the Rev. Gene A. Moore, a Baptist, said he remained optimistic that at least some of the ministers would meet with Khomeini and the Americans sometime next week and that the hostages would be released before too much longer.

Moore, who spoke with The Associated Press in a telephone interview from New York, said he and the Rev. J.P. Paley would be returning to the United States today (Sunday).

The other two ministers, the Revs. Bobby Mills and Don Lee Everett, and Michael Cooper, an attorney accompanying the group, will stay and make themselves available for meetings with Khomeini and the hostages, he said.

The gentlemen who will remain here have been unofficially told they will see Khomeini sometime after Sunday, Moore said. He added that the embassy militants, who have

Brothers Charged

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Capital murder charges have been filed against two brothers in connection with Thursday's death of a Live Oak police officer, who was killed in a fiery collision with a gravel truck during a 100-mile-per-hour chase.

Shots were fired as rookie Patrolman Alfredo Araiza, 25, pursued two men in a fleeing car through northern Bexar County, authorities said.

But Bexar County medical Examiner Dr. Ruben Santos said his autopsy Friday showed Araiza had not been shot before the crash. Santos still ruled homicide because of the circumstances of Araiza's death.

Richard Graham, 27, and his 24-year-old brother, Robert, remained met with the ministers several times since they arrived last Sunday, also were not ruling out the possibility of a meeting between the clergymen and the hostages next week.

They've always suggested to us we will," he said. Moore said his group had proposed a plan to the militants for releasing the hostages — which he called a "spiritual rather than a political solution."

The militants, he said, are "not going to listen to our government at all — a solution will be strictly spiritual."

He added: "We are just trying to get them to see that while they're looking at justice, we're looking at mercy. A solution will have to be give and take on both sides and strictly spiritual. I think they might buy it ... I don't think the hostages are going to be held much longer," he said, adding that "faith" was the basis for his assumption.

U.N. Diplomats were meeting privately in New York, meanwhile, to devise compromises they hoped would result in release of the hostages. Among the ideas said to be under discussion were plans for a U.N. commission to investigate Iranian allegations of mass murder and torture against deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, now living in Panama.

Pakistan Denying Buildup

By The Associated Press
An Indian press report said Pakistan was beefing up its defenses along its 1,200-mile border with Afghanistan, but a senior Pakistani official today denied any buildup was underway.

The official, who asked not to be identified, was responding to a United News of India report Friday that Pakistan had deployed seven divisions and a large armored force along the border. The report, quoting military observers in the Afghan capital of Kabul, also said all Pakistani air bases in the region were ordered on alert.

Travelers returning to Islamabad today from the Afghan-Pakistani frontier said they saw no signs of troop movements.

The Pakistani commander of the northwest border region, Lt. Gen. Fazal e-Haq told reporters Wednesday that he had about 40,000 troops from four divisions strung out along the frontier with Afghanistan.

The Indian account of a Pakistani buildup came as Afghan Moslem rebels were reported fleeing toward the frontier and sanctuary one step ahead of pursuing Soviet helicopter gunships and tanks.

The Soviets, who began pouring an estimated 100,000 men into Afghanistan on Christmas Day to prop up the nation's embattled pro-Soviet government, reportedly have the outgunned Moslem insurgents on the run, according to an account from Kabul by the Spanish news agency EFE.

Retires After 30 Years...

Fluvanna Postmaster To Miss People Most

By JOHN DUNNAM
FLUVANNA—After 30 years, Esma Kingston has retired as postmaster of the Fluvanna Post Office.

"It's the people I'm going to miss most. They are what made this job so great," she said.

But she added that she was also looking forward to retirement. "It will be nice to stay at home and do what I want."

A lot has happened since she last had time on her hands. She now has a grandchild older than her son was when she began her career as a postal clerk in 1950. Visiting with the Bill Kingston family in Munday and seeing her three grandchildren is one of the ways she plans to use her new freedom.

Jessie Sims was the postmaster when she began her career. John Staveland followed and in September 1959 Mrs. Harry F. Kingston was named to the position. Born Esma Carmichael, she is a Fluvanna native and put in her entire career at the same post office, but not in the same building. In May of 1966 a new structure was erected down the street from the old location.

The building that once housed the post office, and before that the W.P. Sims Drygoods Store, now stands vacant.

Postal officials from the sectional office in Midland came to this tiny farming community tucked into the northwest corner of Scurry County Wednesday to help her celebrate her last day on the job. One of them was David Holster, sectional center manager, who presented her with a letter of appreciation. It reads in

Tito's Condition Worsens

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Doctors said Saturday the circulatory problem in President Josip Broz Tito's left leg had grown worse and new surgery would be needed.

There were no immediate details on when the surgery would be performed or what it would involve, but widespread speculation continued that the leg might have to be amputated.

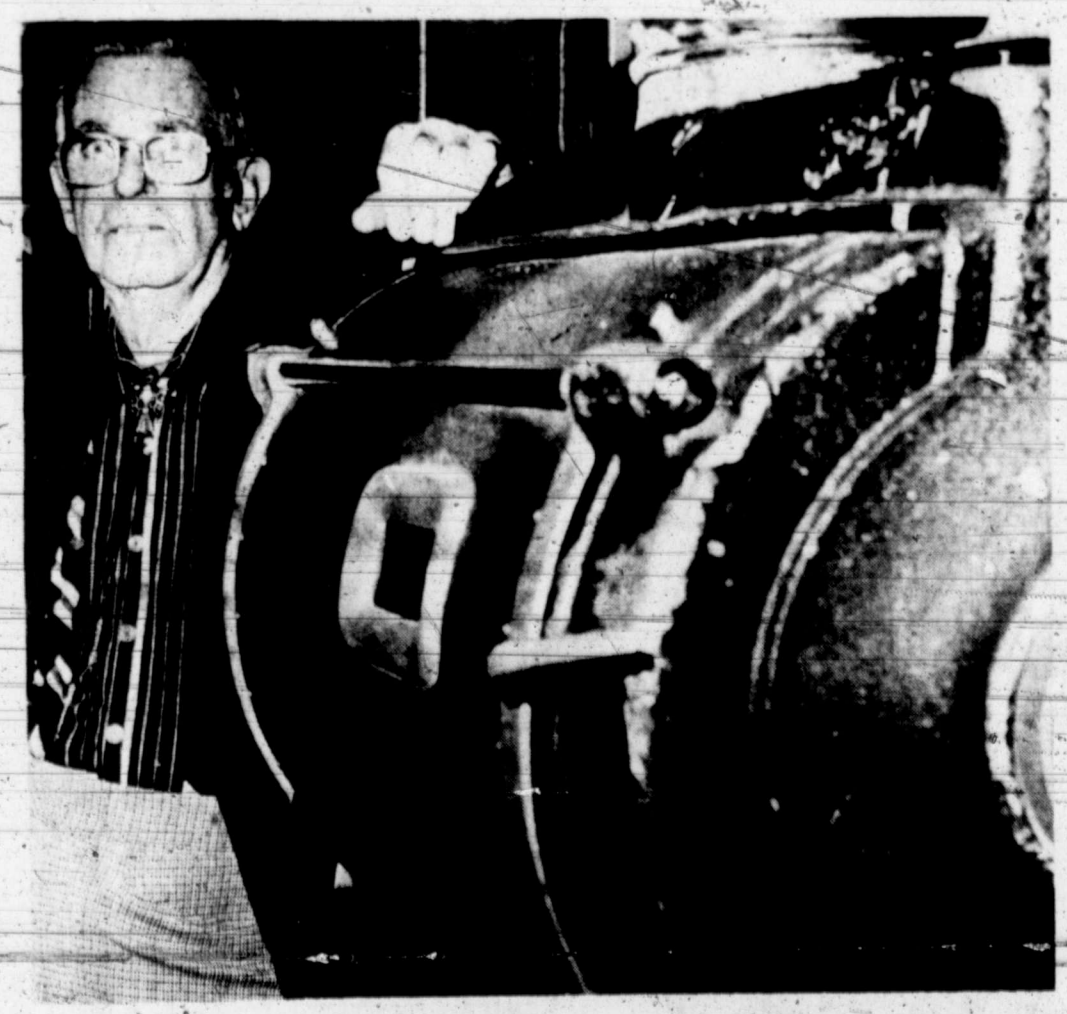

Elvis's Doctor Losing License

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Board of Medical Examiners Saturday voted unanimously to suspend the medical license of Elvis Presley's physician for three months after finding him guilty of illegally dispensing dangerous drugs.

In taking the disciplinary action against Dr. George Nichopoulos, the board praised him as a valuable member of his profession. But the five-member board criticized Nichopoulos' record-keeping, which one member called atrocious.

MOVIE MAN—Leonard Breeden, a projectionist since the silent movie era, says he has never seen a movie he has shown in its entirety. The only movies he gets to watch are those on television. After 58 Years In Trade...

Projectionist Wants To See Total Movie

By JOHN LONG
Leonard Breeden believes he would like to sit down in a theater someday and watch a movie in its entirety.

Breeden, a projectionist since the silent movie era, thinks he would like that very much. But he isn't sure, never having done it. Breeden, now the projectionist for the Cinema Theater here in Snyder, began his life-long career in 1922 when he was 16 years old. He says he has seen snatches of everything he has shown, but claims he has never seen a theater movie from start to finish.

"I don't think I've ever sat down in a theater and watched a movie," he declares.

During his vacations he may take his wife to see a movie, "but I leave her alone and go into the projection room and visit with the operator."

Once, during a hot day in Houston, he bought his way into a theater to take a nap, but he didn't watch the movie.

"I believe I would have to have some very good company to sit down and watch a movie with," he speculates.

The only movies he gets to watch are those he takes in on television. Even then his attention is diverted from the movie to looking for the cue marks on the film.

His thick-lensed eyeglasses give him a big-eyed, owl-like look one might expect of a man who lives in the twilight world of theaters. Except for a four-year stint in the Army during World War II, he has been a projectionist all his life.

Back when he got his start in the movie business, the idols of the screen were Mary Pickford, Clara Bow, and Errol Flynn. That was back in the day of hand-cranked projectors and nickel admissions to theaters.

He started in Frankfurt, Ky., and moved from there to Leland, Miss. From there he went to Lamesa, met Skeet Norseth, the owner of a theater chain, and went to work for him. He came to Snyder five years ago.

Now 71, Breeden doesn't think he will ever leave show business.

"The movies get in your blood," he said. "You just like it."

3rd Quarter Sales Over $48 Million

Gross retail sales in Scurry County topped the $48 million mark in the third quarter of 1979, State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced.

Bullock released the computer analysis for the state's 254 counties from 266,746 reporting outlets. The state-wide sales total for the third quarter was $52.5 billion.

Scurry County's computer analysis showed 441 reporting retail outlets with a gross total of $48,037,489 in sales. Of that amount, $15,600,706 was subject to the sales tax. For other area counties,

The SDN Column

While glancing through some old clippings the other day, we came across another list of "laws" that someone concocted. Labeled "Laws to Live By," they are as follows:

- Murphy's Law—Nothing is as easy as it looks. It will take longer than you think. If anything can go wrong it will.
- Rudin's Law—In a crisis that forces a choice to be made among alternatives of action, most people will choose the worst one possible. (Corollary—Patience is often just not knowing what to do.)
- Finagle's Law—Once a job is fouled up, anything done to improve it makes it worse.
- Crane's Law—There is no such thing as a free lunch.
- Kelly's Law—An executive will always return early from lunch if nobody takes him.
- Weller's Law—Nothing is impossible for the man who doesn't have to do it himself.
- Chisholm's Law—Any time things appear to be going better, you have overlooked something.

There are more and more of these "laws" floating around and all of them make sense. Yet, from time to time, situations arise that are not covered. Like the problem Robert Benchley is reported to have encountered one time when he was trying to write a humorous piece. The words just wouldn't materialize. One morning, in his hotel room, he was determined to get on with it. He inserted a sheet of paper in his typewriter and typed the word "The."

Overwhelmed by this impressive beginning, he leaned back to survey what he had wrought. For more than an hour he surveyed it, and then he surveyed it some more, but nothing else came forth from his paralyzed brain.

Finally, he went downstairs and had a leisurely lunch. Then he returned to his room. His determination was beginning to lag, but he still went to the typewriter and stared at it desperately, trying to figure out how to finish that sentence. He stared and he stared until 5 o'clock, while the word "The" stared back at him. Then, in a flash, an idea came to him. After the "The" he typed in "Heck with it."

Police Car In Pursuit In Accident

A police patrol car, reportedly engaged in a pursuit of 25th St. drag racers late Friday night, collided with a vehicle unrelated to the chase that had evidently veered into its path.

Taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital were policeman Tony Whittenburg, driver of the patrol car, and Jackie Basham Moody, the driver of a 1976 Ford pickup.

Hospital personnel Saturday morning reported that Whittenburg, 21, of 404 32nd St., was in good condition, and that Ms. Moody, 31, of 2011 Ave. O, was in stable condition.

According to the accident report filed by Sgt. Wade Norris, the police car was traveling west on 25th St. and the Moody vehicle was pulling away from the north side of the 25th St. curb attempting to make what the report described as a U-turn when the accident occurred.

The accident took place in the 2400 block of 25th St. and was reported at 11:11 p.m.

Officers indicated the patrol car was pursuing drag racers and had its flashing lights on at the time of the accident, but not its siren.

Extensive damage was reported to each vehicle.

2 Minor Mishaps Reported Friday

Two minor traffic accidents were reported to city police Friday.

The first occurred in the 2500 block of College Ave. at 10:45 a.m. It involved a 1977 Mack truck driven by Robert Cloud and a 1978 Dodge driven by Greg Patterson. The accident was worked by officer Kerry Fritz.

At 9 p.m., a hit and run was reported at the Snyder Shopping Center parking lot. It involved a parked 1978 Pontiac owned by Danny Early and an unknown vehicle which fled the scene. It was worked by officer Joe Bob Martinez.

In 1577, Francis Drake began his voyage around the world.

TWO INJURED—Two persons were injured Friday night in the collision of a police patrol car and a pickup truck. The accident occurred in the 2400 block of 25th St. and sent officer Tony Whittenburg and Jackie

Basham Moody to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Whittenburg was reported to be in good condition and Ms. Moody was listed in stable condition. (SDN Staff Photo)

Fire Guts House

Heavy damage was reported to a house owned by Willie Fay Davis that was gutted in a fire Friday night.

Snyder firefighters said the fire was called in to them at 9:05 p.m. The house is located at 35th St. and Ave. L.

"One little boy came in the other day and asked for mail with a mouse on the cover," she said. She admitted she couldn't fill that order right away.

Other familiar faces at the Fluvanna Post Office for the past three decades have been those of Louetta Turner and Erma Lenoir. Mrs. Turner began working there about the same time as Mrs. Kingston and worked her way up to assistant postmaster before taking early retirement in 1978.

Erma Lenoir began her rural delivery route in 1947 and shows no indications of slowing down.

While the postal service is choosing a new postmaster, another Fluvanna lady is running the post office. Mrs. Linda Beaver, who works in the Borden County Post Office in Gail is filling the slot as OIC (Officer in Charge) until the post can be filled.

Eleven applicants seek the job. Seven of those are from the Fluvanna area, three from Snyder and one from Midland. The new post office hours are 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8:30 to 10 Saturday mornings.

Small rural post offices such as Fluvanna's have become an endangered species in the past few years, but Mrs. Kingston believes the future of the Fluvanna P.O. is safe and bright.

May Decide Olympic Boycott

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter may decide this weekend whether to call for a boycott of the Olympic Games in Moscow this summer in retaliation for the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan, the White House says.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and White House aides met with members of the U.S. Olympic Committee Friday to discuss a possible boycott. Carter, honorary chairman of the Olympic committee, did not attend.

Following the two-hour meeting, the White House issued a statement saying: "The president has made no decision as to what recommendation, if any, he will make to the U.S. Olympic Committee or as to any other action with respect to the Olympics."

A White House source, asking not to be named, indicated the president would likely have a "more definite position" before he appears Sunday day on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" and before Vance testifies Monday at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing.

Earlier Friday, presidential press secretary Jody Powell said the president will make a final decision about the Olympics "in the next several days."

Support for an American-led boycott gained ground Friday with backing from Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis.

Church, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Azboki, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said they favored moving the games from Moscow. Muskie said he will ask the Senate to press for a boycott of the Games unless the Soviet Union withdraws its soldiers from Afghanistan within 30 days.

Robert J. Kane, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, asked for the White House meeting following statements by members of the administration that the United States should not take part in the Moscow Games unless the Soviets withdraw their troops from Afghanistan.

Vance had suggested earlier in the week that the United States make a decision by mid-February, presumably shortly after Carter is scheduled to open the Winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N.Y., on Feb. 13.

The USOC said in a statement that if the administration calls for a boycott, the committee would immediately poll American athletes to learn their feelings on the issue. The USOC Executive Board would then make a decision on whether to enter the athletes in the Games.

The USOC said each national Olympic committee functions independently of its national government on Olympics matters.

CANDLES FORMING—Mrs. Ben Brock gives some of her fifth grade students a hand in candle making. The students left to right, are Brad Pylant, Chad Sellars, Lesa Kimmel and Kim Young. The candle making begins with a wick tied to a small stick. The student holds the stick and dips the wick repeatedly into melted wax until the candle reaches the desired thickness.

DOLL MAKING—Wayne Kennedy, principal at Stanfield Elementary, watches as Becky Butler assists fifth graders in learning to make corn husk dolls. Brad Vincent is seated at Mrs. Butler's right and Anand Rao at her left. The dolls and other materials prepared by the students are to be exhibited in the Scurry County Museum in March.

Learning Story Of Country Through Study Of Crafts

The fifth grade students of Mrs. Ben Brock at Stanfield Elementary School are experimenting with such diverse activities as candle making, sand painting and beadwork these days as part of a year-long study of "The Story of Our Country."

The crafts mentioned above and other materials prepared by the students will be exhibited in the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College in March. Sharon Sutton, museum director, has served as a resource person for the class project and she has caught the enthusiasm of the students and Mrs. Brock.

The dates for the museum exhibit have not been set because of other activities scheduled in the museum building, Ms. Sutton said, but they will be announced in advance so everyone interested can view the exhibit.

Mrs. Brock has divided her students into two groups for the project. The research group selected Tracy Daniels as chairman and concentrates on gathering material from written materials and other sources and preparing reports and exhibits. The art group, chaired by Kenneth Pickering, expands on the subjects under study with drawings and three-dimensional works.

The students visited the museum to draw on resources there, and college personnel have assisted as resource persons. Mrs. Leslie Butler has helped by coordinating recent handicraft studies.

Same Crime Failed 2nd Time Around

GRAZ, Austria (AP)—Television newscaster Jakob Erhardt, contending a particular bank robbery was like "child's play," decided to rob the same bank in a carbon copy of the crime a year later.

Masked and armed with a toy pistol, he managed to get $15,000 and made good his escape, but the bank manager recognized Erhardt, who told police: "You didn't catch the robber last year. I hoped you wouldn't catch me, either."

ARMADILLO APREHENDED—An Armadillo was captured on the grounds of the Coliseum Friday after managing to elude city employees for days and wreaking considerable havoc on the lawn. J.A. Merritt, who finally made the catch, said the animal lives mostly on small insects and worms. It has been credited with killing rattlesnakes but Merritt said he was personally skeptical about that. He said the animal, which is mostly known for its armor, is not aggressive, has no teeth but could possible inflict a wound with the long claws on its powerful front legs. (SDN Staff Photo)

Diversion Program Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration is still thinking about paying farmers to idle some of their cropland this year to help curb further growth in grain stockpiles.

While stating that no decision has been made, senior Agriculture Department officials say the possibility cannot be ruled out that President Carter might suddenly decide in favor of such a program.

The so-called land "diversion" program used to help reduce feed grains output the past two years was abandoned by the Carter administration, along with other acreage restraints, for 1980 when it seemed export demand would continue to grow sharply.

But Carter's embargo of 17 million metric tons of corn and wheat that had been intended for the Soviet Union has forced the administration to take stern measures, including a pledge to buy the canceled grain, if necessary, to keep it from being dumped on the market.

The Washington Post said in its Friday editions that "the government is preparing to pay large numbers of farmers not to grow grain" and that the plan is "now on President Carter's desk" for a decision.

But Howard W. Hjord, the USDA's chief economist and policy analyst, told reporters he knew of no such plan waiting action by Carter.

"I haven't seen any proposals on the land-lying yet," Hjord said. "I know the secretary of agriculture has not made any recommendations on the matter."

Cattle Raisers Urged To Vote On Referendum

Beef cattle producers are urged to participate in the upcoming referendum on the Federal Beef Research and Information Order, according to C.D. Gray Jr. of Snyder, president of the Scurry County Farm Bureau.

Producers who owned cattle anytime in 1979 are eligible to vote in the 1980 "Beef referendum," the farm leader said. They can register at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office anytime between Jan. 28 and February 6. They can vote at the ASCS office anytime between Feb. 19-22.

"The best way to determine how the majority of producers feel about this matter is for all producers to participate," Gray said. Details on registering and voting and on the Order itself are available at the county Farm Bureau office at 1903 Snyder Shopping Center, he said.

"We want to remind cattlemen that it's their money at stake in the check-off vote," the county farm leader said. "A good turn-out should determine whether or not beef producers want a mandatory check-off for beef research and promotion that is run by a quasi-governmental agency," he added.

For approval of the Order, ballots must be cast by at least 50 percent of the producers registered to vote in the referendum, and a majority of those voting must favor or approve the issuance of the Order, Gray said.

In essence, the check-off program provides for a mandatory deduction from each sale of cattle, the farm leader said. The law permits a deduction of up to 1/2 of 1 percent from the sale price. The deduction would be limited to not more than two-tenths of 1 percent for the first two years, and after that can be increased up to 1/2 of 1 percent without a referendum.

The law requires purchasers of cattle to make the deduction. Failure to comply is subject to a $1,000 fine. The deduction would be made at each point of sale. The buyer would pay the purchase price minus the amount of the check-off to each seller of cattle. The check-off money would be paid to the administering agency at the point of slaughter.

Explaining how much money is involved, the county FB leader used a $450 calf as an example. For the first two years the assessment authorization would be limited to 90 cents on such a sale. After that, the assessment could go to $2.25 a head.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimate that initial collections at the two-tenths of 1 percent figure could total about $40 million annually, and about $100 million annually at the 1/2 of 1 percent figure.

The proposed order provides for refunds of assessments if demand is "made within 60 days after the end of the month in which the transaction

UNUSUAL CATCH—Tommy Holder is an outdoor enthusiast and has seen some unusual things in his 19 years but last week was the first time he ever caught a nutria in one of his traps. The rodent-type animals are fairly common in Louisiana and the Beaumont-Port Arthur area but few have been found this far west. The Nutria, also known as coypu was brought to the U.S. from South America to keep ponds and lakes clean of vegetation, it is believed. The animal's back feet are webbed and he sports teeth that would make a beaver envious. This specimen was caught west of town on the property of Leroy Key. (SDN Staff Photo) occurred. Cattle producers desiring refunds would have to keep up with their own refund deadlines and may be required to keep sale records up to eight years or more on heifers purchased and sold later as aged cows, Gray said.

The USDA beef referendum order proposes to establish a Beef Board (a quasi-governmental agency) composed of not more than 68 producers to administer the program. It further provides that the Secretary of Agriculture "shall appoint to the board up to five non-voting consumer advisors deemed to be knowledgeable in nutrition and food." These advisors would be reimbursed from producer assessments, he said.

The USDA would also be authorized to employ new employees to monitor the beef research and promotion program, and all expenses incurred by USDA, including salaries, would be paid from the cattlemen's assessment funds.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

If you find that the anti-biotic you are taking makes you irritable and jittery as days go by, it may be caused by the treatment, not the illness. The anti-biotics shotgun wipes out friends as well as foes in the intestines—it can cause diarrhea. By taking a cup of yogurt each time you take the antibiotic, you repopulate your intestines with the "good guys" and irritability usually disappears.

DEER AND DOBERMAN—Who says Doberman pinscher are mean dogs, asks J.N. McKinney who took this photograph of his dog Luk and a deer that also became somewhat of a pet. "They used to take turns chasing one another," he said. But when the deer began getting its horns McKinney decided it was time the animal be put back in the wild and thus broke up the odd couple.

ASTROGRAPH

Your Birthday

Bernice Bede Osol

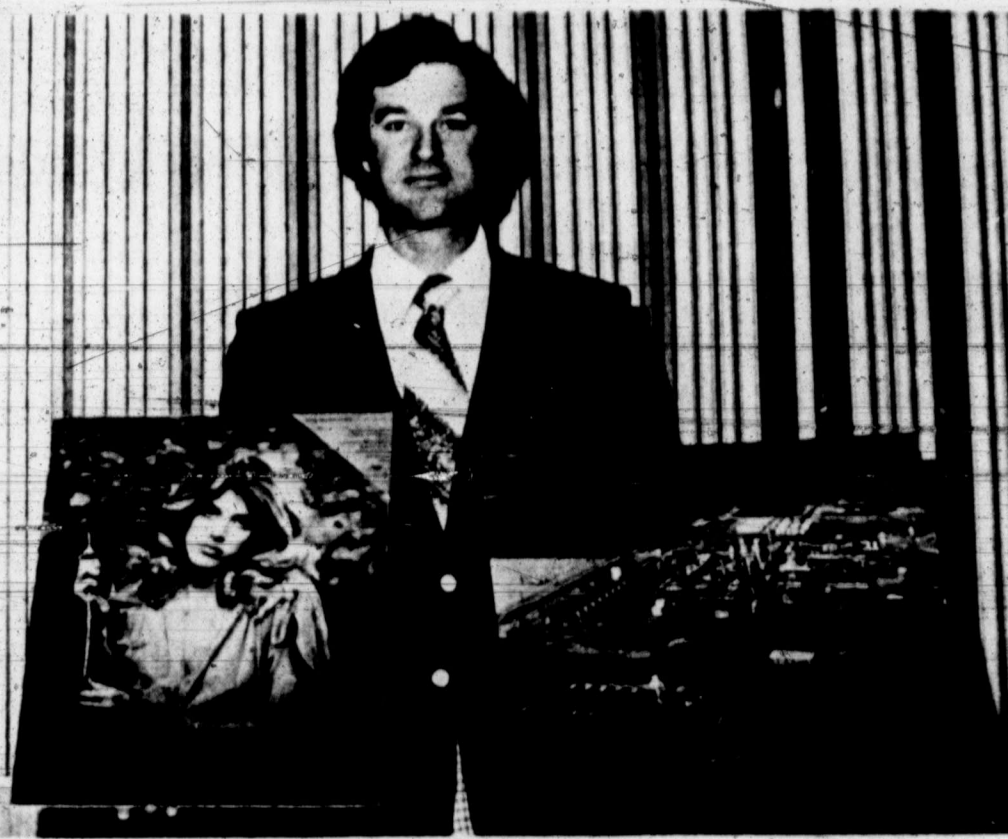

January 20, 1980

The bread you cast on the waters to help others could come back to you in abundance in the year ahead. Persons with your well-being in mind are watching from the wings. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be stingy today. By the same token, don't be foolish with your possessions or resources. You might have to say "no" rather than lend to a poor risk. Travel, resources, romance, luck, possible pitfalls and career for the months ahead are all discussed in your new Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be your own person today, instead of depending too much upon others. Those whose help you seek may not be in a position to do so. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Responsibilities not properly attended to in the past could catch up with you today. Get on them promptly, so things won't get worse. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A bit more tolerance than usual may be required in dealing with your friends today. If you don't search for their faults, they won't look for yours. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Being a take-charge type today is admirable, but don't be too bossy or dictatorial in the process. Lead by example. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your own views will not go unchallenged if you try to pick apart the opinions of others. Debates should be avoided. They could become more heated than intended. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not leave the management of something which could cost you money in the hands of an incompetent today. Protect your interests. Take care of matters by yourself. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A trifle more strain than usual could be experienced in an important relationship today. Maintain harmony through a willingness to compromise. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Having a good attitude is extremely important where your work is concerned today. Just how you perform, tasks you resent will reflect this. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You won't be becoming in the eyes of others if you appear to dominating in social situations today. Subdue any aggressive impulses. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There's a possibility that you may try to place the blame for mistakes on others today. Passing the buck will complicate rather than resolve issues. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) When discussing your achievements today, minimize them. Being boastful just won't impress your listeners. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

January 21, 1980

This coming year you could be exposed to some unusual circumstances which may help advance your status and increase your earnings. Be ready to move swiftly when opportunity knocks. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In financial matters, your judgment is apt to be a shade keener today than the views of persons whose advice you seek. Don't belittle your own thinking. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Select your cohorts wisely for joint ventures today. A poor choice of partners could hinder more than help. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be on your toes. This is one of those days where others are difficult to please. Your quick thinking can help eliminate strain. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep your priorities in order. Don't be bullied into doing something against your will. Try to bring others up to your high standards. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Achieving your goals today won't come easily, but if you're prepared to react to the unexpected you stand an excellent chance of outmaneuvering the opposition. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Instead of reacting with disappointment and withdrawal when plans don't come off today, flow with the tide. There's a pleasant surprise awaiting you if you do. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Like the cavalry, someone who cares a great deal for you may bail you out of a financial bind just in the nick of time. Don't abandon hope. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Uniques or fresh ideas may be called for today in order to please another with whom you have dealings. You're clever, so you could come up with something. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This could be a strange day. Applause you earned for a job well done won't be granted. Unexpected rewards could still come from it, however. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be certain to inform others if you decide to alter plans regarding activities which they are also involved in. Crossed signals will cause complications. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Important projects should not be performed too hastily today. Correcting mistakes could prove much harder than the initial undertaking. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be reckless, but do act promptly on your impulses today. When you study matters too long you tend to become immovable. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

WINS AGAIN—Harley Bynum, local photographer, was awarded the Gold Seal of Approval in two divisions at a convention of the Southwestern Photographers Association in San Antonio earlier this month. Both prints were also chosen to be shown in the General exhibit at the Marriott Hotel, site of the convention. This is the second year in a row for Bynum to win a Gold Seal in portraiture. This year's entry was an outdoor shot of a 14-year-old Lubbock high school girl. The other winning shot was in the commercial category, an aerial photo of the Sun gas plant west of Snyder. Need Law Prohibiting Nuclear Wastes Sites

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, says Texas needs a law prohibiting waste disposal sites—particularly those holding radioactive materials—on coastal islands and peninsulas. Speaking as chairman of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, Schwartz said Friday he plans to work for such legislation. He made the assertion in a letter to State Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein and to the council.

Todd Shipyard on Pelican Island, near Galveston, recently was found to have six times as many barrels of low-level radioactive waste in storage as the 2,000 barrels allowed by its permit from the State Health Department.

After conferring with Todd officials, Bernstein ordered a change in the license to allow 5,000 barrels. Bernstein gave Todd until July 31 to ship the remainder to permanent storage sites.

The method in which Todd is storing its variety of wastes does not inspire any confidence in me that dictates they are entitled to an enlargement of their existing permit. I personally intend to seek a prohibition against any waste disposal facilities on any island or peninsula in our coastal area because I do not believe adequate protection for the public health can be obtained," Schwartz told Bernstein.

He later told the council, "at some point it will be my recommendation that we do not permit siting of nuclear waste disposal sites on islands and peninsulas."

"I'll tell you one thing, Todd Drydock wouldn't store its gold on Pelican Island if it had any gold," Schwartz said.

He said he already had asked Gov. Bill Clements to include in his call for a special legislative session the creation of a $5 million state fund to pay for cleaning up abandoned waste disposal sites. Those, he said, would include locations where uranium mining companies disposed of the "tailings," or sand remaining after uranium ore has been milled.

Sir Cecil Beaton Dies

LONDON (AP)—Sir Cecil Beaton, high society photographer of Britain's royal family and the man credited with elevating portrait photography from a trade to a fashionable art, died Friday.

Beaton, 76-year-old author of some 30 books on subjects ranging from ballet to royalty, also designed movie sets and costumes.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Bad breath is a symptom

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My son is 14 years old and he has terrible breath. I took him to the family dentist for a check up to have his teeth cleaned. He has no cavities. However, his dentist said that his foul breath is due to gastric juices. This odor in his mouth is causing unpopularity in school. Is it true that the odor is caused by his stomach and, if so, how can it be corrected? If you have a Health Letter on bad breath, I'd sure like to have it.

DEAR READER—Bad breath is a symptom. It was proper to take your son to a dentist. Frequently bad breath is caused by dental problems. That doesn't mean cavities. It means either accumulation of food particles around the teeth or an infection that involves the areas around the roots of the teeth and under the edges of the gums (gingivitis). The latter requires treatment by a dentist and is not something that a person can correct himself just by improving his dental hygiene.

Then some cases of bad breath are caused by food accumulation on the tongue. That's because not everyone knows you need to brush the tongue regularly, just as you brush your teeth.

I am sending you The Health Letter that you asked for, number 9-4, Halitosis: The Breath Problem And What To Do About It. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, you can have bad breath from many different causes other than the teeth. It can be but seldom is associated with bad tonsils. Much more often it's associated with sinus problems. If your son has an infection in the nose and throat area, such as a problem with the sinuses, that can be the source of the odor. So your next stop should be to see an ear, nose and throat specialist.

If the problem can't be solved there, you might want to talk to your son's physician (pediatrician or family doctor). You can have bad breath from any upset in body chemistry. The classic example here is the diabetic or the patient with liver disease. Abnormal chemicals are carried by the bloodstream and escape into the lungs to be exhaled. That's the same way that alcohol breath works.

I doubt very much that your son's problem comes from his stomach. In the first place, we all have gastric juices and not everybody has bad breath. The stomach is functionally closed at the top so its contents do not emit odors unless a person burps or belches and that's very transitory. A number of people also have the mistaken idea that colon problems will contribute to bad breath. There is no way that this can happen. But any of the digestive disturbances that result in an upset body chemistry can cause the problem through the bloodstream and lungs as I mentioned.

Sometimes it's quite a search to find out what factors are related to bad breath. It's not a simple problem that may be relieved by mouthwash as many TV advertisements would have you believe. There's no way that a mouthwash can correct a disturbance in body chemistry or infected sinuses or, for that matter, infected teeth.

Western Texas Tries Frank Phillips Next

BORGER.—Western Texas College basketball teams will be looking to make the Plainsmen their next victim in WJCAC play continues here Monday.

The WTC Dusters, riding a 74-69 victory over No. 15 ranked Amarillo College on Thursday, are scheduled against Frank Phillips' girls at 6. The Westerners, also coming off of a victory over the Badgers, are ranked No. 1 in the NJCAA and are 18-0 for the season.

Frank Phillips men are 7-7 on the season and 3-2 in conference play, but showed their potential last Thursday, losing to No. 4 rated Midland by only 61-57.

"After Amarillo, it would be easy to let down against Frank Phillips, but we can't afford to," said Westerner Coach Nolan Richardson. "They lost to Midland by only four points, so it's obvious they are capable of beating anyone in the conference—especially at their home."

Duster Coach Joe Cushing echoed those thoughts. "We've got to be up for them," he said of the 5-6, 0-2 Frank Phillips women's team. "It's a situation where we can't afford to let down. I think we'll be ready to play them. We're not going to take anybody lightly in this conference."

The Dusters, 15-6, are tied for the conference lead with Howard College, both with 3-1 records—and with Odessa, 4-1. Richardson's Westerners

O'Brien Goes To Singletary

FORT WORTH (AP)—Until last year, Baylor linebacker Mike Singletary had never heard of Davey O'Brien. Friday night, though, Singletary gratefully accepted the Davey O'Brien award as the Southwest's "outstanding college football player."

"Last year I began to read about the Southwest Conference and the great players and teams of the past," he said as he accepted the award at the Fort Worth Club. "I had a chance to read about Davey O'Brien and now the award means a lot to me and it always will."

Singletary, the third recipient of the honor, received a gold medallion at the awards banquet. His coach, Grant Teaff, accepted a $2,000 grant to be used in the scholarship program at the university.

Sportscasters and sports writers in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas select the O'Brien award recipient.

Previous winners were Earl Campbell of Texas in 1977 and Oklahoma's Billy Sims last year.

Fourth Period Rally Pays Off As...

Tigers Claw Eagles

LUBBOCK — Lubbock Christian High School Coach Gary Bowe had been searching for his 400th career win for three games before the weekend.

He's still searching. It looked as if Bowe might have his dream come true here Friday night when his Eagles led Snyder High School 54-40 early in the fourth period. But the Tigers—who haven't always looked like the state's No. 3 ranked team this season—turned on the steam and delivered 33 fourth-quarter points to exit the hosts, 73-66.

The Eagles pecked and clawed with good success in the second and third quarters, taking advantage of a bushel of Snyder turnovers to lead 34-27 at the half and 52-40 at the start of the fourth quarter. LCHS then scored the first bucket of the final stanza, and it appeared they were headed for a sure victory.

Snyder junior Brad Richardson wasn't content to let things stay that way though. The 6-2 player hit on two quick shots to trim the Eagle lead to 10, and it was a blitzkrieg for the next seven minutes as Snyder out-pointed the Eagles 33-14.

Richardson, who scored 8 points in the period, got more than enough help from teammates Thomas Selmon, Barry Blackmon, Kyle Short, Eric Arnold and Mark Preston as every Tiger player Coach George Byerly put on the floor got caught up in the momentum.

Snyder's pair with a basket of his own, and with just over seven minutes left, LCHS's lead had been trimmed from 14 points to eight.

The teams fought back and forth for a minute until Selmon hit the top end of a charity situation. He missed the second, but Snyder's top rebounder, Blackmon, was on hand to put it back up and the Tigers were behind only 58-51.

Shawn Williams sank a shot from underneath to try and stall the Bengal barrage, but it was nothing doing, as Arnold, Short and Richardson combined for eight straight Snyder points. Richardson hit the final two, to put the Tigers within a point of tying the game.

Lubbock's Billy McConnell hit a free throw with 3:27 left to advance the margin back to two points, but missed his second shot at the stripe. Blackmon pulled the rebound down, raced downcourt and tied the game for the first time since the second quarter.

Preston followed with a basket to give the Tigers the lead, and after McConnell hit one more free throw, Selmon and Blackmon found the Snyder hoop to increase the visitor's edge to 67-62.

The game was never in doubt after that point, primarily due to Short's accuracy from the free throw line. The 5-11 senior captain hit six for six in the quarter, four for four in the final 1:30 of the game.

Mark Preston, who also added a last-minute bucket, led the Tigers with 17 points while Richardson had 14, Kris Seale notched 12 and Blackmon and Short had 10 apiece.

Shawn Bowe paced the Eagles with 19 points, 14 rebounds and seven blocked shots before fouling out with 4:10 left in the fourth quarter. Steve Sikes had 12 points, McConnell added 11 and Williams and Tim Perrin had 10 each.

The victory gives Snyder a 17-4 record. The Tigers begin District 3-3A play Tuesday against Sweetwater, 0-1. Sweetwater opened loop play Friday against Brownfield, and was defeated 60-50.

In other boys' 3-AAA play, Lamesa nudged San Angelo Lake View 50-48 in overtime.

Ellington Texas AD

AUSTIN (AP)—Bill Ellington has been named to succeed Darrell Royal as athletic director at the University of Texas, president Peter T. Flawn announced Friday.

Ellington had been Royal's assistant since 1968. Royal resigned recently to become special assistant to Flawn for athletic programs.

Ellington, who had been acting AD since Jan. 1, came to Texas in 1959 as backfield football coach and coached the freshman team from 1966 to 1973.

Earlier, he was high school head football coach at Winters, Garland and Amarillo. His 1956 Garland team won the state championship.

The Dusters, 15-6, are tied for the conference lead with Howard College, both with 3-1 records—and with Odessa, 4-1. Richardson's Westerners

JV Girls Win, But...

LCHS Defeats Felines

LUBBOCK — Lubbock Christian, behind 15-8, scored 21 second-quarter points, then hung on to outlast Snyder's varsity girls here Friday night, 52-48.

It was undoubtedly the highlight game for the Eagles, who otherwise lost three of four contests during the evening which celebrated the annual LCHS homecoming festivities.

Coach Ken Housden cited distractions such as the homecoming events—including an overpowering band which sometimes played while the teams were on court—and the possible thoughts of Tuesday's battle with Sweetwater as effecting the Felines' play.

"We got ahead of them early in the game, but they came back to lead at halftime. As you can see by the quarter scores, it was a close second half all the way. Lubbock Christian led by eight points at one time in the fourth quarter. We cut that, and had our chances, but couldn't make our free throws," said Housden.

Snyder went in front 15-8 at the first-quarter buzzer but LCHS came back with 21 second-quarter points while Snyder added 12, then won the third period 11-9. Both teams had 12 in the final stanza.

Barbara Baker scored 11 points and Sandy Spice notched 12 for the Eagles. Jamie Hataway scored 12 for Snyder while Tracey O'Day added 11 and Brenda Anderson had 8. O'Day and Anderson each pulled down 11 rebounds.

Snyder has perhaps its biggest game of the season coming up in Scurry County Coliseum on Tuesday. The Felines face Sweetwater, 3-0 in district play. Sweetwater needs only a win over Snyder to clinch round-one of loop play. However, Snyder can grab no less than a tie for the conference first-round championship by defeating the Mustangs. The teams meet at 8 p.m.

In other action here last night, Michelle Townsel bombed the Eagles for 23 points and Kelly Jones and LaDonna Halford added 16 and 12 respectively as Snyder junior varsity defeated the Eagles 71-40. Snyder scored 33 second-half points while limiting LCHS to 14.

Those outcomes leave the varsity at 13-7 on the season, and the JV at 12-2. Snyder varsity is 2-0 in loop play, with Sweetwater and Lake View left to face.

In boy's action (see related story), Snyder varsity and JV both won.

County Considers New Diamond

According to Jimmy Watkins, the County Commissioners will consider a request which calls for the erection of a girl's softball diamond at its Monday meeting.

Watkins said present facilities for the Girl's Softball Association did not meet the demands.

Bookmakers Note Low Betting Sums

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Las Vegas bookmakers say Los Angeles Rams fans are placing more bets on their team in the Super Bowl, but the big money is riding on Pittsburgh.

One oddsmaker said the "sentimental money" is on the Rams, but only in small bets, mostly in the $20 to $200 range. The big bettors, those putting up $5,000 to $10,000 a crack, are favoring the Steelers.

But many bookies around town are moaning about the relatively lackluster performance Super Bowl bettors are putting forth for the big game. Most say betting is running behind last year's total, although some heavy betting right before the game is expected.

Most Las Vegas books have lines favoring the Steelers by 10 to 11 points, and oddsmakers say the wide point spread, along with the Rams reputation for mundane football, have kept the wagering down.

Rockets Get New Blood

By The Associated Press
Billy Paultz says his trade to Houston is "like a new lease on life." Guard Mike Dunleavy feels pretty good about it, too.

Dunleavy scored 31 points Friday night to lead the Rockets to a 134-111 victory over the Washington Bullets and credited his new teammate with a big assist.

"The difference was Billy Paultz," said Dunleavy. "I have been waiting all my life for a guy like this. I would pass to him at the post, set up my man and he would give it back to me at exactly the right time. With Billy in there, I felt like I had a good chance to beat my man most of the time."

Paultz, a 6-foot-11 center obtained from San Antonio Thursday night in exchange for John Shumate, contributed four points to the Rockets' victory. His presence also took some of the burden off Moses Malone, the Rockets' starting center, who was the most valuable player in the National Basketball Association last season.

Malone had 16 points and 12 rebounds, 10 of them in the second half when Houston out-rebounded Washington 24-13.

Celtics 111, Blazers 93
Dave Cowens scored 14 points in the third quarter, when Boston out-scored Portland 37-15 to take command. The Celtics, 20-2 on their home court, remained tied with Philadelphia for the Atlantic Division lead at 34-11, the best records in the league.

76ers 112, Nets 105
Philadelphia kept pace with Boston by posting its 21st victory in the last 25 games. Julius Erving scored 29 points, including two key baskets in the last two minutes, as the 76ers dealt the Nets their fifth loss in the last six outings.

Sonics 124, Knicks 117
Seattle won its sixth in a row and handed New York its sixth straight loss as guards Dennis Johnson and Gus Williams combined for 56 points. Sonics center Jack Sikma took command after New York rookie Bill Cartwright fouled out with 4:22 to play. Sikma scored Seattle's next six points, then Williams iced the victory with six points in the last two minutes.

Lakers 108, Hawks 102
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 28 points, grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked 10 shots as Los Angeles built a 17-point second-quarter lead and then hung on for their fifth win in a row.

Mixed Feelings For Bench QB

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)

"It's agonizing — I am both happy and deeply frustrated," Pat Haden, sidelined No. 1 quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams, said as he resigned himself to watching Sunday's Super Bowl XIV from the stands.

This was the scene that the field general out of Southern California had dreamed about ever since he joined the Rams in 1976. Now, struck down by a midseason injury, he must squirm while a strong armed young backup, Vince Ferragamo, attempts to unseat the champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

"I am trying to be philosophical," Haden explained after leaving his law class Friday at Loyola University, "but I can't help being disappointed. It is particularly depressing for me because I am now 100 percent fit."

"I could play Sunday. In fact, I've been well enough to play the last four games, including those against Dallas and Tampa Bay. But I got caught up in the injured reserve rule."

Haden was put on the injured list after suffering a broken little finger on his throwing hand in the game at Seattle Nov. 4. Under the original rule he would have been automatically lost for the season but a modification enables a coach to make three returns a year.

"Coach (Ray Malavasi) used his three moves before I was healthy," Haden lamented. "It was ironic. I found it doubly disappointing because everything in my life has fallen together so beautifully. It's a bad rule."

The blond-haired Rhodes Scholar has been the "forgotten man" as the Steelers and Rams practiced and helped beat the publicity drums during this past week of organized hype.

"Naturally, I am delighted that the Rams have made the Super Bowl and I think Vince has done a terrific job at quarterback. I'm just sorry that now after four years of turmoil and controversy I can't be a physical part of it."

Stones Leaps To Victory
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dwight Stones scored his first victory since being reinstated as an amateur after a 17-month suspension when he captured the high jump at the Philadelphia Track Classic with a leap of 7 feet, 3 1/4 inches.

Stones, a two-time Olympic bronze medal winner suspended by the Amateur Athletic Union for accepting prize money on a sports television show, tried to clear 7-4 1/2 but failed in three attempts.

The agenda will include election of new officers and matters of general business.

Super Bowl Defense Better Matched Than Some Think

By HAL BOCK

AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—

At the gala party saluting Super Bowl XIV, two of the main attractions were robots dressed as Mean Joe Greene of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Jack Youngblood of the Los Angeles Rams.

It was entirely appropriate because those two defensive giants epitomize the strengths of their respective teams. It is around defense that the success of these clubs is constructed.

Youngblood will play Sunday despite a hairline fracture of his left leg. He is the inspirational leader of the proud Ram defense, the same role that Greene owns with the Steelers.

Both teams employ the traditional four-man front on defense rather than the increasingly popular 3-4 set. Two of the Rams' front four — Youngblood and tackle Larry Brooks are All Pros. Tackles Mike Fanning and end Fred Dryer complete the LA defensive line.

For the Steelers, Greene is joined by Gary Dunn at tackle with John Banaszak and L.C. Greenwood at the ends.

The linebackers for both teams are strong and mobile and endowed with a little bit of recklessness, a prerequisite for the position. Probably the best known is Pittsburgh's All Pro, Jack Lambert, who led his team with 117 tackles. He lines up in the middle, flanked by Dennis Winston, whose nickname is Dirt, and Robin Cole.

Hacksaw Reynolds, whose rarely used polite name is Jack, is the middle linebacker for the Rams, with Jim Youngblood (no relation to Jack Youngblood) and Bob Brudzinski working outside.

Pittsburgh's secondary is headed by another All Pro, strong safety Donnie Shell, one of the toughest hitters in football. The free safety is J.T. Thomas, who made a remarkable comeback from a blood disorder that kept him sidelined all last season. The corner backs are second-year man Ron Johnson and veteran Mel Blount.

Los Angeles uses a pair of pint-sized cornerbacks, Rod Perry and Pat Thomas, both 5-foot-9. Both are coming back from injuries that sidelined them during the season. The strong safety is Dave Elmendorf, who's never missed a game in nine years. Nolan Cromwell, a former college quarterback, is at free safety.

Both teams come into the game with impressive defensive records.

The Rams set an NFL record by limiting explosive Seattle to minus seven yards in total offense in a midseason game. That was one of three shutouts LA recorded during the season.

Pittsburgh had just one shutout but limited opponents to a touchdown or less in six games.

Tryouts For WTC Play Set

Open tryouts for the Western Texas College dinner theatre production of "See How They Run" will be held Monday night in the Fine Arts Theatre on campus, Jim Rambo, director, has announced.

Community residents interested in trying for roles in the play or in working in the technical crew are invited to attend the session scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Reading will continue until all those present have been heard.

"See How They Run" is a fast-paced comedy written by Philip King and first produced in London. Galloping in and out of the four doors of an English Vicarage are an American actor and actress (he is now stationed with the Air Force in England), a cockney maid who has seen too many American movies; an old maid who "touches alcohol for the first time in her life"; four men in clergyman's suits presenting the problem of which is which, for disguised as one is an escaped prisoner, and another a sedate bishop aghast at all these goings on.

WTC's dinner theatre is scheduled to open on Feb. 28. Performances are to follow on Feb. 29, March 1, 6, 7 and 8. Ticket information may be obtained by calling the Fine Arts Division office at 573-8511, extension 234.

The game of squash supposedly originated in 15th century London's sinister Fleet Prison, where prisoners shaped balls from rags and batted them against the walls with crude rackets to pass the time.

Buillion Market 'Basically Nuts'

By KRISTIN GOFF
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Analysts have long since stopped talking about such economic fundamentals as inflation and loss of confidence in the dollar when explaining what's happening to gold.

The buillion market is "absolutely nuts," commented one harried trader as the price of a troy ounce of gold leap-frogged past $800 only two days after it broke the $700-an-ounce barrier.

They have predicted the death of the world 10 times over," said another, alluding to political and economic fears arising out of turmoil in the oil-rich area of Middle East.

While such statements in the heat of trading exaggerate the situation, the latest rush to gold does appear to have its underpinnings in a crisis atmosphere that has developed since Iranians took hostages at the U.S. embassy in Tehran Nov. 4.

More recently, the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and the fear in the West that the Soviets may attempt to flex their muscles elsewhere in the Persian Gulf region and Yugoslavia have added enormously to international tension.

Analysts argue that the rapid increase in the price of gold is a barometer of that tension. In the Middle East it appears that many people are moving the assets into gold, a traditional haven in times of war and political unrest.

While Americans and Europeans, for instance, don't face the same direct threat of governmental upheaval, gold's big price jumps along with the U.S.-Soviet confrontation over Afghanistan have had a snow-balling effect among buyers in countries around the world, analysts say.

Forecasting price movements of gold is even more difficult than predicting next year's inflation. On both accounts economists were wildly wrong last year. Even the most enthusiastic gold bugs did not envision gold's startling price jump.

It took a full year—from July 1978 to July 1979—for gold's price to rise from $200 to $300 an ounce. But the price has spiraled since then.

In other business developments this past week:

The recession that was predicted for 1979 never materialized, according to government figures showing the economy increased 2.3 percent during the year. For the fourth quarter of the year, the Gross National Product rose by 1.4 percent, after adjustment for inflation. That was somewhat less than economists expected, leading some to predict that the long-predicted recession is actually coming in early 1980.

President Carter backed a $1.23 billion plan for an all-United States oil pipeline connecting Port Angeles, Wash., with the upper Midwest.

U.S. Crude oil production and gasoline consumption fell in the United States last year because of rising gas prices and government fuel economy standards on new cars.

HERBIE THE HOG likes to pretend he is a duck. The 2-year-old, 300-pound pig even copies the ducks by poking his head underwater in the pond at his Salinas, Calif., home.

Late Registration At WTC Continues

Late registration for the spring semester at Western Texas College has begun and will continue through Jan. 29.

Students not yet registered are to go first to the counseling office in the Student Center. That office is open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Thursday. It closes at 4 p.m. on Fridays. Students who must register during evening hours are to go to the Student Services office in the Administration Building.

Snyderites On Honor Lists

COMMERCE—Two students from Snyder are on honor lists for the fall semester at East Texas State University.

Rachel C. Phillips is on the President's Honor Roll and William L. Sul-lenger is on the Dean's List.

To make the President's Honor Roll, a student must have a grade point average of 4.0 and be enrolled for at least 12 credit hours for the semester. Students with at least a 3.25 average in at least 12 hours qualify for the Dean's List.

'Either We Or They', Says Man Of Insects

By SID MOODY
AP News Features Writer

A government official escorted a visitor out of a large building in Washington recently and summed up a morning's conversation:

"Trite to say, maybe, but it's a matter of life and death. It's either we or they."

The building was a museum, not the Pentagon.

The official was a scientist, not a secretary of state. The subject was not ayatollahs nor Russian missiles.

He was referring to insects.

"They are our prime competitors on this planet," said Dr. Lloyd V. Knutson, an entomologist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Insects eat the food that sustains us, the fibers that clothe us, the structures that shelter us. They carry diseases that kill us by the millions.

"This is not the Age of Man," says Knutson. "It is the Age of Insects." And as mankind's population explosion increasingly cultivates the utmost of a small, finite planet's resources to feed itself, competition threatens to become a confrontation for survival.

Insects come marvelously equipped for the struggle. Individually they know only a few specific things. Collectively they know almost everything. Their small size admirably fits them for life on this small planet. Their demand on its resources is modest. They proliferate.

An East African termite queen lays 43,000 eggs a day. Some queens live 40 years and more. If all the offspring of a housefly couple in Munich, say, survived for a year, they would cover West Germany 47 miles deep.

Insects are fantastically adaptable. They live in the Antarctic, in tar pits in California, in sulphur springs. Bedbugs can survive four years without eating. An African fly can lie for a decade in the dust of a dried lake bed in Kenya. Add water, and it pops to life.

They eat anything. Wire insulation in TV sets. People. Crops. And, fortunately, each other. A species of cabbage beetle has an insect parasite that has a parasite that has a parasite.

Insects must also be given their due. No bees; few flowers. They decompose vegetation and help produce and aerate soil. And, since every insect has enemies that predatize or parasitize it, they keep things somewhat under control.

Of course, the insects' ultimate weapon is choice. If things get too vicious in the neighborhood or the hamper runs low, they can move.

Insects are probably pretty nonchalant about man," surmises Dr. Robert Lederhose, an entomologist at Rutgers University. Man grows the crops they like instead of forcing them to forage in the wild. He builds houses for them to gnaw. He flies them across oceans in jets, opening up vast new vistas free from their enemies back home.

The insect has time on his side. The cockroach has been chewing its way through life for 300 million years. Man's recent arrival has only meant an improved and varied diet. What the insect has known for eons, man has only learned in the last century—how evolution works.

Insects play evolution to the hilt.

BLANCHE'S BLABS

By BLANCHE CHISUM

Pets for children mean responsibility for the child. As parents, recognize that ownership of a pet for your child is really a partnership with you. Assigning him the total responsibility may be giving him more than he's ready to assume.

This can result in dissatisfaction for the child, frustration for the parents and potential doom for the pet. Most children are not ready even for partial responsibility of a pet until they're school age. Even then, limit your expectations of their responsibility in keeping with their abilities. Parents can help most by setting examples and by involving children in parent-child tasks. These can include feeding, cleaning the pet's facilities and other aspects of pet care. Gradually the child can handle more of the tasks. It's also helpful to discuss the pet's special needs with your child and to establish a routine for its care. Make allowances for "forgetting," but help the child understand how the pet depends on him. Pets have value for their owners. They often help children learn about nature, compassion and caring. They also teach humane values and responsibility. In selecting a pet, choose with the age and maturity of the child in mind. Safety of the child and the pet are important.

- Standard bidding methods
- By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag
- Recently, we inaugurated a new policy in this column. No hands will be shown for Saturday articles. Instead we will continue to answer bidding problems and if you want to keep these columns they will eventually give you a complete, simple form of standard American which may well be known as the basic Jacoby system if you want to give them a name. We will also discuss advanced expert methods, but most of you readers should leave them alone. They are all too complicated for anyone who does not want to make bridge a major part of his life. We use the 4-3-2-1 point count as is universal from beginner to expert, but want to add a warning. Cards take tricks. Points don't. The American team that just won the World championship all used standard American as their base. In particular, not one of them used any artificial club opening bids although they did open one club (non-forcing, of course) with hands such as the South hand shown in Friday's article. They all used two clubs as their only forcing opening bid. This two-club opening showed either a very strong notrump hand or a normal forcing two bid in one of the four suits. They made light opening bids in all seats so there was no need to ever protect a partner's pass and open silly weak hands in third or fourth seat. They all shaded the standard notrump openings to 15-17 points which is standard expert practice. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.) Party hairstyles

Party time is the time to try a dramatically different hairstyle. If you usually wear your hair down, roll it for a sophisticated '40s look or pile it on top of your head for a mass of tumbling curls, set your hair on tiny rollers and comb out with your fingers. Smooth back one side with a rhinestone-studded comb. Or braid satin ribbons in your hair.

Dr. Periman Named Amarillo Man Of Year

Dr. Phillip O'Keefe Periman made a dream come true. His persistence in pursuing the dream of a cancer care center for the Amarillo area has earned him Man of the Year for 1979 by the Amarillo Globe-News.

Periman, raised in Amarillo, began in 1975 pursuing the building of a modern cancer diagnostic and treatment center for patients of the Panhandle area, a 500-mile radius. Construction of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center began in September, 1979 with the completion expected some time in the spring of 1981. Periman will be included in the staff at the center which will be furnished with the latest equipment. Some of the leading oncologists and radiologists in the country will also work at the center.

Periman was born in Memphis, Tex., and moved to Amarillo with his parents, Judge and Mrs. Carl Periman, at an early age. After graduating from Amarillo High School in 1957 he entered Yale University where he received his bachelor's degree in 1961. He received his medical degree in 1965 from Washington University School of Medicine.

Periman is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. L.N. Periman who were pioneers of Scurry County, coming to this area in a wagon to settle 10 miles northwest of town in 1900. He is the nephew of Vera Periman Holsinger of Snyder.

Larry White, assistant administrator for medical services at St. Anthony's hospital, said, "Phil was able to ignore the little potholes immediately in front of him and never take his eyes off the long-term goal."

Periman repeatedly has stated his determination to help find a cure for cancer. On Sept. 6, 1979, when ground was broken at Amarillo Medical Center to begin construction on the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center, Periman concluded an address with these words:

"The fight against cancer is not won. Many are the times that we are in tears at our helplessness, but here is reason to hope. With your help in this very place, cancer patients will be cured."

Periman, his wife, 10-year-old daughter and 4-year-old son reside at 1804 N. Julian, Amarillo.

The Woman of the Year was Mrs. Sybil Harrington, wife of the late Don Harrington. She was selected for her generous effort in enriching and improving the lives of others. Among her continued support for many worthwhile educational, health, and cultural institutions she contributed four million dollars toward the cancer care center.

Terrific Tidbits For Terrible Budgets

COLLEGE STATION— "Terrific tidbits" for "terrible budgets" are one answer to the economy "crunch," starting with this motto:

"Use it up, wear it out, make it do, do without."

Start with some workable ideas from Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System — then add your own ideas.

SOAP SAVES

Make your soap save money. Melt leftover bar soap by heating it in a microwave oven — place it on wax paper and heat it until it's soft, remove it and carefully shape it into one large piece of soap. It will harden quickly.

Or make liquid hand cleaner by placing leftover pieces of bar soap in a jar with a small amount of water.

SALVAGE 'RETIRED' CLOTHING

If spots and stains have "retired" some of your clothing, try these salvage steps:

Remove ballpoint ink by applying a generous amount of hair spray, then rub gently with a clean, dry cloth.

Remove grease on double knits by applying club soda to the spot.

To eliminate white hem lines on old blue jeans, mix permanent blue ink with water, and apply it to the jeans with a small brush.

TAKE INVENTORY

Avoid the temptation to buy more appliances — take inventory of those you already own. Many probably will do lots of the same household tasks as new products.

Spend a few minutes reviewing instruction booklets that came with your own appliances. Re-reading the booklets will refresh basic information — and give you new-use ideas.

Don't buy products on impulse. First, ask yourself, "Can I do without it?"

Many impulse purchases turn out much less suitable than they seemed at first.

Potato John Loan Shark

SHEFFIELD, England (AP)—To his customers he was known as Potato John, a kindhearted salesman who sold fruit and vegetables at their doors.

Now the salesman, Patrick Curr, has been jailed for 30 months and fined $2,400.

Police say Curr lent money to hard-up housewives and pensioners against their family allowances and charged them 800 percent interest.

FASHION—Green Lite dresses up the season in comfortable style, in silk-like Ecnor Golden Glow polyester. The cross-over neckline gets its supple drape from the adjustable gathered shoulders. It joins slim, trim pants that fall gracefully to below ankle-length.

Gamblers Sought By Communists

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—In an attempt to lure wealthy gamblers behind the Iron Curtain, Poland and Hungary have asked casino experts in Austria to train croupiers and help set up the first casinos in Communist countries. Unfortunately for the local citizens, however, it has been decided that the casinos will accept only foreign currency.

Club Federation Studied

"Federation's Role on our Enterprise Economy" is the name of a four year project launched in September 1978 by the General Federation of Women's Clubs of America (GFWC), whose membership numbers approximately 600,000. Co-sponsors are Cities Service Company and Proctor and Gamble. Increasing concern, nationwide, over threats to the United States' free enterprise system has prompted many organizations and business people to initiate plans for making all citizens aware of the dangers to our freedom," said Lois Bartels, Twentieth Century program leader at the club's Jan. 8 meeting.

"In supplying federated clubs with information and materials for club programs, GFWC has access to authoritative sources. The Chair of Free Enterprise, University of Texas; the Institute for Constructive Capitalism in Austin; the American Institute for Public Policy Research; the Clubwoman the Rockford College Institute, Rockford Ill.; and numerous corporations all furnish lectures, films, and other educational materials. Schools are urged to provide students from kindergarten through grade 12 with basic economic education.

"Free to Chose" is a series of 10 one-hour public television programs which began Jan. 18, in which Milton Friedman discusses the "miracle of America, a nation produced by free men; free to chose how to use their talents, whose products to buy, and what products to produce and sell." GFWC urges people to hear the discussions which will present different points of view," Mrs. Bartels concluded.

Mrs. Bartels was assisted by Margie Key, Paula Bysma of Sioux Falls, S.D., showed slides that she and her family made bylsma in England during the past six months they have lived there. Paula is the daughter of Bob and Henrietta Dupree. Twelve members, including one

BEAUTY DIGEST
Diane Robbins

By Diane Robbins, editor Beauty Digest magazine

Home Fitness

Comedienne Joan Rivers told Beauty Digest Magazine how she exercises when busy around the house. "Everyone says that bending and stretching are good, so I stretch up to the top shelves of closets and bend down to clear away clutter on my floors. I straighten and slim at the same time, smoothing out my house and my figure in one shot."

No sweat

If you tend to perspire a lot while wearing warm clothing indoors, shave underarms in the evening and apply antiperspirant one hour later. Next morning, reapply at least 15 minutes after your bath or shower. Stay away from synthetic fibers, which trap moisture. If your clothing gets discolored by perspiration, sponge a fresh stain with ammonia, an old one with white vinegar, rinse and launder or dry clean.

Chips away

Here are some tips for keeping your manicure intact. Don't use your nails to pry open jars, bobbypins or stubborn caps. Use the end of a pen to dial the telephone. Learn to type with the pads of your fingers, not with your nails. When doing household chores, wear rubber gloves. Apply an extra coat of sealer every other day to keep polish fresh and chip proof.

Hair color and complexion

When considering a change in hair color, make sure the new shade will look natural with your complexion tone. Pale, creamy complexions can take any hair color but blonde hair can make a pale woman look a bit washed out. Pink skin tones will look pinker if you go red so stick to ashy shades of blonde and brown or dark brown. Ruddy skin is flattered by the fairest blond or darkest brunettes. Browns and beige blonds are the best colors for fallow skin. Olive skin looks best with ash blond or dark brown hair.

Gone bananas

If you reach for junk food when you're nervous, try snacking on bananas instead. They're a good source of Vitamins A and C and potassium, the mineral that reduces tension. Bananas are also an inexpensive source of energy and add important fiber to your diet.

Dear Abby

She's Jiving Them Crazy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: After being a very lonely widower for four years, Dad married last year. He is 87 and in good health. His wife (I'll call her Maria) is 80. Maria is good natured, pleasant, and not a stupid woman, but she is a non-stop talker. This woman can talk indefinitely unless someone rudely interrupts her and takes over. I clocked her once, and she talked incessantly for an hour and 55 minutes!!

Everyone in the family has run out of excuses to avoid being in Maria's company, which means staying away from Dad, too.

We passed up Thanksgiving and Christmas with Dad because we couldn't take Maria.

She does make a nice home for Dad, and being a rather quiet and patient man, he seems happy with her.

We feel slightly guilty for not seeing Dad because of his wife, but we don't know how else to handle it. Any suggestions?

This letter is signed by his two daughters and their husbands.

ANONYMOUSLY YOURS

DEAR ANONYMOUSLY: Nothing in this life is free. If you want to give your father the pleasure of your company (and you should), the price is tolerating Maria.

Non-stop talkers usually talk compulsively because silence embarrasses them. Don't hesitate to break in and good-humoredly ask Maria to yield the floor to someone else. Don't let a talkative woman deprive your father of the company of his children.

DEAR ABBY: I received a phone call yesterday from my sister-in-law who returned last week from a trip to the Orient.

She said, "I brought you a gift - when can you come over and pick it up?"

A bby, we both drive, and it's no easier for me to pick it up than it is for her to deliver it.

I don't like misunderstandings or ill feelings with relatives, so I went over and picked it up. Not that it matters, but it was some cheap little thing (made in Hong Kong) that you see in every gift shop in town.

My husband said I was foolish to have picked it up - I should have just let it sit over there until SHE delivered it. What do you think?

STEAMED IN PHOENIX

DEAR STEAMED: To have let the gift "sit there" indefinitely would have made an awkward situation worse.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old freshman in college and I live at home. My 18-year-old boyfriend and I like to lie on the couch and watch TV and sometimes just nap.

My Mom says it embarrasses her and makes her feel uncomfortable when we do this. She says it is not proper or in good taste, and it could cause sexual temptations.

She says it's OK to lie on the floor next to each other, but not "snuggled up."

I think Mom is over concerned, and at my age I should be able to make the decision to snuggle up on the couch with my boyfriend if I want to. I have a nice boyfriend and my family approves of him.

What do you think about the couch, Abby?

SNUGGLE BUG

DEAR SNUGGLE: I think you and your Mom are both right. Snuggling up on the couch could cause sexual temptations. And at 18 you are old enough to make your own decisions. But out of consideration to your mother, refrain from doing anything that will embarrass her.

DEAR ABBY: It is so difficult to know what is morally right and what is morally wrong these days. What use to be considered wrong 25 years ago is suddenly "right." How is a person supposed to know how to behave?

PERPLEXED IN PISMO BEACH

DEAR PERPLEXED: Let your conscience be your guide. Strangely enough, we now have about 20 million laws trying to enforce the Ten Commandments.

Teens: Are there some questions you just can't ask anyone about sex, drugs, your own feelings? Get Abby's new booklet, WHAT TEENAGERS OUGHT TO KNOW. Send $2 to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose a long, stamped (25 cents), self-addressed envelope.

costly side effects

On January 1, the minimum wage increased from $2.90 to $3.10 an hour. Undoubtedly, some politicians during next year's election will boast that one of the things they "accomplished" during their term in office was increasing the minimum wage. It's a good slogan, but a close look reveals it is nothing to boast about.

The most potent force behind minimum wage increases is not poorly paid workers. Instead, the pressure comes from organized unions of highly paid workers who fear being undercut.

Even aside from that, the minimum wage has several very serious side effects which eclipse its alleged noble purposes. First, the federal wage standard, which is supposed to help those on the lowest end of the pay scale, hurts those it is intended to help. Minimum wage advocates claim it will increase the wages of all workers currently working for less than the proposed wage base. Their claim is untrue. Many unskilled workers, who currently support themselves, are going to find themselves unemployed when the minimum wage is increased. It happens every time; there is every reason to believe that no amount of good intentions will make things different this time around.

Those forced into unemployment are the least skilled workers. Minority workers traditionally have been the hardest hit. Young people, who have yet to develop their talents or their seniority, are another group who find themselves without jobs as a result of minimum wage increases. Obviously, their wages are not increased.

A second effect of a minimum wage increase is an escalation of federal spending to supposedly help those who will find themselves unemployed. Many of those who vote to increase the minimum would rather see people on public assistance than making the same amount at a low income job. The congressmen are aware it will cause unemployment to justify other "humanitarian" spending schemes they can boast about to their gullible constituents.

A third effect of an increased minimum wage is pressure on prices. Interestingly, the prices most quickly affected by minimum wage increases are those of many items purchased by those in the lower income levels.

Finally, there is one result of increasing the minimum wage that is very rarely discussed. Every time the minimum goes up it adds a further incentive for illegal aliens to come to the United States. There is little statistical evidence about it, but people in immigrant communities know well that the relationship exists. When the minimum wage goes up, more jobs are created in the underground economy, jobs which do not pay the minimum wage but offer cash and no questions.

If serious side-effects did not exist, there would be no reason the minimum wage should not be increased to $10 per hour. The recognition that such a move would be absurd admits that side effects exist. Unfortunately, boasting politicians never talk about the damage their ostensibly humanitarian programs have caused. If they had to, you can bet there would be no minimum wage.

bad-mouthing industry

Any political campaign in open season on the "whipping boys."

The safest target for any politician's boot is the backside of "big business."

It's a cheap shot. Who's going to talk back?

The crowd-rouser can blame high prices, pollution, shoddy merchandise and cancer — on "big business."

And anybody who ever suffered from any of those evils is eager to blame somebody.

And, as I say, who's to refute this libel?

Do you realize that an industry cannot even purchase time on radio or television to respond to such indictments?

There is an Institute of Toxicology at Research Triangle Park in North Carolina. In this $14 million complex a hundred researchers are testing and re-testing chemicals and products made of chemicals to make certain that they are as safe as they can be.

This number-one-in-the-world center on toxicology was created, paid for, and is supported by 34 U.S. chemical companies.

Again, it is not "government" seeking to protect you from potentially harmful products; it is "industry."

For the same reason, the Chemical Manufacturers Assn. has created a "Chemical Transportation Emergency Center."

In a chemical spill crisis don't call Washington; the average bureaucrat does not know beans about whether there is a danger or what should be done about it.

Telephone instead the Chemical Transportation Emergency Center which is manned around the clock by bona-fide experts.

When a Rock Island train derailed recently in rural Alma, Kansas, a tank car loaded with hydrochloric acid was on its side and leaking.

The sheriff telephoned CHEMTREC. Might it explode? How about fumes? Should the town be evacuated? How could the leak be sealed? How could the spill be neutralized?

Promptly the questions were answered and the potential disaster defused and cleanup had begun.

The headlines sounded exciting, but to this industry-maintained service it was just another of 90,000 calls received and 15,000 crises defused in the past eight years.

Now — were I to list the efforts of every industry and every industry association to police its own safety and recover its own fumbles the cynics would merely conclude that the industry effort was self-serving, "to prevent damage litigation."

And, of course, that is a factor. But, as Rep. John Rhodes (R-Ariz.) says, "While other countries such as Japan help their businesses, in the United States success invites attack. Government has assumed an adversary relationship to business."

And the public, parroting the politicians, mean-mouthing, pillorying and punishing the prosperity-producers, wonders why American industry is in recession.

Reader reaction sometimes is intense and strong and Time magazine recently was reminded of this when the news magazine received more than 2,000 subscription cancellations after naming Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini as

"Man of the Year."

Most of us could think of numerous people more worthy of the front cover picture, but Time explained that its selection is based upon a person's impact on the news-regardless of whether it is good or bad.

Personally, we would have found someone else more worthy of the honor, but the cancellation was no record for the magazine which has 4.5 million circulation.

A cover story back in 1973 on the X-rated movie "Last Tango in Paris" promoted 6,750 cancellations.

Even though we were offended by the Time "Man of the Year" selection, the impact that the Iran situation is having on world events cannot be denied.

The media's job is to simply report a clear and accurate picture of what is going on. As an old editor once said, "We don't make the news, we just report it."

Newspapers run stories of rapes, murders, robberies, and other events, but that certainly doesn't mean that such activity is condoned by the media.

it's possible

Have you ever watched a bird with its wings extended, seemingly floating in space?

The tiny creature appears to be suspended in the air. What it is doing is leaning against the wind, using the tension or movements of the air to support itself. As he wind blows towards the bird it simply rests instead of wrestling against it.

When you are at the seashore watch as the rough waves roll in and break against the jetties, creating noisy, bouncing, rough surf.

In the shallow places you'll see people standing tense and apprehensive, bracing themselves to the fierce slap of the next wave which will come crashing over them.

Often they are sent tumbling and spluttering against the gritty, shell-laden bottom. Off in the distance you'll see others, young golden-skinned boys and girls astride surfboards, rising and falling gently with the undulating waves.

They turn their boards toward the rising, oncoming waves, stand up and as a mountainous wave swells to a whitecapped crest, they ride serenity and confidently shoreward, pushed by the power of the same wave that will send other people sprawling onto the sandy beach.

The surfers have learned not to fight the waves but to ride them.

You can do the same thing with the points of stress and tension in life. Many people try to fight against the stress and tension they are feeling, and usually they lose the battle and blow their temper, quit their job or develop an ulcer.

The secret to winning this battle is to turn tension into tools and stress into strength. Just as the powerful wave can either send you sprawling or carry you forward in smooth, beautiful flight, so, in some cases, can tensions send you crashing down or motivate you to better thoughts and actions.

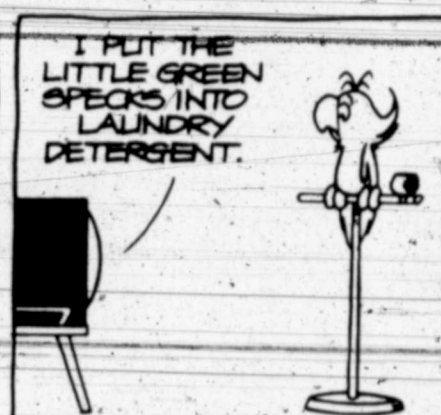

They can make you or break you. Under the grip of their power, you will grow up or blow up. They can be heavy weights or gossamer wings. They can shake you — or they can take you — out of a rut. Stop deriding and start riding them.

Petrochemicals Expected To Continue Strong

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP)—When Ray B. Nesbitt discusses the future of petrochemicals he uses such words as positive, attractive, and bright.

The president of Exxon Chemical Co. USA says the industry, despite slower growth trends, will still be one of the most attractive areas for investment in the 1980s.

During the decade of the 1950s, he said, primary petrochemicals grew at an amazing average rate of 17 percent a year and the rate was still a hearty 13 percent in the 1960s.

"But in the past decade, the average growth rate dropped sharply to 4.6 percent per year," he said.

"This pronounced slowing of growth was camouflaged somewhat by the violent cyclical behavior of the economy over the 1973-76 period."

He added that forecasts based on detailed analysis of the U.S. economy indicate the reduction of growth will continue and that an average growth rate of about 4 percent a year can be expected for primary petrochemicals in the 80's.

"Although this rate is low compared to the '50s and '60s, it still will be 40 percent higher than the growth forecast for the overall U.S. economy," he said.

"So, at least in relative terms, we will continue to be a growth industry."

Nesbitt said primary petrochemicals afford a good measure of industry growth because they are the key starting materials, or building blocks, for the large majority of petrochemicals.

Primary petrochemicals include such major basic chemical building blocks as ethylene, propylene, butadiene, benzene, toluene, and xylene. Nesbitt said a forecast gross national product growth of 2.8 percent in the next decade is slightly lower than the 3 percent of the 1970s.

"This will have some dampening effect on petrochemicals' growth," he said.

"But, by far, the major reason for the slowing growth rate is the maturing of the petrochemical industry as it saturates end-markets and invents fewer entirely new products."

Nesbitt said the chemical industry's good record for innovation is expected to continue and perhaps accelerate through increased real expenditures for research and development.

"Recent heavy emphasis on process research will continue, and this portends further important breakthroughs in the technology of catalysis, adding to the spectacular successes in the 1970s," he said.

"These will benefit not only the companies making the breakthroughs, but the entire industry as it continues to outinnovate its competitors in the steel, aluminum, paper and glass industries."

Nesbitt said research breakthroughs on the product side have been less impressive.

"A major challenge for research and development in the '80s will be to invent new products and find new product applications," he said.

"I am optimistic that polymer research in particular has much further potential for displacing traditional materials in the transportation and construction industries. The growing use of lightweight polymers in automobiles and appliances are good examples. Overall, then, we see a slower but positive growth trend which will still make the petrochemical industry one of the most attractive areas for investment in the 1980s."

Nesbitt said soaring energy costs and shortages pose severe problems for the industry because petrochemicals use energy sources not only as fuel but also as raw materials.

"Yet petrochemicals, with their pervasive effect on our lifestyles in America, use only a little over 3 percent of U.S. energy as feedstock and another 2 percent in fuel for manufacturing processes," he said.

"In addition, petrochemicals are often less energy intensive over their entire life cycle than the products they replace."

Applications For Scholarship Due

SAN ANGELO—Students interested in majoring in journalism at Angelo State University may begin applying for the Millard Cope Memorial Scholarship, according to Dr. Mary K. Sparks, head of the ASU journalism department.

The scholarship is awarded each year to a freshman journalism student entering ASU. A freshman recipient is eligible to apply for renewal each year providing the student maintains good academic standing and makes significant contributions to the ASU journalism program.

Several Cope Awards are made each year by the selection committee. Last spring, four scholarships were awarded to entering freshmen and four scholarships were awarded to sophomore, junior, and senior students who were renewing their awards.

Application forms may be obtained by writing to the office of financial aids at Angelo State, and the application deadline is March 31.

Millard Cope scholarships are financed from the proceeds of a trust fund established by the late Mr. and Mrs. Houston Harte as a memorial to the late Millard Cope, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times at the time of his death Jan. 4, 1964.

Winners of the freshman award as well as the renewals will be determined by a selection committee composed of Dr. L.D. Vincent, ASU president; Tucker Sutherland, publisher of the Standard-Times; and Larry Crabtree, publisher of the Vernon Record and president of the West Texas Press Association.
