ANSWERLINE

Q. How is it that TU Electric has mailed customers notice of a decrease when it actually increased the price per kilowatt?

A. In January of 1993, TU Electric filed a 15.3 percent increase proposal with the Public Utilities Commission. In August, TU was allowed to place the increase into effect by putting up a bond although the PUC had not reached a decision. In May of this year, PUC approved a 9 percent rate increase, not the 15.3 percent requested. TU has dropped the rate hike from 15.3 to 9 percent, but it still represents an increase in your bill.

Mary Lopez and Sylvia Davila get items ready for the first day of the Summer Food Program sponsored by the Colorado Independent School District. Meals are served at the Middle School Cafeteria free to everyone 18 and under during the week.

Summer Food Service is off to a fast start

The Summer Food Service Program for the Colorado Independent School District got off to a good start Monday as some 220 children were served the free meals. In addition, 17 adult meals were also sold at $2.50 each.

This program provides free lunches to all children one year through eighteen years of age and the menu will run weekly in the Record.

Meals will be served at the Middle School Cafeteria between the hours of 11:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m., Monday through Friday until August 5.

Children and those wishing to buy their lunch may enter the cafeteria at the west door on Chestnut Street and may be served anytime during the serving time.

Ken Weaver, Food Service Director, said everyone participating in the program will be served the same free meal and will not be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, religion or political belief.

All meals served will meet the USDA guidelines for children which will furnish one-third of a child's minimum daily requirement of nutrition.

All children are invited to come and eat lunch - there are no tickets to keep up with, no forms to fill out or reservations to make.

It is not necessary for the children to live in Mitchell County to be eligible to participate in the SFSP.

National Tourney takes up rooms

The Girl's Little Dribblers National Basketball Tournament to be held in Snyder through Saturday will have a definite impact on motel accommodations this week in Colorado City.

"We're full and we're still getting calls from all over the state," said Mary Haggerton of the Villa Motel "when we answer the phone we expect to hear someone ask if we have any vacancies for the Little Dribblers' tournament?"

"We've been booked for about a month," added Jackie Nall.

Hema Patel of Days' Inn echoed their statements as she said

"we are full through the end of the tournament which is Saturday."

She just tells them to call back Thursday or Friday and maybe some teams were eliminated early and rooms might be available.

"We could have filled the motel up with teams and their parents but we had a wedding and a reunion booked for some time," added Mrs. Patel.

Some seventy teams will participate in the tournament with teams as far away as central Louisiana. There will be several teams from the Dallas-Ft. Worth area as well as the Gulf Coast.

Necktie exhibit opens Saturday at museum

• Ugliest - entrants in this category will have admitted that the necktie entered is "ugly" and that it will compete against other "ugly" neckties that are submitted.

The contest is limited to neckties and shall not include bow ties, ascots, bolo ties and the like. Entries will be judged on Saturday, June 11. For further information, contact Liz Connell at the Museum (728-8285).

Water District is defeated

Voters in Mitchell and Borden Counties were for the creation of the Rolling Plains Underground Water District but heavy opposition in Scurry County sent the proposed district down the drain.

In Mitchell County, 139 voters favored the creation of the district while 96 voted against it. Borden County voters cast 47 votes for the district while only 12 were in opposition. However, Scurry County voters were overwhelmingly against it as 1,021 voted no while 196 were in favor. Totals for the three counties showed 1129 against the creation of the district while 382 were for it.

The proposal, which would have given its directors the power to tax property owners, drew early opposition in Scurry County as opponents there played heavily on the taxing power of the proposed district.

Proponents for the district countered by saying that regulation of underground water by the state or federal government is only a few years away and control would be much better if under local control.

A group in Scurry County, known as Citizens for Financial Restraint, ran several ads in the Record and the Snyder Daily News opposing the district. Voters in Mitchell and Borden Counties cast their ballots in their County Clerk's offices but Scurry County's clerk refused to conduct the election. The temporary board had to hire a person for the period of early balloting and election day although courthouse facilities were used.

TU Electric proposes new rates in hopes of economic development

TU Electric recently proposed a package of new strategic rates designed to enhance economic development, improve the environment and encourage further energy conservation by large users of electricity.

The proposal was filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas and cities in the TU Electric service area.

If approved, the new rates will be offered to qualifying commercial, industrial and wholesale electric customers as an incentive to attract new businesses and jobs, to retain existing businesses or to encourage job creation through the expansion of existing businesses. The package also includes an incentive for qualifying customers who convert to advanced technologies that will conserve energy or improve the environment.

"Every customer of TU Electric will benefit from this package," said TU Electric Manager Linda Edwards. "These options will provide revenue that the company otherwise would not receive, thereby helping to reduce the level of future rate requirements. In addition, all residents of the service area will benefit from increased economic development, a cleaner environment and the conservation of energy resources."

The package consists of two competitive rates for qualifying commercial, industrial and wholesale customers; an Economic Development Service rider to help attract new businesses to the area and an Environmental Technology Service rider to encourage conversion by customers to more energy-efficient and environmentally beneficial technologies.

"Approval of the strategic rate package will be a vital step in keeping this part of Texas competitive in today's business environment," Edwards said. "We hope it will be approved quickly so TU Electric customers can begin to benefit from it."

TU Electric serves more than 2.2 million customers in 88 counties of North Central, West and East Texas.

Swimming lessons cancelled, money to be refunded

Swimming lessons at the Colorado City Swimming Pool have been cancelled until further notice said city manager Steve Shutt Tuesday afternoon.

This follows an incident at the pool Tuesday morning when a bystander, observing a child that appeared in danger in the water, jumped into the pool and brought the youngster to the bank.

Shutt said Tuesday that an evaluation of the pool operation needed to be done and said at this time the incident was still being checked into.

Refund checks will be mailed to those who have paid for lessons and regular swimming hours are to remain the same.

C-City Playhouse to host McMurry play

The Colorado City Playhouse will host the McMurry Theatre Department's production of Nunsense on Friday, June 17 and Saturday, June 18. Both performances will begin at 8 p.m.

Nunsense, by Dan Goggin, is a hilarious musical comedy telling the story of five nuns who put on a musical revue in a high school gym as a fundraiser. They need the money in order to bury several of their sisters who have died of food poisoning (under strange circumstances) and are temporarily "on ice," so to speak. One of the most successful Off-Broadway productions of recent years, it is the winner of four Outer Critics' Circle Awards including Best Musical. The humor and music are non-stop and divinely irresistible.

The cast of Nunsense includes Debbie Stephenson as Sister Mary Regina, Mary Glover as Sister Mary Hubert, Shelby Johnson as Sister Mary Robert Anne, Rachael Bein as Sister Mary Amnesia and Kristi Carlson as Sister Mary Leo. The band consists of Nicholas White on piano, Michael Dean on woodwinds and Dean Boyles on percussion.

The production is directed by Laura Wyatt. Wanza Berry is the assistant director and choreographer with Rebecca Joyce as the stage manager and understudy.

Reservations may be made by calling the Opera House Box Office at 728-3491 or patrons may stop by the theatre located at 337 Walnut. The box office will open Monday, June 13 through Thursday, June 16 from 1 to 5 p.m. and June 17 and 18 from 1 p.m. until curtain time. Patrons are encouraged to make reservations as early as possible because of limited seating. Admission is $5. No old membership passes will be accepted.

Texas property tax rate doubles since 1982

Since 1982 the average property tax rate in Texas has more than doubled from 1.037% to 2.258% of market value in 1992-93. During that period, the tax base grew by 18%; local governments raised tax levies by 144% or eight times as fast.

The figures were provided by the Texas Research League, an Austin-based public policy research group, and do not include tax changes in 1993-94 because state-wide data are not yet available.

Property taxes in Texas averaged 2.258% of market value

(selling price) in 1992-93, but varied widely throughout the state, ranging from a high of 3.28% in Robstown to a low of 1.57% in Fairfield.

Local property taxes were 98.9% of value. That rate consisted of .3278% levied by the city, 1.4412% by Colorado ISD, .3225% by the hospital district and .4216% for the county.

For a single-family house that would sell for $80,000, the highest tax bill was $2,678 in Dallas (in Wilmer-Hutchins ISD) and the lowest was $1,232 tax in Dalhart.

If the house were eligible for various homestead exemptions, the lowest tax would have been $956 in New Braunfels compared to a high of $2,371 in Robstown.

In Colorado City, the tax bill on an $80,000 house in 1992-93 averaged $2,162 if rented or $1,926 if the homeowner claimed homestead exemptions.

The report points out that homeowners over the age of 65 are eligible for both state-mandated and local-option exemptions and would pay less. Furthermore, school tax bills for the elderly are frozen at the level in place when the homeowner turned 65.

Equitable appraisals among different types of property are a significant factor in attracting new industry and jobs to a community. The 1992-93 property tax on industrial equipment and inventories valued at $80,000 ranged from $1,231 in Fairfield to $2,639 in Robstown.

For property worth $80,000 here the report shows a combined average tax of $2,010 for all types of property, $2,032 for industrial equipment and inventories and $2,085 for commercial inventories and fixtures.

The report cites two reasons for the range of taxes. First, local officials adopt budgets and set tax rates and the amount of homestead exemptions. Second, unless all property is appraised uniformly, tax burdens will vary. The lowest average ratio of tax appraisals to market value (selling price) was 67.6% in Lakeview ISD (Hall County); the highest ratio was in Divide ISD (Kerr County).

Locally, the report shows a ratio of 98.9% for all types of property in Colorado ISD, 99.9% in Westbrook ISD and 89% in Loraine ISD.

Taxes levied by counties ranged from $0.157 per $100 of market value in Titus County to $1.122 in Jim Hogg County. Including countywide special districts, county rates ranged from $0.170 in Somervell County to $1.160 in Schleicher County. In Mitchell County the true rate was $422 per $100.

Gary Wood, President of the Texas Research League, cautioned that the figures are for last year. Taxpayers already have paid their 1993-94 taxes.

Texans are urged to consume more beef

The Texas Beef Council's board of directors will promote additional beef consumption in coming months through the authorization of $300,000 worth of programs funded with Texas beef checkoff dollars. The funds will come from other budgeted programs and from higher-than-projected checkoff revenues for 1993-94.

The action was approved June 2 to help move the huge amount of beef in the marketplace that currently is depressing live cattle prices. The board emphasized that the measures complement a number of proactive measures on the national level to help reduce the current oversupply situation.

"The checkoff program was never meant to be used as a bandage whenever cattle prices were hurting," says Harlan Huffman of McGregor, chairman of the TBC board of directors. "It is meant to build long-term demand for beef."

Yet, he added, existing programs can be supplemented, extended or redirected to increase consumer awareness of beef during times of price declines.

"The diverted funds will extend radio buys and consumer access to beef cooking ideas," Huffman says. "Our goal is to increase the servings of beef within Texas by 680,000 per week."

This means that over 10 weeks, Texans will eat approximately 6.8 million additional servings of beef because of these programs. Overall, these increases will affect cattle prices by less than $1 per head but the board also felt the promotion will contribute to further meal increases in the fall.

In approving the additional expenditures, the board funded these actions:

- Radio advertisements will promote a toll-free number that consumers can call to receive checkoff-developed cookbooks including "30 Meats in 30 Minutes" and "Great Grilled Beef." Research by Leo Burnett, the beef industry's ad agency, shows that increased beef servings are achieved through distribution of cookbooks to consumers.

- The radio ads also will provide information about beef and beef specials that the Beef Industry Council (BIC) is coordinating in more than 29,000 supermarkets nationwide from June 12 to August 26. The radio ads will run in Amarillo, Austin, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock and San Antonio. They will be targeted at women between the ages of 25 and 54 approximately 100 times per week.

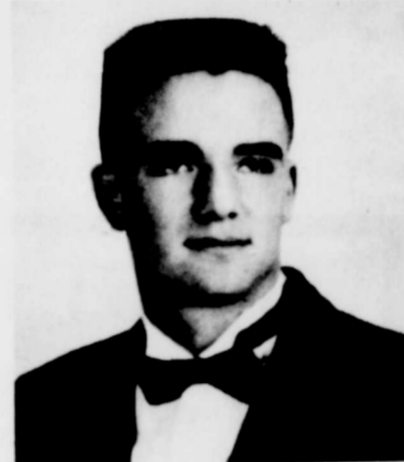

- The summer radio program will be complemented by a supermarket cookbook dissemination program. Members of Texas Cattle Women and Act Media representatives will distribute more than 160,000 cookbooks in 330 Texas supermarkets as well as answer basic questions about beef.

- Calls to a toll-free number will generate direct mailings of 60,000 additional cookbooks.

National programs conducted with beef checkoff dollars by the BIC include the featuring program, which historically has generated a 25:1 return on checkoff investments; national TV advertising, which will kick off June 13; national print advertising in targeted women's magazines and dissemination of Cut & Save labels that show consumers how to achieve savings by buying beef in bulk at a lower per pound cost.

TNRCC, EPA to tour landfills

The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) will accompany officials from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Washington, D.C. on a tour of four West Texas landfills in an effort to persuade the EPA to allow flexibility in the monitoring of groundwater in highly arid regions of the state.

The tour will occur June 13, the day before an EPA-sponsored public hearing in Midland. The EPA is seeking public comment on whether flexibility should be granted regarding groundwater monitoring requirements for small community landfills located in arid regions of the nation. Landfills to be toured are those in Yoakum County, Seminole, Fort Stockton and Alpine.

Current proposed federal rules require at least three groundwater monitoring wells around all landfills, regardless of location. In arid regions, each well can cost between $25,000-$50,000 to construct with substantial ongoing costs for sampling and sample analysis.

TNRCC Commissioner Peggy Garner says that as many as 100 rural communities in Texas would have to increase garbage fees to citizens by as much as 200 percent to pay for this level of monitoring.

"We are asking the EPA to allow flexibility in areas where there is little rainfall, significant geologic barriers to contamination, as well as water tables that are hundreds and sometimes thousands of feet below the surface," Garner said. "We feel that public health should be safeguarded, but that some consideration should be allowed for small communities in arid regions where the possibility of groundwater contamination is virtually nil."

The TNRCC is not suggesting that no monitoring occur in arid regions, but that less expensive monitoring be allowed on a site-by-site basis. One approach is the use of probes which can be placed in the ground to detect the presence of moisture under or around the landfill.

EPA officials participating in the tour include Bruce Weddle, Director of Municipal and Industrial Solid Waste for the EPA, Washington, D.C.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Texas Utilities Electric Company (TU Electric), in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA), publishes NOTICE of its Statement of Intent to implement the following four proposed tariffs throughout its service territories:

- 1) Rider ED - Economic Development Service;
- 2) Rate GC - General Service Competitive Pricing;
- 3) Rate WPC - Wholesale Power Competitive Pricing; and
- 4) Rider ET - Environmental Technology Service.

The only customers that will be affected by the proposed tariffs will be those customers eligible for service under TU Electric's General Service Rates GS, GP, and HV or its Wholesale Power Rate WP that voluntarily request one of the new services and that qualify for the service under the terms of the proposed tariff. This is not a "major change" in rates within the meaning of the PURA since the charges under the proposed tariffs are less than the charges that would otherwise be applicable under TU Electric's pertinent existing tariffs. The proposed effective date of the proposed tariffs is July 11, 1994, or as soon thereafter as permitted by law.

A complete copy of the proposed tariffs and TU Electric's application is on file with the Commission and at each of TU Electric's business offices.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is 45 days after the date the application was filed with the Commission. The application was filed with the Commission on June 6, 1994.

Organic cotton production offers advantages

A study funded in part by the Texas Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Diversification Program has concluded that organic cotton production in the High Plains offers economic advantages to farmers and to the state's economy, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

Along with paying farmers about twice what they receive for conventional cotton, organic cotton production also generates additional economic activity in the state. On average, an acre converted from conventional to organic production results in an additional $419.50 in demand for goods and services within the state, according to the study done by the University of Texas' Natural Fibers Research and Information Center in Austin.

Of the 13,300 acres of organic cotton planted for the 1992-93 season, the 11,000 bales harvested earned $5.5 million directly in farm-gate value. Organic cotton farmers on average earn about $1 per pound for organic cotton, compared with about 50 cents for a pound of conventional cotton.

"Twenty-Fiver" Golf Tourney set

The 27th annual "Twenty-Fiver" golf tourney is scheduled for June 18-19 at the Wolf Creek Golf Links.

It will be a two-man, low ball tournament and limited to the first 60 paid teams. Entry fee is $125 per team and the deadline is June 17.

It will be flighted by scores with a five-stroke limit. Cash prizes will be given for 1st, 2nd and 3rd in each flight.

For more information, call Wolf Creek Golf Links at 728-5514.

However, the total impact to the state was an additional $5.6 million in economic activity.

"This study shows that organic cotton production is a viable alternative for farmers to explore, especially in the High Plains, where Mother Nature has given our farmers a comparative advantage with a climate that discourages large insect populations and where freezes naturally defoliate cotton before harvest," Perry said.

The shift to organic cotton production increases economic activity by moving production inputs from chemically intensive items that are generally imported into the state to local inputs and labor-intensive methods. Economic activity also is increased because organic cotton brings a higher export price.

The study found that on average, an organic cotton farm requires an additional $2.51 in inputs per acre of cultivated land, and one job is created for every 1,000 acres converted. Even though the average organic cotton yield is 13 percent lower than conventional cotton, added revenue per acre for organic cotton is about $190. This added revenue impacts the Texas economy by generating demand, income and jobs in other sectors of the economy.

The study noted that the Texas High Plains is an ideal location for organic cotton production because the cattle feedlot industry provides a local source of animal manure for fertilizer; freezing temperatures kill and defoliate cotton plants in time for harvest and the area's relatively dry and cold climate creates few weed and insect problems.

Texas is the nation's largest producer of organic cotton with an estimated 18,000 acres of organic and transitional cotton expected to be planted this year. Transitional cotton is a crop that is undergoing TDA's organic certification process, which requires cotton to be free of synthetic pesticides and fertilizers for three years. About 45 farmers are involved in organic cotton production in the state.

The Texas Agricultural Diversification Program is a matching grants program designed to help diversify Texas agriculture. It does this by providing money to help transfer newly developed agricultural crops and techniques to the marketplace through agricultural research and innovation, business assistance and small business incubators.

The study, funded by an $18,000 grant from TDA, was conducted by Dr. Mina Mohammadioun, senior economist and manager, with the University of Texas' Natural Fibers Research and Information Center.

Forte hired as demonstration aide for Ag Extension

The Mitchell, Garza and Borden County Extension Offices would like to announce that Kara Lee Forte has been hired as the demonstration aide for the three counties. Kara Lee teaches computer classes at Hutchinson school and scouts fields in the summer.

This is the beginning of a new program started exclusively in District 2. Every county in the District will have, or share a demonstration aide to help gather data on result demonstrations in each county. Dr. Kater Hake, Cotton Specialist in Lubbock, funded most of these positions through a grant from the State Support Cotton Incorporated. Mitchell, Garza and Borden Counties' aide is solely funded by this grant.

In Mitchell County, Kara will help plant map 5 fields. This data will be collected and summarized every two weeks and reported on the radio and in the newspaper so Mitchell County growers have a better idea of how the cotton crop is growing. All plant mapped fields are dry land and are located in Loraine, Westbrook, Cuthbert, Buford and Colorado City. This cross section should provide a true representation of the counties' crop.

This data can be used to monitor the growth of the plant throughout the growing season and make timely decisions on harvest aids.

More information about plant mapping will be forthcoming via radio, newspaper and turnrow meetings.

LORAINE NEWS ABOUT TOWN

BY BESSIE ANN VAUGHN

This anniversary gift list has been around for many years and someone should revise it!

1. For instance, a first year gift is paper or plastic. What a downer if he came in with paper plates and plastic cups ... paper money and a plastic charge card might be some better.

2. Second year is cotton ... two long years for cotton balls?

3. Tenth year is tin ... ten long years for tin. A tin what?

4. Twenty years is china ... it has taken twenty long years for decent dishes. She's been using paper plates and plastic cups.

5. Fifty years is gold and from then on, diamonds. Remember, it might only mean a small gold coin or a very small diamond necklace.

You say it's the thought that counts? Fellows, if you want her to stay, give her paper, cotton, tin, china, gold and diamonds on the first anniversary and she most likely will hang in and work hard. She might even pick cotton or drive the tractor. Cancel the cotton picking; that's going too far. Tractor driving and slopping hogs! That seems better! There is also housecleaning, cooking, ironing, having babies, sewing, etc. etc. So, there has to be something else rather than "stuff" to make her want to stay. Figure it out, husbands! T.L.C. wouldn't hurt! Yes, wives should reciprocate.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Richburg from Tuscola and daughter Rebecca Richburg from Dallas spent last Thursday night with Effie Wheeler and Jimmie Jacks.

The Richburgs were en route to the Phoenix area to attend a graduation ceremony for a grandson.

Alfred and Elaine McMichael just returned from the Democratic Convention in Fort Worth.

The McMichaels stayed in Dallas and commuted to the Fort Worth Convention Center.

Bea Lee had cataract surgery again recently so both eyes are fine and dandy now. In fact, she sees so well she can tell that several rattlesnakes have been showing up around their farm.

Dorothy Fowler of Loraine also made the Democratic Convention in Fort Worth.

Chris Hall from Scottsboro, Alabama visited with Chrystene Hall last week.

Tommie Wright had a radiator shop for quite some time directly west of the Masonic building, but because of hip surgery he has converted it into a gun/book store, something he can more easily take care of now.

He has a terrific selection of romance novels, ladies, and also a row of Louis L'Amour for readers of western adventure. There are other items as well, some fishing gear and of course, guns for sale.

Rosie, a pretty yellow brindled cat seems to run the place and the shop is named "Rosie's." So Rosie is Top Cat. Tommie says to come and visit with him and Rosie.

Mary Love and Jack Allbright came from Odessa, visited with Sybil Walker, then they all attended the Hamiltons' anniversary party. Afterward, the Allbrights went on to Robert Lee.

Highlights from the Center include a visit this past week with Fern Coon. She looked so good and was accompanied by two nieces who see to her needs. The nieces are Mary Richardson and Edith Shields. They are all living in Midland now.

Visitors coming by recently were Dude Hantche, Ida (Prescott) Chitsey, Earl Prescott from Washington State and Andrea Hamrick, Darlene and Bobby's granddaughter from Nevada.

Also, Max Hollman and Bro. Brantley stopped by, had lunch and visited.

Darlene asked members to bring down their wedding pictures or the first one after marriage for "show and tell."

There were several good-looking pictures to look at and talk about.

Dorothy Johnson didn't bring a picture but she did tell us about when she first met Bruce Johnson, when they got married and that they bought furniture while on a honeymoon in Dallas. It was a real nice story.

Gus and Iva Armstrong attended a graduation ceremony for a relative Saturday night in Midland. Iva mentioned there were 475 students who received their degrees and most of all they would soon be looking for jobs.

Our sympathy goes out to Debbie Oden, as her mother, Hazel Johnson, passed away over the weekend. Mrs. Johnson recently lived at the Taylor Witt and also the Loraine Nursing Home.

Debbie Oden took the Loraine ISD job of Food Service Manager last February and will manage it again once school resumes.

Debbie is married to Alan Oden, a roofer and carpenter. They have two sons, Joe and Wesley.

Perry speaks on ag research at A&M

Speaking at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Station Centennial Field Day in Beeville, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said that agricultural research has produced and advanced new labor-saving equipment, methods of controlling animal diseases, as well as plants that produce their own defense mechanisms to fight pests.

Licenses required for counselors

Recent changes in state law require that anyone practicing counseling must be officially licensed by the state.

Except in specific settings where a person may be exempt, anyone practicing counseling without a license can be charged with a Class B misdemeanor. The offense is punishable by a fine of as much as $1,000 or a jail term of as long as 180 days, or both penalties.

According to Kathy Craft, the Texas State Board of Examiners of Professional Counselors protects the public against unqualified or unethical persons who offer counseling. Established in 1981, the nine-member board consists of five licensed professionals and four private citizens appointed by the governor. Craft is the board's executive secretary.

"The board enforces strict professional, educational and ethical standards in granting and renewing licenses," she said. "Therefore, a person needing help should choose only a counselor with a current license. Until the first of this year, unlicensed people could legally provide counseling services unless they falsely claimed to be licensed."

Craft explained that the law governing licensed professional counselors is now a "practice act," meaning that anyone wishing to provide counseling services must obtain a license, regardless of any title used. "Any unlicensed person practicing counseling should be reported to the board," Craft said.

In addition to issuing licenses, the board also takes legal action against licensed counselors who violate the board's ethical standards.

For information on license qualifications and exceptions, to report unlicensed professional counselors or to file complaints against unethical licensed professional counselors, persons may contact the board office at (512) 834-6658.

Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health, added that other improvements on behalf of Texans needing counseling recently were approved by the Texas Board of Health.

The board voted to lift limitations on Medicaid coverage of outpatient mental health services, including those provided by professional counselors. Dr. Smith explained, "The board removed the maximum $312.50 allowed annually by Medicaid per mental health client, and voted that providers may be reimbursed for up to 30 outpatient visits yearly per client—or more, with advance approval."

He said, "This significantly improves clients' access to care. For providers, it increases reimbursements for service, while reducing paperwork. Both the outpatients and their counselors should welcome this board action."

The Lake Colorado City State Park has several books for sale and they include Historic Ranches of Texas, Indians of Texas, Texas Wildflowers and Cooking Texas Style. Watch for more books available at a later date. Call 728-3931 for more information.

Mr. and Mrs. Tab Thompson of Stephenville hosted a Thompson-Miller reunion at the Holiday Inn in Stephenville over the weekend.

Family members got to see and visit with the Thompsons' 6-year-old quadruplets. Annie Bell Jones said the children were healthy, lovely children and so well-behaved. Sixty-eight family members from the Thompson and Miller families were present from many Texas cities and California.

Attending from this area were Emma Beth Thompson of Colorado City and Annie Bell Jones of Loraine.

Our sympathies go out to the family of T.J. Blair, a former Loraine resident. T.J. and Hazel Ruth have been residents of Abilene for the past few years...

Also to Darlene Bevins and family, our condolences. Oletha Overbay was Darlene's mother. Oletha lived in Loraine for awhile.

Our friend Ralph Lankford has been moved into Mitchell County Hospital recently and we are still very concerned about his health condition at this time.

The golden wedding anniversary party for Ham and Blondie Hamilton was a large, special, joyous affair that took place on Sunday, June 5 at the Loraine Center.

The building was decorated with flowers, family photographs and military items that were special to the family. Punch and wedding cake were served to 137 guests coming from Texas and other states.

Texas cities represented were Houston, New Braunfels, Monahans, Midland, Big Spring, Denton, Austin, Odessa, Brownfield, Wichita Falls, Colorado City, Andrews, Abilene, Snyder, Lawn, Mesquite and Loraine. There were also guests from other states including Tennessee, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Nevada.

Helping Ham and Blondie to celebrate was daughter Charla, her husband and beautiful granddaughters. We hope many more anniversaries are in store for these friends.

Take good care and see you about town.

Public Notice

On March 23, 1994, GTE and Contel ("The Companies") filed applications with the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("PUC") to restructure the Companies' Switched Carrier rate category and reduce the Carrier Common Line (CCL) charge of its Switched Access Service. The tariff sheets in GTE and Contel's applications, if approved, will bring the Companies' state access tariffs into structural parity with their interstate tariffs for the Local Transport rate category, which became effective on December 30, 1993.

GTE and Contel propose to implement the new tariffs on a revenue neutral basis. The Local Transport category of GTE and Contel's Switched Access Service is primarily for interexchange carriers.

Persons who wish to intervene should file a motion for intervention with the PUC by June 17, 1994 with reference to Docket No. 12866 (GTE) and/or 12865 (Contel). Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

BY JIM BAUM

For Ed Love of Colorado City, D-Day was a nightmare. "Oh Lord of mercy," he exclaimed in a 1983 interview. "You couldn't hardly hear. Smoke ... planes ... coming over us."

Despite the circumstances, Love remembers with a laugh one incident in particular involving a short friend of his. "We had on these [inflatable] life belts ... water was about waist deep. I heard somebody holler, 'Come get me. Come get me.' I looked around and he was just bobbin' up back there. He couldn't touch the ground. I pulled him on in 'til his feet would hit the ground."

Raynaldo Selvera also has memories of those first hours on Omaha Beach. "I don't see how I made it. I don't see how I made it," he repeated softly.

Willie Garner landed on the beaches of Normandy on D-Day plus 7. He recalls that corpses covered the area. "There were still bodies everywhere. It looked like thousands of them."

Even though a week had passed since the invasion had begun, Garner says there was "quite a bit" of resistance from the Germans. Most of the men in his platoon were killed.

"There were 36 of us and only 12 came back," Garner remembers. The beach itself looked like a junkyard. "I mean a big junkyard, too," he continued. "Steel and everything that wasn't sunk was laying on the beach, all blown up and torn up."

Understandably, Garner says he's glad he arrived a week after the invasion began. "You better believe that, because what I saw, I didn't want to be [one] of the first ones there."

Unfortunately for Raynaldo Selvera, he was one of the first to hit the beaches. "We had to follow the line [single file]," he said. "The [officers] told us, 'Don't spread out. Just follow the line.'"

Selvera remembers that the ramp of his landing craft went down about a quarter of a mile from Omaha Beach. Some of the men in the LST were his close friends. "Some didn't last very long," he added.

Remarkably, he says he wasn't afraid. "My mother was a Catholic and she prayed every day. Prayed and prayed and prayed. Before I went in the Army and after I got back. And that's the only thing that saved me, I believe."

Several days after the landing, Selvera remembers hearing Caterpillars and bulldozers. "They were digging ditches. I imagine to put the dead in. What else could they be doing?"

Even weeks after the invasion had begun, the collection of bodies was going on. As the G.I.'s pushed inland, Willie Garner says, "you would have German soldiers dead and American soldiers all in the same [place]. It was like a slaughterhouse."

Another Mitchell County man who has memories of France is Andrew Rivera. He and the 1308 Engineer Battalion landed at Cherbourg several weeks after D-Day. By then the Allies had liberated the port city and part of Rivera's responsibility was to guard 300-500 German prisoners.

He says his memories of World War II are almost like a dream; he knows he was there but it's like it happened to another person. However, Rivera does know he almost froze to death by the time his unit became involved in the Battle of the Bulge. With temperatures falling to around zero, he and his comrades were in foxholes guarding the Meuse River.

"The snow was coming real bad. We were in foxholes in four hour shifts," Rivera says the bottoms of his feet still give him trouble and doctors tell him the problem will be with him as long as he lives.

All four men, Garner, Rivera, Love and Selvera, have their private memories of the war. They also shared some not-so-private experiences with us.

Rivera recalled hearing tanks during the Battle of the Bulge. His commander, fearing they were German Panzers, told his men, "This is it. Every man for himself." It turned out the tanks belonged to the U.S. Third Armor.

"We saw the white star on the tanks and that was a great relief," Rivera added. He brought home a German officer's .32 caliber pistol as a war souvenir. "It was stolen from my home about four years ago," Rivera concluded.

The 71-year-old Rivera was in the Philippines, flushing Japanese stragglers from caves, when he learned the war had ended. Today he lives with his wife west of Colorado City and his feet still bother him from that brutally cold winter of 50 years ago.

Raynaldo Selvera remembers trying to assist fellow soldiers who had been wounded. However, because the Germans would set booby traps among the wounded, his efforts were discouraged by American NCO's.

"I tried to help them. They were hollering at me, 'Help, help!' I'd go to help them and the sergeant would run me off and say, 'Get away from there. You're going to step on a mine.' I would try to help them."

The 74-year-old Selvera now lives with his wife in their immaculately-kept home in Colorado City.

Willie Garner, 69 years of age and retired, is a lay preacher in the Methodist church. He says he "crawled, walked and ran" clear across Europe and "dug enough foxholes to make a canal all the way from Normandy to Germany."

He suffered no wounds, but he was run over by an American Jeep. "Didn't even get a Purple Heart," Garner laughs. When asked if he would like to one day see the beaches of Normandy again, Garner turns serious.

"I'd like to go back just to see what it looks like. But [it's] not really a deep desire...."

And that brings us to Ed Love. He suffered three wounds, "twice lightly." The third one, a leg wound, took him out of the war. "I stayed in the hospital 9 months," he told us. His friends used to joke with him and say he left his pants in France.

"When I got hit," the 76-year-old Love said, "They just cut 'em off and threw 'em over to the side."

The four Mitchell County men featured in this week's column are but a sampling of the millions of young men and women who answered their country's call. From Pearl Harbor to Tokyo and from Normandy to Berlin, similar stories can be told.

Thanks to the efforts of these dedicated men and women, we enjoy the freedom we have in our country. No words in the English language are adequate to thank them.

So we'll just conclude simply by saying, God bless you all.

FmHA offers Socially Disadvantaged Applicant loans

Socially disadvantaged groups are benefiting from a special loan program offered by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). "FmHA is reaching out to members of socially disadvantaged groups to help them obtain their goals of farm ownership," said George Ellis, Texas FmHA State Director.

Applicants must be members of the following race/ethnic origin groups: black (not of Hispanic origin), Hispanic, American Indian or Alaskan native, Asian/Pacific islander or women.

The socially disadvantaged outreach is mandated by the Agriculture Act of 1987 and defines

Socially Disadvantaged Applicant (SDA) as "an applicant who has been subjected to racial or ethnic prejudice or cultural bias because of his/her identity as a member of a group without regard to his/her individual qualities."

Under this program, FmHA will try to find persons in the SDA categories who are interested in farming. FmHA will be prepared to sell or lease a farm held in inventory to those applicants who qualify if any are available in the county of the applicant's choice. FmHA can also provide other loan and technical assistance, if needed, to help the borrower get started.

The SDA statistics (all categories) so far in Fiscal Year 1994 (as of March 31, 1994) are as follows:

Direct Farm Operating Loans: obligated, 111; amount, $4,374,340. Guaranteed Farm Operating Loans: obligated, 21; amount, $1,602,960. Direct Farm Ownership Loans: obligated, 20; amount, $1,825,700. Guaranteed Farm Ownership Loans: obligated, 6; amount, $1,113,420. Total: obligated, 158; amount, $8,916,420.
