LaGuardia Serving Notice Of Plans For Political Powers

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—In an impromptu speech before a wholly urban audience describing farm relief as the greatest necessity, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York last night virtually served notice that he has larger—perhaps national—political aspirations.

LaGuardia, who ascended to greatly increased prominence last month when in the city election he became the first man ever to defeat the Democratic machine twice in a row, appeared before the 25th anniversary dinner of survey associatec, a research organization, with Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, Professor Felix Frankfurter and other nationally known figures.

Presidency Is Hinted

Almost at the start of his address, the mayor brought the presidency into the consciousness of the audience by referring obliquely to a statement some time ago by William Allen White, Kansas editor, to the effect LaGuardia was a presidential possibility.

"We have one man of great discernment here," said the mayor, smiling broadly. "He is Mr. William Allen White of Kansas. He said I was good."

LaGuardia had been asked to talk upon the subject "the shape of things to come," and he remarked immediately that what interested him was what was going to come from Washington, adding in an aside:

Must Balance Population

"If I had any sense at all I wouldn't discuss this at all."

"The most important thing," he went on, "is this"—striking his hands together sharply—"we must balance the population. When you've balanced the population, all the rest of this balancing is easy."

"The way to get out of our present troubles is to face facts. Nothing is going to be balanced so long as we have eight to ten million people unemployed through no fault of their own."

In this "balancing of the people," he went on "first attention must be given to the American farmer."

"He (the farmer)," the mayor said with a half shout, "has been getting a raw deal nearly all through the growth of this country.

Good Standard Set

"We have established a good standard of living so beautifully described by Mr. Gifford (Walter Gifford of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, a previous speaker)—and our standards were always established through the tariff."

"The farmer buys in a protected market, but when it comes time for him to sell his stuff, he must sell in the world (unprotected) market.

"Unless we can create our own market in this country, people won't be able to use the telephone,

Party Leaders Hope To Gain In Elections

Republicans Claim Mathematics Favor Them And Have Hopes Of Picking Up Some Seats

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Republican party leaders, declaring mathematics favor them, are looking forward to the 1938 senatorial elections with high hopes of picking up some seats.

A record-breaking group of 30 Democratic senators must face the voters next November, while only four Republican seats will be at stake.

21 Are Fair Game

Only nine of the Democratic seats at stake in next year's elections are from the "solid south," where Democratic victories usually are assured ahead of time. That leaves 21 seats which Republican strategists count as "fair game."

This unusual situation is one of the reasons both parties have begun to plan next year's congressional campaign so early.

Democratic leaders not only are shooting at victories in the states they now hold, but express hope of winning two seats now held by the minority.

May Face Difficulties

Republicans note particularly that seven of the Democrats up for reelection next year were leading foes of the Roosevelt court bill and may run into factional difficulties within their own party.

The seven are: Clark of Missouri, George of Georgia, Gillette of Iowa, McCarran of Nevada, Smith of South Carolina, Tydings of Maryland and Van Nuys of Indiana.

Among other Democrats whose terms expire next year are: Adams of Colorado, Barkley of Kentucky, Bone of Washington, Brown of New Hampshire, Bulkley of Ohio, Mrs. Caraway of Arkansas, Dieterich of Illinois, Duffy of Wisconsin, Hayden of Arizona, Hitchcock of South Dakota, Lonergan of Connecticut, McAdoo of California, McGill of Kansas, Overton of Louisiana, Pepper of Florida, Pope of Idaho, Reynolds of North Carolina, Thomas of Utah, Thomas of Oklahoma, Wagner of New York, and Berry of Tennessee.

Big Program Being Urged

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Dec. 3 — Region six of the soil conservation service has recommended to the authorities at Washington an agricultural program representing an expenditure of $160,612,367 to "fully utilize all the water resources" of the "dust bowl" area.

H. H. Finnell, director of the five-state region, said that fulfilling the outlined work would make the Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado area involved "one of the greatest agricultural regions in the world."

Would Store Water

More than two-thirds of the suggested appropriation would be devoted to small water retention structures such as terraces, contour furrows, stock water ponds and small reservoirs.

Although the SCS makes no recommendation of the value of the small ponds and reservoirs to wild game preservation and flood control, Finnell said many of the small reservoirs were fenced to allow grass,

No Peace Pact Is Reached By Labor Chiefs

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — Dual unionism, an outgrowth of organized labors civil war, was the big obstacle confronting William Green and John L. Lewis today in their personal negotiations for a labor peace.

They spent four hours yesterday exploring all the possibilities for reuniting the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization. Then they recessed until 8 o'clock tonight without reaching any conclusions on a peace pact.

Four Men In Parley

Four men sat in the dramatic conference and weighed the chances if merging the strength and resources of some 7,000,000 organized workers. The C. I. O. chieftain, Lewis, was accompanied by his principal strategist, Phillip Murray, while Green was supported by George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Methods of merging the labor factions, with the C. I. O. throwing off its separate identity to become an autonomous or semi-independent agency within the A. F. of L., constituted the first problem before the conferees. Its solution, however, was said to hinge on the amalgamation of dual, or rival, unions in the same industries.

G-Men Paying Dividends To The Taxpayer

J. Edgar Hoover Claims That $7 Returned For Each Dollar Spent On Operation Of Bureau

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, today announced "dividends" to taxpayers of ~~$7 for every dollar spent on~~ the bureau.

He said that during the last four years the cost of operating the F.B.I. amounted to a little more than $18,000,000, while it was able to return "in savings, in fines, and in recoveries of stolen goods a total of more than $135,000,000, or more than $116,000,000 above what it costs to operate the bureau."

Attacks Parole Systems

Hoover addressed the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. He took occasion to attack parole systems (excluding the federal) the failure of police units to cooperate in the collection of statistical data and criminal records, jail conditions, shyster lawyers, penal politics, "kid glove treatment" of criminals and other weak spots in the American scene of police and court activity.

He said that during the last four years, of every 100 persons charged by G-men and tried, 94 were convicted.

"The records of the F.B.I. show that 55 per cent of all criminals arrester have been previously arrested for other crimes," he said. "The records also show that approximately 50 per cent of all prisoners now are being released on parole.

Many Shown Clemency

"Thirty per cent of the 13,519 dangerous criminals listed in the F.B.I.s single fingerprint file as the country's most desperate kidnapers, racketeers, hoodlums, bank robbers and extortions show a record of having been the recipients of parole or other types of clemency . . . not only once but in many cases as often as four, five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten times."

He declared the "criminal army of America" was composed of 4,300,000 persons.

"There are roaming at large today in the United States some 200,000 potential murderers, who during their lifetime will account for deaths by violence of more than 300,000 persons, unless the present murder rate is reduced," he said.

"American crime begins in the American home. The only way it can be cured is by a re-establishment of respect for law by the heads of our homes."

Payroll Loss Tops $25,000

(By The Associated Press)

LOCKPORT, Ill., Dec. 3 — A trio of gunmen raided the postoffice today, shot a clerk in the leg and fled with a company payroll reported to be about $25,000.

The robbers escaped in a truck Lockport is about 30 miles southwest of Chicago.

The wounded clerk was John West. Police Chief Fred Lindner was assaulted by the robbers.

Texas Company Payroll

The payroll stolen was reported to have been that of the Texas company.

G. B. Bogart, superintendent of the Texas plant here, said he understood the money—between $25,000 and $27,000 — had been mailed from Chicago to meet the payroll.

Chicago offices of the Texas company described the Lockport property as one of its largest oil refineries in the nation.

Neckties! Not This Christmas Because Hubby Wants A Suit And Wives Ask Pretty Coat

(By The Associated Press)

Maybe your best friends won't tell you what they want for Christmas. But here's an inkling.

The old standbys—candy, perfume, neckties, cigars—are out. A thousand men and 1,000 women in all stations of life have been queried in the first survey on the question of what they wanted for Christmas. It shows that women's coats and men's suits will be the most popular gifts for Christmas 1937.

There's another one, too, that lots of people want—a new automobile.

Women Harder To Please

It will be more difficult to please a woman than a man, it was indicated by the survey, conducted by the magazine Sales Management. Of the women interviewed, there were 74 who didn't know what they wanted. Only 37 men hadn't made up their minds.

You can't get out of the gift dilemma by sending cash this year, either. Only 14 women and 28 men mentioned cash gifts. That's not much of a percentage when cold cash is at stake.

The Saxophone Situation

Five men asked for saxophones. Not one woman did.

Among women, the survey showed there was only one chance in a thousand that a box of candy would be most pleasing; only six chances in a thousand for books; barely 20 for perfume. Women want winter coats first by long odds—116 chances in a thousand. Electric appliances rank second, a dress is next, a new car and travel tie for fourth, a suit fifth. After that the choices vary so much they no longer indicate a trend.

Men are pulling hardest for a suit of clothes, a new car, a watch, smoker's items, an electric razor, in that order. A suit has 97 chances out of a thousand, a new car has 74 chances; a watch—wrist type preferred—53; smoker's products, 43, with a pipe in the lead, cigars and cigarettes far down the line, an electric razor, 40 chances.

Of the 28 men who wanted cash, the desire seemed serious. They wanted it for endowment, travel, study or medical attention.

Wave Of Accidents Continues Here; Boy Slightly Hurt As He Attempts To Dodge Auto

Joe Is Definitely On Water Wagon And His Spouse Will Be The Boss Of Household

HACKENSACK, N. J., Dec. 3. (AP)—It was down in black and white today that Joseph Wolf was on the water wagon —"except on special occasions" —and that his wife was "boss over the house and children."

Signed, sealed and delivered to Mrs. Anna Wolf was his pledge that "I will drink whisky only on Christmas, Thanksgiving, New Year's, at weddings and births and so forth.

"I am sorry for the trouble I have caused my wife and children during my married life" read another clause in the pledge, drawn up by an 18-year-old daughter.

John Cleveland, 12, of 2505 Twenty-sixth street received treatment this morning at Lubbock sanitarium for hip and leg bruises suffered about 8:15 oclock when his bicycle was overturned in 1300-block Broadway when a car backed from the curbing.

The accident continued a series here this week in which no serious injuries have resulted.

Is Knocked Unconscious

The boy, rendered unconscious by the fall, said he did not know whether the car struck him. W. J. Gray of Fort Worth, driver of the automobile, went to police station to report the accident. He did not see the boy when he started backing his car and was told by a witness the accident happened when the boy swerved his bicycle to avoid the collision, he told police.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland, was in satisfactory condition late this morning at his home.

Two Autos Collide

None was injured in a collision of automobiles driven by R. S. Booker of 2324 Broadway and B. E. Gregory of Idalou about 8 o'clock this morning at Broadway and Avenue K, said Ralph Goldwater of the police department, who investigated.

Two Thursday afternoon collisions resulted in no serious injuries, according to police reports. M. A. Tate of Britton, Okla., was reported slightly injured in a collision of the automobile he was driving and one driven by S. B. Hargraves of Shallowater route 1, at 4:15 o'clock at Fifteenth street and Avenue T. None was reported injured in a collision of cars driven by R. C. Ivey of 1211 Broadway and C. L. Griffin of Slaton route 1 at 4:45 o'clock at Broadway and Avenue H.

Tech Co-Eds Taking Steps To Halt All "Busted Romances"

Co-eds at Texas Technological collee not only admit they dress to please the men but have gone on record as "considering masculine advice excellent".

They are determined that there will be no "busted romances" because girls make the mistake of wearing scarlet nail polish when masculine taste turns a thumbs down on bright finger tips. And they also are bent on knowing khether men on the campus think they look chic or like a case of mumps with gay scarfs tied around their ears.

Men students at Tech are filling out a questionnaire on the subject of girls' dress which was prepared by students in a class in dress design taught by Miss Helen Troy Allen. When results are compiled Betty Coed will have Joe College's idea on how she should dress down in black and white for her to follow.

Critics Draft Plan To Beat Legislation

Charges Of "Log-Rolling" And Use Of Undue Pressure Are Hurled; No Progress Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Supporters of the battered wage-hour bill, successful in forcing a house vote this month, began a new fight today to save it from general revision.

Almost before the ink dried yesterday on the final signature to a petition freeing the bill from the rules committee, critics discussed proposals to modify or defeat it. One group wants to strike all geographical differentials from the measure, a goal which would intensify the already heated north-south conflict over the measure.

Battle Lines Form

As the battle lines formed, the American Federation of Labor's executive council met to draft new recommendations concerning labor standards legislation.

The senate must vote on all house alterations, and leaders were reluctant to estimate the bill's chances for getting to President Roosevelt before the special session ends.

Both versions of the measure would empower a labor standards board to fix minimum wages as high as 40 cents an hour and a work week of 40 or more hours for workers in interstate industries.

Ifferences Are Seen

The bills differ, however, on methods for eliminating child labor.

Even before completion of the petition, circulated after Republicans and southern Democrats on the rules committee had blocked the bill for months, charges were made in the house that "log-rolling" and undue pressure had been used to get signatures.

Completion of the wage-hour petition removed one of the greatest obstacles from the path of the administration's leislative program.

No Progress Is Made

The first half of the special session, however, ended today without approval of any of the president's recommendations.

Almost two weeks of senate debate had left the farm bill bogged down under prolonged speech-making. Scores of amendments, including revisions proposed by Secretary Wallace, still were being

Japs Yield To Demands For Withdrawal

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 3 — Japanese troops yielded today to spirited demands by Col. Charles F. B. Price, commander of the United States fourth marines, and withdrew from a portion of the American defended sector of the international settlement.

The Japanese had encroached upon American-defended streets when they took over a part of the international settlement after explosion of a small bomb or hand grenade tossed at a victory parade of 5,000 Japanese troops.

Danger Is Averted

Observers expressed the belief that prompt action by Price prevented development of a dangerous situation.

The Japanese held the parade despite protests of American and other foreign officials, and after the explosion took over a 30 square block area.

They erected barbed wire entanglements, blocked all traffic and prevented Americans and foreigners from reaching their hotels and homes.

Former Screen Actress Linked In Probe Of Man's Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3. (AP)—Discovery of a $35,000 cache of gems and money today linked a former screen actress with the investigation of the unsolved slaying of Gambler Les Bruneman.

The district attorney's office said a safety deposit box in a Hollywood bank, registered to Bruneman and another gambling figure, yielded $30,000 in loose diamonds and $5,000 cash.

The name of the actress, whose identity was kept secret, was on a jewel tag in the box. Her attorney said he has started negotiations for return of the gems.

Dan Cupid Asks Governors For Aid; Serve As Matchmakers

CUMBERLAND, Md., Dec. 3. (AP) —Governors of at least six states have been asked to act as matchmakers for a young woman willing to marry "any respectable man in the world for $500 cash."

Sloan Claims Fear Is Main Block To U. S. Enterprise

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (AP)—Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of General Motors Corp., said today "the main obstacle to the general revival of American enterprise" is the "fear" the foundation of the national economy is in "jeopardy."

Sharp Rebukes By Mussolini Being Aired

Bitter Editorial Claims Three Democracies Plan An Economic Strangulation For Others

(By The Associated Press)

An Italian press attack on the "big three" democracies —Britain, France and the United States—and British and French moves toward increased military strength were new factors today in the troubled search for European security.

A bitter editorial in Il Popolo D'Italia, Premier Mussolini's Milan newspaper, accused the three democracies of planning an "economic strangulation" of "have not" nations — presumably including Italy, Germany and Japan.

Work Of Mussolini

The attack, apparently the work of Mussolini himself, seemed directed primarily at pending negotiations between Britain and the United States for a reciprocal trade agreement.

This was the second time this week that Il Popolo D'Italia dealt pointedly with international issues.

An editorial on Wednesday, also believed to have been written by Il Duce, contended China could expect no help from other powers acting collectively and counselled her, therefore, to ask Japan for peace terms.

Strong Words Used

Today's editorial was studded with such phrases as "this democratic roose" . . . "threat of ecohomic war, blockade and starvation" . . . "profound cowardliness" . . . and "insulting threats."

To the threat of economic pressure, Il Popolo D'Italia said, "peoples worthy of the name are constrained to respond in the only way possible with timely and wholehearted preparation of spirit and arms."

With French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos on a 17-day tour of the Polish, Czechoslovakian, Rumanian and Yugoslavian capitals bearing a decision by France and Britain not to give Germany "a free hand" in Central Europe, there were noteworthy developments in Paris and London regarding war preparedness.

Army Is Strengthened

Britain was drastically streamlining her army organization, placing younger men at the top to keep step with "modern developments of warfare." Three of the four members of the powerful army council resigned and two of them were replaced with younger men.

In Paris, Defense Minister Edouard Daladier disclosed France was seeking to nullify that section of the Versailles treaty which forbids France to fortify her Swiss frontier. Daladier told the chamber of deputies last night that conversations with Switzerland for that end had been "going on for a year."

The defense minister's disclosure was a response to a declaration by Deputy Rene Burtin that there was "grave menace" of a German attack on France across the northern tip of Switzerland on a flank of the French Maginot line of steel and concrete fortifications.

The Versailles treaty, at the request of Switzerland, "forever" prohibited fortification of the Franco-Swiss frontier.

Rings Stolen At O'Donnell

Shoplifting of six rings valued at $243 from an O'Donnell drug store was reported to police officials here this morning by Sheriff B. L. Parker of Tahoka, who requested the information be broadcast.

Three wedding rings valued at $60 each and three yellow gold band rings valued at $21 each were reported missing. A man and boy were thought to have taken the rings, said Sheriff Parker.

Few Violations Here

Few law violations in Lubbock were reported by officials this morning.

Ford Benham told police a 38-Colt pistol was taken from his automobile at a garage.

Odis Best reported theft of clothing from his room in a hotel.

A car belonging to C. H. Willingham, teacher at Senior High school, and reported stolen from near the school had not been recovered, police said. The car, a 135 model coach (Chevrolet), license number 754-186, had been seen by Sweetwater officials before they were informed of the theft here.

Trimmed With Gold

Even with $10,000 to spend, finding clothes to please 40 women is no easy job. Yet that's the job Margaret Pemberton, wife of a famous theatrical producer, tackled to costume the entire cast of "The Women" more than a year on Broadway. Ilka Chase, a star of the play, models one of the new outfits above. Of black wool, it includes a simple dress, fitted jacket, trimmed with gold embroidery, and a dashing black felt hat with gold ornament.

American Beauty

Lovely Helen Golden was chosen to play the leading role in the Broadway hit, "Having a Wonderful Time," because of her natural beauty as well as her dramatic ability. Tall and slender, with dark brown hair, blue eyes and very fair skin, Miss Golden uses little make-up, eschews attention-gettin coiffures and clothes.

Results To Be Given Today

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, Dec. 3.—Results of the judging of chickens entered in the first annual Slaton Community Poultry show, were to be announced during the day by A. J. Payne, secretary-manager. The judge, R. B. Galloway, was to complete his work this morning.

First day's attendance was good, considering the weather. Today's attendance was expected to be larger than yesterday. A large crowd is expected this afternoon in the show rooms.

After the annual banquet in the community club house at 7 o'clock Friday night, an executive meeting will be conducted and officers will be elected. The show closes officially at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Late last night Galloway had not completed judging of poultry exhibits, but indicated winners would be announced probably Friday.

In addition to poultry entries there were numerous exhibits of canned vegetables and fruits, quilts, bedspreads, and other needlework by women. Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent, will judge women's exhibits today.

Mrs. Wilbur Jones of Slaton will judge art exhibits.

Poultrymen not in Slaton's trade territory are allowed to exhibit poultry, but for advertising purposes only. Prizes and ribbons are being presented to winners.

Today Is Lubbock Day

Friday has been designated as Lubbock day.

Representatives from Lubbock will be: Clayton Gammill, Goodrich Silverton stores; Ray Farmer, City Bus company; Ed Allen, county clerk; Louie F. Moore, deputy county clerk; Marcus (Hop) Halsey, Halsey Drug store; John C. Crawford, Crawford Food market; L. E. Grimes, Grimes Motor company; J. H. Beasley, Beasley Motor company; M. L. Davis, Western Billiards Supply company; A. H. Maas, Montgomery Ward; Charles Purcell, Sears Roebuck; and J. H. Brock and Dick Shinkle of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; H. B. Bryan, county assessor-collector.

Always grasp the plug—not the cord—in removing electric cords from outlets or utensils. And hang up the cords as straight as possible, since curves or bends will affect the wiring.

Annual Turkey Show Closed

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 3.—The fourth annual Southwestern Dressed Turkey show by the Hi-Plains Turkey Growers association was past history today as the champion birds reposed in the iced vaults of Plains Cooperative Inc. The show closed with a sale yesterday afternoon at which the grand champion bird brought $3 a pound.

Show officials and growers expressed satisfaction at the results of the show. Quality, placed at 25 per cent above that of last year, was emphasized. Number of birds shown was not nearly as great, owing to changes in regulations limiting the number to be exhibited by one producer.

Average price per pound for the 225 birds in the sale was 28 cents. There were 28 exhibitors. Sales included 27 boxes, with 33 single birds.

Hilburn Cries Sale

Capt. Herbert S. Hilburn, newspaper publisher, cried the sale, assisting in the ring were: J. H. Brock, Lubbock; C. B. Martin, Plainview and Mason King, Amarillo.

Before the sale, held in the municipal auditorium, H. P. Griffin, Salt Lake, who judged the birds, spoke briefly on the importance of the development of the so-called baby beef type of turkey for the South Plains and West Texas. He stressed the need of proper packing of dressed birds in attractive boxes.

Two Lubbock county breeders, W. X. Yoxtheimer, Idalou and W. H. Massey, route 1 Idalou, were among the exhibitors. Yoxtheimer won tenth in the young hen class, receiving 33 cents a pound for his bird; Massey was sixth in the old tom and the same in the old hen class, receiving 25 and 29 cents a pound respectively.

Brownfield Man Wins

S. L. Greathouse, Brownfield, was first in the old tom and second in the old hen class, receiving 45 and 28 cents respectively.

Mrs. Mary Wedell, Littlefield, another exhibitor, won sixth with a box of young toms, fifth in young hens and fourth in old toms.

From Lubbock, besides Brock, were: Clayton A. Gammill, jr., Vernon Herndon and W. F. Eisenberg. Several others who had planned to make the trip were unable to do so.

Prize winning birds and boxes were sold. Also birds and boxes not making ribbon titles were sold. Roy B. Davis, manager of Plains Cooperative, Inc., announced birds would be held until just before Christmas, and shipped on order of the purchasers.

Following were the sales; with owner, purchaser and price paid:

Neutral Drive To Be Staged

Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars will join with 3,600 others throughout the nation in circulating petitions demanding that congress enact legislation designed to keep the nation out of war, according to announcement Thursday afternoon by Robert J. (Bob) Allen, post commander.

Rest With Congress

"Under our form of government, the question of peace or war rests in the hands of congress," Commander Allen pointed out. "We, the people, expect members of congress to vote in accordance with the will of their constitutents. Petitions bearing the signatures of 25 million American citizens will tell congress, in unmistakable terms, that the vast majority of the citizens of the United States want America to keep out of war."

A quantity of petition blanks have been received by Commander Allen from national headquarters at Kansas City, Mo. There petition blanks will be circulated by members of Post No. 2466 and distributed to various other local civic, patriotic, religious and fraternal groups.

Mothers Have First Chance

Gold Star Mothers in this community will be given the first opportunity to affix their signatures to the petition.

"It is the privilege of these mothers to be the first ones to raise their voices in opposition to war. Their signatures will be followed by the signatures of all war mothers, decorated heroes, disabled veterans, city and other public officials, and then the rank and file of all citizens.

The appeal of congress reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the United States of America, call upon the congress and the President to adopt and apply policies designated to keep America out of war and supported by a national defense program adequate for the portection of our country and its people."

Park Program To Be Pushed

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (AP)—Knelling "the end of the old Coney Island fabled in song and story," Park Commissioner Robert Moses submitted a $16,150,000 program to Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia today for a sweeping clean-up of three of New York's great playgrounds of millions.

The gigantic rehabilitation and beautification program — affecting Coney Island, Rockaway Beach and South Beach, Staten Island—would completely modernize the seaside meccas and transform them into pleasant, spic and span resorts instead of the raucous, blaring, paper-littered strands now in existence.

Strange Aura Of Dignity

Gone would be the gaudy, tinselled, catch-penny devices, the squalid shacks and mechanical amusements —at least "as far as possible," says Moses—and Coney Island, long the epitome of jezzy babel, would assume a strange aurn of dignity.

In Moses' scheme, it would be a far different Coney from what was more or less lyrically extolled by millions from 1907 onward, when "visiting firemen" and natives alike carrolled:

"Take me back to New York town
Coney Island down the bay
And the lights of old Broadway..."

The Moses plan, laid out on the same vast scale that marked his success with the Tri-Borough bridge and the immaculate Jones Beach, calls for the construction of new boardwalks, the razing of unsightly "fun houses" and the acquisition of beach frontage with a depth of as much as 400 feet for a public long accustomed to lolling on the beach in practically sardine formation.

Judge Says It's Quite Possible That Copper Can Go To Hell

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (AP)—It is quite possible, Magistrate Mark Rudich said today, that Patrolman Fred Schweyer "can go to hell."

Dismissing a charge of disorderly conduct against Margaret Greenberg, 26, who made the retort discourteous in exchange for a summons for unnecessarily tooting her automobile horn, the magistrate said:

"In the ordinary course of our life and entirely within the realm of our belief, it is quite possible that you can go to hell. Miss Greenberg's remark wasn't a command or a wish but a simon-pure statement of fact." (Miss Greenberg is pretty.)

Advised by Rudich to "kiss and make up," accused and accuser smiled at each other.

They'll meet again, in traffic court on that horn-blowing charge.

Citizens Are Unable To Rid Themselves Of Liquor Store

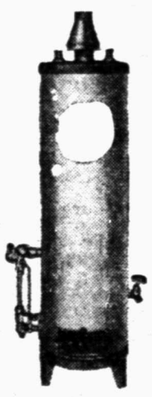

HURRICANE, Utah, Dec. 3. (AP)—Although 450 of this town's 480 inhabitants have signed a petition for the removal of a state-owned liquor store, officials have reported there is nothing they can do about it.

An opinion by S. D. Huffaker, deputy attorney general, held the state liquor control commission could not be jailed on a public nuisance charge.

Delegations From 20 Counties Expected At Local Scout Program

Dr. J. A. Hill Will Speak

Assurances came from all portions of the 20 counties comprising South Plains Boy Scout council this morning that delegations will be here as planned unless weather becomes much worst for the council-wide court of honor to be held at Senior High school auditorium tonight, according to Earl M. McClure, executive.

Arrival of Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, who is to be the principal speaker, was expected momentarily.

Band Concert Scheduled

The program will start at 7:30 o'clock, will include a 30-minute band concert and will be completed by 9:30, he said. George W. Dupree, chairman of Lubbock county court of honor, will preside.

The executive promised that the program will be presented without interruptions and that various groups of the approximately 800 Boy Scouts scheduled for advancements will be waiting in the wings so that no time will be lost in calling them to the stage for formal recognition.

Eagle Awards To Be Given

Insignias earned by various of the boys will not be presented during the ceremony. They will be delivered to various scoutmasters who will give them to the scouts at a later time. The one exception to that rule will be Eagle scouts, who will receive their award at the close of their part of the ceremony.

McClure estimated that the event, which will be the first of its kind on the South Plains, will attract 1,000 to 1,500 visitors to Lubbock from the 20 counties of the council area. They will include scouts leaders and parents.

Program Opens With Music

The program will open with music by the Texas Technological college Matador band. L. E. Waite will direct a group of scout songs after which the opening ceremony will be conducted. After buglers blow assembly, opening of the curtains, and introductory remarks, the "pledge of allegiance" will be given. Attendants will sing "America" to accompaniment by the Tech band.

The address by Dr. Hill will follow an invocation. Dr. C. C. Schmidt, cubbing commissioner, will present cubbing awards and Grady Henly will be in charge of tenderfoot awards and a recognition ceremony. Second class awards will be presented by Rev. D. J. Murray of Lamesa and Floyd Coffman of Littlefield will present first class awards.

Wicks To Announce Winners

Merit badge winners will be announced by L. A. Wicks of Ralls and J. A. Raley, jr. of Lubbock will present special awards. The ceremony of presenting Star awards and Life awards will be conducted by W. G. Barrett of Tahoka and Rev. John Thorns, respectively.

H. H. Hamilton of Lockney will present Sea Scouting honors and K. N. Clapp, Lubbock scouter, will announce Eagle scout recognitions and awards. Troop 3 will be presented in a citizenship pageant. Singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," singing taps, and blowing taps will precede the closing number, the tableaux by troop 3.

Executive Board To Meet

A meeting of the executive board of the South Plains Boy Scout council will be conducted at 6 o'clock tonight at the Chimavo room of the Hilton hotel, according to Dr. F. B. Malone, council president.

The meeting will be concluded in time for the council-wide court of honor at the high school tonight, he explained.

To Submit Candidates

After a general business meeting, a nominating committee will submit candidates for 1938 officers. Dr. Malone will be in charge of the first part of the meeting and Jack M. Randal, chairman of the nominating committee, in charge of the last.

The session will be open to scout leaders, parents, and other persons interested in scouting. Members of the nominating committee are Randal, Marshall Mason of Post and C. C. Coleman of Brownfield. A brief meeting of the committee will be held at the hotel at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Retiring Officers Listed

Retiring officers are: Dr. Malone, of Lubbock, council president; Randal of Lubbock, first vice-president; W. K. Crawley of Lamesa, second vice-president; Coleman, third vice-president; T. E. Buckner of Lubbock, treasurer; K. N. Clapp of Lubbock, council commissioner; Sam A. Henry, sr. of Lubbock, council commissioner; J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, national representative; and W. G. McMillan of Lubbock, regional representative.

Cut And Shoot Is Peaceful Village And No Arrests Have Been Made There Even If It Boasts Wild And Woolly Name

CUT AND SHOOT, Montgomery County, Texas, Dec. 3 (AP)—Cut And Shoot is perhaps America's most peaceful village.

It is a crossroad community that got its blood and thunder name at the time it got its little white church.

About the turn of the century, nobody remembers the exact date, the pious dwellers of the community started to build the church, each resident being required to do part of the work.

Everything moved smoothly until they got to the steeple.

One faction wanted to put the steeple at one end of the church and the other faction wanted to put it at the other end.

Fists flew and noses trickled blood.

Officers from Conroe, nine miles away, dashed over in buckboards and on horseback. Things were quiet when they got there.

A wag christened the community, Cut And Shoot, and the name has stuck while the village slept through four decades, still just a little white church, a few houses and a crossroads store.

Cut And Shoot is not in the United States postal guide, it's just a stop on a R.F.D. route. Few, if any, newcomers wanted to settle there, even when oil came to Montgomery county, because of the village's bristling name.

But take District Judge Will Browder's word for it, Cut And Shoot is peaceful.

Judge Browder of Conroe, a district attorney before he became judge, said he had never known of any person being arrested in Cut And Shoot for any cause.

Mrs. Stella Brown Robbins Is Chosen As Deputy Clerk Here

Mrs. Stella Brown Robbins assumed her duties as deputy district clerk here this morning following her appointment to the position Thursday afternoon. She is a native of Lubbock county and has had several years training in legal and court procedure.

The appointment was made by U. Brown, who was elevated from the position of deputy to that of district clerk Wednesday following the resignation of Floyd Jackson.

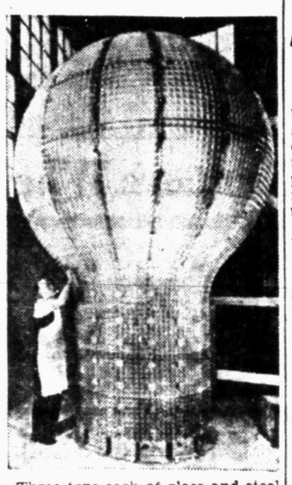

Born near Canyon school house seven miles from Lubbock, Mrs. Robbins has been a resident of Lubbock continuously. She is a graduate of Lubbock High school, attended Abilene Christian college two years and received other business training.

She was a deputy in the office of Sam T. Davis in 1919 and 1920 when Davis held the office of district and county clerk, which then were combined.

During the next four years she was connected at intervals with banks in secretarial positions, and in 1925 she was employed in the law office of the late Roscoe Wilson. When Wilson [illegible] the partnership of Wilson, Randal and Kilpatrick, she went with him and continued that connection until she resigned last March 1.

She was married to C. H. Robbins, Lubbock business man, about a year ago.

New Brain Operation For The Relief Of Agitating Nerve Disease Is Revealed

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 3—A new brain operation for the relief of athetosis, an agitating nerve disease which makes its victims appear to be constantly doing the "big apple" dance was announced today before the Southern Medical association.

Dr. Roland M. Klemme of St. Louis, Mo., said he had successfully treated four patients by removing a part o fthe cortex, or brain covering, in the pre-central area of the brain, which lies below the top of the head.

The operation has been made only on apparently hopeless cases in which violent circular motions of the hands and agitation of the fingers and toes go on constantly due to a nerve disorder. The sufferers before have been unable to obtain relief and ordinarily agitated themselves into a state of exhaustion.

Part Of Motor Area

The brain tissue removed is part of the motor area or section which controls voluntary movements of the body and the operation apparently disconnects some of the nerve fibers running from the brain to the hands and feet, Dr. Klemme said.

A similar operation of the prefrontal lobes of the brain, which are believed to be the seat of intelligence, is being used to relieve excess worry and mental agitation among some patients in whom the symptoms have led them to the point of suicide.

Approximately three out of every four persons suffering from high blood pressure could be greatly relieved, Dr. F. P. Boswell of Montgomery, Ala., told association members today, by x-ray treatment of the pituitary gland lying at the base of the brain and the adrenal glands attached to the top of the kidneys.

Woman Ends Her Life In Long Plunge From Hotel Window

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3 — Mrs. Florence J. Swope, 46, ended her life at Seventh street and Broadway, one of the world's busiest street intersections, today in a tenth story hotel window. Her body narrowly missed a crowd of pedestrians.

Notes left by her mentioned worry over debts and anxiety for her "crippled mother," and said "selfishness has destroyed my life." Her husband, a theater manager, died a year ago.

The world's oldest known tree is growing in Santa Maria del Tula, Mexico. It is a bald cypress, with an estimated age of 5000 years.

Narcotics Are Being Seized

BOSTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — A narcotics-filled safety deposit box last night brought an end to an undercover man's two-year investigation into an international narcotics combine, which federal officials said did a $5,000,000 business annually.

Federal agents said $100,000 worth of narcotics lay in the tin box seized at a Boston bank.

The contraband was wrapped in a newspaper dated March 4, 1935. The owner, federal agents said, was in China.

U. S. Attorney Francis J. W. Ford said the safety box was rented more than a year ago by a Chinese merchant who fled Boston for the Orient with $25,000 belonging to his firm after narcotics, consigned to him, were seized at Chicago.

That merchant, Ford said, was one of the leaders of an international ring.

Joseph J. Sheehan, undercover man of the federal narcotic squad, had been investigating the case since early in 1936.

Strikes Again Face Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3. (AP) — A new wave of strikes threatened in Mexico today despite repeated appeals from President Lazaro Cardenas for industrial peace.

Sixty local unions of the national federation of the electrical industry have called power strikes to start Dec. 10. This would affect 24 states, all except four grouped about the federal district, and would be in sympathy with the electrical strikers of Colima, who walked out a week ago.

Meanwhile, the labor department asked J. R. Woodul, general manager in Mexico of the American Smelting and Refining company, to return from New York to seek a settlement of labor difficulties which have produced brief stoppages of work daily.

Quit For An Hour

Employes of the smelting company, who are demanding a new blanket labor contract, quit for an hour yesterday at sixteen plants in Mexico.

The president offered 300,000 pesos ($83,400) for the improvement of water facilities at San Luis Potosi, where, following a dry season, workers struck because the city reservoir supplies were low.

Two milkmen were killed at Guadalajara in a clash with pickets sympathizing with the Colima electrical strike.

The Vera Cruz state government faced a walkout of its own employes, who announced they would quit Friday unless Andres Monier, discharged employe of the state supreme court, was reinstated.

Mexico City bakers were threatening to extinguish oven fires unless their pay was increased.

More than 8,000 tons of earth will be excavated at Glasgow, Scotland, to make way for the foundation of what is described as the biggest temporary building ever erected. The building, covering five acres of ground, will house the Empire Exhibition next year.

Requirements of an American thoroughbred horse are that the pedigree contains 5 uncontaminated crosses. The average pedigree traces through 16 to 18 crosses, however, and some have as many as 25.

About one-fourth of the annual production of gold is used for coinage.

Raleigh Martin Again Chosen Lubbock Real Estate Leader

Lubbock Real Estate board members re-elected Raleigh Martin president for the next year at the monthly meeting held in the Aztec room at the Hilton hotel Thursday night.

Other officers chosen were: C. C Jones, secretary; L. D. Casey, first vice-president; and R. W. Wright, second vice-president. R. A. McKinney, O. B. Conley, and S. J. McFarland were named members of the board of directors with Martin and Jones.

Enthusiastic talks on future of the board were made by Wright, McFarland, McKinney, R. G. Porter, M. D. Temple, and J. O. Green. It was final meeting of the year.

Jarrett Asks For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3. (AP)—The unrestrained loquacity of Eleanor Holm, swimmer, and pint-sized Billy Rose, showman, in telling the world they wanted to marry each other was climaxed Thursday when Arthur L. Jarrett filed a divorce suit against Miss Holm.

Jarrett, orchestra leader, charged that his "wife's conduct with another man has caused him to be held up to public scorn and open contempt."

Rose Not Mentioned

The complaint did not mention the name of Rose, husband of Fannie Brice, stage and screen comedienne whose throaty singing of "My Man" has been one of the nation's favorite "torch" songs.

The breath-taking Rose-Holm duet of public utterances began recently in Denver when the former announced he wanted to marry Miss Holm as soon as Miss Brice would liberate him and Jarrett do the same for his wife.

There followed other similar statements. Miss Brice, he hoped, would cooperate by freeing him as quickly as possible.

Not Ordinary Case

His love for Miss Holm, he explained, was not the ordinary case of love at first sight.

"In the show business I see fully 2,000 girls a week," Rose went on. "When Eleanor entered my show at the Great Lakes exposition she was just another performer. That was last summer. But during the long rehearsals during the performances, we fell in love."

Miss Brice, working on a motion picture in Hollywood, did not comment. From the first she merely had "nothing to say."

Jarrett, too, kept silent until yesterday when he commenced in his divorce complaint.

Charges Are Made

Miss Holm, beautiful former Olympic games swimmer, has been constantly in the company of "the other man," Jarrett said, and has allowed her name "to be linked romantically" with his.

"In the last week she has flown from San Francisco to New York with the other man and has given out statements with the full knowledge the other man is married," the complaint said.

Jarrett also referred to the ousting of his wife from the 1936 American Olympic swimming team. Miss Holm was dropped from the team because Olympic officials said she allowed champagne parties to interfere with her training rules while on shipboard en route to Germany.

Helen Keller Goes To Court To Help Her Companion

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (AP)—Helen Keller went to court as a witness today for the first time in her life and helped Miss Polly Thomson, who has been her eyes and ears since the death of her childhood teacher, become a U. S. citizen.

Sightless and deaf, she stood smiling before Justice James T. Hallinan in Queens supreme court while an interpreter "spelled" into her hand the question:

"Do you vouch for this person as a citizen?"

Miss Keller, who laboriously learned to talk after a mute childhood, answered "I do."

Miss Thomson, a Scottish woman—her secretary-companion for twenty-three years—then was asked the routine query, "have you ever been arrested?"

"Oh, no!" she exclaimed as if shocked.

"Now that Miss Thomson has her papers," she said as they left the courtroom, "I feel safe. I shall always know I have her."

Justice Hallinan told Miss Thomson she was fortunate to be vouched for "by a woman of such courage and integrity."

Jones Denies That Depression Is On

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (AP)—The recent business slump can't be classed as a "depression," Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation told the senate banking committee today.

Jones, explaining the work of the RFC, outlined its accomplishments "during the depression."

"Which depression, the other one or this one?" inquired Senator Townsend (R-Del).

"This isn't a depression," Jones shot back. "Your face isn't pale."

"Some of us have been led to believe it is a depression," insisted Townsend. "What would you call it?"

"Recession is the new word for it," Jones replied.

Two Men Discussed For SEC Positions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (AP)—Jerome Frank, one of the early Roosevelt New Dealers, and John Hanes, former board member of the New York Stock exchange, were discussed in informed quarters today as the president's probable choices for two vacant seats on the Securities commission.

They would succeed James M. Landis, who resigned as chairman in September to become dean of the Harvard law school, and James D. Ross, who quit recently to become power administrator for Bonneville dam.

Appointments to the commission will be watched with interest by financial men because of Chairman William O. Douglas' recent statement that the stock exchange must reorganize or be subjected to more complete federal regulation.

used as a means of holding back shifting soil from filling the small lakes to grow and to prevent stock from trampling and ruining the dams. Water would be piped from the reservoir to small tanks. Such fenced reservoirs also would furnish cover for wild fowl.

"And," Finnell said, "if we hold the water at its origin it can't flow down the valleys to become a flood menace."

The program submitted is divided into 16 classes, depending on the terrain and type of soil.

Early Mailing Being Urged

Annual renewal of the plea to "mail Christmas packages early" was voiced Thursday by postal authorities here who began the distribution of cards and bulletins from Washington, D. C.

Postmaster Amos Howard has received his share of the advertising and he is passing it on to patrons of the Lubbock office.

No Delivery On Christmas

Little change is seen in the regulations from other years. "Better shop now and mail early for early delivery," Postmaster Howard said. "There will be no delivery of mail on Christmas day. It comes on Saturday this year and there will be no delivery until Monday. So, if you do not get your package Friday, you will not get it until Monday.

"The postoffice will make every effort to deliver letters, cards and packages on time. So many people wait until the last to mail their Christmas gifts that the service is crowded and we cannot give the service we would like to."

Extras Being Employed

Additional employes will be used, both in the Lubbock office and on trains to handle the mail, which is about 200 per cent above ordinary business. The Lubbock office is anticipating the largest business it has ever had, the postmaster added.

"Mail your greetings, gifts, etc. to your friends a week or ten days before Christmas, so they will be certain to receive the mail promptly," Howard emphasized.

Wrapping Instructions Given

All packages should be packed properly, using strong paper and heavy twine and sharp pointed pieces, such as tools, etc., should have sharp edges fully protected. Items easily broken or damaged, such as hats, shoes, candies, etc., should be packed with extra care in strong boxes. All articles that may be easily broken should have a stamp of "fragile" on the wrapper.

Glassware should be packed so as to prevent broken pieces escaping from the box.

Perishable matter must be so marked and should be sent under "special delivery" stamps.

Should Write Plainly

Addresses should be plainly written or printed, also the proper return address. If a tag is used, the address and return should also be printed on the wrapper.

Postage must be fully prepaid. Postal clerks will give the correct information as to weight postage.

No parcel may be more than 100 inches in length and girth combined, nor exceed 70 pounds in weight.

Valuable mail should be registered, especially where valuables such as diamonds, jewelry, papers, money, etc., are concerned. Indemnity up to $1,000 may be had if the items are lost when insured.

Written matter cannot be enclosed in parcels. Christmas cards with writing on take the first class rate.

list in order of importance the following qualities. (Questionnaires are unsigned so boys be truthful): style, intelligence, personality, vitality, neatness, sweetness, beauty.

Boys are asked to list in order the colors they prefer, to tell what thing annoys them most in women's apparel or conduct and to tell what they notice first in a girl's appearance.

Preferences are checked on long hose, knee length hose; bright fingernails or nails with little color; hair in tight curls or in natural effects; conservative or the newest thing in hats, and they must check whether they are pleased, indifferent or irritated when a girl asks them to take care of her compact, gloves, or purse.

Masculine ideas on makeup, jewelry, perfume, veils, and posture are asked and there is ample space at the end of the questionnaire for comments.

Home Management House At Canyon To Honor Mrs. Warner

(Special To The Avalanche)

CANON, Dec. 3. — The late Phebe K. Warner of Claude, beloved writer and clubwoman, will be honored when the new home economics practice house at West Texas State is dedicated early next year.

It will be called "The Phebe K. Warner Home Management House."

The $16,500 structure, located on the campus near Cousins hall, the largest dormitory for girls, will be completed by the contractors and accepted by the board of regents late this month. In it will live the home economics majors who will study home management under the direction of their teachers. They will do all the work necessary to operate the house.

Mrs. Warner was an advocate of better homes and an effective campaigner for programs which could make this objective attainable. School men and women, club women, civic club members, and all of the others who loved and appreciated Mrs. Warner will be invited to attend the dedication of the Phebe K. Warner Home Management House. Her fellow townsmen of Claude and her children will be special guests of the occasion.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State, said that the board of regents had enthusiastically approved the naming of the new building for Mrs. Warner.

Things Look Up In Oil Circles

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 3. — Things were decidedly more perky around the oil offices today.

One got the distinct impression business was looking up again.

One executive expressed the opinion the bottom of petroleum's current slump very likely had been reached.

Tangible evidence of this were reports from marketers of a firmer tone in all refined products. A new steadiness in gasoline seemed to have resulted from renewed inquiry for stocks with brokers apparently of the opinion the low point in spot prices warranted stocking up at prevailing quotations.

Business Holding Up

Compared with a week ago, refiners reported movement of gasoline had increased and the brisk business in burning oils held up.

Crude oil producers took heart over a big drop in the daily production, a safeguard against topheavy stocks, and the bureau of mines report showing a 1,284,000 barrel decrease in stocks as of Nov. 20.

There was an increase in the amount of crude run to stills, however, and some observers noted that if refining operations could be curtailed in proportion to the cut in crude production, last month's weakness in the gasoline market might have been avoided.

All prices of crude and refined products were unchanged for the week.

Leaders Speak Encouragingly

Many leaders spoke encouragingly of the apparent disposition of congress to do something about the general business recession.

The proposal of Governor E. W. Marland of Oklahoma for a conference of oil states on conservation and stabilization of the price of crude oil, together with the rejection of the idea by Governor Allred of Texas came in for sharp notice—but no comment on or off the record.

Field men and engineers had their attention riveted on the East Texas field, shut down two consecutive Sundays for observation of declining bottom hole pressure. They hoped to learn whether the key area was being properly produced, whether the present withdrawal rate may endanger the ultimate recovery of oil from the field.

Drilling operations slacked off a little with the advent of colder weather in some sections. Kansas scored several big producers and pool extensions.

The Oil and Gas Journal's compilation showed 566 well completions, 31 less than the week before.

Tax Valuations Over 4 Billion

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 3. — Texas property valuations for tax purposes passed the four-billion mark this year for the first time since 1931, Comptroller George H. Sheppard said today.

Using 1936 figures for two missing counties, Sheppard found that 1937 values aggregated $4,011,649,686, a gain of $154,810,989 over last year. The 1936 increase over 1935 was only $56,792,601.

The gain was attributed mainly to improved economic conditions and oil development.

Harris County Leads

One hundred and ninety of the 252 reporting counties showed increases which ranged from a few thousand dollars to Harris county's $16,686,070.

The Harris county jump gave it first place in the state with valuations of $285,175,590. Dallas county, which had been in the lead, gained $9,574,157 to $278,679,930.

Among the sharp inreases due largely to intensive oil development: Nueces, increased $13,464,030 to $48,856,070.

Loy Urges Officials To Oppose Road Cut

SHERMAN, Dec. 3. (AP)—Jake J. Loy, secretary-treasurer of the state association of county judges and commissioners, said today all county judges and commissioners were requested to meet with state highway commissioners at Fort Worth (Texas hotel at 2 p. m.) Saturday to voice opposition to the federal government's proposal to reduce federal funds for state and county highways.

"If the proposal is adopted," said Loy, "it will entirely disrupt the Texas highway program with a direct loss of $12,000,000, involving a total sum of $22,000,000. The proposed reduction would eliminate entirely the farm-to-market road program, which would result in widespread unemployment in every county in Texas."

'The Kid' Takes A Bride

And so the ragged little urchin grew up to be a millionaire and married the beautiful movie actress. That's the real life story of Jackie Coogan, who began a climb to fame and fortune as a 4-year-old playing "kid" parts with Charlie Chaplin, and who is shown above just a moment after Betty Grable, ingenue of modern films, became his bride. Betty dabs at a tear as the couple emerges from St. Brendan's Catholic church in Los Angeles.

Handshake And A Kiss Closes Row Of Parents Against Son

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3. (AP)—A handshake and a kiss today ended a court suit in which an elderly couple sought $3,500 from their son "owing and due" for his education.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Driscoll filed the action against Dr. John A. Driscoll, jr., 30, attached to the city emergency hospital system.

Mrs. Driscoll testified she and her husband told the son, when he was 21, they couldn't afford to educate him further, but if he would repay them they would mortgage their home so he might continue his schooling.

The Son Agrees

She said her son agreed and attended Stanford medical school and Creighton university at Omaha. They said they waited a reasonable time for repayment before filing suit.

Superior Judge Pat R. Parker remarked the suit should be compromised because the relationship of a son to his parents is too precious to jeopardize in litigation. The attorneys then went into a conference.

Roy A. Rogers, attorney for the parents, announced the son had agreed to pay the $1,500 mortgage and $2,500 extra at $10 a month.

Leaving the judge's chambers, the son shook his father's hand and kissed his mother.

Ingenious Camera Is Aiding In Making Flying Safer In U. S.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3. (AP)—An ingenious camera developed by a government bureau is helping to make flying safer.

Its use was described at today's session of the National Association of State Aviation Officials by A. B. McMullen, chief of the airport section of the bureau of air commerce.

The camera, McMullen explained, automatically records the landing and takeoff characteristics of all types of airplanes—how fast they climb, their rate of acceleration and their performance at varying altitudes.

This data in turn is used to determine the size and character of the airport needed for the safe operation of the planes.

Man Brings Along His Belongings

JACKSON, Mich., Dec. 3. (AP)—Frank Stein, 42, convicted at Grand Rapids of larceny from a dwelling, arrived at the state prison of southern Michigan today well prepared for his term of six months to four years.

Stephens Lewis, record clerk, said his assistants found that Stein was wearing four shirts, two trousers, two suit coats and three overcoats. Furthermore, Clerk Lewis reported, the prisoner asked the prison to guard carefully these articles he brought along:

Cash $166, three safety razors, three watches, a Bible, a hymnal, numerous watch charms, paper fan, safety pins, cigaret lighter, [illegible] cakes of soap, razor blades, mirrors, pencils, reams of paper, card tricks, hairpins, needles, buttons, buttonhooks, matches, toothpicks, cans of pepper, jars of cold cream and medical supplies.

P. S. There were more, Lewis said, several boxes of aspirin tablets.

Shaw Urges Duke And Duchess Of Windsor To Pay U. S. Visit

LONDON, Dec. 3. (AP) — George Bernard Shaw today urged the Duke and Duchess of Windsor to visit the United States.

Their indefinitely postponed trip, the veteran dramatist wrote in the Glasgow socialist newspaper Forward, would have been enormously useful to us both diplomatically and commercially.

"The sooner it (the postponed tour) is revived under auspices congenial to American labor the better," Shaw wrote.

Foreigners Are Rushing Plans

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the Maritime commission urged congress today to give prompt financial aid to the development and operation of transoceanic air service to prevent it from being "controlled by foreign interests."

Testifying before the house merchant marine committee on legislation recommended by the commission for rehabilitation of this country's merchant marine, Kennedy advocated immediate assistance for across-the-ocean aviation "as a new aid to the foreign commerce of the United States."

Dictates Prompt Action

"Present and future economy dictates prompt action," he said. "Assistance to a small degree now, before foreign airlines have preempted the field as they threaten to do, will undoubtedly firmly establish American operators and prevent transoceanic air service from being controlled by foreign interests as has previously been the case in steamship service and international cable service."

Turning to the merchant marine proper, Kennedy declared there was a need for immediate legislation to create a mediation board to handle labor disputes in the industry.

One-Third Stays Out Of Program

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 3. — Only about 15,000 of the more than 50,000 persons eligible to participate in the new state teachers retirement program have passed up the opportunity, S. Mortimer Brown, director, said today.

Participation was optional with current teachers. Those entering the profession hereafter must take part, contributing five per cent of their salaries up to $3,600 a year.

Must Stay In Program

Eligible persons who did not withdraw prior to yesterday must stay in the program, Brown said most of the estimated 15,000 withdrawals were mailed just before the deadline and an exact check on their number would require ten days or longer.

"Nearly all of those declining participation," he said, "were young persons who intended to keep teaching only two or three years."

Contributions to the pension fund already exceed $400,000 and Brown estimated they would aggregate $1,500,000 or more by next September 1, end of the first year.

Senator Pittman Rushes To Defend John Garner Against Gossips And Libelers

WASHINTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — Senator Pittman of Nevada rushed to defend Vice-President Garner against "gossips and libelers" who cast doubt on Garner's prowess as a nimrod.

The vice-president went hunting in Elk county, Pa., and later was pictured with a 125-pound buck slung over his shoulder. With a grin, Pittman said today he had heard a story that several deer were tied to stakes, and a tag placed on each to show which member of Garner's party was to kill it.

"I've gathered all the evidence," he said, "and that is just malicious gossip."

Branded As Libelous

He also branded as "libelous" any cloakroom talk about a ruckus between Garner and Senator Dieterich (D-Ill) because Dieterich shot the deer that had Garner's tag on it.

Pittman said he was acting as Garner's attorney in the case of "who killed the deer?" — but he hinted he would drop the case unless Garner came across with some deer meat.

Garner snorted:

"That fellow Pittman is always into something. He goes duck hunting, and he comes back and he says: 'I got my limit in two hours.' But I never had seen a single duck."

Experts first thought Texas old age pensions rolls would remain static at 60,000. They now number more than 100,000.

Bell County Turkey Crop To Go On Market Very Soon

TEMPLE, Dec. 3 (AP) — More than half of the Bell county turkey crop has not been sold and will be placed on the Christmas market that opens in this section soon.

Approximately 500,000 pounds of turkeys were bought by produce dealers in the county during the Thanksgiving rush. The top price for the Thanksgiving market was 15 cents and it is predicted by dealers that the bird will not be any higher than 14 cents per pound during the coming rush, due to the fact that the northwestern states still have a large number of birds for sale.

Majority Of Nation's Grid Coaches Favor Leaving Present Football Rules Alone

Three Changes Are Suggested To Aid Game

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 — Despite agitation for three specific rules changes designed to help the offense in football, a nation-wide poll of college coaches by the Associated Press today revealed a strong general desire to "leave well enough alone."

This may help simplify the task of the National Collegiate A. A. rules committee which goes into its annual huddle on New Year's day.

No Tinkering Favored

Subject to various reservations such as those proposed by Notre Dame's Elmer Layden and Nebraska's Biff Jones, a "no tinkering" policy with regard to the rules is advocated by a majority of head coaches. The list favoring conservative approach to any consideration of rules changes includes Jock Sutherland of Pittsburgh, Dick Harlow of Harvard, Bill Kern of Carnegie, Hank Hardwick of Navy, Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt, Wallace Wade of Duke, Stub Allison of California and Harry Kipke of Michigan.

The veteran Glenn "Pop" Warner of Temple heads the coaching wing which feels something drastic should be done to keep the defense with its five-man line as a prime example from getting the upper hand on the gridiron.

The three changes most mentioned as likely to aid the offense comprise (1) return of the goal posts to the goal line, (2) legalizing forward passing from any spot behind the scrimmage line and (3) forcing the defense to keep a definite number of players on the scrimmage line preferable six.

Layden would establish a zone similar to that now applying to chopping beyond which a ball carrier may get up and run after his knee touches the ground and would lift the restrictions on running with a fumbled ball.

William P. Hicks, Jr., of Canisius would increase the clipping penalty from 15 to 25 yards and expel the player committing the foul. Paul "Dizzy" McLeod of Fordham supports the latter half of that suggestion made on the grounds that a player who has been clipped usually is unable to continue in the game.

Marchie Schwartz of Creighton as a safety measure would abolish the spectacular crowd-pleasing kickoff and together with William "Dog" Newton of North Carolina State would seek better protection for the passer. Newton likes the pro rule of moving the ball in from the sidelines 15 yards rather than 10. Jim Crowley of Fordham would like legislation against the forward fumble, putting the ball in play at the spot where the offense fumbles rather than where it recovers. Jones would penalize the offense at the spot of the foul rather than the previous down when an attempted down-field lateral is thrown forward.

All of the coaches probably would join Layden who wishes they might legislate a second touchdown for us, so I will not age so rapidly because of our one-touchdown offense."

Michigan And Notre Dame Are To Resume Gridiron Warfare

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP) — Michigan and Notre Dame were ready to "make up" and there was talk of augmenting athletic relationships with the Pacific coast conference today as the Big Ten opened its two-day winter meeting.

The Wolverines and Irish, potential natural rivals in football reached the parting of gridiron ways 28 years ago after an eligibility dispute.

Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost of Michigan revealed that the breach was healed in announcing Tuesday night that Wolverine coaches would be permitted to schedule games with the Irish. Yost indicated that conversations with Elmer Layden, Irish athletic chief, might lead to resumption of football warfare.

While nothing official has been said, there were reports that the Big Ten might propose that the conference and Pacific coast league football champions meet annually in post-season combat.

Where You Been, Clipper?

By Collier Parris

IF THE BASEBALL meetings are here, can the holdout season be far behind? . . . The magnates are passing up a lot of good winter publicity by not having the holdout ballyhoo fires lit early . . . And speaking of the baseball meetings, from the Milwaukee session may come developments of interest to local diamond fans and friends . . .

VILLANOVA LIKES "bowl" games, but like Fordham, "we've been left out in the cold . . . nobody wants us," and Maurice J. "Clipper" Smith added, in less brusque words, "nobody that counts, that is" . . . Why don't you read the papers, Clipper?

'Tis true Villanova has a swell ball club, an undefeated, untied ball club . . . and it's true Villanova didn't get invited to the Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Cotton Bowl or Orange Bowl, although it did go to Cuba last New Year's to play Auburn in the "Rum Bowl." . . . And Smith's statements last night at Omaha forces this retort: Villanova was, at best, a third choice as Tech's Sun Bowl opponent, and maybe a fourth or fifth behind Colorado, Santa Clara, and Montana, at least. . . . But don't say you weren't invited, Clipper. . . .

SAMUEL FILMORE WEST, the big drug-and-bunt man, figures the White Sox got the best of the Chicago-Detroit trade yesterday which sent Vernon Kennedy, Dixie Walker and Tony Piet to the Tigers for Marv Owen, Gerald Walker and Mike Tresh. . . . The Brownie centerfielder had little comment regarding the St. Louis trades, but feels, we imagine, as if the Browns got the better of that deal, too. . . . They got two pretty fair pitchers in Ed Linke and Buck Newsom, and a pair of fair hands in Red Kress and Buster Mills . . . All it cost the Browns was Joe Vosmik and Elon Hogsett . . .

THE ALL-AMERICA football team for 1937, as selected by the Associated Press and which stands as THE All-America in most books, will be released in tomorrow morning's Avalanche . . . It does not include Herschel "Red" Ramsey of the Red Raiders . . . but it is a pretty fair team, despite that omission . . . Red is virtually a cinch for the "little All-America" . . .

PEEKING OVER Pete Cawthon's shoulder as he reads his mail from Coach Casey Finnegan of North Dakota State:

"Dear Pete:

"Am wondering if you would be interested in bringing us to Lubbock for a football game in 1938. We were not very tough this year but will be up there again next fall if we get an ordinary break in luck. We should be about as strong as we were in 1934, or stronger. We have another great back who will be a senior next year. However he is not as good a runner as Fritz Hanson. Hanson last year was voted the outstanding athlete in Canada. He plays with the Winnipeg rugby team, which won the Dominion championship. You certainly had a great season. You must be tougher than ever."

Until Popovich came along, Fritz Hanson was the greatest running back a visiting team ever brought to the Tech field . . . It is no surprise to discover he was voted the outstanding athlete in Canada . . .

THAT MONTAGUE MYTH suffered another blow yesterday when New York papers quoted Babe Ruth as saying he had beaten Big John several times on various golf courses in recent weeks . . . Ruth does not smack the little white pill with as much sincerity and accuracy as he pounded the pelota with a hickory stick, although he rates a little better than the duffer class . . . Lots of persons have had their doubts about the Montague fellow, and it seems plain now why he hesitates to match his skill with the professionals and better amateurs . . .

TOMORROW JUST ABOUT winds up the football schedule for the regular season . . . A few good games were saved for the last, and they'll bear toying with.

Rice over S.M.U.; Oregon over Arizona; Centenary over Louisiana Tech; Howard Payne over Hardin-Simmons; Duquesne over Mississippi State; New Mexico Aggies over Santa Barbara; Texas Aggies over San Francisco U.; Southern Cal. over U.C.L.A.; Tennessee over Mississippi; Tulsa over Manhattan; Kentucky over Florida; Amarillo over Wichita Falls.

If you want to know this far ahead how the various bowl games'll come out, here are the answers: Rose Bowl, California; Sugar Bowl, Louisiana State; Cotton Bowl, whoever represents the Southwest conference; Orange Bowl, whoever represents the South, provided it is not Florida, Tennessee, Georgia, Kentucky or Tulane; Sun Bowl, Texas Tech; Oil Bowl, the Tulsa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

TODAY'S BEST LONGSHOT, guaranteed to give you the big jitters if you risk much on it: A daily double that Texas Tech will be admitted to the Southwest conference on Dec. 11, and that Tech will play its first Southwest conference game on the same day . . . Texas Christian university's basketball team comes to the Tech gymnasium for a series Dec. 10 and 11, which is a week from tonight and tomorrow night.

Letters Given To 19 Players

The Westerners had their inning at the banquet table last night and made the most of it.

Nineteen of them came away decorated, or at least with the assurance they would be decorated when letter sweaters are handed out for valor on the football field during the 1937 season. It was the annual banquet, held in the third floor corridor of the high school building, attended by players, coaches and school officials.

Walter "Jumbo" Webster, fullback and outstanding player on the squad this year, was appointed captain for 1938. Head Coach Weldon B. Chapman introduced players. Lettermen were:

Webster, Capt. Babe Ritchie, Harold Parsons, Wayne "Rusty" Johnston, L. D. Venable, Herb Leaverton, Henry Ford, Jack Coursey, Lloyd Sanders, Jerry Nash, Joe Pytell, Howard Alford, Coulson Paxton, Bill Sessums, Jack Ware, Joe Bob Foster, Ernest Winter, Melvin Cockrell, and Leete Jackson.

Nine Are Seniors

Venable, Leaverton, Ford, Coursey, Paxton, Ritchie, Sessums, Ware, and Cockrell, completed eligibility this year. Squadmen were presented by Coach Chapman, including Dutchy Cawthon, Jamie Sims, Homer Hensley, Jarvis Wright, D. H. Stockton, Paul Spackman, and Robert Castle.

L. V. Ringer, who with Avon Seaton and Wayne Pipes was ineligible for the team this year, but who worked out all season and will play next year, was introduced. Charles Purcell and Oscar Halsell, team managers, were presented.

Chapman Gets Watch

Leaverton presented a watch given by players to Coach Chapman.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Manhattan merry-go-round—That's the six-day bike race . . . Max Schmeling offered $25 for a sprint at the bike race the other night, and, quite appropriately, one of the German stars went out and won it . . . By the way, looks like Maxie's fight with Harry Thomas Dec. 13 may be a financial flop-peroo. . . The anti-nazi boycott is on in full blast here.

King Levinsky Abandons Ring And Goes In For Wrestling

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP) — King Levinsky swelled his chest with a sucking-in sound today until the buttons of his coat nearly popped off.

It was preliminary to an announcement of tremendous importance to him.

"I want to make it a wrestle," he said, squinting his eyes. "There ain't no more mazuma for me fighting any more. From now on I'm a wrestler a murderer of the mat."

"I gave all them big guys hell in the ring, didn't I?" he quizzed. "I'm going to do the same thing in a wrestle. I'm still the king."

Basketball Season For 10 High Schools Of South Plains Will Start Tonight

The basketball season for ten South Plains high school teams gets under way tonight with double header attractions in the gymnasiums at Meadow, Ropesville, Frenship, Wilson and Southland.

Formation of the league, designed to provide regular games for the smaller high schools throughout the season, and a complete schedule were announced this week by A. L. Faubion, superintendent at New Deal, who helped arrange the schedule. An original schedule, calling for round robin competition between twelve schools, was altered when two schools withdrew.

Play Twice Weekly

Games will be played on Tuesday and Friday nights, Faubion said. In each case, double headers will be played, one game between girls teams always starting at 7:30 o'clock, the second between boys teams.

No games are scheduled from Feb. 4 to Feb. 22, allowing for county and district tournaments.

The schedule for tonight and next week follows:

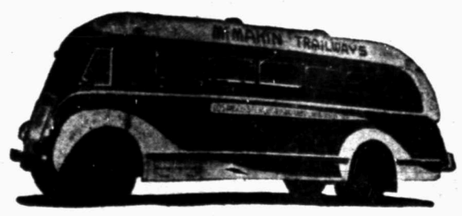

Dec. 3—New Deal at Ropesville; Cooper at Meadow; Shallowater at Frenship; New Home at Wilson; Roosevelt at Southland.

Dec. 7 — Cooper at Ropesville, Meadow at Shallowater; Wilson at New Deal; Frenship at Roosevelt; Southland at New Home.

Dec. 10 — Cooper at Shallowater; Ropesville at Wilson; Meadow at Roosevelt; Southland at New Deal, and Frenship at New Home.

Mustangs Are In Bad Shape For Tussle

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 3.—Only a step from the Southwest conference title and a spot in the Cotton bowl classic on New Year's day, Rice institute tomorrow throws a team full of those aspirations against the lame Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Beaten down last week by Texas Christian in the midst of a grand comeback, the Methodists had a patched lineup, a gang of rugged sophomore hands and a hustling spirit to throw in the way of a title-bound Rice club.

In Bad Condition

Doleful Matty Bell, the Methodist coach seeking his ninety-ninth win of a long coaching career, wasn't fooling when he complained that "we are in the worst physical condition of the year."

On the sidelines, his leg in a cast, was Charlie Sprague, all-conference tackle and standout of the line. Listed as doubtful starters, also, were two first-string ends, Pete Acker and Keith Ranspot, who failed to suit out this week in practice. Doubt remained that Bell's two finest "pitchers," George (Red) Ewing and Jack Morrison, would be in the pink.

Texas Christian, ready to attend the game in a body to pull for a Methodist team they spilled last week, (a Methodist victory would give T. C. U. the title), was the butt of the only humor Bell could muster.

Beat Selves Out Of Title

"Maybe T. C. U. beat themselves out of the title when they gave us such a thorough licking," he mumbled.

A Rice victory would put them ahead of the flock; a tie would leave them in a deadlock with Texas Christian and a loss would dump them into a second-place tie with Arkansas behind T. C. U.

Rice will loose Ollie Cordill, its 193-pound sophomore halfback, for its chief threat on ground gains. He turned back Baylor last week with an amazing one-man performance. He has capable running partners in Doug (Scat) Sullivan, Jake Schuehle and Tom (Red) Vickers, who all took a hand in the Baylor burial.

The Dallas classic and the date the Texas Aggies have with San Francisco U. on the Pacific coast will clean up the regular season schedule. The Aggies, intact physically after a Thanksgiving day victory over Texas, rated prime favorites over the Dons, whom they spilled last year, 38-14.

The curious okapi, African animal, was not discovered by white men until the beginning of the present century.

Boys' Club To Be Organized

Immediate organization of a Lubbock chapter of Boys' Clubs of America was planned at an informal meeting Thursday attended by Lions club members and T. J. Craighead, field representative of the national organization.

Attending from the service club were Wm. H. Evans, Lions president, Herman L. Fink, chairman of the Lions' boys work committee, and C. A. Sanford, who with John Toles and Dr. M. H. Benson complete the committee.

To Call Committeemen

Fink, after hearing explanations of the proposed organization in Lubbock, said he would call together boys work committeemen of other service clubs. Bob McDonald and E. C. Kuykendall of the Rotary club and Marion Sanford and Earl M. McClure of the Kiwanis club, and discuss the plan to begin a boys club program Jan. 1, employing a Texas Technological college student to direct it.

The Boys' Clubs of America, Inc., organized in 1906, is a federation of 291 organizations which provide leisure-time leadership for more than 250,000 boys enrolled in their membership, said Craighead, who explained that former President Herbert Hoover is president and Sanford Bates, former head of the federal prison system, executive director.

Members, each of which is completely autonomous, have voluntarily associated themselves in a national organization which represents them in the stimulation and promotion of the club movement and carries on activities and provides services that would be difficult, if not impossible, of accomplishment by the individual units.

It promotes community studies of boy-life conditions; makes program and activity studies to aid organizations in representative towns and advises them as to improvement, alteration, expansion of plant; gives advice and assistance in financial appeals and campaigns, organizes and conducts training courses and institutes for workers with boys, maintains a library of several thousand books; organizes and manages an annual convention, conducts inter-club competitions in athletics, organizes and directs commissions for study, and numerous other work, said Craighead.

The possibility of building or renting a building for the work, "which will not duplicate or conflict with or even overlap that of the Boy Scouts," was considered.

Fink and his committee have been studying boys advancement in Lubbock the past year and "we will do something about the juvenile problem of becoming men in a natural and lawful way."

Relics From Early Days Of Spur Ranch Are Exhibited

Recent additions to exhibits in the West Texas museum on the Texas Technological college campus include relics from the early days of Spur ranch, a photograph of the director's meeting at the college, and an original time table of the first regular train into Lubbock.

Included in the ranch exhibit, presented by Clifford B. Jones, ranch manager and president of the Tech board of directors, are an English style saddle, a stamp for wax seals bearing imprint of a spur, a powder pouch for muzzle loading guns, and a pair of rusty handcuffs.

Ex-governors Pat M. Neff and W. P. Hobby, Amon G. Carter, and Jones were photographed among first board members at Texas Technological college.

First train trip to Lubbock was made October 25, 1909, according to information sent by John A. Fox of Fort Worth with the original time table, the train averaging 13.4 miles an hour from Plainview to Lubbock, making the 52-mile trip in three and one-half hours.

More Than 1,000 Trees Being Expected Early Next Week

More than 1,000 Christmas trees should arrive not later than early next week for distribution to business firms and individuals to whom they have been sold by Sons of the American Legion, according to E. Kelley Nail, sponsor of the sons.

Almost half the ordered lot has been sold, prices ranging from 35 cents to $4.75. The balsam trees are coming from Tacoma, Wash.

Profit derived from this seasonal sale is to be applied on new uniforms and instruments for the drum and bugle corps of the Legion.

It's Really A Pleasant Life That This Typical Family Leads In Typical Town

By NEA Service

BEAVER DAM, Wis., Dec. 3—This is America's typical city. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, which has just completed a survey of 19 small cities, 140 villages and 66 farm counties selected at random over the nation, says it is.

The department considers Beaver Dam with its population of 9867 closest to the average in every respect. Its average family averages 3.6 persons, the largest families being either in the highest income brackets or on relief. For the 453 families interviewed at random in Beaver Dam by the department's bureau of home economics, the average income was $1309. Only 10 per cent of the families interviewed have more than one wage earner.

During some period of the year studied, 11 per cent of Beaver Dam's families had been on relief. Of those independent of relief, 66.9 per cent received an income of less than $1500 annually.

Wage earning families in Beaver Dam have an average income of $1,219 to spend each year; business and professional families, $1,952; and clerical families, $1,747, the data show.

Welch Family Fits Average Pattern

The way the lives of the Irving G. Welch family here fit into design for living described by the survey makes this father, mother, 11-year-old son George, and 5-year-old daughter Joan a typical family of this typical town.

Twelve years ago, just four years after he went to work for local manufacturers of barn equipment, Welch married Miss Gertrude Brotkowski. Today she is 31, and he 35 with the distinction of being one of three "old-timers" among the 110 men employed by this company. For years he has been cupola tender for the plant. And in that span he has become accustomed to the scorching heat rising from his furnace, which melts all of the iron used in the foundry.

Eight years ago the family moved into the seven-room house they now occupy. Their rent is $20 a month, which is the exact figure which the government found to be the average for its average community. "But it's too much," says Welch. A little wistfully, Welch mentions that in 1930 he might have built his own home, but didn't. This winter his family is to enjoy the comfort of oil burning stoves, which are being installed to replace coal stoves.

* * *

Father And Son Both Home At Lunch Time

The typical family spends a busy day. The alarm clock rings at 7 a. m. Mrs. Welch prepares breakfast and serves it around the kitchen table. George usually starts for St. Peter's parochial school, where he is in the sixth grade, when father leaves for work. Then mother's day begins in earnest. With little Joan busied with her dolls and their two carriages or rollicking with her puppy "Trixie," Mrs. Welch washes dishes, bakes, makes beds, picks up last evening's papers from the over-stuffed velour davenport and chairs, cleans, washes or irons, according to weekly schedule. Judging from her basement larder, she cans most of the fruits and vegetables which the family consumes during the winter. Much of the supply is grown in her own garden.

This is the typical family of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's typical town—the Irving Welches of Beaver Dam, Wis. Mrs. Welch makes sure that daughter Jan is getting along all right with supper, while Mr. Welch and son George get down to the business of eating.

By 12:15 o'clock, she has dinner ready, and father and George are home again. Afternoons afford time for mother to make all of Joan's clothes, some of George's, and a few of her own, using the sewing machine before the dining room window. Bridge isn't one of her interests. By 5 o'clock her husband and son are home for the day and there's supper to get.

Evening is pretty largely hobby-time. Father reads the daily paper which comes into his home. Mother picks up her crocheting or knitting for a few moments of relaxation before tucking Joan into her crib. If George hasn't a lesson to study for tomorrow, his father lets him work with him in his basement workshop. George's hobbies are his chemistry set and model airplanes, of which he has at least half a dozen that will actually fly. Father does cabinet work, builds miniature furniture for the children, knick-knacks for his wife, and keeps the wagons, bikes, roller skates and toys in repair for all the kids in the neighborhood. Sometimes he takes his son hunting or fishing. Occasionally he plays soft ball or bowls. He plays checkers with his wife and their friends. Now and then they see a movie at Beaver Dam's one theater.

* * *

Lodge Work Takes Up Much Spare Time

When friends come in, the kitchen floor may become a dance hall for the evening. The Welches and their guests are just as near to the world's greatest dance bands as their radio. Perhaps once a month they go with friends for an evening of dancing at some nearby roadhouse.

Outside his home, which is unmistakably Welch's big concern, his interest revolves about his lodge. He is now serving his third term as president of Aerie No. 1638, Fraternal Order of the Eagles. That responsibility (the lodge claims 600 members from the city and surrounding territory) calls him from home every Tuesday evening, and during the fall and winter requires considerable travel about the state with his degree team.

Mrs. Welch is devoted to the Christian Mothers Society of St. Peter's church, and attends the auxiliary to her husband's lodge the first and third Thursdays of every month, while father has his innings at home alone with the children.

Like Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith," this typical American man "goes on Sunday to the church." And so does his wife. Their son attends the regular children's mass, as Joan will when she is old enough.

* * *

Both Parents Were Orphans

Politics? Welch always has been a Democrat, and—"As far as I'm concerned Roosevelt is O. K." he declares in no uncertain terms.

Bob Elson is Welch's favorite radio sports announcer, Bing Crosby and Bob Burns star performers in his opinion. Of course the careers of Fred MacMurray of the films, former Beaver Dam boy, and of Madeline Horn, who has earned no mean fame for her ice-skating prowess, never lack in interest for Beaver Damians.

Mrs. Welch, although thoroughly American, comes of Polish parentage. Her husband is a mixture of German and Irish extraction. Welch knows the satisfaction which comes largely from self education. His father having been killed, he was forced to leave school after completing the seventh grade to help support his family. But he was not satisfied to forget about study. He continued studying and reading at home, took four years of manual training work and an additional three years of metal work at the Beaver Dam vocational school. Mrs. Welch, left an orphan at an early age, never had the privilege of study beyond eighth grade. "But if things go right, the kids will get an education," Welch vows. Welch, his wife, and the two children have life insurance. Welch has a savings account in a local bank, but no checking account.

Idalou First Baptist Church Today Is Free Of All Debt

IDALOU, Dec. 3, (Special) — Idalou's First Baptist church has been freed of debt through contributions of cotton and money.

Approximately half the costs of the $20,000 plant was liquidated by offerings of the past two weeks. A special price of 12 1-2 cents a pound was paid for the cotton.

Announcement also was made today that the Rev. R. C. Tennison, pastor, would not go to Gorman as had been announced, but that concerted action of church members had resulted in his decision to remain here.

That Girl on Broadway says temperamental people usually are 90 per cent temper and 10 per cent mental.

★ ★ ★

It might not cure all our troubles, but if every fellow's car was as good as every other fellow's it would cut out a lot of the jealousy which causes so much of our "restlessness."

★ ★ ★

SPEAKING of cars recalls highways to mind and highways recall President Roosevelt's recent suggestion that much federal aid money be withdrawn from American highway expansion.

Pointing out that "the budget must be balanced," the President also declared that since 1916 a total of $3,100,000,000 "has been withdrawn from the federal treasury and put into road building."

If we know anything about the surtax on automobiles, the tax on gasoline and oil and automobile accessories, that $3,100,000,000 has been withdrawn from the pockets of the owners of motor vehicles—and a lot more on top of that!

Perhaps you never thought about it, but the older states along the Atlantic seaboard already have their vast highway systems and the boys up there are in favor of diverting the federal aid into other governmental channels.

But such is not the case in Texas and many other states and since we haven't gotten ours—although we've helped pay for the other fellows' to cut our highways—and now would not be playing fair with us.

This much is certain.

Should the President be successful in curtailing federal highway aid, we in Texas and more particularly we on the South Plains will be mightily hurt in the matter of closing up our highway system.

And the little budget balancing that theoretically would be accomplished would force us to pay more than our share on the public debt while receiving nothing concrete in return.

ALTHOUGH Texas highway interests, chambers of commerce, civic organizations and other groups interested in highway improvement are greatly worried over the President's suggestion, The Plainsman cannot believe that anything will be done along that line.

The entire—and extremely potent—Texas delegation in Congress will be in opposition to the move, along with Vice-President Garner, who wields a considerable influence himself as everyone knows. They will have help, too, from other states and we can see no chance of the idea getting anywhere.

For which, thank heaven!

And now who would like to have a four-months old, male, full-blooded Scotch collie?

A reader has called in and asks that The Plainsman find the puppy a good home but asks that his name be not used.

Anyone wanting the puppy, call The Journal at No. 13 and talk to the young lady at the switchboard.

First come, first served!

That Man on Avenue Q says maybe husbands are not as romantic as they should be but wives should remember that bringing home beefsteaks, etc., are about as nice little attentions as any.

Ira Jenkins, the big dot and dash man down at Postal Telegraph, brought this one in the other day. See if you can work it. Correct solution is near the bottom of today's column.

A little boy had a dollar to spend on candy. Going to a store he discovered there were three kinds of candy being featured and kid-like, he wanted some of every kind.

One kind sold at two pieces for one cent.

Another sold at one piece for three cents.

The third sold at one piece for 10 cents.

How many of each kind did the boy get for his dollar?

★ ★ ★

ARE you ever troubled with inability to sleep?

It is surprising how many people are.

As a matter of fact, The Plainsman is one of those unfortunate souls who "read themselves to sleep" practically every night. It's become such a habit that he can't drop off to sleep any other way.

Since the woods are full of people who have difficulty with their snoozing—especially those who can sleep fine in the morning but who have trouble at night!—we are passing along a few remarks on the subject which we happened across recently in the Imperial magazine.

"Probably there are as many cures for insomnia as for colds.

"In our reading we have encountered three advocates of a system that appeals to us and that we have followed with satisfactory results.

"This system was used in the 18th century by Samuel Johnson and is currently used by David Grayson and Bob Davis, well known writers.

"Johnson told Boswell, in commenting on the proper method of diverting one's distressing thoughts, 'No, sir. To attempt to think them down is madness. He should have a lamp constantly burning in his bedchamber during the night and, if wakefully disturbed, take a book and read, and compose himself to sleep.'

"'This recipe I have often tried and know well that it works,' says David Grayson.

"Bob Davis wrote that one night 30 years ago he was unable to sleep. Rising, he looked in the mirror and noted that he needed a shave. He shaved leisurely, turned back to bed and slept soundly. Since then he has not fought wakefulness but has accepted it. He reads, makes notes, bathes, or goes to the kitchen for a bite to eat. His theory is that the best sleep is that which follows the slump into unconsciousness. Two spells of 'fresh rest' are better than one of prolonged sleep. Two or three hours of activity in the middle of the night, stolen from eight hours of solid sleep, are a net gain."

If you're one of those who nightly must woo Morpheus, you might try out any of the above measures.

At least they can't hurt you any if you can't sleep in the first place!

The boy bought 94 pieces of the two-for a penny candy at 47 cents.

He bought five pieces of the 10-cent candy for 50 cents.

And one piece of the three-cent kind.

A HEADLINE on the front page of yesterday's Journal read "Scotland Yard Has Nabbed Its Man At Last; 25 Long Years of Robbery Closed."

There was nothing wrong in the headline. It fitted the story perfectly.

But it unconsciously did one thing—namely, it made the average reader "remember" all over again that "Scotland Yard is the most efficient police organization in the world."

Actually, Scotland Yard is no such thing.

More efficient by far is the French Surete and more efficient than either of them is the Federal Bureau of Investigation—America's G-Men Group.

Recently, Scotland Yard sent a committee over here to study the workings of the G-Men and told Director J. Edgar Hoover that his organization already has what Scotland Yard hopes to get within the next 25 years in the way of organization and equipment.

Scotland Yard is good, all right—but not the best.

Yesterday: Mrs. Downey testifies that she heard a man running down the stairs right after the murder and then in tense, dramatic fashion she went on, "But that isn't all, sergeant; that isn't all."

CHAPTER XXI

A breathless silence fell upon the room. Every eye was fastened upon Mrs. Downey; every ear awaited her disclosure. Cilly wondered if other hearts beat as furiously as her own. She moved her chair a little to the left in order not to be so directly behind the woman. She dreaded missing a word of her story.

"Yes, Mrs. Downey?" Sergeant Dolan urged.

"That isn't all I know, sergeant," Mrs. Downey repeated. She was sure of herself now; her words carried a ring of conviction. Lucille glared at her mother's back.

"This is what Lucille doesn't want me to tell you," Mrs. Downey went on, with maddening complacency.

"It was about 4 o'clock in the morning. I was so upset, I tell you, that I couldn't sleep much more that night. I kept hearing that poor girl's scream over and over again. Lucille was up, too, until after 2 o'clock, but I gave her one of my sleeping powders—she had to be to school in the morning—and she fell asleep.

"I stayed awake. I was afraid to take a powder myself for fear something else might happen. I had the funniest feeling, sergeant. I kept thinking if I fell asleep I might walk in my sleep and fall out the window just as that poor girl had fallen. I tell you, I'll never forget it . . ."

She paused for breath. Eleven tense individuals hung on her words. The suspense could almost be felt. Mrs. Downey was enjoying her moment in the limelight.

"I guess it must have been about 4 o'clock," she went on. "I know I looked at the clock at 20 minutes to 4, and this was some time after that. I was out in the kitchen getting a drink of water—the water is always colder there than in the bathroom — and I heard the door of the next apartment — that's 4-B — slowly opening. I can always tell the sound because the door squeaks a little.

"Well, I thought it was a funny time for Mrs. Wheeler to be going out. Even if she were sick or something, the drugstore would be closed. I was a little worried about her. Living there all alone like she does, I knew how frightened she must have been, just like the rest of us. I tell you, if I didn't have Lucille, I wouldn't have stayed in that apartment alone that night. No, sir. I'd rather have slept in the subway. So I thought if Mrs. Wheeler were nervous, she might just as well come in and spend the rest of the night with us, and sleep on the couch. I went to the door to tell her so.

"And then, just as I was about to unlock the door, I heard a low voice in the hall. It was only a whisper, but it was a man's voice—you know how loud a man usually whispers. So I just opened that little peep-hole on my door to see if the man was really coming out of Mrs. Wheeler's. He was, all right. I could see him plain as day, with the hall light shining right in his face. He was still whispering. I heard him say: 'Everything will be all right, Helen. Nobody'll suspect . . .'"

Sergeant Dolan straightened, his pencil poised in midair.

"You're sure you heard that, Mrs. Downey? You're sure those were the exact words?"

• • •

Mrs. Downey pressed her lips together positively. "I'm absolutely certain, sergeant," she said emphatically. "Mind you I didn't just wake up out of a sound sleep like I do sometimes. I didn't imagine this. I was as wide awake then as I am now and I saw that man as plain as day, and I heard those words 'Everything will be all right, Helen,' he says, 'nobody'll suspect.' . . . I tell you, I wish I knew then that there'd been a murder committed!"

She nodded her head expressively.

"Mrs. Downey, would you recognize this man if you were to see him again?"

Indeed I would. . . . Why, I saw him as well as I see you sitting there, sergeant. I recognized his face the minute I saw it again."

"What?"

"I saw I did see him again."

As if an electric shock had coursed through the room, every person stiffened to attention. Mr. Corbett gripped the arms of his chair fiercely. Mr Hunter leaned so far forward in his chair that his wife laid a restraining hand on his arm. Every eye was glued on Mrs. Downey.

"Where did you see him, Mrs. Downey?"

"In this morning's paper," she stated. "He was in the picture taken at the poor girl's funeral yesterday. He was standing right in front of the camera. Oh, I knew him all right."

Tense muscles relaxed for the moment, there were a few deep breaths drawn. None of the men here had been at Amy's funeral.

"What paper was this in, Mrs. Downey?"

"In the NEWS, sergeant. I like to read the NEWS—it's so much more interesting . . ."

"Martin, run out and get a copy of today's NEWS," Dolan snapped. "Thank you, Mrs. Downey. You've

"PNEUMONIA SEASON" WITH US ONCE MORE

Now is the time to guard against pneumonia.

This is the warning of Lubbock health and medical authorities. The fact that the warning is heard every year and the further fact that most of us likely will disregard it detracts nothing at all from its life-and-death importance.

Although Lubbock thus far has escaped any unusual number of cases of the sickness this year, everyone should know from experience that Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, is exactly correct in his statement that this is "pneumonia weather." Colds are prevalent, sharp weather changes are frequent and for some reason, bodily resistance to disease seems to be at its lowest ebb between seasons.

The fact that this is the danger period of the year is convincingly evident from statistics on pneumonia. U. S. army records show that 40 per cent of all cases of the illness among enlisted men occur during the two months of November and December. The ratio probably is higher among civilians who are not compelled, as soldiers are, to take certain precautions.

The most important of the safe-guards are simple. They involve only such things as bodily cleanliness, keeping the bowels open, inclusion of fruits and green stuffs in the daily diet, avoidance of those who have colds and, most important of all, the avoiding of over-exertion when we have colds.

Simple rules, yes. Yet people will die in Lubbock this winter solely because they have failed to observe them.

A Thought . .

O Lord my God, in thee do I put my trust: save me from all them that persecute me, and deliver me. —Psalms 7:1.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3—Among the nominations made by readers of a magazine for Man-of-the-Year, block-headed, sardonic, wise-cracking, perky Charlie McCarthy runs well up in such distinguished company as Senator Burton K. Wheeler, John L. Lewis and Chiang Kai-Shek.

But while Funnymanikin McCarthy is doing so well for himself, what of his maker and mentor, slim, trim, grim Edgar Bergen?

McCarthy goes on the radio, gives the interviews, and has his picture taken perched on the laps of movie cuties. Bergen just stands around looking dour and unnecessary. Nobody talks to Bergen about himself.

As a matter of fact, he is deeply concerned about the skyrocketing fame of the dummy to which he plays stooge. He isn't jealous. He's worried lest the old oaken McCarthy be warped and ruined by the spotlight.

Speaking as Bergen, for Bergen, Bergen said, "It's bad business, being a sensation. Sensations don't last very long, because too much publicity is deadly. I like Charlie and I'd hate to see anything happen to him. I ought to do all right, myself, because I've got some other characters which could become just as popular as Charlie."

• • •

Elmer And Peggy

McCarthy's predecessor when Bergen was a ventriloquist-student at Lakeview High school, Chicago, was a negro dummy. In later years Bergen has made a few appearances with a cross-roads bumpkin named Elmer.

A new character is Peggy, a snub-nosed piece of fire and fluff with a vocabulary that would bring a Technicolor blush to the Hays office and would send the Federal Radio Commission into special session. Peggy will work only in the night clubs until, and if, she learns to be a lady.

Bergen also is experimenting with a couple of chickens. Replicas of the common garden variety of chicken except that one is sad-faced and the other smiles. The idea thus far is that these two birds talk over current events, but they're not ready for a debut.

Probably it's a mean trick to report this fact, because Bergen already has to maintain three secretaries to handle his mail, and he employs two lawyers. However:

The world's No. 1 ventriloquist is thinking about getting married. And he hasn't any particular girl in mind.

During 17 years of trouping with McCarthy, Bergen lived out of a trunk. He didn't even consider asking any girl to share a life like that. Now, though, Bergen has rented a house in Beverly Hills, and soon will build a home here.

Doesn't expect to give up stage and night club work altogether, but such excursions from pictures and radio will be rare. He tells himself that the settling-down process logically should include a wife.

• • •

All Qualifications

And so, gals and ladies, the lines form on the right, the left, and in the middle aisle. John Edgar Bergen will be 35 on Feb. 16. He is 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and is blond—American-born, of Swedish parentage.

He attended Chicago and Northwestern universities, was a D. U., and does credit to any hostess' dinner party and any tailor's evening clothes.

He has a large income. My guess, based on movie and radio contracts plus endorsements, is one thousand dollars a day.

Bergen is by no means a cold and disagreeable fellow. If he seems aloof and a bit too businesslike, it's merely showmanship—the deliberate suppression of his own personality for the benefit of Dummy McCarthy.

Unless you count an insatiable appetite for smorgasbord, and a passion for motorcycles, Bergen has no notably bad habits. Part of his new leisure is devoted to flying lessons.

'There Ain't A Gentleman In The Whole Car!'

Labor Relations Board Decisions Draw Firm Protests From AF Of L; CIO Also Is Hit

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — The National Labor Relations Board, created to enforce labor's right to organize freely and bargain collectively through its own selected agents, is under attack—especially by the American Federation of Labor, which charges it with favoritism toward the C.I.O. On that charge the Federation largely bases its opposition to the pending minimum wage-maximum hour bill.

Counter-charge is brought that the A.F. of L. officially maintaining that the C.I.O. is an outlaw, dual union group, actually is stabbing at the board because it is not persistently partial to the A.F. of L.

Meanwhile it has gone almost unnoticed that an NLRB decision involving an A.F. of L-C.I.O. fight has just revealed the board's first split and first dissenting opinion, with a 2 to 1 vote in favor of a fundamental A.F. of L. principle.

• • •

Cite Two Decisions

The board defends itself against charges of favoritism. The C.I.O. defends itself against charges of lawlessness or irresponsibility. The A.F. of L. defends itself against charges of forming "semi-company unions." And various employers defend themselves against charges that they have coerced employes into joining A.F. of L. unions in violation of the act.

Meanwhile it is instructive to examine two recent decisions of the board which have held in effect:

That imposition of an A.F. of L. union on employes by action of employers is no more legal than imposition of a "company union."

That craft unions should be permitted to carve themselves off from industrial unions, even in predominantly industrial production plants.

• • •

Ban "Favored" Union

The board recently ordered the Consolidated Edison and affiliated companies in New York not to give effect to contracts with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A.F. of L.) which gave that union exclusively collective bargaining rights, to end its alleged use of labor spies, to cease persuading employes to join the IBEW, to cease discouraging employes from joining the United Radio and Electrical Workers of America (C.I.O.) and to reinstate six employes allegedly fired for union activity.

The board concluded that the companies had engaged in unfair labor practices by interfering with, restraining and coercing their employes; that the granting of the IBEW contracts was a part of the employers' unlawful course of conduct and that the contracts were hence invalid.

Chairman Floyd Carlisle of Consolidated Edison branded the findings as "utterly unwarranted" and promised to observe the contracts until a federal court invalidated them, if ever. President Dan Tracy of IBEW said the board's action was "biased, bigoted, illegal and dictatorial," and Green said "the decision outrages the provision of the Wagner act."

• • •

Permit Union Split

Now it's the C.I.O.'s turn to holler. In the Allis-Chalmers case involving 10,000 automobile company workers the NLRB, with Member Edwin S. Smith dissenting, has held that two groups of employes may vote separately whether they wish to be represented as A.F. of L. craft units or by the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) local covering the whole plant. The two federation unions are the IBEW and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers.

Although the UAW is conceded to have a majority of all employes among its members, those unions appear to have majorities in their own crafts. Craft union claims as to four other units were disallowed on the ground that their evidence of membership was unsubstantial.

Smith's dissent held that the majority decision vested in a small employe group choice of determining whether, in a mass-production plant, a complete industrial bargaining unit or one from which one or most crafts had been severed, was the more appropriate to promote collective bargaining.

The decision had been left to a group known to be hostile to industrial organization, he said, and wishes of the great majority were ignored. Small craft groups, he said, would be enabled to throw thousands out of work by striking and hamper majority attempts to achieve stable employment through collective bargaining.

* * *

An interminable silence followed Martin's departure from the room. The scratch of Sergeant Dolan's pencil, as he made nervous little marks on his pad, sounded like the sawing of a giant log. Mrs. Shaw's breath was coming in short, spasmodic wheezes; this emotional suspense was no tonic for asthma. Tiny beads of perspiration stood out on Mr. Johnson's pale forehead though he blotted them frequently with a moist handkerchief. Mr. Corbett's beady little eyes darted excitedly from one person to another. Cilly felt them on her and she looked up suddenly, her face a mask of cold anger. A sneer twisted Corbett's lips and he shifted his eyes quickly.

The clock on the wall ticked off the seconds with nerve-wracking regularity, marking the swift, uncontrollable flight of time on the road to eternity. Like the ceaseless chant of a jungle tom-tom, it hypnotized the eardrums, and each beat grew louder and more intense until one longed to silence it with a shriek.

Ages past, though the clock ticked off only three short minutes, until Detective Martin returned, a copy of the paper in his hand. Dolan seized it quickly. There on the first page was another of the pictures taken yesterday; Cilly noticed that it was larger than the one which she had seen in her paper. She held her breath, awaiting Mrs. Downey's revelation.

"Now, Mrs. Downey, will you point the man out to me?" Dolan asked.

Without hesitation, the woman walked to the desk and glanced briefly at the picture over Dolan's shoulder. "There he is," she announced immediately, pointing to a face in the picture.

"This one?" Dolan indicated with the point of his pencil.

"That's the one." She nodded her head positively.

"Harvey Ames." Dolan spoke the name uncertainly. For a moment he stared at it fixedly; then, with his pencil, he drew a circle around the face.

Exhibitors At Livestock Show Pocket More Than Million Dollars

Cattle Champs Go On Block

BY PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Exhibitors at the International livestock exposition today started pocketing more than a million dollars in sales and prize money, which will be distributed before the close of the show Saturday.

They will carry home approximately $1,100,000, a million dollars from sales and $100,000 in prize money.

Champ Steer On Block

Ashbourne Orange, Oklahoma A. and M. college's grand champion steer, went to the auction block Thursday. His early demise was forecast when Auctioneer Roy K. Johnston banged his hammer and Wilson and Co., bidders gave the hood to a $2.35 query. They bought the steer for a Chicago hotel. The price is 65 cents a hundred under the sale price of the grand champion steer for the last three years. The grand champion went to the block weighing 1110 pounds, giving the college a check for $2608.50 for the single animal.

The reserve grand champion, Toto Domini, owned by the Wyoming Hereford ranch, Cheyenne, was auctioned to a Chicago night club for 60 cents a pound, 10 cents a pound under last year's price. The 990-pound Hereford brought $594.

Under 1936 Price

The champion carload of 50 lambs owned by W. J. Brodie, Stouffville, Ont., was bid in by Swift and Co., at $25 a hundred, $5.50 under last year's price. The lambs weighed 3,850 pounds, an average of 77 pounds each.

Harrisdale farms of Fort Worth showed the ten best head of breeding Herefords.

Others Texans winning in this breed were Harrisdale third pair calves; second, pair yearlings; third, two females; second, get of sire.

C. M. Largent and sons, Merkel, second, pair calves; second, two females; first, get of sire.

All elections in Texas prior to the war of independence, according to historians, were held on Sundays.

Farm Experts Are Amazed At Rapid Strides In Area

Amazement at agricultural development of the South Plains region in recent years was expressed by three outstanding farm leaders who were in Lubbock Thursday to inspect the agricultural experiment substation of which Don L. Jones is superintendent.

In the group were A. B. Conner of College Station, director of state experiment stations; Frank A. Briggs of Dallas, editor of Farm and Ranch; and A. D. Jackson, editor of Texas A. and M. extension service publications.

The three also were visitors at the agricultural department of Texas Technological college and commented favorably on it.

"We thoroughly enjoyed our visit with Dr. Bradford Knapp of the college, Dean A. H. Leidigh, and other members of the agricultural faculty," said Briggs.

They will leave today and will inspect the experiment stations at Spur, Chillicothe and Wichita Falls before completing their tour.

Briggs, editor of the Farm and Ranch 17 years, commented on the development of this area since his first visit here more than 30 years ago.

"With the development of the stock feeding industry in this area, the agricultural industry is becoming more balanced," Conner said. "The amount of stock already has shown a marked increase and will continue to do so because of the adaptability of the soil on the South Plains to production of wheat and other grain and feed crops.

"This type of soil is capable of producing several types of agricultural products offering opportunities for a balanced farming program."

The three also commented on the decline in ranching which has accompanied the cutting up of the land into smaller farming tracts.

"We were particularly impressed with the killing and packing plants in the agricultural department at Tech," Conner said.

"We have been told by agricultural authorities here that approximately 85 per cent of the cotton crop has been gathered. After inspecting the crops of this area we are able to understand how this county will rank at or near the top in production with other counties of the state.

All three predicted continued rapid development in both farming and cattle-feeding industries on the South Plains. Conner expressed satisfaction with work at the experiment station, especially complimenting the tree-planting program there as well as in several other parts of the county.

Fatal Mishaps Show Decline

Death by way of traffic accidents lost ground in Texas in October, according to statistics received Thursday by Capt. W. W. Legge of the Texas Highway patrol stationed in this district.

October's death toll in Texas was 159, thirty less than the previous month and 37 less than the total for October of last year, department of public safety records disclosed.

Forecast Is Made

Despite that increase, safety officers predicted 415 will die in November and December.

Six of October's dead suffered fatal injuries in September crack-ups, the statisticians pointed out. There also was a noticeable drop in the number of injured motorists with 1,392 sent to hospitals in September and 1,311 last month. State safety experts warned drivers and pedestrians to "be more alert as the pedestrian death rate still is too high."

Forty-four persons were cruhsed to death in October as they walked along highways or crossed city streets, Capt. Legge was informed.

Speed Is Blamed

Speeding vehicles remained the principal factor in the couse of most of the fatal accidents, traffic observers said. It was brought out that most of the 1,109 collisions in October occurred near the hours of four, seven and ten in the afternoon when streets are crowded as are highways.

Early last month 138 additional highway patrolmen were assigned to combat careless driving on the 22,000 miles of Texas highway, and state police officials expressed belief their campaigning and mobilization along heavily trafficked roads on week-ends helped to shorten the death and injury list.

The "black book" of the safety department showed that 1,589 persons lost their lives in traffic collisions in the first ten months of this year, a gain of 117 over the same period of 1936, officers said.

The Seafarers' Library supplied reading matter to sailors at sea all over the world. The library contains 80,000 volumes.

Lubbock Delegation Plans To Visit Lamesa Convention

Lubbock's delegation to the American Legion district convention at Lamesa Saturday and Sunday probably will not leave until Saturday afternoon, according to information given Thursday afternoon by A. C. (Jack) Jackson, commander of Allen Bros. post here.

Jackson said that at least 20 from Lubbock probably will be at the session, including W. O. (Dan) Daniels, immediate past commander of the post, and Chas. A. Whitacre, assistant district committeeman.

Wants Information

The commander asked those planning to attend to advise him at once at the Lubbock school tax office, 1007 Texas avenue.

An elaborate program of entertainment has been planned for the convention. Jackson was advised by officials of Allen-Houston post at Lamesa, which will be host.

A parade and a dance will be features of Saturday's entertainment, with the principal business session scheduled Sunday. A breakfast for auxiliary members is planned Sunday morning.

J. M. Willson of Floydada, district committeeman, will preside. Speakers will include Larry Daniel of Abilene, division commander, and Sen. G. H. Nelson of Lubbock.

Class In Music Education To Be Organized Here By Blitz

Teachers and others interested in music have been invited to attend a meeting at which will be organized a class in Music Education that will be taught at night by Julien Paul Blitz, head of the music department of Texas Technological college. The organization meeting will be conducted at 11 o'clock Saturday morning in room 312 administration building, said J. F. McDonald, extension directer.

The course will be open "not only to teachers but also to others who desire the practical and cultural value of music education because of the satisfaction of music training and appreciation," said McDonald.

The course will include the rudiments of music, fundamentals of music appreciation, and the problems of teaching music to children. New approaches to those problems will be illustrated. The class will be taught one night weekly for approximately four and one-half months. The schedule will be determined by the class members and instructor.

Credit value of the course will be three semester hours and fee, $15.
