CAR LICENSES DUE MARCH 31

NEW TEXAS LAW SETS DATE PERMANENTLY; REFUND PENALTIES COLLECTED

According to a new Texas law which was signed by Governor Miriam E. Ferguson during the past week, March 31 has become the permanent dead line for the payment of car licenses instead of January 31, this new date to be observed this year as well as in future years.

A refund of all penalties collected on car licenses has been made, according to Sheriff J. S. Talley and motorists will have the advantage of six weeks more time in which to obtain 1934 tags.

The car registration year will now be from April to April of each year, it was explained, new cars being purchased before March 31 being required to buy a full year's license but if purchased now, will get approximately fourteen months use out of their 1934 plate.

It was also explained that motorists who put up their cars on January 1 planning on keeping them in storage for a few months and take the benefit of the prorated monthly reduction when they are again put into service later in the spring will have to wait until May 1 before a reduction can be made, and that only for one month, April. This being the case, motorists might just as well be using their cars during February and March, it was explained.

"CY" LaMASTER IS VALUABLE MAN AT COLLEGE

Every organization must have its manager, and this office is one of the most important in the Texas Tech athletic department. It is meet, therefore, that prominent mention be given one Cyrus LaMaster, able student manager of the Matador varsity teams.

Succeeding Hugh "Bo" Williams as student manager of the Tech football team last fall when Williams became graduate student manager, LaMaster also is supervisor of the Matador cagers, ranking next to Coach Dell Morgan himself in basketball officialdom at the college.

Perryton, Texas, gave Tech Cy LaMaster, who had ambitions to become a football quarterback at one time but found his calling as manager. His is one of the most responsible jobs on the campus, and coaches look to him for assistance and guidance in keeping things running smoothly.

His duties include packing equipment and looking after it, playing hide and seek with hotel managers on out of town engagements, checking tires and paying tips, wrapping ankles and rubbing sore muscles, fitting hither and yon on its toes and in good humor. So it's not strange that Coaches Cawthon, Smith and Morgan dub him "the most important cog" in the athletic machine. Cy is a junior in the college, 22 years old, weighs about 150 and stands 5 feet, 9 inches high on Thursdays when the team is playing at home—Lubbock Avalanche.

International Sunday School Lesson

By A. C. Williams, Minister Perryton Church of Christ

JESUS FORGIVES A SINFUL MAN
 Matt. 9: 1-13

Lesson 7—February 18, 1934
 Memory verse—"Thou, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive" (Psa. 86: 5a)

I. From A sermon To Service

Jesus was no mere theorist. Some time after the great sermon on the mount he entered a boat and came over to his own city. Great work was ahead. The needs of man called loudly for relief. The Lord must prove himself by miracles (Acts 2: 22). Signs and wonders proclaimed him the Son of God. The candid mind which follows the footsteps of our Lord's ministry can hardly doubt the divinity of Jesus Christ. When John summed up the evidences of the Savior's deity, he said, "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book: But these are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name" (John 20: 30, 31).

II. Through The House-top To Health And Forgiveness

Great crowds pressed Jesus on every hand. They hung upon his words and marvelled at his mighty deeds. A man who was afflicted with palsy, in critical condition was carried to the house in which Jesus was teaching. The press prevented his being taken into the room through the door. Up to the roof they go, and through a hole which they had made in the flat tile roof they let down the poor victim. Jesus saw their faith which was demonstrated by their works and promptly forgave the palsied man. There are three recorded occasions in the earthly ministry of Jesus on which he forgave sins (Luke 7: 48; 23: 43). So the events were outstanding—something unusual, even in the mighty career of the Christ.

About all some people can do with life's great dynamo is to make a good ground. But Jesus turned the negative philosophy of the carping scribes into a good lesson. He who finds fault with God's plans is simply thrusting his own head against a wall. When all the puny battering rams of opposition have spent themselves, the battlements of Christ will still stand unscathed.

III. A Reversed Process

The afflicted man was not only forgiven, but cured of the palsy. Imagine the sweetness of the words, "Take up thy bed and walk." The couch had borne him through the years, helpers and dependent upon others, he had lain and thrust himself upon the mercy and generosity of his friends. But better days are ahead. Instead of the bed bearing his frail body, he will carry his bed to his own home. Glorious transformation. What a picture. The disease of sin which renders its victims slaves can be dispelled when men hear, believe and obey the truth.

IV. Disease And The Physician

The Pharisees were a select group who had their own circles of society. They refused to mingle with publicans and sinners. They were slaves of caste. We may expect to hear from them when such a teacher as Jesus visited sinners and sought to do them good. To counteract the objection of these Pharisees, Jesus uttered words which have become proverbial to this day. He set forth the teaching that well people had no need of a physician. His statement that sick did need a physician's care is equally true. If the physical man needs a physician, why not the soul?

Sin is a moral disease. It is the oldest of all afflictions, and dates back even to the garden of Eden. It is universal. In every land we see men and women suffering from its harrowing ravage. It is incurable by human means. Greece tried physical culture, but failed. Philosophy made the attempt to eradicate it, but failed (1 Cor. 1: 21). Psychology, education, art, money are all insufficient to effect a complete cure—hence man needs a physician.

The Great Physician is omniscient. He has universal knowledge. (Isa. 11: 2; Luke 2: 40; Mat. 9: 4; John 1: 48). He is all-powerful (Matt. 28: 18, 20). The proof of his wonderful skill is found in all countries. The remedy is applied when the gospel is obeyed (Rom. 6: 17). Faithful and sympathetic, the Great Physician never neglects his patients. They are always under his care (Heb. 4: 15, 16).

It is important that men apply immediately to the physician. The disease is progressive—men grow worse in sin. Delay has ruined millions (Jer. 8: 20). Shall we not then turn with a new appreciation to the Him who would apply his own heart's blood to our infirmities and the Balm of Gilead to our souls?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 18.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people" (Leviticus 26: 11-12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human thought has adulterated the meaning of the word soul through the hypothesis that soul is both an evil and a good intelligence, resident in matter. The proper use of the word soul can always be gained by substituting the word God, where the deity meaning is required. In other cases, use the word sense, and you will have the scientific signification. As used in Christian Science, Soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation" (page 482).

Judge the new FORD V8 on what it will do

Thousands of people who can afford to spend two or three times as much for a car, are today choosing the Ford V-8 for 1934, instead. Here are some of the reasons.

POWER. The Ford V-8 for 1934 gives you better than 80 miles per hour with the quicker acceleration and greater smoothness of an 8-cylinder motor. Power has actually been increased by 12 per cent over last year's model.

COMFORT. The Ford V-8 for 1934 offers more actual body room than many other cars that cost considerably more. It offers you new Clear-Vision

Ventilation, with the window in one piece. It offers you free action for all four wheels—plus the comfort of Ford Cantilever Springs and the proved safety of a front axle.

SAFETY. With the new Ford V-8 you get an all-steel body, safety glass, welded steel-spoke wheels, exceptionally low center of gravity and more braking surface per pound of weight than any other American-made car we know of.

ECONOMY. Gasoline economy is increased by two or three miles per gallon with the new Ford V-8. Test runs show that the new engine will give 20 miles per gallon at 45 miles per hour.

Spelling Lists Ready

Mrs. Spencer Whippo, County Director of League Spelling, Makes Announcement

Advice from the Interscholastic League headquarters in Austin states that 200,000 copies of the current spelling list have been printed and are now ready for distribution, according to Mrs. Spencer Whippo, recently elected director of spelling for the League in this county. The price of the spelling bulletin of sixteen pages has been reduced to one cent per copy in quantities of one hundred or more. It would be well for schools needing less than one hundred copies to club their orders so as to get the benefit of the cent-a-copy rate.

Teachers of spelling are cautioned that the League spelling contest involves also a plain writing feature. Certain errors in writing are listed on page 43 of the current Constitution and Rules. It would be well to drill pupils to avoid the errors there listed.

The words included in the list have been carefully selected and graded and form an excellent supplement to the State Adopted Text. None of the words in the State Text appear in the spelling list of the League.

It is hoped that there will be wide participation in this contest in this county. All one hundred percent papers produced at the county meet are sent to the State Office of the League where the papers are re-graded, and, if adjudged perfect, a suitable award is given.

Read Between The Lines

If the modern automobile were sold for a price reflecting its advantages over outdated transportation methods, only the rich could enjoy them.

Likewise, if the cost of Natural Gas Service were to reflect the value of those advantages that the consumer tends to forget, only the homes of the rich would have Natural Gas and enjoy its many benefits.

It is almost impossible to place a value upon freedom from the drudgery of carrying fuel and stoking furnaces, from smoke and fumes in the home, savings in valuable space and fuel storage equipment. Then there is the elimination of cost of periodic cleaning and re-decorating, and the adaptability of this fine fuel to so many home uses that save money, health and time.

Truly Natural Gas is not only the best heat but is also the cheapest of all fuels.

World War Casualties

United States Administrator of Veterans' Affairs Gives Out Wrong Reports

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 7.—National Headquarters of the American Legion here has received from Paris, France, figures that bring to light, according to the Legion officials, an error made by the U. S. administrator of veterans' affairs which has formed the base for a misleading statement in opposition to benefits for the disabled. It is the difference 4,266,000 and 2,700,000, the Legion asserts.

In an article published Jan. 2, a newly organized society in New York purported to have found, as one headline expressed it according to the Legion, "no actual hardship to war-disabled men found after study of economy act." The Legion quotes the same article as saying that "the government authorities (meaning U. S.) submitted (the society's investigation) a table of comparison extracted from a report supplied by the administrator of veterans' affairs on Dec. 10, 1932, to the Joint Congressional Committee on Veterans' Affairs."

The Legion says that the article stated that the "wounded casualties, exclusive of deaths," for France in the World war were 4,266,000. Taking this for a base, the Legion says the article points out, the conclusion is drawn that one in four disabled front line casualties is receiving compensation, while in the United States "more than three times the number given as casualties are receiving direct monetary benefits."

The statement regarding the base for the comparison was referred to the Fidac headquarters in Paris, France, by the American Legion News Service, and the secretary general of Fidac, replying after investigation, said in part:

"After checking up on official reports issued by different governments, I find that the figures quoted in the article are all wet. The word casualty when translated into various European languages means the same that it does in English, that is to say, one who was wounded at the front. I cannot imagine how they could have used the figures of 4,266,000 for France as this total is more than the combining number of Frenchmen killed and wounded during the war according to the French government itself."

Fidac is the association of veterans' societies of the allied countries in the World war. The Legion is the member society for the United States.

The letter from the Fidac official then gave the following figures which he said are authentic: For Germany, 13,250,000 mobilized, 1,950,000 killed, 4,248,200 wounded; France, 8,200,000 mobilized, 1,388,000 killed, 2,700,000 wounded; British Empire, 9,500,000 mobilized, 869,000 killed, 2,122,000 wounded; Italy, 5,600,000 mobilized, 680,000 killed and 1,100,000 wounded. These figures all are at variance with the one used in the article as a base, which the Legion says, gives an erroneous conclusion to the whole article.

HOW TO DISPLAY FLAG ON FEB. 22

Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, will be the occasion for displaying the Flag, and the National American Commission of the American Legion, urges all to observe the rules of the Flag Code in showing proper respect for the national colors.

Following are some general rules: The Flag represents the living country, and is itself considered as a living thing. The Flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be hoisted briskly, but lowered slowly. When carried in a procession with other flags, the national colors should be either on the marching right (the Flag's own right) or when there is a line of other flags, it may be in the front of the center of the line. When displayed with another flag against a wall it should be on the right (its own right) and the staff should be in front of the other where they cross. Where a number of flags or pennants or societies are displayed in a stand, the U. S. Flag should be in the center and highest. When the Flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. The union should be uppermost and to the Flag's own right—to the observer's left. When displayed over the middle of the street, the Flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street, or to the east in a north and south street. When used on a speaker's platform the Flag, if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker. If displayed from a staff it should be in the position of honor, at the speaker's right. The Flag should never be used to cover the speaker's desk nor to drape over the front of the platform. When the Flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, bal-

Thieves Tip Farmer Off to Gold
Thieves unwittingly helped a farmer of Temesvar, Rumania, find a small fortune he never knew he possessed. When the farmer returned home one evening he found four men ransacking his house for a large sum of money which they declared was there. The farmer knew nothing of the treasure and the thieves were unable to find it. So they tied the man and one of his sons to a beam in the old barn and left. After much struggling the two freed themselves, but in doing so they pulled down the old beam, which proved to be rotten and hollow. Out tumbled 110 pieces of gold of Imperial Germany. They had been hidden there by the farmer's uncle, from whom he inherited the place.

The Solomons
The Solomons, which are situated about 900 miles northeast of Australia, are among the most remote of Pacific islands, yet, save for the Ladronez, and perhaps the Marshallz, they were the earliest found by Europeans. They were discovered, strangely, from Peru, where adventurers, thirsting for more gold, heard rumors of a continent close by to the west. Lost for 300 years, they were rediscovered in 1767.

Theater Seat Space Regulated
District of Columbia regulations require that all theaters or public buildings with fixed seats must allow a space not less than 2 feet 6 inches from back to back of chairs, with an aisle width of not less than 4 feet—this width to be increased with the increased size of the hall. Where there are no fixed seats, 8 square feet per person must be allotted.

Quiet English Village
The English country, absolutely ruined? West, in Wiltshire, is proud of its "quiet" village, no policemen, no bus but voluntary unemployed. There's a bus from the town every other week. Many Nightshade Types
More than 1,000 varieties of trees, shrubs and herbs termed generally nightshades, have been identified. Mostly they are found in the tropical or semi-tropical regions. They all possess the power in their leaves of inducing sleep, a power which is lost, however, if the leaves are boiled. Among the more common varieties are the woolly nightshade, sometimes called the bitter-sweet; the deadly nightshade, known as belladonna, and the enchanters' nightshade, called clerica.

The Capitol and many other government buildings have no lightning rod equipment. The White House and Washington monument do. The Statue of Freedom on the Capitol dome acts as a lightning rod, having a row of spikes around the crown placed there for the purpose of receiving electrical discharges.

Diamond Still a Mystery
The exact conditions under which diamonds are formed in the earth have not yet been discovered, but scientists have found that by heating pure prepared carbon and iron to intense heat by electricity, then letting the mass cool suddenly, very small diamonds are formed at the center of the lump. This would seem to indicate the process of diamond formation—carbon subjected to great heat and the tremendous pressure of cooling.

Holiest Monks' Retreat
Inaccessible retreats once inhabited by "the holiest monks" have been unearthed in the desert sand some ten miles from the Wadi Natrun, Egypt. The traveler, who carried out the excavations, claims to have located the site of the hitherto undiscovered district of Ocella, where early Christian monks lived so far apart they could neither see nor hear one another. The only occasions on which they met were on Saturdays and Sundays, when they assembled at the church—a central building which this authority claims to have identified about ten miles from the northwest corner of the Wadi Natrun.

Instruments Crack in Studio
So dry is the atmosphere in an old wine cellar that had been converted into a broadcasting studio by the British Broadcasting Corporation in London, that wooden instruments kept there for use by orchestras began to crack. The British did not want to give up their wine-cellar studio, so they built a series of trays containing water around the walls of the instrument room, and this provided the requisite humidity.

Boats 3000 B. C. Were Constructed of Planks
Shipbuilding, says the Washington Star, is one of the most ancient of the arts. Egyptian drawings, dating probably from about 3000 B. C., show boats constructed of planks, having sails as well as oars. From ancient sculptures it appears that the ships of the Greeks and Romans were propelled by wind and oar and were built with keel, ribs and planking, strengthened crosswise by benches on which the rowers sat. The Phoenicians were probably the most skillful mariners of ancient times, and at a very early period had developed a type of war galley. The Vikings of Norway used ships of considerable strength of frame, but very light draft. The European nations steadily improved in shipbuilding, and the car was gradually superseded by the sail. Larger and speedier vessels were required for the development of commerce. The development of shipbuilding as a science, however, may be said to date from the middle of the Nineteenth century and to have been a direct result of the use of iron and steel in ship construction and the application of steam to propulsion.

Waters of Nile in Check
Even the Pharaohs realized the necessity of keeping the waters of the Nile in check, and in their age dikes and embankments were constructed. Irrigation and regulation of the water supply were one of the main problems of government. The basin system of irrigation, which was the first method used, arose directly from the annual flooding of the country, and is still practiced over about a quarter of the cultivated area of Egypt, particularly Upper Egypt. According to this system, the land is divided into compartments by banks, and these compartments or basins are filled by canals which take off below the level of the flood. The water remains on the land for six or eight weeks, and then is run back through escape channels to the river which, in the meantime, has fallen. As soon as the water has run off the crops are sown, and the land receives no more water until the next year. Under this system only one crop is obtained annually.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS it has been the es- tablished custom honored by time and practice to conduct a ten minute period of entertain- ment and rest from the arduous tasks of school life on each Tues- day and Thursday and

WHEREAS the program com- mittee has lately began failing to provide talent to appear on the program (maybe because they don't try).

NOW THEREFOR, I, Dave Shanks Jr., President of the Stu- dent Body, do hereby urge every member of our high school and faculty to henceforth cooperate with the program committee and I do hereby request the Vice- President to be here when I ain't. I do hereby resolve, entreat, and command that when there is no program, "Butch" Sanford shall recite his declamation about "The Painting Indians" or "Goob- er" Hardgrove shall unloose his initiative and deliver an ex- temporaneous speech.

"THE MIDDLESOME MAID"

Mrs. Manse Wood announces that "The Middlesome Maid" will come to town on March 5. This is the merriest mix-up that any nosy maid could ever manage to get her- self in.

The complete cast of the comedy will be given in the next issue of the El Sombbrero.

MEET THE SENIORS

EARL MCGARROUGH, age 19, came from Harper County, Kansas twelve years ago. The family moved to Plainview for six years but re- turned to Perryton where Earl is finishing his high school. Earl's main hobble seems to be riding motor- cycles, but after he graduates he wants to be a farmer. We wish him luck.

CHARLOTTE PALMER was born in Oklahoma 19 years ago. She came to Perryton from Lefors, Tex- as and has attended this school for a number of years. When asked what she liked to do she replied, "I'd rather sleep or dance than any- thing, and some day I hope to be a famous tap dancer. Believe it or not.

HARRIS RUSSELL is a very am- bitious fellow for a lad of 16. He says that first he wants to graduate and then he intends to invent some- thing which will help this present generation. Harris has attended Perryton School for nine years and hopes to be out soon.

BESS SCHOLLENBAROER has lived in Perryton ever since she was three years old, therefore she does not need much introduction. Her former home was Gray, Oklahoma. She has proved her ability of being a leader by holding the office of Secretary of Student Body, Patrol Leader and scribe of Girl Scouts. Bess says she likes to do most every- thing but just don't care for men. Maybe she means it. To go to Alaska is as far as her ambitions go.

BURL TEAGUE, age sixteen, is a native of Texas who has never hon- ored (?) another state with his presence. Perryton has known his handsome countenance for the whole eleven years of his school career. He has a couple of hobbies which may make him famous as a movie actor or an author. They are scrib- bling and making love. Poor Burl —he is at present afflicted with three girls. After graduation he hopes to either become a big busi- ness magnate or marry a woman with enough money so he won't need to work.

Hold Elections For Class Members To Council On Thursday Of This Week

Dave Shanks Jr., student body president, announced Tuesday, Febru- ary 13, that elections for members of the Student Body Cooperative council will be held Thursday. The Student Government league, the part which was so active in mid- term election campaigns, has come to the front after a silence of nearly six weeks.

All members have a high standard of deportment and attendance and must be passing in at least three subjects. The faculty reserves the right to review all se- lections and rule any one elected ineligible if they do desire.

Each class will elect three mem- bers to the cooperative council, these members being chosen in separate meetings of each of the classes Thursday morning. This cooper- ative council will meet once each week and will have certain privi- leges and duties—mostly duties ac- cording to the latest interpretation.

FLUB DUBS!

Mrs. Woods says that the Seniors shouldn't ought to be ashamed to hand "back those themes bout their lives. Says that them baby pictures on the fronts is mostly prettier than the Seniors is now.

Say, and after I seen the pitcher of Ramon Bennet I commenced to think so to. Why with them bee- ootiful black curls he used to sport he shore was one cute little boy.

Hit shore looks like Flub Dub is goin to have to mutilate a type writer and a proof reader. Here I done wrote just as jury as a pic- ture that I was INCAPACITATED so I couldn't get out no Flub Dubs week 'fore last, and By the Beard of the Anointed Poodie they wrote it out that it cuz I was APPRECIAT- ED.

Course I hate to mutilate them, too people cuz if I did it's make me might near as popelar as a Ice Cream cone in the artic or a sand- storm in the Panhandle, but I'm warnin them, I can't have no more trouble.

Referrin' to my bein' appreciated Course I'm appreciated. Otherwise why would all the teachers keep me in after school if they didn't want to see some more of O' my smilin' countenance. I just don't like to ad- vertise the fact.

Flub Dub found sompin' tother day that even he can't figger out. He wants to know why everybody is yellin' "Waiter" at Goober Hard- grove." And he wants to no so bad that he's goin' to give one gold dol- lar for the best answer jist like he did for the Bright Teacher Cracks. has not subscribed, make plans at once to do this. You cannot measure in dollars and cents the value it would be to your community.

Do you have a child who is to enter school this fall? Are you getting him physically fit for school? Is he protected from smallpox and diphtheria? Are his 6 year molars (first permanent teeth) in good condition? Will his tonsils and adenoids effect his breathing, hearing, kidney and heart? Is he irritable, hard to please? Does he have poor food and health habits? All of these things would interfere greatly with his school attendance and progress. Every child who is to enter school should have a physical and dental examination. His defects should be corrected—his food and health habits improved and he should be protected from smallpox and diphtheria.

Is there a case of tuberculosis in our community? Are there any children who might be in daily contact with that tuberculous patient? Fifty per cent of children who live in the house with a tuberculous patient develop the disease themselves. With proper supervision many of these contacts can escape having tuberculosis.

May I ask each and every one of you to cooperate with the State and Federal government in this task of improving the sanitation and health conditions in your county. This work will not last always so we must get at once and work fast in order to act as much preventative work as we possibly can. Someone has said, "Health is Wealth". Let's all get health wealthy.

Rolling by Ear

The origin of the word "Reader," as applied to old-time cigar factories (and in some American cities the practice is still observed), dates back to a curious custom. A man ascended a raised platform in the shop and read aloud to the tobacco-leaf rollers the news of the day. The reason for doing this was odd. Most of the cigar-makers were Puerto Ricans and Cubans, well known for their gesticulatory method of speaking, especially when excited. Now, the best cigars require close attention in the rolling process. The bosses knew this, and also the workers' propensities for talking. They therefore conceived the idea of having news read to the men to keep them from talking—and thus take their hands away from the business of making cigars. It is said that Samuel Gompers was once a reader in a New York cigar factory.—Washington Post.

Sound Travels Through Rock

Sound travels much faster through solid rock than through still air. In several tests by the Harvard seismograph station, it was found that earthquake waves set up by exploding dynamite rush through granite at nearly 17,000 feet a second and through an ancient igneous rock at more than 20,000 feet a second. This is high speed compared with approximately 1,100 feet a second, the velocity of sound in still air. Earthquake detecting instruments were used in the tests.—Popular Science Magazine.

Junked Tolstoy Message

About a quarter of a century ago Tolstoy wrote an address on peace for the conference at Stockholm. In August, 1910, when the peace conference was held, the paper was read in Tolstoy's absence and aroused many misgivings. It was considered rather extreme and consigned by the body to the archives. Through Tolstoy's literary executor, Vladimir Tchertkoff, the address has been published.

"Twice as Cold as Zero"

The expression "twice as cold" or "twice as hot" refers entirely to the discomfort of the individual, and even then are only rough comparisons of the state of one's feelings that depend on more things than temperature. "Twice as cold," and other similar expressions, cannot, therefore, be evaluated in terms of the reading of the thermometer, and have no scientific meaning.

American Legion Auxiliary NEWS

Full support of the American Legion's four point program for benefits to disabled veterans is being continued by the American Legion Auxiliary, following action by the Auxiliary's national executive committee at its winter meeting. The committee, made up of representatives from every state, vote to carry on work for the adoption of the program by Congress, after hearing discussion of the $21,000,000 liberalization of benefits to disabled veterans authorized by President Roosevelt.

The Auxiliary will continue to give the Legion the most active support of its 400,000 members in efforts to secure adoption of all points of the program," said Mrs. E. M. Allen, legislative chairman of Pierce Johnson Unit. "We are convinced that this program embodies the minimum which must be granted to give justice to veterans disabled in the country's service."

Songs which American Legion Auxiliary groups will sing in the Auxiliary's national music contests this year have been announced by Mrs. E. A. Cain, music chairman of the Pierce Johnson Unit of the Auxiliary, as follows:

Trios, "Boat Song," by Harriet Ware; quartettes, "Rockin' in de Win", by W. H. Neidlinger; sexettes, "Sylvia," by Oley Speaks, and glee clubs, "Roses of Picardy," by Hayden Wood. The selection was made by the national music committee, Mrs. Rupert Smith, of Arcadia, Florida, chairman.

The national music contests will be held during the national convention in Miami, Florida, October 22 to 25, and will be preceded by state contests held during the various state conventions. Each contesting group will be permitted to sing one number of its own selection in addition to the selected song. Judging will be done on the following basis: tone, 25 per cent; accuracy, 20 per cent; diction, 25 per cent; interpretation, 20 per cent, and ensemble 10 per cent.

Gifts from the American Legion Auxiliary reached 96,000 disabled World War veterans who were forced to spend Christmas in hospitals, according to a report of the Auxiliary Christmas gift program received by Mrs. Hugh Shotwell, rehabilitation chairman of the Pierce Johnson Unit of the Auxiliary. In addition, 20,000 families of hospitalized veterans received Christmas gifts from the Auxiliary. The Christmas gift program is part of Auxiliary for the welfare of the disabled veterans and their families.

If Health Is Wealth, Then Let's Get Health Wealthy

Miss Irma M. Allen
Ochiltree County Public Health Nurse
Only hand set bed box

Your State Department of Health is interested in keeping well people well. This is a tremendous task which requires everybody's help—yours and mine.

It is a 24 hour job. We must keep alert up to the minute with the very latest health information we have at our command.

In keeping school children well, we divide the responsibility between the home and the school, for the child is at school about 8 hours and at home 16 hours.

We are asking that the parents cooperate with the school program by sending the child to school clean, well and happy—for that is a teachable child. We will pass over cleanliness for the present, for all of us know the advantage of being clean. We do not have to have expensive plumbing either—hot water-soap-washrag—a hand brush with a lot of determination will clean the rustiest kind of elbows and knees.

By sending the child to school well—we mean free from any signs of approaching illness. At this season of the year colds and coughing are liable to be very prevalent. We could stop much illness by keeping a fresh cold at home two days and carrying out our family physician's suggestions for colds. Most of our serious, catching diseases begin with colds, sore throats and coughs, running eyes and swollen glands.

Many of our contagious skin conditions could be avoided by sending the first child which has a breaking out, home.

The State Department of Education is cooperating with the State Department of Health in trying to put in every elementary classroom in the State a Daily Morning Inspection. The objects of the inspection as outlined by the Board of Education are:

1. To encourage children to come to school clean and well.
2. To prevent spread of communicable diseases.
3. To raise the daily average attendance of the pupils.

Your State Department of Health has a school health program which, if carried out by the trustees, pupils, and teachers, will protect the teachers' and pupils' health the eight hours they are in school.

Your State Department of Health believes that the children of Texas are its most valuable assets. They are worth more than all the forests, oil well, sulphur, and good roads combined, but if we do not work hard to give them good health—good character and a good education they could become liability.

To give every child a chance for good health should begin with the parents. Every mother should have adequate prenatal care. We have a splendid pamphlet which we want placed in the hands of every expectant mother. After the birth of the child, we want her to write for the pamphlet called "Infant Care," then the "Child from One to Six." These leaflets are free for the asking. We are also anxious to send health pamphlets to every home in Texas through a circulating pamphlet library from the schools. If your school starts one and your children bring them home, please read, sign your name and return to the school. We realize that public health cannot make any greater strides than public opinion, so we must keep our public informed.

We are anxious for every school to circulate "Hygeia," a health magazine published by the American Medical Association. This magazine has valuable health information each month. If your school
