MANY OF HIS PROBLEMS WERE LITTLE ONES — Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex.), Mrs. Rogers and their six children seem settled and serene in the Washington, D. C., home, but it was not ever thus. "Man, man, the troubles I've had," sighed Rogers, a freshman congressman. A few of them have involved finding a house in the capital big enough for his family, moving its members — literally in sections — "losing" the older boys, calling firemen to tame a wildcat automatic washer. Left to right: Mrs. Rogers; Mary Catherine, 2; Walter Edward, 11; Thomas Kelly, 8; (foreground); John Edward, 12; Susan Daly, 9; Robert Joseph, 4; and Rep. Rogers.

Eight New Locations Are Scheduled In Garza, Deep Tests Drilling Ahead

Eight new locations were slated for Garza county this week, with two in an unnamed pool, as probable offsets to Continental's No. 2 Swenson Land and Cattle company.

Two other deep tests are in the news, the Continental No. 1 J. C. Fumagalli and the Stanolind No. 1 D. C. Hill. The Fumagalli well is 14 miles northeast of Post. Slated for 8600 feet, the well was drilling below 4200 feet in lime and shale Tuesday.

The Hill test is 15 miles east of Post. Tuesday it was below 2908 feet in lime and salt. Contracted depth is 9000 feet.

Continental No. 4 Swenson and Continental No. 3 Swenson, both 20 miles northeast of Post, are to be rotary projects to 7100 feet. Operations on the No. 3 well will begin at once. Drilling will get underway when a permit is granted for the No. 4.

The other six new locations are in the Garza pool. Ken-Tex Drilling company has slated three. One is the Ken-Tex 40 Post Estate, two and one-half miles south of Post. Drilling is to begin May 20. Ken-Tex 41 Post Estate is also two and one-half miles south of Post.

Junior Rodeo To Incorporate; Stampede Planned

Junior rodeo directors and members voted to incorporate and sell stock at $5 a share when they met with the directors of the Post Stampede Monday night.

The called meeting was held at the city hall. Advisors of the junior rodeo members also attended. At the beginning of the meeting, the plan of incorporating the junior group was discussed. The group and their advisors retired to a private room and voted on incorporation.

Amount of stock has not yet been determined. Members of the junior and senior associations subscribed 110 shares. Roy Josey acted as spokesman for the junior group and appointed a committee to sell stock. An immediate campaign is planned to sell half of it. The group will then apply for a charter, elect new directors and set up a new organization.

Several months ago when a delegation from the junior association approached the Stampede directors on leasing the rodeo grounds, the senior group voted, and recorded in the minutes, to lease the grounds to the junior group for $1 a year, from year to year.

Following the joint meeting, a regular meeting of the Stampede directors was held. Phil Bouchier,

An Easter sunrise service will be held in the Methodist church here at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning, sponsored by the congregations of several local churches.

The service is open to the public. Mrs. Warren Yancey and Mrs. Ray Smith will play a musical prelude. The Rev. Almon Martin, pastor of the First Christian church, will give the opening prayer.

The Rev. A. B. Cockrell, Methodist minister, will give the sermon. The closing hymn will be "He Lives," by the youth choir. The Rev. J. C. Holman will give the benediction.

"The general public is extended a cordial invitation by the Ministerial Alliance to attend this service, and to attend Easter services at the church of your choice at the 11 o'clock hour," said the Rev. Mr. Gillham.

Wayland Craig's Hog Places Second in Lubbock Show

Wayland Craig's grand champion Chester White hog from the local stock show, topped the Garza entries in the South Plains show at Lubbock, winning second place in its class.

The hog was nosed out by the reserve champion of the show, E. F. Schmedt, agriculture teacher here, said. Craig is a member of the Future Farmers of America, Post chapter. Other FFA members showing hogs included Kenneth Rogers, a Chester White and a Berkshire; Wendell Turner, Berkshire; and Allen Kemp, Berkshire.

Tuesday night the group attended a barbecue at Texas Technological college. Parents attending included Earl Rogers and Turner's parents.

There were 538 hogs entered in the show, Schmedt said. Other hogs entered from Garza county were sifted Monday.

Craig's hog sold to Piggly-Wiggly for 40 cents the pound. He made $85 on it, Schmedt said. The other hogs were sold in a bunch for $26.50 the hundred pounds.

Pat Ryan Quits Post As CofC Manager Here

Pat Ryan, manager of the chamber of commerce, submitted his resignation to the board of directors Monday.

Ryan has been manager here since July 1 of last year. He will remain here until April 15. Prior to coming to Post, he was chamber of commerce manager at Spearman. Ryan has not announced his plans for the future.

"The board of directors wish to publicly thank Pat for his labors in behalf of the chamber," George Samson, president, said yesterday.

Action has already been taken to find a successor. The office will be open daily from 9 o'clock doing business as usual, Samson said.

"Finding a suitable and qualified successor will necessarily take some time," he stated. "Patience and cooperation on the part of the membership while the search for a new manager is going on will be deeply appreciated by the board."

Bad Crops Is Wind Forecast Of Old Legend

Crops will be bad this year, if the old Indian legend concerning the direction of the wind at sunrise proves true.

Noah Stone was out on the caprock at sunrise this morning, observing the direction of the wind. It was from the west. Stone has made this observation during the past few years. The late J. I. Wilborn started the observance in 1906. Later, W. O. Stephens ested the legend.

If the wind is from the east or northeast, there will be bumper crops. From the north, crops will be average to poor; north-west, average. Southwest wind indicates poor crops. Wind from the west, south or southwest foretells bad crops.

Last year the wind blew out of the northeast, foretelling good to bumper crops.

New Drive In, The Rig, Opens Here Tomorrow

Post's new drive in theatre, The Rig, opens tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Jack Whipple, manager announces.

George Mahon Introduces Bill To Aid Cotton Harvest

Congressman George Mahon reports from Washington that on Monday of this week, he introduced a bill which would permit Mexican families and their children to assist in the cotton harvest this fall.

The 81st Congress, through an amendment to a labor bill, added in the Senate, had approved legislation prohibiting labor by children under 16 year of age in agriculture during school hours.

According to Mahon, the provision on child labor has proved unworkable; it has disrupted the work of many schools, slowed down the cotton harvest and diminished the chance of the children of Mexican families to go to school by denying them the income they normally secure from the cotton harvest. Moreover, it is argued that the matter of child labor in agriculture and the question of school attendance are problems that can best be handled by the states and not the federal government.

Mahon's bill provides that restrictions as to child labor shall not apply to the harvesting of basic crops. The bill has been referred by the Speaker to the House committee on labor for consideration. In introducing the bill, Mahon said,

"We are being called upon by the government to produce 16 million bales of cotton this year in the interest of national defense. There is no use to try to produce a big crop unless we can harvest it."

In a further effort to improve the chances for securing labor for the cotton harvest, Mahon has appeared before the House Committee on Agriculture and urged passage of the Poage Bill, which is designed to greatly increase the availability of labor from the Republic of Mexico.

Farmers are deeply concerned over the threat of a labor shortage for the harvesting of the cotton crop. Members of Congress who are aware of the situation are seeking to be of all possible assistance. In addition to the bill by Mahon, bills of somewhat similar nature have been introduced by Congressman C. C. Fisher and Walter Rogers of Texas.

The problem is to devise a measure that can win support of a majority of the members of the House and Senate.

WAR VS AUTOMOBILES... SCHOOL, CITY ELECTIONS...

We've all heard about the mother who didn't raise her son to be a soldier, but the modern mother had better not raise her son to be a pedestrian or passenger in an automobile. As a matter of fact, dear old mother had better watch her step. Recently published statistics show that the number of war casualties is rapidly approaching the million mark, as well as the number of traffic deaths. In all the wars since 1775, in which Americans have fought under the United States flag, U. S. war deaths to date total 993,530. This includes the Korean war. Automobiles have piled up a much more impressive record and have been in the business only since 1900. In the past 50 years, automobiles have killed 964,132. The South Plains area seems to be the speed arena of Texas. Every day another innocent motorist or pedestrian is thrown to the reckless drivers. Post has its quota of traffic deaths, not to mention accidents in which people are injured. There used to be a lot of talk about race suicide. It looks like suicide to us when the richest area of the richest country in the world has the most people rushing pell mell to their graves. Each year, cars become more powerful and destructive. When will people become more capable of driving them?

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Changed International Situation Is Felt In Rural Areas Throughout the Country

BABSON PARK, Fla. — The changed international situation is already being felt in rural areas throughout the country. Farm land values which had been declining gradually for several months reversed their downward trend almost immediately after the Korean outbreak. I have always maintained that land, and that includes good farm land, is an acceptable hedge against inflation or other types of crises. It may not be the very best hedge, but in the long run it should turn out to be a pretty good thing when cash is worth little and when other values dip accordingly. However, I do not generally recommend that my readers go out and buy a farm with the idea of growing produce or feeding cattle or hogs to sell commercially. Farming today is too specialized for any such hit or miss approach. What I advocate is that every city family who can afford it should own a sustenance farm, as insurance, capable of sheltering and supporting them in an emergency. Readers who are now engaged in cattle raising, dairy farming and in producing large grain crops, often write asking me what I think of the prospects for the coming year in these fields. In my opinion, cattle prices generally will be well maintained over the next six months. Heavy employment at high wages should result in a continued high demand for beef. I do not anticipate that such demand will be adversely affected, to any substantial extent, by the imposition of still higher individual income taxes in 1951.

While cattle prices should remain at relatively high levels, increased producing costs generally may further cut profit margins in 1951, thus immeasurably increasing the risk in stock cattle farming. Breeding herds that grow in numbers should maintain their value even in the face of such declines, provided you keep a sharp eye on local conditions, with a view to buying replacements and selling finished cattle at the most opportune

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY, Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P. — Texas has gained in population for 50 years, but the number of its postoffices has shown a steady drop. Texas isn't alone in this respect. It's a national trend. In 1900 there were 76,688 postoffices in the U. S. By 1920 the number had dropped to 52,638. In 1950 the total was 41,464. On Jan. 1, 1950, there were 1,996 postoffices in Texas, compared with 2,261 in 1925 and 3,112 in 1900. Development of highways and growth of larger towns and cities, say postal authorities, accounts principally for the trend. The automobile and good roads along with the expansion of rural mail service have eliminated the need for the cross-roads country store postoffice. There were 2,200 RFD routes in Texas in 1925, aggregating 60,991 miles. The number on Jan. 1, 1951, had dropped to 1,705, but they were operating a total of 86,406 miles. Many small postoffices vanished when their communities were absorbed by growing nearby cities, although some of them have been kept open as branch postoffices which are not counted in the total figures. There are four classes of postoffices. Annual stamp sales determine the classification. Those with receipts totaling $40,000 or more annually are rated as first class postoffices. Second class postoffices are those that take in $8,000, while a minimum of $1,500 in receipts are required for the third class rating. The others are fourth class offices. Postmasters are appointed by the president. Those appointed at first class offices get $4,570 or more a year; second class jobs pay between $3,970 and $4,370; third class offices, $2,370 to $3,570, and fourth class from $264 to $2,079. As of January 1 there were 133 first class postoffices in Texas, 319 second class, 997 third class and 947 fourth class. Establishment of new military installations and industrial plants has brought many new postoffices in the past decade and higher time profitwise. Those readers who now have farm land and wish to buy more or who, having had previous experience as owners of farm land, wish to make purchases in new locations are advised to act promptly. Good farm land will go higher. Admittedly, this is not the best time to buy it, but you should do much better now than you will be able to do by late summer. Thus, if you can find a good farm or good farm land that is not over-priced, my advice would be to go ahead, provided that you can pay about 50 per cent down and still have enough for emergencies. Productive land is a sound investment and good land should continue to have real value, no matter what price changes may come over the longer term.

Those readers now considering going into dairying should think twice and then stop and think again, even if they have had previous experience in this very uncertain field. Profit margins in dairying vary considerably in different sections of the country and many an otherwise capable man has lost his shirt by plunging enthusiastically into a dairy program without giving sufficient thought to the possible consequences.

The principle problem in dairying, and it is essentially the same in New England, in the Mid-West or in the Rockies, is the cost of feeds. These feed costs usually represent more than half of the total cost of milk production and largely determine profits.

If you think you can control feed costs, through a well-balanced feed program, which includes careful management of your feed inventory, you can probably make money in dairying. But if you have grave doubts as to your ability to keep feeds costs within bounds, steer clear of such an operation. Yet, I think farming generally will be profitable in 1951. Farm income will be up, at least through the first half and, perhaps, beyond. For the year, it should average some 15 per cent above 1950.

classification for others. In 1940 there were 2,106 postoffices in Texas, 110 more than on Jan. 1, 1951, but there were only 48 first class postoffices then compared to 133 now. In 1900 there were only seven first class offices in Texas, but there were 2,954 fourth class offices. In 1925 the comparative figures were 30 and 1,547.

Around The Capital: Newly elected president of the American Bandmasters Association is Earl D. Irons of Arlington State college. He was chosen at the 17th annual ABA convention here, attended by hundreds of college and high school band directors from all parts of the nation.

The convention program was arranged by another Texan, Gib Sandefur of Abilene, who is concert director of the U. S. Navy and Air Force bands. For years manager of the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band at Abilene, Sandefur presided as master of ceremonies at the ABA annual banquet.

Rep. Wingate Lucas of Fort Worth was trouble the other day when his grade school daughter showed him a quiz paper asking what two states were republics when they joined the union. He told her to hold everything, he'd ask the Congressional Library to name the other state. "They mailed me a reply," he commented. "The answer is supposed to be Vermont, but it really was not recognized by other nations as a republic, as was Texas, and Vermont didn't have a president."

The answer said Vermont joined the union March 4, 1791, the first state after the original 13. It was an off-shoot from New York, and from 1776 until 1791 was "virtually an independent republic" with self rule.

Steve Preslar, who served on the Capitol Police force and with the Federal Bureau of Investigation while studying law here, has gone back to Texas to practise. Formerly with Ranger, and employed at the capitol through the office of Rep. Omar Burleson, Preslar is settling at Rankin.

Getting Out On the LIMB . . .

by EDDIE the editor

I see by the newspaper accounts of Elliott Roosevelt's fourth wedding that according to the happy couple, "love came on pretty slow and just moved along."

Sometimes it is hard for me to keep up with Elliott. Seems to me he was engaged once or twice before he got a divorce from Faye Emerson. He ought to be in Hollywood, the way he gets married and divorced every little bit.

At the age of 42, Elliott has had four wives, now, an average of one every 10 and one-half years.

Elliott's latest wife has had three husbands previously, herself. She is 40. Her first husband was a shirt manufacturer and the next was a British film agent. The last one was a doctor and she accused her of touring the country with Elliott when he filed for divorce.

Elliott first marched down the aisle with Elizabeth Donner, a Philadelphia society girl. I am not sure they had any children. Next he came to Texas and went into the radio business after he married Ruth Goggins, who was conveniently rich.

They had some three children. More or less. Then at the beginning of the last war, he married Faye Emerson, who later plummeted to fame with a plunging neckline on television. They had no children, but they did have a dog, Blaze, which Elliott sent home by plane, bumping off some war-weary serviceman in the process.

Elliott's brother, John and John's wife, Anne, introduced Elliott to Mrs. Ross, even while they were still married to their respective third spouses. John is the only Roosevelt to have stuck to the same, original mate. Which evidently doesn't prove anything.

Anyway, the newspapers report, this romance did not get started in earnest until Mrs. Ross filed suit for divorce against her doctor husband. He and she have a son, seven.

"The ceremony . . . climaxed a whirlwind romance that began in Phoenix, Ariz., only last November," says the newspapers. Mrs. Ross, exercising a woman's privilege, withdrew her suit against the doctor last December. Shortly after that, he filed for divorce. Then last week, the good doctor withdrew his suit, permitted Mrs. Ross to get a quick Florida decree and marry Elliott.

Elliott wore light blue slacks, a dark blue sports jacket and blue loafer shoes. "Like his bride, he wore a platinum wedding ring." The John Roosevelts were the couple's only attendants.

The bride, whom we understand has copper-colored hair, wore a cream-colored pongee suit, "elegant in its simplicity." Although she did not wear a hat, she carried a small bouquet of sweetheart roses. Tra la.

Not long ago, the then Mrs. Ross and Elliott bought some property on the Florida Keys or somewhere, where they plan to make their home. Elliott lived in Fort Worth for a time, and at Hyde Park for a time, with Faye.

He was engaged to a Wac or something in England, a nightclub singer—you mention it and Elliott has at least been engaged to it. But now he is married again and I don't know what the newspapers will fill their columns with.

I don't know who there is left to get married unless someone else gets a divorce. Rita Hayworth's and Ingrid Bergman's approaching nuptials covered page after page for awhile. Then Elizabeth Taylor's marriage to Conrad "Nicky" Hilton was front page news.

Margaret Truman may not can sing, I don't claim to be a judge of that. But one thing I do say for her, she doesn't carry on some hifalutin romance with all different characters all the time. She may even be an old maid but if she is, it will be because she refused to capitalize on her father's position, rather than because she did.

I am certainly not stuck on Harry, but Margaret and Bess will get my vote any day. Bess never does a thing to get in the papers except go somewhere with her husband, or have her bridge club to dinner.

Margaret has never been arrested for speeding or even traveled on a government-owned plane except in the company of her father, much less sent any dogs on trans-Atlantic flights.

She must have an outstandingly charming personality, because all the writers say she is beautiful but the photographers depict her with the same homely phiz as Harry. To me, she is not pretty at all, but she does look sweet and charming, and furthermore, that is the way she acts.

It is a definite pleasure to have one person in public life who sets a good example for the younger generation. Nobody wants his child to grow up to

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Punishment Long Overdue

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

It Sex Here

You could have pushed us over with a Mack truck yesterday when C. W. Mann of the chamber of commerce informed us with a straight face that there are now 16 vacant houses in Falls looking for occupants. This is not reasonable. It should be illegal, home owners are going to think, because it's stuff like this that might knock the props out of rents that have been skyrocketing here the past few months. Some of these houses are mere shacks and approach the unrentable stage, but also included in the number are some four and five room houses that may be listed as desirable. Anyone wishing information about them may call Mr. Mann at the chamber of commerce, or Mr. Killian at the city office. We still think they're counting a couple of ancient out-houses in this tally, though!

be a Roosevelt, but Margaret Truman is a credit to any parent. If she thinks she can sing, for my money, she can't sing.

I am a Bing Crosby and Dinah Shore man, so I turn off all coloraturas or whatever-in-heck Margaret is. So her singing suits me, too, since I don't listen to it. There are few other people in public life with such an outstanding record as Margaret Truman. We thought Shirley Temple was a fairly sensible movie star until we were recently disillusioned. But maybe she is after all. Maybe she will fade out of the public view and be someone.

I don't remember much about Hoover's children, during his administration. Maybe they were both grown and had shoved off on careers of their own.

Coke Stevenson, Jr., is very quiet as head of the liquor control board and you never read anything much about the late Beauford Jester's children or Allan Shiver's youngsters.

Little was known about Pat and Mike, the O'Daniel boys, but Molly made her share of the headlines, including marriages and divorces. She always seems to get her share of the money involved, too. So, if she ever runs for anything, she won't have to pass the flour-barrel again.

Ho hum. O to be a politician's progeny. (Child, to the masses.)

Draft Age Men Status Changes

General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, in Austin, registered all men registered with draft boards that the law requires them to report any change in their status to their respective boards.

Young men have asked us by phone and letter just what changes are required to be reported. General Wakefield said, "Basically anything which may have a bearing on classification should be reported."

The state director pointed to the following things which should be regarded as a change in status:

- Change of address. This is change in the address at which the man expects to receive his mail.
- Change in marital status. If a man marries, he should advise the local board of the name of the person he marries, the place and date of marriage, and name of the county in which the marriage is recorded. If he has children, their names and place of birth should be reported.
- Change of job. The local board should be advised only if the change is permanent or temporary.
- Change in physical status. A man has had a serious injury or has otherwise acquired a physical defect, it should be reported. It should be reported if it is permanent or temporary.
- Students. If a man becomes a student in a school, college, or university, this fact should be reported.
- Members of armed forces. If a man has entered any of these, he should advise the local board of the date of entry and name of the organization.
- Rejections by the armed forces. If a man has attempted to enter for the army, Navy, air force, or any other branch of the armed services and has been rejected, he should advise the local board.
- Such of this information is in determining proper classification of any man. The law requires men to keep local boards advised about such matters. All such information, if submitted by letter or card, must be signed by the man himself.

Mr. Edward Warren
Publisher, Post Dispatch
Post, Texas

Dear Mr. Warren,
In the recent issue of the Torador, Tech's own newspaper, I discovered this "cute" clipping. This article may be older than I, but this is the first time I've read anything like it.

I believe its moral may be of interest to you and the many readers of the Dispatch.

"Because I am majoring in government, I find it very interesting.

"The Government is my shepherd. I shall not work. It allows me to lie down on good jobs; it leadeth me beside still factories; It destroyeth my initiative; It leadeth me in the paths of the parasite for politics' sake.

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of laziness and deficit spending, I will fear no evil; for the government is with me; its doles and its vote-getters they comfort me. It prepareth an economic Utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren. It filleteth my head with bologna; my inefficiency runneth over.

"Surely the government will care for me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a fool's paradise for ever." Rev. Gaston Foote, Grace Methodist church in Savannah, Ga.

Sincerely,
Charles Bowen, jr.

FORD WINS AGAIN!

V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A" 1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

Both Ford V-8 and SIX Deliver more than 25.9 miles per gallon

Grueling 840-mile test proves Ford Economy

Again this year... it's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars... the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run... A Ford 100-h.p. V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54,587 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.

Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon... a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Maker, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIXES, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.

Why not "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better!"

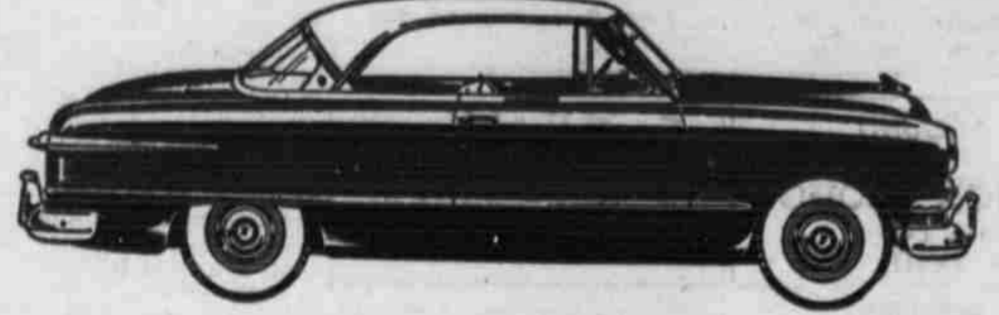

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

Government Steps Up Domestic Rubber Production in Texas

By Ed Routh
DALLAS, Tex.—Memory of World War Two rubber shortage has caused the government to step up domestic rubber production in two separate fronts in Texas:

1. Increased production of synthetic rubber from chemicals.
2. A new program for production of natural rubber from the Guayule plant.

Over a million dollars was allocated in January for additional synthetic rubber production facilities at the government's two plants at Port Neches.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson announced the Department of Agriculture would investigate a guayule plant growing program in South-west Texas.

No natural rubber latex is produced in the United States. Guayule, a grev, shrubby, latex-bearing plant, grows wild over north central Mexico and northward into Texas about 100 miles.

Bill Chenault, administrative assistant at the Production and Marketing Administration at College Station, said about 1,000 acres of southwest Texas farm-lands would be planted in guayule seedlings this year.

County committees in the area will hand out contracts in individual farmers.

"Next year the small plants will be transplanted to more arid sections of Texas to grow to maturity," Chenault said.

The government spent fabulous sums in the early 1940's getting natural rubber from Latin American countries and in establishing synthetic rubber plants in this country.

Millions were spent in guayule. Thousands of acres were planted and a processing plant was built in California.

Then the war ended. Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, partly responsible for the government's new guayule growing program, said that just when the shrubs were beginning to reach an age of practicable harvesting, "we spent $50 an acre to tear them up and clear the land."

"It was one of the most stupid bits of bungling possible," he declared.

During World War Two the U. S. suffered a critical rubber shortage and was forced to turn to synthetics. Five of the synthetic plants, which produce 85 per cent of the nation's man-made rubber, are located in Texas. The Texas plants operated at near their capacity through most of 1950 to meet an un-precedented demand. The Korean war and soaring costs of natural rubber brought about reactivation of all standby plants and increased production at the others.

Two of the Texas plants are operated by B. F. Goodrich and U. S. Rubber at Port Neches. The other three are at Borger, Baytown and Houston. Although private enterprise operates the plants, they are under strict control of the Rubber Reserve corp., a government agency.

The government has authorized installations costing about $350,000 at the Goodrich plant in Port Neches, to expand production of three-fourths of the plant's 60,000 long ton annual capacity.

The U. S. Rubber company plant will undergo a one-million dollar expansion boosting annual production from 60,000 to about 91,000 tons annually.

Not only will all standby plants be reactivated, but facilities for making basic components of synthetic rubber—butadiene and butadiene—will be brought into operation and increased.

At the end of 1950 Texas plants were producing above rated capacity at 255,000 tons.

With Far Eastern rubber sources threatened by international unrest, the U. S. has again turned to guayule.

At about seven year's growth, the guayule contains the maximum amount of latex it will bear. It can be utilized on a practical basis only by pulling up the entire plant and processing it through crushing machines. New plants must be put out continually to bring a sustained yield.

107-Year-Old Irish Immigrant Recommends the Simple Life

ITASCA, A. — Eighty-five years ago a slender 22-year-old Irish immigrant walked down the gangplank in New York City after crossing the Atlantic in 15 days.

He looked at America with awe. Today Daniel Gilday Sweeney, 107 years old and still slender, is still awe-struck by America and its people.

Asked if he had any advice to offer today's young people, the smiling Itasca man said: "No, they'll make out on their own. That's the way Americans are!"

When he arrived in New York City in 1866, Sweeney had planned only to leave his county Donegal for a visit in the United States. But he's never returned to the "auld sod."

Long an American citizen, Sweeney came here recently from Hamburg, Ark. He plans to make his home with daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Kemper.

Sweeney was born on Christmas Day, 1843, one of seven children. He worked on an Irish farm before deciding to visit America. In America he did like many other newly-arrived Irishmen—went to work building railroad lines in Pennsylvania. Then he took a turn at Pennsylvania's coal mines. Then to Memphis, Tenn., where he operated horse-drawn streetcars. After that he was a policeman for four years at Greenville, Miss., where he worked so hard his weight dropped from 175 pounds to his present 125 pounds.

Sweeney decided to go into business for himself and operated a store in Monroe, La., for several years. But his heart was close to the soil and he bought a farm in Hamburg, Ark., where he raised cotton and livestock for many years.

It was at Hamburg that he met and married Miss Mary Jane Dailey. They had seven children. Four, all daughters, survive. Besides Mrs. Kemper they include Mrs. Margaret Foley of Houston.

At 107 Sweeney has a sharp eye, ready wit and spry gait. He eats "just about anything" but especially likes eggs, potatoes, milk and tea. He smokes a pipe.

Here's how he explains his longevity: "First, the grace of God then I guess, to simple living, staying home and minding my own business, and a devotion to Christian living. I have always loved to stay at home."

"Then too, my father lived to be 107. Maybe I inherit my long life."

Johnny Tom Hilberry, son of the Luther Hilberry, is operating from pneumonia at the home of his grandparents, Tom Gilmores. He had been patient in Crosbyton hospital. Joyce Evans of Cooney spent the holiday weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Evans.

Rayon Fabrics Are High-Style

By Dorothy Roe Associated Press Fashion Editor

New rayon fabrics take their place in the high-style parade this spring, with development of handsome new textures and finishes that look like fine woolens but cost a fraction of the price.

Among the popular suitings of the season is rayon flannel, soft, smooth and wrinkle-resistant, now available in smartly styled suits and separates for smart girls-on-a-budget.

Rayon gabardine also is a favorite for spring and summer suits and tailored dresses, and with the new chemical finishes now being used by manufacturers is handsome enough for anyone's taste.

Another newcomer in the rayon field is divetyn, a soft, fleecy fabric that looks and feels like suede and is used most effectively in spring toppers. The fabric is soft to the touch, tailors beautifully and is used in some of the season's best styles.

Add to these the spun rayon butchers linens and the rayon sharkskins so popular for summer wear and you'll agree—rayon fabrics have come of age. This is another man-made fiber that has been perfected by years of research, and now stands on its own merits as an important part of the fashion picture.

Most Cultivated Land Is Becoming Drouthy, Says Soil Conservationist

Is your soil becoming drouthy? Studies made by K. T. Lofton, soil scientist with the soil conservation service, indicated this is true on most of our cultivated land. Lofton assists with the work in the Duck Creek Soil conservation district.

Tests were made by standing water two inches deep in metal rings set in the soil. The rate water entered the soil was then measured in inches per hour.

Deep mixed sandy land soils that have been in cultivation for about 40 years took up an average of only .82 of an inch per hour, after the surface was thoroughly wet. The same soil in an overgrazed pasture took up 4.72 inches of water per hour, nearly six times as fast. Tests made in other places showed that good grass cover increased this rate considerably.

By removing eight inches of the surface from the same cultivated soils, the soils then took up 6.84 inches of water per hour. This was over eight times as fast as water would enter the surface. The soil removed included the normal plow depth of approximately six inches and a compacted layer or "plow pan" of about two inches.

From these studies it appeared that the "bottleneck" of water intake was in the surface eight inches of soil. Row crop farming to cotton and bundle feed has reduced the organic matter content of the soil. This causes the soil to run together and reduces the rate water will enter the surface. Plowing to the same depth year after year has caused a "plow-pan" or compacted layer to form at the bottom of the plow furrow which also reduces water intake.

The question that naturally arises is what can be done to remedy this condition? Lofton says that deep plowing or chiseling to break up "plow-pan" is beneficial, but only of temporary value. Returning large amounts of crop residue to increase organic matter will do the most permanent good. Stubble mulch farming and growing deep rooted legumes will also increase water intake.

Deep rooted legumes such as sweet clover generally increase water intake from two to eight times. This characteristic of le-

Tom Askins Comes to Garza with Wife, Family In January, 1903, To Settle Near Verbena

Tom Askins came with his wife and children to Garza county in 1903, in January. Askins is really a West Texan. Prior to coming to the Verbena community in Garza, he lived in Crosby county.

He was born in Missouri in 1867, moving first to Wise county with his parents in 1870. The family moved to San Saba county, then to Taylor county where they settled on land on which the town of Buffalo Gap is now located. In 1880, the family moved to Fisher county and settled seven miles above the Double Mountains on the Double Mountain fork of the Brazos.

"Game was plentiful there, such as deer, antelope, bear, panther, and turkeys," Askins recalls. "I only saw one buffalo there and I killed it in the spring of 1883."

That same year the family moved into one of the old "soldiers' rock" houses between the present sites of Dickens and Spur. They lived there a year and Askins' father settled on the land where Dickens now is.

In 1885, he began work for the Matador Land and Cattle company. In 1887, Askins went up the trail for the Espuela Land and Cattle company. The herd was delivered to the Brush Cattle company in the South Platte river, 88 miles below Denver, Colo. The men got back to the ranch in November, after delivering the herd in April. He was a cattleman. His first headquarters in Garza county was 17 miles northeast of Post on the Crosby county line. For three winters, the family returned to Old Emma and lived so the children could attend school.

Later they had a governess at their home to teach the children. Still later, a school was built near there. After a few years, the family came into Post and lived three or four winters while the children went to school here.

At the time the Askins family first came to Post, there were few stores here. The ones he recalls include Porterfield Dry Goods, Collier Drug store, Brown Market, Doughty's Hardware, and a cafe run by Dad Elkins. They bought most of their supplies here.

Askins remembers the famed Two Draw Fourth of July picnic. "It was really cold," he says. "We came with our summer clothes and had to build a fire to keep warm."

For entertainment, Askins says his family had dances at their house. One of their favorite fiddlers was a man named Hodo. There was a family from Southland that played, he recalls; a man named Yarbro and Charlie Austin, who came from Spur.

Askins has not run any cattle since 10 years ago. The last cattle he had sold for $15 around, he recalls. "I never saw the price of cattle like it is now." He feels that the quality of the cattle was as good 35 or 40 years ago as it is now.

Askins made several memorable drives with herds. In 1888 he went to the Fox Reservation in what is now Oklahoma with a herd.

"The Indians were friendly and never bothered us at all," he recalls. "That was before there was any Oklahoma."

About the only rustling Askins recalls was fellows branding unbranded calves. This practice was quite common.

His wife, who died in 1913, was the former Miss Bettie May Johns. Her home was in Dickens. The couple was married in a church-schoolhouse on Cottonwood creek, near Afton. They had 11 children, three of whom are dead. Those deceased are Mrs. Bertha Haynie, Mrs. Ruth Haynie and Wayne Askins.

His other children are Mrs. Grace Dunn, San Antonio; Mrs. Ethel Barrow, Phillips; Leonard and Willard Askins of California; Harry and Howard Askins of Arizona; L. T. of California and Mrs. Eleanor Pippin of Post.

He has 19 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren. For the past 10 years, Askins has been living in Post. His home is on East Fifth street.

Proud Corpus Christi Dug In And Planted To Win Prize

By Robert M. Jackson CORPUS CHRISTI — A city that scorns bigness without beauty won its acclaim today.

An announcement that Corpus Christi had won the sweepstakes award in the More Beautiful America contest conducted by the magazine Better Homes and Gardens, vindicated citizens who have carried on a vigorous campaign for civic beautification.

The award, made for work carried on between April 1, 1949 and Nov. 1, 1950, was given primarily for beautification of the city's bay front.

That, however is only part of the story. The improvement movement, still progressing rapidly, covers a score or more projects. It has enlisted the support of countless individuals, organizations and concerns.

The crescent-shaped city of 108,053 (there are about 168,000 in the metropolitan area), is built along Corpus Christi Bay, off the Gulf of Mexico. Stretching along the bayfront adjacent to the downtown area is a three-mile drive. The driveway and the piers abutting it which form a yacht basin were part of a storm protection development completed just before World War II. The parkway was planted in grass and palms were set out, but no further beautification was attempted during the war. The piers—locally called T-heads because of the shape—became an unsightly mess, their sandy surface decorated only by abandoned boats and bits of debris.

15 Block of Oleanders Fifteen blocks of oleanders now line the boulevard and the T-heads have been converted into parks with ample space not only for palms, shrubs and grass, but also for band shells and colored concrete areas where square dances are held. Two other larger parks a slight distance down the shoreline are now in the making.

The recently-completed beautification, plus that now underway, will aggregate $100,000. Gus Heilmann, city park chairman, declares the municipal expenditures constitute only a part of the cost of Corpus Christi's face lifting, however.

It started when a group of citizens formed the Civic Beautification association with annual dues of $1, and started the oleander-planting project. The association president, Mrs. W. Armstrong Price, prevailed on practically every civic organization and a great many private concerns to join the association or else endorse its projects.

Garden club members rooted oleander cuttings from their own plants and nursed them until they were ready to start the intensive planting of the first block on Shoreline Drive.

After the first block of planting had been finished, the city took over. Nurserymen had offered to do the planting at a cost of $600 to $700 a block. But Gus Haycock, the park superintendent, nursing his funds carefully, figured that park employees could do it for $50 a block. They put in six or seven more blocks. Private owners were prevailed upon to do the rest.

Slum Clearance The crowning achievement of the association was slum clearance. There had been for many years a cluster of shacks on the bayfront which officials termed a health menace. Mrs. Price worked every scheme she could think of to obtain their removal. Finally, she turned her attention to the city's plumbing code. The city legal department moved in; the shacks were moved out.

Elsewhere throughout the growing city, which has virtually doubled in population in each of the last three decades, industrial plants landscaped their grounds and beautified their premises. A department store landscaped its parking lot. Woods were removed from vacant lots.

In only one announced objective did the association fail, but the movement to get unsightly billboards removed from entrances to the city is still alive. Only last month the chamber of commerce's civic affairs and beautification committee petitioned the zoning commission to bar such billboards.

That committee, incidentally, is another one of the organizations that makes Corpus Christi a city of flower growers and tree planters. Beautification organizations are as common as bureaus in Washington. Among the committee's regular activities is the awarding of a cash prize each month for an outstanding yard in a private home.

It helped the council of garden clubs, still another group in the beautification bureaucracy, to circulate its garden book, a publication locally written and devoted to explicit instructions on how to cope with insects, heat, and occasional sudden freezes which make life interesting to the gardener in this semi-tropical Park Board spearheads Spearheading the whole horticultural movement is the city's with considerable authority but no salaries for its members. Composed of industrialists, business men, engineers and housewives, the board works hard at the task of improving the city's parks and acquiring more. The latter is being accomplished by an ordinance requiring new subdivisions to dedicate five per cent of their area for park purposes.

The widespread public interest in gardening is reflected in the city's newspaper, the Caller-Times, which puts large front page headlines on warnings to wrap up hibiscus and bougainvillea when the weatherman predicts a freeze.

Mrs. Penny Peckenpaugh, the gardener editor, divides her time between writing for her department of the paper, answering queries from readers, and making speeches to garden clubs all over South Texas.

The newspaper's chief activity in the beautification contest, however is its sale of trees. Started six years ago as a civic promotion, the sales have resulted in the distribution of more than 60,000 trees of nearly a score of varieties.

The trees are sold without profit to the newspaper.

Nearly every tree sale attracts hundreds of buyers and on more than one occasion long lines have formed in front of the newspaper before daylight and police have had to be called to handle the traffic jams.

Announcement of the More Beautiful America award is expected to create a new wave of enthusiasm for civic beautification. Tipped in advance of today's announcement, a committee was immediately chosen to plan a bang-up celebration on the bayfront April 29 when editors of the magazine will be here to deliver the plaque and $2,000 prize check.

The third Ken-Tex location is No. 42 Post Estate and will be feet. The site is two and one-half miles south of Post and drilling date is June 10.

Lenole Oil company has two of the other slated locations. Operations are to begin on the Lenole 17 18E Stoker No. 17, three miles southeast of Post at once. It is to be a rotary operation to 3000 feet. The other Lenole well is the No. 11, 12 Grisham Hunter, No. 11. Operations on it are to begin immediately. It is two miles south of Post, a rotary operation slated to 3000 feet.

Dr. Sam G. Dunn will begin work at once on the No. 4-B Stoker, one and one-half miles southeast of Post. Slated depth is 3200 feet. It is to be a rotary survey.

Sulphur water was found at 3778 feet in the Fred Shield No. 1 L. G. Thuet, six miles west of Post. Abandonment is due. Murchison Brothers - Brown Brothers found water in going to 4805 feet on the No. 1 Morris Neff and plugged back. A try for San Andres production at 3370-72 feet is to be made.

Production has never developed despite exhaustive tests in the Spraberry, Pennsylvanian and Mississippian zones at Magnolia's No. 1 Caswell, west outpost to the O'Donnell multipay field in Lynn county, so preparations have been made to plug and abandon.

A final test of the Mississippian at 9020-40 feet yielded only 74 barrels of load oil on the swab after treatment with 8000 gallons of acid. The well offsets a Pennsylvanian reef well on the west and a Mississippian well on the north.

Six miles northeast of Tahoka, the No. 1 W. T. Cook well, being drilled by Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation to 10,000 feet, was below 9220 feet Tuesday. Operators were drilling ahead in the sandy lime of the Pennsylvanian.

Price Deadlines Set for Merchants And Slaughterers

A reminder of three forthcoming deadlines for retail merchants and commercial slaughterers under current price regulations was issued by Alfred Seelye, regional director of the Office of Price Stabilization at Dallas.

Merchants' price lists and charts for compliance with OPS General Ceiling Price Regulation must be prepared not later than today. Firms handling items which come under the new Ceiling Price Regulation 7 must submit price lists and charts to their district OPS offices not later than March 29, Seelye said.

April 1 is the deadline for commercial slaughterers and persons who have such slaughterers handle livestock for them, to obtain certificates to continue slaughtering. Slaughterers may obtain forms for this purpose at their nearest OPS offices, the director said.

Most prices are now frozen under the general ceiling price regulation of January 26. Under it, merchants are required to prepare price lists, giving net cost and selling price data on all their merchandise, using the highest price at which they offered an item for sale during the base period of Dec. 19, 1950, to Jan. 26, 1951, as their ceiling price. These lists are not to be filed with OPS, but are to be kept by the merchant for his own use and for reference by OPS if needed, the price executive said.

Pricing charts must be filed with OPS by retailers selling under Regulation 7, which covers wearing apparel, floor coverings, furniture and some other items. The charts must list items offered for sale on Feb. 24, when the regulation went into effect, giving net cost of each item, its sale price and percentage markup. Beginning March 29, merchants may not offer for sale any merchandise covered by Regulation 7 unless they have filed pricing charts with OPS, Seelye said.

Mrs. J. W. Long Acts as Chairman For HD Council

Mrs. J. W. Long was appointed to act as chairman when the home demonstration council met to approve committee recommendations.

The group met in the office of the agent, Mrs. Jewell Strasser, last Wednesday. Each club was represented. Those present included Mrs. Georgia Cook, Graham; Mrs. Long, Barnum Springs; Mrs. Glen Davis, Graham; Mrs. Hardie Smith, Pleasant Valley; Mrs. Lonnie Peel and Mrs. N. C. Outlaw, Post; and Mrs. E. N. Gibson, Barnum Springs. Civil defense chairmen have been named for the Graham and Barnum Springs clubs, it was reported. They are Mrs. Johnny Rogers, Graham, and Mrs. Benny Huff, Barnum Springs.

Following the council meeting, election of delegates for the Texas Home Demonstration association meeting was held. Mrs. Peel presided and Mrs. W. C. Pennington was named to serve as secretary.

Delegates elected were Miss Henrietta Nichols, Mrs. Peel and Mrs. Georgia Cook. Alternates chosen were Mrs. Sid Cross, Mrs. E. N. Gibson and Mrs. W. A. Long. District meeting will be held in Tulla April 28. It is hoped to have 10 Garzans attend. Mrs. Strasser says. The meeting will be in the high school auditorium beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Each club is asked to turn in a list of books on the THDA reading list read by members by April 1. This list is to be reported to Miss Nichols.

Professor Proposes Program To Build U. S. Military Defenses with 8 Points

SAN MARCOS, P. — A proposed program to build U. S. military defenses and conserve human values has been developed by a college professor here.

Dr. Arthur A. Grusendorf, professor of sociology at Southwest State college said his eight-point, long-range "conservation program" has been commended by President Truman's advisors and will be submitted to congress for study.

The National Conservation Training program (NCT), as Dr. Grusendorf calls this law, includes (1) national health training, (2) universal military training, (3) studies in the meaning of democracy, (4) collegiate study, (5) vocational training, (6) moral climate, (7) national conservation exemptions for physical or mental incapacity.

"All young men 18 years old should be drawn into the program, and those eligible for collegiate study should be assigned or training to NCT centers, which would be maintained at designated colleges and universities.

"All others should be assigned, for at least one year, to NCT centers located throughout the U. S., and after one year of vocational military training, be integrated into the various branches of the armed services."

Dr. Grusendorf gave two main reasons for his development of the NCT:

(1) The current military training program is insufficient.

(2) Much of the training youths receive in NCT could be integrated into civilian life after completion of the training period.

"This program fits well into the anticipated pattern of international tension, in which we may have to remain militarily strong over a long period of time—though not engaged in a full-scale war," he said.

"The nation cannot afford to lose the education of these young men during the period when they would otherwise be in college.

"The emphasis must be shifted from mere military defense to conservation of the nation's basic values."

The program, he said, is flexible in that during the time of extreme national emergency a greater emphasis may be placed on military training; whereas in times of less danger of conflict, emphasis could be shifted to other phases of the program such as education and vocational training.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dent came home last week after spending a week with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sanders.

Dr. Grusendorf is a veteran of both world wars.

28 Sixth Grade Boys Work Out for Spring Football Here

Some 28 sixth grade boys are working out in spring football training at grade school. Coach Wayne Pipes announces. Work will begin with seventh and eighth graders in 30 days. Pipes says that he has a lot of new equipment and would like to have anyone interested come out and watch practice, beginning at 12:30 o'clock each afternoon. Ten games are tentatively slated for next year.

"Some of these boys are pretty good prospects," reports Pipes. "We are going to start work with them even earlier next year to develop some good players."

Communists Warn Youth of Prague

PRAGUE, P. — Official policy in the Czechoslovak Union of Youth is that "the old undignified bourgeois attitude toward girls must be ruthlessly suppressed."

"Youth union groups," a Union edict also declared, "must also combat eccentric American dances such as the samba, which express the general degeneration of the culture and morals of the capitalist states."

35 Boys Report for Spring Football Training Monday

Some 35 boys reported to Coaches Bing Bingham and Vernon Ray for spring football training Monday.

Training will last 30 days, Bingham says, and it is hoped that a game can be scheduled each week, beginning Friday night. Week after next, the '51 squad will play the seniors.

Coach Bingham paints a dismal picture of Antelope prospects. "These boys are the smallest in size and fewest in number we have ever had," he says. "Twenty of them weigh less than 130 pounds. Of the 31 boys on the regular squad last year, we have lost 20."

The only starters to work out this spring are Jack Kirkpatrick, quarterback; L. W. Evans, end; Buddy Davis and Cletus Graves, tackles; and Ross Self, center.

Boys who have been lost, besides by graduation, include Jackie Hays, Allen Hampton, Gay Lord Anderson, Bobby Jones, Curtis Williams and Carol Light.

"The public is invited to come and watch the boys work out and to watch the games," Bingham says. "But we would like them to sit in the bleachers since we have a lot of work to do and would rather not have the boys distracted."

TO COACH OCCUPATIONAL FORCES ATHLETIC OFFICERS — Frank Anderson (above), Texas A&M track coach for more than 20 years, has been selected by the U. S. Occupational Forces to conduct a three-week track and field clinic for athletic officers in the European Command. The clinic will be held from April 4-25 at an as yet undisclosed base. Barlow Irvin, A&M athletic director, will assist Ray Putnam, assistant coach, with the track squad in Anderson's absence. Anderson has also just been selected as the track and field instructor for the coaching school sponsored by the Texas High School Coaches Association. Aggie track mentor from 1920 to 1935 and again from 1945 until now, Anderson has produced seven SWC championships in those years, and his teams have never failed to place in the top three.

Howard Green, youthful president of the Class B Big State and Gulf Coast baseball leagues, says baseball's "honeymoon is over." He's so right.

But Green thinks the way to cure attendance ills is to offer the fans more entertainment and his leagues will discuss various promotional efforts.

Ask the average fan what's wrong with minor league baseball and he'll tell you it's baseball. It could be a lot better.

The biggest boost Texas baseball could give itself would be a speed up in play.

There's no use in any minor league club expecting a fan to come out night after night if he's going to sit through a game that lasts three hours or more.

Your average baseball fan works for a living. Games usually start at 8 or 8:15 p. m. Figure two hours and forty-five minutes as an average game. That's roughly 10:45 or 11 p. m. before it's over. Give Gus Fan an hour to get home and it's midnight. He probably has to get up at 6 a. m.

There are few casual fans who are willing to suffer through many such games. It is much easier to take in some other entertainment. The cost of this is as cheap—or cheaper—than baseball, far quicker and much more comfortable.

Minor league clubs could win more friends, too, if they would strive to make the fan comfortable while he's watching the game and worry less about giving him sideline entertainment. The average seat in a Texas baseball park is anything but an inducement to lounge for a couple of hours.

The "Honeymoon" is over for Texas baseball. But it can settle to a long, peaceful, happy life by making a few adjustments.

Donald Duck Comic Is Back in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, P. — For the first time since the war, an American comic strip (Donald Duck) has reappeared in a Yugoslav newspaper.

It is running in the "Sunday Information," a new weekly started this year. In pre-war Yugoslavia American comic strips were very popular and were published in many daily and weekly papers. During the German occupation they were cut out. And they stayed out after the Liberation and the founding of Marshall Tito's Communist government until this lone entry.

Deaf Mute Expects $100 Loss on Pies

PASADENA, Calif. P. — Wilbur Jensen, 76, who is deaf and dumb, thought he was going to take a $100 loss on some chicken and apple pies he bought for a party.

He'd planned a party for at least 100 deaf and dumb persons, hoping to organize a club. But only 10 showed up.

A group of teen-age models who had volunteered to stage a fashion show for the affair and saved him half the loss. They sold $50 worth of the leftover pies door to door the next day. Jensen and his neighbors went on a pie diet to consume the rest.

FAR-REACHING CAMPAIGN

PRESTON, Ont. P. — High school students here set to and typed 2,000 envelopes and folded letter-heads for mailing to all former Prestonians living on this continent in the campaign for the new arena fund. Then they typed another 2,000 for a future mailing.

Of his 11 defeats last season, Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians lost four by one run. He went the route in all four.

One-Handed Driving Ends Up This Way

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. P. — Mechanist Cyril Kuchler had his hands full when the stork suddenly arrived.

He was driving his wife, Frances, to the hospital when his car was tied up in traffic. Then things began to happen.

Mrs. Kuchler gave birth to the baby, a nine and one half pound daughter, and the couple's sixth child, in the front seat of the car. Kuchler didn't stop. He helped his wife as much as he could, clutched the baby in one hand, and kept going the final three blocks. He said:

"I was so busy holding the baby in my right arm, driving with my left, and honking the horn with my elbow I didn't have a chance to get excited until it was all over."

Mechanical Harvesting Is Efficient If Proper Preparation Has Been Used

Cotton can be harvested efficiently with mechanical pickers and strippers — if proper methods of production and preparation for harvesting are used, L. C. Herron, county agent, says.

The results of mechanical cotton harvesting experiments conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment station in 1948, 1949, and 1950 at Lubbock, Temple, Denton and College Station are given in Progress Report 1337 and are the basis for the above statement.

Stripping machines are generally used on stormproof or storm-resistant varieties of cotton with a stalk height of not more than 30 inches. Approximately 50 per cent of the cotton grown on the High Plains in 1949 was harvested with mechanical strippers.

Picking machines will not successfully harvest stormproof cotton. During the past few years, mechanical pickers have been used in South and Central Texas to pick cotton of open-boll varieties. Approximately 300 of these machines were used in Texas in 1949 and 1950.

Production methods should be used that will make for the two types of harvesting machines.

General recommendations for producing cotton to be harvested with mechanical pickers and strippers are given by the research workers.

Plant in 40-inch rows.

Plant storm-resistant or stormproof cotton for harvesting with a stripper and open-boll type for harvesting with a picker.

Space plants from two to six inches per foot, depending upon soil fertility and moisture conditions. Such spacing tends to keep the stalk size down for harvesting with a stripper and helps keep branch limbs short for harvesting with a picker.

Plants should also be spaced evenly. Hill-drop planting is not advised if harvesting is to be done with a stripper. When the picker is to be used, cotton may be hill-dropped with short spacings.

For the late cultivations, sweeps should be set so as to leave the middles lower than the ridge of dirt at the base of the plants.

Apply defoliant early enough so that few, if any green bolls will be left unopened when the cotton is ready to strip. After applying the defoliation, from 15 days should elapse before harvesting. On the High Plains, allow up to 21 days. If available, airplanes should be used for applying late insect control and defoliation materials.

Tractor wheel shields should be used, if needed, to prevent damage to plants and bolls during insect control, defoliation and stripping operations.

The ground speed of the harvesting machine should be determined by the volume of cotton the machine can handle. Cotton should not be mechanically harvested when damp and should be ginned in a plant equipped for doing the best possible job.

A copy of Progress Report 1337 can be obtained by writing to the Publications Office, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station.

Barefoot Boy Gets Hot Coals Switched

HOLLYWOOD P — William Spauth's specialty is walking barefoot across a bed of hot coals.

It isn't difficult, he says, if you have tough feet and the coals are set up right. This time somebody crossed him up.

Spauth says you should use small bits of charcoal sprinkled on a bed of sand. As you step, the embers sink into the sand with no damage to the foot.

From a hospital bed where he was recovering from second and third degree burns on his soles, Spauth said that at a rehearsal for his act, somebody used king-size coals. They didn't sink.

Mrs. Muriel Crowley was in Lubbock Monday.

Iowans Give Support To FFA Pig Project

DES MOINES, Iowa, AP — The Graettinger High School Future Farmers of America chapter has set up a pig-raising project. The chapter borrowed $2,500 from a Graettinger bank with a dozen local citizens signing the note. Dale L. Schnirring, faculty advisor for the chapter, says it is hoped to pay off the note in two years.

The chapter has 49 members. Each boy cooperating in the project will be given a gilt this spring by the chapter. In order to pay back the loan, the FFA will be given first and third choice of the first litter produced. The boy receives all remaining pigs and full ownership of the sow. With some exceptions, all pigs of the first litter are to be sold at a cooperative boar and gilt sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Payne of Tahoka visited Mrs. W. J. Shepherd Sunday. Mrs. Payne also visited in the Fred Babb home.

Singapore Still Has Whipping Punishment

SINGAPORE AP — Punishment by flogging is going to stay on the law books in this British crown colony. A government spokesman said there is no intention at present of introducing legislation to abolish whipping.

He said Singapore was not among the 30 colonial governments which had agreed in principle to rule out corporal punishment. Whipping, in addition to the sentence, can be ordered in Singapore for conviction on charges of rape and grievous hurt.

MINE FUSES RACKET

FRANKLIN, Ind. AP — Neighbors complained about noises "louder than shotguns." Police found some teen-age schoolboys were exploding land mine fuses. Police said the kids took them from a manufacturing firm and had passed them out to their friends.

CHARGED IN PAYROLL ROBBERY — William G. McNeely, 32, is shown in Wichita Falls after he was charged, with two others, with stealing government property. The man was arraigned here, with Cpl. John Joe Hersch, 21, before U. S. Commissioner T. E. Huff for the $33,000 daylight payroll robbery at Sheppard Air Base here. Graddon Arnold Miller, 19, of Rush Springs, Okla., also was charged in connection with the robbery and is in jail in Chickasha, Okla. The FBI says the money was found in the luggage compartment of McNeely's car and that McNeely admits a part in the robbery.

Post Housing Fills Up Fast

Apartments in Post are filling up fast. C. J. Josey, grocer who runs a free rental service, announces this week.

There are three unfurnished houses, two of which are brand new. There are two or three apartments for rent, now. Some 25 families have moved in in the past three weeks, he reveals.

"When anyone comes in," Josey says, "we can almost always find a place. If they are not too choosy. Several new apartments and rent houses have been built and some people who have been renting have bought their own homes."

According to Josey, recent construction and real estate changes have made the housing situation much more favorable here.

India Will Use Bomb By-Products for Peace

NEW DELHI, AP — India is seeking out the raw materials of atomic energy and building plants to process them, but it plans to make no atomic bombs. This country's Atomic Energy Commission emphasizes that the uranium, thorium and beryllium being mined in India will be used for peaceful purposes only. Veins of uranium — some quite large — have been found in various parts of India. Beryllium is common, and there are large deposits of monazite sands.

Colorado River Is Fisherman's Paradise Since Dams Have Cleared Sluggish Water

By Bob Brister

ATHENS, P. — Oldtimers down around Austin or Bastrop will tell you that the Old Colorado, once a rip-snootin' devil of a river, just ain't what she used to be. And she isn't.

But what she is now—fishermen dream about.

Back before the chain of flood control dams was built, the Colorado below Austin was a lot of the time, a reddish yellow puddle in motion. There were catfish and drum to be caught, and plenty of gar—but a bass would grate his eyeballs looking for a lure in such water.

The came the great dam building spree. The river was bottled up with Buchanan dam, allowed to meander on through larks taken then down to Marshall ford, through Lake Austin, and finally out the spillway of Tom Miller dam to rush its way toward the sea.

And a new river was born.

Mrs. McLaurin, vice president; Mrs. Sullenger, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. C. Caffey, membership chairman; Mrs. Ted Ray, entertainment chairman; Mrs. Lee Reed, finance chairman; Mrs. Loyd Chambers, program chairman and Mrs. J. F. Byrd, parliamentarian. Refreshments were served to the school children and members by Mrs. Reed and Mrs. H. A. Winkler. The next meeting will be April 20.

Fishermen flocked to the big akes. Resorts sprang up all along the chain, and crowds grew. The lake chain began to be visited by thousands of sportsmen from all over Texas and the nation.

And all the time, Old Man River was rolling along, virtually unbothered.

It's been just recently, the past few years, that the boys around Austin and other places down the river have begun to get wise.

In the fast-moving water below Austin, now lies one of the most beautiful strips of river ever paddled by a veteran fisherman. Where muddy waters once swirled, fighting game fish prowl the greenish-blue depths.

There's white water to test the paddle of an expert, and placid eddies where lunker largemouths spawn in the shallows—about everything a man could ask of God and a river.

Plug and fly casters have found hefty largemouths running to eight or nine pounds in the eddy waters and along the weed beds. In the swifter stretches the vividly-marked native river bass feed, lightning fast and as pugnacious as any smallmouth that swims.

The secret is out. The Colorado—where her level is right—is one of the finest bass rivers in the state, certainly one of the most beautiful. And as sweet a fishin' hole as a plug ever plunked over.

Cowboy Goes Around World in Costume

SINGAPORE P.—Singaporeans got a thrill when a "real cowboy" came to town. Hat, boots, checked shirt and everything that a movie cowboy wears. He said he owned a 20,000-acre ranch close to Rapid City, S. D.

He explained: "There's not much doing on the ranch now, so I reckoned I'd go around the world to see the big cities."

India's Production Of Steel Goes Up

NEW DELHI, P — India produced more steel, cement and coal in 1950, but production of textiles declined, Industries Ministry figures for the year disclose.

Production of finished steel rose to 986,000 tons, against 920,000 in 1949. Cement production totalled 2,700,000 tons, coal production came to 32,000,000 tons, and increases were also registered in salt, electrical goods, refractories, sulphuric acid, caustic soda, antimony, glass and power alcohol.

Production of Radio Newspaper Is Taught

ATLANTA, Ga. P — A course in newspaper production by radio, one of the few of its kind in the country, is being offered at Emory university here.

A feature of the course is the daily transmission of a facsimile ("fax") newspaper, carrying University news all over the campus. An instructor in the course says he is convinced that the radio newspaper has a great future, although changes and adaptations will be necessary before it becomes a popular medium of communication.

BOYS WITH PLANES

STRATFORD, Ont. P — Youngsters in the PAL Model Airplane Club here have their own workshop where they build everything from flying saucers to model airplanes with a seven-foot wingspread. Apprehensive mothers note the big models are almost big enough to carry baby brother away.

CAL FARLEY, FOUNDER and president of Boys' Ranch, explains the Ranch's proposed expansion plan. He holds a model of the type of units to be built housing 24 to 30 boys. The chart in the background calls for several of these units and a vocational school.

Boys' Ranch Expansion To Take Care Of 1000 to 1500 Asked by Farley

Visions of a Boys' Ranch for 1,000 to 1,500 youngsters with a fighting chance to grow into worthwhile American citizens has been put into words by Cal Farley, founder and president of the famous Boys' Ranch near Amarillo, Texas.

"We must expand," Farley said. "It is forced upon us by torn homes. Every day requests come to our office asking us to take boys."

A recent case cited by Farley was that of a woman who came to him, pleading for the Ranch to take her 14-year-old son. The father was gone, the older children married, and the youngster was "beginning to get into trouble." The mother had been told she had cancer and had six months to live. She wanted her son cared for.

"What can you do?" Farley asked. "We have five boys sleeping in the gymnasium now, but there isn't a place for her son? The only answer was to make a place for him."

The future plans call for permanent "24-boy" homes of the unit type, situated in the area just east of the present buildings. Long-range planning includes 20 of such units. Each of the buildings, furnished, will cost approximately $30,000, but the Ranch founder pointed out that they probably could be built for less because of donations of labor and materials, such as have been given in the past.

Under the new program, the expansion area would be dedicated to the use of the older boys, and would house the high school and vocational school, leaving the present area for handling the smaller boys.

Right now, it is necessary that one unit be started as soon as possible in order to ease the crowded conditions. Later on, another unit and part of the vocational school building will be built.

Plans and sketches have already been received from the Fifth Year architectural class of Texas A&M. The class has made the planning of the future Ranch buildings a term project and the boys are donating their services. It is hoped that ground for the first new unit will be broken within the next 30 to 60 days.

Unfolding the story of the costs of maintaining the present establishment that now cares for 137 boys, Farley said that the ultimate expansion was limited only by the funds and facilities which are made available to the Ranch through donations from fine folks who want to help the boys for whom there is no program.

When you pick a Tractor, be sure you can always get parts

Any tractor is a big investment. You have every right to expect years of profitable performance from such an investment. In this connection one of the first things to think about is—"Will I always be able to get parts?"

The Ford Motor Company manufactures the Ford Tractor. What greater assurance could you have of being able to get parts—anytime, anywhere.

Not only is this important to you as long as you have the tractor, but it is also something the buyer thinks about seriously when you go to sell or trade in your used Ford Tractor. This is only one of the many reasons why a used Ford Tractor commands a high resale price.
