Eastland County Chamber of Commerce Is Organized

FORMATION TAKES PLACE AT RANGER

65 Representatives of Local Chambers Attend

Organization of the Eastland county chamber of commerce was enthusiastically approved at a meeting last night at the Gholson hotel in Ranger when 65 representatives of all towns in the county attended the session of directors and secretaries of the various local chambers of commerce.

John M. Gholson of Ranger was elected president and a committee of five was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws. Members of this committee are J. E. Lewis of Eastland, L. R. Pearson of Ranger, Guy Dabney of Cisco, W. E. Tyler of Rising Star and J. W. Cockrill of Gorman. The committee will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Mr. Lewis' office in Eastland.

The next meeting of the Eastland county chamber of commerce will be held Monday evening in Eastland.

Began With Banquet.

Last night's session began with a banquet. W. D. Conway, president of the Ranger C. of C., then called on Mayor John Thurman, who delivered an address of welcome. Conway explained the purpose of the meeting and turned it over to Edw. R. Maher who introduced F. L. Chase of Dallas, who is with the Lone Star Gas company. He declared that oil and gas development in this section was destined for many splendid chapters in the future and expressed his interest in the agricultural possibilities as well. C. P. Mays of Dallas, who is connected with the Community Gas company, spoke on cooperation.

O. D. Dillingham of Abilene made an address on dairying.

The round table discussion then began, with John M. Gholson opening the discussion with a talk on goats and sheep. Much interest was shown in this subject and in dairying. One man declared he owned a ranch near San Angelo and the money it produced came not from the cattle but from the goats, and that he plans to stock a ranch with 5,000 goats in this county.

From Cisco

Members of the Cisco chamber of commerce board of directors who attended the session at Ranger last night were: A. D. Anderson, J. A. Bearman, J. J. Collins, E. P. Crawford, Guy Dabney, H. S. Drumwright, F. E. Harrell, R. L. Poe, P. P. Shepard and F. D. Wright. Others attending from Cisco were J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the Cisco C. of C., and E. H. Varnell, Cisco vocational agriculturist.

Thief Steals Cisco Man's Luggage

Dr. G. C. Morris had the misfortune of losing some of his luggage from his car after he had skidded into the ditch at the side of the Bankhead highway just this side of Ranger. Rain had made the road slippery and in negotiating a sharp curve the car went into the ditch. Dr. Morris left the vehicle and went in search of a wrecker. When he returned he found that a thief had broken the glass from a door and made off with the luggage.

Miss Spence Here Today

* * * * * * * * *

First Session of Daily News Cooking School Will Begin Tomorrow Afternoon at 2 o'Clock

Every detail is in readiness for the opening tomorrow at 2 p. m. of the Daily News free cooking school.

Miss Clara Alden Spence, of Kansas City, home economics expert, arrived in Cisco this morning. She will spend the day supervising the last minute preparations and, of course, will be busy.

The model kitchen, installed in the Spann Chevrolet building where the school sessions are to be held is ready for Miss Spence.

Miss Spence saw to her marketing this afternoon. She laid in a supply of Airy Fairy Flour, KC baking powder, butter, eggs, Folger's coffee, and the hundred and one little articles that make cooking such an intricate and interesting process.

She expressed complete satisfaction with the local arrangements and extended a personal invitation to all the women of Cisco to attend the school.

34 PRIZES DAILY.

Thirty-four prizes will be given away daily to women attending the cooking school which the Daily News will conduct at the old Spann Chevrolet building this week end. These prizes are being given by various merchants who are participating in this school.

Miss Spence impresses one with her sincerity of purpose and devotion to her chosen work. A graduate in home economics from the University of Kansas, Miss Spence has taught domestic science and home economics for several years. Her teaching experience has been such as to fit her peculiarly for the task of conducting the Daily News cooking school. She is now in charge of a model kitchen in Kansas City where she continually is testing foods, new recipes, new methods of serving and new ideas in cooking.

The school will continue through Thursday and Friday with afternoon sessions beginning at 2 o'clock each day. Each day a different program will be offered. To get the full benefit from the cooking school, the Daily News suggests each housewife attend each session of the school. In addition to the regular in-

INVITES WOMEN

Miss Clara Alden Spence, home economics expert of Kansas City, will arrive in Cisco today to conduct the Daily News Free Cooking School. She joins with the Daily News in inviting Cisco housewives to attend the sessions which are to be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Wide Area Combed For Lost Airmen

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25.—Tragedy, riding the air lanes of western America, today had sent men and ships into the mountains and over desert wastes in a search for two missing pilots, and brought reports that death had been cheated of one flyer's life only to claim two others.

The vanguard of searchers beat the dawn into the Sierra Nevada range and across portions of the Arizona desert, eager for a trace of Pilot James E. Doles and his assistant, Albert W. Beiber.

Western Air Express officials became worried over the fate of the two men yesterday when it was learned from an emergency landing field at the Miller ranch east of Tejon Pass that the two fliers had not been there after taking off from Kingman, Ariz., Sunday morning.

Doles and his co-pilot were due in Los Angeles Sunday afternoon with a "ferry" or empty passenger plane they were returning from Kingman. When they did not arrive on schedule, officials believed storms or fog had forced them to put down on the Miller ranch and were not worried.

Connections Delayed.

It was not until yesterday that telephone connections could be made into the isolate Tejon Pass region and the unfavorable report from there was the signal for a new extensive search of the dangerous southwest wastelands.

In the same area, constant menace to the men who flaunt the storm gods, Fred Kelly, another pilot for Western Air Express, miraculously escaped death when his mail plane crashed into a mountainside and threw him into a snowbank.

The pilot escaped with a wrenched back.

From a winter-locked region several hundred miles to the north came reports of the death of two less fortunate airmen.

They were Henry C. Lorenz and Edward C. Smith whose bodies were found in the wreckage of their plane near Stanford, Mont., by a rancher searching for his lost cow.

The rancher, George McKenna, found the animal nearby, injured. It had been struck by the falling plane.

P.-T. A WANTS EVERY MOTHER AT MEETING

Every mother with a child attending the West Ward school is being appealed to today to be present tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at a business meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of that school to be held at the building.

The association has abolished a former rule that each member must pay dues of 50 cents annually, an act which automatically makes every mother a member. As the association now stands there are no dues.

The meeting tomorrow morning will not be over 45 minutes in length and it is planned to get through with the program in 30 minutes. Mothers are urged to come in house dresses.

At least 150 women are wanted for this get-together session.

SOME IMPROVEMENT

Mrs. O. R. Walton who has been confined with pneumonia at her home here, was today reported to be still very ill although she has shown some improvement since a week ago.

CONTRACT ON OVERPASS IS LET MONDAY

San Angelo Man Is Given Contract on Bid of $51,419

L. E. Whitham, of San Angelo, was awarded contract for the construction of the overpass and approaches which will carry the Bankhead highway over the Texas and Pacific railroad at Harrell's crossing three miles west of Cisco. The contract was awarded at the meeting of the State Highway commission at Austin yesterday.

The contract price for the overpass is $51,419. The structure will be of reenforced concrete and steel, and will eliminate one of the most dangerous highway crossings on the Bankhead, a point at which only recently a man and a woman were killed when their automobile was struck by an eastbound fast train. The Texas and Pacific, which is contributing $10,000 to the cost of the overpass, has lately installed a flasher signal system at the crossing.

Work on the overpass will no doubt begin at once. The program includes straightening the highway to cross the railroad diagonally a short distance east of where the present road crosses. The highway will divert from its present course just under the brow of Harrell Hill, shooting in a direct line diagonally across the railroad to rejoin the present route at the curve on the north side of the tracks. The approaches to the overpass will be of earth and steel spans.

FOURTH EFFORT TO TRY MARRS DUE IN APRIL

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25 — A fourt effort to try Bert Marrs for the murder of Otis H. Redden, city fireman, will be made in the April term of criminal district court, it was indicated Tuesday at the office of District Attorney R. A. Stuart.

A jury was discharged by Judge George E. Hosey at 11 p. m. Monday, after it reported that it was unable to agree. The case was postponed twice previously because of absent witnesses.

The jury was divided ten to two, the court was informed.

It was reported unofficially that the majority favored conviction with suspended sentence.

Redden was fatally injured when struck by Marrs' auto on main street January 20, 1929, as he was taking up fire hose. State witnesses testified that Marrs was intoxicated and drove several blocks before returning to the crash scene. Redden's body was dragged more than a block by the car.

Marrs testified that he had been drinking earlier in the evening but denied that he was speeding when he struck the fireman. He said that he did not stop immediately because he wanted to take two girl compainions home before going back.

QUEENS PLAY FRANKELL AT GYM TONIGHT

The Cisco Lobo Queens will meet the Frankell high school girls basketball team at the gymnasium this evening at 7:30, it was announced this afternoon. A small admission charge to take care of expenses will be made.

Frankell, while the team did not attend the West Texas meet at Roby, won by the Cisco girls last week, is said to have a particularly strong organization, capable of giving the local girls a real battle.

Companionate Marriage Scored

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 25 — Companionate marriage today stood branded as "against public policy and decency" in a decision handed down by the Colorado supreme court.

A contract entered into before marriage by Dr. Charles M. Duncan, Denver physician, and Hattie E. Duncan, which set forth the couple was to live together only so long as either pleased was scored as "nothing more, in effect, than an attempt to legalize prostitution."

Dr. Duncan and his wife lived together for slightly more than a year before they agreed to separate. He paid her $110 as full settlement under the contract.

Later the physician died interstate and the former wife sued for half his estate. Her claim was upheld in district court and by the supreme court yesterday.

13 COMPANIES, EIGHT PERSONS ARE INDICTED

BROCKTON, Mass., Feb. 25. —A secret indictment against 13 oil companies and eight individuals, charging conspiracy to restrain trade and to create a monopoly in the sale of gasoline and petroleum products, has been returned by a Plymouth county grand jury.

The indictment, made public today by District Attorney Winfield M. Wilbar, was returned following a month's investigation by his office into a complaint filed by the Keith Oil corporation of this city. Wilbar announced that the indictment would be read in superior court this afternoon.

Concerns named as defendants were: Standard Oil company of New York, Beacon Oil company of New Jersey, Cities Service Refining company, Jenney Manufacturing company, Richfield Oil corporation of Massachusetts, Tidewater Oil Sales corporation, Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc., Texas company, Gulf Refining company, Sun Oil company, Atlantic Refining company, Sinclair Refining corporation.

The individual named were: Donald G. Smith, Harry J. Selig and Wilfred H. Holt, all of Brockton; Herman Halderson, Easton; Charles B. Jones, Newton, Harold W. Boynton, Cambridge; George J. Clark, Millis; and Joseph Kelley, Boston.

SCOUT COURSE CONDUCTED AT RISING STAR

G. N. Quirl, oilbelt Boy Scout executive with headquarters at Eastland, conducted the regular weekly session of the training course in Boy Scouting for a class of approximately 20 persons at Rising Star, last night.

The purpose of this course is to better acquaint business men of Rising Star and Pioneer with Boy Scouting ,to educate them in Boy Scout ideals and activities that they may be better fitted for serving on Boy Scout committees.

The course lasts six weeks and requires one lesson per week. Monday night was selected at the meeting night.

Quirl reports splendid enthusiasm from the two communities in the work.

Mother of Mrs. Singleton Better

Mrs. E. A. Smith, mother of Mrs. F. E. Singleton, wife of the pastor of the First Methodist church here, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks with pneumonia, was reported this morning to be showing improvement. Mrs. Smith has been making her home with her daughter since last summer.

Last week Rev. H. C. Smith, pastor of the Forrest Hill Methodist church at Fort Worth, and a brother of Mrs. Singleton, was here to visit his mother.

HOOVER IS CRITICIZED FOR DEMAND

Senate Debate Follows President's Economy Plea

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Hoover's demand for economy by congress, reemphasized vigorously by him today, brought sharp criticism and a warm defense for him in a senate debate today.

Referring to the chief executive's demand for economy made at a white house breakfast to Republican leaders yesterday, Senator Carter Glass, Dem., Va., secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration, described the president's move as "a cheap and twdry exhibition of partisan politics."

Shortly after this debate began, the president at his semi-weekly press conference reiterated his demand for economy, saying sufficient funds will be available to take care of World War veterans, public works and minor proposals but that "this is no time for a general expansion in public expenditures."

Republican Floor Lleader Watson and Senator Borah of Idaho, often an administration critic, came to the defense of the president, Watson declaring that Mr. Hoover did his duty in warning the country of the financial condition of the treasury. He called Glass' speech "a wild flight of the imagination."

BROTHER OF MRS. M'CREA DIES MONDAY

Judge A. R. Anderson, brother of Mrs. L. H. McCrea of Cisco, died yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at his home in Post following an illness of less than a week.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 2:30 this afternoon with interment in the Post cemetery.

Judge Anderson, who had made his home in Post for the past 17 years, was county judge of Motley county for four years, county judge of Graza county for four years, county attorney for three years, and a member of the Post Methodist church and of the I. O. O. F. He was still active in his profession as an attorney until he was stricken at his office last Tuesday.

Survivors are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. H. P. Holman of Post, and Mrs. Hooper Shelton of Roby; one son, Vachel Anderson of Post; two brothers, George S. Anderson of Abilene and V. H. Anderson of El Paso; and two sisters, Mrs. L. H. McCrea of Cisco and Mrs. W. B. Ferrell of Roby.

Quarrels With Wife and Jumps to Death

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 — Richard H. Jones, prominent in New York society circles jumped to his death from his exclusive Park avenue apartment today after a quarrel with his wife.

He plunged from the eighth floor after a violent controversy in which he struck his wife on the head with the base of an electric lamp. Mrs. Jones, the former Louise Conkey, who is 20 years old, was treated for severe lacerations of the scalp and for a time was unable to give details of the quarrel.

Condition of Mrs. Brantley Improved

Reports from the Graham sanitarium where Mrs. D. R. Brantley, Sedwick woman who is suffering from a wound in her breast made by a .32 caliber bullet, is receiving medical attention, stated that her condition was much improved this morning.

The accident occurred about 11 o'clock Sunday night and the woman was brought to the hospital here early yesterday morning.

Cisco Is Given Twelve Per Cent Insurance Credit

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—The State Fire Insurance commission today granted Beaumont a 15 per cent credit on fire insurance rates for good fire record.

Cisco was given a 12 per cent credit.

Breckenridge was given a three per cent penalty.

Waxahachie and Gainesville received neither credit nor penalty.

The rulings are effective March 1.

IS ACCUSED OF PROFITEERING ON RAIL BONDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 — William T. Kemper of Kansas City is accused of making more than $6,000,000 of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad company in an action filed in federal court here.

The suit was revealed when Rep. George H. Tinkham of Boston and his two sisters sought permission to intervene as plantiffs in the suit brought by Dr. James C. Ayer of New York, charging Kemper bought the railroad's notes at from 10 to 25 cents on the dollar. At that time, according to the complaint, Kemper knew the road's prospects were improving and that he subsequently sold the notes at a profit to the Sante Fe railroad.

Kemper, democratic national committeeman from Missouri, is accused by Ayer of telling note holders that if they did not sell at from to to 25 cents on the dollar, they would get nothing for their holdings.

Scout Board to Meet at Eastland

EASTLAND, Feb. 25 — Members of the executive board of the oilbelt Boy Scouts council will hold their regular meeting at the chamber of commerce here tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Homer Brelsford, Jr., president of the council, will preside at the meeting.

Gas Line Laid to Kincaid Well

Chesnut and Smith are now laying a gas line to the J. A. Bearman, et al, Kincaid No. 1 well half a mile north of Cisco. The line will convey the gas from the well to an absorption plant of the company. The well when it came in several months ago, was making approximately one and one-half million feet of gas.

VICTORY CLASS TO CELEBRATE DRIVE SUCCESS

The Victory class of the First Baptist church is having a banquet tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the dining room of the church to celebrate the closing of the three month's enlistment campaign, in which the class has grown from a regular attendance of eight or ten to thirty, with a membership now of thirty-eight.

The menu which members of the winning side will enjoy at this banquet consists of chicken, dressing, ice cream and cake. Members of the losing side, however, must content themselves with turnip greens, bacon and spring onions.

The following is the program for the evening:

Principal speaker, Dr. Ross Smith, Breckenridge.

Music, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schaefer and Mrs. Stevenson.

Readings, Mrs. W. H. Hayes and Elvin Skiles.

Short talks, The Rev. A. C. Miller, pastor; L. E. Waite, educational director; W. H. LaRoque, adult department, superintendent.

Welcome by President, Guy Baldwin and J. L. (Punk) Thornton.

All former members of the class and visitors are invited to attend this banquet with their wives.

COMPTROLLER RESIGNS AT NOON TODAY

Moody Said to Have Picked Cisco Man for Place

(Special to Daily News)

Austin, Feb. 25.—Victor B. Gilbert, of Cisco, was reported this afternoon to be Gov. Dan Moody's selection for appointment as comptroller succeeding S. H. Terrell, whose resignation was presented to Gov. Moody and the house of representatives shortly before noon.

Mr. Gilbert, a member of the law firm of Scott and Gilbert of Cisco, is flotorial representative from Eastland and Callahan counties.

PROCEEDINGS IN HOUSE DROPPED.

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. — Sam Houston Terrell, youthful state comptroller, against whom impeachment charges were being heard in the house of representatives resigned just before noon today.

Notice of the resignation was filed with the house after a conference of Terrell and his attorneys for which the hearing had been recessed.

The resignation contained the mere announcement together with the statement that the original had been filed with Governor Moody.

On recommendation of house attorneys who have been presenting the charges, the house then voted to drop the proceedings.

J. M. Edwards, chief clerk of the department becomes acting comptroller until Governor Moody makes an appointment.

TENSE MOMENT AS CHAUTEMPS ASKS SUPPORT

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Feb. 25.—Premier Camille Chautemps asked a tense and restless chamber today for a vote of confidence in his new left wing concentration government.

Chautemps presented a program so similar to that of the late government of Andre Tardieu that many deputies wondered why the cabinet had been changed at a critical moment in negotiations at the London naval conference.

The temper of the chamber of deputies which the radical-socialist premier faced, was dangerous. Hostile right and center factions filled their portions of the benches, indicating that Chautemps could only hope for the left wing to give him a slim majority.

FLAPPER FOLLIES.

An increasing death rate from tuberculosis among young girls is reported in some sections of this country. The fact is the more startling because in all other groups, both men and women, a decline in the disease and in the death rate is shown. The rate is highest and has increased among young women between the ages of 15 and 24 years.

There are a number of reasons why young women are more susceptible to the "white plague." They are more apt to be resentful of discipline, especially when it interferes with their little gayeties. There is also the desire of young women today to be very slender.

It seems much more likely that a girl would go without lunch in order to buy a frock or go to a dance than that she would deny herself nourishing food from a dread of gaining weight. But that is not always so. Normal young women, working all day in an office, store or factory, will have good appetites which they can satisfy in the happy knowledge that they have not arrived at the age when they must fear getting fat. And investigators seeing them lunching imprudently on a sandwich and milk shake should not be deluded into thinking that it is alone the dread of corpulence that keeps them from eating more expensive and wholesome meals. Invite them to a hearty luncheon, one that deserves the name of dinner, and watch them eat!

There are other factors to be considered. The wish for pretty clothes and good times must often be paid for out of the small salary of the beginning worker. Some of the good times must be paid for in lack of sleep, too, which is bad for the tubercularly inclined. Indifference to the state of their health is much more characteristic of the young than the middle aged. It is difficult to make them see the importance of caring for one's health.

FASTIDIOUS.

It has been said, and truthfully, that Paris designs the clothing and America wears it. None will deny that American is the best dressed individual in the world. This does not mean that Americans overdress, but that the average man, woman and child in this country has better and more clothing than do those of other countries.

Only a few years ago the well-dressed man and woman on the street was the exception. There were many of these exceptions, but there were more people down-at-the heel, unpressed and threadbare. Old clothes are worn only in the factories now. Even the conservative and thrifty rural folk don city clothes on their now frequent excursions into town.

During the last decade communities of all sizes have witnessed a phenomenal increase in the number of retail dealers in wearing apparel for men, women and children. There are dozens of each kind in even the moderately sized cities and in no other business has the tendency to specialize been so marked. The modern town and city, in addition to its department and clothing store stores, now has its shirt shops, waist shops, hosiery shops, hat stores, boys' clothing stores and children's shops. There must have been a many-fold increase in the demand for clothing to bring so many business establishments into thriving existence.

And it isn't that they are more vain that more people are wearing better clothing. It is because modern standards of living demand and warrant it.

The expensive thing about a car is the pride that makes you want a shiny new one every year.

English women are said to be taking to driving cars, but whether from the back seat is not clearly stated.

With Mussolini running things we wonder just what the king of Italy does to justify him in drawing his salary?

There seems to be an opinion on the part of many who invested in recent get-rich-quick schemes that they didn't make it.

OUT OUR WAY

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

James E. Rockwell, publisher of the Murphysboro (Ill.) Independent, says:

That the resident of a city up to 50,000 inhabitants is the luckiest man in America today.

He gets more for his money than any other citizen; he gets more out of life. For $5,000 a year he can live better than the city man can on $10,000 or even $15,000. He can keep a good car on that; his wife can have a maid; he can live in a modern house with a garden around it; he can belong to a golf club; he can hunt and fish; he can make a place for himself in his home town and can speak to every second man he meets on the street.

He makes friends instead of casual acquaintances. He belongs to clubs and churches. He has the best schools in the world for his children. He can get to a big city on a hard surfaced road in from one to three hours, and have whatever the big city has to offer. He has his radio and a first class cinema house. He thinks more, has more leisure, hurries less, knows more, is more cosmopolitan than the man in the big city. He gets more fun out of life, makes a bigger place for himself in society, and more people miss him when he dies. The average man can "amount to something" in the small town. In the big city only the outstanding man can hope for a place of prominence.

It's worth twice as much to live in a small city and its costs less than half as much. And I've tried everything in size from New York to Murphysboro, from 6,000,000 to 13,000.

C. H. S. surely is proud of her Queens. The ten girls who went to Roby— Velma Blackburn, Ola Perdue, Mary Powell, Wyma Bates, Gladys Purvis, Edna Reese, Dot Price, Lucile Smith, Stella Pippin, and Bessie Penn were up on the stage yesterday while the student body told them what it thought of them. Those who expressed their opinions were O. C. Ray, Wendel Whitehead, Lyman Preston, Ova Brown and Jourdine Armstrong. Mr. Buttler also complimented the Queens and said some nice things about C. H. S. The business manager, Inez Strickland, and Howard Robinson gave reports of the games and the wonderful conduct of the Queens. On a small table in front of the Queens were six trophies won by former Queens, to these Mary Powell added a great big silver basketball. Six small trophies were given at the tournament, and the Queens brought 2 back; one of these went to the best guard, Ola Perdue, and the other to the forwards, Wyma Boles and Gladys Purvis. Miss Shear gave a talk and told of some of the comment on the girls. Mary Powell was the outstanding player of the meet, and great was the commenting on her pivoting. Coach Shear gave credit also Jimmie Yarbrough and Roselle Pippen who were not taken with the team because only ten could be entered. Roselle attended the tournament. The teams the Queens played were Albany, Busby, Mingus, Breckenridge, and Roby. The first team that was picked was forwards, Mingus and Roby, jumping center Mary Powell, running center Breckenridge guards, Ola Perdue and Breckenridge. Lucile Smith was selected as running center on the second team.

Galveston Invited to Bid for Hospital

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.— Galveston was invited today by the state board of control to place before the board proposals for erection of the first state psycopathic hospital there. Negotiations with Dallas for location of the hospital there have been pending for several months without a site acceptable to the board being tendered. Two such hospitals were authorized in a bill passed by the 40th legislature.

MENTAL COLLAPSE

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25.—Lon Campbell, Lipan nightwatchman who mistook Morris Booles, Weatherford, for a burglar and latally shot him last month, was in a hospital here today, the victim of a mental collapse. Constant brooding over the tragic mistake was said to have resulted in the breakdown.

COOLIDGE OFF TO SAN SIMEON TO TAKE REST

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25 — Accompanied only by a small guard, Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge left Los Angeles early today for San Simeon, where the former president will rest for a few days from the ardors of speech making and banqueting.

Silent Calvin Coolidge broke his silence here last night in response to Mayor John C. Porter's official welcome, despite the fetes, festivities, fights over his cigar butts, and the general clamor which has followed the former chief executive here since his arrival a week ago.

The occasion was the chamber of commerce's postponed observance of Washington's birthday and its annual banquet.

More than 1,200 persons listened attentively while adroit speakers "sold" southern California in various aspects to the distinguished couple.

"I have observed your people and your industries carefully and I have come to the conclusion that the secret of your success is that you have made the most of the best in people and things around you. It outshines anything with which I am familiar."

Yesterday Mr. Collidge received a letter warning him of the threats of an eastern gunman who assertedly had declared he would kill the former chief executive.

Although police expressed the opion that the letter had been written by a "crank," the guard attached to the party was reenforced.

Negro Not Expected to Survive Shooting

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25.—A negro Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde was in the City-County hospital Tuesday not expected to live, after having been shot down at 1:30 a. m. today by Operater C. A. Cornett on the T. C. U. street car line.

After shooting the negro four times, Cornett threw his control to the last notch and made a record run for Walls and Park Hill drive to the central police station, with the wounded negro writhing on the floor of the car.

The negro is Lonnie King, 24, by day trusted porter at the home of E. G. Rail, but bank books and pawn tickets in his possession show that by night he has been staging a series of burglaries and robberies.

Cornett was the fourth person he had held up Monday night.

TEACHERS! PARENTS!

Rumors are being circulated that DUBBLE BUBBLE Chewing Gum is harmful and injurious. These stories are utterly ridiculous and untrue.

DUBBLE BUBBLE contains pure cane sugar, corn syrup, natural gums (treesap), finest of flavor and vegetable color—nothing more. Everything in it is good for children and the best that money can buy.

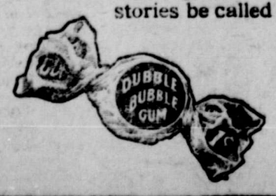

TO YOU, THE ADVISORS OF CHILDREN vitally interested in their health and welfare, we pledge that DUBBLE BUBBLE always has been, and always will be, pure and wholesome. DUBBLE BUBBLE is made in compliance with Federal Pure Food Laws in a sanitary, daylight factory and is machine-wrapped for cleanliness.

We agree with teachers and parents that chewing gum should not be used in the classroom. We do hope, however, that teachers in enforcing class discipline will not forbid children to use DUBBLE BUBBLE outside of the school, and that they will not, by inference or otherwise, seek to frighten children by giving further circulation to "poison stories" which are so obviously untrue, and which were originated solely for the purpose of injuring the sale of this popular product.

No other chewing gum has become so popular in so short a time. Such popularity must be deserved. DUBBLE BUBBLE is the kind of chewing gum the children really like.

As responsible manufacturers for more than 15 years, jealous of our good reputation, and making a pure product that is sold internationally as well as nationally, we resent the circulation of tales and rumors that DUBBLE BUBBLE GUM is harmful or injurious in any way.

We rely upon YOUR sense of fair play to assist us in refuting this "Poison Propaganda," should any of these stories be called to your attention.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC IN REVOLUTION

SANTO DOMINGO, Feb. 25.—The Dominican Republic is in a state of revolution, rebel troops have captured the fortress of Monte Cristi, with the support of the national army, and President Hojacio Vasquez has resigned, according to the latest published reports here.

Following the capture of the fortress on the northern coast, President Vasquez took refuge in the Santo Domingo fortress, while his wife sought protection at the American legation. Both returned to the presidential palace last night.

Reports of the uprising were published by the newspaper Listen Diario, which is authority for the statement regarding the resignation of Vasquez.

The revolution has grown out of two situations—dissatisfaction over the reported intention of President Vasquez to seek another term, and an economic collapse due to a bad sugar and coffee year. Planters and their employes have been hard hit in the past six months.

There has been no bloodshed, it was said, the national army joining the revolutionists.

Gangster Fights Off Assailants From Cot

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 — Twenty-seven bullet holes today scarred the white walls of the hospital room where Frank Meerlane, "back of the yards" beer baron and notorious as Chicago's toughest gangster, fought a gun-battle with three racketeers who trapped him as he lay with a broken leg last night.

Snaring hatred of his enemies and defiance to police, Meerlane held onto life grimly today although three bullets from his would-be assassins' guns reached their mark. One pierced his back. Another tore through his thigh. A third disabled the wrist of his gun hand.

Propped on an elbow, heaving against the weights that held his plaster-cast encased leg in the air, the ally of "Spike" O'Donnell pumped five shots from his automatic when the trio of unannounced visitors stepped into his room. Instantly the room echoed to the roar of guns until between thirty and forty shots had been fired.

"They sneaked in like ally rats and ran away like dogs," growled the gangster when police reached his cot in the terror-stricken ward at the German Deaconess hospital where the gun battle was fought.

But Meerlane, refused to tell who shot him. Even when police told him they were going to remove him to the Birdwell hospital, which he said "means sure death for me," he stuck to his noncommittal answers.

ENDING PHILADELPHIA RIOT

Hand-to-hand conflict between police and leaders of a so-called "army of unemployed" ended the attempt of 200 men and women to storm Philadelphia's city hall. Pictured here is the arrest of a protesting rioter after a number of the demonstrators, bearing placards, had rushed the stairway leading to the offices of Mayor Harry A. Mackey. Fifteen men and two girls were arrested and several were injured in the fighting.

Contradictions and Contrasts of Russian Nation Forcefully Demonstrated Sunday

EDITORS NOTE — Ed L. Keen, vice president of the United Press for Europe, is in Russia to report in a series of cabled articles what is proceeding under the Soviet regime today. Keen, a veteran American newspaperman with many years of training as an European observer, will attempt to tell American readers, in a detached, impartial spirit, what is to be seen and understood of the amazing social experiment going on in Russia. The article below, an account of Keen's first Sunday in Moscow during his present trip, is the first of several stories to be carried on the wires in the next few days.

By ED L. KEEN
Vice-President of the United Press For Europe

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 — The contradictions, contrasts and perplexities of anti-religious Soviet Russia were forcefully demonstrated in Moscow Sunday in the war chant of the Red army, the hymns of cathedral choirs, the hum of factory wheels and the tolling of at least one church bell.

In a cinema the news reel of the moment showed 3,000 factory workmen — all volunteers who were not paid — demolishing the St. Simon monastery, once the abode of Ivan the terrible, to make room for a large palace of culture, and in the Moscovite anti-religious museum, which was once a monastery, throngs of young Russians studied exhibits, charts and pictures which have only one purpose —the teaching of atheism.

Throughout the day there was not the slightest indication that the capital was disturbed or influenced by the world-wide agitation which has arisen in the last few weeks against the Soviet anti-religious movement.

An answer to the question of whether the populace has a real spirit of self-sacrifice toward the communistic state or merely an attitude of resignation to the inevitable was not to be found in the impassive faces of thousands stolidly presenting ration cards at commissar stores, or listening to the cry of "war danger" in red square, or sitting in on the thinned ranks of worshippers at the stately cathedral of our holy savior near the Kremlin.

Notwithstanding the pro-atheist campaign, conducted with increasing vigor for 72 years, Moscow's 1,500 churches — only 100 have been diverted to other uses or demolished —functioned as usual although with greatly depleted congregations compared to the days of the Czars.

I was surprised to hear a church bell ringing Sunday morning. I attended morning service at the famed cathedral of our holy savior, which was the favorite church of the late Czar and Czarina, about 500 persons were there, compared to five times that number who would have attended in the pre-revolution days when a metropolitan conducted the service, as on this occasion. The small attendances now are due both to the incessant anti-religious propaganda and the fact that Sunday is a working day, the same as any week day in the factories. Shops, motion picture theatres and the opera were all running.

The congregation, however, was an devout as any ever seen at St. Paul's in London, St. Peters in Rome or St. Patricks in New York. Most of them were adults. They seemed deeply moved by the solemn and picturesque orthodox church ceremonial and the magnificent antiphonal chorals.

From the cathedral, I taxied — light automobiles are now beginning to displace the ancient droshkies and sleighs — past the medieval cathedral of St. Basil, which was appropriated by the state as a national monument adjoining the Red square, where the preserved body of Lenin has been encased in glass. The usual long queue of Lenin's worshippers was absent, as the original wooden mausoleum which temporarily houses his body was surrounded by a high fence pending reconstruction of the building in stone.

When that has been done, the crowds will come again daily to gaze in awe on the life-like embalmed corpse under its glass, a holy shrine symbolic of the principles which have become the guiding star of the destinies of 150,000,000 people.

Next I visited the anti-religious museum established by the state in an appropriated monastery, devoted to educating the people in atheisim. The various rooms are given over to exhibits, charts pictures, models and similar objects depicting the theory of evolution. Christianity's alleged relationship to paganism; the materialistic, monarchistic and anti-revolutionary tednencies and practices of the orthodox church, and an exhibits of purported miracles.

CHALLENGE

An Army of American Motorists has Changed to CONOCO
Germ-Processed Motor Oil

The Seven Claims in Conoco's Challenge that Brought this Amazing Public Acceptance of Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil . . . . . .

1 Combines with metal surfaces and never leaves bearings and other working parts, due to its "PENETRATIVE LUBRICITY." That means Constant Lubrication.

2 Refined from carefully selected paraffin base crudes by patented processes. That means stability and low oxidation and evaporation.

3 Positively increases gasoline mileage by reducing friction. That means economy.

4 Will not break down under intense cylinder wall heat. That means decreased oil consumption.

5 Substantially reduces motor wear in starting because this oil penetrates metal surfaces. Other oils require 15 to 20 minutes to reach all moving parts. Conoco Germ-Processed Oil prevents the 40% to 60% of motor wear that engineers agree would otherwise occur.

6 Crankcase dilution does not seriously impair its "oiliness" value. That means greater motor protection.

7 Will lubricate efficiently at sub-zero temperatures. That means thoroughly de-waxed oil.

Have you noticed that Conoco stations have been busier in the past few months? The reason is, of course, that amazing new oil, Conoco Germ-Processed.

Introduced only last November, this revolutionary motor lubricant has startled even its makers by its instant public acceptance. At times it was difficult to complete refinery runs in time to supply demands from distant districts.

There's a moral for you in this wholesale change of oil-buying habits by the motoring public. Everyone realizes now that something happened in the motor oil business when this new oil was announced. When you start using this oil you'll realize the truth of our statements that a new age in lubrication began with the Germ Process.

By providing more economical car operation, by guaranteeing a radical reduction in motor wear, and particularly, by penetrating metal surfaces and providing constant lubrication under every conceivable operating condition . . . Conoco Germ-Processed oil sets up a new gauge of motor oil merit.

Only Conoco has the right to make Germ-Processed oil in North America. No other oil on the American market can offer you these advantages.

We firmly believe that you will buy no other oil except Conoco Germ-Processed oil after using it for a fair period of time. Won't you make that trial to-day? Every station bearing the Red Triangle is now prepared to serve you.

"BATTLE OF CENTURY" IS IN ALIGNMENT

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—The "battle of the century" in Texas politics promises to be waged this year with Dan Moody and Jim Ferguson running against each other, each for a third term as governor of Texas.

Ferguson ended all speculation about his course this week with his formal announcement of entry into the race. Moody made no formal announcement but he made every other move a prospective candidate for another term could make to strengthen his position.

He sent the legislature practical word to reject a 50 cents-a-ton tax on sulphur and fight for a dollar-a-ton; he re-submitted penitentiary location, upon which the legislature has disagreed with him three times, and arranged a radio program to carry his views to the people.

That it's going to be a battle for the heavyweight honors, is generally conceded at the capital city.

To match this political battle it will be necessary for each of them first to get into a run-off primary. It will worry the other numerous contenders to keep the race from being an alignment of anti-Moodyites vs. anti-Fergusonites.

Precedent

Ferguson in strict use of the expression had only one term and part of a second. But against the shortness of his second term, there must be offset Mrs. Ferguson's term. Moody's third term aspiration would be a precedent if successful, as no governor has had three successive terms.

Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt, who loomed for a time as a likely candidate for governor can now be counted upon as having decided to run for attorney general. He still maintains an official silence on the topic but friends say he has told them that is his intention. Further indication that this is so is seen in the announced resignation of First Assistant Attorney General Galloway Calhoun. So long as Bobbitt considered entering the governor's race, Calhoun kept himself in line as a candidate for attorney general by retaining his position of first assistant. Contrary to belief first expressed by his friends at Austin, Calhoun says he is not going to run for attorney general.

"I would not run against oBbbitt," he said. Upon his resignation taking effect March 1, he will return to private law practice at Tyler.

The resignation was not being announced officially and Austin is having a good laugh over how it became public. A social item in an Austin paper announced a farewell dinner being given for Mrs. Calhoun, who has been highly popular in Austin. The wife of a newspaper writer read it in the society items, commented upon it to her husband and the story was out. Both Calhoun and the attorney general looked suprised when they saw it in print.

With Him Again

Getting back to the probabilities of the gubernatorial race, it is interesting to note that the Hogg brothers, ardent supporters of Governor Dan Moody in his first race, appear likely to be with him again.

This, although there was a virtual split between Steve Pinckney, general secretary for Will Hogg, and Governor Moody over the Beaumont convention and selection of the Texas delegation to the national democratic convention.

Mike Hogg, delivering his first extended speech in the house of representatives for a full dollar sulphur tax, displayed such feeling that at times he was obliged to halt in his remarks. If the bill fails to pass at the fifth special session and Moody makes it a campaign issue, it takes no prophet to see Hogg ardently supporting Moody. Especially as it was Will Hogg, who as one of the Texas-Exes led the fight against Ferguson before.

WHY CHURCHES PROTEST

This picture shows the actual demolition of one of Russia's most beautiful structures, the Seminover Monastery, by the Soviet government, which announces that the ancient edifice will be replaced by a "palace of culture." Note the wrecked furnishings piled in front of the building. Widespread acts of desecration and destruction of church property, such as this, have drawn protests from Pope Pius and also from the Church of England.

Girl Dead of Quest for Sensational

EL PASO, Feb. 25 — Emile Rose Keiffer was dead today, her quest for the sensational fulfilled.

The 15-year old high school honor student is believed to have taken poison in an attempt to outdo the exploits of her fictional characters.

Emile planned to make fiction writing her career. She wrote fluently for a high school girl, and was "creating" her first novel.

The parents believe Emile sought to provide herself with a "greater sensation than she could imagine."

Ex-Commander of Legion Found Guilty

DALLAS, Feb. 25 — Dr. C. T. Bradford, former commander of the American Legion Post at Commerce, was found guilty by federal court jury here of misrepresentation as a claim agent before the Veterans' Bureau. The verdict was was returned yesterday, and sentence was deferred by Judge W. H. Atwell.

Bradford was charged with exacting excessive fees from veterans for whom he claimed to have obtained compensation as an agent.

BANKER SAYS BUSINESS WHAT IT IS MADE

"Business is 90 percent what we make it," according to R. L. Thornton, president of the Mercantile Bank and Trust Company of Texas, at Dallas.

"If we are to have good business conditions," said Mr. Thornton, in discussing business conditions in the Southwest recently, "we must have a sound mental attitude toward our individual problems and the problems of the community."

"Our activity for the most part is confined to agriculture and the distribution of manufactured products, with a small part devoted to manufacturing and construction work. Our agricultural conditions are not what we would like to have them, and in some localities they are not even fair, but on the whole the condition is not materially different than it has been numerous times in the past. An aggressive effort is being made to bring about a reduction in cotton acreage and greater diversification, and there is every reason to believe that good results will be brought about this year.

"The population of the Southwest is increasing daily, which means that our need for finished products is ever increasing. Unemployment is small, so there is no reason why there should not be just as much business for us in distribution lines as we have ever had.

"New oil fields are being opened. New manufacturing industries are being established. An unusual amount of construction work is being undertaken, so it is obvious that there is plenty of business for the man who keeps his eye on the road instead of the ditch."

"The physical conditions of our country are better than they have ever been, so I say business conditions are bound to be good, if we are determined to make them so. On every hand, we are surrounded with opportunities to serve, for which we are entitled to fair profit. Let us capitalize them by intelligent, fearless and efficient effort, and business conditions throughout the year will be good for all."

ACTOR FORGETS TO APPEAR

BERLIN — Veit Harlan, one of Berlin's best-known actors, is probably the only stage star professing a weak memory. When recently twice in close succession, Veit failed to appear at the theater where he was playing the leading role, he did not try one of those time-honored excuses like sudden illness or an automobile accident, but told his director that his weak memory had caused him to forget his stage appearance. The play in question had been running for weeks.

Cardui Helped a Kentucky Lady Who Had Been Feeling All Out of Sorts

Hopkinsville, Ky.—"About ten years ago, I was in a nervous, rundown condition," says Mrs. R. J. Hopson, of this place. "I would get very weak and feel all out of sorts and tired.

"I heard that Cardui was very helpful, so decided to take it. I took one bottle, and it seemed to help me so much I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these I was a great deal better. My nerves were more settled and I felt stronger.

"A few years later I was sick again. I felt bloated and uncomfortable. I felt so uneasy I took Cardui again, three bottles at this time, and again it helped me.

"I have been so grateful, I recommend Cardui to my friends and neighbors. It is a splendid medicine."

The medicine which this Kentucky lady mentions above has been used and praised by thousands of other women for more than fifty years. N-803

Athletic Association Starts Off Enthusiastically

TEAMS WILL BE ORGANIZED NEXT MONDAY

Monday Evening Is Selected as Meeting Date

More than 50 attended the meeting of the Citizens Athletic association at the high school gymnasium last night when the association completed its organization and prepared for a very active existance. The association voted that meetings would be held each Monday evening at the high school, and to insure that well defined and attractive programs would await each session a program committee was arranged for. A. C. Elter, of Rumbletown, was named by President Edward Lee to head this committee and to select his associates.

Leonard Hill was appointed to look after gymnasium equipment and to see that this equipment is in place and ready for the use of the members of the association. The association was assured that showers and dressing room lockers would be available for the members each Monday night.

Cards Required.

It was announced, also, that in future meetings only members exhibiting cards will be permitted to attend.

Volley ball, indoor baseball, gymnastic exercises and other forms of recreation will be indulged in at these meetings. Next Monday evening two indoor baseball teams are to be organized.

The Lions club basketball team last night furnished entertainment by defeating a team of all-stars very decisively. There will be more of those contests, it was stated.

This association offers to local business and professional men an opportunity to indulge in well directed athletic diversion that has been sadly lacking in Cisco in the past and a movement to enlist the largest number of Cisco men possible is being energetically pushed.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 — All of the boxers who will be employed Thursday night to entertain the crowd at Miami's second annual midwinter boxing festival, were winding up their training today and most of the activity from this afternoon on will be confined to the promoters.

Their great problem will be to find purchasers for the remainder of the 40,000 tickets they hope to sell.

Although early ticket sales were good, peculiar as it may seem, the sale has not been as heavy as had been hoped for since the supposed fight crowds began to arrive Friday.

Phil Scott did what was expected to be his last serious boxing before the fight yesterday.

He may put on the gloves for a while this afternoon out of courtesy to 250 sailors from three British warships in the harbors who will visit his training camp. But he will not work hard.

Jack Sharkey also is through with heavy work and what he does today will be in the way of tapering off.

Tommy Loughran, training at Palm Beach, has introduced a new wrinkle into his road work with the assistance of Lawson Robertson, University of Pennsylvania trainer.

Runs 3 Minutes.

He has adopted the plan of running for three minutes, the length of one round of boxing and then standing still and resting for one minute as is done between rounds in a fight.

The start-stop method, Loughran and Robertson claim, accustoms the nervous system and the heart to the tempo of a fight and Loughran puts great stock in it.

He will wind up his training today.

The big event of last night was the arrival in town of Gene Tunney, former champion, who has been recuperating from his operation performed in New York just six weeks ago.

He has been on the Florida West Coast for three weeks.

He had nothing to say about the fight excepting that he would be there. He looked sunbrowned and seemed in fine spirits. Mrs. Tunney was with him when he arrived by motor at Miami Beach, his headquarters while here.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 25 — Illinois saw its western conference basketball championship hopes fade last night when the University of Wisconsin quintet won a 23 to 17 decision. The victory placed the Badgers behind the leading Purdue five.

With the Training Camps

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 25 — With 13 players in camp, the world champion Philadelphia athletics were to stage their first workout of the 1930 training season today. The first squad arrived yesterday but the players devoted their time to swimming and golf.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 25 — First baseman Del Bissonette of Brooklyn, who had three operations performed during the winter and was only recently discharged from the hospital, was laid up today. He swung his bat too hard in practice yesterday and weakened himself. He is 25 pounds lighter than normally. There are 17 players in camp.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25 — Outfielder Jimmy Welsh, who figured in the famous Hornsby trade a few years ago and who came back to the Braves last season, theatened to quit organized baseball rather than accept the contract offered him by Judge Emil Fuchs, owner of the Boston club. Welsh may manage a western semi-pro team.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 25 — Sam Leslie, New York Giants Rookie first baseman from Memphis southern league club who will be converted into an outfielder by John J. McGraw, starred in the first practice game here yesterday when he made a single, double and two triples in four times at bat. McGraw was scheduled to arrive here late today.

BROWNS SQUAD IS LEAST IN MAJOR LEAGUE

By GEORGE KIRKSEY,
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 — The St. Louis Browns have the smallest squad in the major leagues and are tied with the Washington Senators for the smallest number of new players.

Here are only 27 players on the roster, including eight newcomers. The new group includes four pitchers, two infielders, one outfielder and one catcher. When the time comes to cut their squad the Browns will have to dispose of only two players to get inside the major league limit of 25.

One change already made in the Browns has elevated Bill Killefer, former manager of the Chicago Cubs and first assistant to Dan Howley in 1928 and 1929, to the managerial post vacated by Howley.

Indications are that there will be no other changes and that the Browns lineup will be:

Blue, first base.
Melillo, second base.
O'Rourke, third base.
Kress, shortstop.
Manush, left field.
Schulte, centerfield.
Badgro, right field.
Ferrell, catcher.

The four players outside the pitching staff who will make bids for jobs are Sammy Hale, third baseman obtained from the Athletics in a trade for Wally Schang; third baseman Eddie Grimes, who batted .284 for the Milwaukee American association club; outfielder Fred Bennett, who batted .369 for the Wichita Falls Texas league club; and catcher Bernard (Bud) Hungling, veteran from the Newark international league club.

Veterans will shoulder the pitching burden. Eight of last year's staff are back, including Sam Gray, General Crowder, George Blaeholder, Warren (Rip) Collins, Walter Stewart, John Ogden, Chad Kifsey and Dick Coffman.

The four additions to the pitching staff are Earl Caldwell, who won 21 games and lost 15 for the Waco Texas league club; Rolland Stiles, who won 22 and lost 11 for the Tulsa western league club; Herman Holshauser, who won 9 and lost 10 for the Baltimore international league club; and Fred Stiely, who won 10 and lost 11 for the Beaumont Texas league club.

SPORT SHOTS

AVALON, Catalina Island, Calif., Feb. 25 — Lewis Warneke, Rookie pitcher with the Chicago Cubs, was the first casualty of the spring training season. Warneke was hit over the eye with a bat. Three stitches were required for the wound.

HOUSTON, Feb. 25 — Arkansas university's basketball team plays its final game of the season with the Rice institute quintet here tonight, with the pennant already won by virtue of its victory over the Owls last night. The Razorbacks barely eked out a 30 to 28 win, with the Rice team leading by two points within two minutes of the final gun.

HARLINGTON — H. Warderling of Fort Worth, who is now in the Rio Grande valley, is understood to be marking efforts to organize a class D. baseball league of valley towns. Prospects he hopes to place in the loop include Corpus Christi, Mission, McAllen, Harlingen, San Benito and Brownsville.

CARBON TROOP WINS SCOUT FIELD MEET

100 Scouts Participate in Event Held Saturday

Troop No. 12, of Carbon, won first place at the field day meet which was held in Eastland last Saturday afternoon. Troop No. 15, of Rising Star, took second place and Troop No. 6 of Eastland, third place. Around 100 Scouts attended with several visitors.

Ben R. Townley Troop No. 14, of Gorman, took first place in the archery shoot which was the first event of the day. T. O. Jackson Troop No. 12 took second and third place, was tied by Elbert Thurman Troop No. 12, Harold Gracy, Troop No. 14, and Jimmie Townsend, Troop No. 12. The distant shoot was won by Billie Murray, Troop No. 1, and Jimmy Townsend, Troop No. 12, each shooting 169 yards. These boys shooting 19 yards farther than required to win the archery merit badge. Eugene Lankford, Troop No. 4, took second place with 134 yards, and Harold Gracy, Troop No. 14, third place with 123 yards. This was a very interesting event.

Water Boiling.

Troop No. 6 took first place in water boiling, being represented by S. J. Arthur and Roger Moorhead, who built their fire and had water boiling over the top in 7 minutes, 45 seconds. Hugh Rixford and Orville Bryant took second place representing Troop No. 15, of Rising Star. Robert Howell and Truman Hinds, Troop No. 12, won third place.

Fire building by flint and steel was won by Truman Hinds, Richard White and Alex Clark taking first and second and third respectively.

Fire building by friction (rubbing sticks together) was won by Jimmie Townsend, second place going to Tilman Bryant.

Troop No. 4 of Cisco took first place in the obstacle race being represented by Eugene Lankford. R. A. Love took second place for Troop No. 14 and Hugh Rixford third, for Troop No. 15 of Rising Star.

The half mile relay was won by Troop No. 15, of Rising Star, first; Troop No. 4, of Cisco, second; and Troop No. 14 third.

The undressing and redressing race was won by Robert Howell first, James Rutherford, second; and Jack McClung, third.

First Aid.

The best first aid stunt was very interesting. Troop No. 12 took first place. Their stunt represented an automobile accident when a boy had broken his leg. They dressed the injured leg in first aid fashion and had the patient on an improvised stretcher and off the field in three minutes. Second place went to Troop No. 6 of Eastland. Their stunt was a boy falling off a donkey and injuring his arm, they dressed the injured limb accordingly. Third place went to Troop No. 15. Their stunt was rescuing a person from a live wire.

Tug o'war was won by Troop No. 12, Carbon; second place went to Troop No. 1, of Cisco, and third to Troop No. 15, of Rising Star.

Jimmie Townsend of Carbon won the first place in knot tying, second place going to Charles Rutherford, of Rising Star, third to Billy Corts, of Troop No. 6, of Eastland, and fourth to Robert Motz, of Cisco.

Troop No. 12, of Carbon, took first place in signaling while troop No. 1 took second and 4 and 6 tied for third.

This was the first attempt at a general field day meet and plans are all ready under way for a Spring jamboree where many activities will be put on and an all day of contests, games, fun and eats will take place, place.

Carnera Adds 7th K. O. to String

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 — Primo Carnera's American ring record today consists of seven knockouts against opponents of inferior ability for which he has collected more than $90,000.

The giant Italian knocked out Farmer Lodge, St. Paul heavyweight, last night. The time was 1 minute, 22 seconds. Carnera weighed 266, Lodge 235.

SNYDER — Thirty-two high schools have been invited to send representatives here for an invitation track and field meet on March 3, Roscoe, Tahoka, Spur, Lamesa, Big Spring, Blackwell, Dunn, Fluvanna, Hermleigh, Ira, Coahoma and Colorado have already accepted.

KITTENS WILL PLAY DUBLIN THIS EVENING

Girls Show Strength in Contest With Golden Cyclones

The Randolph Kittens leave this afternoon for Dublin where they will meet the Dublin high school sextet this evening. Dublin has a strong high school team and the Kittens are expecting an interesting session.

Meanwhile the Randolph girls are negotiating with the Burleson Independent team, of Fort Worth, a sextet that has not tasted defeat this season, for a game here Friday night.

The Kittens are feeling better this week after their showing against the strong Golden Cyclones team of Dallas Saturday evening. With the loss of Thelma Russell, all-American guard, in the first few minutes of the game, followed by the loss of Mattie Bess Russell, sister of Thelma and hardly less valuable than Thelma, a few minutes later, the Kittens, led by the sensational Delma Fulford at forward, nevertheless held the powerful Dallas team to a 33 to 33 tie. During the time that Thelma was in the game the Cyclones did not score a point while the Randolph girls ran up a lead of eight points. Had the two regular guards remained in the game there is little doubt in the minds of those who witnessed the exciting contest but that the Kittens would have won handily.

Ruth Will Start Training Anyway

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25 —"I will start training March 4 whether I am signed or not," said Babe Ruth today on his return from a fishing jaunt.

The Yankees' holdout plans to leave today or tomorrow for Miami to attend the Scott-Sharkey bout Thursday night. Twenty-five Yankees began training under Manager Bob Shawkey yesterday.

1,000 ATHLETES DUE AT TEXAS ON MARCH 28

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—A dozen relay events and 15 individual events will be staged here March 28, when 1,000 athletes from all over the country meet to compete in the sixth annual Texas relays.

Relays events to be staged follow:

University Class

Quarter Mile Relay (each man to run 110 yards).
Half Mile Relay (each man to run 220 yards).
One Mile Relay (each man to run 440 yards).
Two Mile Relay (each man to run a half mile).
Four Mile Relay (each man to run one mile).
Medley Relay (men to run in order quarter, half, three quarters and mile).

College Class

Medley Relay (440, 220, 220 and 880 yards).
Half Mile Relay (each man to run 220 yards).
Mile Relay (each man to run 440 yards.

High School Class

Medley Relay (440, 220, 220 and 880 yards).
Mile Relay (each man to run one mile).

Nine special events will be staged in the university and college class only. These are two 100 yard dash, 120 yards high hurdles, shot put, discus throw, javelin throw, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, a 3,000 meters run.

Four events are to be staged especially for high schools. These are the 100 yard dash, 120 high hurdles, shot put and high jump.

Two events will be staged for academies and junior colleges only. These are the 100 yard dash and 120 yards high hurdles.

A large field of entries from nearly all the leading universities and colleges of the nation and from the high schools of [illegible] and neighbor states is expected. Last year there were over 1,000 entries and more than 800 actually competing athletes.

The second annual Southern Methodist university relays will be staged one day after the Texas relays, giving visiting athletes a chance for two competitive tests for the expense of one.

"CONDEMNING SHADOWS"
[Shakespeare, 1564-1616]

"Coming events cast their shadowsbefore"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—you men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

ONE-ACT PLAY CONTEST DUE HERE MARCH 14

The district one-act play contest of the Interscholastic League will be held here beginning March 14, according to a tentative date announced by L. W. Hartsfield, principal of the high school of Cisco, and district manager of the contest.

Schools embraced by the district are: Strawn, Gorman, Desdemona, Cisco, Breckenridge, Eastland, Ranger, Mineral Wells, Carbon, Cross Plains, Rising Star, Caddo, Parks, Thurber and Baird.

There will be one judge, a specialist to be selected from a university in the state.

Friday afternoon and night the eliminations will take place, one play following another with little intermission. The finals will be held Saturday night. The schedule will depend upon registration as it is practically impossible to definitely determine what schools will be represented.

One prize will be awarded, a silver loving cup. A small admission will be made to defray expenses.

The winner of this meet will go to a regional meeting at S. M. U. Dallas, the winner of that contest to participate in the state tournament at Austin.

Strawn won this district last year.

COOKING SCHOOL

structions, the Daily News has arranged prize contests. Prizes are being offered for the best angel food cake, the best light rolls, and the best biscuits. The names of the judges in the contest will be announced at the opening session of the school.

The prize competition will give Cisco fine cooks an opportunity to display the products of their kitchens. The cooking school is not being staged because Cisco housewives are not good cooks. Miss Spence's object merely is to give Cisco women a chance to profit by her experiments with foods and her studies and researches in the preparation and serving of food.

The school starts at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Daily News and Miss Spence reiterate the invitation to attend not only the first session but each succeeding one. There is no charge for the full course.

Among the local concerns who will participate are:

The Lee Diversified Farms will furnish the infertile eggs for the school and will give a prize each day consisting of some of their products—probably milk fed fryers from their hatcheries and poultry farms.

The Ford-Green Music Co., will have a General Electric refrigerator in the kitchen with the West Texas Utilities Co.'s Frigidaire refrigerator. They will also display their pianos, Victrolas and Majestic radios.

The J. C. Penney Co., will provide the table linen and will also have other items on display. These items will be mentioned in detail later.

Furniture Displays

The Cisco Furniture Co., will have a furniture display and have volunteered to furnish whatever items in their line that might be needed in the school not furnished by other furniture concerns in the city. It is likely that all furniture stores will enter as soon as they can be seen.

Jno. H. Garner's department store will have a display of Atwater-Kent radios and will divide time with Ford-Green Music Co., in furnishing entertaining programs before and after the cooking school sessions. They will have a display of other merchandise from the departments.

The Farling Studio will cooperate with the school and will have a display of their work.

The Southwestern Motor Co., will participate and will give a free car wash each day.

Tullos Bros., dyers, cleaners and pleaters, will have a display of pleating and a booth in the building.

Hyatt & Woods will cooperate and furnish prizes each day.

The M System will donate prizes each day and furnish food from their store for cooking demonstrations each day.

Skiles Grocery & Market will have a booth and will furnish all meats needed for cooking demonstrations during the school. Mr. Skiles assures the Daily News that only the choicest of meats will be used. He will also furnish free gifts each day of the school.

W. K. Johnston Grocery will erect a booth and will furnish prizes for the ladies who attend each session of the school. He will cooperate in every way possible to make the school a success for Cisco, he assures us.

Clarence Saunders Grocery will cooperate and Mr. Jenkins will offer prizes each day for ladies attending its sessions.

Pigsly Wiggly will cooperate with the school and will give away 12-pound sacks of Airy Fairy flour and one-pound cans of Folger's coffee to ladies in attendance of sessions of the cooking school.

DeLuxe Cleaners will cooperate with the school and will donate prizes during the school. Mr. Donohoe will likely have a booth and display during the evening sessions.

Nabors Furniture will cooperate with the Daily News in its school and will furnish a rug for the kitchen used by Miss Spence.

The Acorn Stores will cooperate with the cooking school, will give away merchandize each day and will have a booth display at the evening informal reception.

The Cisco Lumber & Supply Co., will cooperate in the advertising feature of the school, will give away Col-O-Var Home Beautifier each day and will have a booth display of Sewell's Paints.

J. J. Collins Hardware will participate in the campaign and will likely have a booth. He will give away each day a can of Duco and a brush.

Rupperts Bakery will furnish bread and cakes for the school and will otherwise participate in the campaign.

Cisco Furniture company will furnish a Seller's kitchen cabinet for the use of Miss Spence's model kitchen.

Herron's will participate in the school and will have a booth. This firm will give a prize each day.

The Nu-Way Beauty Shop will take part in the advertising campaign and will give a free shampoo and wave set each day as one of the prizes offered. They will have a booth for the informal receptions given each evening.

The Bankhead Feed Mill will give free a choice of any of their brands of flour; a 12 pound sack to one lady each day.

Boon and Swindle will participate in the advertising campaign and will have their Purina chicken feed on display at their booth each evening. They will donate on Wednesday, a package of bulk flower seeds, consisting of Sweet Peas, Nasturtiams, and Zenias. On Thursday, they give a variety of bulk garden seeds; on Friday they will give an assortment of field seeds.

The Moore Drug company will participate in the advertising campaign and will have a booth display each evening.

The Simpson Beauty Shoppe will participate in the advertising campaign and will give prizes each day to ladies attending the school.

Blanche's will participate in the advertising campaign and will have a booth where their merchandise will be displayed during the evening informal receptions. Wednesday they will give away a Spring Corsage; on Thursday, ladies silk underwear, and on Friday a ladies house frock, size to fit the lucky lady.

Powell's Cleaning Plant will cooperate in the advertising campaign and will have a booth displaying his Macy's Tailoring System. They will Clean and Press a ladies dress or coat free as a prize each day.

The West Texas Produce company will cooperate in the advertising campaign, furnish the necessary fresh vegetables or fruits needed for Miss Spence's cooking, and will give a basket of produce each day as one of the prizes.

The Cisco Steam Laundry will cooperate with the school and will give free each day to some lady attending the school, "Rough Dry" wash bundle not to exceed 15 lbs.

The Wilkirson Lumber company will furnish the material to build the stage for Miss Spence's model kitchen.

Bryant's Art Studio & Gift Shop will cooperate in the advertising campaign and will give a free prize each day of the school. They will have a booth displaying their art work and gift items.

Buck Myrick's Dairy will cooperate in the advertising campaign and will furnish the cream and butter for Miss Spence's cooking. They will give prizes each day of the school.

The A & P Store will cooperate in the advertising campaign and will give a basket of A & P products each day of the school, free to some woman attending the school.

O. J. Russell, manager of the ice department of the West Texas Utilities company has tendered to the school all the ice that might be needed in any quantities.

It is not often the residents of this community have such an opportunity as is being offered in the Daily News Cooking school. This newspaper is not sponsoring a Cooking School on the theory that the women of this community do not know how to cook. We realize most of the housewives of Cisco are adept at turning out real cookery. But, in cooking, as in farming, banking, storekeeping, or editing, there is always an opportunity to learn — to progress, to acquire new methods.

Therefore, we decided to give the women of this community an opportunity to learn new, easy ways of doing things, new recipes for favorite dishes, shortcuts and labor saving ideas, that, we are convinced, will be of value.

CLARA ALDEN SPENCE

Every housewife in this community can profit by the instruction to be given in the Daily News Cooking school. This newspaper never has sponsored a project that has such a far reaching appeal. For cooking, in most cases, plays an important part in the happiness and contentment of families. Give a man a good meal and he is happy. Give a woman a convenient kitchen, excellent recipes, good ingredients, and a thorough knowledge of her business and she'll provide the good meal.

The Daily News Cooking school is being staged to aid women of Cisco and vicinity in a constructive way.

Clara Alden Spence is trained in the modern way. She knows the newest wrinkles in cooking and the other household arts. She spends all her time working out recipes, new ways of doing things, new methods of step-saving in the kitchen. The average housewife has too much to do to experiment. That is Miss Spence's function and that is why she is being brought here to conduct a Cooking School—to give the women of this community the benefit of her experimentation. Prepare to attend the Daily News Cooking school. Don't miss a session. You can't afford to pass up an opportunity such as Miss Spence's presence in Cisco offers you.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Cameron, New York typist, marries Arthur Knight, executive of the publishing house where she works. Knight is a widower with a daughter, Tony, 18, and son, Junior 16. Tony denounces Judith as a gold digger. Her father makes her apologize. When Junior comes home for the Christmas holidays he is equally unfriendly.

Andy Craig, a young man Knight has aided, takes a position with the publishing house. He is in love with Tony and calls on her frequently. Tony tries to convince her father that Judith and Andy are carrying on an affair and, when she fails, tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Tony is carrying on a flirtation with Mickey Mortimer, wealthy and married. This is revealed when they are arrested at 3 a. m. for reckless driving. Tony and her father quarrel over this but the girl is finally forgiven. Knight becomes dangerously ill with pneumonia. Junior comes home and before he leaves admits to Judith he has misjudged her. After Knight begins to recuperate he seems to prefer Tony's company to Judith's.

Tony intercepts a letter which comes for Judith. Later she follows her stepmother on a trip into the city and sees her meet a young man. She threatens to tell her father unless Judith goes away for two weeks. Judith goes, leaving a note for Arthur. Knight's secretary reports that Andy Craig is missing, too. Judith goes to an inconspicuous hotel on upper Broadway. Next day she roams aimlessly about the city. At last she resolves to return home and tell Arthur the truth. She takes the first train. She reaches the house and faces her husband. He asks coolly why she has come.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLV

The husband and wife eyed each other and for an instant the room was oppressively still.

Arthur Knight stood erect, waiting coolly and impersonally for Judith to continue. He was thinner since his illness. Lines which added age had come into his face. Knight was first to speak.

"Excuse me," he said politely. "Won't you sit down?"

Judith could not find her voice. She stood, a slight miserable figure, in the doorway. Then, because she did not know what else to do, she moved toward a chair. She wanted to cry out but could not.

Knight remained on his feet, looking down at the girl.

"If you'll just tell me what you have come for," he went on, still in the cool formal tone, "perhaps I can be of assistance."

"But, Arthur—!" faltered Judith. She did not know what to say or how to begin. The man before her seemed a stranger.

"Don't you understand?" she went on, her voice rising with a timid, frightened inflection. "I've come—home!"

"Yes, of course. So I see. I suppose there are things upstairs which you will want. Harriet will be able to pack them—"

Judith shook her head.

"No," she said. "There is no need to pack anything."

Her husband smiled cynically. "You're not looking—very happy, my dear. I hope you've enjoyed the—little vacation. Be sure to give my regards to Craig—"

"Why do you say that, Arthur?"

"Why, I—I want to do the right thing. I hope you understand that I am trying."

"But what about Craig? Do you mean—Andy?"

Arthur Knight lost some of his composure then.

"Judith," he said in a tense voice, "do you mean to deny to me that you came down the street just now with Andy Craig and only left him just before you turned into the yard?"

"Why, no! I mean—yes, of course I walked down the street with Andy. He was on the same car I was, only we didn't either of us know it until we got off at the station here. It was—rather amusing."

"No doubt. Quite a coincidence. Quite a coincidence indeed."

* * *

Now Judith was thoroughly alarmed.

"Arthur," she said appealingly, "there's something I don't understand. Everything's wrong. Oh, I knew you'd think it was queer the way I left in such a hurry. I couldnt explain then. There didn't seem any other way. Now I've come back because I want to tell you—"

Knight shook his head impatiently.

"There is no need to tell anything."

"Oh, yes, Arthur, but there is! I must! That's what I've come for. I want you to understand just why I did it."

"Judith," said the man wearily. "We're not getting anywhere with all this talk. It only makes it more embarrassing for both of us. If you will tell me where to have my lawyer reach you I think arrangements can be handled through a third party with much less—annoyance."

"What do you mean?"

"It is perfectly obvious now that our marriage was a mistake."

"Oh!"

Judith stared, not believing that she had heard the words aright. A glance at Knight's face told her there was no mistake.

"Oh!" The little cry escaped from her lips again. She had been very white-faced when she entered the room. Now a deep rose flush crept into the girl's cheeks.

She was on her feet.

"So that's what you want!" Judith spoke rapidly. "I'm sorry I didn't understand. Of course, I'll go at once!"

There was a pause. Under the dark lashes her blue eyes sought Arthur Knight's. There was no relenting in the man's face.

"You understand," he told her, "I am doing this because I think it will make us both happier."

Knight was quoting the letter which Judith had left for him before she went away. The girl did not realize this. The whole room (she had furnished it with such delight and care) was dancing before her. Judith railed at her own weakness. She must not weep now, she would not! She brushed one hand to her eye and wiped the tears away, hoping Knight would not notice. He gave no sign that he had.

Judith was about to turn into the hallway when footsteps sounded on the stairs. Little, clicking heels which pattered on the steps. Oh, Judith knew those footsteps all right! Tony, of course.

She might have rushed into the hall at once, but she could hardly have avoided meeting the girl. Judith hesitated and in that moment of hesitation her fate was sealed.

Tony Knight, smiling brightly, appeared in the doorway. She was wearing the scarlet and white satin lounging suit which was one of her favorites. Her short dark hair hung in ringlets about her neck. In her fingers was a lighted cigaret.

"Well!" she said archly, and halted as she saw Judith. Tony stepped back and leaned against the doorway. A cruel smile flickered about her lips.

"What an unexpected—pleasure!" Tony finished her sentence, still gazing at Judith.

* * *

There was amazing contrast between the two girls. Judith wore the dull, cheap black coat and hat she had bought in her days as a typist. Tony's scarlet satin was luxurious. Tears smarted in the older girl's eyes but she would not give way to them. Tony looked cynical, sophisticated and at ease. Judith was miserable.

"Hello, Tony," she said.

The other girl raised her cigaret to her lips and blew a curling wraith of smoke ceilingward.

"Where've you been?" she asked bluntly.

"Ive been—away!"

"Oh!" Well, it's awfully nice to see you again, darling. Be with us for dinner I suppose?"

Did Tony Knight know what torture it was for Judith to answer that question?"

"No," said the other girl. "I won't be here. I'm leaving."

"Oh, I'm so sorry! Why, father, isn't this a shame to think that Judith's just came back and now she's leaving again? Can't you persuade her to stay?"

Tony moved to where her father stood and drew his arm about her. Her dark head came only a little above his shoulder. From this position she glowed at Judith.

"I think—Judith knows what she wishes to do," Arthur Knight said stiffly.

"Oh, of courre."

Judith Knight looked about her. The traveling bag she had brought was still standing in the hall.

"Goodby," she said thickly. She went into the hall, picked up the bag and rushed out of the house.

Without a single backward look she ran down the walk and disappeared down the street.

* * *

Once again Judith was on a train. The car jogged and rumbled but the girl took no notice. Her eyes were glued on the window though Judith did not see the landscape they were passing. One or two of the passengers looked at her curiously.

So it was all over now! She had entered Arthur Knight's life mysteriously, and as mysteriously she was leaving it. Some day, years ahead perhaps, she would be able to look back on what had happened and understand. She could not understand now. She could not even think.

The guard called a station, lifting his raucous voice above the clatter of the train.

Judith shook herself. What was the name of this place? She glanced out of the window. No—they were not more than half way to their destination.

She kept hearing Arthur's voice over and over again as he said, "It is perfectly obvious now that our marriage was a mistake." That was the thing that could never be erased!

He had not given her even a chance to explain. He had seemed to know—everything. She was condemned.

Tears that would not be held in abeyance longer trickled down Judith's check. She brushed them aside roughly with a gloved hand. It was horrible to make herself a public spectacle. Oh—what did she care about the public or who saw her now! What did she care about anything?

Judith turned her head sharply toward the window. They were traveling underground now. Before long they would arrive at the station. She fumbled for a handkerchief and dried her eyes.

The train slowed and halted. Presently it moved forward again. Lights blinked and the tunnel became lighter and branched into other tunnels. Now they were drawing into the station.

"All out!" called the guard.

Judith picked up her bag. The aisle filled with passengers, slowly edging toward the door. Judith stepped out into the railway station and went up the stairs. It was a long climb. At last she reached the street.

The big station clock pointed to 10 minutes past six. Already dusk and the shadows of towering buildings hovered over the street.

"Taxi! Taxi, Miss!"

A streaming of cabs issued out into the already crowded thoroughfare. Men, women and children passed the girl, heading in half a dozen directions.

* * *

"What am I doing?" Judith asked herself. "What am I thinking of?"

She had been moving unconsciously. Now she halted abruptly. There was one thing, and one thing only, for her to do.

With set lips Judith turned and made her way down into the subterranean maze of the big station again. She went through the subway gates and paused on the platform for the downtown express.

Trains thundered to right and left of her. The long express slowed and stopped.

Judith entered the train. There were no seats and the aisle was crowded with strap-hangers. She set her traveling bag on the floor and wedged in between two other passengers. Men and women crowded in behind her. The train rumbled forward.

She got off at Fourteenth street, and climbed to the entrance of the stairway. There her strength was spent. There were only a few blocks now but she signaled a cab and gave the driver the address. Judith sank back into the seat and closed her eyes.

"This the place, lady?"

The taxi had halted and the driver had slid the glass door back which separated chauffeur and passenger.

"Yes," said Judith, "this is the place."

She stepped from the cab, handed the driver his fare and went up the steps of the brick building. Without ringing the bell, she entered.

The hallway was dark, odorous and like a hundred other boarding house hallways. The ceiling was high with an old-fashioned mirror built into the wall. Directly ahead was a long, circular stairway.

Judith trudged up the stairs. Before a door on the second floor, rear, she paused and knocked.

"Yes—who is it?"

A man's lusty bass answered the knock. A moment later the door was thrown open.

"JUDITH!"

Sobbing, the girl felt herself drawn into strong, protecting arms.

"Oh, Dan—" she murmured, "I've come back and I'm going to stay—always!"

Gets Complete Relief From Terrible Gas Pains That Cut Like a Knife

Are Your Symptoms Like Hers?

HERE is the story of a woman that every sufferer of stomach troubles ought to make it a point to read. A victim of terrible agony for 10 years she tells about the simple treatment that ended all her troubles in just a short time.

Like many local women, Mrs. Mary Ogle is so grateful for her release from a life of pain she wants everyone to be helped and so tells her story: "I have always said and always will say that Tanlac saved my life. Few people have suffered as I have with stomach troubles in the last 10 years. The gas nearly kills me. I would be deathly sick and in bed sometimes for weeks at a time. My stomach was sore all the time, the gas would form and collect right in the side and cut like a knife. I had to call in doctors. They said gall stones and gall bladder. Sour stomach and gases almost choked me to death and bothered my heart. Meat and potatoes were forbidden. I spent lots of money but my suffering increased instead of getting better. Certainly a harder task could not have been found for Tanlac, yet this medicine has succeeded and as I said, saved my life. My stomach troubles have yielded, I have a good digestion and best of all is relief from gases. I eat everything and gained so much in strength that I look like a different person. In best health in 10 years, that expresses it and tells the story of what Tanlac has done for me." Just the first dose or two of Tanlac will bring relief that will amaze you. Tanlac is a real medicine based on modern medical science. Like everything good it has its weak and ineffective imitators. So do not accept a substitute. Tanlac must help you or money back. At all druggists.

SMALL FORTUNE SPENT TRYING TO GET WELL

"After Taking Orgatone I Am Relieved of All My Troubles and Feel Like a New Man," Says San Angelean.

"Orgatone has done me more real, genuine good than other treatments and medicines that cost me hundreds of dollars and I don't feel like I would be doing right not to tell others about it," said A. I. Bledsoe, of 192 North Oakes street, San Angelo, Texas. Mr. Bledsoe is very well known here, having retired from the grocery business last year.

"I suffered dreadfully with nervous indigestion and other troubles for fully 15 years," continued he, "and although I spent a lot of money and took medicine I kept getting worse. I got so I could hardly eat anything and only the lightest of foods, and then it wouldn't digest and I would have severe gas attacks. I had so much gas on my stomach at times I could hardly breathe and would get so nervous I could hardly stand it. I just felt tired and languid and never felt like doing my work at all. I had cramping spells and would chill until I would think I was going to die. I was constipated and took strong laxatives most all the time. I had typhoid fever which settled in my stomach several years ago and I have been in misery since.

"Some of my friends advised me to try Orgatone and I read so much about it in the papers, and honestly, after taking a few doses I could notice a change right away. I have taken two bottles and certainly feel different and am eating just anything and everything I want and it digests perfectly. My kidney trouble has been relieved and those cramping spells are gone. I am sure that when I take the course of seven bottles I will have all of my health back again."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Cisco, at the Dean Drug Store.—Adv.

The Truth About Fat

Science has found that excess fat is largely due to a weakened gland. Now physicians the world over, in treating obesity, combat that major cause. Starvation is not advised.

The chief factors they use are embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. In late years, excess fat has been fast disappearing, as everybody knows.

The method and formula are explained in every box of Marmola. As you gain new slenderness, beauty and vim, you know why. Go try the method which has done so much. Watch the amazing results. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box.

TERRELL RESIGNS

Petsch of Fredericksburg and Coke R. Stevenson of Junction was adopted as follows:

Whereas, S. H. Terrell, state comptroller has filed with the governor of Texas his resignation from the office of state comptroller of public accounts, effective immediately, and the committee of the whole has been so advised and,

Whereas, by virture of said resignation one of the objects of this investigation has been accomplished, namely the removal of Mr. Terrell from office; and,

Whereas, by virture of said fact a legal question arises as to whether or not the legislature of Texas continues to have jurisdiction of this matter; and,

Whereas, in the opinion of your attorneys, the facts have been brought to the attention of the people of Texas, and the record has been made, and a final action the legislature on this matter could not accomplish anything additional except the entering of a judgment disqualifying S. H. Terrell from holding office in Texas hereafter:

Therefore, we, your attorneys, recommend to this committee that it rise, report progress to the house with its recommendation to the house that no further action be taken in this matter by the house except to postpone further consideration thereof indefinitely.

18 Charges

Eighteen charges had been presented against Compitroller Terrell following the filing of two statements by State Auditor Moore Lynn with the governor and the legislature criticizing the conduct of the department.

The original statement reported approximately $60,000 "unsatisfactorily accounted for."

This had been scaled down to $12,259 as the investigation proceeded, both the state auditor and an auditor employed by Comptroller Terrell agreeing on that amount yesterday.

Terrell had filed a specific denial of each of the charges and testimony in refutation of them was being heard up to half an hour before the resignation. At that time former Attorney General W. A. Keeling asked time for a consultation. Upon return of the attorneys the resignation was announced.

The testimony offered on behalf of Terrell was chiefly that the accounts in which "unsatisfactory accounting" was reported were handled over desks of deceased employees and that Terrell was not responsible. Charges of failure to follow statutes in conduct of the department were met with testimony that Terrell was carrying on the office in the same way it had been operated before he took charge.

Deposit Shown

Shortly before the resignation a statement had been read into the record of the impeachment proceedings showing deposit in the bank to meet amounts concerning which the comptroller contended the legal disposition is doubtful.

Letters were submitted also transmitting amounts which testimony in the hearing had indicated were due Tarrant, Wichita and Potter counties, together with the statement that the comptroller had discovered they were due only through the report of his auditor.

He announced readiness also to transmit $6,312 paid in by Magnolia Petroleum company as tax on sales of gasoline to the federal government. Later this gas was held untaxable.

Course of Complaint

The money had been kept in an escrow account. Such accounts were the chief source of complaint.

Charges had also been preferred that the comptroller benefitted from the operation of the Texas Tax Record company. Which was chartered by the comptroller's wife and two employees of his department. It engaged in delinquent tax collection work.

Terrell who is 39 years old, was elected comptroller in 1924 and had been re-elected. He is the son of H. B. Terrell who was comptroller at the time of his death, ten years ago. His home was formerly at West, McClennan county.

Governor Moody filed Terrell's resignation with the secretary of state upon its receipt in his office.

He said he had not selected a successor.

"I will have to find some one who is capable, honest and willing to work for $2500 a year" said the governor. "It is a place of great responsibility and little pay. I may have some trouble in filling it."

Suggestion that he might name Mark L. Wiginton, a former comptroller and one of the governor's secretaries met a prompt protest from Wiginton. As a secretary he draws the same salary he would draw as comptroller.
