Experts Say 'Get Involved'

250 Citizens Hear It All

Then, The Action Starts

City Manager L. A. Patterson of Snyder and Jim Heath, Texas Industrial Commission in Austin, joined with Dr. Billy B. Bridgford (top) to emphasize for 250 citizens (center) Tuesday night in Civic House that success of Colorado City's Operation Pride depends upon "you", the individual citizen. One of the groups responding to Pride's call were these youths (bottom) who will organize a lot clean-up project.

They Fill Civic House

250 Support 'Pride'

Two hundred fifty citizens – one of the largest groups of its kind for any Texas community – Tuesday night said do it with pride.

From every neighborhood of our city they came to Civic House to signal an all-out effort for Operation Pride.

They joined hands with more than a dozen organizations to carry out the program of beautification, clean up and improvements wherever the need may be – from next door to the business areas, across vacant lots, down the alleys.

And right on to City Hall and into the courts, if legal or governmental measures are required.

Their appearance, interest and participation – they filled out and signed questionnaires immediately volunteering for assignments and suggesting needed projects – sent Colorado City hustling what may be the most far-reaching program in the city's modern history.

Dr. Billy Bridgford, chairman of the hard-working steering committee scheduling the Civic House meeting and at the helm of Operation Pride, said the tremendous community - wide response is the No. 1 necessity for carrying Pride to success.

For two out-of-town experts who told how and why the improvements are needed, the 250 citizens from all walks of life was an astonishing turnout.

Jim Heath of Austin, senior industrial consultant for Texas Industrial Commission, said it was a record as far as he was concerned. He knows the working of similar projects from the Panhandle to South Texas and "30 to 50 is the most I've ever seen at a meeting like this."

City Manager L. A. Patterson of Snyder, whose detailed report with words and projection slides showed how Snyder carried out a similar program of improvements to win All-America City recognition, said his town had started with less than 50.

"You can't understand the changed attitude in a community that I have seen here tonight," commented Nathan Kiser, planning engineer and architect from Austin who will map Colorado City's $26,000 master plan.

"I was here a year ago to meet with interested citizens about a downtown improvement program. Seven were here that night. . .only seven. . .and tonight this crowd," he explained.

There was no bones about what Operation Pride will be doing. Yards, sidewalks, buildings, streets, alleys, trash, rubbish, wreckage, painting, garden areas, park betterment, drainage and more.

Targets will include abandoned and wrecked autos, substandard buildings in both business and residential areas.

City Manager J. A. Sadler said the city had ordinances that would help move Operation Pride along in several areas where legal action may have to be taken.

"But what your City Council needs most is your support. . . an attitude of all the citizens which will back us up," he declared.

Dr. Bridgford said the steering committee was ready to go before City Council and other groups to be sure Operation Pride is carried out successfully – long range as well as immediately.

And the group nodded ap-

4-H'er Impresses 'Em

His Range Data To Travel Texas

A Mitchell County 4-H Club youth made an impression Tuesday on Texas' top leaders for brush control and range improvement.

So impressive, in fact, that his demonstration "Let's Clean Up Brush in Texas" will be converted to film and distributed to every county in the state.

The youth is Leslie Anderson, Colorado High sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anderson, whose demonstration was No. 1 in District 2 4-H competition and No. 12 at the Texas 4-H Roundup in College Station last week.

Adult range specialists were favorably enough impressed by the youth's demonstration that they invited him to present it to the directors of Texas Brush Control & Range Improvement Association meeting Tuesday in Austin.

Approximately 30 of the directors from all across Texas watched the demonstration and voted to have Anderson's script and posters converted for slide projection to educate and enlist all of the state in the brush readication program.

After the slide presentation is prepared, it will be available to all counties.

Mitchell County had two other winning combinations in District 2 competition in Lubbock who competed last week in the State 4-H Roundup.

Woody Anderson, brother of Leslie, was fourth in state public speaking with his talk "Full Speed Ahead Rural Youth," pointing out the assets and advantages of rural youth.

Teresa Silvera and John Sweatt of Westbrook were 12th in state with a community improvement demonstration explaining "Texas Community Improvement."

3-Way Parley Due For Lakes

A Chamber of Commerce committee long seeking improvements for Colorado City's lakes has an upcoming date with city and county officials.

It is an outgrowth of a parley between City Council and Dr. R. D. Bridgford, chairman of the chamber's lakes and water resources committee, at the council's usual "star-chamber" supper preceding its public monthly council session.

The Bridgford visit – emphasizing again projects that were proposed to City Council last year – was not on the official public session. But he pushed the committee points in the earlier "star-chamber" get-together where all comments are off-record to reporters.

Some reports said the discussion was warm at times between Bridgford, who was invited to the supper party instead of a public meeting, and two key city officials – Mayor John Chinn and City Manager J. A. Sadler.

But if feelings were ruffled, they were smooth by Wednesday when the city manager said the committee, city and county officials would get together soon for an informal meeting to delve further into the propsoed improvements and possibilities of carrying out the projects.

The Bridgford appearance before councilmen Monday evening at Villa Inn Restaurant followed up a lengthy written memo to City Manager Sadler last week. And the memo is a follow up to last year's proposals, most of which have yet to be scheduled.

In the written memo, the Chamber of Commerce Lakes & Water Resources Committee said citizens, since the drive for industry, "have also realized that like our town, these (lake) facilities have been going down."

"Other communities with lakes in direct competition with us have made their facilities more attractive and comfortable for the weekend family who seeks this recreation," the letter continued. "Part of the funds direct from our lakes has been directed to other areas and our program of improvement has been sadly neglected."

The committee said it was pushing for a series of five broad improvement projects to "help correct some of the very glaring weaknesses." These project suggestions resulted from contacts by the committee with interested persons and camp operators at the lake.

In its brief public and, therefore, official council meeting after the "star-chamber" supper session Monday, council approved preliminary contract for preparing a municipal master plan and renewed the lease of 2,000 square feet of space for the CAP program in City Recreation Center. The CAP lease will extend to April 30, 1970.

Delegation To Attend Dam Event

A group from Colorado City will attend dedication Saturday of the $14,000,000 E. V. Spence Reservoir on Colorado River at Robert Lee.

Tickets for the noon barbecue are available at Chamber of Commerce office here in Colorado City for $1.55 each, according to Chamber Manager Sefton Pickens.

Congressman Omar Burleson will be principal speaker for the dedication and Mrs. E. V. Spence, widow of the late manager of Colorado River Municipal Water District, will unveil the plaque.

The noon barbecue, served by Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang, will be followed by the dedication ceremony at 1:30 p. m.

Colorado City has water rights reserved in the reservoir constructed by Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The lake originally was planned for near Colorado City in Mitchell County then later changed to the Coke County site.

60 Expected For Playday

More than 50 persons of all ages are expected to participate in Westbrook 4-H Club's Friday the 13th playday.

County Agent Bobby Lemons said the fun events will begin at 6:30 p. m. in Western Riding Club Arena west of Colorado City.

It will be the first of three playdays and points won Friday will be counted for belt buckle awards for the season winners. In addition to points Friday, ribbons will be awarded to top contestants.

Five events are scheduled for these age groups: barrel race, pole bending, flag race, goat tying and soda pop race for (1) ages 9 and under riding shetlands, (2) 9 and under, (3) 10 to 12 years, (4) 13 to 15 years (5) 16 to 19 years and (6) adults.

A trophy will be presented to the riding club with most members competing.

Britton To Open Furniture Store

J. C. Britton, owner of Western Auto Associate Store, announced Wednesday he will open Britton's Furniture soon in downtown Colorado City.

The new retail firm will be at 249 Walnut, the original location of Britton's Western Auto before a costly fire in May 1968 that resulted in the store being moved to the corner of Walnut and E. First.

Britton's venture into full-line furniture store follows a successful truckload sale at the 249 Walnut location.

"The fine response of the buying public to our special sale convinces us that the citizens of our Mitchell County area desire and deserve a quality furniture store," Britton told the Record.

"We are rushing plans now to open Britton's Furniture by July 1."

The new business venture will not affect the Western Auto operation.

Mrs. Wanda Watts, an employee of Western Auto, will move to the furniture store as manager.

Britton said the new store, second new retail firm to open in the downtown area within a three-week period, will feature full line of regular stock furniture and will offer customers custom-built and factory items for specific fabrics and colors.

In addition, the store will stock a wide selection of lamps, tables and unfinished furniture.

Major lines like Bassett and Virginia Made will predominate at the new store. However, the range of selection will broaden to budget lines, too, Britton said.

Formal opening celebration will be announced at a later date, but store hours are

Medals Catch Up

3 For Rifleman Cloud

Specialist 4th Class Clarence E. Cloud is one of those servicemen who returned from Vietnam last March and didn't talk much about it over there.

He was a rifleman with Company D, 3rd Battalion (Airborne), 187th Infantry and had a couple of scars. Fleetingly he mentioned something about an award to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence N. Cloud.

The award finally caught up with him. Not exactly, for the 1965 Wallace High graduate is now at Fort Hood. But the mailman arrived at the Cloud home here this week with it all – medals and citations for his Purple Heart, Air Medal and Army Commendation Medal.

Clarence E. Cloud

His folks still don't know if the Purple Heart is for the booby trap wound in his leg or the shrapnel injury in his arm, but it specified wounds received in action Sept. 17, 1968.

The Commendation Medal is for exceptionally meritorius service in combat from March to Sept. 30, 1968, and the Air Medal is for the rifleman's meritorius achievement while participating in aerial flight and combat action last Oct. 8.

McCloud, who was a member of one of Wallace High's long string of state championship basketball teams, was in Vietnam for 12 months.

He attended Howard County Junior College and completed a nursing course in the Job Corps at San Marcos before entering the Army in fall of 1967.

Jones Gets Scholarship

Robert Jones, a spring graduate of Colorado High School, has been awarded a music scholarship at Howard County Junior College in Big Spring.

The honor was announced recently by Larry Stanley, choral director for HCJC.

Scholarship for the 1969-70 school term will provide $60 per semester and is renewed each semester upon satisfactory completion of all course work.

Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Jones of 844 Cedar Street, will enter the Big Spring college as a drama major next fall.

In high school Jones was a member of CHS concert choir

He is a member of "The Dreamers", a group of high school vocalists, who have appeared at civic club meetings, high school performances, Easter Sunrise services and the recent "Go for Industry" radiothon in Colorado City.

The 18-year-old youth has also had active roles in Colorado City Playhouse presentations of "A Man Called Peter", "Lil' Abner' and "Paint Your Wagon".

CONVERSATION CORNER

SUMMER reading, like hot weather menus, should be light. . . pleasing to the eye. . .and tempting to the jaded appetite.

Winter is fine, with its long nights, for taxing the mind with the psychological, the socialogical, the political, the philosophical. It will even do, winter being a harsh season, for exploring the psychotic – the "new" novels with their plethora of age-old words decent people used to shun.

Spring is for the reading of poetry, because Spring itself is a song.

Autumn, with its hodgepodge of moods, should be set aside for the re-reading of favorite classics. And for dessert, any season, armloads of mystery tales.

SUMMER, though, is for books like "On Reflection," an autobiography by Helen Hayes, long the "First Lady" of the American Theater.

It is pure joy to readers who like little intimate glimpses of theater celebrities and literary personalities Helen Hayes knew as friends.

"On Reflection" is not strictly speaking an autobiography as biographies usually go.

It is more a warm and glowing and modest account of her life, "On Refelection."

It is a book full of love for friends, family, pets, home, and the stage, told with muted humor and with pure pathos.

BEGINNING her last chapter the author writes these lines: "Now that I have reached a goodly age – a grandmother's age, three things remain. Faith, love, and memory."

In an earlier chapter Helen Hayes relates in one brief paragraph, a very modern episode. She was married, you remember, to Charles McArthur, newspaper man who became a famous playwrite. She and her husband were parents of a natural daughter, Mary, who died of polio in her early twenties, and a beloved adopted son, James McArthur.

(Note to TV fans – James, whom she calls Jamie, plays one of the leading roles on Hawaii Five-O.)

James is father of a small boy named Charles for his grandfather.

RESISTING the temptation to comment "tempus fugit," Miss Hayes says it all, anyhow.

Her grandson Charles got to watch "The White Sister," old movie starring Helen Hayes and Clark Gable, on television.

So Charles said to his classmate at school, "I saw your father kissing my grandma the other night."

The classmate is named John Gable – son of Kaye and the late Clark Gable.

ALL OF US love heroes and heroines with whom we can, in current diction, "identify."

Know just how Helen Hayes felt. Know because the grandchildren who visit the house on East 9th St. daily have been known to fall on the floor in near hysterics over such matters.

Not often, you understand. Just the times when their ever-lovin' grandparents get so carried away with a Lawrence Welk version of "Ja Da' that they DANCE. And grandparents dance FUN-EE!

Carl Guelker was working in the vegetable garden he and Jim Mann planted together and was harvesting cucumbers.

MARY ANN LIPPS, daughter of Farris and Margaret, has been accepted for training by the Peace Corps.

Mary Ann, cute red-head, received her degree in elementary education Saturday night at Texas Tech.

She has already passed her physical and educational background tests. So she expects to leave C-City August 31 for Peace Corps training in Puerto Rico.

After that, if all goes well with her, she will spend two years in Peru, as Peace Corps volunteer.

It's like I've said before, and often. "The sun never sets on Colorado High School graduates."

HEAR TELL that Nettie and Bill Doss had as recent house-guests, their daughter Grace (Mrs. Bob) Shelton of Tyler, and the Shelton second daughter Kathy.

Kathy has just completed her second year in advanced study of pipe organ at Oberlin, Ohio. This summer she will play for three Tyler Protestant churches and sometimes play at the synagogue, too.

Laura, first Shelton daughter, is a director at Camp Tyler for the summer. She's an Austin College co-ed who recently completed an aquatic school course.

Right now, Bill Shelton, 16, is working for the summer and Tim is at Boy Scout Camp.

DID YOU KNOW that Jean Merritt, Primary school teacher, has joined her husband Ford, former city manager, at their ranch near Blossom for the summer months?

That Harry Wilkinson, former Citian now of Houston, is going to Holland (The Hague) for two years? He's a Shell Pipeline engineer, brother of our Texas Highway resident engineer Ben R. Wilkinson.

Did you know our Mrs. Sam L. Majors, Sr., is hospitalized in the sanatorium at Carlsbad?

ALONG with reading, summer is time for the wonderful world of color, too.

Glimpsed Mrs. John Brown sweeping her sidewalk and wearing a summer cotton of bright orange. . .Mozelle (Mrs. George) Callender was wearing a most becoming shade of soft gold with matching scarf.

Margaret Costin, wife of Warren, looked chic in yellow slacks with yellow print blouse. With her was Dorothy Stone, wife of Virgil, in an elegant pant-suit of silver gray waffle print with the new flared trousers and accents of gold.

Blanche Wilson, wife of Frank, looked cool in black and white. Mary Rice Lloyd (Mrs. R. J.) was favoring bright red. And Alice Coles (Mrs. Roy Davis) was beauteous in a blue suit, Sunday.

FAMILIAR FACES, here and there places, belonged to Dorthea Hunter (Mrs. Paul Boyd). . .Josie Randle and daughter Ann Randle Davis sharing a refreshment table. . .J. O. Dockrey, Jr. . .John Merritt.

Lil (Mrs. Earl) Brown, wearing bright blue, was laughing with happiness over a belated Mother's Day call from son Ted.

Ted, who lives in Anchorage, Alaska, tried for for days and days before he reached C-City via phone.

He has, by the way, recently been promoted to district manager by his company, IMC, in Alaska where he went to work as a chemical engineer. He's a graduate of Sul Ross in Alpine, married to a charming red-head named Evelyn, father of a son and two little daughters.

The sun may set, by now, on the British Empire. But the sun never sets on Colorado High School graduates!

Vacation Time, Sure, But How About God . .

The Kids are out of school. It is summertime and that means trips and visits. . .maybe even that vacation you have been dreaming about.

Why not? We need relaxation to keep us in balance. We need time to recoup our energies. . .moments to exercise and time to just pause and think.

How about God and church and you, though? Can you afford a vacation from this combination?

We seem to have a habit of figuring we've time for the church after all the rest. . . work and play and relaxing and vacation.

Yet, every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church most of all. . .

The church and you and God are the greatest combination for all your life. So put it first where it belongs. Don't make the mistake of thinking you can vacation from your responsibility to God.

Ruby Watson just saw her phone ring!

(Saw her phone ring?)

Ruby has difficulty hearing. A powerful lamp which flashes when the phone rings lets her know someone is calling. And a volume control switch on the phone receiver makes it possible for her to hear and carry on a normal phone conversation. This is one of many devices we've developed to help the handicapped make full use of telephone service.

If we can help a member of your family, let us know.

We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

Storage Loans Tight But Still Available

Changes recently announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the loan program for farm storage and drying equipment "tighten up" some of the provisions, "but farmers can still get loans," according to Curtis E. Latimer, chairman of Mitchell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"The eligible farmer who wants on-farm storage or drying capacity equal to one year's production may apply for a loan at his county ASCS office at any time," said Latimer.

In general, a produeer is eligible for a farm storage facility loan if he is eligible for price support on his grains or similar commodities."

The changes in the program were designed to limit government expenditures as part of the national battle against inflation, according to the ASC chairman. The program, which is administered by ASCS, uses Commodity Credit Corporation funds to help finance on-farm grain storage bins and dryers. Recent changes include:

(1) Reduction of the maximum amount for loans on dryers from 85 per cent to 65 per cent of net cost or $2,500, whichever is less; (2) restriction of loans to conventional type storage structures and elimination of loans on oxygen-free and silo-type structures; (3) no loans on foundations, electrical wiring and conditioning, handling, and operating equipment; (4) elimination of loans for remodeling; (5) provision that storage needs be based on a farm's production for one year of eligible comodities; and (6) increase of the interest rate on loans from 34 cents to 50 cents for each $100 or fraction thereof for each calendar month, or from about 4 per cent to about 6 per cent a year. In view of the increase in interest rates, the service fee of $5.00 per storage facility loan has been eliminated.

Latimer urged farmers who are considering installing or adding to on-farm storage to check with their county ASCS office for full details on the farm storage and drying equipment loan program.

MOMS WHO CARE

Ruddick Park this week is swarming with gals – little ones and teens.

They just don't happen to be there. It is the annual Girl Scout Day Camp for Mitchell County.

One glance and you realize that a lot of mothers who care – who care not only for their own youngsters, but for everybody's – have put loads and loads of work into the project. I'm not denying that a few dads helped, too, but these moms did the real chore and are supervising camp activities all week.

Visiting Girl Scout officials from district headquarters compliment the camp as the best prepared they've seen. That's a pretty fair compliment for a tremendous job by all these Girl Scout moms who bless our community.

Schools Ask $70,010 For Communicating

To Keep 40% Of Students Moving Up

Colorado City schools are asking $70,101 federal-state funds to continue an educational effort to improve communication skills for almost 40 per cent of students.

The amount is included in tentative consolidated application for state and federal assistance under various phases of Elementary & Secondary Education Act and National Defense Educational Act.

It is approximately 10 per cent under the $77,788 allocated to Colorado City schools during the current 1968 - 69 school year. But the reduction is in line with overall federal policy to cutback 10 per cent in ESEA, Title I, financing during the upcoming 1969-70 school year.

The $70,010 in Title I funds will continue for next year an improvement program which has been highly appraised since its origination in local schools three years ago.

It is aimed primarily at upgrading those 40 per cent within the school system who possess non-standard English.

This speech and reading factor is related to the fact that more than 40 per cent of the school system's total enrollment does not work up to grade level in terms of educational achievement.

These same statistics are influenced by the fact that 26 per cent of the students here are Mexican - American children and that 34 per cent of children come from low-income families which may indicate fewer environmental experiences related to scholastic achievement.

The statistics for Colorado City schools concerning need for improving communication skills for as many as 40 per cent of students is not an isolated case. Testing programs, similar to those carried out here in Colorado City, reveal this as a statewide problem.

"We hope we are funded the full amount of our application," Supt. James McMath told board members.

"We believe this program is a valuable effort and we believe the benefits will be more evident as our children progress in school."

The superintendent said the non-standard English level has been an influence on what he described as a "tragic dropout rate" of students, especially among Mexican-Americans.

These students develop a poor image of themselves because of their disadvantage in communicating, they are reluctant to ask or answer questions.

Yet, the superintendent emphasized, these non-standard English students are bright bhildren just as those middle income families, but they have not had the same opportunity.

In the program that will be financed by the $70,010 federal-state assistance are 4 reading specialists, one visiting teacher to contact families and improve attendance, 13 teacher aides with at least one in every school and maximum number in Frank Kelley Elementary, summer pre-school with 5 teachers and 5 aides, plus the hot lunch program within the school system.

School officials say the drop-out of Mexican - Americans reaches its maximum at about the 8th, 9th and 10th grades.

The improvement program, now with three years of experience here in Colorado City, is advancing the communications skills of the second graders in this 40-per cent non - standard group at the average rate of about a half semester during a school year.

Some especially gifted students improve at a significantly higher achievement rate.

And, the aim is to increase the average gain to two full semesters for a whole school year.

Other funds sought in the consolidated application include $2,210 vocational education funds for school staff development through professional meetings at local, regional and state levels; $2,634 adult basic education.

Iglehart Promoted

Marvin D. Iglehart of Colorado City is now petty officer, third class, aboard the USS Independence.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Iglehart, 528 E. 14th St., received a certificate of appointment this week informing them of the new rating.

Iglehart, who entered the Navy 18 months ago, is assigned to the Independence now at Norfolk, Va. The ship previously was operating in the West Indies area.

Electrician's Mate 2nd Class MILTON L. KIDD, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kidd of 705 E. 18th St., and husband of the former Miss Kathy J. Greenfield of 103 E. Seventh St., is serving aboard the guided missile frigate USS Mahan.

The ship recently was host to the Honorable John H. Chafee, Secretary of the Navy, as he toured fighting ships on the gunline in Southeast Asia.

He made the stop on his tour in order to observe, first hand, the operations of a ship conducting naval gunfire support. He also observed a refueling at sea.

With Chafee were Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Honorable Charles A. Bowsher and Vice Admiral W. F. Bringle, Commander U. S. Seventh Fleet.

Electrician's Mate 2nd Class ROGER D. SESSOM, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Sessom of Silver, and husband of the former Miss Janet E. Moore of Toyahvale, is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Franklin D. Roosevelt at Norfolk, Va.

The ship is leaving the Norfolk Naval Shipyard for the first time in over a year. The FDR has been undergoing an extensive overhaul operation.

It is scheduled to return to its homeport of Mayport, Fla. in early July and then leave to participate in readiness exercises in the Caribbean.

proval – for it to be done if necessary.

They liked what they heard from Snyder's city manager, too, when he said the first sweep through Snyd demolished and removed 250 substandard buildings and cleared rubble from 150 vacant lots, carried away 300 junk cars.

Immediately after the meeting, Jaycees announced they had accepted the leadership for Operation Pride's Action Project on Hickory with Mrs. Lacy Boles as coordinator from the steering committee.

A sub-committee will be named soon to begin planning for the Downtown Action Project.

A group of youths attending the meeting – led by 1969 Colorado High graduates Johnny Matthews, Ronnie Witten and Keaton Grubbs – gathered in a caucus and set Monday as tentative date to begin clearing a vacant lot north of First United Methodist Church.

City Manager Sadler sent city crews out with shredders early Wednesday morning to begin work on vacant lots on Hickory Street. The shredding will be followed by a mower.

Fire plugs were getting new coats of paint, too, on Hickory.

Bridgford emphasized that Operation Pride will be no quick, brief clean-up. It will move from immediate chores to long range, troublesome ones and will require years.

This will be developed on a block by block basis through thorough planning.

planned from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. six days weekly.

Britton, president of Lions, official in Chamber of Commerce and a leader in Go-For-Industry, returned to Colorado City in 1965 to open Western Auto. After damaging fire, he moved one block south and expanded his operation.

His Western Auto Store will continue to carry its usual line of furniture when the second store opens.

Dr. Johnson Has Attack

Dr. Bruce Johnson, mayor of Loraine, is in Loraine's Johnson Hospital after a serious heart attack Sunday night.

"He is resting fairly well and his condition is improving," Dr. Joe Terry told the Record Wednesday.

The doctor entered the hospital Monday morning and expected to remain hospitalized for approximately three weeks.
