24,000 Word Ritual Of Plunder, Horror Opens War Trial

By DANIEL DE LUCE

NUERNBERG—(AP)—A score of glum, oddly-garbed henchmen of Adolf Hitler went on trial for their lives Tuesday before the International War Crimes Tribunal and heard the reading of the lengthy indictment against them—a recital of plunder and horror.

The tribunal recessed for lunch at 12:33 p. m. with the reading of the indictment still unfinished.

It appeared that completion of the reading of the 24,000-word document would require the remainder of the day.

Rudolf Hess, an almost impish grin playing about his sunken mouth, was lined up in the dock with the Nazi defendants—20 in all. The 21st, Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, is being tried in Absentia.

What disposition the tribunal would make of the reports of alienists on Hess' mental condition had yet to be announced. But the former Hitler deputy seemed at moments almost frivolous as the proceedings got under way.

After the recess, British Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, president, announced the trial would continue without the presence of Ernst Kaltenbrunner, former Nazi security police chief, who has suffered a cranial hemorrhage.

Look Like Beggars At Opera

The black gowned defense attorneys listened intently to every word that was spoken, but their clients, as strangely garbed as a cast of beggars in an opera, exhibited varying emotions.

From the paunchy prima donna of Nazism, Hermann Goering himself, to the quiet, relatively obscure propaganda ministry's handman, Hans Fritzsche, the defendants listened as lured ahead under lurid detail of the Third Reich, was reconstructed in English prose.

There were no legal furbelows at the start of the historic case in the small, oak-paneled courtroom whose windows overlook the one-time shrine city of Nazism.

Lawrence told the defendants Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union and France had been entrusted with the punishment of war criminals, adding: "This trial which is about to begin is unique in the history of jurisprudence and in importance to people all over the world."

Testimony Tends To Clear FDR Of Provoking War

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Adm. J. O. Richardson testified Tuesday the late President Roosevelt was "rather loathe" to increase the manpower of the Pacific Fleet in midsummer, 1940.

Richardson recounted for the Senate-House Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee a series of conferences he held with the President, Cordell Hull, then secretary of state, and others shortly after the fall of France.

The bespectacled admiral, who was relieved of command of the Pacific Fleet 10 months before the Japanese sneak attack, testified that in a three-hour conference at the White House on July 8, 1940, he stressed what he felt was the need for more men to man the ships of the fleet.

Trained Civilians Better

"The President was rather loathe to increase the number of men because he felt, as he expressed it to me, that men in mechanical trade in civilian life could be quickly inducted and made into adequate seafarers if their services became necessary," Richardson told the committee.

The next day, Richardson said he saw Hull, Sumner Welles, then undersecretary of state, was present.

William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, asked why the conference was held with Hull.

"I wanted to fully explore the situation and learn all I could about why the fleet was being retained in Pearl Harbor, how long it would be there, and what the future intentions were," Richardson replied.

Doesn't Strip For Action

He testified Monday he had urged President Roosevelt at a later conference to order the fleet stripped for action as a deterrent to Japan. But he said the President wanted the fleet kept at Pearl Harbor.

In telling Tuesday of his meeting with Hull to learn the reasons for retention of the ships at Hawaii, Richardson said:

"I had been directed to retain the fleet there and to announce that it was being retained at my request. Naturally, since I had made no such request, I wanted to know what was back of the instruction. Richardson testified that he submitted a subsequent memorandum to the secretary of state indicating that the President had approved the establishment of a fleet train of supply, repair, fuel and other vessels.

Few Light Cruisers

Roosevelt indicated, Richardson said, that he might approve sending a division of old light cruisers to the Philippines. He added the President was against sending any heavier forces there.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) said Tuesday Richardson's testimony Monday should quell contentions that Roosevelt was inviting war with Japan before Pearl Harbor.

Auto Industry Awaits Arbitration Deadline

DETROIT—(AP)—The automobile industry—from the unskilled workers right through the front offices—Tuesday anxiously awaited General Motors' reply to a union proposal for submission of the tense wage dispute to arbitration.

Delegates to the General Motors Council of the United Auto Workers Union approved the offer late Monday and gave the big corporation 24 hours to make its decision.

Interest centered largely around these questions:

1. Would General Motors accept the arbitration proposal by the 3 p. m. (CST) deadline set by the union, thus opening the way for possible settlement by the same method of disputes involving other automotive companies, which, like GM, are facing 30 per cent wage increase demands?
2. Would it reject the offer, thus opening the way for possible strike action by the delegates and the union's six-man strategy committee, empowered by the International UAW-CIO to act as its sees fit?
3. Would the corporation, as intimated by President C. E. Wilson, ask for more time to study the proposal and would the union be willing to grant such an extension?

Anxiety Heightens

Anxiety was heightened by the fact the GM Council, representing more than 300,000 workers throughout the nation, was scheduled to adjourn one hour after the deadline.

Whether rejection of the proposal would prompt the delegates to recommend immediate strike action remained to be seen, but one informed union spokesman said he believed it would.

LAW President R. J. Thomas described the offer as "an ultimatum" but said it was made as "a last resort" to peaceful settlement.

The proposal provides for the names of a three-man board of arbitration, one member to be chosen by each party and the third by the other two. The board would have access to any company or union records deemed necessary, and its decisions would be binding on both parties.

No Basis For Price Increase

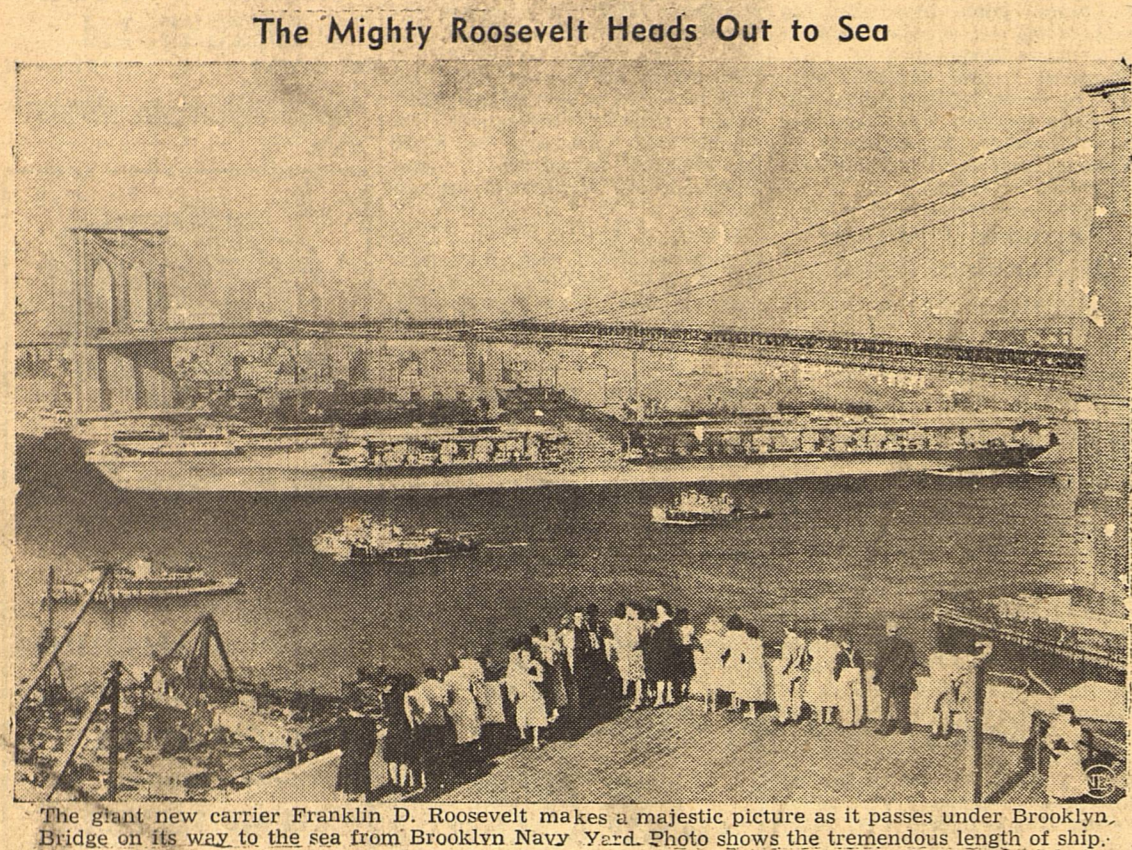

Any wage increases granted by the board could not be used by General Motors as a basis for seeking car price increases and the board would be empowered to make recommendations for reduction in prices of GM products if it so desired.

In a letter to Wilson accompanying the proposal Walter P. Keatney, UAW vice president, said "We prefer the conference table and the hearing room to the picket line." Then he added: "Do you?"

Wilson, approached as he left a session of the labor-management conference in Washington, declined comment on the merits of the proposal. He said he and other company officials would have to examine it more carefully and expressed doubt a reply could be readied in the time allotted.

The auto industry traditionally has opposed arbitration as a means of settling labor disputes, and throughout several months of negotiations with the union General Motors has maintained that any sizable wage increase would have to be offset by price increases.

In each of several wage increase offers to the union the corporation has reserved the right to seek higher car prices. The union has turned them down as "inflationary."

Soviet And Yanks To Exchange Zone Tours

CHICAGO—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced Tuesday an agreement with the Russian occupational commander for exchange press tours in the military zones of Germany occupied by the Russians and Americans.

The American commander in Chicago for the national convention of the American Legion, made the announcement at a news conference. He said he did not believe the agreement had been made known by other sources previously.

On November 7, he said, the arrangement was made with Marshal Zhukov, the Russian commander, whereby reporters of the two nations, accompanied by their own interpreters, may make one-week visits in one another's occupied zones. Eisenhower said Army officers of the zones would convey the newsmen during the visits.

'Block 31' Area In E-C Crane Due Close Watch Soon

By JAMES C. WATSON

Oil Editor

The "Block 31" district in East-Central Crane County, surrounding The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A-81 University, discovery for flowing production from the Devonian and from the Ellenburger, is due to be much in the attention of the petroleum industry in the immediate future.

Several of the 11 explorations Atlantic now has drilling in that area are approaching the Devonian pay section and their progress will be watched with much interest and concern, as they drill from 7,000 feet on down.

As of Tuesday the Atlantic projects—all on the University Lands—had reached the following levels, and all were making hole:

Progress Reported

No. 1-B, 6,943 line; No. 1-C, 5,860 line; No. 1-D, 5,950 line; No. 1-E, 7,688 shale; No. 1-F, 6,926 line; No. 1-G, 7,984 line; No. 1-J, 7,060 line, shale and chert; No. 1-K, 7,545 line and shale; No. 1-L, 7,075 line; No. 1-M, rigging up rotary; No. 1-N, 1,852 anhydrite and lime.

Fullerton Oil Company No. 9-12 Wilson, Northwest Andrews County Ellenburger wildcat, 1,988 feet from west and 1,985 feet from north lines of section 16, block A-32, psi survey, which flowed for estimated 75 barrels of oil per hour, in section at 9,875-9,935 feet, was reported to have bottomed out at 9,945 feet.

To Run Casing

According to informed sources, operator set a bridging plug above the top of the Ellenburger, at about 9,900 feet, and was scheduled to run and set 5 1/2-inch casing at that level. It is understood that production tests will follow.

Two Taking Tests

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williamson, Northwest Ector County prospect, an northeast corner of section 5, block 45, T-2 survey, T-1-N, was taking a drillstem test to 8,160 feet, in the upper section of the Devonian.

Stanolind No. 1 Taylor, in southwest corner of section 8, block B-2, psi survey, Ordovician wildcat, about one mile east of closest production in the Keystone-Ellenburger field, was on total depth of 9,787 feet, in the McKee section of the Simpson and was also running a drillstem test.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-B Humble field, one location north and one location west of discovery well of the Doss field in South Gaines County, and in section 3, block A-24, psi survey, flowed at the rate of seven barrels of fluid per hour, out an average of three per cent basic sediments, and acid water, after treating with 2,000 gallons of acid in perforations at 7,035-7,025 feet.

Swabbed And Kicked-Off

Operator pulled swab five times after acid load was lifted and the well started flowing. It is to be re-treated with 6,000 gallons of acid.

Amerinda Petroleum Corporation No. 1-PB State, in section 16-23-37e, extension to the Holt producing zone in the Paddock-Drinkard area of Southeast Lea County, New Mexico, was shut in, to move out tools.

Eisenhower Would Take GI Wives To Europe

BOONE, IOWA—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who spent most of two days at the hospital bedside of his wife, recovering from bronchial pneumonia, says he favors taking the wives of occupation troops to Europe "after we have gotten down to occupation forces."

The general explained the great problem of getting military governments established in Germany and of getting large numbers of troops home made it difficult to estimate when such a policy might be put into effect.

U. S. District Attorney In West Texas Resigns

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Announcement of his resignation as U. S. district attorney for the Western District of Texas was made Tuesday by W. R. Smith, Jr., who has served in that capacity for the past 12 years with the exception of three years spent in the Navy.

"I asked to be relieved of my duties because I intend to return to the private practice of law," Smith said. "The war is over and I am joining a new law firm formed with George Rice and Maxwell Parker."

SOME NEW CARS WILL SELL FOR LESS THAN '42 MODELS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ceiling prices for some new autos will be less than present ceilings on comparable 1942 used cars, OPA acknowledged Tuesday.

CHUNGKING —(AP)— Chinese Communist troops were reported invading Manchuria's capital in force Tuesday in a race with rival Nationalist soldiers, already 35 miles inside the vital industrial territory after a breakthrough in the south.

PARIS—(AP)—Gen. De Gaulle Tuesday conferred with Communist, Socialist and Popular Republican (MRP) leaders of the Constituent Assembly in his efforts to form a coalition government.

BATAVIA — (AP)— Indonesian-held roadways into Semarang were bombed by six RAF Thunderbolts Tuesday and fighting between native and Allied forces broke out in several sections of Batavia.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal has ordered investigation of complaints that a group of Navy pilots at Okinawa were punished for refusal to fly to another island in the face of a typhoon, Rep. Ploeser (R-Mo) said Tuesday.

B-29 Sets New Record In Flight From Guam

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A B-29 which came all the way from Guam without a stop landed here Tuesday afternoon, and the Army Air Forces immediately claimed a world's distance record.

The plane hit the runways at the National Airport at 12:35 p. m. (CST), approximately 35 hours and some 8,000 miles after it left Guam.

The recognized distance record is 7,158.44 miles, set by the British in 1938 in a flight from Egypt to Australia.

Japanese General Commits Hari-Kiri To Avoid Arrest

TOKYO—(AP)—Baron Gen. Shigeru Honjo, accused war criminal and reputed ringleader in the conquest of Manchuria, committed hari-kiri Tuesday less than 24 hours after he was ordered arrested.

The baron was lying on his right side in a pool of blood in his office at the former Japanese War College when Allied reporters and photographers arrived.

Blood still oozed from the body and the hilt of his ceremonial sword was thrust up from the sheet which partly covered the body. A small cup containing tea dregs was beside the body.

The old-line officer performed the Japanese hari-kiri ritual by slashing his stomach cross wise, then cutting his throat.

But instead of the ritualistic kimono, Honjo wore his Army uniform. His upturned boots were highly polished.

Honjo, one of 11 war leaders of the past imperialistic decade ordered imprisoned Monday, died shortly after his secretary found his slashed body on his office floor.

Couldn't Endure Trial

"I cannot endure as a soldier of our country to appear before a court of Allied powers," Honjo said in a letter written shortly before he killed himself.

"I find no way of apologizing to his majesty and the people for bringing my nation to such a miserable state of affairs.

"It grieves my heart when I think of the surviving families of our men who died on battlefields.

"I therefore have decided to seek death."

The letter, addressed to his secretary, Kawamura, said it was Honjo's desire that his eldest son, Kazuo, not succeed to his title of baron.

The retired general, who was serving as president of the organization for relief of demobilized soldiers, had gone to his office early Monday morning as usual although the organization had been ordered abolished by MacArthur.

The 69-year-old Honjo's eldest son told Kyodo News Agency that his father learned of the arrest order only when he read a morning newspaper and feared he would be tried as a war criminal.

Upon reading it, he felt full responsibility," the son said.

New Texas Livestock Auction Record Set

WALNUT SPRINGS—(AP)—Texas auction records tumbled here Monday when 50 cattle in the Flat Top Ranch, owned by Charles Pettit, and the entire offering of 74 animals sold for an average of $1,487.

For the first time in the history of Hereford cattle auctions in Texas, a two-year-old Hereford heifer sold for $10,000. The buyer was C. A. Smith of Chester, W. Va., and the animal purchased was Blanche of CP that was calved Sept. 23, 1943, and is sired by one of the Flat Top herd bulls, SF Tone and out of Belle Randolph.

Another outstanding feature of the auction was the large number of bulls purchased by owners of commercial beef cattle herds. Raymond Adams of Maple Hill, Kan., who has one of the outstanding herds in Kansas, bought 20 bulls. Adams had some of the prize winning feeder cattle at the Chicago feeder cattle show in October and collected some of the top prices when the calves and yearlings were auctioned at Chicago. George W. Orr, who ranches near El Paso, purchased a number of bulls for his herd of commercial cattle. The Harris Ranch Co., San Angelo, bought one of the bulls, Zento's Stanway 12, and paid $575 for him.

F. W. Fischer of Tyler, who has a herd of registered Herefords in Denton County, purchased the first animal in the auction ring, Flat Top Zento, a yearling bull and paid $10,250 for him. This bull is sired by Beau Zento T 36th.

She was a resident of Midland County since 1921.

Surviving are: a daughter, Mrs. A. G. Phillips of Midland; two sisters, Mrs. C. W. Myatt, Abilene, and Mrs. Annie Dodson, Post.

Mrs. White was born Dec. 2, 1869, in Alabama. She was married in 1888 at Rockdale, Texas.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday afternoon at Ellis Funeral Chapel.

Radio Message Saved Three Japanese Cities

AUSTIN—(AP)—Only a radio message prevented the atomic bombing of three additional Japanese cities, Capt. Gene Fiewellen of Big Spring, a bomber pilot, told the Austin Kiwanis Club.

Captain Fiewellen said a radio message turned back planes which were carrying the deadly missiles intended for three Japanese communities including Isezaki, a suburb of Tokyo. His plane was over Tokyo at the time of the Nagasaki bombing. Hiroshima and Nagasaki were bombed by atomic missiles.

Yamashita To Open Defense Wednesday

MANILA—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, defeated in his latest attempt to escape death as a war criminal, must begin his defense Wednesday.

Yamashita appeared composed and once smiled broadly Tuesday although his pleas for a "not guilty" verdict and for a delay in presentation of his defense both were denied by the U. S. military commission trying him.

Weather

Somewhat colder Tuesday night. High cloudiness and gusty westerly surface winds Tuesday. Some drop in temperature Wednesday. Partly cloudy.

Victory Bonds For Victors Day Creates Sharp Rise In Purchases

As in war, so in peace—the big push is on!

Midland County honored its servicemen and women with brisk bond sales Tuesday in a special "Victory Bonds for the Victors Day."

Officials at banks in the city were busy taking orders for Victory Bonds. They will be on duty until 7 p. m. Tuesday night or later if necessary.

The "Victory Bonds for Victors Day" was set aside in the campaign as a special one to honor all returning servicemen and women of the county, and for those who did not return.

By noon Tuesday the special appeal was bringing excellent results and the bond sales chart was showing a distinct rise. E series sales total $113,775 against the $335,000 quota, and overall sales amount to $508,728 against the quota of $995,000.

Russian Troops Halt Iran Forces In Revolt War

TEHRAN—(AP)—Iranian troops dispatched to Azarbaijan Province to quell Separatist disturbances there were halted at Kazvin Tuesday by Russian authorities and ordered to return to Tehran, the Iranian government said.

Four battalions of troops and gendarmes had been moving slowly northward from Tehran, apparently with the tacit consent of the Russian army commander, to quell the outbreak in which seven already have been reported killed.

Kazvin is about 100 miles north-east of Tehran and approximately one-third of the distance between the Iranian capital and Tabriz, Azerbaijan's largest city.

Communications between Tehran and the northern part of the country still were cut and no clear picture of the fighting could be obtained at the Iran capital.

Crime And Symbolism

Europe and the Western Hemisphere have known for at least 70 years that the Krupp munitions works were the arsenal of Prussian militarism. Few Germans stood to gain more from their country's three aggressive wars in that period than the Krupp stockholders. Strife and bloodshed were things to be encouraged, because they paid off.

So nobody was very surprised or sorry when old Gustav Krupp von Bohlen and Halbach was included in the Allies' list of German war criminals. But the recent American proposal to substitute Alfred Krupp for his ailing father, Gustav, scarcely was up to our best standards of justice.

When it became evident that the elder Krupp was physically unable to stand trial, the British proposed that he be tried in absentia. But the American viewpoint, as expressed by Justice Jackson, was that one of the prosecution's main objectives would be defeated if a member of the Krupp family were not tried. This country's representatives regard the Krupps as symbolic of all industrialists aiding in incitement to aggressive warfare.

Why not try all Krupp executives who appear guilty of having encouraged aggressive warfare, and all other Axis industrialists on whom similar charges might seem to fall? It is scarcely in the American tradition to pick one defendant as a "symbol" of a crime when the first-choice defendant is unable to appear.

According to the record, Alfred Krupp should have been on the original list of war criminals. He has been closely concerned with Krupp management and policy for eight years. In 1940, when his father became chairman of the board, he was made president. Like his father, he was an active Nazi and a heavy contributor to the party treasury. If the elder Krupp belongs among the defendants, his son does too.

But he should be there as an active war criminal, not as a "symbol." That is a little too much like the practice of taking and punishing hostages. The people of Lidice were symbols of the Czechs' patriotic resistance. But their execution was the Nazi way of doing things. If Alfred Krupp is to be executed, which seems not unlikely, let it be for his own active sins against humanity, and not because he symbolizes the sins of all the industrial suppliers of aggressive war.

The whole matter may seem unimportant. But the eyes of the world will be upon this effort to try men for plotting the mass murder of millions. There is admittedly no precedent for trying war criminals. And for that reason it might be well that the usual practices of justice be observed where possible—since there is to be the formality of a trial—even if the outcome is a foregone conclusion.

It might be better to combine the British and American proposals. Let old Krupp be tried in absentia, not as a symbol but as what he is. And let his son also be tried on his own record.

Nazi Trial -

Lawrence ordered the reading of the indictment.
Prosecutor Alderman concluded the reading of the first count of the indictment with these words:
"The defendants with divers other persons are guilty of a common plan of conspiracy for accomplishment of crimes against peace—against humanity—war crimes not only against armed forces of their enemies but also against non-belligerent civilian populations."

After reading five paragraphs of count two—titled "crimes against peace"—the court recessed for fifteen minutes.

During the recess, ropes were stretched to form a corridor through the courtroom through which American security guards—soldiers in shining white helmets—escorted several defendants to the latrine.

The 20 Nazi defendants were dressed in simple uniforms without medals or insignia of rank or in simple civilian suits donated from charity stores.

German counsel, sitting in two rows in front of the prisoners dock, followed intently the slow careful reading of the documents.

Through the reading of the counts Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Hitler's trigger man in the 1938 seizure of Austria, stared blankly through thick lensed spectacles as his role in the Nazi pre-war scheming for power was unfolded.

President Neff Says Convention Not In Authority

WACO—(AP)—Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University, bluntly put the Baptist General Convention on notice Tuesday that it did not select the persons Baylor gave honorary degrees, and said the school would grant one to President Truman.

The Baptists at a convention in Fort Worth last week instructed Texas Baptist schools not to offer President Truman a degree because of his "reported attitude toward gambling and drinking."

"The trustees of Baylor University have reaffirmed the granting of an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws to President Truman," Neff said Tuesday.

"Mr. Truman has been advised by letter by me that his degree is waiting for him whenever it is convenient for him to come and receive it."

At Fort Worth, E. D. Head, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary who served as president of the Baptist General Convention, had no comment to make on either the granting of a degree to Truman or the statement that the convention had no authority to grant such degrees.

The Rev. L. L. Roloff, Baptist pastor at Corpus Christi who offered the resolution involving Mr. Truman, commented that "it is my conviction that Baylor and the trustees are directly responsible to the people who compose the Baptist General Convention of Texas."

"It is the convention that elects the trustees who in turn elect the president and faculty members of Baylor University. I am just one of the thousands of Baptists that gave their unanimous approval of the motion."

"There's a lot that could be said in answer to President Neff's statement and there's a lot that's certainly going to be said. However, I believe that this time, as far as I am concerned, it is up to the people of the Baptist General Convention to do with Baylor as they see fit."

Mrs. Chapman Gives Lesson At Meeting Of Belle Bennett Circle

A review of chapters three and four from a study book "Cross Over Africa" was given by Mrs. Earl Chapman at a meeting of the Belle Bennett Circle of the First Methodist WSCS Monday at the home of Mrs. George B. Bradbury on the Magnolia Tank Farm.

The meeting opened with sentence prayers. Announcement was made during the business period that the First Methodist Church in Midland will be host for the Harvest Day meeting of the Sweetwater District Dec. 3.

Mrs. Phil Scharbauer told about her visit to the Methodist Home in Waco where she talked with the youth sponsored by the WSCS of Midland, Richard Mounce.

A birthday gift was presented to Mrs. Bradbury. Pictures were taken of the group for the Circle scrapbook.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Meses. Odie Ligon, A. D. Minney, George Thompson, Mary S. Ray, Scharbauer, Chapman, C. H. Shepard, E. J. Voliva, M. L. Wyatt, Bolton Bennett, Hugh Duncan, and four visitors, Meses. D. M. Frazier of Houston, E. W. Taylor of Uvalde, Howard H. Hollowell and H. M. Reigle.

Lawrence ordered the reading of the indictment.
Prosecutor Alderman concluded the reading of the first count of the indictment with these words:
"The defendants with divers other persons are guilty of a common plan of conspiracy for accomplishment of crimes against peace—against humanity—war crimes not only against armed forces of their enemies but also against non-belligerent civilian populations."

After reading five paragraphs of count two—titled "crimes against peace"—the court recessed for fifteen minutes.

During the recess, ropes were stretched to form a corridor through the courtroom through which American security guards—soldiers in shining white helmets—escorted several defendants to the latrine.

The 20 Nazi defendants were dressed in simple uniforms without medals or insignia of rank or in simple civilian suits donated from charity stores.

German counsel, sitting in two rows in front of the prisoners dock, followed intently the slow careful reading of the documents.

Through the reading of the counts Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Hitler's trigger man in the 1938 seizure of Austria, stared blankly through thick lensed spectacles as his role in the Nazi pre-war scheming for power was unfolded.

Rotary-Lions Meet

Features Contest
An old or new fashioned storytelling contest will be feature of the annual Lions-Rotary joint meeting Wednesday noon at Hotel Scharbauer.

Batteries for the Rotarians include T. Paul Barron, J. O. Shannon and Roy McKee. Lions speakers are Floyd Dennis, Frank Stubbeman and J. M. McDonald.

Judges will be L. M. Fielding, Bill Harkrider and Russell Howard. The two luncheon clubs meet jointly every Thanksgiving.

The Rev. Vernon Yearby will bring a Thanksgiving message.

President Neff Says Convention Not In Authority

WACO—(AP)—Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University, bluntly put the Baptist General Convention on notice Tuesday that it did not select the persons Baylor gave honorary degrees, and said the school would grant one to President Truman.

The Baptists at a convention in Fort Worth last week instructed Texas Baptist schools not to offer President Truman a degree because of his "reported attitude toward gambling and drinking."

"The trustees of Baylor University have reaffirmed the granting of an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws to President Truman," Neff said Tuesday.

"Mr. Truman has been advised by letter by me that his degree is waiting for him whenever it is convenient for him to come and receive it."

At Fort Worth, E. D. Head, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary who served as president of the Baptist General Convention, had no comment to make on either the granting of a degree to Truman or the statement that the convention had no authority to grant such degrees.

The Rev. L. L. Roloff, Baptist pastor at Corpus Christi who offered the resolution involving Mr. Truman, commented that "it is my conviction that Baylor and the trustees are directly responsible to the people who compose the Baptist General Convention of Texas."

"It is the convention that elects the trustees who in turn elect the president and faculty members of Baylor University. I am just one of the thousands of Baptists that gave their unanimous approval of the motion."

"There's a lot that could be said in answer to President Neff's statement and there's a lot that's certainly going to be said. However, I believe that this time, as far as I am concerned, it is up to the people of the Baptist General Convention to do with Baylor as they see fit."

Mrs. Chapman Gives Lesson At Meeting Of Belle Bennett Circle

A review of chapters three and four from a study book "Cross Over Africa" was given by Mrs. Earl Chapman at a meeting of the Belle Bennett Circle of the First Methodist WSCS Monday at the home of Mrs. George B. Bradbury on the Magnolia Tank Farm.

The meeting opened with sentence prayers. Announcement was made during the business period that the First Methodist Church in Midland will be host for the Harvest Day meeting of the Sweetwater District Dec. 3.

Mrs. Phil Scharbauer told about her visit to the Methodist Home in Waco where she talked with the youth sponsored by the WSCS of Midland, Richard Mounce.

A birthday gift was presented to Mrs. Bradbury. Pictures were taken of the group for the Circle scrapbook.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Meses. Odie Ligon, A. D. Minney, George Thompson, Mary S. Ray, Scharbauer, Chapman, C. H. Shepard, E. J. Voliva, M. L. Wyatt, Bolton Bennett, Hugh Duncan, and four visitors, Meses. D. M. Frazier of Houston, E. W. Taylor of Uvalde, Howard H. Hollowell and H. M. Reigle.

Truman's Health Program To Get Early Attention

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman's request for a board health and medical program received assurances Tuesday of early Congressional attention but deferred action. Its points also met with both approval and disapproval of the American Medical Association.

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn.), chairman of the House Interstate Health Subcommittee promised hearings soon, but he declined to say just when they would start or how long they might last.

Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.), who with Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.), introduced a bill to carry out the President's recommendations, predicted Senate labor committee action within two months.

Otherwise, Congressional reaction to the message read by a House clerk to about a score of members was indefinite. Most of the lawmakers told reporters they wanted to know more about it, particularly if it approached what some called "socialized medicine."

In Chicago, the Journal of the American Medical Association expressed approval of the proposal for insurance against loss of earnings because of sickness, through expansion of the present social insurance system "with appropriate adjustment of premiums."

The AMA Journal said, however, Truman's assertion that compulsory sickness insurance provisions do not represent socialized medicine "will not be convincing to the physicians x x x who would be compelled to submit to politically controlled medicine should such a measure ever become" law.

In an editorial to be published in its November 24 issue, the Journal said the proposal to extend medical education and research through federal grants would give the government "control of medical education throughout the United States through its ability to allocate funds to medical educational institutions."

Will Hold Business Session
All members of the Civic Theater are urged to attend a call business meeting at 7 p. m. Tuesday at the Civic Auditorium. Other interested persons are invited to attend.

Stella Maye Lanham Completes Two Years Service With Navy

Miss Stella Maye Lanham, a specialist second class in the United States Naval Reserve, will receive an honorable discharge in Memphis, Tenn., this week and return to Midland.

During her two years service with the Navy, Miss Lanham was in the drafting department of the photogrammetry section of the hydrographic office where she helped prepare charts that did so much to defeat the Japanese. She worked with nautical charts and especially during the last year, up to the time of the surrender, in the topographic detail of combat charts required in great numbers by the Pacific Fleet.

While working in the hydrographic office, Miss Lanham received a special commendation from the hydrographer, Rear Adm. George S. Bryan, USN, for her work in the photogrammetry section. She also holds a commendation from Admiral Nimitz for chart work done by the hydrographic office with her assistance.

Before enlisting in the Navy, Miss Lanham was employed in the drafting department in the civil engineering office of the Humble Oil & Refining Company, and upon her discharge, will return to the company.

Miss Lanham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lanham of Midland. She is a graduate of Mary Hardin-Baylor College with degrees in Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Speech.

Hospital bound...

Nothing we can ever do can adequately repay the more than 250,000 American heroes who died that we might live.

But we can and must provide hospital care and treatment for the hundreds of thousands who are maimed and crippled—some in body, some in mind.

To do less would be a lasting reproach to the free institutions of democracy for which they fought.

THE MONEY COSTS WILL BE HIGH

Hospitalization of our wounded will require high amounts of money. This is only one reason for the Victory Loan. Millions of men must be fed, clothed, transported home, for remember, until they are restored to civilian life the war is not over for them. And it's not over for you either till you do your share.

Large Holiday Crowd Is Expected For Midland-Lamesa Ball Game

The largest crowd of the season, including many holiday fans, is expected for the Thanksgiving Day classic Thursday at the high school stadium featuring Midland's Bulldogs and Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes. Kickoff is at 2:30 p. m.

It is the "money" or "sugar" ball game of the season for both elevens. Meaning the two machines, both low in conference standing, can pull themselves up by the bootstraps with a victory. Midland has won a single conference set-to and so has Lamesa. Midland has lost three and the Tornadoes four.

The game can be a comeback for either. Lamesa fell down in front of jet-propelled Odessa last week. Midland sank under Cisco's guns.

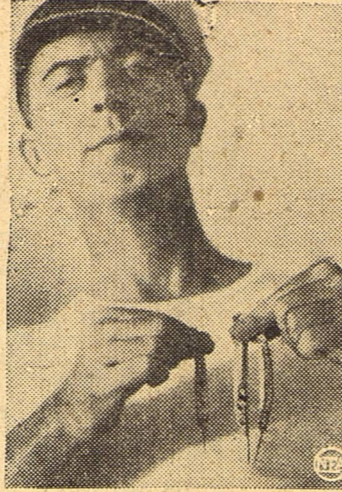

Comparative Scores: Abilene 45, Lamesa 6; Abilene 27, Midland 6; Sweetwater 14, Lamesa 0; Sweetwater 19, Midland 6; Big Spring 0, Lamesa 6; Big Spring 6, Midland 9; San Angelo 28, Lamesa 7; San Angelo 13, Midland 7.

Midland is plagued by injuries. Hopes rest upon the respond to treatment of injuries to Wilbur Yeager, Bobby Drake, and Jimmy Edwards, two front-line backs and varsity center.

The Bulldogs drilled Monday. Tickets are on sale for the Thanksgiving game at the high school and will be moved downtown to the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

Lamesa will bring its full entourage of supporters including band and pep girls.

Odessa Ranks 5th But Fellows With Cash In Dallas Backing Broncs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS (AP)—The status quo remains rather stationary. If we might speak redundantly, in Texas schoolboy football rankings. No team increased its stature among the top 10. Port Arthur fell out of the second 10 when it lost to Orange and Cleburne faded out of the third 10 when it was crushed by Waco.

Here's how they look this week:
1. Highland Park (Dallas).
2. Wichita Falls.
3. Waco.
4. Lufkin.
5. Odessa.
6. Amarillo.
7. Paris.
8. Galveston.
9. Brownsville.
10. Milby (Houston).

The second 10: Pampa, Breckenridge, Marshall, Crozier Tech (Dallas), Plainview, Sweetwater, Austin, Goose Creek, Jefferson (San Antonio), San Angelo.

The third 10: Paschal (Fort Worth), Orange, San Jacinto (Houston), Sunset (Dallas), Austin (El Paso), Vernon, Brackenridge (San Antonio), Temple, Brownwood, Port Arthur.

Odessa may be fifth in our rating but do you know what team is being watched mostly by the fellows with the cash in Dallas? Well, it's Odessa. They'll take the Bronchos against any other team in the field to win the state championship.

But since we don't put up any money to back our selections, we can afford to speculate.

Don't know if Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's football player, will get to finish the season because he's likely to be called in the draft at any time, but at the present we'd take him as the best back in the Southwest Conference.

He's only played three games but has been a star in each. Personally, we feel considerably pride in Doak's accomplishments. We picked him on our all-state high school team last fall when others passed him by.

In fact, all the all-stars who went to college this year are doing well.

Byron Gillory has been an excellent performer for Texas, Preston Smith for Texas A&M.

A couple we didn't pick on the first team but ranked high also are going places. They are George Graham of Texas, one of the good fullbacks in the conference, and Sammie Pierce of Baylor, one of the top halfbacks.

Of course, we didn't even mention Leon Joslin last year when he played at Waxahachie High School. But neither did anybody else.

Joslin is the backbone of Texas Christian University's offense and appears very likely to make all-conference.

The all-conference backfield will be quite a problem. There are Walker, Smith, Pierce, Joslin, Bob Nemir of Rice, Rob Goode of A&M, Jesse Mason of Texas Christian, Bobby Layne of Texas, Huey Keeney of Rice, Jack Price of Baylor and Howard Maley of Southern Methodist, each quite deserving of selection. But since we can pick only four, it now looks like Walker, Layne, Joslin and Nemir.

NEW YORK (AP)—Army's 61-0 romp over Penn convinced all the grid writers, except two, that the Cadets are the number one college football team in the nation. The two dissenters of the 83 scribes participating in The Associated Press' weekly poll liked Alabama and the University of California at Los Angeles.

Only once before, when Notre Dame was the unanimous choice two years ago, had all elevens so completely dominated the voting. Now even the coaching profession is joining the chorus of praise for the uncrowned champions whose only remaining game is their Dec. 1 date with Navy.

Based on 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth, the Cadets picked up 828 in the voting, an edge of 188 over runnerup Navy.

While Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were having another touchdown picnic against the Quakers, Navy retained enough backing off an easy win over Wisconsin to hold second place despite strong challenges by Alabama and Indiana.

Final game of the season for the Midland Bulldog "B" team will be Wednesday, Nov. 28, at the high school stadium when Jack Mashburn's boys tangle with Lamesa's little Tornadoes.

Time of the game is 3:30 p. m. John M. Cowden Junior High Bulldogs will play Lamesa Junior High in a preliminary game starting at 2 p. m.

The Pups seek revenge for a plastering handed them at Lamesa several weeks ago. They are improved under tutelage of Jack LeCroy, new coach.

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Trojanowski, the University of Connecticut's star halfback, Tuesday had the nation's individual football scoring championship virtually sewed up with a total of 132 points.

In his first season since his return from the war, the 23-year-old former soldier from Bridgeport, Conn., galloped for 22 touchdowns in eight games.

Top 10 off its victory over Purdue, moving into eighth position, St. Mary's tumbled from fifth to ninth on its upset loss to UCLA and Texas advanced from 17th to tenth. Penn and Holy Cross were dropped from the elite circle because of their respective drubbings by Army and Temple, the Crusaders falling from tenth to 23rd place.

The self-lifting tractor is now a reality. It rises any height, up to four inches, virtually drawing itself up "by its own bootstraps." The lifting operation is accomplished by placing light tubular frames beneath the axles, connecting the rear to the two arms of a Ford-Ferguson tractor's hydraulic linkage and lightly touching the "finger-tip control" lever which is one feature of the Ferguson System. The entire operation takes less than one minute.

Smith Of A&M Still Leads In Rushing But Margin Lessens

By The Associated Press
The ground-gaining race in Southwest Conference football is getting as close as a grammar school boy's first shave.

Preston Smith, Texas A. and M. fullback, still holds first place with 564 yards on 137 carries but big John Hoffman of Arkansas has moved into the runner-up spot just 22 yards behind the Aggie.

Hoffman made 87 yards in 18 carries against Southern Methodist Saturday and now has 542 yards on 127 runs. Smith got only 16 against Rice.

Figures released Tuesday by James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the conference, also show that Rob Goode of Texas A. and M. also is closing in. Goode, who netted 47 yards against Rice, now has 504 on 102 carries.

In passing, Leon Joslin, of Texas Christian still is far in front with 36 completions in 112 attempts for 770 yards with Jack Price of Baylor second with 570 on 50 connections in throws.

Bobby Layne of Texas and Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, although playing in only three games, have moved into the top six passers. Layne with 14 completions on 33 throws has 305 yards and is fourth in the conference. Walker with 271 yards on 28 connections in 49 attempts is sixth.

Jim Plyler of Texas kicked four times for an average of 46 yards against Rice Saturday to move up in the punting race. His average now is 38.5 on 45 boots. Howard Maley of Southern Methodist still leads, however, with 40.5 on 54 kicks.

Daily Oil Production Rises To 4,467,500

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—Daily average crude oil production rose 7,850 barrels to 4,467,500 in the week ending November 17, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

Kansas led the field with an increase of 23,550 barrels to 267,350. Illinois production dropped 2,200 to 204,100. California slumped 2,750 to 832,500, and the Eastern area fell back 4,850 to 61,450. Louisiana gained 600 barrels to 368,400, but Oklahoma was 1,450 short of the previous week's figure at 388,700. Texas' average was unchanged.

The Rocky Mountain area of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming decreased 5,000 to 128,350. Mississippi output was up 650 barrels to 54,150.

Ford And Studebaker Receive Specific Ceiling Prices

WASHINGTON—(P)—Only a few comparisons of 1942 auto price ceilings and those for new cars can be made on the basis of OPA's first announcement.

For other cars, OPA simply gave overall percentages of increase or decrease without relating the percentages to individual models.

In the case of Ford, here are the comparisons which can be made: Deluxe eight cylinder—Tudor sedan, $882 is the retail ceiling price at the factory, as compared with $850 in 1942; forord sedan, $931 as compared with $885; 3-passenger coupe, $834, as compared with $815.

Super deluxe eight cylinder—Tudor sedan, $940, as compared with $895; forord sedan, $989, as compared with $930; sedan coupe, $977, as compared with $920; 3-passenger coupe, $891, as compared with $860.

OPA priced four Studebaker models, but it said there is "no basis" for comparing these with models listed in the 1942 price chart.

Here are retail prices assigned for Studebakers: Four-door cruising sedan, $967; two-door club sedan, $918; five passenger double-dater coupe, $916; three passenger business coupe, $875.

These are all retail factory prices, which means that, as always, they will cost more in showrooms when federal tax, transportation costs and preparation and handling charges have been added.

The federal tax varies with the car and the model, while the transportation charge depends on the distance from factory to showroom.

Fruit Pudding Brightens Christmas

An easy steamed fruit pudding for holiday dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Staff Writer

When the boys return home at Christmas time, and friends come to welcoming dinners, you will want holiday puddings and other special desserts to fit the occasion.

Fig Roll (Serves 6) Two 3-ounce packages cream cheese, 1/2 cup top milk, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 cup chopped figs, 1/2 cup chopped nuts (walnuts or pecans), 1 cup crushed ready-to-eat cereal (corn or wheat flakes), 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soften cheese and blend with milk; add sugar and mix. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Form into a roll about 6 inches long and roll in extra crushed cereal. Wrap roll in waxed paper and chill several hours. Slice in one-inch pieces.

Steamed Fruit Pudding (Serves 6) Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 well-beaten egg, 1/2 cup molasses, 1 1/4 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup bran, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 1/2 cup currants.

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in molasses. Sift flour with soda and salt; mix with bran. Add to first mixture alternately with boiling water. Stir in raisins and currants. Pour batter into greased 1-quart mold, cover tightly and steam about 1 1/2 hours. Serve with hard sauce or other pudding sauce.

When you have fig rolls chilling in the refrigerator, you know you have a novel dessert ready for any unexpected, though welcome guests. They have an "expensive" taste despite their economy.

Two FSS Pilots Made Captains

Maj. Wilbur L. Burall, commanding officer of the 8th Ferrying Service Station, Midland Municipal Airport, has announced the promotion of two officers assigned to that base to the rank of captain.

They are Gerald C. Weir and Phillip H. Hayes Jr.

Captain Weir, native of Carlisle, Ind., entered the Army as an enlisted man on Jan. 3, 1941. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Force Oct. 1, 1943. Before his assignment to the 8th Ferrying Service Station, Captain Weir was stationed at Love Field, Dallas. Captain and Mrs. Weir reside at 404-North Baird in Midland.

Captain Hayes entered the Army March 20, 1942, receiving his commission as second lieutenant in the Army Air Force on Jan. 14, 1943. He was stationed at Midland Army Air Field from Jan. 20, 1943, until March 17, 1944. He returned from service in the European Theater of Operations in September of this year, being assigned to the 8th FSS, Captain and Mrs. Hayes reside at 101 East Ohio in Midland.

By S. BURTON HEATH NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Don't be in a hurry about spending those income tax rebates that some folks believe Congress is handing out. There won't be any.

The new act, exempting some 12,000,000 persons from income tax payments and reducing the burden on everybody else, does not affect any income earned or received prior to next January 1.

The forms to be used for making March 15 returns were prepared and printed even before Congress had agreed upon the terms of the new law, and contain the tax rates and short-cut tables provided by the 1944 Act.

MacKENZIE'S COLUMN
 By DEWITT MacKENZIE
 AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Kalexander Sokolov, writing in the Moscow trade union magazine "New Times" declares that the atomic bomb "has served as a signal for incorrigible reactionaries of the whole world to begin a riotous agitation against the Soviet Union."
 This is the most outspoken comment to come from Russia regarding the feeling there about the bomb, and it serves to emphasize the delicacy of the present international situation. Relations among the Big Three—between Russia on the one hand and the Western Allies on the other—continue to be uncomfortable. There are serious differences of opinion and there are suspicions which are doing great damage to cooperation.
 Of course, the atomic bomb isn't the only matter of difference between the Anglo-American combination and Russia. There are the arguments about Japan, and about Bulgaria and Romania. And there are other difficulties.
Differences Cause Suspicions
 Differences are bad enough, but they might be susceptible of solution if they hadn't given rise to a crop of suspicions. Suspicions are like weevils—they bore in and destroy trust before one is aware they are there.
 One begins to wonder seriously whether the Allies, having won the war through vast sacrifice, are about to throw the victory away. It's strange that Allies who stood shoulder-to-shoulder during the terrible years of conflict on the battlefields, should now find it so hard to reconcile their differences.
 Was all the sacrifice of the war waste effort? It hadn't seemed so up to this point, but the Allied difficulties certainly are creating a serious situation. The consensus is that only way to relief this is for all the Allies to get together and table their cards—say what they want for themselves and what they don't want for the other fellow.
 It is to be hoped that the atomic bomb commission of the United Nations Organization can get into action in the near future to allay the distrust which Russia has about this weapon. There is no question but that this is a large item in the strained relations. With that out of the way, it may be possible to deal with the other knotty problems.

Report On the War

By General George C. Marshall

Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War
Published by NEA Service, Inc. in co-operation with the War Department

This is the eighth of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.

VIII ON TO THE BOOT

IN the first two days of the invasion more than 80,000 men, 7,000 vehicles, and 300 tanks had been landed; several small ports had been placed in operation; at least six airfields had been captured and were being prepared for use.

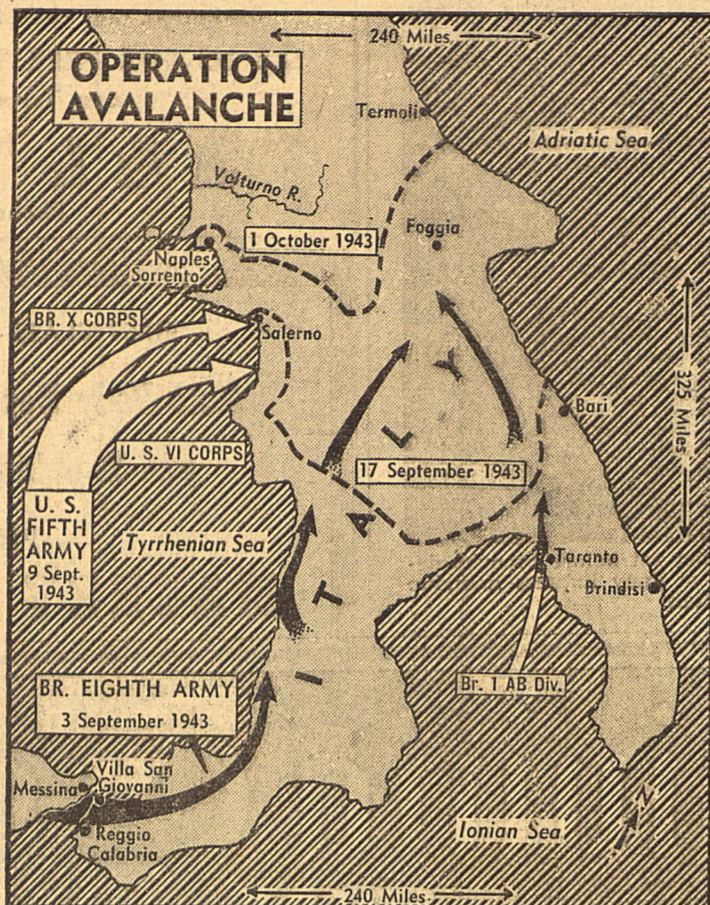

Allied aircraft gave close support to ground operations, flying up to 1,200 sorties each day. Heavy bombers knocked out the few airfields remaining serviceable to the enemy, and the ground troops were advancing rapidly. All air operations were under the Mediterranean Allied Air Forces headed by Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder with Lt. Gen. Carl Spaatz as Commander of the Northwest African Air Forces. All heavy bombers were organized into the Strategic Air Force under Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle.

By 16 July the battle line ran from a point just south of Catania on the east to Porto Empedocle on the west; about one-quarter of the island was in our hands. On 22 July, General Patton's forces in a rapid thrust across the western end of the island occupied the key port of Palermo. Further east the troops forged steadily ahead through rugged mountains stubbornly defended by the enemy. By the end of July only the northeastern corner of the island remained to the enemy.

Catania, the east coast bastion which had held up the advance of the British Eighth Army, fell early in August. The Germans and Italians were already withdrawing across the Strait of Messina under heavy air bombardment and continued pressure by our ground forces. On 16 August patrols of our 3d Division entered Messina from the west simultaneously with British units from the southeast and the next day organized resistance ceased. In 39 days the Sicilian campaign had ended. Through use of a heavy concentration of anti-aircraft guns the Germans managed to extract thousands of their first-line panzer and airborne troops as well as a considerable amount of light equipment over the Strait of Messina to the mainland. Nevertheless, for the Axis the loss of Sicily was a major military disaster. Their casualties totaled 167,000 of which 37,000 were Germans. Our casualties totaled 31,158 killed, wounded, and missing.

General Eisenhower reported: "... Nine months after the first landings in North Africa, the Allied Forces had not merely cleared its shore of enemy forces, but had wrested from him the Sicilian bridge to use as our own in an advance onto the Italian mainland ..."

Italians Call Quits
Operation HUSKY, as we had hoped, precipitated a political disaster for the Axis. On 25 July, King Victor Emmanuel proclaimed the resignation of Mussolini. In August the President and the Prime Minister with the Combined Chiefs of Staff met at the Citadel at Quebec, the meeting being designated the QUADRANT Conference. By now the Italian Government was ready to quit. Marshall

OPERATION AVALANCHE enabled Allies to capitalize on collapse of Italian resistance, hold down German divisions from being diverted to Russian or French fronts and completed Allied control of the Mediterranean.

Badoglio had established contact with General Eisenhower in an effort to negotiate a surrender without the knowledge of the Germans. General Eisenhower was instructed to accept the unconditional surrender of Italy and to obtain the greatest military advantage from this development. He was to seize Sardinia and Corsica and attempt the establishment of air bases in the Rome area and northward, if feasible, maintaining unrelenting pressure on German forces in Northern Italy. At the same time, he was directed to coordinate his plans with the requirements of operation OVERLORD.

The Combined Chiefs of Staff at the QUADRANT Conference also conceived the operation against Southern France designated operation ANVIL and arrived at these conclusions:

"Offensive operations against Southern France (to include the use of trained and equipped French forces) should be undertaken to establish a lodgment in the Toulon-Marseille area and to exploit northward in order to create a diversion in connection with OVERLORD. Air nourished operations in the southern Alps will, if possible, be initiated ..."

On 3 September, the day before American troops landed on the Italian mainland, the unconditional surrender of Italy was announced. On 9 September and the succeeding days the principal elements of the Italian fleet surrendered.

Invasion of Mainland
Compelling reasons had developed for the invasion of the Italian mainland. The operation (AVALANCHE) would enable us to capitalize on the collapse of Italian resistance; it offered a field for engaging German divisions which otherwise might operate against the Red Army and later against the forces in France; it would provide airfields from which the German homeland and the Balkans could be bombed from substantially shorter range; it would complete Allied control of the Mediterranean.

Canadian and British divisions of General Montgomery's Eighth Army crossed the Strait of Messina under cover of heavy artillery and air bombardment and landed on beaches near Reggio Calabria and Villa San Giovanni on 3 September. The beachheads were quickly secured, and the Eighth Army advanced northward through Calabria.

Six days later the U. S. Fifth Army under command of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark disembarked on beaches along the Gulf of Salerno. It landed with the VI Corps commanded by Maj. Gen. E. J. Dawley on the right and the British X Corps on the left. The VI Corps was composed principally of the 36th and 45th Divisions. American Rangers and British Commando units landed on the Sorrento Peninsula, north of the port of Salerno.

The enemy had suspected that we might undertake an amphibious operation against the Naples area, and as a result enemy reaction to the Salerno landings was swift and vigorous. It was evident that the German High Command had decided that its only hope of salvaging the situation arising from the surrender of the Italian Government lay in holding the Allied forces south of Naples until fresh dispositions could be made. On D-day the Germans made several local tank attacks. By 13 September the German XIV Panzer Corps was in action, and both the American and the British Corps were under heavy attack. The situation was critical.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Many players at Atlantic City national championships Dec. 1-9 will be using the Fishbein convention against pre-emptive bidding. This is the second of a series of six articles based on the Fishbein convention.

A double in this convention is business, while the bid of three no trump is a request to be allowed to play the hand at that contract. In today's hand, for example, when East bids three no trump over

North's pre-emptive three-heart bid, he tells West that he would like to play the hand at three no trump. Regardless of what South opens, East can make nine tricks. Yesterday I explained that the overall of the original bid with the next higher suit is actually a takeout double, but that it can be interpreted as such only when it is made directly over the pre-emptive bidder. However, the three no trump bid indicates a desire to play the hand at that contract whether it is made under or over the pre-emptive bidder.

Okinawa Becomes GI's Island Of Despair On Effort To Reach Home

OKINAWA—(AP)— This typhoon-battered island where some of the bitterest fighting of the Pacific war raged has become the bottleneck for United States service men frantic to return home. Already it has been labeled by some as "the island of despair."

As the war ended, Okinawa had become a huge staging base preparatory to invasion of Japan. The collapse of the Japanese left the island heavily populated with troops. Then, on Oct. 9 and 10, a fierce typhoon swept it from the sea, flattening quonset huts, smashing shipping, ripping grounded airplanes. An already serious transportation problem trebled overnight.

Men here agree the typhoon not alone was the cause of their troubles, but it was obvious it greatly aggravated the entire situation. The food question became acute. Parachuted rations were only a temporary alleviation. Loss of mail was considered an especially hard blow by men anxious to hear from their wives and families.

Food transport still is the biggest problem facing harassed authorities. At this base where hundreds of ships may be seen offshore, troops complain they are not getting enough to eat. The men aboard the ships are not faring too well, either. They are subsisting mainly on monotonous diet rations.

One soldier sitting on a bunk in a leaky tent seemed to typify the frustration of the men on Okinawa. He had requested emergency leave a month before because of the serious illness of his wife. Now he was waiting a reply from headquarters.

By 1839 more than 700 men and women had left England for New Zealand with about 400 children.

'THEFT' SCHOOL BROKEN BY POLICE IN INDIA

MADRAS, INDIA—(AP)—City police detectives have broken up a "school" for training young hoodlums in the arts of theft. Many of the "students" were only five years old, and pocket picking was a favored course of study.

PENSIONS INCREASE

BERNE, SWITZERLAND—(AP)—The Swiss government plans to triple its output for old age pensions next year to a total of 100,000 francs. Some 260,000 persons over 65 years of age are to receive from 50 to 83 francs (about $11 to $19) per month.

ALLERGY—REVISITED

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)— Utah hay fever sufferers who entered military service are returning home to find their sneezes worse than ever. A pathologist says the men had grown used to plant life in other parts of the world and now the home variety has more effect than ever.

Cosmetic Counters Will Display Many New Items

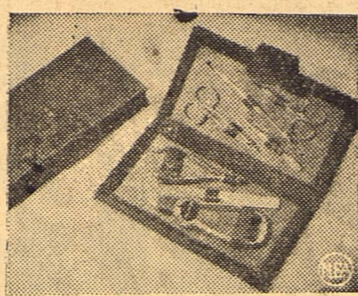

(Helena Rubinstein)

Knowing that a Christmas gift of powder, perfume or cologne is always acceptable, this pretty miss has selected scents which best fit the personalities of her friends. Favorites with her and many other women are ensembles of soap, powder and cologne, a lipstick wardrobe in a case, and eye make-up kits.

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer NEW YORK—Simply elegant or impudently gay are the Christmas cosmetic packages for this year.

Lost, And We Hope Found: A Bracelet

By TANNER LAINE Once upon a time a Marine wrote his mother he needed a Zippo lighter. She couldn't buy one at that time in the stores, so she appealed to the newspaper.

A feature writer wrote it up and next day the mother had enough lighters for her son's entire company. That was in Detroit.

We hope we can do 100th that well for Lt. Bill Malan of Midland. It's a little harder job than getting lighters. But here goes for Bill.

The bombardier (and that's what he is, a combat bombardier) has lost a bracelet.

Not just an ordinary bracelet. Bill wouldn't care about that.

"From Tillie And Mother"

Bill has lost a gold bracelet inscribed: "To Bill from Tillie and Mother." Got that.

But that's not all.

Bill was wearing that bracelet the day his B-24 was shot down near Vienna. He was flying that day for the 15th Air Force, for you and for me.

Hit by flak, going down fast, Bill managed to bail at 500 feet and made it. His pilot didn't.

Captured by a renegade army of Yugoslavs, who fought for the Germans, Bill was taken prisoner of war. He suffered plenty in three months.

Hangs Onto Bracelet

Bill hung onto his bracelet. How he managed is a clever thing, and provides another reason he wishes to get that bracelet back. He took off the bracelet and concealed it in his handkerchief.

When under third-degree interrogation the American would poke the handkerchief behind his chair cushion as if putting a handkerchief in his back pocket. When through with the questioning he would retrieve the hank and make as if wiping his face and put it back in his pockets with the wings.

He's got a Purple Heart for the flak wounds. He is back in America after a grueling POW experience. The bombardier-winged bracelet has been with him all the way.

Bill lost the bracelet somewhere near the Scharbauer Hotel. If you found it, or know who did, how about letting Bill know through The Reporter-Telegram. We're trying to help him. Will you?

Help a fellow who did a lot for us all.

How about it?

Japanese-Americans Made Ship Models

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The toy-making talents of the Japanese paid off on the U. S. side during the war. Young Japanese Americans constructed an estimated $25,000 worth of miniature enemy ships for Navy recognition courses.

The Nisei, Americans of Japanese descent, built more than 800 models of Japanese, German and American ships for the Navy during the war, at the Gila River Relocation Center, Aivers, Ariz.

A model shop, employing 70 skilled craftsmen, adopted assembly line methods. The lilliputian fleet was made from poplar, scrap pine and tin cans and cost the Navy only the price of the materials.

RAILROAD'S NO. 1 FAN

CHICAGO—(P)—Back in 1937 Mabel Dickson, 11, was very ill. Propped on a cot on her front porch, she used to smile and wave when Chicago & Eastern Illinois trains passed. Crewmen returned the greetings.

One day an engineer stopped a train, trotted to the porch and handed the child a big bouquet. Stories of the incident were published widely. Then everybody forgot about it.

Recently the railroad hired a new stenographer. A fellow employe thought there was something vaguely familiar about her, and he was right. It was Miss Dickson, 20 now and restored to health.

RIGHT IN THE OLD FIRE HORSE TRADITION

CAIRO, ILL.—(P)—City Fireman Leonard Tanner was right on the job when the fire broke out—even though it was his day off.

He heard an alarm sound at the fire station less than a half block away and jumped up. Then, remembering he was off duty, resumed his comfortable position. Smelling smoke, he checked quickly and found a fire at his own back door step.

Tanner had the blaze under control as fellow firemen arrived.

More Precious Than Gold

A prescription is of no greater value than the quality of the drugs and workmanship that go into it, and that is why CAMERON'S make QUALITY the "golden rule" of their prescription service. It is the priceless ingredient, more precious than gold, that enriches the medicinal value of your prescription. Quality of ingredients and quality of workmanship constitute the "gold standard" by which to judge CAMERON'S prescription service.
