"Boom!" Goes Business As Jobs Open And Pay Rises

"Come On, Bing, Join In The Fun; We'll Even Let You Be Our Mayor For A Day"

BING CROSBY should have no doubts as to the welcome awaiting him if he comes to Lubbock Nov. 11.

A telegram from Mayor Carl E. Slaton, one of approximately two dozen sent Tuesday night, offered him the key to the city and appointed him mayor for that day.

Another telegram asked size of hat and boots he wears.

One sent by the American Legion asked him to come, A. W. O. L. if necessary.

Telegrams were sent from organizations and individuals asking the movie star to participate in the Armistice day program that will include the Texas Tech-Gonzaga football game. Crosby is a former Gonzaga university student and was awarded an honorary doctor's degree by that university.

The telegram sent by the mayor was: "As mayor of the city of Lubbock, I herewith tender you the key to the "Hub City" and urge that you accept the many invitations extended you by our fine people and attend the Gonzaga-Tech game here Nov. 11. I hereby appoint you mayor of the city of Lubbock for that day."

Pete W. Cawthon, head Tech coach, sent a telegram to Michael J. Pecarovich, Gonzaga coach, asking that Pecarovich as a friend of Crosby invite him here.

The following sent telegrams to Crosby: George Mahon, congressman of this district; chamber of commerce; Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the Tech executive committee; Sen. G. H. Nelson; Rep. J. Doyle Settle; Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, state representative-elect; Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and American

Mixed Reaction Is Seen After GOP Charges

Hamilton Claims That Farm Program Has Collapsed But Sharp Dissent Is Found

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A statement by John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, that the administration's farm program had collapsed, produced a mixed reaction today.

Several Democratic members of congress dissented sharply; some other legislators said the crop control program had failed to accomplish its purpose and that other means of assisting the farmer would have to be found.

Comparison Is Asked

Hamilton told a farm belt audience of Montpelier, Ohio, that declines in prices of wheat, cotton, corn and other products during the past year showed that the administration program had broken down. Democratic senators replied that Hamilton should compare farm income with that of the Hoover administration.

"If Chairman Hamilton has a clean cut solution for the farm problem, let him bring it out in the open," said Senator Pepper (D-Fla), ardent New Dealer.

Hamilton, in his appeal to farmers, said the New Deal was in an "incongruous situation." He said Secretary Wallace and the agriculture department were forcing farmers to reduce acreage and marketings while Secretary Hull and the state department, through reciprocal trade pacts, were lowering tariffs and inviting foreigners to send grain and meat here.

Borah Takes Issue

Senator Borah (R-Idaho), dean of the small band of Republican senators, said he agreed the administration's farm program had collapsed, but took issue with Hamilton's criticism of Secretary Wallace's proposal to subsidize consumption by low-income persons in the United States.

Hamilton said this proposal was an "idea to end all New Deal ideas" and would fail to aid the farmer while costing more than $1,000,000,000 annually.

Borah said he favored use of farm surpluses for the needy and added that cost of such a program would be small compared with the billions of dollars spent upon armaments.

Some Of Largest Crops

Senator Logan (D-Ky), administration supporter, said present difficulties with the farm program resulted from some of "the largest crops that have ever been raised."

"Farm incomes have just about been doubled by Mr. Wallace's programs and that counts with the farmers," the Kentucky senator said.

Senator Donahey (D-Ohio) said he was confident that farmers in Ohio and elsewhere "will listen to Mr. Hamilton and then do their own thinking for themselves."

Senator Lee (D-Okla), usually an administration supporter, took a

Spouse Helps Hubby Stage Big Blowout

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Cusick bought herself a little 7-year-old sedan. It wasn't much, but she liked it. So did her husband, John.

In fact, John got to liking it so much he wouldn't let his wife drive it. That irked Mrs. Cusick.

She was even more irked last night when John told her: "I'm taking the car to a big blowout. You stay home."

So off he drove. Mrs. Cusick trailed him, found the car parked outside a barroom, dropped a match in the gasoline tank—and ducked just in time.

"There," she shouted at her husband when he arrived on the run, "is your blowout!"

Police arrested her on a charge of arson.

Three Hundred Thousand Will Be Allotted Plains Project

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The Rural Electrification administration announced today allotment of $4,008,500 for 27 projects in 12 states including:

Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc., Tahoka, Tex., $304,000 for 329 miles serving in Lynn, Hockley, Terry and Garza counties; Deep East Texas Electric Cooperative, Inc., San Augustine, Tex., $223,000 for 247 miles serving 768 in Shelby, Nacogdoches, San Augustine and and Sabine counties.

PROMOTION IS GIVEN

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—The public safety department today announced promotion of Joseph S. Fletcher of Cooke county, a fingerprint and handwriting expert, to directorship of the department's bureau of identification and records.

"Upside-Down Girl" Now Right-Side Up

Unsought fame came to Alyce Jane McHenry three years ago when, as the 10-year-old "upside-down girl" of Omaha, Neb., she underwent a sensational operation to turn her stomach right-side up. Today, normal, pretty, healthy—and quite grown up—she seeks new fame as a singer. Alyce is pictured here practicing in New York, where she is studying under Joan Edwards, soloist with Paul Whiteman's band.

Six Demands Made Of Great Britain

(Copyright, 1938, By The Associated Press)

KARNAYEL, Syria, Oct. 18—The "brains" and guiding spirit of the Arab "holy rebels" in Palestine, Haj Amin Effendi Al Husseini, grand mufti of Jerusalem, is standing pat on six "minimum" demands which he declares must be fulfilled by Great Britain before he will order his followers to stop fighting.

Interviewed in his exiled home here, the grand mufti, the most powerful figure in the modern Arab world, said peace in the bloody, strife-torn holy land is impossible unless these demands are fulfilled:

1. Immediate cessation of all Jewish immigration to Palestine.
2. Granting of complete independence and a national government to the Arabs in Palestine.
3. Abandonment by England of the idea of a Jewish national home in Palestine, as embodied in the Balfour declaration.
4. Termination of the British mandate in Palestine.
5. Absolute prohibition of any further sale of land to the Jews in Palestine.
6. Conclusion of a treaty between England and the Arabs of Palestine similar to the Anglo-Egyptian, Anglo-Iraqian and French-Syrian treaties, by which England would set up an Arab state in Palestine with full sovereignty and with the Jews having only minority rights.

Is First Announcement

This was the first time the grand mufti had made known his peace terms in such concrete and authentic form.

It is felt here that neither the British nor the Jews in Palestine will accept the terms, but the grand

Debt Solution Being Hinted

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 18—Premier Edouard Daladier and his ministers, seeking to settle France's heavy financial, economic and diplomatic problems are reported to have investigated the possibility of finding some solution to the French war debt to the United States.

The financial newspaper Agence Economique Et Financiere, close to the ministry of finance, predicted today the British and French war debts would be settled after the American elections next month.

No Confirmation Given

The government gave no official confirmation or denial to reports it was examining the question, but the argument that many Frenchmen used about the debts was this:

The United States is held to be interested in checking the march to power of the totalitarian states. France is the first line of defense against this march, but France can do little without money.

Therefore, Frenchmen argued, Washington might be willing to consider "some solution" to the debt problem enabling France to float a loan in the United States.

The Johnson act forbids Britain and France to float loans in the United States while they are in default on their war debts. France owes more than $4,250,000,000, Britain about $5,000,000,000.

Airliner Goes Down In Flames But All Passengers Rescued

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 18. (AP)—An Eastern Airline plane, with 11 passengers aboard, came down in flames a few miles from here tonight, but all aboard were saved, unharmed.

George Stewart, Atlanta attorney, and a passenger, credited Pilot Dave Hissong with "saving us."

Stewart said E. D. Rivers, jr., son of Georgia's governor was among the passengers.

"Shortly after we took off from the Montgomery airport," Stewart said, "sparks began to fly from the right motor, the plane got stuffy, and suddenly a whole wing burst into flames.

"The fuselage was burning badly and I kept waiting to hit—but we didn't get any jar at all. The pilot saved us."

German Girl Is Calm In Facing Trial Accuser

Fantastic Plot Against Uncle Sam's Military Defenses Is Told By Confessed Spy

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 — A red-haired German girl calmly chewing gum in the prisoner's row in federal court late today heard herself accused of being an "authorized" agent of a German spy ring which plotted to steal vital American defense secrets.

Testifying for the government, Guenther Gustav Rumrich, 32, former U. S. army deserter and confessed $40-a-week spy for the third reich, for the first time accused the pretty girl defendant, Fraulein Johanna ("Jenni") Hofmann, 26, when he swore she was a messenger for the espionage syndicate.

Gave Her Photographs

Rumrich testified Karl Schlueter, a fugitive defendant and alleged "contact man" of the spy ring, told him Miss Hofmann belonged to the bureau of messengers of the German intelligence service.

The witness said he handed over to her photographs of the U. S. navy cruiser Houston in the Panama Canal locks for delivery to the Berlin headquarters of the ring.

Rather lamely, he added he had bought the "secret" photographs in a store in the Panama Canal Zone.

Fantastic Plot Revealed

Rumrich detailed ramifications of a seemingly fantastic plot against Uncle Sam's military defenses, including an abortive scheme to lure a U. S. army fort commandant to a Manhattan hotel and overcome him with a "knockout" stream of gas from a fountain-pen weapon to obtain mobilization plans for the coast artillery on the Atlantic seaboard.

He said Schlueter told him of paying $2,000 to an unnamed person in the Curtiss-Wright airplane factory in Buffalo, N. Y., for plans of "some kind of aviation device."

The witness also introduced the name of Miss Santa De Wanger, a comely government witness, for the first time in the trial.

He said Schlueter wanted him to locate Miss De Wanger because "she was known to him and his superiors from a previous experience in 1935, after which she had to flee to Canada."

Miss De Wanger has been described by federal aides as a "friendly witness to the government."

Love Triangle Is Described

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Rudolph Sikora, "model husband" on trial for slaying his wife's romantic lover, was portrayed alternately today as a "deliberate" killer and a maltreated mate robbed of his reason by jealousy.

A jury of 11 married men and a bachelor heard state and defense outline their versions of the triangular affair that ended in the gun death of Edward Solomon last Aug. 22.

An Idyllic Marriage

W. W. Smith, attorney for Sikora, maintained his client and his pretty bride, Margaret, enjoyed an idyllic marriage for three years until her affection cooled and she confessed her love for Solomon last summer.

He argued that Sikora was so shocked when his 22 year old wife spurned his pleas for a reconciliation that he became irrational.

Prosecutor Leslie Curtis told the jurors that "Rudy" took his wife's announced plans for a divorce so calmly that "he helped her move." And, he added, Sikora changed the locks on the apartment they had shared.

He claimed the defendant carefully stalked Solomon, accosted him as he leaned against a light pole reading a newspaper, shot him twice, fired three more bullets into his rival's body as he lay on the sidewalk, asked spectators to call the police and "deliberately took out a cigarette and lit it."

LEGAL ADVISER DIES

TYLER, Oct. 18. (AP)—J. W. Fitzgerald, legal adviser for federal tender board No. 1 at Kilgore, died here tonight on his 76th birthday. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Idalou Woman Taken By Death Tuesday

IDALOU, Oct. 18. (Special)—Mrs. E. L. Sowder, 43, died late this afternoon at her home about five miles northwest of here after an extended illness.

Sowder, operator of a gin here, has been living in this area 19 years, moving here from Cook county.

Funeral services will be conducted in the First Baptist church of Idalou at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with Rev. R. C. Tennison, pastor, officiating.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, H. V. Sowder and Madison Sowder, both of near here; five daughters, Marie, Margaret, Doris, Lillian, and Oleta Fern, all of near here; four brothers, E. G. Pennington of Gainesville, Clay Pennington of Joy, Moody Pennington of Hood, and Porter Pennington of Miami, Texas; and three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Gaines and Mrs. W. E. Greer of Gainesville and Mrs. W. J. Edwards of Miami, Texas.

Pallbearers will be W. H. Killian, V. C. Snodgrass, E. N. Harrison, J. W. Hairston, Alex Weaver, and Bailey Guess.

In tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Sowder, the Farmers' gin here will not operate Wednesday.

Body Of Man Being Sought As Slayer Is Found In Ditch

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18. (AP)—The body of Joe Miller, 34, house painter hunted as the shotgun slayer of a woman and two men, was found in a ditch today, officers said, with a suicide note in his wallet.

It read, "Goodbye all—You folks think I am crazy for what I have done—I can't help it—I loved her and she did me—I couldn't stand it any longer x x x."

Cooperation In Wage Rulings Is Proposed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, suggested today that wage standards under the new fair labor standards act are so low that intrastate industries not subject to it could conform to its provisions without great difficulty.

Saying he could not issue a list of business which could claim exemption because of their intrastate character, Andrews told newsmen:

No National Catastrophe

"In fact, I think I will appeal to intrastate industries to do that. I can't see that any damage would be done if a person not covered by the act complies."

Andrews remarked, however, that since the statute, which becomes effective Monday, applies only to interstate commerce, cooperation of industries of a purely intrastate nature would have to be voluntary.

Would Be Voluntary

"It would be voluntary unless we get state laws that would take care of it and I've already said I would ask the state to pass intrastate laws."

The new act calls for a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 44 hours during the first year.

Two Bandits Escape Sweetwater Jail

SWEETWATER, Oct. 18. (AP) — Jailer Horace Cook and his wife were bound and locked in the Nolan county jail late tonight by Merle (Red) Hill and Curtis Couch who had made their escape.

Twenty minutes after the jail break, Roy Thompson, an insurance man, reported theft of his automobile.

Cook said he went to lock the prisoners up for the night and as he stepped into the jail corridor Hill came from behind a door with a small knife in his left hand and a section of a broom stick in the other, told him to give him the keys and his gun or he would kill him and his wife.

Cook said he grappled with Hill but was overpowered. Couch tied the jailer and his wife and the prisoner placed the pair in the cell with other prisoners, then locked the door.

None Injured In Collision Of Truck And Car Last Night

Despite the fact a truck overturned "three or four times" after a collision with a light coupe about 11:45 o'clock Tuesday night on East Broadway, none was injured to the extent hospitalization was required.

Bill Duncan of Lubbock, in the coupe was turning left into the Mackenzie State park and Bill Hardy of Brownfield in the truck, was attempting to pass the car when the collision happened. The truck was practically demolished.

Rix ambulance was called but took neither of the drivers, who were alone, to a hospital. T. C. Laws of the Texas Highway patrol investigated.

Fight Against Allred Urged

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BEAUMONT, Oct. 18.—The Texas Federation of Labor today was asked to endorse President Roosevelt for a third term and to oppose senate confirmation of Governor James V. Allred as a federal district judge in South Texas.

The American Federation of Teachers local union of El Paso proposed endorsement of President Roosevelt for a third term in a resolution praising the president for his "humanitarian interest in those less fortunate in these days of stress."

The resolution will be submitted to the convention tomorrow.

J. A. Luttrell, president of the Fort Worth Trades assembly and W. A. Broyles, secretary-treasurer of the North Texas assembly, asked that Governor Allred's confirmation to the federal bench be opposed by the state federation on the grounds the governor is not a legal resident of the federal district to which President Roosevelt nominated him as a judge.

Governor Allred's confirmation as a federal judge is scheduled to be asked of the senate by President Roosevelt soon after congress convenes. Governor Allred is expected to move to Houston and assume the bench upon his retirement from the governorship early in January.

Both resolutions were tossed into the hopper along with a sheaf of others to be read to the convention tomorrow. Among the many other resolutions offered was one calling for a state, county and municipal civil service law "eliminating the spoils system." It was proposed by the El Paso delegation.

George W. Fisher of Fort Worth, chairman of the convention resolutions committee, asked the convention in a resolution, to advise Governor Allred and Governor Nominate W. Lee O'Daniel of migration of many outside workers into the state "which is detrimental to Texas labor and the business interest of the state."

They asked that "all publicity possible to the actual situation existing in this state," be given.

Other resolutions included that of Amarillo brick masons that all merchants who sell foreign manufactured goods be required to display prominently signs stating the goods offered for sale are of foreign manufacture.

The convention today heard J. R. Steelman of Washington, director of the conciliation division of the Summer Encore Is Thought Near End

(By The Associated Press)

SHOWERS and shifting winds presaged the end of the warm wave in the eastern half of the nation yesterday.

Several new heat records were established, however, before summer's freak encore was finished.

Louisville and Indianapolis had temperatures of 82 and 83 respectively but those cities, in common with most of the others in the midwest, expected rain and much cooler conditions.

Freezing Is Forecast

Snow flurries were indicated in northern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota. Freezing weather was forecast for parts of those states and portions of South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

A woman died in the first snow storm of the season in Montana an two hunters were lost. Skies had cleared, but freezing weather had set in. Wyoming, another snow swept state, faced the first killing frost of the year.

Predicted Frost Fails To Put In Appearance Tuesday Night

Despite a weather-bureau forecast Tuesday for a frost that night, indications at midnight were that it was a false alarm.

The main line station of the West Texas Gas company said its forecast was for fair and colder weather today with possibly a light frost Tuesday night, but at 11:15 o'clock that night the mercury there stood

Pastor Locked Out Of Prison

(By The Associated Press)

MADISON, Ga., Oct. 18. — The Rev. Ashton B. Jones, itinerant preacher of world peace, was "locked out of jail" here today when, Sheriff George Saye asserted, he embarked upon a self-imposed hunger strike.

The sheriff said the Atlanta preacher had refused food and drink at noon, and asserted he would continue to do so in protest against his arrest on a nuisance charge ten days ago in a dispute over how loudly he was allowed to proclaim his peace views through amplifiers of a sound truck.

Locked The Jail Door

"When he refused to eat," explained the sheriff, "I asked him to come outside with me to his sound truck. I locked the jail door and wouldn't let him return."

The sheriff said he had offered Jones his freedom yesterday "without bond" if he would terminate the dispute over his lectures and leave town, "but he said he was going to stay right here in jail."

Insufficient Evidence Found In Probe Of Lynching Case

RUSTON, La., Oct. 18. (AP)—A special grand jury reported today it had insufficient evidence to return indictments in the lynching last week of W. C. Williams, negro, and continued the case for further investigation.

The jury reported to Judge E. L. Walker, however, that evidence showed the negro was guilty of two different assaults on couples in parked cars in this vicinity in which the men were beaten, one fatally, and the women raped.

Damage Placed At $500,000 In Fire At Big Spring

BIG SPRING, Oct. 18. (AP)—A fire that destroyed the main warehouse and press of the Big Spring Compress company today caused damage estimated at $500,000.

Salary Cuts To Be Restored; Bright Business Prospects For Near Future Predicted

By BERNARD S. O'HARA
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. — Autumn industrial revival in the United States was backed today by a General Motors Corp. announcement of plans for re-employing 35,000 factory workers within the next two weeks and restoring salary cuts for about 30,000 white collar employees.

Speeding of re-employment in motor plants will supplement the back-to-work march in steel, textile and other industries since a business recovery trend took hold last summer.

Action Believed Justified

Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman, in announcing the additional employment, said General Motors felt justified in raising production schedules "by revising upward plans made last summer."

Normally automobile output swings upward in autumn in a shift to output of new models. This year, it was indicated, motor makers are hastening production of 1939 cars to keep abreast of business improvement.

Payrolls To Be Boosted

It was estimated the job expansion and salary increase plans would boost General Motors payrolls somewhere around $2,000,000 weekly in the 14 states where its assembly and parts plants operate.

With the increase, it was figured, total payrolls — factory and white collar —would approximate 200,000 workers compared with a 1937 average of about 262,000.

The announcement started a last-hour buying wave in the stock market, lifting numerous shares to the highest prices recorded in more than a year. General Motors ran up $2.50 to a new 1938 high at $51.75 and Chrysler crossed $83 for a gain of more than $3.

Explaining the salary adjustments, Sloan said white collar pay would be restored to the level existing prior to the reductions last February for those receiving $300 a month or less. For those in the higher salary brackets, it was noted, adjustment would be made on "individual merit basis" Nov. 1.

The cuts last winter amounted to 10 per cent for those earning up to $10,000 salary yearly.

Stabilization of employment at higher levels, Sloan said, would be aided by the decision of General Motors to rebuild "substantial inventories in excess of retail demand during the winter months."

Creation Of New Stomachs By Surgery Is Described

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 — New stomachs created by surgery were described to the American College of Surgeons today.

They are made with the aid of discoveries, reported at this meeting, that if even a little bit of a person's stomach can be left intact, it can be spliced to an intestinal organ that will grow like a new room added to a house, to replace some of the area.

"About a nickel's worth of stomach is all that may be needed" was the description. A "nickel's worth" is one-fifth to one-sixth of a normal stomach. It is so little that at first the patient may be unable to hold even a small meal at ordinary eating pace.

How these new methods have been discovered as the result of desperate operation to save life when stomachs were found far gone from ulcer or cancer was told by several surgeons.

Dr. Hans Finsterer, of Vienna,

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

THIS afternoon Lubbock women will have a final opportunity to join a chorus that will appear Nov. 15, the opening night of the state convention of Parents and Teachers. The rehearsal will be held at 4:30 o'clock at the Senior high school auditorium. Two parts, soprano and alto, will be sung of Nevin's "Rosary" and Schubert's "Serenade." Mrs. P. H. Laverty will direct the songs with Mrs. C. E. Hereford at the piano. There is no charge. Lubbock parent-teacher workers and Superintendent Irvin are anxious for Lubbock to have the majority of the one hundred-voiced chorus that night. We'd like to see others join the forty-five who have already shown interest in the well-loved selections.

IN THE MAIL

Dear Miss Turner: This letter is an admission that I, a man, occasionally read your column, and it is in answer to the letters you printed last Thursday morning that I write.

I did not regard the assertions made by the women with anger, but regarded them rather coldly as being trivial as are many of the activities and allegations of women.

I have my opinion of letters-to-the-editor writers and can think of no excuse for this, but here goes:

To the Mrs. K. whose criticism was offered from a "broader sense of mind": sure, the husband should be the head of the house, the protection and the bearer of the brunt of the responsibilities; but have you thought of the instances in which there might not be a home to protect after his suggestion conflicting with the plans of the wife. One bold stand by the husband, in many cases, probably would be his last. And, had you ever thought, maybe he is tired? Did you ever wash and iron eight hours a day, then be eager about going to a club social?

Mrs. M: True, a man is doing no more than he should when he brings the little woman something, but women, remember a little dsplay of appreciation may encourage him to repeat the act. Giving makes anybody feel a little nobler. So you think the men are bigger gossips than the women and that the street corner is the center of more gossip than the bridge table? Well, if you could hear what goes on at the corner, you probably wouldn't listen, because chances are it's not about you, nor your neighbors, nor any other woman. If it isn't business, it's probably about that night weeks ago when you allowed him to be "with the boys." Then, if he doesn't come home with some trivialities about somebody, you accuse him of being swelled up and refusing to talk.

Mrs. G. F. S.: So you think women tire of answering where a man's sox are? You don't like him to remark that a shirt has a button missing? Well, telling him where his sox are is among the little things a woman should do for a man. He should not have to remark about the missing button. It should have been sewed on before the shirt was placed in the drawer for wear. The little things of that nature are a woman's chosen work when she consents to the marriage. If she loves her work as she should, she should like to do little things. She should be able to break away from her bridge games and butterflying long enough to darn a pair of sox.

Now, Miss C: So you think girls object to the tobacco odor about men? Well, we are driven to tobacco to drown that same scent so prevalent among women. And had you ever thought when a man goes from the arms of one woman to several, the arms of those "several" usually are outstretched. Do you know whereof you speak? If so are you the one or the several? Oh, yes! Where did you girls get the idea that making a young man wait on her makes a favorable impression? Let me speak for young men—incidentally I'm unmarried, too—having to wait on a girl creates an impression, but not a favorable one.

Yours sincerely, Mr. T.

Dear Mr. T: Thanks for your letter which brightened the morning mail considerably. You didn't have to admit you weren't married. We thought your letter was a dead give away. Are there others who want to express an opinion on why men hate women, or vice versa. We simply love these answers!

IF YOU LIKE to look at lovely things may we suggest a trip to the West Texas Museum on Tech campus before Oct. 31. The building is open from 9 until 5 o'clock during the week and between 2 and 5 p. m. each Sunday. We refer especially today to the collection of 156 pitchers on exhibit courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. George Dupree and Mesdames A. B. Cunningham, Emmett Wendt, Mollie Abernathy, M. B. Hilburn, Clark M. Mullican, W. G. McMillan, W. H. Bledsoe and V. L. Shurtleff.

In our opinion, the black Wedgwood pitcher owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dupree is as lovely a piece of ware as we have ever seen. It is of "Bacchaulian boys" modeled from a design in wax by Lady Diana Beauclerk. Their other Wedgwood pitchers are as pretty as those in the Chicago museum and if they only would will us that gorgeous silver on ruby Bohemian glass!

Mrs. Hilburn's collection features teapots and there is a little red-checked number that makes you think of a pretty woman's gingham house frock.

Pigeon blood, milk and crystal coin spots, honey amber are included in the group displayed by Mesdames Shurtleff and Bledsoe and Mrs. Mullican's group features a cranberry water pitcher with inverted thumb print.

From the collection of Mrs. Emmett Wendt we noted an opal daisy with square mouth top and applied crystal handle. She has two pieces of rare old camphor glass.

There's a pitcher with a ruffled top and applied handle in Mrs. Cunningham's display that would be a love on anybody's shelf!

White-Parks Rites Of Tuesday Told

Robert G. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. White, of 1411 Eighth street and Miss Janet Parks of Roswell, N. M., were married Tuesday morning in Roswell.

After a trip to the mountains in New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 1707 Eighteenth street.

Mr. White, who recently spent two years in Hawaii in the motor corps of the army of the United States, is associated with his father in the Delta Electric company.

Mrs. White is a gradute of Texas Technological college.

ORGANIZED AT RALLS

RALLS, Oct. 18. (Special)—Sixty young people attended an organization meeting of a federated junior music club at the high school today. Mrs. T. E. Hendrick, representative of the Lubbock Music club, played piano numbers as a part of the program.

Miss O. C. Power of the University of Chicago is the only woman football ticket manager in the Western conference.

Club Activity Offers Panorama Of Varied Well-Planned Events

More Than Fifty Women Attend Tea And Travelogue Sponsored Tuesday

Social and regular meetings of women's clubs currently offer a panorama that sparkles with variety and well-planned entertainment.

For several weeks now, freshman students of Texas Technological college have been honored by clubs, alumnae and patronesses. The series will be continued at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when Las Vivarachas club patronesses entertain with a yard supper at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Vickers. Members as well as pledges of the club will be honored.

RESERVATIONS ASKED

Reservations for a banquet the woman's auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars is giving Thursday night at the Hilton hotel should be made by tonight with Mrs. T. H. St. Clair whose telephone number is 496-J. The banquet will honor the department president, Mrs. Irene F. Dodds.

Study Clubs Meet

Travel abroad, industry in world problems, Shakespeare's "Hamlet" and child problems interested members of five women's study clubs at four meetings Tuesday afternoon.

More than 50 women attended a travelogue tea given by the Lubbock Woman's club for the Lubbock Woman's Forum at the Hilton hotel.

The group met in the ballroom to hear Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt discuss conditions in Germany, then went to the mezzanine for tea. Mrs. W. B. Sides was leader for the program which also included music by Virginia Belle Gamble, cellist; Douglas Hardy, violinist, and Monda Hamilton, pianist.

The tea table was decorated in fall motif. Mrs. J. R. Weiss who poured was assisted by Joyce Royalty, Dorothy Neal Brown, Vergie Austin and Jean Wood in serving.

Mrs. Wright Hostess

Mrs. Huddleston Wright of 1601 Thirteenth street was hostess to members of the Lubbock circle of the Child Conservation league. Mrs. W. D. Benson, jr., discussed "Love Your Children and Tell Them So" and Mrs. J. L. Holt talked on "The Remaking of a Boy." Members brought books to be donated to the new library at Guadalupe school. Refreshments were served.

Others attending were Mesdames W. G. Alderson, C. H. Hamilton, George M. Garrett, Roy Furr, S. T. Cummings, L. L. Kelso, J. D. Hassell, Marlin R. Smith, C. E. Moreman and Seth Bertram.

The club will meet at 3:15 p. m., November 1, with Mrs. Alderson, 2222 Seventeenth street.

Hamlet Studied

Mrs. Grady West was chairman for a program on "Hamlet" at a Shakespeare club meeting in the home of Mrs. W. P. Garvin, 1711-A Fourteenth street. Mrs. J. D. Jones was hostess. Mrs. O. A. Terry summarized the action and Mrs. Charles Whitacre discussed similarities between "Hamlet" and Kyd's "Spanish Tragedy." Fourteen members were present.

In Ater Home

The 1933 Study club met with Mrs. G. H. Ater of 2208 Sixteenth street for a program on "Industry in World Problems," continuation of a series on contemporary social and economic problems.

Needlers Meet

The club will meet November 1 with Mrs. Freeman, 2112 Thirteenth street.

In Adkisson Home

The Arnett-Benson club, meeting socially Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. D. B. Adkisson, 2816 Elm street, planned a masked Hallowe'en party to be given at 7:30 p. m., October 28, in the home of Mrs. C. O. White, 2612 Locust street.

The hostess served refreshments to Mesdames C. R. McLaurin, I. T. Weed, Leo Saffell, Forest White, J. E. Reid, J. P. Mills, Bryan Landers, D. R. Aylesworth, Tom Morris, Floyd Tapp, George May, Polly Heatley, C. O. White, H. S. Templeton and Dan Portwood.

The next regular meeting will be at 2:30 p. m., November 1, in the home of Mrs. Aylesworth, 2507 Elm street.

Musicians Honored

As a courtesy to the MacDowell Music club, an organization of college and Senior high school music students, Mrs. W. C. Wood, 2418 Twenty-second street, club counsellor, entertained with a reception Monday night.

A Halloween motif was used throughout the rooms. Marigolds were floral decorations. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth over orange and lighted by yellow candles. Ribbon and pumpkin faced sandwiches, orange and chocolate mints, pecan macaroons, tea rings and spiced tea were served. Mexican pottery was used.

Mesdames W. H. Hester and E. F. George presided at the tea services and were assisted in serving by Mrs. M. V. Gray.

During the evening J. A. Smith played Chopin selections and Miss Olive Huff played piano numbers.

Miss Eva Douthitt, president, presided for a business session and a membership drive was planned.

The club will attend a Christmas program tea early in December.

Special guests were members of the Texas Technological college band.

Fashions Featured

A style show featured a program meeting of the Alpha Gamma chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, Monday night at the Hilton hotel. Mrs. Sam Reid, educational director, presided.

Mothers Club Is Organized At Frenship On Tuesday

A mothers club was organized at Frenship school Tuesday afternoon and the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Fred Stryker, vice president, Mrs. W. E. Wheeler; secretary, a Mrs. Nordyke, and reporter, Mrs. Winnie McLaren. The club will meet at 3:30 p. m. the third Tuesday of each month at the school.

A committee was appointed to plan a Halloween carnival, then refreshments were served by the six teachers attending. Eighteen mothers were present.

N. D. Rentfro of the SA Ranch at Crossroads, N. M., arrived in Lubbock Tuesday on a business trip.

Homes Needed For P-TA Delegates

Problem of hotel space for the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers here Nov. 15 through 17, is becoming serious, since 125 rooms have been reserved at two hotels, according to Mrs. J. H. Stiles, chairman of the hotel committee.

Much of that space has been assigned for delegates who will represent Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Beaumont and Wichita Falls.

It thus becomes apparent, according to chamber of commerce officials, that a housing problem faces Lubbock in entertaining the convention which will be the largest in the history of the city. Another problem, which however, is assured of satisfactory solution, will be the entertaining of the most largely attended banquet in the history of the South Plains.

For a satisfactory solution of the housing of the visitors, officials said, reliance must be placed on home owners. At proper time, it was explained, home owners will be asked to list the accommodations they can provide and the hope is that, included among them on this special occasion, will be the better homes. Several hundred visitors must be accommodated in this manner.

Scene of the banquet which will be the biggest individual feature of the convention will be the new Merchants building at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds. Expectation is that places will be set for approximately 1,000 guests at that dinner.

Absentee Voting For General Election Started Tuesday

Some Confusion Being Reported

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—Absentee balloting for the general election in Texas November 8 began in Texas today with some evidence of confusion over interpretation of the law affecting such voting enacted in 1935.

Reports received in Austin were that recently the Texarkana court of civil appeals held in a case from Gregg county that the law which had permitted absentee voting by voters who made affidavits they would be out of their home cities or counties on election day had been repealed, by inference at least.

No Formal Report

Neither the attorney general's department nor Secretary of State Edward Clark had formal reports on the ruling.

Clark, in answer to questions, said the general rule for county clerks to follow was to see that everyone who asked for an absentee ballot was a qualified voter and that none was refused unless there was doubt as to qualifications.

He said he thought the law did not forbid absentee voting by qualified voters who made affidavit they would be away from their regular voting places on election day.

"The general purpose of the law," Clark said, "was to protect the purity of the ballot, and the best way to do this is for county clerks to do their duty and see that only qualified voters cast ballots. If the clerks perform this duty, no harm will be done."

Quarter Of Million Dollars To Be Asked For Exhibits

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18. (AP) — Texans will be asked to contribute a quarter of a million dollars to place exhibits from this state in the New York and San Francisco world fairs next year.

At a meeting of the Texas world fairs commission here yesterday, it was decided to launch a campaign soon for this amount.

Walter Woodul, lieutenant governor, and Karl Hoblitzelle of Dallas were named as a committee to work out details of the campaign. The commissioners subscribed about $3,000 to defray preliminary expenses.

Prague Zoo Population Will Not Be Sold To Germany

PRAGUE, Oct. 18. (AP) — The Prague zoo population won't be sold to Germany after all.

Rigid economy forced by the days of the crisis threatened zoo rations, but a public appeal brought hay for the elephants, honey for the bears, and a special beefsteak given by a butcher to his favorite tiger.

Increased zoo attendance brought new funds, so a plan to sell many of the animals to Germany was abandoned.

Measurement Work On Farms In County Is Being Urged

Farmers of the county whose farms were not measured as a part of the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment administration program, are advised to get in touch with the county agent's office and arrange for the work to be done, it was said yesterday.

Measurement of the approximately 2,900 farms in the county has been finished. As far as was known by supervisors and others, no farms were missed.

Catskill Mountain Area Is Closed By Fire Hazards

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 18. (AP)—Governor Lehman signed today a proclamation closing the woods to hunters in four counties of the Catskill mountain park because of fire hazards.

A ban was placed on hunting in 14 counties in the Adirondacks yesterday. The affected Catskill area counties are Ulster, Greene, Delaware and Sullivan.

Gibbs said the only reason the area was not closed yesterday was because of fewer hunters in those woods. The deer season opens in the Catskills Dec. 1.

One serious blaze now is raging out of control in Sullivan county.

"The Freshman" Will Be Shown To Tech Students Tonight

"The Freshman," silent movie made in 1925 and starring Harold Lloyd, will be screened before freshmen students of Texas Technological college who will be guests of the Art institute at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the engineering building auditorium.

Freshmen must wear their green "fish" caps to be admitted. Each Art institute member may have one student as his guest.

The showing tonight will be a part of the series of "Memorable American Films" screened on Wednesday nights.

Agreement For Citrus Sought

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—A proposal to keep low grade citrus fruit of the market gained attention today as one means of relieving the industry's ills.

Delegates from four states, attending a national conference on citrus problems, disclosed this suggestion was discussed but not acted upon at the afternoon session. It was one of many proposals forwarded as delegates concluded study of production data and undertook a search for better marketing methods.

Restrict Shipments

C. M. Brown, Redlands, Calif., demanded restriction of shipments of Florida and Texas grapefruit, insisting that alone would solve his state's orange problems. California produces few grapefruit, but leads the nation in orange production.

The Californian also urged that canners use only first and second grade fruit, contending the canning of inferior grades was unfair to the fresh fruit trade.

Such restrictions, AAA officials explained, contemplated the use of low grade fruit for purposes not now common to the industry—livestock feed, fertilizer, oils, and various other by-products.

New Uses Found

Illustrating the extent of possible new uses, one citrus man said it had been learned orange juice made an excellent dentifrice.

Some delegates argued grade restrictions should take into account the man whose grove produced only low grade fruit. One informal suggestion was to permit the shipment of a fixed percentage of the fruit from such groves.

This discussion focused attention again on the absence of a marketing agreement to control out-of-state Florida shipments. Delegates from the peninsula were convinced, however, a pact of some kind would be effected for this marketing season.

Handicapped By Florida

H. A. Lynn of Riverside, Calif., and F. B. Holland of Mission, Tex., declared the entire industry was handicapped by Florida's failure to obtain an agreement.

Some delegates favored government subsidies on citrus exports. Others suggested subsidy payments on fruit diverted from the normal channels of trade. Still others saw nationwide selling campaigns as the best answer.

The conference was expected to contiue at least two more days.

Missing Finger Is Chief Clue Sought In Mysterious Hijackings In City Recently

How to determine from which hand a finger is missing by the fingerprint continued to worry Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police, Tuesday night. The solution may identify a person responsible for a series of hijacking here in which victims have been stabbed and beaten with a bottle.

Is the finger missing from the left hand or the right?

Since witnesses gave divergent opinions, Mabray got busy and rounded up Mexicans with fingers missing from either hand.

He held three suspects late Tuesday. Monday, he released a fourth.

A Crosby county Mexican was so slashed and stabbed recently it was feared he would die, a physician's report to Mabray said.

Sunday, a Mexican was struck on the head with a bottle.

Another Mexican several days ago was held bodily and his money taken.

In each instance, said complainants, two men figured in the assault, one going through pockets while the other held or beat the victim.

A roundup of witnesses was being undertaken Tuesday in an effort to identify the guilty persons. Police late Monday night staged a roundup in the Mexican section of Lubbock.

All offenses have been committed in a poorly lighted area immediately north of Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, police said.

News Briefs...

Farmers of the Shallowater community are getting their cotton out fast, and the Farmers Coop gin there is running night and day, said C. M. Doyle, a farmer living near there, while here yesterday. The crop is turning out good. An estimated 6,000 bales is predicted for the season.

Idalou farmers are well along with their cotton harvesting and at least half of the crop has been picked, according to reports yesterday. Ginnings will be considerably under those of last year.

Amarillo residents who are former students of Texas Technological college meet Thursday night at the Nat there to formulate plans for assisting the college, according to word received here. Hour of the meeting is 7:30 o'clock. Eugene V. Struve is one of the leaders.

W. L. Veal, cotton rate expert for the Santa Fe at Amarillo, in the office of M. C. Burton, general freight agent, is spending several days here contacting cotton men and railroad men. Considerable confusion has arisen, it is said, over rate matters and Veal is here to discuss the situation, railroad officials said.

Garford Wilkinson, Amarillo, publicity director for the Farm Security administration in this region, was here yesterday. He is remaining over this morning for a field trip over this section and will return to Amarillo late in the afternoon.

Roosevelt 4-H club boys yesterday afternoon selected officers for the new year. Edwin Rush was chosen president; Allen McArthur, vice president; Bill Vardeman, secretary; Bob Parks, reporter; Mart Hicks, game leader; C. R. Reasoner, yell leader and Dan Montgomery, song leader. J. C. Beaty and Elmer Rush were named club leaders. After the election John W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent, conducted a rope making demonstration. There were 44 members present.

Late Tuesday Homer Furgerson, 18-year-old Slaton youth, had not posted bond of $1,000 set by S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, on arraignment on a complaint alleging forgery. According to the complaint, sworn to by Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, before Burton S. Burks, district attorney, the name of N. L. Tate was forged on a $20 check. Furgerson was arrested by members of the police department, said Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff.

Attorneys in the case of Buffalo Lakes, Inc., against E. C. Wallace and others, trespass to try title as well as for damages, Tuesday afternoon argued before Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court a motion made by the plaintiffs for an instructed verdict. Jurors were dismissed for the afternoon and instructed to return at 9 o'clock this morning.

H. R. Stephens Tuesday entered a plea of guilty of a charge of violation of state liquor laws, according to Judge J. J. Dillard of county court, and was sentenced to serve an hour in jail and pay court costs. The complaint was sworn to by John T. Willis of the Texas Liquor Control board after preparation by Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney.

Yellowhouse lodge 841 will confer three entered apprentice degrees at 7:30 o'clock tonight, at the Masonic hall.

W. O. Fortenberry, Monroe ginner, is building a third warehouse there. Two built last year are filled with government loan cotton. Fortenberry operates a farm and two gins at Monroe.

Rotarians and Kiwanians will hold a joint meeting at noon in Lubbock hotel, Warren P. Clement, president of the Rotary club, announced. For visiting Kiwanians this will be a "dutch treat." A club luncheon was cancelled because the ballroom will be used as a display room Thursday for market week.

A chamber of commerce party will attend the annual Gaines county agricultural show at Seminole Friday. The good neighbor committee of the chamber is in charge of arrangements.

Directories listing students and faculty of Texas Technological college are being printed and will go on sale Thursday at 25 cents a copy. Telephone numbers, addresses, home addresses, and church preference are included in information. The YM-YWCA compiled the information. Books will be on sale in the "Y" office in the library building, in the east rotunda of the administration building and at the college bookstore, according to Miss Allene Atkinson, executive secretary of the "Y".

John B. Dunlap, Dallas, chief of the field division of the U. S. collector of internal revenue for the Northern District of Texas, was here Tuesday briefly to confer with L. B. Barkley and Burl Bedford, deputy collectors. He told them the government was pushing all delinquencies in payment of revenue taxes. Dunlap came down from Amarillo and left for Midland, where he was to spend last night.

K. J. Edwards, district extension service agent, was here yesterday afternoon for a meeting with the county committee in charge of the agricultural program. He conferred with them in the office of C. C. Jobson, county agent.

A district meeting of extension service representatives in district No. 2 is to be held Nov. 1 and 2 at the Lubbock hotel, K. J. Edwards, district agent, said yesterday. About 150 persons are expected including county and home demonstration agents, assistants, AAA workers, committee members and others. The 1939 AAA program will be discussed.

Irving L. Jones left Tuesday for St. Louis where he, as a representative from this territory of a shoe company, will address the Progress club on "Service To Our Customers". He will be gone a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt L. Hester and Gradie Bownds left Tuesday to attend the district convention of the American Business club at Big Spring. Several other members planned to attend.

Knights of Pythias bestowed the rank of page upon Adrian James and Marion Leftwich at the weekly meeting Tuesday night. Russell Hardin, chancellor commander of lodge No. 486, said 45 members attended the initiation ceremony.

A 32-year-old Raymondville Mexican man Tuesday entered a plea of guilty in corporation court of a charge of theft of a 25-cent deck of playing cards and was assessed a fine of $15 by B. P. Millsap, city recorder. He had been arrested by Millsap and Bill Mabray, police identifications officer about noon.

Firemen at 12:20 o'clock Tuesday afternoon were called to the 3,000-block Twenty-second street to extinguish burning kindling wood which had caught from a trash fire, according to reports at headquarters for the fire department. There was no damage.

Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, Tuesday night said James Howard, 17, charged with theft of an automobile, remained in the county jail. Howard had been returned here earlier that day from Brownwood after his arrest there. Posey went to Brownfield after him.

A suspect who Tuesday night had not been arrested was charged by complaint filed with S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, with theft of an automobile from C. E. Venable. The alleged theft was Oct. 12. Venable swore to the complaint which had been prepared by Burton S. Burks, district attorney.

Wilbur Lemon of four and one-half miles northeast of Lubbock Tuesday reported to police theft of four tires, tubes and rims from a trailer. The tires were described as being Miller tires size 29x4.40.

A yellow wheel from an automobile and tire Tuesday were reported to police as having been stolen from George Fort of route 4, Lubbock. No trace of the missing property had reached police headquarters that night, said M. N. Davidson, night police sergeant.

New Stomachs

one of the three or four foremost ulcer surgeons in the world, reported it is sometimes better to throw away most of the stomach rather than try to save all but a small portion.

To complete the part of the stomach left, Dr. Finsterer lays alongside it one of the canals of the upper intestine, the jejumum. He fastens it to the stomach with a long slit opening between them.

After a few months, he said, the part of jujumum along side the slit balloons out. It and the little stomach are then like two rooms made virtually into one by a big arch.

It is thought that the fragmentary stomach also stretches to become permanently larger.

Warning that inhaling tobacco smoke may lead to cancer of the lung was issued in a report by Alton Ochsner M. D., and Michael Debakey, M. D., of Tulane university school of medicine.

Future Farmers Of This Area Attending National Meeting

Howard Barrett, president of the Cooper Rural High school chapter of the Future Farmers of America, and Wayne Richardson, secretary, are in Kansas City this week attending the 11th national convention of the F.F.A.

Thirty-three other F.F.A. boys of this area made the trip in a special bus which left Lubbock Saturday.

Another feature of the trip, other than the convention, will be a visit to the American Royal livestock show in progress this week. The group will return to Lubbock late Friday.

German Girl Is Calm At Trial

plot mentioned by Rumrich was Col. Henry W. T. Eglin, commandant of Fort Totten.

Was To Be Deceived

Colonel Eglin, he said, was to be deceived into thinking an army staff conference had been called at a New York hotel to discuss mobilization plans.

Earlier, Rumrich said that late in 1937 a German espionage higher-up ordered him to steal secrets of American rearmament in industrial plants.

The government's star spy case witness—a gloomy-eyed man with a bulging forehead, who has been described by defense attorneys as a romancing "beermug" dreamer — said the order came from a mysterious "Mr. Wiegand."

Plotted Their Activities

He said that he and "Mr. Wiegand," a scar-faced, revolver-toting individual, plotted their activities over seidels of beer in a Yorkville bar, and that Wiegand told him Germany was more interested in purloining industrial information than military secrets.

"Wiegand gave me a letter saying I was to get no more military information," the witness said, "and that it was more important to get industrial information, particularly about American rearmament."

As the trial completed its second day, dispatches from Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, said information regarding four Germans detained for photographing harbor defense fortifications at the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal had been sent to federal officials in New York. There was no indication as to whether the Panama arrests were related to the present trial.

Showed His Importance

Rumrich testified "Mr. Wiegand," who identified himself as having worked 8 or 10 years for "die sache" (the cause), showed his importance by displaying a photograph allegedly taken of himself at the German embassy in Washington, D. C., with Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff and Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, adjutant to Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

"I expressed surprise that diplomats should be on such terms with people in this line," Rumrich said. "He told me diplomats are different these days."

The witness, who realized his ambition to become a spy by writing to a German newspaper, the Volkischer Beobachter, in Munich, offering his services after he had twice deserted from the U. S. army, said another higher-up, Fritz Schmidt, later explained the shift in German interest from military to industrial activities in this country.

Due To Agreement

"He said this change of orders was due to an agreement between someone in Washington and someone in Berlin," the witness testified, speaking slowly and with a confidence that indicated enjoyment of the role he is playing.

He said Schmidt, reputed aide of Capt.-Lieut. Ernst Mueller, chief of naval intelligence in Hamburg, Germany, flourished two $1,000 bills which Schmidt said were to be paid to a Brooklyn spy who had stolen the secret plans of a submarine gyroscope.

"I expressed disbelief that there was so much money," Rumrich said, "because I had only been receiving $40 or $50."

He said Schmidt "looked a little under the weather, as if he had had a drink too many" during their furtive conference in Biertsube in Yorkville, the main German district in New York.

Plans Sent To Berlin

"He told me the plans from the party in Brooklyn had been sent to the naval war ministry in Berlin."

A packed courtroom listened as Rumrich, who has pleaded guilty, recited evidence tending to link his three alleged co-conspirators in the plot—26-year-old Johanna ("Jenni") Hofmann, former hairdresser on the North German Lloyd liner Europa; Erich Glaser, 27, former U. S. army private; and Otto Hermann Voss, 36, former mechanic at the De Seversky airplane plant at Farmingdale, Long Island.

The four have been held incommunicado on $100,000 bail since their arrest February.

Under questioning of Assistant U. S. District Attorney Lester C. Duningan, Rumrich described mysterious meetings with "Mr. Wiegand" and Schmidt.

He said Wiegand instructed him that in the event he fell under suspicion he was "not to use any reference to Germany."

"I was to say I was working for Major Christopher Draper, of a London address."

Indians In Alaska Want To Go To Hell; Let Ross Edwards Tell You His Story

By DAN TARPLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

"Every Indian in Alaska wants to go to hell."

And Ross Edwards, former mayor of Lubbock who recently returned from Alaska after a visit of several months, explains why:

The Indians have been told that hades is hot and, the lack of fire wood and other materials to burn has made them appreciate hell.

Lakes Begin To Freeze

Edwards said when he left soon after the first of this month, Alaska had experienced 10-degree weather, the lakes had begun to freeze, and the days had become extremely short and the nights long.

Another of the Biblical stories has its doubters among the Siwash Indians. Many of them live in and near Cordova, where the average annual rainfall is 140 inches a year.

They cannot understand how the flood of 40 days and 40 nights in olden times drowned all the persons except those in the Ark. They report that many times they have rain that many days in a row and they do not drown.

Was His First Trip

The former mayor returned to Lubbock Oct. 15, six months to the day from the time he left here for Alaska. It was his first trip to the country and it was for pleasure, hunting, fishing, and prospecting.

"I took a few pictures there," he said, "but every time I found something really worth photographing, I was separated from my camera." He is not a typical camera fan.

He was accompanied to Alaska by his wife, but she was not with him on his hunting and fishing trips into the wilds of the country. She remained, most of the time, with a brother at Chitina where Edwards made his headquarters.

Glaciers Were Impressive

"Possibly the most impressive thing to me in the far north was the glaciers. Arms of ice stretched out into the ocean many miles," he said.

"I saw the famous Black Rapids glacier which is moving toward a roadhouse," he said. "It is moving slowly now, but last winter it moved several feet a day. The owner of the roadhouse told me he expected it to move rapidly again this winter.

"Last winter the glacier moved so rapidly the crunching, grinding, and horrible noises caused by its creeping kept guests of the roadhouse awake, the owner told me. The chief fear is that it will dam up a small river between it and the roadhouse; and when it does, the water of the river probably will wash away the roadhouse."

Game Not So Plentiful

Game in the populated areas is not so plentiful as persons in the United States are led to believe, he said.

"However, for the men who have the stamina to mush—Indian term for traveling on foot—or the money to hire airplanes to carry them to the wilds where men have not visited before, the game is plentiful."

The former mayor is expecting the arrival soon of a mounted head of a caribou, his most treasured capture of the hunt. The caribou, shot south of Fairbanks, weighed between 400 and 500 pounds, he said.

"I enjoyed most the ptarmigan hunting and fishing," Edwards said. "The ptarmigan is a kind of grouse which turns snow white in winter and brown in summer so that its color may blend with the snow in winter and shrubbery in summer. It is feathered all over except on the very soles of its feet.

Fishing Was Fine

"The fishing was fine. Grayling trout were the most plentiful in the fresh waters."

Contrary to consensus in the United States, Alaskan weather is the most treacherous in the curing and storing of meats, the former mayor explained.

"First the meat will freeze, then a chinook, a warm wind, will prevail several days, warming the meat and causing it to sour."

"In midsummer," he related, "the days are long and the nights are reduced to three or four hours of darkness. In June we could read a newspaper at midnight without artificial light."

Has Narrow Escape

Here is Edwards' own account of a "narrow escape":

"I took a little boat and beat it up to the upper end of the Fielding lake where we fished. It is a large mountain lake fed by winter snows, all of which do not melt in summer. I fished a little while without encouragement, then took my 20-gauge and went ptarmigan hunting with the same kind of luck.

"The wind started rising and I could see the lake was getting rough so I decided it was time for me to be getting that boat back to camp. I hadn't rowed more than 100 yards when I saw the water was a lot rougher than I had anticipated.

Storm Hits With Fury

"Just about that time the storm really hit with all its fury. It threw the boat around and almost capsized it; and try as hard as I might, I was unable to bring her around and keep her stern to the wind.

"Well, the waves were getting to be white caps, and I could see there was no earthly chance of returning to shore against that wind. My only chance was to keep her on top, headed with the wind until we drifted out.

"I scrambled over birds, fishing tackle, guns, etc., and with one paddle used as a rudder, brought the little craft around, racing down wind. Holding it straight in this manner was comparatively easy, but the wind kept getting higher until the waves were running six feet high. The boat is a tiny little thing, and sitting on the stern seat held her quite low in the water.

Position Was Precarious

"As the storm increased, waves began breaking over the back end and with those heavy shoe-pacs on my feet and my heart in my mouth I made a mental picture of how far I could jump to grab a five gallon can I put in the boat for just such a purpose. By that time there was quite a little water in the boat; and I realized that if I did not move and let the back end up, it would soon fill up.

"Catching a lull in the wind I slid down and sat flat in the bottom, at the same time soaking up several inches of ice cold water. I moved just as far forward as I could and still use the paddle as a rudder. It worked.

"The rear end came up an inch or two, and, although scared to death, I finally drifted out on the north shore.

"Thanking my Maker, I loaded up my car and left Fielding lake, I guess, for good."

Along the military highway, or trail," near Valdez, Edwards told of driving when the snow was 12 feet high on either side. "As we rode along we would reach out and get a handful of snow to eat," he said.

He plans to return to Alaska, probably next summer, to a trap line he left there.

industry as one of the key factors in the near-term future of general business, were jubilant.

Outlook Much Brighter

"It makes the outlook even brighter than it has appeared," said one who would not be quoted by name. "Probably it will stimulate business through the fall, winter and spring.

"It is also possible that General Motors' action may lead some other companies to abandon plans for wage cuts."

Senator King (D-Utah), a member of the monopoly investigating committee, said he thought it was an indication of better feeling between business and government.

To Cut Relief Rolls

WPA officials said it was "welcome news" and recalled recent assertions by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins that relief rolls would be curtailed as private payrolls picked up.

A sharp upturn in business this fall and winter also would reduce the prospective deficit for this fiscal year by increasing the treasury's revenue as well as by permitting a reduction in relief expenditures.

Although not mentioning the General Motors announcement, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation said at his press conference that he thought business had taken "a definite turn" upward. He said increased traffic was a favorable factor.

The RFC chairman told newsmen, however, that he saw no early end to government lending, although banks were now "cooperating better" in making industrial loans.

Maximum 86 Degrees

It was generally hoped a frost would chill the 80-degree fall weather which has prevailed recently. The maximum reading at the main line station was 86 degrees at 3 and 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

San Antonio, with 92 degrees, was a hot spot Tuesday, according to the Associated Press. Other highs were: Amarillo, 74; Abilene, 84; Corpus Christi, 90; Brownsville, 90; El Paso, 82; Galveston, 84; Wichita Falls, 88; and Dallas, 82.

An early night report from the Lubbock Municipal airport said skies were clear, ceiling unlimited, and visibility 10 miles. An eight-mile southeast wind prevailed. The barometer was slowly falling.

October 19 is the earliest a frost ever has struck in the Lubbock areas, according to weather records.

Two Negro Boy Scout Troops Organized

Two complete Boy Scout troops for negro boys were organized at a meeting Tuesday night at Dunbar High school for negroes, according to Thomas A. Everheart, special assistant commissioner for Lubbock district, who represented the district and the South Plains council at the session.

Perry Jackson is scoutmaster of one troop and scouts are David Fair, Eugene Lawson, Roger Priestly, C. C. Crews, Jake White, Clentell Childress, Norris Ward, and Sam Scott.

Charles Sedberry is scoutmaster of the other troop and members are Harold Johns, Charles Sedberry, William Johnson, Robert and James Hastings, James Cravens, and Eddie Harris.

More than 60 boys have filed applications and the membership will be expanded as rapidly as practicable, said Earl M. McClure, council executive.

Oscar Iles has been appointed district negro commissioner.

Mysterious Note Indicates That Crash Was Expected

LONDON, Oct. 18. (AP)—A mysterious note indicating that a crash was anticipated was found near the flaming wreckage of two Royal Air Force planes today after they had collided in mid-air with a loss of six lives.

The note read: "What will this plane look like in a few minutes?"

The collision, involving two big, long-range bombers, occurred over Dunmow Park, Essex.

One explanation of the note—unless a suicidal sabateur actually was aboard one of the planes—was that a member of one of the crews feared a crash as the two bombers circled above the park.

Death Rate Among Smokers Is Heavier Than With Drinkers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 18. (AP)—The death rate among heavy smokers is "definitely worse" than that among heavy drinkers until about the age of 60 but thereafter the heavy smokers do a relatively better job of surviving, Dr. Raymond Pearl, Johns Hopkins university biologist, said today in a lecture at Indiana university.

But neither group, he added, has anything to boast about in the matter of longevity.

All German Reservists Will Be Returned To Civil Life

BERLIN, Oct. 18. (AP) — Every German reservist called to the colors this summer and during the Czechoslovak-German crisis will have returned to civil life by Nov. 1, an official spokesman announced today.

The spokesman said no exact figures on the reserve strength marshaled by Germany would be made public by the high command, but he asserted one figure mentioned in political circles—500,000—was "grossly exaggerated."

Czech Military Control Looms

(Copyright, 1938, By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 18—The increasingly stern military control of Czechoslovakia under the soldier-premier Jan Syrovy has assumed some authoritarian characteristics of the German and Italian regimes, an uncensored account received by messenger from a reliable and independent source in Prague said today.

Domination of all official activities by the army general staff is considered necessary by sources close to the government during the transition period when the country is trying to adjust itself to trying conditions, this account said.

Dissension Is Noted

Among changes necessary are a reorganization of the government and a revision of the constitution.

Nevertheless, the necessarily dictatorial methods are leading to some dissension among ordinary government functionaries whose roles are being taken over by military authorities.

(Dispatches from Prague have repeatedly reflected the official view that strict discipline by the population was necessary in order to avoid disorders and clashes with Germans, Poles and Hungarians which might make the country's position more difficult.)

Directs All Activities

The army general staff, now situated in what is known as the "new war ministry," is directing all activities.

All official orders must now be submitted for approval before publication or announcement, to the general staff.

The general staff has even organized a separate propaganda section, known as the "division of military education," which has assumed higher rank than the newly organized propaganda ministry.

The only certain way to leave Czechoslovakia is by airplane.

Military authorities say frankly to travelers trying to cross the borders by trains, "it (the train) does not go all the way to the frontier."

The official explanation is that the Czechoslovaks are afraid the Germans or Poles may confiscate the railroad train, as has happened in several instances, according to reports received in Prague.

Slight Injury To Mules Said Caused In Brownfield Crash

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 18. (Special) Only slight injuries to mules were suffered in a minor accident here about noon today when a truck crashed into the rear of a wagon.

H. D. Miller of the Lubbock office of the Texas Highway patrol, investigated and said none of the occupants of the wagon or the truck was injured.

Man Who Spied On Communists Declares Senate Investigators Exposed Him

Tampering Of Mail Hinted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—A slight, bespectacled young man who said he spent seven years spying on the communist party from within its own ranks testified today that two investigators for the senate civil liberties committee gave advice to communists who exposed him.

Testifying before the house committee on un-American activities, William Gernaey named Harold Cranfield and Benjamin Allen as the investigators in question.

Tampering With Mails

Without making any direct accusation, he implied strongly, too, that there had been tampering with the mails in connection with his unmasking.

Gernaey said he was paid by "a company" for spying on the communists, but would not reveal his employer.

Relating his exposure, he said he was called to a special meeting of communist party members in January, 1937, and was confronted with proof that he was a spy in the form of photostatic copies of expense vouchers which had been "in the mail." He confessed and was expelled from the party.

Subpoena Is Shown

Immediately afterward in the lobby of the communist party headquarters in Detroit, he said, Cranfield and Allen entered and were told by one of the communists:

"Well, we got him."

"These two said 'fine,'" Gernaey continued. "And immediately pulled out a LaFollette subpoena (Senator LaFollette is chairman of the civil liberties committee) summoning me to appear in Washington. x x x

Gernaey said Cranfield told the communists "I suggested that all you people in this room from now on keep a day to day and hour to hour record of your activities—."

Probably Be Killed

"Cranfield told them that?" asked Rep. Mosier (D-Ohio).

"That's right—because this man probably will be killed within the next 24 hours and one of you will be charged with his murder'."

The LaFollette committee's subpoena was cancelled five or six weeks later, the witness said.

Other testimony taken by the committee during the day concerned alleged communist instigation of the wave of sit down strikes in the automobile industry in recent years.

Joseph Spolansky, investigator for the Wayne county (Detroit) sheriff's office, said, "the men who engineered the so-called sit-down strikes are communists and members of the communist party."

Lefty Gomez And His Spouse Are In Honeymoon Capital

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 18. (AP)—Lefty Gomez and his wife, the former June O'Dea, were in this honeymoon capital today, their reconciliation an acknowledged fact.

"Everything's rosy now," the Yankee pitcher commented.

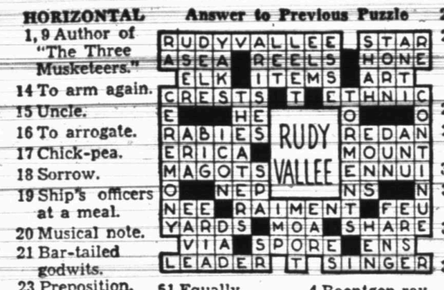

Mrs. Gomez early this year sought separation from Lefty, but her presence in the stands during the final league games and the World series indicated the two had made up.

They stopped here en route to Quebec province, where Lefty intends to do some hunting.

Dolls are the oldest toys known. They have been used in all lands from the earliest times. One found in an Egyptian tomb is estimated to be at least 4,000 years old.

Seven Students Qualify For Press Club Membership

Seven students have qualified for membership in the Women's Press club for this year at Texas Technological college, said Mrs. James G. Allen, sponsor.

They are Elvira Smith, Amarillo; Lois Marie Daniel, Post; Mary Beth Tomlinson, Pendleton; Geraldine Watson, Lubbock; Florence Meekma, Olton; Glenna Fae Sadler, Vigo Park, and Ora Mae Harvey.

Students must have a general "C" average, a "B" average in journalism, must have completed at least six hours of journalism, and must have reached junior classification to be eligible.

The club is to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in room 208 administration building. Charlotte Cooper of San Angelo is president of the organization. Other officers are to be elected. Miss Eleanor Jungman, president of the alumnae organization, is to report on plans for alumnae activities for the year.

Professor Tells Of Europe Trip

The younger generation of Germany look to Adolf Hitler, a "product of this age" as leader, while the older generation indicates a general attitude of a lack of confidence in the nation's No. 1 leader, said F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the department of architecture and allied arts, in a talk yesterday before the Lions club, of which he is a member. He related high points of his recent tour of central Europe where for several weeks he studied architectural problems.

Vice President W. B. Irvin presided in the absence of the president, Robert H. Bean. Dr. Ewell Hunt was chairman of the day. Past President W. H. Evans reported on the action of the committee named to arrange awards for outstanding pupils of the county's six rural high schools. These will be made at the close of the scholastic year. Capt. V. M. Vansyckle of the Salvation Army made an appeal for Lions to complete reports on their campaign solicitations. Two thousand dollars had been subscribed, he said.

Atmosphere Is Tense

"A great many things are going on under cover that we don't realize," said Kleinschmidt in discussing his German visit. There is a tenseness in the atmosphere. When he arrived in Cologne, his first stop in Germany, the archbishop of Cologne was preaching in the cathedral and the crowd was mostly older people.

While in Cologne Kleinschmidt said a German told members of his party that one out of every 60 of the 3,000,000 Germans confined in concentration camps were preachers. This man said a friend had been shot in the back as he left a camp. Those incarcerated there are not permitted to write or to receive letters. "No one knows what is going on in the camp," he added.

Back To Superstition

"Leaders of Germany are leading the people back into the old days of superstition," said the speaker. "Hitler was the hope of Germany, bringing the people out of that state of psychology after the World war."

Youngsters of 5 and 6 years on up to 20 are in marching clubs, receiving military training and marching with 10 to 18 pound knapsacks on their backs from camp to camp. "The state has taken over virtually the youth of Germany, to do with them what it wills," he added. The regimentation of youths is not like the Boy Scout movement of this country.

War was not averted, merely postponed, for a few years, the speaker added.

In Italy the mass of the people seem to have "more respect" for Mussolini, said the speaker. "They seem to like him better than Germans like Hitler." Regimentation of Italian youth does not have the sinister aspect it has in Germany.

Former Texas Ranger Dies

MEXIA, Oct. 18. (AP)—Albert R. Mace, 66, for nearly half a century one of the state's most colorful law enforcement officers, died here today.

He recently underwent an emergency operation when stricken with appendicitis, recovered, but suffered a stroke of apoplexy Sunday.

As a young man 45 years ago, Mace joined the Texas rangers under Capt. John (Border Boss) Hughes at Alice in southwest Texas. He was sheriff of Lampasas county for 16 years, chief of police at Mexia during this city's oil boom, and was stationed at Borger in the Texas Panhandle in its turbulent days.

Mace was captain of Ranger company D in Falfurrias after the appointment of Bill Sterling, his predecessor, to the adjutant generalship by Governor Ross Sterling. He also served as chief of police at Corpus Christi.

Mace and about 15 other rangers were sent by Governor Dan Moody to Borger in 1929 when Johnny Holmes, district attorney, was slain. Mace was appointed chief of police in the Panhandle city until it voted a charter in 1930. He was highly respected as a peace officer there.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Mexia, with Ranger Chaplain P. B. Hill of San Antonio officiating. Six fellow rangers will be the pallbearers. Surviving are two sons, A. R. Mace, jr., Robert D. Mace of Houston; a daughter, Mrs. Alton Berger of San Antonio. Howard F. Mace, city manager of Mexia, is his nephew.

Program Is To Open Thursday

Many arrivals are expected today for the opening Thursday of the four-day semi-annual clothing market sponsored by Western Wholesale Clothing Market association, said Sam Rosenthal, president.

Approximately 250 to 300 representatives of more than 75 wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns representing practically every important jobbing center in the United States have advised they will be here, Rosenthal said.

Must Set Up Displays

Facing them will be the task of setting up the displays of dozens of lines of merchandise on the four floors of Lubbock hotel which have been reserved for the event. Rules of the association require that the exhibits be in place by 9 a. m. Thursday.

Purpose of the market, it was explained, is to provide in Lubbock a convenient trading point for wholesalers of the nation with retailers of West Texas and East New Mexico.

Biggest crowd of the market is expected to be here Thursday, when the annual dinner dance and floor show starting at 7:30 p. m. will be the chief attraction. The main ballroom of the Lubbock will be the scene.

Mark Halsey To Enlarge Store

In his store at 1219 Broadway, Mark Halsey literally will "hang up" a new department larger than his original Lubbock store established 10 years ago.

A balcony, 35x75 feet, will be constructed in the rear of the store and will be stocked with gift displays, as well as being furnished with rooms for fitting trusses to men and women.

Comparison Is Made

Halsey can look back to 1937 for a comparison with his present set-up. At that time he had a store 65x25 feet, the rest of his present 8,600 square feet of floor space being shared by refrigerator, furniture and grocery stores. The store now is 75x115 feet, termed the "largest drug store having only one floor in the South." Until lately, it had the largest soda fountain, manufacturers said.

Halsey began his drug business "in a town you wouldn't know," at Salado, Bell county. In 1927 he established the first drug store at Crane, in the Crane oil fields. Remaining there nine months, he removed to Lubbock. He has another large store, at Broadway and College.

YOUTH TAKEN HOME

SEAGRAVES.—John Stephens of Fort Smith, Ark., injured in a fatal car crash near Wellman, has been taken home from a Brownfield hospital where he was taken after the accident. He was employed here.

The area receiving the smallest amount of precipitation in the United States is the southeastern part of California and the western part of Arizona.

Special Railway Officer Says That Many Transients Are On Way To California

"Thirty dollars every Thursday," is the magnet that is drawing scores of former farm workers of California back to the "golden state," where they see permanent security with a weekly check or warrant or what have you, every Thursday.

Train riders through Lubbock are common at this season, says Cleve Cobb, special officer of the Santa Fe, one of whose jobs is to keep riders off freight trains. There are probably more riders now than for several years at cotton picking time.

Old Fellows Going Back

"The old fellows are bound for California," Cobb said in talking about riders at this season. "They are going there in order to get that check every week, that California is to vote on next month."

Cobb said he had talked to a number of men whom he had put off trains. Invariably the older men were California bound. The younger men are staying around here, looking for work as pickers in cotton fields.

Asked how they expected to prove citizenship in California, so they can qualify for a weekly check, the men generally reply, said Cobb, "Oh, I can prove I packed apples at certain places in the state for so many years."

They are all optimistic of securing weekly security check from their former temporary residence. Some of them have spent most of the winters of the past few years in California; hence they are claiming a residence there.

Cobb, a deputy sheriff, keeps the railroad yards here clear of transients and others who have no business on the property. He meets freight trains and when he finds a transient, orders him off the railroad property.

There are no "jungles" now around railroad yards as there were some years ago. Railroads have just about banished the jungle, the place where hoboes ate and slept. These were generally located near a junction point where trains slow down, so that the hobo could catch a ride.

"Jungles" were always strewn with empty tin cans, ashes of camp fires, stones or bricks for fireplaces, etc. Wood sometimes was found, left by previous campers, for a possible successor.

SUBSIDY PAYMENTS

MULESHOE.—Two hundred thirty-seven checks, amounting to $11,031.37, have been received here as subsidy payments. The county is expected to receive in all $195,733 as subsidy for 1937.

SEAGRAVES HOME SOLD

SEAGRAVES.—M. V. Cummings has sold his home here to Troy Noel of Lubbock. The purchaser is employed at Pegues-Starnes Motor Co. here and he is moving into it as soon as possible.

Red Raiders Work Hard Tuesday Afternoon; Miners Drill Against Tech Plays

Evils Of Punts Blocked Theme Of Tech Drill

A lot of queer things may happen to the Texas Tech Red Raiders between now and the end of the season, but one thing that is not likely to happen is a blocked punt.

Twice this season punts have been blocked against the Techs—once by Duquesne at Buffalo, again, last Saturday, by University of Montana at Missoula. The latter boomerang was quickly converted into a Montana touchdown. Until the Duquesne game, nobody had blocked a Tech punt since 1935.

And so yesterday, a few hours after the Reds disembarked after the long train and bus ride from Montana, Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith set about engineering precautions against further blocking of Tech punts.

For more than an hour the coaches lectured on the subject of "Blocked Punts, And What They Can Do For You," and followed up the lectures with a closely supervised punting drill.

On one side of the scrimmage line was a defensive team with orders to "block every punt," and on the other side Cawthon alternated two lines and three backfields and had Charley Calhoun, Bobby Holmes, Johnny Sims and Ty Bain punting under pressure. They must have kicked around 50 times, and only one was blocked, that resulting from a bad pass from center.

There followed a session of pass defensive practice, the Techs having heard they'll be up against a passer deluxe next Saturday at Odessa in the Border conference game against Texas College of Mines. While ends, centers and backs worked on passes and pass defense, Line Coach Dutchy Smith was administering to the guards and tackles, and still stressing the importance of not having punts blocked when the sun was setting.

Reception For Team

It was a rather sore and stiff squad of gridders that alighted from a backed bus in front of La Fonda dormitory early yesterday afternoon, to be greeted by a large portion of the student body, a hundred or so townspeople and part of the Tech band. The busload of gridders had been met, and welcomed home, out on the highway by Mayor Carl Slaton and a police motorcycle and patrol car escort. The squad had traveled by train to Amarillo, where a Lubbock bus was waiting to bring the boys on home.

No serous injuries were reported from the game at Montana, although Jodie Marek, fullback replacement and extra-point kicker deluxe, did suffer a back injury. He was in uniform yesterday afternoon, but taking things easily. Coaches believe he will be ready to play against the Miners Saturday.

In uniform also were Captain Frank Guzick, quarterback who has been out since the first game of the season with a knee injury, and Bill Davis, regular tackle injured in the Duquesne game. They were in uniform, but that's about all. Davis is hobbling about without aid of crutches, but probably will be withheld from the next game or two. The same is true of Guzick.

Miner Passes Feared

Scouting reports regarding Texas Mines, which defeated University of New Mexico Saturday, 7 to 6, tend to promise grief for the Red Raiders come Saturday.

Especially is there serious danger of being shot half to pieces by the aerial gunning of Kenneth Heineman, star triple threater for the Muckers. An agile runner, one of the best punters on the Mines squad, Heineman's popularity lies in his passng ability. Observers say he's just about as dead with his pitching as any gridder you'll be seeing in this or any other league, and forward passing figures amassed by the El Paso school bear out all observations.

Tickets for the Odessa conflict, at $2.20 a throw, are dwindling fast, but a hundred or so remain unsold at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers. Student ducats, at 50 cents each, are on sale from 9 a. m. until noon at the business office in the Tech administration building. All unsold tickets will be returned to Odessa, where there is a great scramble for them, on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Brown Is Hostess At Ladies' Day Today

Mrs. M. M. Brown will be hostess at the regular weekly "ladies day" tournament at Lubbock Country club this afternoon.

There will be no usual luncheon. All members are requested to meet at the club house at 1 o'clock this afternoon for start of play.

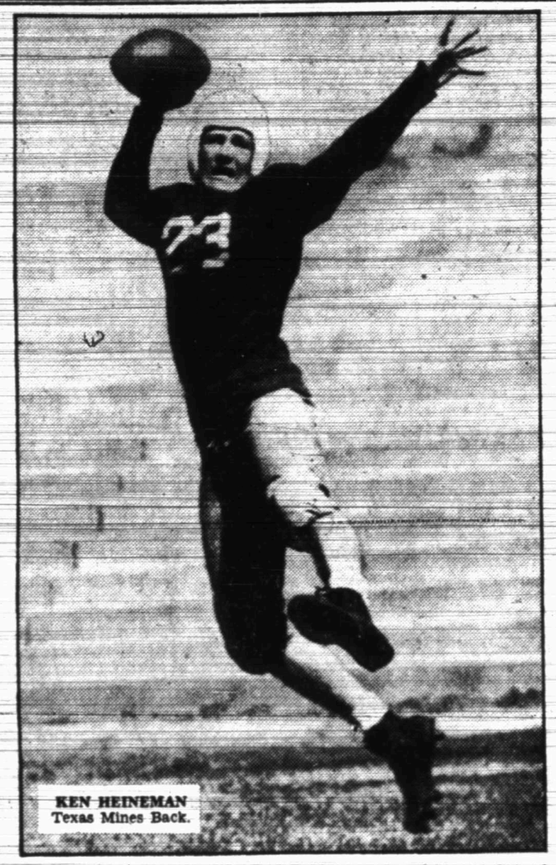

There will be nine and 18 hole flights.

PORKERS WORK OUT

ABILENE, Oct. 18. (AP) — "The Arkansas Traveler" special train was sidetracked here this afternoon two and a half hours while the University of Arkansas Porkers stepped through a lively workout at the Hardin Simmons university stadium.

The Arkansas team, with the school band and 60 rooters headed by Gov. Carl E. Bailey, headed toward California tonight. The Razorbacks play Santa Clara at San Francisco Saturday.

Hurlin' Heinie Is Handy Miner To Heed

KEN HEINEMAN
Texas Mines Back.

. . . And he's the man the Red Raiders must watch next Saturday at Odessa when Tech meets the Miners. They say Heineman can pitch with the best of them. He also runs and kicks, and does a fair job of blocking.

Westerners Have Busy Day Tuesday Getting Lined Up For Invasion Of Borger

Tuesday was busy day with the Westerners.

Running the gamut of practice maneuvers, the local high school lads pointed their efforts to perfecting offensive and defensive plays that will click against the Bulldogs of the Borger High kennel.

The Bulldogs come here Friday to help the Westerners blast the lid on District 1 play. Borger already has tasted a conference loss to Plainview.

Locals Seek Revenge

That setback to Plainview, however, is not causing the locals to let up on preparations. They hope to gain a measure of revenge for an 18-12 licking they received at Borger last year. It was the only upset suffered by the 1937 Westerner team.

Starting with a long drill of pass defense for backfield men, which at the same time gave ends a chance to polish up on pass snaring, the team branched out to include almost everything.

A hard session of blocking and tackling assumed game proportions. The regulars ran hard against the shock troopers for nearly an hour.

Special assignments deemed necessary to stop the Bulldog attack were given and rehearsed.

Allen Paces Bulldogs

Coach Catfish Smith boasts one of the best small backfield performers in the district in the person of Capt. Hubert "Flash" Allen. Sherman "Sully" Sullivan is considered one of the most polished tackles in the circuit.

The pair is ably assisted by a smooth working backfield and a well-balanced line.

Lubbock probably will have the services of Jerry Nash this week, he having sufficiently recovered a minor head injury and illness to suit out. Howard Alford likely again will take a turn at the right halfback post.

Cowboys To Battle Brownfield Today

Lubbock Junior High school's "Little" Cowboys, who aspire to wear Westerner uniforms within the next few years, will be "at home" to fans this afternoon in a scheduled game against the Brownfield junior high gridders.

The game is to start at 3:30 o'clock, and will be played at the gridiron on the Junior high campus.

Coach Gordon Thompson plans to start approximately the same eleven that opened last week's game against the Post juniors, which the Cowboys won, 26 to 6. That would mean Taylor and Frazier at ends, Lawson and Heard at tackles, Yandell and Glaze at guards, Howard, center; Thompson, quarterback; Wallace and Norcross, halfbacks, and Pipes, fullback.

PONIES READY TO LEAVE

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Thirty-two S.M.U. Mustangs, physically trim and mentally alert, after a long practice today, will entrain tomorrow afternoon for Pittsburgh to play the powerful Pitt Panthers Saturday afternoon.

The Mustangs will go through a short, light workout before leaving.

Cowhands Joust Frenship Today

Coach Walker Nichols sends his ambitious Lubbock Cowhands into battle at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon against the Frenship Tigers, one of the leading teams of District 2, Class C, on Westerner practice field.

Nichols' crew has been thinned out by frequent need for replacements on the Westerner team. However, he will send a scrapping lineup against the Frenship team.

The Cowhands have had varied fortune against Class B competition this season, and the Class C Tigers are considered almost as strong as boys in the higher classification.

Frenship is coached by Bob Rich, a former Westerner end. Rich made his mark on the Lubbock team, then cast his lot with the Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville. There he was recognized as one of the best wingmen ever produced and gained all-conference honors three years in succession.

Nichols probably will start the following lineup:

Ernest Jarrott and J. D. Milner, ends; Arlee Chism and Floyd Ward, tackles; Clyde Burleson and Tilman Cobb, guards; Preston Keaton, center; Billy Wright, quarter; Jimmy Williamson and L. C. McBride, halves; Max Walthal, full.

DICKENS NEEDS GAMES

DICKENS, Oct. 18. (Special) — The Dickens six-man football team is seeking games with teams within a reasonable traveling distance of Dickens, Coach Edwards said today.

The team plays Tatum, N. M., Nov. 4 and would like to match other contests before and after that date.

Henry Hatch, Michigan equipment man, was forced to order a special pair of shoes for End John Nicholson, who wears a size 14 triple E, the largest in Wolverine history.

"It Looks Bad," Saxon Laments Over Chances

(Special to The Avalanche)

EL PASO, Oct. 18—Texas Mines football players may not have enough time to stop and observe Texas Tech football plays Saturday afternoon in Odessa, so Head Coach Mack Saxon gave his charges a good look at Raider maneuvers on Kidd field Tuesday afternoon.

ATTEL

Marshall Pennington's freshman gridders ran through play after play used by the Lubbock club against such foes as Montana State, Wyoming, and Oklahoma City university.

"And darned if our freshmen didn't run through the varsity line with those plays as bad as Tech did through the boys from Montana, Wyoming, and Oklahoma," Saxon said following the workout.

"It looks bad—very bad," the Mucker mentor moaned.

"The best we can hope for is that Pete Cawthon just holds his 'goils' off us."

They Work Till Dark

In spite of his groaning, Saxon kept his men on the practice field until dark Tuesday afternoon, indicating he may be preparing a trick or two for the boys from the plains.

George Attel, regular guard, showed up for the drill with a badly swollen ankle which may keep him on the Odessa sidelines. In case he isn't able to play, George King will likely get his starting guard berth.

Intersectional Tilts Take National Focus

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP)—Since conference and sectional activities generally will be suffering a temporary lull, this week end's intersectional football games stand out more sharply in contrast. There are ten of major importance and interest, and six involve seven of the country's unbeaten survivors.

Outstanding game from this angle is between Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech at South Bend. Experts who sat in on Carnegie's one-point defeat of Holy Cross last Saturday came away with a strong impression that the Tartans played their cards close to their chests after getting their touchdown, and that they really are hoping to ambush the high-riding Ramblers.

Intersectional Games Slated

Three other of the East's other unbeaten elevens will be engaged intersectionally. Pittsburgh, having disposed decisively of Wisconsin, will tackle Southern Methodist, known to have a strong passing attack and aided by an extra week's rest since its surprise defeat by Marquette; Syracuse, upset conqueror of Cornell last week end, will travel to East Lansing to meet Michigan State, and Fordham, with a fast-moving running attack but lacking a finishing punch, will attempt to find that all-important attribute against Oregon's powerful Webfoots.

The other unbeaten teams on the program are Texas Christian, Southwest conference leader which comes north to meet Marquette, and Santa Clara, Pacific Coast "independent" which, in Arkansas' Razorbacks meets its second Southwest opponent of the young season.

The East and Southwest came out of last Saturday's nine intersectional duels with the major share of the spoils, the East with three victories and a tie in six games, the Southwest with two victories in three. The Far West came out worst of all, with Colorado losing to George Washington and Montana to Texas Tech.

MOORE NAMED PREXY

Sidney Moore, varsity netman, has been named president of the Texas Tech tennis club. Grace Mahoney is secretary and Harold Beckmeyer is treasurer. James G. Allen, tennis coach and dean of men, was elected sponsor of the club.

MILLER'S MUSINGS

By TOM MILLER

A NEW collum has its birth s'morning. The second birthday, by the by, is always the most appropriate of any for anything newspaperish—paper anniversary, y'know.

Coach Weldon Chapman is undecided whether to move his football team into the hospital or to move the hospital out with the lads. Certainly the Westerners, with all their ailments, could not have had a better game exacted of them than that of Friday night had they been at full strength.

It's been no secret hereabouts that the high school had something since they went into spring training for the present season. The backfield was experienced and more reserves appeared to be available than in several years. One by one misfortunes befell the affable coach.

First of all, Dutchy Cawthon did not register for school in order to preserve his eligibility. In spring training Coach Chapman had branded him one of the most improved players on the squad and his presence on the roster would have made Rusty Johnston's untimely loss felt less.

Then came probably the most untimely of all losses. Surely Paul Sparkman's broken leg is most lamentable from every standpoint. Dismemberment of physiques is not the aim of football. Sparky had been counted on to take the places of Herb Leaverton and L. D. Venable, and, although Red Pipes' fine play has made it certain that Sparkman would not have played 60 minutes of every game, his presence would have provided staunch fortifications at the pivot post, and you have the loss fully recounted.

AND Rusty Johnston took the tummy ache, a costly one. The boys who were heired his assignments were inexperienced, so Howard Alford had to switch mounts in the middle of the crick. That worked out all right last week and Rusty will be back in harness no later than Thanksgiving.

Jerry Nash then got his head bashed and a light touch of illness caused from that left him unfit to play little of the Capitol Hill game and none of the Lion tussle Friday night. A little thing like sickness didn't hamper Joe Pytell much, for that stellar guard postponed all meals Friday and proceeded to play above par.

James Merriman, a tackle, and Walter Daniel, a southpaw punting back, bit the dust after promising starts. Merriman may get back into the game later in the season.

That just about covers the team's hard luck, except two more tresses left one of the coaches' heads last week.

All that hard luck is nothing new to Coach Chapman. He once had three centers maimed at Cisco and finally depended on the water boy for snapper-back. If he discovered a couple of natural players on his team a month after the season opened he'd think they were sent to replace the other eleven he inevitably would lose by Turkey Day.

WILKINSON TO START

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18. (AP) — Ward Wilkinson, the "hard luck" senior from Dublin, will draw the starting fullback assignment against Marquette this Saturday, Coach Dutch Meyer of the TCU Horned Frogs said today.

Ward, a great punter, was handicapped by leg injuries after the second game last year.

Fighting Irish Destined For New Heights

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 18.—Irish Eyes are smiling at Notre Dame.

For the Fighting Irish apparently "have it" this season. Both on and off the campus the belief prevails that Notre Dame's football fortunes are on the road back to national leadership that Coach Elmer Layden is heading toward the heights the Irish occupied in the days of the great Knute Rockne.

Three Impressive Wins

In three starts this season, Notre Dame has defeated Kansas 52 to 0; Georgia Tech 14 to 6 and Illinois 14 to 6. The manner in which the Irish accomplished these triumphs, however, is more impressive. For the first tmie in several seasons, Notre Dame has topnotch backfield material—including several sons of Erin.

No great Notre Dame team lacked a fine left halfback, and this year's Irish eleven has three talented youths for that position. Harry Stevenson is a fine kicker, runner and passer. Bob Saggau, as a sophomore, gives promise of developing into a great runner. Ben Sheridan, with one more season to go, has stamped himself as one of the most elusive speedsters to wear the Irish uniform in many campaigns.

Potentially, this year's team is the best since 1930. But inexperience—there were several costly fumbles against Illinois—may cost the Irish victories in a schedule which perhaps ranks as the hardest taken on by any major eleven: Carnegie Tech next Saturday, followed by Army, Navy, Minnesota, Northwestern and Southern California.

But win, lose or draw, they'll tell you on the Notre Dame campus that Irish are on the march and that it will take several good football teams to slow them down.

Bussey Will Continue His Studies, Close Pal Says

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 18. (AP) Indications were tonight that Young Bussey, 20-year-old star halfback dismissed from Louisiana State's football squad, intends to remain at the university and continue his study in petroleum engineering.

An intimate friend of the football player said Bussey told him he would remain in school on his own funds. Bussey's athletic scholarship was withdrawn when he was dismissed.

MRS. O. S. HILL

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Opal S. Hill, internationally known golfer, announced today in a telegram to the Kansas City Star she has decided to become a "business-woman" professional.

She said she had accepted a position on the promotion staff of a sporting goods company (Wilson Western).

"I'm not going to sell or teach," Mrs. Hill said, "but devote all my time and effort toward creating good will."

The Kansas City woman, who took up golf for her health in 1923, has won every major title except the National.

Tech Netters Play ACC Here Saturday

Texas Tech's tennis team will make its second appearance of the season at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon against the crack Abilene Christian college team on the college concrete courts.

The Abilene strokers are paced by Kendall Jones and Murray Marshall, who have helped beat the Red Raiders three of four matches during the past two years. Coach James G. Allen of the Tech team considers the Christians the stiffest competition in Texas outside the University of Texas.

Wilson Chapman, Sidney Moore, Jesse Lee Beene, and Claude Bateman will carry the Raider colors into the matches.

Sailor Watkins Grapples Jack Hagen Tonight

TONIGHT'S CARD

Main event—Sailor Tex Watkins of Post vs. Jack Hagen of Shreveport, two of three falls or two-hour time-limit.

Semifinal—Joe Kopecky of Houston vs. Scotty William of Louisville, one fall or 30 minutes.

Curtain raiser—Gus Johnson of Duluth vs. Sheik Mar Allah of Persia, one fall or 20 minutes.

Time and place—8 o'clock, the Auditorium.

The scrowling face of Sailor Watkins will beam in the Auditorium ring on the weekly grappling card tonight, with Jack Hagen, the ex-Centenary college freshman footballer, ready to mess it up.

Old Sailor Tex, looking chipper and healthy, came back to this vicinity recently after a summer in Mississippi and announced he was ready to take on all comers. That was the cue Promoter Sled Allen wanted because the Post cowboy is one of the most popularly booed necktwisters he can get on the dotted line.

The Louisiana butcher boy has been having lots of success and has nearly as many enemies in the ringside seats as Watkins. So a pair of villainous personages take to it.

Kopecky Jousts William

They should make main event of the summer season look like marble games.

As if he hadn't done enough in bringing Sailor Watkins here, Allen matched Old Panther Joe Kopecky and Scotty William in the semi-windup. The South Texan gets gay with the retiring boys and holds his own with the rough ones.

He is a crowd pleaser, although the fans would like to have his neck. William is one of the cleanest boys showing here.

Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah, he of the Persian title, stakes his whiskers and tenacled temper against Gus Johnson in the curtain raiser. The Minnesota Swede was a main eventer until he was tossed from the roost a few weeks ago.

Traynor Gets New Contract As Manager Of Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18. (AP) — Pennant or no pennant, piloting the Pittsburgh Pirates appeared a steady job today as Manager Harold Joseph (Pie) Traynor signed for his fifth full season, at an increase in salary.

The quiet, likeable Traynor has lasted longer than any of his predecessors since Fred Clarke finished a 16 year reign in 1915.

SERIES RESUMED

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 18. (AP)—If a wind can be whistled up, Captain Ben Pine's Challenger, the schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud, and Captain Angus Walters' Bluenose, the big Canadian defender of the International Fishermen's trophy, will resume their contest for the sailing championship of the North Atlantic off this port at 9:05 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow.

Each has taken one race in the three-out-of five series.

COWBOYS PLAY THURSDAY

Coaches Mule Davis and Lovie Liston will send their Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys into their fourth game of the season against Sweetwater Junior High at Westerner practice field Thursday afternoon. The Cowboys have won their first three starts.

Usif Haney, Michigan State varsity halfback, has a brother coming up on the freshman squad whose first name will stump a lot of sports writers and printers. It's Shaheen.

How To See Football

THE 7-2-2 DEFENSE

By JERRY BRONDFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

A team that has no particular fear of its opponent's passing attack may use a 7-2-2 defense with very good effect. This set-up employs a seven-man line and a boxed backfield, with two backs a couple of yards behind scrimmage to the rear of the tackles, and the other two in the same approximate position about 19 yards to the rear.

This goes a long way toward stopping a strong running game, and if the defending backs are fast, they can cover plenty of territory against passes.

A good spot for this set-up is when the attacking team is knocking at the goal-line, from anywhere within the 10-yard stripe, where the defense must be as closely-knit as possible, and yet flexible enough to guard against the danger of passes over the line.

The two defending backs up close must stop any running play which breaks through, in addition to helping out against passes, particularly laterals, or forwards into the flat.

The last two defenders must watch the aerials over the goal, yet be ready to come up fast to stop any ground play which looks as though it has gone too far.

Japan's Advance Into South China Now Is Threatening Trade Of Americans

Rights Are To Be Protected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Japan's advance into South China is threatening extensive American trade and investments.

Federal officials, watching the new turn the Sino-Japanese war has taken, are prepared to assert American rights to equal opportunity for trade, residence and missionary activity.

Exports Have Tripled

American exports sent to the British port of Hongkong, almost all for forwarding to South China, have more than tripled in the last year and a half. For the first eight months of 1938 they totaled $15,714,000. In August they were $1,871,000, which contrasted with an average of $609,000 in the first three months of 1937.

American products have been flowing to Hongkong because the war in North and Central China cut off trade in those regions. Now the war in South China may deflect them again, possibly through French Indo-China or Burma, India.

Property Is Extensive

Although experts here estimate American business investments in South China do not aggregate more than $5,000,000, there is a much larger percentage of American mission property in the area.

One of the most noted American missions is the Lingnan university outside Canton. Its campus was bombed this summer by Japanese airplanes, and the incident was the subject of a diplomatic exchange between the American and the Japanese governments.

The total American investment in China is estimated at about $250,000,000, of which $150,000,000 is business property. Nearly $10,000,000 of this is in Shanghai, with Tientsin in North China coming next.

W. Lee O'Daniel Is Invited To Attend Tech Gathering

Letter inviting Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel to attend a Texas Technological college alumni and ex-students dinner in Dallas Nov. 25 has been mailed by Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee of the college.

The dinner will be conducted while the Texas State Teachers association is in session in Dallas. Former students attending the convention and those living in that vicinity, their guests, and faculty members attending the meeting are to be present at the dinner.

Dr. Albert Barnett, education professor and chairman of the dinner arrangements committee, Calvin Hazlewood, executive secretary of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, and Dr. Gordon are directing plans.

OFFICE I S ROBBED

PARIS, Oct. 1 8 (AP)—An armed, unmasked bandit today entered the office of the Texas Cities Gas company, gagged Tom Petty, office manager and took $7 from the cash drawer.

Petty was alone in the office when the bandit entered, but Bill Farley of Dallas, district supervisor, walked in during the robbery and the bandit relieved him of $20 in cash.

Health Troubles Yield To Gly-Cas

Sour Stomach, Indigestion Ended; Other Medicines Unable To Reach His Stubborn Case

"I have received wonderful benefits from the use of Gly-Cas," said Mr. J. L. Shropshire, Petrolia, Texas (near Wichita Falls). "I was in a miserable condition suffering with indigestion after most every meal. It seemed everything I ate soured on my stomach regardless of how careful I was in the selection of my diet, and gas would form in abundance. I had also been bothered for years with a bladder disorder getting me up many times a night and making my rest so broken that I was worn-out all the time. My system was filled with poisons and my search was in vain for something to reach my stubborn case. Everything that I tried was unable to help me in the least . . . until I began Gly-Cas and almost from the first dose I was greatly benefitted.

"I am now enjoying the best of health," continued Mr. Shropshire. "My stomach has been regulated and I am able to eat the foods of my choice with no ill effects afterwards. Night risings are now in the past, I rest well, arising each morning with renewed energy and vitality ready for the day's work. The poisonous impurities are leaving my system by natural elimination and I cannot express my gratitude for a medicine that was able to accomplish the seemingly impossible as Gly-Cas has done for me."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Field Trip To Clients Of The FSA Will Be Staged Today

Field trip to clients of the Farm Security administration in Lubbock and Lynn counties and also possibly to the Ropesville community project by rural and home supervisors, is to start from the federal building before 9 o'clock this morning.

About 25 men and women from 22 counties are expected here for a 2-day meeting today and Thursday.

Earl Wise, Amarillo, district supervisor, arrived yesterday afternoon for the trip and also the school of training Thursday.

Floyd Higbee, regional farm management advisor and Miss Esther Call, regional home economics advisor, are to conduct the school. Mrs. Ruby De Long, district home supervisor, also will be here. All are from Amarillo.

Pushkin, Russian writer and poet, was a direct descendant of a Negro slave.

Good Collections On Loans In Two Counties Reported

Good collections of loans made to farm families of Lynn and Lubbock counties by the Farm Security administration, are reported by Marvin Wilson, rural supervisor of the two counties.

Loans this year were about 20 per cent under those of 1937. Improved cotton crop conditions over those of 30 and 45 days ago, have made possible the payments, Wilson said.

Grain crops are also better. Farmers plan to feed out livestock where they have enough feed.

One person in every 40 of London's population is either Scotch or Irish.

Problem Confronts Oil

ADVOCACY by Frank Phillips, chairman of the board of a great oil company, of federal legislation to conserve oil and its resources should cause more concern among men of his own industry than among others.

Government intervention in the affairs of industry seldom is desirable. Ordinarily business suffers in direct proportion to the extent of governmental control over it. One of the chief criticisms of the New Deal is that business and industry are at the mercy of the whims of the administration. The charge has been made by more than one outstanding leader who should be competent to speak that the main reason why the depression continues is too much government in business.

Mr. Phillips' remarkable suggestion that the government should further tighten its control over the oil industry certainly indicates that in his opinion the affairs of this industry have fallen into a chaotic state. Otherwise he would want the government to keep hands off.

It long has been apparent that all is not well in the petroleum industry of this country. Until a few years ago, an almost criminal waste marked the development of every new field. Finally the individual operators made hit-or-miss and wholly unsuccessful efforts to correct conditions. Next the oil producing states entered into compacts seeking to keep production and demand in something of balance. The compacts without doubt alleviated the condition somewhat, but certainly they have not been a cure—nor is there prospect that this will be.

Eventually—and not too far in the future—a cure must be found. People of the United States, out of consideration for their own national welfare and safety—cannot permit the exhaustion or serious depletion of perhaps the greatest of their natural resources. Now or later in some manner, the nation must conserve for the future.

Apparently, only two courses are open if the problem is to be solved. One is by the industry itself—which is the plan to be desired. The other is by the federal government—and that will come unless the industry itself makes such extreme step unnecessary.

Proving Aviation's Advance

THE abandoned attempt by Aviator Jack Knight to fly a 20-year-old airplane from coast-to-coast a few days ago pictures, by vivid contrast, the amazing advance of aviation.

Knight, who is rated one of the better pilots, managed to get the old crate from Burbank, Calif., to Las Vegas, Nev., a distance of less than 300 miles. Then he called the whole thing off as a bad job. He wanted no more of such flying.

Yet his ship probably was as far superior to planes which have made trans-continental flights as are the airliners of the present to Knight's 20-year-old crate. His was of the type which benefitted from the development accelerated by World war fighting. His general type of ship successfully flew the first scheduled airmail, set an altitude record of 28,000 feet, flew around the British Isles and was less than one year distant from the first heavier-than-air flight across the Atlantic ocean. Think how much superior those ships must have been to the contraption which G. R. Rodgers flew from coast to coast in 49 days in 1911.

Knight's abandoned flight emphasizes once more what hardy souls our pioneer aviators must have been, what suicidal chances they took, and the immense debt that aviation today owes to them.

The One-Minute Sermon

If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.

And he said unto them, take heed what ye hear: with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you: and unto you that hear shall more be given.

For he that hath, to him shall be given: and he that hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he hath.—St. Mark 4: 23 through 25.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

OLDEST LIVING THINGS ON EARTH

The oldest living things on earth are believed to be the macrozamia denisoni trees found in the Tambourine Mountains near Brisbane, Australia. Their age is estimated at more than 12,000 years, which makes California sequoias look like mere infants.

These trees are only 20 feet high, but in spite of their comparatively insignificant size, they are older than sequoias or even the Tree of Tule, Mexico. A macrozamia which measures one foot in diameter and 5 feet in height is more than 1,000 years old. In the big trees, the age is determined by counting the annual rings. In the case of macrozamia, their age can be established most accurately by counting the armor of leaf bases, a peculiar protective tissue which envelopes the base of its crown of leaves and which increases with each biennial production of leaves. The tree has growing periods and periods of prolonged rest. It cannot be sawed apart but it can be chopped down with an axe. Its leaves have a tint of reddish purple.

The Characters

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.

Archie Lumsden, myself Hugo's friend.

Ottie Wills, beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday: In the astrological magazine, the death of Virgue Wills is predicted for late August. We think Geiss is the brain behind the swindle.

Chapter 20

August 30th Is The Date

"I came to two conclusions," Dunning went on. "First that, by some means, the conspirators had tumbled to the fact that we were on their trail, and second, that, before liquidating their gains and scattering to the four corners of the earth, they had settled to close with one large, spectacular rake-off, and for their burnt-offering had selected Mr. Virgoe Wills. The fact that I was personally acquainted with Mr. Wills and his two nieces had doubtless escaped their notice."

"It also occurred to me that the head of the whole concern was publishing his interesting little forecasts without the knowledge of his subordinates and partners in crime. Well, friends, just as soon as I had finished my thinking I got busy. My first step was to send out a string of cables to my assistants, instructing them to get on the trail of any insurance policies on the life of Mr. Virgoe Wills; my second was to pack my bags and head for home. I landed in New York and had an instructive interview with Miss Ottilie Wills."

He broke off and laid a large, white paw on the girl's shoulder.

You'll forgive me, honey," said he, "but I'm obliged to say this. Gentlemen, you must understand that there was a vast difference in the mentality of the two sisters. Where Melanie was scatter-brained, impulsive, and erratic Ottilie is as level-headed as a man. It was therefore to her I turned. I knew about Melanie's disappearance, but right away Ottilie gave me another vital item of information, she told me that her uncle had planned, last fall, to pay a visit this summer to the south of France."

The girl stood up and linked her arm in his. "You're beginning to see?" she asked eagerly, and Hugo nodded. "I fancy," said he, "that you and Mr. Dunning then decided to inform your uncle of what was going on and to persuade him to cancel his trip to Europe?"

She looked at him with an odd little smile. "You're every bit as intelligent as I thought you were!", she said. "I told Sis first, and then Cuthbert here tackled Uncle and begged him to give up the idea of the trip. But he's very strong-minded and he hates to have his personal safety fussed over, and he just wouldn't listen to any of us. Cuthbert, by this time, had found out that heavy insurance policies were being taken out against the chance of anything happening to Uncle while he was in France—heavier than ever before—and that made Sis and me crazy with nervousness. It was then she said she couldn't stand the strain any longer and went away, as we thought, to California. Two weeks after she'd gone, Baron Stahl arrived in New York, and I began to meet him socially."

Hugo took a pace or two up and down the room. "I wondered about that," he said abruptly. "So Stahl never met your sister in America, and the chances are he wouldn't recognize her when he saw her here. He'd accept her as Eve Monet."

"I suppose," I added, "that he went to New York for the purpose of making your uncle's acquaintance?"

She nodded again. "Yes," she said eagerly, "and that's why I had the fright of my life when I met him first; but it was nothing to the scare I had when he showed up at Antibes, the evening we arrived. Cuthbert had told us, you see, what he and the other two, Venner and Rakovsky, had been doing, and I guess that was the idea in Sis's mind—to come over to Europe and make acquaintance with the three of them, hoping the trail would lead her to their chief."

'Not Easy To Handle'

"And the trail," said Hugo gravely, "led her, we must suppose, to Geiss. What does your uncle say to Stahl's turning up here? It must be obvious to him that the fellow's paving the way in some fashion for the attempt on his life?"

She threw out her hands. "He says it's all poppy-cock, moonshine, and if I talk to him about it again he'll send me packing back home."

"Not an easy relative to handle," commented Hugo dryly. "Dunning, what's your idea of the business?"

The big man shrugged. "I'm waiting to hear your end of the story, Mr. Stern. I'm still all in the dark as how you and Mr. Lumsden got mixed up in this."

As clearly as I could I told him the events of the last fifty hours.

When I had finished, Hugo said, "Isn't it time we discussed something concrete—a plan of campaign? I take it, we are to accept the 30th as the date fixed for Mr. Will's assassination? There should be some reason for arbitrarily choosing the day. Normally, I imagine killers make their preparations and then wait until a suitable opportunity occurs, unless, of course, there's some special function fixed for that day that would make their task easy. Miss Wills, has your uncle any public engagements while he's here?"

She shook her head. "Not a thing," she said definitely.

"Mr. Stern, I get your notion," said Dunning. "There must be something special about the 30th—something that's due to occur that day, quite apart from Mr. Wills, and the sooner we find out what it is, the better. What next?"

"There's Melaine's letter," Hugo said abruptly. "We've accepted the date, but there are two other points to be considered. The word 'L'Amourie' is mentioned in connection with the Grimoire. It may be anything—the name of the present printer for example, but if you like I'll charge myself with trying to trace it. I've lived on this coast a long time, and I've friends among the fisher-folk and shopkeepers who might help me. The other points to be considered is this Club des Sans Clubs, whatever that may be, which meets at the Caves des Muettes and the Chateau la Vague. I'll have a shot at finding the Caves, if you like, for the same reason as before, but as for the Chateau—"

"All right," I said, "I'll take care of that. I'm shifting my traps there tonight," I explained to Dunning. "Apart from investigating the club, I've a strong desire to see a little more of that housekeeper. But there's one last query I'd like to raise. What about keeping a watch of some sort on Geiss and Baron Stahl? And this man Venner—can't we discover what and where he is? For all we know, he may be perfecting their arrangements somewhere else, while the other two sit here and keep us off the scent."

The big man inclined his head. "That reminds me that there's an item of information I've neglected to pass on. My investigations convinced me from the first that, while other groups were behind certain of the policies, these three men, Venner, Rakovsky, and Stahl, were the guiding hand that controlled the lot—in other words they were the three principal lieutenants, acting directly under their chief, and just as soon as I'd got that figured out, I made it my business to find out a little more about them."

Reprimand For Ottilie

He took off his spectacles, swinging them slowly between finger and thumb. "Stahl was easy," he said. "He's the international bucket-shop expert, grown so rich the law can't touch him, floating one fake company after another and always getting clear while the going is good, and leaving his associates to face the music. Rakovsky wasn't so difficult, either. He's the adventurer type, pure and simple, dabbling in every kind of dirty deal. But Venner was a tough problem. It took me quite a while to track him down, but eventually I managed it. You remember the Martinez bank scandal in London, fifteen years ago?

"There was a nasty scandal, but the only charge that could be brought was maladministration, which isn't an indictable offence, and Martinez himself had disappeared so completly from view that after a bit no one thought any more about him. They might have looked a bit longer and thought a bit more if they'd realized that Martinez was only his middle name. Charles Martinez Venner was what his god-parents handed out to him at his baptism."

"Phew!" said I. "And where is the gentleman now?"

Dunning shook his head. "At the moment he eludes me, but I know that's he's an old man and a sick man, and I don't fancy he counts for much in this organization."

"In that case," I said, "we can rule out Mr. Venner, but what about the other two?"

"Ah!" said the big man, "that's where I come in. I may say that I've a few men scattered along this coast-line, and it will be my duty and my pleasure to detail certain of them to keep an eye on those two gentlemen. I promise

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

JOHN NANCE GARNER'S friends have organized a private posse to run down the man—or men—who reputedly tried to prevent Texas Democrats from endorsing him as their 1940 presidential candidate. They suspect that they're on the scent of America's No. 1 political feud—Roosevelt versus Garner.

The facts as pieced together by the V. P.'s promoters seem to be that a stranger from Washington appeared at Beaumont on the eve of the state convention. The visitor closely resembled Charles West, erstwhile presidential scout and then Under-Secretary of the Interior until Mr. Ickes showed him the door. Mr. West has been traveling in the West, addressing public meetings and asking private gatherings what they thought the 1940 lineup would be. He has left a cross-country trail of curious politicos behind him.

The Young Democrats of Texas were scheduled to back Mr. Garner as their 1940 man, but something slipped at the last moment. Simultaneously, so the inside story goes, word reached Washington that no endorsement for the V. P. would be forthcoming at the convention. But something slipped again—Mr. Garner's friends got to work—and he got what he wanted.

DELPHIC: The diplomatic Mr. Roosevelt thought he sidestepped a trap when asked what he thought of James A. Farley's preference for Democrats over "liberals" in the Congressional campaign. To those who weren't listening carefully to previous questions and answers F. D. R. cleverly repudiated the idea that he and his political ace differed on this all-important issue.

As reported in the press, the President replied that if he were national chairman, he would take the same attitude. He added subsequently that he was speaking not as President, but as head of the Democratic party. That is, he was talking politics, not New Deal philosophy. But the President—and almost everybody else—apparently forgot his earlier reply to questions about his conference with that soldier of political fortune—Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania. Like F. D. R., the forester has been the despair of Republican presidents, state bosses and national chairmen.

"Oh!" said Mr. Roosevelt, in effect, "we talked about liberalism in American politics. And we found ourselves in general accord on the problem." Mr. Farley, who remembers Mr. Pinchot as one of the greatest party wreckers in history, will find it hard to reconcile those delphic statements from the White House.

CAUTION: Harry Hopkins probably has no sympathy with the Dies "red hunt", but behind his refusal to lend investigators to the Congressional committee was a personal reason. He scorched his fingers once when he supplied agents to a Capitol Hill project, almost suffered a terrific cut in W. P. A. appropriations, and he doesn't intend to burn them again.

Several years ago House appropriators discovered that W. P. A.-ers were furnishing voluntary aid to several committees which the legislators had treated rather generously. Mr. Hopkins' defense of these projects riled the Congressmen, and they tacked on a proviso to the W. P. A. money bill that not a cent should be spent for anybody employed on Congressional inquiries. The ban wasn't renewed last year, and Harry has a legal right to deploy his men wherever he pleases, but he's taking no chances.

Only recently his generosity in spreading his people was discovered in Pennsylvania. Although a state commission investigating the oil industry in the Keystone State was declared unconstitutional last spring, and therefore has no legal status, it has continued to function with a $125,000 W. P. A. grant. Harry's not afraid of the courts—state courts—but he has to go to Congress for his money. And he wants a big lump next year.

NEUTRALITY: Enforcement of the highly complicated neutrality act has brought difficulties which the State Department munitions man—Joseph C. Green—has had to solve in practical, home made fashion. It's a pioneer enterprise.

One type of gas whose export is prohibited is "monochlormethylchlorformate." Obviously customs officials cannot be expected to know whether that is a deadly weapon or a baby food, and they might let such a cargo slip through the net. But it happens that there are comparatively few makers of this and other war use gases; they were rounded up or seen singly upon the President's proclamation of what constitutes anti-neutrality stuff. The penalty of a five-year sentence and a $10,000 fine was read to them, and so far they have behaved.

In many weapons—pistols, machine guns, airplanes—there are parts which, when separated from the article itself, might belong to a typewriter or baby carriage. There is no way for an inspector to recognize them as essential parts of a death-dealing instrument. So export of only the plainly recognizable portions is proscribed. That's why there is no mention of the insides of rifles, big guns, airplanes, etc. in the proclamation or regulations.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

ONE significant backstage aspect of the Four Power agreement at Munich has escaped general attention. Most people now recognize (as we pointed out at the time) that the setup is essentially anti-communist. They do not yet realize that it is also anti-Japanese.

Despite Germany's theoretical "alliance" with Japan, New Yorkers in a position to know say that Hitler takes the "yellow peril" very seriously. England, Germany and France are determined to protect their extensive interests in the Far East. Japan will have to deal with them. They do not want Japan to dominate all of China. If they can help it, she won't.

Insiders predict that the Western European powers will soon put severe economic pressure on Japan to force her to come to terms before the conquest of China is complete. They can do this without attracting any public notice at all if they work together behind the scenes. They are willing to let Japan have some Chinese spoils to save her face and to keep her strong enough to be an effective set to Russia. But they aim to strangle her Pan-Asiatic dreams before these can be translated into a troublesome reality.

SECESSION: Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain has intimated that he will soon be ready to discuss the colonial question with Hitler. Well informed sources prophesy that he will propose the transfer of the former German colonies now under mandate to Nazi rule.

Chamberlain is in for a lot of grief if he tries to give Southwest Africa back to Germany. This colony is mandated to South Africa, not to Great Britain—and South Africa hasn't the slightest intention of giving it up.

Responsible South African leaders recently in New York confided to American friends that any attempt by Great Britain to force them to yield on this would touch off a red-hot demand for South African secession from the British Empire.

REWARD: New York social circles are chuckling over a story relayed from London to the effect that things can hardly be worse. It implies:

"Lost: Briefcase containing five Czechoslovakian bonds. If finder will return briefcase he may keep the bonds."

From a Washington bureau comes the statment that 100 pounds of cash is almost as much as one Washington lobby can yield in a day.

An inventor predicts that there will be no new death-dealing instruments in the next war. Oh, that's all right; what was good enough for pa's good enough for us.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"You could have talked me out of coming along, couldn't you?"

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Revision of election laws is considered by the going legislature.

For several years ocratic Executive been urging overhaul tion statutes, not for intent or alter party move ambiguities.

A bill in line committee, introduced biennial session, sent up again but vamped.

Metcalfe Interested

Senator - Nominate Penrose Metcale, San Angelo, also has been having some thoughts of the subject, especially as concerns poll tax exemptions.

The present system is very lax and encourages fraud, he said in Austin recently.

Under the present law citizens 60 years and older are exempt from tax. Those residing in cities of more than 10,000 population must obtain an exemption certificate while those living in towns of less than 10,000 and in rural areas do not have to have one.

Metcalfe would require everyone exempt from the tax to obtain a certificate.

"The system is very loose and ought to be corrected," he said. "No county in Texas knows how many persons it has exempt from the tax, such records as are poorly kept and are very inaccurate.

"People get an exemption certificate in one county and move to another. Certificates are lost. Officials have to guess at the amount of supplies which will be needed for an election.

"The place to start in straightening out the situation is to require an exemption certificate of all persons who are exempt from the tax."

IF Governor Allred had it to do over again he would file separate suits against the 15 major oil companies and the two associations which seven years ago he accused of violating the Texas anti-trust laws.

The state agreed the other day to a settlement of the suit for $450,000, which was paid by the Texas Marketers association. Charges against the other defendants were dropped.

Governor Allred commented that the settlement on the whole probably was a good thing, adding later:

"If I had it to do over again I would file separate suits. There were just too many big companies to put into one suit. There were 50 lawyers in the courtroom and it would have taken possibly six months to try the case."

Civil Provisions Upheld

The chief result of the famous suit, filed by Allred when he was attorney-general, seems to be that the civil provisions of the anti-trust laws have been upheld by the Texas Supreme court.

Criminal provisions are under attack and are expected to be passed upon soon by the Court of Criminal Appeals, acting on a case from Houston involving beer distribution.

The supreme court sustained the civil section of the anti-trust statutes about a year ago. The Austin court of civil appeals had held them invalid because they exempted farmers and stockmen from their application.

It was after the supreme court had upheld the laws that the case went back to the Travis county district court where, on the recommendation of Judge J. D. Moore, the settlement was reached.

LAWYERS, judge, defendants and press correspondents all apparently were quite happy that a compromise was achieved.

None who had had anything to do with the suit in its preliminary trial relished the prospect of a trial on merits.

With 15 major oil companies able to put on testimony in any detail and unlimited by time or expense the trial would have gone on no one could predict how long. There was no protest against calling a halt.

Dana X. Bible, head football coach at the University of Texas, has a warm supporter in Governor Allred.

After the Longhorns had lost to Kansas and Louisiana State the governor was asked at a press conference what he thought of Bible. He warmed right up to the subject.

"I'd rather have good leadership than a winning team and the Longhorns now have great leadership," he said.

"All the Southwest Conference football teams can't win. It's just like politics. Only one candidate can be elected to an office; the other must lose.

"The Longhorns are coming on. You couldn't improve on Bible."

ou I won't be idle!"

"And me?" asked the girl plainively. "What's my job to be, gentlemen?"

"You," said Dunning hurriedly, have got just about the most rgent job of all. Ottilie, you've ot to persuade your uncle right way to shift from Antibes to the arlton here in Cannes. The Cap's lonely spot. We can't look after im adequately while he's there, nd the fact that the Baron's a ellow-guest doesn't add any to my eace of mind. Can you do that, do ou think?"

"I'll fix it," said the girl, nodding er head. "It won't be any too easy, ut I'll do it. And after that," she dded thoughtfully, "I guess I'll e like Cuthbert and pursue my n line of investigation independently."

Hugo broke in curtly, "Miss Wills," e said, "understand this, please. you start any independent investigations, I wash my hands of he whole affair, once and for all. t isn't your personal safety that 'm concerned with, so much as he fact that, by some foolishness, ou may endanger us all and make impossible to help your uncle."

She stared at him, too furious to peak, then she marched out on he terrace where Ada sat, a monument of patience surrounded by ea-cups.

TARZAN THE FEARLESS No. 57 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Out of the corner of an eye the lion caught a glimpse of his new foe and leaped to meet the attack. Tarzan dodged that first swift rush and tried to spring astride the beast, but the lion whirled to renew the charge, his fangs bared, his throat expelling mighty roars.

Tarzan knew the fighting methods of lions. His phenomenal agility enabled him to avoid the ripping claws, the snap of angry jaws. But he himself had no chance to deliver a telling blow. Unless he did so soon, a lucky stroke from a claw might lay him low.

The tumult of the battle penetrated the peace of Mary's slumber. She sprang up with a start. Terror, panic clutched her mind and heart. "Jeff," she screamed; "Jeff! Where are you? What's happening?" Jeff did not answer. He lay motionless where he had fallen.

Not far away a lioness pricked up her ears. Those mighty roars told her that her mate was making a kill. She trotted forward, intent on sharing it. But as she ran, her nostrils caught Mary's scent. Here was a prey nearby. She would make a kill for herself!

THE LUBBOCK LIVESTOCK COMMISSION CO.
At 1510 Ave. B
HORSE AND MULE AUCTION SALE EACH THURSDAY
Our horse sale was the best we have had and good stock brought a good price. Had 150 head and will need more stock all the time as our market is getting better advertised and we have more buyers.
Cattle sale every Wednesday. Last week we did not have many cattle, but a nice little run for first sale. Everyone was well pleased and we expect to have more cattle from now on, and we are going to quote prices they bring from sale to sale, not what these cattle bring on some other market but our market. So bring in your cattle and help us make Lubbock the biggest market in West Texas.
Jersey stockers from 3.75@4.25, common butcher weight from 500-700, 4.50 @5.50. Choice butcher cows from 3.50@4.30. No fat cows offered. Bulls from 3.75@4.25.
No heavy bulls offered. Consign your cattle to us each Wed. for better prices. We are bonded for your protection.

DONALD DUCK "Keep Off The Grass" By Walt Disney

Arabs Defiant Before British

JERUSALEM, Oct. 18. (AP)—Defiant in face of formidable display of British armed strength, Arab rebels clung to the Moslem section of Jerusalem's old city tonight after four days of siege.

The scarred and battlemented walls of the ancient city were surmounted by platoons of British soldiers, armed with rifles, machine guns and hand grenades, while from within the Moslem section rebel riflemen kept up intermittent sniping attacks.

Is Largely Inactive

The siege was largely inactive Royal Air Force observation and bombing planes flew over the Arab-dominated area today, but dropped no bombs in fear of damaging the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the mosque of Omar, the site of Solomon's temple and the historical wailing wall of the Jews.

British soldiers and police were rushed into the old city last night to protect Jewish and Armenian quarters.

Last night echoed to the bursting of terrorist's bombs, the ping of snipers' bullets and the volleys of riflefire.

Face Difficult Task

The British army would face a most difficult task if it were decided to storm the Moslem section. The rebels have secreted themselves in cellars and other subterranean hideouts from which they emerged from time to time to carry on their guerilla warfare.

Troops guarded every approach to Jerusalem, less the beleaguered Arabs in the old city draw reinforcements from their 10,000 comrades waging guerrilla warfare of protest against British rule in the holy land.

Nearly 2,000 casualties have resulted in the past 12 weeks of what the British call the Arab revolt.

Delegates From Cities Along Air Route Are To Gather

Representatives of cities along the route of a proposed air line from El Paso to Denver will meet Oct. 29 at the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

Call for the meeting was issued by Tom W. Cotten, charman of the Amarillo chamber's aviation committee.

Attending will be representatives of Continental Airlines which have applied to the civil aeronautics commission for permission to establish the line.

Invited to be present are representatives from Lubbock, Dalhart and El Paso, Texas; Denver and Pueblo, Colo., and Roswell, Hobbs and Garlsbad, N. M.

SHARP RALLY STAGED

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—A late buying rush for motors touched off a sharp rally in today's stock market and pulled up many shaky issues of the forenoon for closing gains running to 3 or more points.

The reviving stimulant was provided by Chairman Sloan of General Motors who sounded an optimistic note for the automotive industry and announced his company was reemploying 35,000 workers during the next two weeks and restoring pay reductions of office workers instituted last February.

The trend was well down during the greater part of the session, except for aircrafts, distillers and a few specialities. Coppers, steels and motors were under pressure in the morning.

General Motors and Chrysler stepped into new high ground for the past year, the former up 2½ at 51¾, and the latter ahead 3¼ at 83⅜. Yellow Truck was one of the fastest sprinters along with Curtiss-Wright.

Anaconda, Kennecott and American Smelting managed to emerge behind modest plus signs.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each tilted forward a point or so despite uneasiness in this industry over further price cutting.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .5 of a point at 52.8 compared with a drop of .6 yesterday. Transfers totalled 2,408,280 shares against 2,523,960 the day before.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—New smashing of 4-year bottom price records for all deliveries of corn and lard distinguished dealings on the Chicago board of trade today. Soy beans eclipsed 3-year lows.

The chief influence pulling values down was pressure from the large amount of corn in the country, both old and new, available for movement. Persistent liberal arrivals of corn here had an unsettling effect on other grains and on provisions as well.

At the close, Chicago corn and wheat futures were but little above the day's bottom figures, each of the two gains 1⅛ to ½ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, corn Dec. 42⅞, May at 47⅛@47⅜, wheat Dec. 64⅝@64½, May 65⅝@65¾, oats ¼ to ⅜ off, rye showing ⅝ drop, and provisions 5 to 10 cents decline.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18 (AP)—Demand for grain was slow here today. Estimated receipts were: wheat 14 cars, and oats 3. Cars manifested Monday were: wheat 97, corn 5, and oats 8.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 77-78; No. 1 hard 77-81.

Barley No. 2 nom 50-53.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom 83-85; No. 2 white kafir nom 82-84.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18 (AP)—Commission house selling of distant positions forced those options approximately 50 cents a bale lower in the cotton market here today but trade demand and local buying supported other months. The close was steady, net 3 points higher to 10 lower.

Incentives were lacking throughout the day and business approached a virtual standstill.

Dec. contracts closed at 8.36, Jan. at 8.30-bid, March at 8.26. May at 8.11, July at 7.98 and Oct. at 7.98. Spot cotton closed steady, with middling 2 points up at 8.46. Sales increased to 10,035 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Cotton moved irregularly today as nearby deliveries held steady on trade buying and later positions dipped under hedge selling. December advanced from 8.20@8.28 and closed at 8.26, while October eased from 7.69@7.79 and closed at the low. Final prices ranged from 3 points net higher to 11 points lower.

The market opened with orders evenly divided. There was still a tendency to exchange from near to later deliveries. Liquidation, owing to failure of the market recently to work further above the loan basis, supplied some contracts while the south sold moderately. Mill price fixing was a stabilizing feature in the deliveries through March. Cooperative interests were among the sellers of the forward positions.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 1 point up at 8.50 cents a pound, for the past 30 market days it was 8.24.

Christianity Is Being Attacked

DENVER, Oct. 18. (AP)—Dictators equipped by science to "air-condition the mind of youth" are attacking Christianity on "ever widening fronts," Dr. Henry Smith Leiper of New York City, American secretary for the World Council of Churches, told the international convention of Disciples of Christ.

Dr. Leiper told the convention assembly last night that dictators are directing their attacks "not only on the failures of Christianity."

See Direct Attacks

"We are witnessing direct and vicious attacks against the central ideas and ideals of the church," against Jesus Christ and against the universal father of the whole family of mankind," he said.

Today's program included a symposium on "The Church and the Capital-Labor Controversy." Homer A. Martin of Detroit, president of the United Automobile Workers of America; John Rogers of Tulsa, chamber of commerce president, and Edwin A. Elliott, Fort Worth, Tex., regional administrator for the national relations board, were invited to present the respective views of labor, capital and the government.

The convention ends Friday.

Former Lubbock Man Drowns When Boat Is Capsized

Relatives of Lester Sparks, about 35, of Crystal City and a former resident of Lubbock, Tuesday were informed that he was drowned when a boat capsized there Monday afternoon. Sparks lived here several years before moving to Crystal City about five years ago.

No further details concerning the tragedy were received. Funeral arrangements had not been made.

Survivors include his widow, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Crawford of 1922 Eighth street, Lubbock, who left for Crystal City immediately after having been advised of the accident.

Other survivors are two small sons, Rodney Earle and Dan Lesley; two sisters, Mrs. Maude Burrus of Floydada and Mrs. Sid Parkinson of Crystal City, and Mrs. Percy Olive of Colorado Springs, Colo. Mrs. Burrus also hastened to Crystal City.

Former Confederate Leader Claimed By Death Tuesday

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 18. (AP)—General J. T. (Poss) Young, 92, former commander of the Louisiana division, United Confederate Veterans, died early today at his home here.

Young enlisted with the Confederate army at the age of 16 in 1863, fighting under General Forest at Harrisonburg, Miss. He suffered a leg wound in the battle of Mobile.

Colorado Sees Pension Fight

DENVER, Oct. 18. (AP)—While they talk about some pretty fancy old-age pension plans around the nation, Colorado is having a rousing battle over the highest pension law now in effect.

After residents of a remote mountain town, Craig, rotten-egged a campaigning sound-truck of the Federation for Workable Old-Age Pensions, sponsors of a proposal to rescind the $45 pension amendment voted two years ago, the federation asked officers for protection.

Political Racketeers

United States Senator Alva B. Adams (D-Colo) in a formal statement declared leaders of the National Annuity League, backer of the $45 plan, were "political racketeers . . . who do not actually represent the old age pensioners."

League officials declared Adams was miffed because they endorsed Archibald A. Lee, his Republican opponent in the general election. The league asked reelection of Gov. Teller Ammons, Democrat, who favors the $45 plan.

Amended Constitution

Two years ago voters amended the constitution to provide monthly pensions of $45 to qualified persons over 60 years old. In the November election they will vote on a proposal to return control of pensions to the legislature.

Although Colorado's two per cent sales and service taxes have not raised enough to pay the $45 awards in full since January, this month 37,631 pensioners collected $1,085,000—more than $1 for each resident of the state. Only two Colorado cities have populations greater than the number receiving pensions.

The average October payment was $28.83. The federal government contributed $452,900 toward the October pension bill.

Application Is Filed For Probate Of Jones Will

Mrs. Vivian Jones, widow of J. Milton Jones asked in an application filed in the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk for a probate of the holographic will of her husband.

Mrs. Jones is asking that she be appointed administratrix of the estate, real and personal property of which was estimated at approximately $35,000, recited her husband died Sept. 17 and that the will had been dated Jan. 1, 1935.

The will, directing that Jones' former wife, Mrs. Stasia Jones, should have lot 7, block 119, original town of Lubbock, an important downtown business location, and that upon her death that property should revert to "my brothers and my sisters," left the residue of the property, real and personal to Mrs. Vivian Jones.

Several Lubbock Persons To Attend Session In Dallas

Several Lubbock persons will leave today for Dallas to attend an annual conference called by Miss Ruth Huey, state director of home-making education.

Representatives from the home economics division staff at Texas Technological college and the district supervisor of home economics education and itinerant teacher trainer will attend.

Miss Esther Sorensen, district supervisor, and Miss Doris Buchanan, itinerant teacher trainer, will leave this morning. Both have headquarters at Tech.

The following will leave tonight: Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the home economics division; Miss Vivian Johnson, head professor of home economics education; Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head professor of clothing and textiles; and Miss Geraldine Clewell, instructor in home economics education.

The conference will be conducted Thursday through Saturday.

National Clinic Will Be Held To Standardize Health Plans

The United States public health service has called a national clinic in an effort to standardize the methods of making Wasserman syphilis tests, Miss Dora Snyder, city bacteriologist, left today for Hot Springs, Ark., to attend.

Miss Snyder has been specifically directed by the city commission to attend the conference, which has been termed a major step in the attempt to further the national campaign to eradicate social diseases. Among those attending will be Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon-general of the United States, and others among the highest officials of the public health service.

The conference will open Friday morning and last two days.

Opportunity Is Open To Youth

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP) — The greatest employment opportunity for young men in Texas lies in the state's gigantic oil industry, says a report of a survey made by the National Youth administration under the supervision of State NYA Director J. C. Kellam.

The survey disclosed that the oil industry during recent years created annually at least 25,000 new temporary or permanent jobs, and that there was no indication that any reduction is likely for a long time.

The opportunity existed for "young men willing to start at the bottom of the ladder and not afraid of hard outdoor labor," the report commented. It said oil was produced in twenty-two states and its distribution system for gasoline and other products provided jobs in all states.

The essential requirements for advancing in the industry were described as "good health, a strong back, an alert mind and a public school education."

Based on wage statistics for 1934, the average weekly pay to individuals in the production branch of the industry was $29.40; in transportation, $28.60, and in refining $25.27.

Since then wages have increased. The report quoted the bureau of business research of the University of Texas as saying that during the week ending last January 25, a total of 8,157 employes of 43 representative crude petroleum concerns had earned an average weekly salary of $36.02, and that workers in petroleum averaged $31.67 weekly.

Protest At The Use Of Negro Chorus In Church Is Made

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—The Rev. T. H. Gibson of the Orange Glade Baptist church reported today a group of men representing themselves as Ku Klux Klansmen invaded his church last night and protested against a negro chorus participating in a revival service.

The minister said the 10 or 15 intruders dressed in ordinary street clothes, and without masks, left hurriedly when he refused to oust the singers.

Little Iron Man Of Mountain Is Dead

RICHLANDS, Va., Oct. 18. (AP)—The "little iron man of Buchanan mountain" will be buried today on Whitewood mountain.

Bryant Street, his name was; 38 years old, a miner, and a man in full. But a bullet in the stomach stopped him, and he died Sunday.

The "little iron man" wasn't tall—five feet, eight—but he weighed 209 pounds and had muscles to be envied. Dr. George C. Williams, of Jewell Ridge, said he had the finest physique of any man he ever examined.

He was the light heavyweight champion of the U. S. army in the Philippines until he quit the army in 1932. His prowess brought him popularity with his fellow miners, and the union leaders said 5,000 might come to the services.

Officers said his fatal dispute was with a brother-in-law, Terry Short, and that it occurred at Skeggs on Garden creek in Buchanan county. Short is at liberty under bond pending hearing.

Students Would Battle Czechs

BUDAPEST, Oct. 18. (AP)—Thousands of university students demonstrated on Budapest boulevards today demanding arms to enforce Hungary's territorial demands on Czechoslovakia.

The demonstrators asked "everything back" from the republic created out of the pre-war Austro-Hungarian empire.

Renewal of conversations between Czechoslovakia and Hungary—broken off last Thursday when negotiators were unable to reach agreement—was expected today because of pressure Hungarian sources indicated had been exerted by Rome and Berlin on Czechoslovakia.

Insist On Return

It was understood Hungary would insist on return of Bratislava, at the juncture of the Czechoslovak, Hungarian and German Austrian borders, and the cession of approximately 5,000 square miles which Budapest negotiators insisted is of predominantly Hungarian population.

At the disrupted Komarom conference Slovak delegates, representing Prague, indicated willingness to cede 2,000 square miles of territory.

Some compromise between the two positions seemed probable though the question of Ruthenia, Czechoslovakia's autonomous eastern region, still was complicated by pressure of Hungary and Poland for session to Budapest.

Bids For Construction Of New School Soon Will Be Taken

Bids for construction of Lamesa's school building program will be called for as soon as working plans for the buildings are completed, it has been announced. Work is progressing on a new football field which is a part of the program.

Public Works administration has allocated $66,000 for the program. Voters of the district approved bonds for their share of the expenses.

Similarly, completion of working plans will enable the Snyder school board to set a date for opening of bids for the building there. It is likewise a PWA job, and insurance money, $80,000, is to be used for a part of the total cost.

Haynes and Strange have contracts for drawing both plans.

YOUR TELEPHONE DOES ITS PART AS A CITIZEN OF TEXAS

As one of the industries of Texas, your telephone company pays its share of the cost of government. It is a heavy share, too. In 1937 its local, state, and federal taxes in Texas totaled more than four million dollars . . . nearly $12,000 a day.

These telephone taxes were equal to more than a third of the company's entire payroll in the state. They amount to $9.25 for every telephone in service.

Where do they go, these taxes? To build and maintain the streets and highways over which you drive. To furnish you police and fire protection. To keep up your children's schools. To help pay for all the services government gives you.

The telephone company is part of Texas . . . here to meet this state's need for friendly, dependable telephone service. As part of the state, it has tried to be a good citizen . . . always ready and willing to pay its fair share of the cost of government.
