That first football game of the season, so far as Dallas Cowboys fans are concerned, will take place Friday night at Los Angeles and a couple of stations on the local television cable will carry it.

This game has caused a clamor in prior years as fans demanded that it be televised and that it be "piped" back to Texas, which caused some last-minute maneuvering. This year, one of the area stations made arrangements early to carry the game, which is the annual Los Angeles Times Charity Game. Now, Mel Gilbert, executive vice president of Snyder Community Antenna Television, tells us that not only will it be on the local cable, it also will preempt the Watergate hearings if they are still going late Friday night. Some viewers in the Midland-Odessa area waged a campaign to get it on their cable. So, the Dallas station providing local coverage there, KDFW, will take the educational station's spot on the cable during the game so that persons in the far Western Texas Cities may see it, which means it will be on Channel 6 here as well as Channel 12, the area station that already had arranged to carry it.

A lot of people thought the professional football season began the past weekend when the World Champion Miami Dolphins met the college all-stars in an annual event and the San Francisco 49ers met the New England Patriots in the annual Hall-of-Fame Game, but Cowboy fans think it really doesn't begin until the Dallas team meets the Rams this Friday night. And it will be night. Kickoff is set for 10 p.m., Snyder time.

Texas A&M has got itself a girl golfer. A few years ago it would have been news if a girl had merely enrolled there, let alone joined the athletic program. However, Brenda Goldsmith, an 18-year-old from San Antonio, won't compete in Southwest Conference competition this year because SWC rules prohibit competition by women. But she will represent the school in various women's tournaments throughout the state and nation. She already has played in two U.S. Open tournaments. She has a handicap of 1 from the men's tees at Pecan Valley Country Club, the site of the Texas Open. — WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 1, the 213th day of 1973. There are 152 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, Germany declared war on Russia at the outbreak of World War I.

On this date:

In 1502, Christopher Columbus landed in what is now Honduras.

In 1790, the first U.S. census was taken.

In 1794, a revolt known as the Whiskey Rebellion broke out in Pennsylvania.

In 1876, Colorado was admitted to the Union as the 38th state.

In 1946, the Atomic Energy Commission was established.

In 1966, a sniper atop a tower at the University of Texas in Austin shot 44 persons, killing 14.

Ten years ago: It was reported in New Delhi that the Soviet Union had offered India missiles and other military equipment for defense against Communist China.

Five years ago: Seventy-eight persons were reported dead in a volcanic explosion in Costa Rica.

One year ago: The death toll rose to more than 350 in floods that swept across parts of the Philippine capital of Mainla and 14 provinces of Luzon Island.

Haldeman Says He Applauded Foes' Violence

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman conceded today he wrote "great" and "good" on a 1971 memorandum informing him that violent demonstrators were expected at a Charlotte, N.C., appearance of President Nixon and the Rev. Billy Graham.

"The reason for reacting that it would be good was, that if they were going to do this in this way, it would be seen they were going to do it this way," Haldeman said, in defending the remarks.

The point was raised by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., in Haldeman's third day as a witness before the Senate Watergate committee.

Weicker brought out a memorandum to Haldeman from Ronald H. Walker, dated Oct. 14, 1971, which read in part:

"Re Charlotte demonstrations, the most recent intelligence that has been received ... from the Secret Service ... we'll have demonstrators in Charlotte tomorrow ... They will be violent, they have extremely obscene signs."

Weicker said the word obscene was underlined and next to it was Haldeman's pencilled "good."

Later in the memo there was a sentence: "It will not only be directed toward the President, but also Billy Graham," and Zeicker said Graham's name was underlined and again a pencilled "great."

Asked Weicker: "Exactly what mentality is it in the White House that goes ahead and indicates good when the words obscenity and violence are mentioned, how in any way can that be good?"

It was at that point that Haldeman said such demonstrations had not been recognized as being well organized.

"Sometimes they disguised their true intent," Haldeman said. "The point of the memo (was) that this sort of activity was not to our benefit ..."

Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., raised again the so-called "enemies list" first made public by ousted counsel John W. Dean III.

"There was a program of drawing up a list of those who in prominent public positions were believed to be expressing opposition to administration policies and therefore should not be receiving these courtesies," Haldeman said.

The courtesies, he said, were such things as invitations to the White House and appointments to honorary boards. People on the list included some who were vocally and publicly opposing administration policy on the Vietnam war, he added.

Q. Didn't they have the right to oppose the war?

A. Of course they did, but they didn't have the right to use the President's courtesy to express that position.

Q. Was it then an exclusion list?

A. Yes.

Later, Montoya asked whether the FBI has a file on every American who is known publicly.

"I think they do, yes," Haldeman said. "I haven't been through their files."

Montoya read names from the list, including singer Frank Sinatra and actress Helen Hayes.

Q. Was Helen Hayes being considered for any appointment?

A. Quite possibly so.

Q. Was Sinatra being considered?

A. He was being considered as an entertainer at the White House.

Accord Is Closer On Money System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top finance officials have moved closer to an agreement on a new world monetary system expected to last the next 25 years.

Although finance ministers meeting here to work on the new plan believe a final agreement is at least eight to ten months away, they reported substantial progress Monday and Tuesday in resolving some of the key issues that have held up monetary reform.

Based on their reports, it appears the new monetary system will carry these features:

—Currency changes. Clear rules would be established under which nations would be expected to change the value of their currencies to replace the largely discretionary rules now existing. The finance ministers came to the conclusion that there have to be objective financial indicators that would tell nations when it is time to either revalue or devalue.

—Gold. The negotiators say there is general agreement that gold should be phased out of the monetary system and replaced with paper gold, otherwise known as special drawing rights. This is a new kind of international money that is valued by mutual trust and confidence.

—The dollar. No longer would it be the principal currency of the world. Instead, the dollar would become just like any other currency, although it is expected to continue to be strong.

The finance ministers wound up their two-day meeting on an optimistic note Tuesday.

Screwworm Case Found

County Agent Billy Roach said he has been notified that a case of screwworms has been confirmed in Scurry County and that livestock should be watched closely for cuts, etc.

As a result of the confirmed case, Scurry County will receive "hot spot" treatment with sterile flies for the next four weeks, the county extension agent said. The screwworms were reported this week in cattle at the Milton Stephens place five miles north of Snyder.

All ranchers and stock farmers should check their animals frequently and take appropriate precautions, Roach said.

Protests On Beef Taken To Capital

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Representatives of the beef industry took their complaints to Washington today, amid a rising chorus of protests about a beef shortage caused by the continuation of price ceilings.

Many wholesalers in the New York City area planned a one-day shutdown today because of a lack of supplies and consumers across the country sought ways of balancing the budget and feeding their families.

A spokesman for the American Meat Institute said representatives of producers and processors would meet in Washington at 2 p.m. EDT with Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz in an effort to get the ceilings on beef prices lifted.

Cost of Living Council officials repeatedly have said the ceiling will stay on until Sept. 12. The council also announced on Tuesday that it would probe the entire profit situation in the meat industry and officials expressed skepticism about reports that wholesalers and packers could not afford to continue operations.

Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant on consumer affairs, said in New York on Tuesday that food prices probably will stay at present levels.

"Prices will start stabilizing and leveling off, but the days of cheap food are over," she said.

Fred Fillinger of the Internal Revenue Service in Cleveland, Ohio, said he was investigating complaints from commercial meat buyers who said they had been offered beef at illegal, over-the-ceiling prices.

Dave Doherty, director of sales for A&P in New Orleans, said the situation was getting worse.

"We're only able to get about one-third of our requirement for beef and we're scrounging up fryers (chickens) from any place we can get them," he said. "Some of the stores are already running short and we're beginning to put other things in the meat counter—canned hams, sausage, orange juice, whatever."

Officials in Houston, Tex., said there won't be any roast beef on the menus in the school cafeterias this fall.

"The price of beef is just too high," said Claude Keen, food service director for the district. He said lunch prices were increased from 40 to 45 cents for elementary schools and from 50 to 60 cents for secondary schools.

Astronauts Are Busy

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Reporting they were "feeling in very good shape," the Skylab 2 astronauts today began their first full day of experiments in their orbiting laboratory.

Emphasis was on medical experiments, but some scientific work was scheduled, as well as a checkout of earth resources photosensors to be used later in the week.

Astronauts Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma were in the fifth day of their record 59-day mission.

Garriott told Mission Control on awakening today that all three crewman apparently had finally shaken the effects of motion sickness which had plagued them from the first day.

"The biomedical people will be more happy this morning," Garriott radioed. "We're all feeling in very good shape."

In the first medical experiment of the mission, Garriott conducted extensive head movements in a chair intended to rotate to check the effect of the space environment on the vestibular system, which governs a person's sense of balance.

Mrs. Stricklin Dies Tuesday

Mrs. Texie Stricklin, 80, died at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the Hillcrest Nursing Home.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at the East Side Church of Christ with the minister, Sam Kitching, officiating. Graveside rites and burial will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Brownfield.

Born Feb. 14, 1893, in Dublin, Mrs. Striklin had been a resident of Scurry County since 1968. She was a former resident of Brownfield. She was a member of the Church of Christ. She married A.J. Stricklin on July 6, 1910 in Brownfield. He preceded her in death in 1962. Memorials to the favorite charity of the donor were suggested.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Herman Trigg of Snyder; one son, Jack Striklin of Arlington; one sister; one stepsister; three half-sisters; two half-brothers; four grandchildren; and eight great grandchildren.

East Germany's Ulbricht Is Dead

BERLIN (AP) — Walter Ulbricht, the spade-bearded East German Communist leader whose monument is the Berlin wall, died today, the official news agency ADN reported. He was 80.

Ulbricht had been ill since he was replaced as party first secretary by Erich Honecker in May 1971. He retained his post as chairman of the State Council, making him titular chief of state until his death. He remained a member of the party's Central Committee and Politburo.

ADN reported earlier that Ulbricht suffered a stroke July 19.

The ADN announcement of Ulbricht's death made no reference to his illness or to the cause of death. It stated:

"The Central Committee of the Social Unity Party of Germany, the State Council of the German Democratic Republic, the Presidium of the People's Chamber and the Presidium of the National Council of the National Front, announce with deep sorrow that our comrade Walter Ulbricht died today, 1 August, 1973 at 12:55 p.m ..."

East German radio stations immediately switched from regular programs to mourning music.

Although his death seemed imminent since the initial announcement of his stroke two weeks ago, ADN earlier today said Ulbricht had sent a telegram to President Roger Eonvin of Switzerland on the occasion of Switzerland's national holiday.

Ulbricht emphasized the wish for deepening Swiss-East German relations.

Ulbricht was once one of the staunchest hard-line Stalinists in Eastern Europe.

WALTER ULBRICHT

He toed the line under Stalin, switched signals under Soviet Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev and again altered his doctrinal posture when Leonid I. Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin took over the Kremlin leadership.

His staying power brought with it stature and influence in the Communist world. Ulbricht was regarded as one of the prime movers behind the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia in August 1968.

The Communist-built wall dividing Berlin remains the most telling remnant of Ulbricht's dictatorship.

"Nobody has any intentions to build a wall," he said four weeks before his troops started ripping open East Berlin streets, throwing up barbed wire and putting the first concrete blocks in place to build the wall that still divides Berlin.

Farm Bill Could Reach Nixon By End Of Week

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress could send President Nixon a major farm bill by the end of this week if backers of a Senate-passed compromise can outmaneuver House forces who want to ban food stamps for most strikers.

The Senate voted 85 to 7 Tuesday night for a Senate-House conference committee's four-year compromise version of the farm, food stamp and food-for-peace bill. The vote came after Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz switched signals and said he would urge Nixon to sign it.

Sen. Jesse A. Helms, R-N.C., was beaten 58 to 34 in his bid to have the Senate insert House-passed language that would ban distribution of food stamps to most strikers. Senate-House conferees had broken up in disagreement earlier Tuesday over what to do about this provision.

The bill would set up a new cotton and grain crop support system and lower the annual subsidy ceiling to $20,000 per farmer.

It also would hike minimum milk price supports, make the agriculture secretary a virtual food-price czar, ban U.S. food-for-peace aid to North Vietnam unless approved by Congress, repeal a so-called bread tax and revamp food stamp programs.

Farm-state senators from both parties advised their colleagues that Butz, who had been threatening to call for a veto unless conferees accepted his terms on major disputes over crop and milk supports, suddenly changed his mind and agreed to support the compromise. The conferees had gone only half way toward meeting the objections originally voiced by Butz.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield relayed the word to the Senate. "This bill would not have seen the light of day had there been a strong possibility a pocket veto would result" during the upcoming congressional summer vacation, Mansfield told the senators. "But now chances are very good the bill would be signed."

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said he would try to get House approval for the final, Senate-passed compromise later this week.

This could include complex maneuvering to get a bill without the ban on food stamps for strikers through a House that has approved such a ban, although by only one vote.

Would-be female bus driver fears her past

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A woman who is about to make application for a job driving a school bus is worried about her past catching up with her.

She got a dishonorable discharge from the service 17 years ago, and is afraid that when her application for this job is received, they will start a thoro investigation of her past, which will include her service record, and everything will come out.

She has no criminal record of any kind, but she understands she has to have FBI security clearance for this bus driving job. The only flaw in her record is this dishonorable discharge which, I may as well tell you, came about when she and another girl were discovered having a romantic relationship. It was only a passing fancy, or an experimental thing, you might say, and never occurred again. She is now married, has a family, and is living a normal life.

Must she be branded all her life for this single incident?

ANXIOUS TO HEAR

DEAR ANXIOUS: Driving a school bus does not require FBI clearance. Furthermore, the response from the Army to an inquiry about this person would be: "Dishonorable discharge—unsuitable for military life." [Unless national security was involved, nothing else would be divulged.]

DEAR ABBY: Last November I became engaged. I was so excited at the time that I asked a girl I work with [I'll call her "Mazie"] to be one of my bridesmaids. I had seen Mazie only at work, never outside the office.

Now that I know her better, I am very sorry I asked her to be a bridesmaid. She gets drunk and talks dirty. She is very loud and extremely pushy where men are concerned.

Worse yet, my fiance can't stand her. He's afraid she will ruin our wedding with her drinking and dirty mouth.

To give you an idea of what kind of girl Mazie is, she keeps telling me she hopes the bridesmaid's gown will be plenty sexy so she can show off her "38s."

How can I get rid of her politely? Or am I stuck with her?

SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND: There is no way you can get rid of her "politely," which means either you are stuck with her, or you will have to get rid of her impolitely.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the young couple who couldn't find a church and minister for their post-pregnant wedding:

You should do a service to others in such straits by informing them of Unitarian-Universalist churches and ministers. They value individuals for honesty and candor; one need not "belong" to a Unitarian-Universalist church to use the building. Witness the many Unitarian-Universalist churches that serve as forums, or centers for unusual music, art debate, or whatever in the search for truth and for meaningful living.

If the couple are straightforward, and respect the prior scheduled commitments of the organization, I am sure they will find a sanctuary in a Unitarian-Universalist church, and a friend in the minister there.

Watlingtons Back From Convention

Robert H. "Bob" Watlington, C.L.U., General Agent for National Farm Life Insurance Company and his wife, Marida, have recently returned from the State Convention of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, which was held in Austin.

The Texas Leaders Round Table, an organization of the outstanding agents over the state, elected Watlington to a two-year term as Director of Regions 6 and 8 which include the local Underwriters Association of San Angelo, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, and El Paso.

Watlington is the immediate past president of the Big Spring Association of Life Underwriters. The yearbook of the Big Spring Association won first place in its size catagory of associations with less than 50 members. The yearbook depicted a comprehensive coverage of last year's activities and was presented as a gift to Watlington in appreciation of his work for the association during the last year.

Activities of the convention planned for the ladies included a tour of the L.B.J. Library and the Highland Park Shopping Mall. Mrs. Watlington was also in attendance at the Texas Leaders Round Table Luncheon and the President's Banquet.

Trial Is In Second Day

The jury trial of Joe Gandy Mullins entered its second day in county court this morning.

He is being tried on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Mullins is being represented by Dan Barber of Colorado City. County Attorney George Killiam is prosecuting the case.

Mullins was arrested June 25 by Highway Patrolmen, and he subsequently entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a jury trial.

On Monday, Mauricio Munguia Castillo of Brady pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. He was arrested last Saturday by City Police. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term that was probated six months.

Also Monday, Weldon Emerson Biddle and Ethan William Logsdon both pleaded innocent to charges of driving while intoxicated. Biddle was arrested last Saturday by City Police and Logsdon was apprehended the same day by Constable Loyd Merritt.

Last Friday, Marvin Leeroy Grace of Dallas pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term. He was arrested last Thursday by Highway Patrolmen.

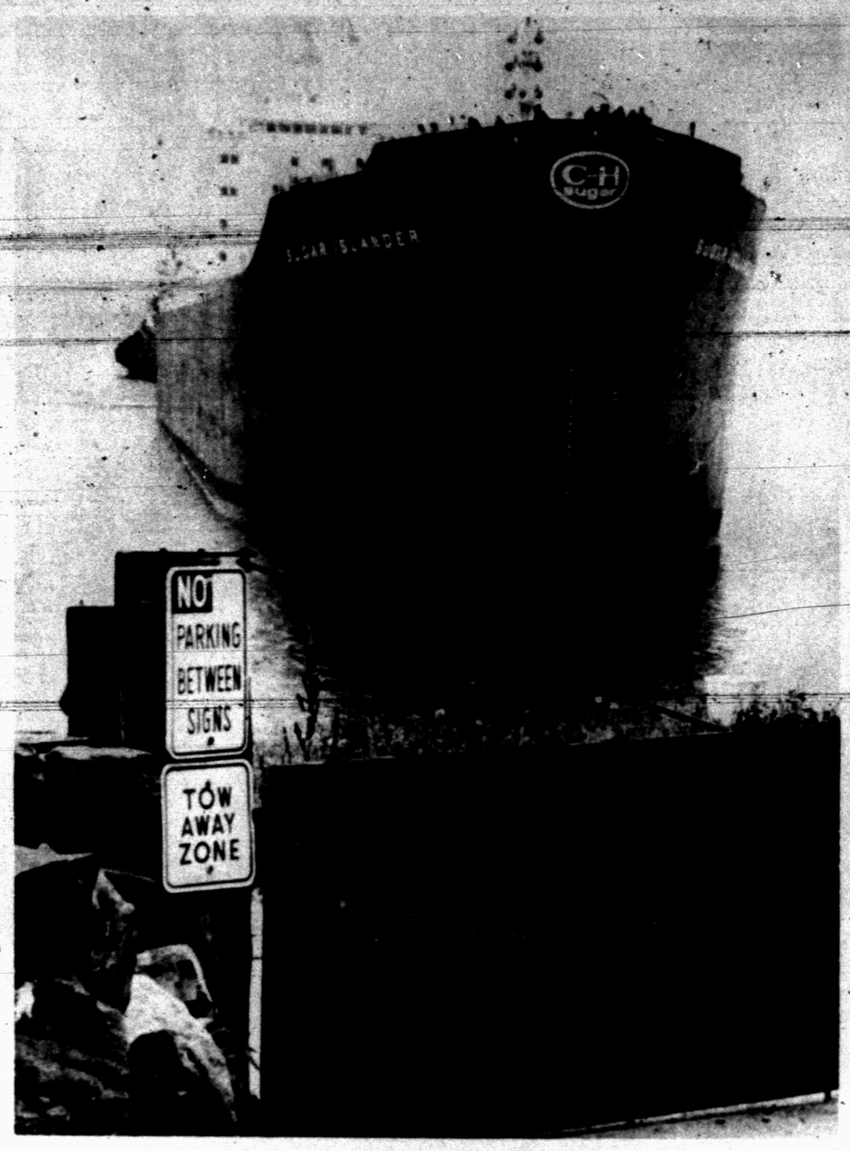

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Minor damage resulted in two motor vehicle mishaps that were investigated by City Police here yesterday.

The first one occurred at Fortieth Street and Dalton Drive at 11:42. Involved were a 1970 Model Ford driven by Joyce R. Cooper, 3717 Dalton Drive and a 1963 Model Plymouth operated by Joe David Martin, 2308 Fortieth Street.

The other one occurred in the 3900 block of College Avenue at 12:13 p.m. Involved were the 1969 Model Chevrolet of Jackie Dell Barrett, 214 Thirty-sixth Street, and the 1967 Model Chevrolet of Jimmy Keith Proctor, 3702 Avenue V.

In northern Canada, fur-bearing animals are a vital source of protein, the meat most often being valued more highly than the pelt.

FAIR WARNING — The signs were pointing the wrong way for the Sugar Islander on her first acceptance trial run out of the Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Co. shipyard Monday. The $15 million, 641-foot vessel, largest built here since World War II, ran aground in seven feet of water off Magnolia Bluff in Puget Sound. As the sign warned, the ship was towed away — by the Coast Guard at high tide. Coast Guard observers, two masters, two pilots and 106 other persons were aboard the ship when it hit bottom.

Temporary 'Lid' On Nixon Houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has clamped a lid on information about expenses at President Nixon's residences at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla., but officials say it's only temporary.

Both the head of the General Services Administration (GSA) and a White House spokesman said the news embargo will be off as soon as a comprehensive report on public spending on Nixon's private residences is completed.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., accused the White House at a news conference Tuesday of attempting to block a congressional investigation of federal funds spent on Nixon's California and Florida residences.

He said GSA director Arthur F. Sampson refused to give him information he was seeking on the spending. Brooks is chairman of the Government Activities Committee.

Sampson, later in the day said the information was being withheld but not solely on White House orders.

"The decision was made jointly by GSA, the Secret Service and the White House," he said.

Sampson added:

"We have said all along that we were preparing a comprehensive statement to get out all the facts in an understandable manner. Our objective is to release the information all at one time to dispel the idea in the public's mind that large amounts were spent to improve the President's home. The piecemeal release of information has caused this misunderstanding."

At the White House, deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said "we are working toward a complete analysis" and disclosure of what he called "security oriented work" at Nixon's homes.

He said the information would be available soon, but "I don't know how soon soon is."

Figures previously made public by the administration indicated a total of $1.9 million had been spent on the construction, operation and maintenance of security installations at San Clemente and Key Biscayne. The White House originally reported only $39,000 in improvements at San Clemente.

Recent news reports have predicted the GSA is about to issue new figures placing the figure at between $3.5 and $3.7 million.

Burtons Part As Friends

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor spent the day before the cameras today, Richard Burton stayed out of sight, and neither one had any public comment on their divorce plans.

A spokesman in New York for the Burtons announced Tuesday that they would get a friendly divorce in Switzerland, their legal residence.

"They are not going to fight each other," said the spokesman, John Springer. "They are very amicable toward each other."

He added that the Burtons are parting because of "a series of personal disagreements" and not because either one is romancing with somebody else.

Miss Taylor started filming Monday in the film version of British author Muriel Spark's novel "The Driver's Seat." The first scenes are being shot inside a DC9 jet at Fiumicino airport.

Burton starts making the movie "The Village" in Sicily later this month, with Sophia Loren, Marcello Mastroianni and Maria Schneider.

McAlester Inmate Stabbed To Death

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — One inmate was stabbed to death and another was severely beaten Tuesday night as violence broke out anew in the riot-torn Oklahoma State Penitentiary, officials said today.

The death brought the official toll to three since the outbreak of rioting and burning last Friday which destroyed much of the prison's interior. National Guard troops have been searching the rubble, checking rumors that more inmates died.

Officials said today they are in control of the situation at the prison. But trouble has flared every day since the rioting was brought to end on Sunday.

Ed Hardy, Gov. David Hall's press secretary, said the inmate who was killed Tuesday night has been identified, but the name was not immediately released. Hardy said the aseailant is known to officials but "it's too dangerous to go in and try to get him."

The latest round of trouble began Tuesday when more than 700 inmates, including the ones who led the weekend rebellion, were taken from cell blocks to a mobile kitchen for their first hot meal since the rioting began.

Authorities said the men refused the meal of meatloaf and green beans, moved to within a few feet of National Guardsmen and state troopers and shouted, "We want steak."

The National Guardsmen, with bayonets fixed on their rifles, drove the inmates into one pocket of the prison.

A second attempt to feed the unruly convicts four hours later was met with the same defiance.

Prison officials had said all the inmates had been shaken down for weapons and drugs. A head count was being made, and Hardy said today that only about 1,660 of the 1,706 convicts who were in the prison when the rioting started had been accounted for.

Hardy said, however, it was believed the remainder were hiding in various outbuildings and eventually would be found.

After the inmates refused their meal, Cell Block F, where the men had been housed, was ripped apart, officials said.

The cells had been repaired after the weekend violence, but state Safety Commissior Wayne Lawson said, "The cells look worse now than they did after the convicts first tore them up during the weekend."

Sen. Talmadge Defends Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Herman E. Talmadge has defended his Caribbean vacation last winter with a major government contractor as a fishing trip with an old friend.

In a statement issued Tuesday, the Georgia Democrat confirmed a report in the Washington Star-News that he flew to Bimini on Feb. 9 on a plane owned by Rockwell International.

The firm formerly was North American Rockwell Corp. and is the third largest contractor for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"Al Rockwell Jr. has an operation in Albany, Ga.," the senator said. "He has been a friend of mine for quite a number of years. I've hunted with him in

DAY CARE CENTER EMPLOYEE
...leaves for college.

Miss Higgins To Canyon

Becky J. Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Higgins, 107 Birch, will be leaving for college August 28. She will attend West Texas State University at Canyon. Miss Higgins is an elementary education major. For the past two years she has worked at the Snyder Child Day Care Center, Inc. She was placed at the center by the Western Texas College Work Study Program and has worked all summer for the center.

Mrs. Evelyn Malone, director for the Center, complemented Becky's service by adding "During the time that Becky has been with us, she has proven herself in many ways. She has the personality to accomplish any task that she sets out to do." From the staff and board of the Snyder Child Day Care Center, "We do wish her the best of luck in her college endeavor."

Prohibition Big Issue

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

PROGRESSIVES AND PROHIBITIONISTS, Texas Democrats in the Wilson Era. By Lewis L. Gould. University of Texas Press, Austin. 339 pages. $10.

It is impossible for those who didn't live through the period to realize the importance the wet-dry issue had in Texas politics in the 1920s and even earlier.

To many voters it was the only issue other than personalities. For wrapped up in the liquor dispute was a whole bundle of other matters.

The prohibitionists generally were considered on the side of "progress" and "reform" that appealed particularly to rural residents whose relative numbers made their votes felt with more impact than now.

Texans rose to a stature in national politics in this period that was not to be shortened until the death of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

It began with Woodrow Wilson's appointment of Texans to major posts and his reliance on Col. Edward M. House of Texas as his adviser.

This also was the time of Farmer Jim Ferguson and his troubles with higher education. He pledged the state's money to rural schools which truly were in bad shape. He fought for personal control of the University of Texas and finally was ousted with impeachment proceedings.

Ferguson was typical of the times in a state where there was only one effective party.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

When the owner of a house you are interested in tells you that the selling price is $40,000, you know he doesn't really mean it, the real estate agent knows he doesn't really mean it — and the owner himself knows that both of you know he doesn't really mean it.

The owner usually adds on to the price of a house $2,000 or $3,000. That's the negotiating range, so that the prospective buyer makes an offer about that much lower than the asking price. If the owner feels that the purchaser is keen about the house and is seriously contemplating buying it, he will come down a bit in price. From there on it's a case of whether it is more important for the seller or the buyer to close the transaction quickly.

Sometimes, there is a surprise or two in store for one of the negotiators. Just when the seller is certain that the purchaser doesn't want to lose the house, he discovers he is wrong and finds the buyer backing off. Or the buyer is confident that the seller will come down another 31,000, only to find that someone else has come along and paid the amount he thought was too much.

I have often thought that all this self-deception is rather silly. Why shouldn't the seller quote a price he expects to get, and why shouldn't a buyer know that the quoted price is the actual price?

This belief is not shared by some of my friends, two of whom are in the real estate business. It is their contention that there should be a little leeway in prices to provide for legitimate negotiations, so that the ultimate selling price will reflect the intensities of the two participants, one to sell, the other to buy.

Another view is that some persons derive some sort of satisfaction out of getting what they think is a bargain, so that if a house on sale for $40,000 is bought for $37,000, it becomes a personal triumph. Even if the owner never expected to get more than $37,000 for it in the first place.

There are foreign countries where the price of virtually everything is negotiable. In the United States, you cannot negotiate with the supermarket clerk on the price of a pound of tomatoes, or the butcher on the price of a pound of meat.

If you put your house up for sale, whether on your own or through a real estate agent, you'd better make it clear whether your price is absolutely firm. If you don't, everybody concerned will assume that it's not.

(Thirty five house problems are handled in Andy Lang's helpful handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The old-fashioned art of "putting up" fruits in jam and jelly form is interesting cooks once again now that food products made without artificial preservatives have come to the fore. So if you want to have a large batch of pure Peach Marmalade at hand to use at home and to give as gifts, here is a reliable recipe.

PEACH MARMALADE
8 pounds fresh peaches
3 large oranges
4 large lemons
6 pounds (13½ cups or 5, pounds and 2¼ cups)
1 tablespoon allspice

Peel peaches, remove pits and knife-chop finely. Cut oranges and lemons in quarters and remove seeds; put through coarse blade of food chopper. There should be 3 quarts chopped peaches and about 6 cups ground orange and lemons.

Place peaches and ground fruit in a large kettle; add sugar and allspice. Over moderate heat, bring slowly to a boil, stirring often. Boil gently for 45 minutes, stirring often, until fruit is translucent and the mixture sheets from a metal spoon. Remove from heat.

Skim off foam and ladle at once into hot wide-mouth jars. Fill to within ⅛ inch of top; add caps and screw on bands evenly and tightly. Invert for a few seconds and stand jars upright to cool.

Makes twenty 8-ounce jars.

Note: to make the sheet test to determine whether marmalade is ready, dip a cold metal spoon into the boiling mixture. When two drops form together and sheet off the spoon, the marmalade should be done.

Error Printed In Recipe

In Monday's edition of The Snyder Daily News we published three prize winning recipes from the Ranch Headquarters Association baking contest held recently. One of these was for Angel Biscuits submitted by Mrs. Retha Orr of Lamesa. We incorrectly stated an ingredient which could foul up the results considerably. So instead of 3 tablespoons of baking powder the correct amount is 3 teaspoons of baking powder. We regret this error.

Confused Public Is Not In Mood To Buy Phase 4

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK AP — Two weeks old today, Phase 4 seems not only to have failed in selling itself but to have fostered confusion and aroused a small but incendiary-looking rebelliousness.

The latter, for the moment, may seem to be isolated among beef raisers who decline to ship their product to market until after Sept. 12, when Stage B of Phase 4 will permit higher prices.

Meanwhile, packinghouse workers are being laid off and butchers in some areas are forced to limit sales to customers. At once, therefore, the heat of rebellion threatens to spread to labor and housewives.

Claims by Ariculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, that the shortage is unnatural and artificially induced by suppliers does little to make the problem less real, nor does it remove responsibility from government.

The fact is that in a series of phases, the federal government has assumed the role once played by the market place. If suppliers are withholding their product from market, well then, what is government going to do about it?

But this question is merely one small problem in the midst of a larger one, which is Phase 4 itself, whose stated goal is for "eventual decontrol through increased supplies and productivity."

Is it effective? Anyone can keep his own scorecard by referring to these stated objectives:

—To moderate the rate of inflation which has existed in the United States during the first six months of 1973 with a minimum adverse effect on supply.

—To continue expansion of the U.S. economy to fulfill its potential with further increases in employment.

—To strengthen the international position of the dollar.

—To build confidence of business, industry, agriculture, the Congress, and consumers necessary to promote an in increase in capacity and supply and to reduce long run inflationary forces.

—To work with business, industry, agriculture, and the public to terminate controls as soon as possible in a manner which will avoid unacceptable rates of inflation after Phase 4.

Growing price pressures that haven't yet been felt at the retail level now pose an ominous threat to that program and to economic stability. Little in Phase 4 suggests that higher prices can be averted.

The index of prices received by farmers for the month which ended July 15 did indeed drop, but only because export controls on soybeans led to a sharp drop to $6.69 a bushel from a price of about $10 a month earlier. But a sharp drop in soybean prices depresses the farm index, hiding the bad news about other prices.

Hog prices during the period rose to $41 per 100 pounds, a jump of $3.80 in one month. Potato prices of $8.03 a hundred were at a 50-year high.

Stage B will permit much of these higher prices to "pass-through" on a dollar for dollar basis.

Junior Editors' Quiz on TYPEWRITERS

QUESTION: Who invented the typewriter?

* * *

ANSWER: The development of the typewriter was the work of many men. In 1714, a patent for a typewriter was given to an Englishman named Henry Mill. This typewriter was never manufactured. In 1833, a Frenchman, Xavier Progin of Marseilles, invented a machine with a key lever for each letter.

In 1843, an American, Charles Thurber of Worcester, Mass., patented a machine which made use of type bars placed around a wheel or cylinder. The wheel moved on a central pivot. It was brought around by hand to the letter desired and the type struck on the paper below. This operation was too slow. There was much experimentation after Thurber. Then in 1867, Christopher Sholer, Samuel Soule and Carlos Glidden, American inventors, introduced the first practical typewriter which could be manufactured on a large scale. This machine had paper inserted around a rubber cylinder, an inked ribbon, reversible spools for the ribbon and a moving carriage. The shift key was added in 1878. Remington took up the work of manufacturing the typewriter. Other improvements were made, leading to portable, noiseless and electric typewriters.

Boyles Mailbag Bulletins

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If a child's fingernails are cut before his first birthday, he will grow up a thief, according to an old belief in rural England. To prevent this, some parents there still bite the nails of infants.

Does the man in the moon seem farther away from you now than when you were very young? Well, he has moved off a bit. Every 30 years, astronomers figure, the moon's orbit around the earth moves one foot farther out in space.

Friends and relatives who live 50 or more miles apart don't visit or write each other as often as they did 10 years ago, but they do keep in closer touch by phone. The number of people who telephoned out-of-town relatives and friends rose from 59 to 63 per cent between 1962 and 1972, but personal visits dropped from 70 per cent to 58 per cent. A survey by the Bell System also found that, in the last decade, the number of people who make more than a dozen long distance calls a year rose from six to 11 per cent.

If you're sailing for Europe this winter, keep your eyes peeled for icebergs. The American Geographic Society expects between 600 and 700 will be sighted near shipping lanes, nearly twice the yearly average of 365. There were 1,012 sighted in 1912, the year the Titanic sank. After breaking off from their glacier bases, the bergs take three years to reach shipping zones. The average berg then weighs about 150,000 tons, about one-tenth its original weight.

Horse Illness Enters State

LUMBERTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Southeast Texas veterinarians reported Monday that two cases of the mosquito-borne horse sleeping sickness have cropped up in Hardin County.

Dr. Bill Crenshaw of Lumberton said the equine encephalomyelitis reported in the area north of Beaumont is not the Venezuelan strain which struck the state in 1971, but it is just as deadly.

Crenshaw said the often-fatal disease attacks the horse's central nervous system, causing fever and sluggishness.

He said the cases he has confirmed are either the Eastern or Western strain of the disease.

Steelers Loaded With Linebackers

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Sports Writer

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers are loaded with talented linebackers, and former All-Pro George Webster realizes that makes him potential trade bait.

"I've kind of felt it," the 27-year-old former Michigan State All-American said before a recent training camp workout.

Pittsburgh is shopping for some help at wide receiver, and that makes the angular, broad-shouldered Webster even more expendable.

An All-Pro for three seasons with Houston before being hampered by knee injuries in 1970 and 1971, he came to Pittsburgh last season in a trade that sent wide receiver Dave Smith to Houston.

Webster said he believes his knee trouble is a thing of the past and that he can perform with his old efficiency.

He reported to camp shortly after having four wisdom teeth pulled, so he wasn't up to par in initial workouts.

He's come on strong in recent drills, but the cold fact exists that he's competing at the most top-heavy positions on the Steeler team.

Meanwhile, defensive end Craig Hanneman was carried from the Pittsburgh Steelers' practice field with an injured right knee Tuesday. The extent of his injuries will be determined later today.

The Steelers said another second-year man, wide receiver Stahle Vincent, would undergo surgery on his right knee today. Vincent, who injured the knee last week, spent all of last season on the injured reserve list with an injured ankle and thumb.

Around other NFL training camps Tuesday, Minnesota Viking Coach Bud Grant sent his team through its longest scrimmage yet, a session highlighted by defensive end Carl Eller's charge into the backfield that sent rookie running back Tony Chandler reeling for several yards after a pitchout.

Center Mick Tingelhoff was kept out of action after he was hit on a knee while running back Clint Jones sat out the afternoon practice, after his knee developed some fluid.

At Normal, Ill, Coach Don Coryell of the St. Louis Cardinals stressed fundamentals as his team went through a double practice session in preparation for its first preseason game at San Diego Aug. 11.

The New Orleans Saints had running back Pete Van Valkenburg, third-round draft choice from Brigham Young, back in action. He rejoined the squad for the first time since pulling a hamstring muscle two weeks ago.

Tackle Don Croft, one of the Buffalo Bills' few defensive standouts last season and seemingly assured of a starting position this season, underwent surgery at Buffalo General Hospital for torn ligaments in his right knee. He injured the knee in scrimmage Monday and will be out for an indefinite period, the Bills said.

The Dallas Cowboys said wide receiver Bob Hayes and outside linebacker D.D. Lewis are the only doubtful starters for the team's exhibition opener against the Los Angeles Rams Friday night.

Hayes is complaining of a sore knee and Lewis pulled a groin muscle during workouts.

Bullets Sign Cage Stars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Capital Bullets of the National Basketball Association announced Tuesday the signing of Nick Weatherspoon, their No. 1 draft choice, and Tom Kozelko, their No. 3 selection.

Weatherspoon, 6-foot-7, was the all-time leading scorer for the University of Illinois with his 20.9 point average.

Kozelko, 6-8, had a career game average at the University of Toledo of 20.8 points.

Breckenridge Bass Club Sets Tourney

Preparations are under way for the third annual Breckenridge Bass Club Invitational Tournament to be held at Hubbard Creek Lake.

Cash prizes as well as trophies and merchandise are on the line for the anglers with biggest single catch and a variety of other classifications. The tournament will be held August 18 and 19 with weigh in times from 6 a.m. until 3 p.m. each day.

A cash prize of $125 will be awarded to the largest black bass each day. A prize of $75 will go to the second largest bass each day and the third largest getting $50 each day. A trophy will be awarded to the fisherman with the biggest black bass caught during the two day tournament.

Entry fees for the contest are $6 per day. In addition to the fee, contestants must be a member in good standing of a bass or sportsmans club. Contestants must also remember to register at the tournament headquarters in order to qualify. The headquarters is Carey's Marina at the west end of the Hubbard Creek Lake bridge.

The club expects 400 to 500 anglers to show up at the lake for the contest. Fishermen from surrounding areas will help swell the number of contestants as in past years.

Anyone seeking additional information may contact Walter Grafton, secretary, Breckenridge Bass Club, P.O. Box 908, Breckenridge, Texas, 76024.

WINS TROPHIES—Benjie Denson, 15, 2700 Avenue M, poses between two rows of trophies he has won while motorcycle racing in Big Spring, Odessa, San Angelo and Midland. He won 12 of the trophies during the past two months on his new Penton 100. He said he has won a trophy every time he has raced the new cycle.

BENJIE DENSON

Snyder Youth Is Top Cycle Rider

Benjie Denson, 15-year-old Snyder schoolboy, is well on the way towards filling his ambition to become a professional motorcycle rider.

Benjie, the son of Wayne and Jo Denson, has been riding motorcycles since he was eight years of age, and he has been racing them every weekend for the past year. During that year of racing, he has won 14 trophies, and 12 of them were won on his two-month old Penton motorcycle. It has 19 horsepower and 100 cc's (piston displacement).

He races at tracks in San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring on Sundays. His next race will be in the expert class, which means he will be racing for money for the first time. A first place as an expert can bring him $50 a race. Not bad for a 15-year-old.

Benjie says there are about 30 racers competing in each race. He said he gets a big thrill out of it and that the danger of racing motorcycles just adds to the pleasure he gets out of it.

In motorcycle racing, there are several obstacles that the racer must get through — things like curves, hills, and sand. Once Benjie ran through a fence and was knocked unconscious for about 10 minutes. He said he's been run over a couple of times.

"We have narrow tracks and it's hard for the other racers to miss you if you fall down," he explained.

Benjie said another time he fell on a curve and went over the handle bars, but that he hasn't been injured seriously.

Benjie will be in the 9th grade at Travis Junior High School next semester. He lives at 2700 Avenue M across the street from the school. He has an older brother, Larry, 21, who is serving with the U.S. Army in El Paso. Two sisters, Carla, 16, and Linda, 20, both live in Colorado City.

Benjie said he has won a trophy every time he has raced his new Penton 100. At first, he competed in the 125 class and was the youngest rider in his class. He said he runs about three races each Sunday and gets an average score for each race. That's how trophies are decided — they go to the racer with the best average.

There are about 10 different classes of motorcycle racing, including the mini's, the 100's, the 125's, the 250's and the open class.

"We're trying to get a track here in Snyder," Benjie said.

"There is a practice track in Hermleigh that we work out on," he added.

Benjie said there are several boys in Snyder who are racing or have raced in the past. They include Mike and Jeff Lawrence, Bubba, Billy and Tracey Dennis, Ricky Rice, Richard Lavender and Ricky Jones.

Benjie carries his motorcycle to the races in a trailer.

The Snyder youth said that he doesn't have any other hobbies or main interests — that motorcycle racing is his first love and that he probably will stick with it.

South All-Star Coach Worries

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — South Coach John Ferrera of San Antonio Lee says he isn't worried about winning Thursday night's Texas High School All-Star clash with the North squad.

"I'm just worried about staying in the game ... I'm worrying about being humiliated," Ferrera said.

Worry, ... worry ... worry.

That's the burden of a coach who has seen the South whip the North for the last four consecutive years in this dream game of graduated Texas schoolboy football stars. Two years ago the South poured it on 65-0.

"There's such a thing as the law of averages, you know," Ferrera said. "We are going to throw the ball and just one dropped ball or one interception and all of a sudden you can get wiped out."

Ferrera is also worrying about the slippery Tartan turf at Texas Stadium which can turn into the consistency of ice when it's wet.

"It's the slipperiest turf there is when there's been a rain," Ferrera said. "I mean all it has to do is rain Wednesday and it will still be slick Thursday night. It would be ideal if all our kids had steel-tipped cleats but they don't."

Ferrera said "Now, we may be a little bit bigger but all that means is we're going to have problems with the heat in the fourth quarter."

He also had a furrowed brow over muscle pulls suffered by fleet running back Reggie Rogers of Beaumont and massive defensive tackle Wilson Whitley of Brenham.

Tommy Kramer of San Antonio Lee will start for the South at quarterback while David Shipman of Odessa Permian will be the North quarterback.

On the basketball front for tonight's game in Dallas Convention Center, a high-scoring battle appeared taking shape. Both North Coach Bo Snowden of Highland Park and South Coach Reggie Davis of Midway say guards should dominate.

The 8 p.m. tipoff will see the North holding a 15-13 lead in the all-time series.

The North will run a three-guard, fast-breaking offense and press half and full court. The South will run more of a controlled offense.

"There's not a bad guard on either ball club ... this is one game where the guards should shine," said Snowden.

Larry Spruiell of Petrolia and Tate Armstrong of Springwoods have shined for the North in practice while Hank Bauerschlag of Clear Creek and Huey Smith of Houston Lincoln have been the class of the South drills.

Rangers' Clyde Dazzles Angels

ANAHEIM (AP) — David Clyde had the California Angels singing—both the blues and his praises.

Poised and precocious, the 18-year-old lefthander, only six weeks removed from a Texas high school campus, dazzled California for the second time in less than a week. He went seven stout innings and gained credit for a 4-2 triumph over the fallen Angels Tuesday night.

"I was impressed ... very impressed," commented veteran slugger Frank Robinson, who doubled off the youngster in four trips.

"He has much more control than you would expect of somebody his age, and his velocity is good too."

"I've seen guys throw harder but he's sneaky fast," said Richie Scheinblum. "He has tremendous composure....He's not used to giving up runs, but he didn't come unglued when he got in trouble."

"He's not as quick as Vida Boue but he has great poise and control," lauded Ken Berry, who managed two of the four hits Clyde permitted.

And how does David Clyde evaluate David Clyde.

"I'm just trying to pick up things as fast as I can," he said after evening his major league record at 3-3. "They've been very patient with me. Chuck (Texas pitching Coach Chuck Estrada) has jumped on me a couple of times, but actually he's been very good with me.

"I'm working to improve on my control and to concentrate on every pitch. I don't try to second guess myself either. That can eat you alive."

It was the Angels that Clyde ate alive Tuesday. He struck out five and walked two, and in 14 innings against the Californians Clyde has yielded only one run and seven hits.

The triumph was the ninth in 11 games for the suddenly resurgent Rangers. Clyde's solid effort came on the heels of a no-hit effort by teammate Jim Bibby.

For the skidding Angels, the loss was their 16th in 21 games as they fell 6½ games behind front-running Oakland.

"I don't think the kid will ever have to spend time in the minors," said happy Texas Manager Whitey Herzog. "He has tremendous poise and confidence and he thinks out on the mound a lot better than some veterans I know."

Teen Tourney Set Tonight

The Teenage League baseball tournament in Colorado City, postponed yesterday because of a wet field, will get underway at 6:30 tonight with the Snyder Dodgers meeting Kermit, followed by a clash between Colorado City and Sweetwater.

Hank Aaron Socks His 701st Homer

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron had cracked his 701st career home run only moments earlier, but there was little joy for the Atlanta slugger.

The Braves had just lost the opener of a twi-night doubleheader to the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday and Aaron's 28th home run of the season in the ninth inning only made the score read 9-5 instead of 9-4.

"It just seems to be that way," said Aaron, referring to the fact that many of his homers this year are coming in losing causes.

Aaron, however, provided some excitement for the 25,506 fans in the second game when he narrowly missed No. 702.

Aaron came on in the fourth inning as a pinch hitter with the bases loaded and ripped a long drive which Reds' center fielder Andy Kosco caught with his back against the fence. It went as a sacrifice fly, capping a three-run inning and giving the Braves a 10-5 lead. But Atlanta lost the second game, too, 13-11.

On this night, Aaron was no match for the Reds' Joe Morgan, who drove in seven runs with three homers and two doubles.

Aaron drilled No. 701 off right-handed reliever Pedro Borbon, slamming a 2-2 fastball over the wire fence in left-center field at the 375-foot mark in Atlanta Stadium. The ball hit off the permanent wall another 15 feet back and dropped into the Braves bullpen, 400 feet from home plate.

"It was just a fastball,' said the 39-year-old Aaron, who is closing in on Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714 career home runs.

When asked if it was right down the middle, Aaron said: "Don't make me say that, then the commissioner will be on my back." He was referring to a recent Associated Press story in which some National League pitchers said they would groove No. 714.

To the 39-year-old Aaron, no. 701 was "just a number right now," admitting that the ones that really count are 714 and 715.

The home run moved Aaron to within four of all-time leader Stan Musial on the list of extra base hits. Aaron now has 1,373 to Musial's 1,377.

The Braves have 52 games left after Tuesday's doubleheader.

Tennessee trackmen this year have won the Southeastern Conference crown both indoors and outdoors. Alabama was the runner-up in each meet.

Price Of Marketbasket Continues To Increase

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Soaring egg prices helped push the family grocery bill still higher during the last week in July, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The increases came on top of sharp boosts that followed the lifting of controls on food prices earlier in the month.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and non-food items in 13 cities on March 1 and has rechecked them at the beginning of each succeeding month. A special check was made July 23, several days after the announcement of Phase 4 and the end of controls on all foods except beef.

The marketbasket survey showed that between July 23 and July 31, the total grocery bill was up in 12 of the 13 cities checked. In all but one of those cities, the total also increased between July 1 and July 23.

Of the total number of items checked, 17 per cent increased in the last week of the month, 66 per cent were unchanged, 5 per cent were lower and 12 per cent were unavailable on one of the two check dates.

Eggs and pork chops led the list of more expensive items, reflecting higher prices at the farm.

Eggs increased in price in 11 of the 13 cities during the last week of July with the boosts ranging as high as 33 per cent.

The cost of a dozen grade A, medium white eggs had gone up in eight cities between July 1 and July 23 and the new increases pushed the price up even higher.

For example, the price of a dozen eggs in Seattle went from 58 to 66 cents between July 1 and July 23—an increase of 14 per cent. Then the price went to 85 on July 31—another increase of 29 per cent.

The story was similar with pork chops. Center cut pork chops were up in 11 of 13 cities checked between July 1 and July 23. They rose again in 7 of those 11 cities between July 23 and July 31 and increased in an eighth city where the price remained stable earlier.

The meat manager of a supermarket in Los Angeles—where pork chops went from $1.48 to $1.85 between July 1 and July 23—was selling them at $1.99 a pound on Tuesday.

The Agriculture Department reported on Monday that farmers received record prices in June for hogs, potatoes, eggs and corn and the increases will be reflected later at the supermarket since processors and retailers are allowed, under Phase 4, to pass on boosts in the cost of raw agricultural products.

Because beef remains under a ceiling until Sept. 12, the prices of chopped chuck and all-beef hot dogs stayed steady.

The cities checked for the AP survey were; Albuquerque, N.M.; Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I.; Salt Lake City, Utah, and Seattle.

The marketbasket bill went up everywhere but Atlanta with increases ranging from a fraction of a per cent in New York and Salt Lake City to 5 per cent in Seattle. The bill had gone up in all cities except Miami in the period between July 1 and July 23.

This is what happened from July 23 to 31 in Dallas: The bill went from $7.51 to $7.61 for 11 available items. Eggs were higher, pork chops, detergent, softener and hot dogs were unavailable and everything else was unchanged.

Projections Of Jobs In Future

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: My son will be graduating from high school next year, and I'd like to ask if there's a book which discusses the demand for various careers in the future? – H.B., Kansas City, Mo.

There are two recent Federal publications with this information. Although the first, "Careers for Women in the '70s" is targeted to female readers, its labor market trend data are applicable to both sexes.

This publication makes clear – as I often stress – that predictions about job demands are to be considered estimates, not sure things. Further, projections are subject to revision as changing conditions indicate. Here are forecasts of demand for various occupations. The first figures given are total employment in 1970; the second figures are average annual openings expected to 1980.

ACCOUNTANT–491,000; 31,200. Architect–33,000; 2,700. Chemist–137,000; 9,400. Civil engineer–185,000; 10,000. Dentist–103,000; 5,400. Dietitian–30,000; 2,300; Economist–33,000; 2,300. Employment counselor–8,000; 1,100. Electrical engineer–235,000; 12,200. Industrial engineer–125,000; 8,000. Marketing research worker–23,000; 2,600. Mathematician–75,000; 4,600. Medical records administrator–13,000; 1,500. Medical laboratory workers (including technologists, technicians and assistants)–110,000; 13,500.

Personnel worker–160,000; 9,100. Physician–305,000; 22,000. Physicist–48,000; 3,500. Psychologist–40,000; 3,700. Public relations worker–75,000; 4,400. Recreation worker–13,500; 1,700. Social worker–170,000; 18,000. Statistician–24,000; 1,400. Systems analyst–100,000; 22,700.

"Careers for Women in the '70s" projections – all based on Bureau of Labor Statistics figures – cover many other occupations as well. The report is available for 35 cents by mail from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402; or from Government Printing Office bookstores in some cities for 25 cents.

FOR $2.50, YOU CAN also obtain from the same source the more scholarly 253-page "1973 Manpower Report of the President." This report examines trends affecting occupations to the year 2000. For instance, if the shift from a 3-child to a 2-child family continues until the end of the century, there will be substantial differences in fields as diverse as health and education, to name only two.

The section on schools, which traces recent gyrations of the market for teachers, contains a good insight into the nature and difficulty of accurate manpower forecasts.

"A MAJOR LESSON which emerges from these projections (for teachers) is the need for greater flexibility in training teachers and in utilizing educational resources. Continued swings of considerable magnitude in the size of elementary, high school, and college populations are in prospect during the remainder of this century. Today's oversupply of teachers becomes tomorrow's undersupply, perhaps to be followed by still another surplus the day after tomorrow. The problem of prediction is particularly acute at the college level, where enrollment trends are less dependent on general population trends, and where the shifting needs and interests of students may give rise to substantial revisions in curriculums."

FURTHER, TOTAL FIGURES for expected demand in a particular occupation do not reflect particulars which could be important to you in planning a career. Again using teaching as an example, the need for teachers of medicine is likely to expand but it may be that more medical students will seek to enter specialties that meet the needs of an older population rather than a younger one. Should there be a new baby boom, the prospects could be reversed.

Knowing the size of an occupation you're interested in, how it compares to other occupations, and anticipated demand for various occupations is useful bracing to your career plans. But while a healthy regard for the expected realities of the labor market is basic, beyond that your choice of career should first be structured to fit your interests and aptitudes.

SEARCH PLANE WRECKAGE — Rescue workers walk amidst strewn wreckage of a Delta Airlines DC-9 which crashed with 90 persons onboard Tuesday while landing at Logan International Airport in Boston, in heavy fog. The flight originated in Burlington, Vt. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Nurse Felt Helpless At Site Of Jetliner Crash

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "People were scattered all over the ground. There was no sound. They were all dead," nurse Maureen Kennedy said in describing the scene of a jetliner crash in which 88 persons died.

"There was nothing humanly possible to be done for those people. I never felt so helpless in all my life. I never felt so inadequate," she said after returning from the burned wreckage of a Delta Airlines DC9 that lay on a foggy runway at Logan International Airport.

One person survived Tuesday morning's crash, the worst ever at Boston. Air Force Sgt. Leopold Chouinard, 20, of Marshfield, Vt., was hospitalized in critical condition with burns over most of his body.

Delta Flight 723 sliced through a 2½-foot-high seawall and disintegrated while attempting a landing at the airport.

Federal Aviation Administration officials would only say that the pilot, Capt. John N. Striel Jr., was flying the jetliner 230 feet too low and 3,500 feet short of the usual touchdown point. An 11-man team from the National Transportation Safety Board today began trying to find out why.

Among the victims were Chester Wiggin Jr., a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Robert W. Moran, an assistant New Hampshire attorney general.

William C. Keepers, the airport's chief traffic controller, said "there was no word of trouble" in routine talk with the jetliner at 11:08 a.m.

"He (the pilot) was issued clearance to land, given runway visual range of 6,000 feet and acknowledged the transmission," Keepers said. "That was the last contact."

A minute later, the twin-engine plane clipped the wall, flipped over and broke apart. Its wreckage was sprawled across a gravel strip next to Boston's harbor and the 10,000-foot runway beyond.

The airport had been shut down once Tuesday morning because of bad weather but had been reopened. Witnesses said a fog bank was sweeping across the runways as the jet made its final approach.

The plane had left Burlington, Vt., at 9:12 a.m., 12 minutes behind schedule. It made an unscheduled stop at Manchester, N.H., to pick up passengers stranded there when a flight to New York was cancelled because of fog.

As the plane taxied away from Manchester, the pilot announced that the flight would be 45 minutes late.

Charles R. Mealy of Bedford, N.H., realized that he couldn't make a business appointment on time and asked to be let off. The pilot turned the plane around and said that anyone who wished could get off.

Mealy was the only one.

The worst previous crash in Boston occurred Oct. 4, 1960, when an Eastern Air Lines plane crashed in the harbor after takeoff, killing 62 persons.

Tuesday's crash was Delta's first fatal crash in 20 years, an airline spokesman said.

A temperature of 136.4 degrees in the shade was recorded at Al Aziziyah, Libya, in September 1922.

Cash Sings For Inmates

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Singer Johnny Cash grinned and 330 men and women convicts clapped, whistled and shouted as he wound up a free show at the state prison here.

The performance in a stuffy prison gymnasium marked the first time men and women inmates have been allowed to see such shows together here. The women sat in front and the men sat on bleachers.

For 90 minutes the inmates cheered Cash, particularly when he sang of San Quentin Prison: "may your walls rot and burn in hell...."

Food Cost Problem For Zoo

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "The soaring cost of food has made me shop around like a housewife," says Dewey Garvey, who makes out the grocery list for the 2,000 animals at Brookfield Zoo.

"So far we haven't been hit by shortages. And there absolutely will be no rationing or cutbacks in quality," he added.

The commissary manager at Brookfield, one of the world's largest zoos, said the price of a pound of horse meat has rocketed from 33 cents to 66 cents since Jan. 1.

Three hundred pounds of horse meat are needed daily for the 100 or so animals that have it as their main course. A lion devours 10 pounds a day.

Garvey's list includes 1,000 pounds of apples a week, 800 pounds of carrots, 500 pounds of bananas, 200 pounds of sweet potatoes, 300 pounds of rough lettuce and three tons of cereals.

"It's all gone up 35 to 40 per cent," he said. "We're paying $200 to $250 a ton for cereal containing soybean meal. And fish meal from Peru is up 50 per cent to $150 a ton. We use half a ton a month mostly as an additive for feeding our birds."

Garvey says he is making ends meet by frugal shopping at zoo food markets around the country.

"They now have become a little more competitive, and we also are trying to buy closer to home to save on shipping costs," he said. "Our yearly commissary budget has risen from $150,000 to $180,000. That's a 20 per cent increase while food had gone up 45 to 50 per cent. So you see how we have to shop around."

Prospect Remote For Impeachment

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move to impeach President Nixon has been introduced in the House because of the secret U.S. bombing in Cambodia, but the prospect of action on it appears remote.

The impeachment resolution by Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., was greeted coolly by the Democratic leadership and the chairman of the committee to which it was assigned said no early action is planned.

Drinan himself told newsmen after he filed the measure Tuesday that he had decided against a procedure to force prompt consideration, believing members should have to consider the idea.

"A hearing on impeachment by the House of Representatives is the only possible way by which the questions of citizens of America can be answered and their confidence in government restored," he said.

This was the fourth time since Nixon took office that impeachment moves have been filed against him.

Drinan also said the House should consider what he called "impeachable offenses" committed by the President in connection with the Watergate scandal.

But Drinan, a Roman Catholic priest and frequent critic of Nixon's war policies, said it was not Watergate that prompted him to file the measure so much as "the recent revelation that President Nixon conducted a totally secret air war in Cambodia for 14 months prior to April 30, 1970."

Last year, during the controversy over bombing in Cambodia and the mining of Haiphong Harbor, three impeachment resolutions were introduced. They died without action.

Drinan's brief resolution "that Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States, is impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors" drew an immediate rebuke from Democratic House leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., also of Massachusetts.

O'Neill said in an interview that he had tried to dissuade Drinan from filing the resolution before either the Senate Watergate committee or special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox finished their probes.

O'Neill said he was concerned that Drinan was "known as a liberal anti-Nixon antagonist" and that "any early action could dissipate any future action."

Gen. Stillwell New Commander

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Gen. Richard Giles Stilwell took over command of U.N. and U.S. forces in South Korea today from Gen. Donald V. Bennett.

Stilwell, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., is former U.S. 6th Army commander and a 1938 graduate of West Point.

He will command the 8th Army, a major element of the 42,000-man U.S. force in Korea, and has operational control over the 600,000-man South Korean armed forces, except for the garrison command guarding the capital and the presidential palace.

Bennett will be reassigned to Hawaii as U.S. Army Pacific commander.

4 Persons Die In Louisiana Crash

BENTON, La. (AP) — Four persons were killed and five were injured Tuesday night when two cars collided head-on six miles east of here.

The dead were identified as John W. Howell, 50; Gerald Lee Hagen, 35, and his wife Martha, all of Benton, and Donald Wayne Rowe, 17, of Arlington, Va.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. Don Rowe of Arlington, parents of Donald Rowe; another son, Mike, 9; and the Hagen's daughters Geraldine, 17, and Angela, 9.

Officers said Howell was alone in one car and the Hagen and Rowe families were in the other.
