STERLING CITY NEWS-RECORD

VOL. No. 64 "Since 1890" PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY AT STERLING CITY, TEXAS JULY 29, 1955 No. 30

WINSTON CHURCHILL coined the expression "Iron Curtain" and was also the first to use "The Summit" last year when asked what he thought of a meeting of the Big Four. Now, the meeting at Geneva has ended and the world wonders what will come of it.

The consensus around Washington seems to be that President Eisenhower scored heavily and shook the Russians off balance by his unexpected offer to exchange information about military bases with the Russians—even to allow each other to send planes in and take pictures. This, Ike reasoned, would allay the fears of the world that either country planned a sudden attack on the other.

Certainly we would have much less to lose than the Russians by such an exchange. In a free country such as ours, the Russians probably already have about all the information about our military installations that they could get under the Presidents offer. But we know little about the details of Russian bases.

If the Russians do not follow through on the Eisenhower offer, it will tend to expose them and will cramp their propaganda line which accuses the U.S. of aggressive designs.

We do know the men at the Kremlin have changed their tactics drastically during the past two years. Visitors are being admitted to the country; cameras are allowed; social contacts between their embassies and foreigners are permitted; Russian farmers are leaving good impressions on the Iowans and are being hailed by thousands. American farmers traveling in Russia are receiving similar treatment.

Now, what does all this all add up to? Is it possible that in the processes of evolution, the Russian revolution has spent its fury and even the Kremlin leaders are coming back down to earth? Perhaps one guess is good as another. As of now we must assume it is window dressing—a new technique—and not a change in objectives. Only action—not boasts and talk—can indicate a real change in ultimate objectives of world domination outlined by Lenin. But, to say the least, the outlook is encouraging—compared with the past.

Lions Club Luncheon

The Sterling City Lions Club members met at noon Wednesday for the regular weekly luncheon meeting in the community center.

Sheriff Bill Green reported that $45.00 had been collected for the "Bum Fund." He said that amount would run the fund for some time.

R. P. Brown said that the General Telephone Company was to have an official to meet with the Commissioners Court at the next meeting to work toward an agreement here. He said the company said that several little differences had to be ironed out with the court before dial installation.

President Rufus Foster said he had information that the El Paso Natural Gas Co. was running a line a few miles north of Sterling City, and that he would appoint a committee later if it seemed feasible—toward getting natural gas in Sterling City.

Guests included Hal Knight, Jr., Hugh Dickinson, Coy Norman and a Mr. McEvoy.

The Department of Animal Husbandry at Texas A&M College is holding a short course on Beef Cattle Production during August. The course will last three days beginning August 16. Anyone interested is eligible to attend. The only cost other than room and meals will be a charge of $5 for registration.

The program includes the following topics. Each topic will be discussed by several outstanding authorities and a half day will be spent on each subject.

FIRST DAY:

Morning—Outlook, Outlet and Outcome.
Afternoon—Breeding for Performance.

SECOND DAY:

Morning—Feeding and Managing the Breeding Herd.
Afternoon—Producing Slaughter Steers.

THIRD DAY:

Morning—What's New in Parasite And Disease Control.
Afternoon—Managing Pasture and Range for Greater Efficiency.

The outlook for hog production in Texas is still good in spite of high numbers, says USDA. There was an increase in the spring pig crop of 9% on a national basis during the past year. In Texas there was an increase of 22%. This very large increase was due to a 20% increase in numbers of sows farrowing, and a 2% increase in the size of litters. According to the report, the most favorable prospect is the large corn and milo crop which is being predicted for this year, and this should maintain a favorable corn-hog ratio.

Named Post Supervisor

AUSTIN—John M. Stuckwisch of Sterling City was named post supervisor for the Ground Observer Corps Post to be established in this County. The appointment was made by County Judge G. C. Murrell of Sterling County, and the appointment was announced here today by the State Defense and Disaster Relief Office.

The Ground Observer Corps is an organization of civilian volunteers who have agreed to give their time and effort to aid the United States Air Defense Force in observing, evaluating and reporting from their observation posts, movements of aircraft to a central reporting point known as a filter center. These observation posts are located as near to eight miles apart as possible. They are deemed vitally important as a supplement to the network of radar stations which are charged with the responsibility of detecting enemy aircraft invading the United States. Silver GOC wings are awarded to members who serve a required number of hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Foster are leaving on a vacation trip that will take them to vacation spots in the Canadian Northwest.

Mrs. Lester Foster hurt her foot in a fall in Luby's Cafeteria on Monday of this week. The foot is now in a cast, several bones being broken.

New School Principals Here Named

Arthur T. Barrett, an elementary principal in Hearne, Texas and former junior high coach in Corsicana has been named to replace George Blackburn as Sterling high school principal. George resigned to go to Van, Texas as shop teacher.

Mr. Barrett will teach science and mathematics in addition to his principal's duties. He has a bachelor's and master's degree from Baylor University.

The new high school principal is a Navy veteran. He and Mrs. Barrett have one child, a six-year-old daughter.

New Grade School Principal Is From Alpine

J. R. Dillard, principal of one of the Alpine elementary schools, is to be the new grade school principal here. He replaces Harry Bradstreet, who resigned to enter other work.

Mr. Dillard will also coach junior high school boys and girls. He has been with the Alpine schools the past five years, and has a master's degree from Sul Ross.

Mr. Dillard will arrive here about August 15. He and Mrs. Dillard have two sons, one seven years and one sixteen months old.

Board of Community Development Meeting Held Monday Night

Formation of a Water and Sewer District Talked; Also Possible Incorporation of Sterling City

The Board of Community Development met Monday night in the Community Center. Talk was primarily about the formation of a water and sewer district for Sterling. Possibilities of incorporating Sterling City took part of the time.

Meeting with the group were Hugh Dickinson of San Antonio, who is with an engineering firm and Ransom Galloway of Dallas, who is with a bond firm.

Dickson had worked up a project for a water and sewer district for Sterling. He explained the project for those present. Dickson said his plan called for a well with a pump from a good source of supply west of town. A 100,000 gallon storage tank would be built just north of town and the pump would automatically come on when the tank got half empty, refilling the storage tank in about two hours.

Water in the town would cut the fire insurance rates in about half, he said—as it had in other places. He estimated that the water department could be operated on a revenue system—with the water customers paying costs of operating and reducing bonded indebtedness.

The San Antonio engineer said a sewer system could be built for about $92,000. The system would have an Imhoff tank east of town for treatment of sewage. Such affluent could be used for irrigating crops, pastureland or put into the river. The State Board of Health would have to approve the plans for the sewer system; likewise the State Board of Water Engineers would have to pass on the water system.

He said the estimated cost of a water system to be $103,540.00 and the sewer system at $92,460.00. He said mains for both could be put the alleys for easy hookup. Including all fees, etc. connected with the project, he estimated the total cost around $225,000. Dickson said that $14,000 could retire the bonds and interest on a 25 year repayment set-up.

Galloway said that the bonds would sell better and at a lower rate of interest if the whole county were included in a water district.

It was estimated that the system could be operated for about seven thousand a year. Debt retirement would run $14,000, making a net of $21,000 needed each year. Both men said if 275 customers tied on at minimum rates, the revenue should take care of everything—with no taxes needed. Ozona was cited as a town (not incorporated) that had a water and sewer district that had always paid its own way, and had a surplus of money in the funds. It is a money making proposition, there and elsewhere, said the men.

Should a water district be voted, that is what it is—only. Should a city incorporate, the automatic tax rate is $1.50 per hundred, said Galloway. Galloway read petitions calling for creation of a water district and—or incorporation. Fifty signers (owning real property) can petition the state boards for the water districts and 50 can petition the Commissioners Court for incorporation. Any property tax-paying citizen can then vote on the issues when presented to the populace.

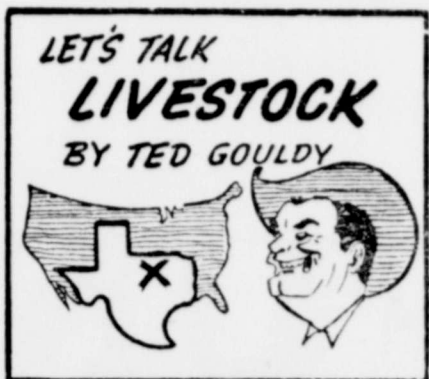

The group did not take any positive action Monday night. They asked Dickson to get a test on the Jeff Davis deep water well and have samples tested for purity and hardness. Also he was to find out about the availability of a water site and easement. He is to report back next Monday night, August 1, at a called meeting at the Community Center. Then positive action may be taken.

John Stuckwisch, president of the Board of Community Development Board, urges everyone to be present at the meeting August 1.

UNDERGOES OPERATION ON HIP

Jodie Emery, son of Mrs. Joe Emery, underwent an operation on a hip for corrective surgery in the Shannon Hospital in San Angelo Thursday of this week. A Dr. Henchey of San Antonio did the operation, which took several hours.

When Jodie can be moved from the Shannon, his mother plans to bring him back to the Sterling County Hospital for his convalescence period.

Fort Worth—The cattle, hog and sheep offerings at Fort Worth Monday was about on a par with the previous Monday which was the smallest since early in the year.

Lighter receipts put more life into the market and most classes sold strong. Fed cattle were slow, but about on a par with last week's closing prices. Good and choice slaughter steers brought up to $21.25. Cows were 50 cents higher and good cows sold around $12.50, a few up to $13. Bulls were slow but about steady at $9 to $13.50.

Slaughter calves started slow in the early trading Monday, but prices were steady with the previous Friday's close. Slaughter calves brought $9 to $10.

Stockers and feeders were fully steady. Only a small per cent of these are really choice kinds, most being medium quality yearlings and calves. Medium and good stocker and feeder steers sold at $14 to $19.50. The same kind of stocker steer calves brought $14 to $20.50.

SHEEP STEADY, FEEDER LAMBS 1/2 HIGHER

The sheep run Monday consisted mainly of spring lambs and ewes. All classes of slaughter lambs and sheep were fully steady to strong. Spring lambs topped at $20. Good shorn slaughter yearlings brought up to $14 and aged ewes cashed at $7 to $10.50. Old ewes drew $4 to $5. Feeder lambs were not too plentiful and demand was strong enough to push prices up fully $1. Small lots of feeders sold at $15 and one good load brought $16.

Behind The 8 Ball

How To Get Rich

Here's your chance to get in on the ground floor of a flourishing business. You can start a cat ranch with 100,000 cats. Each pussycat will average 50 kittens per year. Catskins will sell for 30c each. One hundred men can skin 500 cats a day—so you should net at least a thousand bucks a day. Now to feed the cats you must start a rat ranch nearby with a million rats. The rats will breed twelve times faster than the cats—so, you would have four rats to feed each cat each day. You can feed the rats the carcasses of the cats which the men have skinned each day. You feed the rats to the cats—and the cats to the rats—and get the cat skins for nothing. All you are out is the wages of the 100 men. As a sideline you could build an amphitheater and stage rat and cat races which would really pay.

Pause for Reflection

BY James C. Ingebretson

If you are only 8 years old—or 18 or 23 or somewhere along there—you should rejoice and be glad, according to Roger W. Babson, the grand old man of American business and dean of business analysts. Babson, turned 80 recently, wished he were "8 years old instead" according to United Press dispatch. "I believe," he was quoted as saying in an interview, "the world is entering a third great Renaissance comparable with the Renaissance of the fifteenth century brought about by printing and Bible reading and the Renaissance of the eighteenth century brought about by steam and shovel." Babson, one of the nation's outstanding Christian laymen, was one of the very few who foresaw the 1929 stock market crash. In his analyses of business trends, he applies both his profound knowledge of economics and his deeply Christian moral perspective. If we can join to our technological conquests a comparable moral and spiritual triumph, a third great renaissance would, of course, be inevitable. The scientific advances need for this are dependent upon a relative few but the required moral and spiritual advances are dependent upon every one of us. I think it would be well for all of us to pause and reflect upon that.

Important thought to keep in mind:

When it's safe to pass, make sure you've got the gasoline that lets you enjoy full working octane performance. Stop in at your Gulf station and ask the man for New Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX. And make sure your engine is protected with New Gulfpride H.D. Select, the motor oil that controls carbon.

New Gulf No-Nox Gasoline delivers not just the highest octane but full working octane because it's super-refined to burn clean

See what a difference Gulf super-refining makes. Gulf takes out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery—to bring you new clean-burning Gulf NO-NOX.

NO GASOLINE, no matter how high the octane, will let your engine deliver full power performance—mile after mile—unless it burns clean.

That's why it pays to always use new NO-NOX. Gulf NO-NOX is the clean-burning fuel that gives you full working octane day in, day out. In addition, you get . . .

- more complete engine protection
- extra gas mileage in short-trip, stop-and-go driving
- freedom from vapor-lock, engine stumbling and stalling
- no knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines

Now! For the ultimate in working octane performance, always use Gulf's super-refined gas-oil team...New Gulf NoNox Gasoline and

New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil

The only motor oil super-refined by the Alchlor Process for modern high-compression engines.

- Controls carbon
- Combats corrosive acids, rust and deposits

- Assures lower oil consumption
- Provides the toughest protective film ever developed in a motor oil

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Modern Science Finally Catches Up With Grandpa

I got put in my place the other night. Deserved it, too. My father-in-law said we were due for bad weather. "Birds are flying low," he reported. "That means a storm."

I started to josh with the old gentleman about being superstitious. Then my nephew Jim, on vacation from college, pipes up. "Grandad's right," he says.

"At least, that's what they say at school," Jim goes on. "The heavy air you get before a storm forces insects down low—so high-flying birds have to swoop along the ground if they want to eat."

From where I sit, there's probably sound reasoning back of most old sayings... back of anything people have learned to believe in. Take the idea of a stitch in time saving nine—sparing rods and spoiling children—of drinking hot milk, or a refreshing glass of beer, at bedtime. You may not hold with any of these beliefs yourself... but it's not smart to give them the "bird."
