SUNDAY MORNING CRASH KILLS FORMER TALCO AND PARIS MEN

Tragedy ended a week end fishing trip early Sunday morning north of Clarksville, near Manchester in a car-pickup crash which killed two Paris men and injured three others.

L. C. Womack, 32, and Glen Kelley, 33, of Paris, were killed when their parked pickup was smashed by an on-coming car. Kelley is formerly of Talco.

Two other Paris men and a Dallas man are in Red River County Hospital in Clarksville with injuries. One is in critical condition.

Delbert Brockaway of Paris is in critical condition with a serious back injury which left him paralyzed and semi-conscious. James Byrd, is in serious, but not critical condition, with a head injury.

The Dallas man, Robert Hillery Hamil, who was the driver of a 1954 Cadillac which struck the parked pickup, was reported in "not serious" condition.

According to Highway Patrolman Gene Hamilton of Clarksville, the accident occurred shortly after 1 a. m. 17 miles north of Clarksville near Manchester on a narrow dirt road.

Hamilton said the 1954 Cadillac, driven by Hamil, crashed headon into the International pickup belonging to the fishing party.

The men, including Womack and Kelley, were in the rear of the pickup playing dominoes. Womack was sitting on the tail gate and the other three were sitting around a small table.

The patrolman said the Cadillac was trailing a car, driven by his brother, and was leaving a thick trail of dust. The dust was apparently so thick the driver couldn't see the pickup parked on the left shoulder of the road.

Hamilton said. Womack, killed instantly, was thrown into the road while the other three men were pinned under the pickup. Hamil, who was only slightly injured, along with his brother, who immediately stopped after hearing the crash, used jacks to lift the pickup off the men.

Kelley died on the way to the hospital in an ambulance. Two ambulances were used to carry the men to Clarksville.

The scene of the accident is about two and one-half miles north of Manchester on Pine Creek where the men had set out their fishing lines earlier in the night. The creek was only a short distance from the road.

Double funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. for Womack and Kelley at Paris, Kelley's burial being made at Talco.

Glen W. Kelley, who was born at Talco, March 17, 1926, son of Thad B. and Lena (Monroe) Kelley, was in the roofing business at Paris. He also had served in the army, having been discharged as a technician fifth class, October 20, 1947.

Surviving are his mother; his wife, the former Miss Mildred Carson, sister of Mrs. Womack; these children: Mark Kelley, Glenda Faye Kelley, Brenda Kaye Kelley and Diane Kelley; these brothers and sisters: Otis Kelley, Paris; Vernon Kelley, Eugene Kelley, Mrs. Maggie Biggers and Mrs. Dessie Ellis, all of Dallas, and Marvin Kelley of Shreveport, La.; these half-brothers and half-sisters: Clyde Wells, Clarksville; Bill Wells, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Allene Powers, Paris, and Mrs. Mary Christie, Dallas.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

BURT LOCKHART
in Pittsburg Gazette

Learn to enjoy your good fortune before the taxgatherers get it.

A wrinkle on one's character doesn't get as much attention as one on his face.

You can not run away from your conscience so you had better keep on good terms with it.

If you see it in print it may be so, or it may not. It all depends on who told it to the editor.

Unless you are really necessary to somebody, you are falling short of your responsibility to society.

In this day of governmental extravagance there is some question as to the meaning of "political economy."

If you want to get first-hand, dependable advice go to the man who has succeeded or to the man who has failed.

If the West is as bad as shown on television we are glad we didn't take Horace Greeley's advice and go there.

People who rely only on their own thinking have nobody to blame but themselves if their thinking gets them in jail.

Life has become so dangerously complicated that one marvels at man's ability to escape all the dangerous pitfalls and evils that beset his path. Living takes all of a man's time.

Gov. Daniel will have two more years to work out a satisfactory tax plan, as if there is such a thing as a satisfactory tax plan. Taxes, however necessary, are regarded as economic poison by many.

The espionage plane incident in Russia was deplorable and places the United States in an embarrassing position. It does not make the peace picture any brighter to say the spying trip was authorized by our government. Explanations will follow and Russia will look around for other propaganda material. We wonder how many spies Russia employs to cover the U. S.

ACE IN THE HOLE

"Funny," said one, "how lucky Joe is at cards, but how unlucky at the track."

"Nothing funny about it," his friend answered. "They don't let him shuffle the horses."

The trunk of a tree used in an old building in Utah was discovered recently, and by checking rings with other grown trees, showed that the building was built in 217 A. D., which makes it the oldest proven date of any building in North America.

SOME BOUQUET!

More for Less

Michigan's Rep. August E. Johansen says he expects any day to get a letter from a constituent telling him: "Please vote us $6 billion a year more. Also please reduce taxes. If you do not do both, we'll get ourselves new Congressman."

The Representative says no one has put it to him just that way yet, but he does get letters asking for both more federal spending and less taxes.

Unfortunately, not even the U. S. Congress has found a way to provide more federal "aid" without charging more taxes. Which should make it pretty clear that if we want to stop the rise in taxes, it will be necessary to stop the increase in government give-aways and spending.

YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW—how the man you elect as your State Representative

Stands on the Texas Right to Work Law

Everyone realizes that the Texas Right to Work Law has been a great benefit to our state. It has done much to promote industrial development. This law simply provides that it is unlawful to force a person to join any organization for the right to work.

It is now a well known fact that a determined effort will be made in the next State Legislature to repeal this Right to Work Law.

James V. Adams believes we should keep the Right to Work Law and will oppose any effort to repeal it.

How does my opponent stand on this important issue?

He has said that a candidate should take a firm stand on every issue. I, therefore, ask him to state his stand on this important Right to Work Law. You have a right to know where he stands.

A vote for James V. Adams for State Representative is a vote for keeping the Right to Work Law in Texas.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

Austin. — with the main state elections over, statehouse interest now focuses on next anuary when a new Legislature will meet.

Lawmakers will have to hack their way through the same old jungle of state money problems that faced them in '59. Again the goal will be to find enough tax revenue to pay off the state's debts and provide government services for another two years.

Blazing of some possible paths is already under way. Gov. Price Daniel's 30-member State Finance Advisor Commission begins this week assembling data on the state's future financial needs and how they can be met.

Governor Daniel has said he will propose five different tax plans for Commission study. Any one of the plans, said the governor, would wipe out the deficit in the state's general revenue fund and provide for expected future needs without a state income tax or general sales tax.

Secretary of State Zollie Stealey is chairman of the Finance Commission.

BE NICE TO TOURISTS — Out-of-state visitors will get the red carpet treatment when they stop for gasoline if Governor Daniel's advice is heeded.

Speaking to the Texas Association of Service Stations, the governor urged the station operators to sell Texas as well as gasoline to the tourists. Everyone will benefit from more tourists and longer visits, he said.

Last year 9,600,000 tourists came to Texas and spent $431,000,000. Of this, $77,000,000 went for gasoline, with $10,000,000 in taxes going to the state.

That's a lot of tourists, but not so many as the state could and should have, says the governor.

He urged the station operators to be salesmen for their communities and areas and encourage travelers to do more sightseeing.

MR. TEXAS MOVES TO TOWN — Early studies of Texas' 1940 census figures indicates that while Texas cities are getting bigger, the wide open spaces are getting less and less cluttered with people.

Much of the explosive growth of cities apparently has been at the expense of surrounding rural areas, either by annexation or by the moving of country dwellers to the nearby city.

Fast-growing Abilene is an example. Abilene population has grown by 96 per cent since 1950, from 45,570 to 89,248. Taylor County, in which Abilene is located, gained from 63,370 to 100,216. Net result: Taylor County's non-Abilene population dropped from 17,800 to 10,788.

A similar situation exists in the Panhandle where Amarillo's 84 per cent increase outstripped that of Potter County.

Texarkana moved up in population, but the counties in which it is located (in Texas and Arkansas) lost ground.

WATER STORAGE DOWN — Despite the usual conservation punctuated with "now that the drought's over," reports show much of Texas short on rainfall this year.

State Board of Water Engineers reports that water in Texas reservoirs dropped from 9,622,230 acre feet in March to 9,481,265 acre feet in April. This is about a 1.5 per cent decrease.

Rainfall for the first four months of the year has been below normal for Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Laredo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Port Arthur, Beaumont, San Angelo, San Antonio, Victoria, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Above average rainfall was recorded by Amarillo, Abilene, Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

TRUCK REGISTRATION REQUIRED — State Supreme Court has held that a fleet of semi-trailer trucks operated in Texas must register in Texas even though they are already registered in Mississippi.

Suit was brought by the State Highway Department against a motor freight company in El Paso.

Supreme Court upheld lower court rulings that the company must buy Texas license plates for all 95 of its trucks.

VACATION BENEFITS DUE TEST — Supreme Court has set a hearing for June 8 on whether unemployment compensation payments must be made to employees on unpaid vacations.

In the case in point, the company gives a one-week vacation with pay to employees of five years or more. During the summer the plant was closed for two weeks. Some employees received one week's pay, some none, depending on their seniority.

Texas Employment Commission ruled that the employees were not due unemployment payments for the period they were without pay. A Dallas district court upheld TEC, but the Court of Civil Appeals reversed this decision. TEC is appealing to the Supreme Court.

TRUCKERS ASK RATE HIKE — In a sharply-contested hearing before the Railroad Commission, Texas truckers are asking to be allowed to charge higher rates for shipments within the borders of Texas.

Desired increase would be approximately 7.66 per cent higher than present rates.

Firms that do a great deal of shipping and several local chambers of commerce are opposing the request. They contend that rates within Texas are higher than interstate rates now.

Truckers say they must have the increase because increased costs of operation are causing them to have substantial losses.

NO CREDIT UNION BRANCHES — Attorney General Will Wilson has ruled that credit unions are subject to the same prohibition as banks against setting up branch offices or receiving deposits anywhere except in their main office. Ruling was asked for by the State Banking Commission.

In another ruling, based on a question from the Texas Animal Health Commission, the attorney general held that the Commission is not compelled to begin brucellosis control work in an area until such time as it is economically sound and scientifically feasible.

State law passed last year allows the Commission to set up controls on the cattle disease in areas where 75 per cent of the cattle owners having 51 per cent of the cattle request it.

30,000-YEAR-OLD LOG DREDGED FROM GULF

La Jolla, Calif. — Scripps Institution of Oceanography says a partly petrified log, dredged from a quarter-mile depth in the Gulf of Tehuantepec, Mexico, was the first find of phosphate fossil wood from the sea floor.

Normally, it explained, petrified wood is mineralized with silicon dioxide, commonly called opal. The piece from the gulf was mineralized with calcium phosphate, called apatite, from dead and decaying sea life. Scripps said the log was at least 30,000 years old.

Drivers Under 25 Involved in One of Three Accidents

Drivers in the age 25-or-under classification hold less than 20 per cent of the Texas driver licenses, but a driver age 25 or under is involved in nearly one of three traffic accidents on Texas highways.

Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies reports that on the basis of analysis of Department of Public Safety records, drivers age 25 and under were involved in 540 fatal accidents in 1958.

The ratio of involvement in both fatal accidents and total accidents was almost identical for drivers in this age bracket. The Association studies showed that drivers in the 15-25 age bracket were involved in a substantially higher percentage of accidents than those in any other ten-year age span. Drivers in the 15-24 age group—representing 18.3 per cent of Texas' licensed drivers—were responsible for 27.2 per cent of the accidents.

Next highest were drivers between ages 25 and 34, 25.7 per cent of the state's licensed drivers. Drivers in this bracket were involved in 23.8 per cent of the accidents.

Percentages for other brackets decline sharply: 35-44—22.7 per cent of the drivers—18.2 per cent of the accidents; 45-54—17.3 per cent of the drivers—14.3 per cent of the accidents.

Age group 55-64, involved in 8.6 per cent of the accidents, represents 10.6 per cent of the drivers; and the over-65 bracket represents 5.9 per cent of the drivers, is involved in 5.3 per cent of the accidents.

Drivers under 25 are involved in a greater percentage of accidents than all drivers over age 45. Drivers 20 and 21 are involved in the most fatal accidents—130 in 1958.

Why Trade Goes To Large Cities

As the ancient ballad tells, for want of a nail a kingdom was lost. A modern paraphrase could be that for want of the right kind of advertising great amounts of business are lost.

The Windsor, Mo., Review points out that "The chief competitors of the small town retailer are not other local merchants. His most serious competitor comes from nearby metropolitan centers."

Prices on standard brands of merchandise, the Review goes on, are virtually the same everywhere. Low overhead sometimes gives the small town retailer a competitive advantage over the big city merchant. So the Review asks and answers a question. "Why, then, do so many shoppers travel fifty or a hundred miles to buy the same items they could obtain at home for the same price? Many retailers who ask this question should look to themselves to find the blame. Inadequate advertising is likely to be the answer."

The merchant who just opens his doors and waits for the customers to enter, without attracting them through advertising, is going to do a minimum of business. The merchant who sees to it that people know what he has to offer and what he wants for it is going to do the maximum. And the local newspaper is the outstanding ad-retailer. — Industrial News Review.

POSTSCRIPT

En route to his pumpkin patch, a graybeard kept chuckling over the brightness of his idea to thwart pilfering. He had put up a sign announcing, "One of these pumpkins contains poison."

But when he arrived at the patch, his eyes popped wide as he saw this second sign tacked beneath his own: "Two pumpkins now contain poison."

WHY SHE DIDN'T SHOOT

A tourist in the Ozarks saw a mountaineer struggling hand to hand with a huge bear. He rushed to the nearest cabin and found the man wife calmly standing on a stump, rifle in hand.

"Why don't you shoot the beast?" he asked.

"I will if I have to," she replied calmly, "but I'm waiting to see if the bear won't save me the trouble."

GOOD AND BAD POINTS

"This house," stated the real estate man, "has both good and bad points. To show I'm honest, I'm going to tell you about both. The disadvantages are that there is a distillery one block south and a slaughterhouse one block north."

"What are the advantages?" inquired the prospective buyer. "You can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

Two Events Honor Talco Senior Class

Class colors, red and white, were carried out in decorations at the Junior-Senior annual banquet of Talco High School at the Alps Cafe in Mt. Pleasant, a Mardi Gras motif being effected with balloons, confetti, masks, and sabers and costumed dolls.

Dianne Sikes and Woodrow Sanford, Jr., were crowned queen and king by Danny Perdue, toastmaster, and John Whitten, class president, crown bearers being Steve Newsome and Jerry Dee Gage, with Sally Cook as flower girl.

Bonnie Belcher gave the class will and John Gable, the prophecy, Supt. A. C. Newsome speaking briefly in conclusion. A stage band from Sulphur Springs played during the evening.

Eighty-nine students, teachers, board members and the latter's wives attended, Mrs. Lucille Perkins and J. Kelly Baker being the class sponsors.

Talco Senior class was honored with a pirate banquet given in the Humble Company recreation hall by First Baptist Church.

The 21 seniors entered the "pirates' cave," signing a scroll with a quill pen, by the light of an oil lamp. A treasure chest of jewels, water lilies, sea shells and nets with starfish were decorations.

After dinner, games were played, climaxed by a treasure hunt.

USING JUDGMENT

A little boy was walking down the street crying bitterly, and a man walked up to him and said, "What's the trouble son, anything wrong?"

"Among sobs the little boy replied: 'Mother lost her psychology book and she's using her own judgment now.'"

SILLY FLIES

"Human beings are really silly things," said one fly. "Look—they spend so much money on a nice ceiling. And then they keep walking on the floor!"

CURIOUS WOMAN PAYS $100 FINE

Austin. — Mrs. Christine Johnson of San Antonio knows the answer to a $100 question.

She said in county court she fired a revolver at the ceiling of an east Austin restroom to see if the gun was loaded with blanks or live ammunition.

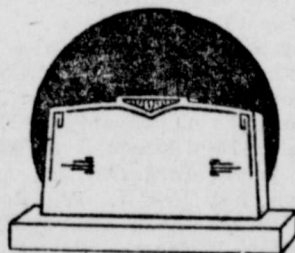

The little round hole that appeared in the ceiling gave her the answer—which cost her a $100 fine.

THANKS, MY FRIENDS

I want to take this opportunity to thank the voters of District 3 for their support in the recent Democratic Primary election, especially in Red River County, which honored me with almost as many votes as the other three candidates combined received. I am indeed honored.

While I do not presume to try to tell any of my friends how to vote in the forthcoming primary I will say that my friend, Mr. James Adams, our present Representative, stands for the same principles on which I based my campaign.

Thank you,

R. T. MARCHBANKS
