Texas Tech Wins Judging Contest At Kansas City

A Texas Technological college senior livestock judging term for the first time won first place at the American Royal Livestock show contest in Kansas City Saturdty, scoring 4,576 points, 62 points ahead of second place, Oklahoma A. & M. college.

Victory bells were rung briefly Sunday night in honor of the event, said W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, Monday morning. Message from R. C. Mowery, coach, came late Sunday.

Expected Back Tuesday

Members of the team are: Clifton Cole, Lubbock; Walter Coulson, Amherst; Lewis Dunlap, Spur; Jack Welch, Foard City; M. J. Williams, Meadow; Herbert Fields, Sonora, alternate. The team is expected to arrive late Tuesday night and to resume work Wednesday.

There were 14 teams in the contest, the same as in 1927 when Tech entered its first American Royal contest. That year the school was 13th. Members were; Glenn Blackmon, Sam Chatham, L. C. Jennings, R. C. Reed and C. L. Weaver.

Standings Of Teams Given

Standings of the first five teams at Chicago were: Tech, 4,576; Oklahoma A. & M., 4,514; Texas A. & M. and Michigan, 4,460; Wisconsin, 4,441. Otehr rankings were: Iowa, Perdue, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio, North Dakota, Missouri and South Dakota.

In individual standings Cole and Coulson tied for second in the entire contest and Welch, fourth. Cole was first in sheep; Coulson, second

Economy Fight Flares Anew As Legislature Starts Final Week

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 — The economy fight broke out anew in the house today as the legislature embarked on the final week of its special session.

Rep. Walter E. Jones of Jourdanton urged quick adoption of his resolution requesting Governor James V. Allred to open the subject of slashing state expenditures. The attorney general's department had expressed the opinion that unless the governor changed his special session call the house could not consider the departmental reduction bill passed by the senate.

Not Within Call

Speaker Robert W. Calvert said privately his present intention was to hold that expense-slashing proposals were not within the call.

Charges the senate was not sincere in its move to cut expenses and would not reduce appropriations for higher educational instutions and the judiciary rang through the house chamber.

"In the departmental bill, the senate whacked the little fellows and let the big ones go," said Rep. Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo. "Let's wait and see if the senators really mean business. Let's wait till they agree to trim the judiciary and educational bills."

Says Time Remains

Jones maintained time remained in the current session to effect material savings in governmental costs.

"Some men and women on the state payroll," he said, "draw almost twice as much as they could get from private industry."

Scout Drives Begun Today

With a return of perfect weather to spur their efforts, committees in six towns of South Plains Boy Scout council this morning began annual sustaining club membership roundups which, by next Oct. 30, will have been extended to each of the 27 communities in the area with Scout troops.

Scenes of one-day roundups today, with the chairman of each, are: Quitaque, J. C. Rhoderick; Floydada, J. C. Gilliam; Matador, J. Randall Whitworth; Slaton, John C Jenkins, Post, W. L. Davis; and Ralls, M. A. McLaughlin.

Scout Executive Earl M. McClure will assist committees in Slaton, Post and Ralls today, while Assistant Executive Lyndon T. Grant will divide his time among Quitaque, Floydada and Matador.

Tuesday's roundups will be in Lockney, Amherst and Lamesa, with that at Lamesa continuing two days.

Speculation On Landon Speech

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Alf M. Landon's announcement of a radio speech tomorrow night aroused speculation today on two questions: 1. Will the 1936 Republican presidential nominee comment directly on President Roosevelt's talk of last Tuesday outlining his program for a special session of congress?

2. Will he discuss Republican preparations for the 1938 campaign, including the proposed off-year convention

Landon Gives No Clues

Landon gave no clue to his subject in announcing the address. He said only that he would discuss "certain questions of the day."

(The address will be broadcast over the NBC blue network, 8:30 to 9 p. m., central standard time).

Political obesrvers here considered it likely that he might take issue with the president on some legislative recommendations, or at least outline the Republican viewpoint.

Another Step In Campaign

The speech, in any event, will be regarded as another step in the early Republican campaign to increase the party's seats in congress in the 1938 election.

Organization for the campaign has been under way for weeks, but no major figure in the party has yet discussed publicly the issues on which votes will be asked.

Election Next Month

Some indication of which way the political winds are blowing may come in scattered off-year elections next month. Leaders of both parties are watching the guberratorial contests in Virginia and New Jersey, several special congressional races, and mayoral contests.

Support of the president was mentioned in a factional campaign in Arkansas, where voters picked a successor today to the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson, majority leader.

Governor Carl E. Bailey, regular Democratic nominee, declared his independent opponent, Rep. John E. Miller, was anti-Roosevelt. Miller, endorsed by Senator Hattie Caraway (D-Ark) among others, said he admired the president and objected to making him an issue.

Four Prisoners Break From Sweetwater's Jail Sunday

SWEETWATER, Oct. 18 (AP) — Four prisoners who jimmyed a door to escape the Nolan county jail were still at large today.

They were Harry Whitney, 60, serving a year on conviction for shop lifting; Ross Due, 19, indicted on counts of burglary, F. B. Norris, alias, J. A. Barnett, indicted on charges of felony, theft, and forgery, wanted in Abilene, Houston, and Snyder, and G. W. French, 34, a federal prisoner.

The alarm was given some time after their escape yesterday by a prisoner who returned to the jail. Other prisoners in the cell block refused to accompany them.

Thirty CIO Oil Union Men Defy Sooner Court Order

HEALDTON, Okla., Oct. 18. (AP) —Thirty members of a CIO oil union defied today a district court order to vacate ten leases if the Jones Oil company, closed down when 150 union men appeared, cut off power and ordered company workers to leave.

George C. Jones, president of the company, drove to Marietta after the strikers halted operations at 60 stripper wells yesterday in protest to the dismissal of ten union employes, and obtained an order from District Judge J. I. Goins.

Plane With 19 Aboard Crashes In West

Ship Is Sighted From Air Near Evanston, Wyo.

Air Liner Had Been Missing 14 Hours; First Indications It Badly Wrecked Or Burned

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 18.—An air liner lost more than 14 hours with its 19 occupants was sighted from the air today 12 miles southwest of Evanston, Wyo., and first indications were it was badly wrecked or burned.

Whether any of the 16 passengers or crew of three escaped alive could not be immediately learned.

"Burned Or Badly Cracked Up"

Arthur Willoughby of San Francisco, postal inspector who flew here today, said he "understood" the plane was "burned or badly cracked up."

"They have nothing definite on it yet, but it is my understainding the men who found the ship got the impression it either had been badly smashed or had been partially burned," Willoughby said.

R. W. Schroeder, vice president and former chief of federal air line inspection, announced the mighty transcontinental transport was sighted by Bob Bergensen, United Air Lines pilot, and Observer Bill Williams, who then radioed they would land at the Knight, Wyo., field, near the Utah border.

"The plane definitely has been wrecked." Schroeder said later.

Cracked Up On Mountain

"It cracked up on the side of Chalk mountain, about 26 miles south of Knight, at an altitude of 10,000 feet. The observers could not fly close enough to see whether anyone was alive."

Immediately afterward Schroeder and a party of air line officials left by automobile for Knight.

In rough, broken country, the scene of the apparent crash can be reached only by a difficult wagon road, Schroeder said. Rain and snow may make access even more difficult.

Agreement Of Labor Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 — Some leaders in each faction expressed high hopes today that next week's peace conference of A. F. of L. and C. I. O. representatives will lead to a new, unified labor movement.

Each side will go into the conference here October 25 without any commitments. Neither has indicated any willingness to yield on the conflicting theories of union organization.

Believe Solution Possible

Nevertheless, members of each group said privately they believed something could be worked out to unite the 7,000,000 members of the two organizations into one force.

A possible solution advanced by labor observers was acceptance by the American Federation of Labor of the C. I. O. as an autonomous department.

Would Cooperate

Under this suggested reconciliation, the C.I.O. would continue its industrial organization—that is, organization of mass production workers in one union—and the A.F. of L. would continue organization by crafts. Unionization would be carried on cooperatively, however, instead of in the open warfare of the last year.

Labor authorities said they expected some sort of settlement to come from the conference because they believed neither side would be willing to bear the onus of withdrawing without an agreement.

Wrangle Over Green Taxes Is Moved To Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18. (AP)—The wrangle over nearly $6,000,000 in inheritance taxes in which four states seek to establish themselves as the legal residence of the late Col. E. H. R. Green resumed here today.

A national convention which had reserved all available hotel room drove the week-old hearing from Dallas to this neighboring city.

The estate is estimated to total $44,348,500.

There is no dispute over the federal government's claim of $20,812,905. New York seeks $7,132,989.92. Florida $5,335,985.47, Massachusetts $5,809,155.29 and Texas $5,326,554.21.

Only the state declared Green's domicile will be entitled to collect when the court rules.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

VICTORIA, Oct. 18 (AP) — The body of Mrs. Grace Wheeler, missing bookkeeper, object of a widespread search since Saturday morning, had been found today. A Mexican discovered it floating in the Guadalupe river yesterday.

Justice of the Peace H. B. Chambers of Victoria returned a verdict of "death by drowning."

'SINGING BANDIT' CAUGHT

Steady Rains Reported In Texas Areas

Needed Moisture Provided For Grains; Houston Is Deluged By 5 Inches

(By The Associated Press)

A week-end of steady rains over a wide area in Texas today had aided fall planting and provided needed moisture for grains already under ground in some sections.

Sections about Fort Worth, Gainesville, Stephenville, Palo Pinto county, and Dallas, where precipitation ranged from none to 2.80 inches, reported little damage to cotton, most of which had been harvested, and help for wheat, oats and other grain already seeded, with aid to planting operations.

Deluge At Houston

Houston reported that week-end rains of almost torrential intensity amounting to about 5 inches, would keep the third wing of the GHQ air force, there for annual army aviation manuevers, grounded.

In that area some late, unharvested rice, was reported damaged, but truck crops needed the rain.

Beaumont recorded 3 inches of rain yesterday, still falling late last night.

Colorado River Rising

The Colorado river rose a half foot in 24 hours at Austin, where 2.66 inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period ending yesterday.

Llano reported 1.16 inches, Taylor 3.14 inches, Throckmorton county 1-2 inch, Decatur, Wise county, .5 inch, Abilene .07 inch, and Eastland light showers.

Heavy rains at Bonham sent the Red river on an 8-foot rise; the Trinity river at Dallas was almost bankfull. Streams at Cleburne were temporarily up Saturday night, but no damage was reported.

The forecast was cloudy for East Texas, and fair for West Texas today.

Farmers And Pickers Are Rejoicing At Sunshine

Cotton farmers and pickers this morning rejoiced at the sunshine over the week-end, which indicated picking of cotton would be resumed within a few days, possibly sooner. Sunday's maximum was 74 degrees, the state experiment sub-station reported. Minimum was 43 this morning and 42 yesterday.

Heavy dew fell this morning and it will cause some delay in going into the fields, Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station, said. He advised farmers not to pick cotton too wet, to wait a day or two longer in order that the open cotton might become dry.

Wet cotton when ginned, has the grade cut down considerably, frequently the cotton being classed as untenderable, owing to the very poor quality.

It was not believed that the sunshine of Saturday and Sunday was enough to dry out the open bolls or to dry the sap in the bolls. Another day or two of hot weather, after today, should follow before picking is resumed. However, some said, many pickers might start late Monday or Tuesday.

LOWER QUOTAS DUE

Suit Filed To Prevent Move

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Oct. 18—Question of the home of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce headquarters today had become one for the courts to decide.

Removal of the office from Stamford to Abilene had been scheduled this morning but D. A. Bandeen, general manager of the regional chamber, yesterday was enjoined from so doing by a court order issued by Judge Dennis P. Ratliff of the 39th district court at Haskell.

Brought By Stamford

Action prompting the temporary injunction was brought by the Stamford Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, joined by C. M. Francis and others. Mr. Francis is treasurer of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the only member of the executive board to cast a dissenting vote when the board last Friday accepted Abilene's offer to house the WTCC offices in the old federal building here.

Legal counsel for the Stamford group is Charles E. Coombes and H. G. Andrews, partners in a Stamford law firm, and E. V. Hardwick, another attorney of Stamford. Coombes, a former Abilenian, is an ex-president of the WTCC.

Date for the injunction hearing was set November 15, the site yet to be determined.

Application for the injunction was filed in the Haskell court, it was explained, because W. R. Chapman of Abilene, judge of the 104th district, which embraces Jones county, could not be reached.

Alabama Pushes Probe Of Mine Blast; 34 Are Killed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 18 (AP) —Alabama pushed its investigation of the Mulga mine tragedy today as newly dug graves received the last of the 34 victims of the terrific explosion.

The toll mounted to 34 yesterday with the death of Ivan Fox, 38, only member of the crew of 34 working in one elbow of the mine who was not instantly killed.

Vice President's Dinner Again Listed On Winter Social Slate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—Vice President Garner may have thought he had abolished once and for all the old custom of exchanging an annual dinner with the president, bue he hasn't.

For on the winter social calendar of the White House, just made public, is this line:

"Jan. 6, Thursday—vice president's dinner 8 p. m."

Many a Washington dowager, however, was willing to wager today that when Garner arrives for the special session of congress next month, he will telephone President Roosevelt and say something like this:

"Say, boss, let's call the whole thing off."

That is what he did last year, and President Roosevelt, chuckling heartily, consented.

Until that time, the president and the first lady had entertained at a state dinner every year for the vice president and his wife, and the latter in turn had been host to the presiden-

Huddleston Is Nabbed Without Resistance Early Sunday Night At Roswell; Gun Is Jammed

The trail B. H. Huddleston, "Singing Bandit" of Greenville, blazed with his gun abruptly was brought to another conclusion early Sunday night at Roswell, N. M.

The nipping of his latest meteoric dash with officers, which included hijacking of a Colorado drug store and theft of two automobiles, barely was accomplished without bloodshed.

Nabbed without resistance by Sheriff Perry Bean; Dean Stewart, deputy sheriff, and James Durett, state policeman, Huddleston jerked out a concealed gun when taken into Chaves county jail and pulled the trigger twice.

But for the weapon's jamming, he might have killed some of those who had him in custody, the Associated Press reported.

Young Women With Him

Arrested with him were two young women who identified themselves as Opal Green and Billie Evans, the latter giving her address as Lamesa and her vocation as carnival dancer.

Lubbock authorities, notified immediately after the arrest, left for Roswell. In the party were Sheriff Tom Abel; Bill Mabray, police identifgications officer, and Sheriff Bill Parker of Tahoka.

Information supplied by Grady Harrist, Lubbock deputy sheriff, Saturday had caused the New Mexico authorities to be on the lookout for Huddleston.

En Route To Roswell

Dick Hickman and Dick Gregory, respectively chief of police and sheriff at Colorado, were reported en route to Roswell.

Roswell authorities told Cap Moore, deputy sheriff of Lubbock, an automobile believed stolen at O'Donnell was being held at the New Mexico city.

Huddleston, who has more than 200 years' imprisonment stacked against him by several jurisdictions, walked into the Colorado store early Friday night, and at point of gun, took $300 in money and 1,000 grains of narcotics. He burglarized a Big Spring store later in the night, was chased 10 miles by a Big Spring patrol car, arrived at Lamesa, where he abandoned a car he had stolen at Vernon, took another machine, drove to O'Donnell and, experiencing motor trouble, stole a new car.

Trail Lost There

His trail was lost there, despite an army of peace officers taking up the hunt by air and on the ground.

Whether Huddleston, who escaped jail at Waxahachie Sept. 12 along with Bill Garrett, his running mate in crime, would be placed in the Lubbock county jail for safekeeping or given to custody of other authorities had not been determined late this morning Several counties have charges against him.

Lubbock authorities were especially interested in the case because of burglarized goods identified as belonging here and in surrounding towns. Huddleston's arrest was believed to have cleared two burglaries of Nineteenth Street pharmacy, as well as jobs recently perpetrated at Brownfield, Sudan, Big Spring, and other places. Mabray informed Don Reeder, Lubbock chief of police, additional merchandise had been identified late this morning.

Favor Return To Huntsville

Authorities expressed themselves as favoring Huddleston's being returned to Huntsville to serve the rest of his life in confinement. He, brash and loud-talking, had made numerous boasts he and Garrett could break out of any jail. His record shows at least part of his boast could be performed.

Garrett is back in custody, having been knocked out at Sonora last week after he had shot his female companion twice in an effort to kill arresting officers who appeared after his car had become ignited.

Two oil field workers reported to Brownfield officials Saturday night they had seen a car near Grassland that answered description of that driven by the bandit and his women companions.

Shootings Are Probed Today

Investigation remained open this morning in at least two of four shootings over the week-end.

No charge was likely to be filed naming W. H. Millican, Acuff storekeeper, who killed a 17-year-old Mexican Sunday midnight. The Mexican, Ricardo Ramos, had by artifice entered the residence of a widow near the Millican store a few minutes earlier, after appearing at Millican's. The widow was forced to feed him and a companion

Demanded Something To Eat

The two Mexicans, after reappearing at Millicans, knocked on a screen and demanded to be given something to eat. Millican refused at first, then relented and asked a woman to make them a sandwich.

When she started to accede, Ramos stuck his hand into his pocket and jerked out what later was established as a car mirror with a watch built into it. Millican shot through the screen, he said, under belief the Mexican's threatening gesture was supported by a gun. The mirrow later was found. The other Mexican fled and had not been picked up today.

Whisky Bottle Found

An inquest was conducted at Millican's by S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, and a half-filled bottle of whisky was found several steps from the Mexican's body.

Pete Ramos, brother of the slain Mexican, said the Mexican who escaped was another brother Camilo Ramos, about 16. He said the slain youth was about 15 years old. He asked that newspapers assist him in locating whereabouts of his father Nick Ramos, believed to be picking cotton somewhere in this section. He said there are "six children picking cotton out here and three at home," at San Antonio.

Leonard "Cat" Means, a negro policeman who in the Flats here shot and killed Prince Hill, negro about 31 years old, about the same time the Mexican was killed, was released on his own recognizance after a hearing conducted Sunday before Justice McMillan. Questioning by Burton S. Burks, district attorney, brought out the officer presumably had acted "in line of duty," it was borne out. Several witnesses

Sanders Rites To Be Held In City

Body of Lonnie Sanders, 38, of Wink, formerly of Lubbock, was brought here from Odessa and funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church, Rix Funeral home announced.

Sanders died in Odessa of injuries suffered in an automobile collision near Odessa Saturday.

He formerly was owner of a laundry here and was associated with a Wink laundry. According to reports here, the collision was between his laundry truck and another vehicle.

Survivors other than his wife were not announced this morning.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

CLOSE WATCH MAINTAINED

JERUSALEM, Oct. 18 (AP) — British authorities, although hopeful of restoring quiet shortly to strife-torn Palestine, maintained close watch today and continued the curfew here and at Lydda. Sporadic attacks on Jews and Britons marked the week-end but stern British measures prevented any recurrence of widespread violence.

Farm Youth Is Victim Near Levelland

Leonard Eskew Killed, His Mother's Back Fractured; Two Local Men Injured

Leonard Eskew, 14-year old farm youth, was killed instantly, his mother critically injured and four other persons less seriously hurt when two automobiles collided 15 miles northwest of Levelland about 8 o'clock this morning at a rural road intersection "blinded" by the tall growth in a cane field.

Injured in the accident were:

Mrs. Ike L. Eskew, about 45, mother of Leonard, who suffered fractured vertebrae and whose condition is regarded as critical. She is a patient at Lubbock sanitarium, to which she was taken in an ambulance of Davis-Mason Funeral home of Levelland.

Marguerite Eskew, 16, sister of Leonard, painfully hurt.

Glendine Eskew, 11, also a sister, minor injuries.

W. G. Murray Is Injured

W. G. Murray, livestock man, 2419 Nineteenth street, Lubbock, minor injuries.

E. B. Kelly, also a livestock man, 2224-A Eighteenth street, Lubbock, also minor injuries.

Members of the Eskew family were occupants of a small two-door sedan driven by Leonard, and Murray was driver of the other, in which Kelly was a passenger. Scene of the wreck was described as being in the Whiteface Farms area, about two miles from the Eskew home.

San Antonio Woman Killed When Car Is Overturned

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 18 (AP) — Mrs. Marjorie Wilson, 27, of Alamo Heights, was instantly killed late Sunday when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Leland R. Wilson, and another couple, overturned on the Austin highway three miles north of San Antonio. Wilson was cut and bruised as were Mr. and Mrs. Attis B. Salling of San Antonio, the other occupants of the car.

Third Guess Due On Deficit This Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The administration will make its third guess this week, possibly tomorrow, at the size of the 1938 treasury deficit.

The figure will be received with intense interest in political and financial circles.

Politicians are interested chiefly in the possible effect on the next sessions of congress and the 1938 congressional elections. Financial men will watch for its effect on the markets.

The administration already has guessed at the figure twice with varying results. Tomorrow's estimate will be contained in the annual budget revision which will give the first broad picture of the treasury condition since spring.

Major General Markham Gives Up Army Engineers Position

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — A snort, square-jawed soldier of 60, who saw federal expenditures for improvements on the nation's waterways stepped up from $50,000,000 to about $300,000,000 a year while chief of army engineers, relinquished his post today.

Major General Edward Murphy Markham began his career as an army engineer back in the "horse and buggy" days.

He will be succeeded by Col. Julian L. Schley, commandant of the army engineering school at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Fifty Tables Are In Play At Junior Welfare League Benefit Here Saturday

Charities Are To Be Helped

An annual benefit party sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Welfare League Saturday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock drew an attendance of two hundred women. Tables were set up for contract and auction bridge and forty-two.

There was no expense involved in giving the party and the entire proceeds will be used to further charity projects, fostered by the League, including assistance at the Milam Opportunity Home.

Thirty-seven prizes, donated by local merchants, were awarded.

High and second high scores in contract were made by Mrs. DeWitt Landis and Mrs. M. E. Heard; in auction by Mrs. R. M. Chitwood and Miss Jacqueline Davis; in forty-two by Mesdames Amelia McKinney and R. D. Moxley.

Legal Point Must Be Given Settlement In Houston

HOUSTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The fine legal point of who is going to count the nickels in a pay telephone—the company or the man who has it in his place of business—was presented the city attorney's force.

E. J. Brann asked for the ruling when he said he received notice from the telephone company that in the future nickels in the pay phones would be taken to the company office and counted.

Brann wants them counted right before his eyes.

Mayor Ross Edwards Doesn't Want Dog Catcher's Job--Vice Versa

Mayor Edwards doesn't want the job of city dog catcher.

Nor, by golly, would the dog catcher swap places on the city payroll with the mayor, much less with any of the city commissioners.

Routine city payroll report disclosed this morning that the dog catcher's pay is more than that of the mayor, and more than three times that allowed for a city commissioner.

Respective salaries of the officials are $75 monthly for the mayor, $25 per month for each commissioner, and $84 monthly for the dog catcher.

One might argue, of course, that the dog catcher has a full time job and that the mayor and commissioners have not. But don't let said mayor and commissioners hear you, especially after they have listened any and every hour of any and every day to those having something pleasant or unpleasant to discuss concerning the city government.

American Beauty

A thick roll of golden blonde hair forming a gleaming halo around classic features—wide blue eyes—pale of iridescent skin—Jane Lewis, recently a student at Bryn Mawr college, is an almost perfect beauty. Her classmates thought so, too. In her second year, they named this girl from Princeton, N. J., as the most beautiful in her class. She came to New York to work a few weeks in a big specialty store's college shop and has stayed on, proving that beauty and brains sometimes do go hand in hand.

WASH BLANKETS CAREFULLY

One careless washing will ruin the most expensive wool blankets. If the water in your locality is hard, add about two tablespoons of a reliable water softener. Use a bland soap thoroughly dissolved in warm water, about room temperature. Agitate until the suds are thick and frothy. Before immersing the blanket, shake well to displace all loose dirt and dust. Never rub a wool blanket on a wash board. When it is clean press the suds gently from the blanket. Do not wring. Rinse thoroughly in clear warm water; about three rinsings should be sufficient. Never dry in the hot sun or in freezing air. Sudden cold causes the wool fibres to contract and your blanket will shrink. If you dry it in the house, do not hang it over or near a radiator.

Rumors Hushed By Lindbergh

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has accepted a five-year renewal of his commission in the army air corps reserve quieting rumors he planned to become a British subject.

Such reports have been current since he unexpectedly left the country with his wife and son, Jon, and took up residence in England two years ago.

Army officers expressed the belief privately he would not have renewed his air corps tie if he intended changing his allegiance.

Subject To Call

Lindbergh has retained his military status since his graduation in 1925 from the air corps flying school at Kelly field, Texas. As a reserve officer he is subject to call to active duty in an emergency, but in meantime he serves entirely without pay.

Lindbergh had the rank of captain in the Missouri National guard when he made his 1927 flight to Paris. He was made a colonel both in the guard and the army air corps reserve upon his return. Since he has given technical advice to the service.

When his original colonel's commission expired in 1932, he accepted reappointment, and followed the same procedure upon its expiration this year.

Forgotten Legend Of "Ghost Herd" Of Buffalo Told

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—A Texas game commission research worker has unearthed records of a forgotten legend—the tale of a "ghost herd" of buffalo reputed to have roamed the plains of Val Verde county in the 1890's.

Rumors of the discovery of the animals originated in San Antonio in 1894 and were circulated although buffalo had long disappeared in the Southwest.

The stories were given credence by a national sports magazine and sportsmen organized parties to search for the animals now exaggerated into a tremendous herd from the original "40 or 50."

The proposition reached a head in a great expedition planned to locate the buffalo. Scouts, however, caused it to disband.

It seemed the herd had crossed the Rio Grande into Old Mexico. The disgusted hunters gave up. The buffalo were never heard from again.

The stories reached the ears of the late H. P. Attwater, famous early day Texas naturalist. He investigated as thoroughly as was possible and reported to the American Museum of Natural History:

"The Val Verde buffalo herd was only a myth."

Thirty-Nine Clubs Are Represented

Thirty-nine women's federated clubs in Lubbock county were represented at a semi-annual meeting of the Lubbock County Federation at the Slaton club house Saturday.

The morning session was of a business nature; clubs presented individual reports and Mrs. Viola Perkins of the state child welfare board spoke on that work in Lubbock county. The assembly endorsed sending a telegram to Senator Reddit supporting him in the enabling act providing funds for the recently passed amendment granting state aid to the blind and permitting relief funds to be paid to minor children.

After a covered dish luncheon a rural-urban cooperation educational program on the subject, "The Land and the People," was given with Mrs. H. F. Godeke leading a panel discussion which included:

A review of facts in the government bulletin, "Little Waters," Mrs. R. T. Campbell; "In the Wake of Ax and Plow," Mrs. O. R. Copeland; "Our Land," Mrs. W. P. Clement, and "Saving the Land for Tomorrow's Consumers," Arthur W. Young, associate professor of agronomy at Texas Technological college.

The federation will meet in Lubbock next April.

Dallas Project May Interest Windsor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Federal housing officials suggest the $1,020,000 "Cedar Springs Place" project at Dallas, Tex., may prove of interest to the Duke of Windsor if he carries out announced plans to make an inspection of government housing in America.

The project is now occupied. Renters pay an average of $6.30 monthly per room, excluding service charge, or $7.92 including the service charge. Heat, hot water, lights, refrigeration and cooking fuel are included in the extra fee.

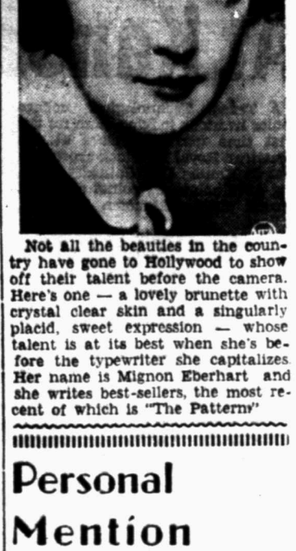

The project is located on a 15-acre tract and is made up of two-story apartments, one-story row houses and two-story flats. It has 598 rooms and 181 living units. Contract costs were as follows: land, $45,944; foundations, $55,494; superstructures, $724,592, and landscape work, $23,358.

Troubles Galore Are Predicted For Congress In Next Few Months

Row Over Black Still Problem

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Troubles galore were predicted for the new and special session of congress today—not all of them originating in the program requested by President Roosevelt.

The items for which he asked—crop control, more natural resource planning regions, wage and hour legislation, government reorganization and an anti-trust bill—are all loaded with controversy, it is true, but there are other disputes lurking nearby.

Black Row Continuing

The first of these is the continuing row over the appointment of Hugo L. Black of the Supreme court, a dispute involving both his admitted former membership in the Ku Klux Klan and the question of his technical eligibility.

President Roosevelt apparently has determined to say nothing more about the case. But that does not go for some members of congress. An impeachment effort before the session is a few days old would not surprise many.

No. Two Is Perennial

Row number two is a congressional perennial—the question of enacting anti-lynching legislation. Before congress adjourned in August, an agreement was reached making an anti-lynching bill the senate's second order of business, after the current recess.

Gauging the prospects for controversy, Washington was prone to add to these the disturbance within the democratic party left over from last session's fight over the court reform bill. Mr. Roosevelt has said he may or may not recommend such legislation again. He did not mention it when he called the special session.

Holds Abundant Promise

The president's five-point program itself holds abundant promise of controversy. Crop control is a fighting phrase with some segments of the congressional membership.

Wage and hour legislation has vehement opposition among the southerners. It passed the senate last session only to be pigeonholed by a combination of Republicans and Southern Democrats in the house rules committee.

Patent Infringement Suit Filed Against Big Spring

ABILENE, Oct. 18. (AP)—Charges of patent infringement were faced by the City of Big Spring in an equity cased filed here in federal district court by the National Electric Signal company.

It was alleged by the plaintiff that "the City of Big Spring, without right or license, unlawfully and in infringement" of a patent held by the signal company "did manufacture and caused to be manufactured and used . . . such traffic signals, systems, structures, devices and appliances."

A further claim was that the defendant had been given notice of the asserted violation. A preliminary injunction was sought, and the plaintiff asked that "the defendant be decreed to account to the plaintiff for all gains, profits and advantages realized by the defendant, and that the amount of damages be increased to a sum not exceeding three times that amount.

THE MAP: Increased shading in the map reflects the generally slower pace of many lines of business and industry during September.

THE BAROMETER: The lateness of the opening of fall trade, the reduced pace of steel and other manufacturing activities and the lower level of commodity prices contributed to the September dip in the Business Barometer.

Man's Capacity To Adjust Only Superiority Over Ape, Univ. Of New Mexico Man Opines

(By The Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 16.—A "fairly bright" ape could give some human beings a half-length handicap and still beat them to the wire in an intelligence derby.

At least that was the conclusion of Dr Philip H. Dubois of the University of New Mexico psychology department.

"There are undoubtedly some apes that can learn more than some men," declared the scientist in a Phi Beta Kappa address before a campus cultural group.

Take For Comparison

"In order to find this overlapping, it is necessary to take for comparison fairly bright apes and very dull humans," the doctor explained.

Practically without exception, he went on, men are smarter than white rats. It's not because humans have better intelligence, but because they have more.

"The differences between man and animals are quantative rather than qualitative," he said. "Men learn faster than white rats; they learn more complicated things, and they learn more things, but the process is apparently much the same.

"It is certainly not learning ability that distinguishes man from the so-called lower animals. Man is closer to the apes in this respect than the apes are to the guinea pig."

Capacity To Adjust

What gives man his mental rating, Dr. Dubois said, is a sort of intelligence with the "capacity to adjust to complicated situations all at once, without going through a long period of learning."

Modern psychology holds that mind is closely related to the material makeup of the nervous system, he said. More brain generally means more intelligence providing the brain cells are equally efficient.

In the abstract, mind is a composite of many factors, the principal ones being sensitivity, preception, imagination, learning and adjustment.

Commission To Meet Tonight

Policies of major importance for the current fiscal year which ends next April 1 pend for consideration at a recessed meeting of the city commission at City hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Most important of pending matters will be an attempt to agree on a city budget. That, in turn, will determine the tax rate for the year, whether provision is made for expansion of the police department and whether advocacy by Commissioner A. J. Richardson for reductions of salaries of some city employes will be successful.

May Consider Appointment

Scheduled also for consideration by the commission will be the appointment of a successor to D. J. Schlag, who resigned as city building, plumbing, electrical and gas inspector two weeks ago. Jim Reid, formerly assistant to Schlag, has been acting head of the department without any assistants since the resignation.

City commissioners expressed complete satisfaction with Reid's services at their last meeting and his retention was regarded in official quarters today as a certainty. To be considered tonight, among other proposals, likely will be one that a new man in the department be assigned to plumbing and perhaps gas or electrical inspection with Reid handling building and gas or electrical.

What the tax rate may be still remained wholly speculative today, although there was no change in predictions in informed circles that an increase of the present total rate of 55 cents o nthe $100 of valuation to perhaps 70 cents is likely. Both rates include provision of 5 cents for the Board of City Development.

Meeting On New Hotel At Plains To Be This Week

PLAINS, Oct. 18. (Special)—A mass meeting for solution of an acute housing problem arising from the burning early last week of the town's only hotel was postponed Saturday night until this week because of a lodge meeting which had been scheduled earlier, it was pointed out by city officials.

Original plans had been to hold the meeting last Thursday, but weather conditions prevented it. It was postponed until Saturday night and it again has been delayed.

Officials explained a method of housing must be found for the large number of newcomers to this area because of recent oil development. Plans are under way to begin immediately the construction of a new hotel, but until that building is completed other housing facilities must be provided, it was explained.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Only 17 Major Grid Teams Boast Perfect Records After Saturday

Races Turned Upside Down Over Nation

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Intercollegiate football approached the seasonal half-way mark today with ranks of undefeated and untied teams drastically reduced and sectional championship races turned upside down by another series of form reversals that struck every section of the country.

Today only 17 major teams still could boast perfect records and these will be materially depleted after next Saturday's program has been written into the records. Figures tell best the carnage wrought among favorites last week. Twelve major teams suffered their initial defeats; eight others escaped defeat but were tied. The net result left 17 undefeated and untied arrays and 13 unbeaten but tied.

Leaders Are Listed

Here's how the undefeated list stands now:

East—Dartmouth, Syracuse, Holy Cross, Yale, George Washington undefeated and untied; Pitt, Fordham, Navy, Harvard, Boston College, Temple and Villanova undefeated but tied.

Midwest — Wisconsin, Northwestern and Detroit unbeaten and untied; Nebraska tied.

South — Vanderbilt, Louisiana State and Alabama undefeated and untied; Tulane, Auburn, Duke and North Carolina tied.

Southwest—Baylor undefeated and untied; Texas A. and M. tied.

Far West—California and Santa Clara undefeated and untied.

Rocky Mountain—Colorado, Western State (Gunnison) and Montana undefeated and untied.

Pitt Faces Wisconsin

Prospects for this week seem about as follows:

East—Pitt which out-played Fordham by a wide margin but fumbled or otherwise kicked away its chances for victory in the third consecutive scoreless tie these teams have played, tackles Wisconsin's revived Badgers whose fourth consecutive victim was Iowa, 13-6. Alabama, which upset Tennessee, 14-7, plays George Washington in a clash of undefeated and untied teams.

Detroit Meets Boston

Detroit, which removed Catholic from the unbeaten brigade last week, faces Boston college, held to a scoreless tie by Temple. Colgate, impressive in holding Tulane to a 7-6 score, tackles undefeated Duke which whipped Georgia Tech at Atlanta, 20-19.

Keeping the intersectional ball rolling Fordham plays Texas Christian, which surprised by holding powerful Texas A. and M. to a 7-7 draw.

Syracuse, which beat 14-6, undefeated Cornell, plays Maryland, 3-0 victor over Virginia. Army, whipped by Yale plays Washington university of St. Louis.

Carnegie Tech Faces Temple

Yale meets Cornell. Carnegie Tech, held to a net gain of seven yards by rushing but 9-7 victor over Notre Dame just the same, plays Temple in a Friday night game.

Columbia after crushing Penn, 26-6, finds Brown, crushed 41-0 by Dartmouth, next on the slate. Dartmouth plays Harvard which held Navy to a scoreless tie.

Holy Cross, which topped Georgia 7-6, should ease past Western Maryland and Villanova, who routed Manhattan 20-0, should hurdle Bucknell.

Princeton which beat Chicago, 16-7, plays Rutgers undefeated and untied, Penn plays Georgetown, unexpectedly upset by Lafayette, 6-0.

L. S. U. Vs. Vanderbilt

Louisiana State's Tigers, who chalked up their second straight Southeastern conference victory against Mississippi, 13-0, play Vanderbilt, 6-0 conqueror of Southern Methodist. Auburn, which ran up a tremendous 33-7 count on Mississippi State, meets Georgia Tech. Mississippi State and Florida, Tennessee and Sewanee are other conference pairings.

Kentucky entertains Manhattan while Tulane meets unbeaten North Carolina, 28-0 victor over Wake Forest last week.

In the Southern conference, Virginia Military, with three consecutive victories, plays Virginia. Clemson makes its conference bow on Thursday against undefeated South Carolina, which checked Davidson, 12-6. Citadel and Richmond, Wake Forest and North Carolina State and Virginia Tech and Washington and Lee meet in other conference duels.

Northwestern Tackles Ohio State

Midwest — Northwestern, which overcame Purdue 14-7 to share the Big Ten lead with Wisconsin and Minnesota, collides with Ohio State. Michigan, badly trounced by Minnesota's power, 39-6, plays Iowa.

Indiana, 13-6 victor over Illinois, meets Cincinnati. Notre Dame tackles Navy.

Nebraska, shocked by a scoreless tie with Oklahoma, plays Missouri, upset 2-0 Michigan State. Oklahoma plays Kansas which upset Iowa State, 14-6.

Marquette, spilled by Kansas State, 13-0, confronts Michigan State.

Baylor Against Aggies

Southwest—Baylor, which flashed real power in crushing Centenary, 20-0, seeks to protect its Southwest conference lead against Texas A. and M. Arkansas, 21-0 conqueror of Texas, meets Southern Methodist. Texas and Rice make up the other conference two-some.

Far west—California, which whipped the California Aggies, 14-0, and College of Pacific, 20-0, in a tune-up doubleheader Saturday, meets Southern California, which whipped Oregon, 24-14.

Washington Meets Stanford

Washington, which played Washington State to a 7-7 draw, meets Stanford. Washington State faces U. C. L. A. tied 7-7 by Oregon State.

Rocky mountain—Utah is the leader with three straight victories with Colorado and Western State a step behind. Utah, hard-pressed to turn back Greeley, 7-6, plays Denver, upset 7-4 by Colorado college. Western State meets Greeley.

Colorado, 14-0 conqueror of Brigham Young, plays Colorado State, beaten 7-0 by Wyoming. Utah State, which held Idaho to a scoreless draw, meets Wyoming while Colorado Mines plays Colorado college.

Bear-Aggie Clash Tops Southwest

TCU To Travel To New York For Battle

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 1.—Two games in slightly different settings—one down along the Brazos river bottom and the other up in New York's Polo Grounds—are the Southwest's contributions to the nation's grid hysteria next Saturday.

They'll be there from the crossroads for the Baylor-Texas Aggie game at College Station while a sellout throng is likely to watch Texas Christian's potent offense try to dent Fordham's "seven blocks of granite" in New York's choice intersectional game.

Expect 20,000 For Game

The Southwest's only undefeated teams, Baylor and the Aggies, with the habitually underdog Baylors a revived outfit that holds championship potentialities, may draw one of College Station's largest crowds, exclusive of the Thanksgiving day classics. Some 20,000 are expected.

Baylor rolled along last Saturday with a crushing 20-0 defeat of Centenary, featuring its Bullet Bill Patterson, but the Aggies had to click with a last-minute passing attack to tie a Texas Christians team, 7-7, that had outplayed them from the start.

O'Brien Is TCU Sparkplug

Tiny Davey O'Brien, the Christians' 150-pound quarterback and triple-threater, was everything to the TCU attack, accounting for their touchdown and extra point. Twice before he threatened to score on a field goal and a long pass to Looney, end, that just failed to connect on the goal line. The Fordhams may wish they had never heard of O'Brien before nightfall Saturday.

It was Ken Mills, the Aggies' erstwhile third-stringer, who passed three times for a touchdown in the last four minutes. His scoring pass found Smith on the goal line.

Rice And Texas Meet

Down at Austin two teams who have failed to shove off potent offensives, Texas and Rice, will meet in another conference game. Rice remained scoreless in three games after holding Tulsa to a 0-0 tie in the mud at Houston while Texas, off to an early lead, couldn't hold Arkansas and finally lost, 21-10.

The Arkansans, playing without their Jack Robbins, piled up two touchdowns in the last period on a pass Rawlings took across and Cole's interception of a wild Longhorn pass. Hugh Wolfe brought in all the Steer points.

Pros Out For Final Round At Okla. City

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 18—Sixteen of the nation's classiest professional golfers marched out two by two in the last 18-hole round of Oklahoma City's first annual fourball tournament today to cut $5,000 in prize money.

At the head of the parade, but only by a short step, were Horton Smith and Harry Cooper, sharp-shooting pair from Chicago. Close on their heels came Johnny Revolta of Chicago and Ray Mangrum of Dayton, O.

Mangrum Shoots 66

Revolta and Mangrum, the latter blazing around the water-logged course in 66, five under par, passed Ky Laffoon and Dick Metz, another Chicago team, by defeating them, 3-up, in yesterday's sixth round.

Smith and Cooper watched their lead shrink to a single point when they lost by a two-hole margin to Lawson Little of Chicago and Paul Runyan of New York.

Nine Points Plus

Smith and Cooper went into the final round with nine points on the plus side of the score board. Little and Runyan stood third with five points on the plus side, a point ahead of Laffoon and Metz.

Only these four teams are conceded a chance to finish in first place and grab the $1,200 first prize.

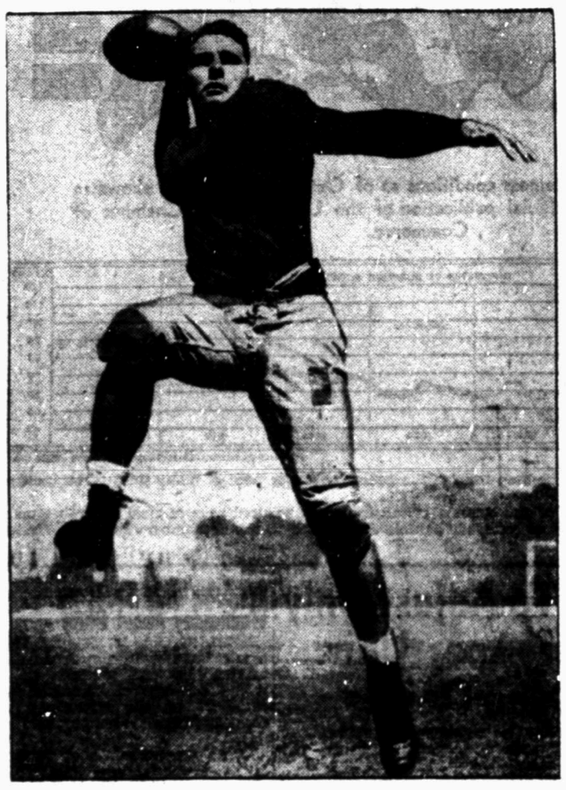

Rain Fails To Halt Houston High School Grid Contest

HOUSTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Rain stopped traffic in the Houston streets Saturday night but couldn't halt the Jeff Davis and Sam Houston High school football teams from continuing in their ancient rivalry.

The rain was so blinding at times that the players couldn't be seen from the bounds but they went merrily on, especially the Jeff Davis club who won by a score of 24 to 0.

The officials didn't call the quarters short either—they took it like men—or sailors.

Meets Greatest Test This Week-End

TROY'S GREATEST WARHORSE in many years in the opinion of experts is Ambrose Schindler, triple threat quarterback of U. S. C. Responsible in large measure for Southern California's victory over Ohio State, he will meet his greatest test against mighty California on October 23.

Militia Patrols Track To Prevent Opening

(By The Associated Press)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 18 — Steel-helmeted National guardsmen, equipped with tear gas and riot sticks, patrolled Narragansett race track today to prevent opening of the rich plant.

Three hundred guardsmen, under command of adjutant general Herbert R. Dean and Colonel Earl C. Webster, moved into the area yesterday after Governor Robert E. Quinn proclaimed "a state of insurrection" existed at the million-dollar track.

Impeachment Threatened

The troops had hardly taken their positions when Henry F. Curvin, director of public safety in Pawtucket and Democratic majority leader in the Rhode Island house, announced he had sent a letter to the governor threatening to bring impeachment proceedings against him for ordering out the militia.

The governor's proclamation, issued Saturday night, declared the "danger" of attendance of "gangsters, criminals and persons of ill repute" at the fall meeting, scheduled to open this afternoon, would cause "injury to our citizens" which civil authorities would be "unable to compete with."

The proclamation followed a state supreme court decision setting aside an order of the state racing division suspending the track's license and ordering removal of Walter E. O'Hara as managing director.

The division's order came as the result of a series of moves made by the chief executive to remove O'Hara.

Whether officials actually would attempt to open the track this afternoon remained in doubt. O'Hara who spent yesterday at the track where workmen were preparing for the meet, declared:

"Since the time that the supreme court of this state by its decision restored our license to operate, we have received no notification or other communication from the Rhode Island division of horse racing relative to any change in our license or our right to operate."

Don't Be Surprised If Jimmy Foxx Is In Indian Lineup Next Spring; 1938 To Be 13th Season For McCarthy

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Red hot tip: Don't be surprised if Jimmy Foxx (don't forget that extra "x") does his home run hitting for Cleveland next season. . . . Vic Jones reports via the Boston Globe the Sox are willing to consider a trade which would bring Hal Trosky to Peantown. . . . Thomas C. McClary (quite a writer) gives you the low down on Joe Jacobs, the fight manager, in the current issue of Esquire.

If Roosevelt Does

Jimmy Dawson and Garry Schumacher will run for a third term as chairman and secretary of the New York Baseball Writers' chapter, if Roosevelt does. . . . Joe McCarthy just can't forget next season will be his 13th as a big league manager. . . There is little or no superstition among pro footballers. . . . In yesterday's game at the Polo Grounds both Dake Smukler of Philadelphia and "Kink" Richards of the Giants wore No. 13 . . . One good bet to paste in your hat is that the White Sox will get Joe Kuhel from Washington this winter.

Minnesota Still In

So Minnesota finally discovered it is still in the big league, eh? . . . Kinda hard to keep a team steamed up three straight weeks, ain't it, Mr. Snavely. . . (and we're not taking anything away from Ossie Solem's fine Syracuse team either).

TEXANS AMONG STARS
(By The Associated Press)

Saturday's football stars, a national list compiled by the Associated Press included two Texas players:

Billy Patterson, Baylor—threw three touchdown passes for nine, 44 and five yards to beat Centenary.

Ken Mills, Texas A. and M.—His passed gained 45 yards in five plays for touchdown to tie Texas Christian 7-7.

HARDING A CANDIDATE

vored to beat Southern Methodist, which took a 6-0 licking from Vanderbilt at Dallas.

However, the Methodists were an improved ball club in their muddy scrap against Ray Morrison's stronger Vandy team. They traveled to the Commodore four once on a sustained aerial drive led by Jack Morrison, but there a penalty halted them

Dallas Highland Park Team Is Said Able To Halt Amarillo's March To Another State Title

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 18—Close critics of Texas interscholastic league football expressed belief today that the question of three years' standing—who will stop Amarillo?—had been answered.

They pointed toward Dallas where the Highland Park Highlanders, one of the finest blocking teams ever to race over a Texas gridiron, aimed all guns toward the Golden Sandies, now sweeping toward another Panhandle title and overwhelming favorites to reach the state semi-finals.

Rivals Amarillo Conquests

Highland Park, one of the five outstanding teams to date, has stormed through the opposition in a way to rival Amarillo's palmiest days. Should these two teams drive into the semi-finals they would be opponents as both are in the upper bracket of the league.

The Highlanders remained one of the state's 19 undefeated teams last week by smashing Sulphur Springs 46-6 while Amarillo was gaining momentum with a sensational 32-0 conquest of Lawton, Okla. There are 12 others without defeat or tie. They are: Abilene, Stephenville, Austin (El Paso), Paris, Longview, Marshall, Lufkin, Temple, Waco, Conroe, Corpus Christi and Robstown.

Six Teams Draw Ties

Six teams have been tied but not defeated. They are Olney, Lubbock, El Paso High, Sunset (Dallas), Palestine and Cleburne.

Thirty-five conference games are on the schedule this week as the Interscholastic league race enters its final six weeks of district championship play. Headlining the title card are games in districts 2, 5, 11, and 16. Quanah and Vernon, tied for the district 2 lead, clash; Paris and Gainesville battle in one tilt and Denison and Sherman in another due to definitely determine the favorite in district 5; Temple and Cleburne, deadlocked with Waco for the district 11 top feature the Central Texas card, and in the Rio Grande valley sector Harlingen and Edinburg, pre-season favorites to fight it out for the championship, hold the spotlight in a melee at Edinburg.

Amarillo plays at Port Arthur in a stand-out inter-district game and North Side (Fort Worth) tops the intersectional card with a contest at Kosciusko, Miss.

Capt. Hancock's THRILLING DISCOVERIES of STRANGE ANIMALS and HUMAN EXILES

Rare type of land iguana found on Galapagos—creatures saved from extinction by Captain Hancock's party.

How a wealthy Californian, with a passion for scientific expeditions, has been running into adventures in the Galapagos that read like something out of a Jules Verne novel

By Mary June Burton

THEY were after hideous, prehistoric lizards—things out of the past, still living on South Seymour Island in the Galapagos. The beasts they were looking for were land iguanas, three and four feet long, with brick-red hides and wrinkled yellow necks. In ancient days they were called dragons.

Cautiously, Capt. G. Allan Hancock and the nine men who had landed from the captain's famous cruiser, the sleek, white Velero III, toiled over the sharp lava rocks. Suddenly one man saw what they were looking for, an unbelievable reptile. It was placidly nibbling on a cactus stalk.

"Got it!" the man yelled, and made a lunge for the thing's tail. But he was not quick enough; like lightning it slithered away, disappeared among the rocks.

They found more—and discovered they had arrived on the island in time to prevent a tragedy. The lizards were starving to death. They had stripped every stalk of cactus as far up as their necks could reach, and still their bones stuck out through their hide like the ribs of a drouth belt cow. The land iguanas of South Seymour were facing extinction.

Then began a "round up" such as one could imagine only in a nightmare—men chasing "dragons" over the rocks, grabbing them by the tails, dumping them kicking and squirming into sacks. A few hours later the iguanas were munching away at food on another island, half a mile away, an iguana paradise.

"A year later we visited them, found them healthy and fat, and propagating," Captain Hancock said, discussing his scientific adventures in his office in Los Angeles.

Thus fate, and a man with an adventurous soul, caught, just as it was about to fail, the lifeline of one of the world's weirdest species, preserved it for perhaps more ages of time.

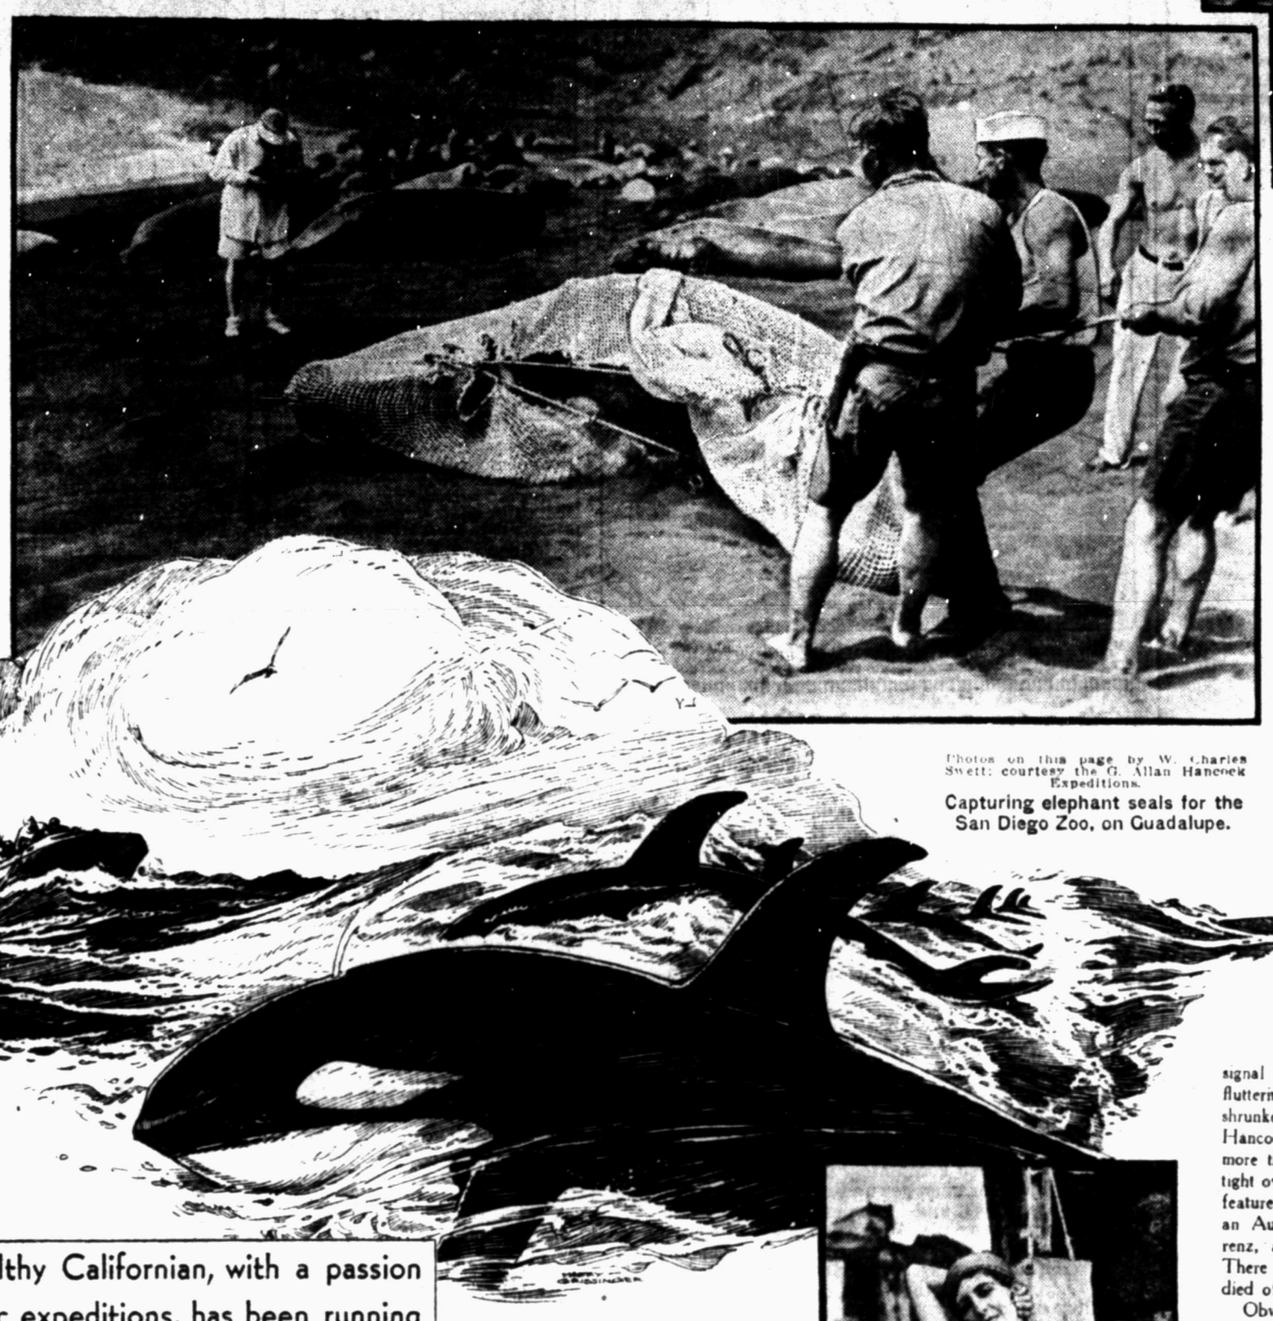

Captain Hancock, patron of science and master mariner, is a unique type among modern seagoing adventurers. He has a tremendous interest in science and leading scientific expeditions is his passion. Discoveries made on his cruises have resulted in some extremely important additions to the knowledge of the world.

He likes to take a shipload of distinguished scientists to study such subjects as the cause of stomach ulcers of the seal, or the parasites of the white-footed mouse. His idea of sport is capturing rare Mexican rattlesnakes, or flirting with death in the jaws of killer whales.

Several times a year Captain Hancock sets sail from Los Angeles harbor in his 195-foot cruiser. The Velero III is an amazingly complete floating laboratory. It carries thousands of glass vials for specimens, apparatus for dredging the bottom of the sea, diving helmets, cages for animals and tanks for tropical fish.

For the Captain collects practically everything—hermit crabs and tortoises that weigh 500 pounds, sea elephants and booby birds, boa constrictors and ringtail monkeys, walking fish and microscopic insects—and presents them with his compliments to zoos, museums, and science laboratories.

Captain Hancock and W. Charles Swett, who has accompanied him on his expeditions, have taken some spectacular motion pictures of rare animals and birds in their native haunts. They have shot reels of the great booby birds with a six-foot wingspread, remarkable for their habit of carrying their eggs on their feet; guano birds which live by the million on the islands off the coast of Peru and cover the ground so thickly they look from a distance like a dark moving carpet acres and acres in extent; and most amazing of all the "mating dance" of the albatross, the mysterious bird sailors never kill, fearing its death would bring them bad luck as it did to the Ancient Mariner in Coleridge's poem.

Capturing elephant seals for the San Diego Zoo, on Guadalupe.

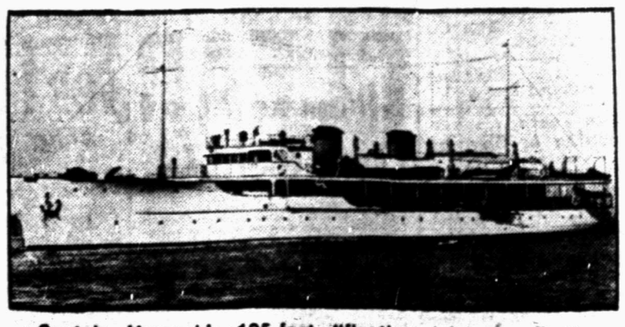

Heading directly for the small boat was a school of killer whales, most vicious creatures of the sea. If they attacked and overturned the boat, it would mean death.

ON Guadalupe Island Hancock's party captured an elephant seal, also called sea elephant, for the San Diego Zoo. She had a great mountain of fat for a body, tiny flippers and a wriggling, wrinkled nose—and she weighed three tons. They named her Pansy.

She wasn't hard to catch. The men simply walked along the beach where hundreds of unsuspecting sea elephants were sunning themselves, picked out the largest and healthiest, and threw a net over her. The tricky part of the job was trussing her up and towing her out to the ship.

On Guadalupe they also watched an exciting battle between two bull seals for possession of a harem of females. The two bulls were in a murderous rage. "Apparently seals don't believe in dividing the harem," commented one scientist.

They tore great gashes in each other's sides. All about, the water was churned to froth, and so bloody it looked as though great buckets of paint had been poured in it. At last after hours of fighting the weaker bull gave up, its body a mass of wounds.

Captain Hancock's 195-foot "floating laboratory," the Velero III.

The stellar seals at San Miguel Island weren't as large as sea elephants, but catching them was a much bigger thrill. A great net was stretched between the ship's launch and a small rowboat holding Captain Hancock and two other men. One by one, curious seals swam out to investigate the boats and were trapped.

Suddenly someone in the launch shouted, "Killer whale!"

Heading directly for the small boat was a school of the monsters, the most savage, vicious creatures of the sea. They were 20 feet long; their wicked-looking fins stuck six feet out of the water.

The men in the launch watched in horror, but there was nothing they could do. If the killers attacked and overturned the rowboat, it would mean death for Hancock and his companions.

And then, miraculously, a few feet from the rowboat the whales swerved off their course. They had seen the seals struggling in the net! They threw themselves on the helpless seals with fury, slashing and tearing with their brutal jaws.

In 20 minutes the slaughter was over. As for the Captain, he had spent the time taking motion pictures! "It was an excellent chance," he said with satisfaction, "to photograph killer whales at close range."

WHEN Captain Hancock visited Charles Island, in the Galapagos, in 1931, he found two settlers with a romantic story—Dr. Frederick Ritter and Frau Dore Koerwin. He had been a brilliant young surgeon in Berlin. She was a patient in his hospital. They fell in love. Though both were already married, they resolved to leave their families and go together to the lonely Galapagos Islands.

There they could cast off the shackles of civilization—they would have the time and quiet to write profound studies in philosophy.

Baroness Bosequet von Wagner, self-styled "empress" of the island Eden, at the door of her home on Charles Island.

They could be Adam and Eve in their own Garden of Eden.

When the Velero party arrived, they discovered the two nature lovers had built themselves a neat stone house with a tin roof. They had planted a garden of papayas, pineapples, eggplant and melons, tamed a wild burro for a pet, and even rigged up a shower bath.

But their Eden wasn't perfect—Adam and Eve needed teeth! Before he left Berlin, Dr. Ritter explained, he had had all his teeth pulled so he would run no chances of toothache. He ordered a steel set made to take their place, but unfortunately he forgot to allow for the shrinkage of gums. His teeth would not stay in.

Frau Koerwin wasn't much better off. A dentist in the Velero party pulled her few remaining, badly decayed teeth. And the next time Captain Hancock dropped anchor at Charles Island, he brought the settlers not only clothes and food—but a set of dental tools for making false teeth!

IN 1934 when the Velero paid another visit to "Eden" they found that tragedy had again struck Charles Island. Frau Koerwin, weeping and hysterical, met them with the news that Dr. Ritter had died two weeks before.

Drouth had dried up her garden—the water holes were caving in. She had enough food to last one month—then she faced starvation. Captain Hancock persuaded her to leave in the Velero for Ecuador, where she could take ship to her family in Berlin.

On that same trip Captain Hancock had another tragic duty. Bodies of two castaways had been discovered on bleak, uninhabited Marchena Island in the Galapagos. Captain Hancock sailed for the island to make identification.

He found the bodies on a little rise of barren land near the wreck of a small homemade boat, under a distress signal they had rigged up with a pole and a fluttering shirt. Hot, searing winds had shrunken them to grisly mummies—Captain Hancock estimated each body would weigh no more than 20 pounds. But the skin stretched tight over their fleshless faces had retained their features, and the Captain recognized them as an Austrian from Charles Island named Lorenz, and a Norwegian skipper, Nuggerood. There was no water on Marchena—they had died of thirst.

Obviously the two men had been heading for Chatham Island when their boat had been swept off its course by treacherous currents. Lorenz's death probably left unsolved forever the mystery of the disappearance of the vivacious Baroness Bosequet von Wagner of Vienna, self-styled "empress" of Charles Island.

He had been one of the devoted "subjects" of the baroness, who had landed on the island one day the year before, and announced she was setting up an "empire" of her own. Lorenz and another "subject" named Phillipson built her a one-room "palace" picturesquely furnished with low divans and artistic draperies, and there she ruled triumphantly, while the two subjects vied for her favor.

Suddenly the baroness and Phillipson, who had won out as favorite, vanished. Mystery surrounded their disappearance; they have never been heard of since.

THE finding of the two bodies made front page news of the whole colorful story of the settlers in "Eden." Captain Hancock found himself practically the only person in the world with pictures of the principals of the Galapagos tragedies. His photographs of the baroness, Lorenz and Phillipson, Dr. Ritter, Frau Koerwin, appeared in thousands of newspapers on five continents.

The Captain found another weird colony on Indefatigable Island in the Galapagos. Only a handful of settlers lived on the desolate island—yet they were divided into two bitter armed camps. A German named Kuppler headed one faction. He claimed to be boss because he had landed on the island first. In the second camp were Ecuadorian fishermen who claimed a concession from the government to catch and dry fish.

Grudgingly the two camps traded with each other. Kuppler had a monopoly of the island's only drinking water, brackish and nauseating because the well was so near the ocean that sea water seeped in. He doled it out to the Ecuadorians in exchange for food.

Captain Hancock gave them generous supplies. They chattered their thanks for flour, rice and sugar, but there was one gift that made them caper along the shore with joy. It was several bottles of plain water from the Velero's tanks.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13 (By mail) When he visited here upon one of numerous occasions, the late Will Rogers told a Times-Picayune reporter that there are "four 'different' cities in the United States; they are San Francisco, San Antonio, New Orleans — and your home town."

The inimitable Oklahoman was right — at least as far as New Orleans is concerned. The Crescent City is so "different" that in the opinion of many it is as screwy as a $2 watch.

To all intents and purposes, the sun rises here in the west and sets in the east.

Bodies are buried above ground; the trees have whiskers and many of its principal streets have two names.

Is New Orleans different? Yea, bo!

IN an earlier dispatch, The Plainsman told of above-ground burials in old St. Louis cemetery, explaining that before the days of an adequate drainage system the water level was too near the surface of the ground for interment of corpses.

The "whiskers" on the trees, of course, is the Spanish moss which grows in profusion in this area and which, unknown to many, has a commercial value in the upholstery of furniture.

As for the sun crossing itself up in rising and setting, that is nothing more than a delusion — but such a perfect delusion that the stranger is willing to swear by all that's good and holy that Old Sol back-tracks himself here.

This is the explanation:

If the visitor to New Orleans comes in from the east he does not cross the Mississippi, and, of course, he realizes the fact.

If he comes in from the west, he can't miss noticing that he must negotiate the Father of Waters before getting to the city.

But when he looks out his hotel window, he sees the sun rising from across the river, or setting on the city side of the stream, as the case may be.

And he can't figure it out until someone explains that the big bend in Old Man river causes the stream to run northeastward, as seen from the down town area.

The whole business is simple after it is explained, but before the explanation is "as clear as mud."

NOW we get to the point where the principal downtown streets have two names.

They really do, and here's why:

Back in the days of old New Orleans, when the present French quarter was the whole city, a group of French monks were in absolute charge of the community.

They named their principal avenues which, roughly, run east and west, logically by French names, such as Rue de Chartres, Rue de Royal, Rue de Rampart and so on. Then they went on about their business.

Then came the English-speaking people and they settled to the west of the French quarter across a wide thoroughfare which was then and still remains Canal street—today's New Orleans' principal business street and the dividing line between the old and the new cities.

The French monks didn't like the idea of the English-speaking lads moving in and the English speakers didn't think much of the French.

Hence, as the new city was formed and the east-west avenues extended from Canal street into the new city, the name of each street was changed.

Thus, today, Rue de Royal becomes St. Charles street as it goes westward from Canal, Rue de Chartres becomes Camp street, Rue de Rampart becomes Dryades street, and so on.

As Canal street splits New Orleans into two separate and distinct cities —although they are both under the same government — it changes the names of the principal thoroughfares.

Quite a jolly system, no doubt!

With all its quaintness and all its oldfashioned methods of doing things, New Orleans has really solved its traffic problem in a big way.

And since many of its streets are only half as wide again as our Lubbock alleys, its traffic problem has been a tough one, indeed.

The Plainsman says without fear of contradition that New Orleans handles its motor and pedestrian traffic fully as efficiently as St. Louis — which is as good a compliment as can be paid any great municipality.

IT should be interesting to Lubbock — officials and private citizens, alike — to learn that there is nothing mysterious about the altogether wonderful way New Orleans handles its traffic.

The Crescent City simply passed ordinances covering the situation from the common-sense angle — and then enforced those ordinances to the letter.

And its intricate system of parking on narrow, one-way streets is carried on without a bobble and the motorist isn't heckled by the necessity of having to drop a nickel in a slot every time he turns around.

Parking is as free as the air — as long as it lasts.

But the luckless driver who allows his car to stay over-time in a parking place has to wend his weary way to the pound, where his car has been hauled by police wrecker, and pay two bucks for the carelessness or lapse of memory!

The traffic lights here are the three-way type — "go", "stop" and "caution."

And this is one place where motorists do not "jump" the gun when the lights change. They don't "go" until the "go-sign" comes on—or else they are nabbed by one of the city's courteous but never-the-less vigilant coppers — and there are 650 of 'em — and a traffic ticket, calling for a fine, is the result.

SINCE New Orleans is a great place for tourists who annually spend hundreds of thousands of dollars here, policemen are kind, but firm, with the stumbling fellow with out-of-state license plates.

But let a fellow with a Louisiana number try to get by with a traffic violation and it's just too bad.

Between 150 and 200 of 'em were stuck all the way from $1 to $25 on the day these lines were written!

In passing, The Plainsman must remark that the Lubbock Park board, which has done such a swell job during the past decade or so, would literally revel in the parks system here.

With plenty of rain and lots of natural vegetation, with plenty of money and a city planning program which, through the years, has thoughtfully provided for parks and plazas, New Orleans rivals Kansas City in that respect.

There may be more and better parks somewhere else, but if there are The Plainsman hasn't seen them.

HERE AND THERE: Note to Albert Taylor — Jess J. Whatley, manager of the De Soto hotel where The Plainsman is staying, says "howdy." . . . He started in the hotel business in Sweetwater many years ago and he also was a fast friend of the late Senator W. H. Bledsoe. . . . Crowley, La., names its avenues like Lubbock, Avenue A, B, C, etc. . . . And it also used our method on streets, First, Second, Third, etc. . . . Water lilies are blooming along the highways in this section. . . . There's a street here named "Good Children's". . . . Twenty-six per cent of New Orleans' 500,000 population is negro. . . . But wages for cooks, maids, etc., are higher here than in Lubbock. . . . Much of the French quarter today is inhabited by Italians. . . . And a guy could live here for a score of years and never learn to spell or pronounce half the names in the phone book. . . . Hooray for the Smiths, the Browns and the Joneses!

The largest of the open spaces maintained by the City of London outside its limits is Epping Forest, with 5500 acres.

PIES IN THE ABSTRACT

Scientists who have just announced that you can't have apple pie and vitamins, too, failed in the abstraction of their science to reckon with the ingenuity and appetites of apple pie eaters the country over.

That apple pie retains only twenty per cent of the C vitamin contained in the original apples is no deterrent to pie eaters. Any vitamin eater who likes his pie will merely eat five times as much.

Leftovers also get a punch in the refrigerator—or whatever may be the most vulnerable spot for leftovers—from the scientists who contend that by the time apple pie has reached the midnight snack state its vitamin content is down to ten per cent. But who has ever heard of any self-respecting apple pie, at all worthy of the name, reaching the midnight snack status?

Despite the official nature of the research, skeptics may be pardoned for doubting the merit of the conclusions. Ignored completely is the question of how early a pie baker must get up to produce a good apple pie for breakfast; and the scientists are strangely silent on how many pies they consumed during the inquiry.

Possibly they were so busy enjoying the first pies they forgot to count the vitamins, and later so full of pie they couldn't.

HERE'S ANOTHER IDEA

Dear Plainsman: I am just an old country boy. I have just read "Whistling Thunder's" letter to you in The Journal and it is breaking my heart. I do feel that you and maybe somebody else have kinda messed up things because you have advised motorists not to pick up Tech hitchers who are not standing in the official marked off zones. Now that wouldn't be so bad but who designated those two little zones? One at Broadway and College and the other one down town on Broadway. Now all of the boys who live halfway or part way between College avenue and town only have to walk a mile back to either College avenue or to the marked off zone down town in order to get to stand in a marked off zone and thereby make it possible to get a legitimate ride.

Well, now that ain't right. Why not make every one, or every other one, of the fireplugs on Broadway a hitchhiker's station? As cars can not park here anyway, a zone could be marked off not to extend into the street and farther than four feet.

I wouldn't have written this for anything but I saw that something just had to be done. I just thought this up as it seemed that you, the city or anyone else couldn't seem to think of anything. Even "Whistling Thunder" in his more or less scientific treatment of the subject couldn't offer any constructive suggestion although his letter was full of pathos and tragedy.

Now if the city will mark these off and you will urge everyone to even go to a little trouble to stop at these zones for the boys but do not stop at other places, especially when more than four feet from the curb, traffic will be much safer and driving much more pleasant on Broadway and everyone will feel better.

LaVerne Kershner.

ANCIENT BISON IS FOUND

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Unlike fossil remains, which ordinarily consist only of bones, a baby bison of the pleistocene age has been discovered near here by workers under the University of Alaska.

Much of the flesh structure of the ancient animal is intact. It was preserved in the frozen muck of a creek bed.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 18.—If you like speleology you'd like the set they have built for "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

Speleology is that branch of geology devoted to the exploration of caves. No claustrophobes need apply, for the movie caves constructed at David Selznick's studio seem almost as forbidding and heavily oppressive as the real thing, especially when fall breezes blow dust over everything and voices echo hollowly under the big black canopy that covers the labyrinth.

At first it was planned to film the sequences in the original cave near Hannibal, Mo., but it turned out to look like an oversized gopher hole and was by no means picturesque enough. The outer locale was disappointing, too, what with so many signboards and telephone wires. So the studio improved on Mark Twain, as it has had to do several times with the story itself because of his flair for understatement. Understatement is fine for stories but gets you nowhere at all in the visual arts.

So photographers were sent to the Carlsbad Caverns for photographic data on a really picturesque cave. Some of the scenes were reproduced on the Selznick lot, even to the stalactites and stalagmites. All this lent itself to a nice piece of symbolism, for the picture is being done in Technicolor.

When the happy picnic party is shown at the entrance to the cave, all the colors are bright and cheerful. When the kids become lost, the cave becomes not only darker but menacingly drab. Between takes the painters went around with their buckets of gloom (gray paint) and blotted out the gay colors, except for a short space around the exit from which the youngsters eventually escape. This is colorful and well lighted—happy days.

The boys now are working on the island sequence too, and they're having a circus playing pirate between shots. Also they do a lot of singing, mostly "Anchors Aweigh." Also they have to go to school. Tom Sawyer (Tommy Kelly) is a good student, right enough. But so is Huck Finn (Jackie Moran), who's even studying Latin.

When Tom and Huck finished their graveyard scene, the one with the dead cat for curing warts, they begged the stuffed cat from the prop department and sent it over to Carole Lombard, who was working on the next stage in "Nothing Sacred."

Well-Heeled

Leonard Penn, Metro actor appeared on the "Four Marys" set the other day wearing a diamond-studded watch, a chain with a diamond in each link, and carrying a cigaret case with his initials in diamonds. All these were gifts from his wife, Gladys George.

Asked if he were afraid of being held up, Penn said no and opened his make-up box. There among the powder puffs and brushes and rouge pots nestled a revolver. He also keeps a revolver in his car. Penn has been deputized and acts as his wife's bodyguard, which accounts for the artillery. Neither gun is diamond-studded.

Costly Errors

"Tovarich," the Claudette Colbert-Charles Boyer picture, has cost well over $1,500,000 to date and still is going strong. One reason it's going strong is that costly retakes are being made to correct minor flaws.

In one scene, filmed a couple of months ago, Miss Colbert entered a kitchen wearing a $2200 gown and carrying a beautiful red coat. Director Litvak okayed the shots, but Miss Colbert, when she saw the rushes, insisted on retakes. She decided that instead of carrying the coat she must wear it. This one whim required an expenditure of at least $5000.

During the retake the other day, as Miss Colbert swept into the room, one of the players exclaimed, "What a beautiful gown! Where did you get it?"

And the actress, playing the part of a Russian expatriate in Paris, blurted out the name of a Los Angeles department store. Even the aloof Mr. Boyer howled.

Mount Lassen is the only "live" volcano in the United States.

What To Do With That Cotton Surplus?

Administration Is Facing Doubtful Future In Tangled Affairs; Former Critics Back FDR

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—F. D. R. and his administration are trying to pick their way carefully through an assortment of situations which, there is good reason to believe, finds the President almost as confused about the future as the next fellow.

The future seems a bit muggier than usual, even to the most experienced soothsayers, and one observes a tendency here toward resort to contemplation and prayer rather than glittering generalities and invective.

Dutcher

As to the international situation: Having abandoned isolation and stuck the national neck out into the Pacific, the administration shares the general wonderment over the question where we go from there.

As to the business situation: The acceleration of recovery has temporarily stopped and no one knows just when it will be resumed.

As to the political situation: It is far from certain whether the forthcoming session of Congress will see some snappy action on the administration program or develop into a general dilatory row over foreign policy, the Klan and other issues.

Chicago Speech Timed

Insiders know now that Roosevelt's Chicago "quarantine speech" was definitely timed not only for the League of Nations' deliberations on the Japanese-Chinese warfare, but also for the period when England and France were bringing heavy pressure on Italy to get her troops out of Spain. But what the early effect and the long-run consequences will be is as obscure as ever.

It can also be revealed that one thing Roosevelt hoped was that his own strong speech and the government's subsequent condemnation of Japan might frighten both Japan and Italy. No such effect has yet been noticed.

In the back of the President's mind, he has told intimates, is the fear that if the "warlike nations" are permitted to sweep on the time will come when the other nations of the world will have magnificent armies, navies and air fleets and the United States will have nearly all the world's gold. That prospect, as well as the threat of rampant fascism, bothers him.

Many others, including members of Roosevelt's official family, are at least equally bothered by fear that the country may have taken a first step on "the road to war." To some of his advisers, however, Roosevelt has suggested that one question at issue as a result of foreign warfare is whether there's a fire in our own apartment house or in some other house down the street.

Critics Cheer New Stand

Among confusing factors on the political front, especially important if the international situation is going to overshadow domestic considerations, is the fact that many of Roosevelt's most persistent critics have been cheering loudly over his new stand.

There is a possibility of a re-scrambling of battle lines in Washington, since such anti-administration stalwarts of the last session as Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, Wheeler of Montana and other far-western senators are likely to go along in any administration gestures against Japan.

In the east conservative forces are largely pro-English. And Jews everywhere, although many may have been disturbed by the Black-Klan incident, presumably will support any attitude which carries a frown at Hitler's German.

All these new factors are of uncertain weight—as uncertain today as the strength of the die-hard isolationist "neutrality" element which will start shooting at the President when Congress convenes.

This really is a very good time to watch what's going on.

Domestic Wool Outlook Is Uncertain For Winter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics said today the domestic wool price outlook for the next few months is somewhat uncertain because of the unsettled condition in foreign markets.

Domestic stocks of raw wool are below average, the bureau added, but mill demand for wool in this country is somewhat weaker than a year earlier. Prices in 1938 are expected to be lower than the relatively high prices this year.

Prices declined in the domestic market in September, according to the bureau's report, but quotations were largely nominal in view of the light trading.

AID TO RELIEF OF PSORIASIS SYMPTOMS

The itching and irritation of psoriasis is readily relieved by Resinol Ointment, an old formula containing ingredients well known to physicians for their effectiveness.

To get best results, wash off the scales with a pure, mild soap. Resinol Soap is gently medicated and free from excess alkali. Use it with warm water, then rinse and pat dry.

Spread Resinol Ointment evenly over the surface, letting it remain for several hours during the day and over night. Note how quickly its oily base enables the Resinol medication to soothe the angry skin.

Even when the rash begins to fade, do not stop using Resinol too soon. The eruptions of psoriasis have a tendency to recur. Therefore, continue Resinol applications as long as there is any trace of irritation.

testified Means was being advanced on by Hill, who had a knife in his hand and who had made approbrious statements and had threatened to kill the officer.

Said He Fired Three Times

Means said he fired three times, the first time not to injure his asserted adversary, and had demanded while "backing up" that Hill "drop that gun."

A negro boy, Robert Fleming, spent a restful night at a sanitarium. He was believed accidentally shot Saturday afternoon when another negro boy grabbed the weapon from a coal skuttle to prevent a baby from getting possession of it. A slug was removed from his abdumen.

Youth Is Recovering

A 19-year-old youth said by Lubbock sanitarium officials to be A. C. Jarrell was making normal recovery this morning from the effects of a gunshot wound in one leg. Investigators said a member of the police force fired at him from a Lubbock service station early Sunday morning. It was believed likely no further investigation would result.

Further investigation, though of a routine character, was to be made into the Mexican's slaying. Acuff persons were told in Lubbock this morning there would be no necessity for posting of bail.

Others To Be Questioned

Other witnesses were to be questioned today in the slaying of Hill, it was indicated. It was reported to the office of Burks that another version of the shooting might be told.

Another negro officer, Johnnie Brooks, now without a commission, figured recently in a killing. He is under a charge of murder growing out of the death of a 16-year-old Lubbock negro.

Posts $1,000 Bond

S. N. Poteet, charged with removinging mortgaged property from Texas, this morning posted bond of $1,000 that had been set by Justice McMillian, said Chief Deputy Sheriff Jas. P. Posey. The man was transferred here from Hobbs, N. M., last week by Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff.

Other investigations over the week-end concerned minor infractions. Mildred Dunlap reported a purse containing money, a gold vanity case, a fountain pen and other valuables had been stolen from her. A Lubbock woman asked that her husband, arrested for drunkenness, be given a sanity hearing.

Firemen had only one run, finding a bale of cotton burning at Thirteenth street and Avenue A at 3:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18 (AP)—Cotton was slightly lower in early dealings here today in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables and some week-end selling orders.

First trades were unchanged to 5 points net lower.

The undertone remained steady because of heavy rains in the belt over Sunday which was expected to delay movement of the crop to market and lower the grade in some localities.

December started the day at 8.35, Jan. at 8.31, March 8.35, May 8.34, July 8.37 and Oct. 8.49. Trading was quiet and prices held near the opening levels towards the end of the first half hour.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady, down 1 to 8 points on lower Liverpool and Bombay cables and under liquidation and southern selling. Dec. 8.27; Jan. 8.24; March 8.22; May 8.25; July 8.25; Oct. 8.39.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Influenced by reports of improvement of southern hemisphere crop conditions, wheat prices went decidedly downward early today. Rainfall in Southwest and West sections of the United States winter wheat territory counted also as bearish factor.

Opening 3-8 to 1 5-8 cents lower, Dec 90-98 3-8, May 98-98 1-2, Chicago wheat futures then held steady. Corn started unchanged to 1-8 higher, Dec 58 7-8 to 59, May 60, and afterward rose all around.

The Tech team ranked first in cattle and second in sheep. "Our teams have always ranked well up in cattle and sheep judging, "Sangel said.

First Win At Kansas City

This is the first time that Tech has won highest honors in the American Royal. In other years, Stangel said, placings were: 1927, 13th; 1928, fourth; 1929, not entered; 1930, eighth; 1931, ninth; 1932, sixth; 1933, sixth; 1934, second; 1935, seventh; 1936, eleventh.

At Fort Worth, Tech has won two first places and at Chicago international one first.

"This same team, or another team if other students displace some of these men, will lenter the Chicago International Livestock show," said Stangel. They will leave Lubbock Nov. 19, and will compete on Nov. 27th.

"Ohio State is the only school that has ever had a team to win both the Chicago International and the American Royal. We sincerely hope we can duplicate that feat."

Frank Blakemore, Missouri, was high point man of the contest, winning 945 points. Cole and Coulson had 941 each and Welch, 939, for highest individual honors.

Ohio state won first in horse judging; Oklahoma and Nebraska tied for first in hogs and Michigan led in sheep.

Texas Citrus Crop Lower

WESLACO, Oct. 18. (AP)—There'll be less grapefruit in the public's eye this season, but proportionally more Texas grapefruit on the public's table, although the crop moving today from the Rio Grande valley was forecast as slightly less than that a year ago.

No longer does a waitress hand over a half grapefruit and a spoon with a warning to close both eyes and duck, and there are no more cartoons depicting the plight of the diner with juice in his eye.

Is More Popular

Modern gadgets "cut around" and "hollow out" until a session with a grapefruit is without its struggle, and consequently more popular.

When the valley enlarged packing sheds, tidied canning plant machinery this year, and shaped up for the word go from the government, which tests fruit for ripeness before permitting it to move, it hoped to forget last season, marred by a disorganized and glutted market.

From 10,321 carloads of citrus in 1935-36, the crop suddenly boomed to 22,783 in 1936-37.

Hope For Better Luck

Through more centralized marketing, control of shipments through marketing agreements, and a shippers bonding and licensing law, as well as more by-products plants, growers hoped for better luck this year.

Orchardists claim more young citrus trees, though still less total citrus production, which includes grapefruit, oranges and lemons, than either chief competitor, California or Florida, which may explain why these two states look on the maturing Texas giant as something of a problem.

A government forecast accredited Texas with 8,200,000 boxes of grapefruit, its principal crop, of a prospective 24,455,000 total for all states this season. Last year's record crop was 30,281,000 for all states.

Orange Crop Lower

The Texas orange crop was forecast as 1,850,000 boxes, as against 2,000,000 last year.

Most valley citrus begins with a wild orange seed, planted in seed rows, and the resulting plant budded with the variety desired, and brought to production under ideal conditions in three years. Most trees take longer.

For purposes of show orchardists sometimes bud and grow as many as 25 different kinds of citrus on one tree.

Burning peel made the valley air aromatic in some parts last season; a lot of it was buried. This year dehydrators were installed in two plants to turn the peel into citrus meal, a food for animals.

Advent of new canning capital, some of it from Florida, this year, has led to predictions the valley will pack 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 cases of juice against 2,023,868, last season.

Canners swing into action about December 1, when culls are fully ripe on the trees.

Trees Were Stripped

Infestation by the Mexican fruit fly forced stripping of all valley trees of fruit in a very short time last season, and the government stepped in to buy fresh and canned fruit for distribution to relief clients to save a suddenly grown industry from disaster.

The problems of the fruit fly, which sometimes upsets orderly marketing when fruit must be picked immediately, prospective labor trouble, and standardization of shipping containers, confront growers.

A dry, hot summer hindered maturity of the crop. The wet norther which blew into parts of the valley Wednesday may help with needed rains to hasten ripening; if temperatures were sent too low, however, movement may be retarded.

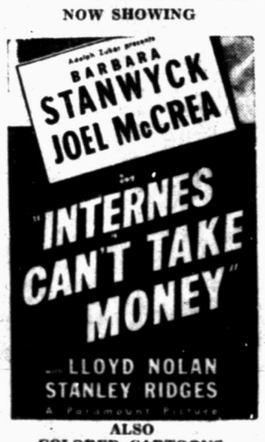

F. B. Holland of Mission, is chairman of a growers' committee which initiates regulations for valley marketing, advised by a shippers' committee headed by Arthur Beckwith of San Juan.

Under the AAA the committee has power to control shipments by quantity, grades and sizes, and under a state agreement by grades and sizes only.

This year, first the control has been applied, the committees are regulating only grades and sizes, without resort to volume proration.

First Practical Demonstration Of Television Scenes Displayed In New York On Thursday

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD
Associated Press Radio Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Television, flashed on a screen three by four feet in size by a projection tube now in the course of laboratory development, was displayed last night in what was described as its first practical demonstration of radio-transmitted scenes.

It reproduced images of vaudeville and a newsreel taking place in a third floor studio at Radio City after they had been relayed by special cable to the transmitter atop the Empire State building and then sent back a half-mile or so through the air to receivers installed on the sixty-second floor of the same building.

The projection tube or "kinescope," while designed primarily to produce a clear image a foot and a half by two feet, was operated at twice that size. The pictures were dim to hazy.

The projection tube was only a part of the demonstration, put on to give the motion picture engineers a glimpse at the progress being made in the New York city field tests started more than a year ago by engineers of the Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting company.

In introducing the demonstration, David Sarnoff, president of RCA, made it clear that "television is today an unfinished product," but he did foresee in it "another vigorous industry which will provide many new avenues of employment and will furnish opportunities to the younger generation looking for careers in new fields."

MILK PRICES RISE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 18. (AP)—Milk prices rose one cent in St. Paul Sunday to 11 cents a quart and seven cents a pint. Cream will remain at 24 cents a pint and 12 1-2 cents a half pint. Milk company officials said the seasonal rise in the butterfat market prices was responsible.

Things Bright For Dairy Farmer, USDA Reports

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Things looked bright for the dairy farmer this winter, the agriculture department said today, with butter and cheese prices increasing and livestock feed costs declining.

Government charts showed butter and cheese prices had climbed recently to the highest point of the year.

Government Spends $285,000 Buying Eggs Last Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The federal government spent about $285,000 last week buying 1,265,040 dozen eggs, officials said today, in an effort to improve prices received by farmers.

The eggs will be turned over to state agencies for free distribution to relief clients.

MILLIONS MORE FOR FINER TOBACCOS!

IS IT GOOD BUSINESS TO BUY COSTLIER TOBACCOS FOR CAMELS?

the answer is:

Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

"YOU BET I've been careful about my nerves. Smoke? All I want to. My cigarette is Camel," says LOU GEHRIG, Baseball's Iron Man. "With Camels I don't worry about jangled nerves."

"I SMOKE Camels and my nerves stay serene and unruffled. You see, I don't want to have those irritating little nervous habits," says window display expert, POLLY PETTIT.

"FROM ANY angle, Camel is the cigarette for yours truly. When I'm tired, I light a Camel and back to work I go with a 'lift' in energy," FRANK MULLADY, auto mechanic, says.

"AS A fashion designer spending long night hours creating new styles, I've grown to depend on the mellow companionship Camels give me," says the famous designer, RENEE MONTAGUE.

The pleasure you get out of a cigarette depends on what's put in it. And in the case of Camels that means finer, costlier tobaccos!

THROUGH the years, Camel has consistently spent millions of dollars more for choice, ripe tobaccos!

That represents a way of doing business that smokers understand and appreciate. Millions of smokers have responded to the appeal of Camel's choice quality. Because of it, Camels have an attraction all their own!

It's a happy experience to have confidence in your cigarette . . . to know that you are getting the good things out of smoking that you hope for. The plain fact that Camel does spend millions of dollars more for ripe, more costly tobaccos appeals to the common sense of American men and women.

It is good business!

"I'VE BEEN a sports reporter for twenty-five years," says JAMES GOULD. "And for twenty-three of these years — right from the time Camels were first brought out—I've been a steady Camel smoker. Camels don't tire my taste."

THE NEW CAMEL CARAVAN—TWO GREAT SHOWS IN AN HOUR'S ENTERTAINMENT!

Includes "Jack Oakie College" and Benny Goodman's "Swing School"! Sixty fast minutes of grand fun and music. Every Tuesday night at 9:30 p.m. E.S.T., 8:30 p.m. C.S.T., 7:30 p.m. M.S.T., 6:30 p.m. P.S.T., over WABC-Columbia Network.

"DUCK, SWORDFISH STEAK, and Boston cream pie—my favorites—aren't the most digestible foods. But with Camels at meals my digestion does a swell job," says BRUCE WALLIS, college senior.

"I OFTEN SAY a woman who runs a home needs healthy nerves as much as any athlete. So I smoke the cigarette that I know is mild—Camel," says MRS. ROBERT FENNIMORE, New York housewife.

"FOR YEARS I'VE chosen Camels. I notice Camels leave no after-taste," remarks MAXINE HOLLEN, department store salesgirl.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. Skillful blending brings out the full flavor of these choice tobaccos.

Hair Rites To Be Conducted Today

Funeral services for Joe Hair, 38, of route 5, who was killed instantly in a truck-automobile collision Saturday afternoon, will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Broadway Church of Christ, and burial will be in Lubbock cemetery, said Rix Funeral home.

Mrs. Hair, 33, and her two children, Melba Jo, 9, and Nell Vondell, 3, were treated for minor injuries after the accident and a third child, Ray, 13, remained in Lubbock sanitarium this morning with a head injury. His condition, formerly considered serious, was satisfactory this morning, said sanitarium attaches.

The accident occurred at the junction of highways 24 and 137 on Nineteenth street. The truck driver, J. L. White, was uninjured.
