Life Is Different At Fords'

WASHINGTON AP - If you open a door at Gerald R. Ford's house, even for a breath of fresh air, alarms sound in what looks like a blue laundry truck parked outside.

The vehicle, base for the Secret Service men assigned to protect the vice president-designate's family, sits awkwardly in the driveway, front tires elevated on cement blocks and back one deflated.

If you telephone the Fords, even at their private number, a Secret Service man answers.

Life says Elizabeth Ford, wife of the House Republican leader, isn't what it used to be.

The Fords have lived in the same unpretentious, brick and clapboard four-bedroom house on Crown View Drive in suburban Alexandria, Va., for 19 years.

Mrs. Ford says that even privately, she hopes events won't make her husband president.

"In the first place," she said in an hour-long interview, "I don't think President Nixon should be, will be impeached...no, I don't think he should resign."

And how does Mrs. Ford feel when she hears talk of impeachment and resignation of President Nixon at the same time her husband is going through confirmation hearings in the Senate?

"I shudder," she said. Sitting in a living room decorated in aqua and beige, Mrs. Ford talked, among other things, about Watergate.

"I think that really and truly it will probably take a long time to get to the bottom of the testimony and tapes, etc. It's going to work out all right for President Nixon," she said.

Elizabeth Bloomer Ford, at 55, has been a congressional wife almost half her life. She married the former Big Ten football star in October 1948, only a few weeks after he was elected to the House from Michigan's 5th District, which includes the furniture-making city of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Ford is a tall, stately woman with high cheek bones and a reddish bouffant hair style. The years of political campaigning and pressures have left only a few wrinkles around her gray-blue eyes.

A pinched nerve in her neck-the result of trying to open a window in the the house nine years ago-keeps her from the golf and skiing she loves.

And from dancing. "Oh, I do some dancing in the privacy of my bedroom," said the woman who once did modern dance under the direction of dance stars Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey and Charles Weidman. "But lately, I haven't had any chance to."

Mrs. Ford's words come slowly, carefully chosen, when she speaks about politics, but ask about her four children and her face breaks into a wide smile...

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 12, the 316th day of 1973. There are 49 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, during World War II, the Soviets halted German invaders at the outskirts of Moscow.

On this date—

In 1812, Napoleon Bonaparte's army reached the Russian city of Smolensky in its retreat from Moscow.

In 1866, the founder of the Chinese republic, Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, was born near Macao.

In 1927, Joseph Stalin became the dictator of the Soviet Union as Leon Trotsky was expelled from the Communist party.

In 1937, the Japanese captured and occupied Shanghai.

In 1948, a war crimes court in Japan sentenced former Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo and six other Japanese war leaders to death.

In 1964, Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg abdicated in favor of her son after a 45-year reign.

Ten years ago: The United States announced new travel restrictions on diplomats and other visitors from Communist countries.

Five years ago: President-elect Richard M. Nixon visited President Johnson at the White House.

One year ago: A federal examiner concluded that poor mine safety practices contributed to a mine disaster in Kellogg, Idaho, in which 91 persons died.

Kissinger Weighs Treaty Assuring Israel Support

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may propose a treaty in which the U.S. government would guarantee to defend Israel if attacked, American officials with Kissinger in Peking reported today.

Associated Press correspondent Barry Schweid reported from the Chinese capital that such a treaty would assure Israel the permanent support of its only large ally.

But Israel also would be warned that any strike against an Arab neighbor would have to be maintained without U.S. support.

In the wake of the signing Sunday of the new cease-fire agreement Kissinger negotiated last week, Israeli and Egyptian officers met today at the cease-fire line on the west bank of the Suez Canal for negotiations to carry out the agreement.

As they did, Premeir Golda Meir of Israel told newsmen in London that Egypt must quickly lift its blockade of the Bab el-Mandeb Strait at the entrance to the Red Sea.

"A cease-fire does not mean merely the end of artillery and bombing attacks," Mrs. Meir added. She was in London for a meeting of the Socialist International, of which her Labor party is a member.

The 75-year-old Israeli leader said despite the cease-fire accord with Egypt the situation in Syria is "extremely dangerous." The Syrians have stayed clear of the latest truce agreement, although abiding by the U.N. cease-fire of Oct. 23.

They were not participating in the talks at Kilometer 101 on the Suez-Cairo highway in Egypt, where the new truce was signed Sunday.

The Egyptians were anxious to get a corridor opened through the Israeli lines to the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army on the east bank of the canal.

The Israelis gave top priority to arranging an exchange of prisoners of war and removal of Egypt's blockade on Israeli shipping at the southern end of the Red Sea.

The cease-fire pact, worked out during U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's swing through the Middle East last week, was signed Sunday by Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, the assistant Israeli chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Mohammed Abdul Ghani Gamazy, the second-ranking officer in the Egyptian army.

They met in a U.N. tent at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road, 60 miles from the Egyptian capital.

It was the first formal agreement signed by Arab and Israeli representatives in a face-to-face meeting since the 1949 armistice that ended the first Arab-Israeli war.

The new agreement calls for strict observance of the cease-fire, a supply corridor under U.N. control to the encircled Egyptian army on the southeast bank of the Suez Canal, a full exchange of prisoners of war and negotiations to determine the Oct. 22 positions to which Israeli forces are supposed to pull back.

API Reports Oil Imports Higher

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An American Petroleum Institute report issued today said American imports of foreign oil are 31.4 per cent higher so far in 1973 than they were in the first 10 months of 1972.

Effects of the Arab oil embargo were not projected for the rest of the year in the report, which covered the period ending Oct. 31 and underscored the nation's increasing dependence on foreign oil supplies.

Declining domestic production has forced U.S. refiners to obtain 26 per cent of their crude oil supplies from foreign sources in the first 10 months of 1973, compared with 18 per cent in 1972, the report said.

The statistical report on supply and demand trends was released prior to today's opening of the annual meeting of the institute that represents all segments of the nation's oil and gas industry.

Institute officials said it would be at least another week before the country would begin to feel sharp effects from the Arab embargo. There was a minimum of tanker shipment disruptions through October, they said.

The report said an estimated 6.07 million barrels of foreign oil and petroleum supplies were imported each day during the first 10 months of 1973. The report gave no breakdown of how much of this oil came from any source, but an earlier Interior Department report indicated daily imports of about 1.1 million barrels of crude oil and about 500,000 barrels of products could be traced to Arab nations in mid-October.

The report said domestic refineries processed a record 12.5 million barrels of crude oil a day the first 10 months this year, a 7.4 per cent increase over 1972. It said this figure included 3.2 million barrels of foreign oil.

It also said total domestic demand for petroleum products in the 10-month period averaged a record 17 million barrels a day, an increase of 6.9 per cent over the previous year.

Motor gasoline demand climbed to 6.7 million barrels a day, a 5.2 per cent increase that amounts to 4.3 billion gallons of gasoline.

Domestic production of crude oil has averaged 8.9 million barrels a day this year, down two per cent over last year, the report said. Crude oil inventories in the country amounted to a 20-day supply of domestic needs as of Oct. 31, the report said.

County Purchases Six Typewriters

County Commissioners this morning accepted the bid of $2,898 from the IBM Corporation for six typewriters.

Four of them will be used in the treasurer's office and county agent's office.

Commissioners also approved the payment of $2,175.05 to Lone Star Gas Company to correct underbilling from January through September.

Nixon Acts To Clear Doubts On Crucial Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today that he will turn over to a federal court additional personal notes and dictation belts and further reels of White House tapes in an effort to clear up "once and for all" doubts about two crucial Watergate conversations.

The White House announced two weeks ago that subpoenaed tapes of the two conversations did not exist. Today, a White House lawyer said a subpoenaed recording supposedly dictated by Nixon did not exist.

In an announcement, Nixon said he has also agreed that a court-approved independent expert "employing the most advanced technological methods can examine all tapes in question for any evidence of alteration to the tapes."

Nixon said he is taking these steps to "help determine the substance of all nine conversations subpoenaed by the court."

Nixon's announcement today marked his first major step in a newly announced effort to tell his side of the Watergate affair and attempt to clear up questions.

He presented his statement at a 90-minute breakfast meeting with members of the Republican Coordinating Committee — the first of a series of meetings he plans to hold this week with all of the Republican members of Congress and some Democratic congressmen as well.

Nixon said that since coming to office he has maintained a personal diary file which consists of notes he personally took during meetings and of dictation belts on which he recorded recollections.

Nixon said he has located a dictation belt he recorded on the evening of June 20, 1972, which included references to the telephone call with Mitchell and he is going to submit that to the court.

The President also said that he held two meetings with Dean on Monday, April 16, 1973, the final meetings before Dean left the White House staff.

Nixon said these conversations were recorded on the White House taping system and "there are references throughout the conversation on the morning of April 16 to the conversation held the evening before," on April 15, with Dean.

The President said he would voluntarily submit the April 16 tape to help the court in its efforts.

He said he has also authorized his councel to make available to the court three other reels of tape that were not covered by the subpoena of the nine conversations the court originally sought.

"It is my hope," the President said, "that these steps will clear up this aspect of the Watergate matter once and for all."

The President said, "this will permit the court to check the sequence of the conversations against my daily logs of meetings and telephone conversations already provided to the court, and thus further demonstrate that the Mitchell and Dean conversations in question were not recorded."

Death Penalty Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today rejected a plea for new, more definite guidelines on the constitutional use of the death penalty.

The justices declined to hear an appeal brought by a Utica, N.Y., prosecutor who said his case "presents the very heart of the capital punishment debate" that followed the court's treatment of the issue last year.

In other action today, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether government-owned advertising media must accept political advertisements. The case involves an appeal by an Ohio state legislator who wanted his political ads displayed alongside commercial ads on advertising cards in Shaker Heights, Ohio, transit cars.

—Affirmed changes in procedure by the Interstate Commerce Commission that eased the path railroads must follow to abandon uneconomical routes.

—Upheld the draft evasion convictions of two men who argued they were denied Selective Service hearings on their claims of conscientious objector status. The men declared themselves as conscientious objectors after receiving induction notices and refused induction into the Army. The Supreme Court said they should have allowed themselves to be inducted, then applied for discharge as conscientous objectors.

The court did not flatly outlaw the death penalty last year — only two justices reached that position.

But three others objected to the procedures by which the death penalty is imposed, leaving doubt as to what, if anything, a majority might accept as constitutional use of capital punishment.

The appeal rejected today stemmed from a ruling in New York vacating the death penalty imposed against Martin J. Fitzpatrick for the murder of two policemen. The New York court left Fitzpatrick's conviction intact.

The state court indicated that only a mandatory death penalty for the murder of a policeman would limit the discretion of juries and judges sufficiently to meet Supreme Court objections to the infrequent, apparently arbitrary application of capital punishment nationwide.

OF 'STRINGBEAN', WIFE

Money Is Found Hidden On Bodies

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music star David "Stringbean" Akeman and his wife had $5,700 in cash hidden on them when they were murdered in what was believed to be a burglary, a police source said today.

The bodies of Stringbean, a star of "Hee Haw" and the Grand Ole Opry whose sad face and funny wardrobe endeared him to country music fans, and his wife were found Sunday morning by L. M. "Grampa" Jones, a fellow country music star and a long-time friend.

The police source said a funeral home employe had found $3,500 in Stringbean's bib overalls and $2,200 in Mrs. Akeman's clothing.

The source said the money previously had been overlooked by investigators and apparently by the killers, who police believe were burglars surprised by Stringbean when he and his wife returned to their rural home following Saturday night's Opry.

"It looks as if Stringbean was shot after he opened the door," said detective Lt. Tom Cathey. "Mrs. Akeman was apparently shot as she tried to flee."

Jones, who drove to the Akeman home to join Stringbean on a hunting trip, said he found Mrs. Akeman's body lying beside a driveway. He said he found Stringbean's body lying face down on the floor of his house. Nearby in the doorway lay his banjo.

Police said the three-room house had been ransacked and some of Mrs. Akeman's personal effects were missing.

Friends had said earlier that Stringbean was well off financially and often carried large sums of cash.

Stringbean was known to country music fans for his unique stage costume, an overlong shirt sewn to short trousers midway between his waist and knees. His banjo, sad face, pinched eyebrows and tattered straw hat completed the ensemble.

Stringbean's music career started at the age of 13 when he and a friend made a banjo. He left his home in Anneville, Ky., when he was 18 to tour with Lew Childre.

He came to the Opry in 1942 with Bill Monroe.

Reports Set By United Way

A few workers still had not picked up their supplies this morning for the United Way campaign, but most were busy in the drive.

The first report session is scheduled for Friday and all workers have been urged to make as many contacts as possible before that date.

The United Way is seeking $40,000 this year to support 13 participating agencies, with most of it going to organizations involved in youth programs.

Campaign leaders hope to complete the drive by Thanksgiving.

Mom's double-trouble—pregnant, unwed teens

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters who are pregnant and not married. One is 15, and the other is 18. The 15 year old is just entering 10th grade, and I don't want her to marry so young. I think she should finish high school first. The boy is 18, and plans on going to college. I spoke with his mother, and she said after the baby comes, if it looks like her son, MAYBE he will marry my daughter.

The 18 year old is expecting first. Her boy friend said he didn't have any plans for marriage right now because he has five more car payments to make, but when he is free and clear he will pay something toward the baby's support. Meanwhile, he hardly ever comes around anymore, but he's been seen out with other girls. My daughter is so dumb, she thinks he will marry her when he's out of debt.

Now that you have the facts, here is my question: Do you think I should give my daughters baby showers?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: It isn't proper for a close member of the family to give showers. They are usually given by friends.

DEAR ABBY: My mother was a young widow with three children when she remarried. Abby, not all men can accept stepchildren as their own. My stepfather has been good to me [the only girl] but he's been awfully hard on the boys. One ran away years ago, but the other is sticking it out until he finishes school. Mom and I have always tried to give the boys lots of love to make up for the lack of fatherly love.

However, Mom is now destroying the child she's trying to protect. He can't get up in the morning himself, so she wakes him four or five times and has breakfast waiting for him. She drives him to and from work, otherwise he'd be late. He's refinanced when he overspends, and Mom runs all his errands—the latest being payment of a traffic ticket. [He didn't even say "thank you"]

I am seven years older than this brother, self-supporting, and live in the same town. I would like to see the kid allowed to mature. I know he would, if Mom would only let him. Watching her wait on him constantly infuriates my stepfather. If I say anything to Mom, she says I'm jealous. I don't think I am. I am only concerned because the boy will be 20 next month and he's incredibly immature and irresponsible. I'd do anything to get my mother off his neck. Should I talk to a friend she respects? We have no clergyman.

BIG SISTER

DEAR SIS: Yes! If the friend makes as much sense as you do.

CONFIDENTIAL [AND MANY THANKS] to all who wrote to inform me that the poem I was trying to track down is: "Which the Chicken, Which the Egg." And it goes like this:

"He drinks because she scolds, he thinks,
She thinks she scolds because he drinks,
And neither will admit what's true,
That he's a sot and she's a shrew."

[Ogden Nash]

And the first person to get the facts to me was Carol Ritter, the gracious, wideawake librarian of the Woonsocket, S. D., Public Library. [Woonsocket's population is 835!]

Crew Ends Training

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — With the green light on for a launch Thursday, the Skylab 3 astronauts today complete their training for a record 85-day space mission.

Skylab program director William C. Schneider gave the go-ahead Sunday for the liftoff after assessing how crews were doing in replacing eight defective stabilizer fins on the Saturn 1B rocket.

He said the work was progressing smoothly and no additional launch postponement was necessary.

The astronauts — Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson — planned to spend several hours today in spaceship simulators at Houston's Johnson Space Center.

That will conclude their training, and they'll fly here to prepare for launch at 9:36 a.m. EST Thursday.

"The schedule, while tight, is still attainable unless some unforeseen event occurs," Schneider told newsmen.

Water Use Increases

Water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District showed another substantial gain in October, further narrowing gap from 1972 totals.

Through the first four months, abnormally cool and wet, the district fell 968 million gallons behind in its deliveries to cities and oilfield customers.

October deliveries of 1,572,364,354 gallons were about 90 million ahead of October 1972, and this reduced the year's delivery deficit to 162 million gallons.

During October, the 1,092,402,000 gallons pumped to the cities was up by 134 million gallons, but the 479,902,354 gallons delivered to oil and industrial users was down by 44 million gallons. The Sharon Ridge unit used 20 million less and Sun Oil 14 million less.

Through the first 10 months of 1973, the district has pumped 15,856,206,704 gallons to its customers, whereas in the same period in 1972 it was 16,018,221,084. Through the same period, the cities have drawn 11,013,107,000 gallons compared with 11,017,311,000 in 1972.

October deliveries to Odessa were 352,188,000 gallons, up 9.03 per cent; Big Spring 226,737,000, up 15.29 per cent; Snyder 62,684,000, up 11.15 per cent; Stanton 6,781,000, up 6.40 per cent; Midland 291,425,000, up 13.41 per cent; San Angelo 152,587,000 up 28.00 per cent.

Sears Seeks Defective Dishwashers

Sears, Roebuck and Co. is continuing its efforts to locate owners of six models of portable dishwashers because of a possible safety-related defect.

Faye Erwin, store manager of Sears, in Snyder, said the models can be identified as model Nos. 587.720210, 587.720211, 587.720310, 587.720311, 587.720410 and 587.720411. The unit can be identified by the model number located on the inside door frame.

She said 65,000 units in question were produced since April, 1972.

The spokesman said that in production some door panels were placed in such a manner as to a pinch timer motor wires causing a potential shock hazard, if not properly grounded.

Customers were urged to disconnect their units and to contact their nearest Sears unit at 573-2676 for inspection as soon as possible.

Sears said it has reported the possibility of a malfunction to the Consumer Product Safety Commission. There have been no reported injuries.

Sears also sells other models of portable dishwashers. These dishwashers are not affected.

Snyderite's Father Dies

M.E. Barnhill, 78, father of Mrs. Walter M. Suttle of Snyder, died at midnight last night at Vernon.

Mr. Barnhill, a retired county clerk, died exactly three weeks following the death of his brother, John Barnhill, Athletic Director at the University of Arkansas.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First United Methodist Church in Vernon, with Sullivan Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

In addition to Mrs. Suttle, survivors include his wife; a son, A.R. Barnhill of Abilene; three other daughters, Mrs. W.C. Johnson of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Jamie Parks of Amarillo and Mrs. Dan White.

Energy To Dominate Congressional Week

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With predictions of gasoline rationing coming again from the administration, the nation's energy crisis dominates this week's schedule of activity in Congress.

Three Senate committees called hearings for today on aspects of legislation requested by President Nixon to deal with the immediate problem.

The Public Works subcommittee on air and water pollution took up a bill by its chairman, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for temporary waiver of clean-air standards to permit prompt conversion to high-sulphur fuels, such as coal.

The Senate Commerce Committee considered a bill to return the nation to daylight saving time. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., promised committee approval Tuesday or Wednesday and possible passage by both houses of Congress by the end of the week.

The Senate Interior Committee expected to complete action by tonight on emergency legislation by its chairman, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., incorporating most of President Nixon's energy-saving proposals.

The House, meanwhile, planned to take up today the compromise bill to expedite construction of the Alaska oil pipeline. Senate action is due Tuesday.

The forecast of gasoline rationing came Sunday from Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton. He said on the ABC program "Issues and Answers" that rationing could be a reality in the first quarter of next year and could last up to two years.

Meanwhile, Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., says he has asked the General Accounting Office to look into charges that American oil companies escaped Cost of Living Council regulations by shipping oil overseas for reimportation to the United States.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., assigned top Senate priority, possibly beginning Tuesday, to the Jackson emergency energy bill.

The House Commerce Committee set a hearing on the emergency energy legislation for Wednesday. The committee will consider year-around daylight saving time Tuesday.

On other matters, the Senate Judiciary Committee and a House Judiciary subcommittee hold closed-door meetings Tuesday to consider legislation to authorize a special Watergate prosecutor to be appointed by the U.S. District Court.

The House will recess for Thanksgiving from the close of business Thursday until Nov. 26. The Senate Thanksgiving recess is set to begin with the close of business Nov. 21.

Four Mishaps Are Reported

City Police invetigated four minor motor vehicle mishaps over the weekend.

The first one occurred at 2:46 p.m. Saturday on the East Highway. Police said a 1970 Model Chevrolet driven by George Edward Chamblee, 4400 Avenue U, crashed into a utility pole. Damage to the pole was placed at $50.

The 1966 Model Dodge of Dixie Woodson Kimmell, 3790 Avenue V, and the 1973 Model Pontiac of Penny Simmons, 1006 Twenty-ninth Street, were in collision on Thirty-seventh Street at Avenue V at 3:23 p.m. Saturday.

Police said an unidentified motorist fled the scene after his vehicle backed into the parked 1969 Model Chevrolet pickup of Garcia Lorenzo, 3608 Muriel Drive, in the 3500 block of Avenue M at 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

The other mishap occurred in the 2800 block of Avenue I at 11:45 p.m. Sunday. Police said Frankie Doyle Teague, 2802 Avenue D, crashed into a picket fence in his 1965 Model Chevrolet. Damage to the fence, owned by Mattie Fisher, 2807 Avenue I, was set at $20.

3 Burglaries Are Reported

There were three burglaries over the weekend, but the burglars only netted a small amount of money.

Someone took a few rolls of coins from Grimmett Brothers, 1312 Avenue R. The money was taken from a filing cabinet inside the office.

A cash box containing $60 was stolen at the Texaco Warehouse, 1600 Avenue O. An undetermined amount of cash was taken in a burglary at McDonald Welding, 1110 College Avenue.

Police said all three burglaries occurred Saturday night.

Hershey Killed In Chocolate

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Robert C. H. Hershey was killed here when he fell into a chocolate mixing vat at a Pepperidge Farm, Inc., plant.

Hershey, 37, of Coatesville, Pa., was pronounced dead at the factory Sunday after he was found in the machine. Plant employes, assisted by a local rescue squad, had to cut through the machine's steel side to retrieve his body.

A company spokesman said the chocolate is usually fed automatically into the machine. He said Hershey, an employe, apparently removed a cover for an unexplained reason and fell in.

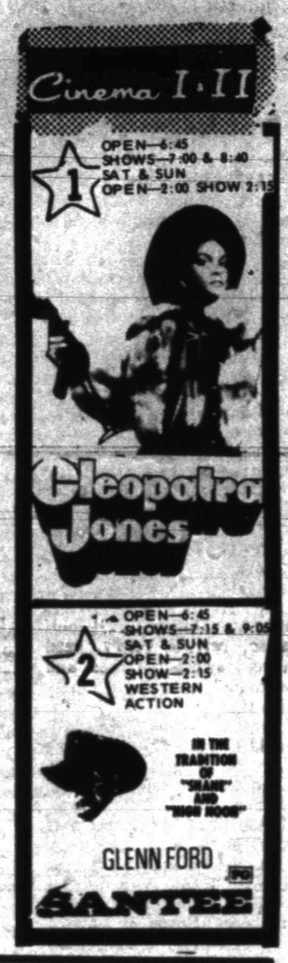

Soil Survey Is Available

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Congressman Omar Burleson has announced that he is making available to the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, which serves Scurry County, 900 copies of the Scurry County Soil Survey, which is just off the press.

In addition to the Soil Conservation District supply, interested persons may also obtain copies of the Survey from Burleson's Washington office.

The published survey contains a map showing each kind of soil, and a text that describes each soil and explains its behavior when used for farming, ranching, or as a site for homes or other small buildings, and as material for building roads, earth dams, or other structures. Demand for this publication can not be predicted accurately, but it is anticipated that it will be used for 25 years or more by land owners and managers, engineers, staffs of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations, and other State and Federal Agnecies, as well as users of rural land concerned with agriculture and non-farm uses in community development.

Apartments Get Southwestern Look

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The architecture of some of the world's tallest buildings with their mechanical beams may prove to be a natural in identifying with the trend in indoor living to the Southwestern look: So say designers Robert Steffel and James Finlayson of Chicago, members of the American Institute of Interior Designers.

Their Cloud Nine approach in an apartment on the 72nd floor of one Chicago building overlooking Lake Michigan includes interpolating space by using soffits of rough sawn wood across the mechanical beams, great expanses of glass, adobe plaster walls, desert plants and an "indoor patio" that can be entered from the bedroom by sliding glass doors.

"We did things in this apartment — removing solid walls and the like — that people might do to a house on their own property, but could not do if they are renting an apartment," observed Finlayson.

The upper half of the six-year-old building from the 44th to 92nd floor — 705 apartments — is being converted to condominium apartments. The lower half will remain business offices, he explained.

A Southwestern look is emerging strongly in decorating because it "complements the clean, swept-out look of high-rise architecture," the designers insist. It is uncluttered as the desert and mesa, providing an illusion of expansiveness that is a welcome change from mod decorating and pseudo antiques.

The look has a stamp of individualism, imprints left by the heritage of Germans, Russians, Spanish, Portuguese and Indians who came from South America and Mexico and settled in the Southwest, each carving his own niche with plantings, sculpture, buildings.

In the indoor patio there are decorative quarry tiles underfoot and a thriving indoor cactus garden. The new color spectrum that joins the stark white of the adobe walls and the soft pink sand of desert inspiration includes manzanita (plant) brown, saguaro (huge cactus) green, barrel cactus blue, terra cotta, shale white and candytuft orange.

It was a natural in interior design to pick up the current intrigue with the great southwest, the designers explained. The momentum of Southwestern design generated by jewelry of the region, informal dress, a new appreciation of the land and even an upsurge in horse raising, cannot be ignored — it has so much to offer.

The pure naturalness of white, Mexican tiles, canyon-born paint colors, Navajo Indian prints and all the rest of it will be easily introduced into the mainstream of city life, they feel. The naturalness without rigidity will particularly appeal to the ecologist.

Such a look should provide a background for modern, Spanish, traditional or Colonial furniture, the designers say.

Steffel and his partner Finlayson live in the building, the John Hancock Center, the world's tallest building combining residential and business occupancy.

Wash cast-iron cooking utensils with soap suds instead of with a synthetic detergent. Soap protects the surface and helps to keep it from rusting better than detergent does.

Thanksgiving Pumpkins Plentiful

COLLEGE STATION—Adequate pumpkin supplies mean plenty of Thanksgiving pies and other treats.

"Prices are the same to a bit lower than last November," Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.

White potato and onion prices fell from last month's levels—with best potato values in three- to five- or ten-pound bags, she continued.

"Cooking greens—including turnip greens, mustard and collards—cabbage, hard shell squash, carrots, celery, head lettuce, sweet potatoes, and rutabagas carry reasonable price tags.

"Green beans, broccoli, eggplant and cauliflower, on the other hand, are moderately priced and lend variety to meal planning.

Fresh fruit items in good supply at the most economical prices include apples, oranges, bananas, Tokay grapes, cranberries, tangerines, tangelos and pears. Grapefuit supplies are increasing with quality improving, the specialist added.

"If planning to bake fruit cakes early, all the ingredients are now available."

Turning to meat counters, Mrs. Clyatt cited best beef values as "round steaks and roasts, beef and calf liver, ground beef, and arm and blade pot roasts and steaks.

Tips Offered For Cookie Bakers

Do your cookies turn out like you want them to? Or, do you have problems with crumbly, cake-like, or dry, hard cookies? Helps on cooky baking techniques will be presented in a program at the County Extension Office, 120 E. Highway, at 2-3:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 13.

Demonstrations on making cookies will be given by Mrs. Dean Cochran, local homemaker and excellent cook and Miss Ruby Butts, County Home Demonstration Agent.

There will be answers to many of your cookie baking problems, recipes and cookie baking helps.

This program, planned for the homemaker who is not an expert cookie baker is open to everyone.

Women Smokers Are Compared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women who work outside the home have a higher smoking rate than housewives, a new government study shows.

The study also reports that:

—On the basis of marital status among women, the smoking rate was highest for those divorced or separated, lowest for widows.

—On the basis of education among women, smoking rates were highest for those who ended their education with some high school classes or with a high school diploma, lowest for those whose education was grade school or less.

—Fewer women were smoking in 1970, compared to 1966, but the reduction was not as much as that for men.

The study is a report on changes in women's smoking behavior, based on national surveys directed by the Public Health Service in 1966 and 1970. The analysis was made by Dorothy E. Green, a branch chief, and Daniel E. Nemzer, computer analyst, at the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health.

The smoking rate for U.S. adults, 21 years of age and over, fell from 42.2 per cent in 1966 to 36.2 per cent in 1970.

Among men, the smoking rate fell sharply, from 51.9 per cent to 42.3 per cent, the study reports. But for women, it fell only from 33.7 per cent to 30.5 per cent.

The analysis says that the smoking rate increased among single women and decreased among married women and adds as a possible explanation:

"Many single women are employed in offices, where they may be influenced by the higher smoking rates of men. A woman earning a salary may feel more free to spend it on a form of personal gratification like cigarettes.

"On the other hand, married women are likely to spend less time with people who smoke; some wives give up smoking during pregnancy to avoid possible damage to the fetus, or mothers may avoid smoking to set a good example for their children."

The statistics show that the smoking rate of 37 per cent for women employed outside the home remained unchanged from 1966 to 1970. But the rate among women not employed outside the home, primarily housewives, decreased from 32 per cent in 1966 to 27 per cent in 1970.

The study also takes note of the worry among women, as well as men, that they might gain weight if they stopped smoking.

But weight gain, although more likely to occur as the appetite improves, isn't inevitable, it says.

Market Not Accurate Barometer Of Economy

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As a barometer of economic and business activity, the stock market's record isn't outstanding. Its needle sometimes points to sunshine and rain follows. It falls, but the economic weather improves.

But when you see those averages mired in the same low range for between 5 and 10 years, you must conclude the barometers are rusty or the weather really is bad.

The likelihood is that the barometers, although perhaps faulty, aren't the primary reason for those low readings. They hardly could be wrong together.

The Dow Jones industrial average is back to where it was in 1966.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock composite is only a bit higher than it was in 1968.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index is below its 1968 reading.

The Value Line unweighted average of 1,470 stocks has fallen to 1963 levels.

More than that, the new rules confront business with limitations it cannot understand.

Incredible as it may sound, growth could become a dirty word, particularly if it uses up too much energy or pollutes or reduces the supply of essential materials.

How does a businessman, reared to believe uncritically in the goodness of growth, use all his aggressive instincts in pursuit of restraint? How does he explain it to stockholders? How will stockholders respond?

It is these questions that lie at the base of the problem. Even before the full definition of the energy crisis sank into public awareness, investors were concerned about profits.

Various analysts have noted that while profits reached record highs, they might have included an illusion. They were inflated by inventory buying that will reduce future sales. They failed to account for deterioration of plants.

But now they realize that no growth or slow growth is far more meaningful. The market's product is growth. Without growth there isn't a product.

The age of shortage has arrived in the land of plenty. The acquisitive demands and the insistence on spending that have been bred into Americans has produced enormous consumption — and now shortages.

The selloff last Friday, in which the DJ industrial average sank 24.24 points to 908.41, provided more than a clue as to what bothers the market. The message was that the country was short of energy, and energy is synonymous with profit.

Rarely, in fact, have the ups and downs of the market in recent months been so clearly attributable to one cause. Almost always there were multiple factors. But on Friday there was one big reason.

Recognition of what an energy shortage means to the American economy is only gradually being absorbed by the consciousness. Everyone knows it might mean rationing, automobile bans, cold apartments. But it means much more.

Just as the closing of the frontier, as described by Prof. Frederick Jackson Turner, caused America to reach a historic, reflective level of maturity, the end of plentiful resources is another watershed.

It signifies the end of easy, profitable exploitation. Gradually the public is realizing that an economy cannot operate by digging holes and not refilling them, dumping waste in its drinking water, destroying without replenishing.

For business, the complexities grow, and so do the costs. It costs dearly to observe the rules of conservation and community rights.

Americans are collecting almost anything, but not stocks. You can sit in an antique chair but not in stocks; you can't ride stocks, you can't use them for shelter, you wouldn't want to hang them on your walls.

The primary — and almost the lone — reason for buying stock is to raise your level of living. And if stocks aren't likely to do that, you won't find people buying them.

Junior Editors' Quiz on KOHLRABI

QUESTION: What is kohlrabi?

ANSWER: Kohlrabi, also called stem turnip, is a vegetable of the Brassica or cabbage family of plants. It has been raised in Europe since early times and is a common crop in Sweden. It is only recently that it has been known and appreciated in America.

It is grown for its pale green or purple-like swollen stem. The seeds are sown in the early spring about the time of the last frost. Sometimes the plants are started under glass and later planted in the garden. The young, small globes should be less than 3 inches thick when harvested. Otherwise, they become woody and strongly flavored. This vegetable resembles the white turnip in flavor but is more delicate. The young leaves of kohlrabi may be cooked like spinach. It is often steamed, cut into strips and marinated in French dressing, then served as a salad with cold meat.

TV Shows We Will Never See

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Every now and then we get the feeling that this season's daily television lists are too predictable. So here are a few listings we'd like to see, but probably never will.

MONDAY:

(7) Kung Fu: Caine picks a fight.

(13) Kojak: Kojak grows hair.

TUESDAY:

(7) Marcus Welby, M.D.: Puzzled by strange disease, Dr. Welby shrugs and recommends good mortician.

(13) Gunsmoke: Miss Kitty gets blotto.

(4) Brian Keith Show: Pediatrician runs amok, kicks child.

WEDNESDAY:

(7) ABC Evening News: Howard K. Smith reports mild reaction to his call for President's impeachment.

(13) CBS Evening News: Walter Cronkite calls for Howard K. Smith's impeachment.

(9) NBC Nightly News: Davidly Brinkley calls for John Chancellor's impeachment.

(9) The White House and Television (special): President Nixon, citing energy crisis, calls for rationing of commentary.

(13) Washington Day in Review: Peter Lisagor, James J. Kilpatrick, Hugh Sidey, Joseph Kraft and moderator Sander Vanocur sit around and doze.

THURSDAY:

(7) Owen Marshall: Owen is run over by ambulance.

(13) The Waltons: John-Boy is arrested for what sheriff calls "suggestive quatrain."

(9) NBC White Paper: "The Shriners-Public Servants or Subversives?" (Preempts parade coverage).

(13) Mission: Impossible: Tape recording self-destructs before team gets message.

(13) Senate Watergate Hearings: See above.

FRIDAY:

(7) Dick Cavett Show: Exclusive 90-minute interview with editor of Popular Mechanics.

(13) Cannon: Private eye exposes chef using powdered eggs in quiche lorraine. Guest star: Julia Child.

(9) Tonight: Host Johnny Carson makes first appearance of new TV season (Repeat: 90 min.).

(13) The Hour of Reason: Thomas Aquinas, B.F. Skinner, Steve Allen and the June Taylor Thinkers.

(13) (9) (7) Sermonette: CBS, NBC and ABC repent.

Big synthetic molecules or polymers appear in everything from artificial wigs to nonstick frying pans.

"It looks like we're going to have a hard winter, Helen."

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Usually, when a new scheme for taking advantage of people who have managed to put away a few hard-earned dollars comes on the horizon, it is short-lived.

Some of these schemes are referred to commonly as "con" games, because the originators or practitioners are "confidence men" who have the type of personality or spiel to gain the average person's trust, and convince that person that he stands a chance to "get rich quick."

But the consumer's confidence threshold drops to zero as soon as he or she begins to suspect that not only is there no pot of gold at the end of the "con man's" rainbow, but the savings invested in a fraudulent investment program are endangered.

As soon as the dream dust evaporates, the deluded consumers begin to complain, and about the time that they do, the purveyors of dreams begin to disappear, along with the money they have taken.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division staff often has observed that just about the time a rash of complaints springs up about one deceptive practice, the operators have begun to pack up to ply their game in another state. Or, they may turn up later as the objects of another type of complaint.

That is the reason, as we have stated previously, that we are working for coordination of consumer protection efforts between Texas and other states and Texas and the federal government—to put dishonest operators out of business entirely.

Obviously, Texas consumers who had been lured into deceptive commodities futures options schemes had reached their saturation point by the end of August.

They have complained of losing large sums of money from purported purchases of "options" on commodities such as silver, grain and other items important to international trade. The hitch was that the self-styled dealers did not have any claim to or control of the options they were offering.

When this problem came to the specific attention of our office, the Attorney General's staff immediately started working on this problem with the State Securities Board. On September 13, we issued a joint declaration that commodities futures options are securities, and therefore must be licensed and regulated by the State.

I appointed a special investigatory task force headed by Joe K. Longley, chief of my Consumer Protection Division, and Bill Flanary, an assistant attorney general who has specialized in securities cases. Their work and efforts by other state, local and federal enforcement groups led Dallas District Judge Dee Brown Walker to convene a court of inquiry on the commodities options business, now in progress.

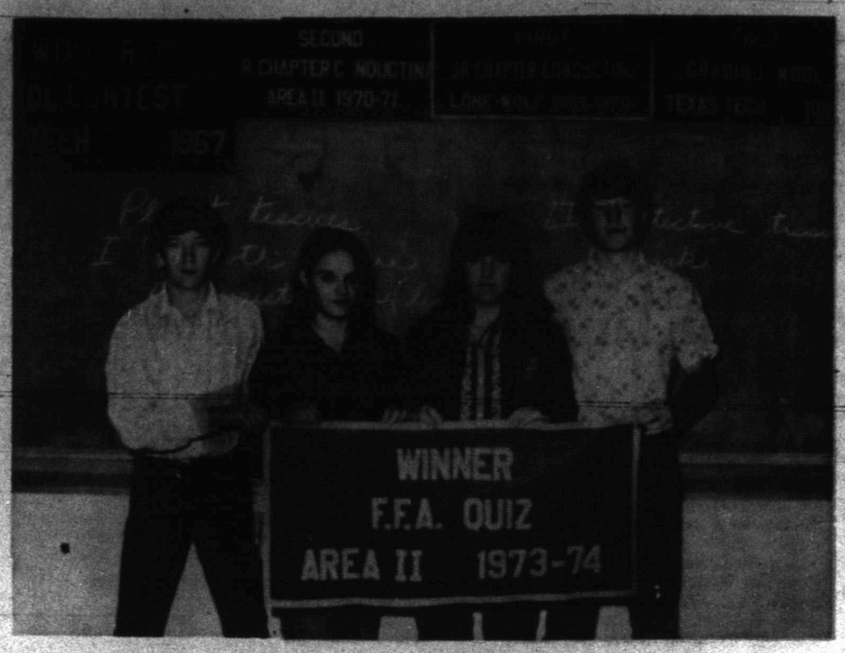

In the meantime, two other Dallas trial courts have upheld our declaration that commodities futures options are securities subject to regulation, but an Austin court has decided to the contrary.

Our efforts are aimed at protecting Texans from commodities options offers which are misleading; some of which may be deceptive to a criminal degree.

There are legitimate futures contracts in the commodities field being offered through members of the Chicago Board of Trade and members of stock exchanges who engage in a highly sophisticated level of accounting in international trade.

These regulated brokers would be quick to caution you against banking all your assets on the hope of "getting rich quick" in a speculative market.

Beware of anyone who tries to sell you on "a sure thing."

Food Prices Give Clear Picture Of Inflation

By JOHN B. LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A look at food prices in the decade since 1963, when hamburger cost 49 cents a pound and milk sold for 47 cents a half gallon, gives a clear picture of what inflation is all about.

And although federal economists issue month-by-month reports on inflation and the cost of living, sometimes more can be learned by looking at the dollar-and-cents impact on certain products.

As examples, take the soaring costs in four sample cities for such basics as bread, hamburger, milk and eggs. And add some onions.

All prices were August averages compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for New York City, Minneapolis, Houston, and San Francisco.

In 10 years, the price of hamburger has doubled, with eggs and onions increasing at nearly the same rate. Milk cost one-third more, and bread is 25 per cent higher.

Most of the inflation has come in the five years since 1968, the year the U.S.S. Pueblo was seized by North Korea and the moon was orbited for the first time.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says food prices will return to their old levels the day new Chevrolets cost $1,000.

However, a Chevrolet cost twice that much 10 years ago. At that time in the four cities, bread averaged 22 cents a loaf, hamburger cost 49 cents a pound, milk was 47 cents a half gallon, grade A large eggs were 53 cents a dozen and onions went for 13 cents a pound.

In 1968, the bread cost 24 cents; hamburger, 61 cents; milk, 51 cents; eggs were still about 53 cents; and onions were up to 15 cents.

In 1973, the bread cost 28 cents; hamburger, $1.06; milk, 64 cents; eggs, 96 cents; and the onions were 23 cents.

The same startling jumps in five years were evident again in two major cities of the Northwest and Southeast.

In Seattle, in five years, hamburger went from 51 to 98 cents; bread from 21 to 23 cents; milk from 55 to 64 cents; eggs from 51 to 91 cents and onions from 16 to 21 cents.

In Atlanta, in five years, hamburger went from 55 cents to $1.02; bread, 22 to 27 cents; milk, 59 to 78 cents; eggs, 54 to 96 cents and onions from 16 to 28 cents.

The most massive living thing on earth is a tree in California called the General Sherman. It stands 272 feet high and weighs about 1,310 tons.

Texas Skies Cloudy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clouds overhung most of Texas again today and it was rather chilly in parts of the Panhandle and far west sections of the state.

Drizzling rain accented the gloom around Lubbock on the South Plains, and fog hung low around Amarillo and Childress in early morning.

The only weather stations reporting clear skies were Dalhart, El Paso, College Station, Lufkin and Beaumont-Port Arthur.

Temperatures near dawn sagged 38 at Dalhart. Readings elsewhere ranged through the 40s and 50s at most points, staying as high as 66 at Galveston and 68 at Brownsville.

Forecasters looked for occasional showers to spread across the south tip of the state.

GOP Hopefuls Of 1976 Running Into Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unpredictability of premature presidential politics is being demonstrated in the difficulties of three 1976 Republican hopefuls, Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller and John Connally.

All three have been running into trouble this fall in the opening moves of what they hope will be successful White House bids in 1976.

Reagan and Rockefeller encountered significant setbacks in last week's off-year election, while Connally's star dimmed amid last month's GOP outcry at the possibility he might become vice president.

Reagan had campaigned hard for his constitutional amendment that would limit future state taxes and spending. He planned to make it a major plank in his expected presidential bid.

But the proposal was rejected decisively Tuesday, by more than 300,000 votes. The complex issue was seen by many as a referendum on Reagan himself.

The 62-year-old governor was undeterred, however, declaring he might use the issue "to reveal to people how difficult it is to halt the growth of government, the entrenched position that the government establishment has."

And the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew has left Reagan, according to polls, the top choice of GOP conservatives.

Rockefeller, meanwhile, suffered an array of setbacks around New York state. His home county of Westchester, for the first time in history, elected a Democratic county executive.

Other suburban and most upstate areas also showed some decline in traditional Republican strength, while the GOP virtually was wiped out in New York City.

A $3.5-billion transportation bond issue, for which he had campaigned, also was defeated.

In neighboring New Jersey, where Rockefeller went to campaign for conservative GOP gubernatorial candidate Charles W. Sandman Jr., Republicans suffered their worst defeat ever.

Democrat Brendan T. Byrne beat Sandman by better than 2-to-1, and Republicans lost heavily in the legislative and local races.

As for Connally, some friends think he has suffered substantially from the reaction that occurred when it was speculated Nixon would pick him last month to succeed the resigned Agnew.

Republican leaders in the Senate said flatly that selection of the former Democratic governor would split the party and he would be rejected.

Nixon's request to GOP lawmakers for a listing of favorites brought a noticeable lack of support for Connally.

There also were inklings from the Connally camp that the Texan had decided he didn't want the nomination anyway, out of a desire to keep some distance from Nixon and the detailed background investigation that faced the vice presidential nominee.

Pipeline Vote Near In House

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is nearing a vote on the Alaska Oil Pipeline bill, but the legislation is threatened by a controversy over an amendment affecting the Federal Trade Commission.

This amendment would give the FTC the power to obtain more information about the businesses it regulates.

Last Wednesday, opponents of the FTC proposal forced a delay in action on the bill, which is designed to clear the way for piping oil from Alaska's North Slope to the port city of Valdez on Alaska's southern coast.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., said that when the bill came up again he would move to have it sent back to a House-Senate conference committee to be stripped of the features sought by the FTC.

A vote was scheduled for today.

At issue are tacked-on amendments which would broaden the powers of the FTC and other regulatory agencies. Among other things, they would allow the agencies to conduct business surveys without getting approval of the Office of Management and Budget.

The FTC supports this because it has been trying since 1971 to get the budget office to approve a plan under which businesses in providing statistics, would break them down by product lines.

The agency contends that International Telephone & Telegraph, for instance, is one of the nation's largest producers of bakery goods, yet the statistics it provides the government do not reflect this.

Under present procedures the budget agency seeks public comment, including the reactions of the businesses involved, on proposals such as the so-called "product line reporting." It then has the option of vetoing the proposals.

Roy Ash, director of budget office, has said he will recommend that President Nixon veto the bill if it reaches him in its present form. The amendments reportedly were put on the pipeline measure in the first place because their supporters knew they would be vetoed if passed as a separate bill.

Supporters of the pipeline measure wrote the President last Friday that returning it to conference to remove the disputed sections would open up other areas, agreed to with difficulty by the conferees, and delay a start on the pipeline.

Career Guidance

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

This week (November 11-17) is National Career Guidance Week sponsored by the National Vocational Guidance Association. The following is written by Dr. Kenneth B. Hoyt, University of Maryland, to note its purpose:

In 1907, Frank Parsons is generally acknowledged to have initiated the vocational guidance movement in the U.S. Parsons defined vocational guidance as the process of helping an individual to "choose, prepare for, enter upon, and progress in an occupation." While appropriate for 1907, that definition is outdated today.

Societal progress creates problems for people. Today's youth have more occupational choices available than ever before. As these choices increase in number, the problems of making reasoned choices becomes more and more complex.

WHEN THE INCREASING NUMBER of available choices is coupled with a realization of the fast rate of change in our occupational society, it's obvious that, for most of today's youth, more than one occupational choice will be necessary during their working life. This complicates matters still further. When, in addition, one considers that, increasingly, occupational entry requires a period of specific vocational skill training for most occupations, the occupational choice problems facing youth become even more complicated.

Without systematic assistance in the making of informed and reasoned career choices, more and more youth will be faced with finding their occupational choices determined by chance factors rather than by their own decisions. Our most precious right is that of the freedom each of our citizens is given to lead his own life, make his own decisions, and to the greatest extent possible, control his own destiny. We cannot allow this basic, human right to be eroded by the increasing complexity of our society.

CAREER GUIDANCE FOR YOUTH is a responsibility that, in today's world, must be shared by many -- including the schools, the home, and the business-labor-industry community. Professional career guidance specialists simply cannot do the job by themselves, no matter how hard they try or how much their numbers grow. Career guidance for youth must be a total community effort if it is to succeed. Given such an effort, each youth can be aided to make the kinds of career decisions that will provide maximum satisfaction to the individual and maximum benefit to society.

In these times, career guidance for girls, as well as for boys, assumes growing importance. Career guidance for minorities and for the disadvantaged is essential for removal of the barriers of racism and poverty that still prevent many of our youth from realizing their potentialities.

Career guidance for those faced now with the problems of mid-career change is an increasingly serious national problem. Career guidance for the gifted, for the slow learners, for those who go to college and for those who do not, are all obvious categories of persons in need of career guidance. In short, career guidance should be available to all persons of all ages in all settings throughout our land.

It can and will happen in your community only if responsible persons, agencies, and organizations throughout the entire community are willing to join in a united effort to help meet those career guidance needs.

White Man, Black Wife Set Afire

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A white man and his black wife were abducted by 11 black men and taken to an apartment where the husband was doused with an inflammable fluid and set afire, police said today.

The husband is hospitalized in serious condition.

Police said Brian Barfield, 33, of Fort Lauderdale, and his wife, Jeraldine, 26, were driving along a city street Sunday evening when a car pulled alongside and a man pointed a gun at them, forcing them to stop.

Another car pulled up behind the Barfields and the couple was blindfolded before being driven to an apartment, police said.

According to Mrs. Barfield's account, her husband was bound with electrical cord, doused with an unidentified liquid and set ablaze. His wife was held captive but unharmed, police said.

The couple was later ordered to leave the apartment and found their car outside, police said.

Mrs. Barfield told police she drove her husband to Holy Cross Hospital where he was admitted in serious condition with third degree burns on his arm, right leg and back.

Police said the attack was apparently racially motivated because of remarks made to the couple while they were held captive.

Officers said Mrs. Barfield could not pinpoint the location of the apartment.

Lady Bird Has Faith In Country

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A situation like Watergate could not have occurred during the Lyndon B. Johnson Administration because he "minded every detail as best he could," the late president's widow said Sunday in a television interview.

Lady Bird Johnson was interviewed on Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. from the LBJ Ranch in Texas. Mrs. Johnson, who will be 61 in December, talked of being on her own now, recalled President Johnson's last years, and spoke of the future.

Referring to the Watergate crisis, Mrs. Johnson said: "I grieve for it. It got spill-out on both parties and all people."

Mrs. Johnson, however, added that "my faith in the ultimate fabric in this country is as strong as ever." She advised young people to "get in there with their energy, determination and their youth and try to improve politics.

The former first lady, in answer to a question on whether she wanted her grandchildren to go into politics, said: "If they were strong and tough enough and smart and good enough."

As for herself, Mrs. Johnson said she was not interested in getting into politics. "That was Lyndon's life, and I loved participating in it for 38 years .... But it was not my life."

She plans to continue to work in beautification, "because it's what makes my heart sing."

Describing Johnson's retirement as "marvelous, mellow years," she said that in the presidency he had "expended all there was in him, mentally, physically and from his heart. When he left, he left."

In retirement, she said, Johnson did some of the things he never had time for before, like being with his grandchildren as he had not been with his own children, and "going to football games."

About a year and a half before he died, Mrs. Johnson said the former president went back to smoking, explaining: "I love it, it gives me pleasure .... I don't think cancer can catch me before I die."

Mrs. Johnson disclosed that government funds for LBJ's presidential office in Texas ended June 30. But she said the general public isn't aware of it and the mail keeps coming—hundreds of letters a week. She has hired a small staff to help handle it.

IBM, Telex To Appeal Decision

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Attorneys for International Business Machines Corp. and Telex Corp. say they will appeal the decision of a federal judge to reduce by $93 million the amount of damages IBM must pay Telex for alleged monopolistic practices.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen reduced the monetary damages from $352.5 million to $259.5 million and altered injunctive relief against IBM in a decision released Saturday. It followed his Oct. 10 announcement that he had made "substantial error" in computation of damages in the original Sept. 17 decision.

Christensen let stand a $21.9 million industrial espionage judgement against Telex in favor of IBM.

But he reduced the financial award to Telex because of advantages he said Telex gained from "misappropriation of IBM trade secrets" and advantages Telex will have in the future as a result of orders to IBM that will allow computer companies to compete more effectively against IBM.

Telex had originally sued IBM for $1.2 billion, claiming IBM had priced computer accessory equipment in such a way as to freeze out competition. IBM is the world's largest manufacturer of computers and computer accessories.

In a countersuit, later incorporated as a counterclaim into Telex's suit, IBM charged Telex had hired former IBM employes to obtain confidential information. IBM also charged Telex had infringed on IBM copyrights of computer manuals.

On Sept. 17 Christensen found IBM guilty of monopolistic practices in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act and awarded Telex $352.5 million, three times the actual computed damages. He reduced that award in Saturday's amended judgement.

Attorneys for IBM said they would appeal because they believe the original antitrust ruling is "erroneous," and Telex attorneys said they disagreed with the reduction in damages.

Officer Critically Wounded

MEXIA, Tex. (AP) — A Mexia police officer was shot and critically wounded in the head early today after trying to apprehend two persons suspected of an attempted burglary.

The predawn shooting left officer Mike Bell in critical condition after surgery at a Waco hospital.

About midmorning law enforcement officers captured one of the two men being sought near Coolidge, about 12 miles west of Mexia.

Blood was also found there and it is believed the second man is wounded, apparently by Bell. One was also thought to be shackled with Bell's handcuffs.

Officers said the pair was stopped apparently by Bell, 23, after an attempted burglary in Groesbeck, 12 miles south of Mexia.

BUSY TIME—This is a busy time for Mike Mitchell, new basketball coach at Western Texas College who is busy preparing his team for its season opener here Nov. 15. Coach Mitchell says most of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference teams will be improved over last season.

Western Opens Season Thursday

With only two returning regulars and just three other lettermen, the Western Texas College Westerners will have trouble this season matching last year's 18-11 record.

WTC opens the season here Thursday night against the Lubbock Christian College junior vasity.

Basketball fans who would like a preview of this year's WTC team are invited to an intra-squad scrimmage to be held in the WTC gymnasium at 7 p.m. tonight.

Coach Mike Mitchell, in his first year at the Westerner helm, says the key to WTC's cage fortunes this season will be how well and rapidly some of the freshmen develop.

Mitchell, a native of Roswell, N. M., is a 1969 graduate of West Texas State University where he played basketball as a guard.

He was a graduate assistant, coaching the freshman team at West Texas in 1969-70. His frosh team had a 21-4 record. During 1970-71, Mitchell was coach of the Hereford junior varsity. In 1971-72, he was assistant coach at West Texas State where he worked primarily in recruiting.

The two returning regulars out on the hill are Danny McDaniel, 6-2 sophomore guard from Little Rock, Ark., and Harold Ward, 6-6 sophomore forward from Passaic, N. J.

The other numeral winners are sophomore gurads Eric Grant (5-10) of Hondo, Luis Blanco (5-11) of Ft. Stockton, and Kent Horsley (6-8), center, from Snyder.

Three Snyder freshmen are on the team. They are Jerry and Gary Brooks and Kevin Jones. The Brooks twins stand 6-3 and play guard or forward. Jones is a 6-5 forward. Jerry was named Player of the Year in District 4-AAAA last season.

Other freshmen on the roster are Ken Fowler, 6-2 gurad from Austin McCallum where he made All-District; Eugene Harris, 6-7 forward from Hatteam; and, Brian Minor, 6-5 tiesburg, Miss. where he made All-State; Norman Barnes, 6-8 center from Richmond, Va.; Greg Hill, 6-3 guard-forward from Midland Pensylvania where he made the All-Sectional forward from Richmond, Va.

Hill played on the high school team that won the Pennsylvania state championship. Mitchell says Minor may be the best natural athlete on the team. He has a lot of potential.

Coach Mitchell said it would be difficult to name a starting lineup now, but he said competition has been close between Ward, Barnes and Minor for two of the post berths. Likewise, competition has been close between Hill, Brooks and Harris for two starting forward berths.

McDaniel looks like the best bet as a guard in the Westerner's "1-4 attack."

Mitchell said the Westerners will run what he terms "a disciplined offense." Later, with more experience, they may do more running.

Asked about the team's strong points, Mitchell said WTC probably will have good rebounding strength.

"We have good overall size, and most of our bigger guys are good jumpers," he pointed out.

Mitchell also is pleased with the defense which he said has "good quickness--the players work at it real hard."

Inexperience is a matter for concern, but Mitchell feels this will take care of itself as the boys become more seasoned. Mitchell also expressed concern about the team shooting, which he said has been inconsistent.

"We'll probably run a man-to-man defense 80 to 90 per cent of time," Mitchell said, "and go into the zone only when our foes have trouble with their outside shooting or if we get in foul trouble."

The Westerners were chosen to finish seventh in the nine-team Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

"The conference will be stronger this season because most of the teams are improved," the WTC coach pointed out.

Howard County Junior College, the unanimous selection to grab the loop crown, has been named the No. 2 junior college team in the country. South Plains won last year. Amarillo Junior College has three lads named in the top 20 players in the state, and Clarendon won 12 of its last 14 games last season and has four regulars returning.

The schedule:
Nov. 15--Lubbock Christian College JV.
Nov. 17--McMurry College JV.

Brown, Osborn Pace Vikings

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

In 1969, running backs Bill Brown and Dave Osborn helped the Minnesota Vikings get to the Super Bowl.

On Sunday the veteran duo boosted the Vikings a step closer toward returning to that championship confrontation when they ran 101 yards and 79 yards respectively to lead Minnesota to a 28-7 victory over Detroit in the National Football League.

The decision gave Minnesota at least a tie for the National Conference Central Division title.

"Heck," said the 35-year-old Brown, who along with Osborn had been the object of preseason suggestions that he be phased out, "I don't remember the last time I've had a 100-yard day. It's been a couple of years at least. I can't even remember the last time I carried 18 times in a game."

Brown's touchdown helped give the Vikings their 14th straight victory and a triumph in any of their remaining five games, or a loss by either Chicago or Green Bay will clinch the division title for Minnesota.

In other NFL Sunday action, Pittsburgh beat Oakland 17-9, Miami walloped Baltimore 44-0, Cincinnati tripped Buffalo 16-13, Washington beat San Francisco 33-9, Los Angeles whipped New Orleans 29-7, Atlanta de ated Philadelphia 44-7, Cleveland dumped Houston 23-13, Green Bay beat St. Louis 25-21, and Denver defeated San Diego 30-19.

Kansas City hosts the Chicago Bears in a nationally televised game tonight.

Steelers 17, Raiders 9

For Pittsburgh, the best offense was a great defense, led by Dwight White. The 24-year-old defensive end intercepted two passes and set up a touchdown to pace the Steelers to their 17-9 victory.

"They can outrush us and outpass us all the time as long as we outscore them," said Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll, whose team was outrushed 195-395 and had only eight first downs to Oakland's 26.

Dolphins 44, Baltimore 0

Miami had a modest hero in its 44-0 trouncing of Baltimore. Despite the two touchdown he scored on runbacks of blocked punts, cornerback Tim Foley insisted "it's no big thing."

Mercury Morris also starred for the Dolphins, scoring on runs of 48 and 53 yards.

Bengals 16, Bills 13

"People always remember the bad things that happeh and never the good," said soccer-style kicker Horst Muhlmann after making himself hard to forget by kicking a field goal with three seconds remaining to give Cincinnati a 16-13 victory over Buffalo.

Muhlmann's three field goals broke a tie brought on by O.J. Simpson's 32-yard third-quarter touchdown. Simpson picked up 99 yards on 20 carries to raise his nine-game total to 1,203.

Redskins 33, 49ers 9

Sonny Jurgensen and Billy Kilmer, the ailing Washington quarterbacking duet, provided the one-two punch which brought the Redskins out a two-game losing streak with a 33-9 victory.

Jurgensen tossed an 18-yard touchdown in relief of Kilmer, who later returned to fire two scoring strikes of his own.

Rams 29, Saints 7

The Saints came back down to earth after winning two straight games as Lawrence McCutcheon scored once and figured in four other scores to help Los Angeles win 29-7.

The NFC West leaders held the Saints in check except for a 65-yard touchdown pass from Archie Manning to Jubilee Dunbar, the only completion for the New Orleans' quarterback in the first half.

Falcons 44, Eagles 27

Atlanta remained in contention in the NFC West with its 44-27 victory over the Eagles, who at one point had tied the game 20-20.

Then Atlanta punter John James angled a 46-yarder out-of-bounds on the Philadelphia one and after the Falcon defense held, Atlanta took over on the Eagle 43. It took Atlanta only eight plays to score the go-ahead touchdown and clinch their fifth straight victory.

Browns 23, Oilers 13

During what Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich called "probably our best quarter of the season", the Browns scored 17 points in the first quarter to defeat Houston 23-13. Despite their 195 total yards in that first period, the Browns quickly bogged down, gaining only 18 total yards in the second and 15 in the third.

Broncos 30, Chargers 19

The Broncos rallied behind veteran Charley Johnson to defeat San Diego 30-19 and spoil the coaching debut of new Charger Coach Ron Waller.

Packers 25, Cardinals 21

Green Bay held off a fourth-quarter comeback led by quarterback Jim Hart to defeat St. Louis 25-21. The Packers had compiled a 22-7 halftime lead before Hart threw a 23-yard fourth-quarter touchdown pass and then directed a 58-yard march for another score.

Cowboys 23, Giants 10

Dallas forced the Giants to give up the ball eight times with Charlie Waters intercepting two passes and recovering a fumble to help the Cowboys take a 23-10 victory.

Class B

Groom (1), Matador (2), Jayton (3), Rule (5), Saint Jo (7), Prosper (8), Big Sandy (9), New Waverly (11) Evadale (12), Ben Bolt (16).

Jackson Placed On Waivers

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Safety Honor Jackson, a starter with the New England Patriots during the second half of the 1972 National Football League season and for the 1973 preseason, was placed on waivers Tuesday, the team announced.

The 6-foot-2, 191-pound defensive specialist has been used in a backup role since the close of the exhibition schedule this season.

Jr. Varsity Rips Lamesa, 43 To 13

The Snyder High School junior varsity shellacked Lamesa 43-13 here Saturday afternoon and ended the season with a fine 7-2 record.

Lamesa scored first following an onside kick that started the ball game. They made the extra point for a 7-0 margin.

Lloyd Baccus of Snyder blasted over tackle on a 75 yard run to the 8 to set up the first local JV score. Win Bunch collected the six points on a keeper. The extra point kick missed.

Later in the initial frame Baccus scored on a four yard run to cap a 60 yard drive. Bunch went around end for the two bonus points.

In the second quarter, Bunch and Danny Brumley teamed up on a 75 yard pass and run play for another Snyder tally. Scott Walton kicked the extra point.

Just before halftime, George Willis scored from seven yards out to climax a 55 yard drive. Walton's kick was accurate again.

In the third frame, Bunch and Eric Schrader teamed up on a 45 yard pass and run play for another TD. Walton's kick was accurate.

Lamesa scored its last touchdown in the third frame on a six yard run that capped a 40 yard drive. They tried to get two points on a screen pass, but Bernie Weems caught the receiver behind the line.

Baccus scored on a 10 yard run for Snyder's last touchdown. They faked the extra point, and Win Bunch threw to Bernie Weems for two points.

Coach Mike Benway said the team played exceptionally well, especially on defense. He had particular praise for Eric Schrader who caught six passes.

The Snyder JV has scored 315 points this year while holding the opposition to 103. They averaged 35 points a game while their foes averaged only 10.3. The JV shut out three of their opponents and were shut out themselves only once.

Cowboys Still In First Place

By HOWARD UIMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are still in first place but, says Coach Tom Landry, not quite a Super Bowl team.

"Being a Super Bowl team is something we have got to work up to," Landry said after the opportunistic Cowboys beat the New York Giants 23-10 Sunday to hang on to a piece of the National Football Conference's eastern division lead with the Washington Redskins.

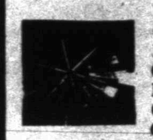

This year's Cowboys are younger and more inconsistant than the team which won the Super Bowl two seasons ago, Landry said.

"We're not playing good offensive football....We are still very erratic-good one week, bad the next. I think both of us (Dallas and Washington) are winning without looking very good at times," he said.

Dallas gained only 195 yards Sunday, nearly half on Calvin Hill's 95 rushing yards.

The Giants, who lost their seventh straight game, picked up 267 in what Coach Alex Webster called the best over-all "performance we had in a number of weeks." But the New York offense was stymied repeatedly by Dallas cornerback Charlie Waters and his defensive mates.

Clay Bryant of the San Francisco Giants was the only National League hurler to win 20 games in 1973. He won 24.
