VETERANS DAY OBSERVED—Some of the 500 persons who attended the VFW and American Legion Veterans Day dinner move through the "chow' line" at the Veterans Club. During the event Wednesday evening the VFW signed 24 members and the Legion signed 20. Presidents of both organizations and their auxiliaries spoke briefly, along with C. T. McLaughlin, Art Blanchard and Robert R. Patterson. The dinner session climaxed Veterans Day observance here.

Rockefeller Outlines Goal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that the United States has a higher goal than frustrating the ambitions of the Soviet Union.

That goal, he said, is to make sure that the emerging international order will serve, indeed will save, the aspirations of all mankind for a life of freedom, dignity and justice."

Fog foiled, temporarily, an informal welcoming for Rockefeller, widely regarded as a probable candidate for the Republican presidential nomination but still not ready to confirm or deny it. He flew in for a fast-paced, four-day speaking tour of the west.

A hundred members of the Californians - for - Rockefeller (Cal-Rocks) organization, a 20-piece brass band, newsmen and photographers awaited him at Los Angeles International Airport.

Fog, however, had caused closing of the airport and his chartered plane could not land there. It landed at Lockheed Air Terminal, Burbank, 30 miles away.

The Republican and his party then piled into a bus.

Rockefeller's schedule included a more formal meeting later in the day with local, state and Western Republican leaders.

In a text prepared for delivery to the Los Angeles World Affairs Council, he said:

"The tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union should not and must not obscure our awareness of the great and affirmative challenge before us, and the resisting of Soviet aggression is only a part, a necessary but a negative part, of our great task as a nation.

"We are not simply striving as a nation to heal the wounds opened by the so-called cold war. We are striving to make man himself — the commonwealth of nations—healthy and strong. . . .

"The test, therefore, of every action and every decision, must be more constructive, more profound and more serious than merely its usefulness as a momentary device to deter the aggression or check the claims of Soviet communism. Let me emphasize this.

"Our supreme purpose is not to defeat the ambitions or the ambitions of others. Our supreme purpose is to struggle to achieve a world that respects our common heritage of belief in dignity and freedom of all peoples."

Rockefeller said there is no serious debate in arguing whether the U.S. policy toward the Soviet Union should be rigid or flexible. Adjectives alone, he said, are not policies.

"We should pursue policies striving to enable Soviet leaders to liquidate the political conflict — the cold war—that they have imposed on the world—if they wish, in all political seriousness, to do so.

"For us, the cold war is not—and never will be—an end in itself. At the same time, we must realize that—since the cold war is essentially a Soviet creation — it can come to its end only by serious and substantive change in Soviet conduct. We cannot imagine that a tactical change in Soviet manners or Soviet tone is enough."

The New York governor heads north after a day in Los Angeles. He will make stops in northern California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

His trip has no announced political purpose. But the general suspicion is that travel is not the principal motivation.

If the handsome New Yorker is trying to find out which way the wind blows in Southern California, he may detect a favorable breeze behind him —and a formidable storm brewing up ahead. For this is the home territory of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, generally conceded to have the inside track to the GOP nomination.

Rockefeller's busy first-day schedule included a press conference, television interviews and a reception in the morning, and an address, another television interview and meetings with leaders of four different Republican groups in the afternoon. These include congressmen and other prominent participants in the Western States Republican Conference tonight.

Friday he leaves for San Francisco. After that he makes stops in Eugene and Salem, Ore., Seattle, Wash., and Boise, Idaho. He leaves for New York Sunday night.

1st Division In UF Drive Into Action

The 1959-60 Scurry County United Fund Campaign was impressively launched this morning when the entire Advance Gifts Divison held its kickoff meeting in the Community Room of the Snyder National Bank. Volunteer workers of the Advance Division started making their contacts immediately following the early morning meeting. They will call on the larger business firms and some individuals.

Roger Mize, division chairman, presided in a meeting which lasted a little more than an hour. Principal speakers were Mel Gilbert, United Fund president and Dr. Bob Hargrove, campaign chairman. E. H. Williamson, a worker in Marvin Key's group gave the invocation.

Gilbert covered the United Fund budget in his talk, stating that it was "realistic" because it had been set by leading business men of the city. He said that while the goal of $42,500 is of course a challenge to the community, it is definitely within the capability of Snyder. "We can make this goal, I feel certain," he said, "particularly if everyone will just remember that there are seven worthy agencies in our United Fund and every contributor must take that fact into account before making his gift." "A good question to ask" he said, "is 'How much would you give if each of the seven agencies came to you one at a time?'" After pointing out how much easier it is for busy people to just have one campaign to work on in the case of the United Fund, he issued the challenge of the goal to Dr. Hargrove.

"I would never have accepted this job as campaign chairman if I hadn't felt confident that we would make this goal this year" Dr. Hargrove said. He placed considerable emphasis on both firms and individuals giving in proportion to their ability to give. "We must count heavily on those firms and individuals who are in a position to make generous gifts" he said. "If workers in this top division will keep their sights high and strive for the generous support that we need from prospects of this division, I kno we can make this goal" he concluded.

Mize announced the division's quota of $23,500 and outlined the work ahead for them. "I know this group of fine workers very well," he said "and have every confidence in their ability to attain our divison goal." He promised the division a "steak dinner" when they make their quota. "Let's start seeing our prospects this morning and have a report meeting right here at 10 in the morning," he told them.

Following Mize's talk, the campaign director distributed information booklets, campaign folders, reports envelopes and campaign supplies to the forty campaign workers present. Each worker received one of the official Jiminy Cricket worker's identification buttons.

Final phase of the meeting was a card selection procedure in which every card was called out by Mize and workers selected the cards by a show of hands. "Everybody will be happier, I believe," he said, "if allowed to hand pick the firms and individuals on whom they will call." Everyone of the 200 cards were selected and assigned to workers.

This division is made up of six groups. The group chairmen are: Nolan Von Roeder, Marvin Key, Mrs. Theo Lamb, Max West, Harold Lacik and M. L. Broman.

Their group members are: P. J. Collins, M. E. Stanfield, Leonard Spence, Henry Burchett, Ed Schultz Lyle Deffebach, E. H. Williamson, Stanley Noah, Phil Burms, Dan Cotton, W. M. Shiflett, Bob Dupree, Wiley Brice, Theo Lamb, Bill Byers, Paul Keaton, Margaret LeFeuvre, Leland Herod, Sam Joyce, Whit Thompson Jr., Johnnie Sue Bowden, Harold Bennett, F. F. LeFeuvre, Ray Devers, J. H. Sullivan, Charles Hartman, Worth Sayner, Sterling Parker, Jimmy Thompson, Joe Luther, Calvin O. Lange.

Next kickoff meetings will be Tuesday and Thursday morning, when all workers of the Employe Gifts Divison and Special Gifts Division get together for breakfast meetings in the Village Restaurant.

Cranberry Case Puts Power In Spotlight

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The events that have raised the cranberry from the bog to the nation's headlines spotlight the power of the government in guarding the nation's food supply.

For half a century this power has existed, but "the cranberry episode," as Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming calls it, marks one of its most sweeping applications.

Formal court actions, filed this week in San Francisco, asked seizure of two small shipments — a total of 14 tons — of allegedly contaminated West Coast cranberries. But the incident is affecting, at least temporarily, an entire crop.

There were these developments:

1. Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., a major grower cooperative, says it is moving quickly to assay crops grown in Massachusetts, Wisconsin and New Jersey, about which no question was raised, as well as those in the West Coast. It hopes to clear uncontaminated cranberries of suspicion in plenty of time for Thanksgiving Day Dinners. Expanded forces from the Food and Drug Administration also were checking the berries.

2. The Army and Navy suspended use of cranberries grown in Washington and Oregon, but will permit use of those it can prove grew elsewhere.

3. The New Jersey Farm Bureau said it will seek government payments to farmers for sales they have lost as a result of the controversy. The bureau's president, Carleton Heritage, criticized what he called "rash and unnecessary scare statements" from secretary Flemming.

4. The National Grange, meeting in Long Beach, Calif., demanded that federal officials appear and explain why the crackdown was ordered.

5. One government official, said the government is "morally obligated for damage to the innocent," but added that "just what the government will do, I cannot say at this time." That comment came from Asst. Secretary of Agriculture E. L. Peterson in Seattle, where he is looking over the situation for Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

The government suits, announced Wednesday, were filed Tuesday in San Francisco — a day after precautionary statements were issued here.

The episode had its origins in 1957 when some cranberry growers adopted a new weapon in their unending war against weeds.

It was Aminotriazole (pronounced a-meen-o-try'-a-zole), a synthetic chemical killer that was still undergoing some tests by its manufacturer and had not yet been registered with the Department of Agriculture.

After the cranberries were harvested, inspectors for the Food and Drug Administration found one-third of the berries grown in Oregon and Washington showed traces of the pesticide. So did a small amount from Massachusetts.

At that time it was not known what effect, if any, Aminotriazole might have on humans. So until the information was obtained, the growers agreed to keep the berries off the market.

In 1958 the weed killer was registered with the Department of Agriculture for use under specific conditions. For cranberries it was specified it be used only after the crop was harvested.

Meanwhile, the manufacturer, American Cyanamid Co., conducted tests to see if Aminotriazole would have any dangerous effects if absorbed by humans. The long, painstaking studies were finally completed last May.

Rats, fed steady quantities of the chemical, developed cancer of the thyroid. The concentrations

Sharks Hit Skindiver

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Skindiver Duffie Fryling thought things were too quiet as he swam out to some lobster beds. It seemed ominous.

Hunch or no, his feelling proved only too correct. When he was 75 yards off this Southern California beach, Fryling suddenly spotted a bloody, swirling mass — a dozen or more sharks fighting among themselves.

He discovered them almost too late, he related Wednesday. Two sharks, each about five feet long, got between him and shore.

"There was only one thing I could do — head straight for them and they split apart."

Then one shark attacked. He threw up his left arm and the shark's upper jaw sank into it. He managed to pry the jaw open.

Man Tells About Amputating Arm

ALMA, Ga. (AP) — "I cut a little bit at first just to see how bad it would hurt. All the feeling was gone, and it didn't hurt a bit. So I started whacking away."

Thus did Henry Ahl, 74, tell how he began amputating his left arm between the wrist and elbow when it became entangled in a corn-picking machine at his farm near Alma. The accident occurred last Thursday, and Ahl described his 30-minute ordeal from his hospital bed Wednesday.

Ahl rode a tractor part of the way to his farmhouse, a half-mile distant after his pen-knife surgery. A neighbor met him and carried him to the Bacon County Hospital where his condition was reported as good.

Mr. Kim was born July 22, 1886, in Weatherford.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Edith J. Holt of Argentina South America; two sons, Orville Kim, Phoenix, Ariz., and Leon Kim of Clovis, N.M.

Ike Leaves For Georgia Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower left for Augusta, Ga., today for a rest before his goodwill tour of three continents.

A small White House staff and George E. Allen, businessman and personal friend, accompanied the President on the flight.

This is Eisenhower's 24th visit to the Augusta National Golf Club since his 1952 election. The length of his stay this time is indefinite.

Mrs. Eisenhower will follow later by train. She delayed her departure to keep a luncheon engagement at the Capitol Hill Club.

White House officials said that Eisenhower wanted to get in some rest before he undertakes a strenuous 11-nation goodwill tour beginning Dec. 4.

While in Augusta, however, work in preparation for the January session of Congress will continue. Several government officials, including Budget Director Maurice H. Stans, will be going down for conferences on the 1961 budget and possible new legislation.

The President has already had a meeting this week with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on a new farm program to be submitted to Congress.

Accompanying the President today were Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, his physician, Brig. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, White House staff secretary, Ann Whitman, personal secretary, and Wayne Hawks, White House chief of records. Lt. Col. William Thomas was pilot of the special plane.

Eisenhower's Chief Pilot, Lt. Col. William G. Draper, left Wednesday night by jet airliner with Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and Appointments Secretary Thomas E. Stephens for a practice swing around the 11 nations Eisenhower will visit next month. It is the customary advance trip to check on security, landing facilities, and other arrangements.

Sen. Johnson Due In Snyder Today

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was due to arrive here at noon today for an appearance at a barbecue luncheon in the National Guard Armory.

Sen. Johnson planned to stop off here on the invitation of C. T. McLaughlin, who was to be host at the barbecue today.

This morning, McLaughlin had as his guests members of Company E of the Texas Rangers at McLaughlin's Diamond M Ranch southwest of the city.

Sen. Johnson was scheduled to speak at the armory here today, and area citizens, along with invited guests from a 20-county West Texas region, were expected to be on hand.

The event was originally scheduled to be held at the Diamond M Ranch, but adverse weather conditions during the past 24 hours prompted a change in plans.

Last night in Stephenville, Sen. Johnson denied that he was a candidate for president, but went on to call for a bold new foreign policy, strong farm subsidies, a water resources program, help to education and for "a union of food and fiber producers."

Sen. Johnson, the Senate majority leader from Texas, is being backed by many Democrats for the party's presidential nomination.

Johnson said of foreign policy, hoards of people who live in the Far East earn as little as $50 a year and want what we have.

"We can't remain static. We must move forward with bold new programs...a strong foreign policy and a strong trade policy."

The senator called for subsidies to farmers and reiterated his idea for a program of government loans to college students.

He also introduced a hope "the time has come when we can have a union of the producers of our food and fibers that will work with our industrial unions."

Cuban Reply Is Due Today

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba today will hand to U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal a 29-page document replying to American charges that Prime Minister Fidel Castro is deliberately campaigning to destroy traditional Cuban-American friendship.

Official sources said the reply, which some call "Cuba's White Paper on Cuban-American relations," to Washington's notes of Oct. 27 and Nov. 9 was completed in a conference between Castro, Minister of State Raul Roa, and President Osvaldo Dorticos.

The document, which the semi-official newspaper Revolucion said includes an analysis of Cuban-American relations since Cuba's war of independence with Spain, is expected to accuse the United States of following imperialistic policies toward Cuba historically and especially of campaigning against the Castro regime.

Novelist In Feud With Corsicana

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A novelist feuding with citizens of Corsicana, Tex., says he never has seen the city and his book about it is not historical.

The mayor of Corsicana has refused to aid in promoting the recently published novel. He claims there are historical inaccuracies in it.

"It is a fictional account of perhaps what might have been historical in Corsicana," said the author, Dr. Henry Barsha of Hollywood.

Purpose of "Corsicana," he said, is to show what happens to persons who let hatred destroy them. Dr. Barsha said he chose Corsicana because the discovery of oil there in 1894 highlighted feelings of this type. The book, he added, is no more historical than is "Gone With The Wind."

The dentist-author said that although he never has seen Corsicana, he did research on it for five years and talked to several persons who had lived there.

Complaints came in, however, when Corsicanans saw the book. They pointed out inaccuracies in the material. When the mayor and Chamber of Commerce declined to endorse the novel, Dr. Barsha said they are welshers. He claims he has a letter of welcome from the mayor to prove his point.

The work was approved initially by a Corsicana chamber representative, Hila Weathers, who lives in Los Angeles, Dr. Barsha said. Another person, this one a Corsicana resident, read the book later and disapproved.

The objections, said the author, were because he wrote about the colorful characters and used risque language in describing them.

He explained he originally wrote "Corsicana" as a musical 15 years ago. Friends advised him to research the story, however, and bring it out as a novel before making it a musical. When he presented it to the publisher in book form, said Dr. Barsha, he called it "harvest of hate." The publisher suggested changing the name back.

Negroes Ask For Segregation

LITTLEFIELD, Tex. (AP)—Negro leaders here say integration is hurting their children's social life and works a hardship on them. So the adults asked for a school in the Negro district again.

The Rev. Walter Griffin, pastor of a Negro church in this West Texas farming center of 9,000, said: "Actually we're not asking for a segregated school."

He said a group in the Negro district asked if he would find out whether it would be feasible to build an elementary school in the Negro section.

Griffin said the integration in 1956 "was nicely carried out. There has been no trouble. It's just that the people I speak for feel it would be better for the Negro community if we had a school in the community.

"The small kids have to cross a railroad track going to their present school. We feel that's dangerous.

"The children aren't prohibited from social events at the white school, but they don't seem to show much interest. We feel it would be better for recreation among our youth to have a school in our community," Griffin said.

D. C. Stewart, another spokesman for the Negroes, estimated that fewer than 100 pupils would be affected. He said members of his race oppose a full return to segregated classes.

There are 177 Negroes among 1,100 pupils in the public schools here.

Griffin told the school board Monday night attendance by Negro pupils has declined since the system integrated. He said most Negroes feel that lack of a separate school is "working a hardship" on their children.

Griffin said he had no figures on the number of his race who have dropped out of school but predicted 50 to 60 per cent would return to classes if they had their own building.

He acknowledged that most of those dropping out of school were in high school and said that most of the social life affected was that of high school students. He said he had no explanation for the group's inquiry into an elementary school rather than a high school.

"They were merely inquiring into the matter," he said.

The school board chairman, Byron Douglass, said he and the other six members of the board want more information before acting. He said if the board did act, it probably would be a question of zoning.

Since classes were integrated, the district has cleared the site formerly occupied by a Negro school but still owns the property. Civic clubs and Negro leaders have sought to have it made a public park.

Wilson To Inspect Galveston Beach

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Will Wilson said today he will inspect the East and West Beach at Galveston Friday to see if anything is being done to protect the people's interest.

The inspection trip is to be made from the air as well as the ground. Several state officials are expected to accompany Wilson on the trip.

The legality of the use of the beach by the public was brought in when property owners began constructing barriers which prohibited persons using the beach except at low tide. The Commissioners Court passed a bill designed to open the beaches to the public at all times. The bill became law Sept. 11.

Wilson said the trip will mark what is primarily the beginning of a campaign to open beaches and help the rights of the property owners and the public.

Wilson said that if the facts were not the reasons given for the closing of the beaches, he would recommend legislation be enacted to correct the situation.

Invited to make the trip are Sens. Ben Barnes, Bascom, Bruce Reagan, [illegible] Christie, Ed Foster, Tyler and former Sen. Jimmie Phillips, Anderson, Rep. Bob Eckhardt, Houston, Calvin Guest, Dallas, Thomas Lee Hanson, Galveston County Commissioner Jimmie Bacon and Judge Dantin Cubbedge, Austin.

CRANBERRY

...set in the rats were much strong...er than those found on the natural berries. No tests were made of the chemical effects on human beings but the conclusion, based on the experiment with rats, was that cranberries might be a cancer-causing agent.

A few weeks ago the Food and Drug Administration permitted a ...ries, provided nothing for interstate shipment contained more than a specified amount of aminotriazole. Cranberries and bogs among the ...ected in the Northwest.

Last Friday the FDA announced that two of seven shipments tested showed definite contamination by the chemical. These are the shipments the government says it must seize. Months planning called a wide ...ance and the cranberry story was on.

The basic legislation under which the government acted goes back to 1906 when the original Food and Drug Act was passed. But it the cranberry episode the FDA is relying mainly on an amendment passed by Congress in 1958 which forbids the use in foods of any chemical that produces cancer in the animals — as the Aminotriazole did in rats.

The ban applies regardless of how little of the chemical remains.

In the wake of the government's action there has been widespread discussion as to whether similar steps could be taken against cigarette manufacturers, inasmuch as some laboratory tests of nicotine and cigarette tars have caused cancer in animals.

The answer is that tobacco is not classified as a food or a drug and therefore does not come under any existing FDA regulations.

Phone Cable Is Damaged

SYDNEY, N.S. (AP) — A repair ship heads today for a spot 200 miles of Newfoundland where a transatlantic cable was damaged Monday, knocking out 36 telephone circuits from France and Germany.

Five cable breaks occurred in the same area last February, prompting an on-board investigation of a Soviet trawler found in the vicinity. It was believed, although never proved, that the trawler's deep-riding paws might have cut the cable accidentally.

Two U.S. Navy patrol planes began scouring the area Wednesday for any ships that might have caused the latest break. Poor visibility turned them back to their base at Argentia, Nfld.

A spokesman for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said until repair crews examined the cable there was no way of telling whether it was cut by a ship or damaged by some natural cause.

City Police In Firearms School Here

Snyder policemen are back in school this week, taking a special firearms course, according to T. C. Steele, chief of the department. The course is being taught by [illegible] Federal Bureau of Investigation. Local officers are studying all phases of firearms shooting, including the effective use and safety measures required for proper handling of firearms which they normally come in contact with.

Classes are being conducted daily for members of the local department.

This is one of a series of schools which the Snyder Police Dept. has arranged in recent years in cooperation with the FBI. The FBI conducts schools of various phases of law enforcement work without charge upon request of local police departments.

HERE IS A REAL HOLIDAY SPREAD, individual pumpkin tarts for Thanksgiving. They are made creamy smooth and delicious with sweetened condensed milk, and they are a truly historical descendant of one of the first Thanksgiving foods.

Pumpkin Pie, Tarts Still Cause For Thanksgiving

The Indians cultivated pumpkins before the first white settler came to America and this easily grown and easily stored vegetable became a staple food for the settlers and their cattle. Pumpkin was the mainstay diet through some of the starvation years of those early days.

Just stewed and mashed, as a daily menu item, on high days and holidays the pumpkin, than as new, appeared as the chief ingredient of one of the great American pies. The recipe given here is for a really de luxe item, a pie of distinction made with sweetened condensed milk. It is well seasoned, creamy, and smooth, with a temptingly browned surface and a crisp crust.

Baked in the form of tarts, each accompanied with a small pumpkin made of soft yellow cheese, with a whole clove for a stem, this is a decorative, easily served dessert for Thanksgiving. The recipe for one pie will make half a dozen tarts—more or less, according to the size of the pans you bake them in.

MAGIC PUMPKIN PIE
(Makes one 9-inch pie)

1 (9-inch) pastry shell, unbaked
2 cups canned pumpkin
1-1-3 cups (15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 egg, unbeaten
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ginger

Combine pumpkin, sweetened condensed milk, egg, salt and spices; blend until smooth. Poor mixture into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in moderate oven (375 degree F.) 50 to 55 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

Woman's Culture Club Hears 'Gerontology' Program Tues.

Mrs. Lora Miller was hostess to the Woman's Culture Club which met Tuesday afternoon at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The meeting was opened by all ready in unison a prayer from "Club Collect," with the president, Mrs. A. C. Martin, presiding.

Each member answered to roll call by naming her latest hobby. The subject for the afternoon program was "Gerontology".

Mrs. S. A. Tibbets gave a synopsis of the magazine article entitled "A Cursory Glance at Old Age", written by Marion Woodruff at the age of 83. She said:

"This article has prompted many opinions for the against her views on the matter of 'Old Age'. The main issue which she pursued was that medical science is doing a great disservice in prolonging the lives of certain old people; those who, due to physical and mental deterioration, are helpless, hopeless and senile.

"A few of the readers who protested, evidently misinterpreted Mrs. Woodruff's views," believing that she was advocating enthanasia or mercy killing. However she said that nothing was further from her mind. Her protest was against the practice of keeping alive, through the use of new drugs, or other treatments, those suffering old people whose bodies and minds have disintegrated beyond all hope of recovery or desire to live.

"Described in this article were problems of countless old people who suffer from bitter loneliness, relocation in an old age home, or bewilderment at limitations brought on by the accumulation of years.

"Certainly 'A Cursory Glance at Old Age' is thought provoking, and solving problems of the aged is a responsibility we all share.

"There are 14,000,000 aged citizens in this country today, and the number is likely to double in the next twenty years, so it offers a challenge to each of us to do more thinking about the welfare of our old people. Let us encourage them, love them, understand them, and by all means never minimize their usefulness."

Mrs. N. W. Autry gave the views expressed by many in their replies to Mrs. Woodruff's article, presenting "Old Age as a Blessing." She said in part:

"Mrs. Woodruff is ignoring the fact that in every community there are hundreds of happy, independent, interesting old people who will challenge her statements.

"Scientists are telling us that it is the fear of aging rather than aging itself, that often causes a functional loss in mental and physical realms. One way to overcome this fear is to keep interested and busy. Some of our friends won't let their aging parents turn a finger. But, we deliberatly request help from ours. They may think us cruel for asking help from them. But which is more cruel to over protect or to give their lives meaning? The jobs we ask them to do make them feel needed, and we let them know we appreciate their work.

"Homes today have programs in which residents participate actively. In fact some of these older people become so interested that they often feel that they have too much to do. But despondency has no place to creep in.

"I do not believe that it is rare for a person to grow old happily, nor do I believe that many older people are so bored with life that they would rather die.

"My belief is, you are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your hope, as old as your dispair.

"One should always remember that to be interesting you must be interested. There should be plans made ahead, looking forward to tomorrow. Expect to achieve your desires. Extend sympathy. Believe in yourself and your ability to get things accomplished. So long as you can do these, old age is indeed a blessing."

Mrs. E. W. McLeod gave the views of those who presented, "The Burdens of Old Age". Some of the expressions were as follows:

"As an 84 year-old I was deeply impressed by Mrs. Woodruff's article. She touched on one of my pet peeves. I refer to it as The Creeping Regimentation of our Aged'. I refer to the retired victim of the low income brackets. They are no longer masters of their own souls, yet they are still individuals. What have they left to live for? Often, in dispair, without love or understanding, they finally go on to further regimentation, in a psychopatic ward.

"I am a registered nurse, taking care of patients in an old-age home. Their ages range from 75 to 95. Many of them do not have visitors from one month's end to the next. Even if they did, they could not converse intelligently for their minds are in another world.

"I say, give them things they like to eat, keep them warm and as comfortable as possible, give them something to dull pain if necessary, but, let them wear out—without life-prolonging peppers-up.

"My friends, who work in various hospitals feel as I do, that it is a terrible thing to subject the elderly to blood transfusions, intravenous feeding, exploratory examinations and operations.

ad soc Thursday Woman's Culture

"I certainly agree that the hopeless and helpless senile should not be kept alive, especially at the crippling expense and vitality of the young.

"Last year my 90 year old mother came to live with us. She cannot adjust to being uprooted from the town where she lived for 50 years. She grieves in loneliness for loss of my father, for loss of friends. Try as we will, we cannot reach her. What is the solution?

"Although I am only in my early 70's and reasonably well, endless questions come to my mind. How long am I going to live? Can I take care of myself to the end, or will I be crippled or sick and have to live with someone else or go to an old people's home? I want to live as long as I can be independent, and then go quickly.

"How much better it would be if elderly ill people could drift naturally into death. Browning wrote these lines:

"Grow old along with me. The best is yet to be. The last of life, for which the first was made. Our times are in His hands, who said, A whole I planned, Youth sees but half. Trust God; see all, nor ever be afraid."

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to 15 members.

Girl's Concern Over Pets Leads To Tragic Discovery

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A little girl thought her neighbors' pets looked hungry. She and her father investigated and found a family of four dead. The coroner calls it a triple murder and suicide.

Dead in their beds wearing night clothes were Bette Lavine Gardner, 38, and her daughters, Randy Lee, 12, and Diane, 8.

Each had been hit on the head with a two-pound sledge hammer. At the foot of Mrs. Gardner's bed was her husband, Charles Richard Gardner, 38, dressed in khakis and with a bullet wound in his right temple.

On the floor nearby was a 45 caliber service revolver. In a waste basket between the Gardners' twin beds was a bloody sledge hammer.

"I'd call it a triple murder and suicide," Coroner Christopher Hill, Jr., said Wednesday after the bodies were found. "But it's a baffler. No notes. No explanation."

Papers in Gardner's home disclosed he had recently applied for a job as an art teacher in Wellington, New Zealand.

A prospectus he wrote describing himself gave no indication of desperation. But a letter from Gardner's brother, found in the house, expressed sympathy for severe headaches he had been having.

His only debts, Gardner wrote, were the payments on his $25,000 frame home near the Monterey Peninsula Country Club in Pebble Beach's beautiful Del Monte Forest.

Gardner, son of a former Orange County treasurer, described himself in the prospectus as an honor graduate of Whittier College, a World War II bomber pilot, a founder of the Junior Toastmasters of America and a one-time writer for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hill said he found an unpublished manuscript of Gardner's in the house. Titled "Fighting Quaker," it was a 1952 biography of the vice president, who is also a graduate of Whittier College. Pasted to the manuscript was a letter of appreciation from Nixon.

The bodies were discovered because Patricia McCaig, 12, thought the Gardners' dog and cat looked hungry. Then Patricia noticed newspapers and milk containers near their front door.

Assuming the Gardners were away, Patricia entered their home and fed the dog and cat. She found dishes in the kitchen sink, washed them and put them away. She found some of Randy Lee's things in the living room and took them into her playmate's bedroom. Then she saw the girl's body.

Terrified, Patricia screamed for her father.

Raymond J. McCaig ran over and found:

Randy Lee Dead, cuddling a blue teddy bear.

Diane dead, a pink teddy bear beside her.

In the Gardners' bedroom, he found the parents.

McCaig called police.

Sheriff's Capt. D.V. Smith, chief of inspectors, found the Monday newspaper in the house. The Tuesday paper was at the door. He speculated the slayings occurred Monday night.

25 At Church Are Stricken

DALLAS (AP)—Carbon monoxide felled 25 persons at a church prayer meeting Wednesday night.

All were rushed to Dallas hospitals, but shortly before midnight all but two had been released.

Dallas Health Department officials said they found evidence of carbon monoxide in the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Deputy Police Chief Charles Batcheler said an unidentified janitor told him the church had been having difficulty with a burner in the central heating system, but that it had been repaired.

A Fire Department spokesman who refused to be identified said the poisoning was probably caused by improper ventilation of a burner on the central heating system.

Members of the congregation, which numbered about 250, started fainting near the end of the service.

JUST ANOTHER DAY—Sgt. Alvin York, World War I hero and his wife Gracie examine at their home in Pall Mall, Tenn., a .410 gauge shotgun that has been in the York family for many years. The 71-year-old veteran, ill and partly blind, said Veterans Day is nothing special to him — "every war is to end wars and we've still got 'em going on or coming up." (AP Wirephoto)

Rep. Burleson Here Monday

The Downtown and Evening Lions Clubs, who arranged the meeting, have invited members of the Jaycees, Kiwanis, Optimists and Rotary Clubs to attend.

Pork, Lamb Featured In Markets

By The Associated Press

Pork loin and leg of lamb, but not cranberries, are getting the super-duper type in supermarket advertisements this week.

Heavy supplies of both pork and lamb make it possible to offer bargains on the two meats. The cranberry crop is heavy, too—in fact government experts look for a record production—but a number of chains have removed cranberries and cranberry products from their shelves until the contamination situation becomes clearer.

Loin of pork is being featured in the South, East and Midwest, while the more expensive cured ham is the top attraction on the West and East Coasts. Pork cuts of all types are being pushed these days as the huge spring crop of little pigs starts coming to market.

Rib roast also is cheaper in some areas this week, with reductions running from 4 to 14 cents a pound. Sirloin steak also is lower in a few sections, and most of the beef items listed as specials run toward the more expensive types such as sirloin or porterhouse steak, rib roast and top or bottom round roast.

Potatoes again head the best buy list of vegetables. Sweet potatoes also are attractively priced, as are peppers, mushrooms, tomatoes, cauliflower, corn and spinach. Onions remain an outstanding bargain.

Apples and fast-increasing supplies of citrus items battle it out for supremacy as the best buy among fruits.

Professor Tells Of 'Warm-Up' On Television Show

NEW YORK (AP)—A faculty member of a municipal college here has disclosed that he won $4,000 in 1957 with the help of special "warm-up" sessions before appearing on the CBS television program "Name That Tune."

'Maybe some might say I was lacking in civic conscience," said Robert Haton Wednesday. "I was manipulated and I'm not proud of it."

Hayton, 37, is a professor of political science at Hunter College, a girl's school in Manhattan.

The story of his involvement in the scandal-tainted world of quiz shows was an echo of what happened to Charles Van Doren.

Van Doren admitted to a congressional subcommittee last week that he accepted help from the producers to win $129,000 on NBC's show "Twenty-One."

Hayton emphasized that he had never made a secret of the fact that he had received help before going on before the TV cameras.

"I figured that since I'm a low-paid academician we could use the $100 I'd get even if I lost in the first phase of the program," he said.

"The second and third time I was on the show," he added, "all five songs I had to identify were inserted into the warm-up session before going on the air."

He conceded that he had not told Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan about that, "because no one asked me."

At Hogan's office Wednesday, Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Stone summoned Jan Murray, owner of NBC's daytime TV quiz show "Treasure Hunt," for questioning.

Stone called it the opening of the active phase of a probe into reports of kickbacks by quiz show contestants.

Testimony was heard during the Washington inquiry last week that employes of a quiz show — later named as "Treasure Hunt"—had taken money from contestants.

Meanwhile, Robert E. Lee, a member of the Federal Communications Commission, warned radio stations in an address not to be complacent because "you have come off unscathed so far" in the television quiz show scandal.

He declared he is aware of complaints about "Payola" — paying disc jockeys to plug records to increase sales.

The House subcommittee that probed quiz shows plans to turn the spotlight on this area of operations and other commercial ties.

Between You And Me

By JERRY JACKSON

Lots of flowery adjectives and justifiable praise are being heaped on one of Snyder's "favorite sons" these days. He's Jack Spikes, who has played a whole lot of fullback for TCU's Horned Frogs through the past three seasons.

Spikes, who was very instrumental in leading the Christians to a coference championship last year, is currently leading the loop in ball-carrying, and is a key cog in TCU ambitions to upset the rampaging Texas Longhorns this coming Saturday.

However, the biggest batch of prime ballyhoo to date aimed in his direction was brought to light yesterday, as a report from the regional board on all-America selections was made public. This board, composed of Bill Rives (Dallas News), Orville Henry (Little Rock Gazette), Bill Van Fleet (Fort Worth Star-Telegram), and Clark Nealon (Houston Post) were high on four players in particular in giving their recommendations. These performers, other than Spikes, include Jim Mooty of Arkansas, SMU's Don Meredith, and Maurice Doke of Texas.

Jarrin' Jack In Limelight

THE LION'S SHARE of glowing terms was aimed at Spikes, though, as the AP news story was kicked off when this statement: "Four players stand out from the Southwest Conference in contention for places on the all-America team and the leader is a big, blasting, defense-minded fullback named Jack Spikes." Quite a feather in the Spikes fedora, and one which may very well put him in the Hall of Fame category. It couldn't happen to a finer fellow than the big, hard-hitting, but mild-mannered Snyderite. Teddy Roosevelt's much-repeated statement of "Speak softly but carry a big stick" was made to order for him.

The acid test for both Spikes and TCU is coming up this Saturday, as the Frogs take a jaunt down to Austin to do battle with undefeated Texas. The Christians pose the last serious threat to a spotless season for the high-flying Steers, as Texas A&M is not expected to be able to throw together enough big guns to turn the trick come Turkey Day.

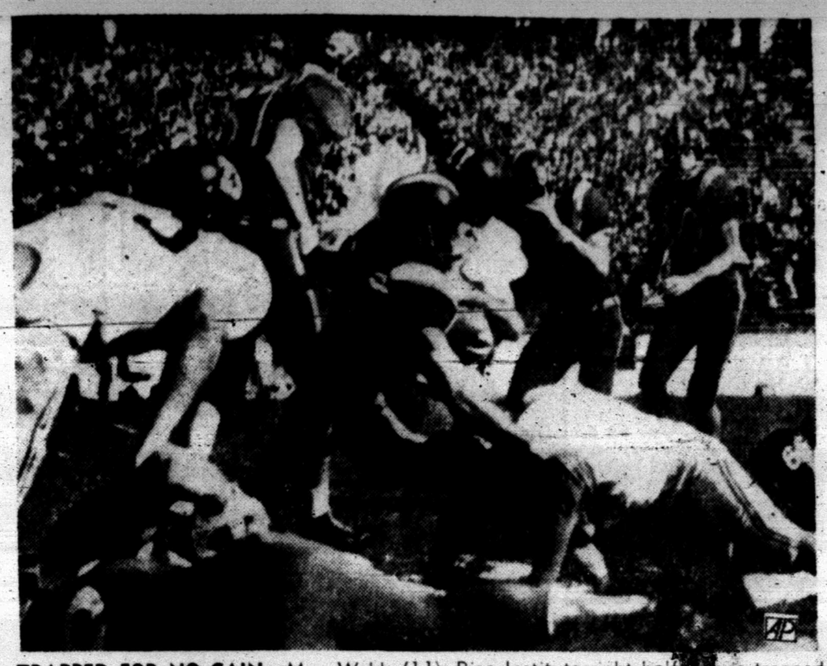

Gangway, Steers!

IT COULD HAPPEN. The Frogs have a winning streak going themselves, having run up four victories in a row following a pair of early-season shut-outs at the hands of LSU and Arkansas. Also, they had an open date this past Saturday in which to prepare for the Steer onslaught, so should be ready to "shoot the works" in this one, and by the same token should be in peak physical shape for the encounter.

On the other hand, Texas should be on somewhat of a rebound following last week's mediocre showing against Baylor, a game they came within a hair's breadth of dropping. They won't need to hold back for anything, either, as next week will find them blessed with an open date in which to nurse any bruises back into shape before getting re-bruised at Aggie hands on Thanksgiving.

A victory by TCU, although not necessarily carrying with it a conference championship, would nevertheless put that school in a favorable position for a major bowl bid, assuming that they finish their season impressively against Rice and arch-rival Southern Methodist.

One thing for sure, there's going to be a lot of orange and purple spread across the Memorial Stadium turf Saturday. It'll be interesting to see just which color predominates.

TRAPPED FOR NO GAIN—Max Webb (11), Rice Institute right halfback is trapped at the line of scrimmage by George McKinney (11), James Gaston (81) of University of Arkansas for no gain in first quarter action of game played at Houston. (AP Wirephoto)

Unbeaten Elevens In Action Tonight

The leather will pop with a resounding echo tonight in Tiger Stadium when, for the second week in a row, Snyder's only two undefeated elevens will see action. Opposition will be furnished by revenge-seeking Sweetwater.

In the first game of the evening Coaches Bill Hartsfield and Ned Underwood will send their Travis Seventh Graders up against a Sweetwater eleven which they managed to squeeze by in a 20-14 contest earlier in the season. Game time is 6:30, and this constitutes the final tilt of the year for the terrors from Travis. A victory tonight would give them a spotless 8-0 mark for the season.

Following that contest, and with a kickoff time of 8 o'clock, will be the Eighth Grade Blue Devil charges of Ace Amos and Charley Sparks, who will try to make it two in a row over Sweetwater after having downed them by 16-6 in early October. The Blue Devils will be shooting for their ninth win of the season without loss in this, their next-to-last fracas of the year.

Between halves of the Eighth Grade encounter, the Travis Junior High Band, under the direction of Bill Green, will stage a show of precision marching and playing. Jay Watts is the drum major for this group.

Frogs Emphasizing Sagging Pass Game

By The Associated Press

Any idea Texas Christian might have had that it would meet a cent—like in the Baylor game—should have been dissipated Wednesday. The Longhorns romped through a spirited workout that had usually dour Coach Darrell Royal smiling.

Royal was pleased with the spirit shown in drills that lead to the big battle with TCU in Austin Saturday when the Southwest Conference championship goes on the line.

TCU worked mostly on passing as the Horned Frogs aimed to lift their aerial attack to a respectable average. Thus far the Frogs have been rather puny at passing with .390.

But while TCU tried to fashion an aerial game that might worry Texas, Coach Abe Martin said he wasn't concerned with Texas passing but "it's their running attack—those sweeps and traps."

Fullback Don Allen, who has been on the injury list, was back for contact work and Royal said Allen would be ready for game action for the first time in a month. Only alternate center Bill Laughlin is likely to miss the game. TCU has no injuries.

Both SMU and Arkansas, who meet in Dallas Saturday in a fight to stay in the championship race, worked on their passing games. Quarterback George McKinney ran the first Arkansas unit while injured Jim Monroe alternated on the second unit. injured halfback Jim Mooty and tackle Jim Hollander still were doubtful.

SMU had only one player definitely out of action—halfback Frank Jackson, who already has missed two games because of an injury.

Rice worked behind locked gates in preparing for the Texas Aggies, whom they meet in Houston Saturday. The Owls still didn't know whether they would have center Jerry Graves and halfback Max Webb for the game.

Texas A&M worried about injuries and illness. Halfback Randy Sims was taken to a hospital and was believed to have the flu. End Travis Nevill still was on the doubtful list due to a leg injury.

Baylor, which plays Southern California in Los Angeles, was cheered by the return to full action of Bobby Ply, the regular quarterback. The only player who will be missing is Cleo Proctor, second string guard.

Fire Power Of Celtics Phenomenal

By The Associated Press

The fire power of the Boston Celtics is such in pro basketball that they can "skip" a quarter and still roll up a score approaching record proportions.

The Celtics scored only 19 points in the second period of Wednesday night's National Basketball Assn. game with Cincinnati. But they blasted in 132 in the other three and wound up with a season high in a 151-118 victory over the Royals.

With 41 points in the first period, 48 in the third and 43 in the fourth, the Celts had an easy time protecting their one-game Eastern division lead over Philadelphia, which downed Detroit 119-105 in the league's other game.

Wilt Chamberlain again was the Philadelphia leader, scoring 41 points.

Cowboys Of H-SU Slate Aerial Show

By The Associated Press

The passingest teams in the Border Conference clash Saturday night in the week's feature game.

Statistics show that Hardin-Simmons, guided by that old pass-master, Sammy Baugh, tops the league in the aerial department with 148 yards per game. New Mexico State, Hardin-Simmons' foe, is second with 147.

Two of the leading ball-carriers also will be meeting. Nolan Jones of Arizona State tops the league with 875 yards on 110 runs, while Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State is scheduled with 383 and Charlie Bowers of Hardin-Simmons is third with 379. Atkins and Bowers both have better averages than Jones.

Charlie Johnson, New Mexico State quarterback, tops in passing with 72 completions in 138 attempts for 951 yards. He also leads in total offense with 982 yards.

Fox Of Sox Edges Aparicio For MVP

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Tobacco-chewing Nellie Fox, the Chicago White Sox' gritty little second baseman, today was named the American League's most valuable player for 1959.

Fox edged teammate Luis Aparicio, the shortstop half of Chicago's brilliant double play combination, in balloting for a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Fox and Aparicio, who provided Chicago with vital up-the-middle defense in the White Sox' drive for their first pennant in 40 years, were the only two players listed on all ballots. They divided all the first place votes between them.

Fox polled 295 points in the voting, while Aparicio had 255. Early Wynn, Chicago's burly right hander, drew 123 points as the White Sox swept the first three places in the poll.

It was the first such award for Fox, a quiet, unassuming 31-year-old veteran whose huge cud of tobacco is almost as much a trademark as his consistent, determined play. It also marks the first time a White Sox player has been selected since the baseball writers took over the award in 1931.

Fox' selection gave Chicago a sweep of the MVP awards, only the fourth time a single city has had both American and National league most valuable players. The Cubs' Ernie Banks was named to the National League MVP award last week.

Other principal American League vote-getters were Cleveland's Rocky Colavito and Tito Francona, Al Kaline of Detroit, Jim Landis of Chicago and Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers.

Fox contributed 191 hits and a .306 average to Chicago's pennant drive. But it was his play in the field, as much as anything else, that brought him the honor, one of baseball's most coveted annual awards.

The little (5-feet-10, 160 pounds) keystone man handled 827 chances with only 10 errors for a sparkling .988 fielding average, and the Fox-Aparicio defensive play around second is generally considered a major factor in the light-hitting White Sox' pennant-winning effort.

Fox played in 156 games this season, boosting his consecutive game mark to 669, a major league record for second basemen. He has 1902 hits in his 13-year major league career, second only to Boston's Ted Williams among active players.

Boxer Swaps Gloves For Jazz Combo

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Harold Johnson, one of the greatest fighting machines in the business, returned to Philadelphia today and his $60 a week job in a jazz combo.

"I don't get enough fights to live so I've got a five-piece combo," said the top-ranking light heavyweight who stopped Sonny Ray in the 10th round in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

"We get about three night club dates a week. It pays each of us from $50 to $60. I play the drums."

The nationally televised bout with Ray was his first fight in six months and only his 11th in four years. He won them all.

For a fellow who sees such little ring action, the 31-year-old Johnson was a superb specimen against Ray, deadly and sure-fisted with panther-like reflexes.

"I knocked him down in the fourth with a right but couldn't get at him to keep him there," he said afterward. "I think I could have got him any time like I did in the last round. But not having fought for so long I was skeptical. I held back too long thinking I had to pace myself—I didn't push until the 10th.

"I didn't accomplish anything but a good work out. All I can do is sit around, play the drums and wait for a fight. I'd like to meet Archie Moore again for the title (Moore, losing on the cards, kayoed Johnson in the 14th five years ago) but all my contacts with Moore have no results."

Johnson, 175, now has a 62-8 record. Ray, who weighed in at 174, is 20-9-5.

Ray, who made the mistake of trying to box with Johnson, called him "one of the best in the business—but I think he can be beaten."

The bout drew 780 with a net gate of $1,215.

Cotton Bowl Committee To Meet Today

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl selection committee is scheduled to meet today to map plans for a weekend checkup on possibilities for the Jan. 1 football game.

Felix R. McKnight, chairman, said a decision would be made on where to send representatives Saturday.

McKnight stressed that while there are eight teams on the prospect list, none has yet been issued an invitation and that there was little chance of action along this line at least until after this week's games.

Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team, may be leaning toward the Orange Bowl since its players voted the Florida classic as their choice. However, Syracuse officials would not say what they planned to do while the press in the New York City chided the school for thinking about playing a poor-record Big Eight Conference runner-up in the Orange Bowl in preference to meeting Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

Cotton Bowl officials said they were appreciative of the backing of the press but pointed out that Texas has not yet clinched a spot in the Cotton Bowl and that Syracuse hasn't yet received an invitation.

"Things are entirely too confused right now," said McKnight. "Too many of the teams on our list already have played each each other. I think something possibly could develop after Saturday's games."

McKnight said none of the teams on the Cotton Bowl list had an advantage over another but he admitted that the Mississippi-Tennessee game at Memphis Saturday as "mighty important."

"But so is Texas and TCU at Austin," he grinned.

Sky Eden and Cardinal James were the most active pacers during the 1959 harness meeting at New York's Yonkers Raceway. Each started 19 times.

Cincy's Ed Kovac Is Top Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati's Ed Kovac, a free-wheeling halfback with a consistent scoring touch, remains major college football's top scorer of the 1959 season.

Statistics from the NCAA Service Bureau released today show Kovac with 13 touchdowns for 78 points and a seven point lead over Nolan Jones of Arizona State U. Jones had scored seven touchdowns but has added 20 conversions and three field goals for a total of 71 points. Abner Haynes, the attack-leader for unbeaten North Texas State, is next with 70 on 11 touchdowns and four conversions.

Kovac had two games remaining in which to protect his lead.

Chris Burford of Stanford grabbed six passes in his team's 55-13 loss to UCLA and leads all receivers in number of catches with 42. However, Dick Evans of VMI has taken over as the yardage leader with 513 yards on 27 receptions. Burford has gained 503 yards. Evans also has caught seven touchdown passes, one less than the leader — Paul Maguire of the Citadel.

In punt returns, All-America Billy Cannon of LSU remains the leader with 214 yards on 13 returns, compared to 210 on 12 returns by Jacque MacKinnon of Colgate. Kentucky's Calvin Bird is the kickoff return leader with 315 yards on 12 returns, to 314 on 10 returns for Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State and 313 on 13 by Brown's Paul Choquette.

Oates of Hardin-Simmons was ninth in pass receptions with 25 catches for 270 yards and one touchdown.

Homecoming For Lincoln High Slated

It's homecoming weekend for Lincoln High, with a variety of activities lined up in celebration of the event.

The main attraction, of course, will be the football game against Plainview, which will be reeled off in Tiger Stadium tomorrow night.

Other festivities include a bonfire and pep rally on the Lincoln High campus at 7 o'clock tonight, with all students and alumni urged to attend.

Dr. Carlos Rincones whose El Chama won the 1955 Laurel International race, has purchased a ranch near Caracas, Venezuela and has named it "Laurel."

Patients Are Tired Of Hearing This

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that hospital patients get tired of hearing—or overhearing:

"Just between us, Joe, why don't you quit stalling and get back to work?"

"Is that all the bigger yours were? My cousin had gallstones as big as hen's eggs."

"Now, remember when we get inside—no matter how he looks, tell him he never looked better in his life."

"The gossip in the corridors is that your surgeon left a sponge in somebody the other day. You been feeling particularly thirsty?"

"This little pill is to help your appetite. This little pill is to help you sleep. This little pill is to balance your hormonal anxiety. And this little pill is—"

"Oh, don't worry about your hospital bill now. You'll have plenty of time."

"Of course, you've got only yourself to blame. If you'd only taken proper care of yourself, the whole thing wouldn't have happened."

"Why not look on the brighter side. After all, they can't take out your gall bladder twice."

"Your nurse seems like a real friendly person. When does she get her old age pension?"

"Boy, you ought to see the nurse the guy down the hall has. What a knockout!"

"Before they take you upstairs for the operation I'd like to cheer you up on one point. I went over your life insurance policy with your wife last night, and everything seems to be okay."

"Hi, Joe! Seen any interesting bedpans lately?"

"Your friends can bring you all the bourbon they want, but you can't drink it here."

"Don't worry about your job. The boss is letting Fred do your work in his spare time."

"You know I admire your wife. Even in a period of trouble such as this, she can still go out and have a good time."

DeGaulle Seems Determined To Take Western Leadership

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle, iron-willed at 68, acts like a man determined, if he has to, to take over the leadership of the West. He has already asserted a lot of it.

This week the Frenchman, so proud he dislikes using reading glasses in public, dictated to his Western partners and the Soviet Union the time and conditions for a summit conference.

At an extraordinary news conference De Gaulle, who heads a second-rate power but persists in thinking of it in terms of grandeur, put on an amazing show of memory, calmness and strength.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's attitude toward a summit meeting has been: The sooner the better. President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev have seemed to favor such a meeting sooner rather than later.

But De Gaulle, after taking over a sagging France and giving it more stability than it has had since World War II, decided by himself that haste was unwise. He even put a stiff "if" on any summit conference at all.

Before there's a summit, he said, he must meet with Khrushchev in March; there must be an improvement in the international climate of the Western partners must be agreed on how to deal with Khrushchev.

And, just to be sure, he told Eisenhower and Macmillan his pre-summit get-together with them in December should be followed by another after he talks with Khrushchev in March.

This is only part of his statements at the news conference. They ranged from pensions for French veterans of World War I to a prediction the Chinese Communists would ultimately be their Soviet friends' greatest peril.

Altogether the text of his news conference took up a solid newspaper page.

In the end De Gaulle may have proved extremely wise in insisting upon complete preparations for the summit. Otherwise, he warned, the summit may turn into disaster.

J. J. Cutler, the New York Herald Tribune's Paris reporter who attended the news conference, said that because De Gaulle does not want to use reading glasses in public, he memorized his 14-minute opening statement to the 700 correspondents invited to hear him and ask questions. He also memorized 45 minutes of statistic-packed answers to questions he had anticipated. It was a fantastic memory feat, as you will have noticed if you read the text.

Chinese Forcing Commune Program

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China's rulers are telling the people of China:

Just because the people's communes did not work in the Soviet Union is no reason to scrap them in China. Anyone who favors the policies of the Soviet Union in opposition to the current Chinese Communist line is a "rightist opportunist."

These outspoken statements were laid down in significant newspaper editorials that have reached Hong Kong from two important Chinese provincial capitals.

The editorials are part of a new nationwide campaign to force China's peasants and workers to accept the communes, the giant labor camps into which China's peasants and workers were first herded two summers ago.

Opposition to the communes late last year forced China's leaders to relax controls and abolish some of the harsher features of communal life during the first half of 1959.

The period of reappraisal and relaxation is over. Red China's rulers have apparently decided the people's communes, in a somewhat modified form, provide the most effective whip to drive millions to greater labor.

The threats and exhortation in any such campaign are two-edged. They show that opposition to the communes last year was deep, widespread and reached high into party circles.

And they admit that many party officials argued that communes couldn't work in China because they had not worked in the Soviet Union.

Tough To Figure Formula For Honors

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Making the first class honor roll at Scottsdale's Arcadia High School is pretty tough. But figuring out how it's done is even tougher.

Announcing the names of 25 youngsters who made this month's honor roll, the school said:

"A student whose average exhibited performance in all credited subjects in relation to the performances of all other students falls at a level which places him (or her) on the normal curve of probability at a point falling on the plus side of the mean and between the second and third standard deviations will have made the honor roll—first class."

Rotarian Present For 36-Year Span

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—"I didn't intend to live so long but I did intend to have good attendance at Rotary Club," says Ferdinand Janzen Funk.

He is to be honored by the Topeka Rotary Club next Tuesday for not missing a meeting in 36 years.

The club normally meets on Thursday, but next week's session was moved ahead to help Funk celebrate not only his attendance record but his 100th birthday.

Junior Editors Quiz on NEWSPAPERS

QUESTION: What were the first newspapers like?

* * *

ANSWER: Newspapers today are much different than the ones published hundreds of years ago — but the modern paper and the first paper had the same goal in common. This was to tell people about happenings as quickly as possible.

Most experts agree that the first newspaper was Tsing Pao, a court journal that was published in Peking in 500 A.D. This paper continued in existence more than 1400 years. It stopped publishing in 1935.

In its beginning, Tsing Pao was produced from carved wooden blocks instead of from type. The small boy pictured in the left hand square is selecting blocks to be assembled for printing.

The Romans also had a form of newspaper. These were basically newsletters written by scribes and taken by runners to politicians and businessmen. Sometimes such written bulletins were posted on walls in the Forum. In this drawing is represented a scene of about 60 B.C. The news is written on a long scroll which was rolled when it was being delivered to a reader. Older copies are kept in pigeon-hole shelving and some copies that are wanted at hand are kept in the circular container.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Write neighborhood bulletins for yourself and your friends. Or perhaps you can start a paper for your class at school. If you have a printing set or a typewriter, you can make a neat looking paper.

Says Firm At Site Of Fire Had Warnings

HOUSTON (AP)— An official says the terminal where the Tanker Amoco Virginia burned Sunday had been warned to stop gasoline and oil from leaking into the Houston Ship Channel.

Dr. Walter A. Quebedeaux Jr., Harris County director of air and water pollution abatement, said Wednesday at least six warnings had been given since early 1956 to the Hess Terminal Corp. where the ship was loading.

An investigator told a Hess lawyer as recently as May 8 that a "tremendous fire hazard" existed at the terminal because of gas washing into the channel while a ship was docked, Dr. Quebedeaux added.

H. W. McCollum, vice president of the terminal, replied: "I have no comment to make on anything. Quebedeaux says. The only thing I can suggest to Dr. Quebedeaux is that he ought to make his investigation and turn in the facts instead of talking so much."

A Coast Guard inquiry into the cause of the explosions and fire that took eight lives opens today. Seven of the victims died aboard the tanker. A fireman later fell into a tank on the vessel and drowned in gasoline and chemical foam.

Records in Dr. Quebedeaux' office show the Hess Terminal was investigated May 2, May 9, May 10, 1956, Jan. 25, 1957, and Jan. 16 and May 8, 1959.

Hess pleaded guilty on Feb. 17, 1956, to a pollution charge and was fined $115.50 by Justice D. H. Thompson.

McCollum was convicted in Thompson's court on a second complaint based on the May 9, 1956, investigation. McCollum appealed and the decision was upheld Jan. 25, 1957, in Judge Madison Rayburn's county court at law.

That decision was reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, which held McCollum could not be held responsible for actions of a workman.

McCollum earlier described Houston Ship Channel fire fighting facilities as grossly inadequate.

Coast Guard, port and fire officials previously had called for a central fire protection agency for the 50-mile channel which is lined with industrial plants.

Meanwhile, American Oil Co. employes began pumping another 65,000 barrels of gasoline from the tanker to remove a fire threat that has existed since the flames were extinguished. The fire consumed about 70,000 barrels of gasoline and fuel oil before it was smothered late Sunday.

Gasoline since has been leaking from the tanker and spreading in the ship channel.

Special pumps were rushed from New York for use in transferring the gasoline to barges.

"There were plenty of gas and diesel driven pumps available but we couldn't use them because of the fire danger posed by fumes around the ship," said Capt. Claude Phillips, head of Amaco's marine department.

The ship channel was expected to remain closed for another 3 to 5 days.

One of 20 ships that have been prevented from leaving or entering Port Houston unloaded its cargo at Texas City. Other agents considered unloading at Galveston.

McCollom said Lt. Cmdr. R. J. Evans, captain of Port Houston, had been fighting for a specific fire protection plan "but industry as a whole showed little interest."

Evans suggested that Houston's city code be amended to give the fire department full jurisdiction over fire protection measures along the channel.

He also said the port needed three fireboats instead of one and should have an emergency supply of chemical foam on hand.

Fire Chief C. M. Bullock said the tanker fire could have been extinguished within three hours if 300,000 gallons of foam had been available immediately. He said only 2,700 gallons were available.

Some 10 million gallons were rushed in by plane and truck before the fire was extinguished.

Fears Space Effort Spread Too Thinly

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris says the United States may be spreading its space efforts too broadly.

"We can do many things moderately or a few things well," the retiring chief of the Army Ordnance Missile Command said Wednesday.

"But first we've got to decide whether we're in a space race with Russia—or want to be in one. So far, I've seen no evidence of a solid resolution to compete in a race."

The decision, he told a news conference, must come from the people, who must foot the bill.

He advocated unified control of space and missile research but said he would not accept the job of heading such a program. "I'm not that egotistical," he said.

Wired Heart Patient Dies

FAIRMONT, W.Va. (AP) — Hoy Walter Smith, one of the first men in the nation to have his heart "wired" for life-giving electric stimulus, died Wednesday in a Fairmont hospital. He was 77.

Smith was a retired coal miner from nearby Barrackville. His physician said he died from a heart disease. The doctor added that the Pacemaker machine, which provided an electric stimulus to keep Smith's heart beating, was opeating perfectly but the heart just gave out.

Smith underwent an operation last August to attach to his heart small wires from the battery operated apparatus which fits on the chest and regulates the heart beat.

Theater Firm May Buy Out Desilu

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —A theater company is investigating the possibility of buying control of Desilu Productions, Inc.

The talks are only in "the most preliminary stage," said board chairman B. Gerald Cantor of National Theaters & Television, Inc., parent company of Fox West Coast Theaters.

Martin Leeds, Desilu executive vice president, said Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Desi Arnaz (Lucille Ball) have told him to listen to any proposals involving their 565,600 shares of stock. They own 49 per cent of Desilu.

Farm Bureau Group Opposes Sales Tax, Direct Payments

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Delegates to the Texas Farm Bureau Convention voted down Wednesday a resolution calling for a consumers' sales tax to finance education.

They also went on record opposing direct production payments in agriculture.

"We reaffirm our desire to move as rapidly as possible to programs which will more effectively serve the interests of farmers at a greatly reduced cost to the taxpayers," the delegates recommended. "Where price support and production programs are used they should be designed to facilitate orderly marketing rather than to guarantee unrealistic prices."

The floor debate on the sales tax issue produced long heated arguments by both sides. The TFB last year also turned down a similar resolution.

In the field of national farm legislation, the convention delegates said:

"Price support levels should take account of competitive conditions, supply and demand, and market trends. They should not be based on arbitrary formulas nor left completely to the discreation of the secretary of agriculfure. Neither should levels of support be automatically increased when supplies have been reduced. In such cases, increases in acreage should have priority over increases in support prices."

Despite a defeat in the September wool check - off vote of the Farm Bureau's stand, the delegates overwhelmingly re - iterated their opposition to "compulsory check - off programs for the promotion of any farm and ranch products."

The convention also approved a resolution calling for a public relations program for agriculture to develop an "attitude of good will" towards farmers and ranchers on the part of the general public.

On the question of rural electrification, the delegates said REA cooperatives should have equal rights with any electric suppliers in rural areas. They further stated that direct control of such cooperatives should rest with their members. The convention delegates deleted a part of one resolution that called for some of the more solvent co-ops to pay the same rate of interest on loans that the government has to pay.

Delegates voiced opposition to federal aid to education, saying, "it involves the supposed control and eventual domination of our public school system by the federal government."

They favored vocational education, increased agricultural research and programs to eradicate animal diseases and promote consumption of agricultural commodities.

To help ease the adjustment to production for market demand, the delegates favored a long-range soil bank program with several major restrictions aimed at adjusting production at a minimum cost to taxpayers.

New Rules Are Not Adopted By Board

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Optometry has not yet adopted proposed new rules submitted to and approved by the attorney general, its vice-president, Dr. N. J. Rogers of Beaumont says.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson last week held that the proposals aimed at the corporate practice of optometry are valid.

Rogers said the rules "are merely in the proposal stage."

Wilson ruled that the board's proposals seeking to prevent the "corporate practice of optometry" and to prevent the practice of optometry under an assumed name, or any name other than the name under which an optometrist is licensed, are valid.

Auto Smashes House

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Marie Hunter, 52, was in bed Wednesday night when an auto smashed into the apartment house where she lives, caving a wall in on top of her. She was hospitalized with a serious head injury. The driver suffered face cuts and was arrested for investigation.

Project Leaves Piano Stuck In Bathroom

PARSONS, Kan. (AP) — Manuel Perez is trying to get a piano out of his bathroom.

To make way for a remodeling project, Perez parked the piano in what became the bathroom.

When the job was done, he discovered the piano was too large to come out the door.

The only apparent solution is to tear out part of the new bathroom wall.
