Babe Ruth, Little League Play Off Games Held

Baseball has been the menu this week with play off games held in the local Little League and Babe Ruth parks. Tourney play in District 13-15 Babe Ruth continued through Friday and, at presstime, there was the possibility of a Saturday night finale.

Olton Little League All Stars launched the week on a bright note Monday night with a 10-2 victory over Muleshoe. Earlier Monday, Plainview Nationals clobbered Springlake-Earth 32 to 2 via a masterful performance by Ervin Davis, Plainview ace and former Olton Little Leaguer, who hurled a no hitter and led his teammates in scoring with four home run blasts.

Plainview took on Olton Tuesday night in the contest to determine which team would advance in the race to the district championship which was to have been decided Friday night. The locals lost 6 to 25.

Pitcher Kenny Smith allowed just two hits, two runs in Monday's game and struck out 13. He gave up just two bases on balls.

Hitting for Olton were Kenny Smith and Brad Burgess with homers. Burgess also slammed a double. Singles were collected by Gregg Smith, Kenny Smith, Tommy Seawright (2), Marty Walters and Glenn Terrell.

Wednesday opened District play for the Junior Babe Ruthers. Littlefield whipped Muleshoe 5 to 2 in the opener with the home town All Stars tromping Dimmitt 31 to 12.

Olton sent 19 players to bat in the first inning and picked up seven hits off the bats of Rene Saldivar, Brad Kelly (single and double), Kyle Allcorn, Ray Van Banks and Rodney Geissler. Thirteen runs were second.

In the second inning, three hits added two more runs. Steve Johnson, Mark Barton and Saldivar slammed singles. In the third, singles by Allcorn, Johnson and a double by Barton added another two runs.

One run was scored in the fourth on walks and a steal of home plate. In the fifth, 13 men crossed the plate on just eight hits. Hitting were Johnson, Barton (two singles), Geissler, Kevin Kelley and Allcorn.

Muleshoe was eliminated from tourney contention Thursday evening with a 10-1 loss to Dimmitt. Olton fell 10-0 to Littlefield.

Olton got three hits in the outing, a single by Saldivar in the second, single my Mike Sifuentez in the third and single by Johnson in the sixth.

Littlefield was held hitless until the fourth when Jerry Williams doubled for their first base runner. He later scored. In the fifth, LFD picked up five runs on four hits and four more runs were tallied in the sixth off just two hits.

Friday's action was to pit Olton and Dimmitt in the first game with the winner taking on unbeaten Littlefield in the second game.

'Texas' Bus Overflows, Another May Be Used

An overflow of reservation requests for seats on the charter bus trip to palo Duro Canyon, Monday, July 29, is reported by Mrs. George Redinger, secretary for Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, sponsors of the trek.

Some 46 Oltonites have reserved seats for the trip to Pioneer Amphitheatre for the current performance of Paul Green's musical romance of Panhandle history, "Texas", now showing in its ninth season.

Mrs. Redinger states that she is still receiving names, and if enough requests have been made by Monday to justify a larger bus, inquiry will be made into the change.

Otherwise, deadline for cancelling tickets remains Friday, July 26, at noon. All requests beyond the 46 will be placed on a waiting list to be notified as early as possible if cancellations occur.

The bus will depart Olton State Bank parking lot at 5:30 p.m. Included in the group price of $10 per person will be the bus ticket, catered meal in the canyon, and reserved seat in the amphitheatre.

Subscription Campaign Continues

The new subscription campaign continues for the Olton Enterprise, with several "little salespeople" getting close to becoming the owner of a new ten speed bicycle.

Sales persons are reminded to turn in their subscriptions each week so that the person who bought the subscription will get the paper. Deadline for turning in subscriptions each week is Monday at 5 p.m.

The contest is open to all area boys and girls and they need only sell 25 new subscriptions to the Enterprise in order to win a brand new ten speed bike, furnished by Western Auto.

There is still time to get in on the fun and everybody wins. Those who do not sell 25 subscriptions to earn a bike receive 25 per cent of their sales as their prize.

Of Early Residents

Unusual Coverlet Records Names

A rare Collector's item has come to the attention of community residents in recent days.

Now the property of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards, an embroidered coverlet made in about 1925 or 1926 is being displayed.

The spread, to fit an ordinary double bed, was made of unbleached domestic and bordered with wide cotton lace. A project of women of First Baptist Church of that early date, the lettering of each wagon wheel design, embroidered in red thread, spells out the name of some individual or business well known in the city at that time. Over 400 names, so embroidered, record members of Olton's population who paid ten cents for each signature.

Mrs. C.B. Turner, one of the members of the sponsoring group, remembers that each woman was given a block with the blank wheel upon it. She was to secure names and payments for each signature and do the handwork entaled.

When the coverlet was completed it was auctioned to the highest bidder, the late J. Arthur Edwards. Never having been used by Mrs. Edwards, the spread is in excellent condition.

Mrs. George Bohner, another worker on the project, stated "None of us can remember what the proceeds were used for. We should like to find old minutes of the WMU to get this information. We assume the money was spent on the church building. But at that time many of our ladies did not even have a Bible and we may have used it for such a purpose as that."

For Station

Labor Is One Of Biggest Problem

"We were among the fortunate, we haven't had to ration the amount of gas we sold our customers," says Richard Roberson of the gasoline shortage pinch of a few months back. The local Mobil dealer admits he has no idea what lies ahead in the energy situation since so many conflicting stories are reported.

"One day we read there's plenty and the next day we may read there's a serious shortage. I don't believe anyone knows," he says.

"Cost will take care of the rationing," he believes. "After all, when every thing is getting higher and higher and people have just so much money, they won't be buying as much."

The increased cost of gas has affected the service station owner in ways in which the average person is unaware. Pumps, computer operated, have been designed for three digits in the space registering the amount of sale. Rich has just recently purchased two new pumps which can now register up to $99.99 rather than the $9.99 which had amply served since that time when pumps first registered the amount of sales.

JoLene, Rich's wife and bookkeeper, says they have just recently got the candy and soft drink machines changed over to accept 15 cents and now the candy salesman has informed them "there'll be no more 15 cent candy."

Rich began working at a service station in Plainview just after graduation from Plainview High School in 1950. He came to Olton in 1955 and, with K.Y. Givens, began a partnership in a Texaco station. He sold his interest to Givens in 1955 and purchased the Mobil station on the western corner of the same block.

When he came to Olton, Rich recalls that gas was selling for 24 or 25.9 cents per gallon. Flats were fixed for 50 cents. In the yesteryears of service station, equipment for fixing flats cost about $25 to $30 compared to almost $1500 needed today.

"We used to wash cars for a dollar," and then acknowledging the difficulty of finding help he adds with a chuckle, "now we can't get them washed at any price."

Labor is one of the most serious problems which the Robersons have to cope with. "We pay a pretty good wage and we still can't get help," Rich says. "Used to someone would at least answer our (help wanted) ads to ask what we paid, now they don't even call to ask."

JoLene laughs as she tells of her experience in purchasing a help wanted ad in a daily newspaper. "You are wasting your money," the woman told me when she sold me the ad."

The co-op program of the school has helped provide some part time help at the station. Too, they are some times able to hire high school boys to help out after school and Saturdays.

One young employee who has since moved to Plainview and JoLene explains, "We sure miss him. He sort of grew up with us. And he was one you didn't have to ask to do something, he went ahead and did the work," Rich adds.

The Robersons' seventeen-year-old son, Mark, has also grown up with the business but divides his time with his livestock projects.

The Robersons have never had an application for work from a girl despite the "women's lib" movement. Rich says he expects to see girls seek station employment since more and more women are entering fields once considered "men's work."

Many of the chores about a station can easily be handled by the "fair sex" as proven long ago by wives and daughters of station operators. "JoLene is the best wash boy I've got," her husband vows. Her self-designated title is "general Flunky."

One unforgettable happening for the Robersons concerns a potential employee. Rich remembers a nice-appearing fellow coming in asking for a job during a time when help was needed most desperately. It was during JoLene's long stay in a Plainview hospital from burns she received in an accident at the station. Rich and Mark had been lunching for days on sandwiches or snacks and when the new employee showed such promise of being "perfect help" they decided to treat themselves to a real dinner.

Returning to the station after dinner, they found the new employee no where in sight. With the cleverness of a professional he had managed to vanish with a big portion of the cash register's receipts. Leaving just a few bills and the change so that a quick check of the cash register would give the appearance of no robbery and a message to a wash boy "I'm going to the rest room" to account for his absence, the new help gained just enough time to "disappear."

There've been other unforgettable instances, too. Some have been laughable but many brought both fright or alarm.

An accident once spilled bales of cotton about his driveway and one day a customer's pickup fell from the grease lift. An employee also narrowly escaped death when a truck tire exploded. Customers have absent-mindedly attempted to drive away with the gas pump hose still connected and have even done so at the pump's expense!

While he was still in partnership a customer drove "right over the island and knocked the first pump right into the arms of Clinton Billingsley." Billingsley, an employee at the time, was standing in just the right spot to "catch" the pump and prevent its complete fall to the drive way.

The corner of Main Street and Highway 70 had served as the site of a "filling station" for many years before Rich purchased the property from the late Lefty Hollingsworth.

For many years, too, there rested upon its roof the large bright symbol of Mobil's parent company, Magnolia's "flying red horse."

Addition To Mini Mall Plans August Opening

The Mini Mall has growing pains...to the extent that the addition of a second building has been found necessary.

Opened originally as seven business divisions, each has expanded its stock, and even the closing of The Garden Tea Room recently did not allow sufficient room for these progressive merchants.

Labeled "Mini Mall-Plus" the building adjoining the south wall of the present Mall has been leased. Renovation is underway, and an archway will be opened through the wall as a connecting passage. The front entrance will also be used.

The Junior Scene, in the present mall, will continue to offer sub-teen fashions; Today's Fashions, stocks the more mature lines; Decorator's Cart carries Spanish imports and gift items; while Hallmark Nook stocks a complete line of cards and party accessories.

Opening very soon, in the cove of the recent tea room, will be a new business, "The Mini Miss." Mrs. Harold Mills, manager of the shop has set Aug. 1 as opening date for this young girl's shop which will feature well known brands in sizes seven to 14. The shop's owner envisions the addition of smaller sizes at a later date.

The present shoe stock of "The Junior Scene" will be enlarged and a more complete line of accessories, bags, jewelry and the presently popular scarfs and 'kerchiefs will be added.

Sliding through the passageway into the rear area of the newly obtained "Mini Mall-Plus" will be The Art Corral. Here will be carried a larger inventory of arts and crafts supplies, with the addition of leather tooling equipment and leather. A "gallery wall" will be available for local artisit's displays. Some art classes will be taught in this section.

Located in the front of the newly acquired building will be two brand new business ventures. "The Country Lad" will carry famous brand name clothing for boys, sizes three to 20; also men's shirts, slacks and accessory items.

Also opening will be "The Calico Patch" with a complete line of quality fabrics, patterns and sewing notions. Target date for the opening of these latter two shops is Aug. 22, with a 'back to school' emphasis.

Watch pages of the Enterprise for advertising and further information from the expanded Mini Mall.

Lamb County Led State Castorbean Production

Lamb County farmers led the way in castorbean production in the state for 1973, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

Total production for the county was 4,940,000 lbs.

Because 1973 had one of the latest freezes in recent history, harvest started several weeks behind schedule, with rapid progression until the end of the year, White said.

Other counties in the top five in castorbean production include Parmer, Bailey, Hale and Castro.

Complete statistics on 1973 field crops are available by writing John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, 78711.

Raising Pintos Hazards Pointed Out To Farmers

Pinto beans have captured the spotlight with many High Plains farmers this year. Many of these people have never grown beans before and may need to be aware of some of the hazards involved according to Jim Valliant, research director at the High Plains Research Foundation, Halfway, Texas.

Probably the most critical observation to be made concerns the first irrigation. Young pinto bean plants should not be allowed to suffer moisture stress. The first irrigation should be applied from 3 to 5 weeks after planting, dependent on available moisture. Even though the water-use rate during this period is only .08 inches per day, the relatively small root system must have moisture to avoid stress. "Another critical time to check for moisture content of the soil is when the plant begins to develop small shoots, or runners," said Valliant. "In fact, beans should be irrigated about every 12 to 20 days, depending on weather conditions, etc. until the crop approaches maturity." Harvest of the beans should begin when about 80% of the pods are yellow and mostly ripe. At no time should the moisture content of the beans be allowed to drop below 40% before the beans are undercut and windrowed

Other information on pinto beans can be obtained from the 1973 Annual Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation, or by contacting the Foundation, Olton Route, Plainview, Texas, 79072.

DO YOU HAVE ADEQUATE FARM LIABILITY COVERAGE?

This year, nearly 15,000 farm residents will die in accidents. More than, 1,000,000 will be injured.

The occupational death rate among farm workers is the third highest for all types of industry.

The majority of these farm accidents are man-made. Human failures...not machines, animals or natural hazards are the cause of most of them. Most could have been avoided by strict observance of simple safety rules and common-sense caution.

Next time you are tempted to take a safety-short-cut...remember the 1,000,000 others who will carelessly take a chance...AND LOSE.

PRUDY JEFFREY & KIMBERLY WIMAN

Cooks Of The Week

Selecting recipes to share with Enterprise cooks this week are Mrs. Albert Jeffrey and her eleven-year-old granddaughter, Kimberly Wiman of Fort Worth.

Kim, who is beginning to prefer her full name, has been visiting in the home of her grandparents about a month and will return home this weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wiman.

Sharing a lot of common interests, the two have enjoyed a delightful month filled with visiting and lots of activities.

Kimberly, whose favorite subjects at school are math and spelling, is a sports enthusiast with natural ability inborn. She loves to swim, learning when she was only 16 months old, and enjoys the sport the year-round. Her favorite sport, however, is snow skiing.

Dancing is another love of Kim's and she is adept at ballet, tap and jazz. She likes tumbling and loves baton twirling. She also enjoys her grandmother's favorite sport - bowling.

Prudy had never bowled a game until Olton's bowling alley was opened several years ago. It is an activity that she and Albert share enthusiastically. When the bowling lanes were here, she was a member of a women's league and, with Albert, a couples' league also.

A member now of the Plainview Association, she and Albert bowl with a couples league. Both have compiled a wide array of trophies for their proficiency in the sport. Prudy's prize trophy is the one she received as Woman Bowler of the Year when the Olton Lane was open.

Interested in all sports, she played volleyball and basketball with the "varsity" teams when students did not have to be in high school to earn a spot on the school's top team.

Prudy also likes football and is an ardent fan of the Dallas Cowboys.

Sewing is another enjoyable pastime for Prudy. She makes most of her own clothes and has enjoyed sewing this month for Kim.

Prudy shares a chocolate candy pie shell recipe which is delightful but one that "just takes a little bit" to make a serving. Kim selected the Jello recipe and both agree on the tasty macaroni salad. Prudy says the macaroni salad is good with ham substitutions, such as canned luncheon meat or tuna.

MACARONI HAM SALAD

2 t. salt
2 qts. boiling water
1½ c. elbow macaroni (6 oz.)
2 c. cubed ham (or flaked tuna)
½ lb. cubed or shredded cheddar cheese
1 c. chopped celery
2 T. minced onion
¼ c. minced green pepper
salt and pepper to taste
½ c. mayonnaise
2 T. cream

Add 2 t. salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally until just tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again. Toss together macaroni, ham, cheese, vegetables, salt and pepper with mayonnaise which has been mixed with cream. Serve on crisp lettuce or other salad greens and garnish with chopped hardcooked eggs, if desired.

CHOCOLATE CANDY PIE SHELL

1 (12 oz.) pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 T. vegetable shortening
2 T. sifted confectioners sugar

Form pie shell by pressing 12" square heavy-duty aluminum foil in 9" pie pan. Cut off excess at rim. Carefully removed foil pie shell. Sprinkle in chocolate pieces and place on baking sheet in very slow oven (250°) for 5 minutes. Remove and set aluminum shell in pie pan. Add shortening and blend with back of spoon. Add confectioners sugar; blend. Spread mixture evenly on bottom and sides of foil shell. Chill until well set. Carefully removed foil and return chocolate liner to pie pan.

Note: Pie shell is crispy hard like chocolate bonbons coating. It will soften some for easier cutting if allowed to stand at room temperature 20 minutes.

APPLE SAUCE JELLO

1 c. water
¼ c. red hots

Put water into sauce pan and bring to a boil. Add red hots stirring constantly to dissolve. Add one 6 oz. box strawberry Jello. Pour mixture in bowl. Refrigerate about 30 minutes. Stir in one 16 oz. can of apple sauce, mix thoroughly and pour into mold. Refrigerate until set. Serves eight ½ cup servings.

WANTED FOR MURDER:

FATIGUE ON THE FARM

Due to Conditions beyond our control the farmer is working twelve to eighteen hours a day during the busy farming season each year. He knows and we know that this is too many hours day after day--but the crop has to be harvested.

Fatigue is one of the biggest killers on the farm. The mind does not work quite as fast, reflexes slow down, and accidents occur.

Perhaps the work day can not be shortened, but the chance for accidents can be reduced. A few minutes each day may keep you out of bed for a summer. Check each piece of equipment before starting work every day. Worn or broken equipment should be repaired, parts should be greased or oiled, nuts should be tightened, and shields should be checked.

Our modern equipment is expensive, powerful and dangerous. Respect it, work with it, not against it, keep it in good shape and it cannot hurt you. But slack up for just a minute, let your mind wander, look at the wheat in the next field, watch a jet flash through the sky, reach for your water bottle, and you may die.

When you have something to do stop the machine, shut it off, then take care of your chores. Be sure a piece of equipment is properly blocked up before you work on it. Check you clothing, a loose sleeve or pant leg is an invitation to disaster. Wear gloves when handling sharp or hot equipment. Keep cigarettes away from hot motors and fuel. Tell someone where you will be working during the day. Remember your tractor will be there tomorrow: perhaps you won't.

USAF Academy Cadet Visits In Stockdale Home

Cadet Van Davis of the United States Air Force Academy has been a houseguest the past two weekends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stockdale, Freddy and Lizann. Cadet Davis who will be a 3rd Classman (Sophomore) this fall, is a member of the same squadron as the stockdale's son, Steve. He has spent the last three weeks at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock, Texas as part of his summer military program known as Operation Non-Com, and will be returning to the Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., this week for the remainder of his summer training which includes survival and escape tactics.

Stockdale states, "Although Van's father is a retired Lieutenant Colonel with the Air Force and he has lived all over the United States and several foreign countries, Van had never been to Texas except as s small child. His parents live in Arlington, Va., just outside of Washington, D.C., and he really seemed to enjoy the many contrasts of our small town with his city. He took part in all the 4th of July activities at the ORC and especially enjoyed his first "Texas" barbeque. He is an enthusiastic bicyclist and has spent two summers traveling from California to the East with a group called Wandering Wheels, a Christian group who train for weeks and sometimes years to be accepted for the strenuous trips across the country."

"Van's enthusiasm for his Christian faith and all life in general was evident, and he seemed to especially enjoy the time he shared with several Olton teenagers who so graciously made him a part of their groups during his visits here," Mrs. Stockdale added.
