FHA Livestock Loan Program Provisions Given

An explanation of the special livestock loans available through the Farmers Home Administration was given when Arrell Cummings, county supervisor, met with representatives of county banks Monday afternoon, July 27. The group included Jimmie Lee of the City State Bank, R. M. Henderson of the Wellington State Bank, Earl Hunter of the First National Bank, Floyd Teutsch of the First State Bank, Dodson, County Agent J. W. Thomas and Zook Thomas, field manager of the Memphis Production Credit Association.

"These loans were authorized by Congress in new disaster legislation approved by President Eisenhower. This credit will be extended only to established producers and feeders of cattle, sheep and goats, who have a reasonable chance of working out of their difficulties but cannot obtain the funds they need from private or co-operative credit sources. Loans will not be made to enable a man to go into the livestock business or to carry on commercial or feedlot operations," Mr. Cummings said.

The application blanks are available from the FHA office on the third floor of the court house. All applications will be passed on by a special livestock loan committee to be appointed by Secretary Benson.

Loans will be made in amounts of $2,500 or more at 5 per cent interest for periods up to three years for the purchase of feed, seed or other operating expenses. They can be renewed if renewal is found to be in the best interest of the farmer and the government. The loan funds cannot be used to refinance debts the farmers already owe.

When a farmer applies for a livestock loan, his creditors will not be asked to subordinate their claim to the government. However, they will be expected to give stand-by agreements for a long enough period to enable the farmer to have a reasonable chance of recovery.

Area committees will be set up, with Collingsworth, along with Childress and Cottle counties which are administered out of this office, in the Amarillo area.

When an applicant's total indebtedness would exceed $50,000, final approval on a loan will be by the secretary of agriculture.

Authority for making livestock loans extends for two years.

The legislation passed by Congress also provides a supplemental source of emergency credit for established farmers, not limited to livestock operators, in areas designated by the president as major disaster areas. When the secretary of agriculture finds that farmers in these areas have felt the force of an economic disaster, such as a substantial price decline, to the extent that they cannot get needed credit from local sources to carry on farming operations, he can authorize loans to meet that need.

Emergency loans to help farmers hit by economic disaster will be similar to the disaster loans now being made by the Farmers Home Administration to farmers who have suffered production losses from natural disasters as drought, flood, and windstorm. Now loans will be made only during the period of the emergency. Lending will be handled by the Farmers Home Administration offices.

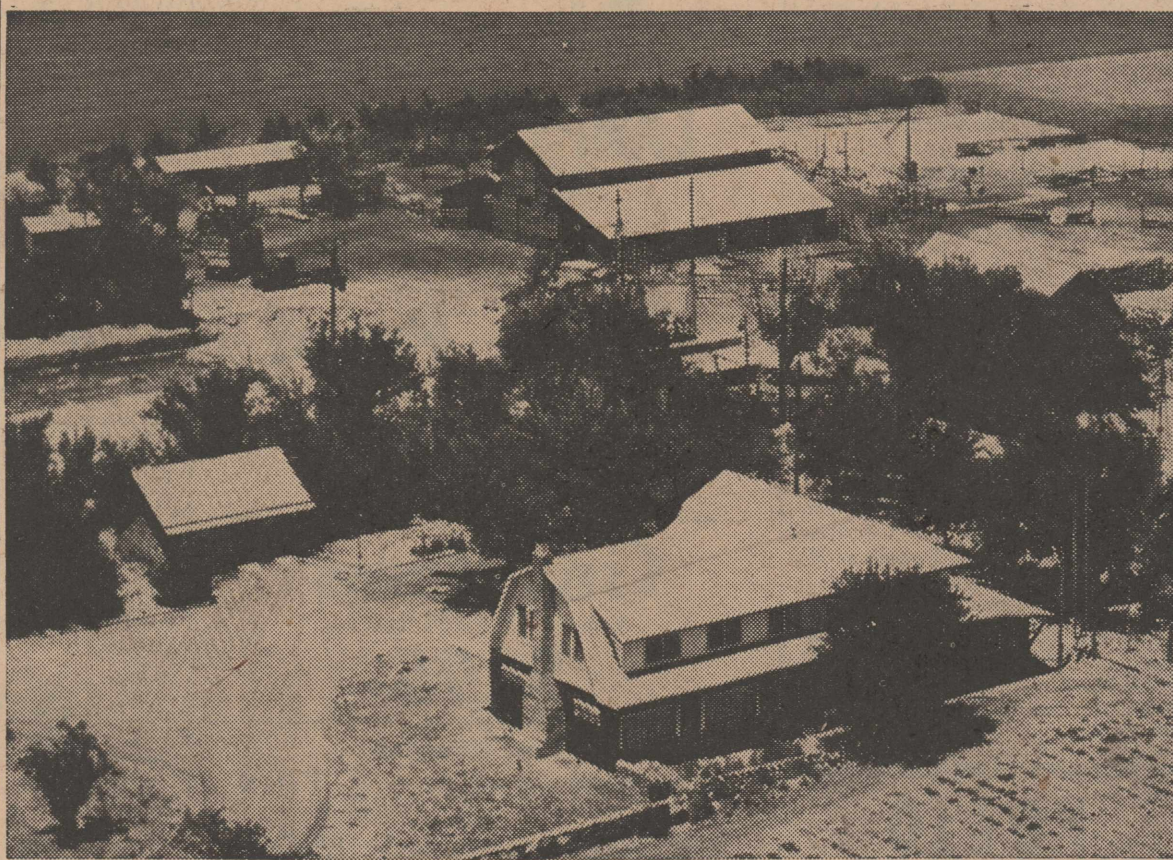

The new legislation also provides that in the future whatever expense the government bears in supplying feed and seed in disaster areas will be borne by a disaster loan revolving fund under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Agriculture. In the past this expense had been carried by the President's emergency fund.

The other two programs will also be financed out of the disaster revolving fund. About $16,000,000 is available at the present time.

Whose Farm Home is This?

Leader Features Area Homes In Mystery Farm Series

There's a real look of beauty and prosperity about Collingsworth County farms, in spite of the recent damaging drought, and this will be pictured each week in The Wellington Leader in a series of 52 aerial farm photos taken here recently.

In doing this, The Wellington Leader is recognizing that agriculture is the real basis of Collingsworth County life today.

It is doing something else — creating a friendly guessing contest among readers of the newspaper.

Nobody knows whose farms the photographers snapped with their big aerial cameras. It is up to the readers to let The Leader know whose farms are published each week. The publishers do not know whose farms will be printed — even the photographers do not know.

However, the photographers charted a course to include farms throughout the Wellington area, and they can come back and take more photos without duplication.

A beautiful enlargement of the original photo will be given free to the operator of each farm, as soon as it appears in the newspaper. However, the farm operator will have to call at the newspaper office and identify his farm, in order to receive the photo.

Everyone recognizing the farm is asked to let the newspaper know, so that the identity can be published the next week. The names of the first two to call or write, will be given free theatre passes and all names will be published. Recognizing farms from aerial photos is tricky business requiring a good knowledge of the building layouts and a keen sense of observation.

Who will be first to identify the farm each week?

In taking the "mystery farm photos" here, the photographer flew nearly 300 air miles back and forth across the area served by this newspaper. Farms were selected at random.

The most hazardous form of flying, at low altitudes, was performed in obtaining the series of pictures for The Leader. The Zekan-Robbins photo company has a waiver from the Civil Aeronautics Commission for their commercial pilot, in order that he may fly at altitudes of from 100 to 200 feet and get "close up" views.

Zekan and Robbins learned their trade in the United States Navy where they flew in aircraft carrier based planes in the South Pacific, using cameras similar to those used over the peaceful agricultural area here.

"Our photos carry the message of peace and prosperity," said Zekan.

Three to Five Inches

Heavy Rains Near Loco Damage Cotton, Alfalfa

By Mrs. George Adkins
More heavy rains fell at Arlie and south of Loco Thursday afternoon, preceded by a bad sandstorm.

At Arlie, rain amounting from three to five inches fell in a short time, flooding the creek and pushing water up into two bedrooms of the Loys Worrell home. Water also got up on the porch of Mrs. W. D. Wyrick's home.

Considerable hail damage to cotton and alfalfa in the area was reported.

Wilbur Johnson reported the worst damage to his cotton, which was a near total loss. Jake Lawrence, Tiffin Young Sr. and W. R. Harris reported cotton damage, but not too severe.

Crowder farm was hailed down. A small twister was sighted between Loco and Arlie but it didn't drop to the ground.

A dam on the Fowler lease worked by Frank Campbell broke, releasing water which broke another dam on the same place, shed water across the road one half mile north of the L. A. Sachse home, washed out a bridge and went on across Mr. Sachse's farm to take out his dam. Mr. Sachse had repaired his dam following the heavy rains of July 19, but it just couldn't stand all the pressure of the two other ponds.

A number of graves in the Arlie cemetery have been damaged by water, and families plots, especially if the graves have been put in during the past two years.

Wheat Allotment Meeting Called Thursday Night

A meeting of wheat growers of the county has been called for Thursday night, July 30, at the county court room, beginning at 8:00 p.m., county agent J. W. Thomas has announced.

Sponsoring the meeting are the PMA, Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, and Extension Service. Details of the allotment program will be discussed and growers will have an opportunity to ask questions as the meeting progresses.

Mr. Thomas pointed out that the county has had a base wheat acreage of 36,325 acres for the last two years, as reported by the growers to the PMA. The 1953 acreage allotment will probably be about 12 or 14 per cent less than this figure.

Growers, however, will be allowed to plant as much acreage as they wish to be used for grazing, green manure and hay, but they must have prior approval from the PMA office, and must designate their allotted acreage on the farm.

Information brought out in this meeting will help farmers in better understanding the wheat allotment referendum to be held August 14.

Seldon Wood Life Guard at Airpark

Seldon Wood, former Skyrocket and West Texas State athlete, has been named life guard of Marian Airpark Swimming Pool for the remainder of the summer, Donald Briggs, manager, has announced.

Wood replaces Doyle Wayne Ingram, who went to Clovis, N. M., to work for the Santa Fe Railroad.

Norwood Hunting Home Ec Teacher

A homemaking teacher for the Samnorwood high school is badly needed before the opening date of August 10, Supt. Orville Cunningham announced this week. Otherwise the faculty is complete.

The vacancy came about with the resignation of Mrs. Barbara Hardin, who because of illness in her family, is unable to teach.

All Former Wellington Teachers Invited to Alumni Reunion

Former teachers of the Wellington schools will gather along with the graduates for the third annual Alumni reunion Saturday, August 22, Jim Cochran, association president, announced this week, as invitations to all former faculty members whose addresses are available went out.

More than 1500 invitations have been mailed to graduates from the classes of 1909 through 1953, Miss Bessie Rainer, chairman of the invitation committee, said. Returns have been slow coming in, however, and Miss Rainer has requested that all those who received letters including those living within Collingsworth County, mail the return portion to her, indicating whether or not they can come to the reunion.

Only 137 returns had been received through Monday, July 27, and of this number, only 69 plan to be present.

Since many of the graduates who attended the reunion last year expressed a desire to visit the high school again, this year's business meeting, to be held at 3:00 p.m. Saturday afternoon, will be in the high school auditorium. The remainder of the affair will be at the community building.

Music for the Alumni Dance in the evening will be by Burl Hubbard and his Varsitonians, one of Lubbock's finest orchestras. Hostesses are still needed for the open house celebrations, according to Mrs. Donald Curry, and any one wishing to play hostess to one of these is asked to contact her.

(Anyone having the present address of any of the school's former faculty members is asked to contact Miss Rainer at the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., Dallas 1.

Graduates who have notified Miss Rainer they will attend include the following:

Push Work on Proposed Dam of Salt Fork River

The engineers preliminary report on the proposed dam on Salt Fork River was given representatives of seven towns in area that could be served in a meeting at Clarendon Tuesday night, July 28. The cost of the dam itself, as figured on the proposed location just across the line in Donley County, would be approximately $1,990,000 for the dam itself, but the cost of installations to furnish the towns with a municipal water supply would bring the cost to around $9,000,000.

Representatives were present from Wellington, Paducah, Quanah, Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis and Childress. Going from here were County Judge R. L. Templeton, City Manager Bura Handley and County Agent J. W. Thomas.

Judge Templeton pointed out that the report concerned only the Donley county location. A study will be made by A. H. Wolverton, Austin engineer, on a location on Salt Fork directly north of Quail, and another meeting has been called, to be held in Wellington when representatives of the same towns will meet with Mr. Wolverton. The date will be announced later.

The quality of the water will be a determining factor in the location of the dam, since it is proposed for municipal use, Judge Templeton pointed out. The Donley location will offer water that is considered good. Mineral content (gyp and salt) becomes high as the river goes through Collingsworth, since Gyp Creek, having one of the highest mineral contents of any creek in this area, empties into Salt Fork a few miles this side of the county line. He added, however, that the water tests were made from river water, while water backed up by a dam would be largely rain water.

Mr. Wolverton's report revealed that the proposed dam would be an earthen dam with concrete spillway and stone and gravel riprap, one and a half miles long and 59 feet high. He pointed out that his estimated costs were the maximum, and considerable saving could possibly be made as work went along.

In addition to water for municipal uses, amounting to approximately 25,000 acre feet, there would be around 18,650 acre feet left for commercial irrigation, however, the cost would probably be high, Judge Templeton said.

The proposed dam is sponsored by the Upper Basin of Salt Fork of Red River Association, organized three years ago. In order to protect its water rights on Salt Fork, due to expire September 19, the association is making application for construction of the dam to the Board of Water Engineers.

If used only for municipal purposes, the lake would provide for a 500 per cent population growth in the seven or eight communities served, Mr. Wolverton found. All towns except Clarendon would receive the water by gravity flow.

The Association was first awarded one-year rights to the watershed September 19, 1950, and have been renewed annually. A year ago the members were told that actual work must begin within the following year or rights would not be extended, since a dam is in the planning stage near Altus, Oklahoma, the watershed of which would include Salt Fork.

Two ways of financing the dam are open. One is that it be made a self-liquidating project, the revenue to pay the cost of the dam over a long period of years. The other is to secure federal help in construction.

Kenneth Hodge of Wellington began work recently as deputy sheriff, Sheriff Claude McKinney has announced.

For several years, Hodge has been employed by Alvin Horton and Ernest Harwell in their trucking business and in the H&H Furniture.

The new deputy sheriff was reared here and attended the local schools.

FATHER, TWO SONS, RECEIVE HONORARY D. D. DEGREES

A father and two of his sons who formerly lived at Wellington, all now ministers of the Baptist Church, will receive honorary doctor of divinity degrees from Howard Payne College, Brownwood, at the summer commencement to be held in Coggin Avenue Baptist Church July 28, at 8:00 p.m.

They are the Rev. R. C. Tennison, pastor of First Baptist Church, San Saba, the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Tennison of Wellington, and two of his three sons, the Rev. Clifton R. Tennison, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Borger, and the Rev. Grayson C. Tennison, missionary under the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board to Campina Grande, Paraiaba, Brazil.

Mr. and Mrs. Tennison will be unable to attend the commencement, as neither has been well, but their daughters, including Mrs. Guy Bumpas and Mrs. Eugene Bawcom, were to attend with other members of the family.

Rev. Clifton R. Tennison was scheduled to give the commencement address.

A native of Oklahoma, Rev. R. C. Tennison grew up near Wellington, finished high school after he was married, graduated from Wayland College, Howard Payne College, and spent two years working toward the Th.M. from Southwestern Seminary. His wife is the former Grace Cagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cagle of Quail. Rev. Tennison has served the First Baptist churches in Idalou, Crosbyton, Post, Hamilton, San Saba, also East Henderson Street Church, Cleburne, and Southside Baptist Church in Wichita Falls.

Howard Payne is conferring the honorary doctorate upon him in recognition of the distinctive service he has rendered in the church—the denomination and to the College. He was one of the first endowment secretaries of the College.

In 1950, he led his Church in Hamilton to make the first contribution to the Walker Memorial Library. He also directed the campaign for the $40,000 memorial to Dr. M. E. Davis, erected by friends and former students in the new library.

Rev. Tennison has rendered long and effective denominational service. He has served as moderator of his associations, past president of District 16, member of the Executive Board of District 16, member of the District 16 Encampment Board of Control, and a member of the Executive Board of the Texas Baptist General Convention. He is a Trustee of Howard Payne College.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deski's Wells

Optimism about crop and business prospects has risen by leaps and bounds since the rains of July 19. John Henard, the elder John that is, says in all his years in the Panhandle that he has never seen growing conditions change so rapidly for either range or row crops. That is quite a broad statement for as conservative a man as John Henard and for one who has seen as much of the development of this area as he has done.

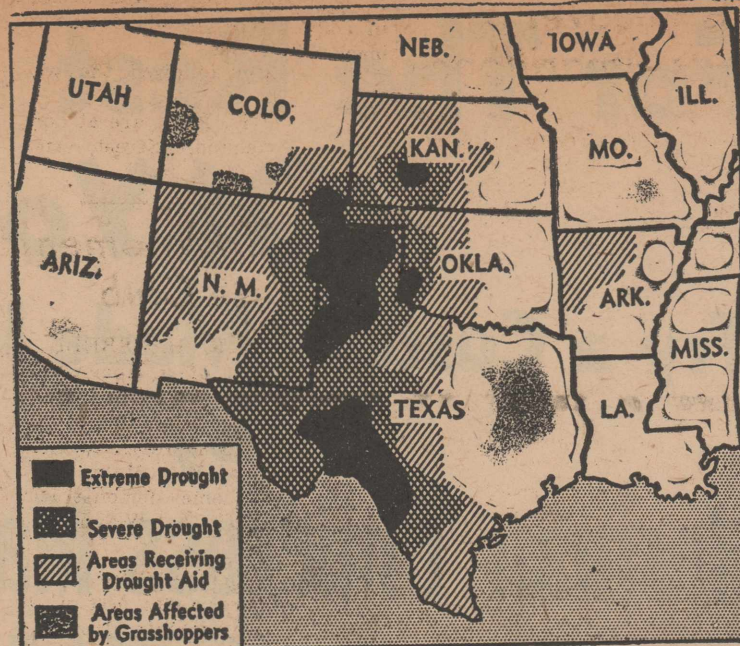

James Doneghy says flatly that the rains were worth more than anything he has ever seen in Collingsworth County. Modest Ben Farmer claims that his cotton is not as good as it was last year; but he is positive when he says that all of his neighbors have a better crop, and it should be remembered that the Quail section was the only one that made a good crop in 1952.

But the big difference lies in the flats around Fresno. Dodson made cotton north of town last year; but the big failure was in semi-flat land that stretches south from Wellington to Oklahoma. This year it is different. Elvis Crawley has irrigated cotton; but his neighbors have crops that are almost as tall and almost as good. Two weeks ago it looked like the poor plants could not last more than a few days. Now they are growing in an unbelievable fashion. Two more rains at the right time and we will make way above the average per acre yield in cotton. Five more rains at the wrong time and we will make lots of feed and the farmers will be poisoning the worms.

Want to see some Army helicopters. A group of them from Fort Sill will land at Marian Airpark Saturday, August 1. The hour will be between 7:30 and 8:30 in the morning.

The City State Bank subscribes to a weather forecast service and it hit the big rains that started on July 19 exactly. But here is the interesting part. It predicts a total of one inch in August with showers on August 1 and 2, showers on August 12 to 15 and showers on August 26 and 27. The man who plans this service is the one who charted the weather for the Normandy invasion.

A house moving company was moving a house from Vinson, Oklahoma, to Wellington Wednesday. They came by way of Dodge and made fine progress all the way until they reached East Avenue and started north. Their destination was the block on which Mrs. Otto Buerger lives. They moved up East Avenue without incident and there they came to the car jam around the Baptist church caused by the morning revival services. Within one block of their destination they had to wait fifty minutes for the services to end. The workmen seemed to enjoy the break. They sat in the shade and listened to the revival songs.

Have been reading a thought provoking booklet published by the Texas Department of Public Safety. You will find more about this on the editorial page of this issue and you can obtain a copy by writing the department at Austin. Here is one of the things it says about rural accidents. Only 37 per cent involved one or more vehicles. The remaining 67 per cent were one-car accidents in each of which only a single driver or pedestrian could have exercised preventative behavior.

The dangerous age for drivers is between 20 and 29. They were involved in 18.4 percent of all the fatal accidents. By contrast the 15 to 19 age group were involved in only 8.75 per cent of the fatal accidents. And my own age group 50 to 54 were involved in only 5.4 per cent of the accidents. The booklet has other odd and interesting statistics. One 92 year old driver was killed, another 91 year old driver was injured and a 97 year old driver had a wreck but was not injured at all. What were those old boogers doing driving cars in the first place?

A lot more men are killed in car accidents than women and this holds whether they be drivers, passengers or pedestrians. And the drivers killed always outnumber the passengers killed in any age group. And it is comforting to learn that school busses are about the safest mode of travel on the highways of the state.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Weaver chose a dress of light pink with white accessories, while

Census Bureau Gives Data on Co. Farms, Businesses

A "statistical picture" of Collingsworth County's population, homes, business and agriculture is presented in the recently published 1952 edition of the County and City Data Book, according to Supervisor James M. Hamilton of the Census Bureau's district office at Fort Worth.

The frame of the picture consists of the basic data which show that Collingsworth County has 9,139 inhabitants (1950), 3,150 dwelling units (1950), 1,038 farms (1950), 127 retail stores (1948) and 5 manufacturing establishments (1947). In the frame are some detailed figures concerning each of these items, such as:

Population: The median age of the county's 9,139 inhabitants was 28.0 years; citizens 21 years old and over numbered 5,360; families totalled 2,391; the median family income (1949) was $2,217; the median school years completed of persons 25 years old and over was 8.7.

Housing: 2,656 of the county's 3,150 dwelling units were occupied in 1950; 4.3 percent of the occupied dwelling units were equipped with central heating; 79.8 percent had mechanical refrigerators, and 92.3 percent had radios. The median value of one-dwelling unit nonfarm structures occupied by owners was $3,513.

Agriculture: The average value of land and buildings per farm was $25,918; 808 of the county's 1,038 farms were electrified; total value of farm products sold in 1949 was $10,663,000.

Retail trade: The 127 retail stores had 285 paid employees and reported sales totalling $7,455,000 in 1948.

Manufacturing: The 5 manufacturing establishments employed 26 (average for year) production workers in 1947 and paid $35,000 in wages; value added by manufactures in 1947 amounted to $134,000.

Old County Paper Shows Rain Record

An interesting comparison of the rainfall during the decade of 1880-1890 at Old Fort Elliott, at Mobetie, 40 miles north of here, was brought to light this week by County Clerk David Robinson, when he found several copies of the Collingsworth County Echo, printed in August and September 1895. E. E. McCollister was publisher.

The record was kept by the Signal Service of the U. S. Army, and are the only accurate moisture records for this area.

Included is the 16.16 inches of moisture received in the famous drouth year of 1881, which incidentally was about five inches more than Collingsworth County got last year. During four months of the 10-year period, no moisture fell at Fort Elliott, January 1880, March 1881, January 1883, and December 1889.

1880—16.79 inches; 1881—16.16 inches; 1882—24.76 inches; 1883—28.21 inches; 1884—33.91 inches; 1885—37.06 inches; 1886—21.65 inches; 1887—26.32 inches; 1888—16.51 inches; 1889—19.40 inches. 1890, through August, when the fort was closed, 13.53.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Thursday, July 30, 1953

You are a Potential Motorcide When You Violate Traffic Rules

The Texas Department of Public Safety has coined a new word for fatal motor car accidents. It is motorcide. This is revealed in a most interesting on Texas motor vehicle traffic accidents in 1951 and 52, while Collingsworth had a comparatively good record in each of these years, one fatal accident in each, that is still too many.

Here is what the booklet has to say on the causes and how car accidents happen.

What causes MOTORCIDE? Why is it that apparently normal people, who have been repeatedly informed of the many highway hazards, will continue to kill and to be killed by automobile accidents?

The answers to the above questions are simple yet complex. We know what causes traffic accidents but it is difficult to find the reason for public apathy toward a "public enemy" that the people themselves could destroy overnight.

Should a tornado strike one of our communities over a week-end, kill a score of people and of thousands of dollars damage to property, the entire resources of the Nation would be called upon to attempt to relieve the misery and suffering—the cause of which mortal man can do nothing about. Yet, most every week-end, in Texas alone, from twenty to thirty persons lose their lives in traffic accidents—caused by man himself—and but a few are concerned or even alarmed.

Should six persons become afflicted with Polio in one of our communities during an entire year the public would demand that something be done, and should that number of cases appear in a single month, the schools would be closed and public gatherings prohibited. Yet every day in Texas, on an average,

OTHER EDITORS SAY:—

Fire Department

Everyone is prone to take the local fire department for granted. I think that every citizen who stops to think certainly appreciates the work done by this organization, but few of us do anything to express our sentiments. I believe that the department at this time, is perhaps the best man for man, and has better equipment than ever before.

Members of the fire department say that three of the fires in town recently caught in closets where these receptacles were used as a catch-all. Any sort of greasy rag or clothing, subjected to the high temperatures which have prevailed, will result in spontaneous combustion. Home owners should check such fire hazards about their premises. J. A. Koch in the Quanah Tribune Chief.

Uncle Sam's Take

Texans can figure they were pretty prosperous last year, and in this case we mean the government's fiscal year which ended June 30. They had to be, else they would not have had to pay Uncle Sam $2,264,613,566 in direct taxes. Or, they might be feeling more prosperous if they had not been compelled to pay the taxes, for that would have meant an average of $300 left in the pockets of every man, woman and child in the state. The average Texas family of four could well use the $1,200 that would have meant in additional spending money.

The figures include individual income tax payments, corporation and excess profits taxes, and such federal levies as those on gasoline, alcohol and tobacco. It does not include the far from trifling there are 7 persons killed and buried not merely confined to a bed—because of MOTORCIDE.

Every accident has one or more causative factors. Only by eliminating these causes can the accidents be prevented. If everyone always complied with the stop-sign regulations there never could be that group of accidents with a "stop-sign violation" as a causative factor. If all motorists always drove at a reasonable and prudent speed there never could be that large group of accidents with "too fast for conditions" as a causative factor. And so on with all other causes—if the causes are not results in accidents, deaths and injuries could not occur.

Compliance with the laws that are enacted for the regulation of vehicle and pedestrian movements on our streets and highways cannot be 100 per cent achieved by law enforcement officers alone. To do so would require a traffic officer in each car. Since the adoption of this procedure is not feasible it follows that the prevention of accidents is mainly your job and mine—everyone's job. We cannot eliminate traffic law enforcement, of course; on the contrary we must increase it because a great many people will not voluntarily conform to safe motoring practices. Some means must be found that will cause more people to observe all safe driving rules not only because it is a violation of the law to do otherwise but also because it is the only true democratic way to enjoy the use of our streets and highways with others.

You are a potential MOTORCIDE when you violate any traffic regulation yes, even when you fail to exhibit the simple living-room type of courtesy to your fellow users of our motor transportation system.

ing sum paid in hidden taxes on the purchase of many articles necessary to existence, convenience or comfort.

The people of other states are in the same boat insofar as federal taxes are concerned. Texas was, in fact, about average—sixth in population and sixth in tax collections.

Taxes are the price we pay for government. Sometimes it seems, though, as if there is too much of both.

STRICTLY FRESH

A Chicago drunk walked home, went to bed unaware he was shot in a saloon fight. Guess he had too many liquid shots to notice a few lead ones.

An 80-year-old Colorado lady divorced her husband because he let her lie for four hours after a fall. She fell for him once but not again, eh?

A jailed Chicago youth claimed exemption from the draft because he was descended from extinct Neanderthal man. There's no exemption for exemption for extinction, bud!

A feline bundled up in a laundry bag, was freed just before getting a suds-dunking. Wonder how many lives the cat left behind when let out of the bag?

Police caught a Wisconsin bank robber carrying loot in his shoes. At least he was well heeled!

A lady tavern owner was ordered to remove view-obscuring potted plants from her saloon window. Drinkers will get potted in public from now on.

Hi, Comrade!

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek has been affected by the summer heat, his letter this week implies.

Dear editor:

With the world in the shape it is, with unsolved problems stretching out from here to Korea and back again, the drought, inflation, Russia, etc., it's odd how some people find time to spend energy and money on some minor problems, but I was readin in a newspaper last night which I picked up in the bank in town that mornin and will sign a note for if required to where a group of scientists up in New York have been conductin lengthy studies into the problem of why people get tired while workin.

Usin highly scientific instruments and complicated charts and figures, they've been gon into factories and checkin on workers, tryin to find out why they get tired. At last report, they were still workin on the problem and ain't ready yet to come out with the answer.

I don't want to interfere with anybody else's racket, but I will be glad to conduct such a scientific survey out here on my Johnson grass farm for a much smaller fee than those scientists are charging. Furthermore, it won't require any expensive layout for a laboratory, equipment, or scientific measurin devices.

I already got all the equipment necessary out here, consistin of a tractor and an unplowed field, not to mention a hoe, plenty of weeds in the garden, an axe, saggin fences, saggin gates, unpitched roof, stuck windows, rickety steps, etc.

All I ask to be furnished is somebody to examine while he works. I'll figure out a system where he can swing by me on the front porch in his rounds of work every hour, and will guarantee to come up with the correct answer.

The reason I know I will come up with the right answer is that I already know it. I know why people get tired while they're workin. I ain't gonna come right out and lay the facts bare yet, but after years of testin myself I believe I have figured out the answer.

And after I get the facts established, I will then back off and let science figure out a deeper problem, which is why, once you get tired of workin, you stay that way. I don't want science to remedy this feelin, I've had it for years and find it agrees with me. All I want science to do is to establish a reasonably acceptable theory of why a man is entitled to stay tired if he wants to. It'd be a handy thing to hand to people on a written sheet of paper when they come up and kick you on the foot while you're restin under a shade tree in the summer time.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

How Did Jesus Choose His Apostles?

To the 12 men whom Jesus called to special discipleship, He said, "Ye have not chosen Me, but I have chosen you."

Why, out of the many, did Jesus choose these particular men? We cannot answer that with full knowledge, but we can get some rather definite impressions from the nature of the men and the nature of the task for which Jesus called them.

It was not enough that they should be good, well-intentioned men. They must be good for the purpose for which Jesus chose them. They must be men of adventurous spirit, capable of endurance. They must be men of ambition, willing to sacrifice everything for a cause and a worthwhile goal.

Their spirit was manifest in the bold declaration of James and John, "We are able." Their rivalry about who should be first was in itself an evidence of their ambitious and determined spirit.

Jesus undoubtedly saw in them the makings of what they really became, and their achievement in the founding of the Church justified His vision and His faith in them.

But what about Judas? Was Jesus deceived in him? Or did Judas himself change? Of one thing we can be sure. The failure was not the Master's. Jesus called him for what he might have been, but Judas failed to rise to the vision.

Jesus calls us all for what we may be. How much do we rise to His vision of us?

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

WE COMMEND THE CLERGY

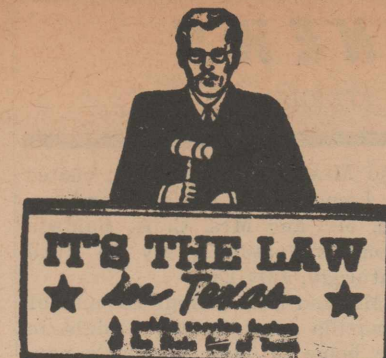

In view of the recent furor in Washington over Dr. J. B. Matthews' "American Mercury" article, "Reds and Our Churches," reporting that 7,000 Protestant clergymen have been listed on the rolls of Communist fronts, some additional facts should be considered:

1. There are 254,191 Protestant clergymen in the U. S. Thus 7,000 is only 2.8 per cent of the total. A similar percentage of the 22,459 Catholic clergymen would be only 628; and of the 2,350 Jewish Rabbis, only 65.

2. Much of the Reds' front activity is shrewdly calculated to attract the sympathy of churchmen. They seem to be constantly agitating on behalf of the underdog, the "downtrodden." The "downtrodden" were the special concern of Christ and naturally a great concern of conscientious Christian churchmen.

FRONTS ARE DECEIVING
3. Not many people are well informed on the tactics of the Communist conspirators. Americans have been slow in learning that the respectable-looking front organization is a trap through which the Reds get money to finance their underground work, foment strife between factions, and recruit converts to the Communist ideology.

When all these facts are considered, I think any fair-minded person would commend the American clergy as a whole for recognizing and remaining immune to the strong but bogus humanitarian ap-important question. Many people do not use their legal name, and this is apt to cause confusion and extra expense in legal proceedings. Every grown person should use the name given him by his parents and appearing on his birth certificate for all business and legal matters.

USE YOUR LEGAL NAME,
AVOID TROUBLE

Legally, this is a practical and What's in a name?

Take the hypothetical case of Albert Charles Smith. When he died and his lawyer filed the petition of probate for his estate, the petition was entitled, "In the Matter of the Estate of Albert Charles Smith, also known as Al C. Smith, also known as Charles Smith, also known as A. Charles Smith, and also known as A. C. Smith."

With such a simple name, what did Mr. Smith do to make the probating of his estate so complicated?

When Albert Charles Smith was born, the attending physician filed a birth certificate with that name. During his school years, his friends called his "Al."

Mr. Smith went to college, and decided that his name would look more distinguished if he wrote it "A. Charles Smith," and he was so regarded. His college diploma carried that name.

Starting out in business, Mr. Smith took a job that required him to write his signature many times a day. To simplify the work, he signed his name "A. C. Smith." His bank account and telephone number were recorded that way. Mr. Smith lost a part of his identity, since there were 11 "A. C. Smiths" listed in his telephone book.

Mr. Smith decided to get married, and he rushed to the Clerk of District Court to get his license. Without giving the matter such thought, he told the clerk his name was "Charles Smith." The name was recorded on his marriage certificate.

Mr. Smith bought a house, and the lawyer who handled the transaction asked for his full name. The deed was filed under the name "Albert Charles Smith."

A life insurance agent had previously written a policy for Mr. Smith under the name "Al C. Smith." During his middle life Mr. Smith took out other policies from another agent and all of them carried the name, "Albert C. Smith." He took a position with a railroad and appeared on the pension roll as "A. C. Smith."

Mr. Smith owned some securities and several pieces of real estate, and they were listed under various combinations of his name.

Then Mr. Smith made his will under the name of "Albert C. Smith." A year later he died. That is when his attorney started work to find out who Mr. Smith was. Mr. Smith's heirs now probably will have to sign affidavits to show that all of the names he used during his lifetime belong to Albert Charles Smith, and that he had interests in the properties listed under the various combinations of his name.

What's in your name? Every person should use the name appearing on his birth certificate and should make sure that all documents which have a legal bearing, such as school diplomas, deeds to property, certificates of stock and bond ownership, and insurance policies, carry the same name. This often will avoid complications in the probating of an estate.

Brittany is a province in France, not England.

now officially cited as Red, have of course been unwittingly aiding the Communist conspiracy. Some are preachers.

GENUINE RED CLERGYMEN

Various sources have for years recognized that some preachers were Communists. Some were secret Communists before they became preachers. They became preachers to infiltrate the church and influence large numbers of people in church congregations. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, has confirmed this fact. So has Herbert Philbrick, a loyal, courageous American citizen who served as an FBI counterspy in the Communist underground in Boston. He said several preachers belonged to his underground Red cell.

"These individuals," he told a Congressional committee, "were all Communists prior to their becoming ministers. I actually sat in at a cell meeting at the home of (name given) . . . one of the heads of the Communist Party. . . and a member of our cell was a young Communist about to be planted in a seminary to study to be a minister and infiltrate into the religious field . . . that was one of (our) main projects."

This unchallenged evidence doesn't detract from the fact that the Church is the one great force that ultimately must spell the doom of Communism, and that the vast majority of American clergymen are diligently working toward that end.

SALT FORK

By MRS. R. H. ISBELL

(Intended for Last Week)
Wonderful news from out this way. We've had rain — not just a shower but a regular cloudburst. Terraces on the G. C. Wright farm went out with a bang. First time in several years there's been that much water fall and believe it or not the roads were so flooded there wasn't any Sunday school. Anybody that got through for several hours were pulled with a tractor. But every body is so thankful for the rain.

Mrs. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Isbell were visited in the G. C. Isbell home last Thursday.

Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. C. A. Wright and Edna Ellen visited Mrs. Ray Maxwell Thursday.

Mrs. J. P. Cummings attended singing in town Sunday afternoon, while Mr. Cummings visited his mother. Singers attended from Childress and Shamrock.

Mrs. C. D. Messer and girls and Mrs. C. A. Wright and daughter were at Quail last Wednesday on 4-H Club business.

R. H. Isbell had well trouble last Wednesday. C. A. Wright and C. D. Messer helped him pull the well pipes.

The Ted Isbell family were back in Wellington over the week end. He is working in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peters and children attended the family reunion of the Peters family near Wellington over the week end.

Dinner guests in the C. D. Messer home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright, Charlie and Edna Ellen and Mrs. Maxwell.

The farmers will start planting feed, beans and peas in a big way soon as it gets dry enough. We hope the drouth is broken.

Mrs. Wright and the Isbells attended the revival services at the Nazarene Church Friday night. They have fine music, singing and preaching. If you haven't attended some of these services you've missed a blessing.

Mrs. Wayne A. Rasmussen of Holloman Air Base, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Moody of Pueblo, Colorado, visited Mr. and Mrs. Russell Marsh of Lutie. Mr. Moody helped his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Moody move to Plainview where they bought an irrigated farm.

Lakeview Pastor to Church Meeting

Rev. and Mrs. Bernard F. Seay and children of Lakeview returned last week from a motor trip through the east. Rev. and Mrs. Seay are former residents of Wellington. Mrs. Seay was formerly LaVerna Savage of Wellington. and Rev. Seay was the pastor of the Dodson-Kelley Methodist churches some years ago. Rev. Seay is now pastor of the Lakeview Methodist church.

They visited at points in Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, and the District of Columbia.

Rev. Seay attended the World Methodist Convocation of Evangelism. This was to celebrate the 250th birthday of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church. During that time they visited with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Seay, who is pastor of the New York Hill Methodist church in Brunswick, Maryland.

Dukes, Green Sox Go in Twin-Bill Here, Quails Relax

Wellington's Junior Dukes will remain home for the remainder of the league season. This Sunday, August 2, the "little" Dukes under Jimmy Leggett will stay home and try to pick-up some ground as they will entertain the Shamrock Green Sox in a twin-bill, while their "cousins" the Quails will be idle before coming to Wellington for a double header the following Sunday, August 9.

Paul Spillman, the regular manager of the home town crew, will be vacationing and Leggett, Duke third-sacker, will be at the helm of the ball club.

In the game Sunday, July 26, the Wheeler "nine" nearly lost their scalps to the Dukes by a tight 14-12 score. The top slugger for the Dukes was Leggett. He batted-out four hits in four times at the plate.

Both Wellington and the Green Hose have tangled before with the Green Sox capitalizing on the Dukes' errors.

Game time will be at 2:00 p.m. for the first seven-inning contest. In the other league contest Wheeler will entertain the Childress Orioles.

Dodson Revival Opens August 5

Revival services at the Dodson Church of the Nazarene will begin this coming Wednesday evening, August 5 and run until the closing service on Sunday evening, August 16, according to Rev. J. W. Douglas, pastor of the Dodson church.

The evening services are slated to begin at 8:15 p.m.

Rev. Charles H. Smith of Conway, Arkansas, will be the evangelist for the meeting. Rev. Smith is an outstanding evangelist and poet, devoting his full time to the service of the Church of the Nazarene. He was given his full time to the gospel for the past ten years and is recognized as an effective exponent of the Word of God, Rev. Douglas declared.

"In addition, Evangelist Smith is a well-known poet. The reading of his original poems adds a depth of the gospel meaning to each service. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Bethany-Peniel College, Oklahoma, having received the A. B. and the Th. B. degrees from that college," he said.

"We want to extend a hearty welcome to you and your friends to attend each of these special services," Rev. Douglas said.

Repair Under Way On Cemetery

Owners of lots in the Wellington cemeteries on which graves were damaged during the heavy rain July 19, are being asked by the Wellington Cemetery Association not to remove dirt and grass from the driveways and walks to fill in their graves. As fast as possible, the Association is having dirt hauled in and all graves that sank will be filled in, Zook Thomas, president, announced.

Anyone wanting their grave filled in immediately should contact the caretaker, Mr. Thomas said.

Approximately 350 graves sank and a little time will be necessary to get them back in good shape, he pointed out.

In taking dirt from around the lots, the grass will be destroyed and weeds will present a serious problem, Mr. Thomas said.

August 1 School Transfer Deadline

August 1 is the deadline for transferring school children from one district to another, County Superintendent B. W. Beaird reminded this week.

He also emphasized that all colored children who do not live in the Wellington school district should be transferred.

Applications for transfer may be made in the office of the county superintendent.
