Both Sides Claim Enough Power For Senate Victory On Supreme Court Issue

Ashurst Asserts President's Plan Will Be Approved 'This Year Or Next'; Opponents Count Committee Majority

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz) of the senate judiciary committee asserted today that there were 50 votes in the senate for the Roosevelt court bill and that it would pass "this year or next."

Saying he was not discouraged by the announcement of three hitherto uncommitted senators that they were opposed to the president's plan, Ashurst told reporters he was optimistic about the outcome of the controversy over the legislation.

On the other hand, opponents expressed confidence that they had the whip hand in the judiciary committee and in the senate itself.

The announcement that Senators McCarran (D-Nev), Hatch (D-NM), and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) would oppose the Roosevelt bill caused the foes to count a clear majority in the committee.

The committee chairman spoke his views on the prospects for the legislation after another executive meeting of the committee to discuss the bill and proposals to alter it.

The entire session was occupied today, committee members said with a discussion of a motion by Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) to add to the presidential bill an amendment to require more than two-thirds votes by the supreme court to invalidate federal legislation.

The Norris amendment, which would not apply to state statutes, would require 7 to 2 votes in the present court to over-rule acts of congress, or 11 to 4 decision with a 15-man court.

Ashurst announced, however, that he was opposed to the Norris plan or "anything else to take away judicial power; from the court.

No hint came from administration quarters as to whether President Roosevelt might agree to any compromise.

Some of those on his side said privately they hoped he would accept a modification. Some were reported urging him to withdraw the bill entirely or drop it for the present in the hope that time would bring a natural shake-up in the court.

Salary Hike For Judges Of Texas Voted

Measure Passed Finally By The Senate And Sent To Governor

RESUME DEBATE ON SALES TAX PLAN

That Levy Would Replace State's Present Ad Valorem Tax

AUSTIN, April 29 (AP)—The senate today sent the governor a bill increasing salaries of higher court judges.

Action became final through senate concurrence in house amendments. The house had rejected a conference committee report proposing greater raises.

Increases

Pay of judges of the supreme court of criminal appeals would be increased from $6,500 to $8,000, members of the commissions of appeals of the two highest courts from $5,700 to $7,500, judges of the courts of civil appeals from $5,400 to $6,500 and the state's attorney in the court of criminal appeals from $5,000 to $6,000. The bill also contained a provision for increasing salaries of Dallas county district judge $1,000 a year.

Debate on a proposed constitutional amendment ot authorize a two per cent sales tax and abolish the state ad varolem tax for the general fund was resumed in the senate. The body rejected an amendment providing that if the ad valorem tax was abolished funds equivalent to the present remission would be allocated from the sales tax to the Brazos river conservation project.

School Appropriations

A bill to increase the salary of the Denton country school superintendent from $2,500 to $3,300 a year was introduced in the house.

The lower chamber set for special consideration tomorrow bills making appropriations to rebuild school houses which have burned. Previous efforts to obtain a special setting of the proposals had been unavailing.

Submission for a constitutional amendment providing for discounts up to three per cent for prompt payment of property taxes became assured with house concurrence in senate changes.

The house passed, 121 to 10, a senate bill giving women equal representation with men on the state democratic executive committee. Each of the 31 senatorial districts would have a committeeman and committeewoman.

Another senate proposal approved by the house would create a soil conservation district of 32 counties in the Panhandle.

MOVE TO EVACUATE BILBAO AS INSURGENTS CONTINUE DRIVE

FLOOD WATERS AGAIN SWEEP JOHNSTOWN

A short-lived threat of another disastrous flood—Stoney Creek river overflowing its banks into Johnstown, Pa., streets—is shown near its peak. Workmen began clearing away debris shortly after the first danger subsided. Flood threats throughout the middle eastern states were subsiding today as rivers returned to their normal stages.

Appeal Made For Women And Children

Basques Ask Help In Providing Haven For Noncombatants

REBEL FORCES TAKE THE 'SACRED CITY'

Heavy Fighting Goes On As Efforts Made To Clear Capital

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, April 29 (AP)—General Emilio Mola's insurgent troops occupied devastated Guernica, "sacred city of the Basques," at 11:15 a. m. today while the government of the Basque republic strove feverishly to evacuate 300,000 noncombatants from Bilbao and pleaded with world powers to find a haven for them.

Aid for Women, Children

In Bilbao, President Juan Antonio Aguirre appealed to world powers for a haven for his helpless refugees of war. For the men of the Basque country, he added, "we ask nothing."

British liberals and laborites moved to aid the evacuation, but actual help of the British navy apparently awaited a Basque-insurgent agreement.

The Basques had lost Durango, in vicious street fighting. But today they reorganized their lines less than 16 miles east of Bilbao after retreat from Durango. Then they launched a fierce counter-offensive.

Heavy fighting was reported from the front lines at noon. The Basque and government troops were trying to keep Gen. Emilio Mola's insurgents from marching along the level, paved highway to Bilbao, Spain's "Pittsburgh," which lies on the long Biscayan ledge of the country.

In Retreat

Officials admitted that the Basques were in retreat on three fronts where three prongs of the insurgent forces are converging in their march to Bilbao. Officers reported their troops were retiring in complete order, shortening and consolidating their lines.

The village of Amorebieta, 11 miles from Bilbao, was bombed by insurgent planes, but without heavy casualties.

The insurgent airfleet twice appeared over the village and, after dropping bombs from a considerable altitude, power dived to 100 feet and turned machine guns loose on the streets. Most of the residents, however, had gained places of refuge.

Juan Antonio Aguirre, president of the Basque autonomous republic, called on "God and history" to witness the truth of his assertions that Guernica, historic cradle of Biscayan liberty, was bombed mercilessly Monday by German-made insurgent planes which left

Trade Parley Seen As Way Toward Peace

Nations Think Economic Factor Important In Relationships

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—With the nations of Europe rapidly realigning themselves into two blocs, some of the most important countries are looking hopefully to Washington and Secretary of State Hull for a further lead in connection with his advocacy of an economic conference to ensure peace by removing trade barriers.

Belgian Premier Paul Van Zeeland plans to visit America soon to discuss international economic cooperation with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull. The premier's trip was inspired by France and England—leaders of the western European bloc—and also has the blessing of Hitler, who stands with Mussolini in the eastern bloc.

The position is so difficult that statesmen see no hope of success in a purely political peace conference. Many of them believe, however, that out of economic readjustments and more friendly relations they might halt the armaments race and save Europe from probable war and certain bankruptcy.

The latest move in the reshuffling of alliances came this week when the Anglo-French bloc was strengthened further by agreement between England and France on the one hand and Belgium on the other regarding the latter's obligations as an ally.

This virtually coincided with a further cementing of the Italo-Germanic bond as the result of a conference last week in Venice between Mussolini and Chancellor Schuschnigg of Austria.

More and more, though, foreign statesmen are turning to the Hull evangelistic thesis which talks about trade barriers but in reality is an effort to apply the ethical code of the Golden Rule. One of the most promising signs is that Hitler, overlord of the nation which many others profess to fear, is anxious to cooperate in an economic conference.

PINNED BY TRACTOR, FARMER IS UNHURT

WHITEWRIGHT April 29 (AP)—Clyde Medearis, 21, farmer, escaped unhurt when a tractor toppled on him.

Examined by Sherman physicians after the accident, Medearis was found to have been uninjured and he returned home.

First it was feared he had been seriously injured when a tractor he was trying to get out of a mudhole fell over backward and pinned him underneath.

A 'SIT-DOWN' FOR ALIMONY

When Mrs. Genevieve Johnson, 26, decided to stage a sit-down, she chose a comfortable place—the front lawn of her husband's home. She vowed she would stay there (or thereabouts) until Ralph Johnson agreed to a separation and the payment of separate maintenance.

10 Pct. Slash Gets Support

Robinson Favors Plan To Cut All Federal Appropriations

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Senator Robinson (D-Ark) endorsed today the proposal of Senator Byrnes (D-SC) to make a flat 10 per cent cut in all appropriations, exclusive of fixed charges with discretionary power for department heads to transfer the slash from bureau to bureau.

Robinson told reporters he would prefer the Byrnes method to the proposal that 15 per cent of all appropriations be impounded, with discretion vested in the president to release additional funds.

Officials of the United States Conference of Mayors, which has advocated increased federal relief spending, conceded today that congress would not exceed the $1,500,000,000 fund suggested by President Roosevelt.

The group, which had asked a federal expenditure of $2,200,000,000 declared the smaller sum would

Labor Topics To Be Talked

Second Group Of Union Leaders, Industrialists Called

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Secretary Perkins invited 26 labor and industrial leaders today to attend a second conference on May 4 on collective bargaining problems under the Wagner act.

Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler corporation, headed the list of industrialists. He was the first auto manufacturer asked to help lay foundation for stabilized employer-employe relations.

Simultaneously the labor department's federal employment service announced an increase in employment and predicted its next report may show a record low of applications.

First figures for March were so far below February, when the active file contained 4,15,000 names that a recheck has been started.

New applications in March totaled 262,305 and placements 250,219.

Miss Perkins' May 4 conference will follow the lines of the first one last week, at which she said the 27 participants agreed that collective bargaining pacts were "sacred and binding."

Among the industrialists invited are Gerard Swope of General Electric Co.; Robert E. Wood of Sears Roebuck & Co.; R. R. Deupree of Cincinnati, president of the Procter and Gamble Co., and L. K. Comstock, president of the Merchants Association of New York.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and Philip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, were invited to represent John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

SUSPECT HELD

DALLAS, April 29 (AP) — Dallas authorities were informed today that Missouri officials are unwilling to give them custody of Lloyd Boxwell, wanted here in connection with the $25,000 hijacking of the Provident Loan Society office a year ago.

Boxwell was arrested in Joplin, Mo., Tuesday. He is wanted in several other states.

MARTIN CO. ROAD PROJECT APPROVED

State office approval has been given on the Ackerly loop road project in Martin county, the district WPA office announced Thursday.

The project, involving the installation of one drainage structure and laying of caliche base, will entail total expenditurer of $3,684. Of the amount, WPA will post $1,877 and the sponsors $1,806.

Work will commence May 3, and will be concluded before the period's end on June 30.

36-HOUR WEEK FOR FIRESTONE WORKERS

AKRON, O., April 29 (AP)—The first standard 36-hour week among the nation's major industries was provided today in an agreement by the Firestone Tire & Rummer Co. and the United Rubber Workers to end an eight-week-old strike at the company's large South Akron plants.

Leaders of the pioneer Committee for Industrial Organization union will submit the contract to the Firestone local for ratification tomorrow morning.

The agreement provided for reduction of working hours to 24 per week for eight consecutive weeks before any layoffs are made.

Highway 9 Work Put In New Program

Improvement Of Stretch South Would Be Federal Aid Project

Two West Texas highway jobs were included in the request of Gibb Gilchrist, chief engineer, to the bureau of public roads for approval under the regular 1938 federal aid program. Total cost of the projects was to be $15,000,000.

Among the proposed road improvements was the grading, drainage and surfacing of highway No. 9 from Big Spring south for 4.5 miles.

The development of the stretch would mean the removal of old one-surface topping placed in the early twenties, straightening of the road and widening curves.

County commissioners court bought right-of-way for the proposed changes in 1932 while securing roadway south to the county line. When contract was let for construction on No. 9 south, it covered the segment from 4.5 miles south to the Glasscock line.

Harry Hines, chairman of the state highway commission, assured a local delegation late in 1936 that the additional work on No. 9 would come up for consideration in 1937. He indicated at the time it likely would be subservient to projects on No. 1.

Other West Texas job in this area was for the surfacing of highway 28 from Spring Lake in Lamb county to the Bailey county line.

Author Dies In New York

Norman Hapgood Known As Political Associate Of Al Smith

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Norman Hapgood, prominent author and editor and political associate of Alfred E. Smith in his terms as governor of New York, died today following an operation. He was 69 years old.

At his home, it was said the editor had been ill for several weeks. He died at the New York hospital.

In the second Wilson administration, Hapgood was United States minister to Denmark.

From a dramatic critic's job on the old New York Commercial Advertiser—a few years after his graduation from Harvard in 1893—Hapgood became editor in 1903, of Collier's Weekly, a position which he held until he went with Harper's Weekly in 1913 as editor.

When Smith became governor of New York, Hapgood joined the close circle of advisers and was a frequent conferee on social, economic and political matters. With the late Henry Moskowitz—who was the husband of Mrs. Belle Moskowitz, the former governor's political secretary for many years—Hapgood chronicled the life of Smith in the book "Up From City Streets."

As a biographer, he wrote books on the lives of Washington, Lincoln and Webster. One of his latest works, published in 1930, was "The Changing Years," a study of the changes in the social-economic conception of government.

WALLY'S DECREE TO BE MADE FINAL NEXT MONDAY

LONDON, April 29 (AP)—Wallis Warfield Simpson's divorce decree nisi from Ernest Oldrich Simpson will be made absolute Monday, a day earlier than had been expected.

Then she will be free to wed Edward of Windsor, perhaps as a June bride.

It was learned today the application for the final decree will be heard Monday before Mr. Justice Bucknill.

Veteran Actor Death Victim

William Gillette, Noted For Sherlock Role, Succumbs At 81

HARTFORD, Conn., April 29 (AP) William Gillette, veteran actor, died today of a pulmonary hemorrhage at the Hartford hospital.

Gillette, who was 81, came to the hospital from his Hadlyne home several weeks ago.

WILLIAM GILLETTE

It was his second visit to the institution within the past six months. His physician said a severe cold had undermined his health.

The venerable actor gained his first fame on the stage as the star of "Sherlock Holmes."

His illness started last fall with a cold while he was at his showplace home in Hadlyne, where Gillette had spent many years in virtual seclusion.

Gillette's fame was enhanced through his acting in another of his productions, "Secret Service."

In the winter of 1935-36, the veteran actor appeared in New York and other eastern cities in a revival of "Three Wise Fools," and was acclaimed by theatre audiences.

At that time in a curtain speech in Hartford, Gillette said he hoped to return again to the theatre in another revival after "another ten years."

Business Office For School Dist. Being Considered

Tentative plans for a business office building for the Big Spring Independent School district were considered by the board in a called session Wednesday afternoon.

The proposed building, to house the business and tax offices, would be located on the school property immediately west of the post office building.

Plans were submitted to the board architect, W. T. Strange, Jr., for checking and revision. Bids likely will be asked at a later date. The entire structure is not expected to exceed $6,000 or $6,500 in cost.

Next regular meeting of the board will be held May 11.

KILLED IN MISHAP

FORT WORTH, April 29 (AP)—C. E. Deborde, Jr., about 30, was killed near here shortly after noon today when his car crashed into a bridge abutment. Deborde was riding alone. He was a salesman for an air conditioning company and lived here.

FDR Reaches New Orleans To Take Boat

Crowds Greet Executive Along Mississippi Shore Line

NEW ORLEANS, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt and party arrived in New Orleans at 12:28 p. m. today to board a destroyer for a fishing cruise in the gulf.

GULFPORT, Miss., April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt rebarded his special train here today and left at 10:30 a. m., Central time, for New Orleans where late today he will embark on a Gulf fishing vacation.

Elliott Roosevelt, the president's third son, and Gov. Richard W. Leche of Louisiana, who had recovered from an illness that sent him to a hospital yesterday, joined the presidential party here and rode to New Orleans.

The president waved his light tan felt hat at the crowds lining the streets in Gulfport. He arrived at the depot heavily laden with bouquets of magnolias, state flower of both Mississippi and Louisiana.

Brief Talk

The president made a brief address from the rear platform of his train here.

Earlier, at "Beauvoir" where Jefferson Davis spent his last days, the president's car stopped before the steps of the old white frame dwelling crowded with spectators and a scattering of Confederate veterans, holding American and Confederate flags.

Miss June Braun, daughter of Biloxi's mayor, stepped forward and presented the president a gavel made from a cedar tree of the Davis estate.

The president had detrained at Biloxi for an hour's automobile ride about that city and a long 15-mile crowd-lined strip of the coast, before taking the train again here.

Thousands of spectators from Mississippi and Louisiana greeted the vacationing chief executive as he got his first view of the Mississippi shore line in years.

The motorcade of several score cars followed a route which would permit the president to view the veterans hospital in Biloxi and the Confederate veterans home near Gulfport which once served as the residence of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

REPORT LAMB NEAR SNYDER UNCONFIRMED

Rumors that Alfred "Sonny" Lamb, escaped convict, was fleeing a posse south of Snyder Thursday morning could not be confirmed here.

Lamb broke jail at Fort Worth early Saturday morning and fled northwest, last being seen near Olney.

Officers of this section, however, were on the watch for Lamb, convicted here last November of a liquor store robbery and given 25 years. Lamb's sentences total 166 years. While not informed of the reported Snyder development, local officers believed that Lamb was still in West Texas.

FIRE DAMAGE LIGHT

Small damage resulted from a fire occurring at a blacksmith shop in the 100 block of Runnels street Wednesday evening. A bed which was ablaze was pulled from the building to the sidewalk where firemen at once extinguished it. A man was taken into custody near the location.

Neutrality Compromise

Congress Speeds To Complete Bill Before Deadline

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — The house, in a race with time, adopted today a compromise conference report on the Pittman-McReynolds cash and carry neutrality bill.

The report went to the senate, where leaders stood ready to jam it through before nightfall.

Arrangements have been completed to rush the bill to President Roosevelt by airplane so he might sign it before the present neutrality law expires Saturday. The report was approved by a voice vote.

The compromise measure would add two major features to the temporary neutrality act, which expires Saturday:

1. A "cash and carry" system for trade with belligerents, under which the latter would be required to pay cash for purchases and the merchandise would be carried abroad in foreign ships only after title had passed from American ownership. The system would be effective for two years only.

2. A section to bring warring factions in major civil conflicts within the scope of the American neutrality policy.

The bill would retain provisions of the existing law for mandatory embargoes on extension of credit and loans on shipments of arms, ammunition and implements of war to belligerents.

LONDON GOING GAY IN GETTING READY FOR CORONATION EVENT

LONDON, April 29 (AP)—Old London was in the full flush of pre-coronation preening today.

With only thirteen days left before the day of grandeur—May 13—when Big Ben will boom forth at noon and a king will be crowned, it is a changed London.

What was the mail has become a long line of masts topped by heraldic lions. A "gateway of triumph" is rising at the foot of Whitehall. A "maypole" is being built at Charing Cross. Stands along Hyde Park flaunt red, white and blue bunting.

London, with gathering speed, is going gay.

Parliament Square looks as though a circus were coming to town. Canvas covered grandstands block every view.

It is costing a great deal of money to make stolid, sturdy London a city of festival. To "dress" four miles of streets in Westminster, for example, will take $115,000.

The electric lights represent an estimated ten billion candle power.

White and gold play a prominent part in the decorations that flutter in the April wind. Blue and white banners, too, are being hung.

The statue of Charles I., at Charing Cross, is being surrounded by bannered masts. There will be a living guard for the statue on coronation day.

Terror-Stricken

Basques, terror-stricken by the attack in which 800 civilians were said to have died, charged waves of bombing planes first made Guernica uninhabitable by their barrages, then an armada of pursuit ships slaughtered women and children who fled to the fields, strafing them with machine-gun fire.

The Basque cabinet met in emergency session at Bilbao to help the city's war-swollen population find refuge from the menace of devastating aerial machine-gunners and the dread pressure of approaching armies, but cold water was dashed on their hopes for immediate refugee evacuation by the British fleet.

Spokesmen for the British foreign office in London said it would be necessary first for the Basques and their insurgent foes to agree on the evacuation of perhaps 100,000 refugees from the besieged Basque capital under the protecting guns of British men of war.

Then the British government will decide how it can help.

MADRID SHELLED

MADRID, April 29 (AP)—Firemen and soldiers saved valuable munitions supplies from a cavalry barracks fire today after heavy insurgent artillery shelling which pushed the death toll above 300 for the 18 days of successive bombardment.

Firemen from every division within the city were called to combat the flames which destroyed the barracks. Munitions and oil and gasoline supplies were rescued.

Police ordered a thorough investigation to determine if the blaze was incendiary.

Today's morning bombardment was centered on the Uuerta Del Sol sector in the heart of the city, and 16 were killed. One shell struck the church of St. Carmen.

In the halls of congress, there was talk of a compromise with the "economy bloc" by cutting $300,000,000 from the president's relief estimate. Senator Byrnes (D-SC) and others have demanded that relief costs be reduced to an even billion dollars.

The house late yesterday approved a $4,000,000 increase in an appropriation for expenses of the Tennessee Valley Authority not anticipated in the funds allotted at the beginning of the year.

The session's second deficiency appropriation bill, providing $83,136,943 for TVA and other agencies, passed on a standing vote 54 to 17.

Dismissal Of Murder Count Is Refused

Denhardt Must Present His Side Of Case Before Jury

NEW CASTLE, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall refused to dismiss murder charges against Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt today, leaving the portly defendant and his counsel to present their side of the case to the jury.

The commonwealth closed its case late yesterday and after "sleeping over" the defense plea that the commonwealth had not made a case in nearly a week of circumstantial evidence and scientific tests, the judge overruled the motion this morning.

The 61-year-old soldier-politician was expected to tell the jury in his own words later today his story of the shooting of Verna Garr Taylor, his fiancee.

On the night the comely, 40-year-old widow was found dead last November 6 after an automobile ride with Denhardt, he expressed belief she had killed herself with his heavy army pistol.

On motion of the defense, the court ordered that the jury be taken to inspect the death scene.

MORRISON STUDENTS APPEAR BEFORE CLUB

Following a brief history of the Mexican race by John R. Hutto, principal of the Kate Morrison school, who told of their habits and the Texan's struggle against Santa Anna, students of the Kate Morrison school were heard in a number of songs at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Thursday. The students were accompanied by Mrs. Egleston, a teacher in the school.

Cecil Collings, district attorney, and Joe Faucett, justice of peace, invited Kiwanis to participate in the District 2-T Lions convention opening here Sunday.

Program chairman for the day was L. A. Eubanks.

NEGRO'S EXECUTION IS SLATED TONIGHT

AUSTIN, April 28 (AP) — Elmer Pruitt, one of three negroes charged in the killing and burning of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. German, aged Athens couple, Sept. 24, 1934, is scheduled to die in the electric chair at midnight tonight.

Gov. James V. Allred said he had no protests to the execution.

It will be the state's first execution of the year.

Pruitt was sentenced specifically in the death of Mrs. German who with her husband was killed during a robbery of their home. The marauders burned the house behind them as they fled.

Hughey Fulton and Artie Cook were convicted also and given the death sentence. Fulton was granted a new trial and Cook's case is on appeal.

HALF OF APPLICANTS GET AGE PENSIONS

Half the number of oldsters applying for old age assistance are now receiving grants in this district, George G. White, district supervisor said Thursday.

In a check of accounts against state records, the district showed a total of 3,248 applications. Earlier in the week a summary of grants and payments showed 1,663 oldsters to be receiving checks in the 16 county district.

Of the total number of applications, approximately 860 have been denied, leaving about 725 pending cases. Average grant for the district is $17.03.

REPORT DEATHS IN PRISON OUTBREAK

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., April 29 (AP)—The warden's office reported three inmates were killed and a fourth critically injured in an attempted prison break today at West Virginia state penitentiary.

An attache of the office of Warden C. F. McClintic said guards shot the prisoners as they attempted to escape over the walls.

Information was not available as to whether others in the prison colony of 1,800 men were involved in the attempted break.

The prison office said, "there is still too much excitement to tell."

BRITISH AIRMEN DIE AS BOMBERS COLLIDE

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

STEAMER REPORTS FIRE; AID RUSHED

SEATTLE, April 29 (AP)—Coast guard division headquarters today picked up distress calls from the steamship Cordova, reported afire and her steering gear broken in a stormy gale whipping Hecate Strait, B. C.

The coast guard patrol boat Alert was dispatched from Ketchikan, Alaska, to her aid. Messages said the fire was in the Alaska Steamship company liner's No. 2 hold.

The Cordova sailed from here Monday, for Kodiak Island via southeastern Alaska ports, carrying 104 passengers, including 60 men to staff the Port Hobron whaling station.

Capt. G. J. Goetz, her master, reported a southeast gale and a rough sea. He gave his position as the center of the strait, which separates Graham Island from the provincial mainland, opposite the mouth of the Skeena river.

Women Tell Of Abortions

Six Relate Submitting To Operations From Accused Woman

WATONGA, Okla., April 29 (AP)—Milton Keen, Custer county attorney, said today six women made sworn statements they submitted to illegal operations at the hand of Mrs. John Moore, held with her husband on a murder charge in the alleged abortion death of a Clinton girl.

A widespread investigation, conducted by authorities of two counties, pointed to another section of western Oklahoma today.

Keen said he had evidence an abortion business had been carried on at a place in Washita county, south of here.

Nelson Crow, Blaine county attorney, who filed the murder charge against the Moores said he was investigating the death of a young married woman a few years ago.

Meanwhile, Keen and Crow interviewed women whose names appeared in correspondence they said was found at the tiny farm of the Moores, who pleaded innocent yesterday to the charges filed following the death of Miss Merl Williams, 21, raven-haired Clinton working girl.

Keen said the names of more than 100 women had been taken from the home of the 57-year-old midwife and he estimated possibly 1,000 had been treated during the last nine years at the Moore farm near Longdale and the Moore home in Longdale, where the couple formerly lived.

Miss Sue B. Mann, deputy state superintendent, left Thursday for an inspection trip in Martin and Midland counties. From there she planned to return to her headquarters in Alpine.

Rooms Needed For Delegates

Those Who Will Accommodate Visitors Asked To Notify C-C

Housing committee for the Lions district 2-T convention convening here Sunday considered the possibility Thursday that hotel facilities might be inadequate for the number of visitors anticipated.

Lee Hubby, chairman, urged private homes with rooms, which could be used for guests, list them with the chamber of commerce.

Other details connected with the convention were in good order. The complete program came rolling off the press Thursday, and the coupon books were made available. Badges, canes and decorations have already been received.

Grover C. Dunham, chairman of general arrangements, said, that the public would be permitted to take part in the Governor's Ball Monday evening at the Settles hotel at regular script rates.

WOMEN'S GOLF IN QUARTER-FINALS

By W. T. RIVES

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 29 (AP)—It was still Betty Jameson and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite against the field today as the Texas women's golf tournament moved into the quarter-finals, but Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio was ready to dispute that.

Mrs. Hury eliminated Mrs. H. A. Peterson of Dallas, yesterday 4 and 2 juggling three bad-luck holes, 16 pars, a birdie and bogie to come up with a round of 83.

Mrs. Hury teed off today with Mrs. E. H. Wohlfahrt, Dallas ace of municipal links.

Miss Jameson, six-year veteran, despite her 17 years of age, met sternest opposition since she began defense of her title here over the Texarkana country club course, where par is 73 and seldom threatened.

Mrs. Ralph Randolph, Dallas, who defeated Betty at the same stage of the state tournament in Dallas three years ago, 4 and 3, had that chance again today.

Mrs. Goldthwaite met Miss Kathryn Pearson who won her match against Mrs. Ike Handy, fellow Houstonian, yesterday as she sunk a 15-foot putt for a birdie four on the eighteenth green.

The other quarter-final matches: Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. S. Tate of San Antonio.

Miss Jameson smothered Mrs. Jake Hamon of Dallas, 6 and 5, yesterday as Mrs. Goldthwaite eliminated Helen Warren of Dallas 5 and 3. Mrs. Tate dropped from the chase Mrs. F. E. Pharr, Texarkana, 3 and 2. Mrs. Winger defeated Mrs. C. F. McCaulliff, Dallas, 3 and 1.

Another dark horse to fall was Mrs. S. G. Hopkins, also of Texarkana. Mrs. Randolph defeated her 5 and 4. Mrs. Wohlfahrt defeated Mrs. W. T. Stafford of Dallas 8 and 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick returned Wednesday evening from a visit to Hillsboro. Accompanying them were Mrs. Dave Berry and daughter, Ethel Jean, who visited relatives at Whitney.

Vital Chemicals Being Exhausted From Soil, WPA Survey Reveals

NEWARK, N. J., April 29 (AP)—Scientists on a WPA soil inventory project concluded today that agriculture in the United States must "die of its own neglect" within 200 years and "the population follow suit" unless soil fertility measures are instituted.

Using soil samples from 48 states to determine chemical resources, the WPA workers calculated that nitrogen, vital to plant life, will be exhausted from the soil within 224 years, sulphur will have disappeared by 2062, and "the eventual result will be a China-like famine in the richest country in the world."

The soil nutrient losses were blamed on erosion, leaching (the action of water seeping through the earth); harvesting, livestock, burning and the rapid oxidation of organic matter in the soil.

The net annual loss in vital soil elements was set at 6.5 million tons of nitrogen, 3 million tons of phosphorus, 45 million tons of potassium, 55.5 million tons of calcium, 20.5 million tons of magnesium, and 3 million tons of sulphur.

BLOODHOUND SENT AFTER FUGITIVES, ALSO IS MISSING

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 29 (AP)—Yesterday police were hunting three youths who had escaped from the Arkansas Boys Industrial School at Pine Bluff.

Today they also were hunting a bloodhound that was sent out to find them.

Boys answering the description of the three appeared Tuesday at Jefferson Springs, near Pine Bluff. They had a bloodhound with them.

VOTE EXTENSION OF FARM INTEREST RATE

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The house agriculture committee agreed today on a bill extending the present emergency interest rate on farm land bank loans to the 1938 fiscal year.

The emergency rate of 3 1-2 per cent would be stepped to 4 per cent in 1939, under the bill's provisions. The rate on the short-term land bank commissioners' loans would be reduced from 5 to 4 per cent for the two years.

JUDGE OVERRULES PLEA IN ABATEMENT

Judge Charles L. Klapproth Thursday morning overruled a plea in abatement made by the defendant in the case of William Cabble versus Independent Eastern Torpedo company, suit for damages.

He had set the case for hearing on that point only last week when he called the 70th district court docket.

Other cases included divorces granted to R. R. Marchbanks from Minnie Marchbanks, Nora Gregory from Will Gregory, and Inez Housley from Horace Housley.

TWO SMALL BOYS BURNED TO DEATH

LOS ANGELES, April 29 (AP)—Two small boys burned to death in the bedroom of their home during the absence of their parents at a neighborhood film theater early today.

Her clothing afire, 11-year-old Evelyn Lowe, sister of the victims, ran screaming to neighbors for help. Two engine companies were unable to save Henry F. Lowe, Jr., 9, and Eldred, 7, from the crackling blaze.

STRUCK BY CAR

DALLAS, April 29 (AP)—Eli Sanger, 59, of Sanger Bros., was examined today to determine the extent of injuries suffered last night when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing the street. He was given first-aid treatment and removed to his home.

Baby Born In Trailer

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UP) — Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robinson of Entiat Valley claim to be parents of the first baby born in an auto trailer in the Pacific Northwest. A daughter, Kay, was born to them in March. They have lived in their trailer for several months.

METZ TO MISS PGA TOURNEY

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 29 (AP)—Dick Metz, golf pro at the Mill Road farm club, Lake Forest, Ill., said today he probably would miss the P.G.A. tournament at Pittsburgh next month and with it a chance for a place on the U. S. Ryder Cup team.

Metz, still in a hospital here recovering from an ankle injury he received in an automobile accident in Florida in March, said he would not be able to reach Chicago by Monday for the P.G.A. sectional qualifying.

THIS WILL SURPRISE A LOT OF CAR OWNERS

IF YOU haven't been buying Goodyear Tires because you thought you couldn't afford the best, here's something that will surprise you:

The cheapest thing on your car is the best tires you can buy. Operating records of large fleet owners show that gasoline actually costs 5 times as much per mile as a full set of Goodyears—other routine expense 2 to 4 times as much!

But more important than economy is the greater security Goodyears give you. The greater grip of center traction! The quicker-stopping All-Weather type tread with its life-saving margin of safety! The greater blowout protection of patented Supertwist Cord in every ply!

A Goodyear in every price class

Goodyear offers you these time-proved features in tires of several different price classes—each the top quality tire for the money. The price difference is just a matter of how much mileage you want to buy.

So why gamble on unknown tires when Goodyears—the world's first-choice—cost less than anything else on your car?

CLEAN UP! DRESS UP YOUR CAR!
The name GOODYEAR assures you Quality and Value in these products:

Reading + AND + Writing

By John Selby

So much has been written about economics from the anti-capitalistic side of the fence that it is only fair for a pair of confirmed capitalists to have the floor for a moment. These are James H. R. Cromwell and Hugo E. Czerwonky, and they are speaking through the occasionally very difficult pages of a book they call "In Defense of Capitalism."

Their thesis is rather odd, for these times. They insist that we are not witnessing the breakdown of capitalism, but that we are witnessing certain phenomena which are the result of capitalism's never having been given a fair chance to function. The present difficult state of the worker is due, Messrs. Cromwell and Czerwonky believe, not to capitalism but to ignorance of its proper functioning.

"The fact is," they say, "that capitalism is an ideal which never has been achieved. Before discarding capitalism and economic freedom for a system of regimentation nand rationing, we contend that the defects of our monetary organization should first be remedied and capitalism thereby given a fair chance to show what it can do."

There is no space here to provide even a bare outline of the authors' theories, even if I were economist enough to condense them. It is perhaps the root of the matter that, after explaining what the fundamental rules are in the ideal capitalism, they suggest ways to achieve them One of the more important is a manufacturers' sales tax. The income tax and indeed most of the taxes we groan under at present are wrong, the authors believe, because they "ignore" the factor of market competition. The theory of the income tax is particularly pernicious, and especially unfair to the worker, they insist.

The book is such a complete right-about-face for the reader that he may be forgiven if he flounders once in a while. This serves as a motto, almost as a lighthouse: "true capitalism is not dead because it has never lived."

"In Defense of Capitalism." by James H. R. Cromwell and Hugo E. Czerwonky (Scribners: $3.50).

Mr. And Mrs. Landers Entertain For Club

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Adams, Mr. Quingley, Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Dehlinger, Mr. and Mrs. Atherton, Mr. and Mrs. Pierson and the host and hostess.

Pretty Diva And Her Flautist Harmonize On Matrimonial C's

Helen Jepsen and George Possell. He Breaks Contracts To Follow Her Around.

By SIGRID ARNE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

NEW YORK—Helen Jepson, the Metropolitan opera's beautiful, blonde soprano, is the leading lady, and George Possell, one of the more famous symphony flautists, is the leading man in this little domestic drama. Really, they're Mr. and Mrs. Possell.

They were headed for a sedate Sunday tea. Helen's spring outfit was brought forth. It's a beige suit. That's calm enough, but the accessories make men 80 years old stop in their tracks. There's a huge, garden-affair hat of beige with long, salmon-ribbon streamers down the back. And tere are huge salmon-leather gauntlets and purse to match.

Artists In Love

"You might catch cold in that," said Mr. Possell.

"Not me," trilled Helen.

"Isn't it a little 'too, too,' for Sunday," he added, getting down to the truth.

"Oh-o-o," wheedled Helen. She won. But three blocks from the party she rolled her big brown eyes, and said: "Tell the taxi to turn back. You're right. I must change." George shouted. He thought it was cute, because it was Helen. So mavbe two "artistes" can be married and not tangle in temperamental tiffs. Possell-Jepson, Inc., think so.

They live in a cave of an apartment 10 minutes from the Metropolitan. It's all cream and paste' shades to set off Helen's slim blondness. They met about eight years ago when Helen was a pretty voice student.

George's eyes were pleased, but so were his ears. He talked about her everywhere. Radio contracts came. She signed with the Metropolitan, and now she's going to Hollywood to make a film. Possell will cancel his own broadcasting contracts to go with her.

"She's too pretty to be alone in Hollywood," he tenses. She tweaks his waxed mustache in reply.

Flitting about the man seems easy for them. They go to Europe in the summer for special training for Helen. When the "Met" goes out of town in the season George manages to arrange his work for radio and recording companies so he can visit her on week-ends.

When they're at home they make their work something like a chess game. She sings and he listens. If she strikes a rough phrase, he picks it up with the flute and helps with the tempo. When he's working up new music, she hums along. But when he plays—

"Mostly she goes to sleep," grins George.

He Helps Her Shop

To hear them tell it, their really serious business is choosing Helen's clothes. They shop together, and the wise saleswoman pleases George.

"He knows more about clothes than three women," smiles Helen.

"That's right," says Possell.

"Except about his own clothes," she tenses. "He wears a derby. I hate them."

"I like them," he grins.

He still attends half her performances, after six years of married life. And he goes back stage with pencilled notes on a phrase to change, or a gesture to refine. She really likes the help.

In off hours they have three enthusiasms: one very large enthusiasm, and two small ones. The large one is Sally Patricia Possell, four years old, who is cared for by an extremely starched and efficient nurse.

Rare breeds of rabbits which they raise at their lodge 85 miles out of the city are a second enthusiasm. The rabbits are so interesting they may make a business of them.

George started the third enthusiasm when he bought Helen a movie camera for Christmas. Now he takes most of the films because he likes to take pictures of her.

"She's so pretty," he explains.

Tomorrow: Sophie and Adam Gimbel.

Miss Koberg To Play Lead In Class Comedy

Miss Camille Koberg who recently received a silver medal for her dramatic work in a recent district contest, will play the leading role in "I Will, I Won't," senior class offering now in rehearsal under direction of Miss Dorothy Jordan.

Playing opposite her is Homer Adams who joins Miss Koberg in an impersonation on a college campus that gives the plot of the comedy farce to be presented by the school class at the municipal auditorium soon.

Others in the cast are Misses Helen Rogers, Janice Jacobs, Nancy Philips, Eddye Rae Lees and Harry Blomshield, Billy Danner and Bobby McEwen.

Proceeds from the play will be used to purchase diplomas for the high school graduating class.

Between curtain acts are being arranged by Miss Pearl Butler, senior class sponsor.

Mrs. Hatch And Mrs. Inkman Are Highest Ideal Club Scorers

Mrs. Ebb Hatch and Mrs. W. W. Inkman were highest scorers at bridge Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Robert Piner was hostess for the Ideal club members and two guests.

Playing with the group were Mrs. Inkman and Mrs. R. V. Middleton.

A salad course was served to Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. Inkman, Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Mrs. Homer McNew, Mrs. Joe Ogden, Mrs. A. E. Service and Mrs. Fred Stephens.

STANTON, April 29 (Spl)—Miss Bonnie Lee Hay, daughter of Mrs. B. K. Hay of Stanton, and Clyde McMahon of Lubbock were married in Midland Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon will live at Midland.

The bride is well-known in Stanton, having lived here for a number of years and being a graduate of Stanton high school. At the time of her marriage she was employed at the Orr durg store.

Mr. McMahon is foreman at the caliche quarry near Midland.

Elbow Home Ec Girls Attending Rally In Fort Worth Today

Miss Mildred Earhart, Elbow home economics insructor, left Wednesday noon with Misses Rheba Grissam, Mozelle Gray, Joyce Batte and Virginia Gregory for Fort Worth where they will attend the homemaking rally sessions that began today. The students will enter contests in selection of seasonal centerpieces, clothes modeling and other phases of home economics work.

Embroidery Motifs

461

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 461

If you don't own an embroidered dress, you're not really up-to-date, this year. So we've taken an ordinary frock and dressed it up handsomely with a few simple embroidered designs. You can do the same to one of yours, because the different motifs can be used in a number of ways—so that they'll suit almost any type of dress. The inset shows the motif for the front panel of the skirt.

The pattern envelope contains genuine hot iron transfer for one motif 8 1-2 by 10 1-2 inches; two motifs 4 by 5 inches; two motifs 3 1-2 by 4 inches; and complete, easy-to-understand directions, also what material and how much you will need, and a color chart to guide you.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 461 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Department, P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.

Stanton Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Celebrate 118th Anniversary

STANTON, April 29—In celebration of the 118th anniversary of Odd Fellowship in the United States, Stanton Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, their families, and invited friends were entertained with a program and chicken supper at the Odd Fellow hall Tuesday evening. A crowd estimated at 150 persons was present.

Seriousness and comedy mingled on the evening's program, with Rev. Raymond Van Zandt, Methodist pastor, doubling as the chief speaker of the occasion, discussing Odd Fellowship, and as funmaker with his rendition of a comic negro sermon.

Selections were presented by a vocal quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Koonce, Rev. A. T. Mason, and Mr. Standiford, with Mrs. B. G. Sullivan as accompanist.

String band music was furnished by T. W. Angel, Jess Angel, and Ted Blankenship, with Mrs. Ruby Burns at the piano.

T. W. Angel and Finley Rhodes amused the gathering with a "Bashful Charlie" skit.

Other numbers on the program included a reading by Marcelle Pinkston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pinkston; a duet by Mary Frances Burnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Burnam, and Hardin Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman; and a tap dance by Nora Aline Purser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Purser, and Johnnie Bess Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Zimmerman.

The supper menu featured "chicken and fixings."

Committees from the Odd Fellows and from the Rebekah organization were in charge of general arrangements for the evening. The Odd Fellow committee was composed of J. H. Burnam, H. C. Burnam, and Earl Burns. Rebekahs named as committeewomen included Mrs. Ruby Burns, Mrs. Jim McCoy, Mrs. E. C. Laird.

Dry Cleaning Report Is Corrected By A. and M. Specialist

A report on dry cleaning given in error to The Herald has been corrected by Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, A. & M. clothing specialist, with the warning that using such a mixture would cause irreparable harm to garments upon which it was used.

The report given The Herald read "Oxalic acid, in the proportions of one tablespoon to one pint of cleaning naphtha, acts as soap does in water." Mrs. Barnes stated that she knows nothing of how such a solution would react, but felt sure that if a good proportion of oxalic acid was used on clothing the results would prove disastrous. In the demonstration recently given here before members of the Home Demonstration clubs of the county, she demonstrated the cleaning of a straw hat with the acid and plain water and stressed the importance of a thorough rinsing to avoid ruining the hat.

Mmes. Philips And Biles Are Guests Of Justamere Club At Settles Hotel

Mrs. Shine Philips and Mrs. J. D. Biles were guests of the Justamere club Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. John Clarke was hostess at the Settles hotel.

Mrs. Philips scored the higher for the guests and Mrs. Wilburn Barcus was club high.

Refreshments were passed to Mrs. Philips, Mrs. Inkman, Mrs. Barcus, Mrs. C. S. Blomshield, Mrs. M. H. Benett, Mrs. E. O. Ellington, Mrs. Lee Hanson, Mrs. H. W. Leeper, Mrs. J. Y. Robb, Mrs. E. V. Spence, Mrs. R. C. Strain, Mrs. J. B. Young and the hostess.

Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick New Music Club Head

Plans Made By Group For Observances During National Music Week, President's Luncheon And For Final Meeting Of Club Year

Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick was elected president of the Music Study Club at the meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Settles hotel when the plans were listed for the president's luncheon, for observance of National Music Week, and announcement of installation date together with a report from the recent concert and a program on Modern Composer led by Mrs. H. C. Keaton.

Named to serve with Mrs. Kirkpatrick were Mrs. Harry Hurt, first vice-president; Mrs. Joye Fisher, second vice-president; Mrs. P. W. Malone, secretary; Miss Elsie Willis, treasurer, Mrs. Edmund Berger, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. W. Broughton, auditor; Mrs. Willard Read, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Valdeva Childers, historian and reporter.

Mrs. Joye Fisher reported the date of the President's luncheon as May 30th that will honor Mrs. G. C. Scharman. Tickets will be on sale soon and program will be announced at an early date.

Beginning on May 2, first day of National Music Week, Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser, district chairman of National Music Week activities, said each church in town would be contacted and each would be asked to dedicate some musical number to the week. She also said schools would be asked to mention the observance during classes. Highlight of the week's activities will be the concert of Dr. Elliott Griffis on Monday evening. Other plans are for a program of choral music and an open air concert. Mrs. Sucie Gibson and Mrs. Raymond Winn were placed on a committee to arrange for refreshments for the reception that will be held following the Griffis concert.

Miss Elsie Willis reported a profit of $5.42 on the Indian concert recently sponsored by the club.

Officers will be installed at the final study meeting of the year that will fall on May 12. At this time the program will be given by local young artists and all members are urgently requested to be present.

Mrs. Keaton gave a short talk on Three Hundred Years of Music in America and was followed on the program by Mrs. R. E. Blount who spoke on Famous American Composers. Musical numbers by American composers were given by Mrs. H. W. Broughton, accordionist, Miss Maurine Rowe, violinist, and Miss Virginia Lois Ogden.

Tuberculosis Worker Slated Here May 4 For Conference

Miss Helen LeLacheur, registered nurse and member of the Public Health Nursing Service of the Texas Tuberculosis Association will arrive in Big Spring on May 4 for a consultation with members of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association in regard to the tuberculin skin tests and other items on the outlined program.

Miss LeLacheur for four years headed the joint program of the tuberculosis association, Red Cross and health nurse of Abilene.

Mrs. Breed, member of the National Tuberculosis Association who is doing field work between San Angelo and El Paso conferred with Mrs. J. C. Douglass and Mrs. Cecil Watson of the Howard County association here Wednesday.

NARCOTIC ADDICTS FLEE DURING FIRE

PEIPING, China, April 29 (AP)—Fire which raged through the ancient "Temple of Ten Thousand Longevities" today sent 720 narcotic addicts fleeing into the city's streets. One hundred of them gained at least temporary freedom from the treatment that had been forced upon them.

Police captured more than one and predicted all would be found within a few hours.

Mrs. Ann Mayo who has been the guest of Mrs. R. A. Eubank for several days, will return to her home Friday leaving here on the noon train.

Get a lovely big pup picture free!

We got a beautiful picture of The Wilken Family Pups just about 10 times prettier than this, and we'll mail you one as a present if you just send me your name and address. Write Harry E. Wilken, The Maples, R. F. D. No. 3, Schenley, Pa.

We Got Quintuplets in the Wilken Family!

William and Tom—they got a notion you mightn't care to hear about the 5 new members that come into the Wilken Family a few days ago. Well I wouldn't doubt but what there's considerable to what they say—only I thought these pups was so extra cute, maybe you'd like to see them, and besides—it might be sort of nice to celebrate on account of our dog Jessie.

And if you've a mind to celebrate, you couldn't find a tastier nor a milder whiskey than this personal whiskey of The Wilken Family that's made according to our own family's recipe. It's the identical thing as is enjoyed by us that have spent our life in the whiskey making business.

Local Group Will Attend Endeavor Meet At Abilene

Several representatives from the First Christian church will take part in the Mid West District convention of the Christian Endeavor at Abilene Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. G. C. Schurman, pastor of the church, appears on the program in one of the main addresses. He speaks on "Follow Me . . . Through Fellowship."

Possibly two cars of young people from the church will attend the two day meet which will attract delegates from Big Spring, Snyder, Colorado, Roscoe, Merkel, San Angelo, Sweetwater and a dozen other towns in this section of the state.

The meeting, carrying out the theme of "Follow Me" is very similar to the one held during the winter at Midland except for denominational aspects.

War Boosts Govt. Telegraph Tolls

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — The Spanish civil war caused the state department to ask congress for an additional $53,000 for telegraph and cable messages.

H. C. Hengstler, chief of the division of foreign service administration, told a house appropriations subcommittee that the state department's normal telegraphic bill was $175,000 annually, but this year he estimated it would run $338,000. Most of the increase, he explained, was due to messages relating to the protection of Americans and their property in Spain.

The Timur ruby, originally an oriental gem but now among the crown jewels of England, weighs 352 carats.

Shakespeare Play Gains In Film Version

Camera's Unlimited Scope Gives 'Romeo-Juliet' Greater Breadth

The screen has many advantages over the stage in presenting Shakespeare. It brings Shakespeare to its audience as the master dramatist intended his plays to be presented. It shows every scene that Shakespeare wrote. It gives a Shakespearean scene great depth and scope, without adding one word of spurious dialogue.

Edna May Oliver and Norma Shearer in "Romeo and Juliet"

These are the scholarly observations of Prof. William Strunk, Jr., of Cornell university, who spent a year in Hollywood as literary adviser on "Romeo and Juliet," starring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard, which plays next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz theatre.

"I am delighted," said Prof. Strunk, "with the uncompromising efforts, as I observed them before and during the filming of the picture, to bring Shakespeare to the screen with utmost fidelity.

"The stage of today faces a problem in presenting Shakespeare. Shakespeare wrote 'Romeo and Juliet' in twenty-four scenes. In the theatre of his day, scenery existed chiefly in the spectator's imagination. Where the scene was laid was for the most part simply inferred from the dialogue. The later stage, finding it impossible to change the setting four and five times during a single act, simply cuts out many of the minor scenes that die between the great dramatic moments, often at the cost of clearness. The screen version of the masterpiece, on the other hand, shows every scene of the play."

Ex-Sailor Has Fish Barometer For FDR

By LEWIS T. NORDYKE

ANGLETON, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt had a chance today to "eliminate all elements of luck" from his campaign for tarpon and kingfish in gulf waters.

E. L. (Shorty) Sewall, veteran angler who used to sail the seas in Uncle Sam's navy, offered the president full daily service from his "never-failing barometer," a shaggy old elm tree that stands across the street from Shorty's cafe in Angleton—village 20 miles from the gulf.

"If President Roosevelt wants to fish with the assurance things are right or take the day off for something else when there ain't any chance to catch fish," Shorty said, "I'll give him a barometer reading every morning. It'll work, too."

If there's wind enough to move the tree the least bit at the "magic" hour, Shorty says there's no use in trying for fish. If the tree is motionless, Shorty says, "go get 'em. It's OK today."

Shorty arranged to phone the information to the Houston police radio broadcasting station for broadcasting to the president's ship at a fixed hour. The police broadcaster said he would relay the "barometer reading" if the president desires it.

Another veteran angler of the Texas coast, Skelly Skelton of Houston, depends on a similar source of information to make him "feel it in my bones." It is the flag on the post office across the street from where Skelly works. If the flag is motionless early in the day, Skelly usually goes fishing and comes back bragging.

Surprise Sandwiches In Picnic Box Are Joy To Child's Heart

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

Surprise is a magic word in any child's vocabulary.

Why not plan a surprise picnic for your child—and some of his friends—these nice spring days?

Lunch boxes should be filled with food that will carry easily, keep moist and well-flavored, and may be eaten with a minimum of "messiness." (This applies to school lunches, too.)

In making sandwiches, for instance, both slices of bread should be spread with butter. Doing so prevents the sandwich filling from soaking into the bread. And the filling, by the way, should be applied generously — without overdoing it. (Remember those picnics when you had to unwrap all the sandwiches to find out what they were because, even when you poked through the waxed paper, there was not enough filling to identify them?)

Surprise Sandwiches

The surprise may easily come in the sandwiches. Try using fig, date, raisin, orange or nut breads. Fill them with peanut butter and jelly or nuts mixed with cottage cheese —and hide them among the cold sliced meat or hard-cooked egg and lettuce sandwiches made of white or graham bread.

Then wrap each sandwich securely in at least two thicknesses of wrapping paper to keep it moist and tasty.

Fruit for the lunch box should be chosen with an eye to quenching thirst. Pears, apples, grapes and oranges are general favorites as are bananas, although they don't quench the thirst.

Pack Cake Carefully

When it comes to sweets, cookies, drop cakes and gingerbread retain their moistness and flavor better than most other kinds. Cake should be packed carefully—preferably on top of the other food.

Hard-cooked eggs are also filling. If they aren't used in sandwiches they may be wrapped in oiled paper (don't forget to put in some salt, too) and placed in one corner.

It's best to be sparing with highly seasoned relishes and pickle combinations.

If the weather is still chilly it's sometimes a good plan to put some hot soup, chocolate or a creamed food into a vacuum jar.

Vigilante Methods Hailed As Good Crime Deterrent

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—An 85-year-old crusader against crime who was among the first to hang the sobriquet "public enemies" on gangsters, said today the citizenry had "finally awakened" to the necessity for co-operation with peace officers in the war on organized vice.

Commending a group of New York men for forming a modern committee of vigilantes to control crime, Frank J. Loesch, active president and creator of the Chicago Crime Commission and for years a militant combatant of corruption in politics and government, said it was an "excellent move in the right direction."

The aged lawyer, who still believes in putting in a full day at his office and still an unrelenting foe of racketeering, said it appeared business men and the law-abiding public had eventually opened their eyes and discovered violent crime increasing in congested districts.

"If that New York committee really wants to succeed," Loesch said, "it will have to work in conjunction and close harmony with federal agents, city police and state law enforcing agencies. It should always play the role of an assistant and not try to usurp the powers of others."

FLEETS TO CLASH IN SEA MANEUVERS

ABOARD U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA OFF HONOLULU, April 29 (AP)—Two great opposing fleets pointed toward secret rendezvous today as the United States navy prepared for the major action of its 1937 mid-Pacific maneuvers.

Orders were issued yesterday for the 139 warcraft, split into the defending White fleet and the opposing Black fleet, to be under way at dawn.

Wants Change In Oil Law

Marketer Favors Amendmend In The Connally Act

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — Paul Hadlick, secretary of the National Oil Marketers' association, said today he would suggest two amendments to the Connally "hot oil" law when a house commerce subcommittee resumed hearings on a bill to make the law permanent.

Chairman Cole (D-Md) of the subcommittee said he expected today's session to conclude the hearings, which began Tuesday.

Hadlick said he would recommend that the Connally act, now scheduled to expire June 15, be made permanent only on condition it provide:

(A) A person or affiliate of such person be prohibited from engaging in interstate commerce in more than one of the principal branches of the industry-production, refining and marketing; and (A) pipe lines and tank ships be placed under the commodities clause of the interstate commerce act, as are railroads, so that producers would be divorced from the transporters.

"Speaking for the association," Hadlick said, "we would prefer to see the bill passed with those amendments than defeated altogether. It would then not only conserve our oil reserves but would protect commerce from restraint and monopolies. But unless the amendments are added we do not favor it."

Writ Holds Up Trust Suit

Govt. Is Halted From Prosecuting Aluminum Company Case

PITTSBURGH, April 29 (AP) — Federal Judge Robert M. Gibson granted a temporary restraining order today halting the government from prosecuting an anti-trust suit against the Aluminum Company of America in the southern district of New York.

Judge Gibson granted a rule against Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and his assistants to show cause why the restraining order should not be continued and a preliminary injunction granted. The rule was returnable May 7.

The action enjoins the government from prosecuting the anti-trust suit outside of the Pittsburgh district court.

It was granted on petition of Aluminum Company attorneys to preserve the jurisdiction in Pittsburgh where a previous suit was filed in 1912. The attorneys contended the earlier action "parallels in detail the suit filed a few days ago."

The petition set forth that the original suit of 1912 "was followed by a consent decree entered June 7, 1912, the terms of which the company has been observing for the past 25 years, and which is still in force and effect."

EMERGENCY FUND MEASURE PASSED

AUSTIN, April 29 (AP)—The house of representatives today received from the senate for concurrence in an amendment an emergency appropriation bill of a number of items totaling $96,371.

The funds, in most instances paying expenses to August 31, were itemized as follows:

Department of public safety, $36,292; parks board, $4,500; department of agriculture, $22,500; treasury, $8,979; land office, $6,000; crippled children's division of the department of education, $1,000; attorney general's department, $5,000; court of civil appeals at Waco, $2,100, and new furnishings for the supreme court, $10,000.

DOCTOR AND WIFE KILLED IN MISHAP

CROSBYTON, April 29 (AP)—Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Clinton were rushing to the bedside of his dying brother last night when their car suddenly flipped over, killing them both.

Dr. Clinton, 58, and his wife, 50 were residents of Loving. They were on their way to Lubbock where C. S. Clinton, 48, Clovis, N. M., died two hours before the accident. They did not know, however, that he was dead.

The automobile officers said, apparently turned over as the driver tried to turn back into a new highway after taking an old road. Two children survived: Leo Clinton and Mrs. Pauline Nicholson, both of Dallas.

Don't Treat What You Eat Lightly—It Tells Others What You Are!

By MARTHA LOGAN

"Tell me what you eat and I shall tell you what you are." This sage quotation from one of the most famous gourmands of yesterday is especially appropriate for health week. For, surely, no one will deny that "what you eat" plays an important role in determining not only "what" you are but "how" you are.

In these days of fads in everything, food fads are as prevalent as writers on food subjects. In fact, we have become so food conscious that many persons have lost the "art" of dining and indulge in the "work" of eating. It is indeed unfortunate to have the idea that if food is delicious, thoroughly enjoyable, and soul satisfying, there is reason to suspect the healthfulness of that food.

A good frame of mind is one of the best aids to digestion. In fact, a sensible variety of well-cooked, flavorful food eaten in moderation and in pleasant surroundings is one of the most sound prescriptions for good health.

Properly prepared meat is so rich in flavor that it stimulates the appetite and excites the digestive juices into greater activity. Again, properly-cooked meat is easily digested by the normal person, and meat supplies so many of the essential food substances that it may be placed among our most important health foods.

Although we are primarily interested in giving help in meat cookery, it is not amiss to list briefly the reasons why meat claims first place as a health-protecting food.

1. Meat has a high content of proteins of the best quality, and, therefore, is effective in building and repairing tissue.

2. Meat is a fuel food. Fat meat ranks especially high in caloric production.

3. Meat has a high iron content in an available form for use in generation of blood.

4. Meat is a rich source of phosphorus, which with calcium is needed for the formation of bones and teeth.

5. Meat is a good source of Vitamin B. This substance is necessary for normal growth, appetite, and for prevention of certain nervous disorders.

6. Meat also is high in Vitamin G. content, which is essential in prevention of certain eye conditions and pellagra symptoms and is also necessary for normal growth.

Such an impressive listing is doubly important when coupled with the fact that a liking for meat is a natural taste. One of the first solid foods given to babies is crisp broiled bacon. Beef broth, scraped beef, and thin broiled broiled steaks are prescribed in most diets for convalescents.

In summary—the normal adult enjoys meat and may eat this splendid food with the assurance that it is nutritious, invigorating and healthful.

Swiss Steak

Select three pounds of round or shoulder steak cut two inches thick. Season well. Rub with flour and pound well with a blunt edge. Turn and continue adding flour until one cup is used. Cut into servings. Clean, cut up, and fry three large onions. Melt 1-4 cup lard in an oven dish or pan. Add the steak, cover with the fried onions. Add two cups water or tomato juice. Cover. Bake two hours in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) Add six peeled and halved potatoes. Continue cooking 45 minutes. On a platter arrange the meat covered with the onions and surrounded by potatoes.

PIMLICO OPENS GATES TODAY

BALTIMORE, April 29 (AP)—Its stables jammed with more than 1,000 horses and its daily program glittering with stake races, topped by the $50,000 Preakness, Pimlico opened its gates to race track fans today to launch the old hilltop's 15-day spring meeting.

The Preakness will climax the meeting on May 15. The $10,000 added Dixie Handicap is carded for May 8, while a double feature the $5,000 Baltimore Spring Handicap and the $2,500 Pimlico Nursery Stakes—will be run Saturday.

Record Size Planes Built By England

Airliners To Accommodate 45 Passengers And A Crew Of Five

LONDON, England, April 29 (UP) — Twelve giant airliners, the largest for regular transport service in the world, are under construction for Imperial Airways by Sir W. G. Armstrong Whitworth Aircraft, Ltd., at Hamble, near road is being especially built so here. So big are the planes that a that they may be rolled from the shops to a flying field.

An idea of their size may be gained from the dimensions of their tires, 6 feet, 3 inches in diameter and 2 feet, 2 inches wide. Despite this size, the landing gear will be retractable, three-fourths of the big wheel sliding back and up into the wing when in flight.

Fully loaded, the planes will weigh 20 tons, one and one-half tons more than Imperial's big flying boats. The cost will be between $200,000 and $225,000 each. They are designed to carry 42 passengers, a crew of five, mail and cargo. Their top speed is expected to be 210 miles miles an hour and their range 1,000 miles non-stop against a 40-mile headwind. The wing span is 127 feet; the fuselage is 114 feet long.

Motors Built Into Wings

Four Armstrong Siddeley "Tiger" supercharged motors will be built into the leading edge of the wings, developing a total of 3,400 horsepower.

The designers say that three engines will keep the plane at 12,000 feet altitude, fully loaded, and that two engines will sustain it at 4,000 feet.

The airliners will be high-wing, cantilever monoplanes of all-metal construction. The fuselage will be an oval monocque shell of light alloy. One of the features of the design is the construction of the wing. The wing is built around a single rectangular box-spar of light alloy, trussed and criss-crossed like a bridge—an Armstrong Whitworth patent.

Orders for the "E" class airliners were placed more than two years ago. More than a year of actual working time has been put in on the first of the craft, now nearing completion. It is expected that the first machine will be ready for trial flights in about three months.

Confident of Tests

But so confident are the designers that their calculations are right, the builders are going ahead with the remaining 11 planes without waiting for the first one to be test-flown. This practice was followed when the Empire flying boats were built.

Several of the new airliners will be of a "European" type, providing seats for 42 passengers and designed for use only in Europe.

The others will be of "Empire" type, equipped to fly the land route to Egypt and India. Owing to special equipment necessary for long journeys in tropical countries and the carriage of bigger mail loads, the "Empire" airliners will carry only 27 day passengers and 20 at night, for which removable berths will be provided.

"We stress comfort where American airlines stress speed," an Imperial Airways official remarked, "and we are as far ahead on comfort as America is on speed."

Utmost Comfort Provided

He was demonstrating the comfortable berths, and luxurious, adjustable chairs, and individual tables, lights and ventilators provided for each passenger.

Each of the airliners will have several passenger salons, a promenade deck, a small bar and a kitchen where seven-course meals will be prepared.

The crew will comprise two pilots, one wireless operator and two stewards. In addition, a "ship's clerk" or purser will be included.

Names of the twelve airliners will be Ensign (the first), Eddystone, Elsinore, Ettrick, Explorer, Egeria, Euterpe, Endymion, Euryalus, Elysian, Empyrean and Echo.

NEWS ITEMS FROM KNOTT

The Knott school term is drawing to a close, with only four more weeks of class work remaining. The term has been a very successful one. Members of the senior class will have 12 affiliated credits this year, and it is hoped that the school will have its full 16 credits next term.

Superintendent Ratliback accompanied members of the senior class to Abilene last Saturday, for the high school day program at Hardin-Simmons university. The students reported an enjoyable and instructive day.

There was an increased Sunday school attendance last Sunday morning.

Next Sunday, there will be a Baptist homecoming with a Mother's Day program. Dinner will be served at the church, and there will be a singing program in the afternoon.

A large number from this community attended the singing convention at Coahoma Sunday.

The Knott Home Demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Jr., at which time the county agent, Miss Lora Farnsworth, made a talk on personal grooming. Following a short business session, the hostess served refreshments to Mrs. S. T. Johnson, Mrs. O. B. Gaskins, Mrs. J. J. Jones, Mrs. T. J. Brown, Mrs. O. R. Smith, Mrs. J. B. Sample, Mrs. Frank Duke, Mrs. Roy Phillips, Mrs. Della Hooten, Mrs. Lee Castle, Mrs. J. O. Hardin and Miss Farnsworth. The next meeting of the club will be on May 11, with Mrs. J. B. Sample as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Shortes of near San Antonio have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Frank Duke, and other relatives here.

John McGregor and sister, Mrs. Henry Page of Carlsbad, N. M., visited her mother, Mrs. J. J. McGregor, and other relatives and friends here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson and children of Meadow were guests Sunday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lloyd.

Stanton Faculty Completed For The Next Term

STANTON, April 29—Completing the election of a faculty for the Stanton school system for the ensuing year, three teachers were named at a meeting of the school board here this week.

Miss Lucille Lucas of Normangee, Texas, was appointed home economics teacher in the high school, taking the place of Mrs. Grace Loveless Jones, who, at her won request, was transferred from high school into the grammar grades. Miss Lucas has had three years teaching experience and will receive her degree from State Teachers college at Denton in August.

Miss Eunice McReynolds of Courtney, Martin county, and Mrs. H. D. Haley of Stanton were elected to places on the faculty of the Mexican school. They will succeed Mrs. Witt Hines and Mrs. Phil Berry who were transferred to positions in the grade school. Miss McReynolds will complete work for a degree at Texas Technological college this spring and has had several years' experience in teaching. Mrs. Haley is a graduate of the University of Texas and has done practice teaching in the high school for that institution and substitute teaching in the Stanton system.

Plan To Build Gym At Stanton School

STANTON, April 29—Stanton Service club, which is backing a movement to build a gymnasium for the Stanton school, voted at the luncheon meeting Tuesday to circulate a petition in regard to the project. Tentative plans would call for a plant costing approximately $8,000.

The group, which is headed by G. A. Bond, county agent, as president, also voted to endorse a project to improve the high school grounds with shrubbery for beautification and windbreaks.

A committee composed of J. A. Wilson, Mrs. Dee Rogers, and James Jones was appointed to obtain names of merchants who will agree to close their places of business at 6:30 through the summer months, Saturdays excepted. The new hours would begin May 3.

Seventeen were present at the luncheon including: G. A. Bond Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kaderli, W. C. Glazener, J. A. Wilson, Mrs. Dee Rogers, Miss Beulah Crow, L. H. White, Arlo Forrest, O. B. Bryan James Jones, Jack Jones, French Gray, Bob Schnell, J. N. Woody and S. D. McWhorter.

Byron Scarbrough, Fort Worth attorney, was here on legal business Thursday morning.

TRICKS SHOWN IN FREE BOOK

This trick of the "vanishing and penetrating glass," revealed in the sketches above, is one of 62 feats described and explained in "Dick Daring's Bag of Tricks," a fascinating new book of magic especially interesting to children and now available to all Big Spring youngsters—and adults too through the courtesy of the Quaker Oats company and The Herald. Information on how to obtain the book, author of which is Will L. Lindherst, famed magician, can be obtained from any grocer, and a supply of the books already is on hand at The Herald office. A simply, clearly written description of the favorite tricks of magicians, "Dick Daring's Bag of Tricks" should provide many hours of entertainment for the youngsters of Big Spring. They are urged to see their grocer and arrange to get a copy early.

BOOK ON TRICKS TO BE GIVEN AWAY IN QUAKER CO. CAMPAIGN

In a new sales campaign, the Quaker Oats company is inaugurating an extensive advertising schedule in The Herald, beginning today, and dealers and the newspaper are joining in special cooperative plans.

Grocers, appreciating the value of an established brand name — knowing that customers like the privilege of calling for a nationally advertised line of goods, and knowing that they will receive the quality they expect—anticipate increased sales through use of the local newspaper for advertising efforts.

In the Quaker Oats advertisement appearing in today's Herald will be found names of all Quaker Oats dealers in the Big Spring territory.

In addition to this display, The Herald, through cooperation with the Quaker Oats company, will distribute a special "Trick Book"—of special interest to younger folk—to all those who comply with certain instructions that can be obtained from any grocery store. The book contains instructions on simple tricks of magic that any boy or girl can perform for the entertainment of themselves and others. Children are advised to see their grocer at once, and obtain their book at The Herald office. A supply is on hand.

Dealers are cooperating in the campaign by using special displays in their stores and special Quaker Oats promotion in their advertisements. The work has been arranged here by J. D. Brown and P. W. Lewis, representatives of the company.

"GLORY TRAIL"

THE LITTLE DIONNES THRIVE ON OATMEAL

For many weeks every man, woman and child watched with tense interest to see what would happen to the Dionne quintuplets. The fate of these famous babies was a source of speculation and wonder. The Dominion of Canada, making their welfare a national obligation, put them in the care of a top-notch staff of child experts. The amazing result of this special care is that the quins are miraculous examples of the glowing health that science can give. Their diet is composed of things which do them good and which they like—such as oatmeal.

Oatmeal was given to these charming babies by the dieticians because oatmeal with milk contains such an abundance of body-building minerals, muscle-building protein, energy-making carbohydrates, and Vitamin B for keeping fit.

Vitamin B is the best safeguard against those dangerous enemies of childhood—nervousness, constipation, and poor appetite due to lack of that vtiamin in the diet. Therefore the quins thrive on Quaker Oats.

Sentenced To Die June 4th

Dwight Beard Must Pay Penalty For Slaying Policeman

DALLAS, April 29 (AP)—Judge Grover Adams today sentenced Augustus Dwight Beard, 27, slayer of a former Dallas city detective to die in the electric chair June 4. Roberts was slain during a hold-up attempt at a garage here last Dec. 23.

Beard accepted sentence without any indication of emotion. He was shackled and placed in an automobile bound for state prison at Huntsville.

Beard told reporters he still had hopes the governor would commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

Once before Beard had been tried for murder and given the death penalty by a jury in North Carolina. His death sentence in that state was commuted to life imprisonment. He escaped from prison and remained a fugitive until his arrest a week after Roberts was mortally wounded. Roberts was shot when he reached for his gun as Beard, after looting the cash register at the garage, was backing out the door. One bullet fired by Roberts struck the bandit in the leg.

Qualifying Starts At Mineral Wells

MINERAL WELLS, April 29 (Spl)—Morris Norton of Wichita Falls and Charles Reasor of Vernon headed an all-star field as qualifying started today for the annual Mineral Wells country club invitation golf tournament.

Match play opens tomorrow and continues through Sunday.

Norton is defending champion and winner of the West Texas invitation meet last year. Reasor was state municipal champion in 1936.

Club Women Due To Vote Protest Of Court Change

TULSA, Okla., April 29 (AP) — A prediction that the clubwomen would vote opposition to the president's supreme court plan and criticism of the federation for seeking a vote on it added spice today to the annual council meeting of the general federation of women's clubs.

A club officer who refused to permit use of her name said she "felt sure" the resolution of opposition would carry when it is voted on Friday.

Sharp criticism of the council for scheduling a vote on the controvresial issue came from Mrs. J. Ed Falkenburg of Medford, Okla., state democratic vice chairman.

"Women won't vote as clubwomen, they will stand by their politics," she declared. "I think it is a fine thing to have the discussion by two eminent leaders but the voting is unnecessary."

Mrs. Falkenburg referred to a debate scheduled tonight between Sen. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, opposed to the Roosevelt judiciary program, and Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general, in favor of it.

Last night the delegates listened to a slashing attack by Adela Rogers St. Johns, the writer, on the spread of crime through misuse of the parole board.

MADE AN OFFICIAL FOR EXPOSITION

DALLAS, April 29 (AP)—Capt. J. W. Flanagan, a native of Rusk county, Tex., and a resident of Toronto, Canada, is to be made director general of foreign participation in the Pan American exposition at Dallas.

Exposition officials said Flanagan, before sailing for Colombia May 8, is to stop a day in Washington next week for the presentation of the commission. Roy Miller, a friend of Flanagan's, is to make the presentation in the office of Vice-President John N. Garner.

Flanagan is to enlist South American support in sending athletes to participate in the Pan American games July 15-18 and in the Pan American boxing competition August 12-14.

Flood Menace Now Is Over

Ohio River Returning To Normal Stage; Nine Deaths Counted

WHEELING, W. Va., April 29 (AP)—The Ohio river valley made rapid progress toward normal today as the menace of its third flood in 13 months flattened out downstream.

The swirling muddy waters were still five feet above flood stage here this morning but the river was expected to return to its banks before nightfall.

The crest had moved into the vicinity of Parkersburg, W. Va. where little damage was expected from a stage of 39 feet, three above flood level.

No estimate of the damage was available but the flood claimed a toll of nine lives in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The ninth death occurred last night when nine-year-old James Kovacic tumbled into the swollen Conemaugh river at Johnstown, Pa.

LEAVE HOMES

CHATHAM, Ont., April 29 (Canadian Press)—Rescuers helped 100 families to evacuate their homes today menaced by the swollen Thames river. The stream rose more than two feet overnight.

A large part of the city was inundated. The flood level, rising at a rate of from two to three inches an hour, lacked only four feet of putting pumps in the waterworks out of commission.

Two bridges were closed, highways east and south of the city were impassable, and debris-clogged water obstructed approaches to the city's business district.

Thamesville, 16 miles up-river, was isolated.

The flood left 6,000 homeless and property damage of more than $3,000,000 in London, which suffered most.

ROBBER IS SOUGHT AFTER MAN SHOT

FORT WORTH, April 29 (AP)—The search for a lone robber who late yesterday critically wounded Jack Griffith, 48, as Griffith sought the robber's car license number, turned to Dallas today.

Little hope for Griffith's recovery was given by hospital attendants. Griffith was shot twice as he pleaded with the robber not to shoot him.

The shooting occurred near where the robber attempted to hold up a woman who, sensing the attempt to rob her, had sat down on a purse.

From the description of the robber, police believe he is the same man who robbed W. G. Deike of $20 at his grocery a short time before the shooting of Griffith.

ANOTHER HOLLYWOOD MARRIAGE ON ROCKS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 29 (AP)—Another of Hollywood's "perfect marriages," Joan Bennett and Gene Markey, is soon to be dissolved.

The actress startled many of her friends with the announcement she would file suit for divorce as soon as she finishes work in her current picture. She said she would charge incompatibility with the film producer-writer, whom she married in 1932.

TO BE MARRIED

HOUSTON, April 29 (AP)—Robert W. Wood II, son of the president of Sears, Roebuck & Company, and Miss Elizabeth Neville, Houston society girl, will be married here Saturday. General Robert Wood came here for his son's wedding.

FOG NOT EXPECTED TO BAR FD'S FISHING

GALVESTON, April 29 (AP)—No interruption of the president's fishing cruise in Gulf waters is seen because of fog, George P. Rumsisel, meteorologist at the local weather bureau, declared.

There is some fog today over Gulf waters off Galveston, but the weatherman said it probably will lift by the time President Roosevelt starts his Gulf cruise. The weatherman declared it is getting late in the season now for fog here and that it usually doesn't form this late.

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO BORGER RESIDENT

GUTHRIE, Okla., April 29 (AP)—David Weinberger, 67, Borger, Tex., died at a Guthrie hospital yesterday from a heart attack suffered while he attended an 89er celebration here April 21-22.

Funeral services will be held today at Guthrie.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Lillian Beers, Dallas, Mrs. Helyne Erinberg, Kansas City, and Miss Louis Weinberg, Borger.

Nudist Colony In Furore

ALMA, Cal. (UP)—Bitter discussion has broken out in the Elysium Foundation Nudist colony here. The colony plans an open house program in May with which to start the season. The question is whether the open house privileges will be accorded to photographers.

CUBS LOSE THREE BEST HURLERS

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things "ain't what they used to be" at Wrigley Field. The Chicago Cubs' pitching staff, once the pride and envy of the big leagues, has been reduced to a bunch of guys named Joe.

Tex Carleton, the top righthander, chipped an elbow bone in spring training. Then Curt Davis developed a sore arm.

But the bottom dropped out for Manager Charley Grimm and his pennant hopes yesterday when Larry French, the only southpaw of class, made a stab at a liner from the bat of Ernie Lombardi and fractured three fingers on his glove hand. Not only did the Cubs drop a 10-3 decision to the roughhouse Reds from Cincinnati, but French took a hospital bed alongside Carleton and Davis, and may be laid up for two months.

This trio won 45 games last year.

Of the hurlers still on tap, Bill Lee has shown little or nothing; Roy Parmalee is anything but a manager's dream; Charley Root has seen better days and the others are unproven youngsters.

All of which adds up to a terrific black eye for the Cubs' pennant chances, although it's much too early to be eliminating them.

The New York Giants yesterday dropped a 3-2 tilt to Van Mungo's three-hit pitching for Brooklyn.

Anything Can Happen

But anything can happen in baseball. The Detroit Tigers had a couple of tough pitching breaks when their top two tossers, Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges, were sidelined with ailments. Two others, Roxie Lawson and Elden Auker, came through with some unlooked for skill and Detroit is in second place in the American league.

Lawson made it two in a row yesterday with an 11-5 victory over the St. Louis Browns, aided by some timely belting by Gerry Walker. The win didn't cut the New York Yankees' first place edge, however, since Lefty Gomez treated himself to a five-hitter, and the world champions clouted the Senators 6-1 in a game that sent Cecil Travis of the Nats to the bench for two weeks with a torn leg ligament.

Earl Averill banged in five runs, including a homer with the bases loaded, as the Cleveland Indians walloped the Chicago White Sox 7-2, with Mel Harder hitting top form with a five-hit pitching job. In the only other game on the big league front, the Phillies clubbed Danny McFayden to the showers and topped the Boston Bees 7-4. The Athletics and Red Sox were rained out in Boston.

Training Camp Worries Over For Jim Braddock

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—The training camp question had been solved at last for Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock today, and was virtually decided for Joe Louis.

Braddock, still waiting to hear for certain whether he will defend his title against Louis in Chicago June 2, or against Max Schmeling in New York June 3, will start serious training early next week at Grand Beach, Mich., 65 miles from Chicago, in a $3,000,000 vacation layout. Louis probably will do his work at Lake Geneva, Wis., 70 miles northwest of Chicago.

Indians Close To Beaumont In Texas Race

Dallas Steers Reverse Tables In Thumping Exporters, 8 To 5

(By the Associated Press)

Where they play today:

Oklahoma City at Galveston (night).

Fort Worth at Beaumont.

Tulsa at Houston (night).

Dallas at San Antonio (night).

The fledgling Texas League season hasn't proved of much help so far to the experts who want a line on whom to watch in the pennant drive.

Even the fast-stepping young Beaumont club wasn't too far out in front to put it in a class with at least five other league teams who have shown they are fairly well matched. As they stacked up today Oklahoma City was treading close on Beaumont's heels and locked in a three-way third-place tie were Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth. The last three have come out even in the first 14 games.

In the shaking-down process which continued last night Dallas reversed the tables in thumping Beaumont 8 to 5, greatly assisted by a six-run tally in the second inning. Bob Harris was the pitching victim of his barrage. Beaumont won the previous game.

San Antonio likewise jumped back into the thick of things with a 6-4 victory over Fort Worth. It was a ninth-inning win. Grysko, Mission shortstop, stepping into the the hero's role with a homer that brought in two runs.

Call Game Off

Oklahoma City inched closer to the losing Beaumonters in again stomping Houston, 7 to 3. Tulsa and Galveston called their game off in deference to a heavy fog.

HUGH NICHOLS REGAINS 'LIGHT-HEAVY' CROWN

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 29 (AP)—Hugh Nichols of Hollywood, Calif., regained the light heavyweight championship of the world tonight by tossing Bobby Church, Toledo, O., twice with a rolling leg split.

Nichols took the first and third falls in 32:35 and 27:54 respectively, and lost the second to Chick in 13:29. Chick threw Nichols with an airplane spin after bouncing off the ropes.

Nichols held the title from 1930 to 1934. The title match was witnessed by Secretary C. C. McCrary, Tulsa, national wrestling association, and Gilbert Harrison, Oklahoma City, association member.

Japanese Ready For Davis Cup Matches With American Team

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29 (AP)—Three nimble Japanese start off here tomorrow to try to accomplish what no countrymen have done before—beat the United States in Davis Cup competition.

To Jiro Yamagishi, Hideo Nishimura and Fumiteru Nakano fall the task, psychological Herculean because of lack of precedent but strictly possible under the axiom "there's always a first time."

Their assignment is to defeat an American squad composed of the nation's first and second ranking players, J. Donald Budge and Frankie Parker, respectively and the Budge-Gene Mako combination which holds this country's doubles crown.

• SPORTS ROUNDUP

by EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—"What's your name, boy?" Coach Charlie Bachman of Michigan State asked a husky tackle the other day. . . . "Alexander Gregoriff Ketzko," replied the tackle. . . "Okay, Butch," said Bachman (which is one way nicknames are born). . . . The St. Louis Cardinals are readying an announcement for the press on the Paul Dean situation. . . . Charley Gelbert of the Reds is having a tussle with Charley Horse.

West coast reports say Promoter Tom Gallery of Los Angeles will charge $100 tops for a benefit show next month featuring Bob Pastor and Bob Nestell. . . Counts on the Hollywood movie stars who don't mind putting out, to fill the ringside section. . . William J. Sullivan, who was quite a pitcher at Alabama a few years back, has hung out his shingle as a lawyer at Norwalk, Conn.

Less Grissom, Cincinnati southpaw, had a fight with Al Todd of Pittsburgh three days after Lee became a bridegroom. . . Getting in shape, eh?. . . Jockey George Rose, who boots 'em home on southern tracks during the winter and in the east and middle west during the summer, was among the three top winners in the $7,500 deep sea fishing tournament, just ended in Miami. . . George snagged a 55-pound Allison tuna fish for top catch in the variety division and came home second in the dolphin class with one weighing 47 pounds. . . . Rose was out ahead in this division until the last day when D. A. Holmes of Aiken, S. C., came up with one scaling 51 1-2 pounds.

Ward Cuff, Marquette's football and track star, is marching to classes in a pair of artistic cowboy boots he acquired in a trade with a southwestern athlete at the Drake relays.

MILLERS UP IN AMERICAN ASSN.

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—It took them some time to get started, but the Minneapolis Millers were up in the American association home-run slugging battle today. With Dusty Cooke, Carl Reynolds and Roy Pfleger connecting for two homers each, Minneapolis matched its previous total and was only one behind the Brewers today, 13 to 12.

The blows gave Minneapolis a 12 to 2 triumph over Milwaukee with most of the slugging being done against George Blaeholder, former major league star.

Indianapolis and Louisville went into a tie for second place by conquering Columbus and Toledo, respectively. The Indians crashed out 16 hits to defeat the Red Birds, 9 to 6. Louisville downed the Mud Hens, 6 to 0.

Johnny Welch hurled a four-hit job as St. Paul whipped Kansas City, 8 to 1.

AGGIE TRACKMEN OVERWHELM ACC

COLLEGE STATION, April 29 (AP)—Eleven first places helped Texas A. & M. college track and field men overwhelm Abilene Christian college 74 to 48 in a dual meet here yesterday. The Aggies won the mile and 440 relays.

Al Is On The Loose Again

NEW YORK, April 29 (UP)—Al Simmons got the shock of his life on Sunday, April 4.

He was sold by Detroit to Washington, but that wasn't the shock.

The Tigers sold him for $10,000, just $2,500 more than the waiver price. Simmons, the great star of Connie Mack's pennant winners of 1929-30-31, sold at a bargain-counter price. Simmons, who failed to bat .300 only once in his 13 years in the American league, sold for less money than a fair-to-middlin' rookie brings. Simmons, who boasts a 13-year batting average of .345, highest of any American league player almost given away.

That price tag made Simmons, who had been sold by the White Sox to the Tigers for $75,000 in the winter of 1935, pull up short. The great Simmons couldn't be through. He'd show 'em.

There are three persons who know that Simmons can go at top speed through a rough and tumble pennant race; Simmons, Bucky Harris and Clark Griffith.

"I'll show 'em," snarls Al.

"I think so much of Al that I'm giving him the clean up spot," says Harris.

"I'm betting he'll have the best year since he left the Athletics," says Griffith, the Old Fox who's seldom wrong on a player.

Simmons, bought by his pal, Mickey Cochrane, after the Tigers had won the world's title, was never welcome with Detroit. The other players resented his presence on the club. Cochrane had to dispose of him to restore harmony.

With the White Sox, Simmons fretted, worried and brooded himself into his worst year in the big show in 1935 when he hit only .267—a drop of 77 points from his batting average of the previous season. Al allowed everything to bother him. Four times during the White Sox spring training trip at Pasadena he had his room changed because he said one thing and another bothered him. First it was the milkman, then the elevators, then the people next door. He had an excuse for everything.

He also got a hunch about his bat. Everytime he got in a slump, he'd saw his bat off a quarter of an inch. Al was the victim of his own imagination.

Last year with Detroit Simmons had a good year, batting .327 and driving in 112 runs. He was batting .280 in July but burned up the league the last half of the season.

It's odd that Simmons went to Washington for his last stand. As a visiting player in Washington he was the most hated of the hated. The Washington fans took a special dislike to him and rode him hard. Once Fred Marberry, Washington pitcher, got in an argument with Al and dared him to come out to the mound and start something. Al just laughed and hit a double to right-center.

"I'll make those Washington fans who used to call me 'sorehead' like me before the season's out," says Simmons. "If they can hate you, they can like you, too."

The old Simmons, with plenty of confidence is on the loose again.

Fishermen To Crowd Lakes Near S'water

Unprecedented Demand For Fishing Privileges At Lake Sweetwater

Lake Sweetwater in Nolan county and Nasworthy lake near San Antonio, the only "real" fishing spots in this section of West Texas, will be crowded Saturday when the season opens—and fishing will be good, too, old-timers believe. With an unprecedented demand for fishing privileges at lakes Sweetwater and Trammel, Sweetwater city officials have predicted a first day bass and crappie record. Licenses include boating and fishing privileges at both lakes.

The following rules and regulations will apply to Lake Sweetwater:

1. No fishing allowed before 5 a. m. and after 9 p. m.

2. No camping allowed on watershed, picnics only in places designated by city.

3. Bag limit is restricted to 21 fish per day per permit. Bag limit on bass is six per day per permit. Bag limit for week is 63 fish of all kinds.

4. Minimum size of catch is 11 inches for bass and seven inches for crappie, fish of less than this size must be thrown back.

Bass and crappie fishing is due to be good this year. The Sweetwater lake is also well stocked with bream, channel cat and perch.

The first week of the fishing season has been designated "Recreation Week" in Sweetwater.

LYNCH, DEMARET PLAY-OFF TIE IN PRO SECTION

FORT WORTH, April 29 (AP)—In an afterpiece of the state open golf tournament, captured by an amateur, Levi Lynch of Dallas and Jimmy Demaret of Houston meet today to play off a tie for the Texas Professional Golf association championship.

They agreed to split first and second place money yesterday after coming in a stroke behind young Harry Todd of Dallas, who shot 286 for the 72-hole test. Todd, former state amateur champion, coupled sensational rounds of 70-70 to slip ahead of a field which juggled the lead back and forth all day.

Reynolds Smith, Dallas Walker Cup star, fired the best round of the tournament with a 68, two under par, but blew up on the last try with a 77, which put him a 291 tie with Don Schumacher, Dallas amateur, behind Lynch and Demaret.

Baylor Strengthens Position In SW Race

WACO, April 29 (AP)—Baylor strengthened its Southwest conference baseball pretensions yesterday with a second straight victory over the Southern Methodist club, 7-3.

The game was more of a pitchers' tussle than the 17-6 contest Tuesday, Duecy shading Billy Dewell of Southern Methodist until the latter weakened in the seventh. Baylor got 10 hits to S.M.U.'s five, and scored four runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

16 VETS FOR TCU GRID SQUAD

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series on Southwest conference grid prospects for 1937, gained after spring training drills.)

FORT WORTH, April 29 (AP)—Sophomore biology, psychology and "ology" teammates are the toughest eleven the Texas Christian Horned Frofs must meet in 1937. And the big battle is being waged this spring—not next fall.

"If everybody makes those grades," Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer says grimly, "we'll have a good team. But it's no secret some of the boys are groggy in the book battle. Two of them—and they would be the best linemen on the squad—are in danger. Its up to them. If they lick the 'o'ogies' we should have a good season. If they don't—"

Frankly, Texas Christian had the best spring training in the history of the school, coaches say. A squad of 60 promising candidates, the largest ever, worked for a solid month. The drills closed on two vicious scrimmages that left bronzed grins on the weatherbeaten countenances of Coaches Meyer, Mike Brumbelow and Howard Grubbs.

Terminals Weak?

Back are 16 veterans. None of them are ends however, and the terminal posts are the only question marks. Veteran tackles include I. B. Hale, the 236-pounder, Allie White, Russell Hensch and Forrest Kline. The guard posts are safe with co-captains Bull Rogers and Mason Mayne and lettermen George Dunlap. There's no worry at center with Ki Aldrich and Jack Tittle back.

Backfield veterans are aplenty. Little Davey O'Brien, slated to replace Sammy Baugh, had a better passing record than the great slinger last year. Johnny Hall and Ward Wilkinson are the wings. Coach Meyer believes will be the best in history and Lacy McClanahan, ace letterman who was out last year, will fullback.

In other words, with the exception of the ends, the Froggies can again put a team of experienced lettermen on the field—if they make their grades. The line will average well over 200 pounds and the backfield will boast more power than in 1937.

But Sammy Baugh, the slinger, won't be back.

Moses, Philadelphia Athletics right fielder, rapped a hit into left field in the fourth inning of a game with the New York Yankees, and stretched it into a double with this slide into second base. Crosetti, New York Yankee shortstop, is covering the bag. The Yanks won their 7 to 1 victory, displaced the Athletics for first place in the American league.

Trainers Disagree On Derby Selections

Pompoon, Reaping Reward, War Admiral Are Tops

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—A "jury" of 12 trainers, who should know if anybody does, failed today to come anywhere near a unanimous forecase on the Kentucky Derby.

They agreed only that J. H. Louchheim's Pompoon, Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Reaping Reward and Samuel Riddle's War Admiral are the horses to beat.

Three trainers, participating in the Associated Press' fourth annual poll, named Pompoon outright, three selected War Admiral, one picked Reaping Reward and four refused to be pinned down closer than two horses. The remaining vote went to E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn on condition he show a good race in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland today.

Max Hirsch, who saddled Bold Venture to win the stake last year, was one of the three favoring Pompoon.

"Any colt that performs the way Pompoon did in the Paumonok Handicap and then turns in such fine workouts afterwards gets my vote," said Hirsch.

To Settle Game Disputes On The Field

Shoppers-Owens And Anderson Devil-Owens Games Protested

Two protested league softball games will be played over, league officials decided at a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

A game won by Owens from the T&P Shoppers, 12-4, was protested by the Shoppers who claimed the Owens pitcher used an illegal delivery.

The Anderson Devils, 4-3 winners over the Owens outfit in an overtime game, will try again from the time of protest—first of the eighth inning with the score 3 to 0 in favor of the Devils. Two men were out, L. D. Cunningham at bat with three balls, two strikes, Bigony on first base, Bishop on third and Savage pitching for the Devils.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH

While Texas is increasing year by year the amount of money spent for education, making senior colleges out of junior institutions in territories so small that they almost crowd each other, there might well be a little more money and a great deal more thought given the subject of health, both for children and adults.

If it is the duty of the state to educate youth—and for long there has been no question of that—it should be just as much or more a duty to provide that child with health if the child or the family be unable to pay. For what shall it get the state or society in general to teach a child a lot of "book learning" and let that child go through life with a chronic trouble that could have been prevented or corrected; or perhaps have only a brief life.

Public health measures are a duty of the state if any social services are in that classification. That does not mean that the state shall employ doctors for every person ill or ailing, or that hospitals shall be opened free to everyone who chooses to seek admission. It does mean that reasonable provision should be made to prevent health hazards, to give attention to persons unable to pay for medical advice, to instruct them in sanitation and ordinary health rules.

Recently many people were made ill in a Texas city because of improper plumbing allowing the water supply to be contaminated. The state and its subdivisions can control that. People are at the risk of rabies every day while dogs are allowed to roam at large, and that can be prevented. Irresponsible vehicle drivers in improperly equipped vehicles can be prevented from killing or maiming persons to some extent at least.

All these come under a health program that is as important, and more important, than much of the stuff that occupies lawmakers.

+ Man About Manhattan +

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—When he wrote that amusing comedy of a small town drudge, "Miss Quis," Ward Morehouse discovered that all comments of the critics were not wholly paeans of praise. Many of them chided him for not making the most of a brilliant idea, charging him with mishandling characters, and challenging the advisability of permitting one of them at least to commit a useless murder.

But it is Ward's idea that characters in a similar situation would react similarly to his treatments. He is satisfied with his work, and in no wise incensed at the brisk handling it received in some quarters, having thumb-downed many dramas himself in his career as Broadway columnist for "The New York Sun."

* * *

The idea for this play has intrigued Morehouse for years. Indeed, he wrote it a couple of years ago, but revised the piece extensively.

It's the story of a small town drudge who has hired out, at one time or another, to all of the upper-bracket families in town. Suddenly she inherits vast wealth and determines to oust the snobs whose chores she had attended to through the years. By devious ways she achieves this, compelling them to abandon their property and leave the town.

Ward himself is a gentle, likeable fellow (when the conversation is on any subject except the war between the states) who has written a great deal for the stage and the screen.

He had a hand, a very important one, in that first of all modern plays dealing with ribald newspapermen, "Gentlemen of the Press." Not only did he collaborate with Mark Barron in writing it; he lost the second act in a hack one night, during rehearsal, and as there was no carbon copy, the act had to be rewritten before rehearsals could begin. That was the play in which, when it went to the screen, Walter Huston played the city editor. It also gave Kay Francis her first big chance in the films.

* * *

But, what is more important is his desire (now mercifully stilled) to become an actor. Finally they let him play a walk-on in his own play—during one of its final performances. Ward was to be a drunken reporter. His hazardous task was to rush out of a telephone booth and scream, "Wait; here's a great story!" Finally the night came when they thought he could go on. The play progressed to the moment when he should have excitedly leaped from the booth.

Instead, there was only a frantic pounding, as if someone were in difficulties. Someone was. The door had jammed, and he was locked in the telephone booth, right there before the delighted gaze of the audience.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Farley appointment blocked by White House.
Votes for court plan cause last-minute switch.
Demands for economy puzzle congressmen.
Same organizations seek more federal funds.

Engineering

WASHINGTON, April 29 — A rather grave unpleasantness of state developed over the selection of a secretary to the federal communications commission. The job is a delicious political plum, paying $7,500 a year.

Several well-backed candidates reached for it, including men of the calibre of John Carson, who was more-than-secretary to the late Senator Couzens. They had to be eliminated first. It was quite a task. The Carson candidacy was handled by his appointment to the better job of consumers' counsel of the bituminous coal commission.

The others were taken care of in other ways.

The road was finally cleared for Jim Farley's candidate, a man named Berger. Robert I. Berger, radio director of the democratic national committee. Arrangements for Berger were completed. He even went down and introduced himself around the commission and everyone knew he was to be the man, Farley's man.

Just as everything was all set, the commission received an unexpected telephone call from the White House. Jimmy Roosevelt, son and secretary, was on the wire. His advice was substantially this:

Papa wants you to hold up that Berger appointment. He has another man in mind.

Paternalism

This was upsetting to Chairman Prall of the commission. He did not see how it could be done. Berger's selection was about to be announced. Orders had come from Farley. If Jimmy wanted to countermand Big Jim's orders, he had better get in touch with Big Jim.

Farley was out campaigning for supreme court packing at the moment and could not be reached, but Jimmy got hold of Farley's secretary, Bill Bray, on the telephone. Jimmy told Bill also that the Berger appointment was out, that papa wanted another fellow.

Bill said, whoa there, wait a minute. This is beyond my jurisdiction. If Farley's man is out, you had better get in touch with Mr. Farley. That left matters in a very unsatisfactory state.

Persistence

Chairman Prall decided to go over to see Jimmy. He went into the White House, walking fast. Perhaps Jimmy did not realize how far this Berger thing had gone. It was too late now to hold it up. Such action would entail embarrassment.

Jimmy was adamant. Papa said the appointment must be held up and they would just have to wait until they could get hold of Farley.

Furthermore, papa said (and this is what should have convinced Prall or any other reasonable man of the seriousness of the situation) —Papa said the Iowa delegation in the house was going to vote for his supreme court program and, therefore, their candidate for the job must be taken care of.

Paradox

Economy is developing into one of those great reforms which everyone is for—for the other fellow.

Many a congressman is complaining that his mail on the budget and relief expenditures is a puzzle. The legislators get letters one day from business organizations, including chambers of commerce, asking support for public buildings in their locality, protesting against abolition of some federal offices, etc.

The very next day they get letters from the same or similar groups of well-grounded people demanding that the country b saved from inflation by rigid economy.

An Iowa congressman received a letter from a man on relief strongly endorsing economy. But he wound up the letter by saying he needed more money and wanted the congressman to help him get it out of the federal government.

Counting

The august senate is never like that, or almost never. Leading senators took their courage in hand the other day and squeezed $3,000,000 out of the bill making appropriations for the commerce, state, labor and justice departments. They were quite proud of themselves and did considerable bragging about their handiwork. Several senators actually arose and congratulated themselves publicly.

No one pointed out that, while the senate did cut the bill $3,000,000 under the budget, it granted the bureau of air commerce a $4,000,000 contract authorization, which was not counted in the totals.

If this amount had been counted, and it should have been, practically speaking, because the amount will be spent, then their proud savings was a minus $1,000,000 instead of plus $3,000,000.

Lesson

Young Henry Cabot Lodge, grandson of the illustrious Massachusetts senator, tells this on himself. During his successful campaign last fall, he delivered an address on peace, setting forth a carefully studied plan. At the conclusion, a few handclaps were heard. His disappointment was so keen he confided to an old politician, who said:

"Son, forget your philosophy. Next time just wave your arms and shout: 'I am for peace'."

Lodge tried it at the next meeting and brought the audience to its feet cheering.

How To Torture Your Wife

HollywooD

Sights and Sounds

By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Arline Judge's marriage to Dan Topping immediately after her divorce from Wesley Ruggles must have set a record for speed in ending a grass widowhood. . . .

Arline Judge

The previous record, as I recall, was held by Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames, who were married the day after Adrienne's decree from Stephen Ames. . . . Back in 1919 it was practically a national catastrophe when Mary Pickford got a Nevada divorce and shortly afterward married Douglas Fairbanks. . . . But times have changed; there is chain-smoking and chain-romancing. . . and chain-divorcing.

The well-known Mrs. Grundy has changed too, or gone to sleep. . . . In other film days she'd have frowned and spoken her piece about actresses who have their escorts than their husbands. . . . When the Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudraye is out of town it's always Gilbert Roland who is seen with Constance Bennett. . . . And it's Douglas Fairbanks Jr. who goes around most with Marlene Dietrich when Rudolph Sieber is abroad, which is most of the time. . . .

Once upon a time Hollywood gossiped about such friendships, and feared the worst in box-office reaction. . . .

Underworld Melodrama

"Internes Can't Take Money" is a smart new example of what can be done with pretty hackneyed material. . . . Joel McCrea and Barbara Stanwyck have the leads in a hospital picture which develops into an underworld yarn, all because a young mother cannot find her baby, lost since infancy. . . . The hero, an interne, can't take money for saving the life of underworlding Lloyd Nolan, but he can enlist his services in cowing—with only one shot fired—the heavy (Stanley Ridges) who knows where the baby is.

What makes it different is the screen play by Rian James and Theodore Reeves, and Alfred Santell's direction. Original shot: Ridges goes to door to see if butler is eavesdropping—and he isn't!

A Snappy Musical

"Wake Up and Live" is one of the snappier Twentieth Century musicals. It's the Winchell-Ben Bernie film, and while Bernie occasionally looks like a juvenile, both the "feudists" are hits.

In this picture Jack Haley gets his best break and can be called the real star. Besides Alice Faye, who keeps on proving that she can handle bigger assignments if she gets them, there are Patsy Kelly, Ned Sparks, and a flock of "specialties," including Joan Davis. Miss Davis is a fall guy de luxe.

A young writer named Curtis Kenyon evolved the screen story—and a good one—from Dorothea Brande's book, and Sidney Lanfield directed. After this one I won't be surprised if they base a movie on "The Philosophy of Spinoza."

Lynn Gilbert, evading a bucking horse in a western movie, accidentally knocked down Cowboy Bob Cortman. Picking himself up, his face bleeding, he asked with utmost solicitude: "Did I hurt you, Miss? . . ."

Al St. John, once a star and now a bit player, was one of the two original Keystone Kops. Fatty Arbuckle was the other.

SMALL PERCENTAGE OF PROCESS TAXES TO BE REFUNDED

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) — Treasury officials estimate they will have to refund only about 10 per cent of $1,000,000,000 in processing taxes collected under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act.

Milton E. Carter, assistant internal revenue commissioner, told a house appropriations subcommittee in hearings released today that the treasury expected to return no more than $96,000,000.

He explained that law requires that claimants prove that they bore the tax—instead of passing it on—would keep many from filing claims uncollectable.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

CHAPTER 27
DENNY COMES BACK

"Are you telling all to Denny, young woman?" Peter demanded. They still teased her a little about Denny. "Personally, I think they're a boon in this wilderness. But to have not only the little boy next door but his papa, settin' up with you four days out of seven—"

"They're probably thinking of eloping together with Marylin," Eve retorted. "As a matter of fact, I had a letter from Denny not long ago, and he said 'I suppose you're flirting with old Peter'."

They both laughed. Peter was so invincibly his wife's adorer.

"All is discovered!" he said. "Well, if I ever did fall for anybody but Marylin, I promise it would be you, Eve."

"Very handsome of you," said Eve absently. She thought she heard the front bell jangling. You could hear it from the rear portico.

She ran in, through the center hall, threw the door open.

There he stood, casual as if he had gone only yesterday.

Denny, unchanged. The suitcase, the gray-suited long slim body, the smiling green eyes, the boyish thrilling clutch of his arms as he cried out with joy at seeing her after so long!

"It can't be real—it doesn't seem real—" he murmured, kissing her thirstily. "Oh, Eve, I got to feeling maybe you were just something I'd dreamed—"

They stood holding each other close in the sunshiny long hall. Denny presently glanced about and said, "Where's the army? Any hope of our being left alone?"

"Oh, darling, they're all as ceremonially in hiding as if you were the princess in Aladdin. Marylin and Peter even volunteered to get dinner."

"That's the way to treat your boarders. Gosh, precious, I simply couldn't bear the idea of your drudging away in this big house. But you look as fresh and smart and lovely as if you hadn't turned a finger. How did you manage?"

"It hasn't been bad," Eve said. "Peter insists on a cleaning woman twice a week for the sweeping and scrubbing. The Blessed Dividends turn up in a minute or so now, you know, and he's going to pay me for all the cleaners himself, they say. For the rest of it, Uncle Henry does twice too much of the cooking and cleaning. Breakfast and lunch aren't anything, of course, except for him and Judge, and they do their own. We take turns about dinner. Isn't your girl friend the little organizer?"

"She's the bravest thing on earth—" Denny said fervently as they went up to the room she had prepared for him. Eve was puzzled by his attitude of extravagant pity; she had liked it in the country except for his being away! She sat in the old 'patent rocker" while he admired everything.

"You went and dug it all out for me, you blessed child?"

"Well, I had to dig something, and you said you liked it—"

"She won't admit her devotion. Well, I'm not like that. I'd dig subways if you said you liked 'em—"

"There's some draining Uncle Henry was talking about in the meadow-piece," said Eve mischievously.

"The minute supper's over . . ."

Together And in Love

They were together. They were in love. It didn't matter what nonsense they talked excitedly. After six weeks of separation, they were in the same house.

"You know, it's worse for me than for you, Eve, because you are not at the office. When I went by your cubicle today, I thought you were going to be there, and then it was Miss Hare, with her plump pieface and her neat gray bob, like an ad in the subway. I wanted to strangle her."

"That's no excuse for strangling me instead."

She disentangled herself, flushed, and retreated to the doorway. "Come on, I want to show you the lawn and the fruit garden. There will be simply millions of strawberries."

Denny, decanting a suitcase on the bed, said, "My own, don't say you're going rural on me!"

She was dashed for a minute. Then she realized that she had been getting ridiculously wrapped up in her house and garden.

She laughed, returning and perching on a chair arm. "I had to do something to occupy my mind, with you off in the wilds hunting for fame and fortune! Denny, did you get it?"

His face darkened in the old quick boyish way.

"No, darn 'em, I didn't. Bill had to get well and strong and I'm back on the old measly job." Eve stared at him aghast. "But all isn't lost, lamb. I cried on old Mitzi the minute I landed and she's been working the old rabbit's foot, it seems, right along, about the Cleveland publicity job. You should have seen the dinner party she pulled last night! Fourteen people and an extra butler in to wait. She put me next George Cleveland's mamma again and I think I made a hit." He began to laugh.

"And what grandeur! Different wine with every course like a novel; and after dinner she sent me out to unlock the wine closet for more whisky; and what did I see sitting up but one of those printed trays that give you good advice—brand new! It said Hock with Soup, Sauterne with Fish, Champagne with Welsh Rabbit. Whisky with Baked Beans and so on. And there were all the glittering guests sitting round impressed as anything and Mittie-May had just mugged it up that P. M.!"

Before Eve could say, "But Mr. Cleveland comes here nights and over most week-ends—" Marylin and Peter, avid for news of the city, were on them.

"We're starved for gossip," Marylin said, kissing Denny and settling down on the bed by him. "Don't hold out on us, Den, here in the wilds. Has Herndon's secretary still a hopeless pash for him and is Dick Midgett's little Russian still a princess, or did she turn out to be a Red? . . ."

And that was Eve and Denny's last moment alone.

Dinner was hilarious, if you could call it dinner. Peter was an expert on stew; they had that, baked potatoes, and baked apples with whipped cream.

"Too bad we didn't ask George and Georgie," said Marylin.

"Gosh, I wish you had asked the old man over," said Denny. "Eve says he's quite settling in."

"Week-ends. Georgie is the original settler."

"Grand!" said Denny. "Maybe they'll be here tonight and I can vamp old Cleveland."

"The first night with Eve, when we were going to clear out of the parlor so tactfully? Oh, fie for shame!" said Marylin mischievously.

"Well, we need him," said Eve, laughing across at Denny.

George Interrupts a Song

The Clevelands did drift over in their innocent and accustomed way. Mr. Cleveland had been playing off a tournament; he detailed it at length to Peter, that most beguiling of listeners. George went into the back parlor as usual, where the piano and the radio and the little center table and Judge and Uncle Henry were. He was hard at work presently on mysterious sheets of calculations, while the old man and child played checkers.

The Featherstones and Mr. Cleveland and Denny in the front room by the fire went at contract. Denny was a good player. Eve deliberately left them alone and returned to the checker players. Denny would have his chance with Mr. Cleveland—and a better chance, he must see, than Mitzi's elaborate maneuvers could arrange for him.

"What are you at, George?" she asked idly, a hand on his shoulder. George, pencil in hand, looked up at her, smiled briefly and kindly and said, "Mathematics of genetics."

"Will it disturb you if Eve sings a bit, George?" Uncle Henry asked mildly, as he asked two nights out of three, when Judge had triumphantly won a game and was obviously too bright-eyed for chances of sleep. "She won't sing loud."

"No, it won't disturb me," George said. He laid aside his papers and leaned his head back in the old-fashioned chair. Eve knew what Uncle Henry wanted — the old Scotch songs and the Stephen Foster songs her aunt used to sing when she was small. She sat down at the tiny green piano, installment-bought, that had been the pride of her city apartment. Uncle Henry behind her turned out the lamp. The half-light from the other end of the rooms was enough to show her to them, her head drooping a little, murmuring songs she knew by heart, her green dress flowing round her. Judge came over and nestled against her on the floor.

In spite of the disappointment about Denny's job, she sat there among people whom she loved and who loved her; she was in the house she had always loved, she realized now. She went on singing softly, there in the half-light. Denny was here. Denny would see tomorrow, that he must go straight to old Mr. Cleveland in spite of Mitzi's specious bullying arguments. . . . Spring, young—in love—Eve's voice swelled a little, sweet and clear and happy, in one of the old songs Uncle Henry liked. . . .

I love you truly—truly, dear.
Life has no sorrow—life has no fear . . .

George's chair made a noise on the floor as he rose abruptly.

"Look here, Dad, you have to be starting your tournament match at nine tomorrow," he said, crossing to the front room, while Eve's hands dropped to the keys in surprise. George wasn't apt to do this sort of thing, he loved her singing.

"Yes, yes," Mr. Cleveland said a little ruefully; he never liked to be hurried. But golf was sacred; and presently the two were gone.

Rural Decline In South Now More Rapid

Urban Population Rises 17 Pct. In 30 Years Of This Century

WASHINGTON, April 29 (UP) — The population of the South is shifting in large numbers to cities and to other sections of the country, according to a survey by the department of agriculture.

The urban population of the South constituted 15 per cent of the total southern population in 1900; 20 per cent in 1910; 25 per cent in 1920 and 32 per cent in 1930, the survey showed.

This was an increase in urbanization of 17 per cent in 30 years, according to Carl C. Taylor, department economist who made the survey. The national increase for this same period was 16 per cent, he said.

Despite this migration to cities, the South still is the most rural section of the country, Taylor said. About 68 per cent of the Southern population is rural as compared with 44 per cent of the national population as a whole.

33 Million in 13 States

In 1930 there were 33,771,653 persons in the 13 Southern States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama, Texas and Tennessee.

"If the rural population is divided into rural farm and rural nonfarm (persons living in towns and villages of less than 2,500 inhabitants), it is found that 46 per cent of the people of the South live on farms," Taylor said.

For the country as a whole, only 25 per cent live on farms. In Northeastern states fewer than 12 per cent of the population lives on farms.

In 1900, three-fifths of all the gainfully employed persons over 10 years of age in the Southern states were on farms. Taylor said. In 1930 two-fifths were on farms.

Birth Rate Higher

"One-fourth of the nation's population which lives in the South annually contributes one-third of the children born in the nation, Taylor said. Further, this area contributes nearly one-half of the excess of births over deaths, that is, the natural increase in the population of the nation.

The South has more than its share of young persons, slightly less than its share of old persons, and considerably less than its share of persons in the middle-age groups, Taylor said.

In the nation as a whole, slightly less than 3 out of every 10 persons are under 20 years. In the South, more than 4 out of every 10 persons are in this younger age group.

"The basic explanation of the age distribution of southern population can be found in two facts: first, the excessive migration from Southern states of young adults and second, the dominance of rural population in the South where there, as elsewhere, has more than its share of young people and less than its share of the middle-age group," Taylor said.

Exodus to East, West and Coast

"Where do the people who leave the South go? There are three major streams: One flowing into the Northeast, chiefly into New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey; another flowing into the Middle West, chiefly into Ohio Illinois, Missouri and Michigan; and a third flowing into the West and Northwest, chiefly Colorado, Arizona and California.

"As would be expected, the stream to the Northeast is mostly from Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina. The stream to the Middle West is mostly from Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky. And the stream into the West and Northwest is mostly from Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma," Taylor said.

Of southern migrants going into the Northeast, 88 per cent go to cities, 10 per cent to small towns and 2 per cent to farms. In the Middle West 80 per cent stop in cities, 18 per cent in small towns and 10 per cent on farms. In the West and Northwest, 60 per cent go to cities, 24.5 per cent to small towns and 15.5 per cent to farms Taylor found.

WTCC OFFICIALS ANTICIPATING BIG CONVENTION NEXT MONTH

Prominent Speakers To Appear At Brownwood; Towns Lined Up For Contests

BROWNWOOD, April 29—With acceptance of places on the program by several prominent speakers, with entries in the My Home Town speaking contest already totaling 44, with 12 sponsors already entered in the West Texas Follies of 1937, with 11 towns entered in the new activities contest and with hotel reservations being received by the score daily, West Texas chamber of commerce officials believe the 19th annual convention in Brownwood May 10, 11 and 12 will be one of the most successful in the organization's history.

Attendance at the convention is expected to reach 10,000 and may be much more than that number, WTCC officials state.

Gov. James V. Allred and Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission, will be speakers on the program. Several other prominent speakers will appear on the general assembly and group conference programs. Some of the most vital West Texas subjects will be discussed at the conference.

Two cities are bidding for the 1938 convention and will send big delegations to the Brownwood meeting. They are Wichita Falls and Abilene.

Farm Tenancy

D. P. Trent, Dallas, regional director of the Resettlement Administration, will be one of the principal speakers at the group conference on farm tenancy and unemployment to be held Monday afternoon. Some prominent official of the Works Progress Administration also will appear on this program. H. G. Lucas, president of the Texas Agricultural association, is chairman and M. J. Benefield, Brady, is secretary of this conference.

H. H. Williamson, state director of the extension service of Texas A. and M. college; R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the Texas Agricultural experiment station at Spur; and State Sen. E. M. Davis, Brownwood; and other prominent speakers will be heard at the group conference on soil conservation to be held Tuesday afternoon, May 11. Dickson will speak on "Erosion Prevention Methods" and Davis' subject will be "Soil Conservation Legislation." Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, is chairman, and S. W. Cooper, Coleman, is secretary of the conference.

Judge J. C. Hunter, Abilene, West Texas oil operator, will speak at the oil development conference which also will be held Tuesday afternoon. Several other speakers will appear on the program. J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls, is chairman and William A. Wilson, Olney, is secretary of the oil conference.

Home Town Contest

Towns that have named representatives in the My Home Town speaking contest, annual feature of the convention, are: Albany, Miss Gerry Crow; Amarillo, J. B. Linn, Jr.; Bangs, Mary Jane Pugh; Coleman, William E. Dingus; De Leon, Robert Cook; Dimmitt, Jack Boren; Fort Davis, Martha Bloys; Nocona, Holly Benton; Tahoka, Charles Gainat and Throckmorton, Watt W. Wilkinson.

Other towns that have entered but not selected their contestants are: Abilene, Archer City, Borger, Ballinger, Burkburnett, Colorado, Canadian, Eastland, Electra, Floydada, Fort Worth, Graham, Gatesville, Haskell, Hereford Hamlin, Lubbock, Iraan, Memphis, Midland, Olney, Olton, Quanah, Ranger, San Angelo, Santa Anna, Spur, Slaton, Sweetwater, Van Horn, Vernon, Wichita Falls, and Weatherford.

Sponsors named for the West Texas Follies of 1937 are: John Tarleton college, Stephenville, Ruth Jo Jennings; Eastland, Doris Lawrence; and Littlefield, Nettie Bell Beatton. Other towns that have entered sponsors but have not yet named them are Abilene, Breckenridge, Coleman, Floydada, Haskell, Midland, Stephenville, Wichita Falls, and San Angelo.

Brilliant Show

The Follies will be one of the most brilliant and colorful shows seen at a West Texas chamber of commerce convention in many years. The shows will be staged Monday and Tuesday nights, May 10 and 11, under the direction of Dr. Mollie Armstrong, Brownwood. The most beautiful sponsor sent to the convention by a West Texas town will be selected and crowned "Miss West Texas." Some of the best entertainment units in the state will appear on the program. Music will be furnished by Denton stage band of Fort Worth and John Tarleton college band of Stephenville.

Towns that have entered the activities contest are: Sudan, Sweetwater, Shamrock, Kerrville, Floydada, Haskell, Vernon, Slaton, Midland, Coleman and Roswell N. M.

General sessions of the convention will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. and Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. Convention city for 1938 will be selected, finals in the Home Town contest will be held and an address by a speaker of national prominence will be heard at the final session. President Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth, will preside.

Officers will be elected at a breakfast for directors Wednesday at 7:30 a. m. Milburn McCarty, Eastland, is first vice president; H. S. Hilburn, Plainview, is second vice president; C. M. Francis, Stamford, is treasurer; and D. A. Bandeen, Stamford, is manager. Directors also will meet at luncheons Monday and Tuesday to hear reports of the work committee and dispose of resolutions and proposals.

One-fourth of the 1,018,000 school teachers in the United States are men, 75,000 of whom offer instruction in the elementary grades.

Fairview News

Sunday school was well attended last week. Rev. W. C. Williamson, pastor, filled his appointment, preaching at the 11 a. m. hour. It was decided to hold the summer revival meeting beginning the third Sunday in August.

Mrs. Jeff Grant is leaving Tuesday for Goree to spend two months with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Newton spent the week-end at the home of his sister, Mrs. Haskell Grant.

Bees picked an unusual place to swarm this past week. They came into the kitchen of the J. W. Wooten home and gathered underneath the sink. Members of the Wooten family sprayed the swarm with water and fought bees all one eveing It was finally necessary to saw out a part of the wall to drive the bees out.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas visited his mother Sunday.

Friends in this community were saddened to learn of the death of Eck Lovelace in Big Spring. He was well known here.

J. R. Ledbetter, a visitor last week from Tarzan, reported that section had received a nice rain, and that farmers in the community were planting. Ledbetter reported he had planted 40 acres to cotton and that a part of it was coming up. Only a few farmers are dry planting in this community. Continued blowing is holding up the work.

J. W. Wooten has been on the sick list. H. P. Wooten visited him Sunday afternoon.

Rev. W. C. Williamson and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Couch.

Flora Williamson visted Earmanee Wooten Sunday. She has won a trip to Fort Worth, and was to leave Wednesday.

SCHURMANS WILL GO TO WACO CONVENTION

Rev. and Mrs. G. C. Schurman will represent the First Christian church in the denomination's state convention convening Monday at Waco.

Mrs. Schurman is to appear as a speaker before the women's division, delivering an address on "Renewing Our Minds." Rev. Schurman is a member of the resolutions committee.

They plan to leave here early Monday and remain through the closing sessions Thursday, returning here Friday.

Program Honoring Mothers To Be Held At Knott Church

A special program honoring mothers will be held at the First Baptist church at Knott this Sunday, it has been announced by Rev. R. R. Cumbie, pastor. The date is not the regular day set apart as "Mother's Day," but the Knott church will observe the occasion since the pastor will be absent the following Sunday.

All regular services for the day will be cut short for the special program, Rev. Cumbie announced and an invitation is extended for the public to attend. "We are expecting 100 to be in Sunday school on that day," said Rev. Cumbie, "and we are inviting all to attend. We request our local people to come and bring a well-filled box of food and help make the day a real success."

There will be a message in keeping with the program of the day, at the morning worship, the pastor announced, and during the day honors will be paid to the oldest and the youngest mother of the Knott community.

There will be an afternoon program, scheduled to start soon after lunch and to be completed by 3 o'clock.

Bee Vanquishes Widow Spider

SALINAS, Cal. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Smith witnessed a black widow spider snare a bee into its net and gradually tie it up like a roped steer. Then the bee stung the spider. The latter faded out of existence and the tragedy was over.

Carmel Gets Art Tip

CARMEL, Cal. (UP)—Paul Whitman has suggested to the Business Men's association that the "arty atmosphere" of America's greatest art colony here be accentuated by maintaining a paid artist who will keep busy with his easel and brushes on the main street of the village. Visitors, he explains, expect some visible evidence that Carmel is really an art colony.
