Miles Surprised At Pearl Harbor Lapse

Attacks On Hawaii And Panama Said Always Considered "Equally Likely"

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles said today the Army high command always had considered attacks on Hawaii and the Panama Canal about "equally likely" in case of war with Japan.

That was so inherent in the situation," he declared, that he had never thought for a moment before Dec. 7, 1941, that Pearl Harbor's defenders were not fully on the alert.

Miles acknowledged before the Senate-House investigating committee, however, that Hawaii was not mentioned in any of the evaluations and forecasts he prepared as head of military intelligence.

Short Sits Nearby

Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, Army commander at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck, sat at a nearby table as Mills testified. He leaned forward and listened carefully as Miles related that he had served under four commanding generals in Hawaii and all had always been conscious that Hawaii might be attacked if trouble developed with Japan.

In response to questions from Gerhard Gesell, assistant committee counsel, Miles said he knew on Dec. 6 that the Japanese consul in Hawaii was destroying his records but did not inform Short.

Such secret information ordinarily was handled by the Navy because its code was regarded as "more secure," he explained, and "we had every reason to believe that any navy mssage to Hawaii would be promptly given to the

Crop Program Almost Equal To War Years

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. — A 1946 farm program calling for near wartime levels of food and farm commodity production to meet an "almost unlimited need" was recommended to farmers today by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

The program suggested a slight increase in the overall crop acreage, but some reduction in the total quantity of livestock products.

"The end of the war," Anderson said in a statement, "has not brought an end to the almost unlimited need for American food."

Asks 356,244,000 Acres

He suggested an overall crop goal of 356,244,000 acres compared with this year's indicated planting of 350,588,000.

The secretary said the goals, if met, would provide civilians with more food than they had during the war, as well as furnish supplies for the armed services and for export, including aid to war-devastated areas.

The announcement did not give prices at which the government will support markets. This phase of the program will be announced later, officials said.

The program will be submitted to representatives of the department in the states and counties, including local farmer committees, and to farm organizations, for suggested revisions. Final goals will be announced about the first of the year.

Reduction Percentages

In the case of crops, these percentage reductions from 1945 acreages were recommended: Rice 7; dried peas 10; soy beans for beans 10; peanuts 20; potatoes 5; truck crops for fresh markets 1 truck crops for processing 3; and burley tobacco 10.

The recommended livestock production goals call for the following percentage reductions from 1945 production: Milk 2 per cent; hens and pullets on farms on Jan. 1, 13; eggs 15; chickens raised next year 17; turkeys 10; cattle and calves on farms at the end of next year 2; beef cattle on farms at the end of next year 3.

A 1 per cent increase in the 1946 spring hay crop was suggested, while no change was recommended in the number of sheep and lambs on farms at the end of next year from the number on farms at the end of this year. The recommendations on the 1946 fall hay crop were deferred until next spring when future meat demands may be more easily determined.

Same Are Increased

Crop increases recommended included: Rye 23 dry beans 1; wheat same as this year; cotton 9; sugar cane 8; sweet potatoes 4; corn 3; oats, unchanged from this year; all sorghums, except syrup, 5; tame hay 1; hay seeds 16; and cover crop seeds 15.

The suggested 1946 crop goals and 1945 acreages, respectfully, included:

Wheat 68,875,000 and 68,808,000; acres; rice, 1,404,000 and 1,511,000; cciton, 20,000,000 and 18,355,000; sugar cane, except syrup, 327,000 and 303,000; potatoes, 2,780,000 and 2,916,000; sweet potatoes, 750,000 and 719,000; truck crops for fresh market, 1,827,000 and 1,849,000; truck crops for processing, 2,004,000 and 2,093,000.

Corn, 97,000,000 and 94,154,000; oats, 46,000,000 and 45,911,000; all sorghums, except syrup, 16,600,000 and 16,048,000; tame hay, 60,000,000 and 59,459,000; hay seeds, 5,630,000 and 4,840,00; and cover crop seeds, 406,000 and 353,000.

The suggested 1946 livestock goals and indicated 1945 production of numbers, respectively, included:

Milk producti n on farms, 120,500,000,000 and 123,000,000,000 pounds; hens and pullets on farms January 1, 408,063,000 and 469,161,000 head; egg production on farms, 3,910,000,000 and 4,577,000,000 dozen; chickens raised, 680,000,0 and 821,353,00 head; turkeys raised, 39,700,000 and 44,150,000 head; spring pig crop, 52,000,000 and 51,687,000 head; cattle and calves on farms at the end of the year, 78,000,000 and 80,200,000; meat cattle on farms at the end of the year, 39,200,000 and 40,600,000; and sheep and lambs on farms at the end of the year, 44,800,000 and 44,800,000.

Hurley Ready To Tell Full Story Of China

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Major General Patrick J. Hurley readily agreed to take on all comers today as three congressional committees invited him to shoot.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee, which put in its bid first, appeared to have the inside track. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) called a hearing for Wednesday and Hurley told reporters he preferred to testify there first—but he sought a public and not a private session, as Connally had planned.

Two House committees—on military affairs and un-American activities—also want to hear more about the charges Hurley made against certain career diplomats and the State department in a press release Tuesday which announced his resignation as ambassador to China.

Hurley asserted that "a considerable section of our State department is endeavoring to support Communism generally as well as specifically in China."

The Hurley statement continued to bring repercussions from both sides of the capitol. One of these today was the first criticism yet uttered there of President Truman's appointment of General George C. Marshall to succeed Hurley in China.

Rep. Patterson (D-Calif) said it was a "poor appointment" because Marshall "doesn't know anything about China" and "because he is a soldier." Patterson made his criticism at a news conference called by six west coast representatives headed by Rep. DeLacy (D-Wash).

DeLacy urged that the House Foreign Affairs committee investigate what he called the "rotten Hurley policy" in China. This policy, he said, was to support with armed forces "the ones who want to perpetuate the old repressive order." Patterson suggested that the foreign affairs committee inquire "to what extent oil policies were involved" in Hurley's mission.

Labor Parley Is Concluded

By WILLIAM NEEDHAM
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—President Truman's labor-management conference adjourned at 6:25 p. m., eastern standard time tonight without setting up the hoped-for machinery to handle post-war labor disputes.

The conferees were in complete disagreement on such major issues as wages and collective bargainnig, but leaders asserted the meeting attained "substantial advances toward industrial peace."

Open Attacks Flare

The closing session of the 25-day meeting called by Mr. Truman to devise ways and means of curbing industrial strife, flared in open attacks on management by ranking labor leaders and a vigorous exchange between the heads of the rival CIO and AFL unions.

Toward the end, John L. Lewis arose to scold fellow labor leaders for inability to agree among themselves. He called on them to witness management's "precise and efficient functioning" at the conference and to put their "own house in order" by unifying their policies.

Little business was transacted today, other than the defeat, by voice vote, of each proposal submitted by either labor or management. Each side voted as a bloc.

Foregone Conclusion

Failure of the executive committee to iron out long-standing disagreements at a four-hour session before the general meeting had made the result a foregone conclusion.

However, the highlight of the session was a dispute over wage resolutions carried to the floor by CIO President Philip Murray.

In a 40-minute address Murray urged the conference to go on record by stating the "imperative need of granting substantial wage increases now." He asserted a wage resolution had been killed in a subcommittee, headed by William Green, AFL president, but that "this conference will not fully discharge its obligations to the people" without expressing its views on the question.

Says Earnings Slashed

Murray also accused industry of reducing the earnings of labor by $10.75 a week since V-E day, and declared that collective bargaining throughout the country had broken down because management had failed to "accept its responsibility." He named the General

C. E. WILSON
. . . Offers GM Work Plan

Union Heads Delay Reply

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 30.—The strike-idle General Motors Corp. proposed to the CIO's United Auto Workers tonight that work in GM's parts and accessories division be resumed for the benefit of other automobile manufacturers.

The proposal was made in a letter from President C. E. Wilson of General Motors to President R. J. Thomas of the striking union, which has tied up GM production since Nov. 21 in a strike affecting 225,000 workers.

Restore Flow Of Parts

Wilson said the proposal, for which he suggested "acceptance by your union," was made with the thought of restoring the flow of auto parts and accessories from GM's factories for other reconverting plants of the industry.

The union was notified informally of General Motors' proposal but made no comment. A spokesman ta UAW-CIO headquarters said a reply probably would not be forthcoming before tomorrow.

I the union accepts, Wilson said, men would be called back to work with the understanding that no work would be done except for outside manufacturers.

When the General Motors strike began, industry authority expressed fear that it might force all other automobile manufacturers except the Ford Motor company to quit production for lack of parts from General Motors.

Picketing Case Unsolved

Tonight's offer from General Motors came shortly after the corporation and the UAW-CIO had failed to reach an agreement in a dispute over picketing of GM's plants. General Motors charged the union with "illegal picketing."

On an agreement in that dispute there had hung a possible chance for reopening of negotiations between teh corporation and union.

In announcing that today's conference had failed, Vice President Harry W. Anderson of General Motors indicated the corporation would have made a formal overture to the union had an agreement been reached on picketing.

"When that time (an agreement) comes," Anderson said, "we are going to ask the union to take a position on our letter."

May Go Still Further

This was the General Motors letter in which the corporation demanded that the UAW-CIO recede from its demand for a wage rate increase of 30 per cent within the

Internees Try Mass Suicide To Avoid Russian-Held Zone

RUDOLF HESS

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 30.—About 600 German military internees, including 100 who attempted suicide, were hospitalized tonight after a day of violence as the Swedish government started extradition of 2,700 former wehrmacht soldiers to Soviet territory.

Swedish authorities said that two succeeded in taking their own lives in wild struggles with Swedish military forces and police who had the task of transporting the internees to a waiting Russian ship at Trelleborg. Many attempted self-mutilation.

Many On Hunger Strike

About 500 were hospitalized because of weakness from a hunger strike begun a week ago in protest against an order turning them over to the Russians.

Wild and bloody scenes, in which club-swinging Swedish police and soldiers tried to halt repeated acts of violence by internees, were enacted in two of four camps from which the Germans were being removed.

Most of the 2,700 held in the four camps are Germans. The rest are Austrians, Poles, Lithuanians, Estonians and Latvians. Details of the camp scenes as reported in Stockholm included:

One group of 60 Germans formed a tightly packed ring as their leader, a Captain Kuhn, plunged a knife into his breast. Several others followed suit. Police beat some internees with clubs to prevent further self-injury. In one group, Germans shouted: "Stab me. Stab me here."

At one time more than 70 Germans from several barracks lay on the ground bleeding. Others tore their clothes and were bundled half naked into waiting transports.

Barricade Selves In

At another camp at Backamo, 100 German officers barricaded themselves in barracks. When police finally broke in, the place was splashed with blood spurting from severed arm and leg arteries. Five ambulances raced back and forth from the camp to a nearby hospital.

Some deportation trains nevertheless got underway at midday.

Still other prisoners were too weak to be moved because of a

Hess Asserts He Faked Amnesia

NUERNBERG, Nov. 29. (AP)—Rudolf Hess sardonically told the international military tribunal today that he had faked Amnesia, fooling Allied medical experts and his own attorney, but that now he was prepared to stand trial and "bear full responsibility for anything I have done."

HE'S GREATLY RELIVED

NUERNBERG, Nov. 30 (AP)—Back in the quiet of his jail cell after his sensational statement to the international military tribunal today, Rudolf Hess sighed and said, "I feel better."

When his jailer, Col. B. C. Andrus, remarked that he was glad he was not going to fake amnesia any more, Hess replied:

"Ach, I feel unburdened — I feel better."

speech into a microphone when British Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence declared, at a special hearing on Hess' sanity, that the tribunal would like to hear from the defendant himself.

No Decision Announced

The court adjourned without announcing any decision, but the line of questioning by Lawrence and other justices indicated they were inclined to believe Hess is in condition to be tried.

Hess' statement followed a regular court session at which a German counter intelligence chief accused Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, Hitler's fashion plate chief of the German supreme command, with being the instigator of a plot to assassinate French military leaders Gen. Maxime Weygand and Gen. Henri Giraud.

Maj. Gen. Erwin Lahousen, first witness to testify since the opening of the trials, linked Keitel and the entire German Army general staff with wholesale killings of Russian prisoners of war and mass starvation of thousands of others.

Occasional Grin

Hess, with an occasional grin on his face, had watched Dr. Gunther von Rohrscheidt, his defense attorney, fight back at the Russian, American and British prosecution contention that Hess should stand trial even if he suffered temporarily from amnesia.

The legal battle went on for a half hour, with the chief American prosecutor, Justice Robert H. Jackson, indicating he believed Hess was faking.

Completion Of Museum Mapped

A campaign of contributions that would be conducted through 1946 and assure completion of West Texas museum on the campus of Texas Tech in 1947 was decided upon at a dinner given Friday night in the Navajo room of Hilton hotel by C. E. Maedgen, president of the museum association.

"Unlike some cities of comparable size where the population regularly is called upon for contributions to support denominational colleges situated there, never has Lubbock or this section been asked for financial aid of major developments to Texas Tech since construction of the college was commenced here—and I think it is time we begin supporting our school more," Maedgen said.

$10,000 Contribution

The drive decision was sparked by an announcement that Retha R. Martin, managing partner of Dunlap's Department stores, would contribute $10,000 toward completion of the museum building—

Planes Slash Indonesians

By VERN HAUGHLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 30—Ten British planes struck with rockets and bombs today to silence Indonesian artillery which shelled internment camps and British positions at Ambarawa in central Java, and Indian troops opened a land attack.

The Dutch news agency Aneta said the Indonesian guns had killed 30 persons and wounded 60 in the last few days. British reports said 13 persons, including five British artillerymen, were killed and 34 wounded by the shelling yesterday.

Ground Offensive

Immediately after the air assault, British Indian troops began a ground offensive which was reported proceeding well at the outset.

The Indonesians had reinforced their positions on the south and east banks of the lake at Ambarawa, which is approximately 25 miles south of the mid-Java coastal city of Semarang.

Some 10,000 former civilian internees and prisoners of war have been concentrated at Ambarawa.

Semarang was reported quiet, and Indian troops occupied Oenegaran, troublesome village between Semarang and Ambarawa where Indonesians had massed in sizeable force last week.

Fighting In Bandoeng

Fighting flared again yesterday in Bandoeng, summer capital of Java 75 miles southeast of Batavia, and a British statement said the Dutch and Indonesians exchanged shots on Juliana boulevard.

Aneta said the British had cleared the northern half of the city, and with strong air cover had opened the Batavia-Bandoeng highway as far as Soekaboemi, about midway between the two cities, for a food and supply convoy of 70 trucks.

Meanwhile acting Governor General Hubertus Van Mook of the Netherlands East Indies reiterated at a news conference that "the door to discussion" with the Indonesians "is still wide open."

200,000 Said Rescued

Col. D. L. Asjes, head of the control staff for the organization rescuing internees and former prisoners, said his organization had over 200,000 persons under its care, of whom 30,000 should be evacuated, preferably to Holland.

Van Mook, asked whether mass evacuation was intended to clear the decks for military action, said no. He conceded, however, that the evacuation would serve such a purpose.

Tribunal Denies Yamashita Plea

MANILA, Saturday, Dec. 1 (AP)—The military commission trying Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on war crimes charges today rejected a "not guilty" motion which defense counsel asked on concluding its case. The trial has been in progress since Oct. 29.

Yamashita yesterday testified in a 45-minute guttural speech he neither ordered nor condoned Japanese atrocities in the Philippines and asserted he would punish the perpetrators now if he had the power.

"If I could have foreseen these things," the grim conqueror of Singapore muttered, "I would have concentrated all my efforts to prevent them."

Dramatic Conclusion

Dramatically he concluded with a solemn oath:

"I will swear to heaven and earth to the truth of these points."

Dramatically, in his turn, Chief Prosecutor Maj. Robert Kerr pointed toward a map of the Philippines heavily dotted with red pins indicating the areas of reported atrocities. As Yamashita squirmed around in his chair to look at the chart, lights blazed up to illuminate it, and Kerr said:

"Each red pin represents a major violation of the laws of war by men under your command, according to the testimony in this case and according to the evidence of approximately 60,000 men, women and children.

Still Denies Charges

"Do you still deny that you ever heard of these killings?"

Glumly the grim-faced general responded:

"I never heard nor did I know of these events."

U. S. Sends Mission Into Northern Iran

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The United States has sent a diplomatic mission to northern Iran to obtain an on-the-ground report on the Russian-Iran tension there, the State department disclosed today.

The department dispatched three attaches from its Tehran embassy by plane and jeep to the trouble spot, Tabriz, in Azerbaijan province.

This news, announced by Michael J. McDermott, special assistant to Secretary of State Byrnes, coincided with these other international developments:

Ambassador's Charge

1.—Publication by the Iranian ambassador, Hussein Ala, of Moscow's note refusing passage of Iranian government troops to the northern Iranian area where a separatist movement is reported. Ala described the note as "weasel worded" and said it flatly rejected all 10 points in his government's protest against the Russian action.

2.—The United States is still awaiting a reply from Russia and Great Britain to its proposal that troops of all three countries be withdrawn from Iran by Jan. 1.

3.—A news conference statement by McDermott said that Secretary Byrnes has consistently advocated revision of the Italian armistice terms and is now discussing this with Britain and Russia. Byrnes has long contended that these terms, only recently announced for the first time, are harsh and obsolete.

Situation In Italy

4.—The United States, McDermott said in response to another news query, believes the Italian political situation is grave enough to warrant all parties there subordinating party aims to the national interest.

McDermott said Major Carl F. Garver, military attache, and John D. Jernegan, second secretary of the American embassy at Tehran, had flown from that city two or three days ago to Tabriz. At the same time, Capt. Alexis M. Garine, assistant military attache, who speaks Russian well, left by jeep.

Beyond saying they went to see what was going on, McDermoot said he did not know their instructions.

Reds "Shifting Blame"

Ambassador Ala made public his own translation of the Russian note after discussing its contents with Loy Henderson, chief of the State department's Middle and Near Eastern division. In talking with reporters, Ala said Russia "is trying to throw the blame on us."

Russia denied Soviet nationals were participating in political activities in Azerbaijan province. She said Iran government troops and gendarmes en route to northern Iran were stopped by the Russians to avoid "disturbance and bloodshed."

In event of such disturbances, the note declared, Russia would be forced "reluctantly" to increase her military strength in the north to promote "tranquillity."

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 30. (AP)—Two former presidents of Venezuela arrived in Miami early today and asserted "we are exiles."

Former President Isais Medina Angarita, who was deposed in the recent revolution, said he left because of the demands of the revolutionary government.

Medina was accompanied on the Pan-American Clipper flight here from Caracas by ex-President Eleazar Lopez Contreras.

Continental Sets Starting Time

Continental Airlines will commence service through Lubbock on its El Paso to Tulsa route on Feb. 15, and a party of Continental officials will be in Lubbock Dec. 13 to negotiate an agreement with the City Airport board and the City commission for use of the Municipal airport.

This was the announcement Friday of Chamber of Commerce officials after receipt of a letter from Donald A. Duff, executive assistant for the lines.

Converting Equipment

Conversion of necessary equipment for the route is now under way and Continental planes will "definitely" start flying through Lubbock on the designated date, Duff wrote. It was the first official indication from Continental as to when it could begin service.

Towns to be served by the route are El Paso, Carlsbad, Hobbs, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

More Varied Routes

Though Lubbock is already served by two air lines, inauguration of the new Continental line will make available to residents of this area shorter and more varied routes to Chicago, Washington, New York and other cities of the Midwest and East, in the opinion of one Chamber of Commerce official.

Duff will accompany R. F. Six, president of the line, to Lubbock. Their party is expected to total 10 persons. While here they will be guests at a mixer where they will have opportunity to meet representative citizens of the city. All will come down from Denver, location of Continental's head offices.

Status Of Ousted Professor At Texas U. Left Up To Woodward

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The University of Texas board of regents today referred to its chairman, with full power to act, the administration's recommendation that one of the former economics teachers who figured in events leading to the discharge of Pres. Homer P. Rainey, be appointed as an assistant professor.

The recommended appointment was one of 28 submitted to the board by Dr. T. S. Painter, acting president. No question was raised about the other 27.

Regent E. E. Kirkpatrick of Brownwood moved that the matter of appointing Dr. Wendell C. Gordon as associate professor of economics be referred to Chairman Dudley K. Woodward, and the board unanimously agreed.

Gordon, along with two other then-instructors in economics, were not re-elected by the board in the summer of 1942 because of their criticism of a Dallas mass meeting at which the wage-hour law was discussed. The others were J. Fagg Foster and W. N. Peach. This incident was one of the complaints brought against the then-board of regents by Dr. Rainey prior to his discharge as president last year. The American Association of University Professors in October of last year called on the regents to reappoint the instructors.

The board then passed a resolution, at the same meeting, declaring that if the three instructors should be recommended for appointment subsequently by their department, the recommen-

Governor's Race Comes Early To Fore Among Texas Young Demos

Rainey Coup Stymied By Harris

C. L. HARRIS, Lubbock attorney and president of the Young Democrats of Texas, announced here Friday that "Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith and all other Democrats holding high state offices in Texas are being invited to attend the December 6-7 convention of Texas Young Democrats and each will be given opportunity to speak while there."

Harris' statement and his action in issuing the blanket invitations followed last Sunday's action by the convention's program committee in approving a resolution sponsored by the Austin delegation barring Smith from either attending or speaking to the convention, to be held in Fort Worth.

Action of the Austin group, and the resultant upholding action by the program committee, both were termed by Harris as "in violation of our constitution and bylaws and certainly out-of-step with the principles of our organization."

Harris said Smith will be asked to take part in a program scheduled on the night of December 6, titled "An Hour of Democracy." He said he expected a half dozen or more outstanding Texas Democrats to take part in the program.

C. L. HARRIS

Harris described action of the Austin goup and the program committee, headed by Jack Carter, Fort Worth lawyer, as "an effort to boost the gubernatorial candidacy of Dr. Homer P. Rainey," deposed president of the University of Texas and spokesman for the extreme liberal and leftwing groups in Texas. Smith, former state senator from Throckmorton and currently serving a second term as lieutenant governor, is generally considered the bellwether of the ultra-conservatives of the Democratic party in the state. He also is considered as a certain gubernatorial candidate in 1946.

"It is not the function of the Young Democrats of Texas to take part, as an organization, in suporting or opposing any individual candidate for Democratic nomination to public office," Harris said. "In attempting to foster Doctor Rainey's candidacy, the Austin group and the program committee laid the foundation for splitting the organization on the basis of partisanship and as president I oppose and shall continue to oppose such effort."

Harris said the Austin delegation, headed by W. M. Ramey, University of Texas student and follower of Rainey, took the lead

Saturday The first round bracket of the state play-off will be completed as Amarillo battles Pampa at Pampa with the district I crown on the block, Odessa won over Midland 48-0 Thursday for district 3 honors and immediately arranged to play its bi-district game with El Paso High at El Paso Dec. 8.

Possibility of Lubbock's eventually landing on a newly-projected coast-to-coast airline was revealed this week in a telegram received by Mayor O. W. Ribble from Eddie Rickenbacker, president and general manager of the Eastern Airlines, whose organization is planning a new Southern route across the nation.

This week Lubbock lagged behind and ranked 223rd in state in sales of E bonds during the victory loan campaign. The days when counties of the South Plains could point with pride to their bond buying record apparently are on the wane.

Absenteeism, due to influenza, has been rising steadily in Lubbock public schools and business firms. Approximately 20 per cent of the Senior High school enrollment is ill, school officials said Thursday. The flu appears to be a milder form than that of former years.

Drs. J. W. Rollo and W. L. Baugh, respectively city and county health officers, have announced a county-wide campaign aimed at erasing the threat of typhus fever. Plans call for dusting and poisoning every business and industrial house in the city and county, with the exception of buildings in Lubbock where rat eradication and proofing has already been carried out. DDT powder will be used.

Police have warned of someone representing himself as a "colonel calling from Dallas" who has talked with three Lubbock women, three of them widows, within the last ten days, to report that "your son has been killed in action overseas."

The public was reminded that the War or Navy department always informs the nearest of kin by telegram—before the death of a serviceman is announced to other persons.

Albert Vaughn, Ruidoso businessman here on a visit, says Ruidoso, the popular New Mexico resort, is to be incorporated into a city. City limits of the newly incorporated town extend from the Old Mill, familiar landmark at the foot of the hill going into Ruidoso, about five miles to the Indian reservation. The city is about one mile wide.

Tech Red Raiders ended the season last Saturday with a 6-6 tie with New Mexico university at Albuquerque. Coach Del Morgan charged that it was "the lousiest officiated game I ever saw."

Col. Charles Bates Thornton, who climbed from second lieutenant to full colonel in one year, recently was awarded the Legion of Merit in recognition of his brilliant organizational work as head of the Statistical Control division at AAF headquarters in Washington, D. C. He was a student at Tech college from 1931-33. Col. Thornton is leaving the service to become assistant to Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor company.

John Rugel of Midland, a freshman student in Texas Technological college in 1941, has become the first Texas student to be awarded the American Legion's national commander's college scholarship. He is a student at Washington and Lee university at Lexington, Va., studying commerce and foreign trade. His mother is Clara Hood Rugel, Texas poet.

Lt. Col. Clarence E. Davis was scheduled to arrive Thursday aboard the aircraft carrier Enterprise after 30 months duty in England with the 65th Fighter Wing of the Eighth Air Force.

Early this month, Burlington lines ran newspaper and magazine advertisements including a map showing various routes and the towns they touched. Lubbock, which is on the Fort Worth and Denver branch line from Childress, was conspicuous by its absence. Chamber of Commerce officials promptly began bombarding the Fort Worth office with letters decrying the "incult."

Thanks to the kidding, the railway officials have advised the CC office that the map will be revised "to designate one of our important points — namely, Lubbock."

That's all this week.
Lots of luck.

Flue Epidemic Causes Further Absenteeism

Absenteeism in Lubbock county and city schools due to influenza continued Friday and one county school was forced to close one day earlier than planned for Thanksgiving holidays, school officials said here Friday.

Roosevelt dismissed school Tuesday afternoon instead of Wednesday as planned, because 98 students were absent due to flu, Roy Boyd, county superintendent, reported. All county schools but Roosevelt observed Nov. 22 and 23 for Thanksgiving holidays.

Boyd estimated that flu cases in the Roosevelt school represented about 25 per cent of the enrollment. Other county schools reported heavy absenteeism this week because of illness, but the percentage is much higher in the Roosevelt community, Boyd said.

Out of 1,321 students enrolled in Lubbock High school, 245 were absent from classes Friday morning, and 235 were absent Thursday, school authorities reported. Two teachers were out Friday due to flu.

School officials at Idalou said attendance Friday was somewhat better than Thursday with only 12 per cent of high school and grade school students out because of flu and other causes. Twenty per cent were affected the day before.

Army."

Mills read to the committee a letter from Lt. Col. Kendall Fielder of the Hawaiian department, dated Sept. 6, 1941, saying cooperation among Army, Navy and Federal Bureau of Investigation "is most complete."

He instructed military attaches in Tokyo on Dec. 3, 1941, to destroy their codes.

No warning messages were sent to Hawaii between Nov. 27 and Dec. 7 when General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, dispatched one which was not delivered until three hours after the attack began.

Recess Until Monday

Mills was still in the witness chair when the committee recessed until Monday. He is to be followed by Vice Admiral Theodore S. Wilkinson, former director of naval intelligence.

In anticipation of Wilkinson's appearance, Gesell entered as exhibits a batch of Navy documents. One disclosed that the Navy on Aug. 28, 1941, directed that warship patrols sink and raiders which threatened or attacked American vessels in areas around the Pacific side of the Panama Canal.

A supplementary order on Nov. 28, a copy of which went to Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, Navy commander at Pearl Harbor, included these instructions:

"Be prepared to carry out tasks assigned in WPL (war plan) 46 so far as they apply to Japan in case hostilities occur."

Some "If" Questions

Chairman Barkley (D-Kk), with a series of "if" questions, brought from Miles an opinion that the Japanese might have attacked Hawaii even if the fleet had not been there.

Miles said there were "very cogent reasons" why the Japanese would want to occupy the islands, one being that the United States would have to recapture them before unedrtaking any major Pacific offensive.

Miles was emphatic that there was no reason why he should believe the Army in Hawaii was not alert against any type of attack.

Had No Doubt On Alert

"I had no doubt," he told the Senate-House committee investigating the Japanese assault, "that the messages of Nov. 27, after months of strained diplomatic relations, would effect an immediate and complete alert."

Two messages of Nov. 27 from Washington to Hawaii advised that negotiations with Japan appeared ended and that hostile action might ensue.

Miles, who was assistant chief of staff for military intelligence, puffed at a pipe as he also told the committee:

1. The Army general staff "very much feared" an attack might come at 1 p. m. Dec. 7—the hour when Japanese peace negotiators delivered their note to the State department—but had no information where the attack might be made.

Japs Burn Codes

2. He had regarded war as in "the realm of probability" since Dec. 3 when it was learned the Japanese consulates were burning their codes.

3. Very little information obtained from decoding intercepted Japanese messages was sent overseas commanders after July 1, 1941, although prior to that time the Navy had sent rather full reports. The distribution was scaled down, he said, to keep secret the fact that the United States had "broken" Japan's best code.

The Nov. 27 messages, which promise to figure prominently in the investigation, were sent by Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Miles. Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, commanding the Hawaiian department, has said messages he received from the War department placed an emphasis on sabotage which led him to order an alert only against that type of enemy action.

in promoting an invitation to the discharged university head to appear on the convention program. Rainey is scheduled to speak at a luncheon meeting on December 7. Harris listed members of the program committee, under Carter's chairmanship, as Miss Polly Strong, Houston; Mrs. Marion Storm, of Austin, whose sister, is an employe of Rainey; Joe Luther, Dallas, and Drew Clifton, of Fort Worth.

BAR ON SMITH SAYS HE'S NOT REAL DEMOCRAT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30 (AP)—Jack Carter, program chairman for the scheduled convention of Young Democrats of Texas at Fort Worth Dec. 6-7, said tonight the committee voted to bar Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith from speaking at the meeting "because we did not consider him a real Democrat."

Carter made a statement by telephone to the Associated Press following a comment by C. L. Harris, Lubbock attorney and president of the Young Democrats of Texas, that the action of the program committee was "in violation of our constitution and by-laws and certainly out of step with the principles of our organization."

A Fort Worth lawyer, Carter said Harris had attended the Austin meeting of the program committee last Sunday and with Miss Polly Strong of Houston had voted against the resolution to bar Smith from speaking at the convention.

Fire in a paper shredding mill, 504 Broadway, at 4:42 p. m. Friday destroyed the stock of paper and did some damage to the plant, firemen reported.

Mass Suicide

hunger strike originated by a group of 167 Lithuanians, Latvians and Estonians who had served with the German Army.

Their hunger strike started a week ago Thursday in protest over a Swedish government order permitting the Soviet Union to extradite the prisoners, all of whom deserted from the German Army at the close of the war.

Swedes File Protests

Austrians, Poles and Germans joined them on Sunday, and the spread of the strike and threats of suicide caused Swedish public protests. Newspaper opinion was sharply divided.

King Gustav V called an extraordinary meeting of the cabinet after Gen. Helge Jung, commander in chief of the Swedish Army, said he expected to sustain losses if his troops attempted to carry out the deportation order.

Swedish officials announced that the Russians had turned down a request that all 2,700 be sent to Luebeck, in the British zone. Instead, only a few who fled to Sweden before May 1, 1945, will be sent to the western occupied area, with the remainder going to the Soviet zone where they had served as soldiers.

Texas In Cellar In Victory Loan Drive

(By The Associated Press)

Texas still remains in the cellar among all states on percentage of E bonds sold in the Victory Loan drive, Nathan Adams, state chairman of the drive, revealed today.

Only 37.5 per cent of the 90 million dollar quota has been reached, Adams said.

"Compared with performance during the war loans, Texas is falling down on the job in a way that scarcely seems possible," the state chairman declared. "Victory Loan E bond week Dec. 2-8 must be successful, but the concentrated effort of everyone in Texas will be needed to pull the state to the top."

Labor Conference

Motors corporation and the U. S. Steel corporation specifically as examples of industries which were refusing to bargain collectively with their workers.

Green, after a hastily-called caucus with AFL delegates, John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and representatives of the railroad brotherhoods, declared Murray had changed his position as to injecting wage questions into the conference.

Principal Gains

Principal accomplishments of the 25-day meeting, as assessed by officials and delegates were these:

1. Labor and management met, on a national basis, around the same conference table. Both agreed that:

2. A continuation of joint meetings might eventually establish closer understanding and expedite settlement of industrial disputes;

3. During initial bargaining for contracts, labor and management should avoid strikes or lockouts "until all other peaceful procedures" including voluntary arbitration have been exhausted.

4. In grievances which arise under existing contracts, effective grievance procedure including final and binding arbitration should be substituted for strikes or lockouts;

5. The Federal Conciliation service should be strengthened and expanded;

6. There should be no discrimination because of race, color, creed or sex in dealings between company and union.

Points of Disagreement

Principal points of disagreement:

1. Wages.

2. Fact-finding or other important new machinery for settling or preventing industrial disputes.

3. Equal responsibility under law for labor and management.

4. Specification and classification of functions and responsibilities of management.

5. Unionization of foremen.

6. Deferment of right to strike pending exhaustion of orderly procedures.

U. S. Flier Claimed Victim Of Atrocity

Capt. Tokio Owasa, Japanese officer on trial for complicity in the killings last March 23 on Talbaud island of the Celebes, was quoted as having told an Australian officer:

"The men behaved very bravely. They did not utter a word."

GM Strike Offer

present price structure of GM products.

Vice President Walter P. Reuther of the union said tonight after the picketing conference that the UAW-CIO "may be required to take steps to further paralyze General Motors."

Reuter termed the consultation with Anderson over picketing "merely a side issue" and further told reporters that the matter had "nothing to do" with settling of the strike.

A second conference was called for next Wednesday—the day after Anderson is scheduled to confer with a federal conciliator in Washington over the strike.

Reuther denied the corporation charge of illegal picketing which GM said had figured in the idleness of 50,000 non-strikers, including officer workers and supervisory employes.

Of GMs proposal for modification of the wage demand, Reuther said:

"We are not going to modify our wage demand as a condition for collective bargaining. You negotiate modification, you do not modify before negotiation."

Anderson said the union had sought an agreement whereby "certain" employes would be permitted to enter struck plants and others forbidden to do so.

"Our position," Anderson told a news conference, "is that all employes should be allowed to enter."

Museum Campaign

which exists now only as a ground floor unit and which would require an estimated $80,000 for completion by two stories, exclusive of "refinements" such as an ornate rotunda, air-conditioning system and elevator.

Seven of the 11 directors were present: Maedgen, Dr. C. J. Wagner, R. C. Hopping, Sam C. Arnett, W. G. McMillan, Dr. W. C. Holden, and Dr. Clifford B. Jones. Unable to attend were Hubert L. Allen, G. P. Kuykendall, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, and J. D. Hassell, jr.

Principal Speakers

Principal speakers were former State Sen. G. H. Nelson, Dr. Jones, McMillan, Dr. Holden, Walter Posey, and Chas. A. Guy.

Nelson, an attorney, uncovered generally-unrecognized features of the present income tax law and the revenue act of 1945 in relation to "saving by giving" from adjusted gross income to worthy institutions such as the museum.

Dr. Jones weighed the inadvisability of waiting on the legislature for appropriations, against the less vague plan of completing the museum building by private and corporation donations.

McMillan gave physical description of plans for the completed structure — which would increase by 16,000 square feet the present 8,000 square feet and which could be extended further by wings on the north and east sides so as to double the planned space into the shape of a quadrangle—and suggested that $80,000 would add the two floors formerly planned.

Dr. Holden said the museum, even new, is drawing 1,200 to 1,800 persons each month, exclusive of students living on the Tech campus, and cited the institution's cultural, as well as financial, value to the city.

Posey said the offices of those who will contribute to the drive would be far-reaching in importance as those of Dr. M. C. Overton when he dedicated to Lubbock Pioneer park, on Seventh street.

Guy, as did several other speakers, said appreciation for Maedgen's alert activities as museum association president, and said Lubbock, drawing away from "frontier status," must have something to "tie the future to the past" before the moment precludes the possibility.

Others Endorse Plan

Dr. Wagner, Arnett and Hopping briefly endorsed plans for the drive.

Others present were: Mrs. Holden, A. B. Davis, Miss Mary Alice Maedgen, Mrs. Warren Bacon, Dr. and Mrs. H. I. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Lamar Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Parker F. Prouty, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Dr. William H. Whyburn, John Vickers, Mrs. J. E. Vickers, R. E. Karper, Mrs. Hopping, Mrs. Guy, and Mrs. Jones.

dations would be considered on their merits and without prejudice.

The regents also considered problem of housing at the university. They instructed the university's consulting architect to proceed with plans and costs estimates for five new dormitories, two for men, two for women, and one for married couples.

A housing committee from the Travis County Young Democrat club, including a number of married World War II veterans, appealed to the board to take action. They said the situation here was acute, especially for married veterans. There are now 2,213 veterans enrolled, 40 per cent of them married.

The board earlier had let a contract to the McCann Construction Co., of Fort Worth to move 150 hutments from New Orleans to Austin, to help care for married veterans. The contract was for $160,985. It provides that the hutments shall be ready for occupancy March 1.

Fraternization Of Yanks, Japs Scored

TOKYO, Nov. 30. (AP) — The manner in which Japanese girls and boys are fraternizing with Americans was criticized today in the House of Peers by a member, Koichiro Nagaoka.

He apparently was referring to the arm-in-arm strolling of Japanese girls with the Yanks and other pronounced departures from the usual staid behavior of Japanese in public.

Army And Navy Announced Ready For Grid Clash Today

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 (AP)—Undefeated Army and Navy put in their final practice licks on the spongy turf of Municipal stadium today and fell back to await the kick-off of their climactic football duel at 1:30 (EST) tomorrow.

First the underdog Middies and then the powerful crew from West Point limbered up and took "wind sprints" on a stretch of the grass from which the protective covering had been removed, and at the conclusion each coach announced that he would start his strongest eleven in the championship tussle.

Sick Stars Ready

There had been extreme doubt that Army's clever quarterback, Arnold Tucker, would be in there to ramrod the Cadets' T-formation, as he had been bedded since Tuesday with a mild flu attack, but he made the trip with the squad and Coach Earl Blaik said he would start the game. How long he would be able to play was open to question, but he looked strong.

In a surprise move, Blaik announced that Bob Chabot, a fleet 180-pounder from Manchester, N. H., would replace Tom McWilliams at right half in the starting backfield. Chabot, a senior, made several dazzling runs against Penn two weeks ago.

Coach Oscar Hagberg of Navy reported similar recovery of his several invalids who had brought alarm to Annapolis during the week. Best news for the future admirals was that their 205-pound guard, Jim Carrington, had recovered from the sniffles.

Field Is Damp

Blaik expressed keen disappointment at finding that the tarpaulin covering the field had not prevented much water from seeping through. Anxious that his great ball toters, Glenn Davis and Dock Blanchard, have solid footing tomorrow, he ordered workmen at the stadium to remove all the canvas after the workout so that a brisk wind would have a chance to work on the moisture.

At best the field promised to be something less than dry by game time, possibly slippery enough to affect Army's tremendous running attack and to influence the score. The Cadets still were favored by the bookmakers to win by at least 27 points and run their victory string to 18. Cloudy, chilly weather was forecast for the tussle, with the temperature ranging around 40-43 at the kick-off.

Among the 102,000 expected to pack the big stadium were President Truman and a host of Army and Navy brass, including the top commanders.

In modern warfare, an "asparagus bed" is made up of rows of steel rails set in the ground to stop tanks.

Skyrockets Romp Over Floydada

WELLINGTON, Nov. 30. (Special) — Coach Al Duncan's Wellington Skyrockets "exploded" with a brilliant fireworks display in the last half this afternoon on Powell field, and roared into the Region One finals for the second straight year with a 33 to 6 victory over the Floydada Whirlwind in the bi-district clash.

The Skyrockets will play the winner of the Hereford-Phillips battle in the regional finals. Hereford and Phillips play next Friday at Phillips to name the other finalist.

Whirlwinds Hold Rockets

The Whirlwinds held the Wellington steamroller well in check in the first half, but were unable to stop the Collingsworth county lads in the wild second half as Wellington rushed over four touchdowns, two in each of the last half periods.

It was I. D. Russell, swivel hipped halfback, who engineered the last half stampede for the Skyrockets. Russell zoomed his season's scoring record to 109 points as he scored two touchdowns and passed for two more in the last half today, and kicked one conversion in each half. Tim Hatch, big fullback, retained his scoring lead of the club, however, with one touchdown and one extra point to boost his total to 114 points for the year.

Ted O'Neil, another veteran of the club at left end, caught the two touchdown passes hurled by Russell, his sixth and seventh touchdown catches of the season.

Rockets Never Behind

Wellington grabbed the lead in the first quarter, and were never headed off, as Hatch smashed over from five yards out, and Russell kicked the extra point.

Floydada struck back in the second quarter, scoring on a 29 yard pass play from Robertson to Womack, but failed for the extra point. The Wellington lead at the halftime was only 7-6.

In the third quarter, Wellington iced the game away on a pair of passes, both about the same distance, with Russell and O'Neil combining for 16 yard touchdown pass plays. Russell kicked the extra point after the second tally to make the score 20-6 as they moved into the final period.

Early in the fourth quarter, Russell broke away for a 40 yard gallop for another touchdown, then capped off the scoring spree with a 7 yard smash across the double stripe, and Hatch kicked the extra point.

Wellington had a 10 to 3 advantage in the first downs.

Whiteface Wins 38-6 Tilt Over Whitharral

LEVELLAND, Nov. 30. (Special) —Whiteface's powerful six-man football team counted twice in the second, third and fourth periods here this afternoon to roll over a fighting Whitharral team for a 38 to 6 decision and the District 6-B championship.

The winners, after being held scoreless in the opening quarter, exploded in the second and thereafter were never headed. Whitharral managed to shove its lone touchdown across in the fourth frame. The game was dedicated to H. D. Read, president of the Whiteface school board, who was killed in a car wreck last Monday.

This was the third meeting between the two teams, each squad having won one game apiece in previous contests.

Halfback Harold Sides with 18 points led scoring for the Whiteface team, while Fullback Truman Swinney with 13 points, Right End Ray McCoy with six and Quarterback Dale Thoms with one also helped boost the total. Halfback Fagan score Whitharral's six points.

Sandies Battle Pampa For Title

PAMPA, Nov. 30. (Special) — The District 1-AA flag will be waving before the eyes of the Amarillo Golden Sandies and the Pampa Harvesters here tomorrow afternoon as the traditional grid classic of the North Plains is unreeled.

The Sandies, needing a win over the Harvesters for a clear cut claim on the pennant, and the right to meet the Wichita Falls Coyotes in bi-district play, will enter the game a favorite.

TWO MORE CHAMPIONS
(By The Associated Press)

Two district champions were crowned Friday night in Texas schoolboy football, leaving just one to be determined to complete the first round bracket for the state play-off starting next week.

Highland Park (Dallas) crushed Sulphur Springs 60-6 to win the District 6 title and Waco down Temple 35-6 to sew up honors in District 10.

Saturday Amarillo plays at Pampa for the title of District 1.

Thirteen other district champions previously had been decided.

Could Deadlock Race

The Harvesters, with still a hope of getting a share of the pennant, and a three way coin tossing battle to name the bi-district foe of the Coyotes, will be a decided underdog, but they have been in this role before in games with the mighty Sandies.

Fans here are still dreaming of a repeating of history such as took place on the same field two years ago, when a highly favored Sandie club rolled into Pampa with talk of bi-district play, and limped home on the short end of a 7-0 upset that stunned the state.

Have Star Backs

Local fans feel confident that, with the team at top shape, the Harvesters of 1945 are much stronger than the Harvesters of 1943, and Coach Otis Coffey will pin his hopes on two of the best backs in the district, hard running Randall Clay and swivel hipped Bill Washington.

The Sandies will counter with Harland Collins, perhaps the top back of the district, and a real battle is in prospect, regardless of who wins the battle.

Both clubs have been hampered this season by cases of the flu, and just what condition they will be in tomorrow remains to be seen.

Both clubs have stout lines, good backs, and their season's play this year has kept both teams constantly in the "top 20" teams of the state.

Bulldogs Look On

But while the Sandies and Harvesters scrap it out on the gridiron, some boys with more than a passing interest in the outcome, will be looking on. They will be Coach W. C. O. Harris and his Plainview Bulldogs. A Pampa win would put the Bulldogs back into a three-way tie for the top, and a berth in the coin tossing. A Sandie win would leave no doubt of the championship, with the Sandies unbeaten in conference play.

In regular play to date, Amarillo nosed out Plainview 7-0, Plainview, in turn, beat Pampa, 14-7.

MIAMI TRIMS AUBURN

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 30 (AP) — The University of Miami football team gave its greatest performance of an outstanding year by defeating Auburn 33 to 7 as a crowd of 21,601 fans roared "We want the Orange Bowl."

Two Games Today To Name SWC Runnerup

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30 (AP)—Texas Christian and Southern Methodist end the football season here tomorrow with second place—or a share of it—in the Southwest Conference as the prize for the winner.

TCU and SMU have been swapping gridiron punches for 27 years with the Christians leading in victories. In the all-time standing TCU has won 12 and there have been four ties—thus SMU could draw even by taking tomorrow's game.

Both squads are in top condition, a brisk aerial battle between the top passing teams of the conference is in prospect, and a crowd of 20,000—one of the largest of the year—is forecast for Horned Frog Stadium.

The Methodists, who have fogged the ozone all season to become one of the leading aerial teams of the nation, will pit young Doak Walker, sensational freshman tosser, against TCU's Leon Joslin, the pitching freshman who tops the conference by a wide margin.

RICE PLAYS BEARS IN SEASON'S FINALE

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—With a new backfield combination that offers more speed and more scoring power, Coach Jess Neely's Rice Owls tangle with the Baylor Bears here tomorrow in the final game of the season for both clubs.

A crowd of 16,000 is expected to be on hand to watch Rice bid for its sixth conquest of the season against five losses and to see Baylor try for a five-five record in its first football campaign since Pearl Harbor Victory would assure Rice at least a second place tie in the Southwest Conference.

Baylor's bulky Bears, who play a rugged brand of football, have turned in a number of noteworthy performances this season and have dropped some heart breakers, losing in the last half to the Texas Aggies, 19-13; in the last five minutes to Texas, 21-14; and by one point to Texas Christian, 7-6. It was the Bears who started Arkansas on the downfall after the Hogs had bumped TCU.

Baylor will be minus the services of Billy Kimbrough, promising youngster from Beaumont's South Park High school, who was hurt last week.

Leader in Baylor's bruising forward wall is Bull Johnson, 250 pound center, who gets around very spryly and tackles in vicious fashion. Rice has been getting good cneter play from the lanky Gerald Weatherly and the duel between the pair should be interesting.

Idalou Cagers Take Three Over Frenship

IDALOU, Nov. 30 (Special) — The Idalou Wildcats opened the basketball season here tonight by sweeping three games from the Frenship team from Wolfforth by decisive margins.

The Wildcats boys A team won the feature game, 29 to 15, with Becknell setting the pace with ten points. He was closely followed by Taylor with eight. Kinslow paced the visitors with eight points.

In the boys B game, Idalou won a 19-to-11 decision, with Seale accounting for 12 of the points for the winners.

Sawyers, a 15-year-old junior, sparked the Idalou girls to a 49-to-2 win by pouring in 27 points, while her mates were holding Frenship to two free pitches.

Idalou will play Roberson three games here next Monday night, starting at 7 o'clock.

To remove mud and sand from youngster's snow suit, let dry, then clean with a vacuum cleaner.

Norman Lindsey Wins Boys Club Feature

Finding an opponent at the last minute, Norman Lindsey, hard hitting little 130 pound ringman of the Lubbock Boys club, punched his way to a third round technical kayo over J. W. Boyd last night at the Boys club in the feature event of the second weekly fight show.

George Boyd, the youngster who was the victim of Lindsey's kayo last week, came back swinging this week, and gained a split decision over Bobby Ledbetter in a fast three round battle that was one of the best scraps of the night.

Two winners of last week met Waterloos this week in the opening bouts on the card as Billy Goodrich lost to Dennis Jeter and Pat Warren lost to Gerald Lloyd, both by split decisions.

Keith Newman gained the nod of all three judges over Earl Ince, and Mickey Brady did the same with Wesley Curry, in a pair of battles of youngsters in the 80 pound class.

Johnny Boyd of the Community Center won a split decision over Leslie Cross of the Boys club, Stanley Black beat Richard Lowery in another battle of 80 pounders.

In the remaining bout on the card, Godfrey Brooks of the Boys club got the nod of all three judges over R. J. Anderson of the Community Center in a battle of youngsters in the 170 pound class.

The card was cut to nine bouts, with the present seige of flu cases in the city knocking out four of the scheduled battles. The card drew the best crowd of the year with 552 turning out. There were 240 members and 312 visitors pammed into the club arena.

Brownsville Coach Gets Boost In Pay

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Bob Martin, who coached Brownsville High school through an unbeaten, untied district football season has become one of the highest paid high school coaches in Texas.

Martin has accepted a five year contract as head athletic coach at Brownsville at $5,000 a year. He graduated in 1933 from Brackenridge High school in San Antonio, and in 1938 received a decree from Southwestern State Teachers college at San Marcos. He joined the Bronsville coaching staff in 1943, after coaching at Mission and Eagle Pass.

Missouri Named In Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Nov. 30 (AP)—A couple of teams that showed their metal in the stretch—Texas and Missouri—will meet in the tenth annual Cotton Bowl football game here Jan. 1.

Texas earned the right to be host in the New Year's classic by winning the Southwest Conference championship with a 20-10 victory over Texas A. and M. yesterday. Missouri was the choice of Coach D. X. Bible of Texas as the visiting team.

Tigers Get Permission

Athletic Director Don Faurot of Missouri last night accepted the invitation and today the Big Six Conference, of which Missouri is champion, gave the Tigers permission to play in the bowl.

"We are happy to have Missouri as our guests," said Dan Rogers, chairman of the board of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association. "The Tigers will offer strong opposition for Dana Bible's champions."

Missouri thus returns to the city where it snapped out of its losing ways to thunder to its conference championship. The Tigers beat Southern Methodist 10-7 here Oct. 6 after having absorbed one-sided lickings from Ohio State and Minnesota. They didn't stumble again until they met Michigan State, a nonconference foe.

Third Bowl Games

It will be the third time for Missouri to appear in a bowl. In 1940 the Tigers played in the Orange Bowl, losing to Georgia Tech 21-7, and in 1942 went to New Orleans to appear in the Sugar Bowl against Fordham, dropping a 2-0 decision.

Texas will be in a bowl game for the third time but all its performances have been in the Cotton Bowl. In 1943 the Longhorns beat Georgia Tech 14-7 and in 1944 tied Randolph Field 7-7. But in no year has Texas put an undefeated team in the bowl. This year is no exception. The Longhorns lost to Rice 7-6 to spoil what would have been a perfect season.

Tickets for the game have been on sale since Nov. 1 and Director General James H. Stewart said that if the sale before the competing teams were announced—which was unprecedented in Cotton Bowl annals—and today's purchases were an indication, the 45,000 seats in the stadium would all be filled at 1:15 p. m. (central standard time) Jan. 1.

The El Paso Irish pushed across touchdowns in the first and third periods on their only two scoring opportunities.

SEEK ARMY STARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP) — William M. Coffman, managing director of the Shrine's East-West football game in San Francisco, said today he would meet with Col. Biff Jones of the U. S. Military Academy in Philadelphia Sunday to discuss the possibilities of having Glenn Davis and Felex Blanchard play with the East team Jan. 1.

Byron Price Reports On Germany

A BUTTER-FINGERED, hesitating U. S. policy in Germany that is getting nowhere fast is reported by Byron Price, former director of censorship who went to Germany on a special study mission for President Truman. A flat failure of our occupation program, if not that in all of Germany, is possible, he says, if the U. S. does not take vigorous, decisive action soon.

Price, on leave from the Associated Press and an able and responsible man experienced in public affairs, recommends that the U. S. get tough with France, that it exert its influence on the French to break a four-power deadlock in the Allied Control council in Berlin in order that Germany can become an economic unit again. France, he charges, is almost entirely responsible for the impasse—and he probably is close to the truth. Other reports have indicated that France has been prone to toss a lot of monkey wrenches in the Allies' control machinery.

Price rates the deadlock among the top snags in the effort to rebuild a peaceful Germany.

The attitude of the French is partly explainable, and is understandable, to a certain extent. They want Germany to continue prostrate. Twice in fewer than 30 years the French have been invaded by a Germany which had been allowed to grow strong. They think keeping Germany on the flat of its back will be good insurance against a recurrence. But France's thinking is superficial.

Apparently, France persists in this stand even though it is, and will continue to be, detrimental to the other occupying powers. For upon the shoulders of the stronger and wealthier nations—the United States, Great Britain and the United States—falls the burden of holding Germany up.

NO one wants a too powerful Germany again, yet it is imperative that she be allowed to grow strong enough to support herself and prevent her from being a burden on the rest of the world. In no other way can the Allied aim of democratizing Germany be effected. Democracy does not take root easily in poverty and human bitterness. It does not seem like the quick cure. The loud-voiced demogogue with a bagful of shiny promises is the greater attraction.

Germany is at the stage now where it is looking around for a straw. As Price reports, the Germans are "listening for the voice of whatever type of new leader desperation may produce." Who knows but what they would succumb to the poison of another Hitler?

If there is substantiation for Price's allegation that the French are preventing the setting up of national operation of German railways, postal service and other facilities essential to the life of a nation, then the U. S., for one, should quickly bring diplomatic pressure to bear which will uproot France from her stubborn position. It would appear that such action is long over due.

Many press dispatches have indicated that German respect for this country has progressively lessened. On the other hand, we are told that Russia holds favorable regard of Germans in its zone. The Boche, accustomed to tough treatment, find life little different under the Russians, but it has been discomfited and puzzled by U. S. rule. Our dilly-dallying political policies have given rise to a certain degree of contempt.

Price says that we, while treating the Germans in a way decent and right under American standards, have failed to offer them the hope that their country can rise from the war-foisted rubble to become a respected nation.

THE idea that we should punish Germany by holding her head under the water for punishment's sake, alone should be discarded. While we should track down and punish all Nazis who guided Germany to global crime, and see to it that she never again becomes a strong military power, we should also see to it that she gets a chance to stand on her own economic feet once more. As Price states, her people "are paying in kind for the unparalleled miseries and cruelties for which they were responsible." Hunger, disease and cold this winter will be harsh reminders of their sins.

Any barrier that stands in the way of the control government's program for Germany's revival should be ripped away forthwith. No one nation of the four occupation powers should be allowed by the others to sabotage the whole program. As for our occupation policy, we should give less attention to theory and good intentions and more to sensible application.

"The time will come when human beings will have no legs," declares a biologist. Well, well—and what will nature fasten man's feet to?

Marshall's Report On The War

By Gen. George C. Marshall
Wartime Chief Of Staff

(Three is the 13th of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II).

D-DAY

IT was not merely overwhelming number of planes which gave our air assault its great effectiveness. There were important, almost revolutionary, improvements in techniques and in equipment. To reduce the excessive aircraft losses in long, round-trip bombing flights exposed to constant enemy interception, a system of shuttle-bombing between bases in the United Kingdom and North Africa was initiated in mid-August 1943. The shuttle-bombing run was shortened as the advance in Italy continued. A shuttle system between Italy and the U. S. S. R. was inaugurated with a heavy raid on rail communications in Central Europe on 2 June 1944. Soon thereafter, shuttle-flights were made between the United Kingdom and the new Ukrainian bases.

MARSHALL

Radar bombing technique, first employed in the fall of 1943, improved constantly. All-weather bombing approached reality; our bombers used the cover of darkness and inclement weather to achieve surprise, yet still hit their target with precision.

In the spring of 1944, three months before D-day, the Allied air forces, while still hammering at their strategic targets, began directly to prepare the way for the invasion. Through destructive attaks on key bridges and rail centers, the "invasion coast" was effectively isolated. As a result of this preparatory bombing, the ability of the enemy to shift reserves to the critical area was severely restricted. Since the outcome of an amphibious operation hinges on the relative ability of the opposing forces to build up strength in the critical areas, this air preparation was a decisive factor in the success of OVERLORD.

The Assault

The beaches of Normandy were chosen for the assault after long study of the strength of German coastal defenses and the disposition of German divisions. The absence of large ports in the area was a serious obstacle, but it was offset in some measure by the relative weakness of the German defenses and elaborate construction in Britain of two artificial harbors to be emplaced off the beaches.

The selection of target dates and hours for the assault required an accurate forecast of the optimum combination of favorable weather, tide, and light conditions. Moonlight was desirable for the airborne operations. D-day was scheduled for 5 June; this date was changed to 6 June because of unfavorable but clearing weather. Hundreds of craft, en route from distant ports on the west coast of England, were already approaching the invasion area; they had to backtrack or area; they had to backtrack or seek shelter in the overcrowded harbors on the south coast. The final forecast for the attack day predicted high winds; the sea was still rough, but rather than accept a delay of several weeks until tide and moon provided another favorable moment, General Eisenhower made the fateful decision to go ahead.

At 0200 hours on 6 June 1944, the American 82d and 101st Airborne Divisions, as well as British airborne troops, were dropped in vital areas in the rear of German coastal defenses guarding the Normandy beaches from Cherbourg to Caen.

The seaborne assault under the over-all command of Field Marshal Montgomery was made on a broad front; British and Canadian forces commanded by Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey and American forces commanded by Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley deployed against 50 miles of coast line. Aerial bombardmen of beach defenses along the coast began at 0314, preliminary naval bombardment at 0550, shortly after sunrise. At 0630 the first waves of assault infantry and tanks landed on the invasion beaches.

German defenses on all beaches were formidable; they consisted first of bands of underwater obstacles designed to break up formations of landing craft; mines were freely used to make these obstacles more lethal. The beaches themselves were heavily mined and strung with wire. Concrete pillboxes and gun emplacements were sited to deliver withering cross fire along the beaches. All exits leading inland from the beaches were blocked by anti-tank walls and ditches, mine fields, and barbed wire. Further inland, mortars and artillery were sited to deliver indirect fire on the beaches. Open fields were blocked against glider landings by patterns of heavy stakes, but complete intelligence gathered up to the moment of assault provided detailed knowledge of enemy dispositions and enabled the troops to breach the defenses.

Beachhead Secured

In the American sector, the beach areas totaled 10,000 yards in length. Every 75 yards a landing craft loaded with assault infantry touched down at H-hour. Assault veterans charged down the ramps, picked their way through the bands of obstacles, and immediately provided cover for the work of naval and engineer demolition crews which followed close behind. Each crew had a specific task to perform in clearing lanes for subsequent waves of craft carrying infantry, artillery, vehicles, and supplies. Naval gunfire and air bombardment hammered at artillery and mortar positions, pillboxes, and gun emplacements.

Resistance by German ground elements was stubborn and bitter fighting developed in many sectors. Our long campaign against the Luftwaffe had greatly weakened its capacity for combat and, as a result, there was no effective air opposition to our highly vulnerable initial landings. Reinforcements continued to pour ashore, and by nightfall on D-day, five American divisions, the 1st, 4th, 29th, and 82nd and 101st Airborne, with tanks, artillery and other reinforcements, were firmly established. Also ashore were advance detachments of the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow's V Corps and Maj. Gen. J. Lawton Collins' VII Corps. The British build-up in their sector was on a corresponding scale. Additional divisions still afloat were being landed in a steady stream.

By the second morning it was clear that the beachhead was secure and that the greatest and longest step toward the destruction of the German armies of the west had been taken. The "crust" of the German coastal defense system had been broken. The German boast that an invading force could not remain ashore for nine hours had been flung back on the now desperate demenders.

Shortly after D-day the Combined Chiefs of Staff met in London in order to be immediately available should an emergency arise requiring a prompt decision on some matter beyond General Eisenhower's jurisdiction as Supreme Commander. The assault went so well that it was possible on 12 June for the Combined Chiefs to visit the beaches of Normandy and observe at first hand the magnitude of the undertaking and the gallant and skillful manner in which the Allied forces were overcoming the resistance of the veteran German soldiers.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

IF YOU are contemplating a trip to New York—don't go.

It seems as if the entire population of the United States and a goodly number of Europe's inhabitants are trying to find hotel accommodations or apartments in New York.

I asked a hotel manager for the reason.

"I don't know," he said. It just seems that everybody who has some money to spend — and who hasn't nowadays?—is coming to New York to have a good time.

"Thousands of servicemen's wives and parents and sisters and brothers come here to wait for their arrival from overseas and then they stay on for a fling of the shows and the night clubs."

BRANDEIS

Only a few days ago the manager of the Waldorf - Astoria asked me please to tell people in my column to stay away. They themselves, he told me, are spending thousands of dollars to advertise that they are full, and every other New York hotel is the same fix.

They are putting cots in the private dining rooms and in the ballrooms and even in the halls. Guests are sleeping on chairs and sofas in the lobbies, and whenever you go to a hotel you see lines clear to the door waiting to register — and most of them are turned away.

And you ought to see the apartment racket.

Some friends of ours want to go to New York for the winter. They have been looking for a little furnished apartment for more than two months now. They are registered with almost every real estate agency in town — but so far, no success.

Every once in a while an apartment is available — but you ought to see it.

The other day two measly make-shift rooms and a so-called kitchen, consisting of a closet with a hot-plate and a miniature icebox, was shown to them. The rental was $300 a month.

It happened that about eight years ago these very people had two friends living in that apartment with the very same furniture — only eight years younger — and they paid $80 for the very same apartment!

ONE OF THE most popular rackets is to advertise an apartment for rent, and when you see it the rental is quite reasonable, but you have to buy the furniture. Usually it's a lot of junk, worth a few hundred dollars, but you are asked to pay from $3,000 up.

There is supposed to be a ceiling price — but nobody pays any attention to that. Many of the workers charge commissions that are way above what the law allows—but who cares?

Another friend of mine recently needed a small apartment for his son, who had just been discharged from the army, and his bride. He offered the superintendent of the building in which he lived a bonus of $50 if he would get him anything at all.

"Fifty dollars," said the janitor —pardon me, superintendent — with a condescending smile, "why, people pay me $200 in advance just to get on the waiting list!"

If you want to come to New York, take my advice and stay home. I'll send you some nice folders with pictures and everything. You'll save money and won't have to sleep in Central Park.

Trans-Ocean Airlines In Jam

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE Civil Aeronautics board has been asked to review its award of a certificate for round-the-world flying to Transcontinental and Western Air Inc. and to American Airlines Inc., because of their alleged mistreatment of the fliers who risked their lives in dangerous operations while those firms preformed wartime duty under a contract with the Army Transport corps.

Members of Congress have been besieged with requests to investigate the deception which the two corporations are believed to have practiced on CAB in obtaining their licenses and on the postwar traveling public in advertising future plans and prospects. Organizations like the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are interested, in view of the broken promises to ex-servicemen by TWA.

ALARMING: The principal complainant on behalf of the Army Transport aviators in C. Sessons of Flushing, N. Y., secretary-treasurer of the Air Line Communication Employees association. In a letter to Sen. Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, he describes the summary discharge of veteran fliers as a "most alarming situation.'

TUCKER

Referring to American Airlines' firing of the military contract personnel and its reliance for peacetime operations on crews lacking equal experience, Mr. Sessons says:

"It is my belief that it was the intent of CAB that the qualified and vastly experienced flight personnel of American Airlines Inc. should be used in the North Atlantic commercial operations. I do not believe that the public interests are being served by disassociating this vast amount of experience from the North Atlantic commercial operation.

"I believe that the misleading publicity concerning the transatlantic operation is definitely not in the public interest. I believe that a thorough investigation of this situation, the transoceanic operating policies and the actions of management, would be in the public interest."

CAPITALIZED: The hiterto unwritten story begins with CAB's approval of acquisition of control in the American Export Airlines Inc. by American Airlines Inc. The latter organization made an excellent record while flying men, weapons and materials for the Army Transport corps. Its performance is understood to have influenced the government agency in permitting it to acquire American Export, and in giving it a certificate for the North Atlantic area.

The military contract crews made more than a hundred transoceanic crossings. They flew the North Atlantic in all seasons and under extremely unfavorable conditions. They transported supplies and soldiers across the Hump from India to China. They are topnotch in their line.

In competing for postwar business through its ads and publicity notices. American Airlines has capitalized on these achievements. TWA has done the same with regard to the dificult routes it operated for Army Transport.

DEVIOUS: Now, however, most of the personnel which flew for the Army has been junked by American Airlines. They will henceforth use the crews which manned American Export's planes. Although Sessons charged that they have had only limit-experience in flying the more dangerous runs. The company feels that they can get the know-how after they start commercial flying.

But American Airlines, according to the letter to Senator Brewster, has "contrived' to retain the good will built up by the discharged military contract fliers through a "rather devious method.' It has changed the name of American Export Airlines Inc. to American Airlines Overseas Inc.

The general public will not know that it is not being flown by the youngsters who operated the planes during the war. They will still see the familiar name of American Airlines on the aircraft and the names of the same men in management positions.

Incidentally, the first American Airlines ship to fly the North Atlantic under the CAB certificate was christened by Margaret Truman, daughter of the President.

RECRUITS: Transcontinental and Western Air resorted to almost the same device that American Airlines used. It looked forward to a great expansion of its flying organization as long as it enjoyed a subsidy from the Army Transport corps. But when ATC terminated the contract several weeks ago, it discharged wartime fliers and closed the schools where World War II pilots, navigators and radio flight officers were being trained.

TWA recruited World War II fliers early in the Summer through newspaper ads. It promised a picturesque assignment on routes from Washington to India and way stations. It offered good pay for men fresh from the Air Forces. It ran schools during the hot Summer months, where the youngsters boned up to obtain licenses from CAB, the Federal Communications commission and other government agencies. Many boys moved families and furniture to the cities where these training centers were located.

REPERCUSSION: But when Uncle Sam cut off TWA's pay checks, the whole scheme collapsed. Besides breaking its promises to World War II trainees, it started to fire many of the veterans who had won the company a fine reputation while it was under contract to the Army Transport corps.

Then, like American Airlines, it conveniently changed names. The Intercontinental division, which flew the military missions and hired ex-servicemen for postwar commercial routes, became the International division.

Washington officials are indignant and concerned over the affair. They fear a repercussion among disillusioned war veterans, especially as they got the runaround from an industry for which they entertain a romantic sympathy and friendship and respect.

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN.—Director J. H. Taylor of the State Comptroller's Confederate Pension division wonders if a recent decision he made interfered any with cupid's intentions.

The widow of a Confederate veteran — in her late 70's — wrote she and her "boy friend," also in the 70's, were planning to be married. She inquired if her $50 a month Confederate pension would be stopped.

Taylor advised that she no longer would be a "widow" if she married, and the law provided her Confederate pension would have to be ended. He's never heard her decision.

There are 20 Confederate veterans living, 12 having died since January 1. Seventeen are single and get $100 pension a month. The three married veterans receive $150 a month.

PLENTY: The rolls show 1,567 Confederate veterans' widows living, 45 of whom reside in the state home here. Those living outside the state home receive $50 a month pension, while $25 is paid to the ones staying at the home. Since January 1, the rolls show 172 widows have died, 18 during the past month.

The Confederate pension fund on Nov. 1 had a balance of $2,535,271, after the October pensions totaling $81,178 had been paid. There's no danger of it being depleted, accountants say.

First payments under the Confederate Pension act started in November, 1899. At one time there were about 17,000 veterans and widows getting pensions.

Everything that goes up is sure to come down (except taxes, perhaps). So you needn't push the button for the elevator on the ground floor.

Bond Program Would Step Up Improvements

City Emphasizes Aviation Setup

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles on the city's five-year expansion program on which taxpayers will vote on Dec. 11. An over-all bond issue of $5,894,000, offered in 14 different propositions, will be offered for approval or rejection on that date.

By C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

Development of aviation, especially private flying, is expected to increase ten-fold in the next five or ten years and Lubbock's city officials are preparing to keep pace with that development at Municipal airport.

Proposition No. 7 of the city's proposed $5,894,000 bond issue, calls for approval of $300,000 in bonds "for the purpose of constructing, repairing, erecting and improving buildings, hangars and other improvements to the Municipal airport of the City of Lubbock, including the construction of roads, drives, parking areas and the purchase and installation of control equipment and machinery and other improvements incidental to the operation of" the airport.

An Important Factor

With two airlines already operating from the airport and a third scheduled to start within a few weeks, the airport is already becoming an important factor in the daily transportation in and out of Lubbock. Two other applications for airlines are being prepared and eventually Lubbock may be on a transcontinental stop of American Airlines, which is now operating between Oklahoma City and El Paso, missing Municipal airport only by a few miles.

In addition to these, a feeder lines system covering this area is also contemplated which would have Municipal airport as a center of operations.

Three airplane agency sales and service firms have already leased space in the present brick hangar building at the port and others are expected to follow.

To Annex Facilities

With the abandonment of South Plains Army Air field as a military installation, the city expects to annex facilities located on the western edge of SPAFF to the airport, providing repair and storage hangar space for both private and commercial operators.

Under the airport improvements program covered in the bonds proposal, a new administration building for various airline offices, fixed-base operators, airport manager and other agencies would be erected.

T-Hangars for storage of private airplanes and other larger hangars for multiple-plane storage would also be erected on the field under the expansion program.

Looking Into Future

Erection of a control tower weather station, and other communications facilities would also be provided for in the improvements plan.

Lubbock's City airport board, composed of A. F. Holt, chairman, Robert H. Bean and R. F. Hinchey, is looking into the future in making the request for the funds. Development at the airport has been stalemated in the past five years due to use of the field by the Army Air Forces, but with release of the field for the city's use, it is expected to be one of the South-west's busiest airports.

The city recently requested release of the field from the AAF and in the past several weeks 3 B-17's stored on the field have been moved at the rate of approximately 50 a day. Whether other planes would replace them on the field is within the province of Air Force officials, but city officials are hoping that release of the field will follow removal of the large bombers.

Final Youth Rally Is Planned For Sunday

A final gathering of Lubbock youth at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon will end a series of four junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored youth rallies here and plans are being made for the largest attendance yet recorded at the meetings.

Rev. Jimmy Bell, Clovis, N. M., evangelist who is directing the meetings, will give the principal talk. Rev. Bell has been contacted and has visited with the New Orleans Junior Association of Commerce regarding tentative plans for a series of rallies in that Louisiana city.

Music Is Scheduled

In the program here Sunday several musical features have been announced. A violin quintet will be heard. This group is composed of Misses Jean McCoy, Nelda Key, Jou Ann Hardy, Dorothy Kennedy and Jo Ann McElhaney.

An invitation will be extended to Nino Martini, nationally known Metropolitan Opera singer, to appear before the youths to sing several numbers. This invitation will be extended as soon as the time of his scheduled arrival in Lubbock is learned.

Choir To Sing

Miss Ruth Townes, educational director of the First Christian church, will lead the group singing. Tentative plans are for Mrs. Elois Elliot, junior high school teacher, to direct a 95-voice choir, in the absence of Mrs. John Watson who is ill.

Theda Beth Guttesell, a former Texas Tech student, will sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Following the meeting refreshments will be served to youths in the Corral, recreation center at Ave. J and Sixteenth, by the Jaycees.

Rev. Bell also announced a second youth rally, not connected with the regular one, to be held in the Community Center recreation hall at 302 Sixth, at 5 o'clock.

Marshall College, at Huntington, W. Va., was founded in 1837, 34 years before the city of Huntington was incorporated and 26 years before West Virginia became a state.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures gained 20 to 45 cents a bale in quiet trading today. Mill buying and scattered local demand met only scale-up hedge offerings.

Expectations for a rise in the mid-November cotton parity prices contributed to the steadiness.

Some buying was influenced by reports that France had purchased an unspecified quantity of cotton against recent inquiries for 160,000 bales.

Futures closed 20 to 45 cents a bale higher.

Texas' Attorneys Join In Plea For Parole And Pardon Changes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of stories examining the Texas system of pardons and paroles. The fifth and last will follow Sunday).

By MARY L. KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Nov. 30—District and county attorneys of Texas have joined with police and sheriffs in calling for revision of the laws under which prisoners are pardoned or paroled from the penitentiary system.

E. A. Gormley of Dallas, president of the Police Chiefs association, appointed a committee to study "the effects of pardons and paroles on the apparent increase on crime being experienced in Texas."

Urge Stricter Laws

The district and county attorneys, noting that "it has never been hard to get signatures to a petition for a pardon," released a committee report suggesting the law be made more stringent. This was sent to the governor and members of the legislature.

One recommendation was that a prisoner be required to notify prosecuting witnesses or injured parties of his intention to obtain a pardon, so they would have an opportunity to present their views.

Probe Is Welcomed

Chairman Elster Haile of the Board of Pardons and Paroles says he welcomes any investigation of the system, and believes "co-operation of all branches of law enforcement is needed to strengthen the parole system."

He disagrees with the police association criticism that both paroles and convictions are increasing. He cites these figures: Convictions dropped from 2,663 in 1940 to 1,611 in 1944; paroles dropped from 1,942 in 1940 to 1,680 last year, and both these factors served to lower the entire prison population. The rise in parole violations from six per cent five years ago to 10 per cent last year, he attributed to the unsettled condition brought on by the war.

Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, believes some of the trouble lies in the provision of law under which a prisoner comes up for parole automatically, with "good time" subtracted from the minimum end of his sentence.

Convict "Plays Good"

"A 'wise convict' ofter plays good," says Garrison, "because he knows it will get him out of the pen in a hurry.

"Therefore, before a man can be safely recommended for parole, we need a thorough study of his past social history and present disposition to crime as analyzed by a trained psychiatrist."

Garrison also noted that "every law passed during the past few years has made it harder to convict a man, but easier to get him out of the pen."

It is becoming evident that the next legislature will face a strong demand for revision of the pardon and parole laws. Gov. Coke Stevenson says he has the situation under constant study, and may make some recommendations himself.

"Sunday: What those who name members of the parole board think should be done).

Lubbock 4-H Winner Leaves For Chicago

Leaving for Dallas Thursday afternoon to join other Texas 4-H club members, Berry James Thomas, Lubbock county 4-H member, will journey to Chicago and the National 4-H club congress in Chicago, beginning Dec. 2, at the expense of the Santa Fe railway.

Thomas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thomas of route 1 Shallowater, was awarded the trip for his achievements as a club member for nine years. A certificate award was given him recently by a representative of the railroad company in ceremonies at the Shellowater school.

At the same time a scholarship was given him by Jason O. Gordon, county agent, to any state-supported school in Texas. The award was made by the Anderson-Clayton cotton company for Thomas' production in 1944.

The Chicago meeting will end Dec. 6.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

DON'T THROW YOUR VICTORY AWAY!

Victory isn't just another day you celebrated. It's an opportunity to live happily, prosperously—securely. The extra money we have now can be dangerous, if we all tried to buy things not yet available in sufficient quantity. Prices would go up . . . faster than salaries could keep pace with them. You and your family would suffer . . . making victory a bitter memory instead of the prelude to a happy future it should be.

Don't throw your victory away—protect it in the years to come. Victory Bonds provide an opportunity to insure your future with the best investment in the world! And the longer you hold them, the better the interest you will get on your money. Buy extra Victory Bonds now!
