Tax Cut Debate Extended

Shirley Cothran, Miss America of 1975, doesn't hesitate to let it be known that she is a Texan.

"You can be sure it will be in Texas," she said, when asked where she would continue her formal education following her reign as Miss America.

And, apparently as the year wears on, home looks better and better to the Denton beauty. She said she probably would work on her graduate degree at North Texas State University.

Incidentally, out of the hundreds of appearances she has made since she was crowned Miss America last September, the program here Wednesday morning was only the second high school assembly in the line-up.

Several local fans departed Monday for Hutchinson, Kan., to lend their support to the Western Texas College Westerners in the National Junior College Basketball Tournament, and more ventured forth following the opening round victory Tuesday night.

Probably none is more enthusiastic in backing the Westerners, however, than Dr. Mary Hood, director of testing and psychology professor at WTC.

If the Westerners advance again, there likely will be more Snyder residents in Hutchinson by the end of the week.

Lodging was a problem at the outset of the tournament. In fact, the WTC cheerleaders were being housed some 20 miles from the tournament site. However, teams will begin leaving as they absorb their second defeats, which will come today for some of them.

Housing continues to be a problem here, according to reports from a variety of sources. The Chamber of Commerce office still is confronted with pleas for rental facilities daily, but there are none to be had and prospects for any bidding projects in the near future appear dim.

City Manager George Patterson conferred with people in the HUD office at Lubbock the other day, and they indicated that there is no federal program in operation at this time such as those which figured in the financing of apartment buildings in recent years.

Today is Thursday, March 20, the 79th day of 1975. There are 286 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1852, Harriet Beecher Stowe's influential novel about slavery, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was published.

On this date-

In 1602, the Dutch East India Company was formed.

In 1727, the English mathematician who discovered the law of gravity, Sir Isaac Newton, died.

In 1828, the Norwegian dramatist and poet, Henrik Ibsen, was born.

In 1942, General Douglas MacArthur made his famous pledge: "I shall return." He had fled from the Philippines to Australia as the islands were invaded by Japan.

In 1963, a jetliner owned by King Saud of Saudi Arabia crashed in Italy, killing 18 persons. The king was not aboard.

In 1967, former U.S. Vice President Richard Nixon was making a private visit to Moscow.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson called up nearly 4,000 troops to protect demonstrators in a civil rights march planned from Selma, Ala., to Montgomery.

Five years ago: A military government which had grabbed power while Prince Norodom Sihanouk was out of the country warned it would use force if he tried to return.

One year ago: A gunman in London fired several shots into a car carrying Princess Anne and her husband, Captain Mark Phillips, but they were unhurt, and the assailant was captured.

Rail Clerks Threaten To Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's largest railroad union is threatening to take its 250,000 members on strike next month unless the industry produces a contract settlement acceptable to the union.

C.L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, predicted the strike vote in his union will show overwhelming sentiment in favor of a walkout.

With all mediation procedures exhausted, Dennis said Wednesday that the union is free to strike at 12:01 a.m. April 18.

"If we cannot reach an agreement in the days between now and then, we will have no alternative but to strike," he declared.

However, White House intervention under provisions of the federal Railway Labor Act could delay the threatened walkout another 60 days.

Meanwhile, the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission said Wednesday it might take up to $8 million a month to reimburse other railroads if they are required to take over the Rock Island Lines.

The ICC said earlier that it will announce next week what it plans to do to keep rail service going to communities in 13 states now served by the bankrupt Rock Island.

ICC Chairman George M. Stafford said the "front end money" would be needed for the other railroads because "most of them are running pretty close to the vest."

A mandatory takeover for up to 240 days means the government would have to subsidize the losses incurred by the other carriers.

Another option being considered by the ICC would merely permit other carriers to take over segments of the Rock Island indefinitely.

Several carriers have already expressed interest in operating over segments of the 7,500 miles of track owned by the Rock Island. In filing for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws this week, the Rock Island announced it will not accept cargo after March 31.

Bicentennial Session Set

The Scurry County Bicentennial and Centennial Committees will receive proposals and suggestions for celebration events at a community meeting tonight.

The meeting is set for 7 p.m. at the Trinity United Methodist Church.

Delbert Downing, general chairman of the celebrations here, in announcing the meeting, said this would be the opportunity for organizations and individuals to submit suggestions for events during the Bicentennial and Scurry County Centennial observances here. Anyone who wishes to submit proposals may do so at the meeting.

Pressure Mounts

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite mounting pressure for quick action on a tax cut bill, the Senate refused today to shut off debate and bring the measure to a vote.

A motion to limit debate on the $29.2 billion tax cut bill recommended by the Senate Finance Committee failed on a 59-38 vote. The margin, in the first test of the Senate's new antifilibuster rule, was one short of the 60 votes required.

Despite the vote, Senate leaders still hoped to complete action on the tax cut this week and send it to a Senate-House conference which would work out final details of the bill.

Reviewing the Senate's work over the preceding two days, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager of the bill, said Wednesday: "We have yet to vote on the first tax cut for anybody."

Instead, the net effect of the Senate action thus far has been to increase some corporate taxes by:

—Eliminating the oil depletion allowance for major companies but retaining it for independent producers under certain conditions. This would raise the taxes of the oil companies by some $1.2 billion a year.

—Repealing the foreign tax credit for oil companies, meaning a tax increase of at least $1 billion.

—Repealing the foreign-income deferral, thus raising taxes on U.S. corporations by a minimum $600 million.

Long is fighting every effort to add amendments that could transform the legislation into something beyond a tax-cut measure. Meanwhile, the White House, in almost daily pronouncements, is calling for quick passage of a bill that cuts taxes and does nothing else.

Still another factor was added Wednesday night when Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., offered a $2.4-billion amendment to raise Social Security benefits an average 8.7 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Under present law, benefits for the 31 million Social Security recipients are due to go up by that amount on July 1. Congress has shown no inclination to follow President Ford's urging that the hike be held to 5.5 per cent in an effort to reduce federal spending.

On a surprisingly quick voice vote, the Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., to repeal the foreign tax credit for the major oil companies. This would result in a $1-billion increase in the companies' tax liability.

This amendment still allows the oil companies to subtract foreign taxes from their taxable income, and it reduces the standard 48-per-cent corporate tax rate on such earnings to 24 per cent.

Gas Shortages Predicted

AUSTIN (AP) — The executive vice president of El Paso Natural Gas Co., predicted today that customers may be facing widespread gas shortages within the next four to five years.

"Anything short of all-out effort in developing oil and gas supplies could make this country totally dependent on foreign oil or cause a radical reduction in the standard of life in this country," said Travis Petty.

Petty was one of numerous executives of major oil and gas companies who presented a bleak picture of the industry to the Texas Railroad Commission.

It appeared certain that the commission would set the statewide oil allowable at 100 per cent of production for the 37th consecutive month.

Most of the blame for the nation's fuel shortage was placed by the executives on Congress and federal agencies.

When Z.D. Bonner, president of Gulf Oil Co., recommended eliminating the Federal Energy Administration, the audience applauded.

"This country's energy future is being sacrificed to short-range, politically-motivated policies at the national level," Bonner said. "Congress must subliminate its rancor toward the oil and gas industry long enough to take those actions necessary to commit greatly increased energy development."

Bonner also said tax credits for oil depletion must be retained, adding that the depletion allowance had "developed unnecessary evil connotation."

D. Lamar Smith, senior vice president of gas supply for the United Gas Pipeline Co., joined several others in criticizing congressmen from the Northeastern states. "Anyone can err in judgment, but no like people in the East who err in stupidity," he said.

S-Viets Yield More Land

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A 20-mile-long column of more than 100,000 fleeing civilians and soldiers reached the safety of a coastal province today as the Saigon government yielded more territory to the North Vietnamese, including the old imperial capital of Hue.

Officials said still more of South Vietnam may be given up beyond the one-fifth already conceded.

The refugee column was led by heavy South Vietnamese tanks that rolled over stalled cars and shoved broken down trucks off the road. "It was a nightmare, nothing but a nightmare," one officer said, describing the five-day trek from three abandoned central highlands provinces to the coastal Province of Phu Yen.

In Phnom Penh, sources said the British Embassy is closing because of the deteriorating military situation in Cambodia.

The Saigon government's plans to give up more territory — three provinces — were made on the contingency that the North Vietnamese offensive would continue to snowball, government officials said.

DESPITE SLOWED FOOD HIKES

Consumer Prices Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the smallest rise in food prices in seven months, the cost of other goods and services pushed consumer prices up another six-tenths of a per cent in February, the government reported today.

Last month's retail price increase was the same as January and came despite three months of steadily falling prices at the wholesale level.

The latest Consumer Price Index figures show that consumers are still being hit by sharply higher costs for services, such as medical fees, utility bills and rent.

Finished goods other than food also are continuing to increase sharply, in part the reflection of mounting labor costs.

In a separate report, the Labor Department said that hourly earnings increased slightly last month but that the purchasing power of the average American worker's paycheck again declined. Real spendable earnings — that is, earnings after deductions for inflation and taxes — fell five-tenths of a per cent last month. Over the year real earnings have declined 5 per cent.

The rate of inflation has been moderating somewhat in the past few months, with the six-tenths of a per cent increases in each of the past two months marking the slowest rate of increase since the five-tenths of 1 per cent gain last April.

For the three-month period ended in February, prices rose at an annual rate of 8.1 per cent, far below the 14.2 per cent annual rate of increase from July to September of last year.

The Ford administration predicts inflation will subside to a rate of 8 to 9 per cent for the year, down from the near 12 per cent level in 1974.

The Consumer Price Index stood at 157.2 in February, meaning that it cost $157.20 to buy the same amount of goods and services that cost $100 in the 1967 base period.

Food prices rose one-tenth of a per cent last month, the smallest increase since last July, when they dropped four-tenths of a per cent.

Declines in beef, pork, poultry and sugar prices were mainly responsible for the slowdown.

Grocery prices, the major portion of the food index, were up four-tenths of a per cent in February, slightly less than the usual seasonal increase at that time of the year. The increase in grocery prices was largely due to higher prices for fresh fruits and vegetables and sharp increases in prices of bakery products and other sugar-based products.

Assassination Attempt Fails

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— A man hurled two hand grenades today into a car carrying India's chief justice, A.N. Ray, but they failed to explode and the would-be assassin fled, police said.

An official spokesman said the assailant had removed the firing pins from the two highly explosive 33mm army grenades. Investigators said the grenades failed to explode because they might have been too old.

In January, an assassin killed Railway Minister L. N. Mishra with a bomb.

House Turns To Milk Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, working its way through an emergency farm bill, turns to a controversial provision that the Ford administration claims would raise the store price of milk by eight cents a gallon.

The bill, as recommended by the House Agriculture Committee, would raise government price supports for milk from 80 per cent of parity to 85 per cent.

The Agriculture Department, which opposes the bill, claims the higher supports also would boost the retail price of butter by 20 cents a pound and the price of cheese by 10 cents a pound.

Backers of the bill, led by Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., say farm expenses have risen so sharply that emergency action is needed to help prevent financial chaos among farmers.

The bill's supporters also contest the Agriculture Department's estimates of retail impact, saying that the figures are misleading and that projected inflation during the coming year would be largely responsible for the expected price increase.

Over-all, the bill covers milk, cotton, wheat, corn and other feed grains. The Agriculture Department says it would cost an estimated $882 million this year, mainly in larger benefits for cotton and milk producers.

The House struck at the committee-approved bill's cotton section Wednesday, carving off $300 million of the $650 million cost estimated for this feature, involving so-called target prices and loan levels.

The target price is a government guarantee to the producer.

HOUSE VOTES TENTATIVE APPROVAL

Texas Gas Bill Advances

AUSTIN (AP) — Without a ripple of debate, the House today voted tentative approval to a "Texas gas for Texas" bill that would provoke a confrontation with consuming states.

The Senate-passed bill advanced on a voice vote. A final vote is expected next week, which would send the measure to the governor.

The bill requires agencies leasing state land for oil and gas development to attach to the agreements a provision prohibiting sale of gas outside Texas without approval of the railroad commission. It requires the commission to assure there is enough gas for all Texas needs before releasing it into interstate commerce.

Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, the sponsor, said the bill "gives the state of Texas first call on our natural gas" from 23 million acres of state land and "we think it's legal."

Senators passed the bill 30-0 on March 11.

The House mood on energy measures suddenly swung, defeating, 56-68, a resolution asking Congress to halt "enforcement of wasteful environmental standards until the current energy crisis has subsided."

Rep. Mel Chavez, D-Harlingen, the House sponsor, said the Senate-approved resolution was designed to "counteract lobbying efforts by New England."

"If we are going to revoke something until the energy crisis is over, I think we should have an idea how long it is going to run," objected Rep. Milton Fox, R-Houston, a petroleum engineer.

"It probably will last as long as the oil companies want it to last," said Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston.

The House passed and sent the governor a Senate bill providing State Parklands Passports for persons over 65 years old, allowing them—and anyone in a car with them—to enter state parks free of charge.

Also sent to Briscoe was a bill authorizing insurance companies to write home warranty policies, covering repair costs of construction defects for 10 years.

VIEWPOINT

The Rain In Cambodia

Confucious might have said it: A grain of salt outweighs a ton of wishful thinking.

The salt of skepticism which Americans have accumulated regarding Southeast Asia has grown to mountain size. With all due respect, there is simply no way President Ford is going to convince them that it is a matter of American "honor" or national interest or even of practicality to send more military aid to Cambodia.

The President has been reduced to pleading that if only the Lon Nol government can survive a few more months until the rainy season, there will be a better chance for a negotiated end to the war.

But that war has been going on now for almost five years. There was a rainy season in 1974, a rainy season in 1973, a rainy season in 1972, a rainy season in 1971 and a rainy season in 1970.

If the rebel Khmer Rouge were not of a mind to negotiate in any of those years (assuming the Lon Nol government was, but why should it if it thought it was winning?), they will hardly go to the armistice table now that their foe is on the point of collapse.

Can Gerald Ford really believe what he says about Cambodia? Incredible.

Ultimate In Equality

Those who are concerned about women's rights apparently are unduly alarmed. It looks as if women are going to make themselves "equal" regardless of legislation.

Good Housekeeping Magazine reports great gains on one front. Women are closing the gap rapidly in cigarette smoking, and one of the side benefits in the race toward equality is a corresponding rise in the incidence of lung cancer among women, which, in turn, has contributed to a decline in the life expectancy of women.

If this keeps up, the women will eventually die off as young as the men. Then, there won't be so many widows around to control the nation's wealth as there are now. That is equality that even the Constitution can't guarantee.

Former Hunt Aides Testify

DALLAS (AP) — Two former aides to late oil billionaire H.L. Hunt have testified in federal court they had Hunt's permission to make extra money with dummy brokerage companies so he could pay them lower salaries.

The two aides, John W. Curington and John H. Brown are being tried by U.S. District Court Judge William Steger on charges of receiving kickbacks from the dummy Hunt company.

They have pleaded not guilty to three counts of mail fraud for allegedly receiving $5,000 in checks through fake brokerage companies.

Curington testified Wednesday he received only $18,000 in salary in 1968, but his total earnings from the brokerage, oil, stock and real estate deals came to $80,000 to $90,000.

Brown also reporteed he raised his income to $109,000 in 1968 through outside income.

Curington testified in the trial Wednesday that the dummy food brokerage firm, which he allegedly set up, probably received a total of $177,000 from food plants.

But he presented three letters in which he said H.L. Hunt authorized his receiving the money involved in the fraud charges.

One of the letters, allegedly from Hunt, stated the two defendants and a third Hunt aide agreed to work for HLH Products at wages below the going rate.

Lo-Vaca To Fight Action

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — Coastal States Gas Corp. officials say if all 400 customers of its Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. subsidiary followed Crystal City's lead, "Lo-Vaca will go down the tube."

Crystal City leaders voted last week to rescind an ordinance which had allowed Lo-Vaca to quadruple gas rates through passing cost increases to customers.

The action drops the rate from $1.42 per 1,000 cubic feet to the 1972 contract level, 36 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

"They're opting for a direct confrontation," said Robert Wells, a Coastal States vice president.

City manager Esequiel Guzman said Lo-Vaca's next step probably would be cutting off supplies. The Crystal City electricity supply would not be affected by such a move because it is contracted to Central Power and Light of Corpus Christi.

"As far as paying the contract price, we'll stick to it and it won't make any difference what the Texas Railroad Commission says," Guzman said.

A city spokesman said Lo-Vaca has threatened to take the case before the Texas Railroad Commission.

Don Newquist, Lo-Vaca vice president, said, "The dollar amount for Crystal City is not significant, but the precedent it would set would be extremely dangerous for the economic life of all utilities in Texas."

He added, "There's no question that a great hardship has been put on those people, and the answer will probably have to come from the government."

Railroad Commission spokesmen have said that either side may appeal to them and the loser could then carry the battle into the courts.

"I say nobody, not even the railroad commission, can tell us how much we ought to pay. I think this violates the tenets of contracting," city lawyer Rey Perez said.

Letter Carriers Postpone Strike

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's letter carriers are postponing a strike threatened for this month over a proposed new delivery system designed to increase efficiency.

The 200,000-member National Association of Letter Carriers postponed the walkout indefinitely because it said the U.S. Postal Service has delayed putting into effect the controversial system, known as the Kokomo plan.

The union had made preparations for a strike this month in the belief that the Postal Service would decide then whether to put the plan into effect.

However, the Postal Service says it never planned to decide this month on implementation of the Kokomo plan and that the union misinterpreted an agreement last fall to discuss the plan "on or after March 1."

Testing of the plan will continue in Kokomo, Ind., and Portland, Ore., according to Jim Braughton, director of delivery services for the Postal Service.

However, additional tests planned for Providence, R.I., have been cancelled, Braughton said. Union members in Providence had threatened a wildcat strike if the plan were tried there.

Under the plan, formally known as the Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System, mail routes would be reshuffled on the basis of computerized measurements of such factors as number of letters delivered, miles walked, number of stair steps, doors and gates on each route.

If the system is adopted, such data would be fed into computers for each of the 135,000 mail routes in the country.

The union says this would eliminate 15,000 jobs.

"We're going to meet head-on on this," union president James H. Rademacher said in a separate interview.

"We don't want to strike against the American people. But we cannot tolerate a situation where 88 per cent of the carrier's are going to deliver the mail formerly covered by 100 per cent," he said.

"They've delayed it because it isn't working, and they'll try every means possible to make certain it works," Rademacher said.

A decision on whether the system will be put into effect nationally now is expected later in the year.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has said the plan is part of a drive to hold down increases in postal rates by increasing efficiency. He has said he will implement the plan, despite the strike threat, if the current tests show it makes mail service more efficient.

Fischer Won't Play Karpov

BERGEN, Netherlands (AP) — World chess champion Bobby Fischer said today he will not meet Soviet challenger Anatoly Karpov in a scheduled $5 million title match, a chess official reported.

"It's all over. There will be no match and there is nothing else to do," Fischer said, according to International Chess Federation — FIDE — bureau member Florencio Campomanes of the Philippines.

He said Fischer called from his home in Pasadena, Calif., confirming predictions here that he would skip the match which had been set to begin June 1 in Manila.

Fischer said earlier he would not defend the title unless both of his proposals for changes in the scoring system for the title match are accepted by FIDE at a three-day special congress which ends here today.

The congress on Wednesday accepted one of Fischer's demands — for an unlimited number of drawn games with the title going to the player who reached 10 victories — but it rejected a change that would let Fischer keep the title in event of a nine-nine tie.

The developments virtually insure that Karpov will become world champion by default unless Fischer backs down.

Campomanes quoted Fischer as saying the decision of the congress was "fine." Campomanes said he had received a letter from Fischer bedore the FIDE meeting saying he would be "calm and satisfied" no matter how the vote came out.

Compomanes said he planned to visit Fischer in Pasadena in the next few days but denied he would make another appeal.

"I am not going to try to change his mind," Campomanes said. "We will talk about it but he alone can change his mind."

DAR President Selects Project

Since the present Administration of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution falls within the observance of the Bicentennial of the United States of America, and since the Society has been in the forefront in preparing for the celebration, the DAR has appropriately made a memorable contribution itself.

The immediate past president general, the late Mrs. Donald Spicer, chose as her project the restoration of two rooms in historic Independence Hall in Philadelphia. This was completed at a cost of more than $196,000.00 which was paid in full by voluntary contributions of members over a period of two years.

The current president general of the National Society, Mrs. Henry Stewart Jones, in announcing her choice for a project stated, "When the President of the United States Capitol Historical Society suggested that the DAR might provide a gift of ceiling murals for a corridor in the United States Capitol, it seemed to be an opportunity indeed. These murals, to be planned and executed by the famous mural artist, Allyn Cox, are to commemorate the "Spirit of '76" and the deep blessings of freedom and American character which flowed from the Declaration of Independence which the Bicentennial commemorates.

"The United States Capitol is the most visited building in the Nation. Our Capitol stands as the symbol of our capacity for self government. Our Federal System has survived the vicissitudes of peace and war and has served this Nation well. Moreover, in the words of a former member of Congress, Rufus Choate, 'We have built no national temples but the Capitol. We consult no common oracle but the Constitution.'

"It seems especially fitting that the DAR should launch its Bicentennial Tribute to America in the Capitol of the United States. The DAR will have a guiding influence in the subject matter of the murals. Completion will take several years with a team of artists to execute Mr. Cox's designs. The estimated cost is $150,000.00."

It is expected that the once in a life time contribution to the Nation's Capitol will be accomplished on a pay as you go basis without need for loan or interest payments. Members of Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter of Rotan will participate in the president general's project.

BOB HOPE's most prized photograph—and he has thousands in his Toluca Lake home—is a black-and-white glossy shot of General George Patton urinating in the Rhine River. Patton promised the troops during World War II that he would—in the Rhine and an enterprising soldier got a shot of it. Hope won't say how much he payed for the picture, but collectors say its value is at least $50,000.

The whole town's buzzing about the married TV star who happens to get his best girlfriend parts on his show. However, every time she gets a part, she must pay her own rent for the month!

STEVE McQUEEN turned down an incredible $2 million to star in "The Lucky Lady" with LIZA MINNELLI. It would have been the biggest Hollywood paycheck ever. Steve said no because he didn't like the idea of subbing for George Segal, who had the role originally and then fell sick. GENE HACKMAN will do it instead.

WAYNE ROGERS finalized the plans to build his very own winery on a 500-acre vineyard he bought along with PETER FALK and JAMES CAAN.

LUCIE ARNAZ will be dividing her time between the east and west coasts. She has purchased a Manhattan apartment but will hang on to her local home. She told me she plans on decorating it in brown and white.

GEORGE BURNS hasn't been the same since pal JACK BENNY passed away. He has his friends worried, because he seldom ventures out of the house. Benny's death was a tremendous shock to George.

ROBERT REDFORD left a totally wrecked porsche in PAUL NEWMAN's driveway as a birthday gift. Newman hired five men to compact it into a small block and gave it back to Redford.

How about this one—Last year an unknown, today he's a hot TV star of a highly rated series. This has led to complications in his private life. While an unknown, he was living with a teenager, and she presented him with a son. They decided not to marry, and went separate ways. But when he became a "star" the girl and child looked him up. She's demanding that he marry her, or she'll file a paternity suit that may ruin his "image."

One country boy who ain't doing so badly is "Hee Haw's" ROY CLARK. He's just purchased a 35-room mansion in Tulsa, Oklahoma that has 14 wood-burning fireplaces and a built-in Hammond organ with a separate room just for the pipes. The place was built in 1927 by an oilionaire at the cost of two million dollars. Today's replacement cost is estimated at seven and a half million.

BOB WAGNER suprised NATALIE WOOD on their second anniversary with the most romantic gift she's ever received. He bought her the "Rambling Rose," a 57-foot cabin cruiser they had leased in 1972 for their wedding and honeymoon. "Can you imagine a present of more sentimental value than that?" asks Natalie.

After complaints from everyone, including her husband, that she looked too skinny, MARY TYLER MOORE has finally gained 14 pounds, but not before alienating practically everyone on her diet-conscious set. ED ASNER, BETTY WHITE, GAVIN MACLEOD, and TED KNIGHT eat diet lunches daily and it wasn't easy sitting around watching Mary gulp down milkshakes in an effort to gain.

LARRY LUCKINBILL looked a little sad when he told me he had lost the TWA commercials to PETER SELLERS. I'd feel sad too if I had just lost $85,000 a year with unlimited air travel privileges.

A top male star may not invite several of his lady guest stars back again. He's terribly embarrassed to see them face to face—Mr. Irresistible gave the gals a nasty social disease and, in one case, the star had to pay hush money to the tune of five figures or be exposed by the livid lady. There are also a couple of irate husbands who'd like to get their hands around his arrogant neck. Who says it's better to be a giver?

ANGIE DICKENSON's success on the TV show "Police Woman" has done a lot for the Dickinson marriage to BURT BACHARACH. Burt is such an intense guy he spends his nights working. Angie was so wrapped up in the problems of their daughter Nikki that resulted from her premature birth eight years ago that the actress couldn't make a life of her own. Fortunately, little Nikki is doing just fine now and Angie has the peace of mind to work, and she's nothing but splendid in "Police Woman." Friends say that Burt is finally looking upon Angie again as the sexy dame he married.

Congratulations to the winners of the "Here's Johnny Magic Moments from the Tonight Show" special 2-record set. They are: Sammy Baker, Corvalis, Oregon; Leo Hare, Mahanoy City, Pa.; Lori Wroblewski, University Par, Pa.; Bernice Roberts, Rocky Hill, Conn.; Eric Bergstrom, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mertle La-Claire, Leverett, Mass.

Be sure to read next weeks column for a new and exciting contest.

Minnesota School Teacher Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert G. Heyer, a junior high school teacher in Minnesota, has been named 1975 National Teacher of the Year.

President Ford presented Heyer with a crystal apple at a White House ceremony Tuesday. Heyer gave Ford a wire sculpture of two apple trees made by his ninth grade students.

Heyer, 43, teaches at Johanna Junior High School in St. Paul and was nominated by the Moundsview district Education Association which described him as a teacher who relates to all types of students, including those turned off at school."

Around 1780 stovepipe hats made from beaver skins became the rage in Europe, resulting in trappers flocking to the western wilderness where beavers abounded.

ON SCHOOL FINANCE PLAN

Gov. Briscoe Is Pushed For Comparative Costs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A sponsor of one of the five rival school finance bills before the House pushed Gov. Dolph Briscoe's education advisor Wednesday for comparative cost estimates.

Rep. Dan Kubia, D—Rockdale, said the House Public Education Committee would base its decision largely on figures showing what the bills would cost local districts.

Briscoe's director of education research and planning, Dr. Richard Hooker, admitted that a decision on which estimates of taxable property values should be used is holding up the Texas Education Agency's computer printout on comparative costs.

It is generally agreed that taxable property values will be used in any school finance plan to determine a district's need for state aid.

"The governor is going to call together the principal parties and decide on a plan of action," Hooker said.

Hooker later said the Texas Education Agency had written the governor about 10 days ago requesting a decision.

"We have been charging ahead trying to get our study done so the governor can present it to these people and say, 'Here is an alternative, and one that I recommend to you.'"

The governor's office has a contract with Management Service Associates to make a study of market value of real estate in Texas school districts, but the study has not been completed.

An agreement on a set of market value data will have to be made jointly by Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Bill Clayton and chairman of key legislative committees on education and finance, Hooker said.

"If we start hassling over what set of numbers to use for local fund assignment, we're dead," he said.

Hooker said he expects the governor to call the meeting "in the very near future."

Hooker's and Kubiak's discussion took place at a public education committee hearing that focused chiefly on special education aspects of the five pending bills to revamp the Texas school finance system.

Preston Stephens, administrator of special education for San Antonio's Northeast Independent School District, said the governor's weighted pupil approach" would "be ruinous" to the existing special education program. Called "Plan A," the program encourages the teaching of handicapped children in classes with normal youngsters.

FEA Denies Any Violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Petrofina of Texas has denied any violations of allocations regulations, but the company agreed to pay a civil penalty of $150,000 for allegedly failing to provide extra gasoline to states with shortages last year.

The charge was brought by the Federal Energy Administration which said Wednesday that the company failed to comply fully with orders issued to refiners last February.

The FEA had ordered refiners to increase their allocations of gasoline to states in short supply. FEA dropped its case against Petrofina after the company agreed to pay the cash penalty.

Suggest Trees As Gas Source

HOUSTON (AP) — A Virginia chemical engineer says thickly planted trees on "energy plantations" could help solve the nation's shortage of natural gas.

Dr. Clinton Kemp said Wednesday his group has come up with a plan to harness solar energy by growing on land with no present commercial value trees like poplars, alders, willows or cottonwoods.

The trees would be harvested after three or four years' growth, ground up and placed in large tanks for 10 to 15 days, said Kemp, vice president of InterTechnology Corp. of Warrenton, Va.

With water added, he said, biological action would produce carbon dioxide and methane. Facilities on the energy plantation would separate the two and compress the methane "essentially natural gas" to pipeline transmission pressure, Kemp said.

"This is a perpetually renewable source of natural gas ... without any serious environmental problems," he said. "As long as the sunshines, we can grow trees."

Kemp, in Houston to address a meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, said where rainfall is 20 inches or more a year, "roughly anywhere in the eastern or central time zones", there are between 140 million and 200 million acres suitable for energy plantations.

He said this land is not being used for food production, tree farms, national parks or wilderness.

"This land has enough growing capacity to produce between half and three-fourths of the natural gas we used in this country last year," Kemp said.

The trees would be harvested with large machines when trunk diameters are between one and two and a half inches and the trees 17 to 20 feet tall, he said.

The huge tanks could be built of concrete or steel. Once the "digestion" process is complete the water could be reused and materials not digested would be used as fertilizer for new trees growing from harvested stumps or started from cuttings.

"We can use land that's not suitable for intense farming because it has slopes too big or because it is too hard to plow," Kemp said.

Road Signs To Be Visible Constantly

"Welcome" signs on highways leading into Snyder soon will be visible on a 24-hour basis members of the Snyder Motel Association were advised at their meeting.

Funds for reflector-coating the lettering on the signs have been earmarked from the motel occupancy tax receipts collected by the city. The motel association and city council have been working for nearly a year on the sign program on the highway entrances to the city.

Mrs. Ruth Anderson, manager of Beacon Lodge, was hostess for the luncheon meeting of the association. Also present were Catherine Williams, American Motor Inn; Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, Beacon Lodge; Mary Smelser, Ponderosa Motel; Art and Helen Feinsod, Purple Sage Motel; and J.E. Dupont, TraveLodge.

Representatives of local restaurants have been invited to the next meeting of the motel association, which is set for April 13 at the Snyder Country Club. Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, city council, Board of County Development and various other service organizations also are being invited to join in a discussion of ways to attract more visitors to the city, and to assure them a pleasant stay so that they will want to return. Participation to the Bicentenial and Centennial celebrations will be discussed. Anyone interested in these activities will be welcome and may call Art Feinsod at 573-5491 for details.

Kimberley Asks Alcoholic Inquiry

LONDON (AP) — The Earl of Kimberley has told the House of Lords he used to be an alcoholic, "one of the most unfortunate and lonely characters in the world."

Kimberley, 50, has been married five times. A former soldier and landowner whose first four marriages ended in divorce, he says an official estimate of 400,000 alcholics in Great Britain is "probably only the tip of the iceberg." He called Wednesday for government inquiry in the problem.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

★★★

Q. I participate in a work training program sponsored by the State welfare agency where I live. Are the payments I receive in the program taxable?

A. No. Such payments are not taxable (exclusive of extra allowances for transportation, etc.) provided they do not exceed the public welfare benefits you might be receiving otherwise.

Q. I am receiving taxable unemployment benefits from which tax has not been withheld. Should I file a Declaration of Estimated Tax for 1975?

A. You must file a declaration of estimated income tax, form 1040-ES, if your estimated tax (line 11 of the estimated tax worksheet) is $100 or more and your estimated gross income for 1975 includes more than $500 in income not subject to withholding. Other circumstances of marital status and amount of gross income affect whether you must file Form 1040-ES. For further information call the IRS toll free with the number listed in the tax forms package you received in the mail.

Q. I use my car in my work and have to travel over toll roads to reach some of my clients. Are these tolls deductable in part or in full?

A. If you are required to use your car in your work, you may deduct the business portion of its operating costs. These deductible costs include tolls incurred during business use of your car.

Q. Can I deduct my transportation expenses for going to military reserve meetings once a month?

A. If the reserve (or National Guard) meetings are held in the general area of your tax home (the city or general area in which your business or other employment is located) and you return home on Saturday night, the transportation cost from your home to the meeting is a commuting expense and is not deductable. If the meetings are held outside the general area of your tax home, you may deduct the cost of your transportation to attend the meetings. If the reserve meetings are held after work on a normal workday, you may deduct the cost of getting from your work to the meeting. However, if for some personal reason you do not go directly from one location to the other, you may deduct only the amount it would have cost you to go directly from work to the meeting.

Dr. Lamb

High blood pressure can be treated

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Please tell me what I can do for high blood pressure and poor circulation.

Three years ago I was told I had high blood pressure but nothing was done for it. After three examinations over the three-year period, I am now finally on treatment. My blood pressure ranged from 190 on one reading to 230.

I'm on Aldactazide and on a checkup the doctor said I had done better than most.

I can't understand why the doctors didn't give me something for high blood pressure in the first place. Now I know my circulation is poor.

I don't smoke or drink and weigh 125 pounds and am five feet four. I am a worrier.

DEAR READER—Doctors are more inclined to treat high blood pressure now than they used to be.

During the important studies of the past 25 years it has been clearly demonstrated that elevation of either the systolic (higher) reading or the diastolic(lower) reading increases the rate of development of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries of the body, including the heart and brain. High blood pressure is a major factor in the risk of having heart attacks and strokes.

The blood pressure picture changes rapidly in patients and even those on treatment need constant reevaluation and often readjustment of their program.

It is possible that your pressure was low enough and you were doing well enough on your previous examinations that the doctors didn't think it necessary to start treatment yet.

Most of the problems related to high blood pressure are caused by the complication of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries. It follows that one of the most important aspects of treatment is diet. And, it is often neglected by both the patient and the doctor.

The first order of business is a low-fat, low in saturated fat, low-cholesterol diet, with a limitation of calorie intake sufficient to eliminate any excess fat under the skin and to keep the fat off. Even a few pounds can make an important difference.

Diet alone often reduces the pressure to normal levels in many people. These people don't need dangerous medicines, they need a good living pattern to include a proper diet for them and a proper activity program.

When the pressure can't be controlled by complete elimination of excess body fat and a proper diet, which should also be low in salt, then medicines may be necessary. The medicine you are taking is designed to eliminate salt and fluid and it is often very effective.

There are three main risk factors related to habits that influence the risk of having heart attacks and strokes. They are high cholesterol, high blood pressure (which you can often help with a proper diet and exercise program) and cigarette smoking. With a low blood cholesterol, normal of low blood pressure, and no smoking you can decrease your risk many many times and have a good chance to live well past 70 without danger of heart or vascular disease.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on cholesterol, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed envelope to the same address and ask for the "Cholesterol" booklet.

Advice for girls in love with married men

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, you had a letter in your column in the form of advice for a girl who was in love with a married man. It started with: "Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays."

I remembered it because I had once been in love with a married man and you really hit the nail on the head.

Had I known that my own daughter would be in need of such advice, I would have saved it.

I hope you can locate it, because your column is the first thing my beautiful (but dumb) 27-year-old daughter goes for in the Chicago Tribune.

Thank you. HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I located it. And here it is:

"Dear Abby: May I give your readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to any woman who is in love with a married man:

Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays. Never call him at home.

Don't every expect him to take you out in public, but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollars and cents, you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you.

Never depend on him in times of personal crisis.

Don't believe him when he tells you that his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and she hasn't slept with him in ten years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him if she ever catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and hasn't slept with him for ten years. Sign me... HIS WIFE"

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a man had accidentally discovered in his friend's library some books which this friend had borrowed from him about 15 years before. It reminded me of a saying I picked up in Argentina.

"Hay dos clases de estupidos, los que prestan libros y los que los devuelven." — which means, "There are two kinds of fools. Those who lend books, and those who return them."

BOULDER, COLO.

DEAR BOULDER: You should have left that saying in Argentina. I don't agree that only a fool returns books he has borrowed. In English he would be called a "thief." And in Spanish, an "aprovechador."

DEAR ABBY: The letters concerning wedding expenses point to the need for questioning our traditional practice of the bride's parents paying for the wedding. This is a carry-over from the days when daughters were considered financial liabilities, and parents were eager to get them married off.

Times have changed! Today many young people of marriageable age are working, and some earn more than their parents.

Why can't the bride and groom pay for their own wedding? When my husband and I were married, 35 years ago, we pooled our money and paid for our wedding and reception, since my parents couldn't afford it. I've known parents who have gone into debt to give their children big, fancy weddings. And at the stage in their lives when they (the parents) should be setting aside money for their own retirement. PAID OUR WAY

DEAR PAID: Hark! We're making progress. Many of the younger generation prefer a more modest and meaningful wedding to those fancy, formal extravaganzas that would have Papa robbing Peter in June to pay Paul in July. And I say hooray for the kids!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Few Questions Are Raised On Sub

By MIKE SHANAHAN
associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional committees investigating the Central Intelligence Agency show little interest in opening full-scale inquiries into the partial recovery of a Soviet submarine from the bottom of the Pacific Ocean.

Public disclosure of last summer's highly classified operation raised few questions about the legality of the CIA's attempts to raise the diesel-powered sub.

Deep sea salvage operations in search of another nation's sunken vessels are acceptable under international law once the ship is given up for lost.

Meanwhile, NBC-TV said American and British forces once recovered electronic gear from a Soviet aircraft which crashed in the North Sea and American personnel recovered electronic equipment from a sunken Soviet vessel in the Sea of Japan and a nuclear weapon from a Russian airplane that crashed in the Sea of Japan.

The publicity focused on the Soviet sub operation made it seem likely that plans to go back for the most valuable items, believed still on the ocean floor, would be abandoned. About one-third of the vessel was raised, but this did not include communications codes and atomic warhead missiles, military sources said.

The submarine was found to be in four or five pieces on the ocean floor, according to today's Washington Post. The Post reported that one unnamed source said the portion of the submarine successfully recovered included part of the conning tower where the submarine's missiles were housed. The newspaper said this indicated that at least one of the nuclear missile warheads may have been salvaged.

The Soviet G-class submarine went down in 1968 in 16,000-feet of water about 750 miles northwest of Oahu, Hawaii, with the loss of 70 men.

The recovery operation was carried out by the Glomar Explorer, a salvage ship built for the project by billionaire Howard Hughes.

The Glomar Explorer, an expensively equipped 618-foot recovery vessel, is berthed in a private dock in Long Beach, Calif. A huge barge also used in the project and capable of going underwater to insure secrecy is in port at Redwood City, Calif.

The Redwood City fire marshal said he wants to make a safety inspection of the barge. "If they've been fooling around with nuclear warheads, I don't want to take any chances that anything might happen while the barge is moored here," said Fire Marshal George Asvos.

In Washington, some senior members of Congress said they had been fully briefed in advance on the CIA's recovery operation.

However, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a veteran member of both the Senate Armed Services and CIA oversight committees, complained that he was never informed.

C. W. Tombaugh discovered the planet Pluto in 1930. The most distant in the solar system, little is known about it.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

SECTION B. MARCH 20, 1975

Stepped Up Oil Plans Pose Ecology Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Wednesday plans to speed up oil shale development in the West and a new step toward offshore petroleum leasing in the Gulf of Alaska.

Both areas pose potentially serious environmental problems.

In fact, the President's Council on Environmental Quality reported last year that the Gulf of Alaska was the offshore area where oil development presents the greatest environmental hazards. The area is subject to severe storms and earthquakes.

Nevertheless, the Interior Department has tentatively scheduled sales of oil and gas leases this year in both the Gulf of Alaska and the mid-Atlantic area — the two untouched offshore areas considered most attractive by the oil industry.

In Wednesday's action, the department listed 330 tracts totaling about 1.8 million acres in the Gulf of Alaska for detailed environmental study before a final decision on leasing is reached.

The proposed area extends roughly from just north of Middleton Island, eastward to Icy Bay, and reaches seaward from the three-mile offshore limit of state jurisdiction to the line defined by water depths of about 600 feet.

Meanwhile, the Interior Department said it would publish about April 1 an invitation for nominations by June 30 of western tracts for possible oil shale development using processes that leave the shale underground while extracting the oil.

Such processes, known as "in situ"—in-place—processes, may greatly reduce the environmental problems of extracting oil from shale, a type of rock.

Interior leased two tracts each in Colorado and Utah last year for oil shale production using methods that require mining the shale and disposing of large amounts of waste materials.

Hale's Bill On Gifts Criticized

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for Common Cause of Texas says a bill by Rep. Dewitt Hale changing the law on gifts to legislators would "destroy the integrity of the legislature."

John Hannah told the House State Affairs Committee Wednesday that the "Hale bill allows you (legislators) to put $100 in your pockets and not tell anyone about it."

Hale, D-Corpus Christi, said the current law concerning activities of lobbyists and gifts to legislators is not clear enough for "reasonable people" to know what to do.

Hale said two bills sponsored by him would remove some of the questions in the present law.

Under Hale's lobbyist measure, a person would be required to register as a lobbyist if he receives compensation to talk to a member of the legislative or executive branch to influence legislation.

Hale's other bill allows a public servant to accept up to $100 and not report it as long as there is "no substantial risk of undermining official impartiality."

Hannah said he thought $20 would be an adequate limit in order to permit legislators in some instances to accept such items as a free meal.

Speaking on the lobbyist bill, Secretary of State Mark White said the current law inadequately sets out who should register as a lobbyist and when he should register.

"A person should know at any time what his legal obligations are," White said.

Both of Hale's bills were referred to subcommittee.

Winter Ends Today

By The Associated Press

Today is the last day of winter but summer-like temperatures nudged out spring readings as light southerly winds fanned warm air across the state.

Readings were to climb into the 70s and 80s by afternoon.

At 4 a.m. temperatures varied from 43 degrees at Dalhart to 63 at Dallas.

Top marks Wednesday ranged from 88 at McAllen in the Rio Grande Valley down to 72 at Corpus Christi.

Forecasters predicted the southerly winds will increase and become gusty over parts of West Texas.

In the summer of 1814 a small American army, led by Gen. Winfield Scott and wearing gray, decisively defeated the British in upper Canada. In 1816, the Secretary of War approved the use of gray uniforms for West Point in recognition of Gen. Scott and his gallant troops.

Kiwanis Set For Pancake Supper Here

Final plans for the annual Noon Kiwanis Club Pancake Supper were discussed at the regular luncheon of the club, held Wednesday at the American Restaurant.

General chairman of the project is Charlie Yoast. Tickets are still on sale at the rate of $1 per person prior to the supper. At the door, they will cost $1.50 per person. Children under six will be admitted free. The supper begins at 5 p.m. Friday and will continue through 8 p.m. at West Elementary Cafeteria. A number of individuals and businesses have donated various supplies to the club for the annual supper. Proceeds will be used for Kiwanis Club projects.

The meeting was presided over by Sam Kitching, president-elect. At a board meeting following the regular meeting, the board of directors voted to give $55 to the Ladies Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital for their medical student scholarship fund.

Paul Thompson, a medical student from Memphis, Tex., was a guest of Cy Miller.

"GOT ANY PETS YOU'D LIKE SOMEBODY TO TAKE FOR A WALK?"

FIRST TIME—For the first time in the history of the Canyon Reef Relays, there will be a girls division. The big meet will be held at the Snyder High School track Saturday. Some of the host girls who will compete are, from left to right, bottom row, Debbie West (manager), Martha Braziel, Debbie Newman, Sandra Cumbie and Toni Taylor; and, top row, Patti Wolfe, Vanessa Short, Nancy Walker, Teresa Thompson, Ann McClain and Della Braziel.

Tigers Preparing For Reef Relays

There was good weather yesterday, and the Snyder High School track team got in a good workout in preparation for the Canyon Reef Relays to be held here Saturday.

But, there was also some bad news. Alvin Neely dropped a object on his foot and sustained a ruptured blood vessel. The foot was put on ice, but he still may not be sufficiently recovered in time for the meet.

The Tigers have a good chance to win the AAA division this year. Their foes are Brownfield, Levelland, Sweetwater, Vernon and Dunbar.

Each school may enter three contestants in every individual event and one team in each relay. In all running events, the best seven preliminary times will advance to the finals. Each field event will be completed from preliminaries through finals without a time break.

Snyder's opponents in the special girls division this year include Big Spring, Breckenridge, Brownfield, Colorado City, Rotan, and Seminole.

Field events will begin at 10 a.m. Events are high jump, long jump, pole vault, shot put and discus. The girls triple jump will be held following long jump competition. All field events are final events.

Preliminary running begins at 9:45 a.m. with girls running first, followed by 3A, then 4A entries. Finals in the running events begin at 2 p.m.Saturday.

Regional Tourney To Show Talent

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Basketball may be a team sport, but the NCAA Midwest Regionals opening tonight in this southwest New Mexico city also will be a showcase for some of the finest individual cage talent in the land.

The lure of watching the likes of Adrian Dantley, Junior Bridgeman, John Lucas and Steve Collier do their "individual thing" will be the drawing card that brings many of the fans to the Pan American Center on the New Mexico State University campus.

The regional meet opens tonight as Collier and the Cincinnati Bearcats take on Bridgeman and the Louisville Cardinals at 9:05 EDT. Dantley and the Notre Dame Fighting Irish challenge Lucas and the Maryland Terrapins at 11:10 (EDT).

Louisville enters the tourney with the best mark of the four teams at 25-2 and is ranked third nationally. Maryland is 23-4 and fourth rated while Notre Dame is 19-8 on the year and ranked ninth. Cincinnati, 22-5 on the year, is the country's 12th-ranked squad.

The winners of tonight's games advance to the regional title tilt Saturday afternoon to play for a berth in the final round of the NCAA playoffs along with the other three regional winners.

Tonight's losers will end the season Saturday morning in a consolation game.

Bridgeman, Collier, Dantley and Lucas all were outstanding during the regular season, and their play in last week's opening round playoff games gave the fans an inkling they also are tourney players.

The 6-foot-5 Dantley, one of the nation's top scorers, dumped in 33 points to lead the Irish to a 78-71 win over Kansas while Lucas, an All-America guard, tossed in 19 points as the Terps riddled Creighton and its zone defense 87-79.

Bridgeman, a 6-foot-5 leaper who plays both forward and guard, hit a personal high of 36 points as the Cards bounced Rutgers 91-78. Collier, a 6-foot-4 freshman guard, tallied 20 points to lead the young Bearcats past Texas A & M, 87-79.

"If the people don't come out they are only hurting themselves," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said at a news conference Wednesday night.

Only Louisville appears to have players with injuries serious enough to keep them on the bench.

Cardinal coach Denny Crum said 6-foot-7 Stanley Bunton and 6-foot-5 Wesley Cox are nursing painful injuries. Crum said Bunton, who injured his back in practice Monday, looked good in workouts Wednesday and probably would play. But he said its "only 50-50" that Cox, who is suffering from a pulled hamstring, will start.

"I hope they'll both be able to play," Crum said. "If they can" I hope the others will pick up the slack."

Both games pit teams that played earlier this season. Cincinnati, which starts three or four freshmen, lost to Louisville 82-74 in a January meeting. But the Bearcats have reeled off 16 straight wins since the loss.

Maryland bounced Notre Dame 90-82 in their meeting. The Irish, however, also use freshmen and sophomores to compliment Dantley and still were searching for the right combination when they lost to Maryland. The Irish are 12-2 since the they lost to Maryland.

Henson Is Top Coach

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Lou Henson, New Mexico State's basketball coach, has been named coach of the year by the Missouri Valley Conference.

Henson outpolled first-year coach Bob Ortegal of Drake and Louisville's Denny Crum for the honor. A panel of sports writers and sports broadcasters made the selection.

New Mexico State, which did not have a player taller than 6-foot-7, had been picked to finish second to last in the basketball race this season.

But the hustling Aggies finished second and their 11-3 record was just one loss behind Louisville, which won the title for the seventh time in nine years.

The Aggies' over-all record of 20-6 was good enough for them to be picked for an NCAA playoff spot.

"By using a blend of self-discipline and tight defense, the 'mini-mini-machine' was able to successfully out play larger and quicker teams," the conference said of Henson's guidance.

NIT Teams Present Big Contrast In Styles

NEW YORK (AP) — Fans at the National Invitation Tournament tonight won't only see two basketball games, they'll get a textbook lesson in the process.

Oral Roberts, Oregon, South Carolina and Princeton present four widely contrasting styles.

In the first quarter-final game at Madison Square Garden, it's Oral Roberts' run-and-gun offense against Oregon's patterned team. In the second game, defense-oriented Princeton plays South Carolina, a high-powered offensive club with a muscled front line.

The winners advance to the Saturday's semi-finals, joining St. John's and Providence in the Big Four of this 38th annual post-season tournament.

"The object of the game is to get the better shot," says Oregon Coach Dick Harter, explaining why his team likes to set up plays with ball-handler Ronnie Lee. "We hope to get the better shot from our pattern offenses."

Oral Roberts, meanwhile, reverts to the schoolyard type of basketball with few patterns.

"Offensive-wise, we play pretty well at times, but sometimes our defense falls apart a little," notes Jerry Hale, the Oral Roberts coach.

Princeton and South Carolina will be meeting for the second time this season. The Gamecocks won earlier in the year, 65-48, but Coach Frank McGuire sees Princeton as a formidable opponent even though the Tigers will have trouble with his big front line.

"That victory was at our place, and at a different time," says McGuire. "Princeton is now a team constantly moving the ball: In a 40-minute game, they will try to control the ball at least half of the time.

"They are very disciplined. A lot of people think defense is just stopping a player one-on-one. That's not so. Princeton's careful ball-handling is defense. When you see a team turning over the ball 19 or 20 times, that's a potential for at least 10 points. Princeton doesn't do things like that very often."

Oral Roberts won its way into the quarters with a tingling 97-95 victory over Memphis State in the first round. Oregon beat St. Peter's 85-79, South Carolina tripped Connecticut 71-61 and Princeton routed Holy Cross 84-63.

Tigers In Tournament

The Snyder High School Tigers met the Kermit Yellowjackets at noon today in the first round of the Andrews Invitational Baseball Tournament. Kermit is the team that beat the Tigers in the tourney at Mohanans last weekend.

Other first round pairings pitted Pecos against Seminole at 2:30 today, Coronado against Artesia, N.M. at 5 this afternoon, and Andrews against Lamesa at 7:30 tonight.

The winner of the Snyder-Kermit game meets the winner of the Pecos-Seminole game at 5 p.m. Friday. The other second round game will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday between the winner of the Coronado-Artesia game and the winner of the Andrews-Lamesa tilt.

Consolation bracket games are on tap for 12 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Friday and the consolation finals at 12 noon Saturday, the battle for third place on tap for 5 p.m. Saturday, and the championship match at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Gary Greenlee, 3-0 for the year, pitched for Snyder today.

Injury Stops Margaret

DALLAS (AP) — It was a mood of dejection and gloom for all-time women's champion Margaret Court of Australia.

Top-seeded Mrs. Court, hampered by a right leg injury for two weeks, pulled up lame with her left leg and had to retire a loser Wednesday night in a first round match in a woman's professional tennis tournament sponsored in part by the Maureen Connolly Brinker Foundation.

After Terry Holladay, a tour rookie from La Jolla, Calif., broke Mrs. Court's service to go up 3-2 in the third set, the Australian great was forced to retire with a painful leg which had slowed her down most of the match.

Miss Holladay scored a 3-6, 6-3, 3-2 (Court retires) victory, her biggest win ever.

"It came as a shock to me when she retired," Miss Holladay said. "I knew she was injured and I tried to move her from side to side.

"I can't say she was defeated, because one break is not enough to win a match. She apologized when she quit."

Mrs. Court was scheduled for a doctor's report today and will likely miss the next tour stop in Philadelphia next week.

She has already qualified for the circuit's final championships in Los Angeles, April 1-5.

In other first round singles matches, fourth-seeded Virginia Wade of Australia beat young Australian Diane Fromholtz 6-4, 6-3 and fifth-seeded Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union downed Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles 6-2, 6-2.

Also, Linky Boshoff of South Africa beat Susan Mehmedbasich of El Cerrito, Calif. 2-6, 6-2, 6-2; Mona Schallau of Iowa City, Iowa def. Laura DuPont of Charlotte, N.C. 6-7, 6-3, 6-1.

Only one seeded doubles team survived in a rash of upsets. Top-seeded Francoise Durr of France and Betty Stove of The Netherlands defeated Teeguarden and DuPont 6-1, 6-4.

But second-seeded Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia and Lesley Hunt of Australia fell 7-6, 6-7, 6-4 to Schallau and Julie Anthony of Los Angeles.

In another doubles upset Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif. and Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif. defeated the third seeded team of Sue Stap of Deerfield, Ill. and Valerie Ziegenfuss of El Cajon, Calif. 6-3, 6-7, 7-6.

Did Pokes Compensate Texans?

DALLAS (AP) —A former aide to the late billionaire H.L. Hunt has hinted in federal court that the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League may have helped compensate the Dallas Texans of the old American Football league for moving to Kansas City in 1963.

John W. Curington, on trial for allegedly accepting kickbacks and premiums from customers of HLH Products, a Hunt company, testified Wednesday the Cowboys "made financial arrangements" so Lamar Hunt, son of H.L. Hunt and owner of the Texans, would move the team. The Texans became the Kansas City Chiefs.

Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys said at the NFL owners annual meeting in Honolulu:

"I remember we did purchase their practice field, there might have been some other expenses, but I would not want to comment on that until I return to Dallas and refresh my memory."

Curington touched on the incident while explaining his duties as an assistant to Hunt during the 1960s. He testified his working relationship with the elder Hunt included sharing confidences about his last will and testament, secret Swiss bank accounts and behind-the-scenes maneuvering for his son's football team.

He said he was asked to "survey the country" to find a site where Lamar Hunt could relocate the Texans since they were competing with the Cowboys for an audience.

Curington said he selected Kansas City for its geographical location, transportation facilities and potential for radio and television coverage.

After he recommended Kansas City to H.L. Hunt, Curington said "The financial arrangements were made with the Cowboys for the Texans to move to Kansas City."

Curington would not elaborate to reporters how much money was involved and exactly what the alleged arrangement represented.

"I can't talk about it now," he said. Curington's attorneys said they could not elaborate on his testimony but did confirm Curington's reference was to funds allegedly paid by the Cowboys to the Texans so the team would leave town.

Green Has Troubles

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — He talks about getting it in "Euell Gibbons country," the woods and weeds. He'll make a comment about his "Laurence of Arabia time on the wrong side of the gallery ropes."

He tries to keep it light and funny, as if it didn't matter.

But Hubert Green is a deeply frustrated young man. "I'm hitting it sideways," he said. "I'm playing terrible."

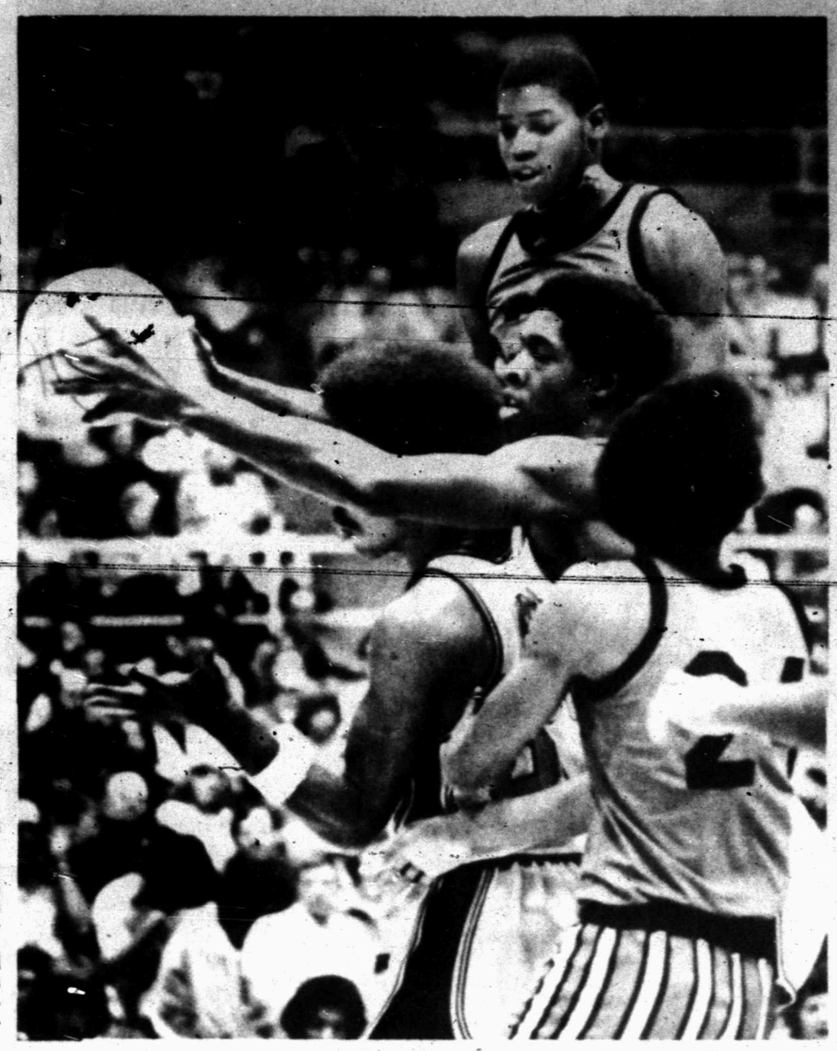

There may be just the glimpse of a light at the end of the tunnel, however. "I think I've finally figured out what's wrong," Green said before teeing off today as the defending champion in the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"Now it's a matter of working on my mistakes, correcting them, getting my game back to where it was, to where it ought to be," he said in his rapid-fire, machine gun style of speech. "At least I've got something to work on."

Green stamped himself one of the game's outstanding young players last season when he took this title and three others and collected more than $200,000. Only Johnny Miller surpassed him in tournament victories.

This season it's all gone sour. Green's had little but troubles. He finished second in the Bing Crosby, but he hasn't been higher than 32nd in any other event and has missed the cut twice.

"He wants to win every tournament he enters," said his wife Judi. "He tries so hard, just as hard as he can, in every tournament. He really wants to play well and he gets angry at himself when he doesn't. It just all builds up.

Westerners Test Ravens Tonight

By JEFF BOX

HUTCHINSON, Kan.— Western Texas College's Westerners will face the San Jacinto Ravens of Pasadena, Tex., in the mythical battle for the Texas crown tonight at 7:45 in the National Junior College Athletic Association quarterfinal bout at the Hutchinson Sports Arena.

The Western squad, now 33-1, advanced to the second round of play by defeating Housatonic Community College 91-57 Tuesday. SJC downed Anderson Junior College of South Carolina 84-79 for the right to challenge the Green quint.

The Ravens average 6-3 per man and boast a 34-2 season record. This marks the squad's best appearance in the Juco championship meet.

Pasadena's unit finished eighth last year and has the tourney's top scorer returning in 6-2 Ray Williams.

Williams tallied 88 points in four games and has his freshman brother, 5-11 Ray, playing with him. Both are guards.

"These two guys are probably the best guards we've played against," said WTC Coach Mike Mitchell.

SJC tied with Vincennes University Junior College of Indiana for scoring honors last year, hitting for 109 points in a single game.

In Tuesday night action, Anderson JC led the Texas squad 43-41 at intermission. Second half saw the Pasadena group slow up and become more precise, losing only nine turnovers compared to their 15 in the first stanza.

"They're a good team that's tough as hell," said Mitchell.

The Region 14 champs are a fast-breaking team. "Run and shoot" is Mitchell's description.

"If we're going to stop them, we've got to slow them down. Their speed and quickness as well as shooting ability is impressive."

San Jacinto connected for 57 per cent from the field and is averaging 96 points per game. They were seeded second in the final national JC poll.

Big five for the Westerners will be as usual: 6-8 Norman Barnes, 6-5 Brian Minor, both from Richmond, Va., 6-2 Ken Fowler from Austin, Texas, 6-7 Eugene Harris from Hattiesburg, Miss., and 6-5 Bob Miller of Seaford, N.Y.

"Offensively we're not going to do any changing," said the Westerner coach. "It's too late now for that."

The Green unit will use a deliberate and methodical style of attack, working the ball in for the "good shot."

"We won't try any of that tricky stuff. They don't win games. We'll stick to the basics. The team that utilizes the basic things the best will win," said Mitchell.

Defensively, the WTC quint will have its hands full stopping the high-flying Ravens. "We'll play containing defense as much as possible and stop their guards from penetrating and scoring," said Mitchell.

The Westerners worked out lightly for an hour yesterday.

"We're capable of beating them. It's going to depend on who makes and uses the breaks. At this stage of the game everyone is GOOD and you have to play better than them to win," said Mitchell.

Yesterday's tilts included Arizona Western of Yuma over Waukeska County Tech of Tewaukee, Wisconsin 97-75. The Arizona squad ranked 15th in the last NJCAA poll and is Region 1 champion. The Wisconsin team, representing Region 13, was unranked.

Faster than a speeding bullet described the tilt between Grandview College of Des Moines, Iowa, and DeKalb Community College of Decatur, Georgia.

The two squads produced one of the fastest and most exciting battles thus far as DeKalb defeated Grandview 90-88 on a basket made two seconds remaining in the last of the first round contest.

DeKalb will now face Arizona tonight at 9:30. Waukesha and Grand View face off at 3:30 today.

In the first consolation quaterfinal tilt, Lakeland College of Mattoon, Ill. defeated Sheridan JC of Wyoming 89-71 in a game without a rule book, as dozens of fouls committed by both sides went unseen by the referees.

Sheridan was eliminated from the meet while Lakeland will play tomorrow at 12 noon against the winner of the Hutchinsonn JC-Essex County College of New Jersey duel held today at noon.

In the first championship quarterfinal battle between Westchester Community College of Valhalla, N.Y. and College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls, the hot Northwesterners, playing classical basketball, gained a 69-61 upset victory over the cold New Yorkers.

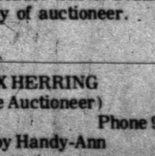

In yesterday's last game, also the second championship quarterfinal battle, Vincennes UJC of Indiana fell to Utica JC of Mississippi 74-59 for the second upset of the day.

Utica will square off against Southern Idaho in a semifinal match Friday night at 7. Westchester and Vincennes will meet tonight at 6.

Stepped Up Oil Plans Pose Ecology Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Wednesday plans to speed up oil shale development in the West and a new step toward offshore petroleum leasing in the Gulf of Alaska.

Both areas pose potentially serious environmental problems.

In fact, the President's Council on Environmental Quality reported last year that the Gulf of Alaska was the offshore area where oil development presents the greatest environmental hazards. The area is subject to severe storms and earthquakes.

Nevertheless, the Interior Department has tentatively scheduled sales of oil and gas leases this year in both the Gulf of Alaska and the mid-Atlantic area — the two untouched offshore areas considered most attractive by the oil industry.

In Wednesday's action, the department listed 330 tracts totaling about 1.8 million acres in the Gulf of Alaska for detailed environmental study before a final decision on leasing is reached.

The proposed area extends roughly from just north of Middleton Island, eastward to Icy Bay, and reaches seaward from the three-mile offshore limit of state jurisdiction to the line defined by water depths of about 600 feet.

Meanwhile, the Interior Department said it would publish about April 1 an invitation for nominations by June 30 of western tracts for possible oil shale development using processes that leave the shale underground while extracting the oil.

Such processes, known as "in situ"—in-place—processes, may greatly reduce the environmental problems of extracting oil from shale, a type of rock.

Interior leased two tracts each in Colorado and Utah last year for oil shale production using methods that require mining the shale and disposing of large amounts of waste materials.

Hale's Bill On Gifts Criticized

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for Common Cause of Texas says a bill by Rep. Dewitt Hale changing the law on gifts to legislators would "destroy the integrity of the legislature."

John Hannah told the House State Affairs Committee Wednesday that the "Hale bill allows you (legislators) to put $100 in your pockets and not tell anyone about it."

Hale, D-Corpus Christi, said the current law concerning activities of lobbyists and gifts to legislators is not clear enough for "reasonable people" to know what to do.

Hale said two bills sponsored by him would remove some of the questions in the present law.

Under Hale's lobbyist measure, a person would be required to register as a lobbyist if he receives compensation to talk to a member of the legislative or executive branch to influence legislation.

Hale's other bill allows a public servant to accept up to $100 and not report it as long as there is "no substantial risk of undermining official impartiality."

Hannah said he thought $20 would be an adequate limit in order to permit legislators in some instances to accept such items as a free meal.

Speaking on the lobbyist bill, Secretary of State Mark White said the current law inadequately sets out who should register as a lobbyist and when he should register.

"A person should know at any time what his legal obligations are," White said.

Both of Hale's bills were referred to subcommittee.

Winter Ends Today

By The Associated Press

Today is the last day of winter but summer-like temperatures nudged out spring readings as light southerly winds fanned warm air across the state.

Readings were to climb into the 70s and 80s by afternoon.

At 4 a.m. temperatures varied from 43 degrees at Dalhart to 63 at Dallas.

Top marks Wednesday ranged from 88 at McAllen in the Rio Grande Valley down to 72 at Corpus Christi.

Forecasters predicted the southerly winds will increase and become gusty over parts of West Texas.

In the summer of 1814 a small American army, led by Gen. Winfield Scott and wearing gray, decisively defeated the British in upper Canada. In 1816, the Secretary of War approved the use of gray uniforms for West Point in recognition of Gen. Scott and his gallant troops.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND—Sam Kitching, left, president-elect of the Noon Kiwanis Club, presents a check from the club to Cy. Miller, administrator of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, for $500 to be used by the Cogdell Hospital Women's Auxiliary in their medical student scholarship fund.

Kiwanis Set For Pancake Supper Here

Final plans for the annual Noon Kiwanis Club Pancake Supper were discussed at the regular luncheon of the club, held Wednesday at the American Restaurant.

General chairman of the project is Charlie Yoast. Tickets are still on sale at the rate of $1 per person prior to the supper. At the door, they will cost $1.50 per person. Children under six will be admitted free. The supper begins at 5 p.m. Friday and will continue through 8 p.m. at West Elementary Cafeteria.

A number of individuals and businesses have donated various supplies to the club for the annual supper. Proceeds will be used for Kiwanis Club projects.

The meeting was presided over by Sam Kitching, president-elect. At a board meeting following the regular meeting, the board of directors voted to give $55 to the Ladies Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital for their medical student scholarship fund.

Paul Thompson, a medical student from Memphis, Tex., was a guest of Cy Miller.

"GOT ANY PETS YOU'D LIKE SOMEBODY TO TAKE FOR A WALK?"

FIRST TIME—For the first time in the history of the Canyon Reef Relays, there will be a girls division. The big meet will be held at the Snyder High School track Saturday. Some of the host girls who will compete are, from left to right, bottom row, Debbie West (manager), Martha Braziel, Debbie Newman, Sandra Cumbie and Toni Taylor; and, top row, Patti Wolfe, Vanessa Short, Nancy Walker, Teresa Thompson, Ann McClain and Della Braziel.

Tigers Preparing For Reef Relays

There was good weather yesterday, and the Snyder High School track team got in a good workout in preparation for the Canyon Reef Relays to be held here Saturday.

But, there was also some bad news. Alvin Neely dropped a object on his foot and sustained a ruptured blood vessel. The foot was put on ice, but he still may not be sufficiently recovered in time for the meet.

The Tigers have a good chance to win the AAA division this year. Their foes are Brownfield, Levelland, Sweetwater, Vernon and Dunbar.

Each school may enter three contestants in every individual event and one team in each relay. In all running events, the best seven preliminary times will advance to the finals. Each field event will be completed from preliminaries through finals without a time break.

Snyder's opponents in the special girls division this year include Big Spring, Breckenridge, Brownfield, Colorado City, Rotan, and Seminole.

Field events will begin at 10 a.m. Events are high jump, long jump, pole vault, shot put and discus. The girls triple jump will be held following long jump competition. All field events are final events.

Preliminary running begins at 9:45 a.m. with girls running first, followed by 3A, then 4A entries. Finals in the running events begin at 2 p.m.Saturday.

Regional Tourney To Show Talent

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Basketball may be a team sport, but the NCAA Midwest Regionals opening tonight in this southwest New Mexico city also will be a showcase for some of the finest individual cage talent in the land.

The lure of watching the likes of Adrian Dantley, Junior Bridgeman, John Lucas and Steve Collier do their "individual thing" will be the drawing card that brings many of the fans to the Pan American Center on the New Mexico State University campus.

The regional meet opens tonight as Collier and the Cincinnati Bearcats take on Bridgeman and the Louisville Cardinals at 9:05 EDT. Dantley and the Notre Dame Fighting Irish challenge Lucas and the Maryland Terrapins at 11:10 (EDT).

Louisville enters the tourney with the best mark of the four teams at 25-2 and is ranked third nationally. Maryland is 23-4 and fourth rated while Notre Dame is 19-8 on the year and ranked ninth. Cincinnati, 22-5 on the year, is the country's 12th-ranked squad.

The winners of tonight's games advance to the regional title tilt Saturday afternoon to play for a berth in the final round of the NCAA playoffs along with the other three regional winners.

Tonight's losers will end the season Saturday morning in a consolation game.

Bridgeman, Collier, Dantley and Lucas all were outstanding during the regular season, and their play in last week's opening round playoff games gave the fans an inkling they also are tourney players.

The 6-foot-5 Dantley, one of the nation's top scorers, dumped in 33 points to lead the Irish to a 78-71 win over Kansas while Lucas, an All-America guard, tossed in 19 points as the Terps riddled Creighton and its zone defense 87-79.

Bridgeman, a 6-foot-5 leaper who plays both forward and guard, hit a personal high of 36 points as the Cards bounced Rutgers 91-78. Collier, a 6-foot-4 freshman guard, tallied 20 points to lead the young Bearcats past Texas A & M, 87-79.

"If the people don't come out they are only hurting themselves," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said at a news conference Wednesday night.

Only Louisville appears to have players with injuries serious enough to keep them on the bench.

Cardinal coach Denny Crum said 6-foot-7 Stanley Bunton and 6-foot-5 Wesley Cox are nursing painful injuries. Crum said Bunton, who injured his back in practice Monday, looked good in workouts Wednesday and probably would play. But he said its "only 50-50" that Cox, who, is suffering from a pulled hamstring, will start.

"I hope they'll both be able to play," Crum said. "If they can" I hope the others will pick up the slack."

Both games pit teams that played earlier this season. Cincinnati, which starts three or four freshmen, lost to Louisville 82-74 in a January meeting. But the Bearcats have reeled off 16 straight wins since the loss.

Maryland bounced Notre Dame 90-82 in their meeting. The Irish, however, also use freshmen and sophomores to compliment Dantley and still were searching for the right combination when they lost to Maryland. The Irish are 12-2 since the they lost to Maryland.

Henson Is Top Coach

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Lou Henson, New Mexico State's basketball coach, has been named coach of the year by the Missouri Valley Conference.

Henson outpolled first-year coach Bob Ortegal of Drake and Louisville's Denny Crum for the honor. A panel of sports writers and sports broadcasters made the selection.

New Mexico State, which did not have a player taller than 6-foot-7, had been picked to finish second to last in the basketball race this season.

But the hustling Aggies finished second and their 11-3 record was just one loss behind Louisville, which won the title for the seventh time in nine years.

The Aggies' over-all record of 20-6 was good enough for them to be picked for an NCAA playoff spot.

"By using a blend of self-discipline and tight defense, the 'mini-mini-machine' was able to successfully out play larger and quicker teams," the conference said of Henson's guidance.

NIT Teams Present Big Contrast In Styles

NEW YORK (AP) — Fans at the National Invitation Tournament tonight won't only see two basketball games, they'll get a textbook lesson in the process.

Oral Roberts, Oregon, South Carolina and Princeton present four widely contrasting styles.

In the first quarter-final game at Madison Square Garden, it's Oral Roberts' run-and-gun offense against Oregon's patterned team. In the second game, defense-oriented Princeton plays South Carolina, a high-powered offensive club with a muscled front line.

The winners advance to the Saturday's semi-finals, joining St. John's and Providence in the Big Four of this 38th annual post-season tournament.

"The object of the game is to get the better shot," says Oregon Coach Dick Harter, explaining why his team likes to set up plays with ball-handler Ronnie Lee. "We hope to get the better shot from our pattern offenses."

Oral Roberts, meanwhile, reverts to the schoolyard type of basketball with few patterns.

"Offensive-wise, we play pretty well at times, but sometimes our defense falls apart a little, " notes Jerry Hale, the Oral Roberts coach.

Princeton and South Carolina will be meeting for the second time this season. The Gamecocks won earlier in the year, 65-48, but Coach Frank McGuire sees Princeton as a formidable opponent even though the Tigers will have trouble with his big front line.

"That victory was at our place, and at a different time," says McGuire. "Princeton is now a team constantly moving the ball. In a 40-minute game, they will try to control the ball at least half of the time.

"They are very disciplined. A lot of people think defense is just stopping a player one-on-one. That's not so. Princeton's careful ball-handling is defense. When you see a team turning over the ball 19 or 20 times, that's a potential for at least 10 points. Princeton doesn't do things like that very often."

Oral Roberts won its way into the quarters with a tingling 97-95 victory over Memphis State in the first round. Oregon beat St. Peter's 85-79, South Carolina tripped Connecticut 71-61 and Princeton routed Holy Cross 84-63.

Tigers In Tournament

The Snyder High School Tigers met the Kermit Yellowjackets at noon today in the first round of the Andrews Invitational Baseball Tournament. Kermit is the team that beat the Tigers in the tourney at Mohanans last weekend.

Other first round pairings pitted Pecos against Seminole at 2:30 today, Coronado against Artesia, N.M. at 5 this afternoon, and Andrews against Lamesa at 7:30 tonight.

The winner of the Snyder-Kermit game meets the winner of the Pecos-Seminole game at 5 p.m. Friday. The other second round game will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday between the winner of the Coronado-Artesia game and the winner of the Andrews-Lamesa tilt.

Consolation bracket games are on tap for 12 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Friday and the consolation finals at 12 noon Saturday, the battle for third place on tap for 5 p.m. Saturday, and the championship match at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Gary Greenlee, 3-0 for the year, pitched for Snyder today.

Injury Stops Margaret

DALLAS (AP) — It was a mood of dejection and gloom for all-time women's champion Margaret Court of Australia.

Top-seeded Mrs. Court, hampered by a right leg injury for two weeks, pulled up lame with her left leg and had to retire a loser Wednesday night in a first round match in a woman's professional tennis tournament sponsored in part by the Maureen Connolly Brinker Foundation.

After Terry Holladay, a tour rookie from La Jolla, Calif., broke Mrs. Court's service to go up 3-2 in the third set, the Australian great was forced to retire with a painful leg which had slowed her down most of the match.

Miss Holladay scored a 3-6, 6-3, 3-2 (Court retires) victory, her biggest win ever.

"It came as a shock to me when she retired," Miss Holladay said. "I knew she was injured and I tried to move her from side to side.

"I can't say she was defeated, because one break is not enough to win a match. She apologized when she quit."

Mrs. Court was scheduled for a doctor's report today and will likely miss the next tour stop in Philadelphia next week.

She has already qualified for the circuit's final championships in Los Angeles, April 1-5.

In other first round singles matches, fourth-seeded Virginia Wade of Australia beat young Australian Diane Fromholtz 6-4, 6-3 and fifth-seeded Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union downed Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles 6-2, 6-2.

Also, Linky Boshoff of South Africa beat Susan Mehmedbasich of El Cerrito, Calif. 2-6, 6-2, 6-2; Mona Schallau of Iowa City, Iowa def. Laura DuPont of Charlótte, N.C. 6-7, 6-3, 6-1.

Only one seeded doubles team survived in a rash of upsets. Top-seeded Francoise Durr of France and Betty Stove of The Netherlands defeated Teeguarden and DuPont 6-1, 6-4.

But second-seeded Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia and Lesley Hunt of Australia fell 7-6, 6-7, 6-4 to Schallau and Julie Anthony of Los Angeles.

In another doubles upset Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif. and Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif. defeated the third seeded team of Sue Stap of Deerfield, Ill. and Valerie Ziegenfuss of El Cajon, Calif. 6-3, 6-7, 7-6.

Did Pokes Compensate Texans?

DALLAS (AP) –A former aide to the late billionaire H.L. Hunt has hinted in federal court that the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League may have helped compensate the Dallas Texans of the old American Football league for moving to Kansas City in 1963.

John W. Curington, on trial for allegedly accepting kickbacks and premiums from customers of HLH Products, a Hunt company, testified Wednesday the Cowboys "made financial arrangements" so Lamar Hunt, son of H.L. Hunt and owner of the Texans, would move the team. The Texans became the Kansas City Chiefs.

Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys said at the NFL owners annual meeting in Honolulu:

"I remember we did purchase their practice field, there might have been some other expenses, but I would not want to comment on that until I return to Dallas and refresh my memory."

Curington touched on the incident while explaining his duties as an assistant to Hunt during the 1960s. He testified his working relationship with the elder Hunt included sharing confidences about his last will and testament, secret Swiss bank accounts and behind-the-scenes maneuvering for his son's football team.

He said he was asked to "survey the country" to find a site where Lamar Hunt could relocate the Texans since they were competing with the Cowboys for an audience.

Curington said he selected Kansas City for its geographical location, transportation facilities and potential for radio and television coverage.

After he recommended Kansas City to H.L. Hunt, Curington said "The financial arrangements were made with the Cowboys for the Texans to move to Kansas City."

Curington would not elaborate to reporters how much money was involved and exactly what the alleged arrangement represented.

"I can't talk about it now," he said. Curington's attorneys said they could not elaborate on his testimony but did confirm Curington's reference was to funds allegedly paid by the Cowboys to the Texans so the team would leave town.

Green Has Troubles

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — He talks about getting it in "Euell Gibbons country," the woods and weeds. He'll make a comment about his "Laurence of Arabia time on the wrong side of the gallery ropes."

He tries to keep it light and funny, as if it didn't matter.

But Hubert Green is a deeply frustrated young man. "I'm hitting it sideways," he said. "I'm playing terrible."

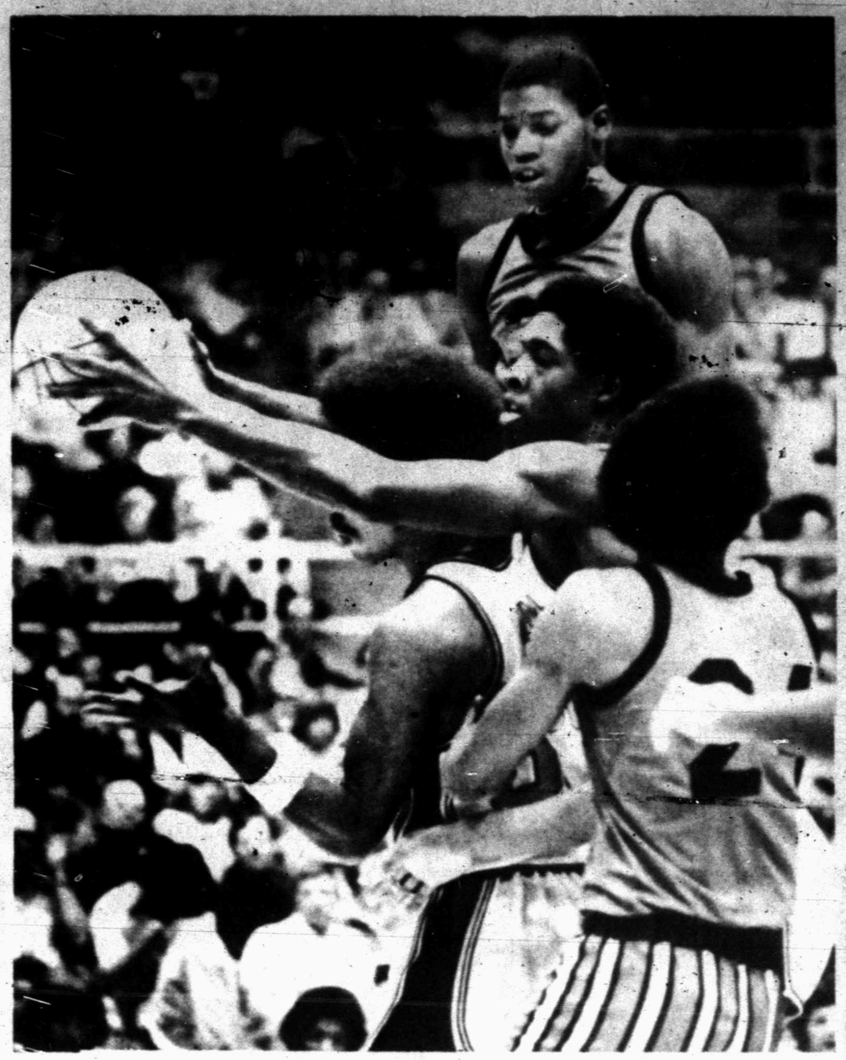

There may be just the glimpse of a light at the end of the tunnel, however. "I think I've finally figured out what's wrong," Green said before teeing off today as the defending champion in the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"Now it's a matter of working on my mistakes, correcting them, getting my game back to where it was, to where it ought to be," he said in his rapid-fire, machine gun style of speech. "At least I've got something to work on."

Green stamped himself one of the game's outstanding young players last season when he took this title and three others and collected more than $200,000. Only Johnny Miller surpassed him in tournament victories.

This season it's all gone sour. Green's had little but troubles. He finished second in the Bing Crosby, but he hasn't been higher than 32nd in any other event and has missed the cut twice.

"He wants to win every tournament he enters," said his wife Judi. "He tries so hard, just as hard as he can, in every tournament. He really wants to play well and he gets angry at himself when he doesn't. It just all builds up.

Westerners Test Ravens Tonight

By JEFF BOX

HUTCHINSON, Kan.— Western Texas College's Westerners will face the San Jacinto Ravens of Pasadena, Tex., in the mythical battle for the Texas crown tonight at 7:45 in the National Junior College Athletic Association quarterfinal bout at the Hutchinson Sports Arena.

The Western squad, now 33-1, advanced to the second round of play by defeating Housatonic Community College 91-57 Tuesday. SJC downed Anderson Junior College of South Carolina 84-79 for the right to challenge the Green quint.

The Ravens average 6-3 per man and boast a 34-2 season record. This marks the squad's best appearance in the Juco championship meet.

Pasadena's unit finished eighth last year and has the tourney's top scorer returning in 6-2 Ray Williams.

Williams tallied 88 points in four games and has his freshman brother, 5-11 Ray, playing with him. Both are guards.

"These two guys are probably the best guards we've played against," said WTC Coach Mike Mitchell.

SJC tied with Vincennes University Junior College of Indiana for scoring honors last year, hitting for 109 points in a single game.

In Tuesday night action, Anderson JC led the Texas squad 43-41 at intermission. Second half saw the Pasadena group slow up and become more precise, losing only nine turnovers compared to their 15 in the first stanza.

"They're a good team that's tough as hell," said Mitchell.

The Region 14 champs are a fast-breaking team. "Run and shoot" is Mitchell's description.

"If we're going to stop them, we've got to slow them down. Their speed and quickness as well as shooting ability is impressive."

San Jacinto connected for 57 per cent from the field and is averaging 96 points per game. They were seeded second in the final national JC poll.

Big five for the Westerners will be as usual: 6-8 Norman Barnes, 6-5 Brian Minor, both from Richmond, Va., 6-2 Ken Fowler from Austin, Texas, 6-7 Eugene Harris from Hattiesburg, Miss., and 6-5 Bob Miller of Seaford, N.Y.

"Offensively we're not going to do any changing," said the Westerner coach. "It's too late now for that."

The Green unit will use a deliberate and methodical style of attack, working the ball in for the "good shot."

"We won't try any of that tricky stuff. They don't win games. We'll stick to the basics. The team that utilizes the basic things the best will win," said Mitchell.

Defensively, the WTC quint will have its hands full stopping the high-flying Ravens. "We'll play containing defense as much as possible and stop their guards from penetrating and scoring," said Mitchell.

The Westerners worked out lightly for an hour yesterday.

"We're capable of beating them. It's going to depend on who makes and uses the breaks. At this stage of the game everyone is GOOD and you have to play better than them to win," said Mitchell.

Yesterday's tilts included Arizona Western of Yuma over Waukeska County Tech of Tewaukee, Wisconsin 97-75. The Arizona squad ranked 15th in the last NJCAA poll and is Region 1 champion. The Wisconsin team, representing Region 13, was unranked.

Faster than a speeding bullet described the tilt between Grandview College of Des Moines, Iowa, and DeKalb Community College of Decatur, Georgia.

The two squads produced one of the fastest and most exciting battles thus far as DeKalb defeated Grandview 90-88 on a basket made two seconds remaining in the last of the first round contest.

DeKalb will now face Arizona tonight at 9:30. Waukesha and Grand View face off at 3:30 today.

In the first consolation quaterfinal tilt, Lakeland College of Mattoon, Ill. defeated Sheridan JC of Wyoming 89-71 in a game without a rule book, as dozens of fouls committed by both sides went unseen by the referees.

Sheridan was eliminated from the meet while Lakeland will play tomorrow at 12 noon against the winner of the Hutchinsonn JC-Essex County College of New Jersey duel held today at noon.

In the first championship quarterfinal battle between Westchester Community College of Valhalla, N.Y. and College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls, the hot Northwesterners, playing classical basketball, gained a 69-61 upset victory over the cold New Yorkers.

In yesterday's last game, also the second championship quarterfinal battle, Vincennes UJC of Indiana fell to Utica JC of Mississippi 74-59 for the second upset of the day.

Utica will square off against Southern Idaho in a semifinal match Friday night at 7. Westchester and Vincennes will meet tonight at 6.
