Want U.S. To Take Fight For Peace Stand

Well... I Dunno, But...

Once again the weather is the topic of conversation with everybody talking about the rain. And we've never seen a more beautiful sight than that heavy down-pour Wednesday. Just couldn't drag away from the window and we were sure pulling for it to keep on comin'.

It was really rolling down the streets and we heard of one man who attempted to drive through the underpass west of town and had his car washed into the ditch and half filled with water.

And cool, my, we're sitting here right now shivering because some of the crew are so fresh air minded that they insist on keeping the doors open.

Sombody reported this morning that boats that had been tied along the shores of Lake Haganman are now about ten feet out in the lake and owners will be compelled to take a boat out to them to tug 'em in.

Nicol Crawford, president of the Lions Club, reported this morning that some of the Lions were a little discouraged about going to Alameda tonight because of the weather, but Nick says, they're going if they have to go in motor boats.

So be at the Gholson Hotel promptly at 6:30 p. m.

Sombody remarked this morning that we'd finally scared up a rain. Well, we don't take the credit for doin' just that, but if it rains, pulling and plugging had have had anything to do with it, we'd had that rain long ago.

Splendid Rains Of Past 24 Hours Very Beneficial To Peanut Crops

Now that needed rainfall, which was having a tendency to cut down the acreage being planted to peanuts in this area, has been received the prospects are that an acreage even greater than that of any former year may be planted.

Peanut planting has been going forward in this area as well as in the southwestern states, according to the Southwest office of the U.S. Department's Production and Marketing Administration report.

Planting neared completion in the southeastern states and the Virginia-Carolina area, but dry soil still delayed seeding in some Texas and Oklahoma sections. Earlier plantings came up to mostly fair to good stands, but some farmers had to replant. Seed peanuts sold lower at mostly 20 cents a pound, reated.

Shelled peanut markets held about steady, despite slow demand for peanuts and sharply lower peanut oil prices. Shelled No. 1 Spanish peanuts sold in the

2.25 Inches Of Rain Falls; Puts 3 Feet In Lake

The drenching rain which fell Wednesday afternoon and night measured 2.25 inches at 8 o'clock this morning and M. H. Alexander of the city waterworks reported that Lake Haganman has risen three feet and water was still running in this morning.

Cool weather accompanied the rain, dropping temperatures from a high of 95 the first of the week to a maximum of 72 for Wednesday.

The rain Wednesday brought May's total to 3.96 inches or 1.37 inches more than fell in May last year. In fact, the fall Wednesday lacked only .34 of an inch being as much as fell in all of the same month last year. A total of 3.17 inches has fallen this week.

Several business houses reported damage from water that overflowed the curbs and flooded stores.

ORGANIZATION DAIRY ASSN. COMPLETED

The Eastland County Dairy Association met at 8 p. m. Thursday night, in the County Courthouse, Eastland and completed the election of officers and appointed the committeemen. Great and enthusiastic interest was shown in this new organization by the 110 dairy men and interested parties present.

It was agreed that the association should meet the last Tuesday of each month at 8 p. m. in the County Courtroom of Eastland.

At present there are 52 members with a treasury of $70.00 and many prospective members in view. "We are a young and growing organization and want every individual interested in dairying in the vicinity of Eastland County to become a member of our organization at the nominal fee of $1.00."

H. J. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, challenged the Dairy Association to a free barbecue and social event to be held Monday, June 14, at 8:00 p. m., at the City Park of Eastland. The challenge was accepted without a decending vote and each member in the organization is urged to attend and bring their families. Those planning to attend this event are asked to please let one of the following men know by Thursday, June 10, either by telephone or by writing:

Nimrod and Romney—R. B. Carmichael, General Delivery, Cisco, Texas. Eastland—Jack Wadsworth, 708 S. Bassett St., Eastland, Texas. Gorman—C. D. Simmons, Box 215, Gorman, Texas.

Ranger—Ranger Agricultural Committee, Ranger, Texas. Carbon—A. G. Justice, Rt. 1 Eastland, Texas. Carbon—A. G. Justice, Rt. 1 Eastland, Texas.

If anyone is unable to contact any of these men concerning attendance at the barbecue, you may contact H. J. Tanner, of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

The primary purposes of the organization is to bring into this community improved dairying through the uses of artificial insemination and the testing of cattle for T. B. and Bangs disease together with records of milk production.

Mr. Dillingham of the Banner Creameries brought forth the fact that we in this area have great possibilities to develop a very profitable milk shed through constant interest in improved dairying. The fact that we have relatively no limit to potential market centers as far as 200 miles away by the use of modern transportation was of great interest to those present.

Arabs May Cut Conditions For Palestine Truce

LAKE SUCCESS, May 27, (UP)—The Arab nations are preparing to reduce their conditions for a truce in Palestine and perhaps give up demands for the complete surrender of the new state of Israel.

Reliable diplomatic sources say the roundabout rejection by the Arabs of the Security Council cease fire appeal indicated a willingness to compromise.

Two important facts point to compromise, these sources said—1. Some Arab diplomats now admit privately that the Jewish state is a reality.

2. Members of the Arab League are far from agreed on the policy they should follow in the military and political struggle for Palestine.

Would Repeal Oleo Tax WASHINGTON, May 27, (UP)—The Senate Finance Committee unanimously approved today a bill to repeal all federal taxes on oleomargarine.

WASHINGTON—A Senate committee wants to put the United States on record as ready to fight against any armed threat to world peace.

The foreign relations committee, headed by Senator President Arthur Vandenberg, unanimously has approved a resolution aimed at strengthening the United Nations. The resolution proposes limitations on the big-power veto in the U-N Security Council. And it recommends American encouragement of mutual defense plans.

In effect, the resolution declares that insecurity among nations anywhere is a threat to security everywhere. The committee members called for use of force against aggression.

The group urged that this nation make it clear it will undertake by individual and collective self-defense to quell any armed attack affecting its national security.

But the committee emphasized that the resolution would not of itself commit this country to shipment of arms to other nations. Nor would it call for direct American participation in foreign defense treaties that would be up to Congress to decide later on.

The committee report said this country should favor regional and other collective security pacts written within the framework of the U-N. If such treaties were based on self-help, the United States then would consider supporting them.

Vandenberg's resolution also calls for strengthening of the U-N by exerting new American pressure for establishment of the world police force and for international control of armaments against violators.

If adopted, the resolution may provide grounds for the first concrete test of the sincerity of recent Russian peace overtures. The Russian government long has opposed veto power limitations and American plans for control of arms.

U. S. Civilian Wounded By Red Fire In Korea

SEOUL, Korea, May 27, (UP)—An American civilian has been wounded slightly by machine gun bullets fired by the Russian-controlled Korean constabulary.

The shooting occurred near the Soviet-U. S. border in Korea. Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, occupation commander, predicts that "critical" days lie immediately ahead for Americans here.

The wounded man was Karl Smith, a 45 year old civilian engineer of Huntington, W. Va., who went unscathed through 30 months of the Pacific war as an army captain.

Smith was hit four times by small arms fire while he and two other members of a U. S. public works team were inspecting a dam less than 100 yards from the border of the 38th parallel. His wounds were not critical.

Republican Letter Indicates Leaders See 'Fight Ahead'

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Republican senators concerned may like this, but a GOP letter sent out in Ohio to solicit campaign contributions stressed the angle that there would be a "fight ahead" to elect a Republican majority in the Senate next November.

Thirty-two senators are to be elected. Fourteen are Democrats, 11 of them are from the Solid South. That leaves 18 Republicans needing re-election for the GOP to maintain its 51-45 Senate majority. A loss of four seats would give the Democrats control, 49-47.

The Republican fund-soliciting letter admitted "there is great doubt that the Republican senators from Oklahoma and Kentucky can be re-elected." They are oil-millionaire E. H. Moore and ex-Gov. John Sherman Cooper, respectively. Other contests the Republicans expressed concern about are for the seats now held by Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, Edward V. Robertson of Wyoming and Guy Cordon of Oregon.

OPINION of top Washington officials is divided three ways on prospects of war with Russia. Military leaders are inclined to fear the worst, for it's their business to be prepared for any emergency. In the middle are officials who fear that we may blunder into a war through some accident, but the committee has delayed its report. The Republican fund-soliciting letter admitted "there is great doubt that the Republican senators from Oklahoma and Kentucky can be re-elected."

Washington officers of the Federation of American (atomic) Scientists think they have evidence to prove that Sen. Arthur Vandenberg really wants the Republican presidential nomination. They find their evidence in Vandenberg's support for a two-year, instead of a five-year, appointment for David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. The scientists say it's because Vandenberg doesn't want to antagonize Taft. They reason that, if Taft can't get the nomination for himself, he will throw his support to Vandenberg—rather than Dewey or Stassen—provided Vandenberg doesn't oppose Taft too much on the Lilienthal issue.

NEW JERSEY Rep. J. Parnell Thomas's Un-American Activities Committee is showing signs of wanting to drop its investigation of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards. The committee originally charged Condon with being the weakest link in atomic security, but the committee has delayed its report indefinitely. Dr. Condon's request that the FBI report on his loyalty investigation be made public now robs the committee of its most potent issue.

Reporters thought they had discovered a new hideout for top administration officials and members of Congress. A United Press newsmen scooped the town by catching Secretary of State Marshall, Senators Vandenberg and Connally emerging from the Blair House late one night. Next day, Marshall admitted he had been meeting congressmen there for quite a while. "I don't describe every movement to spokesmen," said Marshall. "I still have a few confidential moments in life."

The real reason for use of the government's official guest house for distinguished visitors is that it's the only bit of U. S. property where conferees can get refreshments late at night, in case the sessions last long and the conferees feel faint.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Next to the amazing Athletics, the ignited Indians are the best story of the young baseball season. Gene Bearden, the huge southpaw and a real Indian, by the way, is pitching with an aluminum plate and screw in his knee and an aluminum plate in the back of his head.

Bearden, like plucky Lou Brissie of the A's, beat severe war wounds to pitch big league baseball. Then there is Russ Christopher with the weak heart, working as relief worker about every day. The sidearm is so thin a good breeze ought to blow him over.

Low Boudreau spends 30 minutes before each start personally taping the feet and ankles that were so badly battered in basketball. Eddie Robinson had a frightful time after a leg operation while he was in the Navy. Hal Peck shot the toes off one foot, wears a special shoe. Cleveland offers the most magnetic single attraction in baseball in Bob Feller, and one of the smoothest double-play combinations in the game in Boudreau and Joe Gordon. It presents the remarkable Negro, Larry Doby, and Pat Seerey, who swats the ball from town to town or not at all.

BOB LEMON comes closer to being an all-around player than anybody in the business. He can do a first-rate job in the infield or outfield, broke in as a pitcher when his hitting fell off.

Ken Koltner is manufacturing home runs he never hit before. Cleveland has a genuine movie actor in Johnny Berardino and bespectacled Thurman Tucker is the spittin' image of Joe E. Brown. And a wealthy vice president pitches batting practice—Hankus Pankus Greenberg.

For yarns about the old days, there are the coaches, Bill McKechnie and Muddy Ruel. Deacon Bill won four National League pennants with three clubs—the Pirates, Cardinals and Reds. Ruel caught Walter Johnson.

Climbing a metal ladder from the engine room when a second torpedo struck the ill-fated cruiser, Helena, near the Solomon Islands, in July, 1934, the six-foot three-and-a-half inch Bearden was hurled to the deck below. His knee was twisted, crushed, his head split open by flying fragments.

An officer pulled him out, and Bearden, semi-conscious, spent two days aboard a rubber life raft. He was operated on at a naval hospital near Jacksonville. One doctor worked on him for months.

The kneecap had been crushed beyond repair, the ligaments in his leg had been badly mangled, so the aluminum cap and screw were inserted. The aluminum plate was fixed in his skull.

Bearden screamed his injuries from baseball people "because they might have gotten the idea I wasn't strong enough to pitch."

The only concession the knuckler makes to the injury is that he doesn't take a full windup, doesn't raise his right leg more than a foot,

Ah, But Can He Make Him Drink?

Cellar Layout Eases Couple's Housing Problem

LIMA, N.Y. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Natalie solved the housing problem by going underground.

Faced with high construction costs, the Natalies decided to build just the basement of their future home. That was one year ago. Today, they are living on an attractive, well-designed basement which cost them less than $3,500. The home consists of a large living room with brick fireplace, bedroom, kitchen, pantry, furnace room, bath and garage. Natalie solved the labor problem by doing most of the work himself.

In five years, the Natalies expect to build the main floor. The basement will be converted into a recreation room, a bar, a laundry, and a fruit closet.

Principals Told Off

CHICAGO (UP)—Superintendent of Schools Herold C. Hunt called together his newly-appointed school principals for instructions.

Hunt told them their first lesson was "to get to work early, stay at it late and give the job your very best."

PATIENCE awoke late and flung back the bedclothes. To her horror it was half-past nine. Swiftly she bathed and dressed and went into Charlotte's room to find it empty. Imagine Charlotte up and downstairs before her! She hurried down to the restaurant to find Charlotte, Dwight and Roger having coffee and rolls and apparently discussing whether Charlotte should call her. Only Charlotte, it seemed, had demurred. Charlotte had been saying that surely it was better to let her sleep. If she'd gone to bed so late—

Charlotte looked at her now and Patience wondered why her eyes were so hostile. "Hello," Charlotte said. "Tired?" "Not very," Roger smiled at her. "I'm in disgrace, Charlotte's been lecturing me for keeping you out so late last night."

"Oh, but Charlotte, I enjoyed it!" "I'm sure you did," "Where did you go?" asked Dwight. "Well, we had a drive around the Bois first," began Patience, and then stopped short, not quite liking the way he was laughing at her. "What's wrong with that?"

"Nothing," said Dwight. "In fact, I imagine it was very pleasant." "Have a croissant," said Roger, a slight frown creasing his brows. "And I suggest we don't give them any more details about our evening. They're not telling us anything about theirs."

"You didn't ask us," said Charlotte shortly. "I didn't imagine you were interested." "I wasn't, very," "I am, Charlotte," said Patience.

Charlotte rose to her feet. "I'm off," she said. "I've an appointment at ten-thirty. And another at twelve. I'm getting dresses for the film, Dwight. Want to come with me to see them?" "Can I see you in them?" "I don't see why not."

"Sure, I'll be right along," Roger too was on his feet. "You stay and look after Patience," said Charlotte. "I'm going to. But where do we meet up?" Charlotte shrugged her shoulders. "I've no suggestions."

DWIGHT by now had already left them. He'd a couple of telephone calls to make, he said. He'd meet Charlotte in the lounge later. "Where are we lunching?" said Roger.

"I don't care," Roger looked at her. "It doesn't suit you to be so bad-tempered?" "Oh, leave me alone!" Roger sat down again and poured himself another cup of coffee. Patience watched Charlotte, her head held high, every inch of her body suggesting suppressed anger, disappearing from the restaurant. Then she looked at Roger. "What's wrong, do you think? With Charlotte, I mean?"

"I'm still wondering," "Maybe she's had a row with Dwight," "I wouldn't say that was it," Patience look at him. She said unhappily that she didn't like it. That she felt horribly uncomfortable. After all, she was Charlotte's guest. She swallowed down her coffee and got quickly to her feet. Roger laid a detaining hand on her arm.

"Where are you off to?" "I want to catch Charlotte before she goes out."

"I'd leave well enough alone. I know our Charlotte. She'll recover." "I'd rather speak to her."

SHE was gone, promising to meet him in the lounge a little later. She hurried upstairs to find Charlotte flinging things into her dressing case.

"You'd better pack too, Patience, before you go out." "Yes, of course." "Leave your suitcase all ready and it can be picked up at a lurch. I suggest we meet here at two-thirty."

"You mean you and Dwight want to lunch alone?" Charlotte raised her head from her case. "Wouldn't you and Roger like to lunch alone?" Patience felt her color rising in her cheeks.

"Oh, Charlotte, don't be silly," and then: "Would you mind if we did?" "Good heavens, no." "Well, then—Charlotte, why are you so bad-tempered? What have I done?"

Charlotte swung around on her. "I didn't expect you to come in at half-past four in the morning. I heard you creeping along the passage. I'd been lying awake worrying myself to death about you."

Patience stared at her. "Why, I was all right." Charlotte's eyes were even more hostile. "Were you?" Patience drew a quick breath. What was Charlotte getting at? "What do you mean by that exactly?" Charlotte laughed shortly. "Roger's a man of the world!"

"For a moment there was silence in the room. Charlotte closed her suitcase and locked it. "Just bear that in mind, that all," she said, "if you propose to see much more of him." She reached for her hat and put it on. She picked up her handbag and gloves. Then she left the room without another word, and Patience heard her high heels tapping down the corridor.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It's Leap Year, Girls!

First girl in our town to "get her man" on Leap Year was the Cuppers' daughter, Jane, who wed Bill Webster's boy last Saturday.

I know it's usual for older folks to shake their heads over the younger generation. (It's gone on for hundreds of years, now.)

When I asked Bill Jr. if it was true that Jane really did the proposing, Bill said: No, but she made it plain she'd make an ideal wife. Instead of looking for diversion or excitement every evening, she was content to chat beside the fire.

But from where I sit, young people of marrying age today are every bit as commendable as their elders were—in their temperance (a glass of beer for instance), tolerance, and common sense. So to Jane and Bill—the best of luck!

"I could plainly see," says Bill, "that we'd really have a happy home life—which is just exactly what I want from marriage."

"Willin' Willie" Sells Used Cars By Making Plenty Of Fun Of Them

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Negative advertising which goes Hollywood's screwy method of selling used automobiles one better has paid off for "Willin' Willie," a used car dealer here.

Willie, otherwise known as Bill Bridge, has doubled his Canal Street car lot business by not merely low-rating his products, but by positively running them into the ground.

For instance, the following newspaper ads of Willie's: "Willie wants you to come out and get some of these—should I say 'cars'—off my lot."

Or, "Lazy Lena, a '41 Ford that won't run or even walk. About $25 down."

And another: "Houdini special, a '39 Ford. Pistons can change cylinders without missing a strike, $495."

Willie, a rangy, energetic looking man who has been selling used cars here for 20 years, said he got tired of the "usual puffed up praises you see about used cars."

"However," he said, "I guess I'll have to change my style of advertising."

Electronic Tracks Recorded By New Photo Process

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—The tracks of electrons small negatively-charged atom particles, have been recorded successfully in the research laboratories of the Eastman Kodak Co.

A new photographic emulsion was used in the experiment, the company announced, indicating that it was the first definite identification of electron tracks.

Tracks were first reported from the University of Montreal in 1946. But the Kodak tracks, obtained at Harrow, England, and later in Rochester, are long enough to remove all doubt as to their identity.

The number of developed silver grains per track in the emulsion ranges from six to 28. Length of the path is about two-thousandths of an inch—two-thirds of the thickness of an average sheet of paper.

Termed a valuable tool for studies of atomic disintegration, the new emulsion is expected to prove useful in research on cosmic rays and in medical research involving radio-active isotopes.

In autoradiography, where radio-active tissue is placed in close contact with a photographic material, the new emulsion will enable scientists to detect with extreme precision the source of electrons in the tissue.

In the Kodak experiments, X-rays are directed toward the emulsion through a sheet of lead. Passing through the lead filter, the X-rays knock loose secondary photo electrons.

When one of the flying electrons speeds into the emulsion, it strikes and affects silver grains electrically. A dotted line of the affected silver grains is produced. That is the path of the electron through the emulsion.

From the length and curvature of the track, and the grain-spacing along it, information is obtained of the electron's speed and other characteristics.

Jewish Convoy Thrown Back With Big Loss

TEL AVIV, May 27 (UP)—A major Jewish convoy attempting to break through the Arab blockade to besieged Jerusalem has been thrown back with heavy losses but is reforming for a second try.

Arab reports say 15-hundred Jewish troops attacked Latroun, on the road to Jerusalem, to divert attention while a powerful convoy attempted to drive through the Bab El Wad sector 12 miles west of Jerusalem.

Arab reports say eight hundred of the attacking Jews were killed and large numbers captured by Arab Legion troops shuttling from Jerusalem to Latroun, the Arab reports said.

The battered trucks of the convoy were reported reforming in the hills around Hulda, five miles southwest of Latroun.

WASHINGTON, May 27 (UP) Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., insists that the House will act on the draft bill despite the efforts of foes to keep it bottled up in committee.

"The bill will come out on the house floor all right," he said. "I still hope we can get to it sometime next week."

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—New interest in raising and breeding fine horses is keeping horsebreeders busier than ever these days, says Ralph Blakely, who has been in the business 25 years.

the southwest circuit. Others are scheduled at Fayetteville, Houston, Shreveport, Little Rock and Memphis.

Because show horses are judged, among other things, on the appearance of their hooves, farriers make the horse circuit prior to the opening of the various shows.

New shoes are required about once a year for showhorses, but have to be reset about every five weeks because the hooves grow so rapidly.

Janelle Keeps On Smilin' Through

FALLS CITY, Neb. (UP)—Janelle Peck is a girl who can smile in the face of misfortune. The seven year old form youngster always is cheerful despite the fact she has suffered 39 breaks in her legs.

Currently, she is resting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glean Peck and catching up on her homework after missing considerable schooling because of her most recent fracture.

Janelle has a smile for everyone. She thinks that each break will be her last.

Three years ago the girl's condition was at its worst and the slightest quick move was likely to result in a fracture.

Until three years ago, all the breaks occurred in the right leg. Since then all breaks have been in the left leg. The latest one occurred simply because she overreached while sitting in her wheel chair at District 30 school, which she attends.

The school is only a few rods from her parent's house. Her father carries her to and from school daily.

She has one wheel chair for use around home and another is kept at the school house.

Janelle has braces on both legs all the time.

Physicians say she has an imperfect bone condition caused by a glandular deficiency.
