Tariff and Prohibition Loom As Chief Campaign Issues

ROOSEVELT AND HOOVER MAKE PROGRESS CORRALING VOTES IN CONTESTS WITHIN TWO PARTIES

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Old man tariff and the comparative youngster—prohibition—are strutting forward in presidential politics as Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Hoover corral most of the nominating delegates to the Chicago conventions.

Developments of the last week brought out these twin trouble-makers, while Alfred E. Smith furnished a week-end high spot with a statement denying he would withdraw his name from the Democratic convention and resenting that he would support Governor Roosevelt in return for a cabinet appointment.

Simultaneously, the Democrats lost their national committee treasurer, James W. Gerard, who resigned after handling the party's finances for eight years because he said the job required more time than he could give to it. Chairman Raskob will appoint a successor to conduct the party's "victory" fund drive.

Tariff Campaign Issue

Republican leaders long ago accepted the Democratic challenge to lock horns on the Hawley-Smoot tariff act in the coming campaign. The senate's passage Friday of the Democratic measure to revoke the president's power to make flexible rate changes broadened the issue.

The Democrats are ready to make capital out of the certain Hoover veto of this bill because, among other things, its international conference feature looks to rate revision downward and they have berated the 1930 Republican tariff act as unconscionably high and as the

SECRETARY OF TREASURY GIVES HIS ENDORSEMENT

Charges "Serious Defects And Discriminations" In Tax Measure

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—A bipartisan drive to push the billion dollar revenue raising bill through the senate was mobilized today as Secretary Mills gave qualified endorsement to the measure approved by the house.

The treasury head spoke of some "serious defects and discriminations" in the legislation but gave it endorsement as a victory for sound financial principles.

Senate leaders added their pledge to balance the government's income and outgo by next year, but the dispute on what is necessary to bring this about developed further today.

Mr. Mills challenged sharply contentions of the Democratic house leadership that a $200,000,000 saving in government expenditures next year can be made by congress—this saving is counted on by the house to balance the budget with the aid of the revenue bill.

Senate Republican leaders did

JAPAN THROWS FULL STRENGTH INTO BATTLE

HARBIN, Manchuria, April 2. (US)—Their Chinese allies falling in defeat and desertion, the full strength of Japan's occupation troops was today thrown into battle against Henry Pu-Yi's rebellious subjects.

On two fronts the Japanese strove desperately to fight back the increasing froces of Chinese irregulars bent on overthrowing the newly-established state of Manchoukou and returning it to China.

Thirty-five miles north of Changchun where Pu-Yi's palace is located several thousand Japanese infantrymen waged a desperate battle with Chinese forces around Nungan.

Japanese sources claimed Nungan had fallen and was occupied by Tokio's troops, but Chinese quarters declared the battle still raging with the defenders bearing the brunt of a terrific attack from the air, but holding their own.

Major General Hasebe, leader of the march on Harbin, directed a Japanese brigade striving to retake Fancheng from 2,000 rebels who two days ago swept out a garrison of Japan's Chinese allies.

LOVE SEEKS TO CANCEL PLEDGE TEXAS PRIMARY

Petitions Court for Writ Of Mandamus To Permit Vote

SAYS STATE COMMITTEE CANNOT BAR 'BOLTERS'

Former State Senator Opposes Pledge Requiring Support Nominees

DALLAS, Texas, April 2. (AP)—Former State Senator Thomas B. Love today petitioned the Dallas county district court to issue a writ of mandamus ordering all county and precinct Democratic officials to admit him and all other qualified Democratic voters to precinct preliminaries without pledging themselves to support Democratic nominees in the general elections, as the state Democratic executive committee recently voted to require.

In a petition Love asserted that the state executive committee had no authority under the state election laws to require such a pledge. He claimed article 3167 of the Texas statutes gives him, and all other qualified voters of each voting precinct, the undoubted right to participate in such precinct primaries without being required, as a condition of such participation, to take any pledge or test whatsoever.

Charges Pledge Unlawful

He contended that the legislature had prescribed a uniform primary test for primary election and that it had refused to provide for any such test as that designated by the state executive committee. He said the committee had taken an unlawful step in requiring the pledge. Such a pledge, he declared, bound

NOTE WARNING 'DRY' LEADERS

Sent to Key-Workers As Move in Campaign

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—The national prohibition board of strategy is sending to key-workers throughout the country a circular saying: "If party leaders refuse to heed the known wishes of those they represent, the only future recourse is to select other leaders."

Eight thousand copies have been printed. It is going to anti-saloon league and W. C. T. U. leaders in every state. They are asked to put it into the hands of convention delegates, and to supply names of other key-citizens to receive it.

Edwin C. Dinwiddie, executive secretary of the board recently said drys throughout the country would refuse to vote for wet candidates or platforms in 1932. There has been increasing talk of third party movement by the drys in event both parties adopt moist planks.

The board of strategy's circular directly admonishes Republican and Democratic leaders, urges drys to work for friendly convention delegates, and emphasizes the effect which a hostile president might have on prohibition.

Veteran Actor Famous For Characterization 'Rip Van Winkle' Dies

FAMOUS NEGRO BULLDOGGER DIES

PONCA CITY, Okla., April 2. (INS)—A 72-year-old negro cowboy who in his prime performed the art of bulldogging before four European queens during a showing of the 101 Ranch circus in London, died here today from injuries received while rounding up horses last week.

The cowboy, George Pickett, attracted the attention of the late Col. Joe Miller, one of the founders of the 101 ranch, by his unusual skill in pinning a steer in Texas 30 years ago.

In 1908 Pickett accepted a challenge in Mexico to bulldog any steer turned into an arena for bullfighting. He threw several animals in rapid succession.

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (US)—Thomas Jefferson, 75, veteran stage and screen acton, noted for his characterization of Rip Van Winkle, a role which his father, Joseph Jefferson made famous, died today after a lengthy illness.

So well did the Jeffersons—both father and son—characterize the leading figure of Washington Irving's "Sleepy Hollow," that after the elder Jefferson's death, a stained glass window, portraying him in his favorite role, was placed in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York.

Under his father's tutelage, Thomas Jefferson too studied the role, and at times when his father was unable to appear, the son played the part and none in the audience was the wiser.

Thomas Jefferson was also well known for his characterization of "Lightnin'," in the play of that name. After the death of Frank Bacon, who originally starred in that play, Mr. Jefferson was given the part which he played on several tours of the United States.

A veteran, too, of the early film days, Thomas Jefferson appeared in B. A. Rolph photo plays production of Rip Van Winkle in 1914.

With his wife, Mrs. Daisy Jefferson, who survives him, the actor came to Hollywood eight years ago to establish his home. For the past year or so, he had been troubled with a bronchial ailment. A week ago, his illness became acute and culminated in his death this afternoon. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon.

EXILED KAISER CHECKS MOVE TO RESTORE HOHENZOLLERN DYNASTY TO GERMAN THRONE

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 2. (INS)—A recent attempt to restore the Hohenzollern dynasty to power in Germany was prevented by no less a personage than the exiled former Kaiser Wilhelm II himself, it was revealed to International News Service today by an unimpeachable authority.

Influential monarchists and nationalists, seeing futility in the uniting of the Hugenberg and Duesterberg forces behind Adolf Hitler as the nationalists candidate for the presidency, advanced the candidacy of the former crown prince.

This was done with the explicit understanding that, if elected the crown prince would be a regent-president awaiting the opportune moment to effect the kaiser's return.

Hitler agreed in writing to withdraw from the presidential race in favor of the crown prince, while President Paul von Hindenburg, who now will be re-elected, was reported to have expressed his sentiments by saying, "as a former field marshal under the kaiser I would not and could not oppose the Hohenzollern family."

This would have left the field clear for a Hohenzollern regime.

The kaiser wired his reply at 6 p. m. Thursday, just six hours before the deadline for filing the presidential nomination petitions. Dated Doorn castle, Doorn, Holland, it read:

"An innate regard for my people and my country prevents my consent at this time."

The crown prince immediately withdrew.

WENTZ' NAME REMOVED FROM OFFICE DOOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 2. (AP)—The furniture and personal effects of Lew Wentz, oil man, were hauled from his private office at the state house under Gov. William H. Murray's orders today, while events shaped themselves toward an early test of Murray's executive ouster of the Republican highway commissioner.

The letters, "Mr. Wentz," were rubbed from the office door and instead the name of Miss Maude Thomas of Beaver, appointed yesterday by the governor to succeed Wentz, was painted there.

"His property was moved out of the office," said Murray. "Miss Thomas took possession and she has the key to the door. It was done under my direction and the furniture was placed at one side subject to Wentz' order."

Wentz, meantime, said he was prepared to go to court to maintain his right to the commission post.

"I do not intend to capitulate to the governor and will not surrender my rights," said Wentz at Tulsa. "If necessary I will go to court to maintain them."

Some observers expected a climax in the controversy might come Tuesday, in case Wentz attempted to participate in the weekly highway commission meeting.

Two States and Mexican Authorities Search for Three Bandits

Governor of New Mexico Says Murder Creates Delicate Situation

EL PASO, Texas, April 2. (AP)—An intensive man hunt, directed at the bandits who killed seven members of the Melquiadez Espinosa family, was under way tonight with two states and Mexican authorities cooperating.

Astounding Story of Capone and His Gangsters as Told by Man Who Made Them Surrender Made Public

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—An astounding story of the power of Al Capone and his Chicago gangsters told in the words of the man who finally made them surrender before the strong arm of the federal government was made public today by a senate committee.

It was the inside story of the government's long battle against Capone and his gang as told by District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, at Chicago, to the senate judiciary sub-committee considering the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson to the circuit court.

Wilkerson sentenced Capone to 11 years in the penitentiary after overturning an agreement by Johnson to recommend 2½ years if Capone would plead guilty. In his testimony at an executive session of the committee Tuesday Johnson revealed what he said were the true circumstances of that agreement for the first time.

He said Judge Wilkerson approved the agreement but later overturned it after Capone himself had shown his "unbelievable arrogance" by making the terms of the agreement public.

Johnson testified he was "em-

Espinosa family today to pay their last respects to the slain mother and her six children, who were shot down when the father said he was unable to raise the $5,000 cash demanded by the three bandits. The funeral was held late today.

Mrs. Filomena Espinosa, 45; Louis, 30; Hipolito, 26; Andres, 23; Juanita, 12; Felicitas, 9, and Vincente, 18, were shot down.

The children's grandmother, 82-year-old Juanita Espinosa, sat on a bed nearby, a brown cigaret dangled from her dried lips. She saw nothing of the slaughter. She is blind. Her life was spared by the bandits.

But to visitors she related how Vicente begged the bandits to kill him and end his suffering after they had wounded him.

Explains His Escape

Espinosa explained how he escaped death.

"We had just finished our evening meal and were talking happily when I heard an automobile enter our yard," he said.

"One of the men said they were officers hunting for stolen cattle. He said he wanted to see the papers on my herd. I went into another room and got the papers from a trunk. The man who seemed to be the ring leader said they were all right but that they wanted $5,000 in cash.

"When I told him I did not have the money, they called me names and pulled guns from their pockets. Then they whispered something to each other and started shooting.

"The men took me into another room and ordered me to lie on the floor. One of the men then shot at me. The bullet hit my cheek. Blood spurted high and ran on the floor. I acted like I was dead.

"Then the men left me. I then heard a lot of noise in the other rooms and five shots.

"In a few minutes the automobile started.

"I looked at all the bodies. I grew faint and fell against the wall. Then I grabbed my rifle and ran to a neighbor's house.

"I told him what had happened and he called the sheriff's office. Then he went with me to my house.

"It all seems like a dream. I cannot realize my family is gone."

LOVE ASKS COURT TO CANCEL PLEDGE

voters to support Democratic nominees, regardless of what their position may be upon any moral or other public question.

Love stated that he had been a Democrat all of his life and had voted for George Butte for governor against Mrs. Ferguson in 1924 and for the Hoover electors against Al Smith in 1928. He added that he had contributed substantially to the Democratic national campaign fund in every presidential campaign for more than 40 years, except that of 1928.

The state executive committee, in meeting March 7, decided to require the pledge of support for its nominees. The intent was to prevent a party split such as occurred in the Hoover-Smith campaign of 1928.

Murrell L. Buckner and C. O. Bagby, Democratic officials of the Dallas county executive committee, were named specifically as defendants in the petition. But it was drawn to include as defendants "all of the members of the county executive committees of all the counties of Texas and all other officers of the Democratic primary conventions in all counties of the state."

MOBILIZE TO PUSH NEW TAX MEASURE

agree today, however, with Speaker Garner that a determined drive can put through the fiscal program in time to permit final adjournment of congress before the June political conventions.

A triple attack gets going next week in the senate to wipe out the gaping treasury deficit. It is directed at enactment of the revenue raising bill, a slash in appropriations and government reorganization.

The tax bill gets first call. Returning from the White House today Chairman Smoot of the finance committee declared for hearings on the bill beginning probably next Wednesday.

He agreed with Mr. Mills that the 1933 budget will not quite be balanced on the basis of the revenue measure passed yesterday by the house but he had no suggestion for next taxes.

PLAGUED BY HIGH TAXES AND ANNOYED BY POOR PLUMBING MANY BRITONS CLOSE ESTATES

By ALVIN HALLMAN

LONDON, April 2. (AP)—Plagued by duties and high taxation, and secretly annoyed at lack of bathrooms, modern plumbing and central heating, many of the British aristocracy are closing or selling their castles and ancestral homes.

The hot water bottle which used to go to bed regularly with the English gentry, both young and old, is giving way now to that American central heating.

The charm of sleeping in a room where a bonnie Stuart prince once had measles and whooping cough wears off after several nights; there are too many drafts in the building for a furnace to make it comfortable.

Some of England's newly rich, and and occasional American Anglophile, are willing to make a stab at renovating the ancient houses, and the aristocracy, hard put to pay the taxes anyway, are letting them try, and thinking it good riddance.

Astor Home Closed

Her home, the Wharf, Sutton courtney, Berkshire, one of the most famous houses in political and social history of recent times, is for sale. Hard times have had a great deal to do with her decision, although she has made as much as 45,000 pounds ($225,000) in the last 10 years by writing and lecturing.

The earl of Moray has sold Kinfauns castle, in Perthshire, one of Scotland's biggest and most historic estates. It was Kinfauns castle's ancient right that every passing ship in the river Tay had to offer salute, and that every angler had to pay tribute of one salmon a year.

The earl and countess of Lytton are giving up Kenbworth house in Hertfordshire, resident of the Lytton family for hundreds of years, and are going to live in a small manor house near by. "It costs too much to keep it going," the earl explained.

Viscount Astor, husband of the American born Lady Astor, has closed Cliveden, Taplow, Buckinghamshire, estate where several American war dead are buried, because of heavy taxation drains on his income. Lady Louis Mountbatten has closed beautiful Brook house, on Park lane, London; she was unable to keep it open because of increased taxation.

TEN SENTENCED TO FEDERAL PRISONS

was meted out to R. H. Lyons, a term of 13 months in Leavenworth for burglary and larceny of the Iowa Park postoffice last month.

Two men were sentenced for violating the Harrison antinarcotic laws. R. L. Mitchell was given a year and a day in prison and Aubrey Smith escaped with a 60-day jail term.

O'Dell Chambless, convicted in two different cases, each of which charged second offense, was given 45 days in jail in each case, the two sentences to run concurrently. He told Judge Atwell that he was only 20 years old and that he would violate the law again if it were necessary in order to provide food for his mother and brothers and sisters. He related that after serving a jail term for his first offense he had found employment at $7 per week and that after two months he was layed off.

"I do not ask for leniency," he told the court. "But I did not have the advantages of school and I am trying to send my younger brothers and sisters there."

His brother, T. P. Chambless, 21, was given a year and a day in Leavenworth for third offense on possession and transportation. Judge Atwell first sentenced him to the industrial training school at Chillicothe, Ohio, but the youth said he preferred Leavenworth.

Mattie Jackson, negro woman, was given a year and a day in the Shelby county penal farm at Memphis, Tenn., on a charge of fourth offense for possession.

Guy Norris and Sylvester Schenk each received a year and a day for possession and transportation.

Ed Staley was sentenced to a year and a day for passing counterfeit coins.

This concluded the criminal docket for the term. Trial of civil law cases will be taken up again Monday.

During the afternoon session of court Saturday Judge Atwell issued final naturalization papers to two new citizens of the United States, who took the oath of allegiance in open court. They are Miss Esther Jane Tyers from England, who came to this country in 1914, and Aaron Kriss, who emigrated to America from Poland in 1912.

IOWA PARK ENJOYS PROGRAM GIVEN BY PUPILS AT CLARA

The program given on a platform erected at the end of Cash street, was in charge of Mrs. L. C. Good, president of the Clara P.-T. A., who made the opening address. The response was given by Troy Hagar, president of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce.

Pupils of the school entertained with a group of drills, songs, folk dances and numbers by the high school Choral club. The Enloe sisters sang "Somebody Loves You" to close the program. H. V. Williams, principal of the school, made a brief talk.

ROOSEVELT CORRALS DEMOCRATIC VOTES

The Republicans will argue that the Democrats, once they gained control of the house where tariff legislation must originate, dared not propose a single rate reduction, that the flexible provisions are working smoothly to correct changing conditions, and that the Democrats continue to vote for higher levies on products of their own states, but turn against general revision bills as a whole.

Iowa and Maine

During the week, two more Democratic state conventions—Iowa and Maine—adopted prohibition resubmission planks to augment the modification forces at the national convention June 27. Washington and Minnesota already had approved referendum resolutions, while Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Arkansas Democrats ignored prohibition in their platforms. The drys defeated a proposed wet plank in Missouri.

Although several anti-prohibition delegates may go to the Republican convention, no Republican state convention to date has taken the wet side. The question was ignored in Iowa, New Mexico, Kansas, Louisiana and Georgia, while the main convention opposed repeal or modification.

Former Governor Smith's telegram to Wisconsin and Minnesota Democrats today saying he would not withdraw his name drew no comment here, but the general impression was that the "happy warrior" of 1928 brown derby fame was now another step ahead of being a receptive candidate.

After Massachusetts

Smith has yet to gain a single delegate and 196 have been selected—but word came today that his cohorts in Massachusetts would open a determined offensive next week for the Bay state's 36 votes in the April 26 primary. Roosevelt's supporters have been the attackers there so far.

Next week and during the remainder of April, 404 more Democratic delegates will be chosen to bring the total to 602 or more than half the convention total of 1,154. Two-thirds, or 770, are required to nominate.

The Republicans will name 577 which, added to the 142 selected to date, will jump their total to 719, or nearly two-thirds of their convention total of 1,154.

Republican leaders believe Mr. Hoover will have enough pledged delegates by the end of the month to cinch another nomination for him. He has 131 of the 142 favoring him now and only 578, a majority, are sufficient to nominate. The other 11 are not committed to any candidate.

Roosevelt Total 123

Roosevelt picked up 38 delegates last week in Iowa and Maine to run his total to 123, counting Georgia's 28 to be selected next Wednesday.

Former Senator Reed of Missouri is next with 36 and Governor Murray of Oklahoma third with 23. Forty-four delegates are unpledged, including Louisiana 20, Arkansas 18 and the Philippines 6.

PINCHOT POURS IT ON ADMINISTRATION CRITICISES MELLON

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 2. (US)—Accusing the Hoover administration of "doing nothing" at a time when millions of American citizens were "in dire need," Gifford Pinchot, Republican governor of Pennsylvania, today assailed what he termed "government by concentrated wealth" in a speech at the city club.

Governor Pinchot criticized the taxation policies of Andrew Mellon, asserting that Mellon did more for the "over-rich" during the almost 12 years he was secretary of the treasury than "any secretary since Alexander Hamilton."

Pinchot lashed the administration in satirical terms because of its handling of the business crisis, and said:

"When big bankers and Wall street wizards were called into conference on the depression at the White House, the people were hushed into solemn awe at the announcement that the great minds of the nation were grappling impartially with the nation's problems. They were told that the great minds would put an end to all their troubles, and they swallowed it."

Henrietta Votes

HENRIETTA, Texas, April 2.—F. F. Green, Carl Olsen, Mrs. E. C. Carter, and M. Alcorn are new members of the board of education in Henrietta. Other candidates were J. L. Gentry, R. N. Gant, C. E. McKinney, M. M. Alexander, Troy Douthitt, and Percy Neville. Three of the four chosen Saturday were re-elected. Mr. Alcorn succeeds V. LeFevre as a member of the board.

Mrs. J. E. Wolfe of Linville defeated Lee Bryan in the race for membership on the Clay county school board.

Electra Trustees

ELECTRA, Texas, April 2.—W. G. Morrison, T. E. Shaw, and R. R. Ramey were elected members of the Electra board of education at the election held here Saturday. A. T. McDannald and O. M. Stidham and John Houser were the retiring members of the board and were not candidates for re-election. There were 279 votes cast in the election.

In the election for county school trustee, B. M. Dinsmore, superintendent of the Electra schools, was re-elected county school trustee. There were 165 votes cast for Mr. Dinsmore. Edward Schlaffke and E. E. Rogers, who were not candidates, received one vote each.

Iowa Park Re-Elects

IOWA PARK, Texas, April 2.—W. A. Litchfield, Marshall Clark, Marshall Clark, Curtis Hill and Scott Ralston, were re-elected members of the Iowa Park school board at the election held here Saturday. W. H. Bagbey and Troy Hagar were the other candidates. There were 146 votes cast in the election. Holdover members of the board are J. C. Murphree, Harvey Cagle, and R. C. Acuff.

Besides Georgia's 28, the Democrats next week will name 86 delegates in New York and 26 in Wisconsin. Only one direct contest between Smith and Roosevelt is in prospect in Tuesday's New York primary. The remainder of the delegate candidates is uncommitted. In Wisconsin the contest will be between a Roosevelt slate and one uncommitted but favoring Smith.

The Republicans next week name 19 in Connecticut, 86 in New York, 27 in Wisconsin and two in Virginia to complete the latter state's delegation of 25.

Fight of Automobile Industry to Open Pocketbooks of United States Marked by Reduction Prices Cars

DETROIT, April 2. (UP)—The automotive industry's fight to open the pocketbooks of the nation and the coincidental fight for the low priced car market, was marked today by price reduction announcements by two companies and a great national exhibit by General Motors.

Pontiac dropped in line on the price reductions started by the Ford Motor company, and announced a new range from $635 to $795. The Hupmobile six cylinder standard models were reduced to prices ranging from $795 to $950. Chevrolet already had announced reductions ranging up to $55.

The new Plymouth, a Chrysler in the low price field, also went on product, and a formidable factor display throughout the country. The price, to be announced tomorrow, is expected to be in line with Ford and Chevrolet.

Pontiac Reduction

The price reduction on Pontiac, ranging up to $50, and the earlier announced reduction in the Chevrolet range, added interest to exhibits of General Motors products. All the corporation's latest models were on display, while in competitors' showrooms the Ford V-8 and the improved four cylinder model, and the new Plymouth were vieing for attention.

Whether the automotive industry can swing into top production, give employment to thousands, and stop the fight against the depression, will depend upon the manner in which the buying public receives the new offerings.

New Models Improved

The new models generally are proclaimed the finest ever offered in engineering skill, body design and performance. Refinements and improvements which ordinarily would have been made in the next five years have been added in an effort to influence potential buyers into purchasing now.

The Ford company has announced it will spend millions for labor and materials if expected sales develop. Nearly 100,000 men will be put to work in the River Rouge plants. Thousands more will be given employment in assembly plants scattered over the country. Nearly 5,000 individual companies sell to Ford when he is manufacturing and thousands more will be employed in this way.

The same is true of the other big plants and manufacturers believe that should they all be able to swing into line with top production, a great step will have been taken toward restoring prosperity.

barrassed" when the agreement was rejected but had begun to believe himself that it was a "mistake" and felt Wilkerson had "not done anything judicially improper."

Amazing Power

The most amazing part of Johnson's testimony was his description of the power of gangland, the intimidation of witnesses, and the forces the government had to overcome in administering justice against the powerful racketeers.

Witnesses called to testify against gangsters had a "stock phrase," he said, which was: "If you want to send me to prison, all right, but I will not talk, because you know I will be taken for a ride."

"That is true," Johnson commented, as he told of a man who "gave evidence which was very helpful to the government," about the "Juliano mob" which was credited with many murders.

"Just before Christmas, 1929," Johnson said, "I took him before the grand jury and talked to him about 11 o'clock. We were getting ready to return an indictment but that night he was murdered before 9 o'clock. I have had many experiences of that kind."

The district attorney told of a conspiracy case against 21 men in which six of them were murdered before the case went to trial and eight of their associates, including some witnesses, were killed.

Turning to the Capone case, Johnson described how the government finally had gotten him by first working on his associates and putting them in jail.

Gloria Sure It's Going to Be Boy Event Next Week

By MARY HACKER

(Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

LONDON, April 2.—"I am sure it's going to be a boy."

Gloria Swanson, Hollywood star, thus revealed today that she and Michael Farmer, her latest husband, expect a son and heir next week.

Beyond that Miss Swanson would not talk of the interesting event when she received me today in her Mayfair home.

She did say, however, that she had hoped to knit some things for the little newcomer, but that illness prevented. A most luxurious layette has been purchased from Bond street shops.

Gloria is confined to her bed by bronchitis which, although not regarded as serious, is sufficiently delicate to require careful medical attention.

Farmer, sturdy youthful-appearing Irish sportsman does not care whether the baby is a boy or a girl, he says, but Gloria confided secretly that he would be delighted to be presented with a son.

The movie actress was divorced last summer from her third husband, the Marquis Henri de La Falaise, who later married Constance Bennett of the American film colony. Miss Swanson's first husband was Wallace Beery. She has a daughter, Gloria Somborn, from her second marriage, and an adopted son, Joseph.

VISITORS' DAY APRIL 13 WILL FEATURE SHOWS

Paul Christiansen's Famous Dance Orchestra, Night Club to Perform

AUDITORIUM FREE SHOW WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Junior C-C Hop at Wichita Club Scheduled for Night Feature

For once "13" will be a lucky number for residents of Wichita Falls and the Wichita Falls trade area.

Wednesday, April 13, Paul Christiansen's famous dance orchestra and his equally famous "Night Club of the Air" will offer performances in Wichita Falls.

April 13 has been officially designated as "Wichita Falls Visitors' Day," and Wednesday afternoon the Christiansen performers will offer entertainment to Wichitans and visitors at the Memorial auditorium. The attending public will be the guests of the retail merchants division of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce at the afternoon show. Tickets will be issued by merchants with each purchase of $1 or more of merchandise during the "visitors' day." The merchants' division cooperated with the operators of radio station WKY, Oklahoma City.

At night the orchestra will play at a dance sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce at the Wichita club.

Coming here direct from a month's engagement at the Venetian roof of the Skirvin hotel, this orchestra has to its record a long string of enviable stage, radio, phonograph recording and moving picture successes. Recording exclusively for the Brunswick Phonograph company, the orchestra has also made several moving picture short features. In radio it became famous when it was awarded the Radio Digest's plaque as radio's most popular dance orchestra in 1929. Later, it came to WKY, Oklahoma City, and completed the second longest radio orchestra contract in the history of radio. In its hotel engagements it has followed such bands as Paul Whiteman's and Waring's Pennsylvanians. Included in the "Night Club of the Air" program will be a floor show of six acts including the Leftholtz sisters, RKO harmony trio; Kathleen Eslick, acrobatic dancer, and Mary Travis, rhumba artist. The show will provide three hours of dancing and highest type night club entertainment.

Committees in charge of the "visitors' day", as appointed by Jack Barnard, chairman of the merchants' division, are as follows: Publicity, Rhea Howard and Darrold Kahn; tickets, John W. Thomas and W. S. Abbott; dance arrangements, T. J. Waggoner Jr. and Don T. Haynes; hotel accommodation, Clark Cate; and auditorium and club arrangements, J. H. Allison.

QUARANTINE 30 CASES IN CITY

Births Far Exceed Deaths For Past Month

Thirty cases of contagious disease were quarantined during March by Dr. R. B. Wolford, city physician, as follows: Mumps, nine cases; chicken pox, eight; diphtheria, four; scarlet fever, three; whooping cough, three; and smallpox, three.

During the month there were 62 births and 41 deaths reported to the city health department.

State Patrolmen Have Busy Night At Burkburnett

Five complaints were filed in justice court and more than 100 motorists were forced to correct their automobile lights by John Lowry and R. L. Wood, state highway patrolmen, who spent the evening on roads near Burkburnett Friday.

Three of the complaints charged drunkenness and the other two were for operating an automobile with no muffler and failure to place a red reflector on the back end of a big truck.

None of the faulty headlight or taillight cases resulted in complaints but in each case the motorist was warned and forced to stop at a nearby filling station and put in bulbs.

Collect $40,000 In Current City Taxes in March

More than $40,000 in city current taxes was collected during March, according to approximate figures issued Saturday by W. Ralph Hyer, city tax assessor and collector.

Midnight of March 31 was the deadline for paying current city taxes without interest or penalty, as this marked the end of the two months of grace granted by the city council for the payment of the first half of the year's assessment.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE CONCEALING STOLEN CAR

HOUSTON, April 2. (AP)—Tom C. Nye of Corpus Christi was acquitted today by a jury of a charge of receiving and concealing a stolen automobile.

Chief of Police Warns Motorists Against Traffic Law Violations As Enforcement Strings Tighten

If you possess a desire to stay away from the traffic department of the Wichita Falls police force and if you desire to escape traffic court fines, pay the strictest attention to the "marked-with-orange" safety zones, right-hand turns on "stop" lights, prohibited parking spots and two-hour parking spaces.

For Dick Morris, police chief, plans to enforce city traffic ordinances to the letter. In fact, Chief Morris indicated Saturday afternoon that there will be no leniency to a traffic law violator and that all traffic and police officers have been instructed to "carry out the law in every detail."

However, courtesy will continue to be shown to the out-of-town visitors, and the department will continue to issue courtesy cards to such visitors.

Concerning the right turn on a red light, Chief Morris indicated that such a turn probably will be prohibited within the next few weeks. A right turn on a red light is only permitted after the motorist brings the automobile to a complete stop, thereby warning pedestrians of the forthcoming movement. It was first permitted in an effort to speed up traffic without giving leeway for accidents. However, motorists have persisted in "taking advantage" of the traffic officers and continue to take a right turn without halting the car. Incidentally, right turns on "go" lights have been executed too rapidly in the past, Chief Morris declared, and on many occasions pedestrians have barely escaped being run down.

Two-Hour Parking

Concerning the two-hour parking, parked machines are marked by traffic officers of the listed areas at 9 and 11 o'clock each morning and at 2 and 4 o'clock each afternoon. The restricted zones are patrolled between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. Consequently, a car parked at 8 a. m. will not be tagged until 11 a. m., allowing a three-hour parking. The car parked at 11 a. m. may remain until 2 o'clock without receiving a tag, but cars parked at 2 p. m. will be tagged two hours after being parked.

For the present the safety zones, the space at the right of the street just before the crossing traffic lanes are reached, will be marked with orange-colored paint as a distinct warning. The actual safety zone will be outlined in white. Where fire hydrants are on the opposite corner from the safety zone, orange colors will also be employed.

Where cars may be parked at 45-degree angles, the safety zone is 24 feet in length, while it is 20 feet long where cars may be parked "flat."

Shoppers may park their cars double on downtown streets for a five-minute period, provided an adult is left in the car, Chief Morris indicated.

Chief Morris also stated that cars should not be backed from parking places until a red light is ahead, although traffic officers have not been ordered to obey the letter of the city ordinance pertaining to such movements. In such a case the officer is permitted to use his own judgment in regard to an arrest.

Within the last month parking zone area limits were decreased, Chief Morris said. The new two-hour parking zone limits are as follows: Both sides of Indiana and Scott, from Seventh to Ninth; the 700 blocks on Tenth and Ohio, and both sides of Seventh, Eighth and Ninth from Indiana to Scott.

The old zones were Seventh to Tenth, inclusive, between Lamar and Ohio; Lamar to Ohio, inclusive, between Seventh and Tenth; and the block on Eighth between Lamar and Travis.

OBSERVANCE OF NEGRO HEALTH WEEK STARTED

Today opens the observance of national negro health week in Wichita Falls. Sunday is known as mobilization day. In keeping with the national plan speakers for the various churches have been provided. At the morning service the following people will make talks to the negro congregations at their churches: Mrs. Frank Creighton at Gilbert's Memorial; Mrs. G. D. Anderson at Mt. Pleasant; Mrs. B. J. Bean at St. John's church, and Mrs. W. Newton Maer at Anderson chapel. At the evening service Dr. F. R. Collard will speak to the negroes at St. John's church; Dr. A. F. Leach at Gilbert's Memorial; Dr. O. T. Kimbrough at Calvary church; Dr. R. B. Wolford, city physician, at Holiness church; W. O. Beeman, chairman of Wichita county chapter, American Red Cross, at Mt. Pleasant and Dr. C. W. Stevenson, president of the Wichita County Tuberculosis association, at Anderson chapel.

The purpose of these talks is to urge the negroes to carry out the program of the health week, which includes health in the community, the home, the school, general clean-up and health examinations for adults to check such diseases as tuberculosis, heart and kidney diseases and other conditions that may become handicaps from physical and economical standpoints.

The negro population is almost 10 per cent of the total population of the country. In 1925 urban mortality of the negro people was 25 and rural was 15.

While the whole problem of negro health is still a difficult one to solve and much study is being given to it by many groups some splendid progress is being made. It must be remembered that the health of the negro is important for it not only concerns nearly 10 per cent of the total population but the health of this race has a direct influence upon the general health of the community.

Two years ago the negro population of this city did a splendid piece of work during the observance of this week and as a result secured the cup for cities of this size given by the national organization for groups of negroes doing the most outstanding health work.

DANDRUFF
Scalp Irritations

LUCKY TIGER does the work now! Bacteriological tests prove both its safety and germicidal efficiency. For years millions have been buying it at their druggist's or barber's, and telling their friends about it. JIM ROBINSON TO BE CANDIDATE FOR CO. TAX ASSESSOR

Jim Robinson, Wichita Falls business man, Saturday announced his candidacy for county tax assessor, subject to the Democratic primary. His statement follows:

"In announcing my candidacy for the office of county tax assessor of Wichita county, I want to thank all of you for the kindness and consideration shown me in my race two years ago. I received nearly 2,300 votes in the county and though I was unsuccessful, the treatment accorded me by the good people of Wichita county was such that I was glad I had made the race. Whether you supported me or not before I trust you will be in a position now to give me your support in the race for this important office.

"I have lived in Texas all my life and have resided in Wichita county some 14 years. I was educated in the public schools of Texas. I have had 30 years experience in farming, dealing in real estate, handling cattle and in the oil business. Twenty years of this time I have been in the real estate business, so I believe I am familiar with property values in Wichita county. I feel like this experience qualifies me to perform the duties of this important office in a satisfactory manner to the taxpayers of this county.

"The tax assessor should try to treat every one alike and with due and thoughtful consideration in taking renditions.

"I realize that we have a heavy tax burden and favor the abolishment and consolidation of all offices where it is practical and will be a saving and benefit to the taxpayers of this county. I favor all legislation that will give relief to the taxpayers. I will put forth every effort possible to reduce the expenses of the office.

"I hope to be able to see all of you in person and present my candidacy to you with as little inconvenience to you and your business as possible.

"I want to especially thank my neighbors for the big vote and generous support they gave me in my home box. This race means much to me and if elected I promise the fullest cooperation with the other officers and the citizenship of Wichita county and will try to show my appreciation by being a courteous, efficient and economical public servant. For the citizens of Iowa Park, Electra and Burkburnett districts I will strive to make it convenient for you to render your taxes by appointing sufficient capable help in your districts to take care of your wishes and needs."

HARVEY ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT OF COTTON MEN

HOUSTON, April 2. (AP)—Ed McCaa of Houston today was elected president of the Cotton association, succeeding J. L. Goldman of Dallas, in the concluding session of the body's 21st annual convention.

R. O. Harvey of Wichita Falls was elected first vice president, and J. H. Hutton of Houston, second vice president.

Ordinarily first vice presidents become presidents in the following year. The procedure was not followed today, however, for the first vice president, Lamar Fleming Jr., of Houston, asked that he not be made president.

The next convention city will be chosen by the board of directors later.

The convention adopted a resolution offered by T. F. Bush of Waco, urging rigid economy in government, "elimination of futile nostrums such as the federal farm board, and tariff revision downward and freedom of wholesome business to function without economic restraints."

The resolution went on to "condemn extravagant spending by government as hostile to every interest in our country and high tariff as hostile to the economic life of our people; and government tinkering with business as a factor of economic suicide."

IOWA PARK P. T. A. WINS CERTIFICATE FOR HEALTH WORK

IOWA PARK, Texas, April 2.—Mrs. T. M. Black, health chairman Iowa Park Parent-Teacher association, received this week from national P.-T. A. headquarters at Washington a certificate of merit commending the work accomplished by the local unit at Iowa Park.

Health clinics have been held for the past five years and the public interest in this department has increased with each clinic. Last fall 45 children, most of whom were accompanied by their mothers, were examined.

Among other things accomplished this year were five tonsil and adenoid operations free to the children, and paid for by the association. Dr. Gordon G. Clark has this week finished giving toxoid treatment for diphtheria, the medicine furnished by the state and the treatment donated to the P.-T. A. association by Dr. Clark.

Tuesday morning, April 5, at 8 o'clock, the preschool clinic for examination for children from 5 to 7 years will be held at the W. F. George high school auditorium. Mothers are requested to come early and accompany their children.

Mrs. Black will be assisted in this work by Dr. Henry P. Ledford, child specialist, Wichita Falls; Dr. Gordon G. Clark, physician, and Dr. Louis E. McKinney, dentist, of Iowa Park. Misses Mary Quinn and Pearl Rorabaugh of Wichita Falls will also assist with the examinations.

The City Council Answered

In an advertisement appearing in the Record News and the Times of April 1st, the council takes credit for the reductions that have been made in the taxable values of the city. As a matter of fact, no credit is due them. These reductions were made by the equalization board, which is a body separate and distinct from the city council and over which they have no control. They even take credit for the reduction in the fire insurance rate, which is determined by the Fire Insurance commission at Austin and is based wholly upon the record of our fire losses during the past year. One might infer from this advertisement that Mayor Nelson and the council personally patrolled the city to prevent fires.

The council takes credit for saving $50,000 in cleaning the water pipes. Our former city manager, Mr. Fairtrace, who, according to Mr. Nelson and the city council, was the world's greatest engineer, maintained that the water pipes did not need cleaning. There have been no new water pipes laid in this city for many years, yet, with a population twice as great as now, we got by with no trouble except for a few hours during the hottest days in the summer, when the pressure would drop.

Last year we had little or no trouble from low pressure. This was due to the fact that there were fewer people to use water and these people were using less water. With a population of approximately half what we had a few years ago, the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in cleaning our mains would appear to be an unjustified extravagance. If there was any question of the carrying capacity of our water pipes, the Fire Insurance Commission would not have allowed the three per cent credit, because, if our water supply were not adequate, the Insurance Commission would be raising our rates.

The council might just as well take credit for not buying the city manager a solid gold throne as to try to take credit for spending money where it should not be spent.

Mayor Nelson and the city council take credit for reduction in the city expenditures, and for this credit is due them, but they acted only after much pressure had been brought to bear upon them, a year ago, following an abnormally extravagant budget.

While the council points with pride to the reduction in city expenditures, we wish to call the attention of our citizenship to the following figures, supplied by the city clerk's office at the auditorium. In 1921 the total expenditures of the city, excluding interest and sinking fund, were $396,143.81, and the maintenance of our streets and alleys during that time cost $75,788.34. For the fiscal year of 1931 for eleven months only the expenditures have so far been $406,207.83 or at the rate of $443,000 for the full 12 months. The maintenance of our streets has cost for this same 11 months $67,683.82, or at the rate of $73,800 for the 12 months period. The above figures also exclude interest and sinking funds.

In 1921 while Mr. Curlee was on the council in charge of streets we were paying $4.75 for 8 hours work and labor was very inefficient. We had but a few miles of pavement consisting mainly of the business section and Tenth street. We had to use mules as the city owned but few trucks. Today under a supposedly more efficient form of government headed by our leading business men and with practically all streets paved we are spending just about the same and paying far less for labor and getting more work from them.

In 1921 we were a city of probably 50,000 with inadequate improvements and everything to build to make this a city. Today we have probably 30,000 people with all our building done. The dollar now will buy about twice what it would in 1921 yet we are spending for this year about $47,000 more than we did then. Mr. Nelson and the council really have but little to be proud of in their record of reducing expenditures. They still have a long way to go to get down to the same basis of expenditures we had here in 1921.

Expenditures, excluding interest and sinking fund, are given below, so that the people may compare for themselves the records of the various administrations. The figures are those given by the city clerk's office.

	Total	Streets	Tax Rate	Mayor
1921.....	$396,143.81	$ 75,788.34	$1.66	Cline
1922.....	437,739.67	63,261.37	1.55	Collier
1924.....	761,479.42	79,979.60	1.50	Collier
1925.....	612,484.22	103,503.42	1.30	Shepherd
1926.....	691,864.36	93,831.72	1.30	Shepherd
1927.....	599,495.13	89,094.00	1.40	Shepherd
1929.....	871,806.83	88,722.24	1.40	Akin (City Mgr.)
1931.....	443,000.00	73,800.00	1.40	Nelson (C. Mgr.)

Even a casual inspection of the above figures will show plainly that, instead of being proud of their record of economy, Mr. Nelson and the city council have a long way to go before they have our finances down to what they should be.

Mr. Curlee promises to do his utmost to reduce expenses to the 1921 standard.

Vote for Walter S. Curlee for Mayor, Tuesday, April 5.

"Two Years ago I'd have said it Couldn't be Done"

WALTER P. CHRYSLER TELLS ABOUT HIS NEW PLYMOUTH

I PRODUCED the first car that ever carried my name in 1924—only eight years ago. It sold for $1800 and caused a SENSATION.

The New Plymouth that I am introducing this week is exactly the same SIZE. It is just as POWERFUL. It is FASTER. It is ten times as SMART. And it is priced as low as $495.

Two years ago, if anyone had told me such a thing could happen, I would have said it couldn't be done. It still seems fantastic, but nevertheless it is TRUE.

The depression has caused much hardship, but it has also brought us many benefits. It has made men THINK. And being forced to think, we have found new ways to overcome obstacles.

In creating the New Plymouth we had the problem of incorporating many new and important engineering improvements in a bigger and better automobile for less money.

In prosperous times we never could have done it. But under the pressure of adverse conditions we discovered necessity was the mother of INVENTION and that the seemingly impossible COULD BE DONE.

When you see this car, I ask particularly that you note its larger, roomier body. It is a BIG car, a more beautiful car, with longer wheelbase, with increased power, speed and performance. You will find that the 1932 Plymouth includes every feature that the most modern car can have. Above all it has one advantage found in NO OTHER car in its price class . . . Patented Floating Power.

This is a revolutionary engine mounting that does away with vibration completely. It was created by Chrysler engineers exclusively for Plymouth, DeSoto, Dodge and Chrysler cars.

I think you will be impressed by the wonderfully easy-riding qualities of the New Plymouth. In my opinion you will find it the most comfortable car you have ever driven.

Also you can't help but be impressed by its extreme ease of handling. With the new Automatic Clutch it is almost effortless to drive. The Hydraulic Brakes make you safer and surer.

But I am really publishing this advertising to get you to go and SEE this car. After all, seeing is believing, and like myself you never would have believed it possible.

SPRING CLEAN-UP WEEK WILL BEGIN MONDAY

'MAN-A-BLOCK' PLAN OF EMPLOYMENT ENDORSED

Varied List of Activities Suggested to Citizens In Assisting Work

Spring clean-up week begins Monday.

In connection with the annual event, sponsored by the city fire department and the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, the man-a-block plan of utilizing services of unemployed will be put under way.

April 3-9 was named as clean-up week for the Wichita Falls area by Fire Chief J. L. McClure and R. O. Jonas, chairman of the Junior chamber civic improvements committee, last week.

Decision to sponsor the man-a-block plan was made Friday at a meeting of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce civic activities group.

Monday morning members of the junior chamber committee will meet with Mr. Jonas to receive the schedule of radio broadcasts and luncheon club appearances. Beginning Monday an inspection of the downtown district will be carried out by Chief McClure. A request that all residents of the city arrange for cleaning up premises will be issued Monday.

In connection with the man-a-block plan, a movement that will gain impetus as the activities are furthered, citizens in cleaning up premises are asked to offer employment to those men who desire and need such work. Trash wagons will police the alleys of the city during clean-up week, and will remove such debris for almost "no charge." Because so many are in need of employment, city officials decided not to remove trash free of charge, as has been the custom in the past.

"By the time clean-up week has ended," Mr. Jonas declared, "Wichitans will realize that there is much work to be done and will continue to keep their premises clean at little or no expenditure."

The man-a-block plan in Wichita Falls will be officially sponsored by the American Legion, although the chambers of commerce, municipal government, school administration, service clubs, labor and women's organizations and P.-T. A. will aid in the sponsorship.

An ample supply of labor to fill the needs of the city is assured by the federal employment bureau here.

Suggested activity to aid in the spring clean-up and employment plan includes window washing, attic cleaning, floor finishing, installation of shelves, door or lock repairing, painting, fence repairs, yard work, flower bed cultivation, and hedge repairing.

STUDENT PILOT KILLED AND COMMERCIAL PILOT HURT IN PLANE CRASH

RACIN, Wis., April 2. (AP)—Lyle Eldridge, 23, student pilot, was killed and Charles Landis, commercial pilot, was severely injured today when the plane Landis was piloting from Waukegan to Milwaukee crashed on a farm west of here.

Both men were members of the Waukegan Flying club, which owned the plane. During the national air races at Glenview, Ill., in 1930, Eldridge received fractures of both ankles in a parachute jump.

TRAFFIC OFFICER WANTS THIEF RETURN UNIFORM

HOUSTON, April 2. (AP)—Traffic Officer L. D. Pyle offered to call it "quits" and make a deal with a sneak thief today in an effort to recover his uniform.

Pyle, who often leaves his uniform in a bundle in his sedan while he goes shopping in off-hours, evolved a system for warding off prowlers. He'd tear the paper-covered bundle so the brass buttons would show and awe the thief.

But several days ago he forgot to tear the paper and the uniform was taken.

"I need that uniform badly," Pyle said today. "I'm ready to call it quits if I can get it back. I won't ask the thief to bring it to me. All I ask him to do is to drop it on some dark street and somebody will find it and call the station. He can't sell it and he can't wear it and probably wants to get rid of it any way.

"And I'd appreciate his courtesy tremendously."

'Does It Run In The Family?' Question Often Asked About Tuberculosis Topic Discussed By Secretary Wichita Group

By MARY QUINN
Executive Secretary, Wichita County Tuberculosis Association

"It runs in their family," the neighbors used to whisper, looking askance at a certain house. Today, in the light of modern knowledge we know that it was not because the disease of tuberculosis is inherited, but because it is communicable. It is transmitted primarily through intimate and prolonged exposure to an active case. Family association, more commonly than any other factor, provides this ideal opportunity for transmission. We know also that when one case of tuberculosis is discovered we may well suspect that there is another case in the same household or circle of friends.

Therefore, every case of tuberculosis should be traced back to its source, or that source may continue to spread infection to others. Sometimes it is found that a grandparent who has for years worried along with a chronic cough is the real source of the infection. Often a servant is found to be tuberculous. In many homes the real source of danger, especially if there are children, lies in the case that is not obviously tuberculous, but expectorates tubercle bacilli.

Tuberculosis may occur in practically any organ of the body, but in over four-fifths of the cases the lungs are affected. Infection results through close contact, such as kissing, uncovered coughing and sneezing, and by carrying into the mouth anything that may have been contaminated by one who has tuberculosis. Children who live in contact with a person who has tuberculosis, especially under crowded living conditions, are very likely to become infected with the disease. Many infections occur in infancy, and the death rate among babies in the first year of life who have been exposed to large doses of the germs is high. Opportunities for exposure continue through childhood by direct contact with parents, relatives, friends or playmates who suffer from an open case of the disease. (An open case is one whose sputum contains tubercle bacilli.)

Fatal to Young

It will be a surprise to many to know that the greatest cause of death among young people of high school and college age is tuberculosis. It is also true that tuberculosis causes more deaths among people up to the age of 40 than any other single cause of death. Obviously then, it behooves every one to have some knowledge of the "danger signs" of the disease, and to visit his family doctor immediately for an examination if he ever "wonders" if he is infected. If he is, every one in the family also should be examined. The danger signs to watch for are: "Loss of weight; a cough that hangs on; indigestion, and too easily tired."

The family doctor is, of course, the keystone in the search for cases of tuberculosis because people go first to him when they do not feel well. The trail of the elusive tuberculosis germ often is uncovered by others, however—the public health nurse, the health officer, the social worker—and they, together with the doctor, form the most important links in the continuous fight to reduce the tuberculosis death rate still further.

A concerted effort to "find the other case" will be made throughout the month of April, 1932, by means of a nation-wide education campaign to be conducted by the 2,084 affiliated tuberculosis associations of the United States in what will be the fifth annual early diagnosis campaign. During this time closer cooperation will be sought among doctors, health officers, public health nurses, and social workers, and any one who suspects he may have the disease will be urged to go to his family doctor for a thorough examination, or to persuade any one in his family who shows any of the "danger signs" to do the same.

NEW CHRYSLER AND PLYMOUTH CARS TO BE SHOWN MONDAY

The four complete new lines of Chrysler cars and the Plymouth will be on display for the first time in this city Monday, according to an announcement Saturday by Henry Hamilton of the Davidson-Hamilton company, local Chrysler distributor.

Local motorists who have been awaiting the appearance of the new Chryslers and Plymouth will find more innovations, both mechanical and visual, than in any motor car introduced this year, according to Mr. Hamilton.

Seven of the engineering features that are making their appearance on the new cars to be placed on display here, are revolutionary enough to be reckoned among the highest honors awarded for the outstanding engineering developments of 1932, the announcement states.

Foremost, of course, among the many new features is the basically new principle of vibrationless engine mounting—floating power—a Chrysler discovery and development which is patented and fully protected. Other important first-time mechanical improvements are the automatic clutch, free wheeling, silent gear selector, centrifuse brake drums, doubledrop girder-truss frame and the Chrysler patented Oilite squeak-proof spring.

By the use of floating power in the new Chrysler and Plymouth cars, the last vestige of vibration or power shock has been removed from the motor car, the local dealer says.

Motorists are invited to attend the preshowing of these new cars Monday.

CARPENTER KILLED IN ACCIDENTAL FALL UNDER TRAIN RALSTON, OKLA.

FAIRFAX, Okla., April 2. (UP)—W. D. Nigh, 62-year-old Ralston carpenter, was killed today when he accidentally fell under a north bound Santa Fe local passenger train at Ralston.

The rear coach and half a box car passed over him, the wheels crushing his chest and amputating his left arm.

The coroner returned a verdict of accidental death.

The accident occurred at the Ralston depot at 11:15 a. m.

Porto Ricans were made naturalized citizens of the United States by an act of congress, March 2, 1917.

SHERIFF INVESTIGATES FLOGGING AGED NEGRO

AUSTIN, April 2. (INS)—The flogging of an aged negro ranch hand in northwest Travis county was being investigated today by the sheriff's office. According to reports received by Sheriff Coley White, the negro, Albert Thompson, was dragged from his cabin on the Frank Hill ranch, 30 miles from Austin, and beaten and flogged by several men.

Thompson was unable to tell the officers who his assailants were or to describe them well, the flogging having occurred during the night, he said. The negro, a one-eyed man of advanced years, had been employed on the ranch for only a short time.

A general aversion to the presence of negroes exists in this section of the hill country, according to the sheriff's deputies. The negro was not seriously injured by the flogging.

Times' Program for Wichita Falls

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the munity.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek. Third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

FINGER PRINTS

Protests are being made in New York against a new law which requires purchasers of firearms to have their finger prints taken and filed. New York has a very strict law relative to possession of firearms, and the measure was intended to strengthen it.

The average individual feels that to finger-print him is to put something of a stigma upon him. That is because finger print records are used principally for identification of criminals. But all soldiers and sailors and all federal civil service employes are required to have finger prints taken. A man's signature may be forged. His finger print cannot be.

It is easy to understand the New York citizens' objections to the measure. The trouble is that we have not made as much use of the finger print, as a means of protecting the public, as we might have.

SWIFT RATIFICATION

A new record for speed in ratifying a constitutional amendment is likely to be established by the so-called lame duck amendment. In the six weeks that have elapsed since it was submitted by congress, eight state legislatures have ratified. Only nine legislatures have been in session during that time.

In Massachusetts, the house ratified it, but the senate insisted that the matter be submitted to the people, for an advisory vote, before the taking of legislative action.

The amendment will have the approval of 10 or 12 states this year. Next January, when most of the state legislatures convene, ratification by the required number of states, 36, will not be long delayed. In all probability, this congress will be the last to hold a lame duck session.

THE VOTERS' STATE OF MIND

A gentleman who has been out in the highways and byways, running for office, was in to see us the other day, and said he had learned three things about the voting public's present state of mind.

First, that most of those who voted for Mr. Hoover in 1928 have no intention of doing so again, regardless of who the opposing candidate is.

Second, that there is a general disposition to vote against present officeholders who are seeking re-election.

Third, that the voters don't want to hear any promises by candidates.

It was the third finding that interested us most. It indicates that the average voter has quit believing in Santa Claus, has made up his mind that nobody at the courthouse, or at Austin, or Washington, is going to show up with any quick remedy for existing troubles. If that is the state of mind, it means that the voter has been experiencing disillusionment in the past few years and that it is going to be difficult to beguile him or deceive him, this year.

Perhaps that helps to account for the reported disposition to vote against candidates seeking re-election. If the voter is unhappy, he feels that a change may help to relieve his feelings.

The conclusions may not be accurate, but there are signs and portents that tend to confirm them. We pass them on to the candidates, for whatever they may be worth.

THE BRITISH BUDGET

The news that Great Britain has balanced its budget for the fiscal year which ended Saturday isn't as impressive on looking into the details of the story as it appears to be at first glance. More than 12 million pounds was obtained by drawing on the dollar exchange account, which is comparable to borrowing on one's life insurance policy. Another slice of revenue was obtained by requiring the taxpayer to pay an advance installment on his income tax. And a loan of approximately $100,000,000 has not been repaid.

Considering these facts, the apparent balancing of the budget resembles what United States bankers call window-dressing.

It still is an impressive achievement, despite the liberties taken in bookkeeping. And it holds some lessons of which congress might take heed. When Great Britain realized last August that it faced a crisis in its financial affairs, there was no playing politics, there was no jockeying, no partisan maneuvers. Parliament simply grappled with the problem with both hands, respecting the courage and upholding the resourcefulness of its leaders. Whether the abandonment of the gold standard was a factor in the balancing is a question. Whatever effect it may have had, it must be remembered that there was no voluntary inflation of the currency, no issuing of fiat money, no recourse to any of the devices of that nature which have been advocated in this country.

Great Britain is still a measurable distance from stability. It has collected part of the new fiscal year's taxes in advance and it has some bulky obligations yet to meet. But the showing it has made says much for its leadership.

HIGHWAYS AND CITIES

State highway No. 114, which gives Northwest Texas a short cut into Dallas, represents an advanced idea in highway planning. When the road is finished, a Wichitan may drive to Dallas without having to dawdle through Fort Worth's downtown traffic. But if he is going to East Texas he can choose a paved route that misses both Dallas and Fort Worth. In other words he will not be forced to travel through congested city traffic if he wishes to avoid it.

There are some who believe that the same idea should be applied to highway routing through small towns. That is a very different matter and the rule does not apply with the same force. It is a real hardship on a motorist to be compelled to drive several miles through the business streets of cities like Dallas or Fort Worth. To have to go through the business district of a community of less than 10,000 people entails only nominal inconvenience and delay. The business that highway travel develops is important, to a small community. It is trivial in a large one. The rule that is wise for Dallas and Fort Worth would be unjust to many smaller places.

AN INVESTIGATION NEEDED

Kentucky has been successful in thwarting the efforts first, of some radical writers, and second, of some radical student groups, to find out what is going on in its coal fields.

It is difficult to blame Kentucky for its attitude toward the meddlers, both professional and amateur. It is still more difficult to believe that all is as it should be in Kentucky's mining districts. If we may credit 10 per cent of all that we hear about conditions there, an investigation of some sort is very much in order. Kentucky officials are said to be willing for federal authorities to come and investigate to their heart's content. Such an inquiry should be instituted promptly. Kentucky is too timid of visitors, granting that they are meddlesome ones, for the country to believe that the situation there doesn't need some illumination.

Congress has proposed that the army and navy be consolidated. They must want to beat Notre Dame every year.

Seven Lamps of Stable Recovery

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

The essence of prosperity is the equilibrium of certain elements in the economic scene.

Four days ago I listed nine factors that usually mark periods when economic depression impends.

Three days ago I listed 11 factors that usually mark periods when economic crisis actually falls upon a people.

Two days ago I listed nine factors that usually mark periods when economic depression draws to a close.

Yesterday I listed 14 factors that usually mark periods of economic revival.

Today I want to list seven factors that usually mark periods of sustained prosperity, or rather factors that are essential to the maintenance of prosperity:

First, the consumer demand for goods must keep up with the producer supply of goods despite increase in commodity prices.

Second, the cost of raw materials must not go up unduly in comparison with the selling prices of the goods manufactured from the raw materials in question.

Third, mercantile collections must keep pace with mercantile credits.

Fourth, bank reserves must expand with demand liabilities.

Fifth, the cost of living must be kept in step with the money income of the people.

Sixth, banks and investors must not withhold from business enterprises generally the loans that are essential to the healthy development of business.

Seventh, wages must not be arbitrarily pushed to an undefensible high level. Wages must be high in the sense that purchasing power must be widely spread, but the rise in wages must be based on sound business planning. That is, the payment of high wages must be good business policy as well as good social policy if they are really to help.

We must establish equilibrium between consumer-demand and producer-supply.

We must establish equilibrium between what raw materials cost and finished goods sell for.

We must establish equilibrium between the wages and the worth of labor.

We must establish equilibrium between the cost of living and the rewards of labor.

We must keep our banking system sound.

ROUGHLY SPEAKING by John Gould

The Poor Relation

The Ford V-8 stood out on the floor,
Shiny and smart and new,
A look of disdainful pride it wore,
As the crowds came in to view.

The other cars, grouped back in the rear,
Whispered and sneered, "Who cares?"
But you could tell they all were out of gear,
At the way it was putting on airs.

Then an old Model T came staggering in,
Battered and wheezy and lame,
As lousy, decrepit, a chunk of tin
As ever bore Henry's name.

"Hi, there," it called, "Hi, brother dear,
Look around and speak to your kin."
The V-8 pretended it didn't hear,
Though the Model T called again.

The other cars saw the Eight turn red,
And chuckled to one another,
"It won't be so uppish now," they said,
"Since the T has called it brother."

I guess it's just one of life's jokes,
When a guy thinks he's in the swim,
Along come some of his poor kinfolks
To put the bird on him.

Some of us might be in favor of this increase in postage rates if we thought it would reduce the number of open-work envelopes in the mail.

There is sound philosophy in the idea of having one day set aside as a fools' day, but we wonder if, in a country like ours, just one day a year furnishes sufficient outlet.

Sympathetic

I haven't oil enough to fill
A little doll's tea-cup,
And yet I feel a joyous thrill,
When the price of crude goes up.

They've discovered a way to make gasoline out of cottonseed oil. They had already learned, in some restaurants, how to make salad dressing out of gasoline.

Rudy Vallee visited the president the other day, and Mr. Hoover, it seems, suggested to him that he sing the country out of the depression. It's a good idea. This colyum, ever on the alert for an opportunity to be helpful, today offers some lyrics that Mr. Vallee can have, and set to music, and sing. On second thought, he needn't trouble to have them set to music; it wouldn't make any difference to him, after all.

Here's one about prosperity that is right along the line of what the country needs:

Prosperity is hesitating
Just around the corner.
Why does it keep procrastinating?
Why must it be so aggravating?
Here's the answer, it's just waiting
For a man named Garner.

The Republican party's attitude toward one of the major issues of the day lends itself readily to lyric composition:

The g. o. p., is it wet or dry?
Shall it have a referendum?
Those drys are hard to pacify,
And they don't dare offend 'em.
The g. o. p., is it dry or wet?
To answer it seems quite loath,
But the g. o. p. it doesn't fret,
For it knows that it's neither—and both.

Oh, we could keep up this sort of thing all day, if necessary. Springtime always stimulates our talent for poetry. But we want to write about something else, so we'll offer just this one more lyric, addressed to the president himself:

Next March, your cares will all go winging,
The days won't be so troublesome,
Next March, you can be softly singing,
"California, here I come."

In the Spring

Consider now the man who in springtime hears the compelling summons of the soil and feels the urge to delve therein.

He finds that the rake, spade and hoe that he bought last year have vanished, and purchases new ones, which in their turns will vanish before another spring.

He brings on an argument with the wife by trying to plant beans where she intends to have zinnias. He loses said argument and his soul becomes bitter.

He entertains visions of vegetables as tempting and large as those pictured in the seed catalogs, though he knows in his heart that such tomatoes were never on land or sea.

He collects blisters on the palms of his hands.

He collects kinks in various muscles he didn't know he had.

He incurs the displeasure of his neighbors by throwing rocks at their chickens.

He spends his substance for tools, seeds, fertilizer, and liniment so that the cost of his gardening is many, many times the value of the products thereof.

In the fulness of time the plants burst through the soil and he views them with much pride. And next day he finds that the bugs have gnawed them, the worms have chewed them, the sparrows have nibbled them and the children have trampled them. All manner of pests have afflicted them and great rage is in his heart.

And eventually he gathers nine under-sized carrots, one mess of discouraged mustard greens and a pint and a half of peas that look as if they never had a fair chance in life.

Why does he not reason with himself and devote his energies to more profitable things?

Because the virus is in his blood and it is like influenza or a visit from the wife's relatives, which is to say, regrettable, but there is nothing to do but go ahead and get it over with.

Is not there something that can be done about it? No.

Politics

O, Walter writes of Walter,
And says it is a shame,
And Walter answers Walter,
And tries to fix the blame,
Then Walter lambasts Walter
And things get pretty hot,
Is Walter mad at Walter?
We trust sincerely not.

This idea of a self-extinguishing cigaret undoubtedly has merits, but what the country needs most is a self-extinguisher for singers of "Was That the Human Thing To Do?"

SUCCESSOR NAMED TO COMMISSIONER IN CLAY COUNTY

HENRIETTA, Texas, April 2.—C. G. McKinney has been appointed temporarily to fill the unexpired term of W. E. Cornutt, commissioner of Clay county precinct No. 2, who was removed by a jury in district court here Thursday.

Negligence, carelessness, and inefficiency were charged in the petition demanding Mr. Cornutt's removal. Mr. Cornutt denied all charges. He was serving his third term as commissioner at the time of his removal. Trial of the case, before Judge Vincent Stine, consumed the entire week.

Baering Down on News With 'Baer'

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The ways and means committee is sure thinking up a lot of ways to get mean.

It has just issued its 1932 biography of a deficit.

July is the start of the new fiscal year. That ain't the one we celebrate.

The public is allowed to cheer the new year that happens in January. We don't get any statistics with that one. That's why we cheer.

The fiscal year is just a goulash of figures on the east end of a decimal point.

Those figures are so enormous that they wouldn't mean anything to the average citizen who balances his budget by dropping a vest button in the cash register.

This fiscal year has three months to run and everything will be hunky dory on June 30. The budget will be balanced, all our debts will be paid and we can go down to the beach and get a look at those bathing suits made out of trunk straps.

William F. Parrish, 75, pioneer of Wichita Falls, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. A. Cox, at 1528 Seventeenth, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The body is held by the Merkle Undertaking company pending completion of funeral arrangements.

There are 138 dairy organizations in Illinois, where the dairy industry is valued at $75,000,000.

Gangland Wipes Out Lieutenant Of Legs Diamond

NEW YORK, April 2. (US)—Death in gangland's traditional manner today took away the scepter of racketdom bequeathed by the late Jack ("Legs") Diamond to his trusted lieutenant, "Lefty" Joe Burke.

Burke died in a hospital a few hours after three assassins from a rival gang pumped two bullets apiece into his body as he stood at the bar of a speakeasy with a glass of beer in his hand.

Forty patrons in the speakeasy saw the trio walk boldly up to Burke and heard one of them shout this warning just before all three simultaneously pulled the triggers of their revolvers:

"This ain't a holdup, ladies and gentlemen. Please keep out of the way. We've been looking for this guy for a long time."

There was a scramble for the rear room of the speakeasy as the pistols barked their message of death.

Burke fell to the floor and murmured before he lost consciousness: "I'm done. Get a priest before it's too late."

The Rev. John Garvey arrived at the hospital just in time to administer the last rights before Burke died.

Burke's former chieftain, "Legs" Diamond, was killed by gangsters who trapped him in an Albany, N. Y., rooming house, several months ago.

Rewards totaling $10,300 are offered for the capture and return to Mississippi prisons of 200 convicts who are A. W. O. L.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Party platforms take in scores of subjects, but doesn't it strike you as peculiar that the only plank which is causing discussion in either party is the one covering prohibition? Excited speculation about that one plank has been in progress for many months, with never a word to indicate that certain other issues demand consideration.

And that same wet-dry question, more important in politics than ever before despite the pressure of many other problems, has produced a situation in the Democratic party that no one could possibly have anticipated four years ago.

Most of the drys among politicians in the South and West are supporting the wet Governor Roosevelt of New York, whose bitterest opposition comes from dripping wet leaders in the east. Two of the party's most rabid drys, Senator Sheppard of Texas and William G. McAdoo, are endorsing Speaker Garner.

Almost every one here is convinced that Garner, if nominated, will declare for re-submission which, according to official dry warnings would make him a wet. McAdoo has committed himself to the extent of heading the Garner slate of delegates entered in the California primaries.

Hoover and Grant!

Mr. Hoover has often of late been compared with Lincoln and Washington by fellow Republicans, but it remained for Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, chairman of the G. O. P. national committee, to liken his administration to that of Grant. Fess entered his teens during the Grant period, but he is a great scholar and it is generally conceded that the scandals of the Grant administration, involving a host of high officeholders, are unmatched in American history. But good old Papa Fess, addressing a young Republicans' group, said:

"The opposition to General Grant in his first term was just exactly as the opposition we have in our own party today toward President Hoover, but you always have it from certain groups toward any man who happens to be president of the United States."

One rises in protest to protect the Hoover administration's prestige!

Kind-Harted Hiram

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, ferocious as he is when slashing at international bankers and internationalists, has a soft, kindly heart.

Few pairs of senators are such bitter political enemies as he and the other California senator, Sam Shortridge. Both are Republicans, but Shortridge is pro-Hoover and conservative. Johnson opposed him in his 1926 campaign for renomination and probably will oppose him again this year.

But recently "Sad Sam" became quite ill and was confined to bed. And while Johnson set out to do all kinds of legislative favors for him, Mrs. Johnson began sending flowers and fruit. They did everything for Sam that they could think of. After getting well and back on the job, Shortridge told the senate:

"I have no words adequate to express my deep appreciation . . . I shall never forget his kindness."

Not for Huey

There will be no kind words exchanged between those two Louisiana Democratic senators, Huey Long and the older Edwin S. Broussard. They hate each other and the "Kingfish" has promised not to let him have another term.

When Long is absent in Louisiana, as he often is, it's Sheppard of Texas and not Broussard—to whom the duty falls by custom—who announces that he is "necessarily out of the city."

In contrast is the faithful performance of Carter Glass of Virginia, whose colleague, Claude Swanson, has been away these many weeks as a delegate to the Geneva arms conference and will be gone many weeks more. Day after day, Glass regularly announces to the senate that "my colleague, the senior senator from Virginia, is absent in attendance upon the disarmament conference at Geneva."

WILL ROGERS

THE SWEDES HAVE A GREAT IDEA

(Copyright 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. Did you ever see a war so completely washed off the front page as that Japanese-Chinese one was by the Lindbergh case? Gosh people are human after all aint they? Sometimes we think we are not, but I dont know, when the real showdown comes why the toughest of us will bob up with some human trait. Did you ever read as many rumors to the square inch?

Had a couple of famous suicides the last few weeks. Mr. George Eastman was quite a surprise, as it was thought he had retired from active business and was taking things easy and not worrying. But it seems that it was his health. You know after all I bet that old constant thought of feeling that you wouldent get well would just be too much for you. Well he had had a great career, and had done some wonderful charitable things.

He built a beautiful theater and concert hall of some kind there. Well I was playing there four or five years ago on my concert tour. I was in an old hall. The Manager said to me, "We would have done better tonight if it wasent in this place. People have got in the habit of going to Mr. Eastmans new Theater. You know its too bad he dedicated that to art or you would have gotten in. He had a jazz band there last week, and Earl Carrolls Vanities the week before, but he just happened to dedicate it to art. And so a monologist cant get in."

Well I went on and did the best I could in the old place to the bunch that dident mind missing art for one night. We just had some laughs and wouldent have known art we had met it face to face.

Then that Swedish match fellow, Kruger, that was quite a blow to the financial world. You know those Swedes sure worked their loans the right way. When some nation wants to borrow from us why we just go ahead and loan it to em, in fact from what I heard in Europe they dident have to express a wish to borrow. Our folks were over there practically forcing it on em.

Well those Swedish match people made more loans around the world than anybody. But they dident just dole it out like us. No sir! They made the loan with the distinct understanding that every time a fellow lit his stove, or his pipe, that it was to be done with their matches. Instead of taking a note that wasent any good, they just made an agreement that there was to be nothing "struck" there but their breed of matches. Just think what a collosal business was built up just by such a little thing as matches. It was one of the biggest businesses in the world. All founded on the theory that no Cigar or Cigaret lighter will work.

But just look at the Monopolies that we could have tied up. My goodness Henry Ford could have made a few million loan to each nation and they couldent have even put out a wheelbarrow without it was a Ford. Why some of those Nations over there that had borrowed from this Krugers firm, it was punishable by death if they caught a person using another match than this Sweedish. Just think if Ford had made em a loan. You could have shot a man in England for using a Rolls Royce instead of a Ford.

Look at the countrys listarine could have tied up? Why you couldent have gargled a thing in the world but it in Bulgaria, if their Board of Directors had been wise. Let the individual business concerns make the loans and take Monopoly in return. A small loan would have made every Spaniard use our hair oil, a couple of Millions loaned to the Russians and a safety razor would have been in every home. A half million out of six per cent would have put a blue jay cornplaster on every Czecho-Slovakian with not a chance of any other plaster sneaking in under it.

Just think of the booze we make and sell. Why if Capone had dished out a few millions in long term loans to Europe why look at the pleasure they could have gotten out of our home brew and mountain dew. We would have been even with em at last.

We got loans scattered all over Europe, and they never even spent a cent back with us. They took the money to pay off the interest on what they owed to us. Look what the U. S. Steel, the Oil companies could have tied up. You know there is just an awful lot of people all over the world smarter than we are in lots of ways, and this Kruger was one of em. Talk about mass production. When you can make that many matches why you have done some mass producing. But its no use telling em that now, the poor fellows are in such bad shape they got nothing to loan now.

But I think we just about been cured on Foreign Loans. The big Boys have come in for such a rawhiding from all over the United States that its made them realize they better "Give the Lads here at home some jack." I guess there is no race of people that is so universally agreed that they pulled a boner as the International Bankers. We really ought to differentiate. (There is a pretty good word by the way for me). As I just said, we really ought to differentiate (its still a good word) between the International bankers and the local product. Our Home Bankers both large and small are in bad just through the bad times and an over expansion in good times, but the International one is in bad through malice aforethought. His devilment was premeditated. He knew he was loaning on no security in Europe, cause there is no security over there. He got his commissions for peddling it out so what does he care? But I guess they are about as good as the rest of us. We all was cuckoo and hog wild, but brother they are taming up. Did you ever see the cockiness taken out of a nation so quick? We will sure go in and bring sticks out of the water for anybody. We are humble galore.

Some Pineapple Recipes

The pineapple is a multiple fruit, as all of the little sections are really fruits growing out of a central core. When the pineapple is small, it is covered with many purplish-blue flowers, one in each eye. As it matures, the flowers drop off, and the closely packed individual berries become consolidated into one juicy solid fruit.

It is difficult to obtain good fresh pineapple in this country because it must be picked green for shipment. The best fruit reaches us in canned form, as it may be allowed to completely ripen and develop its full flavoring upon the plant before being canned. If you use the fresh fruit, select one that has a yellow ring around the little circles. If you cannot get the pineapple fully ripe, you should set it aside for a few days to allow it to become mellow.

The pineapple prepared without sugar makes a very good fruit to use while fasting, and may be used as a change from the orange to other fruits.

Unsweetened pineapple juice can be obtained in most stores and some of the better-class restaurants serve this in the same manner as orange juice before breakfast.

The pineapple is especially suitable as a dessert with a protein meal, as its combination of fruit acids and other elements stimulates the gastric juices and makes the pineapple really a medicinal fruit especially for dyspeptics. It also combines well with the nonstarchy vegetables, but not well with the starches.

Ripe pineapple contains about 85 per cent water, one-half of 1 per cent proteins, 13 per cent sugar and some mineral matter, in which potassium, calcium and magnesium are most abundant.

Here are a few pineapple recipes:

Pineapple Cream Gelatin

Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in a small amount of water. Add one-half cup of strained hot pineapple juice. As this mixture becomes cool, but not solid, fold in a half cup of cleaned raisins. Place in molds and allow to harden on ice.

Frozen Canned Pineapple

Do not open the can of pineapple but remove the label, placing the entire can in a bucket and entirely surrounding it with a mixture of chopped ice and ice cream salt. This will freeze in about a half hour after which the can may be opened the frozen pineapple sliced and served; or, if you have one of the new electrical refrigerators, you can place the can of pineapple in the freezing compartment for about a half to three-quarters of an hour.

Crushed Pineapple Dessert

Plain crushed pineapple served in individual cups makes a spindid dessert for a protein meal. If desired, the pineapple may be garnished with whipped cream and water cress or mint leaves.

Baked Ham and Pineapple

Cover ham with cold water and boil for 30 minutes. Drain the water off and cut the ham into small pieces. Place in shallow baking dish and cover with crushed pineapple and Melba toast crumbs. Bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes or until well browned.

Pineapple, Water-Cress and Cottage Cheese

On lettuce leaves place crushed or sliced pineapple. Cover this with fresh cottage cheese and garnish with water-cress leaves. No dressing is required. A large dish of this makes a complete meal in itself.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Curing Friedreich's Ataxia

Question—Mrs. Otto V. writes: "I have a boy 13 years old whose case has been diagnosed as Friedreich's Ataxia. When I asked this doctor about it, he told me to read up on it, but I have been able to find very little about it. I will appreciate any information you can give me."

Answer—This is a hereditary disease in most cases. There are changes in the spinal cord and cerebelum causing them to be smaller than usual. The walk is swaying and irregular, resembling that of a drunken person. In making voluntary movements the action is exaggerated and the hand sometimes moves around the object and then pounces upon it. There are also cases where the body sways in a regular movement. The speech is slow or explosive, the expression is dull, but the mental power is usually maintained in the early part of the disease. The patient may walk on the outer side of the feet. This disease is usually considered incurable, but some beneficial results can be obtained through muscle re-education by training the patient to perform complicated muscular feats. I believe that a fasting and dieting regimen might prove helpful as the disease somewhat resembles hereditary chorea.

Bran

Question—H. I. writes: "I am engaged at a sedentary occupation and eat considerable bran for regularity of bowel movement. Kindly state if this food can cause irritation of stomach or intestines."

Answer—Bran is a helpful adjunct to the diet in some cases of constipation because of the roughage it provides; however, it may be too rough in some sensitive intestines, and I do not advise its use where there is any intestinal inflammation. You should use plenty of green bulky vegetables in your diet and take calisthenic exercises each day.

ALL STAR CAST WILL PRESENT COMEDY

Announcement was made that all-star Epworth league play, "All Entangled" would be presented at the Wilson Memorial Methodist church Friday evening.

Those in charge stated that there had been many special requests for another showing of this popular play that was given with tremendous success at each of the local Methodist churches during February.

The play was produced by Harold White and directed by Miss Ines Terrall. Players in the cast were selected from a one-act play tournament held last December. Each character was selected for his outstanding ability to portray types. Audiences that saw the play were pleased with its perfection. The lines and staging was so expertly handled that it was accorded praise as the best amateur production for the season in Wichita Falls.

Characters in the play include Misses Beverly Calhoun, Martha Johnson, Alice Sides, Edith McClure and Reetha Mae Neal; Messrs. Weldon Johnson, Drew McCulley, Henry Barton, Valdon Brownlee, Lloyd Bland, Erwin Morris.

A 12-piece violin ensemble under direction of Miss Lorain Mathis will play in connection with the play. The play will be sponsored by the young people's society of the Wilson Memorial church and the curtain will rise at 8:15.

P.-T. A. Program At Austin To Be Of Deep Interest

Members of the executive board of the Austin Parent-Teacher unit, who met at the school Friday morning, outlined an interesting program for the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

With "Health and Safety" as the theme of the program, Mrs. C. A. Spragins will give an interesting and timely talk on "The Children's Charter." Since this subject is of interest to all parents, an invitation has been extended to all mothers having children ready to start to school in the autumn, to attend as guests of honor, whether they are members of the P.-T. A. or not.

A playlet written especially for this program will be presented by the second grade students under the direction of Miss Ethel Stockard. There will be 28 children in this springtime health pageant and special pride is taken in the fact that these children are not only responsible for the stage decorations, which are original ideas, but have written the play, "The Path to Healthland."

A musical treat is in store for members who attend when the third and fourth grade orchestra play a group of numbers which have been prepared for this occasion. These young musicians have shown much musical ability under the direction of Miss Lillian Vaughn.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

CLIMAXING a week filled with interesting events, the Camp Fire Girls held a guardans training institute at the Kemp hotel Saturday, which was formally opened at a dinner Friday evening. Camp Fire leaders from many smaller towns took advantage of the opportunity of attending this institute, and local headquarters was literally beseiged with visitors all day Saturday. Mrs. R. E. Davis was the chairman of the committee on arrangements, and she was assisted by Mesdames C. H. Clark, Edwin A. Bebb, Maude Bartholomew, W. J. Willis, and Misses Mary McIlheran, Phyllis Creighton, Edith McClure, Dr. Wallace J. Masters and others interested in Camp Fire work.

AND then another unusually interesting event of the week which is an annual affair, was the fifth nation-wide fellowship banquet given by the Business and Professional Women's club This banquet is observed all over the world by business and professional women on this date, and the good fellowship that is being developed by the observation is most noteworthy.

AT THE banquet given here Tuesday night, Erma Schnelle, program chairman of the local organization, read greetings from clubs all over Texas and from Jamestown, N. Y., Washington, D. C., and Miami Fla., as well as from several foreign countries.

MESSAGES came from clubs in Montreal, Quebec, and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria, British Columbia, and from Buenos Aires, Argentina; Beyrouth, Syria; Istanbul, Turkey; Japan; from Riga, Latvia, countries in the Balkans; from Montevideo, Uruguay; Rio de Janeiro, and from Valparaiso, Chile.

ONE of the greetings from Canada, read, "From Your Neighbors." "We are glad that this adventure in friendship extends across to neighborly nations." The one from Istanbul was a quaint little missive and read, "Although we are weak in numbers, we are strong in the sense of fellowship."

AND with all this good fellowship of the past week fresh in my mind, I am reminded of a beautiful poem written by Janice Ann Combs, which presents such a beautiful philosophy that we might live by. It reads:

Dear God, I do not ask
That all life's gifts shall come my way,
I only ask that I may learn to live,
Today.

Help me to see the shadows cast by flowers
Upon the limpid pools, the magic of the hours,
Today.

Ah, may I hear the laughter, not the sighs,
And see the love that lies within a dear one's eyes,
Today.

Dear God, I do not ask,
That all life's gifts shall come my way,
I only ask that I may learn to live,
Today.

AND with the exception of an exceedingly small number, it seems that people are living by this unselfish philosophy as never before. The whole world has made great advancement since the great war, and more advancement in unselfishness in the past three years.

PEOPLE are lifting up their fellowman, they are feeding and clothing the needy and remembering the aged and sick; they are doing literally thousands and thousands of kind deeds daily and it seems that the spirit of good will has come to abide, never to leave us again. No matter what some may say about it all, we see beauty, charity and good fellowship at every turn of the road these days.

GARDEN club members and lovers of flowers, trees and shrubs were given a rare treat at the luncheon held Thursday at noon at the Forum clubhouse, when Mrs. Henry B. Trigg, president of the State Garden Clubs of Texas told of the wonder work along this line being done all over the state. She also told the women that members of Garden clubs and council have access to historical, foreign and world famous gardens, all of which are open to them and to members of the national council.

SHE said that 21 years ago she spent a year in Africa, with no thought of the most wonderful gardens in the world which are there. She said she only visited two, but that now she doesn't miss the smallest one.

COMMENTING on conservation, she told of the holly trees in East Texas and said that a judge told her recently that it is easier to get by for killing a negro in that section than to cut down a holly tree.

MRS. TRIGG also told the State Garden council which she said holds a flower show conference each year free in Texas for the information of gardeners and said that 69 gardeners attended the one

Associate Field Secretary Speaker Friday Evening at Camp Fire Guardians Banquet

Camp Fire guardians of Wichita Falls and neighboring cities held a banquet on Friday night at the Kemp hotel, honoring Miss Eldora DeMots, associate field secretary of Camp Fire Girls. Miss DeMots is in the city in connection with the guardian training institute and about 50 guardians, members of the local Camp Fire council and others interested in Camp Fire, attended the banquet, which was presided over by Dr. Wallace Masters, president of the local council.

The program opened with invocation by Dr. N. F. Grafton, followed by an address of welcome by Mayor Walter Nelson. Mayor Nelson cited the recreational advantages of Wichita Falls and said that as a former Boy Scout and scoutmaster himself, he was especially interested in the type of work done through organizations of this type.

Miss DeMots spoke on the "Problem of Leisure Time and the Program of Camp Fire Girls." She said that under present conditions, people were paying more attention to making a life, and had found it of even more importance than making a living. It was 24 years ago, she said, that Theodore Roosevelt, then president, called together a group of men to consider the problem of leisure time of children, and as a result of that meeting, the National playground association was formed. Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts have grown up to meet the need.

In a study of thousands of cases of nervous breakdown, it has been found by one of the large insurance companies that less than 10 per cent of the patients had had any recreational interests.

Delinquent Child

In an analysis of the delinquent child problem in the state of Oregon, Miss DeMots stated that it had been found that $800 was spent by the state on each delinquent child, but that only $3.50 was being spent for character development. Camp Fire is a program of character building through fun, and uses the seven crafts of home, health, handicraft, nature, camp and business and citizenship to develop the program. The child thus has the opportunity to choose her own hobbies. Camp Fire through its organization simply encourages and directs the development of the worth while hobbies. Dr. Samuel Murray Butler of Columbia has said that recreational guidance is of much more importance than vocational guidance.

Among the out-of-town guests noted at the banquet were Miss Carrier Bier of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughter of Byers, Miss Eloise Farmer and Miss Myers of Olney.

May Day Will Be National Child Health and Child Welfare Day

By MRS. G. D. ANDERSON
State Chairman of Public Welfare.

When President Hoover held the White House child welfare conference in November, 1930, so much information of vital importance to the welfare of children was released to the public, that the attention of the whole nation has been directed to the problem of child life.

In spite of all the information on child training availabie, there are those who believe with the old negro mammy who, when asked how she managed to raise such well behaved children, answered, "Ah tell you Missis, ah raises dem wid a barrel stave and ah raises dem most frequently." We are learning that there are better methods than the rod to make a good child out of a bad one.

While much has been done to enlighten parents and while our schools and the nation have done much for child life, there is still much to be learned and accomplished. We have begun to realize that one of the chief assets of the nation is the children.

In the United States, there are 45 million children and 35 million of these are reasonably normal. Sad to say, 10 million are deficient; by deficient, we mean those children who are under nourished, defective in speech; who have weak hearts; who are classed as behavior problems; those who are mentally retarded, the deaf, the crippled, the blind, the dependent and the delinquent.

Ten Million Deficient

It is from this 10 million delinquents that our army of dependents, ne'er do-wells and criminals come. And it is the more pitable because a high percentage of these so handicapped, could be relieved or greatly helped by proper care and surroundings and 80 per cent are not receiving the necessary attention and care.

Out of the 35 million normal children, it is assumed that one and one-half millions are exceptionally gifted; these will eventually become national leaders.

Beside the spiritual and moral loss in citizenship, there is another overwhelming loss; the financial loss of infant mortality and of future good citizenship lost in the sickly, delinquent children.

So it seems the better part of wisdom to begin early and save for the nation the 10 million children; make them self-supporting and loyal citizens.

President Hoover said: "If we could have but one generation of properly born, trained, educated, healthy children, a thousand other problems of government would vanish.

Complexities of modern life have drained away many of the former responsibilities of home and the majority of handicaps that come to children come through ignorant parents and ill instructed children. If a child is able to stand up under the increased pressure of modern life, he must be physically strong and mentally and spiritually well balanced.

Welfare Workers

Experienced child welfare workers are advising that the proper place to begin child welfare work is in the home. Parents should be trained to parenthood; they must know the physical, mental and emotional needs of a child.

The needs of a child may be named in two things; the need of security and the need of personal achievement. By security, is meant the love of his parents and the protection of his home, and personal achievement means he must have an opportunity of expressing his individuality. Unhappy and inharmonious home conditions have a disastrous effect on children; their serenity and emotional organizations are upset and they become what are termed "behavior problems."

Parents must know the value of regularity in eating, sleeping, health and play habits; that a proper variety in diet is only one of the things that makes a child well nourished. They must know that the lack of care in early childhood cannot be remedied later; "that teeth and bone grow but once"; that young children are susceptible to many diseases which interfere with growth, but from which it is becoming easier to protect them; that many defects of ear, eye, heart, and teeth are preventable by health examination in time; that one of the best assets a human being can have, which may be taught to a very young child, is independence.

Ernest B. Graves said "The home is either the greatest obstacle or the largest assistance to the school." Formerly people lived more at home and a great deal of the education and moral training that was formerly supplied by the home, is undertaken by the school.

Patri says, "Manners and morals are born in the home. Home is primarily the inspiration of character growth. The school has the right to select that contribution from the home."

A specialist in adult education said that "Our motto has been 'Educate all the children of all the people'"; we find we cannot educate all the children without educating all the people.

Coming Dangers

Community life materially effects every child in his contacts. The schools are making valuable contributions, but parents must realize their responsibility. The national government is doing more all the time, but Secretary Wilbur reminds us "No one should get the idea that Uncle Sam is going to rock the baby to sleep."

Unemployment and the demand for economy in the school system will threaten the condition of the American children unless things are soon restored to normalcy. A handicapped school system would destroy years of building. Through the recommendations and influence of the White House Child Welfare conference, Texas has a newly created child welfare department. During the past week, Mrs Violet Greenbill, of Houston, was appointed head of this department. Her duties are defined by the legislature to enforce all laws for the protection of defective, illegitimate, dependent, neglected and delinquent children. Texas is now considered one of the most progressive states in the country in regard to child welfare legislation. We would like to see the 60,000 club women of the state line up in assistance of this department.

May 1 has been designated as National Child Health day by President Hoover; at that time, health round-ups, health clinics and health educational programs will be put on all over the nation. Most of the activities of May day will be built around the "children's charter." The child is our only contact with the future; his health, his environment and his moral character, are our concern and our responsibility.

at Arlington last summer. And that more than 500 posters were made by Fort Worth school children emphasizing the beauty of natural life last year.

SPEAKING of San Angelo's civic campaign, Mrs. Trigg said that old cemeteries and country graveyards were cleaned up, and in this work, unexpected beauty was found in sun glow glass, some of which had been exposed for 50 years.

IN THIS epistle I have so far talked about women and gardens. Now I have something to tell you about children which you probably have never thought about—a quality that they possess and that is loyalty. A well known writer, speaking of the child said:

"A CHILD will stand up for his family and his friends regardless of what may have happened to shake his faith in them. There are more heartbreaks among children through some breach of faith in their loved ones than we can guess.

"TAKE for instance a mother I know who is more interested in bridge and clubs than her home. Not an uncommon thing at all, but this case stands out clearly in my mind at the moment.

"HER boy comes home and gets his own lunch. He also comes in day after day at 4 to find the house cold and empty, then quite regularly at 5 sets the table and begins to dig around for things for supper—in case "Mom doesn't get home in time to get things started."

"A RELATIVE criticised his mother one day in his presence and he shouted in rage, "You shut up. My mother is all right. She works hard and needs to get out and have some fun. Mom's just fine." With that he burst into tears.

"ALMOST as touching is another little boy's devotion to his father. This man swears like a stevedore and the things he shouts at his son are terrible. One day the boys teased him about it, and what do you suppose he answered? "My father's the finest man in the world. You're just jealous because you haven't got him. A little swearing don't hurt anybody none." It wasn't bravado to cover up his feelings. He meant it.

"AND of course, there are the little matters, the thousand things we do to affront our children and which an older person would instantly resent. We impose on them constantly.

Strange that they should be so faithful, idealists that they are."

AND now believing that you will have about all the chit-chat that you can read for one Sunday I am in a hurry to sign myself—

CITY VIEW CLUB HAS PROGRAM ON FRIDAY

Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county home demonstrator, led the City View Home Demonstration club in a lesson on hand laundering at the regular meeting of the club Friday afternoon when the club met at the home of Mrs. T. M. Gafford. Miss Webb gave a discussion for cleaning woolens, silks and other materials and gave methods for removing stains and spots from clothing. She discussed the advantages of homemade soap as to economy, purity, etc., and gave recipes for making both the cold and cooked varieties of soap.

Mrs. Evans gave a report of the county council meeting which was held Saturday at Iowa Park, and told of the plans of the council of home demonstration clubs for doing extension work in the county this year. The council plans to hold four public demonstration schools, each president pledging her club to assist in each respective community in the canning program, and each member is asked to adopt some neighbor to assist in her preparation and completing of her canning budget for the year. Rural women who own their own garden plots, cows, chickens and pigs so as to be able to produce a part of the food supply are eligible to membership in home demonstration clubs, Miss Webb stated, and have a right to the instruction of a county agent, and the privileges of a club in their respective communities. Announcement was made at the meeting of the dress contest which is to be held at Iowa Park on May 31.

Dresses for this contest will be of the tailored, cotton crimp, house dresses, and will be judged on a basis of material, originality and variety of design, workmanship, laundering possibilities and the appearance on the wearer.

This event will begin at 10 o'clock and a basket lunch will be served at the noon hour. Ten prizes will be awarded, the first consisting of a scholarship to the short course offered by A. & M. college.

Other prizes will be offered by the various clubs over the county. Mrs. John Hays and Mrs. Joe Squiers were admitted as new members. Mrs. W. H. Kell was appointed yard demonstrator for the local club. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Joe McKinney on City View drive on April 14 featuring a program on bedroom improvement, Mrs. McKinney being the club bedroom demonstrator for this year.

MRS. FRIBERG HONOREE AT LOVELY LUNCHEON

Mrs. Anna Friberg, pioneer citizen of Wichita Falls, was honor guest at a lovely luncheon given at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. W. Karrenbrock on Ninth street Friday when a three-course menu was served. The affair was in observation of Mrs. Friberg's birthday.

The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion in spring flowers, and covers were laid for Mesdames Anna Friberg, J. H. Simmons, J. J. Simon, W. W. Swarts, G. Byman, W. B. Corlett, E. V. Friberg, G. W. Corkhill, C. W. Parker, Lank Thornberry, M. E. Carey, Emma Corbin, Blanche Steffens of New York, Miss Edmontine Friberg and Barbara Joan Simmons and Milton Karrenbrock.

The Egyptian goose, sometimes observed at an altitude of 35,000 feet, is said to be the highest flier of the bird family.

More Than 60 Children Attend Day Nursery Story Telling Hour

By ELLEN SEE

While many children of Wichita Falls have had their bodies fed and nourished at the day nursery, and while many mothers, who would have otherwise been helpless in their efforts to secure a little work, have had industrial freedom given them by the care of their children, still the feeding of children and their care through each day is not the only objective of the Wichita Falls Day Nursery.

The story hour, conducted by Mrs. M. C. Batey, chairman, each Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, is one of the features pointing to success for the children. Stories have been told recently in the morning sessions by B. D. Donnell, editor of the Wichita Daily Times; James H. Allison, advertising manager, and by Voyle Armstrong of the advertising department. By special request, Mr. Donnell talked to the older children, but at the other hours, the entire personnel of the nursery story lovers, amounting to some 60 odd children, were present and their interest in what a newspaper is and in the clever sketches done for them by Mr. Armstrong, proved Mrs. Beatty's theory that stories and pictures and the interesting things of life, teach children the use of all things in life.

When children reach a high school age, they are no longer kept in the day nursery, which by the way, is the special project of the Federated Missionary society. Those in touch with them are watching their reactions to stories; feeling out the best way to give them the education they need; making a story hour one of the footsteps to success.

The children notice everything; a story of the gulf stream was of intense interest to them. At the time of the Easter story, one small girl asked "Did Judas go to Heaven?" The story teller, who was supposed to be infallible in knowledge, hardly knew how to answer. Fortunately the child did not wait for a direct answer. "He was so sorry," she urged, "he was so sorry that he went and hanged himself."

Questions that will forever settle a child's moral and spiritual beliefs often rise early in their lives. To teach them the right things and fit them to go out unafraid into the world is the project of the story telling hour.

One remembers, when he considers how little he has done for the children who have the wrong background at home, the old words, "Ye have heard; ye have seen; what have ye done?"

Health Teacher Talks at Alamo P.-T. A. Meeting

Methods of grading and training pupils in health were explained by Miss Alma Abernathy, health teacher, to the Alamo P.-T. A. at their regular meeting held Friday afternoon.

"A school needs annual dental and physical examinations. The cultivation of health habits should be stressed rather than the mere knowledge of health. There are two ways to obtain beneficial results, health charts and inspection by a health officer chosen from the class," said Miss Abernathy.

An interesting and instructive display of health posters was presented by 19 boys and girls under the supervision of Miss Louise Sims, art teacher.

The Scripture reading and prayer was given by Mrs. Paul Putty.

Mrs. H. S. Gray, president, announced that the Alamo P.-T. A. will sponsor a group of Shakespearean plays to be given at the school by Alamo pupils April 8 under the direction of Mrs. Ella Merle Mathis Bristol.

A letter was read from Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, president of the 13th district, announcing the program for the district convention which will meet in Quanah April 12-13, and urging as many delegates as could to attend.

Mrs. Val Land, sponsor chairman, announced the appointment of several new room sponsors and also gave a detailed account of the attendance on "father's night."

Mrs. E. C. Stirman, welfare chairman, gave an itemised account of the clothes she has distributed among the underprivileged children and made a call for shirts, overalls and wash dresses.

Mrs. O. M. Pierce, treasurer, gave a report for the past two months and announced that we have $30 in our special lunch fund.

J. E. Park, principal, announced the school board election for Saturday, April 2, and urged mothers and teachers to vote.

Mrs. H. S. Gray, president, thanked teachers, mothers and officers for their cooperation at all times through the school year.

It was announced that Miss Roundtree's room won first place in attendance and Miss Cook's second place.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HAVE WORK ON EXHIBIT

Some interesting linoleum block prints and copper book ends done by students of the senior high school art department are being displayed in the windows of Lovelace Bookstore. Imagination and skill were required to develop these problems in applied design and buildings in Wichita Falls were the inspiration for many prints.

The process, now being taught in the high school by Miss Ima Pendergrass, is the same used by the Chinese centuries ago, with linoleum block as a substitute for the cherry wood used by that nation. Lacking the tools for carving by the Chinese, the students made a press by standing on the block after the inking had been done.

It is the aim of the art department to function in the every day life of the student. A gifted student is never overlooked. A textile design done by Kenneth Lee, 1929-30, traveled that year in the national high school art exhibit, sponsored by the Scholastic magazine. The work of Charles Ware for the college year book has been outstanding this year. Engravers claim his pencil drawing is professional in character.

AND CRISP NEW CURTAINS, TOO

Then of course you will want at least a few new bedroom curtains. P. B. M.'s have some. Dainty and simple and in all pastel shades—and the prices range from 79 cents to $1.95. Oh, my what a difference just a pair of curtains make and what a difference in those at P. B. M.'s.

VACUUM UP!

For goodness sakes use a vacuum to clean the rugs with, and when I say VACUUM CLEANER I say GENERAL ELECTRIC from THE TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY. And mercy me, when we're talking about cleaning, you need one of these WHIRLPOOL WASHERS—and here is a tip—they have some reconditioned ones at THE TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE CO.—for only $47.50. Ask about them.

NOW LET ME SEE, YOU WILL NEED

an extra supply of cleaners. You know the family of dirt chasers—SOAP, POWDERS, and furniture oils. Don't forget BAILEY-MOLINE'S is the place to go. What a complete line of groceries they have, too, and whee, the low prices! Oh, yes, get your mops and brooms there too—I do want things cleaned and BAILEY-MOLINE'S is the place to help you to get them that way.

NEW FURNITURE! WHAT A HELP.

Clean out the old furniture and let FREEAR'S put in the new. What is the new song? "Potatoes Are Cheaper, Tomatoes Are Cheaper, Now Is the Time to Fall in Love," and now is the time to buy NEW FURNITURE — especially the time to see that the front porch looks all right. Yeemam a perfect setting is on display at Freear's. Yes, cheaper in price but not in quality.

A GARDEN YOU MUST HAVE

And when you plant your garden do not forget to use some VIGORO, THE SPECIALLY PREPARED PLANT FOOD. Did you know that VIGORO contains just the necessary materials for luxuriant plant growth. Let MARICLE COAL AND FEED CO. tell you how Vigoro stops plant starvation. And it is so easy to use, too. You will be so surprised.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR THE SHOW—

And now is the time to see SIDNEY FOX, BELA LUGOSI and LEON WAYCOFF in the strange drama dealing with a terrible crime in Paris. Yes, "MURDERS IN THE RUE MORGUE" is now appearing at the STATE. This is one of the strangest pictures ever shown—you must see it.

ROUT THE MOTHS—PREPARE FOR SUMMER

And while you are cleaning up—'tis time to put away those blankets and quilts—but before you do, call 8177 for SHEPHERD'S to clean them and seal them up in moth proof bags. It is also time to put those winter things in the FUR AND STORAGE VAULT at SHEPHERD'S. Call them about it or go see this special cedar lined vault.

A SILLY QUESTION YOU MAY SAY

But don't forget its reason. The spring of the year is personal inventory time. Take a look at your home, your yard and yourself. How many of these things do you need to do? Now next week when clean-up week is all over it will be time to say "Let's play ball." Here's to a home run.

WICHITA FALLS BUSINESS WOMEN AID IN NATIONAL EVENT

National Business Women's Week to Begin Monday Signalizes Century Steady Progress Women in America

D. A. R. Chapter Meets at Forum Saturday Noon

With Mesdames Lula Bristol, W. J. Burt, G. T. Buchanan, Fred Couper, Sterling Crumpler and D. G. Whitney hostesses, members of the Major Francis Grice chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution enjoyed a delightful patriotic program and luncheon at the Forum clubhouse Saturday, observing "Flag Day."

The table was beautifully centered with honeysuckle, ivy, plum blossoms and flags, with runners of red, white and blue crepe paper in the center, and other bouquets of daisies, blue hydrangia and columbine were used.

Featuring the program, members of the Martha Jefferson chapter of the Children of the American Revolution, presented their one-act comedy, "Mistress Penelope." The play was directed by Mrs. Sterling Crumpler, and the children were assisted by Joe Witherspoon. The plot of the play was laid in a Quaker school room, and the pupils answered to roll call with their colonial ancestral names. Those taking part were Dorothy Apple, Lucille Waggoner, Helen De Montel, Dorothy and Jane McGown, Margaret Wilson, Katherine Reid, Billy Sue Burt, Jadelle Gaines, Mary Hyatt, Annabelle and Mary Harrell, Patsy McGregor and Vollie Jeane Cain.

Following the comedy, Mrs. Sterling Crumpler, assisted by Walter Bachman, both in costume, gave the flag code and drill. Mrs. J. W. Burt made a short talk and said that the play was given in memory of Mrs. Darrell Lothrop, founder of the national society, who shared honors with Mrs. S. H. Burnside, founder of the local chapter. She also gave an interesting resume of the origin of the United States flag, which she said was gleaned from those of 13 other nations, which were shown by Mesdames Crumpler and Bachman.

Members present were Mesdames C. L. Apple, Walter Bachman, C. E. Borland, E. C. De Montel, S. Y. Ferguson, E. T. Duff, J. E. Hall, John R. Hyatt, J. K. Naylor, Paul Pond, J. L. Downing, C. W. Beavers, R. J. Irvine, John L. Waggoner, Winthrop Rogers, Ethel Robertson, J. E. H. Railey, Carrie Wilcox, A. C. Ludlam, G. K. Wilson, Eleanor Pace, H. C. Fulcher, D. C. Copelin, C. H. Reid, Merle Waggoner, G. C. McGown and C. C. Arnold and the hostesses.

By DOROTHY NOLEN

"When the Century of Progress exposition opens in Chicago in 1933 it will turn a figurative spotlight upon a century of women's progress. The last world's fair found women engaged in a battle for their rights, and today they exhibit their contributions to the world's work." So begins an article written by Julia Blanchard.

Think of it, today 5,000,000 women are joining forces to produce an adequate exhibit of how monumental a piece of work the women have done. These huge plans seem a far cry from the small representation women had in the world fair in 1893. Then the exhibits had to do with some "cause" such as woman's suffrage, temperance, woman's rights to be a physician, engineer or to enter whatever field of work she wanted.

This week is known as National Business Women's week, which was created as a means of paying homage to this group who are now active in nearly every conceivable branch of commerce.

The splendid records made by women in business during the last decade have served to prove that women are capable both physically and mentally of holding positions of great responsibility and trust. In addition to this a young woman in business today is looked up to with respect and admiration, where in former generations women in business were practically an unknown quality.

Blazing New Trails

Each day we read where a woman has blazed a new trail—and laugh this off, men—when an expedition set out recently to scale Kilimajaro, Africa's highest peak, the only member of the party to climb 19,000 feet to the top of the mountain was a woman—male members were overcome at 17,000—another mark for woman.

Now, we could talk on and on about Dr. Mary Emma Woolley, who was recently named as arms delegate by President Hoover, or bring to mind the social work which is being done by Jane Addams, or tell about the internationally known fashionist, who has the honor of being the world's first television fashion editor, or tell of the many others who have managed to fill all types of positions with dignity and distinction, but we want to take this space to talk about the places filled by women in Wichita Falls, for the women who operate businesses in our city have agreed to join in the nationwide celebration of Women's Business week which has been officially proclaimed for the week of April 14.

Just to mention a few, the following businesses are well and ably represented in Wichita Falls: Georgianna Shoppe, Ruth-Nan Shoppe, Cargill Book store, Humphrey Printing company, Elwyn Inc., Nelly Shop, Malone's Bob and Beauty shop, Excelsis Beauty shop, Eleventh Street Beauty shop, Betty Lou Beauty Salon and Albright Transfer company. Other lines of business in which women are active in Wichita Falls are groceries, cafes, dry cleaning, gift shop, physicians and county officers. It seems Wichita Falls has a representation of many talented women to join in this National Business week.

BIG GREY WOLF WHICH WAS MENACE TO HERDS TRAPPED IN ARKANSAS

For a long while it had been a menace to herds, raiding pastures, barnyards and hog pens with great boldness. The wolf weighed 75 pounds, stood 31 inches high and measured five feet long.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

A Job Is Offered to Sue

Sue removed the check from her pocketbook and looked at it again. Arnold Page had made it too large. She was still holding it in her hand when she dialed the Page residence. Arnold Page answered the telephone.

"This is Sue Thornton," she told him. "Jack just called me. He's better today. I'm not going, so I want to return your check. Shall I bring it out, or mail it?"

"Suppose you just tear it up?" he suggested. "If you need a loan I would be mighty glad to have you keep it."

"Oh, no! Thank you just as much as though I had taken it, but I don't want to owe any money. And I would rather give it to you and let you tear it up."

"You would?" He laughed. "But why?"

"Then you will see that it's really gone."

"That's going to be rather difficult to do. I'm leaving town this afternoon for a week or two. I just got word a little while ago . . . after you had gone. I'm to help with some research work in a field I've covered pretty thoroughly. I don't think I will be able to make it out to your house . . . Tear up the check."

"Well . . . all right."

"By the way, while we are talking, I might as well make a request I've been wanting to make. You're an expert typist, I hear. And you said yourself that you are rich in time. How would you like to help me with my book? I have to find some one, and you are intelligent as well as capable, thank fortune. Sometimes people aren't."

"If there is anything I can do to help, I'll be glad to," Sue offered generously.

"A couple of hours a day would be plenty. And I'll see that the salary satisfies you," the man's cordial, rather brotherly tones, went on.

"But I don't want any money!" Sue answered, surprised. "This is just to help you. I'll be glad to do it."

"I would have to pay some one. Why not you?" he came back. "We'll talk about that later."

For the second time within half an hour Sue turned away from the telephone a little puzzled. She knew that she couldn't accept Arnold Page's offer. Jack wouldn't want her to work. He had expressly asked her not to do so. But she had plenty of time . . . and there were so many bills . . . If she had had some extra money in this emergency she would not have had to ask her friends for a loan.

"I can't accept the offer! Of course I can't," she repeated to herself. "That's that, and that's the end of it. Still . . . but I can't!"

She saw the mailman coming, and opened the door to receive the mail. A thin blue envelope. That was the bill for the dining room rug. She recognized the name in the corner. Half of the bill was still unpaid. A heavier gray envelope. That came from the decorator who had done the walls of the house. Two or three white ones. Only one personal letter in the whole group.

"If I had a job I could get rid of them," Sue told herself.

She went up the stairs to her room, and sat down on the chaise longue that stood along the windows. The room seemed to bring Jack nearer. His things were mixed with hers. His face came drifting from a corner of the room. His gray eyes, adoring, loving, confiding . . .

No, she couldn't take the job. Not if Jack didn't want her to accept it.

The doorbell downstairs was ringing.

VARSITY NEWS

By BETTY LOVE RUGELEY

AUSTIN, April 2.—At last the excitement of the sweetheart election is over and Miss Mary Tom Blackwood has received the honor of "sweetheart of the University of Texas."

Miss Blackwood is a freshman in the university and is a pledge of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. Her home is in Alexandria, La. In a popular election on Friday, in which only 2,500 votes were cast, Miss Blackwood received a majority of votes over the other four nominees. However, the identity of the winner was kept a secret until it was formally announced at the all-university dance on Saturday night.

Fred Couper of Wichita Falls announced and introduced "the sweetheart" to the many students who were waiting anxiously for the news. Mr. Couper is a senior law student and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The election of Miss Blackwood completes the list of Southwest conference "sweethearts," who will come to the university for the round-up in April and be presented for the ball and revue on Friday night, April 17.

The other girls who will be honored on that occasion are Miss Kate Jenkins of Southern Methodist university, Miss Cary Baker of Rice institute, Miss Margaret Reeder of Texas Christian university, Miss Nancy Aynesworth of Baylor and Miss Sarah Orth from Texas A. & M. college.

Miss Sarah Orth, who is coming from A. & M., is the great niece of Mrs. Thomas Orth of Wichita Falls.

More people were present at the pre-Easter German than at any other this spring. Herman Waldeman and his orchestra from San Antonio furnished the music for the occasion. Among those who attended the dance was Miss Dorothy Bunkley of Stamford, Miss Doris Bell of Graham, Miss Ruth Jenkins from Floydada, Miss Helen Lyles from Stamford and James Moore, Bill Hood, Fred Couper, I. D. Brown, Charles Warmon, Frank Bains, Hamlin Rugeley, Emmett Bauknight, Henry Anderson of Wichita Falls, Bill Bell of Graham, Bill Montgomery of Chillicothe, Herman Jones of Decatur, Glenn Street, Ed Graham of Graham and Keith Chunn of Electra.

Quite a few of the Wichita Falls students went home to spend Easter day. Miss Mary Elizabeth Donnell visited with her parents and friends in Wichita Falls.

Bertha Mae and Aaron Krueger were the guests of their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Krueger, of Wichita Falls, this week-end.

Clint Broday spent the week-end with his family, as did Jack Wilson and Jim Martin, all of Wichita Falls.

Ralph Harvey was in Wichita Falls to spend the Easter week-end and he had as his guest Sam Roberts of San Antonio.

More than 20 committees are actively at work preparing for the features of the round-up. Bob Maxey of Lubbock, formerly of Wichita Falls is designing the scenery which is to be used for the operetta, "Firefly," on Saturday night. Mr. Maxey also has one of the leading parts in the operetta.

April 1 will mean more than All Fool's day to Shelby Kritzer, freshman engineering student in the university, for on that day he will start for Detroit on a seven days' air trip, which he gained by winning the aviation contest sponsored by the San Antonio Light company.

Many university students have been interested in learning the plans and seeing the itinerary which Miss Elizabeth Brown has made out concerning her annual trip to Europe. For several years Miss Brown has conducted a private tour over the continent, and she will continue her same tour, with all first class accommodations this year at a lower price than ever before. Miss Brown is an instructor in Wichita Falls Junior college, but her home is in Austin. She is an ex-student of the university and has many friends who are interested in her trips.

Miss Betsy Lee of Wichita Falls and Miss Dorothy Bunkley of Stamford have recently received bids to the Reagan Literary society. Miss Lee is a pledge of Pi Beta Phi and Miss Bunkley a pledge of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Both are residents of S. R. D.

The Men's Glee club left Austin on Thursday for their annual tour of South Texas, where they will have concerts until the middle of next week.

Twenty-eight students were ill in University hospitals on Easter day, and among that number was Miss Dorothy Bennett of Dallas, formerly of Wichita Falls, and Miss Marguerite Sheldon of San Antonio, also formerly of Wichita Falls. Both students, however, were attending classes during the week.

Members of the University Light Opera company presented two skits from their forthcoming production, "The Firefly," on Tuesday night. Taking part in these skits were Bill Hood of Wichita Falls, Keith Chunn of Electra and Robert Maxey.

April 1 has more dances scheduled to its credit than any other day of the school year. The Little Campus dormitory will entertain with its annual spring dance Friday night in their gymnasium, with Steve Gardner furnishing the music. Among the hosts for this occasion are Tom and Dean Cunningham of Electra, Henry Hall of Wichita Falls and Duncan Fulton of Wichita Falls.

Members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity will entertain with an informal spring dance at the chapter house and Fred Gardner will furnish the music. James Harvey of Wichita Falls, Bob Maxey of Lubbock and Glenn Street, Ed Graham of Graham.

Alpha Delta Pi will have its formal spring dance in honor of its pledges at the Austin Country club on Friday night. Mrs. Dorothy Peckham of Wichita Falls, Miss Doris Bell of Graham, Miss Ruth Jenkins of Floydada, Miss Betty Montgomery of Chillicothe, Miss Grace Eyres and Miss Doris Culler will be among the hostesses.

Members of the Students Sunday club are having their monthly dance at Gregg house on Friday night. Miss Helen Lyles of Stamford and Bill Strong are in charge of the affair.

Intramural sports are being actively participated in this spring. Tennis seems to be the outstanding and favorite game. Representing their fraternities, Ed Graham, Kappa Sig, of Graham, and Aaron Krueger of Wichita Falls, playing for Phi Sigma Delta, have scheduled games this week.

Two hundred and ninety-five students have applied for their bachelors degree this June. Twenty-eight students are getting their degrees in journalism, 14 in home economics and eight in medicine. Of these students is Mrs. Louise Mangham Ammann, Macon Boddy of Henrietta, Ford Chauncey, Don Ruth Coffee, Nora Fie of Graham, Bill Hood, Mrs. Doorthy Peckham, Ruth Turley, Elizabeth Beumler.

Helen Lyles, president of the Grace Hall girls, has announced that the dormitory will hold open house the latter part of April.

The Scottish Rite dormitory girls entertained their friends with a five-course dinner at the noon hour on Easter day. The dining room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the girls who enjoyed the occasion were Helen Cline, Marjorie Vincent, Miselle Hodge of Wichita Falls and Dorothy Bunkley of Stamford.

One hundred and thirteen candidates have applied for their master of arts degree in June. Of this list no one was named from Wichita Falls.

"I've nothing to do at all. I just carries a load of bricks up the ladder to the brick layer, and he does all the work."—Answers.

OKMULGEE JUDGE HELD ON CHARGE OF SALARY FRAUD

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 2. (AP)—Mark L. Bozarth, Okmulgee district judge, today was charged with obtaining money by false pretense in a complaint filed before E. L. Lippert, justice of the peace.

The charge, filed by Lewis R. Morris, county attorney, grew out of alleged double collection of salary by Bozarth over a three-months period. Morris signed the complaint after a conference with Frank Carter, state auditor, and after a trip to Okmulgee to investigate.

Bozarth was charged specifically with drawing a bogus warrant for $416.66 Dec. 28. The figure represents one month's salary.

The auditor charged that Bozarth, after assigning his salary warrants to the Exchange National bank of Henryetta, had filed duplicate claims with the state auditor for salary payments in October, November and December. Bozarth denied any intention to defraud.

BOOKS and MAGAZINES AS TEXANS SEE THEM

With the Magazines

By L. N. C.

"Giver of Bread," written by Frances Hopkinson Keyes in the April Delineator, makes every woman want to know more of Eleanor Roosevelt, who has a much more intriguing personality than that of her husband, Theodore Jr. As a little girl, she was so intensely patriotic, that when asked by a friend who was going to America what she wished for a birthday gift (her father was attached in legal capacity to a French embassy), she said a box of real American dirt, which she received with tenderness and used in her garden.

In Porto Rico she is known literally as a "giver of bread."

You may learn how to prevent damage from moths and how to help a child slow in talking, as well as how to put a "rose petal finish" on your face in the April Good Housekeeping. But the lovely feature of the magazine, one appreciated by Texans and Wichitans in particular, is Grace Noll Crowell's front page illustrated poem, "Someone Had Prayed."

"Many times, their hearts," she writes, "find sudden peace and rest."

Robert E. Sherwood, who writes of Hollywood in McCalls, says, "It will be seen that neither the talkie upheavel nor the black depression has altered the fact that success comes to those who persistently earn it, even in Hollywood. Those who were really good in former, happier, less complicated times are still good; those who were otherwise have had the misfortune to be exposed by the advent of adversity."

The Saturday Evening Post of April 2 put the wrong foot forward in the leading article by I. F. Marcosson, who interviewed Kreuger, "the match king," and Mr. Kreuger, explained why ignorance of actual conditions caused a sort of hysteria abroad. Poor man! He explained the 'way out,' then took what he probably found to be the only way. It is a good thing, at times, not to be so prominent.

We like Will Rogers' "Diagnosis" of the Chinese situation and Chinamen in the same magazine. He states they have mastered "mass production," with a population of over 400 million. "War, famine, drouth, disease" take care of the surplus, he says.

Christopher Morley, writing in the April Atlantic, tells of his meeting with Joseph Conrad when the great novelist paid his visit to America. In his article, entitled "Two Enthusiasms," Morley says: "Conrad had sailed almost everywhere else, but never crossed the North Atlantic until he came to New York in the Tuscania in 1923. This was Conrad's first experience of modern liners, and, while he paid tribute to every cunning device of comfort and precaution that marks our great steamships, the old master in sail spoke in his final comment that hotel life is much the same everywhere.

"A number of newspaper men went down the bay in the revenue cutter to meet the Tuscania at quarantine. I had 'The Mirror of the Sea' in my pocket, and Captain Bone wrote in it a formal ship-master's manifest: 'Duly delivered at New York, in good order and condition, Capt. Joseph Conrad. David Wm. Bone, Master, H. M. S. Tuscania, May Day, 1923.' This was witnessed in signature by the invoice himself."

The New Yorker may not be a magazine for the intelligentsia, but it is one for any one who likes cleverness. (We do not always recommend the pictures).

One of the brightest remarks we ever encountered about criticism is contained in the preface to the Shaw-Terry letters, written by old Snoops himself, says Talk of the Town. "Critics," says Shaw, "like dentists, are a good deal occupied in hurting sensitive people in sensitive places; and as they have to do it in an entertaining manner, which no doubt gives them an air of enjoying it, they produce an impression of Sadism." Dr. Sirovich shouldn't be so easily taken in by the critics' air of enjoying their work. They don't enjoy their work; and they know that if they write bad reviews they soon won't have any work not to enjoy.

As usual, the New Yorker's pages are filled with alluring advertisements. One can get darling dresses for a little more than a week's salary, and as to riding a town car that fits New Yorker readers, is only $4,250. We are at least glad seome one can buy.

We have never yet agreed with anything the New Yorker cinema critic says. We have come to the opinion that if he says a play is no good, we must see it, or otherwise.

The New Yorker has, nowever, what no other magazine has, "A Conscientious Calendar of Events Worth While." It may be true.

From the Pathfinder of April 2, we pluck these facts:

Will Rogers was christened William Penn Adair, Jane Cowl was Grace A. Bailey before she married. Hedda Hopper's real name was Elda Furry. Emil Ludwig's real surname is Cohn. That of Henry Santry is Henry Grodsky. Al Katz the name of the orchestra leader, is whittled down from Albert George Katzenberger. Walter Catlett was once known to his family as Timothy Noonan. And the real name of Achmed Abdullah, the writer, is—now get this straight!—Capt. Syyed Shaykh Achmed Abdullah Nadir el-Iddris-ayich el Durani.

Think of Will Rogers under his entire name.

This has a human touch—also from the Pathfinder:

One of the world's oldest horses died recently at Kempville, Canada. "Old Fred," reputed to be 43 years old, was owned by Harold G. Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner to London. "Mike," lone survivor of the tank wagon horses of a St. Louis oil company, has been pensioned by the firm's board of directors.

One more thing and we have done. Harper's for April has an article on political playacting that's worth any one's reading. It goes:

How little we realize as we read the daily accounts of congressional or parliamentary debates, how important to the successful leader are his power as an actor, and how these leaders early adopt the "character" best suited to them is explained in an article "Confessions of an M. P." in the April number of Harpers magazine, by Mary Agnes Hamilton, who describes how some of these parliamentary actors get their effects.

"Any one can see MacDonald, Lloyd George, or James Maxton using their personalities, their voices, their appearance, to contribute to and help to make, their effects," says Miss Hamilton. "But in point of fact the harsh-edged 'honesty' of Philip Snowden (as one must still call him), his calculated rudeness, his trick of putting out his tongue when speaking with real venom; the legalistic sweetness and the professional charm of Sir John Simon; the suave reasonableness of Sir Herbert Samuel; the dry and 'incorruptible' logic of Mr. Walter Runciman; the childlike loquacity and shrill noise of Lady Astor—all are used as means for impressing their personality, and through it their ideas, on their hearers. Nor is there any subterfuge or trickery in this; it is part of the technic which must be used, to the extent to which he is master of it, by every public performer."

Wichita Falls Poet

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, who has been responding to requests of clubs here and abroad who wish a group of her original readings, has a ready market at hand for all she has time to write.

Recent sales have included a biography and a poem to "Vivions"; published in Los Angeles, Calif.; a poem, "Twilight," published in Oklahoma; a poem to "Arcadia," an Indiana publication; one to "Expression Magazine," published in New Jersey and a recent poem in the Amarillo News Globe.

The Tribute Publishing company at Lakeland, Fla., requested a poem from Mrs. Stevens and she sold them one entitled "Tribute to Mothers."

Mrs. Stevens, who writes under the name of "Pearl Moore Stevens," is as capably beautiful a reader as she is fluent writer. She was nominated for the Texas state laureate and had a large number of votes for that office.

The Golden Rule of Business

"PRICING FOR PROFIT," by W. L. Churchill. The Macmillan Co. $3.00.

Any period of serious business readjustment such as the present inevitably brings its onslaught of books, articles, and speeches suggesting causes and proposing remedies. Out of the mass of materials offered there are usually few items of sane and steady interpretation, free from sensationalism and quick remedies and yet practical in pointing remediable causes and workable improvements. Such a book is "Pricing for Profit," by W. L. Churchill, economist and business counsellor—a book which strikes the reviewer as a common sense yet keen examination into the psychology underlying producer, retailer, and consumer behavior. In both language and statement of principles it is an intelligent contribution to the task of establishing sound business practice, whether or not one always agrees with the author.

"Profit has become a term that in many quarters is considered a reproach. The reason is that the term profit is applied where the word plunder would be more appropriate and expressive." These statements, together with the notion that "pricing for profit" in every case is the only principle fair either to producer or consumer, set the theme for the book. "Pricing for profit" is the golden rule for business, whether applied to goods, labor, or other services, according to the author, and any violation of this principle will ultimately result in economic pain to the violator.

As proof of the relative instability of American business methods Churchill cites the fact that less than 4 per cent of business firms last as long as 30 years without undergoing reorganization which means financial loss to the owners, a large number being very short-lived. Faulty business methods causing a frightful mortality, says the author, also cause depressions such as the present, which he holds to be thoroughly avoidable and for which he proceeds to give courageous remedies. Coming from a practical man with achievements of the very type proposed and not from a mere arm-chair theorist, the book is a tonic to any reader interested in the nation's business welfare—and that includes all of us.

The golden rule may not strike some as always practical business. But Churchill cites a convincing array of actual examples of businesses and business practices, both large and small, of attempts to gain by methods such as wage cutting, ruinously underpricing competitors, false or deceptive standards of profit computing, unjustified sales quotas, manufacturers failing to take their shares of responsibility in fixing retail prices, underestimating the importance of attaining good will through honest business methods, uneconomic production schedules, careless advertising and other sins against economics and psychology—each one of which resulted in the breakdown and failure of the firms involved.

True profit is defined as "value in excess of all real cost," as "surplus effort available for the improvement in living standards and culture, and for physical, material and cultural progress." When profits are cut below these standards, there is nothing left for future growth, and a crash has to come. Illustrations are cited from the oil, auto, and textile industries to show how, as long as sensible profit-taking prevailed, business prospered but how, as soon as these ideals were dropped, trouble came along, followed by a great depression, with its vicious cycle of wage reductions, resulting reduced buying power, and in turn reduced operations due to decreasing markets.

Finally, the book is full of practical suggestions for business building, figuring fair prices and fair profits, setting up selling organizations, and of shaping producing and retailing phases so as to insure life-sustaining returns to business while at the same time playing fair with the consuming public. The trouble will be, of course, to get the world to listen and to follow!—R. O. J.

PEEPING AT NEW BOOKS THROUGH UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

LITERARY KNOT-HOLE

By LORENA DRUMMOND

Bound in Aquamarine Blue

Blurbed as the "amazing and amusing story of a boy prodigy by a man who has been one" is the novel Great Scott, by Horace Wade, just published by Lincin MacVeagh of the Dial Press.

Like the hero, or more accurately, the central character of this volume, the author "wrote his first novel, and had it published, too, at the tender age of 11," and apparently this is that novel.

Without doubt, such prodigies as the exasperating and obnoxious Walter Scott Hugo do exist, and it is conceivable that such blithering idiots as his parents, sister and her fiancee also have their being, but Mr. Wade's novel would never convince one of the fact. The puppets he manipulates are crudely fashioned and the strings which control them far too obvious.

Mr. Wade appears to be an experienced and facile writer. He glides smoothly and rapidly over the surface of a very thin plot, aided by an extensive vocabulary which includes a wide assortment of trite similes and split infinitives.

To quote the publisher again, "he knows how to tell a story." Indeed he does, and it is quite plainly just like the bear story that Alex "maked up, all by himself." This may be reality but doesn't sound like it. However, if you need a book in a very pleasing aquamarine blue binding to complete the color scheme of your library or guest room, this one just fills the bill.

Great Scott, by Horace Wade. Lincoln MacVeagh, the Dial Press, New York, $2.

Literature should undoubtedly receive a significant stimulus during the coming year, when more than a dozen Guggenheim Memorial Foundation awards go to writers of novels, poetry, folklore, biography and other literary forms. Three of these have been made to persons in whom Texas has an unusual interest, one of whom is still connected with the University of Texas, the other two of whom were formerly teachers in that institution. J. Frank Dobie, author of Coronado's Children and other folk-lore collections, received a fellowship for the collection of tales told by Mexicans in Northern Mexico and the preparation of a book which will reflect the character and the history of these people and their country. Dr. Arturo Torres-Rioseco, who has served on the summer faculty of the university several times, received an award for a study of the Spanish-American novel. Howard Mumford Jones, former member of the university English faculty, was given a fellowship to write a life of Thomas Moore.

Other literary awards included those made to the following: Lewis Mumford, for a book on Form; Evelyn Scott, author of A Calendar of Sin; Louis Adamic and Mrs. Caroline Tate, author of Penhally, each for the writing of a novel; H. L. Davis, for a historical-dramatic poem; Dr. Isaac Goldberg for a history of the modern literature of Spanish and Portugese America; Owen Lattimore, the explorer; William Henry Chamberlain, for a history of the Russian revolution; Dr. Norman Lewis Torrey, for a literary biography of Voltaire, and Dr. Edwin Hermann Zeydel, for a life of Ludwig Tieck, German poet and critic.

—in engineering—in performance—in value

CHRYSLER has done things to modern motoring that will, now or later, affect all motor car engineering.

For Chrysler, with Floating Power engine mountings—and with many other vitally important engineering developments—has inaugurated a sweeping change in the spirit, pace and "feel" of modern motor car performance.

Chrysler has given performance a new glamour—a new sensation. A ride in a Chrysler is unlike a ride in any other motor car. It isn't only the stirring experience of Chrysler pick-up and speed—it's the way it feels. It's the smoothness of it, the silence of it—a sensation beyond words.

One ride in a Chrysler and you'll never feel the same way about the performance of any other car. Changes your notions about ease of steering. Changes your opinions about ease and silence of shifting gears. Changes your ideas about brakes—about spring action—about roadability—about a lot of things.

It's all a matter of basic engineering—a matter of leading the way to new value and new results. Step into a new Chrysler today and learn what has happened in modern motor car achievement.

'Tarzan, the Ape Man' at Majestic Followed by 'Tough to Be Famous'; 'Murders in Rue Morgue' at State

Where is the secret burial ground of the elephants—the mysterious place somewhere back of beyond where wild elephants go to die, and dying leave a fortune in ivory to be found by the first comer? Don't look in the atlas. Go to the Majestic where "Tarzan, the Ape Man" reveals the secret.

Perhaps you know the story of "Tarzan"—the young white savage, growing up in the heart of the jungle, taught jungle ways by his friends the apes, and learning of the existence of white men like himself only when a company of venturesome ivory-hunters pierces a way to his retreat. Edgar Rice Burroughs' story has delighted many a reader, and inspired an earlier picture. But this Metro "talkie" is new and different. Preserving the original plot—for lovers of "Tarzan" would surely resent any tampering with his history—the producers have enhanced the dramatic values and added unexpected thrills.

To add to your enjoyment you will see "Beyond the Horion," with Vincent Lopez and his orchestra; "The Brassie" featuring Bobbie Jones and Majestic news events.

"Tough to Be Famous"

"Tough to Be Famous" starting at the Majestic next Tuesday is the latest starring vehicle of Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Young Fairbanks once made the statement that he would not use the name of his famous father as a means to success on the screen and has proven by his many past performances including "Union Depot," he has more than lived up to the Fairbanks name. He has a very pleasing personality and is at his best in "Tough to Be Famous."

Fairbanks is very ably supported by Mary Brian in his fast moving, snappy picture.

Other features include "Babbling Brooks," an act; "Red, Red Robin," a singsong, a pictorial novelty and Paramount news in sound.

"One Hour With You"

Do you prefer to watch Maurice Chevalier when he's smiling the famous, insouciant, infectious Chevalier smile, or when he's looking worried and puzzled and appealing to you to tell him what in the world to do? Some people like him best one way, some another—and everybody will be pleased with his new picture, "One Hour With You," which comes to the Majestic next Friday.

For "One Hour With You" Paramount has again arranged the happy combination of Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald and Ernst Lubitsch that made "The Love Parade" such a smashing success. And for good measure, "One Hour With You" adds the vivacious and very, very pretty Genevieve Tobin, the ever-popular Charlie Ruggles and that skillful stage player Roland Young.

In addition you will see "Pottsville Palooka," a Mack Sennett comedy; "The Driver," featuring Bobby Jones and Majestic news events.

"MURDERS IN RUE MORGUE" COMES TO STATE SUNDAY

As a writer of weird and gruesome mystery stories, Edgar Allen Poe stands alone at the head of American authors. His morbid tales have never been excelled either in ingenuity of plot or in powerful description of horror. Perhaps the most famous of these stories is "Murders in the Rue Morgue," that horrifying tale of the most ghastly crimes in the history of Paris. "Murders in the Rue Morgue," after months of preparation, has found its way to the screen in one of the most daringly film stories in the history of the industry. Its producers, assisted by the wonders of modern science have enlarged on Poe's strange imaginative story and the result is, in a sense, horrifying, yet strangely entertaining.

"Murders in the Rue Morgue" opens at the State Sunday for a three-day engagement. Sidney Fox, recently seen here in "Strictly Dishonorable," has the leading feminine role, and Bela Lugosi, who astounded the world with his role in "Dracula," has the outstanding male role. The balance of the cast includes Brandon Hurst, Leon Waycoff and Bert Roach.

"Corsair"

Wednesday the State attraction will be "Corsair" featuring Chester Morris, Thelma Todd and Allison Lloyd. "Corsair" presents Morris in one of the most unusual stories ever to reach the screen—that of a college athlete, idol of his sweetheart and pride of the college. But big business mowed him down and his heiress sweetheart mocked his failure. Revengefully he turns against the world to become a modern Captain Kidd.

Knew Just Enough

Father (to daughter's boy friend)—George, do you know anything about electricity? The lights have blown out.

Daughter—It's no good asking me.

'Yellow Ticket' Promises Pathos Thrills, Romance

Romance, intrigue, charm and pathos are elements that make "The Yellow Ticket," opening its engagement at the Gem theater Sunday, a picture of unusual entertaining quality.

Elissa Landi, the beautiful and talented daughter of an Austrian countess, novelist and emotional actress, portrays the leading feminine role, with Lionel Barrymore and Laurence Olivier handsome newcomer from the London stage, in the principal male parts. Other notables of the screen in the cast are Walter Byron, Rita La Roy and Sarah Padden.

"The Yellow Ticket" reveals a true and dramatic picture of the days of barbaric splendor in Russia an uncolored etching of the most autocratic period in modern history.

It depicts the dramatic adventures of a beautiful and virtuous peasant girl who failing to secure a passport to visit her father who is dying in a distant prison, accepts a yellow ticket which permits scandalous women to travel any place unhampered.

Eventually she falls in love with a handsome English newspaper correspondent and becomes his secretary, but she cannot escape the police. She becomes so enmeshed in a web spun for her by its insidious head that she is, at last, forced to shoot him.

How she escapes the horrible fate that awaits her, offers one of the most startling denouements ever presented on the screen.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Vaudeville Bill Boys' Club Show To Be Interesting

The vaudeville program of the Wichita Falls Boys club is complete and the boys are ready to go next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Grovo wrestling arena, 607 Scott.

The first act will introduce the Wichita Falls Boys Club Glee club and they will sing a number of popular songs. George Taylor will lead the boys in the singing.

The second act will include a number of selections by the Boys club string quartet. The members of the quartet and the instruments they play are as follows: Leon Gibbs, fiddle; Willie Guyton, guitar; Manny Marley, guitar, and J. A. Marley, mandolin.

The third act is a number of wrestling bouts. Leon Gibbs will wrestle Wilburn Burross for the mosquito weight championship. Mut Fisher, 108 pounds, will take on Marshall Martin, 115 pounds, for the welterweight championship of the club. There is a possibility of a substitution for Martin because of his advantage in weight. In the last bout, Donald Tucker and Earl Ferrell, 131 pounds each, will tie up for the lightweight championship.

The four acts will include a number of good boxing matches. All amateur, but interesting nevertheless. The first bout will be between the little boys of the club, Roland Skaggs, 66 pounds, and Doyle Morton, 71. The second bout, between Gene Roe, 75 pounds, and J. M. Kennedy, 75 pounds. Alexander Parrish and Oscar Parrish will fight in the fourth bout with four rounds as the limit. The last bout will be between the two larger boys of the club. Leonard Browning and Willard Caywood will go four rounds to a decision.

"When you buy tickets to the Boys club vaudeville for 10 cents you will be guaranteed a much better performance than the amount of the ticket and also you will be helping the club buy a number of games and athletic equipment, which it needs at this time because of a steady increase in the membership and the attendance, especially at night," says Marvin Robertson, club director.

"A baseball glove and bat, first and second prize for the two club boys selling the most tickets, are now on display at the club and a number of boys are working hard to win these prizes. When the boys come to you be sure and take the tickets after you buy them instead of just giving them the money."

STONE AND ALBERTINA RASCH GIRLS

Fred Stone and Company to Offer Something New and Novel in Stage Entertainment Here on April 14

To the Memorial auditorium on Thursday night, April 14, for one performance only, will come the perennially popular Fred Stone in his latest and what is reported to be his biggest and most amusing comedy success, "Smiling Faces." For long, Mr. Stone has not only been one of the most beloved figures on the American stage, but one of the cleverest comedians, and absolutely unique in his lively, acrobatic methods. His line of notable successes has been long and unvarying all the way from the memorable "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Red Mill" down to the recent "Ripples" and now the finest of the lot, "Smiling Faces."

With this inimitable funster will appear as chief support his delightful and effervescent daughter, Paula Stone, matching her famous father in his grotesque dance steps, matching him in quick repartee, and possessing a delicious charm that is all her own, as everybody who saw "Ripples" pleasurably recalls.

"Smiling Faces" is a huge and extravagant production, and its action is studded with a score of songhits and as many alluring dances; in many of these engaging interludes both Mr. Stone and Miss Paula participate. Mr. Stone is also surrounded with a cast of exceptionally fine musical comedy artists. These include Roy Royston, Lotti Loder, Billy Taylor, Doris Patston, Hope Emerson, Isabel O'Madigan, Adora Andrews, Eddie Garvie and Boyd Davis. Then there are the talented Albertina Rasch dancers, together with an ensemble of 75 expert and attractive singers and dancers.

In "Smiling Faces," Mr. Stone appears as a motion picture director, one Monumet Spleen, who has decidedly original ideas as to the filming of a picture supposedly based upon Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Opportunity, there is naturally, for much pert spoofing at the inscrutable ways of Hollywood magnates and studios. Many laugh-raising difficulties there are for said Monumet Spleen, such as finding himself ready to "shoot" and missing two wood-nymphs and a Pan! Before the evening is over, too, Mr. Stone assumes the guise of airplane pilot and detective. Whatever he chooses to be, he is the surprising, unique Fred Stone, and of course he brings along a whole new bagful of his typical stunts and tricks. Scattered through the course of the action are a score of song-hits and as many alluring dance numbers. Love interest there is also, revolving round the amatory experiences of two sprightly young couples.

Seat reservations may be made by addressing H. C. Cheshire, care Renfro Drug store, or by phoning 9047.

SPUDDERS TO BE GUESTS OF KIWANIANS MONDAY

Hank Severeid and his Spudder crew will be the featured guests at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Wichita Falls Kiwanis club at the Wichita club Monday.

A short address by Manager Severeid and vocal selections by Walter Robbins, accompanied by Mrs. Robbins, will make up the program of entertainment. Dr. O. W. Wilson is program chairman.

The first 1932 good will trip of Maskat temple and the Shrine uniformed bodies was held Saturday night, when a large percentage of the temple membership journeyed to Stamford, providing entertainment as the Wichita Falls part of the evening's program.

The maskat temple band and Arabic patrol offered a 30-minute street concert and drill on arriving at Stamford. At the meeting at the Stamford auditorium Potentate Sydney A. Gaines introduced Potentate's Aide J. C. Pinson of Stamford, who was in charge of the program.

The indoor program opened with a vaudeville presentation with the cast including Wilmont Hunt, Dr. J. H. Fletcher, Mrs. Hermione S. JOHNNIE SEWELL MAKES DASH DOWN MAIN STREET TO CATCH SHOPLIFTER

Traffic Officer Johnnie Sewell may try out for the United States Olympic track team.

At least, indications that he is in training for dashes and distance runs are manifest. Too, Johnnie is impervious to the plaudits and cheering of crowds of spectators.

Here's the dope: A negro girl stole a small amount of ladies' wear from Mangels Saturday afternoon. When accosted, she dropped the stolen goods and ran. Clerks called Officer Sewell. Johnnie, a block behind, took up the chase. After a 220-yard dash, he caught the girl.

And if that doesn't qualify him for the Olympics, what does?

CALVES OF HEIFERS GIVEN AWAY IN 1928 SOLD IN IOWA PARK

Rogers, of Iowa Park, were to return the first calves of the three heifers given away, to the donors. Mitchell's and Kuhn's calves were sold Saturday and brought $17.50 and $20.25 respectively. The calf belonging to the Rogers heifer died.

VENGEANCE BLAMED FOR SLAYING AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, April 2. (AP)—Vengeance of Houston, Texas, gunmen, whom he betrayed, was blamed by police today for the slaying of John Bellassaie, alias Belois, 31, gangster and bootlegger, in the driveway of his north side home here.

Houston police advanced the theory he was a victim of Sam Peretta and Frank Adamo, indicted but never apprehended for the murder of W. W. Edwards, Houston airport manager, May 18, 1930.

Bellassaie, according to Houston authorities, gained immunity in the Edwards murder case by turning state's evidence against his two alleged accomplices, Peretta and Adamo.

Bellassaie's body was found pierced by one pistol bullet outside his home this morning.

COLUMBIA CHAIN TO GIVE WAGNER MUSICAL PROGRAM

Selections from the music-dramas of Richard Wagner will comprise the program to be broadcast in the Columbia concerts period from 10 to 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 5, through the WABC-Columbia network, in which Elsa Alsen, leading dramatic soprano, will be heard with the orchestra under the direction of Howard Barlow.

To open the program Barlow has chosen the "Dance of the Apprentices," from "Die Meistersinger," one of the most picturesque and realistic pieces of writing to be found anywhere in his works. Country girls, in holiday clothes, are indicated by a half-humorous, archaic theme, and then come apprentices and journeyman to dance with them, represented by a ponderous, uncouth melody. The whole dance is in waltz time.

Mme. Alsen, who first achieved success as a contralto, and then turned to dramatic soprano parts on the advice of Nikisch and Weingartner, will be heard first in "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin," in which she achieved some of her greatest singing while with the Chicago Opera company as leading Wagnerian soprano.

Other selections will be from "Goetterdaemmerung," including "Brunnhilde's Battle Cry" and the magnificent finale, "Brunnhilde's Immolation," which concludes both the individual music-drama and the entire "Ring of the Nibelungs." Throughout her numbers, Mme. Alsen will be accompanied by the orchestra.

NARDIN HEAD MISSOURI STATE LIFE INSURANCE

ST. LOUIS, April 2. (AP)—William T. Nardin, vice president and general manager of the Pet Milk company, St. Louis, was elected president of the Missouri State Life Insurance company by the board of directors today.

Fiddlers to Play Barn Dance Bill For NBC Network

Fiddlers, callers, circle two-steps and quadrilles will be brought to national farm and home hour listeners for the first time in the program of Monday, April 4, at 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. over an NBC-WJZ network.

Rube Tronson and his Texas cowboys, a delegation of six famous barn dance entertainers, will bring their fiddles, cowbells and lusty voices to the farm and home hour studio for the unusual broadcast.

Many listeners will remember the name of Leisure Bruce, one of the performers, who has been heard on the air for many years and who wears the crown of the champion old time fiddler of the Middle West. At the age of 17 he also won the Canadian fiddling championship.

The other members of the group are equally adept with guitars, accordions, banjos and cowbells. They promise a rare treat for farm and home hour listeners, many of whom perhaps recall the days when the hay loft was the scene of many an evening's pleasure and excitement.

TELEVISION RADIO BILL WILL BE BROADCAST IN SIGN LANGUAGE FOR DEAF

A foretaste of the use of television in bringing education to deaf mutes has been arranged from 7:30 to 8:45 p. m., eastern standard time, Monday, April 4, when the Columbia broadcasting system's visual station WIXAB will broadcast in sign language.

Television receivers have been placed in the Deaf and Dumb institute, New York, and Alexander Pack of the institute will appear before the microphone and "talk" to the students. An interpreter will be heard over W2XE, short-wave sound channel.

DR. CYR APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT IN OUSTER ACTION

NEW ORLEANS, April 2. (AP)—Dr. Paul N. Cyr today appealed to the state supreme court from the decision of the Lake Charles court where he lost his suit to replace Alvin O. King as successor of Huey P. Long as governor of Louisiana.

This latest appeal was based on the plea that Cyr did not vacate the office of lieutenant governor when he took the governor's oath in his losing fight to remove Long from the governor's chair after Long had been elected to the United States senate. Cyr claims that since he did not vacate the lieutenant-governorship, he should now be governor since Long had resigned.

Decision of the supreme court was not expected until May at the earliest and Oscar Allen will become governor by right of election May 16.

RAILROAD MUST KEEP WAGES AT GENERAL LEVEL WITH THOSE OTHER LINES

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—An emergency board named by President Hoover today held that the Louisiana and Arkansas railway and the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas railway should keep the wages of their workers on the same general level with those of other railroads.

The board was the second within a year to be named to deal with disputes on these lines. Commenting on the wage cuts for trainmen and engineers, the board said it did "not believe that the wages of employes of this road should be out of line with customary wages in similar lines of employment and suggests that at least the second reduction on the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas should be withdrawn."

There were five disputes between employes of the roads and the managements. But the largest was between engineers, firemen and other trainmen over a 15 per cent cut ordered effective January 23 by the management but reduced to 10 per cent on March 4.

Employes of the L. A. and T., however, had had a 15 per cent cut Aug. 24, 1931, and the second would have reduced their wages 23 per cent within a year. It was to this second cut that the report referred.

CHICAGO GUNMAN AND HIS BEAUTIFUL BLONDE ALIBI MUST SERVE SENTENCES

CHICAGO, April 2. (US)—"Machine Gun Jack" McGurn and his beautiful "blonde alibi," Louise Rolfe, must serve their sentences for Mann act violation, the United States circuit court of appeals ruled today.

McGurn long has been known as the head machine gunner for the Capone gang and once was accused of taking part in the St. Valentine day massacre of 1929 when seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters were assassinated in a Clark street garage.

It was Miss Rolfe's testimony that he was with her in a downtown hotel at the time the Moran hoodlums were killed that gave her the name of McGurn's "blonde alibi" and eventually led to his release.

Federal authorities immediately proceeded against the couple under the Mann act when it was found that they had taken trips to Florida and other southern resorts together.

They were convicted. McGurn was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary and Miss Rolfe to four months in jail in spite of the fact that in the meantime they had married.

Presiding Judge Samuel Alschuler dissented from the court's decision today holding that the conviction should be reversed.

FRANCIS TO MAKE RADIO TALK MONDAY NIGHT ON CITY ADMINISTRATION

Charles I. Francis will speak over radio station KGKO at 8:15 o'clock Monday night on "The Efficiency and Economy of the Present City Administration."

TWO PLAN TO ASCEND MIGHTY MT. M'KINLEY

SEWARD, Alaska, April 2. (US)—Irving Storm of the Lake Placid club and A. E. Lindley, prominent attorney of Minneapolis, left Seward today bound north, and will attempt to ascend mighty Mount McKinley. Everything, of course, will depend upon conditions.

Ragged dog teams have struggled to break a trail to the mountain base. Tents have been pitched at intervals, and food put in place for the mountain climbers.

Rains, following unprecedented snows, have iced down the trees and formed snow crusts sufficient to bear the weight of dogs. But moose, caribou and sheep break through. Confusedly they huddle closely together in suffering groups. The crust tears the legs of animals, leaving everywhere bloody trails.

Prospectors and trappers predict that Storm and Lindley may not reach the mountain base. With the advent of warm rains, avalanches start daily without warning, leaving desolation in their wake.

Already countless trees have been uprooted or broken and bent by the snow slides, the extensiveness of which is record breaking.

SHADES OF RICHARD WAGNER GEORGE WHITE'S 'SCANDALS' LEASES CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE

By WEST PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 2.—Legs—one dozen, two dozen, three dozen pairs of sharply underpinnings—will be displayed on the stage of the classic Chicago Civic Opera house.

The legs won't belong to ballet girls—instead, they will be the property of chlorines of George White's "Scandals."

Furthermore, Rudy Vallee is going to tread the boards where Tito Schipa has earned ringing applause.

And some other member of the "Scandals" company will sing such ditties as "The Thrill of It," and "Why Darkies Were Born." Shades of Richard Wagner!

This isn't a hangover from April the first. It's an authenticated glimpse into the future.

A contract was signed yesterday leasing the house of the opera to the "Scandals," currently playing in New York. It will be an indefinite engagement, starting about the last of May and, presumably, continuing through the period when the two national political conventions are held here.

The opera house is on the same street and just a mile from the stadium, where Republicans and Democrats will choose their presidential nominees.

The "Scandals" is a song and dance revue noted for its boldness—or, if you prefer, its finesse.

Herbert M. Johnson, manager of the opera company, was asked what the invasion of the "Scandals" would mean to his enterprise.

"It will mean additional revenue," he said.

B. F. Holzman, agent for the "Scandals," who signed with Johnson on the dotted line, declared:

"We've got a first act finale that will send 'em rolling in the aisles. When some of our performers do their stuff, the walls of the opera house will crack from the applause. And the opera will be proud of it, too."

Interest Grows in City Election In Seymour as Reorganization Party Opposes Present Aldermen

SEYMOUR, Texas, April 2.—The city election for three aldermen, Tuesday, April 5, becomes more sensational as time grows near. A movement, now under way, calls for a complete re-organization of city business to the extent of a promised approximate saving of $7,200 per year.

Candidates for the re-organization ticket offered as the principal plank in their platform, this week, "We can and will cut expenses, reduce taxes and re-adjust the water rate." Their platform, in a lengthy "Voters take notice" style, pointed out that Seymour's city government was costing $21.00 per capita and insisted that expenses must be cut and taxes reduced. They propose to cut the city taxes "about one half," levying only enough to pay interest and provide a sinking fund for outstanding bonds and warrants.

Water Rate Cut

They also propose to establish a "sliding scale water rental" with one dollar minimum for two thousand gallons, with rates adjusted "as conditions justify" when water is used for industrial purposes. "The city of Seymour, a little hamlet of two thousand people, levies an annual tribute, in taxes and water rentals, of, more than forty-five thousand dollars," the reorganization platform stated.

Would Effect 20 Employees

A bill "Preamble and Resolutions", recently issued by Alderman B. B. Calfee, is believed to be the frame work for the reorganization platform. It called for salary reductions of about 20 city employes and would discontinue the office of city manager, as well as effect a change in the office of city secretary.

Statement Announced

Opposition to the reorganization movement came Saturday in the form of a city financial statement issued exclusively for the Times and Record. An itemized account gave figures on all general funds and sinking funds with a total of $42,067.67. The statement dated March 12, 1932 was verified and sworn to before a notary public that as being a balance on deposit in the city depository.

City secretary's books show that debts paid from April, 1931 to March 31, 1932, totalled $18,685.82 while tax collections and water rentals for the same period totalled $32,795.75.

City Attorney Joe A. Wheat pointed out that $1.20 out of every $1.80 collected in taxes is required by law to be set aside with which to pay the annual interest and create a sinking fund with which to pay the bonded indebtedness of the city. "Should any city council undertake to cut city taxes one-half it would lack 40 cents covering the sinking funds and annual interest," Mr. Wheat stated. "Bond holders could compel the tax levy or else put the city in the hands of the receivers."

On Cash Basis

"The 30-cent tax levy over the regular rate only produces about $4,000 per annum with which to pay general operating expenses of the city, including the maintaining of the fire department, parks, police department and streets," he stated. "There has not been any new debts made by the city in the last two years, and all salaries paid by the city are charged to and paid by the respective city owned utilities. By a budget worked out by the city council early in the fiscal year of 1931-32 the city's pay roll and budget was reduced in the amount of $5,000."

"The city is on a cash basis in every department, and is meeting all its obligations, both bonded indebtedness and operating expenses," Mr. Wheat said. "By the publications of quarterly reports, as required by law, the present council believed that the citizens knew the truth of the conditions, and would not be misled by rash statements and wild promises."

Light Plant Discussed

A discussion of the city owned light plant brought out the fact that the purchasing contract provided that the purchase price is not a general obligation of the said municipality payable from taxes or its general funds, but only a special obligation payable from the net revenues of the plant, after the payment of legitimate and necessary expenses of operation.

Seven Candidates in Race

There are seven candidates in the race for the three vacancies. Three for re-election, three who signed the re-organization platform, and one who has not announced his plank.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS HEAVIEST FOR FEBRUARY ANY YEAR SINCE 1927

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Thanks to heavy cotton shipments February American agricultural exports were the largest for that month than those for February have been in any year since 1927.

The cotton trade, chiefly to the Orient, brought the index level to 117 of the pre-war average, a gain of six points over January.

Excluding cotton, the index was only 85, but still four points higher than January and three points higher than February a year ago.

Total cotton exports for February were 1,022,000 bales of which 55 per cent went to the Orient. Japan alone took 412,000 bales.

Columbia Editor Expelled Result Football Attack

NEW YORK, April 2. (INS)—Expulsion of Reed Harris, Columbia university senior who aroused a tempest on the campus when as editor of the Spectator, a college paper, he attacked football as "a semi-professional racket," made him the stormy-petrel of the college again today.

His direct charge that President Nicholas Murray Butler suggested Dean Herbert E. Hawkes take the action after giving the student "the appearance of a hearing" stirred excitement among faculty members and in athletic circles.

Harris also accused the university authorities of failure to permit him to present his side of the case.

Dean Hawkes, who took the action together with members of the committee of instruction, said:

"Because of discourtesies, misrepresentations, and innunendoes by the Spectator during the past year, I found it necessary to visit academic discipline on Reed Harris."

Dr. Butler, this year's co-sharer of the Noble prize award for peace, said when asked about the dismissal of Harris that he had "heard nothing of the matter."

More Than 8,000 Have Registered At City "Hotel"

Within two weeks, Bob McFall, father confessor to hoboes who drift into the city's flop-house for a night's rest, will have housed nearly 10,000 vagrants.

Bob opened the city house the night of Nov. 14, 1931, and plans to close it April 15.

During December there were 1,026 "guests", while the high monthly total showed that 2,056 had availed themselves of the privilege of a bed.

Bob McFall is the one man for the work he so ably performs, and is apparently the one man in Wichita Falls who understands the only method of handling the type of men who come before him—firm, courteous treatment, mingled with proper understanding. Bob advises the youths who come before him—Saturday night he was heard to tell a youngster to "wrap a piece of cloth around that razor or you might get into trouble."

Bob has only one weakness—he does favor the cowboy. For the old man who sports a pair of bowed legs or who wears a pair of "made by hand" boots gets a good, clean bed with good, clean covers. Or at least that's the story they tell on Bob.

KNOX CITY SCHOOLS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP IN INTERSCH

ALL BUT THREE MAJORS JOIN IN CRUDE PRICE ADVANCE

Activity in Wichita Falls District Shows Marked Increase Following Long Awaited Return of Dollar Oil

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

With the exception of the Stanolind, Humble and Gulf Production, all major purchasing companies in the mid-continent field revised their posted price to conform with the new scale of prices announced by the Continental Oil company on March 24, which became effective Friday morning at 7 o'clock.

The new schedule, which was first issued by the Continental company, has been followed by the Sinclair-Prairie interests, the Barnsdall Oil company, Magnolia Petroleum company, and Saturday the Texas company announced the conformity of its posted price to the Continental schedule. The advance in the price brings dollar oil once more to the district after an absence of approximately two years.

In addition to the spread of an optimistic feeling that pervaded all kinds of business, field work reacted quickly to the much needed hike, and during the week 25 new locations were staked out in the different pools of the district.

Producing leases which have been declining in their output are busy cleaning out many of the older wells with the view of shoving up their production, while needed repairs are under way in all sections of the district.

Several wells were completed, but, with the exception of the Deep Oil-Lindsay No. 1 L. F. Wilson at Chalk Hill making 750 barrels, all are of the pumper type.

In the Newcastle-Orth area of Young county many "spudders" are drilling to these wonderful shallow pays and a few nice wells in addition to several failures were finished.

Pipe line runs from the nine counties under the jurisdiction of Jack Elliott, deputy supervisor for the railroad commission, averaged 48,711 barrels per day, a loss of 99 barrels as compared with the daily runs in the previous seven-day period.

MARCH PAYMENTS OF INCOME TAXES DROP $139,329,391

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Income tax collections for March dropped $139,329,391 as compared with March, 1931.

The treasury, in its statement for March 31, showed that income tax collections for the month were $195,410,823 as compared with $334,830,214 last March. They brought the total from this source for the fiscal year to $853,532,165 as compared with $1,506,261,238 in the same period of the preceding year.

At the end of March, the government had a deficit of $1,885,283,713, having collected from all sources $1,601,934,948 and having spent $3,487,218,662. In addition to the sharp decline in income tax, miscellaneous internal revenue dropped $8,000,000 in March and $41,000,000 for the fiscal year. Customs duties declined $8,000,000 for the month and $20,000,000 for the fiscal year.

On March 31, the gross public debt was $18,506,729,307 against $18,125,633,155 at the end of February and $16,582,868,436 on March 31 a year ago.

LOAN BY BANKS PUTS END TO WORRIES OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 2. (UP)—Financial worries of New York state have been eliminated as a result of a loan of $50,000,000 subscribed for by 35 banks.

The issue, which is dated April 1, 1932, is due on Jan. 15, 1933, and carries an interest rate of 3½ per cent, a record low rate for an issue of this size.

The sale was largely a matter of allotment as subscriptions crossed $100,000,000. Bankers subscribing paid par for the notes.

The loan was in anticipation of taxes and revenues. The 3½ per cent rate contrasted with a rate of 4½ per cent paid by the state in January on an issue of $25,000,000 tax and revenue anticipation notes, dated Feb. 1 and due May 1, 1932.

Greater London is now reported to have 8,203,000 inhabitants.

PACE READY TO TEST SAND NEW DUNCAN FIELD

HIGH WINDS HANDICAP START NEW OPERATIONS

Increase Tatums Field Allowable Expected to Be Marked Benefit

DUNCAN, Okla., April 2.—George L. Pace has cemented casing at 1436 feet to test broken sand and shale from 1442 to 1450 feet in his No. 5 Gilworth, in the NW NW SE SW of 2-2s-8w, half a mile northwest of the center of activity in the new oil and gas area five miles south and two west of Duncan.

The Curtis Oil company staked out location for its No. 3 Dare, in the NE NW SE of 2-2s-8w, and moved in derrick.

Work of getting new operations under way was held up during the week by high winds, which made derrick building impossible and handicapped rigging up.

The Continental Oil company is completing building standard front to pump its No. 2 Dare, in the NW SW SE of 2-2s-8w, which promises to make a small producer in sands from 2093 to 2122 feet on the southwest side of the area.

P. L. Gilbert and associates were drilling at 1150 feet in their No. 1 Medley, in the SW SW NE NE of 2-2s-8w, two locations north of their No. 1 green, a 115-barrel producer at 1360 feet.

J. D. Foofbourrow and associates were drilling at 1230 feet in their No. 1 Dare, in the SW NW SW SW of 1-2s-8w, just southeast of production.

Crane & Rankin are completing rigging up for their No. 1 Dare, in the SW NW NW of 1-2s-8w, just northeast of production.

Pace's No. 8 J. P. Houston, in the SE NE SW of 2-2s-8w, west offset to the Conoco No. 2 Dare, is a rig.

Ed Chamberlain's No. 1 C. P. Parker, in the NE NE SE SE of 11-2s-8w, a mile south of the center of activity, is a location.

Other Tests

Pace was drilling at 100 feet in his No. 1 Dilley, in the NW NW SW SW of 22-2s-7w, just east of production on his Watkins estate lease, a mile east of Comanche.

Will H. Smith was shut down at 838 feet in his No. 1 Ridgeway, in the NW NE SE of 17-3s-4w, a wildcat two miles south and two east of Loco.

Cohen and Reece still are shut down after cementing surface casing in their No. 1 Green, in the SE SW SW of 35-2n-9w, a test for gas to be drilled six miles north and eight west of Duncan.

Joe Baldwin and associates were rigged up and shut down on their No. 1 school land, in the SW SW SE of 36-16s-10w, half a mile east of production in the Walters field of Cotton county.

Joe Anderson was drilling at 1830 feet in his No. 2 Wild, in the NE SE SE of 28-3n-5w, in the Carter-Knox field of southern Grady county.

George Schoomaker's No. 1 J. A. Slaton, in the NW NW NW of 35-4n-7w, a wildcat near Rush Springs, in Grady county, is a rig.

Long and Hart's No. 1 Ward, in the NW SW SE of 19-1n-2w, a wildcat near Hennepin, in southern Garvin county, is a location.

The new proration order raising the allowable production of the Tatums field of Carter county should loosen things up in that area. Under the new order, wells in the field are given an initial exemption of 20 barrels and are allowed to flow 50 per cent of the potential above that amount. The 20-barrel exemption will take care of a number of strippers in the old Tatums field.

Larger producers in the new extension of the field were drastically curbed under the old order. Wells making 400 barrels or more were permitted to produce 85 barrels daily. Wells making less than 400 barrels were held to a daily production of 43 barrels.

Telegraph wires in East Africa have to be carried on exceptionally high poles owing to the liability of giraffes breaking the cables.

Marked Increase Noted in Number Of Visitors Here

Although merchants and residents may think otherwise, Wichita Falls is actually a mecca for early tourists and out of county shoppers if "away from here" automobile license tags mean anything.

City streets are crowded with visitors and shoppers from other states and communities, and the city police department is kept busy issuing courtesy cards to this same crowd of out of towners.

Saturday leading citizens expressed their beliefs of why Wichita Falls has become a gathering place for shoppers and tourists.

Entertainment features here are above the ordinary with outstanding moving pictures featured and other amusements termed "interesting."

Wichita Falls is one of the few cities in the state whose prosperity has practically returned and in which there is a feeling of optimism. Chamber of commerce officials declare that "they want to visit our city and get the 'feel' of optimism once more."

NEGRO WOMAN CHARGED WITH ATTACKING WHITE WOMAN WHO FIRED HER

A negro woman was charged with simple assault in a complaint filed in the county court at law Saturday afternoon in connection with an attack on a white woman on Ninth street about noon.

The victim of the attack told officers that she had discharged the negro as her servant and that it was in retaliation for losing her job that the negress struck her former employer and pulled the latter's hair.

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

—MID-CONtinent Oil—stock head.

LULING, Texas, April 2. (UP)—The Caldwell county wildcat well, midway between the Luling and Salt Flat pools, which blew in unexpectedly Wednesday, continued to run wild today. An attempt to bridle the test late yesterday failed when the hose broke just above the Kelley joint.

Oil and mud spouting up through holes in the drill bit continued to cover the landscape.

No definite figures of the well's potential can be made until it is controlled, but oil men have estimated it will produce 10,000 barrels daily.

KILGORE, Texas, April 2. (UP)—The city of Kilgore today has one source of sure revenue. An oil well back of the city hall and on the same block has been completed. The city's royalty under proration will amount to $1.50 per day, City Finance Commissioner Roy Laird estimated.

OKLAHOMA AND KANSAS CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION SHOW MARKED DECREASES

TULSA, Okla., April 2. (AP)—The Tulsa World says that hoarding by producers awaiting the increased price made effective yesterday caused Oklahoma crude oil production this week to slump 28,230 barrels in the daily average to a total of 407,670 barrels a day. The average last week was 435,900 barrels.

Kansas production also dropped considerably, from 98,750 barrels a day to 96,525 barrels.

'Dollar Oil' Believed Turning Point in Long Illness Oil Industry

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

"Dollar oil" was realized Friday when the Continental Oil company's new schedule of prices for all crude in the mid-continent fields became effective.

The hike in prices which was announced by the Continental March 24 was the turning point in the recovery of one of Uncle Sam's largest and most important patients, the oil industry. For the past two years the industry had been beset by overproduction brought about by the millions of barrels of oil allowed to flow unchecked into an already glutted market until one of the most valuable assets in Texas and the country at large reached the stage where in some instances reported it was a common practice to swap a barrel of crude for its equivalent in water.

Of course this condition had to come to a stop sooner or later, as each day found a further demoralization of all branches of the industry. Voluntary cessation of huge drilling campaigns in one of the world's largest pools failed in its effort to control the frenzied activities, until in a hope to save the industry from complete chaos, the state's military forces were used as a last resort.

With martial rules in force the fields began to take on the first shadow of normalcy. Hundreds of wells were shut in, while others were held on the pay. Unnecessary drilling was curtailed to the minimum and in a short time one of the greatest menaces that the petroleum industry had ever experienced in its history had been relegated to the past.

The return of dollar oil in the district, and in fact the whole mid-continent field, has been the means of giving, not only the petroleum business, but all branches of the commercial world, a renewed confidence in the early return to better times.

Refined Products Gain

The raise in crude prices was also reflected in the strength being shown in the refined market. The past week gasoline showed a healthy reaction, with kerosene, fuel oil and other refined products following in the upward trend. Thus one of the most important branches of the industry which has been one of the chief sufferers on account of the existing conditions, is looking for a further advance in their commodity in the coming week.

Gasoline prices last week at the retail stations of the Texas, Gulf, Magnolia and Continental companies were boosted one cent per gallon over the older price. Local or independent companies continue with the old scale.

In anticipation of better conditions in this branch of the business a number of plants are busy making improvements and cleaning up to resume active operations. During the week the Taxman Refining company resumed operations after several weeks shutdown and will run between 2,500 and 3,000 barrels of crude daily.

The Primrose Refining company announced the closing down of its plant this week to permit the installation of two new boilers and other needed repairs throughout the plant.

March advances in the market for refined products so far have not reached a figure that will place the plants on a real profitable basis, but owners are hoping that the market will continue to strengthen so that within the next few weeks, or when the consumption of these commodities increases with spring travel, they may recoup at least some of the losses sustained during the winter months.

Dark Horse Wins In International Horned Toad Race

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., April 2. (INS)—A dark horse won the international horned toad derby.

It was no April fool joke either because Taxicab, a rank outsider, entered by a Los Angeles taxicab company, hippity-hopped his way to the winning tape several toad's lengths ahead of El Mirador, Palm Springs native toad who won second money.

George Bancroft's entry, Sure Shot, failed to live up to his name and hopped across third.

Eddie Cantor's "Whoopee" failed to finish, which was the sad fate also of "Sunshine Ike" of Death Valley, entered by Gov. James Rolph Jr. of California.

"Side Car" was entered by Charles Farrell and Virginia Valli—but he nose dived off the course shortly after the race started.

A thousand spectators including several governors and scores of Hollywood film societies roared as Taxicab bumped through the tape ahead of a score or more of the best desert ponies in the Southwest.

SPUDDERS FLASH IMPRESSIVELY IN TROUNCING ST. PAUL

An important factor in sizing up Spudder pitching prospects in the coming Texas league campaign is that the young curvers counted in on the 1932 plan are going to receive invaluable aid from their battery mate when Skipper Hank Severeid is wearing the pads, and the old boy himself believes that will be most of the time. No catcher can take a class double X pitcher and make a winner of him in this or in any other league, but few realize the full importance of smart, thinking catchers to the welfare of the pitchers. The catcher can't do the mechanical job for the pitcher, but he can do 100 per cent of the mental part. He can help in a mechanical way, too, by simply giving the pitcher a target to shoot at. Holding the big mit at certain spots for the pitcher to shoot at certainly seems simple enough, but it is surprising how many young or careless catchers neglect this little detail that is of so much aid to the pitching comrade.

Most important in the catcher's duties, though, is calling for the right pitch at the right time. The smart catcher, who makes a study of the hitters and doesn't forget the things he learns about the enemy players can be of untold value to the pitching. But the thinking catcher's knowledge is not confined to the weaknesses of the opposition. If he is alert to his task, he also learns much about the pitchers he is working and handles them accordingly. There is no end to the things a smart catcher knows and brings into play in winning ball games. The mechanical side is of truly minor importance in the catching job.

There are innumerable instances in baseball lore of a smart catcher making a star of a mediocre pitcher. The outstanding example in the Texas league of recent years is the combination of Bill Hallahan and Frank Snyder at Houston. Hallahan came to the Buffs in 1928 after knocking about the Cardinals' minor league farm system for a half dozen years. He had hit a few high spots, but until he arrived in Houston and made the acquaintance of Frank Snyder, he could not have been proclaimed a howling success, even as a minor leaguer. He was known as one of baseball's wildest pitchers. He was inclined that way at the start of the Texas league season, but before the race was far along Snyder had him pitching sensational ball, and his wildness had all but vanished. Since he has developed into one of the star left-handers of the game.

None will ever know just how great a part Snyder played in bringing out the good and subduing the bad that was in Wild Bill Hallahan's pitching. Maybe he had nothing to do with it, but baseball men are wont to believe that he did; that his catching and general handling of the pitcher was the factor that made him. Severeid has some excellent prospects with which to work in the Spudder camp. There is a mighty good chance that his catching will make one or more of the comparative youngsters who are counted on in this 1932 race. If he can take the wildness out of Marvin Ferrell, he undoubtedly will have a winning pitcher; a youngster who might easily equal the exploits of Hallahan.

Severeid can't do it, however, if the pitchers are not able to do their share. He can't do their pitching, but he can do much of their thinking. He can't make Ferrell acquire the control that ruined his work last season, if Ferrell doesn't have the ability to overcome the malady. Too much can't be expected of the skipper, and he can't make winners of pitchers who don't have the stuff. He alone can't inject into Fred Vincent the steadiness and calm that apparently is all he needs to attain success, unless the big Dutchman enters into the spirit of things and proves that he can do his part. He can't be expected to make a nine-inning pitcher, instead of a five-inning tosser, of Dick Fiorrid, unless the little fellow has the ability to go the route. He can't give Tot Pressnell a fast ball or a curve ball if he doesn't have it to go with.

Nevertheless, Severeid's catching can go far toward making better pitchers of all these fellows. In their work of the past all of these pitchers have suffered from a little flaw here and there that meant much in the results obtained over a season of play. They should profit from the wise handling they are to receive from Severeid. It is no cinch that Hank can work wonders with these pitchers, but it is a possibility, and it puts a brighter light on pitching prospects for the season. The pitchers now in camp apparently have caught that spirit and seem as anxious to take instructions from the skipper as 12-year-old boys. Taylor, Ferrell, Pressnell and all the rest are working to the limit. There never was a better training camp spirit than exists among the Spudder moundsters at the present time.

SPRING GRID PRACTICE UNDER WAY AT BOWIE

BOWIE, Texas, April 2.—Spring football practice something new to teams of Bowie High school, started here this week. Coach H. W. Little reports about 30 boys have reported to him and he believes this is an indication he will have ample good material next fall. These boys are taught punting, passing, and other phases of the game. The football teams here have never had spring practice and have consequently been handicapped when the regular season started. Coach Little appreciates the work of the boys who have already come out and he is urging all boys who have played, want to play, or ever intend to play football to come out now.

Outplay Ex-Major Leaguers to Gain Verdict, 10 to 5

Newcomers Deliver in Great Fashion; Final of Series Slated Sunday

Hank Severeid was grinning broadly late Saturday afternoon as he left Athletic park. His team had made just the kind of start he likes. They'd whipped back the ears of Lefty Leifield's expensive collection of ex-major leaguers, 10 to 5, and they had done it in a manner highly pleasing to the manager. But his delight could not have been greater than that of the select gathering of fans out for the occasion of the first exhibition game against pro opposition, St. Paul of the American association. These few customers saw much to make their eyes bulge, for it was a Spudder line that had everything, pitching, hitting, fielding, baserunning, hustle, fire and ginger.

Severeid has preached to his men from the start of training that it's easier, far easier, to win than it is to lose, and the boys proceeded to prove the point by trouncing decisively a team that included in its lineup no less than six men who no further back than last year wore the uniforms of American and National league clubs.

Sunday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, the Spudders will endeavor to make it two straight over the double A leaguers, and Lester White and Tot Pressnell have been chosen for the pitching task of the day.

Newcomers Shine

Of particular interest in Saturday's scuffle was the showing of the newcomers in the pennant scheme. The critical eyes of the few fans present were turned in full focus on Pitcher Tom Conlan, First Baseman Harry Green, Second Baseman Bejma and Catchers Severeid and Furman Owens. Every one of these strangers—or at least they were strangers at the start of training—met the test in grand fashion, and supported by the cast of holdovers, everyone of whom did his work well, the victory seemed easy of accomplishment in spite of home run drives by Fenner and Snyder of the opposition and seven bases on balls issued by Marv Ferrell in four innings.

The middle of the Spudder lineup was a true murderers' row, with the victims Ace Elliott, former Waco curver and for the last two years with the Philadelphia Nationals, and Slim Harriss, veteran right-hander who wins his 20 games regularly in the American association. Fuss, Badgro, Green, Scharein and Euller hit the ball in hard and timely fashion, and gave every indication that their swatting glims are ready for Texas league pitching.

Saints in Front

The chatter that prevailed throughout the game, by the players in the lineup and those on the bench, didn't die down after the Saints had bumped Conlan for three runs in the first inning. The three runs were the result of singles by Reese and Koster and Fenner's homer over the right field fence.

But that was just a breeze, the boys from the bench encouraged, and sure enough it was, for the home club tied it up tight in the second at the expense of Elliott. Badgro drew a walk and advanced on Green's hit through the box. Scharein singled to left, scoring Badgro, and the other two runners assayed an extra base when Paschal juggled the ball. Euller shot a single through the box to account for the last two runs. Severeid followed with a bingle to left, but the rally ended when Conlan, after failing to sacrifice, hit into a double play.

Conlan settled down after the first and turned in four scoreless innings, taking a parting shot at the Saints by whiffing Durst and Todt in the fifth.

Spudders Take Charge

The Spudders took command of the situation in the fourth when Green drew a walk, Scharein sacrificed and Conlan singled after Severeid had strolled.

Fuss opened the fifth with a single through the box. Badgro popped a single over first and Green delivered perfectly on a hit-and-run play, singling to right to score Fuss and send Badgro to third. Green took second on the throw. Scharein dropped a Texas leaguer over second to score both runners and give the Spudders a 7 to 3 lead.

Ferrell took over the tossing chores in the sixth, and like Conlan, held the foe well in hand except for one home run drive. A pass to Jeffries was followed by Snyder's pinch home run over the left field fence. The same old Snyder! He used to act that way when he was managing the Buffs, and he seems to have changed not in the least.

Bases on balls might easily have been Ferrell's downfall, for he paraded seven of the Saints to first, but he had the stuff to prevent further scoring, and Euller, Bejma and Green came up with two neat double plays that didn't hurt his cause or the disposition of the crowd. The last one came with the bases full and one out in the ninth and put a pleasing close to a pleasing afternoon's performance.

Bejma Socks One

Harriss gave up one run in the sixth when Bejma lined a double to deep center and Fuss followed with a bingle to right after two were out. Gene Trow, a rookie, was on the firing line for the enemy in the eighth, and he yielded another brace to bring the total to 10. It was all very simple. Fuss singled and stole, Badgro singled off the pitcher's glove and Green bounced a double off the left center field fence.

While the regulars are engaging the Saints in the final game Sunday, a rookie team will be carrying the Spudder cause into battle with Des Moines of the Western league at the latter's training base at Frederick, Okla.

RICE DEFEATS FROGS IN DUAL TRACK MEET

HOUSTON, April 2. (AP)—The flying feet of Coach Ernie Hjertberg's Rice Owl trackmen, not quite as insistent and overpowering as they were a year ago when winning the Southwest conference championship, Saturday were heard in the forefront long and often enough to give the Blue and Gray a closely contested 75 to 50 victory over Mack Clark's T. C. U. Horned Frogs.

Hoyt Divorced

RENO, Nev., April 2. (INS)—A 10 minute, secret hearing was sufficient for Mrs. Waite Hoyt, wife of the famous baseball pitcher, to win a divorce here Saturday on the grounds of cruelty. Judge Benjamin Curler heard the case, the transcription of the testimony being ordered sealed.

DALLAS, April 2. (AP)—The Dallas Steers Saturday bunched their hits and beat Columbus of the American association, 8 to 5, to score their second victory in two days over clubs from double A company owned by the St. Louis Cardinals. They had overwhelmed Rochester Friday 17-6.

BEAUMONT, April 2. (AP)—"Flea" Clifton's three bagger with the bases full gave the Exporters a 10-9 victory over Jake Atz's New Orleans Pelicans Saturday in the 11th inning of a see-saw game. The Pels had scored twice in the half of that inning. The visitors piled up seven hits in the first three innings off Luke Hamlin, who was extremely wild.

(AP)—Every pitcher got his share of knocks Saturday as the San Antonio Indians outbatted the Alamo Multigraphers, 15 to 10, to win by a score of 10 to 5 in an exhibition game witnessed by about 3,000. The Multigraphers, which included a number of army men of the land and air forces and also George Bischoff, veteran Texas league catcher, formerly of the Fort Worth Panthers, played the Tribe a close game until the seventh inning with the score tied 5 to 5 when seven hits in the succeeding two rounds produced five runs for a handsome margin.

Buffs Beat Bucs

HOUSTON, April 2. (AP)—The Galveston Buccaneers outhit the Buffs almost two to one and received twice as many bases on balls as the locals, but tight pitching in the clinches by Mike Ovengros and Elmer Hanson enabled the Houston club to defeat the islanders, 4 to 2, in a snappy exhibition game here Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA, April 2. (AP)—The Phillies and their old rivals, the the American league champion Athletics, opened their annual spring city series here Saturday with a victory for the National leaguers, 8-4.

Don Hurst, the heavy muscled first sacker of the Nationals, poled two home runs over the right field wall, each time with a man on base, and Jinkey Whitney upheld his captain's role with a pair of homers that sailed into the lower left field stand.

Except for those long distance shots, the Athletics out-batted the Phils, making 11 hits off Phil Collins and Ray Benge, to the seven the Phillies got off Joe Bowman and "Sugar" Cain.

RULEMAKERS IN DRASTIC MOVE TO TAKE STALLING FROM BASKET BALL GAME

CHICAGO, April 2. (AP)—Stalling in basket ball was stalled Saturday.

The National Association of Basket Ball Coaches, after a three day's discussion of means and ways of speeding up the game, adopted a drastic rule whereby any team in possession of the ball in the back court must cross the center of the playing floor toward its target within 10 seconds.

Under the rule, pronounced by Dr. Forrest "Phog" Allen of the University of Kansas as the most revolutionary change in the game since the dribble law in 1906, a line would be drawn through the center of the floor. Thus if team A gets the tip-off in its back court, it must advance the ball past the center of the line within 10 seconds after it gets possession of the ball.

The penalty for violating the rule is loss of the ball at the nearest sideline. The referee would call the violation assisted by the timekeeper.

While the rule, suggested by Coach Harold Olsen of Ohio State univeristy, who later was named president of the association, must be approved by the association's rule committee, there was no doubt it would be adopted.

"The rule will take the funeral march out of basket ball," said the spirited Dr. Walter Meanwell, coach at the University of Wisconsin, "something radical was necessary, the game was getting sluggish many of them looked like funeral marches."

VERNON TRACK SQUAD WINS ANOTHER MEET

VERNON, Texas, April 2.—Piling up 49 points on the cinder path to 19 for the invaders, Vernon High school's thinly clads carried off a dual meet with the Frederick, Okla. track squad at the City park here Friday afternoon, scoring a total of 69 2-3 points to 58 1-3 points for the Sooners. It was the fourth win in dual competition for the Weirmen this season, without a loss having been chalked up to their account.

The Lions easily outclassed the visitors on the track and in the weight events, taking all first places but were weak in the jumps, vault and javelin throw.

In the feature events, the 100 and 220-yard dashes, H. A. Thompson, crack Vernon sprinter who has yet to meet defeat in either event in dual competition, kept his record intact by beating Roe, Frederick star, by inches in the century, and easily outdistancing the field in the longer dash.

Thompson's achievements in the sprints, combined with second place in the broad jump and a lap on the winning relay team gave him high-point honors in the meet with 14¼.

Towns to Compete in Opening Day Contest

Machinery set in motion by the chamber of commerce in its "Support the Spudders" campaign starts grinding this week in an effort to make opening day one week from Friday a memorable event in Wichita Falls baseball annals, and not the least important cog in the machine is the out-of-town attendance contest that sends into competition every town and village in the Wichita Falls territory to determine which can turn out the greatest proportionate attendance.

Walter Robbins, chairman of the out-of-town attendance committee, declared Saturday it was the purpose of the campaign being sponsored by the chamber of commerce to assure every fan in the surrounding territory that Wichita Falls' Texas league club belongs not merely to Wichita Falls, but to the entire district. "Every point within this great area is affected by the fortunes of our Spudder club, both from strictly business and from recreational standpoints, and we want every town to think of the Spudders not as a Wichita Falls team, but a representative of this great Northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma territory," he said. "This contest has been arranged in order that these towns may be given their rightful places of importance in the campaign to restore baseball, and the interest they always have shown in the past is assurance they will enter wholeheartedly into the plan."

Contest Details

The contest has been designed by Joe E. Ward, who is in direct charge of all contest activities. He issues the following statement outlining the competition:

"The Spudder opening day out-of-town attendance contest is based on a population-mileage basis, so that all towns, regardless of size or distance from Wichita Falls, can compete on an equal basis. The surrounding territory is divided into zones based on the official highway mileage. All that territory within 30 miles of Wichita Falls constitutes the first zone. Each 40 miles thereafter, up to and including 140 miles from Wichita Falls are in the same zone. A town 25 miles from Wichita Falls would be in the first zone; a town 53 miles from Wichita Falls would be in the fourth zone; while one 147 miles from Wichita Falls would be in the 12th zone.

"The number of points of attendance of any person attending the opening game is equal to the zone from which he attends. If 10 people attend from a city in the sixth zone, that city would be given a total of 60 points of attendance. If 40 people attended from a city in the third zone, the city would be given a total of 120 points of attendance.

"The percentage of attendance, or "batting average," of any city is the proportion that the total points of attendance is to the 1930 federal census of that particular city. If the 1930 census of the first city in the above paragraph was 4,550, and the second 9,800, the percentage of attendance, or batting average of the first city would be .0132 and the second .0129. One hundred people attending the opening game from Henrietta, a city of 2,019 people 20 miles from Wichita Falls, would have a batting average of .0495. If 45 people attended the game from Frederick, Okla., a city of 4,532 people 64 miles from Wichita Falls, their batting average would also be .0495. Prizes will be awarded to the two cities that have the highest batting averages.

Ticket Selling Plan

"The committee sponsoring the Spudder opening day out-of-town attendance contest is anxious to have every city, regardless of size, enter the contest. The contest may be sponsored in any city by one of the luncheon clubs, the American Legion, the chamber of commerce, one of the ladies' organizations, or any organization in the city, or by the corner drug store, which is usually the location of the winter hot stove league. Any one desiring to sponsor the contest in their city should communicate with Wilburn Page, 707 Hamilton building, immediately.

"The number of tickets that any one, sponsoring the contest in any city, thinks can be disposed of will be mailed them immediately. These tickets will be general admission grandstand (not reserved seats) tickets, and sell for the regular season price of 75 cents each. They will not be recognized for admission except on opening day. With each one of these tickets there will be a white ticket, on which there is a space for the purchaser to write his name and address.

"If a city desires 100 general admission tickets, they will also receive 100 of the white tickets. For each one of the general admission tickets they return unsold, they must return a white ticket. The purchaser of each ticket will deposit the white ticket, upon which is written his name and address, in a box especially provided for that purpose, as he enters the Spudder park on opening day.

Contest Awards

"On April 11, the day the reserved seats are placed on sale in Wichita Falls, Guy Airey, secretary of the Wichita Falls club, and his assistants, will visit each city that has entered the contest for the purpose of reserving the number of reserved seats they desire. These reserved seats are the most desirable ones in the grandstand, and a charge of 25 cents over and above the general admission price will be made for them.

"The organization sponsoring the contest in the winning city, the city itself and one particular person of the winning city who attended opening day will be honored in the following way:

"The organization that sponsors the contest will be presented with a loving cup. A baseball game on any day selected by the winning city will be dedicated to that particular city, at which time a special section in the grandstand will be reserved free of charge for all baseball fans from the winning city; they will, however, be expected to pay the general admission charge. The sport writers of the newspapers of the winning city will write up the report of the game for Wichita Falls papers. The report, with a picture of those attending the game dedicated to them will not only be published in the papers of Texas, but will be forwarded to The Sporting News at St. Louis, where it probably will be republished and distributed over the entire world. The mayor of the winning city will pitch the first ball of the game, and the president of the organization that fostered the contest will catch it. The winning city will be asked to give a radio program.

"The white cards of all those that attend the opening game from the winning city will be used as the basis of a special attraction on the day of the dedication game.

"The organization that sponsors the contest in the city that wins second place will be awarded a loving cup, and the city will be awarded $25 to be used for charitable purposes."

BARGAIN PRICES TO CONTINUE FOR THREE REMAINING CONTESTS

Prices of 75 cents and 35 cents for all seats will continue to prevail through the Spudders' abbreviated program of exhibition games, according to announcement Saturday of Secretary Guy Airey. Box and reserved sections will be thrown open to all, with the 35-cent price prevailing for feminine fans.

Only three more games remain on the program following Saturday's engagement with the St. Paul club of the American association. The Saints close their stand here Sunday and Des Moines of the Western league plays here next Saturday and Sunday.

The Spudders are scheduled in three road games, the second team playing Des Moines at Frederick Sunday, and the regulars making the Frederick jaunt Tuesday and Wednesday.

Baseball Veteran Dies

BOSTON, April 2. (AP)—John Morrill, 77, manager and first baseman of the old Boston Nationals when they won the pennant in 1883, died Saturday. He resigned last November as manager and treasurer of a Boston sporting goods firm.

Allison and Hess To Meet in Final Houston Tourney

Rice Institute Athlete Turns In Upset Victory Over Coast Star

HOUSTON, April 2. (AP)—Two Texans, Wilmer Allison of Austin and Jake Hess of Rice Institute, qualified Satuday afternoon to play for the championship in the second annual Houston invitation tennis tournament.

Hess, using a methodical and almost unbeatable service, eliminated the giant Lester Stoeffen of California, in a long, wearing match, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 14-12.

In the upper bracket, Allison, former national intercollegiate champion and seeded No. 3 in the tournament, had comparatively little trouble in defeating Jimmy Quick of Dallas, 6-3, 6-1, 8-7, 6-2.

The finals will be run off Sunday. Stoeffen, whose dashing play made him a gallery favorite, started well, blasting away with all his great strength and winning the first three games quickly.

In the second set, however, Hess' meticulous service got going and he started using a powerful forehand stroke that had not seemed to click previously.

In the match with Quick, Allison was not troubled particularly, save in the third set where Quick's lobbing was too much for him.

An exchange of blows between two doubles semifinalists occurred late Saturday. The participants, "Red" Thalheimer and Jimmy Quick, both of Dallas who just had been defeated by Gilbert Hall of New York and Wilmer Allison of Austin, 6-0, 6-1, 9-7, were separated quickly by a tournament official.

Quick first said it was "just a misunderstanding" but later both he and Thalheimer sought to minimize the incident.

Neither suffered any injury of consequence.

Hall and Allison will meet Ellsworth Vines of California and George Lott of Chicago Sunday in the finals. Vines and Lott turned back Karl Kamrath of Texas university and Frankie Parker of New Orleans, 6-2, 10-8, 4-6, 6-3.

Miss Anna Mae Reichert of San Antonio won the women singles championship, defeating Miss Eugenie Sampson of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2.

MISS MORRILL FIGURES IN THREE NET TITLES

BROOKLINE, Mass., April 2. CONFESSED SLAYER PAYS PENALTY IN NEW JERSEY CHAIR

TRENTON, N. J., April 2. (INS)—William Moore Fraser, confessed slayer of Mrs. Poebe Lillian Stader, died last night in the electric chair despite desperate last minute efforts on the part of war comrades to save him.

Members of the fourth division with which Fraser served during the war attempted to persuade Gov. A. Harry Moore to commute his sentence to life imprisonment but the governor followed the lead of the court of pardons which refused to reconsider the sentence of death passed upon Fraser nearly a year ago.

Fraser, who was confident to the last that his appeal for executive clemency would be allowed, walked unhurriedly into the white-washed death chamber in the New Jersey state prison.

He nodded and said "Hello colonel," to Col. Edward D. Stone, warden of the prison, sat down calmly in the weird looking chair and remained a passive but interested spectator while Robert Elliott, the state executioner adjusted the straps. Five minutes later he was pronounced dead by Dr. Wellington Crane.

It was the end of a busy week for Elliott who also helps the state of New York carry out the death sentence. On Thursday night Elliott had

FIVE WICHITANS NAMED ON BOARDS DIRECTORS

Rail Executive Says Future Of Line Assured by Section It Serves

The Katy is in splendid physical condition, is soundly financed and in no need of federal loans and believes its future assured by reason of the fact that it serves a section certain to grow and develop.

These are some of the statements made here Saturday by M. H. Cahill, chairman of the board and president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines, who with several of his staff officers spent a few hours in Wichita Falls. Mr. Cahill is on an annual inspection and annual meeting trip and during Saturday afternoon stockholders meetings of three of the subsidiaries of the company were held, followed by the usual election of directors and officers.

F. M. Gates of Wichita Falls was re-elected a director of the Wichita Falls and Wellington Railway company of Texas; W. M. McGregor and J. C. Mytinger of Wichita Falls were re-elected directors and M. Taxman was elected a director of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern Railway company of Texas, and C. E. McCutchen of Wichita Falls was re-elected director of the Wichita Falls Railway company.

Accompanying Mr. Cahill were John L. Burns, St. Louis, assistant to the chairman of the board and president; F. W. Grace, Dallas, vice president and general manager; Joseph M. Bryson, St. Louis, general counsel; F. Ringer, St. Louis, chief engineer; C. C. Huff, Dallas, general solicitor; H. M. Warden, chief mechanical officer, and K. H. Metzger, engineer maintenance of way.

The Katy has not been forced to borrow from the government, or from any other source, to meet its fixed charges, Mr. Cahill said, and for that reason is in an enviable position as compared to many other large railroad systems.

"The Katy is in no need of refinancing and in spite of the continued declines in revenue will be able to earn its own way," he said. Mr. Cahill attributed the Katy avoidance of "the specter of receivership" to the fact that it is exclusively an independent Southwest carrier and owes its soundness largely to the stability of the Southwest.

Loyal Employes

Efficiency and loyalty of Katy employes was pointed to by the president as another important reason for the Katy's ability to meet its charges, Mr. Cahill said that because of declines in business, sweeping reductions in forces and the most rigid economies had been necessary, but the employes, he said, "seem to fully appreciate the situation, and are doing the best job of railroading in the history of transportation."

"Every man is putting the best he has into his particular job, and employes in all branches of the service are supplementing their regular duties with active and effective solicitation efforts to attract additional business to the rails. They are showing an admirable and determined fighting spirit which is typical, I think, of the Southwest. It is this section-wide spirit, coupled with the vast and as yet untouched natural resources of the Southwest that makes me so certain that it is going to emerge from the business storm sooner and more completely than any other section of the country."

Mr. Cahill thinks highway competition is a matter that is finally going to be adjusted by the public. "More and more people are daily realizing the seriousness of the situation and there is increasing demand on the part of the people for adequate regulation of the use of public-paid-for roads by individuals and firms operating for profit," he said. "Lack of regulation for one and an over-abundance of regulation for the other is seriously hampering the railroads and a weakened rail system is a menace to our entire economic order. Unfortunately highway competition became exceedingly acute at a time when the rails were suffering also from the general depression. This, however, has served to focus public attention on the plight of the carriers and the public will in time, for its own protection if for no other reason, demand proper legislation."

DISABLED VETERANS OF WORLD WAR TO MEET AT AUDITORIUM MONDAY EVE

There will be a called meeting of all disabled veterans of the world war at the Memorial auditorium Monday evening at 7:30. The session will be brief but there will be some important matters affecting all disabled veterans discussed at this meeting, it is announced. All disabled veterans of the world war are invited and urged to attend, whether members of the D. A. V. of W. W. or not, according to Fred L. Cone, chapter commander.

FIRST TEXAS LYNCHING OVER YEAR AT CROCKETT

CROCKETT, Texas, April 2. (AP)—Dave Tillis, a negro tenant farmer, was lynched last night after he assertedly had entered a white woman's bedroom. It was the first lynching in Texas in more than a year.

Arch Maples, the negro's landlord, was on his way to Crockett with the man to turn him over to the custody of officers when four men took the negro from him and hanged him to a black jack tree. Officers were notified of the lynching. They went to the spot, cut down the negro's body, and brought it to Crockett for an inquest.

Tillis was about 50 years old. The farm where he lived is 19 miles from Crockett.

The last previous lynching in Texas was on June 17, 1930.

TIMES' MARKET REPORT

RAILROAD SHARES LEAD STOCKS IN DOWNWARD TREND

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—However far the tax bill may be from its final form, Wall street today still labored under the apprehensions created by the house version of the measure, and security prices maintained their downward course.

Except in rails, a few specialties and numerous preferreds losses of stocks were rather moderate, even before short covering coincident with wheat's strength reduced declines.

Although taxes seemed to be uppermost in the market's thoughts, brokers attributed renewed rail selling to uncertainties arising from the Interstate Commerce commission's apparent opposition to granting loans through national credit channels for the purpose of meeting bank notes.

Extreme losses in rails ranged from a fraction to four points. Union Pacific had the maximum break, although its drop was just halved by the late recovery. Santa Fe was down 2¾ at the worst. A further reduction in its dividend at next week's meeting is believed possible.

American Telephone sold under 110, but was down only a small fraction for the day. American Can, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, North American, Standard Gas, Corn Products, Consolidated Gas and Loew's closed about a point lower, while net losses in U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Electric, Westinghouse, American Tobacco "B" and General Motors were more moderate.

Sales totaled 1,045,520 shares.

Improvement in the general banking situation may have escaped attention for the moment, but conservative observers pointed out that it was none the less very real.

The steel and motor industries are still marking time. It will probably be a fortnight or so before the automobile makers can get a line on the public's attitude toward their new offerings and make their plans accordingly.

NEW LOW RECORDS FOR BOND MARKET IN SHORT SESSION

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—The bond market closed the week on a low and doleful note today with prices of numerous corporate issues descending to new depth records for the year.

Even the United States government list, which had been swimming strongly against the downward current, reacted moderately near the close of the short session and the majority of liberties and treasuries finished fractionally lower.

The railways and utilities, however, were the center of the attacking forces and the averages for the principal mortgages of both these groups slipped on to the lowest for 1932. The industrials, while sagging, gave a better account of themselves.

Declines in the rails extended all the way from fractions to around 9 points, nickel plate issues being the hardest hit, with those of St. Louis Southwestern running a close second. Also especial weakness was displayed by bonds of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corp., Burlington, Chicago Great Western, St. Paul, Chicago and Northwestern, Rock Island, Erie, Great Northern, Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Frisco, Southern Pacific and Wabash.

Among the utilities American and Foreign Power 5s dropped 3¼ points and Columbia Gas and Electric 5s, International Telephone Debenture 4½s, Utilities Power and Light 5s and Western Union were conspicuously heavy. On the other hand American Telephone and Consolidated Gas liens were steady. International Match 5s and Kreuger and Toll 5s eased, as did Shell Union 4ds Sinclair Oil Mortgages.

While the foreign section was relatively steady, the Argentine government obligations continued to advance, gaining as much as 4 points in one issue. The Germans were slightly lower, but British and Japanese loans firmed.

Sales totaled $5,375,000 par value.

PRICE FOR COTTON DECLINES IN FACE RENEWED SELLING

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—The greater part of yesterday's rally in cotton was lost today under a renewal of the recent selling movement.

After selling off to 6.10 for May or about 8 points net lower and within 8 points off the low price touched on the decline of last Thursday, however, offerings decreased and there were slight rallies in the late trading on week-end covering. May closed at 6.14 with the general market closing steady at net losses of 4 to 8 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 6 points under moderate offerings which included southern and far eastern selling as well as further liquidation. The contracts were absorbed by trade buying and covering, while there was also a little buying believed to be for Liverpool account.

Selling increased somewhat after the opening decline in the stock market and the recession extended to 6.49 for October, making the general list about 5 to 9 points below Friday's closing quotations.

The market turned steady later with slight rallies encouraged by the development of better tone in the stock market and firmness in grain. Closing quotations were about 3 to 4 points up from the lowest on the more active positions.

Liverpool cables barely met the New York rally of late Friday and the decline in sterling. Private advices, however, reported trade calling and covering with a cessation of selling pressure in that market and said there was an improved demand for cotton cloth from India.

The weather map was considered more favorable and may have been a factor in the early decline, but the attention of the trade still centered on the Washington news and the action of the stock and grain markets.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 191,000 bales against 115,000 last year and 102,000 two years ago. Reports that plans for a reduction of about 33 per cent in current print cloth production were being considered in the cotton trade stirred interest among brokers.

Futures closed steady, 4-8 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 6.25.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, April 2. (AP)—Cotton was rather quiet in today's short week-end session. Prices were slightly downward, but there appeared to be no special depressing influences except downward variations in the stock market. Liverpool cables were better than due but this was offset by lower sterling exchange.

As a result the market here opened practically unchanged, but prices gradually eased off during nearly the entire session on some weakness in stocks and week-end liquidation, finally reaching lows for the day 9 to 10 points under the opening. There was a slight rally of 2 points at the end owing to covering, and the market closed steady showing net declines for the day of 7 to 8 points.

July closed at 6.28 and Oct. at 6.48, down 7 and 8 points for the day.

Port receipts 8,371, for season 9,135,161, last season 8,538,559. Exports 22,253, for season 6,808,243, last season 5,535,596. Port stock 4,393,000, last year 3,763,785. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 137,657, last year 88,103. Spot sales at southern markets, 5,950; last year 2,501.

Chicago Cotton Market

CHICAGO, April 2. (AP)—Chicago cotton market closed 3-6 points net lower. Liverpool cables were better than due, but our market opened 1-3 points lower and gradually declined during morning trading, losing 7-10 points. Near the close, the market advanced a few points in sympathy with the strength in grain markets.

Livestock

Midwestern Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, April 2. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade this week was marked by an early decline of 25@50c on fed steers and yearlings which was followed by a reaction with part of the early losses recovered. Current values on fed steers and yearlings are steady to 25c lower as compared with a week ago. Light heifers and mixed yearlings along with fat cows show material losses for the week at most centers. Chicago had a week's top of $.15 on choice light weight steers and realised $.10 on best heavies. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets were estimated at 144,000 as compared with 147,702 last week and 158,113 a year ago.

The fat lamb market after several long drawn out mid-week sessions with prices weak to lower finished the week steady to 25c or more higher. Chicago on the close received $7.50 for choice wooled lambs. Values on sheep were little changed. Total offerings of around 213,000 were 4,500 more than last week and 47,000 less than a year ago.

Hog prices at most markets are steady to 15c lower for the week but with Chicago with a late top of $4.85 shows a gain of 5@15c. The week's supply approximated 353,500 against 388,022 last week and 416,378 a year ago.

KANSAS CITY, April 2. (U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—Receipts 600; fully steady; 200 pounds, $3.95@4.00; 250 to 325 pounds, $3.75@3.90.

SALES SPUDDER TICKETS DRIVE OPENS TUESDAY

BREAKFAST TUESDAY A. M. OFFICIALLY OPENS DRIVE

Ralph K. Pond Chairman of Drive Committees Asks Full Cooperation

With a breakfast at the Wichita club at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, the 1932 "Support the Spudders" campaign to sell blocks of game tickets will be officially put under way.

Dr. Everett Jones, chairman of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce Spudder support committee, will be host at the breakfast, to be attended by 10 campaign teams of 61 members of the junior and senior chambers of commerce.

Opportunity to actually cooperate in the campaign will be given residents of Wichita Falls when the 61 drive workers begin the sale of ticket books for Spudder-at-home games. Each book will contain eight tickets and will be sold for $6, Ralph K. Pond, in charge of the drive, announced Saturday.

Paul Backus, chairman; Moody Weaver, Renfro Lesley, William Mitchell, Eli Morgan and Tom Vague.

T. C. Anthony, chairman; J. M. McDonald, Paul Lacy, Gerald Coffey, Charles A. Spragins Jr. and J. L. Randel.

P. S. Richardson, chairman; K. C. Spell, R. R. Moore, E. E. Scannell, Joe Stokes and Fred Sehmann.

Dr. Ted Krohn, chairman; Linton Estes, Joe Farabee, George Gutzman, George Keith Jr. and Lory Autry.

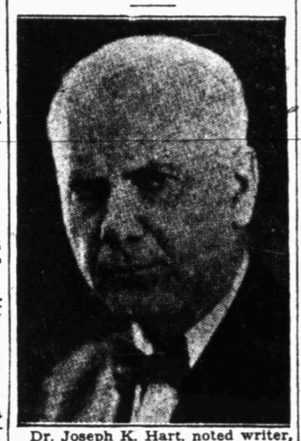
Although both the senior and junior chambers are to participate actively in the sale of ticket blocks, more than 50 per cent of the membership of the 10 teams has been drawn from the junior chamber roster.

For 100 per cent team membership at the initial breakfast, the Morgan Floral company will present one dozen carnations to the wives of the team captains, and as an added impetus for the sale, individual campaigners will compete for three prizes of admission tickets, valued at $25, $15 and $10.

"The value of the Spudders as an advertising asset to Wichita Falls cannot be overlooked," Mr. Pond declared Saturday. "The Spudder management has cooperated in keeping the club here in 1932, and it is up to the city to back the team. The management has given assurance that every effort to maintain a winning team in Wichita Falls will be made, and members of the 10 campaign teams intend to do all in their power to promote a greater interest in the ball team."

Noted Lecturer to Conduct Three-Day Forum in Wichita



Dr. Joseph K. Hart, noted writer, lecturer and scholar from Vanderbilt university, is to be presented in a three-day forum series Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 7, 8 and 9 under the alspices of the Wichita Falls Teachers association, according to A. F. Edwards, president of the association. This will be the second annual series of programs thus sponsored by the local teachers, last year's lectures by Dr. Henry C. Morrison of Chicago having made an auspicious beginning in what the teachers hope to make an annual presentation.

As last year, teachers of Wichita county and other surrounding communities are cooperating in the enterprise and all programs will be thrown open to the general public without charge. Dr. Hart's reputation as an open forum lecturer should make his selection as speaker even more popular with the general public than last year's program. He has just concluded a 10-day open forum tour of Florida.

Lecture subjects announced for the series follow: Thursday night, 8 o'clock, "What's In the Mind of Youth Today?"; Friday night, "Communism, Facism and Democracy"; Saturday morning, 8 o'clock, breakfast at the Wichita club, "The World Crisis and American Education"; at 10 o'clock, "A Social Interpretation of the School." All meetings are scheduled for the college auditorium.

JUNIOR RED CROSS FILLS YULE BOXES FOR PORTO RICANS

The Christmas boxes filled by the Wichita Falls members of the Junior Red Cross found their way to Porto Rican children, A. R. Silva, manager of the Porto Rican chapter, American Red Cross, writes the following to the children of this city: "Forty-two tubercular children at the Insular sanatorium have spent many happy hours playing with the toys contained in some of them. Sixteen of the children there are using cottages built with funds donated by the Juniors of Porto Rico. These children come from destitute families and would have had nothing for Christmas time were it not for the kindness of the Wichita Falls Juniors."

Mrs. A. J. Newby is chairman of the Junior Red Cross of this chapter and each school that carries on junior work has a building representative. Crockett school has long been active in junior work and the representative is Miss Ida Moore. Austin school, represented by Miss Oma King, sent Christmas boxes and has recently received a special issue of the Austrian Junior magazine. This particular copy is devoted to Goethe. In the magazine is a letter written in German from Dr. Wilhelm Viola, general secretary of the Austrian Junior Red Cross, which expresses the hope that some one will be able to read the article to the children.

Alamo school, represented by Miss Dorothy Warren, has just completed its enrollment for the new year. Alamo takes 20 subscriptions to the Junior News, the national magazine devoted to activities of the groups.

The nine rooms of Barwise, under the leadership of Miss Adeni Kouri, and the 10 rooms at San Jacinto sponsored by Miss Mary Lindley, completed their enrollment in December and have enjoyed their magazines since.

Send Boxes to Hospital

Benjamin Franklin and Sam Houston, represented by Florence Cullen and Miss Edith Deaton, have the honor of enrolling on Armistice day. Bowie school also enrolled in November. The work is sponsored by Mrs. J. A. Smith in Bowie. Mrs. Estelle Chandler sponsors the work in Huey school. They are receiving their magazines this year.

Besides the Christmas boxes sent to Porto Rico a second consignment of boxes was sent to the children at the state hospital for tuberculous children. Dr. J. B. McKnight writes the Wichita Falls Juniors that he had some children at the hospital who were made happy by gifts of the Wichita Falls children.

Junior Red Cross had its beginning during the world war and has developed into an international organization for school children composed of 4,000,000.

It is active in work that makes for peace and also service. During the national educational convention in Washington in February a section of the meeting was conducted by the organization. The state superintendent of Pennsylvania presided and superintendents from the Minneapolis, Chicago, Des Moines and Houston schools discussed the work of the juniors in their schools. The National Educational association as well as the World Federation of Education both endorse the work carried on by the juniors.

Not only have the schools of Wichita Falls included junior activities but many of the schools in the county.

Buddha's Huge Statue

One of Buddha's wishes was that no images be made of him after his death. This has been broken, especially by the Burmese who have erected a reclining statue 80 feet long and 41 feet high at Pegu, Burma.

CHEVROLET SHOWS SUBSTANTIAL GAIN FLEET DELIVERIES

DETROIT, Mich., April 2.—A gain of 81 per cent was registered by the Chevrolet Motor company during January in fleet deliveries—cars and trucks sold for commercial purposes—over the same month last year, H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager, announced here today.

Nearly 50 large companies were numbered among those who purchased new equipment during the month, three different organizations taking delivery of 100 or more units each, Mr. Klingler said. He interpreted the improvement as indicating resumption of replacement buying by those organizations fleets are largely made up of cars and trucks purchased in 1928 and 1929, and which are now obsoleted, due to the heavy usage they receive in commercial work.

The present trend to six cylinders for commercial purposes got under way after fleet users who purchase equipment as a capital investment, had made competitive tests as to the economy and durability of various types of cars, Mr. Klingler pointed out.

The January performance follows a year in which Chevrolet set a new high mark for fleet deliveries. In 1931, despite the general trend in the industry, Chevrolet bettered by 10 per cent the best previous year in fleet business in the history of the company.

Fleet sales in 1931 included not only greater individual purchases by large corporations but also a larger number of purchasers. Forty-two customers bought 100 or more units at one time during the year. More than 50 customers bought 50 units or over. Eighty customers purchased 25 units or over, and more than 225 customers bought more than 10 units.

Urge Parents to Help Make School Census Complete

An appeal to all citizens of Wichita Falls to make certain their children of school age have been enumerated in the annual school census so that the school district would not lose any state funds next year was made Saturday by W. W. Brown, secretary of the school board.

Mr. Brown explained that the state paid the city school system a certain amount for each scholastic enumerated in the census. He urged that any parent not certain their children had been counted to call the school board office at 6302 and an enumerator will be sent out to check the scholastic in question.

Only children who next Sept. 1 will be over 6 and under 18 years of age can be included.

BUSINESS PROPHETS

There are two classes of Business Prophets—those who don't know anything about it, and those who know even less than that. Mr. O. Tremble says: "The worst is yet to come. The whole world is bankrupt. I can see no hope."

Bolony!! This old world of ours is a tough baby and can stand lots of punishment.

Forget Messrs. Tremble, Shudders and Jitters. The real guys who are leading the procession today are Messrs. Spunk, Backbone and Gutts.

Responsibility

If there is any personal or business relationship in which responsibility is a vital element, it is that assumed by an executor under a bill.

To the executor falls the duty of settling affairs entirely in the interest of others—the heirs under the will.

The executor must handle funds for others, with a discretion that must have for its single object the protection of the beneficiaries' interests.

To any one who is now giving or will some time give thought to his will and to the choice of an executor, we suggest a conference with our trust officer will be beneficial to them.

Name this bank as your executor.

IN ONE EASY LESSON

HERE at the bank we see all kinds of savers, some successful and some unsuccessful. The important difference seems to be this:

The successful savers save their first dollars, not the last ones. When pay day comes they drop into the bank, put a little in their savings accounts—then spend the rest.

The unsuccessful savers usually do just the opposite. They wait until just before the end of the week or month. If they have any money left they put some in the bank. Too often they have nothing left.
