Middle East Threatened With Escalation of War

Russia Calls for Halt Of Israeli Aggression

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government warned today that what it called continued Israeli aggression against the Arab states threatens a resumption of the Middle East war on a large scale. It called Israel's actions a threat to international security

The warning was carried by the official Tass news agency as an anthorized statement of the Soviet Union. It accused the United States, Britain and West Germany of encouraging Israel but it made no threats to intervene.

Tass said the ruling circles of Israel, and the Western nations encouraging them, "are playing a risky game with fire" and are "making serious miscalculations in evaluating the resolve of the Arab States and their friends to uphold the cause of peace in the Middle East."

It said these ruling circles "incur the entire burden of responsibility and retribution for continuation of the policy of aggression and provocations against the Arab states and peoples."

Tass said the latest major provocation using aircraft, artillery and tanks came July 14-15 when Israeli forces attacked the towns of El Qantara, Ismailia and Ferdan with artillery and mortar shells and when "Israeli planes tried to bomb Suez."

It said there were civilian casualties.

Several Soviet warships are paying a friendship visit to Port Said at the north end of the 107-mile long canal. Suez is at the south end. Egypt reported a number of Israeli planes shot down during the weekend warfare.

"Each clash of this kind, provoked by the irresponsible and brazen actions of the Israeli military men is fraught with a threat of resumption of the military conflict on a large-scale, threatens peace in the Middle East and international security," the statement said.

Tass said it was obvious that Israel and the United States "and some other imperialist powers," are obstructing the adoption of a United Nations resolution demanding Israel give up the territories it captured from the Arabs.

"Imperialist predatory aims were at the root of it, Tass said.

Water Resources Development Hits New Snag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee, warning that water resources development is proceeding at less than half-speed, imposed a further go-slow order today on flood control, rivers and harbors work, and reclamation projects.

Approving a $4.6 billion annual public works bill, the committee made plain in a report to the House that it would have voted more money except for demands of the Vietnam war. It said studies show that meeting water needs of the 1980s calls for more than twice the current rate of government spending for water development.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, chairman of a public works subcommittee that drafted the bill, wrote the report and the obituary of his own favorite public works project.

A 120-mile canal from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Lake Erie, to be built at a cost of $1 billion or more, was Kirwan's dream. But "Mike's ditch" was scratched by the committee after the governor of Pennsylvania said the state "will not provide the local cooperation required" under laws controlling such work.

The money measure is commonly called the "pork barrel" bill because of its inclusion of funds to be spent on construction work in all states.

However, the bill's biggest item—$2.5 billion—is for operations of the Atomic Energy Commission, essentially a national defense agency.

For rivers, harbors and flood control work of the army engineers, the committee voted $1.2 billion, $46 million less than the president asked and $29 million less than congress allowed for the 12 months just ended.

The Bureau of Reclamation, for its water projects, got $303 million, $11 million less than the President wanted and $21 million less than it got last year.

The bill, which comes up for House action next week, also carries funds for operation of the Panama Canal, the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, the Tennessee Valley Authority, and other government power agencies. All were cut below the President's budget requests, for a total claimed reduction of $243 million.

Youths Admit 23 Burglaries

Pampa police cleared up 23 minor burglaries that have occurred between January and June of this year when nine juveniles admitted the various thefts.

The youths, aged 13 to 15, were turned over to Bill Leonard, juvenile authority. The investigation had lasted two weeks, with most of it concentrated in the last week.

Most of the burglaries occurred at liquor stores and bars.

"They (the juveniles) were mainly getting something to drink," Police Chief Jim Conner said, "and liquor stores were the places to get it."

All the burglaries were minor, Chief Conner said — a case or two of beer, something to eat, a little cash.

The investigation started with a couple of the youths. During talks with the police, the juveniles implicated others, a couple of whom have recently moved to Oklahoma.

"We kept digging around and found out they were lying," Chief Conner said.

"All the youths did not commit all the burglaries together. Several would burgarize one place and others would burglarize another or even the same place," Chief Conner said. "Among them, though, they were responsible for 23 different burglaries."

Some of the youths come from broken families, Chief Conner said, but they belong to no particular class.

The places broken into by the youths were Royal Bar, Tea Room Lounge, Curley's Place, Service Liquor, Club Bar, Dottie's Place, Heavy's Liquor, Lamar Elementary School, Baker Elementary School, Ward's Minit Mart No. 4, Jiffy Laundry, Meers Oil Co., Oasis Club, Killarney Lounge, Speed Queen Laundry and Phillips 66 Service.

Death Toll Reaches 82 In Piedmont Air Crash

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (UPI)—FBI agents worked toward final identification today of the 82 bodies hurled over a wooded valley when a Piedmont Airliner collided with a small plane Wednesday.

A sheriff's deputy reported that all the bodies, "or parts of them," had finally been recovered from Wednesday's disaster.

Among them was newly-appointed Navy Secretary John T. McNaughton, 45, his wife and young son, and a space technician of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The FBI rushed a team of agents to the wreckage to help identify the victims. The bodies were laid out on the concrete floor of the National Guard Armory, covered with white plastic sheets.

Aviation safety officials began the final search of the forest, hunting for clues to the in-flight crash. Voice tapes and flight recorders from the airliner were recovered and rushed to Washington for examination.

Spectators were kept away from the twisted and scattered remains of the jetliner and the Cessna 310 which collided around 4,000 feet above this resort city in the western North Carolina mountains. Three persons were in the small plane, owned by Lanseair Inc., of Springfield, Mo., and the airliner, Piedmont's morning flight from Atlanta to Washington, carried 74 passengers and a crew of five.

Disastrous Day

It was the fifth air crash of the day over the southeast. Two Army reconnaissance helicopters collided in Alabama, killing four men; a Navy pilot died in a crash off the Florida Coast; a mosquito spraying plane crashed in Georgia and killed the pilot, and a helicopter plunged into a Florida swamp, but its two occupants were not hurt.

The collision occurred shortly after the airliner had taken off from the Asheville-Hendersonville Airport and witnesses said the Cessna plowed into the underside of the larger plane with a "big boom and a big flash of fire." One witness said the Cessna seemed to disintegrate and "bodies fell like confetti" from the jetliner.

The plunging airliner screamed low over the town and two summer camps for boys and girls before slamming into a wooded area near the intersection of interstate highway 26 and U.S. highway 64.

Horrified observers saw bodies drop from the sky around them. A child's body fell at a filling station, that of a stewardess dropped on the median strip of a highway, and one body crashed through the roof of a house.

"Oh, my God, tell me it's not true," exclaimed the owner of the house.

Twenty bodies were found in the wreckage, most of them burned beyond recognition. Fifteen others were recovered.

McNaughton, newly appointed Secretary of the Navy, had boarded the plane, flight 22, in Asheville. He and his wife, Sally, had come to this lush mountain setting to pick up their son, Theodore, 11, at a summer camp.

The NASA technician, Thomas R. Boton, 49, of the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., was en route to the Bendix Corp. in New Jersey.

Thirty of the victims were southeast-southwest broker-dealers of Stokely Van Camp, Inc., bound for a national sales convention at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Two Stokely employes, including vice president Ennis Parker, 61, of Griffin, Ga., also were killed. The convention was cancelled.

Grace Better After Miscarriage

MONTREAL (UPI)—Princess Grace of Monaco was in "satisfactory" condition today following a miscarriage, doctors said.

The princess, the former American movie actress Grace Kelly of Philadelphia, was expecting her fourth child in January.

Doctors said she became ill Tuesday night and had the miscarriage Wednesday night. They did not reveal its cause.

The blonde princess, 37, came to Montreal with Prince Rainier and their three children to attend Monaco Day at Expo 67 and to later tour Canada.

The three children born of their storybook marriage in April, 1956, are Caroline, 10 Albert, 9, and Stephanie, 2.

Doctors said she would spend the next few days recuperating in Royal Victoria Hospital.

Her pregnancy had been announced June 29 by the Royal Palace in Monte Carlo.

Rainier, sovereign of the Riviera principality famed for its gambling casino, and the princess, cancelled all immediate travel plans. The couple and their children had been scheduled to travel to Victoria, B.C., by train.

The Ranier children have become the stars of the couple's life. Rainier and Albert are the chief fans of the Monaco soccer team which plays right outside one of the palace windows.

Princess Grace often is seen strolling through picturesque Monte Carlo with one or two of the children.

US Troops Free Inmates

SAIGON (UPI) — American paratroopers leaped across poisoned stakes, smashed through a 10-foot bamboo wall and freed 22 starving Vietnamese from a Communist jungle jail, U.S. spokesmen said today.

"Thank you, GI, thank you . . ." one inmate kept repeating to the Americans who staged the dramatic rescue in a raid into a Viet Cong sanctuary under Communist control for years. It is 325 miles north of Saigon.

Listing other war developments, spokesmen said U.S. B52s bombs today smashed two of the Communists' greatest troop centers in South Vietnam. Other American jets flew 142 missions against North Vietnam's oil dumps and missile centers Wednesday. For the first time in six weeks Communist MIG fighters tried to turn back the U.S. jets.

But American pilots drove off the eight North Vietnamese MIG17 interceptors with no loss reported to either side. But the spokesman, issuing the U.S. high command's weekly battle tally, reported:

—175 Americans were killed, 1,443 wounded and 38 were listed as missing in combat last week. It boosted U.S. war casualty totals to 12,152 killed, 72,483 wounded and 713 missing or captured.

—Reversing a three-month trend, more South Vietnamese troops than Americans died in battle last week. Reports said 202 government troops were killed and 543 wounded. Other Allies suffered 25 dead and 46 wounded last week, officials said.

—The Communists as usual suffered far worse, losing 4.7 soldiers killed for every Allied trooper slain.

The Communist jungle prison was found by about 200 of the Americans, paratroopers of the Army's 101st Airborne Division and commanded by Capt. Dennis Anderson of Crookston, Minn., near the village of Duc Pho Wednesday. The GIs fired and charged. The Viet Cong guards ran.

The Americans found some inmates in leg stocks. All were "emaciated and suffering from disease and various stages of severe malnutrition," said a report.

The Viet Cong had planted thousands of bamboo stakes with the points smeared with poisonous matter around the prison fence.

In the North Vietnam air war, the eight MIGs appeared as U.S. Air Force bombers were hitting the rail lines to Communist China just 19 miles north of Hanoi. It took only a pair of F4C Phantoms, the fastest U.S. planes in the war, to scare them off.

Although no loss was reported in the encounter, American spokesmen said 615 U.S. planes have been lost over the Communist nation. That was three more than had been reported.

Mexican Agents Smash Red Plot

MEXICO CITY (rPI)—Mexican agents smashed a Communist revolution plot financed by Red China and based on the teachings of chairman Mao Tse-tung, the Mexican government said today.

The attorney general's office announced the arrest of 13 Communists accused of subversion aimed at overthrowing the republic and establishing a "popular socialist" regime.

Spokesmen said the mastermind, a former leader of the Mexican Communist party, had escaped to Peking but claimed all apprehended had confessed their roles in the plot.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Julio Sanchez said the gang "...planned to form guerrillas... and recruited youths to take to a training camp in the state of Chiapas where they would be taught guerrilla tactics along the lines of Mao Tse-tung."

Finances Revealed

He said the movement was financed by $1,600 a month sent through the Mexico City bureau of Peking's official New China News agency.

Sanchez said the group used a Russian-made Moskvitch automobile for their travels but it eventually broke down and helped Mexican agencies locate them.

Chiapas is a primitive jungle state in southern Mexico, bordering on Guatemala. There are few roads and little known communications.

Sanchez said the group's aim was to "create centers of insurrection in several states of the republic which would coincide with acts of sabotage and terrorism, principally in Mexico City."

He said the plot was discovered when one of the 13 arrested, a peasant farmer named Adrian Campos Diaz, was linked with a July 3 dynamite attack on an army truck in the state of Guerrero. Through him federal agents tracked down the others, Sanchez announced.

Murder Charge Hits Minister

CLAREMORE, Okla. (UPI)—A Presbyterian minister who felt that he "should tell someone" provided information leading officers to the body of Mrs. Dola Mildred Oldham, 52, of Fort Smith, Ark.

Rev. Reba A. Smith Jr., 43, the father of four young daughters, was charged Wednesday with murder. He has been in a mental hospital since July 1.

The body of Mrs. Oldham, who had been missing since March 20, was found July 9 in a mountainous, heavily- wooded section of Latimer County.

Officers said Mrs. Oldham apparently had been strangled with a scarf in a car while being driven through the San Bois Mountains of southeastern Oklahoma.

Mrs. Hosea Pilgreen of Poteau, the victim's sister said Smith drove to Fort Smith and returned to Poteau wih Mrs. Oldham on the day she disappeared.

Mrs. Pilgreen said Smith said the next day that he had taken Mrs. Oldham to McAlester and given her bus fare to Dallas.

PARADE TO KICKOFF RODEO

Annual Kid Pony Show Scheduled Tuesday

Pampa's annual western celebration, the Top O' Texas Rodeo, will start with the Kid Pony Show and Minature Rodeo at Recreation Park Tuesday. Second event in the five-night program is the rodeo parade Wednesday.

Tennie Reynolds and Holly Gray, parade chairmen, requested parade contestants to register early so "the parade can be better organized and start on time."

The parade will start forming at 3 p.m. at Coronado Center and leave from the center at 4 p.m. About 15 entries are slated to date.

The two-hour parade route will travel down Hobart St. to Ward from Ward to Browning; across Browning to Cuyler and down Cuyler to Craven St.

Some of the entries include a Highway patrol car, National Guard color guard, Top O' Texas flag, rodeo officials, the Amarillo Air Force band, city and county officials, cowgirls, the Johnnie Lee Wills Band, riding clubs, commericial entries, civic clubs and organizations, and ranch entries.

First, second and third place engraved trophies will be awarded for the most typical ranch entry, which could include chuck wagons, surreys, hacks, covered wagons, stage coaches, or frontier personalities.

Engraved trophies are also to be given for six other parade entries, best civic club or organization entry, most attractive club entry, most typically dressed junior cowgirl rider and most typically dressed junior cowboy rider.

Junior parade entries must have entered the Kid Pony Show and be wearing their number.

"Roping clubs of other towns have been notified and also are expected to send parade entries. So far we have 15 entires registered," Reyonolds said.

President May Be Planning Big Cuts In Defense Spending, Ford Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today he understands President Johnson is preparing for big cuts in non-defense spending. Ford said if the cuts are made, no tax increase will be needed.

Johnson reaffirmed Tuesday that he still wants the 6 per cent income tax hike he asked for in January. He hinted at an even higher request, reflecting growing administration concern that without a tax boost the federal deficit for fiscal 1968 may run to $25 billion or more.

Ford told a news conference he has information from government sources to indicate Johnson has asked cabinet members to tell him where non-defense spending can be cut by 15 per cent.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Men of the U.S. 7th Army used to call it the "Big Army." U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara called it the world's most "combat ready" army.

The five divisions of the 7th Army were the United States' contribution to NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which came into being as result of the 1948-49 Russian blockade of Berlin and got its teeth in the collective panic touched off by the Communist invasion of South Korea in 1950.

But now some of its teeth are rotting. Others have been pulled.

NATO was the beginning of the system of world-girdling alliances set up to contain communism.

It was the alliance which enabled then-President Dwight D. Eisenhower to declare in 1959 that "since NATO was formed there has been no further Communist advance in Europe—either by political or by military means."

Policy Makes Sense

And the policy of containment now directed against Red China is the only one that makes any real sense out of the war in South Vietnam.

Even there, just as the failure of the Russians to make new advances in Europe has lessened the fear of military aggression, so in Asia the disclosure of Red China's own internal weaknesses has led many in the United States to question the wisdom of U.S. policies in Vietnam.

It is a view not shared by U.S. military leaders.

In early 1952, as the war in Korea raged to a peak of fury, the 15 member nations of NATO met in Lisbon and decided to set up a force of 50 divisions, incldding 12 each from France and West Germany, supported by 4,000 operation aircraft.

Into this force went some 200,000 American soldiers, 58,000 airmen and 33, sailors at an annual cost of $2.3 billion.

Whatever NATO's value, most of its members in Western Europe never did meet their full commitment.

Rejects NATO

France pulled some of its forces out to help in the losing battle against the Algerian rebels and under President Chares de Gaulle finally rejected the NATO command altogether.

In May, despite earlier denials, the United States announced it would withdraw two Army brigades plus some air units from its forces in Germany for a total of 35,000 men as of Jan. 1, 1968.

Britain announced it would withdraw 6,500 men from its total of 55,000.

This week, over strong American objections, the British announced they would reduce their overall forces by 75,000 men, including most of the British strength in Asia, and abandon its aircraft carriers.

The British announcement followed close upon the heels of West Germany's decision to place economy ahead of defense by cutting its defense spending by $2.5 billion over the nert four years.

Military planners believe peace in Europe depends upon a strong NATO. But the action of the NATO allies gives strong new voice to those demanding the U.S. cut its own spending by a further reduction of its forces in Germany.

MINISTERS RELEASED

ACCRA (UPI)—Two ex-ministers under exiled former Ghanian president Kwame Nkrumah were released from protective custody Wednesday with 221 other persons detained following the abortive April 17 coup. They were former Works Minister E.K. Bensah and former deputy Information Minister Daniel Boadi.

ACTOR HURT

KANAB, Utah (UPI)—Film star Omar Sharif suffered a broken nose Wednesday in a riding accident 43 miles east of here on the location set of "Mackenna's Gold."

The actor was treated at Kane County Hospital in Kanab and released.

A spokesman said the accident occurred when Sharif's horse lowered its head and then snapped it back, striking the Egyptian-born actor in the face.

Historical Ribbon Cutting Ceremony Set for Panhandle

A ribbon cutting ceremony is scheduled at Pioneer Park in Panhandle at 10 a.m. Saturday when the Square House County Museum and the Pioneer Dugout will each be the scene of a dedication program.

Mrs. Ralph E. Randel, chairman of the Carson County Historical Survey Committee, will serve as emcee. Rev. J. B. Stewart, First Methodist Church of Panhandle, will give the invocation.

A flag raising ceremony will follow with James E. Bunch, youth chairman, of Post 441 of of the American Legion, in charge. He will be assisted by Boy and Girl Scouts.

Cities of Groom and White Deer are making flags for their respective cities. The flag pole was donated by Frank Grisham, manager of the Panhandle office of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. It is made from the original pipe line that brought gas to Panhandle.

● Minister

to say who Smith had told, but explained that the minister "felt, as a religious man, that he should tell someone.

"The man wasn't well," Ward said. "He needed help and he knew it. He was afraid this sort of thing might happen again.

"I don't believe he wanted to set up a perfect murder or he wouldn't have told anybody."

Smith had served as pastor of Poteau's First Presbyterian Church for two years and previously was minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Claremore, where Ward was a member.

Ward said he was stunned on learning of the "confession" in late March but passed on the information that started the investigation.

Auto Group Study Past

DETROIT (UPI)—Negotiators for the major auto companies today studied a detailed plan for one of the most radical contract proposals in the history of the labor movement — guaranteed annual income.

The United Auto Workers union sees the demand simply as "steady work and steady pay."

The companies see a heavy financial commitment with factory workers clamoring for the right to be laid off so they could sit home and collect their paychecks.

The specifics—who among the UAW's 674,800 auto employes would be covered and how much money would be involved —are still open to bargaining as negotiations on the 1967, three-year contract near the end of their second week.

The idea is a simple one. But the 29-page outline served general Motors, Ford and Chrysler Wednesday revealed its mechanics are as complex as an auto assembly line.

The income guarantee provides that an eligible factory worker would have the assurance of up to 52 paychecks a year, even if he was laid off and worked only one week that year. Coupled with other benefits, the pay-for-layoff could extend to two full years.

McLean Man In Jail in Lieu Of $100 Fines

Ronald Ellsworth Littrell, 35, of McLean, was in Gray County Jail today in lieu of $100 fines each on two hit and run charges committed yesterday in McLean.

Highway Patrolman R. C. Parker of McLean, investigated the wrecks and assisted Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Shelton of McLean in bringing Littrell to the Pampa jail yesterday.

According to Parker, Littrell was involved in two automobile accidents in McLean, but no one was injured. Drivers of the other two cars involved were Jesse David Pool, 15, of McLean, and Mrs. Maybell Brown, 49, of McLean.

The complaint reads Littrell "failed to stop, give his name and car license number and offer aid" in either accident, Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson said.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wright Advisory Reports advises investors to take profits this summer in "fully priced" issues. It says the current advance should be an opportunity to adjust portfolio holdings toward the 1968 stock market when there will be a shift in investment attitudes, with emphasis on utilities, housing construction, commercial finance and personal loan companies, foods and food chains.

Goodbody & Co. says the breakthrough of the June recovery high on the Dow Jones industrial average suggests a further advance past the 1967 high of 910, subject to periodic corrections. The analyst adds that investment-grade issues likely will perform better than they have in the past few months.

Stabley Heller & Co. says a possible change in the market in coming weeks would be a resumption of leadership by investment-grade issues. While there may be intensified speculation on the near term, the company says this is a "propitious" time to begin to upgrade portfolios.

TFX WING ACTIVATED

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The first Air Force tactical fighters wing to be equipped entirely with the controversial F111s (formerly called the TFX will be activated at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., this summer.

The Pentagon said Wednesday that the unit, to be called the 4480th Tactical Fighter Wing, took delivery of its first F111 this week. A combat crew training wing has already been established.

Marvelous Merger Creates New Dish

To reveal a plot quickly, there has been a marvelous merger and a delicious new dish invented known as Wellington Towers. Like their famous namesake, Beef Wellington, the new recipe variation features meat in a flaky pastry wrapping. But as the name implies, there is more to the Tower than that . . . .

an intriguing and colorful stacked assortment of green pepper rings, tomato and artichokes.

The tender pastry is a breeze to do because you just open a can of refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls; place the precut triangles of dough on the sides of each tower, brush with an egg-cream mixture and sprinkle with sesame seeds. After baking until golden brown, top each tower with a cherry tomato for extra dash and color.

BEEF WELLINGTON TOWERS
- 4 beef tenderloin steaks, cut ¾ - inch thick
- 1½ tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 large green pepper, cut into ½ - inch rings
- 1 large tomato, sliced ¾ inch thick
- 8 canned whole artichokes
- 1 can refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls
- 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon light cream
- 2 tablespoons sesame seed
- 4 cherry tomatoes

OVEN 375 YIELD 4

Place steaks on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush with Worcestershire sauce. Season with onion, salt, and pepper. Top each steak with green pepper ring, tomato slice, and 2 artichokes.

Open can refrigerated crescent dinner rolls, unroll and seperate into 8 triangles. Cut 1½ inches off point of triangles. Place one triangle on each side of each steak tower and base of triangle on cookie sheet and overlap narrow ends at top. Press overlapping edges together. Combine egg yolk and cream; brush on triangles. Cut small hearts from remaining dough. Place on sides of triangles and brush with egg mixture. Sprinkle with sesame seeds.

Bake at 375 for 15 minutes or until golden brown. Top each tower with a cherry tomato on a wooden pick.

Canned shrimp that have been pre-chilled tend to hold shape and texture better when added to hot mixtures. Pre-chilling in the can firms the meat, helps shrimp stay curled, plump, pink, and unbroken in the can until ready for use. If you rinse the shrimp before using, always use cool rinse water.

Save empty spray bottles for a mixture of liquid starch and water to have handy when ironing or for a solution of ammonia and water usable as a quick clean-up of woodwork finger prints.

MENU DELIGHT — Ground beef, mushroom, onion and a hint of rosemary provide the flavorful stuffing for round steak "birds". The "birds" are slowly cooked with a little moisture. A tempting gravy made from the cooking liquid is served over the meat.

Beef is in the spotlight at your retail meat counter. The current large marketing of beef offers you a great selection of nutritious meat buys.

Of all the cuts of beef available, round steak is likely to be one of the "most - often asked for" cuts. In addition to its appealing flavor, round steak is a highly versatile cut of meat. It is a standard choice for Swiss steak and other tempting braised steaks.

Here's one more unforgettable round steak dish to add to your repertoire — oven baked Double Beef Birds.

Thin slices of round steak are rolled around a unique filling of ground beef, mushrooms and onion. (The stuffing does not need to be cooked before mixing.) The French refer to this meat dish as "paupiettes".

Braising is cooking the beef birds slowly with moisture. This helps bring out the fine meat flavor. Mushroom liquid drained from the can, along with water to make ½ cup, is the cooking liquid.

You can produce a number of new flavor combinations by varying the stuffing. Use several thin strips of carrot or try sliced dill pickles. The latter is excellent served with a sour cream sauce.

DOUBLE BEEF BIRDS
- 1½ pounds beef round steak, cut ½ inch thick
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms
- ½ pound ground beef
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon crushed rosemary
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- Water
- ¼ cup flour

Cut round steak into 6 serving pieces. Combine 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 3 tablespoons flour. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Pound meat to ¼-inch thickness. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Combine mushrooms, 2 tablespoons mushroom liquid, ground beef, onion, 1 teaspoon salt and rosemary. Spread approximately ¼ cup filling on each piece round steak. Roll as a jelly roll. Fasten with wooden picks. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add enough water to remaining mushroom liquid to make ½ cup. Add to meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly 2 to 2½ hours or until tender.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Plentifuls are limited this week, so shoppers, please watch the ads for specials in your local markets.

Cabbage and onions head the list of plentiful vegetables. In some areas beans, cucumbers, potatoes and lettuce are in good supply also.

Among fruits, you may find oranges and watermelons abundant in a few areas.

Steaks are in ample supply in some areas this week, along with hams, pork roasts and broiler-fryers.

Be on the lookout for fish fillets and steaks, abundant in fish marketing places this weekend and good for indoor and outdoor cooking and eating.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —We read the network press releases:

— From ABC-TV: "Gary Clarke, who stars as Capt. Richards on 'Hondo' (an upcoming weekly western), is the television writer who introduced Hymie the robot to the 'Get Smart' series,"

Some guys have all the talent.

—From NBC-TV: " 'Funny,' said producer-writer Ranald MacDougall, 'I didn't cry when I wrote it.' The remark was a tribute to Bradford Dillman, who stars in 'Jigsaw,' a feature film for NBC-TV's 'World Premiere.' MacDougall made the remark to Dillman after seeing the show."

Yes, but what exactly did he mean?

—From NBC-TV: "Some of the world's best-known sports broadcasters join Sandy Koufax (NBC sportscaster) and Y.A. Tittle (Former Giants quarterback) in a game foreign to them all, 'The Match Game,' Aug. 2. Playing with Koufax and Tittle are Mel Allen, Curt Gowyd. . . ."

Tomorrow The World

Why don't we just make that "some of the nation's best-known sports broadcasters?"

—From CBS-TV: "Two of the three trainers of Ben, the 650-pound black bear that stars in 'Gentle Ben' new Sunday series starting in September, have been working with animals a surprisingly short time."

Let's hope not too short.

—From NBC-TV: "Ron Ely, star of 'Tarzan,' is proving a social letdown to the social '400' of Mexico City. 'They just find it hard to believe that I get up at four in the morning, drive to a location 100 miles away and usually don't get back until midnight,' said Ely. 'When you swing all day, it's hard to rumba all night.' "

Yes, life is tough all over.

Beginners Luck

—From ABC-TV: "The 20th Century-Fox dressing room assigned to Wayne Maunder, one of the new stars for the coming season, is situated next to that of veteran frontiersman Fess Parker, making 'Custer' and 'Daniel Boone' next-door neighbors."

There is no telling what kind of thrill you will run into next in Hollywood.

—Life in Hollywood dept.: "NBC-TV's 'The Virginian' walked right into a trap recently and was promptly handcuffed by Sgt. Friday of NBC-TV's 'Dragnet.' James Drury, portraying a Folsom prison convict for an NBC-TV 'World Premiere' movie titled 'Breakout,' visited Jack Webb, who handcuffed him by way of greeting."

—Stories we never finished reading dept.: "A fellow Hungarian joins Eva Gabor on 'Green Acres' Aug. 16, in color on the CBS television network. But there wasn't much conversation between the two daughters of the Magyars. The other Hungarian is a dog named Bodri. . . ."

New Standard Issued for Safer Tires

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government issued tough, new safety standards for tires Wednesday, including requirements for built-in tread wear indicators and maximum load levels.

Under the proposed standards, all new cars must be equipped with tires suitable for the weight of the vehicle.

The manufacturer also must insure that wheel rims are capable of holding a tire long enough to permit a safe stop from speeds of 60 miles an hour.

Added to this was a requirement that tire specifications be clearly outlined on the wall of the tire. Included in this requirement was information on tire size, maximum inflation pressure, maximum load rating and tire composition.

Car makers have until Aug. 22 to file comments on the regulations. Jan. 1 is the proposed effective date for the standards, except for the labelling and the tread wear indicator requirement, which were pushed back to July 1, 1968.

Magazine Seeks Stories, Pictures On 'Ghost Towns'

Information, photographs and historical material on "ghost towns" are in demand for articles in national magazines, according to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce publicity department.

Several requests have been received lately seeking the names of ghost towns, pictures of them during their better days, information as to their founding and their founders, names and anecdotes about characters who were prominent in the towns and other data about the famous landmarks of the particular town.

Any such information and material can be sent to the publicity department of the WTCC in Abilene and it will be sent on to the publishers, who will develop the information further.

"Many such ghost towns exist in West Texas, accoriding to early records. Some of these towns have diasppeared completely and others have dwindled to a store or two and a historical marker, but there is considerable interest by history buffs," publicity director Jack Nixon, Jr. stated.

"Publicity in national magazines will create more tourist interest in these spots and more tourists mean more dollars in West Texas," Nixon said.

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I got home from work last evening my wife said to me, "Buddy (our 16-year - old-son) sassed me back so I am giving him the cold silent treatment, and I want you to do the same."

Abby, I told her that I was not going to go along with that kind of stuff, that if the boy sassed her back, that was HER problem; He never sasses ME back.

The wife got mad and now she is giving ME the silent treatment, too. Was I wrong, or was she?

A HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: She was wrong for demanding that you punish the boy per her prescription. And you, for letting her down. Although Buddy wasn't guilty of sassing YOU, his rudeness to his mother calls for some punishment, and since his mother appears unable to discipline him, it becomes YOUR responsibility.

A few well - chosen "hot" words from you could have accomplished more than the cold, silent, treatment. Unless you are looking for a father - son team versus mother, you had better develop better communications with your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and have been married to a wonderful guy for only two months, and already I have problems. His mother. My father - in-law travels, so when he is out of town my nervy mother - in-law invites herself to sleep at our apartment, claiming she is afraid to stay home alone.

She sleeps on our sofa, which doesn't give us much privacy as we have only a pull - down bed in the same room.

She has other married children she could stay with who have been married longer than we have.

Last week she spent four nights here. My husband does not like it any more than I do because he complained to me about it. He is her only son, and the youngest, and it looks like she doesn't want to lose him. What can we do?

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Your husband is complaining to the wrong woman, and so are you. You should ask HIM to tell his mother. If she is as nervy as you say she is, maybe all the married children should pitch in and hire a mother - sitter for those nights when her husband is out of town.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who calls you up just to "chat" at midnight? She has got me out of bed several times. Also she knows I work and like to sleep late on Sundays, but she has awakened me at 7:30 Sunday morning. If I don't answer, she keeps calling until I do.

My husband insists that I tell her off, but I just can't get up the nerve. She is alone and I suppose she is lonesome.

I have tried not answering the phone when she calls late at night, but she keeps calling thinking we were out. I understand she does this to all her friends and relatives. How can I stop this in a nice way?

PHONE CALL NERVES

DEAR NERVES: Tell your friend (this is a "friend?") which hours she may telephone you, and if she doesn't respect your wishes, TELL HER OFF. And if you don't, I wouldn't blame your husband for telling YOU off. You owe him more than you owe this woman.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is always on my back about something. It's "Hang up your clothes, sit up straight, talk slower, turn down the TV." What's a poor defenseless teenager supposed to do anyway?

CHEWED OUT

DEAR CHEWED: Hang up your clothes, sit up straight, talk slower, and turn down the TV

Pampa Altrusans To Represent Club At Anniversary Meeting

Two past presidents, the incoming president and a member will represent the Altrusa Club of Pampa at the Altrusa International Golden Anniversary convention to be held July 23-27 at the Americana in Bal Harbour, Fla.

Mrs. Lora Dunn, newly - installed president, Mrs. Van Vanderberg, a past president will serve as delegates with Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, a past president and Mrs. Fidelia Yoder as alternates.

"Altrusa plans to make more meaningful use of their volunteer service by establishing better lines of communication with the sources of community need," explained Mrs. Lucille S. Maxi Shirts Adapted By Femmes For Fashion Fun

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) —Queens and arbiters though they are today, women once were the followers and "me-too's" of fashion.

Men had a head start (no pun intended, ladies) with wigs. In fact, the ancient Eyptian aristocrats (male type) shaved their heads and wore wigs made of curled hair with a series of plaits at the back.

Poor people who could not afford the expense of real hair (it was even expensive then) had wigs made of black sheep wool. But wigs they wore.

The ladies? They wore their hair long and worked into a multitude of small plaits, part of which hung down their backs They emulated the male wigs right down to the last plait and fringe and from the back it was difficult to tell who had the Toni. So score one for fashion's "men first."

Now let's take a look at another fashion - first designed for men — the shirt.

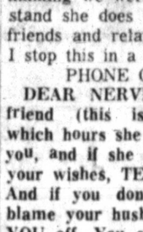
As early as the 15th century men started doing something a bout their tunics (the forerunner of the shirt of today) that just hung down in unrelieved drabness. First they shortened it considerably. Then they added things. French noblemen in 1410 wore an over - tunic and a pleated doublet which flared out below the waist.

German gentlemen dressed up their's with buttons down the front, long sleeves or open half-sleeves.

From the tunic the shirt was born. In time it became almost a standard and fixed length, with no startling ornamentation for men.

But now the ladies have taken over as they did with wigs. And the Maxi shirt has become the shirt that goes to any length for a multitude of uses.

THE SHIRT HAS BECOME the biggest thing in fashion. Stolen from the men by the ladies, it is a favorite now for evening and for daytime wear. The two shirt dresses are shown here, with horizontal and one with vertical stripes. Both are washable and ideal for summer days when the thermometer soars.



POLLY'S POINTERS

Suction Cups Secure .. Child's Dishes to Tray

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — I use the small rubber circles with suction cups on both sides (for holding soapdish to tile) to secure my child's plate and bowl to the high chair tray. These cups hold tight so the child can feed himself without having the plate slide. This also discourages plate pitching.

—PAT

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — A few of my favorite lipsticks have dried out slightly. How can these be softened and renewed?

—MRS. P. V. S.

DEAR POLLY — My husband and I found a way to lengthen our paint roller handle when we wanted to paint the hall ceiling and stairway walls. We attached the steel rods from our vacuum cleaner to the roller handle. To do this, place a strip of electric tape near the handle's end (one thickness), then apply one thickness lengthwise. Push on the steel rod and apply one strip (double thickness) at the end to prevent it from pushing up farther. Next wrap more electric tape on both steel rod and roller handle, covering well. Press firmly at the upper end until the rod is secure. Add the other rod if more length is necessary.

—MRS. E. A.

DEAR POLLY — Please tell L. J. D. that the plume grass I colored three years ago is still lovely. I simply powdered pastel - colored chalk, placed each color in a paper bag with some plume grass and shook gently.

—JANE B.

DEAR POLLY — I feel sure L. J. D. is referring to what we call Pampas grass. The secret is in picking while still green or it will not take the dye, and if too ripe, it will shatter. Pick when not more than half is bloomed out. The stems must be firm. Peel off all the leaves and the grass will be quite moist. Cut stems on a slant so they will take up the water and dye. I use pint jars for the dyeing and put in about an inch of water and a bottle of vegetable coloring. Place three or four plumes in this and within a few hours they should be beautifully colored. When thei are the desired shade remove from the water and make the desired arrangement. They will dry and plume out beautifully. I tried this with regular dye and it did not work.

Mama Grows Up

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Everyone's been picking on poor little Twiggy (the perfect 36—12-12-12) and I have been doing it too. Really, I think all women should welcome her to the scene. She is undoubtedly the one who is at last pushing us from the age of Idiocy ("Why can't I look like I'm 14 years old?") into the Age of Reason ("The reason is that I am grown up").

Or, as one scholar in the advertising field puts it, "It's what's up front that counts."

Seriously, the one thing Twiggy has is that she is young. And when you're young, this is an accomplishment?

I believe American women are finished with the youth cult and have latched on to what being young actually means. Personally I would rather be like Greer Garson or Joan Crawford, wouldn't you?...

Most of the women I know are young, although some are much older in years than I am. They don't even care that for years they have been the butt of jokes about eye cream and curlers.

They have merely kept their skin clean and smoothed on hand lotion and gone on to thinking and doing.

A smooth skin and noncrepy eyelids are built-in equipment for teen-agers. But I am wondering how these kids are going to look when they get to be their mothers' age. Maybe if they start washing NOW they might keep their complexions for THEN.

Anyway, I am sick of hearing how more than half the population is under 25 and I say nuts to those little kids with their ckeeks of satin.

The same goes for baby doll dresses (I am a mama doll myself) and Mary Janes shoes. Which brings up a question. What is more ludicrous than a size 8B Mary Jane slipper?

I think my friend Rene summed it up beautifully. She said, "I looked into the mirror and realized that I must be growing senile.

"I used to scuff around in mother's high heels, wearing dresses that dragged the ground and now here I was, dressing up like my daughter in nursery school!"

I think most of us have recognized the same. I'm not playing dress up any more I'm onto the Grown - up Game.

Paper Syndicates Face Antitrust Suits by Law

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., said today the Justice Department might file antitrust suits against newspaper syndicates unless voluntary agreements can be reached to limit the granting of exclusive rights to columns, comics and other features to one newspaper in an area.

Kennedy is a member of the Senate antitrust subcommittee which is holding hearings on newspaper economic problems. Two witnesses before the subcommittee today mentioned territorial exclusivity of syndicated features as a barrier to competition. It gives big newspapers an advantage over small newspapers in the same area, they contended.

The Department of Justice is now trying to work out satisfactory arrangements with the syndicates to meet this problem," Kennedy said.

He added that unless voluntary agreements can be worked out in these discussions, "I understand the attorney general has authorized the Justice Department to file complaints against the syndicates."

Wills of Birch Linger On

DALLAS (UPI) — Millionaire A. Otis BIRCH IS dead, but his will, or wills, linger on.

Birch, a South Pasadena, Calif., oilman and farmer who gave millions to charities and religious organizations, died March 15 in Dallas at the age of 95, leaving behind two wills, a possible 18 beneficiaries and an estate valued between $250,000 and $200 million.

The wills, written within a year of each other, are the objects of court fights in California and Texas, where Birch lived the last months of his life.

The first will, a formally witnessed document, was written in September, 1965 named 17 charities and religious organizations as beneficiaries.

The second was handwritten May 14, 1966 and named Mrs. Pearle Choate Birch, the philanthropist's second wife, as the only beneficiary.

Hearing Put Off

A probate hearing on the latter will was scheduled for July 11 in Dallas, but was postponed to Sept. 5 on a motion by lawyers for the 17 organizations. A probate hearing on the first will was scheduled for Sept. 21 in Los Angeles.

The 17 groups are contesting the 1966 will. Edwin Davis, an attorney for Mrs. Birch, said lawyers for the organizations have argued that Birch was of sound mind when he wrote the first will, but not the second.

Davis said Mrs. Birch is contesting the 1965 will on the grounds the other document was written later and therefore should be recognized by law.

The 1966 will actually left Birch's estate to his first wife, Estelle, with a clause stating that if she died first, the estate would go to the couple's nurse, Pearl Choate, later to be the second Mrs. Birch.

Birch's first wife died Oct. 7, 1966 and Birch disappeared for few weeks later in Breckenridge, a brief period. He was found a few weeks later in Breckenridge, Tex., with his 59-year-old, 205-pound, exconvict nurse.

A series of legal moves followed, trying to get Birch back to California. Kidnaping charges were filed against Miss Choate, but they were later dropped.

Birch then married his nurse while he sat, deaf and nearly blind, in the back seat of a car outside a justice of the peace office in Altus, Okla., Oct. 26.

Convenience Marriage

"This is a marrige of convenience, not of passion," the new Mrs. Birch said after a Texas judge ruled last November that it looked like a legal marriage.

Davis said Mrs. Birch now lives in Grand Prairie, Tex., a Dallas suburb, but would not be available for comment since she spends much of her time traveling and tries to stay out of the public eye.

The value of the estate has not yet been determined, mainly because no estimate has been made of Birch's mining interests in Utah and California.

Davis said if the mines prove productive, the estate could run into the millions of dollars, perhaps as high as $200 million.

School Teachers Have Various Off Season Jobs

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

I drove into the local gas station and had my car filled up by a sixth grade teacher. The clerk in the corner delicatessen is a high school English teacher. The vacation replacement for the mailman is guidance counsellor in the local junior high school.

What is your child's teacher doing this summer? Is he improving himself as an educator, is he working at his profession or is he trying to earn a "buck" in whatever job he can get?

Perhaps this is one of the greatest wastes of talent which exists in our society. The thousands of teachers, each of whom is a trained specialist, number among the nation's most important assets. Skilled personnel are needed to maintain our economy. Why do we allow so many qualified persons to waste one or two months each year performing jobs which are comparatively unskilled.

Federal Employment

Don't misunderstand. Many educators do work at their professions or related activities during the summer. There has been an increasing use of educational talent over the past years. One of the most important influences has been the availability of employment in projects financed by federal funds.

Some of the programs which use educators during the summer months are Head Start which is designed to help preschool children become better prepared for school. There are special programs for students who have learning problems. There are regular summer schools where students can take additional courses or make up courses which they failed.

Another Former Yankee Making it Big With Mets

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ballplayer they're making the biggest fuss about in this city has two words to say about the whole thing.

"Big deal!"

Pudgy Hal Reniff, the new relief sensation of the New York Mets, or better yet, the new relief sensation of the major leagues, has done many things in his time, but the one thing he has never done is take himself too seriously.

The bland, blond 29-year-old mop-up man from Ontario, Calif., isn't about to do it now either even though he has suddenly become the flabby phenomenon of Shea Stadium.

Dealt to the Mets by the Yankees three weeks ago, Reniff already has won three of the nine games he has been in, saved three others and allowed nary a run in 18 innings to equal an all-time club record.

"Big deal," Reniff grunts, unimpressed, now that everybody's buzzing about the record and going around calling him "Prince Hal."

Six Years With Yanks

"Suddenly," he says, with just a touch of acid, "everyone's asking me, 'What are you doing different? I ask them, what are you trying to tell me? I thought I was a pretty good pitcher. I was over there (with the Yankees) almost six years. I must have been getting someone out."

Back in 1963, Reniff was the ace of the Yankees' bullpen with 18 saves and a 2.80 earned run average. Baseball's like any other business, though. The question always asked is: What have you done for me lately?

And for the Yankees lately, Reniff hadn't done much. So they sent him packing.

When Ralph Houk heard of Reniff's 0.00 e arned run average with the Mets recently, he expressed little surprise.

"Good for him," said the Yankee manager. "I'm not surprised he's winning for them. He's got good stuff. The only reason he ran into trouble over here was that he knew all the hitters and began thinking how to pitch to them too much. He doesn't know the hitters over there, so he's pitching to them naturally and he'll be okay."

A Thinker

Houk's implication is that Reniff will be okay until he starts thinking again and quite naturally that implication doesn't exactly enthrall Reniff.

"I don't think he's particularly right about that," says the Mets' new right-hander. "You gotta think every time you go out there to pitch. What are you supposed to be, a robot? I'm not, and what's more, I don't know anybody in this game who is."

Reniff originally was a starting pitcher and a pretty good one, winning 21 games with Modesto in 1959 and 10 more with Binghamton the following year.

When he reported to the Yanks in spring training in 1961, however, Houk asked him his preference.

"I don't have any," he replied. "Whatever is the quickest way for me to get to the major leagues is the way I'll go."

So Reniff went as a reliever.

Again, only a few weeks ago, Wes Westrum put the same question to him when he came over the bridge from Yankee Stadium.

"Whadd'ya wanna do?" Westrum asked. "Short relief, long relief or start?"

"Use me any way you want," answered Reniff, who has never been hard to get along with.

Prince Hal went to the bullpen, was summoned from it nine times and hasn't given up a run yet. The last time Westrum called him was against Houston Tuesday night. The count was 3-and-0 on Ron Davis, and Reniff immediately whipped across three straight strikes.

He also struck out the next man, Eddie Mathews, and retired the side without further trouble.

The crowd gave him an ovation at the time and then later again when he left the ball park.

Reniff appreciated it but it didn't go to his head.

"Big deal," he said.

Nicklaus Gets Nod at Denver

DENVER (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, who doesn't believe in junks, teed off today in quest of the one last major prize to escape him—the PGA championship—over a course supposedly tailor made for arch-rival Jack Nicklaus.

A classy field of 146 forfessionals tacked the long narrow 7,436-yard Coumbine Country Club course, gunning for a share of the $150,000 purse. Nicklaus was the favorite because it takes a power hitter to tame this course—and he's about the best.

Right behind big Jack is Palmer, who failed in nine previous tries to win the PGA, while capturing every other major title. Other big gunners such as 1964 champion Bobby Nichols and Paul Harney were given good chances.

Al Geiberger is defending champion, but no one has won back-to-back titles in this tournament in 30 years.

Jack Has Edge

While figuring that with a little luck he can at last win this coveted title, Palmer, the game's greatest moneywinner, is the first to admit Nickaus has a definite advantage because of his power hitting.

Nicklaus showed graphically Wednesday why his fellow pros are saying this is the "course built for Jac." Playing as hot as the summer day, he spun over the front nine in three-under-par 33 and was six under when he picked up on 18.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Cardinals 'Walk' to Victory

By United Press International

Gerry Arrigo's longest walk wasn't the most embarrassing of the night for the Cincinnati southpaw.

That's because manager Dave Bristol offered Arrigo a pat on the back just when the pitcher felt like kicking himself in the pants.

Arrgo had just issued his third pass of the 12th inning Wednesday night to Bob Tolan, forcing in the deciding run in the St. Louis Cardinal's 3-2 victory over the Reds, and now he faced the embarrassing prospect of walking to the dugout before a crowd of 25,625.

"Walk off that field with your head up," Bristol told Arrigo. "You've got nothing to be ashamed of, you'll be out there again."

Bristol's remark was a consolation to Arrigo although it didn't alter the outcome of the game nor the fact that the Reds lost an opportunity to move within 1½ games of the National League lead. St. Louis remained a game ahead of the Chicago Cubs and hiked its lead to 3½ games over the Reds.

Willis Gets Victory

Ron Willis pitched two-hit ball in a four-inning relief stint to notch his second victory.

A similar situation unfolded in Philadelpha where Jeff Torborg and Ron Fairly received bases-loaded walks in the 11th, boosting Los Angeles to a 3-1 triumph over the Phillies. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 7-2, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1 in 11 innings and the Mets swept a doubleheader from Houston 8-4 and 7-2 in other NL games.

Starter Chris Short, who had a shutout for seven innings, Turner of Australia, 6-4, 6-0, walked Torborg with the bases filled and reliever Dick Ferrel then walked pinchhitterFairly on a 3-2 count for an insurance run. Short had gotten into trouble on singles by Lou Johnson and Bob Bailey and a walk to Wes Parker but manager Gene Mauch, like Bristol, refused to blame his pitcher.

"Our pitcher did his job," said Mauch. "I just can't understand why we don't score more runs."

Joe Niekro did his job and then some in pacing the Cubs to their fifth straight victory. The rookie righthander pitched a five-hitter and drove in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly in posting his fourth win in seven decisions. The Cubs, who now have won eight in a row at home, routed Atlanta's Tony Cloninger with a four-run fourth inning.

Hits First Pitch

Gene Alley's bases-loaded infield single in the 11th scored Al Luplow with the winning run for Pittsburgh. Lupow was running for Jerry May who led off the inning with a triple. Mike McCormick then issued intentional walks to Andre Rodgers and Maury Wills before Alley hit reliever Frank Linzy's first pitch over the mound.

Tommy Davis collected five hits, including a grand slam in the nightcap, and Ron Swoboda hit a homer in each game as the Mets crushed the Astros twice. Jack Fisher and Tom Seaver pitched complete game victories.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Race Tight in American League

By United Press International

A pennant race in the American League is almost as rare as a basement finish by the New York Yankees.

But this season the millenium may have finally arrived for the long suffering American League fans.

The junior circuit seems to be on its way to its best pennant race since 1948 when Cleveland beat Boston in the only playoff in the history of the league.

While National League fans enjoyed watching races most of the time during the last two decades, the American League was ruled supreme by the Yankees, who won 14 pennants in 16 years from 1949 to 1964.

But it was even more frustrating when the Yanks collapsed because Minnesota in 1965 and Baltimore in 1966 won with only token opposition.

Things have finally changed now. There are five teams right in the middle of the race—and none of them are the Yanks, stumbling in ninth place after last year's cellar finish.

Making Late Bid

Two clubs—the Boston Red Sox and the California Angels—have jumped in the midst of the race since the All Star break. The Red Sox rattled off their sixth straight victory Wednesday night by downing Baltimore 6-4 tomove within 1½ games of the Chicago White Sox. Meanwhile, California won its third straight and its 11th in the last 15 games by downing the White Sox 5-2 to jump just into fourth place just 2½ games out.

Detroit slumped to fifth place with a 4-2 loss to Washington. But this Tigers are still in the race, only 3½ games off the pace.

In the other American League games, Minnesota remained one game behind the Sox by dropping a 9-6 game to Kansas City and Cleveland beat New York 5-2.

Dynamite in Bats

Boston exploded for five runs with two out in the fifth inning to edge Baltimore. Reggie Smith's single, a walk and Mike Andrews' homer accounted for the first three and Tony Conigliaro's two-run triple provided the winning margin.

The Angels bombed Joe Horlen for three runs in the fourth inning to beat the White Sox. Jim Fregosi doubled in one run and Tom Satriano doubled in the other two to enable Jack Hamilton to gain the win although Minnie Rojas went the final 2 2-3 innings for the Angels.

Minnesota could have tied for first place by downing Kansas City, but the A's erupted for five runs in the eighth to wipe out a 6-4 deficit. Ozzie Chavarria's two-run single broke a 6-6 tie and decided the contest. Al Worthington lost the game in relief and Jack Sanford won it.

Washington continued its surge as Paul Casanova drove in two runs, including the tie breaker in the ninth, with a pair of singles to down Detroit.

Frazier Stops Chuvalo in Fourth

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Frazier appeared firmly established today as heir apparent to the heavyweight throne after stopping rugged Canadian George Chuvalo who had never been knocked out, in 62 previous fights.

The end for Chuvalo came as he was left slashed and insensible at 16 seconds of the fourth round Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

Chuvalo's proudest boast was that he had never been knocked off his feet or stopped, but his durability record came to an abrupt halt under Frazier's vicious attack.

A final left hook to the cheek bone blinded the Canadian, and referee Johnny Colan stopped the slaughter.

"I thought the left to the right cheek bone exploded his eye ball," said the 23-year-old Frazier, who remained the only unbeaten heavyweight contender by boosting his record to 17-0. "He wasn't stopped on cuts. He was hit on the button and he knew he was going down so he turned away."

Eye is Cut

The 204½-pound Frazier wasted no time in opening a cut on the left side of Chuvalo's face before a minute had gone by in the first round of the scheduled 12-round heavyweight elimination bout.

Another cut was opened under Chuvalo's right eye in the first round, and a vicious left in the second round turned the 217¼-pound Canadian's face into a mask of crimson. The commission doctor said the cuts were "superficial" but they poured blood for the remainder of the bout.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Bureaucratic Meddling

The traditional concept of United States law, and the court system standing back of it, was that an individual believing himself to have been illegally wronged could initiate suit and go into court asking for redress.

The initiative, under that concept, was always with the individual who, thinking himself wronged, was willing to go to the inconvenience and possible expense of bringing suit himself. Government and the legal system, in general, waited for complaints to be brought to it; it did not send tax paid governmental snoopers out among the people trying to stir up dissension and ill-will.

We say "was" because today, in these socialistic United States, that concept of individual initiative and going to court only as a last resort no longer holds true.

Today, with millions of bureaucratic functionaries hard put to justify their non-productive existence and the unearned salaries they draw, literally thousands of long-nosed, self-proclaimed Diogenes are fanned out over the country, peering into the private corners of American life, trying to create trouble between individuals who, for the most part want nothing more than to be left alone and are perfectly capable of minding their own business

A case in point, involving W. Willard Wirts (he's Secretary of Labor, you know) and Hughie D. Teeter Sr., a contract hauler, has just been contrived in Denver.

Not content with the U.S. Department of Labor's job destroying and poverty - creating "minimum wage" edicts, and not content to wait for the presumably wronged employes themselves to bring suit, Wirtz, acting for the department, has filed suit in the Denver U. S. District Court to compel Teeter to comply with the overtime provisions of the "Fair Labor Standards Act."

The act, which Wirtz alleges Teeter has violated, requires payment of one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for hours worked in excess of 40 per work week, according to a "news release" issued by the Labor Department's Office of Information.

The requested court order, according to the release, would also require Businessman Teeter to make payment of restitution to employes who have been "underpaid" and require the maintenance of "adequate" time and pay records.

Apparently, it has never occurred to Wirtz that Teeter may be paying his employes all his operation can stand without going bankrupt and thus adding his workers to the rolls of the unemployed. Nor does he seem to be aware of the fact that if Teeter's employes thought they were being "underpaid," obviously, they would not be his employes but would be working elsewhere.

Isn't it strange that people like Wirtz, who themselves never had to meet a payroll, and whose salaries are obtained at the point of the tax gun, "feel" qualified to tell tax paying, public serving businessmen how to run their businesses . . . even to the "adequacy" of the records they must keep?

Truly, it is the age of the swollen ego.

One-Sided Investigations

It is getting to be a habit in Washington. Investigations of tax - exemptions always are of the organizations which generally are considered of a "conservative" nature, never of what are called "liberal" groups.

The latest is the American Farm Bureau Federation, the organization which contends that farmers should be allowed to return to a free enterprise type of operation.

Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen said the Internal Revenue Service will investigate allegations by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick of New York. Resnick attacked the Farm Bureau as a "gigantic, interlocking, nationwide combine of insurance companies and other business." He also charged that most of its members were not farmers, including the president, Charles B. Shuman, who he said lived in Chicago and not on a farm. The congressman expressed amazement that there are a large number of Farm Bureau members in Cook County, Ill. (Chicago).

As the Chicago Tribune pointed out, "With very little effort, the congressman could have determined that Cook County has nearly 1,000 farms with more than 100,000 acres, which produce more than $16 million worth of farm products annually. Even less effort would have been required to determine the fact that Shuman resides on his farm 250 miles south of Chicago and doesn't even maintain a permanent hotel room in this city."

But on flimsy allegations by Resnick the IRS is going to investigate whether the tax-exempt status of the Farm Bureau should be lifted.

As the Tribune said, Resnick's statements reflected the kind of quick-draw judgments that are being made in Washington these days as the Great Society rushes to spend billions of dollars on domestic projects of questionable merit. They also are instructive in showing the lengths to which the spending-zealots will go to stamp out the opposition asking the government to wage a vendetta in the form of a tax investigation."

So the IRS investigates the Farm Bureau, any "right-wing" minister, or any other group which recommends less governmental intervention in the lives of the people, but never takes a look at those who promote more Great Society spending and greater controls.

How You Gonna Keep 'em..?

The vanishing American—the farmer — continues to shrink in numbers.

Latest report from the Department of Agriculture shows there were 11,595,000 people living on farms last year compared to 12,363,000 in 1965 — a decrease of 76,800.

Farm population in 1966 was only 5.9 per cent of the nation's total. It was 6.4 per cent the year before and nearly 9 per cent in 1960.

This percentage drop is accelerating every year, says the government, because it reflects not only population growth in the cities but a steady migration away from rural America.

Between 1960 and 1966 more than 4 million country folk left the farm for the big town.

Quebec, in the province of Quebec, Canada, is the only walled city in North America.

WASHINGTON:

Bureaucrats Hamstringing Mao's People's Revolution

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Hong Kong contact writes that slowly but surely the Chinese bureaucracy is strangling Mao Tse-tung's Communist revolution.

Mao, and his right - hand man Lin Piao, may temporarily win this round in the struggle. But the evidence is clear. The revolution is turning into a bureaucracy. Mao and Lin are finding that it's like punching so many feather pillows. The bureaucrats give way, then softly creep back.

Many of Mao's own second - generation revolutionaries — and some of his first generation men—have become bureaucratic. Many bureaucrats and bureaucratic - minded men were absorbed into the system when Mao's men took over.

In the fights to weed out deviationists, cautious men gained strength. Thus, over the past decade the bureaucrats have slowly become entrenched. Eventually, if things go as they have been going, the bureaucrats will eventually absorb the revolution. When that happens, Mao is finished. Peking may still call itself Communist. Mao's picture may still hang on the wall of government buildings. Mainland China will most certainly be a totalitarian dictatorship — and dangerous. But the revolution will be dead.

Today, paper work is slowing decisions. More and more time is spent in personal jockeying for power, passing the buck, getting the goods on some other official, covering over, putting on a show.

A source in Hong Kong has made up a list of those bureaucratic types that Mao and his aides believe are springing up in great numbers and strangling "progress:"

"Bureaucratic Capitalists" — Officials who secretly run private enterprises while holding government posts.

"Documentalists"—Cadres interested only in reading and writing official letters or documents, paying no attention to other matters.

"Formulaists"—Officials who do things according to a fixed program.

"Great Nationalists — Arrogant Communist officials who put on superior airs when sent to work with minority peoples.

"Equalitarianists"—Men who favor equal pay regardless of the job and equal distribution of raw materials among factories regardless of their respective abilities to handle the job at hand.

"Commandists" — Officials who issue orders without explanation.

"Departmentalists" — Officials so wrapped up in the needs and interests of their own department, they're blind to the interests of other offices.

"Tailists" — Henchmen who don't think, but simply follow their boss' lead as though they were merely the "tail" on an animal.

Worse yet, this source reports, offices through the mainland are filled with henchmen of other officials. Every man has a sponsor to whom he owes allegiance and who in turn owes allegiance to some other more powerful official. There are networks within networks or cliques owing their allegiance to men, not to ideas or objectives. Men are fighting to become attached to the men they think will win out.

A careful watch of Red China's internal power shifts could give the United States opportunities for foreseeing and forestalling dangerous moves by Peking and for seizing opportunities to apply tactics that would shift the power balance slightly to our favor.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: In view of the increasing number of killings by people with guns purchased easily through the mail order business, how are we going to pass laws that would prevent such buying of firearms and still protect the legitimate sportsman?

ANSWER: The question assumes there is an increasing number of killings with "mail order guns." We have seen no evidence of this, although we have heard some politicians make unsubstantiated claims.

There are killings with guns, either obtained locally or through the mail, just as there are killings with knives, razors, clubs and automobiles. Many killings and robberies are committed with weapons which first are stolen from sporting goods and other stores, legitimately dealing with the public. How the weapons are obtained is only incidental, although it should be pointed out that a man planning a murder will not hesitate to violate another law by stealing a gun with which to commit the crime.

If there is reason to stop sale of an item because of an increase in the number of killings, then there certainly would be reason to prohibit the sale of automobiles, which are killing more persons each year.

The question also speaks of protecting the legitimate sportsman. It overlooks the individual who believes he needs a gun for protection of life and property. In recent months, it generally is conceded, there has been an increase in the purchase of guns for home protection.

As long as there is an increasing number who refuse to recognize the equal right of others to their lives and honestly acquired property, the majority of honest law-abiding citizens will be increasingly concerned for their own and their families protection. There should be no effort to restrict the individual's right to protect himself and his family.

H. L. Hunt Writes

EQUAL TIME FOR YOUTH

The bad ones among American youngsters, like the bad ones among adults, are featured on the front pages of newspapers for their misdeeds. But the good ones among the people—who respect their parents, go to school and try for good grades, help with chores around the house, and prepare themselves for useful lives — do not make headlines. Still they compose the great majority of American youth and they deserve at least equal time with the hippies and beatniks.

Creativity, genius and contribution to society are not confined to those who have passed beyond the years of youth. Lt. Gen. Ira. C. Faker, U.S. Air Force, retired, is a man who in his career has come in contact with many thousands of young men. Here is the assessment he recently gave of American youth:

"I am convinced that the new generation now coming of age are better people than my generation or any generation of the past. They are bigger, stronger, better educated and possessed of a keener awareness of what brought us to our present preeminent status in the world and are determined to keep it that way."

Those are encouraging words. They need to be considered in context with the fact that some of the most fertile and articulate adult minds of today seem determined to create conditions that will lead to the loss of individual freedom. It is fortunate that our nation is still blessed with a vastly greater number of brilliant young minds, dedicated spirits and loyal characters. These are the youth who serve America.

THE MYTHICAL THEORY OF INFLATION

I've been taking due notice that government administration people are spreading the story that taxes ought to go up again soon in order to check inflation. Now that's an interesting statement and I've been hearing it for most of my life. The idea seems to be that if you take spending power away from people, you will reduce inflation. If that is true, then if you were to take spending power away from the people totally, you'd positively cure inflation.

It follows, then, if the government experts are acting correctly, that when people spend money, inflation ensues. So in order to stop inflation, you stop the people from spending. Therefore, a country that has no money at all and doesn't spend anything at all, would have no inflation. I wonder if there may be a factor hidden somewhere that the government men are overlooking.

When the government taxes away some or all of your money, does it stop the spending? No, as a matter of fact, it does not. The men in government are people, too. And they now have your money and they will spend it just as foolishly as you might have. So spending isn't stopped at all. It's just that people who didn't produce, get to spend the money earned by the people who did. And this stops inflation? It's fun to see what really happens. It would be a lot more fun if only it were happening somewhere else. Theoretically, if you slow down the spending you slow down inflation. Stop spending and you stop inflation. But taxing results in a speed - up of spending, since people who take money from others are notoriously less careful with it than those who have to earn it. Putting money in the hands of a thief reveals a spendthrift. The rate of spending is INCREASED by taxation and no deflation results at all. But there's something else that doesn't meet the eye.

What the administration people really mean when they talk about inflation is "high prices." And according to this theory of taxing in order to prevent inflation, if we translate that, it's supposed to mean that through taxation we will lower prices, or at least prevent them from climbing.

So let's see what happens. Money is taken from those who earn it and they have less. They will be less inclined to bid up prices because, having less money to spend, they must now lower their standards of living or go into debt in order to stay at the same level.

But those who are in business, who pay the wages to those who are to be taxed, now find that the people who are working for them are being taxed more. And businessmen have to pay larger sums in taxes, too. These larger sums can only be found if businessmen raise the prices on their goods and services. So prices don't come down. They can't, if the businessman is to find enough money to pay the wages and the taxes.

So more and more people who work, get less and less money to spend, while prices go up and up to pay the taxes, which merely takes the money from the earners and puts it in the hands of the spenders, who bid up prices anyway and shift the emphasis to the "public sector" of the market.

Do you know that all of the above is nonsense? Inflation is actually the increase in the SUPPLY of money to be spent, REGARDLESS of who spends it. And when the government can't tax enough to take care of its ferocious appetite for spending, it just prints more money. It has cute devices for deceiving you into supposing that businessmen cause inflation. They don't. They are helpless in the face of government currency manipulation. But it's fun watching everyone wrinkle up his brow over this and imagine that government can cure the very malady that only government will cause.

Well-Balanced Diet Important for Diabetics

The book by Dolger and Seeman entitled "How to Live with Diabetes" which I recommended in an earlier column is now available in a paperback edition through the Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49001.

Q—My husband has just learned that he is a diabetic. Is there a diabetic association where I may obtain more information about this disease?

A—Yes. Write to the American Diabetic Association, 18 East 48thSt., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Q—Can a person with mild diabetes go on living a long time without any trouble?

A—The mild diabetes of older persons is no threat to life if through proper treatment and testing, it is kept under control.

Q—Can a diabetic eat oranges, fried foods and use salt? I am taking Orinase tablets for diabetes. Because I must avoid the foods mentioned I am losing weight. What should I do?

A—There must be some reason other than diabetes for the restrictions of your diet. A diabetic diet should be a well-balanced diet designed to maintain your weight within the normal range for your height. This can be a very liberal diet with few, if any, restrictions of specfic foods. The dosage of the tolbutamide (Orinase) is then carefully adjusted to keep your urine sugar-free.

Q—When one has diabetes is he ever cured or is the disease ever arrested to the point where he no longer needs medications? Does Orinase help one to lose weight or does the loss of weight come mainly from the diabetic diet?

A—Diabetes can be controlled but not cured. Many mild diabetics can keep their disease under control with diet alone. If you need to lose wieght, as do most diabetics who are over 40, you must do it through your diet. The tolbutamide is given only to reduce your blood sugar level.

Q—I am planning a trip by train which takes seven or eight hours. Is it safe to carry my insulin that long without refrigeration?

A—Yes.

Q—After a test my doctor said my blood sugar level was high. He advised me not use any sugar but gave me no medication. My urine shows no sugar. Am I a diabetic or not?

A—If you are over 40 and have an elevated blood sugar level confirmed by more than one test, your are mildly diabetic. Control of the disease in your case should be relatively easy but, nevertheless important.

You can win a bet if you say that at one point Soviet Russia is only three miles geographically from the United States. That's true of a section of Alaska, the 49th state, which is only three miles from Siberia. Ice often makes a solid bridge between the two countries and Eskimos cross the ice on dogsleds to visit relatives in Siberia . . . Although the Puritans are generally blamed for the Blue Laws, they didn't completely eschew the finer things of life such as spirituous liquors. It is recorded they brought 42 barrels of beer with them aboard the Arbella. And they also had enough of the stronger stuff to cause their leader John Winthrop, first Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, to observe of his fellow - travelers: "They gave themselves to drink hot waters very immoderately." Must have been quite a trip.

Today's smile: An irate garage man called a patient father and said: "Your teen - age daughter just drove in here and told me to fill the tank of your car with gas and I want—" The father said: "That's okay. Give her the gas and I'll pay for it." "That's not what I'm calling about," said the garage man. "She knocked over both pumps and I want to know who's gonna pay for that?"

Jack London, one of America's greatest authors, didn't attend high school until he was 19. Then he studied night and day for three months, passed his examinations and entered the University of California. He wrote 51 novels in the next 18 years. Quite a record for an almost high school drop-out.

Thoughts while shaving: Money has more synonyms in slang terms than almost any other word in the English language. Here are just a few: jack, sugar, do - re-mi, melon, bucks, bundle, boodle, swag, dinero, apples filthy lucre, nest egg, wampum, loot, marbles, clams, rocks, slug, smackeroo and of course, dough. There must be at least 100 more . . . A physician friend tells us the blood pressure increases as a person grows older because the arteries, losing some elasticity, do not assist the heart in the same degree as when they were young and resilient. Therefore the heart must pump harder against increased resistance . . . A Hartford, Conn., official recently came up with an idea for the regional disposal of all junked autos. He suggests turning them into salable scrap. His plan calls for a million -dollar, 10 - acre operation. The land and machinery would be bought with public funds and then leased to a private corporation (as is the Hartford municipal garage). Suggests the plan be followed in regions of all 50 state because the problem of disposing of old automobiles is increasing yearly. He should try selling his idea to LBJ as part of Lady Bird's "Beautify America" campaign. It sounds practical . . . The Boston (Mass.) TRAVELER headlined a story: "Older Men Make Good Mates." Particularly if they're wealthy.

Light Plane in Belly Landing at Perry-Lefors Field

A single passenger plane "belly-landed" at Perry-Lefors Field Tuesday, but caused on injuries. Dr. James Carman of Pampa, owner of the small plane, did not identify the pilot, but said he was not an employe of the airfield.

According to Dr. Carman, he and the pilot were running a test to see if a new radio was working. When the pilot started to land, he "just forgot to put the wheels down, and the plane belly-landed. It's something that could happen to anybody. Damage was estimated at $100."

E.N. Chambles of Pampa Aircraft Service and manager of Perry Lefors Field, told the Pampa News, "We had nothing of this sort happen out here. I know nothing about it."

Rotary Club Hears Waters Talk on Law Enforcement

Law enforcement and the serious problems of combating the rising crime rate in the United States were discussed by Gray County district attorney Bill Waters before the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

Waters noted that there seems to be an increasing tendency among the citizens of this country to relax their vigilance against crime and violence.

Significant steps to correct this situation, he said, would include: (1) the teaching and practice of respect for authority; (2) the acceptance of responsibility for jury service; (3) positive action by our citizens to support their government.

The speaker was introduced by Bill W. Robertson.
