"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

SMOKE

FROM THE MOUNTAIN

Some folks told the office the reason they didn't attend the Trades Day meeting the other day was because none of the officers came around just before the meeting and told them to come. These officers are business men and have their own stores to attend to and feel that the business men of the town should be interested enough in attending the meetings for their own good without having to be reminded and begged. Notice of the meeting was in two places in the News. We really feel that if the business firms were interested in boosting their own business they would remember important meetings. All comments on the "Readers Column" are really not for the News, however, but we will pass them on to the originators of the column, which was composed by some of your fellow business men.

We had half the ladies in town hunting up the spelling of a certain edible recently because we frankly didn't know how and they didn't have that dish in Webster's day apparently. Mrs. E. J. Merritt came to our rescue by looking through some cook books and discovering a recipe, phoned us the spelling. We call that co-operation.

Two Tournaments Begin Saturday In Recreation Dept.

Marble and bird house tournaments will begin Saturday morning, March 12 by the recreation department. The marble tournament will be held at the Ward School and the bird house contest will be at the Recreation Building. Winners in these activities will be entitled to enter the county-wide tournaments to be held in Coleman March 26.

Softball teams are now being organized by the recreation department and one of the most recent innovations, the community night, is growing in popularity, state the directors. Many new activities are being introduced for these occasions. The public is invited to attend community nights each Friday evening from 7 until 9 at the Recreation Building.

Byron Joiner Injured

Byron Joiner is in the Sealy Hospital as the result of a painful accident which occurred last Sunday while roping calves at the Charlie Bruce place. The rope caught Mr. Joiner's right hand twisting and crushing it. Several bones were broken. His condition now is as satisfactory as could be expected.

Ranch Life of Fifty Years Ago Described By Early Resident

By Miss Luella Chambers
In 1895 we made ready to move to the ranch. We had so much rain, snow and ice it looked like we would never get to move. So the first fair day we moved that night. Julian Harnden came down to take Mattie to a party but we were too dead tired to go anywhere. My how the wolves did howl. It was a lonely, dismal sound. We had snow the next day and at night it was still and quiet. We were sitting on the front steps, Mattie and Ed complaining of frost bitten heels. I told them I had heard a poultice of pumpkins would cure it, but we had no pumpkins. Then I remembered that rubbing snow on the heels was a sure cure. Ed dared Mattie to a barrel race to the big gate on the Trickham road and off went their shoes and stockings and they made a blue streak for the road. It was a sure cure so if you ever have frost bitten heels just try a good barrel race in the snow. We were raising miles, horses, cows and ordered some more.

"If 100 persons will cooperate and go some morning when they can to assist in this worthy work, our local cemetery will be greatly improved," stated members of the Association. "We need the citizen's help since the association is not financially able to hire such work done."

Rodeo Sponsor Contest Opens At Noon Today With Four Entries Topping List

Farmers To Vote Saturday On New Marketing Quotas

Farmers will vote on March 12 on the cotton marketing quota at boxes placed at Santa Anna, Trickham, Rockwood, Buffalo, Whon, Shield, Gouldsboro, Novice, Voss, Talpa, Burkett, Coleman, Echo, New Central and Fisk.

Discussion meetings in these communities were held during the week to answer questions of farmers in regard to the new agricultural act on which they will vote Saturday. Conducting these meetings were members of the county committee of the Agricultural Conservation Program, Ozro Eubank, W. N. McCulloch, and G. E. Abbey.

Tuesday night Santa Anna, Trickham, Rockwood and Fisk farmers were gathered into a discussion meeting. Wednesday night Buffalo, Leedy, Whon, Novice, Voss, Talpa, Cross Roads and Burkett were called.

Shield, Gouldsboro, Valera, Gouldsboro, Coleman and Echo held meetings Thursday night.

The last meetings before the vote will be held tonight at 7:30 at Silver Chapel, New Central, Silver Valley and Loss Creek.

College Station, March 8.—"It is very important that all cotton producers take part in the March 12 referendum on the cotton marketing quota," Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, says.

The cotton quota plan will require a two-thirds favorable vote to be effective, or a one-third negative vote to be rejected, the state committee chairman pointed out. Therefore, the true will of the cotton farmers can be expressed only if practically all producers vote.

The referendum will be in charge of the county committees, who will provide convenient voting places and will appoint three local farmers to handle the referendum at each balloting place. Unofficial county results may be announced as soon as votes are tabulated.

The polls will open not later than 9 A. M. and will close at 7 P. M. Each producer who grew cotton in 1937 will be entitled to cast one vote.

Printed leaflets and other information on the details of the 1938 farm program have been sent to county agricultural agents for distribution among farmers, according to Slaughter.

Every farmer will have, before March 12, an opportunity to attend a county or community meeting at which the program will be explained, he said. "The material being distributed includes 'A New Farm Act,' a leaflet which summarizes the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, and 'Questions and Answers on the Agricultural Conservation Act of 1938 as It Applies to Cotton,' which covers important points on marketing quotas, acreage allotments, penalties, payments and loans.

Garden Club Will Beautify Yards; Ask Cooperation

Home beautification will be the theme of the new project begun by the local Garden Club this spring and the club is urging all Santa Anna citizens to cooperate with the group in beautifying the entire town. Crepe myrtle and red bud will be set out at many homes and business houses on the highways.

The club asks that citizens try to beautify the town now and if any one needs advice on planting the members will be glad to cooperate with them. The local Home Demonstration Clubs and the Homemaking Girls of the High School are also aiding in this spring drive.

Say you saw it in the News.

Begin Pledging Now For Community House

Although the Ex-Ranger Museum and Community House received a big boost last week by large contributions of building materials which certainly will count up well on the $500 to be raised here and by several contributions of cash, the committee in charge needs the active support and immediate assistance of local residents to get the drive over. Pledges are being secured which are promises to pay on the museum and community house if that money is needed.

The Ex-Rangers are writing letters each week commending Santa Anna for the stand it is taking in fighting for the right to keep this town the Ex-Rangers permanent home. Several have said in these letters that in case they do not attend the reunion this summer, they want their letter to apply as their vote—in favor of Santa Anna in preference to another city. Such encouragement should spur us on to meet our obligations to these men who are so loyal to Santa Anna, in days past and in the present time. They are giving their support, both morally and financially and Santa Anna should certainly do the same.

Santa Anna needs an extra attraction for the town and anything as interesting as the Ex-Ranger Museum, which would be the only one of its kind in the world, would attract many state and foreign visitors. If we let this opportunity slip by to get something unique for Santa Anna, we are very foolish.

We will be foolish in another way aside from the advantages of having the Museum. The building would be used by Santa Anna as a community center. There has even been the hope expressed from local residents that if we will cooperate and get this building fund raised that there may be a very big chance for a gymnasium to be included in the building where our local basketball teams and those of our trade territory could play games without having to borrow the gymnasiums of near-by towns or else play on outdoor courts or not at all.

Up to the present time all public gatherings in Santa Anna have had to be in "borrowed" halls. Programs not connected directly with school activities are held in the high school building and although the school has always been most generous in permitting the programs to be held there, more different types of entertainments could be held in a building set aside for public meetings and would not interfere with the schedule of school programs.

The type of entertainments and programs given at the proposed community center would, of course, be under the direction of a committee. Only the best and highest type of programs would be permitted. Club meetings, banquets, community social activities could well be held there in more beautiful surroundings than they have now without having to borrow halls and buildings because the community center would belong in part to every worthy organization in the city.

In pledging to the Museum Fund you are really helping Santa Anna grow toward a more wide awake town and toward a more cooperative town where the citizens can meet together, discuss problems and enjoy worthy social life. Let us not neglect anything which would help Santa Anna become a better town, which would help furnish social life for young and old in our own town instead of depending on our neighboring cities to furnish it.

Makes Plea For Texas Cripples

Charles F. Ashcroft

Easter Seal sales for Texas crippled children commence April 1 and last until Easter Sunday. Charles F. Ashcroft, President of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, urges that every one wishing to help a crippled child, buy seals. Each Texas County is being organized for this humanitarian purpose. Funds will be spent in Texas.

Easter Seals To Help Crippled Texas Children

The Texas Society for Crippled Children, which has helped thousands of Texas youngsters overcome physical handicaps in past years, is again organizing every Texas county for the annual Easter Seal sale for crippled children.

Charles F. Ashcroft of Sulphur Springs, President of the Texas Society, plans to raise $50,000 in Texas to aid crippled children in hundreds of counties. Seals go on sale April 1, and the campaign will be pressed until Easter Sunday. All money raised by the sale of these seals is spent to aid Texas children who are crippled by accident, by disease or at birth.

No distinction is paid to creed, color, religion or age. From babies in arms to adults of 21 years old, the Texas Society for Crippled Children renders its services. Money received from the sale of Easter seals is applied to buying braces and crutches for crippled little ones, to pay their transportation to the nearest hospital where skilled surgical work is performed free of cost, and later to enter them into lines of vocational training which will fit them with suitable employment in years to come.

Mrs. Tom M. Hays, President.

The members of the Men's Bible Class enjoyed a feast of coffee and cakes, together with an hour's rich and wholesome fellowship, last Sunday morning from 9:00 to 10:00 o'clock.

The chairman of our social committee, Mr. W. H. Thate, had made ample preparation for all the members and guests of the class, and it was a big success. We had a number of the old members present, who had not been with us for a long time, and some new members together with several visitors, which we so much enjoyed having. There were 30 men in attendance, which was the largest number reported for several months. Bro. Schreiber, the efficient and wide-awake president, was absent on account of attending a big home-coming of his old Conference and church in Mason.

But Bro. Daniels, our vice chairman, presided admirably, and the business was disposed of with accurate dispatch, and all reported a genuine good time. Oh, yes, and Bro. Etheredge was indisposed, and could not be with us, but he is about restored to his usual vigor, and will be with us we hope, for next Sunday. He rarely is ever absent from anything at the church, hence we miss him all the more when he is not there.

We trust we may have all the members present together with all our new members like Bro. Roehr, who was kept away also by illness last Sunday. Come, brethren, and we will show you how much you are really worth to us, and we will show you a delightful hour's fellowship.

Dr. S. W. Williams and his wife were with us for our evening service, and the new preaching elder, preached an able, and inspiring sermon. He always does, every time he climbs into the pulpit. Dr. Williams was my preaching elder when I was serving as pastor of Ward Memorial church in Austin some years ago, and our coming together again as friends and co-laborers, in our Father's work, is a joy to both of us. We wish so much that more of our people could have heard Dr. Williams deliver his initial sermon last Sunday evening.

We shall be looking for our church families and friends next Sunday.

The Zone meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society met in Coleman last Thursday and the attendance was unusually good. About one dozen of the ladies from our church were present, and the society of the Coleman church entertained all with a fine lunch at the church and all reported that it was one of the best meetings of the kind in some time. The program was very spiritual, and every member who was scheduled to make addresses or take part otherwise, responded in a most helpful way. The program was built around "The Aldersgate Commemoration," and was carried out in a fine way.

Mrs. J. Virgil Davis, Zone president, presided, and Mrs. W. A. Pace from Winters, District Missionary leader, directed. Several of the pastors from the various churches were present as was the pastor from Santa Anna. It was a day of spiritual renewal and helpful fellowship. They voted for the next such meeting to be at Bangs.

IF I WERE A SHEEP RAISER.

I'd never give Soremouth a chance. The disease is always prevalent during the screw worm season. That season isn't far off. And Soremouth causes heavy economic losses. There is no medicinal treatment for it.

I would vaccinate. Vaccination with Globe Contagious Ecthyma Vaccine (Soremouth Vaccine) is simple, easy and inexpensive. This Vaccine doesn't make animals sick. The protection it gives lasts for life.

Last season, Globe Soremouth Vaccine "showed the way" in availability—dealers everywhere! In sales—more than 1,500,000 doses used! In stability—Globe remains stable longer than any other! In results—no complaints from the field!

But I'm not a sheep raiser; I'm your Globe dealer. And I presume you won't give Soremouth a chance. I believe business comes to the place that invites it. Knowing that when you use GLOBE you will get entirely satisfactory results, I naturally invite you to use GLOBE. The time is growing short. Come to see us!

Home Demonstration Notes

Council Members from 21 Home Demonstration Clubs of the county met in regular session at the New Moore Hotel at 2:30 p. m. March 5th, 1938, with Mrs. Clyde Larence presiding in the absence of Mrs. Willie Henderson, Chairman.

Each club answered roll call by turning in the Educational Fund of 5c per member for the State Home Demonstration Association. The 21 clubs represented contributed one hundred per cent to the Educational Fund.

Mrs. Curtis Moore, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported that the sales on cook books in the clubs be completed by April meeting of the Council.

The Council voted to have a training school for officers on Saturday, March 26th. A buffet luncheon will be served at noon and a food committee consisting of Mrs. Curtis Moore, chairman, Mrs. Paul Riddle and Mrs. Harry Dibrell was appointed by the presiding chairman.

The Council will meet again in regular session at 2:30 p. m. April 2 at the New Moore Hotel.

Tavy Marie Stacy, garden demonstrator in the Trichman 4-H club is beginning work with growing tomatoes early in the year by building a hot-bed in her garden.

By starting the slow maturing plants, such as tomatoes, in the hot-bed while the weather is still cold, and transplanting into the garden when the weather becomes warm, the tomatoes will become available for use much earlier.

Tavy Marie has made a hot-bed for her garden that is heated by fermenting manure. The fresh horse manure or mule manure that is about 1-3 straw is the best material to use for heating the hot-bed. In order that the heating of the manure would take place more rapidly, the manure was piled in piles in a sheltered location and allowed to stand several days. It was repiled two or three times so that heating could take place, throughout the material, and then used in the hot-bed pit to give warmth for the growth of the tomatoes.

Parents Asked To Cooperate in Keeping Down Diseases Here

The Recreation Department requests that parents who desire their children to be sent home at a specified time from any playground to notify the director under whom the child is placed.

If any child has a contagious disease of any kind the parents of that child are asked to see that he does not attend any playground until completely recovered. Cases of this kind are few but much care is being taken to decrease the spread of diseases in this community.

Most all provide some ice cubes—Servel Electrolux provides TWICE the average family's daily need.

Some have flexible rubber ice-tray grids—Servel Electrolux has flexible STAINLESS STEEL. Just a flip of the thumb, and out come the ice cubes.

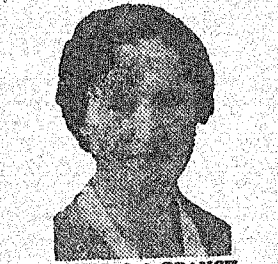

Some get the cabinet interior cold WHILE RUNNING—Servel Electrolux keeps the interior always in the safety zone—steady, CONSTANT COLD.

Some have well-built cabinets—Servel Electrolux has outer shell of one-piece seamless steel—a cabinet built to last through the years, finished in lustrous Newton, that becomes whiter with age.

"No Effort — No Reward"

That should not be a discouragement but an inspiration. It simply means that if you try hard enough and persistently enough you are bound eventually to succeed.

Success doesn't crown every effort. "Babe" Ruth didn't always make a home run. He often struck out when he was most eager to hit the ball. But the next time he came up to bat he took a little stronger toe-hold and swung a little bit harder at the ball. More than once the writer has seen him strike out then come right back and knock the ball out of the lot.

You're bound to strike out many times in the game of life. Everybody does. There has never been a person who didn't. But the strike out is fatal to no one except the weakling. The fellow who has the stuff in him always comes back after the strike out, with a firm resolve to hit the ball this time and to hit it hard and far.

"No Effort — No Reward!" Keep that in your mind. Remember that persistent effort is bound to bring reward.

THE CURE

"We found this man raising hulloaloo down on the streets, Sargeant. What shall we do with him?"

The Sargeant looked at the little man before him. He appeared like a little mouse rather than the big, bold lion he was trying to be.

"I say, my good man, perhaps you don't know who I am." The Sarg looked a second time at the little man. "Well, it makes no difference to me, my little feathered friend. All I know is that you were arrested on the streets for raising a row. You can take him to cell forty for further inspection."

Now the little man really became frightened. "I tell you, I'm professor Van Brutal; phone my wife and find out. I'll sue you!"

After the little man was shut into the cell one of the cops spoke. "Say, Sargeant, don't you think we better investigate. The little fellow may be right."

The Sarg laughed so loud he nearly fell out of his seat. "That's a big joke, O'Malley! Don't you think I know who the little fellow is? He's professor of zoology over at the college. His wife had gotten so tired of his absentmindedness that she asked me to help her break him of it. Well, that's exactly what we did. She told me when he went home he usually went to 754 Olive St. instead of 745 Olive St. where he lives. I thought we could catch him at 754. We did. He was trying to break into the house. We'll keep him in jail overnight and then send him home in the morning. Take him a good supper, Jack. I promised Mrs. Van. Brutal I'd take good care of him."

THE CLOSE OF ANOTHER DAY

I love to sit when the day is done,
 And watch the setting of the sun
 As it spreads its golden beams,
 And gently weaves its beauty into my dreams.

And as my thoughts stray afar,
 I softly strum on my old guitar;
 And sing the songs that I love best—
 Songs of that beautiful golden west.

And thus is the close of another day,
 And as I journey on life's way
 I like to think I've done some good deed,
 To help some poor sad soul in need.

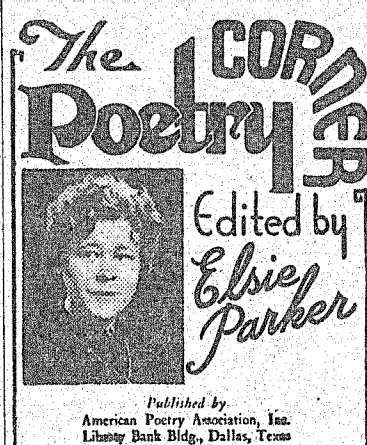

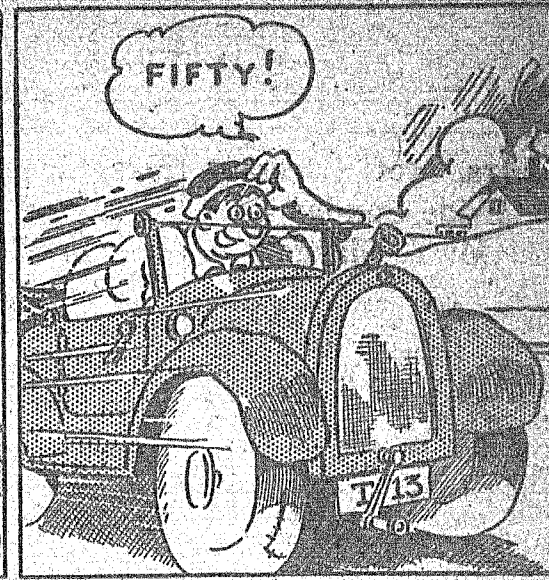

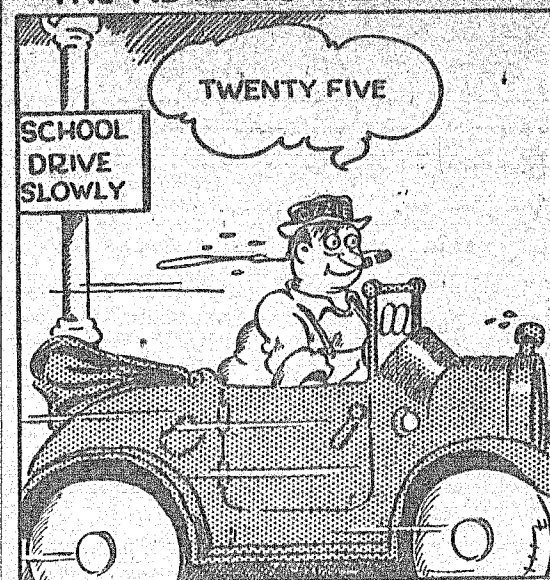

Miss Harvey: What is this! (horrid tone)
 Bill McGahey: You said clippings, so when I had my hair cut the other day I saved some.

Mace B: You mean to tell me that you've been shaving for four years?

Bill McGahey: Yep, and I cut myself both times.

The average American is easy to recognize. He is the one whose conscience is bothering him.

The West Wind is a rustler.
 He dashes across the parched plain
 Twirling a dust lasso—
 Shouting a gruff basso—
 As he rounds up the clouds and drives off the rain.

—Vada Hart Webb, Abilene, Tex.

FUTILITY

Yesterday—
 Your arms were around me,
 I was sheltered from the winds
 by your love.
 Beauty in every flower—music
 in the falling of every autumn leaf.

Today—
 You are gone from me,
 The cold wind of dreary autumn
 tears at my heart
 As petals drop wearily from drooping stems.

 In my ears the chill blasts that wail the dirge of my Tomorrow.

—Miriam G. Beard, Dallas

DROSS

I pity the aged, fumbling after
 The fat, purple grapes of laughter.
 With half blind eyes, they grope and find
 Naught but a rotten lemon rind.

—Natalie Bolton, Jacksonville, Texas

ATTITUDES

Young, joyous,
 Full of life and hope—
 Yesterday.

Old, content,
 Living in memory—
 Tomorrow.

But stay!
 I must be on my way—
 'Tis yet today.

—Margery Lang, Laredo, Texas

I SHALL RETURN

I shall come back to you some day
 And lie beside you in the ground;
 Be covered with the same cool
 clay
 And find the peace that you have found.

No matter where I go I shall return,
 Though near or far—this my request:
 When here is finished my sojourn

My dust with dust of you to ever rest.

—Maude E. Cole, Abilene, Texas

SUNSET

The golden sun has gone,
 But her rays linger still,
 Gold, blue, purple and crimson,
 They kiss the farthest hill.

Slowly now they fade
 Into a purple light,
 The hour of misty memories
 That comes before deep night.

—Mrs. Jess A. Bata, Bristow, Okla.

Accident Victim Recuperating

Friends will be glad to know that Lenora Oakes, who was injured in an automobile accident Saturday night, when the car in which she was riding became blinded by an oncoming car and turned over in the ditch, is recuperating at her home after receiving treatment at the Sealy Hospital. She suffered a broken right arm and lacerations on leg and chin.

After taking a girl friend to her home east of town after a local dinner party which both attended, Lenora and a group of young people came on into town meeting a car just east of the glass factory. In an attempt to dodge the car which blinded the driver, the car got too near the edge of the road and turned over. Passersby at about 11:15 assisted in taking the group to the hospital.
