Panel OKs tax package

Increases are 'anti-business,' Republicans say

■ Full Senate to vote on measure next week.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Overriding Republican complaints they were "anti-business," Democrats sent a large package of tax increases to the Senate floor Friday, including hikes on motor fuels, retirees and the wealthy.

"I think in the end I'll like it a lot," President Clinton said about the package designed to cut the deficit by a record $508 billion over five years.

The measure, the heart of Clinton's deficit-reduction package, cleared the Senate Finance Committee on an 11-9 party-line vote, as expected.

With Clinton's blessing, Democrats are expected to use their majority to push the measure through the full Senate next week as they and the administration work to reverse 12 years of Republican economic policy.

The bill imposes $249 billion of new taxes and restrains the growth of government health program for the elderly and poor by about $69 billion. But it only promises Congress will deliver enough additional spending cuts to reach the projected $508 billion.

Despite Republican opposition, Democrats made it clear they had finally crafted a plan they could push ahead. "It is going to be this deficit-reduction program

U.N. soldiers search for Aidid

■ Officials want mission's humanitarian aid to resume.

Associated Press

MOGADISHU, Somalia — United Nations forces searched Friday for warlord Mohamed Farrah Aidid, but officials said they wanted the focus of the U.N. mission to return to humanitarian aid.

A day after U.N. forces blitzed the nerve center of Aidid's militia, U.N. special envoy Adm. Jonathan Howe urged the peaceful surrender of the man accused of masterminding a June 5 ambush that killed 23 Pakistani soldiers.

He said he was concerned too much attention was being given to the problems in southern Mogadishu, which Aidid's faction has long controlled.

"We will continue to look for hidden, clandestine arms caches," Howe said. "There still are too many heavy weapons in the city being illegally kept."

Food distribution sites have been closed since June 6. The aid workers, protected by the peacekeepers from bandits and gunmen loyal to warlords, have been trying to restore order to Somalia.

A French television sound technician was killed in an ambush Friday. Jean-Claude Jumel, 50, had just arrived with other members of a TF1 television crew at Mogadishu's airport and was headed into the city when their vehicle was ambushed by gunmen.

Despite the attack, it was quiet on the streets for the Muslim sabbath, a sharp contrast to Thursday. The only serious sign of the anger generated by the attack came in the neighborhood that has been the stronghold for Aidid's faction, the Somali National Alliance, or SNA.

Supporters screamed at journalists who tried to inspect the damage to several compounds, including Aidid's house. Shelling from American AC-130 gunships left it looking like a chunk of Swiss cheese.

U.S. Army Lt. Col. Kevin McGovern said detaining Aidid wasn't a goal of the aerial and

Mayors: Chihuahua offers opportunities

By Darren J. Waggoner

Midland and Odessa leaders believe their trip last weekend to Chihuahua City, Mexico, is the first positive step toward stimulating future trade relations between the three cities.

Mayor J.D. Faircloth said the 23-member delegation also caught a glimpse of the future of Mexico.

"I was somewhat apprehensive about why we were going. I had envisioned a frontier border town with dirt streets," he said. "But my, was I surprised. I found a booming, aggressive, dynamic city much like Midland in the 1980s."

Faircloth said he would encourage other economic leaders in the Permian Basin to set aside any preconceived notions of Mexico and look into potential business opportunities.

Odessa Mayor Loraine Perryman said that developing friendly relations with Chihuahua officials is critical to convincing state officials to connect Interstate 27 with Midland and Odessa, before continuing the highway south to Mexico.

"We saw the definite need to open up trade corridors between us and them. We pounced on this possibility. It's a perfect match and hopefully

Sand sculptors will unearth 'mallosaurus'

It's Jurassic, or so it's claimed. Whether it is or not, fun is waiting to be had by those who venture to Midland Park Mall today through June 26 to see the creation and completion of a sand-sculptured dinosaur.

World champion sand sculptors Todd Vander, Dan Belcher and Fred Dobbs, all of Vander-Pluym Sand Sculptors International, have descended upon the mall in the JC Penney court to construct a "Mallosaurus."

The mallosaurus is a fictional dinosaur that roamed shopping malls millions of years ago here in Midland during the Jurassic period of the Mesozoic era when dinosaurs lived and birds first appeared, according to local folklore.

In recognition of the dinosaur and Jurassic-mania that

HOT: Petroleum Museum plans balloon festival

(From 1A)

Pointing to the flags on the back of his trailer, which tranported his hot air balloon to the Petroleum Museum lawn, Rentz said, "The flags show us visually what the wind is doing. When all the stripes are showing, there is too much wind to fly a balloon."

Had the announcement ceremonies been held earlier than 8:15 a.m., Rentz said, it might have been possible to successfully maneuver a short flight.

In October, balloons will be launched at sunrise. The best time to fly is early in the morning or late in the evening. Early morning is preferred by many pilots because the temperature is often cooler and the balloon gets better lift.

The number of hot air balloons worldwide has grown considerably since the mid-1970s. In 1975, there were only around 300 balloons in the world. Today, there are an estimated 4,500.

Rentz, who has been ballooning for 10 years and is Midland's only commercial balloon pilot, provided the inspiration for the Permian Basin Balloon Festival, said Ed Rowland, executive vice president and director of the Petroleum Museum and a crew member for local balloonists.

"Other places are having this kind of festival," Rowland said. "It sounded like an excellent way to promote tourism in the Permian Basin, provide a benefit for area residents and provide some operating funding for the museum, all at the same time."

Average sized balloons can carry three people and are around 60 to 70 feet high when inflated — or as tall as a six- to seven-story building. Balloons this size will hold as many as 70,000 cubic feet of air.

Although it was not possible Friday to fly the balloons, crew members were able to inflate those which were lying on the lawn.

As they inflated Rentz's "Cair Paravel," which is 55 feet across at its widest point and 75 feet tall, it began rolling toward members of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, who were laughing as they quickly found safer footing.

Also on hand for the ceremonies were Odessan Ed Kerley, senior balloon pilot in this area; Midlander Donna Potter, also a balloon pilot; and Eric Fitzgerald of Lubbock, who qualified for his pilot's license as a balloonist at a San Angelo rally this past weekend.

"We intend for this event to be a truly Permian Basin event," said Rentz, who is employed by Texaco Inc. as manager, public and government affairs-Midcontinent Region and is active in local cultural and service organizations.

The October festival will include 20 balloons, piloted by balloonists from Lubbock, San Angelo, Monument, N.M., Artesia, N.M., El Paso, Roswell, N.M., and possibly Austin.

"We thought we could manage it comfortably with 20 balloons and get 20 sponsors, have room to launch from the front lawn of the Petroleum Museum and be able to manage it so that we've got a good quality rally," Rentz said.

"Our objective is to raise money for the museum and to have fun — fun for us and fun for them and fun for the people of Midland and the Permian Basin."

35 cities to receive funds to fight drug abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-five Texas cities will receive a total of more than $8 million in federal grants to help combat drug abuse, Sen. Phil Gramm said Friday.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development awarded $8.56 million to the cities to be used for security programs.

"This funding will provide hard-pressed housing authorities and their law-abiding tenants with a real tool to attack drugs," said Gramm, R-Texas.

Here are the awards each city will receive under the program:

WEATHER WATCH

Today's high to hit low 90s

Staff report

Today's forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms, a high in the lower 90s and southeast winds at 10 to 15 mph. Tonight should be partly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms and a low in the upper 60s, according to the National Weather Service in Midland.

Sunday is expected to be partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms and a high in the upper 80s.

After an overnight low of 67, Friday's high reached 88 compared with the record high for that date of 107 set in 1951. The record low for that date is 56 set in 1985.

STATE

All of South Texas was under a flood or a flash flood watch Friday night as a tropical depression in the southwestern Gulf of Mexico could reach tropical storm status.

Residents of deep South Texas the lower coast were advised by the National Weather Service to prepare for heavy rainfall or flooding.

The NWS also posted a tornado watch for parts of West Texas and the Panhandle until early today.

Doppler radar showed a possible tornado about five miles east of Farwell Friday evening, but a sheriff's dispatcher said no injuries or damage were reported.

The watch area was along and 60 miles east and west of a line from 10 miles east of Midland to 50 miles northeast of Dalhart.

In West Texas, thunderstorms developed along a dry line that was expected to move into western portions of the Panhandle, South Plains and Permian Basin by early today.

Skies were partly to mostly cloudy east of the mountains and sunny in far west Texas Friday. Temperatures were mainly in the 80s.

In North Texas, showers and thunderstorms persisted Friday afternoon because of moisture and unstable conditions.

Mostly cloudy skies and a chance of thunderstorms were expected east of the mountains through Saturday night with mostly clear skies in the far west.

The Permian Basin, South Plains and Panhandle could have severe storms through Saturday afternoon.

Some severe storms were also expected in the Concho Valley Saturday night. Skies were mostly cloudy, with winds up to 10 mph from the south and southeast.

NATION

Two weather systems on a collision course from the West and South spawned violent thunderstorms over the Midwest on Friday, bringing hail, high winds and heavy rain. A heat wave gripped parts of the West.

A storm system that lumbered into the Midwest from the Great Basin region, and moist, unstable air from the Gulf of Mexico triggered the violent thunderstorms.

The NWS issued flash-flood watches Friday for parts of Texas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska.

Heavy rains caused flooding early in the day in Minnesota. Water as deep as 6 feet covered Highway 19 near Little Chicago, and floodwaters caused mud and rock slides that blocked several roads in Milford Township.

Rainfall amounts overnight included 4.5 inches at St. George, 3.5 at Wanamingo and Brighton, and 3 inches at Faribault.

Heavy rain soaked Nebraska on Thursday, and rain, lightning and wind hit Illinois.

A woman was struck by lightning and killed in Western Springs, Ill., and power to about 80,000 customers was knocked out in the Chicago area. In Rockford, Ill., winds gusting to 60 mph uprooted trees, toppled satellite dishes, downed power lines and tore apart awnings.

Winds of more than 50 mph downed trees in Fort Atkinson, Wis.

In Wyoming, a winterlike storm hit during the last days of spring, bringing 4 inches of snow to the South Pass City area and as much as a foot to the higher elevations of the Wind River Mountains. More snow was possible today. The weather was generally pleasant in New England on Friday, with sunny skies and temperatures in the 70s, reaching the 80s in the mid-Atlantic states.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

Connally's family rejects exhumation requests

N.Y. Times News Service

HOUSTON — The family of the late Gov. John B. Connally of Texas on Friday angrily rejected requests by FBI officials and private researchers that his body be exhumed in a new search for evidence about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy 30 years ago.

Connally was wounded while riding in a Dallas motorcade with Kennedy when the president was shot to death, and some researchers have suggested that bullet fragments that they say remain in Connally's body could show once and for all whether a second gun, and presumably a second marksman, might have been involved in the assassination.

But Connally's family said through a spokesman Friday that most, and probably all, bullet fragments that had lodged in him were removed soon after he was shot and that they clearly showed then, as various official inquiries have concluded, that they were from one of the two bullets that hit the president.

"Beyond that," said a statement issued by Julian O. Read, a friend of the family, "Mr. Connally had been available for 30 years, before dying Tuesday in Houston, "for any legitimate research request," and "in all that time no such request has been made by any responsible authority."

The statement said the family would "resist vigorously any efforts to disturb the body of John Connally."

Under state and federal law, the body may not be exhumed without permission of the family or a court order.

Connally was buried Thursday in Austin, and by Friday afternoon, ill feeling over the question of whether his body should be exhumed had clearly escalated. Some Kennedy assassination researchers suggested that a new coverup of crucial evidence was under way, and FBI officials hoped for an exhumation to prove that this was not the case.

Meanwhile, Connally's family was appalled that the observance of his death had been publicly overshadowed by the notion that his body should be unearthed just hours after he had been laid to rest.

The family also said it was offended that an official request for access to his body had come even as his funeral was under way.

"Obviously the way this thing cropped up yesterday, right in the middle of the funeral, was bizarre to say the least," said a family spokesman, George Christian.

"The FBI tried to reach the family through various sources right in the middle of the services. I can't believe it. They have no conception what this does to the family."

A spokeswoman for the Justice Department, said today that the department had received letters from two research groups before the funeral urging examination of the body and that officials had concluded that there was merit to the request.

SAND: Sculptured dinosaur to call Midland mall home has taken over all of the media outlets from the movies to books and television, Midland Park Mall Manager Patti Snodgrass thought now would be an ideal time to have the creature "unearthed" in the mall since most of the merchants carry dinosaur items.

(From 1A)

And, who better to uncover the mallosaurus and any other little dinosaurs that may come along, than the world champion sculptors.

Vander, who is leading the team of carvers, has been building sand sculptures all his life, but started doing it professionally in 1981.

The mallosaurus will be made up of 60 tons of sand located within a 20-by-24 foot area, Vander said. The artist said each creation basically "orchestrates" itself, so he never knows from the start exactly what will result. But, the mall manager said the dinosaur will likely be about seven-feet tall with possibly a few little dinosaurs around it.

Vander said when the carving is complete, spectators will be transformed back into the Jurassic period complete with the environment and the whole works.

The artist said crowds usually congregate around the sculptors as they construct the work of art and that is the way he likes it. Vander said the sculptors are "performing artists" and that sculpting is a "spectator art." This is all reflected in the skillful, informative and friendly way the artists interact with onlookers.

He said one of the things he likes best about his profession is "looking out at the children and seeing them smile."

'It is no longer sand. They're looking at the dinosaur and the plants and they are transformed to a different world," Vander said. "Plus, half of what you'll see is sand and half is optical illusion."

The artist said he has been studying photographs of dinosaurs in preparation for this creation that is anticipated to take only one week to complete.

To explain what he means by optical illusion Vander gave an example of the neck of the dinosaur. The neck will be long and in need of some sort of support to keep it from buckling. That support won't be visible to the spectators, but as most artists, he declined to reveal his secrets.

Another unusual aspect of the sculpture is that the sculptors use only local sand and water, compacting it tightly enough so the sculpture will stay in place as long as desired.

Vander said he and the other sculptors will work on the art about 14 hours a day from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. The public is invited to come out and watch the dinosaur grow from the ground up.

"It is really exciting to watch it be built and it has proven to be a successful attraction for other malls," Ms. Snodgrass said. She said the mallosaurus will probably remain on display through the end of the year.

Sand Sculptors International is a four-time world champion and has obtained almost every major sand sculpting record. The sculptors earn their livings traveling around the country sculpting in shopping centers, fairs and festivals.

FESTIVAL: Midlanders carry Olympic torch through city

(From 1A)

Liz Rutter said she brought her two children and their cousin to catch a glimpse of the torch.

"We just came to watch. There aren't a lot of opportunities to see the Olympic torch pass through and we thought if it was coming, 'let's go see it,'" Ms. Rutter said.

Midlander Monique Flores, a 17-year-old police explorer scout, was the first to carry the torch through Midland.

Laura Fitz-Maurice Schneider, a Midland native and graduate student at Texas Christian University, carried the torch for a portion of the run through Midland as did KMID-TV Sports Director Mark Packer.

Paul Alexander, a member of the Torch Run committee, said Midland was only the ninth stop on the 58-city route to San Antonio for the kick-off of the USOF 1993 games. The torch travels to Lubbock today.

Midland Mayor J.D. Faircloth said he was proud that Midland was given the privilege of taking part in the ceremony of the torch run.

"It is very much a great honor for Midland to play, even a small part, in such an extraordinary event," the mayor said.

Alexander said the torch's flame was lit in Colorado at the official Olympic Training Center and then flown to Austin, where the run started on Sunday.

The Texas Torch Run will end its 4,600 mile-trek when it reaches San Antonio on July 23 for the lighting of the Festival Flame at the Alamodome.

The USOF features Olympic-caliber competition in 37 sports for American athletes during non-Olympic years. More than 3,500 athletes will compete including 1992 Olympic medalist, gymnast Shannon Miller.

TRIP: Mayors visit Chihuahua

will eventually link us to Mexico and then the Midwest corridor all the way to Detroit," she said.

She cautioned that the project will continue for at least 20 years.

"This is something we need to begin concentrating on now. Sure it will outlast both J.D.'s term and my term, but we need to get the ball rolling now," Ms. Perryman said.

Local officials believe enhancing trade relations is a key to jolting the local economy. An estimated 4,500 Permian Basin workers have jobs directly related to trade with Mexico. Ms. Perryman estimates that number could more than double within a few years, pending the signing of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

Jose-Luis Suarez, consul de Mexico in Midland, said that better employee training programs are making workers in Mexico much more competitive than in recent years.

He said Mexican officials also hope to establish a stronger international trade relationship with the United States.

Chihuahua City is about a six-hour drive from Midland.

U.N.: U.S. doesn't want Aidid to become martyr ground assaults aimed at crippling Aidid's capability to wage war against peacekeepers.

"If we got him, fine. If we didn't, fine," McGovern said. "We're not out to make him a martyr."

Howe called the operation, which included a ground assault that lasted more than 12 hours, "totally successful" despite heavy casualties on both sides.

Five U.N. soldiers — four Moroccans and a Pakistani — were killed. Forty-six others were wounded: 41 Moroccans, three Frenchmen, one Pakistani and one American.

An accurate count of Somali casualties was impossible.

Hospitals confirmed at least 15 dead and 36 wounded, but the numbers could be considerably higher. An SNA spokesman claimed in Nairobi, Kenya, that 120 Somalis were killed, mostly women and children.

"Yesterday's operation was carefully planned with the intent to minimize threats to innocent civilians," said Turkish Lt. Gen. Cevik Bir, the U.N. military commander.

Australian Lt. Col. Trevor Jones, the U.N.'s senior air staff officer, told reporters that most Somali casualties were SNA militiamen.

Jones denied an SNA claim that 14 U.N. soldiers, including two Americans, had been taken captive by Aidid's forces.

During Thursday's fighting, one of the TOW missiles fired by American attack helicopters hit the compound of a French aid agency, International Action Against Famine, killing one Somali worker and wounding seven.

Gregoire Goodstein, the agency's logistical coordinator in Somalia, questioned the wisdom of the U.N. assaults.

"I don't think it was necessary," he said. "I don't think they needed anything that big. It doesn't solve anything. It was a failure."

TAX: Rich Americans to pay 80 percent of the increase

(From 1A)

■ More local news/11A

or no deficit-reduction program," said Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine. "Anybody who is serious about reducing the federal budget deficit should support this."

"I think in the end I'll like it a lot," Clinton told reporters. "We're not done yet." His remark reflected that senators made several changes in what he proposed but stuck to his demand for at least $500 billion in deficit reduction with most of the new taxes picked up by the well-to-do.

Senate passage next week would send the measure to a conference that would write a compromise with the version approved by the House last month. The biggest difference between the two bills: The House plan includes a broad energy tax proposed by Clinton, but the Senate bill substitutes a far smaller levy that applies only to motor fuels.

After shepherding the Senate version through the Finance Committee, chairman Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., said, "These are the most progressive changes in the tax code since World War II." People making more than $100,000 a year would pay more than 80 percent of the tax increase.

The only Senate provision with broad impact on the middle class is the 4.3-cent-a-gallon increase in the tax on gasoline, diesel and other motor fuels. That's $43 a year for a family that uses 1,000 gallons.

About 2 million Social Security recipients whose incomes exceed $32,000 for a single person or $40,000 for a couple would pay more under the Senate plan; as much as 85 percent of their pensions — up from the present 50 percent maximum — would be taxed.

Under both versions, the nation's biggest corporations would see their tax rate increased by 1 percentage point, to 35 percent. Businesses would lose deductions for lobbying and club dues and the deductible portion of business meals and entertainment expenses would be cut to 50 percent, down from 80 percent, in both versions.

Republicans assailed the Senate bill as a new round of job-destroying anti-business tax increases designed to fuel more Democratic spending programs and deliver little real deficit reduction.

"No doubt about it; this is an anti-business administration," Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas told a news conference.

Mitchell said Republicans showed in the committee that they cannot live up to their speeches about deficit reduction.

"After a fog of rhetoric ... about the need to cut spending, there was not one amendment (offered by the GOP in committee) to cut spending by a single dollar."

Although most of the bill is devoted to raising taxes and cutting spending, the Senate measure includes some targeted tax incentives for business and investors. And it would expand the earned-income credit for the working poor by about $4 billion a year.

Senators made up much of the revenue lost from dumping Clinton's big energy tax by approving $19 billion in restraints on Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements above the $50 billion proposed by Clinton. Those changes would reduce the 67 percent projected growth in Medicare spending over the next five years to 65 percent.

Black magic ritual kills two Brazilians

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A mother and her young daughter were stabbed to death by two teenagers during a black magic ritual in a rural town, police said Friday.

Police Inspector Clovis Rodrigues de Souza said a 15-year-old girl and her 17-year-old boyfriend confessed to killing Salete Fatima de Azevedo, 32, and her 3-year-old daughter Daniela on Tuesday in Criuva, 620 miles south of Sao Paulo.

He withheld their names because they are minors.

The girl, who is pregnant, informed police that a priest of a devil-worship cult told them they would have to sacrifice an adult and a child to guarantee a healthy baby.

Mrs. Azevedo, who knew the couple, invited them into her house for tea, popcorn and crackers. "Shortly after they were finished, she and her daughter were stabbed to death," Souza said.

China blasts U.S. response to Olympic bid

BEIJING (AP) — The Chinese Olympic Committee accused a U.S. House subcommittee of "wanton interference" Friday for opposing Beijing's bid to host the 2000 Olympic Games.

The Subcommittee on International Security, International Organizations and Human Rights passed a resolution Thursday opposing Beijing's Olympic bid because of China's human rights record. The resolution is expected to be adopted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The Chinese Olympic Committee said the U.S. panel's opposition to China's bid "on the pretext of the so-called human rights issue is a wanton interference with the just right of the Chinese people and tramples upon Olympic principles."

The Chinese Olympic Committee's statement, carried by the official Xinhua News Agency, said the House panel was acting "out of their political prejudice against China."

China is lobbying hard for the Games. It has done everything from giving members of the International Olympic Committee the red-carpet treatment when they visit, to mobilizing Beijing residents to kill flies and exhorting them to quit smoking.

Vying with Beijing to host the 2000 Games are Sydney, Australia; Berlin, Manchester, England; Istanbul, Turkey and Brasilia, Brazil.

Japanese parliament undermines prime minister

TOKYO (AP) — In a rare act of political rebellion, a group of governing party lawmakers turned against Prime Minister Kiichi Miyazawa on Friday and provided the key votes to pass a no-confidence measure.

A teary-eyed Miyazawa then dissolved parliament, clearing the way for early elections.

Miyazawa's political career appeared finished after the vote, which culminated a struggle over how to clean up Japan's corruption-ridden electoral system.

The prime minister must call elections within 40 days. Miyazawa's only other option would have been to resign. It was only the second time since 1955 that parliament has passed a no-confidence motion.

The vote also threatens to split Miyazawa's Liberal Democratic Party, which has ruled Japan for almost four decades.

As parliament was dissolved, some Miyazawa opponents raised their arms and shouted "Banzai!," a rallying cry meaning "long life."

Miyazawa frowned and his eyes welled with tears as opposition politicians took the podium in parliament's lower house to blast him for failing to introduce the political reforms he had promised.

"Liar," cried Social Democratic

No confidence vote threatens party that has ruled Japan for almost four decades.

Party chairman Sadao Yamahana, who smiled as he took the podium. Shouting over heckling from Liberal Democrats loyal to Miyazawa and cries of encouragement from supporters, Yamahana called Miyazawa "irresponsible."

After the vote of no confidence passed 255-220 — aided by 35 members of Miyazawa's party — the prime minister stood up and bowed briskly.

That a breakaway Liberal Democratic faction openly sided with the opposition is extremely rare. Members of parliament tend to vote and act strictly along party lines.

In the upcoming elections, the Liberal Democrats are expected to keep their majority. Little change in Japan's foreign or domestic policy is expected.

But the rift could hurt the governing party's strength. Miyazawa's main rival, former Finance Minister Tsutomu Hata, said he will start a new conservative political party. Kyodo news service said members of his faction would quit the Liberal Democratic Party.

Hata, who led the breakaway faction of lawmakers, and former Liberal Democratic Party secretary-general Ichiro Ozawa are considered potential prime ministers.

"This is a watershed for Japanese politics," Hata said.

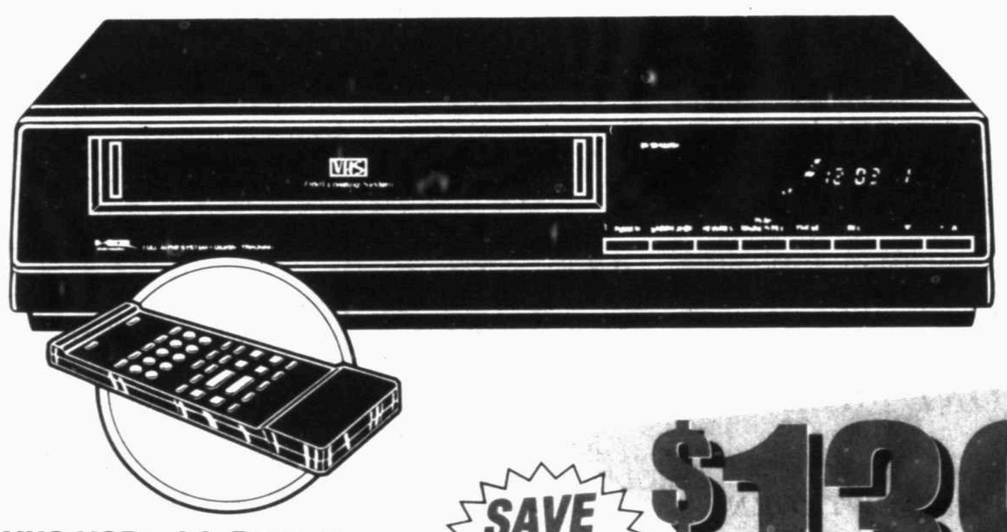

Miyazawa's supporters defended him by arguing that Japan cannot trust political upstarts and needs the stability of Liberal Democratic Party as the nation struggles to emerge from recession.

Most Japanese see the Liberal Democrats as the party that built Japan into an economic power.

Security Council beefs up Bosnian troops

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council gave final approval Friday to sending 7,600 peacekeepers to six Bosnian cities which are to be "safe areas" for the country's besieged Muslims.

But the deployment is likely to be weeks, if not months, away and will come as the international community's efforts to end the war in Bosnia are in disarray. Lord Owen, the European Community's mediator on former Yugoslavia, has declared a failure the plan he devised with former U.N. mediator Cyrus Vance to create 10 ethnic-based provinces, with a strong national government.

Instead, Owen is recommending Bosnia's Muslims accept a new Serb-Croat proposal to divide Bosnia-Herzegovina into three ethnic zones.

Despite the major policy shift, the Security Council went ahead and unanimously approved a resolution accepting Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali's blueprint for sending additional U.N. peacekeepers to Sarajevo, Bihac, Gorazde, Srebrenica, Tuzla and Zepa.

Nine thousand U.N. peacekeepers are already stationed in Bosnia, but without the strong mandate of the 7,600 reinforcements.

The United States will provide air power to protect the peackeepers, who will be heavily armed and authorized to deter Serb attacks. Boutros-Ghali warns that if warring parties fail to honor cease-fires in the six areas, a total of 34,000 troops may be needed.

However, he is having trouble getting countries to contribute even the 7,600 troops and the needed equipment. Because of this, diplomats expect the 7,600 to be deployed only gradually.

Britain's ambassador, Sir David Hannay, called the troop deployment an interim measure.

"They are an immediate step to be taken to make life safer for those rather numerous people who are in those safe areas," he told reporters.

Diplomats here awaited an official report from international mediators before declaring the Vance-Owen peace plan dead. But an early view from New Zealand's ambassador was not encouraging.

"It is a grave disappointment if the Vance-Owen plan is to be discarded, even though reality might point in the direction of the need for an alternative. But it is a great shame," Ambassador Terence O'Brien told reporters.

U.N. warns Iraq about weapons site videos

UNITED NATIONS (NYT) — The Security Council warned Iraq Friday of "serious consequences" if it continued to reject the installation of video cameras at weapons sites and to refuse the transfer of chemical weapons equipment to a destruction site.

The statement came after a meeting with the head of the commission charged with destroying Iraq's chemical weapons, Rolf Ekeus.

The Iraqi authorities have refused to allow the installation of the cameras at two missile sites and have rejected the destruction of machinery that Iraq said could be used for peaceful purposes, like making pesticides. But the United Nations said the machinery could easily be reconverted to produce chemical weapons.

Under Resolution 687, which ended the Persian Gulf war, the Council established the commission to destroy all of Iraq's chemical, nuclear and bacteriological weapons, as well as its long-range missiles, and to monitor the industry to insure that Iraq never made such weapons again.

Pepsi tampering arrests grow nationwide

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pepsi-Cola Co. declared its needle-in-the-can scare over Friday, as police arrested people all over the country for falsely claiming they'd found dangerous objects in their drinks.

According to local media accounts compiled by The Associated Press, more than 50 cases of alleged tampering had been reported in at least 23 states.

As of Friday, there had been more than a dozen arrests and confessions of false reports.

Most complaints involved hypodermic needles or syringes allegedly found in Pepsi cans. But other items were also reported, including a crack cocaine vial, screws, a bullet and a glob of dark brown goo.

"The suspect said, 'I didn't do it for the money. It was for attention. I just wanted somebody to pay attention to me.'"

— Sgt. Tim Melnick

One of those arrested Friday was a St. Petersburg, Fla., man who police said told them he got swept up in the wave of publicity spawned by tampering reports when he said he found screws in a can of Coca Cola. He was arrested in Dunedin, Fla.

"He said, 'I didn't do it for the money.' It was for attention. I just wanted somebody to pay attention to me,'" Dunedin police Sgt. Tim Melnick said.

It was easy to discover he lied, Melnick said.

"These were wood screws. If they fell into the can at the factory they would have been machine screws — not wood screws," the sergeant said.

Meanwhile, Somers, N.Y.-based Pepsi, which has about a third of the domestic soft-drink market, rushed to reassure the public that everything was all right.

Former Bush aide gets key Mideast peace role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Friday that Dennis Ross, a close aide to former President Bush, had been named as the administration's special coordinator for Middle East peace talks.

President Clinton also picked Assistant Secretary of State Edward P. Djerejian as U.S. ambassador to Israel, the announcement said.

The two appointments signal the administration's intention to place high priority on achieving a breakthrough in Arab-Israeli peace talks, now in their 20th month and not showing much progress.

"This is a crucial time for the Middle East peace process. It is imperative that the United States have talented diplomats working to ensure that the process continues to move forward," said Clinton in the brief statement. "Ed Djerejian and Dennis Ross have my complete confidence."

General who blasted Clinton to retire early

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force general who publicly called President Clinton a draft-dodger and womanizer will retire after accepting a fine and letter of reprimand.

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Merrill McPeak told a Pentagon news conference that "despite the general's honorable 32-year career, such comments were wrong and cannot be tolerated."

Maj. Gen. Harold Campbell was found by an Air Force investigation to have made disrespectful comments about Clinton at a European awards dinner in May.

Newspaper reports and Pentagon sources have quoted the general as calling Clinton a "pot-smoking," "womanizing," and "draft-dodging" commander-in-chief, but McPeak said he could not specify the exact words Campbell used.

Campbell agreed to leave the service as of July 1 and will be fined "in the neighborhood of $7,000," the Air Force said in a statement.

The letter of reprimand, which was not disclosed, will remain in the permanent file of the 53-year-old general who flew 100 combat missions over North Vietnam.

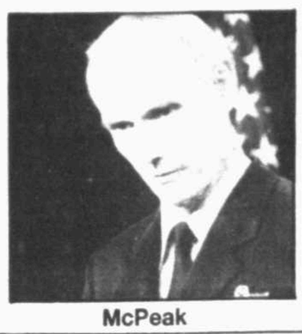

McPeak said he had spoken briefly with Campbell and that the general "agreed he made a mistake."

"He deeply regrets that the incident occurred, and he realizes this is not the greatest thing that has happened to the Air Force," the four-star general said. "He is remorseful and fully understands he made a mistake."

But McPeak said the two-star general did not explain why he made the comments in the first place.

Asked why he was personally answering reporters' questions in this case, McPeak, who rarely appears in the Pentagon briefing room, replied, "I owe a personal apology on this matter to the American people."

'Despite the general's honorable career, such comments were wrong and cannot be tolerated.'
— Gen. McPeak, USAF

McPeak

In a letter to Defense Secretary Les Aspin, McPeak said the decision "will sustain integrity and respect for the chain of command."

At the White House, President Clinton said, "I think Gen. McPeak handled it in the appropriate fashion." Campbell could not be immediately reached for comment; messages were left at his home and office.

Under the military's justice system, an officer who displays contempt for the president and other national leaders could face a maximum punishment of dismissal, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and confinement for one year. Those penalties are available after conviction at a court-martial.

The general's comments came during an awards banquet speech for service members at Soesterberg Air Base in the Netherlands.

City dedicates Records Center

■ City Secretary Bill Clanton was honored at ceremony.

By Ed Todd
Staff writer

Bill Clanton, Midland's city secretary and records management officer, was honored on Friday at the dedication of Midland's new Records Center. A Texas House of Representatives Resolution deemed him a "man of trusted judgment" and a "highly regarded gentleman."

"This fine gentleman works above and beyond the duties of his office to provide the citizens of his community with the excellent service they deserve," Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland said at the dedication of the city's state-of-the-art Records Center.

It is located in the city's former Public Safety Building, which formerly housed the Fire Department, Police Department and City Jail.

The new Records Center contains archival material, old newspaper clippings to delineate the city's history, and memorabilia in addition to city records.

Ed Todd/Reporter-Telegram

Bill Clanton, right, city secretary and records management officer, was honored on Friday at the dedication of the city's Records Center in the former Public Safety Building. Looking on is George Whitfield Jr., San Antonio's records control officer.

"This is the day I have waited for for two years," Clanton said.

City records are now centralized in city-owned property, which converts to taxpayer savings.

Next to personnel payroll costs, storage and record-keeping are the second largest costs in government, Craddick said.

Prior to reading the Craddick-authored proclamation honoring Clanton, the Republican lawmaker said, "I have been a real fan of Bill Clinton through the years . . ." He quickly corrected himself. "I did that wrong" in referring to the Democratic president.

Craddick said Clanton "is a respected leader in the Republican Party" and was named recipient of the "prestigious Republican Presidential Legion of Merit Award in 1992 for his "patriotism, commitment, and integrity."

Of the laurels bestowed upon him through the resolution, Clanton said "I am absolutely dumbfounded. I am absolutely humbled."

G. Thane Akins, who was mayor when Clanton become city secretary in 1984, said the dedication ceremony "typifies Bill Clanton's reserve and reticent" nature. "He doesn't do anything big or elaborate, no parades," Akins jested.

The former mayor said using the old Public Safety Building east of downtown for records and archival storage is "wonderful use of the building."

The ceremony's guest speaker, George Whitfield Jr., who is San Antonio's records control officer, described Clanton as a "super person" and cited the value of maintaining records in all facets of government, including the court system.

"Record-keeping is the backbone of any government, regardless," Whitfield said.

Roast honors Lions' leader

Staff report

Ike Fitzgerald, outgoing president of the Midland Downtown Lions Club was honored at the weekly meeting of the club this week with a roast and a proclamation by Mayor J.D. Faircloth.

The proclamation, which declared Wednesday as Ike Fitzgerald Day in Midland, recognized the Lion's Club president for his efforts in starting a vision check program at Casa de Amigos and for making the Midland Lions Club a regional screening, reclamation and distribution center for thousands of eyeglasses collected throughout the Southwest.

The eyeglasses are cleaned, graded and sent to needy individuals throughout the world.

Fitzgerald was replaced as president of the Downtown Lions by Aubrey Linne, who has outlined a major membership drive as a focus for his term. Linne says he hopes to increase membership in the club to 350, making the Downtown Club one of the largest in the United States.

Supreme Court rules in favor of religion

Position is swing away from last year's decision barring non-sectarian prayers at school graduations.

WASHINGTON (HNS) — Providing government-funded interpreters for deaf students in religious schools does not breach the Constitution's wall of separation between church and state, the Supreme Court ruled Friday.

In a 5-4 decision, the court's conservatives said the Constitution "lays down no absolute bar to the placing of a public employee in a sectarian school."

Legal experts on both sides of the emotionally charged issue said that while the ruling was a victory for those seeking less church-state separation, it did little to fundamentally alter the dividing line between the two.

The ruling was the third this month in which the court decided in favor of religious institutions or adherents pressing claims against government prohibitions. Last week, the justices overturned a local ordinance barring animal sacrifice in religious ceremonies and struck down a ban on church groups using public school property after class hours for a film series.

Friday's ruling and the school property decision suggest the court is following the instincts of its conservative wing in keeping the wall of separation comparatively low. That position is a swing away from last year's decision barring non-sectarian prayers at a school graduation, which suggested the court was willing to build the wall higher.

Friday's ruling in Zobrest vs. Catalina Foothills School District in Arizona centered on whether public school funds can be used to pay for a sign-language interpreter for a deaf student attending a Catholic high school.

The public school system in suburban Tucson refused to provide James Zobrest, who is deaf, with a taxpayer-funded interpreter when his parents switched him from a public school to Salpointe Catholic High School for his ninth-grade year.

Under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, known as IDEA, the U.S. government provides public schools with about $2 billion a year for education of the handicapped.

In 1987 Larry and Sandra Zobrest, James' parents, argued in a U.S. District Court in Tucson that the federal law requires school districts to fund programs for handicapped students enrolled in private schools on an equal basis with those offered by public schools.

The Catalina Foothills School District argued that the interpreter would act as a "conduit" for religious instruction and that, therefore, its payments would violate the First Amendment, which bars direct government involvement in religion.

Multiple blasts rock N.Y. state office building

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Explosions rocked the basement of a 41-story state office building Friday, triggering a brief fire, injuring four people and forcing the evacuation of about 3,100 people.

The explosions occurred in an underground room that houses electrical equipment for the Office of General Services building, the tallest building between New York City and Montreal.

At first authorities thought an electrical transformer had blown up. But they said later they weren't sure what caused the initial explosion shortly after 10 a.m. and another one shortly afterward.

The explosions triggered a fire that was doused quickly, but not before it burned a worker in the equipment room.

John Halpin, 23, was burned over 30 percent of his body.

Planned Parenthood teaches physicians to perform abortions

NEW YORK (NYT) — Planned Parenthood of New York began training doctors on Friday to perform abortions, a role that teaching hospitals have abandoned in recent years in response to social, legal and economic pressures.

Over the last decade the number of medical residency programs that require abortion training in the United States has dropped by half, and that drop is one reason most of the nation's counties do not have a single doctor who will perform the procedure.

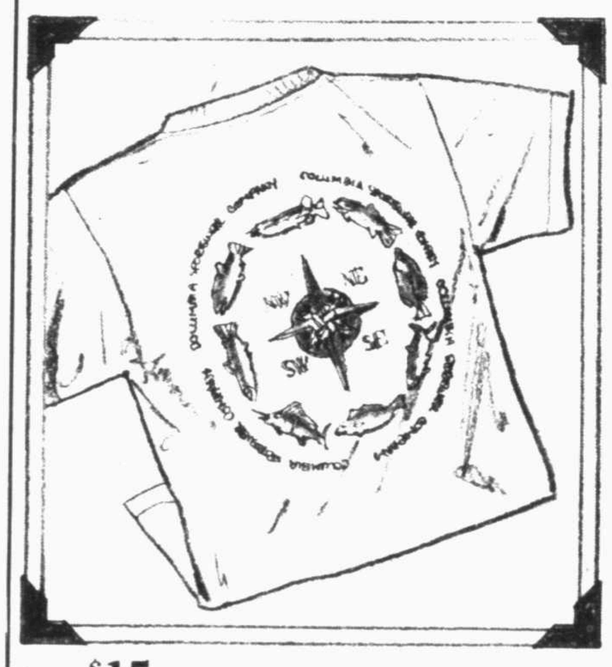

"Most teaching hospitals find it easier to leave abortion training to someone else," Alexander C. Sanger, president and chief executive of New York's Planned Parenthood chapter, said in announcing the program. "We have decided to become that someone else."

While some individual abortion clinics have occasionally trained doctors to work for them, the Planned Parenthood program is the first large-scale effort to increase the availability of doctors nationwide.

The graduates of the Planned Parenthood classes will not gain any additional legal standing.

Aikman surgery

DALLAS — Dallas Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman will undergo surgery in Los Angeles for a "disc problem" in his back, the team announced late Friday.

Dr. Bob Watkins, a Los Angeles-based neurosurgeon, will perform the surgery Saturday morning at Centinela Hospital in Inglewood, Calif., the team said. Aikman left Friday for Los Angeles to consult with Watkins.

Cowboys spokesman Rich Dalrymple said the procedure is considered to be "relatively minor in nature and should have no effect on Aikman's ability to play in 1993."

Team owner and general manager Jerry Jones said Aikman had been consulting with doctors regarding his back condition for several weeks. He said the surgery was scheduled now to ensure Aikman would be healthy for the upcoming season.

"Troy has, throughout his career, experienced different levels of back pain," Jones said. "His recent discomfort made us more visibly aware of the situation and encouraged us to seek a procedure that would correct any future threat of physical problem."

Aikman injured his back several weeks ago while lifting weights. He had been told to discontinue workouts until mid-July, when training camp begins.

Aikman, the Super Bowl MVP, led the Cowboys to a 52-17 rout of the Buffalo Bills with the youngest team in the National Football League. He was 61 of 89 with eight touchdowns and no interceptions in three playoff games.

UH names staff

HOUSTON — Neil Callaway, hired as offensive line coach in December at Louisiana State University after 12 years at Auburn, was named assistant head football coach today at the University of Houston under new coach Kim Helton.

Callaway, 37, also will serve as offensive coordinator and quarterback coach for the Cougars.

Helton, who took over the Houston program May 21 after the departure of John Jenkins, also dipped into the ranks of the World Football League to hire Gene Smith as linebackers coach and Frank Gansz Jr. as special teams coach.

The hirings round out Helton's staff.

Smith, 35, most recently worked as defensive coordinator and linebackers coach for the Birmingham Fire of the World League. He's a former assistant at Mississippi State, Arkansas and Southern Mississippi.

Gansz, 30, was an assistant in charge of special teams with the World League's New York Knights. He also worked as an assistant at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.

Suns tan Bulls' hide

By Bill Barnard
AP Basketball Writer

CHICAGO — The Phoenix Suns ruined Chicago's early celebration plans Friday night, sending the NBA Finals back to Arizona with their second victory in three road games.

Richard Dumas, who usually scores well in the first quarter but often is benched in favor of experience in the second half, had 11 of his 25 points in the third quarter, leading Phoenix to a 108-98 victory. Kevin Johnson had 25 points and Charles Barkley added 24 for the Suns, who avoided elimination for the fifth time in the playoffs.

Michael Jordan, averaging 42.6 in the finals, scored 41 points for the Bulls, who lead the best-of-7 series 3-2, with the final two games of the finals scheduled Sunday and Wednesday nights in Phoenix.

Chicago police had taken a number of measures to try and ward off any problems with a celebration in the streets as there was last year when the Bulls won.

"Chicago, you can take all that wood off the windows, there won't be any riots tonight," Barkley said. "I don't care about being down 3-1, God wants us to win the world championship. I talked to him the other night."

Now that they've forced at least a sixth game, the Suns must address another problem — winning at home against Chicago, which has won all three games it's played at America West Arena this season. The Bulls were the first team in NBA Finals history to win the first two games on the road.

If the Bulls are to win a third consecutive title, it will be on the road.

"If we're the best team we should be able to win two in Phoenix," Suns coach Paul Westphal said. "If not, we'll tip our hat to them."

Scottie Pippen had 22 points and John Paxson 12, all on 3-pointers, for the Bulls.

The Suns, who never trailed in the second half, avoided a fourth-quarter collapse like the one Portland had last year when Chicago came back from a 15-point deficit to win the final game against the Trail Blazers.

Leading 80-73 going into the final period, Phoenix extended the margin to 94-83 with 5:11 left after two jumpers by Johnson, two free throws by Dan Majerle and a fastbreak layup by Danny Ainge.

A 3-pointer by Ainge gave the Suns a 99-88 lead with 3:25 left before Jordan made a final push to give Chicago its third consecutive championship.

Jordan hit two free throws and a bank shot to close the Bulls to 99-92 with 2:07 remaining, but a three-point play by Johnson, who scored 11 points in the fourth quarter, made it 102-92 and ended any realistic hope of a comeback.

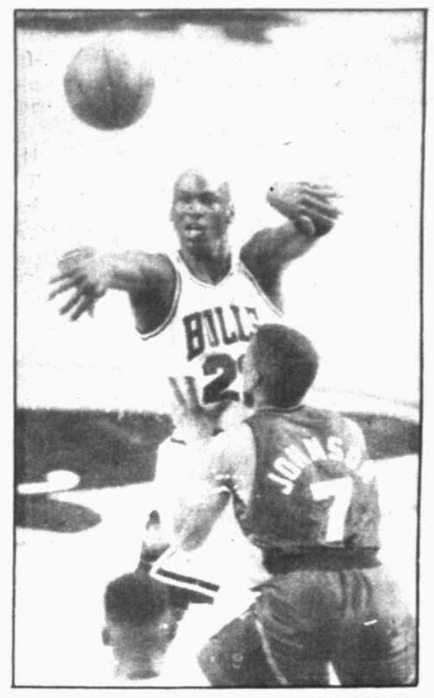

Phoenix, whose only other appearance in the finals was a loss to Boston in 1976, is seeking to become the first team to rally from a 3-1 deficit to win the championship series. It has happened four times in earlier rounds.

Chicago is 14-4 in the postseason, including 9-2 at home. The Suns are 13-10, including 6-5 on the road, after finishing an NBA-best 62-20 in the regular season.

Phoenix, which limited the Bulls to nine free throws in its triple-overtime victory in Game 3, allowed Chicago just two trips to the line in the first half Friday night, but the Bulls went harder to the basket in the last two periods, finishing with 24 free throws.

The Suns made 51 percent of their shots for the game, the first time in the series they made more than half their attempts.

"This was our fifth game, that if we lost it our season was over," Barkley said. "So I'm telling you, it's destiny."

Janzen dancin' through Open

■ While many favorites faltered on the second day, unknown Lee Janzen fires back-to-back 67s to take the lead at the turn of the 93rd U.S. Open

By Bob Green
AP Golf Writer

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. — It will be the kid against the champs on Saturday in the third round of the U.S. Open.

And the edge so far goes to the kid, 28-year-old Lee Janzen, who matched a record for 36 holes and has a two-shot advantage.

But the champs, former U.S. Open winners Tom Watson and Payne Stewart and current PGA champion Nick Price, are in position to apply pressure in the lowest-scoring Open of them all.

Janzen, who took control Friday with a second consecutive 67 and tied Jack Nicklaus' record of 134 for 36 holes, knows it will be a battle of nerves as much as golf.

"They've all won majors," Janzen said. "They know what they have to do.

"I know what I have to do, keep my emotions under control, be patient and play one shot at a time."

That could be difficult.

Janzen, winner of two titles in four seasons as a touring pro, was one of four who shared the first-round lead in the Masters two months ago. But he couldn't handle it, falling three back after two rounds and playing the final 36 holes in 153.

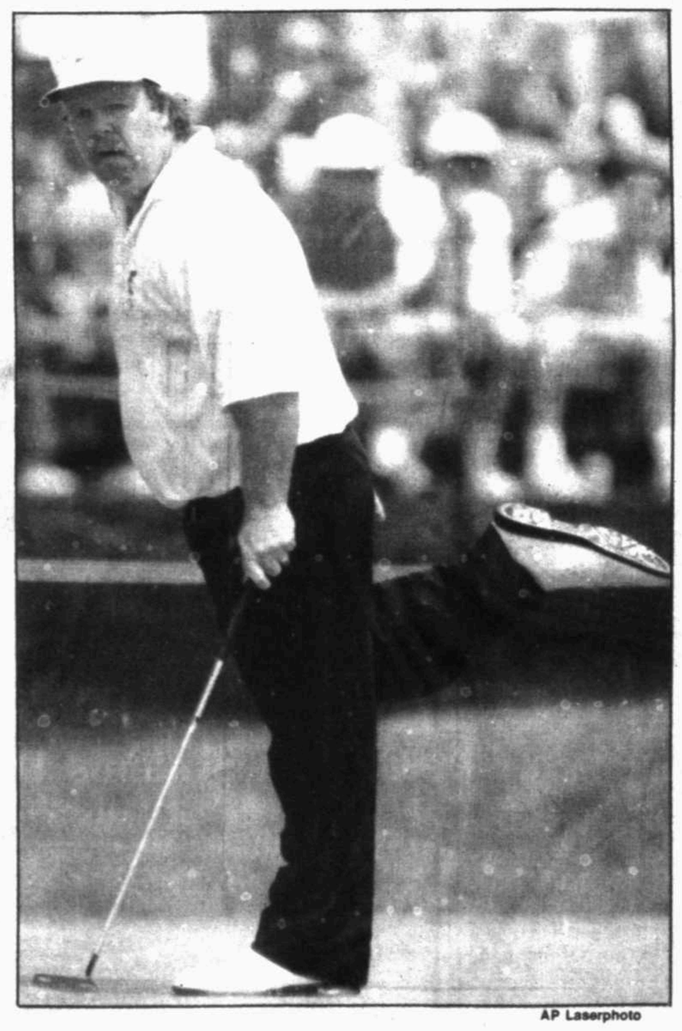

"I was not too happy with the way I played after the first round," he said, but insisted he has matured since then.

He was paired for Saturday's third round with Tom Watson, who, among other extraordinary credentials, will captain the 1993 U.S. Ryder Cup team that Janzen is trying to make.

"I'll be nervous enough," Janzen said. "I'll just try to get it airborne."

Watson, 43, also had to battle some nerves in com-

Injuries hurt Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Word that Pete Sampras is suffering from a shoulder injury has thrown yet another cloud over an already gloomy Wimbledon.

Sampras, the world's top-ranked player and No. 1 seed for the tournament, revealed Friday that he is suffering from a shoulder injury that makes him questionable for play next week.

The shoulder becomes the latest in a list of pre-Wimbledon ailments that includes Steffi Graf's foot, Andre Agassi's shoulder and Monica Seles' back.

Sampras was spotted on a training table Friday at Roehampton in southwest London, where Wimbledon qualifying matches are being played this week. He was receiving treatment for the shoulder from a ATP Tour trainer.

Asked about his condition, Sampras said, "I don't know if I will be fit to play at Wimbledon."

The 21-year-old American has undergone MRI tests to examine the soft tissue, cartilage and muscles in the shoulder and was awaiting results that would determine how best to treat the injury.

Neither Sampras nor the trainer, Todd Snyder, would reveal which shoulder was injured or when the injury occurred.

Sampras, a semifinalist at Wimbledon last year, has also asked for a Tuesday first-round match to give him more

Gonzales has career night with 8 RBIs

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A dropped fly ball, a streak of wildness and a phone call to the press box resulted in a career night for Juan Gonzalez.

The hard-hitting outfielder knocked in a major league season-high eight RBIs — all coming with two outs — as the Texas Rangers clobbered the California Angels 18-2 Thursday night.

"Nobody can do what Juan can do right now," winning pitcher Kenny Rogers said of the Rangers' clean-up hitter. "That guy's just phenomenal. He's a tough out. He doesn't just knock the ball 450 feet, but he can hit for average, too. It's nice that he's on my team and I don't have to face him."

Gonzalez did have help.

One out after a sacrifice fly by Dan Peltier bounced off the glove of Angels center fielder Chad Curtis, Gonzalez drove in his first three runs with a double to right-center.

Singleton, El Paso bury Midland

By Jimmy Patterson
Assistant sports editor

Were it not for the arm and the stick of El Paso's Duane Singleton, the Midland Angels would be calling themselves first half runners-up in the Texas League this morning.

Singleton was 3-for-4 at the plate, and from his defensive spot in center field, nailed two Angel runners trying to score in the second as El Paso defeated Midland, 8-7 in the finale of the halfway point of the season Friday night at Angels Stadium.

Midland ends the first half of play with a 33-35 record, 3½ games behind the first-half champion Diablos. San Antonio, which led Wichita 7-0 Friday night, lost to the Wranglers, 10-7, to finish the half at 33-34, three games out of first and ½-game in front of the Angels.

Friday's game at Angels Stadium would've been a fitting advertisement for Doublemint gum as the two teams combined for 11 doubles, six short of the Texas League record set in 1956 when Austin and San Antonio combined for 17 two-baggers. Nine of the 11 doubles were recorded in the first five innings.

Singleton had two doubles, driving in two runs in the first and his third in the fifth, but it was his sparkling, picture-perfect throws in the bottom of the second that prevented the Angels from winning.

With one out in the second, Midland's

Giants blank Astros 5-0 in the 'dome

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Bud Black pitched 7 1-3 shutout innings and Darren Lewis went 4-for-4, leading San Francisco past Houston 5-0 Friday night.

The first-place Giants have won nine of its last 11 games.

Black (6-1) allowed six hits, while striking out four and walking two. Mike Jackson finished.

Doug Drabek (5-7) was the loser, going six innings and giving up four runs, three earned, on eight hits.

Cubs 8, Cardinals 3

CHICAGO — Shawn Boskie won for the first time in more than a year and Dwight Smith broke a tie with a home run as Chicago beat St. Louis, snapping the Cardinals' four-game winning streak.

Smith's homer, his eighth of the season, came against Cardinals starter Rene Arocha (5-2) and snapped a 3-3 tie in the fifth inning. Arocha gave up all six runs and nine hits before leaving with two outs in the sixth.

Randy Myers, brought on with runners on first and third and two outs in the eighth, got Tracy Woodson on a fly ball and finished for his major-league leading 22nd save in 23 opportunities.

Expos 2, Braves 1

MONTREAL — Dennis Martinez recorded his 200th career victory with eight strong innings as Montreal beat Atlanta.

Martinez (7-5) won his fifth consecutive start and became the 92nd player in major-league history to reach the 200-win mark.

Larry Walker hit a two-run double in the sixth inning to give Montreal the lead. Ron Gant homered in the seventh for the Braves.

John Smoltz (6-6) allowed three hits, struck out seven and walked four in seven innings.

■ NL Roundup

Phillies 7, Marlins 3

PHILADELPHIA — Darren Daulton drove in three runs as Philadelphia snapped a season-high three-game losing streak with a win over Florida.

The Phillies overcame a 3-2 deficit against Ryan Bowen (4-7) when they batted around in the fifth inning, scoring five runs on four hits, three walks and two wild pitches. Daulton and Jim Eisenreich each singled in a run, Kim Batiste had a two-run single, while another scored on a wild pitch.

Reds 4, Dodgers 3

CINCINNATI — Rob Dibble blew another save in the ninth inning, but Barry Larkin singled home the game-winning run in the 10th as Cincinnati beat Los Angeles.

A wild pitch by Dibble let the Dodgers tie it at 3-all in the ninth, but the Reds rallied in the 10th against Jim Gott (2-3), the third Los Angeles pitcher.

Pirates 5, Mets

PITTSBURGH — Anthony Young lost his 22nd consecutive game — one short of an 82-year-old major-league record — as Pittsburgh beat New York.

Young (0-8) has lost 10 straight as a starter and 12 in a row as a reliever since his last victory on April 19, 1992. His streak, the second-longest in major-league history, is one loss away from matching the record 23 straight defeats by Clifton Curtis of the Boston Braves in 1910-11.

Padres 11, Rockies 1

DENVER — Derek Bell drove in four runs and Greg Harris scattered eight hits in a complete-game victory as San Diego routed Colorado.

Harris (7-7) lost his shutout bid in the ninth when Charlie Hayes led off with a homer, his 10th.

Oakland comes-from-behind to beat K.C.

Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — Craig Paquette hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning as Oakland rallied from an 8-0 deficit to beat Kansas City 10-9 Friday.

Paquette's homer, his second of the season, came off Royals reliever Tom Gordon (4-2).

■ AL Roundup

Rich Gossage (4-3) pitched 1 1-3 scoreless innings for the victory and Dennis Eckersley worked 1 1-3 innings for his 13th save.

Oakland worked its way back from the Royals' seven-run second inning, marked by George Brett's 648th career double. The double tied Brett for sixth on the all-time list with Nap Lajoie. He moved into sole possession of sixth place with another double in the sixth.

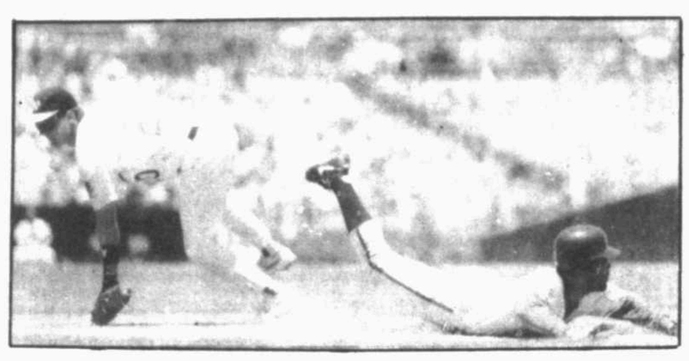

Brett drove in Brian McRae, who also doubled, with one out in the second off starter Shawn Hillegas. The inning was capped by Chris Gwynn's two-run double off reliever Storm Davis.

Mike Bordick's two-run homer in the bottom of the second off starter Chris Haney made it 8-2. McRae singled in another Royals run in the third.

The Athletics rallied for seven runs in the fifth to cut the deficit to 9-8. Kevin Seitzer drove in two runs with a single and Brent Gates hit a sacrifice fly before Terry Steinbach tripled in two runs. Paquette singled in Steinbach.

Brewers 6, Tigers 3

DETROIT — Cecil Fielder hit two homers for the second time this week, yet it wasn't enough to offset homers by Kevin Reimer and John Jaha as the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Detroit Tigers.

AP Laserphoto

Kansas City Royals Brian McRae slides safely onto first base after a bunt as Oakland Kevin Seitzer misses the ball during Friday's game.

Cal Eldred (9-6) allowed three runs — all on homers — on seven hits over 6 2-3 innings and won his third straight start. Doug Henry pitched the ninth for his 12th save.

Mark Leiter (6-3), who beat Eldred in County Stadium on May 18, gave up five runs on nine hits in 5 2-3 innings.

Mickey Tettleton also homered for the Tigers, who have hit 14 home runs in the last six games.

Darryl Hamilton scored on Robin Yount's single for a 1-0 Milwaukee lead in the first, but the Tigers tied it at 1-1 in the second on Tettleton's 15th homer.

Reimer's ninth homer put the Brewers ahead 2-1 in the third, but Fielder's 16th tied it at 2 in the bottom of the inning.

The Brewers, who had lost six of their previous eight games, took the lead for good in the fourth on Jaha's fifth homer.

Yankees 5, Twins 0

NEW YORK — Danny Tartabull hit a three-run homer in the first inning and Jimmy Key lowered his ERA to 2.17 with six scoreless innings as the New York Yankees beat the Minnesota Twins.

Key (8-2) developed a blister on his left index finger and was replaced by Bobby Munoz to start the seventh. Key allowed six hits and struck out three. Tartabull's homer, his eighth of the year but first at Yankee Stadium this season, came off Eddie Guardado (0-1), a left-hander making his major-league debut. It followed a one-out double by Wade Boggs and a walk to Don Mattingly.

Guardado, known for his control in three minor-league seasons, issued four walks in six innings and allowed three hits.

Mariners 3, Rangers 2

SEATTLE — Dave Fleming had his second straight impressive start and Seattle made it five victories in six games with a victory over Texas.

Seattle beat Texas for the second straight time in the Kingdome after losing 13 in a row to the Rangers dating back to 1991.

The Mariners scored the winning run in the seventh when Rich Amaral singled, stole second, went to third on a sacrifice by Omar Vizquel and came home on Mackey Sasser's sacrifice fly.

Blue Jays 11, Red Sox 2

TORONTO — John Olerud extended his hitting streak to a club-record 23 games and Paul Molitor had four hits and four runs, leading the Toronto Blue Jays to their fourth straight win.

Olerud, whose streak is the longest in the majors this year, surpassed the old club record of 22 games set by George Bell in 1989. He went 1 for 3 and collected his club-record 16th intentional walk to drop his average one point to .403.

Roger Clemens (7-6) was tagged for six runs on five hits in two innings. It was his shortest outing since lasting 1 1-3 innings against Baltimore on June 18, 1990 — exactly three years ago.

Orioles 4, Indians 1

CLEVELAND — Ben McDonald won for the first time since April and Cal Ripken interrupted a 1-for-19 skid with a three-run homer as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Cleveland Indians.

The Orioles improved to 6-2 on their current 10-game road trip and have won 14 of their last 17 overall. The Indians have lost five of six.

ANGELS: El Paso, Midland to play six more walked on eight straight pitches. Mark Brakebill singled to center and Grebeck, attempting to score from second, was thrown out on Singleton's throw to catcher Mike Matheny. Brakebill would later try to score from second on a single by Orlando Palmeiro, but Singleton's throw was again on the money to end the Angels half of the inning.

(From 1B)

Midland did score a run in the second, but potentially could have had two more had Grebeck and Brakebill been held at third.

Angel manager Don Long's philosophy in those situations has been to send the runner, forcing the defender to make the perfect throw, which Singleton did not once but twice.

El Paso's big inning was the first, when four runs crossed the plate on four hits.

Midland wasn't too shabby offensively either, pounding out 14 hits, two more than the Diablos.

P.J. Forbes and Jeff Kipila both homered for the Angels. Kipila's blast, a two-run shot and one of the longest homers of the year at Angels Stadium, was last seen exiting north, somewhere well above the Marlboro Man.

Forbes' shot was his sixth of the year and helped extend his hitting streak to nine games. Forbes also has 24 multiple-hit games on the year.

Leadoff batter Clifton Garrett was also 3-for-5 for the Angels.

El Paso reliever Tim Dell was given the win, his second in three decisions. Midland's Shad Williams (4-5) was the loser, allowing eight earned runs on 11 hits in 4⅔ innings.

El Paso shortstop Wes Weger was 3-for-5 and extended his hitting streak to 15 games.

Midland opens the second half of the season tonight in El Paso as the two teams play the seventh of 12 consecutive games against each other. Game time is 8 p.m. Midland time.

The Angels won't return home until July 1 when Wichita visits for six games.

Midland has not hosted a 10-game homestand since May 10-19, and will not see a 10-gamer at Angels Stadium again until July 21.

RANGERS: Gonzales ties club mark with RBIs

(From 1B)

his second career grand slam after Angels reliever Ken Patterson issued three consecutive walks with two out.

In the sixth, Gonzalez completed his 4-for-4 night with an RBI single off Gene Nelson to increase the margin to 18-1. The only reason he remained in the game that long was because manager Kevin Kennedy wanted him to get the club record.

"I didn't know what the Texas record was," Kennedy said. "I wasn't trying to rub it in against anybody, but you do want to give a guy a chance to establish that team record. So I had our guys call up and find out.

"After he got the eighth RBI for the record, I took him out. Otherwise, I might have had him out of there before that."

The eight RBIs were one more than Detroit's Cecil Fielder had on June 6 at Tiger Stadium, also against the Angels. The old Rangers record was seven, shared by Larry Parrish (1982) and Pete O'Brien (1987).

"It never entered my mind that I'd go 4-for-4 with eight RBIs," Gonzalez said. "I'm just looking for a good game. But it's more important that everybody is playing together."

Gonzalez's performance helped get his teammates and himself out a recent slump. He entered the game with one hit in his last 26 at-bats, while his average had dipped from .337 to .297.

"It was an exciting night," said Gonzalez, whose previous best was five RBIs on Aug. 23, 1992, at Cleveland. "To get eight RBIs is a great feat. I'm very comfortable at the plate. I'm seeing the ball good and hitting it hard, so there's no problem. That 0-for-18 is history."

The four hits tied a career high and raised Gonzalez's average to .312. He has 44 RBIs and 18 homers, which tied him with Cleveland's Albert Belle for the AL lead entering Friday's play.

Last year, Gonzalez won the home run crown on the final day of the season, edging out Oakland's Mark McGwire. His home run pace is nine days ahead of last year's, when he hit 43.

"The biggest thing about Juan is that he's hitting the ball to the right side and he's not trying to pull the ball," Kennedy said. "Tonight he hit a breaking ball to right-center for a three-run double, then took a 2-0 fastball and hit it out to right-center for a home run. That's why he's been around the .300 mark all year."

Payne Stewart misses a birdie putt.

piling a 66 to tie Stewart at 136. Stewart also had a 4-under-par effort over the sweltering Baltusrol Golf Club course.

Price, from Zimbabwe, also shot 66 and was tied at 137 with Corey Pavin, who had a 69.

Scott Hoch was next at 138 after a 72, and was followed at 139 by Bob Gilder, Jeff Maggert, Fred Couples, Paul Azinger, Billy Andrade and Mike Standly. Andrade shot 67, Azinger 68, Standly and Gilder 69, Maggert 70 and Couples 71.

John Daly used a driver and 1-iron — very nearly coming out of his shoes on the latter swing — to become the first man ever to reach the uphill, 630-yard, par-5 17th hole in two.

"I'd been playing so badly that I told my caddy that if I reach 17, at least I'll make history," Daly said.

He also made birdie and went on to a 68. At 140, he was even par for two rounds and very much in contention.

The anticipated threat by the foreign players who have dominated world golf in recent years hasn't materialized. Among the leaders, all but Price are Americans. And Price, who now resides in Florida and plays most of his golf in this country, said he considers himself "an American player."

Europeans not only didn't rise to the occasion, but many failed to join the record 88 players who qualified for the final two rounds. A score of 144, one shot lower than the previous record set at Oak Hill in Rochester, N.Y., in 1989, was necessary.

Among the casualties were Masters champion Bernhard Langer of Germany, Seve Ballesteros and Jose Maria Olazabal of Spain, Greg Norman of Australia and Vijay Singh of Fiji, who won last week's Westchester tournament. It was the first time in 14 tournaments in the U.S. and Europe this year that Singh missed a cut.

Defending champion Tom Kite birdied the final hole for a 70 but missed the cut at 145. Not since Larry Nelson in 1984 had an Open defender failed to make the cut.

Also at 145 was Joey Sindelar, one of three who shared the first-round lead. He went from a 66 to a 79.

Janzen, possessed of a solid swing and a tunnel-vision approach to the game, has improved each season and this year appears to have come of age. He won early in the season at Phoenix and has four other top-10 finishes, the most recent a third last week in U.S. Open-type conditions at Westchester.

"I've definitely matured," Janzen said. "My game is improving constantly. I haven't peaked. I have a long way to go."

He took a big step in the right direction Friday with three consecutive birdies beginning on the 11th. The first two were on putts of abourt 20 feet, and the last was set up by an 8-iron approach to about 6 feet.

There's no question he can play — he ranks seventh in earnings — but now it is a question of nerves.

Watson knows all about nerves. He's been battling the putting yips for most of the seven seasons since he won his last American title, and they surfaced again Friday when he missed a 3-foot par putt on the second hole.

"I got angry with myself," Watson said. "I had a pretty good little talk with myself.

"I said, 'What the heck are you doing this for? This is a game out here. Don't get so frustrated on the short putts. I'm not going to fail this time.'

"So I sucked it up a little," he said.

After two-putting from 40 feet for par on the sixth hole, he got in a little practice. Practice during a round isn't allowed on the PGA Tour, but the U.S. Golf Association stipulates only that practice not delay players hitting to the green.

"I hit eight or 10 practice putts and made a little adjustment in my stance," Watson said. "It worked."

He birdied the seventh from 20 feet and the eighth from about 10. Perhaps more importantly, he made a 3-foot second putt — one of those that has caused him so much misery in recent years — on the 10th, then dropped 6-foot par putts on the next two holes.

He hit a wedge inside a foot on the 14th, ran in a slick, downhill 20-footer on the 16th and chipped to tap-in range on the final hole.

"I still feel tournament tough, tournament ready," said Watson.

Watson's putting keeps him in Open chase

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (NYT) — How long has it been since Tom Watson was last declared dead on arrival at whatever golf tournament is about to begin?

Twenty-four hours, by my log here at the U.S. Open.

It wasn't the wrinkles around his eyes, or the thousands of miles on his feet, but the unseen, creeping disease of 43-year-old golfers that stuck him in the No-Chance Flight.

At some point in the past six years, Watson's putting stroke, once a deadly rapier thrust, was practically destroyed by the virus that players fear most. Biological name: "Paralytic Jumpitis." Common name: "yips."

There is no known cure, or else Ben Hogan and Sam Snead still would be on Baltusrol's leader board. Had some kind of magic ointment been invented, Tom Watson wouldn't have stopped winning U.S. Opens when he won his first and only one 11 years ago.

Happily, though, his yips quit yipping and went into remission yesterday. Suddenly and without advance announcement, they left him to infect the putting strokes of other available victims. Craig Stadler, for example, putted like a guy with a handful of fire ants.

A 66 yesterday, his best round in an Open in six years, sent Watson rocketing out of the wreckage yard and into the weekend as a competitor.

Faldo's triple-bogey drops him from pack

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Nick Faldo, the world's No. 1 golfer, beaned a spectator with an errant fairway shot Friday, leading to a triple-bogey 7 that took him out of contention at the U.S. Open.

The 35-year-old Briton began the second round at Baltusrol by methodically matching par on the first five holes. It was a continuation of the precision play that earned him an even-par 70 in the first round Thursday and a place among the top contenders in the tournament.

Faldo had good reason to be optimistic in his quest for the next jewel in his crown of major championships, following three British Open titles and two victories in The Masters in recent years.

"Not many chances for me today. I wasn't hitting the ball close" to the pin, Faldo said after his round.

Asked why, Faldo replied, "Because I ain't swinging good enough."

Texan uses slow motion for fast start

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (NYT) — Justin Leonard had another dream-like round of golf at the U.S. Open on Friday, but a nightmare threatened to intrude when the amateur and and his esteemed professional partners were warned by officials that they were playing too slowly. A second warning could have resulted in a two-stroke penalty for Leonard, Tom Kite and Nick Faldo.

"I'm learning how to handle pressures like that," said Leonard, who is at even par 140 and on a pace to produce one of the best Open scores by an amateur in the last 25 years.

"If you can put distractions like that behind you and just play golf, you'll be OK," he said.

Leonard, the University of Texas junior and national amateur champion, fired a one-over-par 71 Friday. Paired with his first-round 69 he remained within reach of the leaders.

Could an amateur win the Open? It last happened 60 years ago, when Johnny Goodman won, at North Shore Country Club in Glenview, Ill.

"An amateur would have to have a real good week," said Leonard, who turned 21 last Tuesday, "but I think that's possible. A lot of guys will disagree with me."

He is the only amateur among the leaders. Three are in the field of 156 — Leonard, David Berganio Jr and 16-year-old Ted Oh — and Leonard was the only one amateur to make the cut. As the United States amateur champion, Leonard was granted a berth at the Open. Traditionally in the first two rounds of the Open, the reigning amateur is teamed with the Open defender (Kite) and the British Open champion (Faldo).

On the par-4 sixth, when the group had already fallen behind the group ahead of them, Faldo soared to a triple-bogey 7. His second shot hit a spectator on the head.

"That slowed us down," said Leonard.

At the ninth, a U.S. Golf Association official suggested to the threesome that they speed up play. On the 11th hole they still were behind the pace and were warned. Then they were timed on the 12th, 13th and 14th holes.

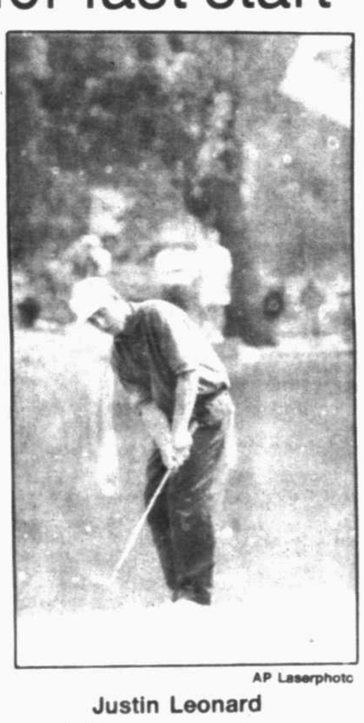

"I don't think that bothered me," said Leonard. "That happens in college all the time."

When they reached the 15th, though, they had closed the gap and were back in position.

After the round, Faldo was seen in an animated discussion with another USGA official.

Leonard said he remained calm throughout the round because he was comfortable playing with Kite, a fellow Texan whom he has known for several years.

"I like to stay relaxed," said Leonard. "Playing with Tom was probably the best thing that happened to me in the first two rounds."

AP Laserphoto

Justin Leonard

It wasn't comforting for Faldo, though. His 74 gave him a two-round total of 144, while Kite was at 145 after Friday's 70. It was an odd sight to see the three of them heading down the fairway, trailed by someone holding the small scoreboard that showed the unheralded amateur ahead of two of the world's best players.

Only one amateur in the last 25 years has equaled par through four rounds in the Open.

Newcomer leads after first round 64

COON RAPIDS, Minn. (AP) — Jack Kiefer, seeking his first career victory, shot an 8-under-par 64 Friday to take the first-round lead in the inaugural Burnet Senior Classic.

A former club pro who joined the Senior PGA Tour in 1990, Kiefer shot 32s on both the front and back nines to tie the record for a round at the 6,894-yard Bunker Hills Golf Course.

He leads Dick Hendrickson, another former club pro and career non-winner, by one stroke going into Saturday's second round. Simon Hobday is two shots back while Jim Ferree, Rocky Thompson and Bob Murphy are three strokes behind.

The 64 tied Kiefer's best start of the season. He opened with a 63 at the 1992 Bruno's Memorial Classic in Birmingham before losing to George Archer by one stroke, his best career finish.

"It's a goal to win a tournament ... soon," said Kiefer, who had eight birdies and no bogies. "I've been close a couple of times.

"I've been in the last group a few times. I think it's about time to win one."

Hendrickson, a club pro for 35 years before joining the tour in 1985, echoed those thoughts.

"There's a certain element that sets (winners) apart," he said. "I was in position seven or eight times to win and really didn't know how. I won 120 tournaments as a club pro, but it's not the same.

"To get to the right frame of mind is difficult. I'm basically a negative player but I'm getting over that.

"I'm more relaxed, confident. I know I can play as well as any of them, but it's a matter of making the putt at the right time or a good chip at the right time."

Both Kiefer and Hendrickson liked Bunker Hills because it is longer than most courses the seniors play.

"It's a very straightforward course," Kiefer said.

Said Hendrickson: "Rarely do we have enough holes where you have to hit a 6-iron, 7-iron, 5-iron to a par-4. For me, they're all too short. I'm a lousy wedge player. So I love it when a golf course is set up like this. I hope I love it as much tomorrow and Sunday."

Despite heavy rains that fell Wednesday and Thursday, the course, hosting Minnesota's first PGA event since 1969, was in excellent shape.

A light rain began falling Friday when Kiefer, in the second-to-last group, reached the ninth hole.

"The rain helped," he said. "It slowed me down a little and got me on a better pace."

Marshall sues Oilers for contract breach

WASHINGTON (AP) — All-pro linebacker Wilber Marshall sued the Houston Oilers on Friday, claiming they backed out of a deal to pay him $2.75 million for the upcoming season.

The breach-of-contract suit filed in U.S. District Court seeks a total of up to $7.9 million in damages if Marshall is left sitting out the 1993 season.

In addition to the $2.75 million that Marshall claims the Oilers offered him on May 28, the suit seeks $150,000 that he says the Washington Redskins agreed to pay him five days later in conjunction with the trade to Houston.

It also seeks another $5 million for what Marshall says is "his loss of certainty" that he will not again be named a team's franchise player at the end of the 1993 season and thus be precluded from negotiating a 1994 contract as a free agent. Marshall asked Judge Stanley Sporkin for a jury trial in the case.

The suit is the latest development in a twisting saga that the Redskins and Oilers want NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue to resolve.

As their defensive leader last season with 138 tackles and six sacks, the Redskins named Marshall their franchise player last February. A month later, though, they said he could negotiate with another team if a trade for draft choices could be worked out.

In May, the Redskins agreed to trade Marshall to Oilers in exchange for Houston's first- and fifth-round draft picks in 1994 if Marshall and the Oilers could agree on a contract.

Marshall lowered his asking price from $3.7 million to $2.9 million but Houston refused to budge above its May 27 offer of $2.75 million with a promise not to name Marshall their franchise player at the end of the 1993 season.

In his suit, Marshall said that his agent faxed a letter to Oilers general counsel, Steve Underwood, at 11:16 p.m. on June 2 accepting the offer. The Oilers, however, hold they withdrew the offer before receiving the facsimile acceptance from Marshall's attorney.

"We never had a trade with them to start out with," Oilers owner Bud Adams said last Monday. "I was not for the price or the one and the five" draft picks.

The Redskins, meanwhile, signed a three-year, $5.4 million contract last Monday with former New York Giants linebacker Carl Banks.

Navratilova wins in Wimbledon warm-up

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Top seed Martina Navratilova won her semifinal match in the Eastbourne grass court tournament on Friday and will try for her 164th career title against a player who has never been to a final before.

Navratilova, a 10-time titlist at Eastbourne, swept to a 6-1, 6-3 victory over fellow American Patty Fendick.

■ Volkswagen Cup

The nine-time Wimbledon champion will play Miriam Oremans of the Netherlands for the Volkswagen Cup on Saturday. Oremans upset defending champion Lori McNeil 7-6 (9-7), 7-6 (7-3).

McNeil was playing her second match of the day, earlier defeating Nathalie Tauziat 6-1, 7-5 in the quarterfinals of the rain-plagued tournament.

"It was pretty miserable out there," said Navratilova of the overcast sky and swirling winds. "I can't believe so many people stayed and watched in the cold. It wouldn't happen anywhere else. Perhaps they are used to this kind of weather."

Fendick, seeded 14th, held serve to open the match before Navratilova rolled off eight consecutive games to take a 6-1, 2-0 lead.

Navratilova then lost her serve in the third game but it was only a temporary hiccup.

With Fendick making a succession of errors in the difficult conditions, Navratilova captured the next three games but then at 5-1 failed on her first match point and then lost her serve.

Bodine outraces field for pole position at Miller 400

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — If Brett Bodine can somehow transfer some of the luck and skill from his qualifying efforts to race day, look out Winston Cup series.

Bodine, driving Kenny Bernstein's Ford Thunderbird, came up with his second pole of the season and the fifth of his career on Friday when he took the top qualifying spot for Sunday's Miller Genuine Draft 400 at Michigan International Speedway.

■ Miller 400

The 34-year-old driver, who had won one pole each of the last three seasons, picked up his first of 1992 in April at North Wilkesboro, N.C.

Bodine was the 10th of 42 drivers to make qualifying attempts Friday on the 2-mile, high-banked oval, and his fast lap of 175.456 mph easily stood up for the pole. It also gave Bodine his eighth start in the top six in 14 events this season.

But, the younger brother of Geoff Bodine, has only three top-10 finishes, with seventh the best.

"We'd love to get some of the luck we've had in qualifying moved over to race day," Bodine said. "But hard work makes your own luck and the guys are working night and day to solve the problems that have bit us lately and kept us from finishing races, let alone winning races."

Even though he has been qualifying well — starting second, second and sixth in his last three events — Bodine said he was somewhat surprised to take the Miller 400 pole.

"To be honest with you, we thought (having a spot near the front of the qualifying line) was a disadvantage," Bodine said. "Michigan traditionally slows down after practice, then speeds up as qualifying goes on and the track gets cleaner.

Lopez leads field in Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Nancy Lopez hung on to the lead in the second round of the LPGA Rochester International, shooting a 3-under-par 69 Friday to stay a shot ahead of her three closest pursuers.

Lopez is 9-under at 135 after two trips over the 6,162-yard Locust Hill Country Club course, where she has won three times previously.

■ LPGA Rochester

Beth Daniel, Jenny Lidback and are tied for second.

Lopez, who started the day at 6-under, was 10-under after 17 holes, but missed a 2-foot putt on 18 for bogey.

Lopez chipped in from about 35 feet on the No. 3 and from about 30 feet on the 10th.

"I can't wait to call Ray," she said of her husband, Cincinnati Reds coach Ray Knight. "He always tells me to practice chipping."

Connelly birdied six in a row on the front nine, her back nine, including a 45-foot putt on the par-4 No. 6. Her other birdies were all from less than 15 feet.

Connelly also had birdies on 15 and 16 and bogeys on 3 and 13 to finish with a 66.

"I wish I had another 18 to go," Connelly, who hasn't won in nine years on the tour, said after the round.

Connelly credited the enthusiastic galleries with helping her get "in my zone."

"They're incredible," she said. "You make a putt and they're yelling and screaming. It helps keep your adrenalin up. It helps you stay focused. I love it."

Lidback, who led for three rounds in last week's LPGA Championship before falling apart on the final day, birdied five holes and bogeyed two for a 69.

Ringener falls to ninth in PBA tourney

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — Walter Ray Williams Jr. of Stockton, Calif. moved into the lead by winning six of eight matches Friday in the $125,000 Northwest Classic.

With one round of match play remaining, Williams increased his pinfall to 9,814 as he tries for his third Professional Bowlers Association title of the year and ninth of his career.

Bryan Goebel, a Merriam, Kan. resident who led the first four rounds, dropped to second with 9,639 pins. Goebel hasn't won since 1991 at Riverside, Calif.

Big Spring native Phillip Rineger fell from third to ninth place Friday.

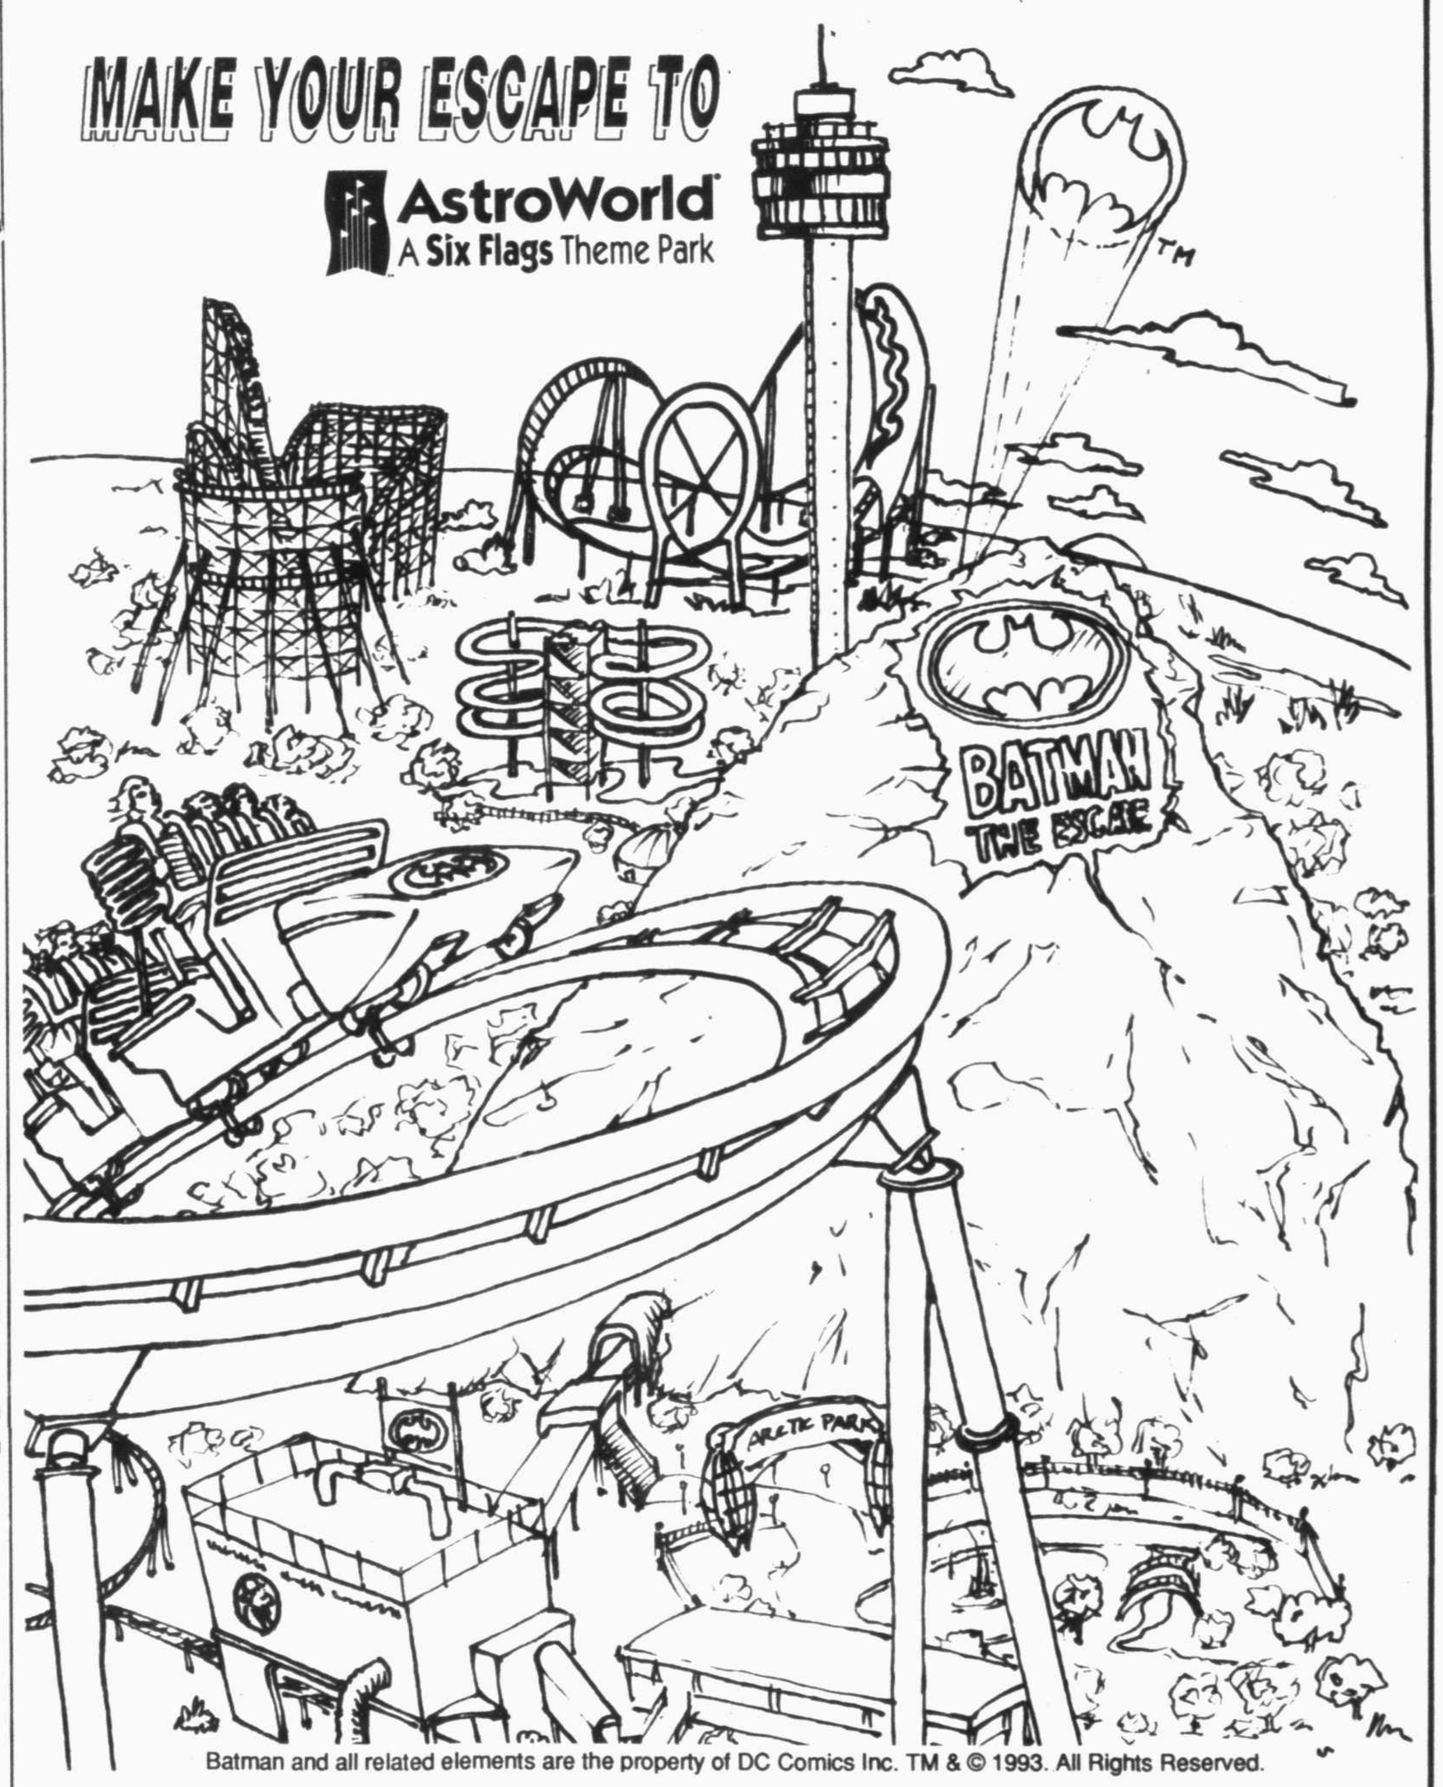

Last year's PBA player of the year, Dave Ferraro of Kingston, N.Y., was fifth with 9,491.

The top five after match play move into Saturday's championship round.

California discovers best relief is a side of Chili

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels' relief pitcher came from the bench, not the bullpen. And when his turn was completed, the crowd roared its approval.

With the Angels on the short end of an astronomical score against the Texas Rangers, Chili Davis, California's 33-year-old designated hitter, made his mound debut.

"I asked for volunteers and Chili volunteered," manager Bob Rodgers said. "Fortunately, getting beat 18-2 is no different than getting beat 2-1."

The 16-run margin was the worst in Angel history. But the final innings of Angel pitching were marvelous.

Davis, who earlier in the night had thrown 15 minutes of batting practice, hurled two hitless innings, marred only by a throw that plunked the Rangers' Jose Canseco on the arm in the ninth.

Davis retired six of the seven batters he faced, throwing just 17 pitches.

Davis and Angel third baseman Rene Gonzales have the best earned run averages of all Angel hurlers this year, both 0.00. Gonzales pitched a perfect 1-2-3 inning recently in another effort to relieve the strain on Angel bullpen arms.

"Rene Gonzales told me just to throw strikes and not try and overpower anyone," Davis said. "I tried to throw everything I could."

Canseco, the right fielder who had a relief appearance of his own go awry recently when the Rangers were being routed by Boston, said batters are serious when they come up in such a situation.

"When the game gets out of line like this, and some guy comes in who's a nonpitcher, you've got to try to boost that average or drive in runs," said Canseco. By getting hit by a pitch, Canseco did boost his on-base percentage.

Prior to Davis's stellar mound work, three Angel pitchers had woeful numbers:

■ Starter Scott Sanderson (7-6) pitched 3 1-3 innings, giving up nine hits and 10 runs, seven of them earned, walking three and striking out three. Sanderson also stared at the home plate umpire on several occasions after close pitches were called balls.

■ Ken Patterson worked 1 1-3 innings, giving up two hits, three walks, four runs and striking out one. He took over in the fourth inning, walked the bases full with two out in the fifth and then gave up a grand slam to Juan Gonzales. Patterson started to argue with home plate umpire Derryl Cousins while Gonzales was circling the bases, and was tossed out before Gonzales reached home plate.

■ Jerry Nielsen also went 1 1-3 innings and gave up four runs on six hits while striking out one.

The lone Angel bullpen member with a good night was Steve Frey, who needed only seven pitches to get through the seventh inning.

Although they have been among the leaders in the American League West, the Angels have had rare effective relief apperances and strong starting performances from just two pitchers: Mark Langston, 8-1, 2.26 ERA; and Chuck Finley, 7-5, 2.92 ERA.

Sanderson had a good start to the season to help the surprising Angels to over first place for several weeks. But Sanderson and John Farrell, with a 2-8 record and 7.09 ERA, have been rocked in recent games.

Farrell was sent to the minors this week to work on his pitching mechanics.

In the meantime, the Angels are turning to a pair of young pitchers in hopes of finding a starter or two.

Former Midland Angel Hilly Hathaway, who has a 7-0 record with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League, was scheduled to pitch against Chicago Friday night. Russ Springer, who has a 4.50 ERA, was scheduled to start Sunday.

2 Patriots stabbed after altercation

BOSTON (AP) — Running back Leonard Russell of the New England Patriots was in guarded but stable condition after he and teammate Tim Edwards were stabbed early Friday following an argument with two men, police said.

Russell was in Massachusetts General Hospital's intensive care unit, hospital spokesman Martin Bander said this morning.

Edwards, a defensive end, was less seriously wounded and was released after treatment.

Russell "had a stab wound under the armpit which went into the chest. Fortunately, it missed the heart, but he did bleed ... fairly seriously," Bander said.

Bander said the hospital wouldn't speculate on whether Russell's ability to play football would be affected.

"We don't know any details of the incident involved," said Dr. Alisdair Conn, who treated both men, "but it looks like they were only stabbed once from the injuries they sustained."

Conn said that for Russell, "Surgery is a possibility. At this time, there is no need for surgery, but should the bleeding recur, surgery will be needed."

Patriots general manager Patrick Forte was confident the players would recover and stood behind them.

"We're confident that both of these players will suffer no ill effects from the injuries and both will be ready for the start of training camp July 15," he said.

"Based on the limited information we have at this time, both of the players are not guilty of any wrongdoing at all," Forte said.

Forte said he had spoken to coach Bill Parcells, but hadn't spoken to Edwards or Russell.

Police said the stabbings took place outside the Harbor Club.

Sgt. Frederick Conley said Russell and Edwards "were outside the club and they were having conversation with a couple of ladies. Two unknown suspects ap proached them and words were exchanged."

Conley, from Boston police operations, said Russell was stabbed first and Edwards was stabbed as he came to Russel's aid. He said after he was stabbed, Edwards went back into the club to seek assistance.

Conley said when police arrivec "they observed that Leonard Russell was injured and he was requesting an ambulance." He saic the two assailants fled and no arrests have been made.

Russell, 23, was drafted by the Patriots in 1991 out of Arizona State.

Edwards, 24, was also a 199i draft pick, out of Delta State.

U.S. charges foul by Chinese on Olympics

BEIJING (AP) — A subcommittee of the U.S. House of Representatives was charged with "wanton interference" by the Chinese Olympic Committee Friday for opposing Beijing's bid to stage the Olympic Games in 2000.

In a statement carried by the official Xinhua News Agency, the Olympic Committee said the subcommittee's opposition "tramples upon Olympic principles."

The resolution passed Thursday by the subcommittee on international security, international organizations and human rights, opposed Beijing's Olympic bid because of China's human rights record. It is expected to be adopted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Beijing's bid could face problems because of human rights abuses by China's authoritarian government, particularly after the military crackdown on the 1989 pro-democracy movement.

Juan Antonio Samaranch, president of the International Olympic Committee, has said human rights will be an important factor in deciding which city gets the Games.

WILL ARNOLD'S 'LAST' STAND?

By John Horn
Associated Press writer

LOS ANGELES — Arnold Schwarzenegger's new movie is crass, violent and often incoherent. Unlike all his other films, though, this one may bomb.

"Last Action Hero" is the summer's most problematic release, and its performance at the box office could have significant repercussions throughout the movie industry.

Critics are blasting the movie, which opened Friday at 2,300 North American theaters, and some notices have been so withering even the chairman of Columbia Pictures has called to complain.

If the $80 million movie flops, it will call into question more than the movie's staggering price tag ($27 million is the industry average). It may force executives not only at Columbia but also at other studios to analyze how big stars can derail projects that once looked good on paper.

By all accounts, the original screenplay for "Last Action Hero," by Zak Penn and Adam Leff, was endearing and original — a novel concept about a young movie fan who enters into the movie he's watching. By the time the script was filmed, however, it had been rewritten several times by other screenwriters into a jagged collage that bears little resemblance to the original screenplay.

The end result is a star vehicle filled with references that celebrate Schwarzenegger's personality. In one scene, the real-life actor and his wife, Maria Shriver, attend the premiere of a movie starring Schwarzenegger's character in "Last Action Hero."

Columbia executives already are conceding that "Last Action Hero" will not debut in first place on the box-office charts. Given that "Terminator" star Schwarzenegger is among the world's top ticket sellers, that's a startling admission — and a testament to the formidable box-office popularity of this season's other action movies.

The Schwarzenegger film was rushed to meet its release date, with the resulting around-the-clock post-production schedule adding significantly to its cost.

"Jurassic Park," which opened to record weekend business of $50.2 million last weekend, has showed no signs of slowing down, and has appeal for all the age groups targeted by "Last Action Hero."

The Steven Spielberg film about rampaging dinosaurs set another mark on Monday with $8.6 million in receipts, and on Tuesday collected another $8.3 million at North American theaters.

Furthermore, Sylvester Stallone's

'Hero' tries too hard to please

By Bob Strauss
N.Y. Times News Service

LOS ANGELES — The last big, loud, ugly thing of the summer, "Last Action Hero" is a case study of how intellectually ambitious material can be botched.

Unlike, say, "Unforgiven's" successfully merciless dissection of the western conventions that built Clint Eastwood's reputation, Arnold Schwarzenegger's sendup of the films that made him rich too often tries to just be a slam-bang crowd pleaser.

■ Review

Which is too bad, because when it's not big, loud and ugly, "Hero" exhibits a self-conscious intelligence rarely seen in these kinds of movies (except the ones Schwarzenegger starred in for wittier directors, like James Cameron's "Terminators" and Paul Verhoeven's "Total Recall").

There are brilliantly conceived, comic set pieces sprinkled amid "Hero's" overwhelming portions of mayhem, sentimentality and bad jokes. But sporadic hilarity can't counterbalance the fact that too much of "Hero" just hits the screen with a thud.

The film's premise can be traced back as far as Buster Keaton's classic "Sherlock, Jr." (1924) and as recently as Woody Allen's "Purple Rose of Cairo" (1985). The dividing line between the "real" world and movies is breached, causing actual people to doubt their sanity and fictional characters to question their very existence.

"Hero's" savvy film fan is 11-year-old Danny Madigan (Austin O'Brien), a fatherless kid whose prime joy in life is watching the ridiculous screen adventures of Schwarzenegger's supercop Jack Slater in a run-down Times Square movie palace.

Soon after Danny's pal, the twinkly old projectionist (Robert Prosky), gives the boy a magic ticket handed down from Houdini, Danny finds himself in the back seat of Slater's careening Pontiac convertible, dodging more weapon-toting bad guys than they've got in Mogadishu.

Danny soon realizes that he's in a world where everything explodes, cops team up with Amazons, rabbis and animated cats, and no matter how much crazier Jack Slater's adventures get, he never gets hurt — or even stays dirty for very long.

It's a full-blown fantasy world where nothing is ever really at stake — except that revving in neutral there for an hour of screen time all but kills "Hero's" momentum.

The gags are all variations on the same joke — aren't action movie conventions dumb? — and director John McTiernan (to say nothing of the army of high-priced Hollywood script doctors who tried to juice up the satire) simply does not have the anarchic sense of humor required to

Bassett, Fishburne tackle tough Turners

EDITOR'S NOTE: UA Cine 4 will host a sneak preview of 'What's Love Got to Do with It' at 7:30 p.m. today. The movie opens Friday.

By Todd Camp
N.Y. Times News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — It's easy making movies about people who are dead.

Was "Chaplin" director Richard Attenborough all that worried that the Little Tramp would rise from the grave to exact revenge for the film's frank portrayal of his carousing with under-age starlets? Probably not.

And no, "Malcolm X" director Spike Lee lost no sleep over his depiction of the volatile Muslim leader's unflagging devotion to a cause, even at the expense of family members. Malcolm himself was in no position to object.

Which is why the filmmakers responsible for "What's Love Got To Do with It" — an unflinching biopic that explores the struggles and rise to fame of pop singer Tina Turner — deserve some respect, if only for having the guts to complete the project. After all, the folks depicted on screen are still among the living

Even working from the autobiography "I, Tina" offered no comfort, considering the rocky marriage that served as the backdrop for Tina Turner's career, not to mention most of the film's action.

The pressure was most intense on the film's main players, who discussed "What's Love Got to do With It" as well as the film's real-life characters during a recent visit in San Francisco.

Angela Bassett, who has gained a great deal of respect and acclaim in Hollywood for knockout performances in "Boyz N the Hood" and "Malcolm X," stars as Tina Turner.

"I certainly appreciated her (Tina's) talent and her beauty growing up," Bassett said. "When I heard there was a possibility that I would be portraying her, I couldn't be anything but humble because I just thought she was so incredible."

Despite Bassett's dedicated performance, she had fewer fears than her co-star, Laurence Fishburne. Fishburne, whose credentials include outstanding efforts in films like "Deep Cover, King of New York" and also "Boyz N the Hood," was faced with the unenviable challenge of playing the abusive, dictatorial Ike Turner, Tina's manager/husband.

Though Ike is still alive and reasonably well, Fishburne said that his preparation for the role felt almost as if the songwriter were no longer around.

"There's not a lot of footage on hand. There's not a lot of tape of his voice. People don't know a lot about him since their breakup. People are really more interested in her," Fishburne said. "So because she was always in the forefront and he was always in the background, I had a little bit more license with the kind of things I could get away with."

Though Bassett said the film's producers didn't want the stars to meet Ike during the filming, the cast and crew received a surprise while shooting at Ike and Tina's former home.

"We were about six weeks into the shoot and there was a rumor going around that he had showed up. But the crew said it was just a rumor. And then the next day, the police were on the set," Fishburne said. "They had like three sheriff's cars. Later that day, I heard again he's around. Ike is here.

"So I went down and there he was. I said, 'Hey, man, where've you been?'

EDITOR'S NOTE: The rating system for the film list: 4 stars — Don't miss it; 3 stars — worth your while; 2 stars — Has it moments; 1 star — if you must.

N.Y. Times News Service

THE ADVENTURES OF HUCK FINN: Kiddie version of the Mark Twain Mississippi classic, with the key kid miscast. Elijah Wood is too young, bland and moppety to convince as the rangy, peculiar-talking, adolescent adventurer. Courtney B. Vance is much better as Huck's river raftmate, the escaped slave Jim; he brings dignity to a potentially negative stereotype, and comes off fully human to boot. PG. Rating: 2 stars

CLIFFHANGER: Truly spectacular stunts, camerawork and special effects are nearly wasted on this stone dumb, Alpine adventure. Sylvester Stallone battles John Lithgow's murderous thieves at 12,000 feet. Director Renny Harlin ("Die Hard 2") piles on the virtuoso, ridiculous action, but the effects of oxygen deprivation are only apparent when somebody tries to speak coherently. R. Rating: 2½ stars

COP AND A HALF: Insultingly stupid story about a kid who witnesses a murder, but won't share his evidence with the police until they make him a cop-for-a-day. Burt Reynolds stars as the gruff, kid-hating cop assigned to take care of the youngster. High jinks ensue. PG. Rating: 1 star

DAVE: Pleasantly polished comedy starring Kevin Kline as a venal president and the likable Everyguy recruited to stand in for him when he suffers a stroke. The trouble starts when he actually starts making the world a better place to live. Director Ivan Reitman has crafted a smart and breezy entertainment with a terrific cast — Sigourney Weaver, Frank Langello and Charles Grodin co-star. PG. Rating: 3 stars

GUILTY AS SIN: Rebecca de Mornay plays a high-powered attorney defending figurative and literal ladykiller Don Johnson in this no-brainer thriller directed by Sidney Lumet. This is the kind of movie you spend either laughing or wanting to scream at characters who fall prey to every dopey cliche of the genre. R. Rating: 1 star

HOMEWARD BOUND: THE INCREDIBLE JOURNEY: A remake of the Disney nature adventure, in which two dogs and a cat travel through the wilderness to get back to their owners. This time, the animals sound like Michael J. Fox, Sally Field and Don Ameche. More comic than the original, but with the same, kid-pleasing blend of action and maudlin sentimentality. G. Rating: 3 stars

HOT SHOTS! PART DEUX: A pumped-up Charlie Sheen, a now-presidential Lloyd Bridges and Saddam Hussein are back in this latest action-movie parody. Instead of "Top Gun," they're mostly sending up "Rambo" this time, and the results are arguably funnier than the pretty witty first flight. It's also a good-looking movie — better than most of the allegedly serious "Rambo" knockoffs — if limited, as all these things are, by its barrage of jokes' variable humor. PG-13. Rating: 3 stars

JURASSIC PARK: Steven Spielberg's dino-spectacular is not the religious experience many expected, but it's a pretty good, sci-fi chase movie. Something

HERO: Star cameos dot crowd scenes

(From 1C)

make it very funny.

Admittedly, there are only a handful of directors on Earth who could handle the material's physical and special-effects demands, and McTiernan ("Die Hard," "The Hunt for Red October") is one of them.

But so is Bob Zemeckis ("Who Framed Roger Rabbit," the "Back to the Future" trilogy), Joe Dante ("Gremlins") and the aforementioned Cameron and Verhoeven, all of whom would seem to have personalities more in tune with "Hero's" wise-guy agenda.

Things do improve once boy and hero have to chase the film's prime villain, Benedict (Charles Dance), back to "real" Manhattan, where Benedict is delighted to learn that he can shoot pedestrians with no police interference, and Slater is shocked to discover that bullets hurt. Things reach a deliriously post-modern pinnacle when Slater has to save the actor who plays him — Schwarzenegger — from an assassination attempt at the glitzy premiere of "Jack Slater IV."

Give Schwarzenegger credit; for all the reverential self-referencing implicit in "Hero's" concept, he lampoons his image mercilessly throughout this uproarious sequence. Criticized from start to finish by his real-life wife, Maria Shriver (one among dozens of celebrities such as Sharon Stone, Chevy Chase and Jean-Claude Van Damme who make "Player"-like, bit and cameo appearances in the movie), Arnold as Arnold nonetheless lives up to his worst reputation as a tireless, money-loving Promoter-nator.

It's a scream. "Hero's" only other comparably funny moment involves Laurence Olivier's widow, Joan Plowright, as a teacher trying to interest her bored class in Olivier's great film version of "Hamlet." Of course, at one point Sir Larry morphs into Arnold, who naturally has no problem at all solving the "To be or not to be" conundrum.

The film exposes its underlying smarts when stuff like this takes over from all of the overproduced ultra-violence (this is the kind of PG-13 movie in which even nuns brandish automatic weapons), arcane industry in-jokes and attempts to get us emotionally involved with characters who are purposely too cartoonish for us to care about anyway.

But the tonal control on "Hero" is so fundamentally out of whack that even some of its smart gags fall flat, such as when Death (Ian McKellen) floats out of Ingmar Bergman's "The Seventh Seal" and onto the streets of New York. "Bill & Ted's Bogus Journey" did it funnier — which is the most damning summation of everything that's wrong with "Last Action Hero" one can imagine in this or any other world.

LOVE: Stars hope film earns Tina due respect

(From 1C)

And he said, 'I've been everywhere,'" Fishburne continued. "Then he said, 'What are you doing?' 'I'm trying to be you.' He said, 'Oh, OK. Do a good job.' And that was pretty much it."

It is the turbulent and often violent relationship between Ike and Tina that serves as the core for "What's Love Got to Do With It." The Turners' explosive domestic life provides the film's most stirring and memorable scenes, moments that weren't easy for the actors.

"I can't help but think that their coming together has, of course, had an impact ... on who they were and the type of person that she is because she survived that relationship," Bassett said. "I think she was probably a strong person from the beginning, but even stronger because she had to survive those kind of odds. It was great to delve into and to try to understand from a human nature point of view."

Before Fishburne agreed to do the part, he said he made the filmmakers promise to provide more of a reason for Ike Turner's viciousness.

"He's got a history, and he's got pain. He's got all these things that happened to him to make him the way he is," Fishburne said. "I went to them (the filmmakers) and asked them, 'If I do this, you gotta let me change some things. You gotta give this guy some kind of humanity, at least.' I don't care if people like him or don't like him, as long as they can understand him a little bit."

Both Fishburne and Bassett have no doubt that Ike won't be pleased with his big-screen adaptation, but both say that they're sure he will use it to his advantage while trying to launch a comeback this summer.

But it's the staying power of Tina Turner and her ability to survive despite the odds that account for the film's main message, a message in which both stars believe.

"I think people are going 'Why Tina Turner?' Why? I mean she's loved and adored across the globe, probably more so in Europe then she is here," Bassett said.

"Americans really don't appreciate what we have sometimes," Fishburne added. "Historically, that's been true. We just don't appreciate what we have."

goes wrong at an island amusement park whose main attraction is genetically engineered, live dinosaurs. The big lizards, realized by a superb combination of full-sized robots and computer-generated graphics, have infinitely more charisma than their underwritten human prey, played by Sam Neill, Laura Dern, Jeff Goldblum and Richard Attenborough. PG-13. Rating: 3 stars.

LIFE WITH MIKEY: Unassuming comedy about a former child star-turned-kiddie talent agent (Michael J. Fox) who discovers a pint-sized pickpocket. Fox, newcomer Christina Vidal, a fine supporting cast (including Cyndi Lauper as a ditzy secretary) and not-too-much-nonsense direction from James Lapine make a fairly routine tale enjoyable for kids and adults alike. PG. Rating: 2½ stars

MADE IN AMERICA: A one-joke, mixup-at-the-sperm-bank movie should not be as funny as this Whoopi Goldberg-Ted Danson vehicle is. It shouldn't get as sappy in the stretch as this mildly subversive, unfortunately platitudinous social sex farce does, either. Laugh out loud for an hour, then leave. PG. Rating 2½ stars

THE SANDLOT: Slackly written and poorly directed reverie over how baseball brings a group of disparate boys together in the summer of '62. Kids may enjoy some of the high jinks, but parents wilJ have to really love their progeny to sit through this. PG. Rating: 2 stars

SLIVER: All slicked up with no place to go. Novelist Ira Levin had far better luck with bad-luck buildings in "Rosemary's Baby." This alleged adaptation (by "Basic Instinct's" Joe Eszterhas) stars Sharon Stone as a New York book editor whose new apartment building has a heck of a view — and a hell of a fatal-accident rate among the tenants. As soon as she moves in, she's pursued by two neighbors — macho blocked writer, Tom Beringer, and whisper-voiced video game designer, William Baldwin. But which one is the high-tech peeping tom who's re-wired the whole high-rise for video? And is he the same guy who's been murdering the folks in 23-A and 20-C? About halfway through, the movie simply disappears, turning into discarded bits from, well, "Basic Instinct." Poor Stone moans mightily when it's required of her, but to little effect. Think of this over-hyped nonsense as sex, yawns and videotape. R. Rating: 2½ stars

SUPER MARIO BROS.: Super is hardly the word, unless your idea of a good time is being trapped in an overcrowded video game arcade. The movie version of the popular Nintendo game offers all the frenzy and noise and none of the appeal or challenge of its video model. Set in what's best described as the Disney version of "Blade Runner," this hectic, empty and quite expensive exercise in kiddie-marketing stars Bob Hoskins and John Leguizamo as the indomitable plumbers who vault into a parallel universe to rescue a princess (Samantha Mathis). The place is ruled by evil King Koopa (Dennis Hopper, coasting) who wants to meld his dimension with ours ("Cool World" anyone?). The special effects are occasionally diverting — especially the Goombas, giant reptilian pinheads — but for the most part, this is a lot of sound and fury and promotional tie-ins, signifying nothing but a waste of time and money. PG. No rating.

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES III: More of the same, only more confusing. Writer-/director Stuart Gillard, thinking he'll go artsy on us and make a reptilian "Yojimbo," slapped together this muddle concerning time travel, 17th-century Japan, corrupt gunrunners, social rebellion and bonding with kids. PG-13. Rating: 1½ stars

UNFORGIVEN: Clint Eastwood's finest achievement is an unflinching examination of the price paid for violence and other dysfunctions of the American character. Finally giving a soul and a fate to his Man With No Name, the director plays a decrepit ex-gunslinger out to earn one last bounty. R. Rating: 4 stars

'Menace II Society' offers brutal truth

By Stephen Holden
N.Y. Times News Service

In the riveting opening scene of "Menace II Society," a tense transaction between a Korean grocer and two young black men in South-Central Los Angeles explodes into lethal violence.

Caine (Tyrin Turner), a high school senior who lives with his grandparents, has gone out to buy some beers with his volatile sidekick O-Dog (Larenz Tate).

When the grocer mutters an insult, O-Dog goes ballistic, pulls a gun and shoots him in the head. Running to the back of the store, he kills the grocer's wife and seizes the store's surveillance tape.

Later in the film he boastfully plays and replays it for his friends, freeze-framing the video at the moment the grocer's brains are blown out.

Filmed in a jerky cinema verite style, the opening scene has the jarring immediacy of a television news flash enhanced with expressionistic camera angles and color.

This aura of front-line reportage informed by an action-comics visual flair defines the tone of the movie, which disturbingly blurs the line between brutal slice-of-life realism and sensationalistic gore.

What is clear, however, is that "Menace II Society," which was directed by the Hughes Brothers, 21-year-old twins who were born in Detroit and whose previous credits include music videos for Digital Underground and KRS-One, is a very flashy debut.

Where earlier films with similar settings, like John Singleton's "Boyz N the Hood" and Matty Rich's "Straight Out of Brooklyn," have offered a somber, almost elegiac view of inner-city life, "Menace II Society" has a manic energy and at times a lyricism that recall movies like "Mean Streets" and "Bonnie and Clyde."

More acutely than any movie before, it gives cinematic expression to the hot-tempered, defiantly nihilistic ethos that ignites gangster rap.

The film, which is narrated in fits and starts by Caine, is both an autobiography and a jumpy, impromptu guided tour of teen-age life in the Watts district of Los Angeles.

In its blunt, awkward way, it also tries to hammer home some political points. The opening scene of slaughter is followed by grainy flashbacks to the 1965 Watts riots. In the most inflammatory scene — one that seems gratuitously inserted into the film — Caine and his friend Sharif (Vonte Sweet) are pulled off the street and into the back of a police car, beaten up by white policemen and dumped on the sidewalk in a Latino neighborhood where they presumably could be executed by rival gang leaders.

Among the film's most powerful scenes are lurid, dreamlike flashbacks to Caine's childhood, when his father was a drug dealer and his mother a heroin addict.

In an apartment drenched in red light, the boy witnesses his father casually shooting a crony during a card game in an argument over money. By the time Caine is a teen-ager, both parents are dead, and he lives with upright Christian grandparents whose biblical sermonizing has no impact on him.

"Menace II Society" follows Caine's irreversible plunge into deeper levels of violence the summer after his high school graduation. After rival gang members ambush him and a cousin while they are sitting in a car, killing the cousin and wounding Caine, he and his posse wreak lethal revenge at a burger stand.

Caine's only hope of salvation lies in Ronnie (Jada Pinkett), the girlfriend of Pernell (Glenn Plummer), Caine's imprisoned mentor. With Pernell's blessing, she invites him to start a new life with her in Atlanta, where she has the promise of a decent job.

The rest of the movie becomes a race against time: Whether Caine, who is now a killer and who has impregnated another woman, can survive the streets of Los Angeles before the lovers can make their escape.

The screenplay, which was written by Tyger Williams from a story he wrote with the Hughes brothers, is little more than a jerry-built mechanical contrivance on which to hang a series of searing pictures of inner-city life.

But the film's crackling ensemble acting, which involves a good deal of improvisation, gives a number of those scenes an intense, painful believability.

Sequences in which Caine and his posse hang out and toy with guns, drinking beer and spouting an endless litany of sullen profanities, offer a convincing close-up picture of a generation of black teen-agers lost in inner-city hell.

"Menace II Society" is rated R. It has almost non-stop profanity and several scenes of extreme, graphic violence.

ARNOLD: Opening two weekends key to profit

(From 1C)

"Cliffhanger," which opened on May 28, continues to perform very well with action audiences.

Meanwhile, advance ticket sales for "Last Action Hero" are lagging well behind what "Jurassic Park" totaled prior to its opening weekend.

Some exhibitors already are comparing it to "Howard the Duck," the titanic 1986 flop.

"Last Action Hero" is rated PG-13 in an attempt to broaden the film's popularity. The movie is still rife with four-letter words, however, and the body count runs well into the dozens.

One pre-teen at a Tuesday press preview became hysterical when a "Last Action Hero" villain threw a young boy off the roof of a tall building.

In the John McTiernan-directed film, Schwarzenegger, who was paid $15 million for the role, stars as Jack Slater, a rough-and-tumble police officer in a movie watched by a young Slater fan named Danny Madigan (newcomer Austin O'Brien).

With the help of a magic movie ticket, Madigan is able to enter the movie in which Slater seems to be tracking down some sort of crime ring, although this plot point is unclear.

Like "Jurassic Park," the movie is supported by promotional tie-ins. Instead of the "dino-sized" meals at MacDonald's, "Last Action Hero" has a Burger King "action cup." Where "Jurassic Park" has Kenner dinosaurs, the Schwarzenegger film has Mattel action figures.

The movie also has a variety of "synergistic" spinoffs, such as a heavy-metal soundtrack from Columbia Pictures sister company Sony Music and a video game. All of that may not matter if audiences don't go see the movie.

Yet Columbia has its reasons to be optimistic. Schwarzenegger's "Terminator 2: Judgment Day" was the highest-grossing release of 1991 and "Total Recall" played very well in 1990.

"This is about timing," said Mark Gill, Columbia's senior vice president for publicity and promotion. "'Jurassic Park' is — let's face it — the biggest opening in movie history. So good for them, and it expands the marketplace. 'Jurassic' clearly is looking like it's going to hold on strongly. But there is plenty of room for both movies to do very well."

Columbia expects "Last Action Hero" to gross about $20 million in its first weekend. The real test, however, will come next weekend, when the film's word of mouth begins to spread.

If the film makes more than $80 million in domestic theaters, it could still break even through home video and international sales. If the gross is lower than that, Columbia will lose.

Universal Studios, which released "Jurassic Park," is paying particularly close attention to "Last Action Hero."

"I have half of Arnold Schwarzenegger's next movie and all of his movie after that, and I have John McTiernan's next movie," says Tom Pollock, chairman of Universal parent MCA Motion Picture Group.

"So while we are all competitive, I am not interested in their failing. I am really only interested in my succeeding. I want to succeed more than they succeed. I want them to do well, but not nearly as well as me."

DRINKING WATER OUT OF A ROCK?

WHEN MOSES LED ISRAEL OUT OF THE WILDERNESS, THEY RAN OUT OF WATER. THE PEOPLE SAID THEY WOULD RATHER HAVE DIED IN EGYPT THAN TO PERISH IN THIS ARID LAND. MOSES AND AARON TOOK THE PROBLEM TO GOD. HE ORDERED MOSES TO SPEAK TO THE ROCK BEFORE THE PEOPLE AND THERE WOULD BE SUFFICIENT WATER FOR BOTH MAN AND BEAST. WHAT WOULD YOU DO UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES? WOULD YOU ACTUALLY ASK FOR A ROCK TO GIVE YOU WATER? MOSES DID! (NUMBERS 20:11) MOSES LIFTED HIS EYES AND SMOTE THE ROCK AND THE WATER GUSHED FORTH.

Bishops to discuss sexual abuse

It is difficult to imagine a convention of 250 unmarried men where the great danger is that sex will go insufficiently discussed. But many people fear that could happen next week when the country's Roman Catholic bishops gather in New Orleans for the semiannual meeting of their national conference.

At a two-day meeting, the bishops have scheduled a little less than an hour to talk about the problem gnawing at the reputation and morale of the American Catholic Church: sexual abuse of minors by priests. In a crowded agenda, that issue will compete with questions like "what is the right age for receiving the sacrament of Confirmation" and "when should masculine pronouns be retained for God" — topics that soak up episcopal energies like blotting paper.

There remains hope that this time the bishops will take some decisive action. It is a hope voiced by victims of molesting priests, by the vast majority of Catholic priests who feel the shadow of suspicion cast on their life's work, by parishioners whose confidence in church leadership is giving way to cynicism, indeed by practically everybody except, perhaps, a few talk-show hosts.

The Personal Progress Program, which culminates with the receipt of the Young Womanhood Recognition Award, begins at 12. It is a goal-oriented incentive program.

In order to receive the award, Miss Grandy had to complete at least eight goals in each of seven values. African-Americans founded historic Fort Worth church

By Jim Jones
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH — Fort Worth was a cattle center and outpost on the Chisholm Trail in 1868 when a small group of former slaves began meeting in homes and formed the Morning Chapel Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

Many of the African-Americans who formed the congregation, known as the "Old Rock Church on the Corner," are thought to have been cowboys and drovers involved in the cattle business, said Gertrude Johnson, who has delved into her church's history.

"An estimated one-third of the 35,000 men who drove cattle along the Shawnee, Chisholm, Western and other trails in 1867 were blacks who had learned roping and branding as slaves," she says in a history of the church.

Other African-Americans were drawn to frontier Fort Worth as they sought new opportunities, Johnson said.

The pioneer church recently observed its 125th anniversary.

With limited funds the congregation first purchased property for a frame structure at Sixth and Crump streets. It was replaced by a rock building in 1884, Johnson said.

But when the Cotton Belt Railroad came through in 1907, the line bought the church's original site. The building was dismantled and rebuilt at the church's present site at Third Street and Crump, Johnson said.

Norvelle Stewart, 80, has attended the church since his infancy.

"It was back in the horse and buggy days that I first remember coming here to church," Stewart said. "There were no cars. My father drove us to church in a buggy from the South Side."

The Rev. W.E. Stone, pastor for 14 years, said Morning Chapel, which has about 500 members, spawned five other Fort Worth congregations and also set up one of the first schools for African-American children inside its walls.

Businesses and residential areas surrounded the church.

"That area was the center of black Fort Worth at one time," Stone said, noting that some members are attempting to designate it as a historical district.

'We petitioned to get out of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1866, a year after slavery ended, so we could have some freedom of religious expression.'

—Rev. W.E. Stone

The Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, which has 1 million members in the United States, Africa, the Caribbean and elsewhere, was created out of the old, predominantly white Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1870, Stone said.

Before slaves were freed, blacks who were part of the Methodist Episcopal Church South worshiped with their masters in segregated services. African-American were required to sit in balconies or other sections apart from white worshipers, Stone said.

"We petitioned to get out of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1866, a year after slavery ended, so we could have some freedom of religious expression," the pastor said. Now the denomination, originally called Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, operated five colleges, including Texas College in Tyler.

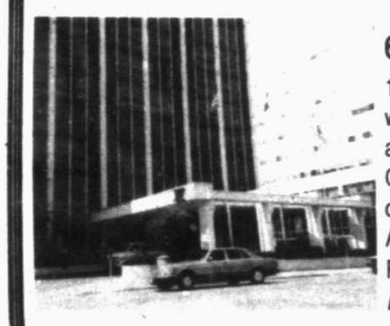

Throughout its history, the denomination, like other predominantly African-American religious groups, has been active in civil-rights efforts.

As a student at the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, Ga., Stone marched with civil-rights leader Martin Luther King, Jr. in the Georgia capital; and in Albany, Ga.; Birmingham, Ala.; and other locations.

Much emphasis is placed on education. The Morning Chapel congregation has a free citywide tutoring program each Saturday, Stone said.

The congregation was a part of the early history of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1993

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Self-discipline is the key to progress. You need your associates and partners more than you realize. Do your regular work, but also take time to plan for the future. A windfall is possible in the fall. Use the extra income to catch up on bills and reduce interest charges. In early 1994, good health depends on changing your eating habits permanently. Exercise self-restraint. Travel for pleasure whenever you can.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: singer Paula Abdul, actress Kathleen Turner, movie critic Pauline Kael, baseball legend Lou Gehrig.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): An attractive member of the opposite sex is eager for a commitment. You may not be ready! A close friend or relative helps you reach an important decision. Your spirits soar.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A trip could provide a wonderful diversion today. Both business and romance beckon. A phone call brings good news from a faraway loved one. Give a partner a second chance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Self-doubts disappear when you end a second-class relationship. Put your needs first for once. Use your great inner strength to pursue your goals with confidence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A one-on-one meeting may not be as much fun as joining a group. New friends help you and your mate loosen up and relax. Do more socializing as a couple.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A tense alliance may not be worth all the stress it causes. A party or movie will help you relax. The love boat could enter an exotic port of call tonight. Go slow.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The load you have been carrying may suddenly seem too much to handle. Set chores aside while you relax and recharge your batteries. Take an armchair trip — read or watch a video.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Look for constructive ways to chase away the blues. A regular exercise program will work wonders! Greater candor will improve a parent-child relationship immeasurably.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Romance is in the air. A major change could occur in a primary alliance. Be more tolerant of other people's foibles. Faraway, exciting developments are taking shape.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Unwind at home this weekend. A rich appreciation of life and an invigorating sense of freedom give this day a rosy glow. Vote "no" on a joint expenditure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Creative outlets such as art and music pump you up. Entertaining your co-workers proves both fun and smart. Postpone a big-ticket purchase until you have more money in the bank.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): An aura of success surrounds you now; know this and speak with self-assurance. Your upbeat mood is contagious. Romance will heat up if you take the lead.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A day for long walks and great talks. Mate could become annoyed if a friend hangs around too much. Take the hint. Remember, three's a crowd when it comes to romance.

TODAY'S CHILDREN possess a terrific combination of inventiveness and curiosity that will serve them well in both school and business. Born communicators, they make very persuasive lawyers or agents. Although these Geminis need only a few intimates, they keep their pals for life. Intuitive and observant, they make up their minds quickly about new people and situations. Once they have decided on an objective, nothing will deter them!

'Gonzo' journalist criticizes city's consultation with Disney

ASPEN, Colo.— Hunter S. Thompson's fear and loathing was showing this week.

He sent a fax to Mayor John Bennett, criticizing Aspen's consultation with Disney Corp. over a highway entrance redesign.

Thompson

"Why don't you call Jim and Tammy Faye for advice on Aspen's new entrance? You will go down in architectural history with Albert Speer," Thompson wrote, invoking the names of televangelists Jim and Tammy Bakker and the Nazi architect all in one fax.

"Maybe you should lay off the booze. Good luck. Hunter."

City officials took it in stride.

"I laughed so hard when I got the fax I started crying," said City Manager Amy Margerum.

Bennett responded by fax: "Hunter, you evil swine, we've got a train with mouse ears rolling right for you."

The "gonzo" journalist lives in nearby Woody Creek.

Aspen is examining ways to improve traffic flow at its heavily traveled west entrance, which for most of the year is the only way in and out of town. Aspen officials informally asked some of the town's wealthy part-time residents for help, and Michael Eisner, chairman of Disney Corp., volunteered some Disney staff time for the project.

PORTLAND, Maine — Former President Bush, looking tan and fit, said he's enjoying life as a retiree.

"If you think it's hard to adjust after 30 years in public life, you're wrong," he said Thursday night at a reception at the Portland Museum of Art.

"I'm having a wonderful private life right down the coast," said Bush, who has a summer home in nearby Kennebunkport.

Bush's wife, Barbara, also atttended the party for "The Maine Collection," a new cookbook published by the Portland Museum of Art Guild. The book includes recipes from Mrs. Bush for baked beans and cole slaw.

Bush said he found it "a joy to be back amongst friends. I have no bitterness. And no intention of criticizing my successor. He has a tough job to do."

PHILADELPHIA — Sen. Arlen Specter is out of a hospital after surgery to remove a brain tumor. He had a few things to say about his appearance.

"I do not challenge Yul Brynner in appearance. Nor do I look like Michael Jordan or Charles Barkley. But my head is shaved," Specter said Friday at a news conference as he left the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

The three-term Pennsylvania Republican's head was bandaged and the upper part of his face was red and swollen.

Spector was operated on Monday as doctors removed a 2-inch tumor. Tests later determined the growth was benign, said Dr. Eugene Flamm, who headed the surgical team.

BOSTON — Wilma Mankiller, principal chief of the Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma, was in good condition after surgery for unspecified abdominal pains, a Cherokee spokeswoman said.

Mankiller, 47, who in 1985 became the first woman chief of a major Indian tribe, was discharged Thursday from the New England Deaconess Hospital.

Tribal and hospital officials wouldn't disclose Mankiller's illness.

NEW YORK — Bianca Jagger, who last month brought a desperately ill 8-year-old Bosnian boy out of his besieged town to have his heart repaired, said she would like to adopt the child but realizes he must return home.

"I have a moral obligation to see he gets back" home to Tuzla, Jagger said Thursday at Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital, where surgeons patched a hole in Muhamed Ribic's heart on June 3.

Muhamed was discharged Friday and will live with Jagger in her Manhattan apartment until his six-month visa runs out.

Another child Jagger tried to bring to safety under British military escort died in the town of Split in the former Yugoslavia.

Jagger, once married to rock star Mick Jagger, has since arranged for two more children to be brought out.

"These children know three words of English: America, good and helicopter," she said. "Even to little children, America is the promised land."

LOS ANGELES — A&M Records chairman Jerry Moss and vice-chairman Herb Alpert said Friday they are leaving the company they founded more than three decades ago.

The two said in a statement that the departure was amicable and they were leaving to pursue other interests.

"It's been 31 miraculous years, and it's time to move on," said Albert, best known as the trumpeter leading the band Tijuana Brass.

In 1990, A&M was sold for about $500 million by Alpert and Moss to PolyGram. Alpert and Moss are going to work for Rondor Music International.

Prosecutor: Law too weak for driver who killed four

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — State law isn't strong enough for a cocaine-using motorist who rammed a family of beach goers, says the prosecutor and the woman who lost her husband and three daughters.

"I would like to see that law changed and I'll do anything I can," Bruce Tharpe, assistant Cameron County district attorney, said Friday.

At issue is the state's involuntary manslaughter statute, which says offenders will serve concurrent sentences if more than one victim dies from a single reckless act.

Tharpe prosecuted Eluid George, a 19-year-old Los Indios resident who received a 10-year prison term Thursday for a Feb. 13 accident that killed Noe Vasquez, 39, and his daughters, Celena, 12, Nalia, 9, and Nadia, 5.

George's sentence would have been no different had he been convicted of killing all four or just one, Tharpe said.

"I would like to see consecutive sentences for each death caused by the wrongful act," Tharpe said.

Investigators said George had cocaine in his system and was speeding at 50 mph upon impact into the Vasquez family pickup on Andy Bowie Beach on South Padre Island.

"It bothers me about what happened. Sometimes I can't sleep at night. I just can't find the words in me," George told the judge. "I know I did something very wrong. I'm just very sorry."

George was charged with involuntary manslaughter in only two of the four deaths, but Tharpe said he won't press the other cases because the punishment won't change.

George was fined $5,000 for each of the two counts. As a condition of his future eligibility of parole, District Judge Robert Garza ordered him to pay restitution of $85,000.

Leticia Vasquez, the wife and mother of the victims, said the punishment was too light.

"He just going to get out and do it again. And the money is not even worth one of my daughter's lives. It's not going to bring them back," she said.

Mrs. Vasquez and her son, Noe Jr., 13, were hospitalized after the accident.

"The Vasquez family has been totally devastated. I don't think there is anything you can say or do," Judge Garza told George. "If I could, I'd probably lock you up for a long time."

George will be eligible for parole after serving one year in prison.

Longview mayor accepts appointment to treasurey

AUSTIN (AP) — Longview Mayor Martha Whitehead accepted appointment as the new state treasurer Friday, promising to make the agency more efficient and saying she would run for the office in 1994.

Ms. Whitehead, 52, a Democrat, was named by Gov. Ann Richards to succeed Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison. Mrs. Hutchison was elected June 5 to the U.S. Senate.

"She is a dynamic leader," Richards said. "As the mayor of Longview, she has proven that she knows how to make government work."

Ms. Whitehead has been mayor since 1991. She was elected to the Longview City Council in 1987 and 1990.

In accepting the appointment, Ms. Whitehead pledged to streamline treasury operations.

"I intend to work to protect the financial strength of this state and maximize its earnings for the taxpayers of Texas," she said. "I have learned that government must do more with less if we are truly to serve our people."

She stopped short, however, of endorsing Comptroller John Sharp's recent suggestion that the agency be abolished.

"I believe that cost-cutting measures can be enacted, duplication of services can be eliminated and greater efficiencies can be achieved. But I believe the treasurer has a valid role to play in state government," she said.

Ms. Whitehead said she had talked with Sharp "and asked for his input in my efforts to make the treasury a model of efficiency."

A native of Pittsburgh, Texas, Ms. Whitehead is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Southern Methodist University with a master's degree from East Texas State.

She is vice president of the Good Shepherd Medical Center, and has served on the East Texas State board of regents and the Texas Municipal League board. She and her husband, lawyer R. Laughton Whitehead Jr., have three children.

Ms. Whitehead's appointment gives Democrats six of the seven top statewide offices.

She said she would seek election to a full, four-year term as treasurer next year, but that running wasn't a requirement for receiving the appointment.

"The governor did not place any conditions on my taking the job," she said.

The governor, who served two terms as treasurer herself, said she told Ms. Whitehead what to expect in a statewide office.

"I wanted somebody that I knew was going to be high-energy. I knew that Martha would do that. I explained to her what it takes. It takes a total commitment of all your time," Richards said.

As for the upcoming campaign, she said, "I wanted someone who could hit the ground running and who literally would be all over this state. Martha's got a selling job to do. She has to be good over at the treasury, and she also has to be good on the (campaign) trail. I think she will be."

Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle agreed, calling Ms. Whitehead "a great candidate."

"She's smart, she's articulate, she's a hard worker. She's done a great job at that hospital. She's obviously done a very good job for the city of Longview," Slagle said.

Report: Former state legislator commits suicide

FORT WORTH (AP) — Former state Rep. Robert "Bob" Ware was found dead Thursday, apparently from a self-inflicted gunshot wound, officials said.

The 36-year-old lawyer and insurance executive was found in the bedroom of his apartment with a single gunshot wound to in his head and a .357 Magnum in his left hand.

A final autopsy ruling has not been issued, but family members said Thursday that Ware took his own life.

"I will tell you that it is a suicide. A self-inflicted gunshot wound," said his brother, George Ware, adding that relatives did not know why Robert Ware would kill himself.

Ware, a graduate of the University of Texas and the University of Houston Law School, served in the Texas House from 1979 to 1983. He was the youngest member of the Legislature when elected.

Services for Ware were scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday at Brown, Gause-Ware Owens & Brumley Funeral Home.

Officials question shootings suspect

HOUSTON (AP) — A 23-year-old Houston man was questioned Friday by police in the random shootings that have plagued west Houston highways since early May.

"He is a prime suspect," said John Leggio, a Houston Police Department spokesman. The name of the man, who was arrested on unrelated charge, was not released by police Friday.

No charges in either the shooting or the other warrant had been filed by Friday afternoon, Leggio said.

Since police began counting the shooting incidents May 11, 65 reports have been filed with the department through last Friday, said Leggio.

No serious injuries have been reported, since the pellet or air gun shootings began on May 4.

The investigation into the shootings, which occur mostly on Interstate 10 and other west Houston freeways, is ongoing, Leggio said.

Koresh never signed his will, attorney says

HOUSTON (AP) — There are no surprises or odd requests in the unsigned will cult leader David Koresh left behind, just a request that his children receive his assets, his lawyer said.

The 18-page document made no requests for burial or arrangements for his self-prophesied resurrection, Houston attorney Dick DeGuerin said.

Koresh died with nearly 80 of his Branch Davidian followers April 19 when a fire destroyed their compound outside Waco. The blaze ended a 51-day standoff that began Feb. 28 when federal agents tried to raid the compound.

The Houston Post reported Friday the will names his wife, Rachel, and the wife of his top lieutenant, Judy Schneider, as co-trustees until the children reach their 21st birthdays.

The list of children, who may have numbered as many as 19, was never filled in, the newspaper reported.

DeGuerin, who went inside the compound during the siege, said Koresh had read a draft of his will and asked for clerical revisions but did not have a chance to sign a version before his death.

Other documents included a living trust, under which Koresh apparently intended to give all his property to his children when he surrendered to authorities, DeGuerin said.

The living trust listed the same trustees and his worldly possessions, which included $65,000 to $75,000 in cash, any proceeds from book, TV, movie or music royalties, vehicles, guitars, studio equipment and furnishings and real estate in Palestine, Texas, once used by Koresh and his followers.

The fire destroyed the cash, guitars, studio and most furnishings.

The 77 acres at Mount Carmel are deeded to the General Association of Davidian Seventh-Day Adventists.

Potential movie, TV and book rights, which were also to pay DeGuerin's attorney fees, were never negotiated.

The bulk of his remaining estate is likely to be a few motorcycles, trucks, tractors and Koresh's beloved Camaro, all of which have been impounded by McLennan County authorities, the Post said.

DeGuerin said that because Koresh did not sign the documents and thus died without a will, his estate will be available first to his surviving children under Texas law.

Although up to 17 children thought to be fathered by Koresh died at Mount Carmel, two are known to survive.

Robyn Bunds of California has a 6-year-old son, Shawn, and a Fort Worth-area woman has a 13-year-old daughter.

Montana authorities capture escaped prisoner from Texas

YAAK, Mont. (AP) — An escaped federal prisoner from Texas, known as the Ranger Bandit, has been captured peacefully in a remote corner of the Montana mountains.

U.S. marshals from Great Falls and Helena, masquerading as campers and fishermen, staked out the Yaak Mercantile last week. It has one of the few public phones in the remote Yaak Valley of northwestern Montana.

When Steven P. Benifiel walked out of the woods to use the phone last weekend, the marshals were waiting.

"He didn't say much of anything," U.S. Marshal Don Combs told the Great Falls Tribune. "We asked him if he was Steven Benifiel and he said, 'Yes I am.' We told him he was under arrest. We asked him if he knew what for and he said yes."

Benifiel was serving 12 years on federal drug charges in a South Dakota prison camp when he escaped in May. Combs said he apparently had been trying to make his way into Canada.

"He'd been living in a sleeping bag in the northern Yaak for about a week," Combs said, and at times had been camped within a couple of miles of the international boundary.

DELIVERY MOONLIGHTING!

The Midland Reporter-Telegram has several distributorships which need to be filled with responsible individuals.

Often Asked ????
Is it worthwhile for adults also?

Yes! Our current distributor force is already 90% adult and 10% youth.

Morning newspaper routes are attractive for:

- ADULTS who have F/T jobs, yet want to supplement their income with a steady part-time job.
- MOTHERS who can't justify a small job and daycare, because as a distributor, you do not need daycare!
- STUDENTS needing a part-time job which will work with classes!
- SENIOR CITIZENS wanting regular exercise, added income, or just want to work with people, neighbors and friends.

How much money can I make as a distributor?

Depending on the size of distributorship from $300 to $700 monthly!
Some make even more!

How long does it take?

The actual delivery takes 1-2 hours Monday-Saturday, and 2-3 hours on Sunday, again depending on the size of the distributorship. Also, a few hours a month are needed to collect from subscribers. Many distributors choose to handle some of this by putting envelopes in subsribers'papers. Collecting in person will be necessary though!

When do papers have to be delivered by?

6 a.m. Monday-Friday and 7 a.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Do I ever get a day off?

The job requires a 7-day a week commitment. However, distributors do take days off by finding a friend or a family member to substitute a for them!

RESERVE YOUR DISTRIBUTORSHIP NOW!

KENT KWIK CONVENIENCE STORES

WHY KENT OIL COMPANY?

Kent Oil (operating Kent Kwik convenience stores) is a West Texas-based company, thirty six years old and still growing. We offer many benefits to our employees. These benefits include:

- Company-assisted medical, dental and life insurance
- Paid vacations
- Sick pay program
- Tuition reimbursement program
- Special incentive programs for all employees
- Profit-sharing and retirement plan
- Intensive new hire training
- Structured continual management training
- Flexible scheduling
- Full and part time hours available

We attempt whenever possible to promote from within. All of our current store managers, middle and upper management started with the company at the entry level. It is possible to move up quickly based on your experience and level of education.

Working in a convenience store is both exciting and challenging. You have to be outgoing and enjoy serving the public, while at the same time be a self-starter, as you receive very little on the job supervision.

If you are considering a career in the retail industry, give Kent Oil your consideration. Please apply at the Kent Oil Office, Monday-Friday, 8 am to 5 pm, 3314 N. Loop 250 in Midland. Pre-employment drug test required.
