

VETERANS MARCH 1600 IN LINE

ANNUAL PARADE HELD AT MACON BEFORE CROWD OF 50,000.

GRAY RANKS ARE DEPLETED

Procession Marks End of Macon Reunion and Trains Bear Visitors Homeward.

By Associated Press.
Macon, Ga., May 9.—Sixteen thousand soldiers of the Old Soldiers of the Old South today marched in review before 50,000 visitors from all over Dixie and brought to a close the public functions of the 22nd annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans. All of the spectacular of these meetings were present in today's parade, although the ranks of the regiments were thinner and many who have marched before were known to have responded to their last "Taps." A few men from almost every one of the Southern armies were present.

Veterans this morning assembled in large numbers in the auditorium at Camp Gordon to elect a commander in chief, while others housed in the government tents packed their satchels and knapsacks and prepared for the return home after the parade this afternoon. Several hundred extra police have been sworn in to assist in maintaining order. They will be assisted by the National guard. The railroads have 119 special trains ready to move beginning tonight at 10 o'clock. After that hour a special or regular train will leave Macon about every five minutes for twelve hours. The road estimate that at least 69,000 persons have been brought to Macon this week on reunion tickets. This is less than was anticipated.

When the convention assembled at 9 o'clock this morning a detachment of militia surrounded the building and prevented any but delegates from entering. Many were forced to leave despite protests.

Gen. Bennett H. Young of Louisville, commander of the army of Tennessee was elected commander-in-chief of the U. C. V., today. After the withdrawal of Gen. Walker and Van Zandt of Texas from the race, Gen. Young was unanimously elected. Gen. Walker was elected honorary commander-in-chief.

The report of Adjutant General Wm. E. Mickle, submitted today, was as follows:

Notwithstanding the predictions which year after year I have made of the rapid diminution of the number of camps and the marked decrease in the revenue of the office, I am still able, I am proud to say, to make a most encouraging showing. This favorable condition is the more noticeable from the fact that extensive sections of Southern territory are either under water or the lands seriously effected, causing great losses to numbers of our comrades, and the intercepted communications with others, a state that has prevailed for some time.

New camps continue to be admitted into the Association, though the number as was to be expected, is greatly reduced. Since the Little Rock reunion, charters have been issued to fourteen camps, distributed as follows: Georgia, and Texas, each 5; Oklahoma, 2; West Virginia and Alabama, each 1.

There has been the usual decrease in camps, to be attributed to the same cause which produced this result in the past—the passing away of the membership. There is no possible way to stop this waste, as members of those who fought so gallantly or our armies are rapidly crossing to the other shore to meet the great leaders already there. Only one

FAVORABLE REPORTS FROM GROWING CROPS

Recent Weather Conditions Said to Be Just What is Needed for Them.

With the temperature crowding the 80 mark and with a damp humid atmosphere, following showers last Tuesday, conditions have been almost ideal for the growing crops and farmers who came in today say that they can almost see the corn, wheat and cotton grow.

The cotton and corn fields have absorbed all the surplus labor and fewer idle men can be found on the streets of Wichita Falls than for many a day. The people generally are too busy to come to town or to travel on the trains and consequently the stores and shops are deserted.

Right now when everybody else is too busy to buy some of the merchants and their clerks are improving an opportunity to go on fishing expeditions and several parties have left the city for that purpose.

WELL, WHY NOT?

A story published in Monday's Times concerning women officeholders in Texas has set the bee buzzing around several feminine readers, according to information that has leaked out and it is possible that our political announcement column may soon be adorned with feminine names.

course is open to keep alive the camps, and that is to devise some plan to admit the "sons" into membership, without permitting the control of affairs to be taken from the old soldiers till all have passed away. I suggest that a committee be appointed to investigate this subject, and submit a plan at our next reunion to merge the U. S. C. V. into the U. C. V. In a few instances, dormant camps have been revived and this has made a better showing than we had any right to expect.

The following summary of camps by divisions: Texas, 212; Georgia, 127; Mississippi, 89; Alabama, 82; Kentucky, 53; South Carolina, 80; Arkansas, 71; Virginia, 67; North Carolina, 67; Tennessee, 64; Oklahoma, 50; Louisiana, 48; Florida, 55; Missouri, 44; West Virginia, 22; North West, 15; Pacific, 15; Maryland, 12; total 1183.

Gen. Young was nominated by Gen. Wells of Jackson, Miss., and by H. A. Herbert of Alabama, former member of President Cleveland's cabinet. A dozen sturdy Texans put Gen. Van Zandt's name before the convention. Other officers elected:

Theodore Garnet of Norfolk, commander of the army of Northern Virginia.

Geo. B. Harris of Opelika, Ark., commander of the army of Tennessee.

Gen. W. K. Van Zandt of Fort Worth, commander of the Trans-Mississippi department.

"My feelings on the subject are so strong I don't care to risk any discussion of it," said Gen. C. Irvine Walker this morning, referring to the disorder at the session yesterday afternoon. The disorder was so great that it was necessary to adjourn the meeting and the business in hand was never again taken up for lack of time and opportunity. Even the memorial exercises were abbreviated. Heedless of the commander's furious raps for order and protests of indignation, the audience composed of several thousand persons created such commotion that the speakers could not be heard. After waiting half an hour, Gen. Walker declared the convention adjourned and appealed to Col. Harris of the Second Georgia regiment to call out the militia to act as sergeants at arms. This was done and two companies retrained quiet so the memorial exercises could proceed.

FEWER SOUTHERN DELEGATES IS REPUBLICAN PLAN.

New York, May 9.—The Republican national committee will meet in Chicago Thursday afternoon, June 6, to decide contests among delegates to the national Republican convention. The call for the meeting was issued yesterday by William Hayward, secretary of the committee. Indications that there will be an unusual number of contests this year, Mr. Hayward said, had been considered by Victor Rosewater, the committee's acting chairman, and himself in sending out the call for the early meeting. A few contests already have been brought officially before the committee's office. The time limit for filing contests is May 29.

Mr. Hayward also announced that he would place before the committee a plan that will affect the representation of the South in Republican national conventions. The principal opposition to plans previously suggested, was the elimination of the congressional district as the unit of the representation. His plan would change the basis of representation, he said, and still retain the congressional district as the unit.

"What we want to do, if possible," Mr. Hayward said, "is to get the committee together early enough to have sufficient time to deliberate. The sessions probably will be executive as heretofore."

"We have received some notices of contests, but nowhere as many as reported by the newspapers. Also we have not received anywhere near all the credentials."

DIVORCED TWICE AND SEEKING ANOTHER.

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, May 9.—Mrs. Clara Peterson, who was married to J. S. Peterson three times and twice been divorced from him, is again asking for divorce. She asks the custody of three children.

Mrs. Margaret Wright Edwards of Dallas, is in the city and will remain indefinitely while assisting in getting up arrangements for a Senior Class play to be held at the close of the present session at the high school.

FORCE PAYMENT OF STREET TAX

CITY TAKES STEPS TO COLLECT ANNUAL DUES OF THREE DOLLARS.

ISSUE THIRTY WARRANTS

Usual Opposition is Met With But With Small Chanc of Any Results.

A man who had failed to appear in the corporation court when cited to show cause why he should not pay the customary street tax was assessed a penalty of $2 by Mayor Bell this morning in addition to the $3 tax. Another who had failed to appear testified that he had been at the city hall twice to pay the tax but both times the tax collector's office was closed, it being after hours. He was discharged after he had paid the tax.

Warrants have been issued for thirty others summoning them to appear in the corporation court at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The tax is assessed under a city ordinance and applies to every able bodied male person between the ages of 21 and 45 years who has been in the city fifteen days or more.

Those who fail to pay the tax when the collector calls upon them may be summoned to appear at the city hall three days later when they may either pay the tax or work five days on the streets. If they fail to appear when summoned a warrant may be issued and upon conviction the victim can be compelled to pay a fine in addition to the regular tax.

There is much opposition to this tax and movements have been talked of a number of times to secure the repeal of the ordinance, but nothing has ever come of them.

The tax is oppressive to many day laborers who can not spare either the three dollars or the five days labor in their struggle for a livelihood.

GOVERNMENT CANNOT LOOK AT STEEL BOOKS

Such is Ruling in Federal District Court at Clinton, New Jersey Today.

By Associated Press.
Clinton, N. J., May 9.—The application in the United States district court for an injunction to restrain the U. S. steel corporation and a number of its subsidiary concerns from the destruction of books and papers which might be used as evidence in the suit of the government for dissolution of the steel corporation was dismissed in a procurian opinion filed this morning by Judges Gray, Bunting and McPherson, except as to the American Steel and Wire Company, one of the subsidiaries.

VICE COMMISSION IS THE LATEST IN DALLAS.

Dallas, Texas, May 9.—A temporary vice commission has been organized by the two Dallas county grand juries and will make an investigation of conditions in Dallas during the remainder of the present term of court. The commission is composed of W. C. Everett, chairman; T. G. Collins, secretary; A. R. Davis, J. C. Duke and M. H. Mahana, all members of the grand juries.

A thorough crusade is to be made of the city and houses of doubtful reputation will be rid of their undesirable occupants and the owners and proprietors held criminally liable for the statutory violations. It is the intention of the vice commission to aid the regular authorities in a general cleaning up of the city, and to assist in the rigid enforcement of the law. The dockets of the criminal courts will be gone over and the old cases that are hanging fire with no reasonable hope of convictions will be dismissed. This will be done in order to give the prosecuting attorneys an opportunity to keep their work thoroughly abreast of the times so that when a man is charged with a crime he may have a prompt and speedy trial. It is the belief of members of the newly formed organization that many crimes could be prevented if the knowledge were general that a prompt trial will follow each arrest made in Dallas county.

NEW ORLEANS MAYOR CRITICISES FLOOD REPORTS

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, May 9.—Mayor Martin Behrman of New Orleans has issued a statement in which he bitterly denounces the sensational reports concerning the flood situation in New Orleans, which reports have recently appeared in papers outside the city.

WEATHER FORECAST

Unsettled; showers tonight and Friday.

FLOOD AT MIDLAND HOUSES UNDER WATER

Heavy Rain Followed By Damage to Houses as Well as to Crops.

By Associated Press.
Midland, Texas, May 9.—Twelve houses in East Midland are completely submerged by water, which is still rising, the sudden rise being caused by a two-inch rain here late yesterday afternoon. The precipitation came within thirty minutes. Fruit gardens and crops in this vicinity were destroyed by hail which followed the rain.

DALLAS IS CHOSEN FOR 1913 SHRINERS' MEETING.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9.—Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, Ga., was elected imperial outer guard by the imperial council, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Dallas, Texas, was chosen for the 1913 convention. William J. Cunningham of Baltimore, former imperial deputy potentate was elected imperial potentate, succeeding John Frank Treat of Fargo, N. D.

William Brown of Pittsburgh, and Benjamin W. Rowell of Boston were re-elected imperial treasurer and imperial recorder, respectively. The other imperial officers were each advanced to the next post above. Though the business sessions ended today, merry-making and sight-seeing will continue tomorrow and Friday.

The time of next year's convocation at Dallas was fixed at May 13 and 14, Cincinnati put in a bid for the 1914 convocation.

For the first time in the history of the imperial council, honorary members were elected. They were: John D. Hunter of Dallas, Texas; Preston Belvin of Richmond, Va.; J. Harry Lewis of St. Paul, Minn.; and T. B. Beecher of Bridgeport, Conn. Richard Lambert of New Orleans, 85 years old, who has attended twenty-one successive councils, was made a member emeritus.

TITANIC INQUIRY IS REOPENED AT CAPITOL

Evidence That White Star Officials Had Definite Knowledge is Added.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., May 9.—When the inquiry into the Titanic wreck was re-opened here today, Morris L. Farrell, managing news editor of the Dow-Jones & Company, a ticket service, was asked about an item published in mid-afternoon on the day of the disaster in which it was announced the White Star Line would send a special train to Halifax which would accommodate 719 passengers. Farrell said the information was given by Vice President Franklin of the White Star Line.

"That would seem to indicate Mr. Franklin knew of the actual lives lost and knew the survivors were only about 700," suggested Chairman Smith. The witness replied, "It would seem so, but the White Star people explained later that the news they gave out the day of the wreck was unofficial and unverified."

Dr. J. C. Guest, after an absence from the city of several days during which time he attended the State Medical Association Convention in Waco, and attended to business affairs, returned here this afternoon.

FLOOD SITUATION IS WORSE TODAY

TORRAS CREVASSE BREAK IS WIDER AND CONDITIONS ARE NOT IMPROVED.

BOATS ARE IN READINESS

Every Effort Being Made to Prevent Fatalities—Much Territory is Under Water.

By Associated Press.
New Rhodes, La., May 9.—By tearing away 1400 feet of the south end of the Torras Crevasse a wall eight or ten feet deep and half a mile wide is today bearing down upon the already overflowed area in this section including St. Landry and several other parishes to complete its work of ruin begun a week ago. By tomorrow or Saturday the gap will probably be a mile across.

New Rhodes, heretofore considered practically safe from the flood is rapidly becoming inundated. The negro quarter is rapidly being submerged. The live stock is being driven toward Baton Rouge. Boats are being built and other preparations made by the townspeople in the event the flood reaches a dangerous depth. This section of the parish being thickly populated much rescue work will be required if the flood reaches alarming proportions.

Motor boats and skiffs are being concentrated here in anticipation of urgent needs for them. In some instances boats have been confiscated and are being held in readiness. Rail communication with Morganza has been severed by a washout in the Texas and Pacific track south of that place.

Weather Bureau's Forecast.

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, May 9.—Notwithstanding the widening of the Torras Crevasse and the constantly increasing volume of water which it is diverting from the Mississippi and spreading over the lowlands, the weather bureau today increased its forecast of maximum stage for the Mississippi and Red River points. These new figures are based upon the presumption that all remaining levees will hold.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS BOARD GUESTS AT BANQUET

The members of the recently created Boy's Board of the Y. M. C. A. were guests at a banquet at headquarters last night, the occasion being the second meeting of the board since its creation. The first meeting was held a week ago yesterday evening, at which time those composing the board were selected as follows: William Ward, president; Jim Barnard, secretary; Addison Trotter, Joseph Carlin, Admiral Skinner, Cedric Hamilton, T. B. Noble, Jr., Allen Montgomery, Stanley Weidman, Will Christensen.

The board will in future have full charge of all arrangements pertaining to the younger members of the Y. M. C. A., although their decisions will be subject to the approval of the secretary or physical director. The creation of a Boy's Executive Board separate and distinct from the regular executive board is a distinctly novel departure from the rule of government hitherto prevailing at the Y. M. C. A., and the result of the new move is awaited with interest.

NEGROES CAN WORK AND EAT, OR DO NEITHER.

By Associated Press.
Baton Rouge, La., May 9.—Able-bodied men in refugee camps regardless of color are given the option of working and eating or doing neither, said Gov. Sanders in a telegram to Oswald Garrison Villard, of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who wired to know why negroes in Louisiana were being forced to "work repairing levees."

GOMEZ IS PRISONER

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—Gomez is held a prisoner in the customer house at Juarez, according to advices to the State Department today. A heavy guard has been thrown around the building. The Department is further advised that Orozco will probably not confirm Gomez as president. The reports indicate the rebels have been defeated in the mountain pass El Puerto del Carmen between Monclova and Cuatro Ciénegas Coahuila.

WILSON'S LEAD LARGER WITH LATEST RETURNS

With Twenty Counties to Hear From Convention Majority is Now 113 Delegates.

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, May 9.—With 20 counties to hear from, the returns this afternoon stood: Wilson 335; Harmon 148; Clark 47; contested 1; uninstructed 25. Wilson's majority is 43. Fourteen counties reported no democratic convention held.

Republican results: Roosevelt 79; Taft 49; uninstructed 44; contested 13. No conventions in 20 counties.

THREE RECITALS BY CONSERVATORY PUPILS

End of Institutions First Year to Be Marked by Public Entertainments.

The end of the first year of the Wichita Falls Conservatory of Music will be marked by three recitals, which will be held on the evenings of May 16, 18 and 20.

The first recital will be by the primary pupils and will probably be held at the high school, though this is not certain. The second will be by Misses Underwood and Bonnie Hardy and will be at the opera house. The third and last recital will be given by the advanced pupils of the conservatory on the evening of May 20, and a small admission fee will be charged.

BANKERS OPTIMISTIC OVER CROP CONDITIONS

Good Feeling Prevailing at San Antonio Convention, According to R. E. Huff.

R. E. Huff, president of the First National Bank, returned this afternoon from San Antonio, where he attended two days' sessions of the State Bankers' Association Convention. Today which marks the end of the convention, C. W. Snider, cashier of the City National Bank, is probably the only representative of the local bankers in attendance.

Mr. Huff when seen this afternoon, stated that the San Antonio convention was one of the most successful in the history of the organization, and that not only were bankers from all parts of Texas in attendance, but a large number of influential men from the Northern and Eastern financial centers were there. Bankers from all sections of the State reported this year's crop outlook to be very fine, and all were most optimistic as to business prospects for the future.

A good many interesting papers were read among which the following deserve special mention: "Crimes Against Cotton," by McLane Tilton, secretary of the Alabama Bankers' Association; "The Necessity of Negotiable Commercial Receipts," Nathan Adams, cashier of the American Exchange National Bank at Dallas; "Why the Aldrich Bill Should Not Pass," J. E. Ferguson, president of the Temple State Bank, at Temple; "The Texas Railroad Stock and Bond Law," Hon. Hiram Glass, a prominent railroad attorney of Austin. There was slated for today an address by William J. Burns, the famous New York detective who has been present at both days' sessions of the convention.

The next place of meeting at the time Mr. Huff left, had not yet been selected, but it was generally conceded that the city of Galveston had those in attendance to practically insure that next year's convention will be held there. The total attendance at the San Antonio convention has been estimated at about 1,200.

The drillers have reached a depth in the Avia well east of town where they expect to find something within the next hundred feet.

TO START BOTTLE PLANT NEXT WEEK

MILLER WILL BE HERE NEXT WEEK TO SUPERINTEND ITS CONSTRUCTION.

LETTER RECEIVED TODAY

Work Progressing on Window Glass Plant and Twenty Cars of Material Are Coming.

A letter was received for J. A. Kemp today from Robert Miller of the firm of Miller & O'Beir, the bottle glass manufacturers, saying that the furnace and all other equipment for the bottle plant to be established by the company here had been purchased and that Mr. Miller would be here next week to superintend the erection of the plant. Mr. O'Beir will not come until later.

It is stated that the plant will start up with 140 employees and it is expected to increase this number to more than 200 the first season.

Good progress is being made in the construction of the window glass plant which is being erected near the automobile factory. Twenty cars of material for this plant are now en route from Princeton, Indiana, and it is now believed that the plant can be placed in operation within 60 days.

The Early Spring Dinner.

Just at this season of the year it is peculiarly necessary that the cook should be creative genius. The problem of "What for dinner today" is a trying one to every housewife. Roast beef, the standby, is not only a little heavy as a spring diet, but it is exceedingly difficult to get a good roast at this time of year. The good beefs have been culled out and the inferior ones are coming to market. The spring lamb is a substitute, but soon grows monotonous. It is the closed season for poultry except for the incubator-bred, factory-raised chick, which for the most part look underfed and scraggy, or, otherwise, the too ancient hen.

And so it is a time when the cook, who is also a poet or a poetess, is called upon to dish up a good dinner out of airy nothing. The spring dinner permits of a wide experimental range. The cook who can make the antiquated hen that is on the poultry market at this season of the year (taste like a Thanksgiving turkey is not only a creative genius, but an inspired poet also.—Baltimore American.

Home grown strawberries are now coming on the market. The early crop is rather undersized and the quality as a rule is nothing extra. Some extra large and juicy berries were shipped in today from Gainesville.

FEAR OF AX-MAN HAS EFFECT ON NEGROES

Labor Said to Be Scarce in Texarkana Vicinity Because of Uneasiness Over Deaths.

By Associated Press.
Texarkana, Texas, May 9.—Cotton planters in this section are complaining of a scarcity of negro labor in the cotton fields which they say is caused by fear of the mysterious "ax-man," which is credited with the murder of several negro families in Texas and Louisiana. The authorities here have been asked to take some action to reassure the blacks.

INSPECTION BY KATY OFFICIALS ENDS TODAY

Schaff and Trumbull Will Go to Oklahoma City—Local Officials to Return.

C. E. Schaff, president of the Katy lines and Frank Trumbull, chairman of the Katy Board of directors, will complete their inspection of the Wichita Falls Route this afternoon. Their special will be switched to the Santa Fe at Woodward, Okla., and the party will go to Oklahoma City this afternoon.

Messrs. Kemp and Kell and other general officers of the Wichita Falls Route who accompanied the Katy officials over the Wichita Falls Route are expected to return directly to Wichita Falls.

According to reports that have reached here the trip was a most pleasant one throughout. The officials were given a glad welcome wherever they stopped. Fields of alfalfa, corn, cotton, wheat and oats growing luxuriantly everywhere along the line were a delight and revelation to the visiting officials and they left Woodward this afternoon more than ever certain that Wichita Falls is a town of splendid possibilities.

Don't Get Excited! Keep Cool!

A Summer Suit Will Help

Just think how much better you will feel in thin clothing, in serge, for instance. That staple of summer time! This year you can get a serge with fancy weave if you want something different, and what could be cooler than one of those two piece suits of Cravenette Mohair? Or, if you want light colors, you can get light weight with them. Not a heavy weight, or a has been suit in the store. We hear a me talk of the clothing business being dull. We are showing gains. Must be some reason. Don't you think? The force that makes this business grow is value for your money.

Many men are learning the truth of this by actual experience every day.

Time to Clean House.

Now that the housewife is turning the interior of every St. Louis home out of doors and evicting by every means in her power the accumulated dust of the winter, it behooves the man of the house to begin active operations toward renovating the rest of his premises.

A few dollars' worth of paint will make the place look twice as good. That and a thorough cleaning-up of the back yard are debts the household owes to his neighbors and the community. There is nothing equal to a bit of fresh paint to make a place inviting. Nor is anything more unattractive and altogether deplorable than a weather-beaten, down-at-the-heel house. A single weather-worn house, with a neglected backyard, strewn with rubbish and embellished with old bottles, will detract from the appearance of a whole block.

Incidentally, rubbish breeds flies, which thrive on dirt, and which cannot exist where there is no filth for them to feed on. Mosquitoes also breed in stags only by grace of the carelessness that leaves old bottles, boxes or barrels to hold the water which they must have to multiply. An old glass jar or broken dish will furnish a breeding place for mosquitoes enough to infest a neighborhood.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Genius Is the Man Who Has Mastered His Subcon- scious Self---Napoleon Was Such

By ROBERT U. BENSON, Son of the Archbishop of Canterbury

YOUR subconscious self is the treasure house of your emotions. The theory of the subconscious self accounts very simply for many of our mental processes. The hard-headed business man who can manage the practical affairs of finance, but who couldn't paint a picture to save his life, is one who DWELLS CONTINUALLY IN THE UPPER STORY OF HIS SOUL. The poet, artist, inventor who goes about with his "head in the clouds" or "day-dreaming" is the one who LIVES MOSTLY IN HIS LOWER STORY, where the petty noises and distractions of the material world penetrate but fitly through the trapdoor which communicates between the objective and the subjective souls.

THE GENIUS IS THE PERSON WHO IS MASTER OF BOTH.

Napoleon, for example, the WORLD'S GREATEST MILITARY GENIUS, could go down into his lower story, shut the door after him and plan his great campaigns, seeing with prophetic vision just what the enemy would do and what he must do to meet them. Then he could come up into his upper story and plan to give his soldiers hot coffee before they started.

We think it would be fine to plan a campaign or write an opera, but we lack the power to carry out our plans. That is the difference between us and Napoleon or Raphael or Wagner.

There are some persons who go down into their lower stories, slam the trapdoor after them and are unable to open it again, and they mostly LIVE IN UNHAPPY PLACES, lunatic asylums and the like. The practical everyday suggestions that should come from their upper stories are denied them, and when they imagine they are emperors of China there is NOTHING TO TELL THEM IT IS IMPOSSIBLE.

Women Students of the High- est Rank Will Take Their Place In Field of Re- search and Invention

By Miss M. CAREY THOMAS, President of Bryn Mawr

HOW can women be educated primarily to be wives and mothers? I do not know. I have never met a woman who did know. I have asked many devoted wives and mothers, who have laughed at the preposterous idea. WHAT REQUIRES THE PERFECTION OF ALL OUR HUMAN POWERS CAN SCARCELY BE TAUGHT TO WOMEN IN HIGH SCHOOLS OR IN COLLEGES BY RULE OF THUMB.

College women will probably be more numerous than college men. If we may judge from the continuous increase of women teachers in the schools during the past thirty years the college women of the future will have almost ALL THE ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY TEACHING OF THE COUNTRY IN THEIR HANDS, and they will compete with men for professorships in colleges and universities.

WHEN THIS IS THE CASE I BELIEVE THERE WILL BE WOMEN SCHOLARS OF THE HIGHEST RANK, DEVOTING THEMSELVES TO RESEARCH AND INVENTION AND ORIGINAL INVESTIGATION. AS THERE ARE NOW WOMEN SINGERS AND ACTRESSES AND POETS AND NOVELISTS.

In addition to teaching and library work, as at present, the college woman of the future will have found certain trades and professions peculiarly suited to her, in which she can succeed AS WELL AS IF NOT BETTER THAN MEN. I predict that architecture and medicine will be two of these.

For the woman who is able to stand shoulder to shoulder with the man she loves in the support of the family there will be 100 per cent and no longer the 50 per cent of marriage. She will, indeed, be the ONLY WOMAN THE MAN OF MODERATE INCOME CAN AFFORD TO MARRY.

The GREATEST PLAY I EVER SAW

AS TOLD TO
Hugh S. Fullerton

By CHARLES WAGNER.

Infielder Boston American League Club, Who is Considered One of the Fastest Fielders Either at Short or Second.

The greatest play I ever saw was one Tris Speaker made. It was the fourth great play of one game, and every one of them was made by Speaker, but the fourth was the best. It was during the series against the Chicago White Sox—I think in August of 1910—on the Boston grounds, and anyone who saw that game will remember seeing one of the greatest exhibitions of outfielding ever given.

The White Sox were hitting hard—much harder than usual—but Speaker kept catching almost everything they hit and making about as sensational running catches as one often sees. Besides that, he had pulled off two great throws during the game and his fielding kept Boston in the game all the way. A couple of long drives—one I remember was by Stahl—put us ahead late in the game, but still the White Sox weren't beaten.

I don't exactly remember who was pitching for Chicago. I know that either Walsh was pitching or else he was sent to hit for some one late in the game. Anyway, it was Walsh who hit the ball that gave Speaker the chance to make his great play. I think we were one run in the lead and I remember there was a runner on second base when Walsh came to bat. Now when that big fellow leans against a ball with his full swing the fences aren't far enough away to hold the ball in the lot. And this time he certainly hit one. It looked as if it would go to Boylston street, via the subway, when it started out to left. I remember our pitcher threw down his glove in anger, as he thought sure the ball was in the bleachers. But it rose a little too high. Speaker was chasing that ball at his best clip and he was going some. Still it didn't look as if he could even get close. He kept going on and on until I heard the crowd yelling for him to look out, fearing he would bang into the bleacher fence and break a few legs and arms.

The ball was falling almost on top of the railing around the bleachers. Whether it would have dropped into the seats or hit the fence and bounded back past Speaker I can't tell—but it never had the chance. Speaker whirled, almost touching the fence, gave one look at the ball, jumped and grabbed it; and although he was almost against the fence when he made the try, he never touched it. He had to twist and dodge to escape hitting the fence, and the runner went from second to third on the catch, and seeing Speaker just starting to throw, turned for the plate. Speaker drove the ball on the line to me, and all I had to do was to make a short lob throw to catch the runner at the plate, this turning a home run into a double play.

SHERMAN WINS IN EASY STYLE

DRILLERS DROP THIRD GAME OF SERIES BY SCORE OF FIFTEEN TO FIVE.

ANGEL'S SHOWING IS POOR

Is Touched for Fourteen Hits, and Poor Fielding Also Makes Sherman's Victory Easy.

Special to The Times. Sherman, Texas, May 9.—Sherman secured partial revenge yesterday for the two defeats which she suffered Monday and Tuesday. The Drillers were overwhelmed by a score of 15 to 5.

Angel was in the box for Wichita and while the nine errors which his team-mates made contributed largely to the final outcome, he did not shine as brilliantly as in the previous contest which he pitched. Gardner, who was in the box for Sherman, held the Drillers to only four hits. Several errors, however, enabled the visitors to make five scores.

The locals hit hard and often and after the fourth inning were never in the slightest danger. The score:

Shake-Up Due at Denison.

Indications are that there will be a number of new faces in the lineup of the Denison team of the Texas-Oklahoma League within a few days. There is to be a general shaking up, and it is probable that several of the familiar faces will be missing when the team opens the Ardmore series here Friday afternoon.

It is announced today that Goss, formerly of the McKinney team, had been signed and would join the club today. Goss is a utility man, working either in the outfield or pitching. He worked here with the Dallas four-

Consumers Must Take Their Share of Blame For High Cost of Living

By DR. J. T. HOLSWORTH,
Dean of the University of Pittsburgh

ADMITTING that the farmers and manufacturers' combinations, middlemen's and labor organizations and various agencies and conditions have contributed something to the increased cost of living, the fact remains that the CONSUMER HIMSELF HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR NO SMALL PART IN THE INCREASE. Only recently has proper weight been given to the demand side of the economic balance.

HIGH PRICES CANNOT BE OBTAINED FOR COMMODITIES UNLESS PEOPLE ARE WILLING TO PAY THESE PRICES. This was demonstrated recently in the boycott on butter. The truth is that more and more the rank and file of people are DEMANDING BETTER OR MORE EXPENSIVE THINGS. The poor emulate the rich in dress, in more costly homes, and the rich in turn set a constantly higher standard of living. EXTRAVAGANCE AND WASTE ARE EVERYWHERE.

Time was when the housewife went once or twice a week to market and brought home enough fresh staple supplies to last for several days. In too many cases the telephone or the grocer's order man has displaced the market basket. A great saving is effected where the housewife PURCHASES IN QUANTITIES and directly from the producer. Unfortunately, however, many apartments and houses lack facilities for storing any considerable quantity of foodstuffs and supplies. In many a household the income is so small that buying in quantity is out of the question.

THE WASTE CONTINUES TO THE GARBAGE CAN. IT HAS BEEN STATED UPON RELIABLE AUTHORITY THAT IN THE AVERAGE FAMILY ENOUGH NUTRITIOUS FOOD GOES INTO THE GARBAGE PAIL DAILY TO FEED IT.

One of my strongest business policies is to secure the very best food products that the world's market affords for my customers. Very often this means a change of brands or a change of lines, as improvements are made from time to time.

Coffee is one of the lines that has been undergoing considerable change and improvement and a short time ago I made a very careful investigation of the line of coffees roasted and packed by an Illinois concern. With the result that I have put in a try-out line and invite you to see whether your judgment agrees with mine as to their quality. The line ranges in price from 30c to 45c, all put up in cartons or tins. The following is the list of brand names with prices from which I ask you to select your usual price and let me send you a trial can. An Oklahoma school teacher has inaugurated a "cyclone drill" for her pupils; our observation has shown, however, that the average citizen when the occasion arises, doesn't need any such drill. All he needs is a clear path between home and the dug-out door.

Should it turn out that the hon'ble dawg got the Wilson goat in Texas today, there will be a lot of mighty sick "bills" in the Texas herd—Gainesville Register.

It didn't turn just exactly that way, but that does not necessarily mean that the Register's statement about "sick bills" should be discredited. You have the hell-wether of the flock, and if we can read the verdict aright, he is about the sickest of the bunch.

The Wichita Times says we had February weather in March and March weather in April and begs the weather man to give us a little April weather in May. Based upon the prophecy of showers in April, there is no doubt but what this section of the State is enjoying April weather to the fullest—Houston Post.

The showers are coming just as if they were ordered, and as a result the only thing that will keep Wichita and surrounding counties from producing the largest wheat and oat crop in their history will be that the acreage is smaller this year than for any year during the past twenty.

The Dallas News was really the only State morning paper that stood for Wilson in the race for the presidential nomination in Texas, and Wilson won by an overwhelming majority throughout the State. The Houston Post, Fort Worth Record, San Antonio Express and Austin Statesman might make a note of this incident just in order to keep the record straight. Among the staunch evening or afternoon press of the State that rendered valuable aid in whipping out ring politics and carrying Texas for Wilson might be mentioned the Houston Chronicle and Waco Times-Herald.

National Committeeman Johnston, who recently telegraphed to Texas from New York, that Harmon was sure to be the choice of the democratic party, has not been heard from since the returns from Texas began to come in. Mr. Johnston was evidently mistaken concerning the sentiment in his own state, and probably he was equally wrong when he sized up "The East." Right now, the scramble among Texas democrats is for a successor to Mr. Johnston.—Temple Telegram.

That story, if the one the Times is thinking about, has been denied by Mr. Johnston, and the paper that it was imposed upon when it accepted the story as telegraphed from Washington. Let's be fair. Texas, from the way she voted in the preferential primaries, wants should change her representative on the National Committee, and select one more in accord with the views of the majority of Texas democrats, and doubtless this will be done.

Uncle Renzi will cut across lots to get in the Wilson band wagon; you can't lose him. Originally for George Clark, he became enthusiastic for Jim Hogg. A shouter for Grover Cleveland and the gold standard, he turned up in the Bryan procession carrying a 16 to 1 banner. Lose our Uncle Renzi? Not in this world—Waco Times-Herald.

But, in this instance, there are no other lots to cut across. Your Uncle Renzi has burned the bridges behind him. It's the solemn duty of every Wilson delegate to "swat" him, and if this paper is not mistaken, that's just what they intend to do.

There are others in Texas who are more in line with Texas Democracy than Mr. Johnson, and the time has arrived for him to step down and out. As a suitable successor to Mr. Johnson as National Committeeman, the Wichita Falls delegation will present the name of Judge R. E. Huff of this city.

"In the meantime, Wolters bowls merrily on his way over the flower-decked prairies to the Panhandle, leaving friends and disillusioned pros in his wake."—Austin Statesman. Is that so? You just keep your weather eye on the indicator until July 27th and see how many pros have been caught in Col. Jake's net. The Times is not mistaken, the Statesman and other anti papers made boasts quite as strong about what Harmon and Clark would do for Wilson, but when the count was pulled off it showed that Wilson had more strength than all his opponents combined, with a full hundred convention votes to spare. Texas Democrats are demanding a new cut and deal all round, and they are going to get it in July. That's the way it looks to us, at any rate.

HOUSTON'S CLEAN UP MOVEMENT LEAGUE.

A Clean Up Movement League has been organized at Houston and it is the intention to make the organization a permanent one. It is the plan to have monthly clean-up days when teams furnished by the organization will go over the city picking up trash that is scattered and piled up at places of easy access. It is also the intention of the league to see that the sanitary ordinances of the city are enforced.

A good start has already been made toward the clean up in Houston and with the Clean Up Movement now pretty well organized it is probable that Houston will take rank as one of the cleanest and most sanitary cities in the state.

The method is one that might well be emulated in other cities in Texas. Indeed it ought to be good for Wichita Falls. Of course, it is the duty of every citizen to keep his premises in a sanitary condition. More would do this if a wagon would call at stated periods to haul away the accumulation of trash and dirt. Most people would be glad to pay for such service, others, possibly, cannot spare the money, but many of those who would pay cannot find a wagon when they have their pile ready. If the city or some organization would furnish the wagon man persons who now permit trash and dirt to accumulate would clean up their premises. The cost would not be great and the results would be worth many times the expenditure.

There are many ways in which a Clean Up League could help make Wichita Falls a better place to live in and at the same time decreasing the probability of our dying during the long hot summer when typhoid fever and other contagious sweep the death rate.

NINETY-ONE YEARS AGO YESTERDAY.

Ninety-one years ago yesterday marked the funeral day of the most extraordinary man the world has ever or probably ever will know. Speaking of this notable incident, John S. C. Abbott's "History of Napoleon," says: "The morning of the 8th of May, 1821, dawned with unusual brightness upon the blackened cliff of St. Helena. A perfect calm had succeeded the storm, and not a cloud floated in the resplendent skies. An invigorating sea breeze passed gently over the island, and all of the inhabitants were assembled at Longwood to pay their last token of respect to the remains of the captive who had rendered their island immortal.

At half past twelve o'clock at noon, the grenadiers placed the heavy triple coffin of tin, lead and mahogany, upon the hearse. It was drawn by four horses. Twelve grenadiers walked by the side of the coffin, to take it upon their shoulders where the bad state of the roads prevented the horses from advancing.

The emperor's household, dressed in the deepest mourning, followed immediately the hearse. Their hearts were stricken with grief, deep and unaffected. The admiral and the governor, with the officers of the staff, respectfully joined the procession on horseback. All the inhabitants of St. Helena—men, women and children—in a long winding train, reverently followed. The English garrison, which had been stationed upon the island to guard the emperor, 2500 strong, lined the whole of the left side of the road, nearly to the grave. Bands of music, stationed at intervals, breathed their requiems upon the still air. The soldiers, as the procession passed, fell

Editorial Comment on Last Saturday's Convention

AN IDEAL AMERICAN.

Pictures of Woodrow Wilson arriving or departing from various places or en route somewhere, making speeches and being greeted by deputations and committees, everywhere, are published in the papers, and the speeches themselves, which fill many columns of the daily press, would, if published in book form, make many volumes. From it all the people of these United States have formed a very definite idea of the statesman from Princeton, and that is in a phrase that he is an ideal American and an American of ideals.

To be an American worthy of the name it is necessary that a citizen shall be a product of the past and a maker of the future. We have too many citizens in this country today who, in business and in politics, live according to European rather than American ideals. No citizen is first class unless he is devoted to American principles. Unless a citizen is a product of our past, he is not fit to be a maker of our future.

What are American principles? They are all expressed or implied in our Declaration of Independence, and have been marvelously compressed in the sentence which Jefferson, the author of the declaration, wrote to be the slogan of the democratic party: "Equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

We have equal rights in our courts. We have equal rights in our public schools. We have equal rights in our special privileges in our national government, which expresses us with a tariff framed to enrich the few at the expense of the many, and with its lax and inefficient trusts to go up and down the into the line, and followed it to the grave.

At length the hearse stopped. The grenadiers took the coffin upon their shoulders and carried it along a narrow path which had been constructed on the side of the mountain to the lonely place of burial. The coffin was placed on the verge of the grave. The Abbe Vignall recited the burial service, which all were overpowered by the unthought solemnity and sublimity of the scene. During the funeral march the admiral's ship in the harbor had fired minute guns and as the coffin descended in the earth, three successive volleys from a battery of fifteen guns, discharged over the grave, reverberated along the cliffs and crags of St. Helena. The willows which overgrew the tomb were immediately stripped of their foliage, as each one wished to carry away some souvenir.

Wichita Falls Times: Wheat is in the boot, and many fields stand waist high, is the way crop conditions in the Wichita Falls country are described. This sounds like old times once more. A million-bushel wheat crop for Wichita county will mean a million dollars to the farmers who produce it.

Dallas News: State Press is quite some agriculturist, but he admits that doesn't know what is meant, when wheat is said to be "in the boot." He has heard the state of the wheat crop described as being "in the dough" and "in the milk," and knows what those expressions mean. But when wheat is "in the boot" State Press does not understand what is the matter with it. And if that disciple of Ceres who edits the Times knows, it is because somebody told him after he moved to Wichita Falls. He used to didn't know.

What State Press does not know about wheat growing might make quite a little volume. O course there is a thing as wheat in the boot. After sowing provided a sufficient amount of rain has fallen, it comes through the ground. That is the first stage. The next is it begins to stool out, then when about knee high it begins to joint. That is the third stage. The fourth is when the "boots" begin to form. For State Press' information we will say the boot on a stalk of wheat is the place in which the heads land seeking a competitor to devour and to charge the people extortionate prices. "What mean ye that ye best my people to pieces and grind the faces of the poor, saith the Lord God of hosts."

Now the time has come to change all this. The day of reckoning is at hand. The democratic party won the house in 1910. "Coming events cast their shadows before them." The democratic party is going to win the presidency and senate in 1912. But the democratic party is not going to win—and if it did win it would be a barren victory—if it should be controlled by its minority plutocratic element and should nominate a plutocratic candidate like Harmon. Governor Harmon may be an excellent man personally, but his friends and supporters belong to the plutocratic element of the democratic party, which is doubtful about trust reform, unsound as to tariff reform, believes in taking big campaign contributions from Ryan and Wall street, and is really republican in disguise, being democracy in name only.

The American people want a democrat who is a genuine democrat, like Woodrow Wilson, who is a friend of the masses, who believes in the government being the people's government and not in the people being the government's people.—Houston Chronicle.

A REVELATION.

An esteemed contemporary remarked on Monday regarding the exposure of Mr. Roosevelt by Mr. Taft: "The personal attack made by President Taft on the character of his predecessor, the man who made him President, would hardly be worth serious consid-begin to form, and after that they begin to stool out from the boot and for a period of perhaps 20 days the grain forming the heads are in the milk or dough stage. Then the grain ripens and is ready for the sickle. The editor of the Times has known this much about wheat growing long before he could tell whether the little fuzzy stuff coming out on his upper lip and face was going to turn out to be hair or feathers.

A short time after the concert began a man arose and cried:

"Is there a Christian Scientist in the audience?"

Another man rose in his turn. "I am a Christian Scientist," said he.

"Then, sir," said the other, advancing towards him, "I'll ask you to change places with me, as my seat is in an abominable draught."—Argonaut.

This was the first case for the majority of the jury, and they sat for hours arguing and disputing over it in the bare little room at the rear of the courtroom. At last they struggled much to their places, and the foreman, a lean, earnest fellow, with a superlatively solemn expression, voiced the general opinion.

"The jury don't think that he done it, for we allow he wan't there, but we think he would have done it if he'd had the chanst."—Argonaut.

Lulu's mother heard a great splash in the bathroom, and, upon investigation, found her little daughter standing in the partially filled tub, in a most bedraggled condition.

"Why, you see, mamma," she explained, "I've been trying to walk on the water and it's no fool's job, let me tell you!"—Judge.

eration if its consequences were restricted to individuals."

"The man who made him President. The secret is out. It is not a discovery by an enemy, but an inadvertent betrayal by a friend. Mr. Roosevelt made Mr. Taft President.

It was not the people, then, who selected Mr. Taft; it was the man who was President of the United States four years ago who selected Mr. Taft to succeed him; who procured the election of delegates to the national convention who would obey the orders of the President, and who used all the resources of the Presidency to influence the election. Mr. Taft is denounced for ingratitude on the ground that he owes his office not to the American people, but to Theodore Roosevelt.

And yet this same Theodore Roosevelt, who "made" Mr. Taft President, according to the admiring North American, is just now demanding that the people shall select their own President. He is denouncing the President for trying to make a President—the precise thing which the North American says Roosevelt did four years ago. He is shouting for primaries in order to give the people a chance to pick out a President. He is denouncing the President for using patronage to influence the national convention.

When Theodore Roosevelt is President, all the power and prestige and patronage of the office are used to dictate a nomination to the party, and his organ admits that Mr. Taft was not made President by the people, but by Mr. Roosevelt. When the latter is out of office, and has no patronage, he's terribly shocked at a President who undertakes to make a President. Roosevelt dictated his successor, but Taft must not dictate the selection of the man to succeed him. The newspaper is a fit organ for the third term, in their sincerity, and consistency they are as much alike as two peas.

A Victory For the Plain People.

Progressive democrats won a great victory in Texas last Saturday in the precinct primary conventions. With hardly more than one-half of the 242 counties reported in full, Governor Wilson already is assured of a clear majority of instructed delegates to the state convention in Houston, May 25th.

However, the assistant republican ring, headed by Senator Bailey, which has for a long time controlled the machinery of the state democracy, is preparing to make one more desperate effort to defeat the will of the party majority.

This effort will be made in the county conventions which will take place throughout Texas on Tuesday. Wherever the old ring has a ghost of a show to turn a minority into a majority, in one of these county conventions, by any of the methods of which its head artists are past masters, the chance will be made, unless the majority of Wilson men entitled to convention seats shall vigorously and vigilantly enforce their right thereto.

The ring's leaders are not now fighting for Harmon, nor for Clark. They are fighting to save their own official scalps, which have been declared forfeit by the rank and file democracy in Saturday's precinct conventions. The national committee-man, sees his deeper shipping, and clings to it like a drowning man clings to a floating straw. The other members of the machine are in like sad case. They tried to use Harmon and Clark and Underwood to ward off the popular vengeance which was their own due, but without success.

If the victory won by the plain people in the Saturday precinct conventions can be safeguarded against ring tricks and usurpations in the Tuesday county conventions, there will be a complete new deal in the affairs of the democracy of Texas.

The party will become a genuine democracy at the top, as it has always been in its rank and file. It will cease to be a mere adjunct to the Wall street-controlled republican protective tariff party, and will become a real representative of Texas opinion, Texas interests.

It is important that the Texas democracy's declaration for Woodrow Wilson for president be transmitted to and through the Houston state convention without diminution or hindrance.

It is even more important that the party majority's declaration for the abolition of assistant republican boss rule in this state be made good absolutely.

This is the responsibility that rests upon the shoulders of the Wilson men in the county conventions Tuesday.—Houston Chronicle.

An Interesting Situation.

The effect of a Woodrow Wilson victory in Texas will perhaps change the political map of the state. On all sides it is conceded that the result can have no possible bearing on the contest for governor. It is easy to see this when it is recalled that Judge Wm. Pindexter of Cleburne, a strong supporter of Wm. F. Ramsey for governor, stood shoulder to shoulder with such Colquitt supporters as Col. R. M. Johnston for Gov. Harmon. This is only one case, and there are hundreds of others. In all the Wilson county delegations will be found the names of Colquitt and Ramsey men alike. In the Harmon and Clark counties the same conditions exist.

But there are other political complications that naturally bob up. If, as indications now point, the Wilson people dominate the Houston convention, Senator Joseph W. Bailey will meet his Waterloo in a Texas convention for the first time in many years. Since the Galveston convention of years ago, when the Democrats, over the solemn protest of then Congressman Bailey, declared for a modest policy or expansion, the latter gentleman has been the bright particular star of every Democratic gathering in Texas. He has been named as a delegate to every national convention from Texas since the days of Cleveland, and while he has frequently been challenged, his success has been none the less forthcoming.

With Texas going for Wilson, all this will be changed. The Big Four, or the Big Eight, will not contain the name of J. W. Bailey. The convention may offer him a place on the delegation, but those who know Bailey do not in any degree expect that he will accept any favors from a Woodrow Wilson convention. Senator Bailey, of course, will not sulk; but Senator Bailey will have nothing to do with building a Woodrow Wilson dwelling. He will allow the Wilson men to build the house before he warms his shins at the Wilson fireside. That much is certain.

It is recalled that Senator Culberson was an ardent supporter of the New Jersey man in the contest of Saturday. This entitles the senior senator to the head of the table. He will no doubt assist in building the Wilson home, and will be first to welcome all late comers. Certain it is, Senator Culberson will head the Big Four or Big Eight from Texas.

Certain it is, Texas politics has been revolutionized by the New Jersey professor. Old things have passed away—all things have become new. It is an interesting situation, and fraught with many possibilities. For the present let it go at that.—Dallas Times-Herald.

What Texas Wilsonites did to that "houn' dawg" Saturday will hold him for awhile. And some of Uncle Jud's friends were surprised, too. Texas is in the progressive column.—Corpus Christi Democrat.

NORTHWEST TEXAS AND SOUTHWEST OKLAHOMA

A new map of the oil regions of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma comprising parts of the counties of Wilbarger, Wichita and Clay counties, Texas; Tillman and Comanche counties, Oklahoma is now offered to the public. This is the only map ever published showing the direct connection of the original surveys joining Texas with Oklahoma. This information is not obtainable either in the General Land Office in Texas or the United States and can be obtained only from this map or by actual surveys on the ground.

The map is 25.25 inches and covers an area of three thousand five hundred square miles. All creeks, rivers, railroads, towns and villages are shown and also gives the oil-bearing surveys in each of the oil-bearing counties. All "wildcat" wells now drilling are shown in red; the oil fields of Electric and Petrolia are also correctly shown. A new feature of this map is the trend or extension of the oil sand outlined by red arrows. I have only a few of these maps. The price is $2.50; cloth $3.50. Your check will do me. W. M. Stephenson, 706 Praetorian Bldg., Dallas, Texas.

NOTICE IN BANKRUPTCY.

In the District Court of the United States, for the Northern District of Texas:

In the matter of W. L. Dillard, bankrupt; No. 666 in Bankruptcy. Bankrupt's petition for discharge, filed 7th day of May, 1912, and order thereon W. L. Dillard, of Wichita Falls, Texas.

Sale of American Goods in Peru. The primary questions affecting the sale of American goods in Peru are those of price, quality, terms, representation, distance from place of production and local prejudice.

European articles here, when they compete, average one-third to one-half cheaper than American goods. This handicap is sometimes overcome by the superior quality of the American article, but before entering this field the prices and nature of the competition be met should be accurately ascertained. Questions of quality and local prejudice are often closely interwoven. It takes time to create a local fancy for an article, and the smallest trifle may upset the regard for the quality of an article, some minute detail found imperfect perhaps sending the order to Europe instead of to the United States.

Certain phases of industrial education have been so neglected in the United States, until the past few years, that foreigners have wondered that we had any foreign salesmen at all. Much is now being done in this line, but much remains to be done toward turning out salesmen who can show their initiative in other tongues than their own. Only quiet, tactful, persistent work will land orders in Latin America, and the pusher and hustler is often misunderstood and gets no orders.

The time from Panama to Callao, shortened from twenty-seven days in 1868 to fourteen in 1900, has been halved in the past twelve years, with an increase in our exports to Peru. While the Panama Canal will shorten the voyage from the United States, it will also shorten the distance to Europe and care must be taken not to flood this market beyond the needs of its people.—From Vice Consul Charles Lyon Chandler, Callao.

Literature Instead of Politics. "What's the reason, voting was so slow?" "Well, when a man gets hold of a ballot 14 feet long, he's liable to hold up the procession a bit while he reads it."

One's Mastery of Work. It is a great thing to say of any man that he has a grip of his work; but it is a greater thing to say that his work has a grip of him.

One of His Few Chances. When a girl makes up her mind to marry a man an easy way for him to escape is by getting run over by a railroad train.

Gratitude Not a Strong Point. Politicians are more accustomed to hear anticipations for the future than gratitude for the past.

Falls, in the county of Wichita and State of Texas, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 1st day of April, 1912 A. D., he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress, relating to bankruptcy, that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all his debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are specially excepted by law from such discharge.

Duly verified on the 6th day of May, 1912.

(Signed) Walter Lee Dillard, Bankrupt.

Considering the above petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim and other parties in interest desiring to oppose the said discharge as prayed for in above petition shall, on or before the 10th day of June, 1912, file with the undersigned Referee at Fort Worth, Texas, a written objection thereto, and the said objection shall be filed with the Referee within ten days from the said date on or before which opposition may be filed.

Given this 8th day of May, 1912.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, to summon B. M. Woodruff by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Wichita County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, on the first Monday in June, A. D. 1912, the same being the third day of June, A. D. 1912, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1912 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 4248, wherein Lila Bella Woodruff is plaintiff, and B. M. Woodruff is defendant, and said petition alleging: That plaintiff is now and has been for more than six months preceding the filing of this petition a bona fide resident citizen of Wichita County, Texas, and that the residence of the defendant is unknown. That plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married about February 1912, in Wichita Falls, Texas, and lived together as husband and wife until about Feb. 28th, 1912, when defendant abandoned this plaintiff; That plaintiff treated defendant with love and affection, and fulfilled to the best of her ability the duties imposed upon her by her marital relations; That defendant unmindful of the duties imposed upon him by said marital relations, and in disregard for the laws of morality, maintained a course of cruel, excessive and inhuman treatment toward plaintiff. That said conduct was of such a nature as to render their further living together insupportable; that defendant was impure and unchaste in all his conduct toward this plaintiff, and wanted her to accompany him to Memphis, Tenn., for immoral purposes; that such treatment has alienated her affections and rendered it impossible for her to again live with defendant as husband and wife. That defendant is addicted to the excessive use of morphine; that defendant swindled her father out of $20, and another man in Wichita Falls, Texas, out of $25.00 by giving them checks on banks in Wichita Falls, telling them that he had funds there when in truth he never had a bank account with any bank in Wichita Falls, Texas. That defendant is a confessed criminal and perpetrated the crime of swindling twice in Wichita County, Texas. That because of the above facts plaintiff is entitled to an absolute divorce from defendant. Wherefore premises considered plaintiff prays for service to divorce from defendant, for cost of suit, and general and special relief, as she may be entitled to in law and in equity.

Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, A. F. Kerr, Clerk of the District Court of Wichita County.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this 25th day of April, A. D. 1912.

A. F. KERR, Clerk, District Court, Wichita County. 303-305-315-321

MATRIMONIALY INCLINED SPINSTERS TO COME HERE

The reputation of Wichita Falls as a convention city has led to its choice as the place for the National convention of Matrimonially Inclined Spinsters, which will convene here on May 17th.

This is an organization for the promotion of the matrimonial prospects of its members.

Several old maids of national prominence are expected, and elaborate plans are being made to make the meeting a grand success. The president of the association is Miss Prim, of Devocote, Mass.

The sessions of the convention will be open to the public, and it is hoped by the local committee that the city of Wichita Falls will sustain her reputation as a convention hostess upon that occasion.

More definite announcements concerning the convention will be forthcoming in the near future.

CATO SELLS ISSUES A STATEMENT ON RESULT

Judge Cato Sells, Texas manager for Woodrow Wilson today gave out the following statement:

To the Friends of Governor Wilson: Ours is a great victory. Not alone for our national standard bearer, Governor Woodrow Wilson, but even greater and more emphatic for the issues involved in this contest. Men are something but principles are everything. This splendid triumph of our cause marks an epoch not only in Texas but in the politics of the nation.

It is now conceded by our opponents, the Houston Post, and Fort Worth Record, that the friends of Governor Wilson will be in full control at the State convention, and while it is certain that our majority will be greatly more than sufficient to accomplish our every purpose, it is of the highest importance that every man who has been elected a delegate to the Houston convention shall be personally present.

We have now won the first and second battle but we have not finished the fight. We must make a triumph close at Houston May 20th. There we must faithfully perform every duty delegated to us and perform it so firmly and yet patriotically as to seriously impress the real genius of this political revolution not only upon the entire citizenship of Texas, but upon the minds and the memory of the whole nation.

The Houston convention should be a veritable love feast—the largest held in Texas in a decade; an enthusiastic ratification of our splendid victory.

Let us not forget that with it all goes the responsibility of our deliberations and conduct and that we must in all respects, so demean ourselves as to strengthen our party and make victory thereafter even more certain. Let us set and keep the pace of high class politics, aggressively fighting for the right because it is right, always maintaining and forcing the issue on genuine democratic principles.

INDICTMENT IS UNLIKELY IN WALTER REID'S CASE.

The following is from Wednesday's Dallas Times-Herald: That there will be no indictment returned by the grand jury against W. A. Reid of Wichita Falls, who ran down little Elizabeth Roberts in an automobile several days ago and injured the child so seriously that she died in a few moments, is the statement of a grand jury official today. No charge was preferred against Reid but the grand jury took up an investigation of the case and it is expected that a report will be made during the next few days.

The fatal accident occurred at the intersection of Main and Harwood streets. Two other children were injured but not seriously.

EXPLANATION BY HIGH SCHOOL LYCEUM COMMITTEE

The High School Lyceum committee regrets exceedingly that it is necessary to announce to its patrons the failure of the bureau from which this year's course was secured to furnish two of the numbers in the contract. The course was selected through a bureau which enjoyed the reputation of being a thoroughly reliable exchange, and there has been no disappointment in the quality of the entertainments they have furnished.

Their failure lies in the fact that they have utterly disregarded the dates specified for the various attractions in their contract with us, and, after trying to force us to take certain numbers at other dates than those specified and impossible for us, they declare their obligation to us fulfilled. It was not until April 18th that they announced this decision. Up to this time in reply to our frequent requests for dates, they have put us off, promising the numbers but failing to give dates, and thus preventing us from substituting other numbers.

Since learning that nothing further could be expected of this bureau, we have attempted to secure the promised numbers through another bureau, which handles the same attractions, but find this impossible at this time of the year. However, it is the purpose of the committee to permit the holders of lyceum tickets to be entire losers. While we cannot furnish the entertainments expected, the tickets will be good for the promised

HOW TO CLEAN HOUSE WITHOUT ROUGH-HOUSING

It is a mistake to begin housecleaning too early in the season. If it is done while winter is still with us, dust will accumulate again from the furnace, mud will be tracked into the house, and the bright days of real spring will be met by rooms already grown dingy.

Housekeeping Plan Outlined
First week: Take down and launder all wash curtains, dresser covers, pillow tops, etc. Clean closets, launder blankets, put away winter clothes and bedding.

Go over the contents of the linen closet and lay aside for repair or bleaching any table or bed linen which needs it. Order a supply of good canned vegetables, meats and fruits, nuts, crackers, small cookies and doughnuts for cleaning week.

Send any furniture which needs repairing to the repair shop. Send away all rugs or carpets which demand repair, cleaning or dyeing.

Dispose of all useless junk. This may be agreeably accomplished by the following plan:

Place in an unoccupied room three boxes or barrels. Have on one, "For the Salvation Army," or whatever charity can use it; another, "Useless Junk," and the third, "Cleaning Rags." Ask each member of the family to carry to this room any clothing, magazines or decorations which may be discarded.

This system saves a lot of real grief. It is a delicate matter to decide what is worthless even for oneself; then how can one expect to decide wisely for others. Children are frequently made very unhappy by the decision of all-wise big sisters, aunts, grandmothers and mothers. Things which are real treasures to children are mere "trash" to interfering grownups.

The things brought to this room can be looked over by the housekeeper and disposed of under the three heads. The junkman will take away the worthless things, the Salvation Army will call for cast-offs, and the worn out clothing can be ripped and prepared for cleaning rags.

At the end of the week of preparation for housecleaning write out a plan for the next week's work, including menus, and do some baking which will last for meals through the week. If this is done and everything necessary for the meals ordered, the work of housecleaning will be much easier. The working outline must be altered to fit the conditions. The keeper who has one helper, with the laundry work done at home. Necessary changes must be made for the housekeeper with no help at all, or one who is a cleaning woman by the day.

Monday—Wash.
Tuesday—Iron.
Wednesday—Clean one room.
Thursday—Helper's day out. Housekeeper bakes, does usual housework and gets out for a few hours.
Friday—Clean one room.
Saturday—Clean one room.
Sunday—Simple meals and rest.

number—that is, for six numbers; and we shall try to make them such that our patrons will feel that they have received the full worth of their money.

In lieu of the number cancelled by us at the time of the closing of the opera house on account of the meningitis scare, we substituted the entertainment by Mrs. Margaret Wright Edwards, of Dallas, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who heard it. Mrs. Edwards will assist in the production of an entertainment which will be given by local talent on May 17th, under the auspices of the lyceum committee, as a substitute for the fifth number in the course.

This will be an adaptation of the ever-enjoyed burlesque, "The Old Maid's Convention," and will furnish a most delightful evening's entertainment for all who enjoy a good laugh. THE HIGH SCHOOL LYCEUM COMMITTEE.

MINER'S SUPERSTITION FULFILLED AT TUCSON

Belief That Every Good Mine Must Have Its Tragedy Is Carried Out

It has long been the conviction of miners in the West that a mine does not amount to much until a tragedy has become part of its history. It was because of this belief that the old timers looked wise and nodded their heads at each other at the camp of the Kormok Mining Company, in the Catalina mountains, east of Tucson, Ariz., on Feb. 13, 1912, when the buckets came up the shaft filled with the best copper ore ever taken from the mine. Had not Miguel Limone been killed the day before? Guadalupe Labo, the Yaqui Indian had killed him.

A hot day in the previous July, when the company was laying foundations for the heavy machinery being installed for developing its mines, old Guadalupe, accompanied by his wife, much younger than he, and their four children came into camp, some of them riding and others driving a bunch of burros. The man was promptly employed to cut and pack wood. The eldest boy, a lad of 16, took the job of packing water from a spring for the use of the camp and to the big tanks in which water was stored to be used in masonry work. For some months all went well with the family. Money came in fast and the children had new clothes. Chickens were bought, a sewing machine was purchased for the woman. It is true the machine was small, and turned by hand, but it was a great improvement on the hand-driven needle.

Then came Miguel Limone, a thick-set, indolent Mexican. At that time the company needed men for making roads, grading for buildings and doing other work. Miguel was employed. He would work for a short time, earning enough to supply his immediate wants, and then lay off until his money was gone. After this occurred a few times he was refused employment at the mine. In the meantime he had spent much of his time around the old Yaqui's hut, and finally persuaded Guadalupe to let him share his wood contract.

From that time on Miguel's attention to the Indian's wife became the scandal of the Mexican camp. On Feb. 1 the woman took her younger child and moved to Miguel's tent. The old Indian pleaded with her to return to him. She refused. Finally he begged that she would let him have back his favorite child. She said no to this request.

The 12th of February, Guadalupe awoke to discover that Miguel, the woman and children had taken some of the burros and departed during the previous night. The old Yaqui was wild. He seized his rifle and made a rapid circle of the camp. Soon he struck the trail and started on that tireless run for which his tribe is famous. About 2 o'clock he was near Alder Gulch, the old placer diggings, where even to this day Mexicans and Indians pan gold in small quantities.

Both men knew every foot of the ground, for they had been over it many times. The Indian could tell by the "sign" that his enemy was but a short distance ahead. He took a slower gait, and when he came to an elevation he crawled to the highest point and scanned the trail ahead. At last he saw his quarry. Miguel had stopped at the edge of the mesa, where the steep and rough trail dropped suddenly and wound its way to the bottom of Alder gulch 200 feet below. For some miles Miguel had frequently looked back along the trail, and he knew that this was the last opportunity he would have for some time to search for a possible pursuer. He gazed long and earnestly, and seeing nothing to arouse his suspicion, urged his tired burros down the trail, the others following. As soon as the last one had passed from view the Yaqui sprang to his feet, and taking a course to the west, parallel to the gulch broke into a run that soon brought him a mile above where the trail crossed. Taking advantage of mesquite that hid him from view, he crossed the canyon and dropped to the ground behind a large cactus that grew close to the trail his enemy had to travel. In a few minutes the party came in sight.

Miguel leading, mounted on a burro, smoking a cigarette, and with the youngest child of the Indian, a little girl of 3 years of age, seated in front of him. The mother and the other children were riding single file behind him.

When Miguel came within a few feet of the ambush Guadalupe stepped out, and, pointing his 30-30 Winchester at the Mexican's head (he did not want to risk injuring his child), he said: "Huenos tardes, Miguel. Get off the burro so that you and I can discuss the little difference that has again brought us together." There was no alternative. The Mexican knew it meant death to hesitate, and replied, "Muy bien," and dismounted. His left side, was toward the Yaqui. His right hand, partly concealed by the child's clothes, stealthily sought the revolver that was always strapped to his waist, and with which he never missed his mark. That was Miguel's conscious act. The Indian saw the motion and fired. The impact of the bullet twisted the Mexican's body to one side, and he pitched heavily to the ground, his fingers grasping at the rocks upon which he had fallen.

The attending physician, in his official report, stated that the steel-jacketed, soft-nose bullet had entered his left side, passed through his body and lodged in his right arm, tearing his heart to shreds in its course.

When the Mexican fell, the child was flung sprawling some distance away. She scrambled to her feet and ran screaming to her mother. Guadalupe had instantly thrown another cartridge into the barrel of his rifle and aimed the weapon at his wife's breast. Then, changing his mind, he raised the gun to his shoulder, and, muttering, "I don't care what becomes of me now," he took the trail back to camp. He reached his home late in the night, roused his oldest boy, the only child who had remained with him, and told him that he had killed Miguel. The next morning he informed his neighbors of what he had done, sold the little sewing machine and chickens to one of them and left the camp, saying he was going to Tucson to surrender to the authorities.

Lovely Hair For Girls and Boys.

The man who is bald at 30 can usually blame his mother. It is a mother's duty to look after her children's hair; to be sure that a dressing is used that will destroy the microbes of disease that will banish dandruff and promote a growth of hair.

Mothers who use PARISIAN SAGE need never worry about having bald-headed sons at 30 or girls with faded coarse looking hair at any age. For Fooshee & Lynch know PARISIAN SAGE so well that they guarantee it to abolish dandruff, to stop itching scalp and falling hair, or money back.

And children as well as their parents love to use PARISIAN SAGE, for it is so refined and pleasant and makes the head feel clean instantly. 50 cents.

Explaining the Crush.

"Great sale, eh?" commented the advance agent. "Been a line in the lobby for several hours." "Same six people, though," explained the man in the box-office. "Save people you saw an hour ago. The line is being held up by a lady who is thinking of buying a seat."

Got Through.

Among other startling statements in her composition on "A Railway Journey" the following was made by a little Baltimore girl: "You must get a ticket, which is a piece of paper, and you give it to a man, who cuts a hole in it and lets you pass through."

Actor's Privilege.

They are telling the story of a manager who has just sent his divorced wife $25 in alimony. The courts awarded her $50 a week. When she complained the ex-husband replied: "I only pay half alimony Christmas and Holy Week."

Discernment.

"What makes you so sure this man suspected of insanity is a lucid and sensible person?" "One strong indication," replied the alienist, "is the fact that he recognized the desirability of employing a man of my superior attainments."

Frogs' Legs.

We hear a lot of aggressive, blustering people designated as "live wires," the fact apparently being overlooked that the live wire that is in its place, doing something useful, is usually quite unobtrusive.

Ready for desert trip

ARIZONA, whose entry as the forty-eighth member of the Union, and completed the nation of states from ocean to ocean, has had a history probably as turbulent and trying as any state in the Union. The struggles of the Pilgrims of Massachusetts, the Hollanders who colonized New York, the Quakers who settled Pennsylvania and the English who brought civilization to the Virginia shores were no harder than those of the pioneers of Arizona. They were killed by Indians, robbed by lawless people of their own nationality, starved upon the deserts, frozen in the snow-capped mountains and bitten by poisonous reptiles.

They had no government for many years and fought as hard to get territorial rights as they have been fighting for the past ten years to get statehood rights. They were on the point of rebelling at congress and even went so far as to establish a territorial form of government of their own despite the expressed desire of congress, exemplified in its refusal to grant a territorial government, that they should remain a part of New Mexico.

Their nearest peace and judicial officials were then four hundred miles away, at Mesilla, N. M., and their law was the law of the strongest against the weakest. At one time all of the present state of Arizona was the county of Arizona, attached to New Mexico for purposes of administration only.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, General Lawton, General Crook and many other noted men of the United States army gained their first fame in campaigning in Arizona. It was from Arizona that the only raid of United States troops was ever made into a foreign country not then at war with us; the soldiers were after Indians who had been killing and robbing in Arizona. The history of Arizona is thrilling from its inception to the present day.

The origin of the name Arizona is not definitely known. Bancroft, the historian, and some others have insisted that the name is from a supposed Pima Indian word, "Arizonac," although Bancroft admits that the aboriginal meaning of the term is not known. The historian treats as "extremely absurd" the suggestion that the name is of Spanish derivation, and he apparently bases that conclusion upon the fact that there is no similar word in Spanish.

But it is possible that "Arizona" may have had its derivation from the Spanish words arida zona (arid zone). The well-known tendency of uneducated speakers of Spanish to leave off the last syllables of words ending in vowels and their tendency to run words together would easily transform arida zona into "Arizonac."

First True Exploration.
It was about 1527 that Cabeza de Vaca turned his wandering footsteps to the Hopi and Zuni villages in the northeast, gaining Mexico at last by way of the friendly Pima settlements along the Gila.

It was in 1540 that Vasco de Coronado, governor of Mexico, lured by the golden tales of a monkish traveler, started northward on the first true exploration of that mysterious land. He sought the fabled Seven Cities of Cibola, where gold and precious gems paved the streets. Though he did not find the object of his search his expedition led to Spanish settlements and agriculture, and mining had some development.

Back again into barbarism was Arizona plunged by the Mexican war for independence, and not until the Gadsden purchase, in 1853, did the firm hand of governmental authority again take hold. Even then, however, all that was known of Arizona was a narrow strip within which the Southern Pacific railroad now runs and along which flowed the tide of travel from the eastern states to the gold fields of California.

Treachery of Indians of Long Ago.
When the white man first came to Arizona there were approximately 40,000 Indians within the borders of the territory. The principal tribes were the Navajos, Hopis, Wallapais, Choshoes, Havasupais, Mohaves, Pimas, Maricopas, Yumas, Papagos and Apaches, of which there were several groups or divisions. The Navajos perpetrated several massacres in the early days, but it was not long before all the Indians except the Apaches had been subdued.

First Autoist—I feel that I have lived in vain.
Second Autoist—How so?

Tricky and cruel, the Apaches held out for many years against the inroads of the whites upon their ancient hunting grounds. Such leaders as Cochise, Geronimo and Natchez led the Apaches against famous American generals like Nelson A. Miles and George Crook. A reward of $5,000 was once offered for Apache Kid, but was never claimed.

Up to 1874 the Indians terrorized large sections of the territory and kept out immigration and capital. In that year all the Apaches that could be rounded up were placed on the San Carlos reservation. It was supposed that an end had been put to the Indian troubles, but raids in 1882 and 1883 shook the feeling of security.

In the year 1883 there were 25,000 Indians in the territory, occupying lands reserved for them by the general government. The government was supporting about five thousand of them.

In 1882 the Chiricahua, White Mountain and San Carlos Apaches broke out in open rebellion. On the morning of April 19, Geronimo's band broke out at San Carlos and after killing the chief of police started up the valley of the Gila, killing at least sixty white settlers.

Then for six years Arizona was the scene of a merciless Indian war. In 1883 Geronimo became chief of the Apaches. He massacred settlers and burned ranches almost at will. After each raid he would escape to the mountain fastnesses of Mexico where the United States soldiers could not pursue him. Finally permission was secured from Mexico for soldiers to cross the frontier in pursuit of the Indians. In 1888 Captain Lawton, serving under Gen. Nelson A. Miles, surrounded Geronimo's warriors and made them prisoners. The whole tribe was taken to Florida and later transferred to Fort Sill, Okla., as prisoners of war.

There Geronimo remained until his death, three or four years ago, and the remainder of his band is still there. All desire to return to Arizona and it is possible that sometime the government may see fit to grant them their wish. Today they are as peaceful and placid as any Indians, having seen the folly of resisting the whites.

Of course there were bad men and gun men in Arizona in her early days. Stage and train robberies were by no means uncommon and excited only passing comment. Finally train robberies became so frequent that in 1889 the penalty for that crime was fixed at death. In the same year the legislature passed a law providing a fine of $25 for any one carrying concealed weapons.

It was not until after the penalty for train robbing had been fixed at death that Arizona became really peaceful. Now there is no train robbing any more, and as the day of the stage coach is practically passed the stage-robbing is extinct.

Until 1907 everything was wide open in Arizona. Gambling was unrestricted and, except where municipal laws prevented, women and minors were allowed in saloons. In that year the legislature responded to an urgent message from Governor Kibbey and to pronounced public sentiment and passed a rigid anti-gambling law that closed such games.

Starling Going South.
Reports received at the department of agriculture state that the English starling, whose progress in this country has been watched with some uneasiness, has got as far south as New-Port News.

This is one of the imported birds that it is feared will rank with the English sparrow as a pest. It does no particular harm in England, but it was introduced into Australia a number of years ago and there it has been a serious menace to the wheat crop.

Its only redeeming feature is that it is a much larger bird than the English sparrow, and therefore likely to be easier to handle. The birds were started in this country in New England and worked south slowly. For several seasons they seemingly were stationary in the latitude of Philadelphia.

Brazil Fosters Agriculture.
During the first six months of last year the Brazilian government distributed sixty-one tons of seed among farmers and institutions besides a number of books containing advice

Legend of the Niger.

There is a curious legend connected with the source of the Niger. Tradition says that a devil lives inside the rock whence the river springs. The natives are very superstitious, and greatly fear this demon, who is supposed to kill any individual who dares to look at the source. Hence, when showing a stranger the spot, they cover up their faces and walk backward in the direction of the source, pointing toward it with hand outstretched behind the back.—Wide World Magazine.

Have in Mind Only Success.

Look out for thoughts of dissatisfaction. They will destroy your possibilities for bringing contentment into your life. Think success and live it. You cannot fail if you hold the thought of success like a banner held aloft, before you. Yesterday is gone. Forget it and everything connected with it that will not help you to get further along in your ambition to be wiser, better, and nearer lasting happiness for yourself and others.

Peculiar Choice of Fiance.

A pretty young woman in France recently chose as her fiance a hardened criminal who had been condemned to death. She herself was serving a sentence in prison for theft, and when she heard that a fellow prisoner was to be guillotined she immediately petitioned the authorities to be allowed to wed him. Her strange request was not granted.

Municipal Golf Course.

A piece of waste land near Canoe Lake which has long been an eyesore has been leased at a nominal rent by the Ryde Corporation, and Charles Jacobs, the professional to the Royal Isle of Wight Golf club, has been engaged to lay out a miniature nine-hole course, where he and his sons will give lessons.—London Daily Mail.

Police Dog Dies on Duty.

The staff of the police station of St. Denys, one of the roughest of the outlying suburbs of Paris, are heart-broken at the loss of their principal police dog, Charlot, who had to be killed as the result of terrible injuries inflicted by apaches.—Paris correspondence London Daily Times.

Technically Explained.

A Rockford (Ill.) boy, while at the table the other day asked what a spinster was. Before anyone else had time to explain his ten-year-old brother condescendingly said: "Hub! Don't you know? A spinster is a woman who ain't married to her husband."

Work for Hair Dresser.

Sir Edward Sugden, a celebrated English lawyer, who was elected to parliament in 1835, having heard that he had been turned into ridicule for being the son of a hairdresser, replied: "So I am, and I come into the house to give a dressing to the Whigs."

Snails a Plague in Ceylon.

The region about Bernwala, in Ceylon, was not long ago afflicted with a veritable plague of snails. Though these animals are extraordinarily prolific, they do not often appear in sufficiently large numbers to make themselves obnoxious.

OIL NEWS.

Brownlee and Clements are reported to have a thirty foot sand in their well two miles south of Electra at 486 feet.

The Developers' Oil Co., is now down about 900 feet in its No. 2 well at Petrolia and drilling is going on both day and night. No. 2 is at the southeast corner of the tract and just across the line the Producers Co., is putting up a derrick to offset. The Developers Co., has made a location for No. 3 on the line with their No. 1 and Producers No. 9 on the Byers.

The Five Rivers Oil Co., is making a good record at Electra. It has been on the ground only 70 days but has already completed two wells that are now pumping, has the drills going in two other holes and has two more wells contracted.

About the Well at Childress
The drillers of the Cooper well have given out reports that a showing of oil was encountered last Saturday morning and on that afternoon at 2 o'clock and on that afternoon at 2 o'clock a gas blow-out occurred which sent water and mud half way to the top of the derrick.

Tuesday evening another oil sand was passed through, it being about one foot in thickness. The oil made a better showing than that found Saturday.

The well is now down over 400 feet the drillers being in rock today. There has been over two hundred feet of rock since the well was begun. It is being predicted by the oil men that a good showing of oil will be found at 700 feet, possible 100 barrels production.

Jim Land is leasing in the Tell community. He has secured about 18,000 acres which he will transfer to the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association. They will have it developed.—Childress Index.

A number of shallow wells have been brought in at Electra within the past ten days. One well at 80 feet is producing five barrels a day. Other wells ranging in depth from 250 to 520 feet are producing all the way from five to twenty barrels a day.

The ten inch drill is being set in the Benson Oil Company's well in Woodruff Heights at Electra and it is expected to drill into the deep sand today.

A shipment of 12,000 bales of cotton was made from Port Arthur last week. This is the second largest exportation of cotton ever made from that port.

Robatch's Mineral Water.
Is highly recommended by physicians and patrons who have tested its merits for indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, kidney and bladder trouble. This water stimulates the secretion of the stomach, increases digestion and favors a more complete absorption of the food and prevents the action of germs that cause typhoid and other infectious diseases.

This water can be purchased at the wells or delivered in jugs or cases.

This well is located one mile south of Alamo school building, in Floral Heights, two deliveries daily morning and afternoon. G. J. Robatch, Owner. Phone 1601-1 long-4 shorts.

THE IMPORTANCE OF PURE FRESH DRUGS

is seldom realized by many people. Even in good health you cannot use decayed vegetables or meats. It would not strengthen you as your food is intended to do. Neither do you care for fruits or flowers unless they are fresh. You do not take drugs unless you are already ill, so it is even of more importance that they should be pure and fresh.

We give you the best and freshest drugs that money can buy. All prescriptions are filled by a skilled pharmacist. We ask for your business on these principles. Isn't it good policy for you to patronize us on them?

A REAL CIGAR

Is one of man's greatest delights when the said cigar is in proper condition. But did you ever get landed on with a smoke stick in which the tobacco was right, the name was right and the price was right but the condition was wrong? Hooley-Gee, you get a mouth full of trash with every puff. Or may be it was soggy, damp, and you could not get it to burn with gasoline, and you draw a white blister on the back of your neck trying to coax a little more steam out of it.

To worry with this kind of an alleged cigar is a pleasure, nix, with your fingers crossed, and if you continue to joke your smoke taste with spoiled cabbage you are liable to get pinched for maintaining a nuisance. You can get the right cigar in the right condition at the right price at the right place. Thousands of them at the

We Have Gone Speed Crazy

By WARREN S. STONE,
Chief of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers

As a nation have gone SPEED CRAZY, and the railroads, against their better judgment, are putting on limited trains to meet the demands of those who would dart from city to city in what half a century ago would have seemed the twinkling of an eye. And the strange part of it is that the people most anxious to get to some place in a hurry are really IN NO HURRY AT ALL. More belong to the leisure than to the business class.

Who pays the PRICE FOR THIS SPEED? The ENGINEER. Out of every hundred men who become firemen seventeen graduate to the freight locomotive cab; six live to haul passenger trains.

If there is anything in Darwin's theory it is proved by the locomotive engineer. He is the survivor of the fittest, and you can't make him in a day.

SPEED IS THE LATTER DAY CRY OF THE ROADS AND OF THE PUBLIC. IT IS SPEED, SPEED, SPEED! IF THE ENGINEER IS LATE WITHOUT A GOOD EXCUSE THEY PULL HIM FROM THE CAB AND REPLACE HIM WITH A MAN WHO HAS GOING QUALITIES IN HIM.

JUST WHAT YOU WANT

For your summer outings. We have a large lot of Da Costa Havana Cigars packed in tins of twenty-five cigars each. These cigars are full Havana fillers and full Havana wrappers and are really in a class by themselves. We want every smoker in Wichita Falls to own a box of these cigars; and in order to bring it about, we are willing for a limited time to sell them for Ninety Cents a box. Throw one on you kit the next time you go fishing; and set one on your mantle at home. Not a headache in a box full
