All exes and townspeople are invited to a pep rally in the school gymnasium at 1:45 PM. Afterwards, at 2:30, a reception will honor the ex-students in the Home Economics Cottage.

A parade, which is expected to be one of the "best and largest," will begin at 5:30. Three divisions will be classified in the parade: school, club, and business. A trophy for the best entry in each division will be presented before the Olton-Hereford football game.

Judges for the parade entries will be Harold Dean Carson, Rev. Russell McAnally, and Mrs. Tom Witten.

All entries are to assemble by 4 PM, on Ave. G., near Trayler Shamrock Station, according to Linda Clark, chairman for the Student Council.

The parade procession will turn east on Highway 70; turn south down main street; turn east at the stop light and circle the square back to the stop light; and turn by the City Hall; turn back north and disband between Junior High and High School.

Floats entered in the parade so far are Pep Squad, FHA, FFA, New Century Study Club, Ann's Flower and What-Not, Boy Scouts, Olton Recreation Center, Olton Study Club, and Lions Club.

Olton High School Mustang Band and Junior High Cadet Band will march in the parade.

From 6 to 8 PM, the Olton Parent-Teacher Association will serve a dinner for the public in the school lunchroom. Proceeds will go to help in constructing the community tennis courts.

Menu for the P-TA dinner is baked ham, salad, potato salad, relishes, hot rolls, tea and coffee, and fruit cobbler. Plates will sell for $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children's plates.

Ex-students will then be entertained with the football game between Olton and Hereford, beginning at 8 PM, at Olton Memorial Stadium.

The 1953 and 1954 OHS classes have cancelled their reunion until Nov. 7, after the Olton-Abernathy game here. Other ex-OHSers classes are planning coffees, teas, and get-togethers after the Homecoming game tomorrow night.

OLTON SCHOOL PIONEER

Mrs. Eldon Franks, above, was a member of the first class to graduate Olton High School, in 1923. There were nine in the class. Mrs. Franks recalls 1923 as also being the year busses were purchased for students. They had no glass windows, but had openings covered with ducking. They were also constructed of wood. Olton schools, she says, were accredited in 1921, the same year the local P-TA was organized. The OHS pioneer also recalls students, in her day, marched into and from the school house—to the music of a piano. Mrs. Franks is a third grade teacher here now.

City Approves Plan To Widen Highway 70

Olton City Commissioners Monday voted to approve plans and specifications for widening Highway 70 through the city, and assist in procuring right-of-way for the project.

In a called meeting of the Commission and officials of Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, the project originated by the Chamber took another step toward becoming a realization.

The motion submitted by Commissioner A. D. Adams stated that the ". . . City of Olton approve drawings, plans and specifications prepared by the Texas Highway Department for widening Highway 70 through Olton, and the city agrees to assist in procuring right-of-way deeds for proposed widening of Highway 70. The City will also act as depository for curb and gutter funds, to cost an estimated $2 per lineal foot."

The motion was seconded by Commissioner Major James, and then voted approved.

Other members of the Commission present were Commissioner Carrol Cox, Mayor D. Y. Ray, and City Attorney Frank Day.

Attorney Day, during a discussion of the proposed project, stated that in his opinion the widening of the highway would double property evaluation when completed.

OCCA members present at the meeting included Ralph Glover, chairman of the highway widening project, Glen Exter, Basil Sherman and Russell Grimes.

A short discussion was held by the Commission on a telephone franchise request by General Telephone Co., but was tabled until the next regular meeting.

Mustangs-Whiteface Annual Clash Friday

A determined herd of Whitefaces will invade the Mustang corral tomorrow evening with an eye on spoiling Olton High's homecoming celebration.

Hereford, under the first-year tutoring of Coach Bobby Williams, has failed to chalk up a win in three starts this season. But the winless record far from indicates the ability of the Whitefaces to break open a game at any given point.

Coach Williams comes from a long line of winning teams, both as player and coach. He was a star lineman for the famous Blackhawks of Phillips, and, after a successful tour of Texas Tech where he lettered four years, he returned to assist under the unbeatable Chesty Walker.

Williams replaced Jack Harris at the Herd's helm last spring.

12 Lettermen Back

Hereford has 12 lettermen returning from the none-too-successful 1957 edition. Only one is not playing, fullback C. D. Fitzgerald. The husky workhorse had the unfortunate experience of shooting himself in the foot last summer while snake hunting in a canoe, and is not expected to see action until near conference play.

Hereford defeated Olton last year, 18-13.

Returning to the HHS football squad this year are Durward Jacobs, quarterback; Fitzgerald; James Texas, fullback; Donnie Renfro, halfback; Billy Dirks, quarterback; Ron Cook, end; Terry Hodges, tackle; Gary Roland, center; Pete Plank, guard; Danny Martin, halfback; Butch Connally, end; and Steve Slagle, end.

The Herd has thus far dropped contests to Canyon, Dimmitt and last week, 27-6 to Plainview Improvement has been shown in each game, both in defense and offense.

The Mustangs, on the other hand have taken measure of two foes in four starts. They have defeated Petersburg and Hale Center, while taking red-faced drubbings from Floydada and Littlefield.

Olton, as of last Friday night, has a "new look" in its lineup. Changed from starting quarterback is sophomore Robert Priest, who has weight to go along with his speed and is knocking heads from a guard position.

Hall New Quarterback

Taking Priest's place is experienced senior Arno Hall, who moves up from fullback. Hall has been doing almost all the passing this season anyway, and his running has not been hampered, according to the Hale Center game, in taking the position behind center.

Coy Carlisle saw most of the action Friday from Hall's vacated slot.

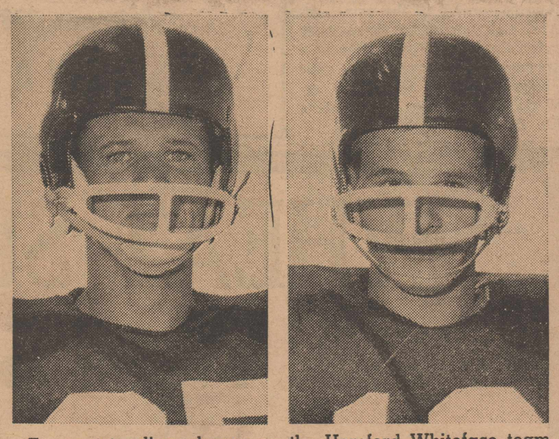

Giving an example of Hereford's power, the Whitefaces tied Plainview in the first down department Friday night, 12-12. Though the Bulldogs racked up a net 193 yards rushing, Hereford ran for a net 112.

Plainview is a class 4-A school, while Hereford is 3-A. Olton, by the way, is 2-A.

Punting is a catagory where the Whitefaces really shine, and likewise keep out of hot spots when needed. Senior end Slagle—who was a starter on the basketball team that played in the state tournament last year—averaged 33.7 yards per try in four punts against Plainview.

Kickoff time at Mustang Stadium will be 8 PM.

WHITEFACE STARTERS

Two outstanding players on the Hereford Whiteface team who will play here tomorrow evening are Steve Slagle, left, and James Brogdon. Slagle is a 6-3, 160-pound senior end who also excells in basketball. Brogdon, a quarterback, is also a senior and weighs 150 pounds.

Cadets Place 1st In South Plains Fair Competition

The Cadet Band gained honors for Olton at Lubbock Monday.

Competing with two Class B high school bands, instructor Fred Stockdale's junior high students emerged victorious in the South Plains Fair competition.

For winning first place, the band was awarded $100.

The win was the first for an Olton Cadet Band. Monday was the only time this season the band had appeared before public, other than the Shetland Pony Day parade down Olton's Main Street.

Stockdale took 80 members of the organization to Lubbock.

Floydada and Abernathy won first place in Class AA competition. Only two places were awarded in judging.

New Deal and Whiteface high schools were defeated by the Cadets in competition.

Both groups will enter competition in Eastern New Mexico University Homecoming judging Oct. 11. The Cadets, however, will be judged along with four or five other junior high organizations in the Portales, NM, event.

Olton High won first place there in 1956, but did not compete last year.

Competition Runs High In Contest

For the second consecutive week, "tie breakers" had to be utilized to determine winners of The Enterprise weekly football contest.

The first week, three contestants were tied for the number of right-wrong selections. This time, four were tied—Bill Shelby, Eldon Franks, Howard Hall and G. T. Sides.

Franks, entering for the first time, emerged the winner. Shelby, who placed third the first week, was second, and Hall won over Sides for third place. All had 14 correct, four wrong.

The judging for first narrowed down to two in the first round of "tie breakers" judging. Shelby and Franks had selected the winners of all three games, Sides and Hall had missed one each.

Then the point spread had to be considered to pick the week's winner. In the Olton-Hale Center game, there was a 26-point spread. Franks had 14, the closest, and Shelby had 12. In the Hart-Boys Ranch game there was a two point spread. Franks had two, Shelby had eight. The two games gave Franks the win.

Entries are pouring in from all over the country. The contest now has entries from Tulia, Plainview, Hart, Hart Camp, Hale Center, Victoria and Fort Worth.

OCCA Elects New Directors

Six new members of the Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture board of directors were elected at a meeting Thursday, Sept. 25.

Elected from farmer nominees were E. D. Harper, Tom Ross and Dub Hall. Businessmen elected were Fred Thompson, Herman Meyer and Joe Harper.

Hall and J. Harper were nominated from the floor.

Because only 24 were able to attend the meeting due to weather conditions, OCCA president Don Williams postponed the plan of work portion of the meeting until another could be held when more could attend.

Entertainment was furnished prior to the business meeting by the Olton High stage band. A movie "What is a Chamber of Commerce?" was shown.

L. H. McAdams In Ticket Sale Lead

L. H. McAdams is leading in tickets sales presently under promotion by the Mustang Club. The tickets are for a color television give-away at the Olton-Abernathy football game.

Members of the club compared sales results for the week at their meeting Monday evening in the high school building.

After refreshments were served, Coach Joe Turner reviewed past game results and aspects of tomorrow night's game with Hereford. Then the film of the Olton-Hale Center game was shown.

OLTON SCHOOLS OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Olton Schools next week will observe Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11.

Highlighting the week observation, a contest for school students to include essays and posters will be judged. The event is sponsored by Olton Volunteer Fire Department and Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

High school students will compete in essay only, while two divisions will be classified in elementary and junior high schools for posters. Poster competition will be divided in groups of first through fourth grades and fifth through eighth grades.

Prizes for the top three judged in each three divisions will be awarded in respective amounts of $5, $3, and $2.

Essays and posters will be turned into the principals of students' respective schools no later than Tuesday. Members of the OVFD will be the judges of the posters and will aid in the essay judging.

All posters shall have the name of the pupil and his grade in school on the back of the entry only. Posters with name and grade on the front will be disqualified.

Chief Comments

In commenting on Fire Prevention Week, OVFD Chief Tom Smith asked the question "How many fire hazards are there in each individual's home?"

"Not many people can answer that question fully," he said. "But most people are living with one or more of the conditions that cause fires—they cause more than half-million home fires every year in the United States, according to National Fire Protection Association records."

Surest way to get rid of these dangerous conditions, says the Chief, is a fire department inspection of the peoples' homes. A fireman knows where fires start and what breeds them, he pointed out.

Some of the hazards are defective wiring, improper fuses, frayed extension cords, or extension cords under rugs. Rubbish that piles up in closets, attics, basements and yards can be treacherous. Paint and flammable liquids carelessly stored may start a fire.

Other causes of fire that kill some 6,000 people in their homes every year include defective chimney and heating and cooking equipment, ignorance about the use of cleaning fluids.

Careless smoking and bad habits with matches are at the very top of the list, he said.

Home Inspections

During Fire Prevention Week in Olton there will be an accelerated program of inspections by the OFVD, Chief Smith says. He urges residents to take advantage of this opportunity.

Meanwhile, the Chief added, families on their own account can do some checking in their homes, and rid themselves of many of the obvious hazards.

"The goal in Olton is every home a fire safe home," Smith concluded.

HARVEST RESUMES OVER MOST OF OLTON AREA

Optimism runs high over the Olton area as harvest season is about to get into full swing.

After a crop failure due to weather in 1957, hearts dropped slightly when drizzling clouds moved in to stay a few days, releasing over an inch of moisture in all.

However, the clouds began breaking up Wednesday and the weather forecast has been for cooler, but drier days ahead.

Reports coming into The Enterprise office indicate that area farmers were not goint to lose any time in getting their crops harvested this year. Some farmers are reported to have had crews picking cotton Monday afternoon, as well as Tuesday and Wednesday.

Grain sorghum fields have been stilled, due to muddy conditions. But a large majority of the acreage is ready to be cut, authorities report, and only a day or two of dry weather is needed before combines will be moving in full mass.

Survey Of Bales

A survey of gins in Olton and at Circle revealed 1,934 bales of cotton had been ginned by Wednesday afternoon—and several more were expected by presstime.

Olton's three grain elevators reported having taken in 20-million -pounds -of grain sorghums by mid-afternoon Wednesday. The managers reported several farmers were going to attempt cutting late that afternoon.

Cotton grading, as gin operators reported, is far higher than average this year—or at least was before the rains fell. One gin operator said the cotton he had received had been graded at around 75 to 80 percent white and only 20 to 25 percent having black spot.

Another gin operator said the cotton he had received was avering about 50-50 white and black spot, which still is a good, higher-than-average, grading.

Laborers, gin operators report, will be in big demand after a couple of dry-weather days. One man stated he believed several thousand pickers would be needed within a week, when cotton picking gets into full action.

Braceros have been arriving in the area by the bus and truck loads during the past two weeks, and several hundred are still expected to arrive.

Bids To Be Opened Oct. 16 by School

Longhorns Come From Behind; Upset Strong Cowboys, 14-12

Staging a comeback, Hart's Longhorns defeated Boys Ranch at Longhorn Stadium Friday night, 14-12.

The Longhorns kicked off to Boys Ranch and on the third play from scrimmage, the Cowboys crossed the goal line on a 10-yard pass received by halfback Bob Martinez. The attempted conversion failed.

After receiving the kickoff and returning it to Boys Ranch 45-yard line, the Longhorns attempted a pass, only to have it intercepted and returned for the second Cowboy touchdown by linebacker Eddie Wallen. The try for extra point was blocked.

With only five minutes deep in the first quarter, and the visitors 12 points in the lead, the game had the appearance of a runaway —but the Longhorns still had fight yet to use.

Starting a drive from the Hart 30, halfback J. D. Myrick punched his way across from the five to score. The try for extra point was no good.

Scoreless Quarter

Though the third quarter was scoreless, action ran high. Boys Ranch advanced to the Hart five-yard line once, and Hart penetrated the Cowboys' 10 twice.

Then in the fourth quarter, the Cowboys again advanced to Hart's five, but were held and the Longhorns took over again on downs.

On the first play, Hart broke Gene Varner on a dive play, and he went 75 yards before being caught on the visitors' 20.

Myrick, on a quick-opener, went for 15; then Verner hit for five and the second Hart TD.

Winning Run

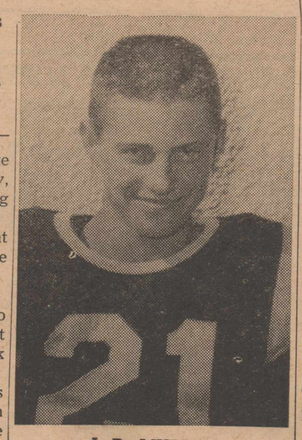

It was Myrick's run for two points after touchdown that put the game on ice, as Hart took the lead, 14-12.

After taking the kickoff, Boys Ranch attempted a pass which was intercepted by Myrick. He returned it to the Cowboy 20.

Hart threatened to score again, but the final whistle blew before enough yardage could be eaten away.

Longhorns seeing action in the game were J. D. Myrick, Ralph Myrick, Larry Lee, Varner, Ronnie Farris, Mando Gonzales, Donald Clark, Ronald Clark, Eufemio Rubalcaba, Joe Webb, Jimmy Sharpe, Thomas Holster, Nick Zapata, Gene Johnson, Bob Bowden, John Smith, and Kenneth Jennings.

NOTICED AROUND OHS

Margaret McBroom is quite— and oh, so very nice . . .

The Sophomore Class is leading the Junior Class with 1150 votes in the Annual King and Queen contest. (Seniors and Freshman have no votes, while the Juniors are behind only 150 votes.)

James Maltby refuses publicity.

Elton O'Neal and Nelda Green are together quite a bit . . .

Judy Moore, Maenette Dennis, and others without an escort to every class . . .

(Course, their boyfriends have graduated.)

Mr. Caley has been sick . . . but is back in OHS this week . .

m-t

Barbara Kirkpatrick is telling everyone that the band-aid across her forehead was caused by a spill Monday—from the top of the ferris wheel while at the Lubbock Fair. Come on, Barbara, is that really what happened?

m-t

James Hukill is driving a brown two-tone Chevrolet to school and around Olton. Yours, James?

m-t

David Hamm is for intergration of the sexes! It's up to you 'ole boy!

m-t

Still not in agreeance with me are Phil Neinast, Tommie Wilson, Gary Lobaugh, Gary Lawson; L. H. McAdams, Royce Bodkin; Roy Neal Jones, Stump Mathis, Jim Moss, Jarold Simmons, Gary DeBerry; Shirley Venable, Charlene Taylor. (They couldn't be! Didn't they act as usual this past Saturday night—that is, one carload of boys, one carload of girls, etc?)

m-t

Be sure and buy a copy of The Student Chronicle which will be out for the first time tomorrow (Friday). The staff enjoyed putting out the paper, and hope that you enjoy reading it.

m-t

Sydney Hair's party after the football game was well attended Friday night. I was told that at least 40 persons enjoyed the affair.

m-t

Many of our OHS students attended the Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock Monday. Noticed that everyone looked a little droopy, green around the gills, sleepy, sun-burned, and just plain sick Tuesday morning. Good thing that fairs just happen once a year. This thing could prove to be disastrous! (For obvious reasons.)

m-t

Welcome, OHS exes, back to Olton High School!

m-t

Hurray for the Mustang football team. They really played a fine, all-around, good, (and any other adjective which is suitable is left to your own discretion as to what you want) game. YEA, MUSTANGS!! Let's go district, but first, BEAT HEREFORD!!

m-t

Homecoming finally made it here! Don't know why this occasion seems to bring tears more readily than ever when the OHS school song is played. Makes you realize that pretty soon you'll be an OHS ex, and somehow, that isn't the happiest thought that is possible.

YEA, MUSTANGS!! BEAT HEREFORD!!

THE FIRST IS NO MORE

Because of unforeseen business requirements, Joe Wood, Olton's first Chamber of Commerce And Agriculture manager, had to change his resignation date from Oct. 20 to Sept. 27. It was approved by the board of directors at a meeting Monday. The board then hired Mrs. Tom Carlisle to manage the OCCA office until another full-time manager can be obtained. A Lubbock man was interviewed at a meeting Monday afternoon, but no action was taken. Wood is entering the insurance business. (STAFF PHOTO)

Judy Carol Goyne And Gwen Perry Culp Exchange Wedding Vows In Plainview

Mrs. Gwen Perry (Penny) Culp

Plainview First Presbyterian Church was the scene Saturday, September 27, for the uniting in marriage of Miss Judy Carol Goyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Goyne, Plainview, to Gwen Perry (Penny) Culp, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Culp, Plainview.

Rev. Frank Travis, officiating clergyman, read the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with an archway of candelabra with white tapers and flanked with comodore foliage and arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. The bridal aisle was marked with white satin bows.

Musical Program

Miss Betty Meinecke, organist, played the traditional nuptial preludes and the wedding processional and recessional. Miss Meinecke accompanied Mrs. Joe Ray Culp, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, as she sang, "Whither Thy Goest", "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" and the ceremony prayer, "The Lord's Prayer."

Joe Ray Culp served his brother as best man. Ushers were Jerry Atkins, Tommy Atkins, Jerry Hodges, and Lowell Whitlock, all of Plainview, and Richard Cope, Odessa, and Tommy Bell, Lubbock.

Ronnie Smith, Olton, cousin of the bride, and Jerry Goyne, bride's brother of Plainview, lighted the candles.

Miss Vicki Goyne, Plainview, was her sister's maid-of-honor. She was attired in a pale yellow cotton sheath, featuring a Sabrina neckline and a full gathered overskirt of net. She wore a matching head-piece of horsehair bows and tiny yellow rosettes with seed pearl centers. She carried a bouquet, styled fan-shaped of white ostrich plumes, of yellow pompom chrysanthemums and satin streamers.

Misses Lynda Childress and Sandy Miller, both of Plainview, and Mrs. Tommy Bell of Lubbock were bridesmaids. They were attired in identical frocks, including their headdresses and bouquets, to that of the honor attendant's.

Father Gives

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an original gown of white imported Petit Point lace, designed with a portrait neckline outlined with escalloped lace holding criss-cross yoke of pleated tulle. Her shirred fitted bodice was accented with a point at the center front waistline and tiny shirred sleeves, completed by gauntlets ending in points over the hands.

A magnificent skirt of panels of lace fully shirred with a front inset of pleated nylon tulle and a peplum of lace cascaded over the hips into a deep point at the center back. The full skirt of tulle and lace over net and satin swept into a long and graceful train.

Her waist-length veil was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Mothers Wear Lace

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Goyne selected a rust lace sheath dress. She wore a matching sequin hat, shoes and gloves. Her corsage was of yellow feathered carnations. Mrs. Culp, the bridegroom's mother, chose a navy blue lace dress, white satin hat, white gloves, and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlor, immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white embroidered cutwork, grass linen cloth over yellow and centered with the bridesmaids bouquets and yellow tapers.

Miss Lynda Campbell, Plainview, presided over the guest register. Misses Keila West and Patsy Jones, Plainview, poured the punch and Miss Carolyn Cooper, Plainview, cut the yellow and white tiered cake.

After a wedding trip to Red River, NM, the couple will be at home at 2306 W. 11th, Plainview, where the bridegroom is employed by Southwestern Public Service Co.

For traveling, Mrs. Culp wore a brown and beige tweed two-piece boxy suit, lizard shoes and bag, and beige accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Graduates Of Plainview

Both Mr. and Mrs. Culp are Plainview High School graduates, where Mrs. Culp was a cheerleader her senior year. The bride attended Watson's Business College and is employed at Toby's Advertising Co., as a secretary.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operafed a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hied himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked — in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again — but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby — especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

MUSTANG DEFENSE TOO MUCH FOR OWLS

Defensive action such as above kept Hale Center's Owls in the hole most of Friday night, as the Mustangs won, 34-8. Owl halfback Phillip Richardson, center with ball, is attempting to skirt his right end and quarterback Donald Dollar is in the process of taking Randee Buchenau out of play. It didn't work, however, and the Olton sophomore halfback stopped Richardson after a yard gain. Action toop place late in the second quarter. (STAFF PHOTO)

OWLS CHOKED (34-8) BY MUSTANG HEEL DUST

Hale Center won't forget Royce Bodkin for a long time to come.

Olton's speedy senior halfback raced to four touchdowns and passed once for extra points in the Friday night Mustang routing, 34-8, of the Owls.

All four of Bodkin's touchdown runs were around his own left end. They were on distances of four, six, 11 and 31 yards. He also passed to end L. H. McAams for two points after touchdown.

The win gave Olton's football team a 2-2 record for the season, having lost to Littlefield and Floydada, and winning only over Petersburg in the season opener.

Olton scored in all four frames Friday.

So powerful was the defensive and offensive play of Olton's, the Mustangs were able to almost completely outshine the city's neighbor to the southwest.

For instance, the Mustang backs banged out 242 net yards on the ground, while the Owls were held to 61 net yards rushing. Olton also gained 54 more yards via aerials, to Hale Center's 44. Olton mustered 13 first downs, to Hale Center's 10.

The Owls netted only seven yards rushing in the first quarter, gained 55 in the second and 24 in the third. Then in the fourth, they were held to a minus 25 yards.

Winfrey Shipp, 195-pound senior Owl fullback, played the biggest part of Hale Center's game. The hard-running back scored in the second quarter by plowing his way four yards over center. Then he turned around and chalked up two more tallies by running over right tackle for the conversion.

The Mustangs, after taking the opening kickoff, marched all the way from their own 25 yard line to light up the score board, taking two minutes and eight plays to make the distance. The drive was sparked by a 35-yard jaunt by Bodkin. Arno Hall ran for the conversion successfully.

New Mustang Look

Friday night was the first time this season the fans have witnessed anyone but sophomore Robert Priest in the quarterback slot. Hall was moved to the position, most of the game, and Priest, in the meantime, filled in effectively as a defensive guard.

Coach Joe Turner utilized his entire bench during the last half of play. Hardly any difference could be seen when the second platoon was in action, too—said one fan in the stands.

After the Owls had scored in the second period of play, and kicked off, Priest took a short kick and returned the ball five yards to the 50.

Hall struck his right end for nine yards. Then Bodkin legged it around his left end on a reverse all the way to the goal line, but the play was called back on a clipping penalty.

So, starting from the Owl 28, the Mustang marvel Bodkin scampered over the goal line five plays later from the six.

Hale Center took the second half opening kickoff, ran two plays and picked up a first down, then fumbled. Mustang halfback Coy Carlisle recovered the loose ball.

Hall ran for two yards. Bodkin took a pitchout from Hall, shook off three would-be tacklers, and continued until he had crossed the goal line, 31 yards later. The third quarter was still 10:02 minutes unlived.

After handling the ball on two series of downs and recovering two Owl fumbles—Hall and David Hamm doing the chores—halfback John Wayne Hair scampered over from the two, less than seven minutes after Bodkin had scored.

After Bodkin had scored again in the fourth quarter, with 9:50 minutes still remaining to play, Hale Center controlled the ball most of the time against the Mustang substitutes. Olton had the ball twice, losing it once on a fumble and again on downs.

This & That

BY MYRT LOMAN

Are you not happier each day that you live in Hart?

So much progress is being made now. Just a few of the many things are the opening of a new modern drug store; the paving of THREE of our streets (and they were so badly needed); repair on the old paving; a new fire truck; two new houses in town, one belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Claud Cox, the other Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Hindman; another new home being built and to be moved in soon is for Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McLain, then Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Smith are remodeling their home.

A lot of trailer homes are in our city now with occupants here for the harvest.

Just a GRIPE of MINE and I am GUILTY. We welcome these people to our town, but do WE WELCOME THEM into OUR HOMES and CHURCHES? Am afraid we do not invite them to CHURCH EVEN ONE TIME. Yes, I am guilty of not inviting them, but let's each invite some of them to attend church with us next Sunday.

Have you been to the Hart Cemetery recently?

A lot of work has been done out there and I hear by grapevine that Glen Reed and some of his helpers are responsible for the cleaning. It looks so nice.

We do not intend to be neglectful of this work, but is so easy to postpone until tomorrow some of our tasks.

Let's each of us be a COMMITTEE of ONE to help Glen keep the Cemetery clean and pretty.

The Progressive Home Demonstration wishes to THANK each of you for your help and cooperation in the success of the enchilada supper last Thursday night.

Thanks especially to Mamie Rich for working for THE HART BEAT for me during my absence. I think she (with your help) did a wonderful job. I am truly GRATEFUL to all!

I enjoyed her column "RICH TALK". Can use some more of that.

Remember I am just your REPORTER, so will you please call, 2372, and give me your news? We are a small city, but we are growing, so let's ALL KEEP THE HART BEAT BEATING.

McAdams Joins Panhandle A&M A Capella Choir

Kirk McAdams is a member of Panhandle A&M 80-piece A Capella choir this year.

The announcement was made this week by Milton Bradley, Professor of Music and Director of the Goodwell, Okla. institution.

McAdams will take part in the Music-Speech Dept. production of Ridhard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein's musical comedy "Carousel" on Nov. 12, 13 and 14. This is the most widely produced of the Rogers and Hammerstein musicals and has enjoyed a great deal of popularity both on the Broadway stage and as a motion picture.

The choir is also scheduling several trips to communities around the area, Mr. Bradley said.

Olton School Growth Noted In Feb., 1929

OHS PAPER, FEBRUARY, 1929—"Scientists tell us that one of the best evidences of life is growth. Applying this test to the Olton schools, we are led to believe that the Olton schools are very much alive.

"During the past eight years, the school has grown from an enrollment of one hundred, notwithstanding the fact that quite a part of the district has been given to other shcools during this time.

"Olton is justly proud of her educational achievements. Although we have no railroad connections, our schools rank with the schools of towns of several thousand population. The fact is our school is second to none on the plains or even in Texas.

"We have twenty-five units of affiliation and hold membership in the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. With the coming of a railroad, which we anticipate in the near future, the schools will easily double in enrollment in a year or two.

"The physical equipment of the Olton schools represent approximately $100,000. The indebtness is approximately $60,000.

"Free transportation has been maintained since 1922. The cost of transportation has been gradually lowered per capita from year to year. In 1925-26, the cost per child per month was about $2.50. For the year 1927-28, the cost was approximately $2.21 per child per month.

"The primary aim of the schools is to prepare the boys and girls of the community for useful citizenship. To this end the Olton School Board, faculty and physical equipment are dedicated."

"The Plainview Future Farmers performed the very impressive ceremony for the raising of Greenhands to Future Farmers. This is the highest FFA local degree, the next being the Lone Star Farmer degree, which is our state degree.

"The following Olton FFA boys were initiated: Morris Williams, Monroe Graham, Garland Sorley, W. T. Wozencraft, R. B. Poteet, Clovis Poteet, Burney Ragle, Redis Whitfield, Clarence Wright, and Travis Carruth.

"There were also nine from Springlake, 16 from Sudan, and six from Littlefield that were initiated at this time.

"After a short Federation meeting, Olton FFA members served refreshments to 86 members."

Golfing Rules Are Defined

(Editor's Note: This is a series of articles published in the interest of all golfers. The rules pertain not only to those of the Olton Recreation Center, but all golf courses in the nation—where local course rules do not conflict.)

RULE THREE—Maximum of Fourteen Clubs

Before starting a stipulated round a player shall select his clubs, which must not exceed 14 in number. He is limited to the clubs so selected for that round except that, without unduly delaying play, he may:—

a. If he started with fewer than 14, add as many as will bring his total to that number;

b. Replace a club which becomes unfit for play in the normal course of play.

The addition or replacement of a club or clubs must not be made by borrowing from any other person playing on the course.

Penalty for Rule Breach:

*Match play—Loss of each hole in which a violation of the Rule occurred;

Stroke play—Two strokes for each hole in which a violation of the Rule occurred.

*The penalty applies during the round or, in the discretion of the Committee, after the round even though a claim has not been made within the time limit stipulated in Rule 11-1.

Section IV
PROCEDURE

Rule 4—Agreement to Waive Rules Prohibited

Players shall not agree to exclude the operation of any Rule or Local Rule or to waive any penalty incurred.

Penalty for Breach of Rule: Match play—Disqualification of both sides; Stroke play—Disqualification of competitors concerned.

Rule 5—General Penalty

Except when otherwise provided for, the penalty for a breach of a Rule or Local Rule is: Match play—Loss of hole; Stroke play—Two strokes.

Rule 6—Match Play

WINNER OF HOLE—In match play the game is played by holes.

Except as otherwise provided for in the Rules, a hole is won by the side which holes its ball in the fewer strokes. In a handicap match the lower net score wins the hole.

HALVED HOLE—A hole is halved if each side holes out in the same number of strokes.

When a player has holed out and his opponent has been left with a stroke for the half, nothing that the play who has holed out can do shall deprive him of the half which he has already gained; but if the player thereafter incur any penalty, he shall concede the half of the hole to his opponent.

WINNER OF MATCH—A match (which consists of a stipulated round, unless otherwise decreed by the Committee) is won by the side which is leading by a number of holes remaining to be played.

Rule 7—Stroke Play

GENERAL RULE—The Rules for match play, so far as they are not at variance with specific Rules for stroke play, shall apply to stroke competitions. The converse is not true.

WINNER—The competitor who holes the stipulated round or rounds in the fewest strokes is the winner.

Rule 8—Practice

DURING PLAY OF HOLE—During the play of a hole, a player shall not play any practice stroke.

Penalty for Breach of Rule: Match play—Loss of hole; Stroke play—two strokes. On match play the penalty applies to the next hole.

STROKE PLAY: BEFORE ROUND—On any day of a stroke competition or play-off, a competitor shall not practice on the course before a round or a play-off except in the area defined by the Committee as practice ground or as the Committee may otherwise permit.

Penalty for Breach of Rule: Disqualification. (Duty of Committee to define practice ground).

Note: A practice swing is not a practice stroke and may be taken as any place on the course provided the player does not violate the Rules.

Wedding In The Family by Rosamond Du Jardin, Lippincott, $2.75.

This latest book by the teen-age girls' favorite author is about Tobey Heydon's wedding and her younger sister Midge's summer vacation.

Midge and her friend Judy plunge into the gay activities of a teen-age crowd at the resort where the family is spending the summer. And by the time school starts Midge has learned a valuable lesson about growing-up.

It seems as though the ink hardly gets dry on the first editions of every sensational book until you read that it is going to be made into a movie.

I had just finished reading Dr. Zhivago, picked up the Sunday paper, and I read that Jeff Chandler is hoping he can play the role of Dr. Zhivago in the forthcoming movie version.

This novel by the Russian poet, Boris Pasternak (published by Pantheon, $5.00) is not the kind of book you should read once over lightly. But that is exactly what I did, and consequently, I neither understand nor appreciate the biggest portion of the book.

However, I did absorb enough to know that the author is an artist with words. His description of people and places, of feelings and moods is expressed in beautiful, symbolic language charged with meaning.

And I have the feeling that this novel tells more of the true story of what has happened to people in Russia for the last fifty years than the history books or the newspapers do.

The fact that it was not published in Russia is evidence enough that Russia does not have freedom of the press.

The loss of personal freedom, the suppression of free enterprise, the destruction of creativity all are symbolized in the character of Dr. Zhivago.

One of the women he loved (neither well nor wisely) was Lara, and it was she who said, "It was then that untruth came down on our land of Russia. The main misfortune, the root of all the evil to come, was the loss of confidence in the value of one's own opinion. People imagined that it was out of date to follow their own moral sense, that they must all sing in chorus, and live by other people's notions, notions that were being crammed down everybody's throat. And then there arose the power of the glittering phrase, first the Tsarist, then the revolutionary."

What made much of this book interesting to me is that I found a parallel in much of our present day thinking right here at home. As long as there is ignorance, as long as there is hate and prejudice, as long as there is the overpowering urge to conform (or be popular at the expense of one's own convictions), as long as there is a disdain for truth and learning, then there is danger to freedom.

Jean is reading by the shadow box shelf reading light that David made for their den. The short black stool in the foreground, by the chair, was cut down and painted. It came from Mr. Van Doren's store, which is now Whittington's. On the wall, you see the old lantern; dust pan that's used for a planter; fire poke; etc. Jean covered the divan she sitting on with the "old-timey" material.

Jean went all the way to Childress to get this very old wash stand. (She tied it on top of the car to bring it home.) Above the wash stand is a platter that was Jean's grandparent's first platter when they were married.

The charm of antique furnishings is seen in this picture of of the old rocker (re-done in maple); the old butter churn (made into an ash tray); and the old crank wall telephone (made in 1912 and re-done in maple).

David Maxey Home Furnished With Antiques; Is Interesting, Livable, Elegant, Charming

BY SUE MAY

"It's here in the world if you hunt long enough. You'll find it."

Exclaimed Jean Maxey when telling of her search for antiques. Jean and David Maxey's living room and den are completely made up of antique furniture and Ethen Allen Maple furniture in nut-metg finish.

Jean and David have used such decorating know-how in re-finishing their antique pieces that the house has an air of elegance and charm that only old new-looking antiques can give a home.

At the present, Jean is in the market for an old wagon seat. She's planning to make a coffee table out of it for her den. Jean says "half of the fun of antiques is hunting for them."

When Jean wants a certain piece of antique furniture, she writes all her kin-folks, tells all her friends, writes antique shops. She says it has never failed to turn up somewhere. In their garage, which they have turned into a workshop, for instance, is a "hall tree" (resembles a wooden loveseat, with a high-up-to-the-ceiling mirror above it with long fingers for hanging hats). Jean says that as far as they have traced, the hall tree is over 300 years old and came from England. As a lot of antique furniture, the hall tree has exquisive carving on it.

The Maxey living room is especially warm and friendly with its antiques. A center of attraction in the room is an antique wash stand, which David redid to match the maple furniture. Jean has the wash pan, pitcher, and pot, all in white glass to go with the wash stand. Centered above the wash stand, is a platter which belonged to Jean's grandmother and grandfather. It was their first platter, Jean said, and she has decorated it with gold and has written their names and wedding date in gold on it.

Also in the living room is an old wall crank-type telephone (Jean and David made a planter out of it) which was made in 1912.

Other "old" things in the room are a butter mold, which belonged to Mrs. Albert Walthall's grandmother; Jean's great-grandfather's old school bell (he was a school teacher); a planter made from an old fishing coffee pot; an old butter churn (Jean is making a floor ash tray out of it); planter made out of an old coal bucket; and a old-timey high-back rocker (Jean made a colorful orange velveteen cushion and ruffle for it and David re-did it in maple finish).

To add the "antique" touches. Jean and David painted the churn, coffee pot, coal bucket, etc., in black and Jean made designs in gold. Another "antique" touch in the living room is a what-not shelf of maple with old-timey cars in it.

Jean and David re-did everything in the den to make it the most interesting and livable room in the house.

Jean made slip-covers for her chairs and divan and made the drapes. "I did most of the work during my vacation in June," Jean declared, who works full-time at Whittington's, Inc.

The material in the curtains and divan follow along with the old-fashioned theme—horse-drawn carriages, wall crank telephones, etc.

An old lantern, about 40 years old, is connected to electricity in the Maxey den; Mrs. Walthall's grandmother's lamp; old dust pan; old wood-burning stove lid handle that came from Carsacana; and a shadow box shelf with miniature old-modeled cars that has reading light under it, all go together to make an interesting den or family room.

The furniture in the den was painted black by David and trimmed in gold by Jean. She also made ash trays out of wrought iron skillets. Everything in the den follows the antique pattern.

Although, Jean and David have "big plans" for the rest of the house in antique furnishings, they have only a few antique pieces in the rest of the house.

In the middle of the dining table, Jean has an old high-topped ladies shoe that Charla Granbery gave her. Jean laced a planter up in the shoe and is using it for a flower vase.

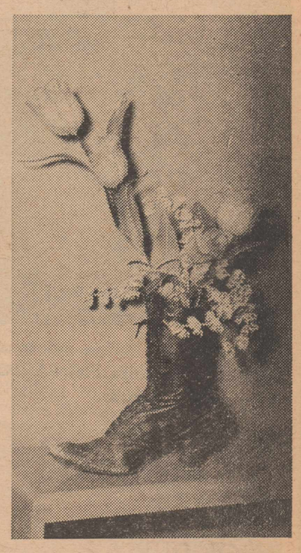

The Maxeys re-did an old desk in coral and an old chest-of-drawers in black and gold, but their garage workshop is still filled with odd pieces. For instance, they are planning to make a name-plate for their front yard out of an old "Georgia Stock" (wooden ox plow) given to them by Bill Bohner.

For the time being, the Maxeys are living on south Main Street in a house they are renting. However, Jean and David are planning to build a new home (the house plans are already drawn up) and Jean has planned the arrangement of the house around her antiques.

Jean said she tells all her friends "not to throw anything away until I see if I want it!" She says that antique furniture costs so much that if David, who is a contractor, didn't re-finish the furniture for her, she couldn't afford it.

Jean said she got started getting antiques when a man at a museum told her, "Find it, lady! Anything you want is in this world, if you just look far enough and long enough!"

"And it turned out to be true," Jean explained, "I may have to hunt a long time for some things, but it turns up somewhere. I'll find me a wagon seat, too!"

Jean has placed a planter in this old lady's shoe. The shoe was given to Jean by Miss Charla Beth Granbery. She is planning to plant ivy in it for the dining table's centerpiece.

SMALL-FRY HAVE RUNNING POWER SPEED

Showing a good example of why the Olton Junior High won over Dimmitt in a non-scheduled tilt here last week is tailback George Jones, with ball, and his blocker, fullback Roy Roberts. The Colts shut out their visitors, 34-0. Jones scored one extra point and threw a 30-yard pass-run aerial to Bill Hinson. Roberts scored on a five-yard scamper and an extra point. But it was wingback Hinson who racked up the bulk of Olton's tallies. Besides the passing TD, he ran for three more from 30, 40 and 42 yards out. The two teams will meet again here Tuesday. Delane Eats Breakfast In Manila; Describes Hong Kong As Diamond Necklace At Night; Visits Siagon As She Travels Around World

By Delane Adams

(Editor's Note: Below is the first in a series of continued pieces, written by Miss Adams upon her return from a trip around the world this summer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and has taught GI children in Japan for the past two years. Sue May recently wrote a feature story on her Japanese stay—now here is her trip "Around the World.")

"Perhaps it was a long Cinerama movie", I said to myself as we flew over the Statue of Liberty coming into Idlewild Airport. But it was a fact. I had been around the world.

The first part of the trip began when I went overseas to Japan to teach two years ago. The last part had begun just two months ago when I flew over Mt. Fuji and whispered, "Sayonara". And where had I been and what had happened?

Manila

For breakfast we had a slice of long, soft, orange melon—papaya. There was also coco-honey, the milk of the coconut cooked to honey consistency with flecks of grated coconut in it . . . delicious.

So this was monsoon weather. It was hot and damp and the people were lounging against the doors and leaning on the window sills with inert expressionless faces like people in a movie of the tropics. There were flame trees seemingly leafed all in red-orange blossoms.

Echos of the World War II came to me, "These marble crosses in rows that radiate around the hill mark the graves of Americans."

"And in the bay you can see two blue humps of land. That one is Bataan and this one is Corregidor." 'Jeepneys', jeeps decorated in bright colors and serving as taxis, swarmed at the stop lights like bees.

Hong Kong

Hong Kong is an island. The city also spreads to the Chinese mainland and that part is called Kowloon. My hotel was high on a hill on the Kowloon side and at night from the terrace, Hong Kong looked like a glittering diamond necklace.

High on Victoria Hill, there is a new understanding of British colonialism as we look down at the city and its signs of Westernization mingled with the Oriental culture. Chinese amahs are tending white children up here where the rich live during the deadly hot summer months.

"I must see LOVE IS A MANY-SPLENDORED THING which was filmed here", I remind myself. After a long drive around the island, we went on a sampan out into the bay of Aberdeen—a fishing village—to a floating restaurant. Here you eat seafoods that are REALLY fresh.

By car you can visit the settlement area where modern-shaped apartment houses overflow with the millions and jillions of Chinese refugees from Red China. These swarms of children have no future. And these are the lucky ones.

On top of the buildings downtown are shacks made of trash and carboard where the others live. Or maybe they are on the fringe of the city in those self-made huts.

We asked, "But why do they come? Surely Red China is not this bad."

Our guide answered, "They don't know it will be this way. They have nothing there, anyhow. Here is at least freedom."

"Can they go back if they want to?"

"Yes".

"'Do they go back?" "No".

Farther in the country are the rice paddies. The modern city of Hong Kong has not touched this ancient area. The women are wearing black pajamas in the Chinese style of a shiny black material said to be very cool. Huge black hats with fringe dripping from the edge cover their heads.

Chinese faces are slimmer—somehow different from the Japanese. The chang sen—dress with a slit up each side of the skirt is not remotely kin to the kimono.

Siagon

Getting off the plane with us at Saigon was a lovely girl in Vietnamese costume—a Chinese dress floor length, slit to the waist with loose slacks beneath. It looked like a lounging outfit from VOGUE.

Incongrously, there were sunglasses over her eyes. And true, she had been under Western influence. She was just returning from a year of art school in Chicago. Her father was a Vietnamese government official.

The women of Vietnam had delicate Oriental faces and were the loveliest I have seen. I was reminded of an issue of LIFE which featured beautiful women from all over the world. Its Vietnamese was so typical.

Siagon was a surprise. The streets were wide and laid in the gridiron American fashion. The houses were cream-colored and shuttered-from the French colonial influence. "White houses almost always belong to Americans," our guide said.

My hotel room was as interesting as anything I saw. It had a high ceiling with a large fan in the center. The windows were also tall, narrow and shuttered. Over the bed was filmy draperies of mosquito netting which swathed the bed at night.

The bathroom was something from a French movie. The shower was chin high, hexagon-shaped of tile.

"What glamour", I breathed, a bit stunned. But the glamour was short-lived. The water was so cold that one had to stand outside the shower and gritting her teeth, stick in a small piece of anatomy at a time to orientate it.

It was here that we were standing on the bridge looking at the black stagnant canal with the wooden shacks built right over the water. I turned to the man beside me and said, "Every day we should be SO THANKFUL we were born in the United States, shouldn't we?" He didn't answer. He was a wealthy Siamese—and proud of it.

Seim Reap, Cambodia

Ankor Wat was a lost temple in the jungle. It was well preserved and has been well restored. It was awing and mysterious feeling.

This was truly in the jungle—but not the tall wet kind. Around the temple we could hear monkeys in the trees and birds calling . . . and a deep quiet except for the chants of the yellow-robed priests in their monastery near-by. No city or real village was near this remote jungle area.

As we walked the grey stone verandas and climbed the steps and looked up at the artichoke-shaped towers, we kept saying, "I'll never be in such a strange, unearthly place as this again. I wouldn't be at all surprised to see a ghost of a former priest come walking through here."

Bankok

Bangkok has a split personality—fantastically beautiful and deplorably ugly.

The Temple of the Emerald Budda (actually jade statue) is surely the prettiest man-made sight in the world.

The bright tiles, the lavish use of gold, the spires and towers and blend of Chinese and Indian architecture. The statues of protective demons, the bold strong oranges, blues, reds, greens. The vocabulary of movie advertisements is mere understatement . . . a long breathless, "Ohhhhhhhhhhh" is the best I can do. You just must go there.

Nearby is the palace where Anna of "Anna and the King of Siam" did her teaching. "But our king had PLENTY of hair" said our guide in a sulky voice. He did not think Yul Brenner was a good choice in "The King and I".

Early in the morning we took a boat trip down the canal. Houses jutted out over it from each side. These "klongs", as they are called, are the source of life, here.

People were just waking up. In the canal they were bathing, getting water for morning tea, brushing their teeth, emptying trash, washing clothes, dishes, vegetables, washing out boats.

America had just sent a plane load of vaccine to this cholera epidemic area.

Besides eating Thai food (like Chinese except exceedingly hot as Mexican peppers) and drinking cold coconut milk fresh from the green shell with a straw, we saw two examples of the culture of Thailand.

We saw Thai dancing in the bright-colored and gold costumes. The gestures are slow and stiff with the fingers bent backward and the feet bent out at an awkward angle, but there is a hypnotic grace to it. Each dance tells a story—often of gods and demons.

Thai boxing is like American boxing except a man uses hands. elbows, feet and knees—agily and lightning-like. We agreed on one match, but could not tear ourselves away from SIX.

Rangoon

The British influence was only a veneer over the Burmese culture and now that the British have gone, it is evident.

Rangoon was a Western city in decay—literally. Unrepaired, uncleaned, uncared for, Rangoon seemed to be a sign saying, "See, we don't want you foreigners here and time will quickly erase what you have done in our country—and in our minds."

Beautiful Swe Dagon—the temple similar to the ones in Bangkok—high on its hill, lost part of its beauty by the gritty, wet, squishy walk the "pilgrim" must make in bare feet.

Calcutta

So many poor, so many, and yet we were told that most of the refugees (from Pakistan) have been relocated.

Still there are the gaunt starving, the homeless who live on the sidewalks and sleep there at night.

The women were wearing sarees and the men—in a nationalistic fervor were wearing a long white strip of thin material loosely wrapped around them like a big poorly pinned diaper—a dhoti.

Sihks, bearded and turbanned, drove most of the taxis. The horns of the taxis sounded low and guttural like a sick cow. Perhaps it was because we were honking mostly at cows. These were the slightly dirty sacred cows wandering the sidewalks and eating the garbage of this metropolis.

Calcutta is remembered by the hot sticky weather, the dirty shacks, and narrow streets on the edge of the city and the Hindu temples with the burning brick floors. The sun heated the floor to a fiery temperature and the "pilgrim" had to walk barefooted across these to get to the places of interest.

Darjeeling

Up into the cool foothills of the Himalayas we went, above the tea plantations.

("The Himals" means "The Snows" which is the name for the high snow-covered peaks that show only occasionally through clouds in the summer time).

Here Tibetans have drifted down from Tibet and many faces show the Oriental influence. Peddlers try to sell "sapphires" and "topazes" of pretty glass at gem prices.

During the night the first strong monsoon rain came. The road was blocked by landslides. "We'll use the Landrover (British Jeep) and try the old military road", the driver said.

Can I ever forget that ride? The road was hardly wider than the jeep—only of mud, and the edges were often crumbling away into the valley WAY below. Only the momentum of the jeep must have kept us from sliding with the falling dirt to the bottom of the mountains.

S-W-S

HOW WELL I REMEMBER THESE THINGS—

Grandmother (Mrs. C. C. Miller) baking those wonderfully-delicious cookies in an old wood stove before she got her nice gas stove.

Listening to the radio (Groucho Marx, Arthur Godfrey, Fibber McGee and Molly, Amateur Hour, Amos and Andy, and many, many more) without even dreaming we would someday have such a thing as Television.

Taking a bath in an old wash-tub, after mother heated water for the baths on the stove.

Getting a soda pop ONLY once a week when we went in for groceries—and only sipping it gradually so it would last a long time.

Going to school (Bula) where two grades were in the same room. The teacher would assign one grade work and while they were doing it, assign work for the other grade. What fun she must've had!

Christmas and Thanksgiving at Grandma's where there was several different types of meat, every vegetable and salad imaginable, two or three kinds of bread (corn bread, "Roger" bread, biscuits, hot rolls) and pies, cakes, cookies, candy galore! Not only was there food—but that was the time all aunts, uncles, cousins, great-aunts and uncles, and their families gathered. Wasn't it fun and exciting?

When bleached hair and smoking was considered "cheap."

Going to town with Paw-Paw. He'd always take me around to all his friends and say, "This is one of my granddaughters, she's Mildred's daughter." Then, we'd go grocery-buying for Grandmother (I call her Mama) and he'd always buy me peppermint candy, his favorite kind of candy.

Playing "house" with my sweet Great-Grandmother, she was 92 years old.

Singing everywhere we went in the car with Daddy (and sometimes Mother would chime in and make it a trio). Brother Don never sang with us, he hated the songs we sang—he liked "Mule Train" (Tennessee Ernie).

The excitement of a Ringley-Barnum-Bailey Circus and the taste of cotton candy. The "sickness" I felt when I rode a farris wheel.

Mother (I barely remember this) ironing with an old handiron that she heated on the stove.

Seeing a community movie, shown in the school auditorium, every Saturday night (I was only four years old and I remember a story which impressed me from one of the movies yet).

Making dolls out of boards (drawing them on a board) and playing make-believe in front of the mirror.

Dimmitt, Tex., Man Reports—

"Ammonia makes a big difference in my wheat"

Frank S. Wise, who farms 960 acres near Dimmitt, says: "I know from experience that Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia makes a big difference in my wheat yields. I figure I'm getting an average of 20 bushels more to the acre by putting down 80 to 100 pounds of Phillips ammonia pre-plant."

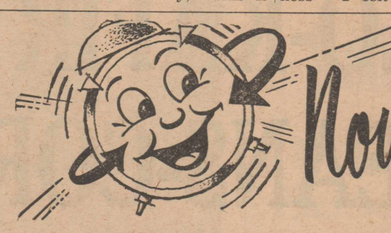

Other successful Southwestern farmers use Phillips 66 ammonia to give them higher grain yields . . . and more profitable grazing. The 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia gives young wheat a fast start, supplies plenty of lush, protein-rich forage that puts on more beef at less cost per pound.

Many of these farmers plow down Phillips 66 ammonia in the fall on maize land. They know that 82% nitrogen helps decompose crop residue, to provide extra plant food and make the soil more productive. Remember, Phillips 66 ammonia gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.
