Only 983 poll taxes had been paid Tuesday morning, Jan. 21—less than half the county's potential vote, Miss Louise Flucher, tax assessor-collector reported.

She estimated there are around 2,000 eligible to buy poll taxes, not counting overs and unders.

The Business and Professional Women's Club has under way a campaign urging all those of voting age to buy poll taxes.

They will go into use Feb. 1, and will be needed in all elections following that. These include the city election, school trustee elections, first and second primary and general election, the water district election in January 1965, as well as any special elections that may be called before Feb. 1, 1965.

All Children Sought in School Census

Taking the school census in the Wellington Independent School district has been completed, Supt. J. L. Harper said this week, but at the same time he requested that if any child was missed, the parents contact County Superintendent B. W. Beaird.

"Of if you know of a child that was missed please contact the county superintendent," he added.

Each child enumerated draws approximately $78 of the school apportionment fund, and likewise, every child missed means a loss of that much to the district in which it lives. The number of teachers in each school is also determined by the census enumeration and a child missed could mean one less teacher in that school.

All children who have reached their sixth birthday, and are not more than 18, should be included.

Quails Beat Claude, Slip by Hedley 63-62

The Quail Quails took both district 9-B basketball games the past week, defeating the Claude Mustangs 83-63 and the Hedley Owls 63-62. The Bobwhites were not so fortunate as they took defeats from Claude 60-20 and from Hedley 64-48.

Bobwhites vs. Claude

The Bobwhites jumped to an early lead over the ever-tough Claude girls but were unable to stay in the game as the Claude guards slowed the Bobwhite scoring attack and the Bobwhite guards were unable to contain 6-foot Claude forward, Mary Finley.

Team captain and starting forward Sue Saunders severely sprained her ankle in the second half and will be out of action for three weeks, however she had scored 10 points when this occurred and was high point Bobwhite. Mary Finley scored 29 to lead Claude girls.

Score by quarters:

Bobwhites	9	12	14	20
Claude	16	28	47	60

Quails vs. Hedley

The Quails played probably their best game of the season against a very fine Claude team. They jumped to an early 14 point lead at the end of the first period and added to this as the game progressed.

After two minutes of play in the fourth period, the Quails' lead was 38 points and the B team played the remainder of the contest. Dale Morris was high pointer for Quail with 29 points, while Bartley had 26 for Claude.

Score by quarters:

Quails	21	46	63	83
Claude	7	24	40	63

Bobwhites vs. Hedley

The Bobwhites played a very fine game and were trailing by only 8 points at the half. The third quarter was fatal as two starting Bobwhite guards fouled off and the third went by way of fouls early in the fourth period.

This game was called unusually close as the Bobwhites had a total of 30 fouls to 31 for Hedley.

Undoubtedly the outstanding player of the game was Bob-white Shirley Horton, as she hit 9 of 12 field goals for 75% and 26 of 33 free throws for 79% for a total of 44 points to lead all scorers. Snelson had 25 to lead Hedley.

The score by quarters:

Bobwhites	15	30	39	48
Hedley	19	38	55	64

Quails vs. Hedley

The Quails started off very cold as they did not score in the first two minutes of play and were behind 8 points at this point, and by 3 points at the first quarter.

The boys finally found the range in the second period and were leading Hedley by 5 points at halftime. The Quails were never behind again although on several occasions they would build up an 8-point lead only to have Hedley boys come back to tie it up.

With two minutes to go and a 5-point lead, the Quails attempted to stall the ball only to have Hedley steal it and score 4 straight points to narrow the margin to one point.

The Quails then held the ball until there were only 30 seconds left and Dale Morris made a free throw resulting from a Hedley technical foul, and the Quails retained possession of the ball.

Then Robert Russell made the first of a one and one free shot to put the Quails ahead 63-60 with 10 seconds left. Hedley got the rebound and scored but the Quails held the ball until the game ended, with the Quails one point ahead.

This was a revenge game for the Quails as they took a one-point defeat from Hedley in the Wellington tourney.

Dale Morris scored 26 points for Quail and Alvin Alexander made 18 for Hedley.

The score by quarters:

Quails	11	30	45	63
Hedley	14	25	44	62

County Has 5 Rural Accidents in December

"Old Man 1963" has quietly slipped away into the past forever. His evident scenes, however, will remain with us till the end of time. Due to the scars left beside the roadway, and the hospitals, at the morgue and in the cemeteries the year 1963 will be remembered as the worst year in traffic history.

The Texas Highway Department investigated five accidents on rural highways in Collingsworth county during the month of December, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county for the calendar year 1963 shows a total of 18 crashes resulting in two persons killed, eight injured and an estimated property damage of $16,200.

"When the final reports are tabulated we will find that more people were killed in Texas traffic accidents during 1963 than in any previous year, the sergeant stated. The final count is expected to be about 10% more than the 2421 traffic deaths in 1962.

The December report in surrounding counties is:

Childress: 9 accidents, including one fatal accident, 3 killed, 6 injured, property damage $7,580.

Cottle county: 3 accidents, 2 injuries, $1,500 property damage.

Donley county: 11 accidents, including one fatal accident; 1 death, 5 injuries, $12,442 property damage.

Gray: 9 accidents, including one fatal accident; 1 death, 4 injuries, $6,145 property damage.

Hall: 4 accidents, including one fatal accident, 1 death, no injuries, $4,225 property damage.

Wheeler: 26 accidents, no deaths, 8 injuries, $11,120 in property damage.

For the year 1963, Childress county had 62 accidents, 7 deaths, 39 injuries, and $57,390 property damage; Donley: 44 accidents, 2 deaths, 20 injuries, $35,875 property damage; Hall: 37 accidents, 3 deaths, 12 injuries, $26,899 property damage; Wheeler: 119 accidents, 4 deaths, 89 injuries, and $89,120 property damage.

SPENCER'S 'MOUNTAINOUS' Brood

The night-shirted Spencer family is beaming evidence of why the Warner Bros. glowing romantic drama, "Spencer's Mountain" was selected Father's Day Picture of the Year by the National Father's Day Committee. Grouped around their screen parents (Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara) are Veronica Cartwright, Susan Young, baby Michele Daves, Miss O'Hara, Rocky Young, Michael Young, Fonda, Gary Young, Kim Karath, Ricky Young, and Co-star James MacArthur. Five of the nine children are named Young and they are brothers and sisters for whom life became slightly complicated when producer-director Delmer Daves signed their mother to play the wife of one of Fonda's screen brothers. Mrs. Young then became her children's aunt. Donald Crisp and Wally Cox are also starred in "Spencer's Mountain," which tenderly details the troubles and triumphs of the Spencer clan. Filmed against the spectacular scenic backdrop of the towering peaks of Grand Teton National Park, the motion picture is based on the best-selling novel by Earl Hamner, Jr. Showing at the Ritz Theatre Sunday through Tuesday.

Deadline for Car Inspection April 15th

AUSTIN.—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., today reminded Texas vehicle owners that the 1964 vehicle inspection deadline will soon be upon them.

He reported that some 60% of the allotted inspection period has elapsed and only 20% of the vehicles have been inspected.

"If this trend continues, vehicle owners can expect to have to wait in line in order to get their vehicles inspected by the April 15 deadline," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas experienced its worst traffic fatality record in 1963 and vehicle defects were involved in some of the fatal accidents. He urged all Texans to begin the new year with safe vehicles and to keep them safe throughout the year. He added that vehicles involved in traffic accidents should be re-inspected after repairs have been made.

"Some 5,000 official inspection stations over the state are waiting to inspect the four million vehicles which will have to be inspected by April 15," the DPS director said. "There can be no extension of time, and after the deadline of April 15, vehicles which come under the provisions of the Inspec-

Nancy Emmert and Joe Harris Marry in Home Ceremony Sat. Afternoon

Vows spoken at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, January 18, united Miss Nancy Anne Emmert and Joe Royce Harris, both students in Quail high school. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Emmert, with the Rev. L. P. Durham, pastor of the Nazarene Church officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Harris are the parents of the bridegroom.

Decorations were an arch covered with greenery, with candelabras and baskets of flowers at each side. The white prie dieu completed the arrangements.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Patricia Kimbro, pianist, and Miss Karen Childress, vocalist, both nieces of the bride.

Mr. Emmert gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown was of lace over taffeta. The sabrina neckline was accented with seed pearls, and the long fitted sleeves came to points over the wrists. The floor length skirt was marked at the back with a slight bustle, and swept to a chapel train. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a taffeta bow accented with pearl orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was a white orchid and split carnations carried on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Dale Ratliff was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a blue silk dress embellished with a silver thread, and her short veil was attached to a white pillbox hat. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Glen Harris of Clovis, N.M., brother of the bridegroom was best man, and candles were lighted by Ted Harris, another brother.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Emmert were hosts at a reception. Members of the house party were Miss Dianne Moseley, Miss Lonetta Neeley, Miss Sue Saunders and Mrs. Douglas Seale, the latter being the sister of the bridegroom.

City Merchants Shop in Dallas January Markets for Spring Styles

A group of buyers for Wellington stores are in Dallas during the remainder of January attending the January markets.

Now attending the men's wear market are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Saied of Saied's Department Store, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Slay of Eddie Slay Clothiers.

Going to the January Fashion Market January 26 to 31 will be Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hatch of Hatch Dry Goods; Miss Rose Shadid and Miss Marie Shadid of the Fair Store; and Mack Sated Jr. of Saied's Department Store.

During this market, buyers from all over the Southwest select summer fashions from over 7000 lines, assuring their customers of up-to-the-minute fashion-right apparel.

Sponsored by the National Fashions Exhibitors of America, the American Fashion Association, and Texas Fashion Creators, Dallas markets are one of the top three fashion markets in the nation.

Four major markets are held there annually, with the January Market featuring clothing and sportswear for the summer season.

Merchandise selected at this market will be on sale in retail stores in late spring and early summer. Fashions this year follow the theme "Summer Festival of Fashion" with emphasis on play and informal wear, as well as dressy summer ensembles.

The Dallas Market, normally held in advance of New York and West Coast Markets, is one of the most complete fashion displays in the nation.

Many manufacturers use it to test acceptance of new designs before major production on a style has begun. The general feeling is that if a new item is well accepted in Dallas, it will be a success all across the nation. Southwestern buyers literally set the national pace.

In addition to many lines of fine sportswear and high fashion warm weather apparel, jewelry, accessories, and lingerie will be displayed during the Summer Festival of Fashion.

Tower Urges U.S. Keep Firm Control of Canal

Senator John Tower today urged the Administration to "exert every effort" to retain firm U.S. control over the Panama Canal Zone and noted that Communist interference in the Panama rioting is a documented fact.

In a radio program for Texas stations, Senator Tower said that the Communists' intervention in Panama is graphic evidence of the real and continuing danger to our hemisphere from Castroism and International Communism.

Senator Tower told Texans that the one million Panamanians receive some $82 million each year from work on and connected with the canal, and in addition have gotten more than $100 each in U.S. foreign aid grants. Even so, he said, Panama now may seek a 25-fold increase in the U.C. canal rights payment of $2 million a year.

The complete text of Senator Tower's remarks follows: The deteriorating situation in Panama has been very much in the news and very much in our thoughts and very much a matter of concern for us over this past week.

I thought we might today go into a little of the background of the Panama Canal situation.

Panama was once a part of the country of Colombia. It was a province of that country. In 1903 when the Colombian Senate rejected a final agreement on the digging of the Panama Canal, inhabitants of the province of Panama revolted against Colombia, and with the assistance of the United States—at that time Teddy Roosevelt was President—Panama became an independent country. At the same time, we consummated a treaty with Panama relative to the canal.

In 1914, a 40-mile-long canal was opened, and we have been using it ever since, and, of course, it has been vital to our commerce and to our defense.

Over the years, the United States has recognized increased Panamanian rights in the Canal Zone, and it has periodically adjusted the U.S. lease payments in a sort of international cost-of-living pay raise to Panama. The most recent concession by the United States was that the flags of the United States and Panama were allowed to be flown together in equal display throughout the Zone.

The canal, of course, is vitally important to the United States and to Panama. Most of Panama's one million citizens make their living directly or indirectly from the Panama Canal. Panamanians receive some $82 million annually for work on the activities connected with the Canal, and that's a sizeable portion of the nation's income. Panama gets about $2 million a year from the United States as lease rights. The total United States investment in the Canal is some $500 million.

Panama is in the midst of a tightly contested Presidential election with the vote coming in May. So a number of extremist politicians seizing upon the campaign theme of nationalism have demanded that the United States pay Panama more than $50 million a year for Canal rights.

Other politicians have demanded full Panamanian sovereignty over the Canal Zone. The United States has agreed to allow the flags of the two nations to be flown jointly over the Zone, which belongs to Panama although it is leased in perpetuity to the United States. In other words, we have a lease with no termination date on it.

Panama also sought to have more Panamanians employed in the Zone and in better jobs with increased pay. Panama also wants the United States to build and give it a bridge which they want to run clear across the 10-mile wide zone.

Panama has been very dependent upon the United States. Besides our payments for the lease rights in the Canal Zone, U.S. foreign aid to Panama has been considerable. We have spent $100 million from 1946, and that averages out to about $100 per Panamanian citizen.

Because of the presence in the Canal Zone of U.S. military units, Panama has never found it necessary even to maintain any armed forces of its own other than a National Guard police force or some 3,000 men.

The U.S. has determined officially that Castro Communist agents have taken a direct hand in the continued Panama rioting, although the original dispute was between students. The Communists have seized on this as an incident which they can exploit to their own advantage. The appearance of mob tactics avored by the Communists is very much evidence of their participation. Molotov cocktail gasoline bombs and hidden snipers are typical Communist tactics to incite a mob to violence.

It is well known that agents of Castro have been moving throughout Latin America for many months. The Communist intervention in Panama is very graphic evidence of the real and continuing danger for our hemisphere from Castro Communism. The sudden trip of Castro to Moscow points up the decision of International Communism to do all it can to exploit the Panama crisis.

It is my fervent hope that we will do everything possible to hold on to the Panama Canal. As we have noted it is vital to commerce and to defense. We cannot lose control of that Zone because if we do lose control of it, it can be easily sabotaged or perhaps taken over by the Communists.

Therefore, I believe that this Administration should exert every effort to retain firm U.S. control over the Canal Zone.

IN MEMORIAM

Our Mother

Our Mother is at rest, asleep in Jesus, today, She has crossed over to the other shore, as she would say.

She is with all of her loved ones, that have gone on before, I know she was so happy to see them, as she entered Heaven's door.

On this earth she lived a long good life, Now Heaven she has gained, where there is no strife. Our Mother never failed to tell us of Jesus and His love, And faithful should we be to our Father up above.

Those, who stood by the bedside until death, Knew that her prayer had been answered as she peacefully went to rest.

I know she would not have us so sad and grieved, She, so happy and waiting, for the day when we will be received.

Getting Along Depends on the Individual

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he should not take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

He learns that even the humblest is a human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say "good morning" even if it is raining.

He learns that most of the other fellows are as he is, that they have brains that are as good or even better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success.

He learns that no man ever got to first base alone and that it is only through cooperative effort that we move on to better things.

He learns that the folks are not any harder to get along with in one place than another, and that "getting along" depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior.

He learns that it is more profitable to take stock of himself than to blame someone else for his unfortunate experiences.—Eveleth News.

February Draft Call for 8 Men

The Texas Local Board No. 20 which includes Collingsworth county, has received a call for 8 men to be inducted in the armed forces on Feb. 19, and an additional 25 to be sent for pre-induction physicals on Feb. 13, Frances C. Starkey, clerk, has announced.

The state draft quota for February calls for 517 men, compared to 812 for January, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said.

The state quota of 517 for February is the Texas share of a national call for 12,000 men, all for the Army.

The February quota will be filled mostly with men who are volunteers under 26 years old and non-volunteers ages 19 through 25. Most of them will be 22 years old.

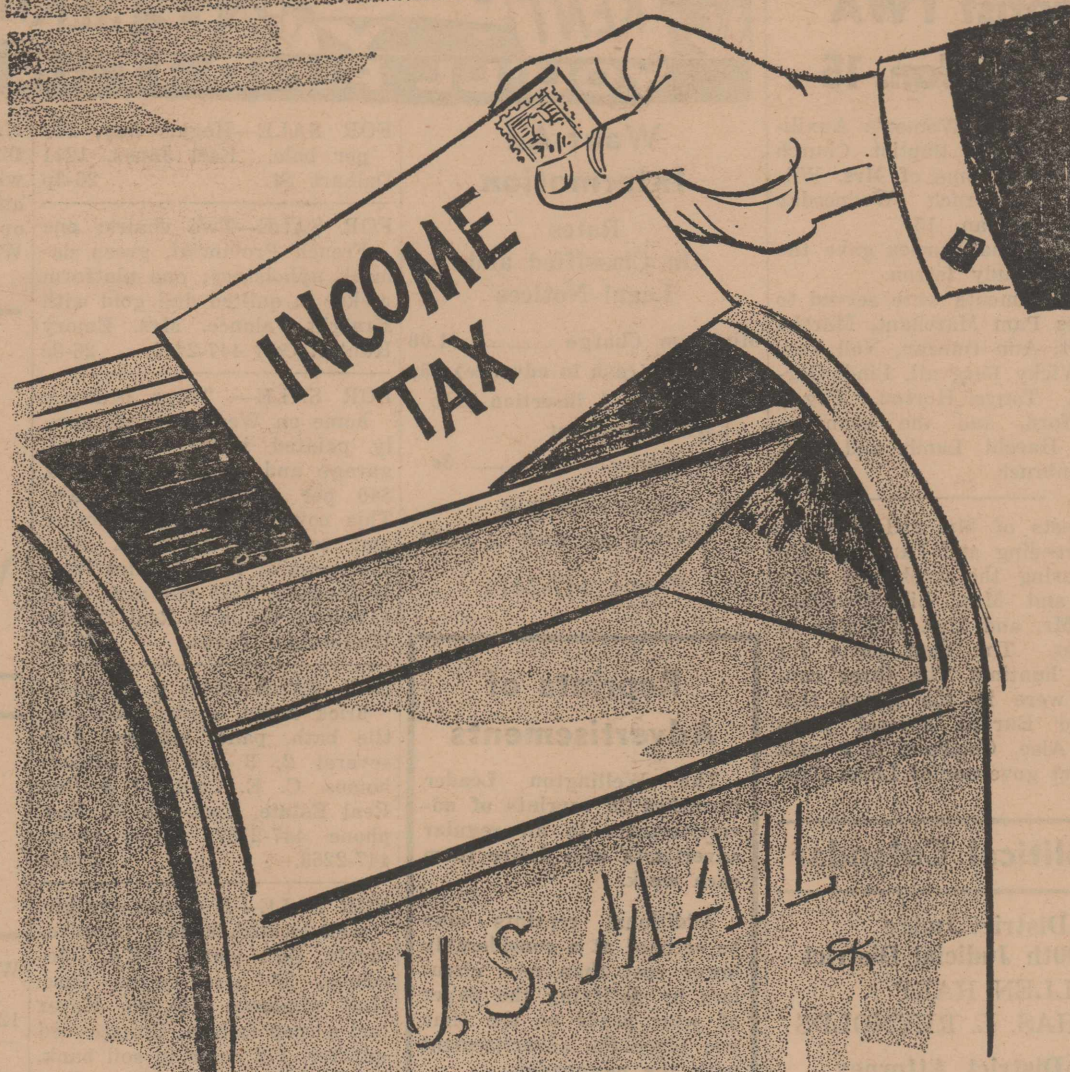

No man whose draft board file reflects that he is maintaining a bona fide family relationship with a wife or a child or children will be selected in response to this call.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

My pack-a-day neighbor has been reading the government report on smoking, and he's sort of flattered by how all of those important people are so worried about his health.

Says he's glad to see this long step taken toward hazardous living, and he notes happily there is also some feinting being done in the direction of reducing another highly unhealthy item, namely, taxes.

It's his thinking that taxes are an even bigger threat to good health than cigarettes, because it doesn't take an expert to see that taxes cause worry ulcers, high blood pressure and low credit rating.

I see where the United Nations General Assembly has foresightedly set up a committee to worry about, in case world disarmament comes to pass, what to do with all the money saved.

Now, they could take the easy way out and just leave the stuff with us taxpayers and let us smother in it, but that would not be Progressive.

And, of course, one of the main blessings of Progress-in-overdrive is leadership with vast determinatin, growing vaster all the time—to protect the unenlightened type citizen from the moral hazards of having too much money.

I see where Central Intelligence Agency has just announced that Russia is in a sad shape, financially.

My reluctant Samaritan neighbor says this news will greatly challenge the American Taxpayer and his scads of agents out all over the world hunting for pockets of poverty to fill up.

But he figures the truth is that Mr. Khrushchev leaked this dope to CIA, because he has been hearing about the US balance of payments pinch, and wants us to think he is strapped, too, so we won't be hitting him up for a loan.

I see where a psychiatrist says 25% of us people are honest, 25% are dishonest, and 50% of us will cheat or steal if we think nobody is looking.

Which is just one of those numerous poll deals, like where if 10 people are checked and 8 have corns, why it is certified as a scientific fact that 80% of all mankind's feet hurt.

But some folks may question these Honesty statistics, on the grounds that if three-fourths of the population is dishonest, it naturally follows, the odds are 3 to 1 that the poll takers are tricky.

I see where the National Committee on Pockets of Poverty has now found some.

And it seems that the members of this committee have discovered, most likely from observation rather than from experience, that abject poverty is a family in the U.S. with $2,500 per year or less to live on.

Which my abject neighbor says is proof, after all, of the vast progress of Progress, on account of just a few years ago a family in abject poverty didn't get to handle anywhere near that much money.

I see where some scientist has fouled up that old reliable man-or-mouse question that has been used for ages to incite men to fight somebody.

This mouse expert is saying that mice are not either weak and timid as advertised, but they fight back with vigor if pushed around.

But he doesn't say whether

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

CIA POINTS OUT SOVIET ECONOMIC FAILURES

The super-secret Central Intelligence Agency has issued one of its rare reports — this one on problems in the world's leading underdeveloped nation — the Soviet Union.

The CIA took careful aim in a short paper entitled "Soviet Economic Problems Multiply," and gored the Red ox where it hurts. Soviet propagandists growled that the unflattering array of facts and figures were "preposterous and unconvincing," hoping, as you would expect, that the world's other underdeveloped nations would pay no heed to the CIA study.

To hear the Communists tell it, they have all the answers for maintaining a thriving economy. Of course, we know better.

Convincing some people in the world that the Reds are economic illiterates is a major task of the United States government, and the new CIA report—the first public report issued by the agency in four years—should help.

The Soviets have boasted that by 1970 the Soviet Union will overtake and surpass U.S. production. The CIA study, by contrast, shows that the Soviets not only are lagging in the race but that they keep falling farther behind. The substance of the report is that for several years the Kremlin leadership has been trying to do too much with too few resources.

This living on borrowed capital, improvising cheap but temporary solutions to basic problems such as agriculture, and chronically neglecting balanced development to push ahead spectacularly on a narrow range of goals has finally caught up with the Soviet Union.

A nearly disastrous crop failure in 1963 was not the root cause of Moscow's current economic difficulties; what it did was to bring to a head the many underlying problems of the Soviet economy and to force a reconsideration of the pattern of resource allocation. To a great extent Soviet economic difficulties stem from a series of programs too ambitious for available resources.

As many of you know, I opposed the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union on the grounds that it would provide assistance to a faltering Red economy and permit Russia to meet its

With a gross national product less than half that of the United States, the Soviet leadership has invested in new plant and equipment amounts nearly as large as investment in the U.S. and has maintained a military-space program approaching in real cost that of the U.S.

Khrushchev scored early successes. Economic growth, maintained at better than 6% in the 1950-59 period was accelerated after he took over. Housing was tight, but improvements came in living standards, particularly in foodstuffs but also in consumer goods. Then the slowdown came, due in part to an increased allocation of manpower and materials to the defense program (thus slowing down industrial output in other categories), but due primarily in the last two years to failures in agriculture. Current growth rate: 2.5%.

In total calories consumed, the Russian citizen is not far behind an American. But 70% of the Russian diet consists of grain and potatoes, compared to 28% of the American diet. Only one-fourth of the Soviet diet consists of quality foods—livestock products, vegetables and fruits. The New Lands development program kicked off by Khrushchev did temporarily put more grain in Soviet stomachs and help the Soviet Union bolster its Eastern European satellites by making up deficits in their own farm output. But the original soil moisture and fertility in the new acreage put under the plow were quickly used up and output fell off.

Soviet farm production on a per capita basis in 1963 was about 10% below that of 1958. The impact of a short grain crop on the Russian pattern of diet is obvious. Bread for human consumption must be curtailed. Livestock herds must be reduced. Consumers pay more for food.

Soviet leaders are calling for a solution to the agricultural problem. A new program calls for production increases in fertilizers from 20 million tons to 70-80 million tons by 1970. The Soviets, I hope, will not have our help in obtaining the necessary fertilizer processing and manufacturing equipment.

As many of you know, I opposed the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union on the grounds that it would provide assistance to a faltering Red economy and permit Russia to meet its aid commitments to its satellites. As is clear from the CIA report, the Soviet Union's best prospects for alleviating economic difficulties are in obtaining long-term credit from the West for the purchases of equipment and commodities.

Short-term credit eats away at dwindling gold reserves in the Soviet Union; the West, embroiled as it is in economic warfare with the Soviets, should do nothing to ease the current Red plight.

Communists are keenly sensitive to economic failures. The system is totally materialistic and failures strike at the heart of the system. In Bulgaria last week, the government—by decree—determined to clamp down on jokes ridiculing the satellite's economic and political shortcomings. Political joke-telling can land a Bulgarian in jail for two weeks of "socially useful work" or bring him a fine of up to $43—three weeks' salary for most Bulgarians.

Finish Great Plains
Work on 13 Contracts

Contracts expired Dec. 31, 1963 on 13 Great Plains contracts in Salt Fork Soil Conservation District—contracts on which all soil conservation work planned under the program was carried out.

These have been in effect up to five years and the work was done on a pre-planned year to year basis. Under the program, the landowner has worked with the Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program, with the latter paying up to 80% of the cost of the practices in some instances.

Bob Crawford, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service has reviewed briefly the outstanding conservation accomplishments of these 13 landowners while in the Great Plains Program.

E. A. Hays improved cropland by using a conservation cropping system and the range-land improved by range seeding, brush control, deferred grazing and by using a system of proper range use.

T. C. Fike improved his rangeland by shaping critical areas, range seeding, deferred grazing and not over-using the rangeland.

Leon Roberts and John Holton improved their rangeland by range seeding, brush control, proper range use and deferred grazing. They obtained better grazing distribution by fencing and drilling livestock wells.

Mrs. Mary E. Sugg's outstanding conservation achievement was the improving of the rangeland by gully shaping, range seeding, brush control, deferred grazing and proper range use. She also received better grazing distribution by drilling a well to furnish stock water.

Ray Peebles improved his rangeland by the practice of proper range use and received better grazing distribution after the installation of a livestock trough.

Warren Johnson improved rangeland by brush control, deferred grazing and proper range use.

J. R. Nelson improved his cropland by using a conservation cropping system and improved his rangeland by range seeding, fencing, deferred grazing and proper range use.

J. H. Wood improved cropland through the construction of terraces which eliminated water erosion and through the use of an adequate conservation cropping system.

H. H. Word has improved his cropland through the use of a conservation system and an erosion control dam. The range land has been improved by range seeding, deferred grazing and proper range use.

Audie Morgan improved the cropland through the use of a conservation cropping system and terracing to control water erosion. The rangeland was improved by deferred grazing, proper range use and through the construction of a livestock well and trough.

James Doneghy improved his rangeland through range seeding, brush control, deferred grazing, and proper range use, and obtained better grazing distribution through the construction of a seep-type pond.

P. E. Starr improved his cropland through the construction of diversion terraces and the use of a conservation cropping system. The range land was improved by range seeding, fencing, deferred grazing, and proper range uses. Better grazing distribution was obtained by the construction of water facilities.

Mrs. Vera Dial Dickey's outstanding conservation achievement on the cropland were the construction of a waterway development and the use of a conservation cropping system.

Her range land has been improved through range seeding, brush control and proper range use. Grazing distribution has been improved through the construction of a farm pond and water facilities.

Rockettes Lose

Skyrockets Take 2-A Opener from Memphis

The Skyrockets took their district 2-A opener in a surprise victory over the Memphis Cyclone 62-45 in Rocket gym Tuesday night, Jan. 14.

They followed this with a second conference victory over the Clarendon Mustangs 62-45 Friday night at Clarendon.

The Rockettes took a matched game from Draughon's Business College team of Amarillo, 60-18, then lost their first district game to the Clarendon Bronchoettes 62-52.

Rockettes-Cyclone
In good playing form, the Rockettes hit the basket consistently and showed the continuing improvement that has been steady since the opening of the season.

The margin in the 62-45 victory surprised even the Rockettes, since Memphis had caused them considerable trouble in tournament play.

Bill Spillman was high point man with 18, Jim Waits with 17, was high for Memphis.

The game by quarters:
Wellington 16 30 45 62
Memphis 12 21 27 45

Rockettes-Draughons
Victory came easy for the Rockettes over the Draughon's Business College team, even with the second team playing most of the game.

Betty Courtney again topped the scoring column with 16 points and Jane Orr made 15. Loree Powell made 9 for Draughon's.

The game by quarters:
Wellington 25 31 47 60
Draughon's 2 9 15 18

Rockettes-Bronchos
The Rocket-Clarendon Bronchos game was never close and ended 53-34.

Up against the veteran Rockettes was a young ball club that is making lots of mistakes this season. But observers predict that in another year or two the Bronchos will be a strong team and hard to beat.

Danny Martin's 11 points was high for the game, while David Moring of Clarendon had 10.

The score by quarters:
Wellington 13 21 39 53
Clarendon 5 13 24 34

Rockettes-Bronchoettes
The strong Clarendon Bronchoettes took this district opener 52 to 42.

"Clarendon has a real good club, but we didn't feel the girls played up to their capabilities, and we hope to give them a little more competition when the two teams meet here," Coach James Stavenhagen said.

Betty Courtney was high scorer for the Rockettes with 22 points; Dorothy Richey made 30 for Clarendon.

The game by quarters:
Wellington 11 19 26 42
Clarendon 14 24 38 52

Seniors may obtain test center information and registration forms from their high school counselor or principal. The February test date is one of four during the school year a student may choose.

The ACT battery is used in admission by 75 colleges in the state, by 83 per cent of those in this region and by 820 colleges in the U.S.

Results are used by colleges in admission, placement, counseling, granting of scholarships, class sectioning and for other purposes.

ACT compiles scores, high school grades and other predictive data, providing a basis for the student to select a college suited to his educational goals. The non-profit agency reports this and other research information to colleges without charge. Scores are also reported to students and to high schools.

IN OWENS AND SCOTT'S NEW HOME

Here are but two sections in new building to which Owens and Scott Grocery moved recently. In the meat department are Sam Hudson, left, and Glynn Norman, butcher helper. At right is the self-service counter where both packaged fresh meat and

Owens & Scott Formal Opening January 24-25

Formal opening of Owens & Scott Super Market in its new home is slated for Friday and Saturday, Jan. 24 and 25, according to an announcement this week by the owners, Steve Owens and George Scott.

One of the older business firms from the standpoint of years of operation, the grocery store recently moved into the building constructed especially for it on Eighth Street at Arlington.

"We invite our friends throughout the Wellington area to come see our new home. We are indeed proud of it and we want to share its many features with you," the owners said.

The building, xxx by xxx feet in size, is of cinder block and brick construction, in grey tones. A broad expanse of glass across the south, or front side, is not only an attractive architectural feature, it also provides a source of natural light for the interior.

The covered porch area across the front is a feature returning to popularity in commercial buildings of this type in the southwest.

Mr. Scott is in active charge of the business, and his assistant manager is Carroll Daves.

The new store was designed to afford ample room for the attractive and convenient display of all food departments, with special attention paid to the market and produce sections.

Scott points out that the store is one of the most complete super markets in this section of the Panhandle.

In front of the store itself is more than a quarter of a block parking area, something matched by only a few grocery stores in this area.

The store personnel, in addition to Scott and Daves, are Sam Hudson, butcher; Glynn Norman, butcher's helper; Mrs. Phyllis Ford and Beverly Lee, checkers, and James Fields, Dwayne Poteet and Mrs. Trudy Peters, stockers.

Changes Noted in Screwworm Eradication Work

MISSION.—Highly successful eradication measures, cold weather and the need to conserve funds have prompted screwworm eradication officials to cut the production of sterile screwworm flies by 50%.

An average of 70 million flies per week will be reared in the weeks ahead; production had been hovering near the 140 million per week mark during the fall. Eradication workers are confident this number will be sufficient to adequately treat those areas of Texas where native screwworms can survive the cold temperature.

During 1963, producers in 182 Texas counties reported 4,916 screwworm cases; the previous year, 49,484 cases were detected in 242 counties. While this indicates a 90% decrease, officials feel reporting was much more effective than during 1962 that an even greater degree of control may have been achieved than the totals indicate.

'64 Farm Tax Guides Ready

The 1964 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide is now available, says Cecil Regier, county agent.

This handy, easy-to-read guide contains information applicable to every phase of farm income tax reporting, Regier explains. It shows sample returns completely filled out with an explanation of the figures, he says.

Investment credit, one of the newer features of the tax structure, is fully explained in the new guide. It points out that a reduction in taxes paid for 1963 is based on tangible personal property and real property acquired last year. As much as seven per cent of the cost of these items is allowed as a deduction but the percentage varies with the useful life of the assets, says Regier.

Another feature of the guide is an explanation of how to sell a farm on installments and examples are given to help to clarify the procedure for computing taxable gain.

Also an explanation of depreciation methods and the additional first year depreciation is given.

Other sections of the guide cover the importance of good records, farm business expenses, farm inventories, casualty losses and thefts, an explanation on completing the return, and many more.

Copies of the Farmers' Tax Guide may be obtained without charge from county extension offices or those of the Internal Revenue Service. Regier recommends that a copy be kept handy for reference on tax matters concerning the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tipton and Patsy and Nancy were week end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Godbey.
