'MAGIC' JOHNSON

Magic's announcement should hike AIDS awareness

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rock Hudson proved movie stars could get AIDS. Magic Johnson showed that a hero to young, old, black and white also is susceptible to the deadly virus.

Johnson's revelation that he is HIV-positive raises awareness of the deadly disease by a "quantum level" — especially among blacks, doctors and AIDS activists agreed.

Within hours of Earvin Johnson's news conference Thursday, calls flooded the National AIDS Hotline switchboard outside Raleigh, N.C., and reporters scrambled to cover a conference in Atlanta on AIDS in the black community.

"He is one of the first prominent black persons in our society who has been willing to say, 'I have HIV,'" said Fred Kroger, director of the National AIDS Information and Education program at the federal Centers for Disease Control.

"He has said he wants to do something about it — and that will really be a step forward. That has been a missing piece."

Johnson, 32, who helped the Los Angeles Lakers win five NBA championships in 12 seasons, retired from professional basketball Thursday. He vowed to become a spokesman for the cause, especially by telling young people about the importance of safe sex.

AIDS is most often spread through sexual contact or contaminated needles shared by drug abusers.

Johnson did not say how he was infected. He stressed that he does not have full-blown AIDS.

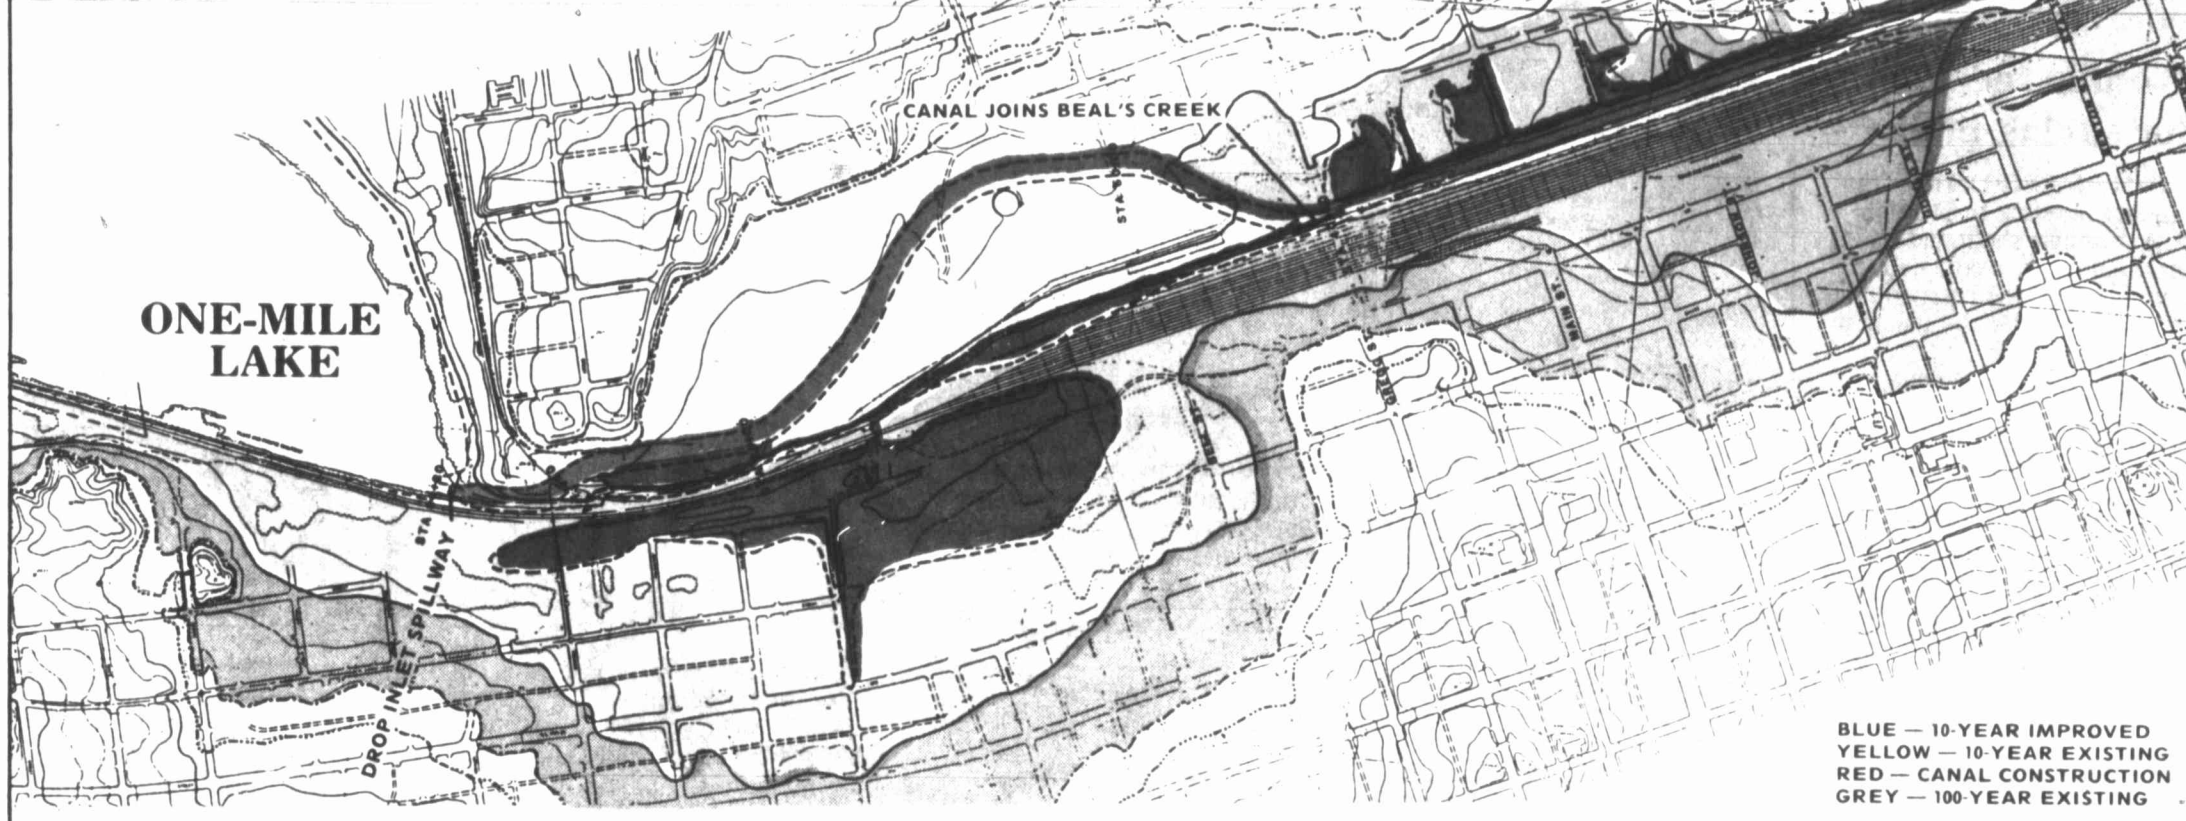

An estimated 1 million to 1.5 million Americans are HIV positive. As of Sept. 30, the CDC reported 195,718 cases of AIDS in the United States.

"This will make my community take its head out of the sand and realize that this is not a white, gay, male thing," said the Rev. Carl Bean, director of the Minority AIDS Project.

Sidmel Estes-Sumter, president of the National Association of Black Journalists, said reporters scrambled to cover the National Minority Health Association's conference on AIDS in the black community on Thursday, after ignoring it the day before.

This map of the flood characteristics of West Central Big Spring was made by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The flood planes delineate areas likely to flood once every 10 years, or once every 100 years. After the canal project is completed, the 10-year flood plane will be markedly reduced (blue).

Corps presents plan to relieve flooding

By GARY SHANKS

Many homes and businesses will no longer be at risk of flooding when the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers completes its flood control project in Big Spring, officials say.

The $4.2 million project will deal with the problem of water flow from One-Mile Lake overtaxing the flow capacity of Beal's Creek, thereby relieving the flood-plagued sections of the city's west side.

A drop inlet spillway will be built to maintain a constant water level in the lake, which is the winter home of several types of migratory birds and has been designated a wetlands by the state of Texas.

"This dam will maintain the same water level that's out there today, because it is a wetlands," said Assistant City Manager Tom Decell.

From the drop structure, which lies north of the railroad tracks near the south end of Channing Street, the Corps will build a trapezoid-shaped channel to take overflow from the lake.

This second channel will augment the flow capacity of Beal's

Creek and will markedly effect the flood statistics of the area, according to Corps reports.

The channel will arc east around the old railroad roundhouse and pumping station and will rejoin Beal's Creek near Gregg Street.

Beal's Creek will then be rechanneled in the same trapezoidal shape to increase its flow capacity. This augmentation will extend east to Benton Street, where the Corps expects it to be able to handle flood waters as is.

The Corps' first plan for the area was deemed not economically feasible for the city, and engineers were asked by Decell to design a less expensive plan.

The city will be responsible for

Hamby to seek death penalty

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

A pre-trial hearing was held Thursday to hear several defense motions filed in behalf of Billy Ray Nelson, who is accused of the February stabbing death of Charla Wheat.

Nelson, 22, being held without bond, is scheduled to go to trial Dec. 2. If tried, it will be the first capital murder case to be tried in 118th Judicial District Court since 1975.

A capital murder conviction is punishable by death or up to 99 years in prison. District Attorney Rick Hamby filed a notice in the case three weeks ago saying he will seek the death penalty and asked for a court-appointed psychiatrist to examine Nelson.

The death penalty applies only when there is proof the defendant will be dangerous in the future.

Wheat, 18, died at her Big Spring home Feb. 23 from 13 stab wounds, including seven to the neck, according to an autopsy report. Wheat's roommate, Carol Maynard, also was attacked with a knife, according to reports.

Nelson also is charged with aggravated assault in connection with the attack on Maynard. A $250,000 bond was set for that charge.

Motions heard Thursday were described by attorneys on both

BSHS presents letters to honor students

Big Spring High School Principal Kent Bowermon recently awarded the first academic letters to high school students that have maintained an above 90 grade average during the 1990-1991 school year.

"A committee of teachers suggested that we reward the students who have worked hard on their grades," Bowman said. "The program was implemented last year, and the first recipients were awarded their letters last week."

"We have an outstanding group of students who received the letters," he said. "We had individuals who participated in UIL activities, football, basketball and other extracurricular activities."

The recipients for the year broken down by class are as follows: nine sophomores, eight juniors, 11 seniors and 14 graduates.

The criteria for the letters is set forth in the high school handbook.

Students must have a yearly average grade of 90 in each eligible subject. Non-eligible subjects include athletics, band, choir and office.

They also must be enrolled in at least two of the following courses: English, science, mathematics and social studies.

Each subject will be treated by itself, therefore a student's high grade in one subject will not make up for a below 90 average in another subject.

Repeat courses are not counted as eligible.

The students may get an academic letter for each year they maintain an above 90 yearly average.

Actress Tierney led life of fame, sorrow

HOUSTON (AP) — Silver screen star Gene Tierney, known for her exotic good looks and captivating appearance in such films as "Laura" and "Leave Her to Heaven," suffered years of personal anguish before finding contentment as a Houston socialite, sometime actress and wife of a millionaire oilman.

GENE TIERNEY

Tierney, who has had emphysema for the last year, died Wednesday at her home in the exclusive River Oaks neighborhood of Houston. She was 70.

Sons funeral home in Houston.

The raven-haired actress with high cheekbones and blue-green almond eyes cranked out 33 feature films, three Broadway plays and two made-for-TV movies in a 25-year career. Early on, she was cast in exotic roles, variously playing a Eurasian, a Polynesian, or an Arabian beauty.

Her title role in the 1944 film noir, "Laura," was perhaps her best-known. Directed by Otto Preminger, Tierney played a socialite believed to be a murder victim, but then appears midway through the film as a suspect.

Dana Andrews played the police detective who falls in love with her through her portraits. The film also starred Vincent Price and Clifton Webb.

The 1945 film "Leave Her to Heaven," about an insanely jealous wife who drowns her husband's brother and causes her own miscarriage before committing suicide, earned Tierney a best actress nomination. It was her only Oscar nomination, but she lost to Joan Crawford, who won for her role in "Mildred Pierce."

A Brooklyn, N.Y., native who attended private schools in Connecticut and Switzerland, Gene Eliza Tierney was first asked to do a screen test while touring Warner Brothers Studio with her parents.

She made her acting debut at 18 on Broadway in "Mrs. O'Brien Entertains." Her stage role in "The Male Animal" in 1940 attracted the attention of Darryl F. Zanuck, head of 20th Century Fox studios.

Before she turned 20, she made her first movie, "The Return of Frank James," playing opposite Henry Fonda. Over the years, her leading men included many of Hollywood's greatest: Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Tyrone Power, Humphrey Bogart, William Bendix, Van Johnson, Rex Har-ison, Don Ameche and Ray Milland.

But Tierney suffered a series of personal crises that eventually led to a nervous breakdown in the mid-1950s.

Her parents' 25-year marriage ended abruptly in a bitter divorce. She eloped with New York designer Oleg Cassini in 1941, causing a rift with her father, who later drained Belle-Tier, a family business set up to invest her movie money.

While pregnant and visiting troops in a Hollywood canteen, she became infected with German measles from a female Marine who ducked out of quarantine to get her autograph. Her daughter, Daria, was born deaf and severely mentally retarded in 1943.

Tierney and Cassini separated for a time, but reunited and had a second daughter, Christina, in 1948. The couple divorced in 1952.

State Board of Education member Jane Nelson gestures at U.S. history textbooks that contain factual errors during a Thursday news conference at the State Capitol in Austin. The books are being submitted for adoption before the state board this weekend.

Board votes to delay book adoption

AUSTIN (AP) — Publishers facing heat over factual errors in U.S. history books proposed for public schools have told state education officials that they want to do a better job of catching mistakes.

"Speaking for all the publishers, we'll definitely try our very best to see that this does not happen again," David Irons, of the Glencoe Division of Macmillan-McGraw-Hill School Publishing Co., told the State Board of Education.

Board members voted Thursday to delay action on the books until January.

Texas is generally the third-largest textbook purchaser in the country, behind New York and California, said Texas Education Agency spokesman Joey Lozano.

The cost of books in several subjects that were scheduled for adoption is $131.2 million, with U.S. history books accounting for about $20.2 million of that. The books are to be used beginning in the 1992-93 school year.

The board, meeting as a committee, voted to adopt books in other subjects, on the condition that publishers certify their accuracy. A final board vote on textbook matters is scheduled for Saturday.

"I don't want my children, or any children in Texas, to have these textbooks if they have these kinds of errors," said board member Jane Nelson of Lewisville at a news conference before the meeting.

Board member Will Davis of Austin warned publishers that the state is tired of finding errors.

"This is not the first hearing we've ever had like this," Davis said. "I'm going to spend some time figuring out how we can see that you guys get the message."

Davis mentioned the possibility of rejecting the books, but state textbook committee members said the proposed history books are better than ones currently approved for classroom use.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Actor Martin Sheen was ordered to stand trial next month on misdemeanor trespassing charges for protesting at the site of a hazardous waste incinerator.

The 51-year-old Sheen, whose film credits include "Badlands" and "Apocalypse Now," was arrested along with 27 other protesters Oct. 13.

The Waste Technologies Industries plant is being built along the Ohio River near the Pennsylvania and West Virginia state lines.

Sheen's trial was scheduled for Dec. 17. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 30 days in jail and a $250 fine.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Whoopi Goldberg is the leading candidate to host the 1992 Grammy Awards, the event's producer says. "We really want to get Whoopi. We hope we can get it done with her," producer Pierre Cossette said at a news conference Thursday.

Setting up for election-year debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats, laying the groundwork for a major election-year debate, are betting their middle-income tax cuts will do more for the economy — and voters — than the capital-gains tax reduction proposed by President Bush.

The big question is whether Bush will jump aboard the tax-cut bandwagon and offer his own plan for reducing the burden on low- and middle-income families. So far, he has expressed doubts that a tax cut is necessary and said some plans being touted in Congress could do more harm than good.

"My God, until a week and a half ago we were not even in a recession," according to the administration, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., exclaimed Thursday in unveiling the latest Democratic tax plan.

Although Rostenkowski, who chairs the House Ways and Means Committee, and other Democratic leaders insist a tax reduction is necessary to spur the economy, they are just as insistent that it can't be done until next year. But they promise that any tax cut will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1992.

"If the president were a doctor,

"My God, until a week and a half ago we were not even in a recession," according to the administration.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill.

we could sue him for economic malpractice," House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., said in soliciting Bush's support. While Bush can't find the money to help the unemployed, Gephardt said, he "actually supports a giveaway to the wealthy that will add $20 billion to the deficit."

That "giveaway" is a cut in taxes on capital gains, which are profits from the sale of investments and other property. Democratic leaders have successfully fought Bush's persistent efforts to cut those taxes, arguing that two-thirds of the direct benefit would go to people with incomes over $200,000 a year.

The president contends that a capital gains cut would give investors the incentive they need to put their money into job-creating efforts.

Democrats spent a good part of last year rejecting those arguments on grounds of "tax fairness." They claim the tax policies pushed through Congress by President Reagan left middle-income families holding the bag while the rich got richer.

The newest Democratic proposal would redress that grievance, temporarily cutting taxes for the middle class, laying new taxes on the well-to-do and stimulating the economy in the process. Ninety million couples and individuals would get tax cuts; 1 million would pay more.

Postponing the tax cut until next year would allow the break to take effect closer to Election Day, when voters would be more mindful of who provided it.

Second, Democrats want to hear from Bush because his cooperation would enhance chances of success. Rostenkowski insists he will not write a major tax bill without holding public hearings, so he can get advice from businesses, economists and individual taxpayers.

Perhaps the biggest fear for Rostenkowski and his Senate counterpart — Finance Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas — is that a rush to write a tax bill could bring a repeat of 1981.

Congress and the White House, trying to show who could produce the biggest tax cuts, settled on a plan that was far larger than had been anticipated, setting off a string of record budget deficits.

Bentsen has his own plan — a permanent $300-a-year tax cut for each child 18 and under in a family and expanded Individual Retirement Accounts. The cuts would be financed by reducing the defense budget.

Rank-and-file House Democrats heaped praise on Rostenkowski's bill.

New unemployment bill is unveiled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are pushing a new plan to extend benefits for the long-term unemployed, but the Bush administration and congressional Republicans say the proposal is unacceptable.

Because of GOP opposition — and a preference by House Democrats to write the measure differently — its future appeared doubtful. It seemed likely, at best, to put President Bush in a difficult position by forcing him to oppose yet another Democratic effort to help victims of the recession.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, and other top Senate Democrats introduced the measure Thursday. Like two previous measures Bush has defeated, it would provide up to 20 weeks of benefits for people who use up the regular 26 weeks of coverage.

The measure, costing about $5.5 billion, would let Bush choose either of three options to pay for the benefits.

Smoking rate drops to a record low

ATLANTA (AP) — The number of smokers in the United States has dropped to its lowest level ever, and those who do smoke are likely to be less educated or in a troubled marriage, according to a federal survey.

However, the federal Centers for Disease Control also reported Thursday that those who do smoke are starting younger and younger.

The CDC said that the U.S. smoking rate fell to 28 percent in 1988, down a percentage point from a year earlier. That rate includes 31 percent of men, 26 percent of women, 28 percent of whites, 32 percent of blacks and 24 percent of Hispanics.

Smoking is significantly higher among those who have gone through bad marriages, the CDC noted. Among separated or divorced people, 43 percent smoke, compared with 27 percent of married or single Americans and 20 percent of widowed Americans.

"Separated and divorced" persons (are) less likely to have quit smoking," the Atlanta-based CDC said.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — The administration building of Beirut's American University was destroyed in a powerful bomb blast before dawn Friday. Police said a Lebanese employee was feared dead and eight people were wounded.

Working for stable and lasting peace

ROME (AP) — Western allies today affirmed U.S. leadership of NATO and urged strong central control of Soviet nuclear weapons. At a watershed summit, they built a framework for a "stable and lasting peace."

Heralding a new era in the 42-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization, President Bush and the leaders of the 15 other NATO nations reached out to the Soviet Union and other old adversaries in Eastern Europe with the promise of "a new era of partnership."

Today's closing session offered closer ties with NATO — but not membership — for the members of the now disbanded Warsaw Pact and the newly independent Baltic states of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

The closer ties could provide

Western expertise in controlling Soviet-trained military forces and converting defense plants into civilian uses.

The summit closed by reaffirming the traditional U.S. participation in NATO. "Our alliance, which provides the essential, trans-Atlantic link as demonstrated by the significant presence of North American forces in Europe, retains its enduring value," a closing statement said.

Italian Premier Giulio Andreotti lauded the American role in NATO. Americans have helped "to avert a Third World War... without any loss of prestige for Europe," he said.

The final declaration glossed over tensions created by French demands for a unified European defense force.

Forced repatriation begins with 59

HONG KONG (AP) — With a group of 59, Hong Kong today began forcing Vietnamese boat people back to their Communist homeland for the first time in almost two years.

Some of the 20 men, 16 women and 23 children under the age of 16 had to be dragged.

British colonial security workers transferred today's group under tight security from the Hei Ling Chau detention center on an islet to Kai Tak Airport. They were to spend the night before leaving for Hanoi, on a chartered Hercules C-130 aircraft Saturday morning.

They are the first group to be forcibly repatriated under an agreement signed by Britain and Vietnam last month involving boat people denied asylum on the ground they are economic immigrants, not refugees from political persecution.

FORCED REPATRIATION

The government hopes Operation Orderly Return will lead to the repatriation of about 50,000 other Vietnamese from the British colony.

Widow doubts conclusion of autopsy

JERUSALEM (AP) — The wife of British publishing magnate Robert Maxwell said today that a preliminary autopsy ruling that he died of a heart attack was not the final word on the cause of death.

Elisabeth Maxwell accompanied Maxwell's body to Jerusalem, where it will be buried on Sunday.

She arrived on a private jet from the Canary Islands, a Spanish island group off the Moroccan coast. Maxwell's body was found off the coast Tuesday after the 68-year-old publisher disappeared from his yacht.

The coffin was covered with a white Jewish prayer shawl with black stripes. Mrs. Maxwell left the plane with her head down, wearing dark glasses, and reporters were kept away. She was accompanied by her eldest son, Philip.

Israeli leaders have mourned Maxwell as a staunch friend of Israel. He reportedly invested $300 million in Israel, and was active in Jewish immigration issues.

Spanish authorities have attributed Maxwell's death to heart failure, but chief coroner Carlos Lopez said the autopsy will not be completed until laboratory tests are returned late next week.

Before leaving Las Palmas in the Canary Islands, Mrs. Maxwell indicated she was not convinced by the autopsy and that more investigation was needed.

Voters anxious about economy

If there was a message in the elections around the country Nov. 5, it is that voters are increasingly anxious about the sluggish economy.

Nowhere was this sentiment manifested more clearly than in Pennsylvania, where Sen. Harris Wofford cleverly positioned himself as the outsider and won a stunning victory over former attorney general Richard Thornburgh. After being appointed six months previous to fill the unexpired term of the late John Heinz, the relatively obscure Wofford waged a relentless campaign based on voters' concerns about the economy.

He erased an early 44-point Thornburgh lead in the polls and coasted to an easy victory. Wofford hammered away at the rust-belt state's unemployment rate, while championing a plan for national health insurance. At the same time, he portrayed Thornburgh, a popular two-term governor, as a smug, establishment politician who had gone to Washington and lost touch with the people.

The Democratic National Committee is hailing Wofford's upset victory as a harbinger for the 1992 presidential race. And though President Bush tried to put the best face on the results, his decision to postpone an Asian trip later this month reflects the White House's determination to pay closer attention to the home front.

The President conceded that many Americans "are hurting out there. They're concerned about their livelihood." He acknowledged, moreover, that people are looking increasingly to government for economic help and affordable health care. It is clear that voters are increasingly worried about the nation's economy and want stronger leadership from the White House.

Many voters also are looking for stronger leadership in statehouses as well.

New Jersey voters, furious at Democratic Gov. James Florio's hefty 1990 tax increase, elected veto-proof Republican majorities in both the Senate and Assembly. The GOP candidates pledged to roll back most of Florio's taxes and to cut spending. Their clean sweep ends nearly two decades of Democratic control in the New Jersey legislature.

In Mississippi, meanwhile, voters broke a 117-year Democratic lease on the governor's mansion. Republican Kirk Fordice, a businessman who emphasized pocketbook issues, defeated Democratic Gov. Ray Mabus and will become the state's first GOP governor since Reconstruction. His victory was achieved in large part by urging that welfare recipients be required to work for their benefits, that parents be allowed to choose the schools their children attend and that racial hiring quotas be eliminated.

In each of these elections, voters expressed their collective disdain for the status quo. It is a message that incumbents from the White House to City Hall would do well to heed.

My friend Ernie wants to know if it's called Daylight Savings Time, what's the time we have now? Daylight Wasting Time?

The best line uttered in the World Series did not come from Minnesota or Atlanta.

It came from country/western singer/writer Bill Anderson, who was a guest on the pregame show for the Georgia/Vanderbilt football game in Nashville.

Anderson was asked if he played baseball in high school. "I was a pitcher at Avondale High," Whispering Bill said.

Next question was, "Did you have a fast ball?"

He answered, "I threw so slowly they sold advertising on the side of the ball."

Best joke of the month: A guy from Southwest Louisiana is in court for shooting a blue heron, an endangered species.

He shot a blue heron, and there were only four left in the world. His judge is a strict environmentalist.

The judge says to the defendant, "The blue heron is endangered species. There were only four left in the world why did you shoot one of them?"

The defendant refused to speak. So the judge said, "You know that I could put you in jail and fine you a thousand dollars. I want to know why you shot the blue heron."

The defendant still refused to speak.

The judge then said, "I hate to do this. But I've got to know why you shot that blue heron. If you'll tell me, I'll let you off on probation."

So the old boy sat up and said, "Well, Judge, it's like this... if you cook one of them blue herons just right, they taste exactly like a bald eagle."

Columnist Mike Steed, of the great borough of Bowden, Ga., from whence came many of my relatives, has a great thought about a new nickname for the Braves. "It should be a name that would offend no one," he said. "Or it should offend those nobody cares about. It should also be a name that would strike fear in the hearts of everyone. How about the Atlanta Lawyers."

Inquiring minds want to know: Has there ever been at any time in history, five U.S. presidents alive at the same time? We've got four exes, Reagan, Nixon, Carter, Ford and Big George. We await the answer.

No, we don't need any gun control in this country. Just look at the killings in Texas and at the University of Iowa. Guns don't kill people; it's idiots with guns that kill people.

Jesse Jackson has decided not to run for president, again. The Cleveland Indians have decided not to run for the American League pennant, again.

Elizabeth Taylor has now been married five more times than I have.

Just for the record the Braves drew 500,000 more fans for their parade than did the Minnesota Twins, who beat the Braves in the World Series. Of course it was about 12 degrees in Minneapolis and 72 in Atlanta. Who's the real winner here?

It's deer season. Deer hunters are always telling you, "If we don't kill the deer, they'll all starve to death. Why don't we just take them some food?"

Lessons to be learned from arms race

Mental floss

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

"Who would have thought the fatal flaw of communism would be that there is no money in it?" (A. Whitney Brown, "Saturday Night Live.")

Boy it does muh ol' heart good to see 'em com'nists sufferin'. But you know what's frightening? It looks like 1950s-60s ultra-marshall military goons were right.

You know, those Westmorland/Pat Buchanan types who kept telling us how much safer the world would be with just a few thousand more nuclear warheads.

One of their big rationales for the arms race was the Soviet economy could not stand the strain and would eventually collapse.

And I'll be darned if they weren't right!

Of course spending untold trillions of bucks on weaponry hasn't done our economy a great deal of good either!

Like the man said, a few more such victories and we shall lose the war!

And lemme tell ya, Uncle Sam bought more than his fair share of rubber chickens during this arms race!

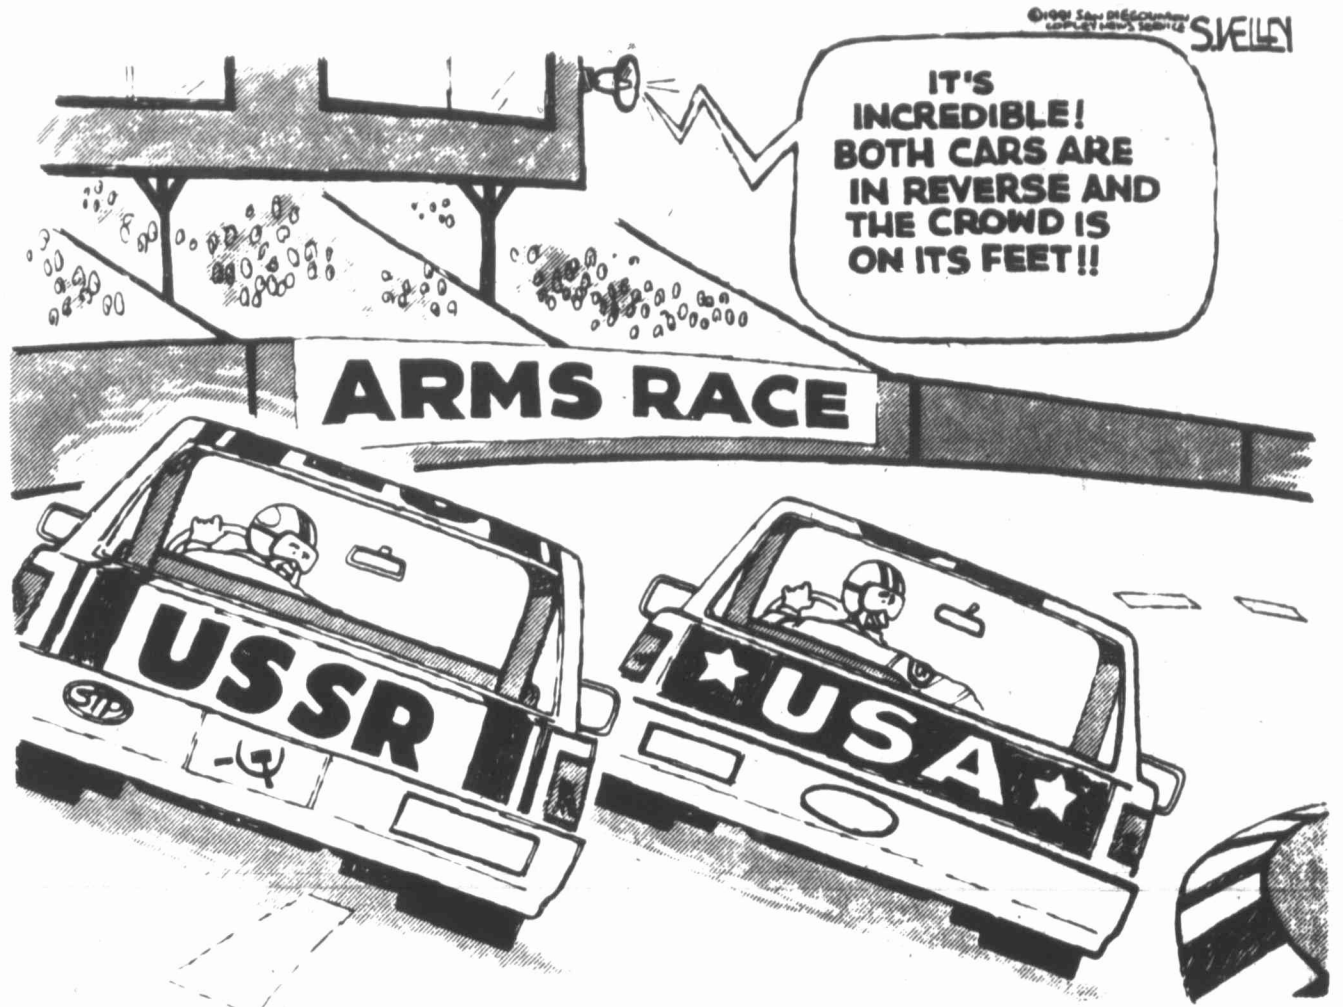

In terms of sheer cost, the B-1 bomber has got to be the biggest white elephant in Pentagon history.

These planes cost more than $300 million dollars apiece and they're good for nothing!

They're supposed to have a very small radar image — they don't.

They're supposed to be able to fly over northern Russia and drop nuclear bombs — they can't.

There is a design flaw in the deicing gear and they head straight for the ground in cold weather. They're supposed to have state of the art radar-jamming equipment — it doesn't work.

One of these planes and its crew augured into the desert, struck fatally by a duck — that ain't supposed to happen on a multi-engine bomber.

And recently, the engines have been flying apart, and this design flaw will cost an additional billion dollars to correct.

Oh yeah! This was the first time the Air Force bought an aircraft from paper — without a prototype. I wonder what Pentagon brain trust OKed that idea?

Did you notice we had an entire war and nobody invited the B-1 bomber?

I saw this ranking Air Force guy defending the B-1 on that point. He said, "That's not what they were designed for."

Oh good! We have these $zillion bombers that weren't designed to participate in the biggest air campaign in history!

The Pentagon bought 97 of these turkeys for the one-time, low-low price of $28 billion!

For that amount, we could house the homeless — every blasted one, fund drug and alcohol rehabilitation for anyone who needed it or send a lot of under-privileged kids to college.

But nooooooo!!!!!!

Shoot, Carter scrapped the B-1 in 1977 because it looked like a turkey even on paper! And then Cowboy Ron restarted the program because his defense-contractor cronies said it was a good idea.

It's like the Strategic Defense Initiative a.k.a. Star Wars. It won't work, and we can't afford it! But Captain Bush is determined to spend bucks on this Reaganoid leftover pipe dream.

It would take innovation on the order of a dozen or more Manhattan Projects to complete just one of these systems. And at the very, very best, SDI could take out no more than 80 or 90 percent of the incoming missiles. That would still leave thousands of American targets destroyed, so we'd all be better than red — we'd be dead.

The icing on the cake, though, is that the Soviets could build and deploy counter-systems at a tenth the cost of SDI.

But then again, hard times have made them worry more about themselves than about us.

Attention: Stand by for rhetoric:

How bad will we let this country get before learning the same lesson?

Bye folks!

The writer's art Gambling kids and reigning cats

It's been several months since we last talked about homophones. These are the sound-alike words with different spellings and different meanings. They cause incessant trouble. A pesky pair is "principal" and "principle."

In Boulder, Colo., a school district advertised for para-professionals; their applications would be submitted to "principles" for review. Wrong. The head of a school is the principal. The New York Times editorially urged the Pentagon to go for airplanes less expensive than the B-2: "The principle aircraft that fit this category are the F-16 and the A-10." Wrong again. The Times' writer wanted to identify the principal aircraft.

The Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer Journal carried a headline in July: "Gorbachev urges party leaders to reject 'outdated' principals." Nope. Gorbachev was talking about political principles. Amoco Oil offered its MultiCard holders accident insurance with a "principle" sum of $25,000. Wrong once more. It's the principal sum.

In Seattle, a critic for the Post-Intelligencer liked a performance by dancer Deborah Hay: "Watching her, you feel like a youngster gambling in a field." Across the country, the Baltimore Sun's woman at the White House commented amusingly on the Bushes' "gambling grandchildren." Gambling, please!

You wouldn't think Time magazine would stumble over rein/reign/rain, not in its press section anyhow, but Time erred when Ralph Ingersoll II launched the ill-fated St. Louis Sun. Ingersoll "blasts other newspapers for giving reporters free reign to pursue stories of limited interest." In Mentor, Ohio, a weekly headlined the news that "It's reigning cats in Geauga County." The old Colorado Springs Sun headlined a story from South Africa: "Reign in Police, Mandela Says." The Parkersburg (W.Va.) Sentinel ran a larger headline: "Weary Gorbachev Again Has Reigns."

James J. Kilpatrick

Well, the reporters had free rein, Gorbachev again had reins, the police should have been reined in, and at the county animal shelter in Ohio, it was raining cats and maybe dogs.

The confusion of rein/reign/rain evokes Horrid Examples of vein/vain/vane. In Birmingham, Ala., Auburn fans were taking a coach's name "in vein." In Lisbon, Ohio, the Morning Journal reported in February that a rally in support of Desert Storm would be held in Salem in rain, sleet or snow. "The fields of battle have no weather vein," said the principal organizer. Names are taken "in vain," and we gauge the wind with a weather vane.

Everyone knows about "undo." We undo damage; we undo a knot. But the Chicago Sun-Times, reporting the transfer of hundreds of teachers last year, quoted a high school principal: "It's going to create undo hardship." In Harrisburg, Pa., the Patriot-News also noted problems. A combination of declining enrollment and higher salaries "has placed undue pressure on local school boards." Undue, please! Undue hardship! Undue pressure! And never mind asking how much hardship is due.

Many writers have trouble with right/rite. Have a few Horrid Examples. In the Las Vegas Review-Journal: "Learning to drive a car is a hallowed right of passage in America." In the San Antonio Express-News: "Anson Williams turns to directing in 'Soldier Boys,' a comedy about rights of passage in a military school." The Florida Times-Union recalled that an 18th-century hospital in St. Augustine maintained a priest constantly on duty to administer "last rights."

A right of passage is what a sailing ship has when it approaches a drawbridge. A rite of passage is something else, like a girl's first kiss or a boy's first fight. The sacrament of anointing the sick is a last rite.

I wish I could offer mnemonic devices that would help in keeping homophones straight, but the tough truth is that most of these troublemakers have to be memorized. Final note to papers in Oregon: Gang killings and highway fatalities aren't "a grizzly death toll." That's one mixup that's hard to bear.

Rotary Club puts service above self

Rotarians don't consider themselves a better club than others in Big Spring, just unique. According to the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club President, Phillip Welch, the Rotary Club was "established on classification according to vocation."

"The club is a cross section of the top people in our community. Members have to be in a higher level of their vocation. It's a different group of people."

"Rotary, the world's first service organization is composed of business and professional people who have accepted the ideal of 'Service above Self' as a basis for attaining fulfillment in their personal, business, and community lives", reads the Rotary handbook, "Rotarians believe 'he profits the most who serves the best.'"

The four avenues of service offered by Rotary are Vocational Service, Club Service, International Service, and Community Service.

Rotary will be most remembered for its International Service; this includes various exchange programs, scholarships, and other world projects. Its ultimate purpose is to promote understanding, peace, and intelligent goodwill between people of different nations.

The Greater Big Spring Rotary is involved in many projects locally and worldwide. Three projects that show the basis of the Rotary ideals are RYLA, Polio Plus, and GSE.

RYLA, the Rotary Youth Leadership Award, is given annually. The club sponsors 5 boys and 5 girls to attend this district leadership camp. Participants attend seminars and hear speeches on leadership and free enterprise. Applicants are screened and chosen according to leadership ability. The purpose of the week-long camp is to give high school students the chance to meet with other kids on the same leadership level. "The program widens horizons, focuses on achievement and real life circumstances," Welch said.

In 1978, Rotary International began the Health, Hunger, and Humanity Program to improve health, alleviate hunger, and enhance humanitarian conditions wherever possible. After the program was implemented, it was discovered that polio was killing 3.5 million children and disabling an equal number annually in developing countries. The Polio Plus program was then started to eliminate polio and five other vaccine-preventable diseases. Rotarians and others have since contributed almost 200 million dollars and have immunized over 250 million children.

To promote fellowship and understanding with other countries, the Rotary Foundation started the Group Study Exchange (GSE). The Big Spring Rotary participates in this annual district project that involves non-Rotarians. This year, participants from Korea were received and hosted by Rotary for 6 weeks. Guests study their individual vocation in this structured program.

"The exchange between the 2 countries teaches you to appreciate the differences in culture. This year, a math teacher, a radio producer, and an insurance administrator were included in the group. You learn a lot about the individuals. It makes ties to those countries and when you hear about them later, it's more than just news," Welch said. Our group leaves for Korea Spring 1992.

Rotary improves lives and communication. The district project for this Christmas season is to send clothing to the Mexico highlands. In 1987, Rotary linked Britain and Argentina in their teen-exchange after the conflict between the two countries.

The Four Way Test Rotarians follow is: "Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build goodwill and better friendships? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?" These questions are a key to understanding this diverse, enjoyable group.

The Greater Big Spring Rotary Club meets Friday at noon in the Cactus Room at Howard College. If you are interested in the club, contact Phillip Welch at 267-8243.

Before the game Friday, don't miss the Fajita Dinner from 5:30-7:30 in the East Room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Garden Club to host holiday workshop

The Spade and Hoe Garden will host a Santa's Workshop on Nov. 9 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Big Spring Country Club.

The club is raising funds to relandscape the Courthouse. There will be instruction on tree lighting, wreath and bow making, decorating and entertaining ideas for the holidays.

Many gifts items will be available for early Christmas shoppers and there will be plenty of drawings for door prizes.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or at the following merchants; Chamber of Commerce, Gale's Bakery, Linens and Laddies, La Mirage Beauty Salon, Accent Shoppe, Johansen Landscaping, Merle Norman Cosmetics, Faye's Flowers and Janes Flowers.

Cattlemen sponsor 4-H cook-off

Tejas Cattlemen sponsored the Knott 4-H Ground Beef Cook-Off held Nov. 2 in Knott. Nine boys and girls competed in four divisions.

Clay Hart placed first in the low calorie main dish division. Hollie Zant placed first in the low cost main dish division.

Marla Reed placed first in the quick and easy main dish division. Shelli Blagrove placed first in the one meal main dish division.

Katie Gaskins, Cory Hill, Lisa Hill and Cal Zant also participated in the events and received blue ribbons.

Three members of the Tejas Cattlemen served as judges for the event. They were Maureen Morris of Colorado City, Lucille Sterling of Colorado City and Gerald Marie Wallace of Big Spring.

Following the awards presentation the Knott 4-H Club served their dishes to the public.

Thanks to all who attended for your support of 4-H.

The purpose of the poppy

Once again the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 506, will be at several businesses with poppies. The Memorial Poppy is never sold, but is given in exchange for a contribution.

The Poppy program has been a part of Auxiliary programming for more than 65 years. It has been estimated that approximately 25 million Americans wear the poppy to honor America's war dead and all veterans, also contributing nearly $2 million for the rehabilitation and welfare programs.

All donations from the Poppy Day is used for the veterans. Unit 506 volunteers at the VA Medical Center in Big Spring. Monies from donations will be used to purchase items for our comfort cart, such as soap, lotions, shaving needs, hair care products, toothpaste, etc. Comfort cart volunteers contact each veteran one time week. We also serve cake and coffee each month.

Each year American Auxiliary members sponsor a Christmas Gift Shop. The gift shop allows each veteran to shop for family members. The Auxiliary members gift wrap the gifts, label and wrap for mailing. There is no charge to the patient.

In 1990, $6,792.99 was spent for gifts, postage and wrapping paper. The units in the area each decorate one ward for Christmas. We are proud to be a part of this event and would like to say thank you for all your donations. Without your help we could not do this.

Now you know how the Poppy Day donations are used. Thank you for your contribution.

Howard SWCD attends annual meeting

Members of the Howard Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors attended the 51st Annual Meeting of soil and water conservation districts held in Corpus Christi on Oct. 21-23.

Attending the conference were Neil Fryar, chairman; Ray Russell, vice-chairman; Bernice Cason, clerk; and Sam Buchanan, district conservationist, Soil Conservation Service.

During the conference, the Howard SWCD received the Goodyear Grand Award for outstanding conservation accomplishments.

Featured speakers on the program included James Owen, president, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Robert Wetherbee, president, National Association of Conservation Districts; John Hall, chairman, Texas Water Commission; Jerry Clark, Director of State Governmental Affairs, Associated Milk Producers, Inc.; and Wes Oneth, SCS State Conservationist, Texas.

"The major issues heard at the meeting included discussions on reauthorization of the Clean Water Act, Endangered Species Act, federal wetlands programs and coastal zone management," said Neil Fryar, chairman of the Howard SWCD.

Citing Wetherbee's comments on the wetland conservation issue, Fryar said that NACD is working on behalf of conservation districts nationwide to find a practical wetland conservation strategy that balances aquatic ecosystems protection with growth and development.

"The problem with the wetlands issues is the proposed changes in the Federal Manual for Identifying and Delineating Jurisdictional Wetlands. Hydric soils, hydrophytic vegetation and hydrology are still the key elements in making wetland determinations, however, the big change is the criteria to prove the hydrology is there," said Fryar.

Fryar said that the projected time frame for finalization of the proposed 1991 wetlands manual is one year. He added that the old 1987 manual will be used until the new document is finalized.

"With respect to the reauthorization of the Endangered Species Act, U.S. Fish and Wildlife specialists discussed the legalities of the Act and how provisions of the Act may affect farmers and ranchers," Fryar said.

Regular elections for directors to represent state areas one, three, and five of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts were held at the meeting.

Representing area one is T. Michael Holt of Spearman. The director for area three is Donald Swann of Taft. Area five's director is Maurice Shepherd of Burleson.

Charles "Buddy" Clark of Menard was re-elected president. Donald Swann is current vice president of the ATSWCDs.

We All Support Each Other

The Support Staff

"The management of Nalley-Pickle & Welch care, not only for the families they serve, but they care for their staff. Their concern for people is consistent—from those to whom they render service to those who are part of their service team."—Service Assistant Raymond C. Shokey on behalf of the Nalley-Pickle & Welch support staff.

Serving people in a time of loss requires teamwork on many levels. Nalley-Pickle & Welch's support staff members, like the rest of our professionals, are dedicated to serving to the best of their abilities. Whether working as a secretary, a receptionist, a funeral director's helper, a service assistant, or a greeter, our support staff workers understand their specific roles. And do what it takes so that each service detail receives the special attention you expect and deserve.

Although you may not always see every staff member behind our operation, at Nalley-Pickle & Welch we all support each other to assist families as a caring group.

And it makes it all the more worthwhile when someone says, "your staff does it better than anywhere else that I know of."

First Baptist Church of Big Spring was organized November 13, 1886, with eight members. Rev. S.B. Callaway, supported by the Baptist General Convention of Texas as a missionary in the only recently settled territory of Western Texas, was called as the first Pastor. In 105 years the Church has had 27 Pastors. Dr. Kenneth G. Patrick is the present pastor, and has served the church for 21 years.

Structures housing First Baptist Church have been in three locations. The first structure was located at 501 Gregg. In 1928, a beautiful church building was built at 6th and Main where the present Post Office is situated. This structure was razed in 1965, upon the completion of the present facility at 705 West Marcy Drive. Phase II of the Master Plan for the present church building was completed in 1980. More than 102,000 square feet of floor space is under one roof. The auditorium, chapel, parlor, educational space, kitchen, dining hall, Family Life Center and offices are functional to minister to the whole person and the entire family.

Under the leadership of five ministers and two children's coordinators the Church provides ministries of Christian education, music, missions, youth, recreation, older adult activities, and Christian discipleship opportunities. Presently there are 2,000 members with a Sunday School enrollment of 1400. The worship of our Lord is enhanced through dedicated and committed Christian growth. The morning worship services are televised over Big Spring Cable TV on Channel 6 each Sunday from 11:00-12:00 a.m. The Deacon body numbers 63 and are actively involved in ministries to the entire church membership and the community.

With deep missionary roots, the First Baptist Church has espoused mission work in Big Spring with the establishment of College Baptist Church, Hillcrest Baptist Church, Calvary Baptist Church and Iglesia Bautista Central Baptist Church. The membership has supported the Cooperative Program of the Southern Baptist Convention with mission gifts for many years. The church is affiliated with the Big Spring Baptist Association and Big Spring-Lamesa Baptist Area. The church has fostered missionary efforts in providing land, buildings and preachers for churches in Kansas, Colorado and Oregon. Many missionaries and full time vocational Christian ministers have been sent forth from First Baptist Church to all parts of the world.

The First Baptist Church is delighted to be a part of the Big Spring Community. We are thrilled to cooperate in Christian love with other evangelicals, believing that we are "one in Christ Jesus."

You are cordially welcomed to worship at First Baptist Church where Jesus is Lord and every person is very important.

New Edition to perform locally

"New Edition" from the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor will present several songs in the 10:50 a.m. worship service this Nov. 10 at the First Baptist Church.

This vocal ensemble includes the following UMHB students: Amy Ten Napel of Pasadena, Texas; Katherine Martinez, Waxahachie, Texas; Vicki Bravenec, Temple, Texas; Beth Bartlett, Tuscola, Texas; Matthew Fitzwater, Kalispell, Montana; Darrell Fishbeck, Blanco, Texas; Duane Graeff, Killeen, Texas; and from Big Spring, Texas, Vance Self. The group is directed by John Hollan, UMHB Admissions Counselor.

The group maintains a fairly conservative style yet sings music that is contemporary and fresh. Selections range from the newest Christian styles to Traditional Gospel. "New Edition" performs concerts across Texas from September through May for various churches and civic organizations.

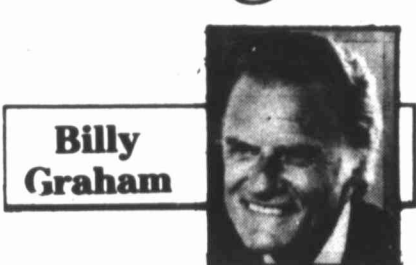

False forecasting won't deliver

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What do you think about astrology? I am fascinated by the idea of knowing what the future holds for us, and I can't see anything wrong with it. In fact, couldn't God use the stars as His way to communicate with us? — T.P.S.

DEAR T.P.S.: Although astrology is very popular today — almost every newspaper and magazine seems to carry at least one horoscope — the Bible labels it and similar ways of trying to forecast the future as false paths that can never deliver what they promise.

Astrology likewise was very popular in the ancient world. It even led many people to worship the objects in the sky instead of God. But the Bible's writers warned against it, saying that "when you look up to the sky and see the sun, the moon and the stars — all the heavenly array — do not be enticed into bowing down to them and worshipping things" (Deuteronomy 4:19).

God has already given us all that we need to know about Himself and about the future in the pages of His Word, the Bible. It tells us that He created us so we could have fellowship with Him and live with Him forever. But it also says that we have rebelled against God and have substituted other things for God. As a result we are separated from God, and no matter what we do we will never find lasting meaning and purpose in life apart from the living God. Our greatest need is to be reconciled to God — and God has made that possible by sending His Son, Jesus Christ, into the world to bring us forgiveness and salvation. "For Christ died for sins once for all ... to bring you to God" (1 Peter 3:18).

Don't look in the wrong places for the answer to life. At best they will deceive you; at worst they will destroy you. Instead, give your life to Jesus Christ. In Him — and in Him alone — "are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge" (Colossians 2:3).

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What are your thoughts about reincarnation? Personally I find it an attractive idea, because there are a lot of experiences I would like to have on this earth and I know I won't have time to get around to all of them, if this life is all there is. I want to have all the fun I can. — Mrs. H.B.

DEAR MRS. H.B.: The Bible doesn't support the idea of reincarnation. In fact, it teaches clearly that "man is destined to die once, and after that to face judgment" (Hebrews 9:27). The Bible also reminds us, "Now we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, an eternal house in heaven" (2 Corinthians 5:1).

Yes, we are on this earth only once — and that places a great responsibility upon us, for we will never have another chance if we waste our lives right now. We need to live each moment as if it were our last — not madly trying to cram in every possible experience life could offer (even those that are harmful or wrong), but in living for God.

That, after all, is why we are here — to know God and to serve Him. "So let us put aside the deeds of darkness and put on the armor of light. Let us behave decently, as in the daytime, not in orgies and drunkenness, not in sexual immorality and debauchery, not in dissension and jealousy. Rather, clothe yourselves with the Lord Jesus Christ, and do not think about how to gratify the desires of the sinful nature" (Romans 13:12-14).

Don't be misled, and don't go through life delaying your responsibility to live as you should. Christ came to take away our sins and give us eternal life in Heaven when we die — and that is our true hope. Commit your life to Jesus Christ right now, and then make it your goal to live for Him every day. Living for Christ is the greatest, most fulfilling adventure you can ever experience.

Garden City church enjoys festival

"Harvest-Fest" was the theme for the Garden City Methodist Youth Party this past Sunday at the home of Michael and Melissa Hoch.

Thirty young attended the "festivities" which included a scavenger hunt, directed by Christi Bryant, for the older kids, and games directed by Jill Swenson, for the younger kids.

After these activities, volleyball matches were enjoyed by all. Of course no party is complete without food, and it was plentiful. Chili dogs, chips, cokes, and cookies were devoured by the hungry group. To top the party off, a hayride and sing-song, with songs led by Rena Harris, were enjoyed by all.

The sponsors for the "Harvest-Fest" were Jill and Phil Swenson, Dennis and Trish Bryant, Laura and Roger Huit, Rena and Clay Harris, and Michael and Melissa Hoch. The Garden City Methodist youth include: Christi Bryant, April Bryant, Krystal Bell, Swen Swenson, Casey Hoch, Amy Hoch, Michelle Hoch, Jessica Hoch, Paige Hoch, Luke Huit, Deidra Harris, Tina Harris, Steven Drgac and Brian Drgac.

Spanish assembly in Lubbock

Jehovah's Witnesses will celebrate a two day Spanish assembly in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium entitled, "Carrying your own load of responsibility" on November 16 and 17.

Two rewarding days of Bible instruction await you. Be present at 9:55 a.m. Saturday morning to enjoy the opening talk, "Flight from Responsibility Not for Christians" and the concluding part of the morning session, a special talk, "Dedication and Baptism," dedicated to those who will take their own load of responsibility through baptism.

On Saturday afternoon, admonition will be provided Christians to fulfill their responsibility as ministers of God. "Joyfully Caring for Christian Responsibilities" and "Youths-Assume your Responsibility" are two of the themes that will be developed.

You will want to be present Sunday morning to hear the three-part symposium, "Shouldering our Responsibility to Sound the Warning." Then, in the afternoon, you will not want to miss the keynote address, "God's New World — Who Will Qualify to Enter?" given by Ruben Salazar, a guest speaker representing the Watchtower Bible and Tract.

Close to 100 people from Big Spring alone are expected to attend this assembly. Approximately another 600 delegates from Lamesa, Lubbock and surrounding towns are expected to be there also. All interested persons are invited and welcome to attend.

First Assembly of God hosts singer

Music Encounter with Bill Bartolomucci will be presented at First Assembly of God on Nov. 13 at 7 p.m.

Exercising his God-given talent, Bill ministers in song under the anointing, fulfilling the call upon his life. His presentation of song and personal testimony is refreshing, uplifting and a delightful experience for all.

Born and raised in Ohio, Bill met his wife, Carol, in London, England. Carol, a native of Arkansas, was completing high school in England while Bill was serving in the U.S. Air Force. They now reside in Whitesboro, Texas, and have one son, Carson.

Since accepting the Lord in 1978, Bill has done radio and television ministries, and recently recorded an album, "I Sing Because." For the past seven years, he has served as Minister of Music at First Assembly of God in Gainesville.

The Rev. Stephen Grace of First Assembly of God, 4th and Lancaster, invites the public to attend.

FDA plans major changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration plans to implement the most sweeping changes in 30 years to speed the process for approving new drugs, The Washington Post reported in today's editions.

The FDA would let private contractors review applications to market new drugs and create an approval fast-track for drugs used to treat life-threatening illnesses, the newspaper said.

The changes would be in well-established categories of allergy drugs, analgesics, anti-inflammatory and antibiotics.

The FDA also is exploring the possibility of accepting drug approval decisions by other countries. The newspaper said the goal is to identify other countries that the FDA feels have adequate drug review systems and allow their decisions to stand here.

The new approach would free FDA staffers to concentrate on the most important new therapies and cut three or four years from the current 10-year approval process, it said.

Outside review means that a private research laboratory or a university medical center analyzes entire applications seeking approval of a new drug. The FDA reviews an outside finding and decides whether to approve the drug. Such steps are occasionally taken now but only on a limited basis.

The FDA in some cases asks an outside expert to examine parts of an application. And it sometimes calls together a panel of outside experts to give an opinion.

An FDA official confirmed Thursday night that sweeping changes were in the works, but could not confirm what the details were. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

The reforms were developed by the FDA and the White House Competitiveness Council, said The Post. It said they were the most wide-ranging in three decades.

The drug categories involved in the changes make up more than one-third of the pharmaceuticals sold in the United States.

The process of outside review would free up the FDA to focus on drugs for potentially fatal diseases, said The Post.

Flooding

$1.2 million on the $4.2 million project. The rest will come from the Army Corps of Engineers budget.

Union Pacific Railroad will be donating much of the land for the project. Its interest in the project stems from the floods of 1986-87, when flood waters halted traffic on these tracks for a number of days.

"They have been very helpful and very cooperative," Decell said.

"We are still in the paperwork phase," he said, although the project has passed all hurdles, including an environmental impact study.

Actual construction is slated to begin in July of 1993 and will be completed in September or October of 1995. "In December of '92, however, we're going to have to put our money on the table," Decell said.

Police beat

The Big Spring Police Department reported the following incidents:

• Nintendo games and equipment worth $194 were reported stolen following the burglary of a vehicle in the 1100 block of Wood Street.

• Cigarettes and baseball caps worth $137 were reported stolen following the burglary of a building in the 3100 block of West 80.

• A bicycle valued at $160 was reported stolen in the 3600 block of Calvin.

• A radar detector was reported stolen following the burglary of a vehicle in the 1200 block of Ridgeway. Loss was estimated at $310.

Guerrero says Texas needs energy policy

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

SWEETWATER — Texas, the largest oil and gas producing state in the country, needs an energy policy, Texas Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero said Tuesday.

"We don't have a clue about what our future needs are," Guerrero told more than 200 people attending a dinner banquet in honor of State Rep. David Counts, D-Knox City. "The reality is we need a plan in this state and we're working on one."

Guerrero, the first woman and first Hispanic appointed to the Railroad Commission, was the keynote speaker at the banquet, which was sponsored by the State and Federal Legislative Committee of Sweetwater Country Club. The 33-year-old was appointed to the commission by the governor 10 months ago.

Counts, who was put in the same House district as Rep. Troy Fraser, R-Big Spring, in a legislative redistricting plan awaiting federal approval, on Tuesday pledged his support for Guerrero's efforts. "We want to help you do that."

Guerrero said one area that needs to be looked at is more use of alternative fuels such as propane, butane and natural gas. She pointed out that half the electrical generation in the state is from coal and half that coal comes from Wyoming.

"We've got to consider that not any one fuel can carry the load in this state," she said. "That's what will build the economy in this state, investing in Texas fuels."

Work needs to be done to protect the environment too, Guerrero said, such as making sure oil wells are properly plugged after use and eliminating open pits in the oilfield. "There's a number of things," she said.

But jobs are important too, she said, and there needs to be a balance between environmental concerns and the creation and protection of jobs. "We are going to have to balance energy production and environmental protection."

Much work has already been done, Guerrero said, including passage by the Legislature this year to put $10 million into a well-plugging fund to help thwart oilfield pollution, which affects underground water. The legislation, which Counts helped pass, will be paid for with increased fines collected on unplugged oil wells.

"Water quality was important to him (Counts) and that was important to me," Guerrero said. "Issues that David Counts has been a part of make a difference in the Legislature."

Guerrero also lauded Counts for passage of legislation to protect coastal waterways, improve veterans' benefits, make workmen's compensation more affordable, and dealing with auto thefts. If Counts is re-elected, she said, "he'll do well by Texas."

Guerrero, a former state House representative from Austin, was first elected to the House when she was 26 years old. She grew up in Mission and was the fifth of nine children.

Tuesday was declared David Counts Day, announced Sweetwater Mayor Rick Rhodes and Nolan County Judge Jack Aycock at the banquet.

Cable TV bill revived

Herald Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — After languishing for six months, the bipartisan Senate bill to regulate cable television has suddenly been revived, apparently so Democrats can stress their current political themes at an opportune time.

The prime Republican and Democratic authors of the measure announced Thursday they would try to start debate on the Senate floor next week.

The sponsors said they would have no trouble mustering the 60 votes necessary to overcome a threatened filibuster by four senators, who could otherwise kill the legislation through indefinite delay. And they said they were within reach of obtaining 67 senators to vote for the bill, enough to override the veto threatened by President Bush.

The bill, under consideration for three years, aims to restore some federal control of the pricing, programming and customer service practices of the booming cable TV industry. Federal control was largely abandoned by Congress in a sweeping deregulation law enacted in 1984.

Since then, average monthly cable charges have risen rapidly — 9 percent last year alone, or double the inflation rate — and consumers have complained loudly about poor service from their cable companies, which have monopolies in more than 90 percent of their markets.

The proposed legislation would allow the Federal Communications Commission to cap prices for the most basic tier of cable TV service in any city without multi-channel video competition — a big jump in jurisdiction from what the FCC adopted for itself this summer.

To combat the current industry practice of "retiering," or moving popular programs out of the most basic package so their prices cannot be controlled, the FCC would be given the power to set prices on more expensive tiers of service in some cases.

"No business in America should be in a position where they have no competition and no regulation," said Sen. Al Gore Jr. of Tennessee. "That is just not fair."

A Bush veto promise effectively scuttled the 1990 version of a cable TV bill in the Senate after a companion measure passed the House of Representatives unanimously. The president has renewed the veto threat this year, arguing the measure relies too heavily on federal regulation to correct the industry's excesses.

Bush says any proposal should do more to encourage competition from telephone companies and new technologies — like satellite dishes and so-called wireless cable.

sides as typical, including those to suppress evidence and to have evidence and witness information made available. All were granted by District Judge Bob Moore, except one that is still under consideration.

Near the end of the pre-trial hearing, Nelson, upon questioning by Moore, said he was satisfied with the representation he has been receiving from court-appointed attorney Don Richard.

Following the hearing, Richard had few comments but did say he is worried about the number of potential jurors who may know Wheat's family. Such factors could help jeopardize the selection of an unbiased jury in Howard County and result in the trial being moved to another county, he said.

"Nobody wants that," Richard said. "That's why I'm being cautious about my statements."

Hamby agreed. "I'd rather try it here than any place else."

The trial, for which 17 state witnesses have been subpoenaed — including seven police officers and a pathologist — may last up to two weeks, Hamby estimated.

For the record

It was reported in Monday's Police Beat that a watch valued at $275 was stolen from Day's Inn Motel. Motel Manager Mark Stott said Thursday that the watch was later recovered at a local restaurant.

Andrews (7-1, 4-0) at Big Spring (3-1, 7-1)

A do-or-die situation for the Big Spring Steers. The Steers not only have to win this game, but win it by at least 12 points. If Andrews wins, more-than-likely the Mustangs will be the District 3-4A champions.

This will be a classic, much like the previous two meetings in which Big Spring won 35-33 and 10-8. Both teams are banged up. Big Spring is hurting offensively and Andrews is hurting defensively. Both teams have strong defenses. The Steers won't panic, they'll stick to their game plan. Andrews won't panic either, the Mustangs just want an out-right district championship.

The Steers will suck it up and win their home finale, unfortunately it won't be by 12 points. The only consolation is that it Big Spring could still be tri-champions, but no playoffs.

Big Spring 21, Andrews 13

Colorado City (0-3-1, 2-6-1) at Greenwood (1-3, 4-5)

This one is for pride. The Colorado City Wolves have lost several close games this year — they want to win a district game.

After strting out like a ball of fire, the Greenwood Rangers have struggled miserably over the last half of the season.

Greenwood will finally get its act together and play a solid offensive and defensive game. Colorado City just doesn't have the horses to keep up with the Rangers.

Greenwood 24, Colorado City 14

Ozona (2-4, 2-7) at
Coahoma (3-2-1, 6-2-1)

At times the Ozona Lions are a pretty good team, and at other times they play like a lower-division team.

On the other hand the Coahoma Bulldogs have a chance to have their best season in recent history.

The Bulldogs will have fun in the season finale. There is no pressure and they might just take out their frustrations of not making the playoffs on the Lions.

The game will be close for a quarter, but then the Bulldogs will dominate. Mike "Tiny" Knowles, all 300-pounds of him, might even get to run with the ball.

Coahoma 35, Ozona 14

Stanton (1-5, 1-8) at
Eldorado (3-2-1, 6-2-1)

The Stanton Buffalos have a new look on life since winning their first game last week, a decisive victory over Forsan.

The Eldorado Eagles, are down after losing a hard-fought 24-8 decision to league co-leader Wall.

The Buffalos finally got a taste of winning and it agrees with them. The Eagles will try to get it up one more time just to conclude a good season on a positive note.

Do we smell upset? There's a good possibility. But the home field advantage and Eldorado's overall physical talent will tell in the last quarter.

Eldorado 28, Stanton 14

McCamey (2-4, 3-6) at
Forsan (0-6, 0-9)

The end of a long, long season for the Forsan Buffaloes. The same holds true for the McCamey Badgers.

Forsan's youngsters have learned a cruel lesson this season, but it will benefit the Buffs in the next couple of years. It has been a disappointing season for the Badgers. The season outlook was bright with 15 returning starters, but things just seem to go down hill for the Badgers.

These are two teams that would like to close the season with a victory. Unfortunately one team will not accomplish that. Right now it looks like that is Forsan.

Good things come to those who wait, Buffs.

McCamey 21, Forsan 6

Roby (2-2, 6-2) at
Garden City (3-1, 7-1)

The Garden City Bearkats are the "Fat Kats" walking around with an "S" on their jerseys, at least that's the way the Roby Lions are looking at it.

Roby can't get into the playoffs, but the next best thing is knocking off the No. 5 team in the state. The fact of the matter is however is that Garden City has been through too many big game wars.

The Bearkats will take care of business as usual, in preparation of next week's showdown with Sterling City.

Garden City 42, Roby 8

Klondike (1-2, 1-7) at
Sands (3-0, 8-0)

What a way to end the season for the young Klondike Cougars.

The Sands Mustangs are in search of a state championship and are looking for a way to polish up their act.

Klondike will play the Mustangs close for a while simply because of momentum from their last win, and being rested after an open week. But that just goes so far playing one of the state's best.

Sands 50, Klondike 12

Grady (1-2, 3-5) at
Wellman (2-1, 5-2-1)

This Battle of the Wildcats is for a state playoff berth behind Sands. Wellman Wildcats was expected to be here all along, Grady was not. Wellman has a lot of talent and is hungry for a playoff spot. Grady is hurting and doesn't take too kindly to the fact that a string of three straight playoff appearances could come to an end.

The Wildcats are face two major obstacles — too banged up; Wellman's home field advantage. Plus Wellman has a few very talented athletes.

Virus causes Magic to retire

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Magic Johnson, an embodiment of the joy of athleticism and a beneficiary of the riches it can bring, reduced the sporting world to tears with his announcement that the AIDS virus is forcing his retirement at age 32.

High school basketball players shed tears in practice, his former coach gathered his new team in prayer and teammates expressed their shock and sadness.

But there were no tears from Johnson on Thursday, only his incandescent smile, dimmed somewhat as he announced to the world that he was quitting the Los Angeles Lakers because he had contracted the dreaded virus. His poignant vow: To go on living.

"It's another challenge, another chapter in my life," he said. "Your back is against the wall. I think you just have to come out swinging."

"I'm swinging."

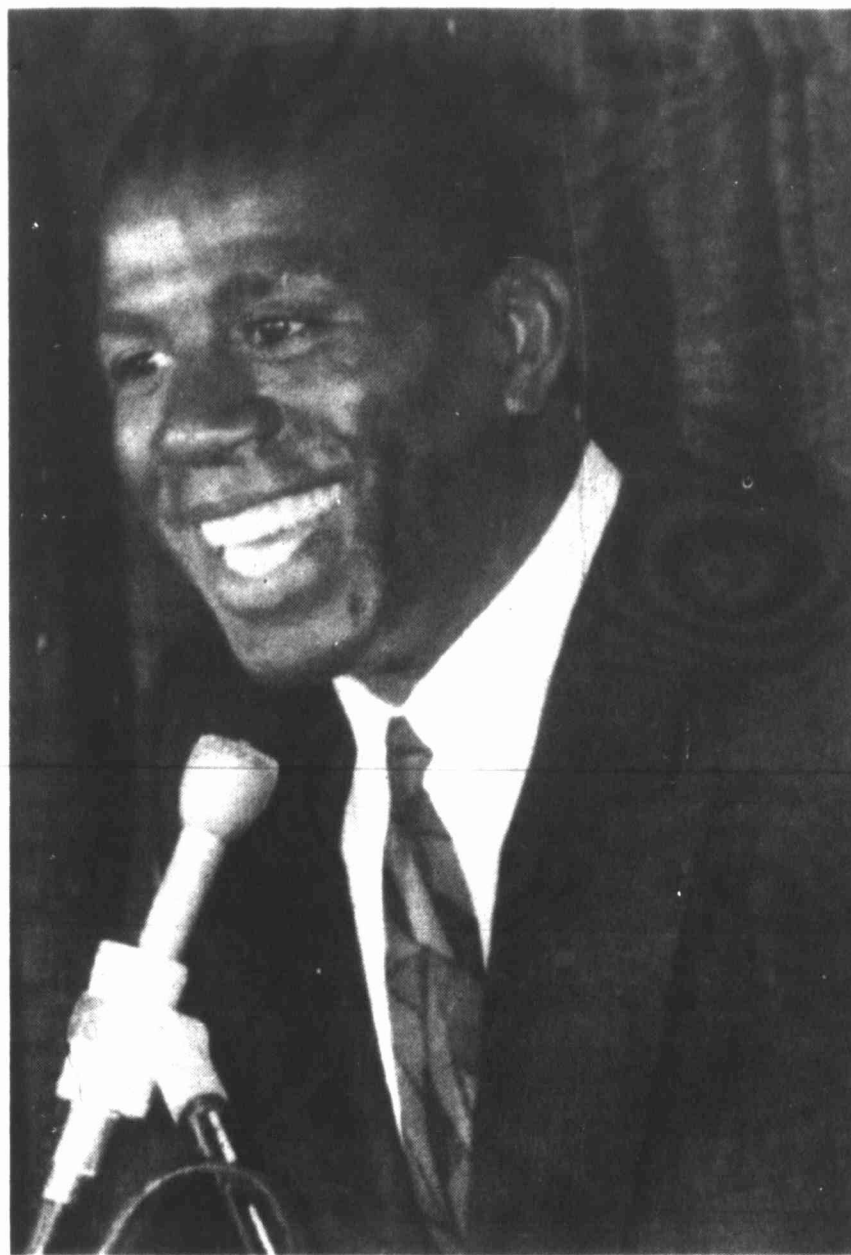

Johnson, his face calm and his voice steady, said medical tests taken for a new life insurance policy showed positive for human immuno-deficiency virus, a diagnosis confirmed Wednesday. He stressed he doesn't have full-blown AIDS.

But the originator of the Lakers' fast-break "Showtime" who led Los Angeles to five NBA championships will be unable to continue playing to the crowds that adored him. His new pursuit will continue to be a public one, however, serving as the biggest symbol the fight against AIDS has ever had.

"For the kids, that's why I am going to be a spokesman for this HIV virus, because I want them to understand that safe sex is the way to go," he said.

"I think sometimes we think, well, only gay people can get it, it's not going to happen to me. And here I am saying that it can happen to anybody. Even me, Magic Johnson, it could happen to."

That it could happen to Johnson, a player who donated millions to charity and who married his college sweetheart less than two months ago, made it all the more tragic.

"He wasn't cautious," Johnson's former teammate, Kareem Abdul-

Jabbar, said. "His luck ran out on him."

But luck was what Johnson seemed to have so much of during his two-year collegiate career at Michigan State and especially with the Lakers. When he came to the NBA in 1979 as the No. 1 draft pick, the league was struggling to survive. Along with Larry Bird, he helped turn the league into a worldwide entertainment, marketing and sports success.

That success was never more apparent than last month in Paris, when Johnson drew flocks of worshipping French fans to watch him display his dazzling ability at the McDonalds' Open.

"No one has contributed more to the success of the NBA than Earvin 'Magic' Johnson, and I know his fans around the world, myself included, will miss the thrill of watching him compete," said NBA commissioner David Stern, who was at the news conference.

More than just a basketball star, Johnson has been a successful businessman, a prominent corporate spokesman and a role model for young people. His broad grin, familiar nickname and electrifying ability have made him familiar to people around the world.

Johnson, who was to make about $3 million this year, ranked fourth in a recent consumer survey of the appeal of athletes as commercial endorsers behind Michael Jordan, Bo Jackson and Tommy Lasorda. He has endorsed Converse athletic shoes, Nintendo games, Slice soft drinks and Kentucky Fried Chicken, among other products.

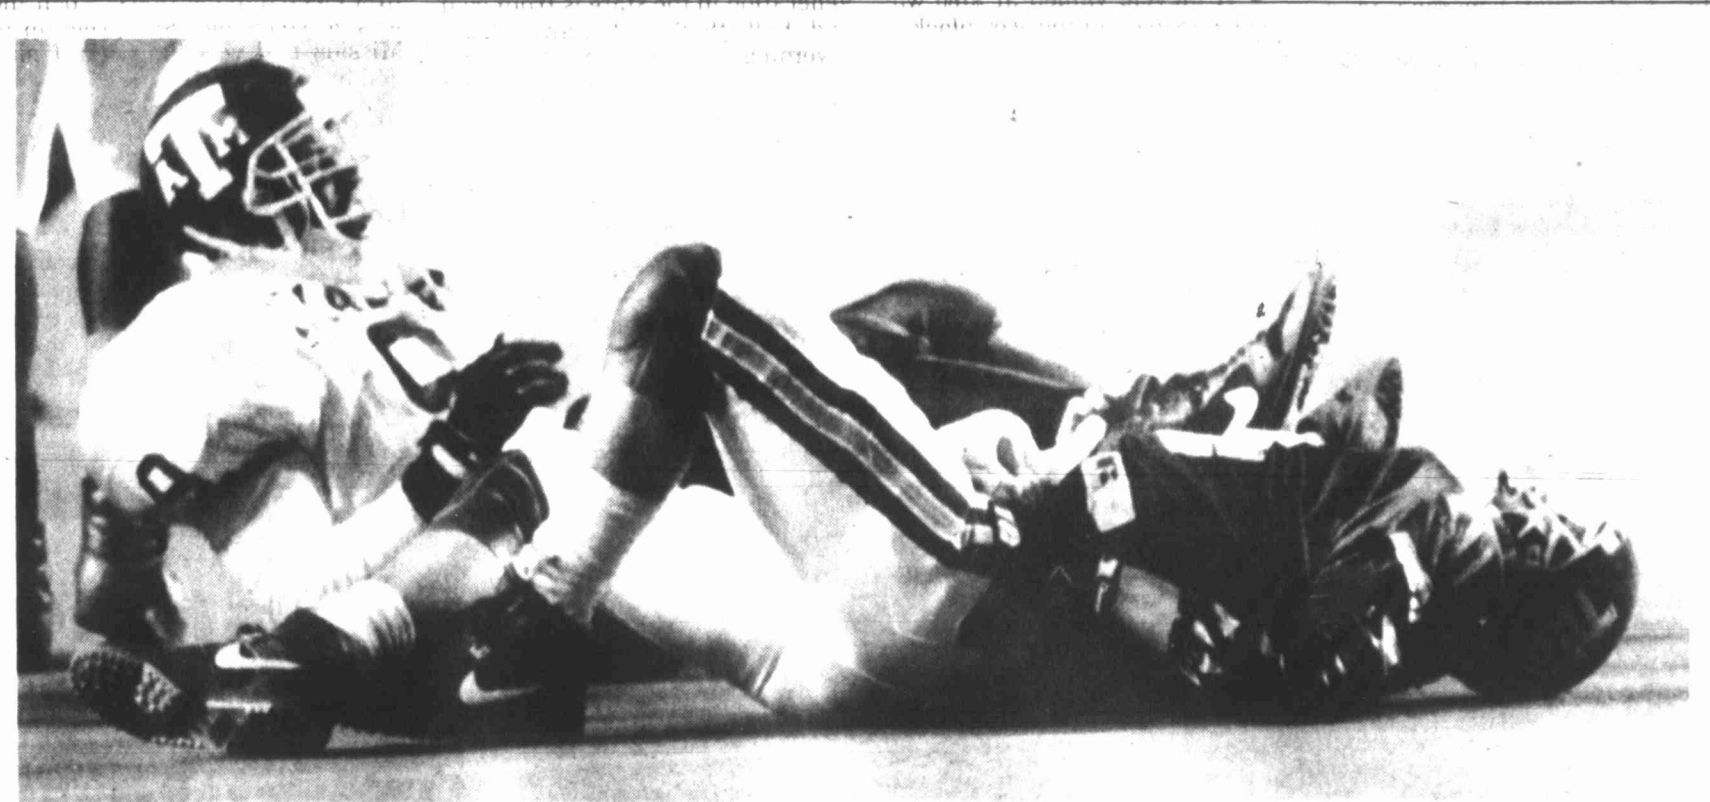

Besides his championship rings, Johnson was named the league's Most Valuable Player three times.

Johnson's wife, the former Cookie Kelly, has tested negative for the virus.

"A part of my life is gone," Johnson said. "But my wife is healthy; that's great. And we're going to go on."

But without basketball. "I'll miss the battles and the wars," Johnson said. "But most of all what I'll miss is the camaraderie that I had with the FORT WORTH — Texas Christian University quarterback Matt Vogler (right) lies on the turf after he was hit by Texas A&M defender Marcus Buckley (9) during third quarter action Thursday night.

Aggies squash Horned Frogs, 44-7

FORT WORTH (AP) — As Bucky Richardson goes, so goes Texas A&M.

On Thursday night, Richardson was unstoppable in the 12th-ranked Aggies' 44-7 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Christian.

Richardson passed for a career-high 321 yards, second-best in school history, and accounted for four touchdowns in A&M's 19th consecutive victory over the Horned Frogs.

Texas A&M (7-1 overall, 5-0 SWC) remained the only unbeaten team in league play as scouts from the Cotton, Peach, Independence and Copper bowls watched.

"Teams think they can stack against us for the run but we showed again they can't do that now," Richardson said. "We can throw the ball and I think we proved it."

TCU, which lost two quarterbacks to injury, dropped to 6-3 and 3-3.

Richardson, a fifth-year senior from Baton Rouge, La., ran for two touchdowns and passed for two against the injury-plagued Horned Frogs.

Richardson completed 16 of 25 passes and rushed seven times for 27 yards for the second-highest yardage total in school history, bested only by Edd Hargett's 376 yards against SMU in 1968.

"Bucky is as great as any quarterback in the country," TCU coach Jim Wacker said. "Our secondary defended well but he just put the ball right in there on the money.

"Sometimes you just run into people who are better than you are. That's just the way it is."

A&M running back Greg Hill rushed for 115 yards to become the first SWC freshman to rushed for 1,000 yards. Hill, who has 1,005, broke the league freshman rushing record of 928 set by Earl Campbell of Texas in 1974.

"It's a great record to get, particularly when the record was held by someone like Campbell," Hill said.

Richardson ran for a touchdown and passed for two as the Aggies built a 31-7 halftime lead in the numbing cold weather with a wind chill factor of 13 degrees. A hearty crowd of 27,762 fans looked on.

Terry Venetoulis kicked a 22-yard field goal on A&M's opening possession. It was the eighth straight time the Aggies have scored the first time they had the ball.

Derriek Frazier intercepted Matt Vogler's pass and returned it 27 yards for a touchdown just 18 seconds later.

Richards hit passes of 32 and 18 yards before he scored on a 4-yard run to make it 17-0.

Curtis Modkins scored on a 3-yard run for the Frogs but the Aggies came right back on Richardson touchdown passes of 49 yards to Tony Harrison and 18 yards to Brian Mitchell.

Richardson scored a third-quarter touchdown on a 2-yard run after completing passes of 14, 15, and 12 yards.

Lady Hawks win tournament opener

LEVELLAND — The Howard College Lady Hawks ran their record to 2-0 by winning their opening game of the South Plains tournament, defeating South Plains 69-61.

The Lady Hawks had to rally from a 32-29 halftime deficit against their conference rival.

The Lady Hawks had three player in double figures, led by sophomore post player Yolanda Wells, who scored 18 points. Sophomore guard Kathy Mangram followed with a career-high 17 points. Freshman point guard LaKisha Wiley added 12 points.

Howard coach Royce Chadwick said Wells' play in the second half made a difference. "She had two fouls at the 16 minute mark of the first half, so she didn't play much," said Chadwick. "She scored all of her points in the second half."

"They took our inside game away in the first half. They played behind us and blocked our shots. In the second half we played more aggressive and took it to them. We either made it or they fouled us."

Howard will play Scottsdale, Ariz., a 68-36 loser to Western

Former HC player busted for drugs

FORT HAYS, Colo. — Former Howard College basketball player Harvey Petty was one of eight people criminal charges were filed against as a result of a drug raid last week.

Felony charges were filed in Ellis County District Court against Petty, 21, from Shelby, N.C. Petty was a starting guard from Howard last year. He averaged 16 points and was named to the all-conference and all-region teams.

Petty was charged with the possession and distribution of crack cocaine, according to reports from the Fort Hays Daily News.

The Ellis County Drug Enforcement Unit concluded an extensive investigation involving two confidential police informants and used search warrants for the residence of Petty.

Petty was charged with two counts each of sale of crack cocaine and failure to buy a Kansas drug tax stamp, an unclassified felony.

As of Thursday, bond has not been posted by Petty, and he's still in the Ellis County jail.

Petty has been suspended indefinitely by basketball coach Gary Garner, according to Fort Hays State Sports Information Director Jack Kuestermeyer.

Coach Garner could not be reached for comment.

JV Steers whip Andrews

ANDREWS — The Big Spring junior varsity Steers scored three times in the third quarter on their way to defeating the Andrews Mustangs 36-8 Thursday night.

The win gives Big Spring an 8-1 record, with one game left against Monahans in Big Spring Thursday at 7 p.m.

Andrews scored first on the opening drive, driving 60 yards. Big Spring tied the game at halftime 8-8, thanks to a 20-yard pass from Wes Hughes to tight end Noe Trevino. Hughes pass to wingback Mike Oliva for the two-point conversion.

Big Spring's first score in the third quarter came on a 45-yard pass from Hughes to Olivas. Hughes added the first of four extra points.

Next Lonnie Jackson scored on a 62-yard run, followed by a 60-yard hookup from Hughes to Oliva.

Big Spring's final score came in the fourth quarter, a 40-yard pass from Toby McQueary to tight end Jody Hebert.

Safety Todd Parish and linebacker Torbin Lancaster intercepted passes. Josh Jones and Chuck Solley played good defense.

ANDREWS 24, BIG SPRING 11

The Steers freshman tell to 4-5 as Andrews built up a 24-0 lead after three quarters of play.

Big Spring got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter on a two-yard run by Tony Rodriguez. Rodriguez also caught the conversion pass from Dustin Waters.

Waters scored Big Spring's other touchdown on a one-yard sneak.

Big Spring will conclude its season Thursday in Monahans at 7 p.m.

ANDREWS A 11, RUNNELS A 0
The Yearlings suffered their first defeat of the season against Andrews, 14-0.

Andrews took no time to put their first points on the board as they scored on a 65-yard touchdown run the very first play of the game. They then converted the 2-point play as the quarterback ran the ball in.

Runnels had a shot to retaliate on their first drive as they moved the ball down to Andrews three. Unfortunately they coughed up the ball.

The other score from Andrews came with three minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Some of the players who put in a good effort for the Yearlings were Wes Beard, Ray McGee, Tim Banks, Mark Baker, Kenny DuPree and Donny Hill.

The Yearlings return to action Thursday as their home to face Monahans.

COAHOMA 8th 20, OZONA 0

The seventh graders made it a clean sweep for the season as they brought their record to 6-0 to end the season.

The defense of the Bulldogs made the first play from scrimmage a disaster for Ozona as Adrian Delarosa recovered a forced fumble, leaving them on Ozona's 13.

One play later, Freddy Olivas took the ball in. With the 2-point conversion stopped, the score was 6-0.

Coahoma scored on their next possession as Olivas ran the ball 70 yards for the touchdown. Marshall Ryant ran the ball in for the 2-point conversion leaving the score 14-0 at the half.

Olivas open the third quarter in grand fashion as he ran the kickoff back for 78 yards and his third score of the night.

Olivas was a standout for the offense and the whole defensive squad gets the nod for the game.

COAHOMA 8th 20, OZONA 0

The eighth graders decided to match the score of the seventh graders and improve their record to 5-1 for the season.

Chris Arguello scored the first touchdown for the Bulldogs as he ran the ball 26 yards for the touchdown.

Coahoma's second score came in the next quarter as Arguello scored his second touchdown on the night with a 10 yard run.

Calbi Bailey also put points on the board for the Bulldogs in the second quarter as he picked off an Ozona pass and ran the ball back 50 yards for the score. This left the score 18-0 going into halftime.

The final score of the evening came in the fourth quarter as Rocky Coates busted through the line and blocked a punt in the end zone for a safety.

Both the offense and the defense for the Bulldogs get the nod for playing a great game.

guys, being one of the fellows."

Johnson led the Lakers to the NBA Finals last season before losing to the Chicago Bulls. When he missed the team's first three games this season, it was announced he had the flu.

His retirement leaves a void on the Lakers, but that was all but forgotten by his coach and teammates.

"Earvin is one of the most courageous people I know," coach Mike Dunleavy said. "He is so strong to come out and do what he is about to do. We're going to miss him on the floor because he was our leader, but our concern is for him as a person, not as a basketball player."

"Like everybody else, I'm completely blown away by everything that has taken place," said Larry

Drew, who played a backup role to Johnson last season. "But basketball is secondary now. We're talking about his health. This is just something that reaches down and pulls your guts out."

At 6-foot-9, Johnson was the prototype of the new-style NBA point guard. Last season, he broke Oscar Robertson's career assist mark and leaves the game with 9,921 assists.

He made the "triple double" — the once-obscure feat of double figures in points, assists and rebounds — almost commonplace and finished with career averages of 19.7 points, 7.3 rebounds and 11.4 assists.

"I've always said, when Earvin retires from the game, he will go down in history as the greatest guard ever to play the game," said Jud Heathcote.

Colts suspend 'Eric the Great'

INDIANAPOLIS — The hapless Indianapolis Colts, the NFL's only winless team, haven't scored a touchdown in their last 20 quarters. On Sunday, they'll try to end their 10-game losing streak without Eric Dickerson.

Dickerson was suspended by the club for the second time in two seasons on Thursday. The club suspended Dickerson, the league's No. 4 alltime rusher, with no pay for four weeks and fined him another week's pay for refusing to practice.

"He took himself out and, basically, it was a refusal to finish practice," Indianapolis coach Rick Venturi said after Thursday's practice.

"It's tough when you lose a player like that," said Indianapolis quarterback Jeff George. "I don't know what was involved in it, but I'm sure there's more to it than we're seeing. That's a decision management made and we have to move on."

The Colts (0-9) play the New York Jets on Sunday.

"Replacing a guy like Eric is going to be hard," George said. "We have Kenny Clark and he's going to have to step up and we have confidence he can fill the shoes."

The incident occurred on Wednesday.

He was asked to come back in and refused to finish the practice. That refusal becomes conduct detrimental, Venturi said. "It is a coach/player deal. I took the action."

The disgruntled Dickerson was suspended "for insubordination and conduct detrimental" to the team, according to a brief statement released by the Colts.

The action came four days after Dickerson said he was insulted by the team's decision to pull him from the offensive unit on several key plays in last Sunday's 10-6 loss to Miami.

Venturi said he met Thursday morning with Dickerson and told him of his decision. Dickerson was not available for comment.

"I took definitive action because I believe it's the right thing to do for this football team," Venturi said. "I don't have a ton of rules. The important thing to me is how you play when you come to work."

Akers interested in UNM

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Former Wyoming, Texas and Purdue coach Fred Akers says friends tell him he should go after the job of head football coach at New Mexico, but he'd rather New Mexico called him.

"I've had two, three calls from interested people who know me. No one from the school has called me," Akers said Thursday.

He said he'd be willing to talk to UNM, but "I'd rather wait and let somebody call me."

The firing of Lobo coach Mike Sheppard was announced Monday. Sheppard will complete the season with the Lobos, however.

Athletic director Gary Ness has said he hopes to fill the spot by mid-December.

Akers was an assistant at Texas for nine years, then was head coach at Wyoming for two years, winning the Western Athletic Conference title. He returned to Texas as head coach for 10 years before moving to Purdue for four years.

"Coaching is something I've thought about and will do again," said Akers, 52, reached at home in Manor, Texas.

He added: "I enjoyed my time in the WAC. It's a wild league."

The university has begun assembling a search advisory committee to help find a new Lobo coach. The Albuquerque Journal said it has learned three members already chosen include Lobo Club president Bill Wilson; Robert Desiderio, UNM faculty representative to the WAC; and former Lobo quarterback Steve Malnar from the Alumni Association.

Former Clemson coach Danny Ford, who resigned under pressure last year after NCAA probation was imposed, also had been mentioned as a possible candidate to fill Sheppard's shoes.

However, the Journal reported

Dear Property Owner(s):
 Current Tax Records of the City of Big Spring indicate that you are the owner of the property at the above street address. This structure is in violation of Section 103.4 of the Southern Standard Building and the following detailed report documents the condition which have rendered the structure unsafe to with:

Dilapidated, sub-standard structure, plumbing and electric, windows broken out and missing doors broken out and missing, plumbing broken out and removed, buildings have been vandalized and is a hazard to the public, cannot be secured to keep out transients or children.

Therefore, by the authority invested in my office by the Big Spring Code, I have declared this structure or portions thereof unsafe, dilapidated substandard or unfit for human habitation, and have determined it or portions thereof poses a hazard to public health, safety and public welfare.

The Southern Building Code, Section 103.4 provides that "all buildings which are unsafe, unsanitary, or not provided with adequate ingress or egress or which constitute a fire hazard or are otherwise dangerous to human life, or which in relation to existing use constitutes a hazard to the safety or health by reason of inadequate maintenance, dilapidation, obsolescence, or abandonment, are severally in contemplation of this section. Unsafe Building. All unsafe buildings are hereby declared illegal and shall be abated by repair and rehabilitation or by demolition in accordance with the provision of the Southern Standard Code for the Elimination or Repair of Unsafe buildings."

You are hereby notified that the Board of Adjustments and Appeals of the City of Big Spring, will on November 19, 1991, at 4:00 P.M. in the Municipal Court Room, second floor of City Hall, located on the Corner of E. 4th and Nolan, to hold a public hearing to determine whether the subject structure(s) complies with the standards set out in the code. Further be advised that the Board may in its findings provide for any of the following:

- Vacation of the premises
- Relocation of occupants
- Securing of the premises
- Repair of the premises
- Removal of demolition of the premises
- Any combination of the above.

Should you desire to make a presentation to the Board, the following information shall be submitted in writing to the Chairman of the Board in original and 6 copies:

- Identification of the building or structure concerned by street address and legal description.
- A statement identifying the legal interest of each appellant.

Thursday
Benoit Benjamin, SuperSonics, had 22 points, 13 rebounds, four blocked shots and three steals to lead Seattle to a 103-95 victory over the Utah Jazz at the new Delta Center.

SOMETHING'S DIFFERENT
The Denver Nuggets, who on Nov. 7 of last season gave up an NBA-record 99 first-half points and lost 161-153 to Phoenix, yielded less than half that many points on Nov. 7 of this season in beating Minnesota 88-77.

SPOILED
Utah, 36-5 at home last season, played its first regular season game at its new home, the 20,000-seat Delta Center on Thursday night. Seattle, however, withstood a 15-0 run late in the game and held off the Jazz 103-95 to spoil the party.

SIZZLING
Dikembe Mutombo, passed over by three teams in the NBA draft and selected with the fourth pick by Denver, had 14 points and 18 rebounds Thursday night to lead the Nuggets to an 88-77 victory over Minnesota, their third victory in four games. The 7-foot-2 center averaged 20 points and 16 rebounds in his first four games.

SPECTRUM
Miami's starting frontcourt combined to make 22 of 38 shots, scored 62 points and grabbed 33 rebounds in beating New Jersey 111-89 on Thursday night. The Nets' frontline had 37 points on 16-for-45 shooting and totaled 24 rebounds.

STATS
Miami and New York each won every quarter Thursday night in beating New Jersey and Orlando, respectively. ... The Knicks' reserves made 25 of 37 shots (67.6 percent) and outscored Orlando's reserves 72-18.

SWINGS
Otis Thorpe, who started the season with a 33-point performance in an overtime victory over the LA Lakers, totaled 34 points in the Houston's next three games. ... Glen Rice of Miami, who started the season with a 29-point performance against New York, managed 21 points (16 and 5) in his next two games. ... John Stockton of Utah, 4-for-5 from 3-point range in his previous game, missed all seven of his shots from downtown in the Jazz's loss Thursday night.

STREAKS
Utah's 103-95 loss to Seattle on Thursday night was its third straight. ... Denver's 88-77 triumph over Minnesota was its third straight, the Nuggets' first three-game winning streak since last Jan. 29-Feb. 2, when they beat Milwaukee, New Jersey and Atlanta in succession.

SHOOTING BLANKS
Derrick Coleman of New Jersey was 5-for-19 from the field and scored just 11 points Thursday night as the Nets lost their home opener to Miami 111-89.

SPEAKING

"With what happened today, I was determined to play inspired basketball. It hurt. Before the game, I had to sit down and gather my thoughts. There were tears in my eyes at the start of the game. I don't know him, but I look up to him." — New York reserve guard John Starks, who scored a career-high 30 points, only hours after learning that LA Lakers superstar Magic Johnson had tested positive for the virus that causes AIDS and forced to retire.

Teen's self-worth is lowered by cheap talk Jeane Dixon

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old daughter, "Marcie," is going steady with "Brad." They are both seniors in high school.

During Marcie's junior year, she ran with the wrong crowd, made some bad decisions about smoking and drinking and, yes, even sex. She was very honest with Brad, and now he is being verbally abusive — throwing her past in her face and making her feel like dirt. She quit smoking and drinking, but there's nothing she can do about her virginity. After being with Brad, she comes home and cries because he makes her feel so cheap and dirty. They fight all the time about it. He acts like her judge and jury.

What can I do? She says she's in love with him. He's the second boy she's gone with who's been verbally abusive. It took Marcie a year to get over the first one.

Dear Abby

How can I help her? She doesn't want me or her dad to talk to Brad or his parents about this. I'm so worried about her. Please help. — OHIO MOM

DEAR MOM: I know you love your daughter and would do anything to help her, but this is one job Marcie has to do herself. She needs to forgive herself and rebuild her self-esteem. She should not permit anyone to degrade her, or make her feel cheap.

Marcie has made some mistakes (who hasn't?), now she needs to respect herself enough to say goodbye to anyone who tries to degrade her. No family member can help Marcie. Get her into counseling. If her school has no counselors, try your local department of family services or United Way.

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote to you in agitation over her gay daughter's "lifestyle." I am writing in agitation over the use of that word — as if it is used to describe continually bizarre and abnormal behavior.

Abby, like all the rest, we are born, we live our lives, and then we die. Along the way we go to school, to work, to church, we are sick and we are well, we are happy and we are sad, we pay taxes and give to charity, we enjoy family and friends, we buy cars and houses and books, we watch TV and go to the movies, we play golf and football and bridge, we go to offices and factories and farms, we vote and we volunteer, we worry about money and politics, and we are tired at the end of the day. Some of us love another of the same sex. It would seem so small a thing, like the color of the skin, in such a wide, wide world.

Will you gently chide your readers, Abby, that we are all far more alike than we are different? — NORTH CHATHAM, N.Y.

DEAR NORTH CHATHAM: Your chiding is identical to my philosophy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A large cast of characters may get into the act when it comes to deciding your weekend schedule. Skip a social event if it becomes too complicated or crowded. Find your own fun.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You get a glimpse into the future today. Make plans for an auspicious new beginning. Your outgoing personality wins you many admirers.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your special ties to a group or individual bring you new benefits now. Joint financial decisions are easy to make. Be on the lookout for bargains.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Group gatherings enjoy highly favorable influences this weekend. Close marital and family ties provide warm, loving reassurance. Evening hours favor unusual entertainment. Examine your dreams for clues as to what you should do next.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You could experience a true meeting of the minds when negotiating a joint business venture. Share your new ideas with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You could run into someone from your past this weekend. Try not to get involved in family arguments. Spend your time and energy on projects that you truly believe in.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A hope or dream receives special attention today. Matters concerning your privacy merit everyone's notice. Find a quiet place to relax with a good book.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A mystery is cleared up early today; its solution will please you. Your faith in someone is restored. Enjoy the peaceful atmosphere of an out-of-the-way place. Romance deepens.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You and your loved ones receive special benefits now because of something you did long ago. Compromise with your mate over weekend social plans. More togetherness will lead to deeper rapport.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A great weekend for romance, trips and social events. For a good time, get in touch with old friends. Devote special attention to your personal appearance if going out tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A good day for phoning or writing people in faraway places. An influential person may be hard to please. Be prepared for last-minute changes. Complete pending projects.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): An older relative may need some advice. Concentrate on projects you can handle alone today, and look for ways to reduce household expenses. A good evening to relax and unwind at home.

Steers still in the hunt; thrash Andrews

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers beat the Andrews Mustangs and the point spread.

The Steers kept their hopes alive for a state playoff berth with the victory. If Big Spring can defeat Monahans next week, the Steers will be headed for the playoffs for the third consecutive year.

Due to the district's tie-breaking system, Big Spring had to beat the Mustangs by at least 12 points. If Big Spring wins Friday and Andrews beats Fort Stockton, the district could end up in a three-way tie for first, giving the Steers a share of their third consecutive district crown.

The Steers won this game via a strong second half performance, a half which Big Spring dominated the much larger Mustangs, rallying from a 12-8 deficit.

"That's the the thing we preached to the kids the whole week: If something goes wrong, we can't panic," said Steers coach Dwight Butler. "We didn't spot them by 12, we spotted them by 24. That supposedly is their big forte; in the second half they wear you down. We whipped them in the second half though."

Things looked bleak in the early going for the Steers as Andrews jumped out to a 12-0 lead late in the second quarter. The Mustangs' Wishbone attack wasn't overpowering, but was it effective.

Quarterback Al Gonzales was a thorn in Big Spring's side. Gonzales finished the contest as the game's leading rusher with 94 yards in 25 carries.

Andrews scored on its first possession of the contest, following an 18-yard punt by Big Spring's Oscar Cervantes. The Mustangs drove from their own 48-yard line to the Big Spring 14-yard line. On a third down play Nick Roberson, who had two second-half interceptions, broke up a pass in the end zone.

Eric Langehenning booted a 31-yard field goal giving Andrews a 3-0 lead early in the quarter.

Andrews' next score was set up when Josh Lujan picked off Gerald Cobos' pass and returned it 15 yards to the Big Spring 23. Three plays later the Mustangs had to settle for a 37-yard field goal by Langhenning, taking a 6-0 lead with 2:42 left in the first quarter.

Andrews' final scoring drive of the night came after the Mustangs stopped the Steers on a fourth-and-5 from the Andrews' 44. Cobos was sacked by Jay Sawyer and Robbie Seals, the third and final sack of the game for Andrews.

Andrews then drove 51 yards in 10 plays. The only pass play was a eight-yard completion from Gonzales to Jay Harper. On a third-and-eight from the Big Spring 23, yards in 13 carries. Cobos completed 11 of 20 passes for 213 yards and one touchdown.

halfback Bo Haigood took a pitch around left end and scored. The try for two, a run by Haigood, was stopped short. Andrews led 12-0 with 2:10 left in the half.

Andrews then tried a high, short onside kick that the Steers recovered at their own 44. On the first play Cobos found tight end Cervantes for a 51 yard-gain to the Andrews five. On the next play Cobos hit Roberson, who was tackled a foot from the goal line. A quarterback sneak gain nothing, but tailback Pat Chavarria leaped over for the score on the next play.

Cobos passed to Cervantes for the two-point conversion, and Big Big Spring Steers' safety Nick Roberson (20) breaks up a pass intended for a Andrews Mustangs receiver during first half action Friday night.

Spring went into the halftime trailing 12-8.

Andrews had another chance to score in the second half when Gonzales completed a 41-yard pass to John McDonald. McDonald was tackled from behind by Stacy Martin, fumbled, and Roberson recovered at the Big Spring 10.

The second half was dominated by Big Spring as the Mustangs only 95 yards in the second half.

Big Spring took the second half opening kickoff and marched 73 yards in 11 plays. The drive was mixed with the running of Chavarria and Hill and Cobos connected on passes of 10 yards to Cervantes and 18 yards to Roberson.

Chavarria scored around right end from two yards out. The conversion pass from Chavarria to Pat Martinez gave Big Spring a 16-12 lead.

On Big Spring's next possession the Steers moved 90 yards in six plays. The big play was a 61-yard pass and run from Cobos to Roberson. Roberson got a crunching block from Martinez and was finally caught by Lujan at the Andrews 29.

On the first play of the fourth quarter Cobos hit Cervantes for a five-yard scoring strike. The try for two, a pass to Martinez, was broken up by Lujan. The Steers lead was 22-12.

On Andrews' next possession, the Steers got the break of the game. Forcing Andrews to punt, Andrews' punter Lujan went down for a low snap and his knee touched the ground while fielding the ball. Big Spring took over at the Andrews 10.

Two plays later Hill busted up the middle for a score, giving Big Spring a 28-12 lead with 10:04 left in the game.

Big Spring took a safety late in the game when panned deep in their own territory, but it preserved their 12-point margin of victory.

"Our pass protection was a big factor," said Butler. "Gerald did a good job of picking them apart in the second half and we established a running game. The kids believed they could do it and they did."

Barkley paces 76ers win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Barkley had 31 points and 15 rebounds Friday night as the Philadelphia 76ers rallied in the fourth quarter to hand the Golden State Warriors a 126-116 defeat, their first of the season.

Tim Hardaway matched his career high with 40 points as the Warriors fell short of winning their first four games on the road, a feat not accomplished by the team since the 1972-73 season. At 4-0, Golden State had been the last undefeated NBA team this season.

Armon Gilliam had 28 points and Hersey Hawkins added 27 for Philadelphia, while Chris Mullin had 17 and Billy Owens 16 for Golden State.

Bulls 108, Mavericks 92

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan scored 26 points and Scottie Pippen 23 as Chicago defeated Dallas for the seventh straight time.

The Bulls took an 84-65 lead into the fourth quarter before Randy White led a 13-2 rally with eight consecutive points, closing the Mavericks to 86-78 midway through the period. But that was the closest they got.

In the third quarter, Dallas trailed only 55-48 when Derek Harper, who led the Mavericks with 15 points, hit a 12-footer at 10:11.

But then five straight points from Bill Cartwright, including a three-point play, got the Bulls rolling as Jordan scored 10 points and Pippen eight in the quarter.

Hawks 100, Celtics 95

BOSTON (AP) — Dominique Wilkins scored 36 points, including an insurance basket with 30 seconds to play, as Atlanta rallied past Boston.

The Hawks fought back from 17 points down in the first quarter to trail 60-54 at the half and 80-74 after three periods.

Reggie Lewis led the Celtics with 26 points.

Bucks 125, Hornets 122

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Moses Malone scored seven of his 23 points in overtime for Milwaukee against Charlotte.

Malone scored five points after a 113-113 tie, helping the Bucks take a 120-115 lead with 2:01 to go in overtime.

Bulldogs crush Ozona in season finale

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs closed the season in grand fashion as they crushed the Ozona Lions, 40-0, at Bulldog Stadium Friday night.

The Bulldogs' offense was in great form as they moved the ball down the field at will against Ozona's defense, racking up 430 total yards for the evening.

Leading the rushing attack for Coahoma was fullback Steven New, who gained 214 yards on 18 carries. Mike Mendez only saw action in the first half, but he made the best of that time by gaining 84 yards in four carries. Both New and Mendez gained over 1,000 yards rushing for the season.

Quarterback Brent Elmore led the air attack as he threw the ball 10 times, completing five for 66 yards and one touchdown for the Bulldogs.

Coahoma's defense was also in fine form as they held the Lions to less than 100 yards on the ground and only five first downs for the whole game.

The Bulldogs started off the game with a couple of mishaps as Steven New fumbled the ball away on the second play of the game to Ozona. But a defensive encroachment negated the play, giving the ball back to Coahoma. On the next play Elmore was sacked for a loss of eight yards. But a pass to Matt Coates from Elmore gave the Bulldogs a much needed first down. That was all New needed as he took the ball on the next play 44 yards for the score. Shannon Smythie kicked the point after and Coahoma led 7-0.

Coahoma's next score came just four minutes later as Greg Atkinson took the option from Elmore and scrambled five yards for the touchdown. The key play of the drive was a 60-yard run by Mendez. The kick went off to the side, leaving the score 13-0.

Coahoma wasn't through scoring in the first quarter as Mark Arguello carried the ball in from 10 yards out. The drive was set up by the defense as Mario Martinez recovered an Ozona fumble on the Lions' 28-yard line. Five plays later Arguello carried it in. Smythie again kicked the ball off to the side making it 19-0.

Coahoma's final score of the half came late in the second quarter as New ran the ball 65 yards for a touchdown. The two-point conversion was successful as Mendez followed Mike Knowles and Lee Coleman in.

The Lions' offense for the first half could only muster a total of 46 yards and one first down. Half of their offense came on a 23-yard run from Jason Yeager with two minutes left in the second quarter.

The third quarter was all Steven New for the Bulldogs as he carried the ball six times, gaining 71 yards and setting up the only score of the quarter. After New carried the ball to the 3-yard line, Elmore hooked up with Kenny Lowery in the end-zone. With Smythie's kick partially blocked, Coahoma led 33-0.

Ozona closed out the third quarter by assembling their longest drive of the evening. The Lions moved the ball 36 yards in 13 plays. Facing a second and 10, quarterback Chad Upham pitched the ball off to Michael Fay, who mishandled it and lost nine yards on the play. On the next play, New intercepted an Upham pass on Coahoma's 5-yard line, apparently leaving Ozona high and dry.

Unfortunately for the Bulldogs a penalty on the defense negated the play and gave the ball back to Ozona with a first down. But the Lions couldn't take advantage of the new set of downs as Smythie busted through the line and caught Upham in the backfield. The drive stalled and the Bulldogs took over on their own seven.

Coahoma could do nothing on the ensuing drive and, after stopping Ozona on their next drive, got the ball back on the Lions' 35-yard line. By this time Coach Park had his second-stringers in. Running backs Chris Schneider and Greg Atkinson moved the ball well for the Bulldogs, bringing it down to Ozona's three.

Facing a first and goal on the Ozona's 3-yard line, Coach Park decided to bring his "secret weapons" into the backfield to get the ball over. First to try to get the ball across was 215-pound senior guard Lee Coleman, but he was stifled at the line for no gain.

Buffalo rally ends yards shy; McCamey wins 12-6

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes played their best football of the year, but fate left them trailing the McCamey Badgers 12-7 as the final whistle blew.

The Buffs at one time were within 28 yards of the win, but finish the season 0-10.

The Badgers ended the season with a 4-6 record.

"That's about as good as we can play — it was a pretty good effort by the kids," said head coach Jan East.

"We're real proud of our kids for doing what it takes to win," said Badgers head coach Randy Adair.

The Badgers won the toss and were delt a 30-yard kick with a wicked roll that Jimmy Salinas managed to bring out to the 14-yard line.

A clipping call, the first of many Badgers penalties, put McCamey on its own 4-yard line.

Three first downs later, however, the Badgers were threatening from the Buffaloes' 13-yard line.

But Forsan stopped the drive, with a little help from the Badgers' backfield which racked up a flag for illegal procedure.

Gilberto Rodriguez then made his first appearance, taking the Buffs out to the 23-yard line and their first first down.

A hand off from Chris Evans to John Reese brought the ball out to the Forsan 26-yard line.

On the next play, with a run that was to characterize his performance throughout the game, Rodriguez made a bulldog-run up the middle, breaking two tackles and giving the Buffs a first down at the 38-yard line.

On the next series, however, Forsan failed to make the third down conversion and punted to the McCamey 44-yard line.

On the first play, Alfredo Rodriguez brought the Badgers to the Forsan 36 and the first down.

Another 5-yard run by Rodriguez and a 7-yarder by Jimmy Salinas gave the Badgers a first down at the Forsan 24-yard line.

Two plays later, Salinas caught a 20-yard pass and made the rest on foot for the TD. A missed extra point made the score 6-0 in the first quarter.

The Buffs received the kickoff at their own 33-yard line but failed to get a first down.

The punt made it to the McCamey 45-yard line, but was returned to the Buffs' 42.

On the next series, quarterback Andy Stinson on the keeper converted the third down for the Badgers, giving them a first at the Forsan 37.

The following series, however, ended with dropped pass on fourth down.

In the second half, the Badgers scored with a 56-yard drive that, after racking up four first downs, ended with a 6-yard screen pass to Alfredo Rodriguez, who made the other 6 yards for the Badgers' second TD.

An incomplete pass for the two-point conversion was dropped and the score was 12-0 Badgers.

Rodriguez brought the kickoff from the 20 out to the 35 and, after four first downs, the Buffs made their first real threat in the last minute of the first half.

After a failed third down conversion, the Buffs attempted a field goal from the 23. A penalty against McCamey for roughing the kicker gave Forsan another try from the 17-yard line.

Kicking against the wind, Joey Conaway just missed the crossbars and came away scoreless.

On their first play, just before the half, Stinson threw a 28-yard bomb that was intercepted by Buffalo Micah Epley.

The Buffaloes started the second half like men possessed, racking up five firsts in a 69-yard scoring drive.

The drive ended with Rodriguez shaking off a tackle to punch in from the 4-yard line.

"I'm proud of Forsan. They really played their guts out tonight," said Adair.

Sands finishes perfect season

By CHARLES POISALL
For the Herald

Despite aggressive offensive and defensive play, the Klondike Cougars were unable to dent Sands' awesome defense. The end result was a 46-0 Mustang win Friday night in Ackerly.

This was the final game in regular District 5A 6-man action, and the Mustangs advance to the play-offs next week. Sands finishes the regular season with a 10-0 record, while the Cougars ended with a 2-8 mark.

The Mustangs won the toss and scored on their opening possession with 7:15 remaining in the first quarter on a 9-yard run by Pank Grigg. Grigg then kicked the extra points, and the Mustangs led 8-0.

Following several exchanges in possession, the Cougars moved to the Sands 2-yard line. On 4th down, they attempted a field goal, but were stopped short. Sands took over on downs at their own 2 with 2 minutes to go in the first quarter.

With less than one minute gone in the second quarter, the younger players on the Sands team got their chance to shine. Sophomore Grant Gooch took his turn at quarterback for Sands, giving Aaron Cowley a break.

However, Cowley was back in the game in time to take part in the Mustangs' second scoring drive. Pank Grigg took a hand-off from Cowley and scored on a 7-yard run. Grigg then kicked the extra points to make the score 16-0 with 8:39 remaining in the first half.

Adrian Zarate kicked off into the end zone giving the Cougars a first down on the 20-yard line. The Mustangs' Clay Parker hit Klondike quarterback Brandon Oaks hard enough to cause him to fumble, and Sands recovered the ball on the 12.

Cowley then scrambled in on a keeper for the next Mustang TD, followed by another successful kick by Pank Grigg with 8:21 remaining.

Zarate kicked off to Matt Hogg of the Cougars, who received the ball on the Klondike 5-yard line and returned it to the 35. After this initial gain, the Cougars were unable to keep any momentum and had to turn over the ball on downs.

The first play of the next Sands drive was a beautifully executed team effort. Eric Herm received a pitch-out from quarterback Aaron Cowley and then threw a 25-yard pass to Pank Grigg.

Grigg ran more than 20 yards to score the touchdown, and the whole play totaled 58 yards. Following Grigg's kick, Sands was up 32-0 at 6:18 to go in the half.

The next Sands drive ended with a 4-yard touchdown run by Eric Herm with 1:35 to go. Grigg's kick was low enough to be blocked by the Cougars, so the score remained 38-0.

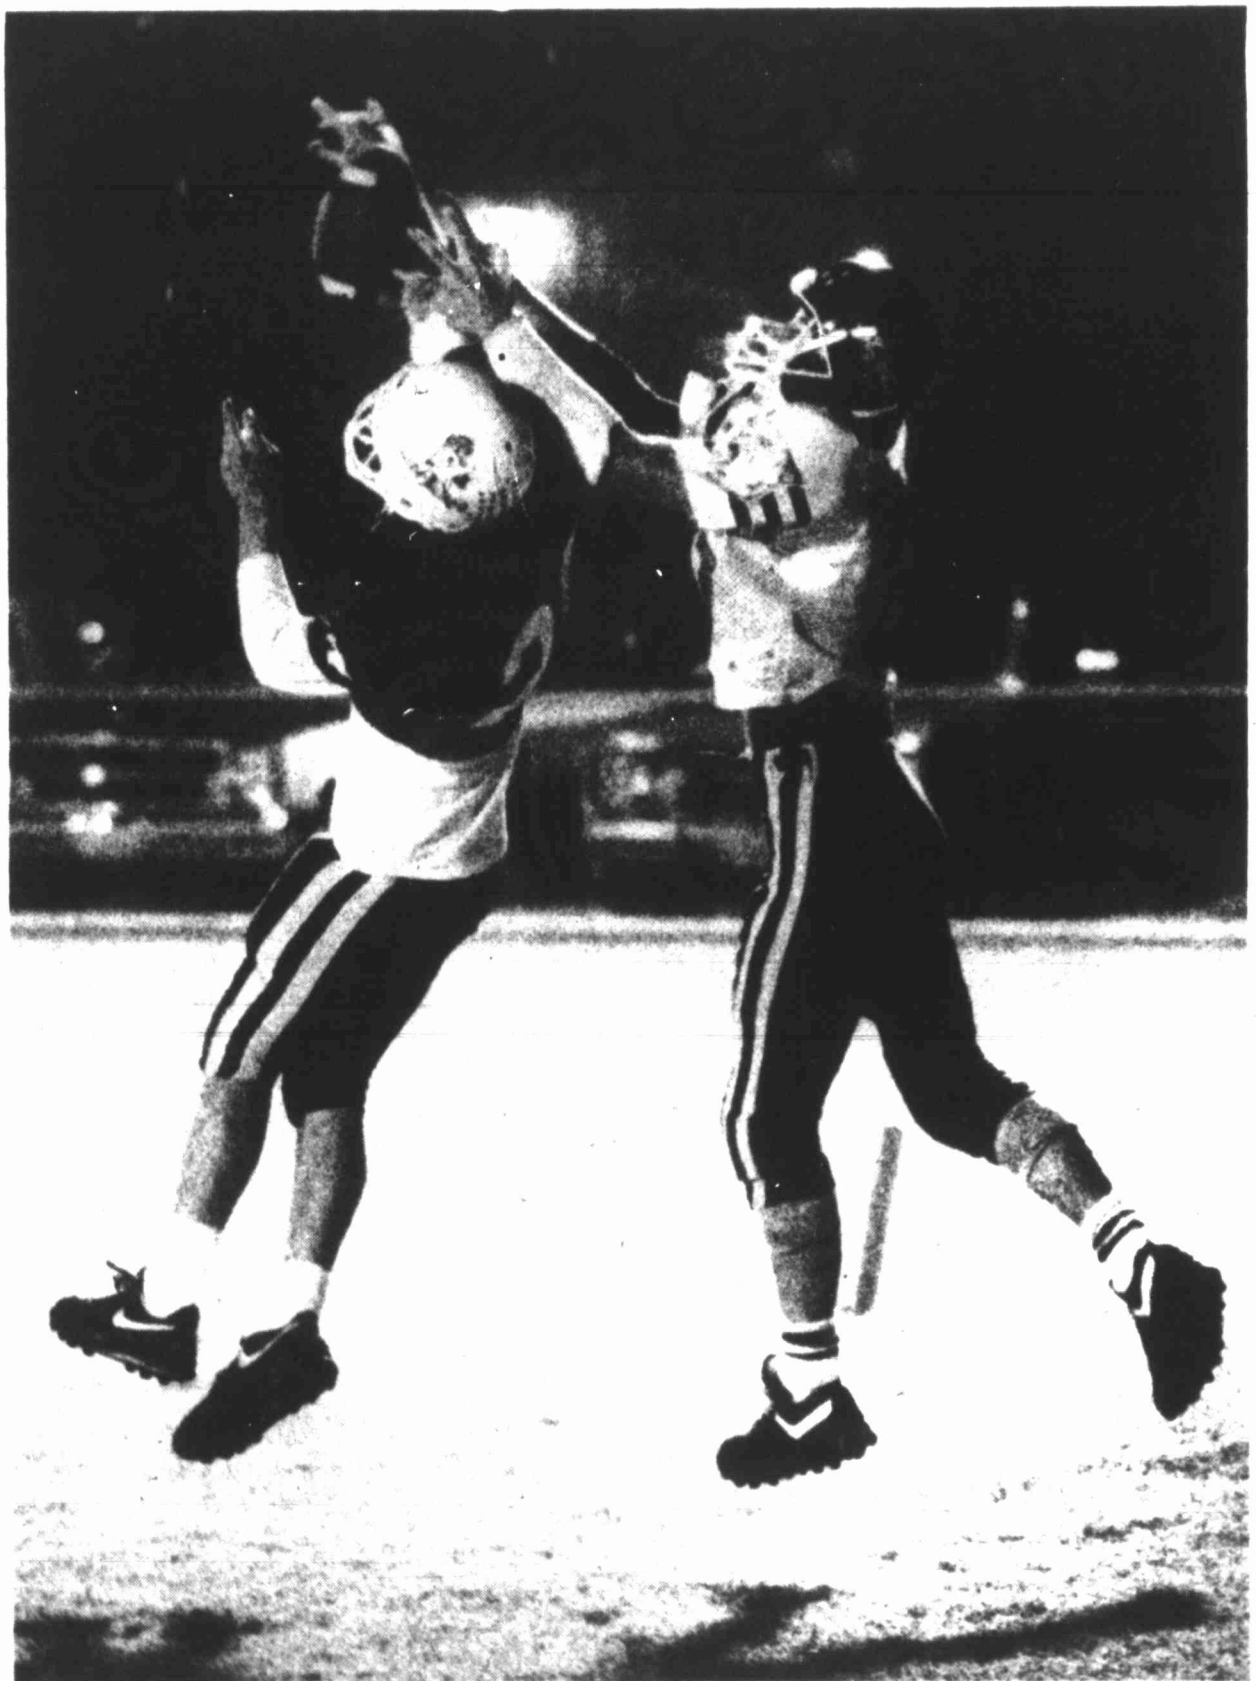

Following Zarate's kick into the end zone, Cougar Mike Lee carried the ball 56 yards to the Sands 7-yard line. On the next play, quarterback Brandon Oaks attempted a pass to Matt Hogg, but the pass was intercepted by the Mustangs' Clay Parker on the Sands 18.

Freshman Cory Maxwell finished the half at the quarterback position.

After halftime, Sands kicked off to the Cougars. Matt Hogg received and returned the kick-off to the Cougars' 17. Following unsuccessful drives by both teams, Sophomore Mustang quarterback Heath Gillespie scrambled around the left side for a 30-yard score. Grigg's kick was good this time, and the Mustangs took the game and the District 5A 6-man championship with the score of 46-0 over the Klondike Cougars with four minutes remaining in the third quarter.

After the game was called, Coaches Randy Roemisch, Jerry Gooch and Leland Bearden, along with all the Mustang team members, were presented with the district championship trophy.

The district champion Mustangs will travel to Lamesa next Friday night to take on the Borden County Coyotes, runner-up in District 6A 6-man football. The winner of this contest will play Sierra Blanca on Nov. 22. The time and location of the second-round play-off game will be decided at a later time.

Born to run

By LORNE FANCETT
Staff Writer

Many people can remember daydreaming about being one of the best in their chosen sport. What would it be like to be the best? To be number one?

Well this guy is in that position. Last year he was the state champion in both the 800 and the 1600 meter race. And what is even more impressive is that he did it in his sophomore year. Yes, athletes like Jeremy Stallings come around about once every blue moon.

"That was my goal last year. I was proud of it," Jeremy said of last year's titles. "That was my goal of last year's track season. Now I have new goals to work for.

"Repeating this year will not be any easier this year than last year. In fact it will probably be harder to defend my championship now that I won it. It will be tough these next two years to hold on to it.

"I don't want to take anything for granted just because I won it last year doesn't mean I'm going to win it again. I'm going to have to work just as hard.

"You know, I want to win state in both races again this year, but to go even higher than that, I want to break the state records for both before I graduate. That, right now, is my next goal."

Another Stanton high school track record he broke last year is that of the mile run set by his father, Steve Stallings.

Last year Jeremy played both football and cross-country simultaneously. After the football game was over Friday night, he would have to wake up and run early the next morning. This year he opted for cross-country over football.

"My future is definitely in running. With football, I just didn't want to take the chance of putting my body at risk; taking a chance on injuring myself and not being able to continue to run through college and all. I just didn't think it was worth the sacrifice to play football and take that chance.

"Right now I'm a lot more focused on cross-country than last year. It's also a lot easier on my body. I feel stronger when I run this year than I did in previous years."

The option not to play football has paid off for Jeremy. This year he has already shaved more than a minute off of his time in cross-country.

Jeremy continues to run in 5-A division meets for cross-country. He's been doing this since his freshman year, even though Stanton is in Class 2-A.

"This season was the first time that I ever won a cross-country race in the 5-A division down at Abilene. I won the 5-A regional. That was my first time doing that so I am very pleased about it."

What's in store for him in the near future? "I have the regional meet this week in Lubbock and I have to place in the top ten to make it to state. I want to place but my main goal is to win. I have the fastest time as far as that course goes and I'm pretty confident about it. It's going to be a tough race. Guys in this region are some of the toughest competitors in the state. So I'm going to try to run good and win it if I can."

But running isn't the only thing that has to be considered. Some people overshadow the fact that athletes like Jeremy are in school to get an education, not just to run.

"I maintain a pretty high grade point average," Jeremy said when asked about his grades. "Right now it's between a high B average and a low A. My grade point average is a 3.8."

Along with track and cross-country, Jeremy is a member of Stanton's basketball team. "I love basketball. I'm really looking forward to this season. Our team made it to the playoffs last year and kind of got bummed out.

"This year we are going to have a very good team. I'm looking forward to going into basketball once cross-country is over."

Is it too early to think about college? "Right now I'm just keeping it wide open. I've been in touch with a bunch of colleges. As of now I definitely want to go to a Division I college. Preferably I would like to go to either to a school in the (Atlantic Coast Conference) or the (Southeast Conference). They're the two divisions with real strong track competition.

"I've been in touch with Auburn, University of North Carolina and Miami. Those schools, along with Arkansas, are schools I am considering. I'm just keeping it open. Usually if I get anything in the mail

When asked if track is going to be the only reason why he'll attend college, Jeremy said he has other future plans.

"So far I've been considering the field of sports medicine, like an athletic trainer. Right now that's what I'm looking at to major in. Also just physical education to someday become a coach.

"I've always been brought up that grades are the most important thing because you always don't have athletics to fall back on. You need something to fall back on with your grades because you never know when your athletic career might end. So I think that grades are real important."

After all of this and everything else that is going on in his world, does it bother Jeremy that he's not living a typical life that a teenager his age would be? Not really.

"It makes me feel pretty good to be doing the things that I am doing. Also it is making me make decisions about college and everything. So basically I'm just going to have to grow up a little faster than the normal kid would. I just think it altogether helps me. I'm going to have to make a lot of important decisions in my junior and senior year."

Eldorado routed Stanton, 39-0, in the season finale for both teams Friday night.

In the first quarter, Reagan Bownds scored on a 75-yard punt return. George Arispe kicked the point after.

In the second quarter, Michael Gamez ran five yards for the score; the kick failed. Bownds then scored on a 69-yard run.

In the third quarter, Arispe scored with a 10-yard run. Cy Griffin then scored with a 94 yard run.

In the fourth quarter, Jason Whitten made the final touchdown with a 15 yard run.

Stanton ends its season with a 1-9 record.

GARDEN CITY — The No. 6 Garden City Bearkats utilized an awesome defense to their best advantage, taking an easy 30-9 victory over the Roby Lions Friday night.

The win improves the Bearkats' record to 8-1 overall, 4-1 in District 9-A play. Roby falls to 6-3 and 2-3.

Garden City gained 442 yards in total offense, but it was the Bearkats' defense that stole the show, limiting Roby to a meager five yards total offense.

In fact, both Roby scores came as a result of Garden City turnovers; a Bearkat bobble late in the first half led to a field goal, and Joe Don Helm returned an interception 59 yards for a score in the fourth quarter.

Other than that, however, it was all Garden City. Jody Bradford provided two first quarter scores on runs of 7 yards and one yard, and Shae Scott added two touchdown passes in the third quarter.

The Bearkats complete regular season play next Friday at Sterling City.

After a low-scoring first half, Midland Lee and San Angelo Central exploded for 48 second-half points. When the smoke cleared, Lee came out on top with a 29-22 win Friday night.

In the first quarter Lee's Sherman Dedrick scored on a 15 yard run with Todd Meade kicking the point after.

The second quarter did not yield any touchdowns for either team.

In the third quarter, however, Lee scored twice, and Central retaliated with three touchdowns.

Lee's Roy Robinson ran 28 yards for a TD with Mead kicking. Brett Sullivan then scored for Lee on a 17 yard run with Mead kicking. Central's Shea Morenz slammed a pass into the endzone to Damon Carrol with Byron Bode kicking the PAT.

Carrol and Morenz later hooked up for a second touchdown. Charles Vogel scored on the two point conversion. And with 18 seconds left in the quarter, Lee's David Hamilton scored. Bode kicked the point after.

In the fourth quarter, Scott McLeod scored the winning touchdown for Lee on a one yard run.

The Mustangs scored first on a 44-yard run by James Moore, followed by the PAT kick by Brian Mitchell with 10:54 remaining in the quarter. With 5:36 to go, Chris Hines scored on a 28-yard run, and Mitchell kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter, Hines scored again on a 21-yard run, followed by yet another successful Mitchell kick with 11:52 to go.

The final score of the half came with 1:02 remaining on a field goal kicked by Brian Mitchell.

The last two touchdowns of the game were on runs by James Moore. In the third quarter, Moore ran 8 yards for the score; the kick failed. Moore made the final score with 8:25 remaining in the game on an 8-yard run.

GREENWOOD — The Colorado City Wolves met the Greenwood Rangers Friday night and came away with a 25-7 victory.

In the first quarter, Mark Monroe scored for C-City on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Kelly Ramsey. The kick by Frank Briseno was good.

Second-quarter scoring for Greenwood was by Manny Vigil on a 1-yard run, followed up by Joe Kilgore's PAT.

Kevin Green of the C-City Wolves scored on a 1-yard run, and the extra-point kick was blocked.

No one scored in the third quarter, but the Wolves were back to add to their already superior tally in the fourth quarter. Ramsey connected with Monroe on a 33-yard TD pass, and the 2-point attempt failed. Green then scored on

Johnson faces new challenge: AIDS education

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Magic Johnson, an inspiring basketball champion, bravely set out Friday to face a real-life challenge — confronting his own mortality and educating a nation on the dangers of AIDS.

The day after the Los Angeles Lakers superstar made the stunning announcement that he had tested HIV-positive, he already was making headway in his new endeavors, friends and experts said.

Johnson, who said he's simply closing one chapter of his life and moving onto another, appeared on Arsenio Hall's television talk show and began his personal campaign to promote safe sex. The audience gave him a two-minute standing ovation.

He confirmed that he was exposed to the virus through heterosexual sex. He didn't elaborate.

Johnson repeatedly spoke about the dangers of unprotected sexual intercourse, and he urged people to use condoms. "Please put your thinking caps on and put your cap on down there," he said, gesturing below his belt.

He also disclosed that he offered to leave his new wife but that she adamantly refused.

The shock waves from Johnson's announcement Thursday continued rippling from inner cities to Washington to Wall Street, where a leading condom maker's stock surged.

Heightening the impact, some experts said, was the fact that Johnson was infected through heterosexual activity.

"Now people have to take it more seriously — have safe sex," said 12-year-old Shawanna Smith, a pupil at Intermediate School 147 in the New York's Bronx borough.

In Rome, President Bush felt compelled to defend his administration's stance on the disease, saying he'd didn't like "allegations that I don't care."

"If there's more I can do to empathize, to make clear what AIDS is and what it isn't, I want to go the extra mile," the president said, stressing that his administration has "increased funding dramatically" for AIDS research.

"I can't say I've done enough," the president said. "Of course I haven't."

Johnson's public acknowledgment was applauded by AIDS activists.

"He probably saved thousands of lives just in that one act," said Fred Allemann, an HIV outreach specialist with the Cascade AIDS Project in Portland, Ore.

Johnson's trademark smile and boyish enthusiasm made him an athlete whose fame transcended sports, someone adults and kids both could admire, and his vibrant personality makes him a beacon for AIDS awareness.

"I think sometimes we think, well, only gay people can get it, it's not going to happen to me," Johnson said Thursday as he announced his retirement at age 32. "And here I am saying that it can happen to anybody. Even me, Magic Johnson, it could happen to."

Apparently, a lot of others quickly realized it could happen to them, too.

Callers flooded AIDS hot lines around the country, including one at the federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta. Between 5 p.m. and midnight Thursday, the CDC hot line — which normally gets about 3,000 telephone calls daily — received 40,000, said CDC spokesman Kent Taylor. He said most calls went unanswered.

In Missouri, the volume of people coming in for AIDS tests doubled the morning after Johnson's announcement, said Don Cuvo, manager of the Metropolitan AIDS program for the St. Louis Health Department.

"These people never thought they were at risk, but if somebody like Magic is at risk, they figured they may be, too," Cuvo said. "I think Magic's announcement shocked a lot of people. The phones are ringing off the hook."

"We have found that it's not until you know somebody with AIDS or who is HIV-positive that your attitudes change," said Mark Senak, director of client service of AIDS Project Los Angeles. "Now everybody knows somebody who is HIV-positive."

Athletes quickly joined Johnson in his educational campaign.

The Chicago Bulls' Michael Jordan said he plans to speak out on behalf of AIDS awareness.

"I think this is an alarm clock for a lot of people," Jordan said. "God did this for a reason and I think we should adhere to that and learn from it."

Hornets' guard Rex Chapman said he and his wife will join Johnson to encourage people to practice safe sex.

"Bridgette and I are donating $50,000 to any HIV virus research fund set up or designated by Magic," Chapman said. "Magic is a lot of things to a lot of people and above all to me, he is a great friend."

"I hate that it takes something like this to make people more aware of this terrible virus that tragically affects thousands of Americans."

LOS ANGELES — Earvin "Magic" Johnson, left, is shown Friday night as he makes his first public appearance since announcing he had contracted the HIV virus, during taping of the "Arsenio Hall Show" in Los Angeles. Hall is at right.

Magic makes appearance on Hall show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With hundreds of fans chanting "Magic! Magic! Magic!" a buoyant Magic Johnson made his first public appearance Friday in his new role as an educational ambassador for AIDS. He urged a national TV audience "to practice safe sex, start using condoms and be aware what's going on."

The studio audience at Arsenio Hall's late-night talk show gave a two-minute standing ovation to the Los Angeles Lakers basketball superstar, who announced Thursday he was retiring because he has the virus that causes AIDS.

Johnson flashed his trademark smile throughout his 15-minute stint on the syndicated talk show, videotaped Friday afternoon for broadcast Friday evening. He even suggested that he be a guest host for Hall in the future.

Johnson said people shouldn't be frightened by someone having AIDS.

"We don't have to run from it. We don't have to be ashamed of it," Johnson said. "You don't have to run from me like, 'Oh-oh, here comes Magic.'"

"You don't have to feel sorry for me because if I die tomorrow I've had the greatest life."

Johnson spoke repeatedly about the dangers of sexual intercourse without condoms.

"I came on to let the people know what time it is. Please put your thinking caps on and put your cap on down there," he said, gesturing below his belt.

PHOENIX — Los Angeles Laker James Worthy is surrounded by reporters in Phoenix Friday before his team's game with Phoenix. Asked about Magic Johnson's retirement, Worthy said, "We're just here for the formality of being here."

Should the Oilers and the Cowboys hate each other?

By all rights, the Dallas Cowboys and Houston Oilers should hate each other.

After all, they both play in Texas, where football comes ahead of family on fall weekends. And they represent the state's two biggest cities, with their different lifestyles.

Plus, both teams have enjoyed success through the years, and have competed for attention in the off-season.

So guess what? Going into Sunday's game at the Astrodome, they don't hate each other. Actually, the Cowboys and Oilers get along quite well.

"It hasn't been what you'd call a heated rivalry because we don't play each other every year except in the preseason," Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said. "I know the Cowboy people have tremendous respect for Houston over the years and what they've done this year."

The Cowboys and the Oilers have played only six times in the regular season, with Houston winning the last meeting 25-17 in 1988. Dallas leads the series 4-2.

"Over the last few seasons we haven't played too well and that takes away from a rivalry. Hopefully, that part will change," Dallas quarterback Troy Aikman said.

The Cowboys are 6-3 for the first time since 1986. They are three games behind undefeated Washington in the NFC East.

Houston is 7-2 and leads the AFC Central by three games over Cleveland. The Oilers have won seven straight at home.

The Redskins will try to become the 14th NFL team to start out 10-0.

HC Hawks, ladies win

LEVELLAND — The Howard College Lady Hawks won their second game of the South Plains tournament as they drummed Scottsdale, Ariz. 69-46.

The win gives Howard College a 3-0 record for the season. Howard jumped out to a 6-0 lead, Scottsdale scored the next two baskets, and that's as close as the visitors from Arizona would get. Howard led 37-24 at the half.

The Lady Hawks were led by freshman forward Regina Huff, who scored 14 points. She also grabbed nine steals. Point guard LaKisha Wiley scored nine points and Yumecca White added eight points.

"We started in pressure defense and we got out of it after we got the lead," said Lady Hawks coach Royce Chadwick. "After that we just try to played a solid man-to-man defense."

The Lady Hawks will play Western Texas tonight at 6 p.m.

MIDLAND — The Howard College Hawks won their first game of the Midland College tournament, defeating the Angelina Roadrunners 108-103 at Chap Center Friday night.

The Hawks were led by freshman forward Chuckie Robinson, who scored 26 points. Freshman forward Will Macon followed with 21 points. Jason Hodges scored 20, Mark Davis, 18 and Markee James added 17 points.

Howard fell behind by eight points early in the game. The Hawks regained the lead at 26-24 and never lost it again. At halftime the Hawks led by 14 points and stretched the lead to 21 points with 10 minutes left in the game.

"We started getting tired at the last," said Howard College coach Jeff Kidder. "We started turning the ball over and taking quick shots; they got back into the game. But I'm proud of the guys, they held on for the win at the end. It was a wild game."

Howard, 2-0 for the season, will play Murry State, Okla. tonight at 6 p.m.
