PUSH MOVE TO BRING AUTO TRAFFIC INTO SOUTH PLAINS

HAMILTON WRIGHT HERE IN INTEREST OF DALLAS HIGHWAY

STAMFORD C-C MANAGER IS WORKING FOR ROAD THROUGH LUBBOCK

Hamilton Wright, manager of the Stamford Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Lubbock yesterday and will spend all day here working in the interest of the Lubbock-Fort Worth-Dallas highway, the work he is carrying on at this time being the outgrowth of the organization meeting that was held at Spur on February 17 when representatives of chambers of commerce at Lubbock, Stamford, Fort Worth, Dallas and other points along the highway joined forces to divert the traffic from the east to Lubbock over the route.

Mr. Wright is raising a fund of $3,500 to finance the publication of literature advertising the route, and started last night that 50,000 copies of a highway guide directing traffic over the Lubbock-Fort Worth-Dallas highway will be published soon and distributed in tourists parks throughout the southwest. Lubbock's quota of this fund is $300.

Is Optimistic
Mr. Wright was optimistic over the recognition that has been accorded the newly organized highway project by all the towns along the line, and declared that already plans to have a large amount of traffic diverted over this line are being carried out. He pointed to the statement recently made by Ed McKee, head of the traffic department of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, that he has more inquiries for a route to Lubbock than any other town in the United States as indicating great possibilities for this highway to be given the heaviest traffic of any highway in the state of that length.

Roadway is Good
Making the trip from Stamford to Lubbock by automobile over the Lubbock-Fort Worth-Dallas highway, Mr. Wright was in a position to know something of the condition of the road at this time and declared that it is in better condition than has been the case in a number of years. The co-operation of state highway officials has meant much to the newly perfected organization, Mr. Wright declared.

Is Practical Route
The location of the Lubbock-Fort Worth-Dallas highway is believed by those interested in the project to be the most practical route for travel between the hub of the plains and the queen city. It runs west from Dallas to Fort Worth on to the Bankhead highway as far as Albany, and from Albany over highway No. 18 through Stamford, Spur and to Dickens, and from Dickens to Lubbock over highway 53. According to Mr. Wright when work that is now under way on the new line is completed the road will be a point 13 miles west of Stamford, and it is his opinion that this much of the work will be completed within another year. Rooney announced the date of the trial following the action earlier in the day of the Shawnee county district in fixing it for this term unless Davis is granted a continuance. He said efforts would be made to prevent a continuance. The former governor and his son are accused of accepting money from Fred Pollman in return for a pardon issued to the former La Cygne banker.

The decision was a victory for Attorney General Dan Moody as he had filed a petition for mandamus to make the $2,500,000 of the university's royalties a part of the permanent fund.

Kansas Punctured As Earth Falls In

PLYMOUTH, Mo., March 10.—Following a change for the worse in the condition of Colonel John C. Coolidge, scores of Plymouth residents, armed with shovels, began Wednesday the work of opening the snow drifted road between here and Luddow.

The project was undertaken on recommendation of Dr. Albert M. Cram, the colonel's physician, who pointed to the fact that President Coolidge might be summoned from Washington at any time. Under conditions which had existed for the past few weeks, it would have been virtually impossible for the president to get from Luddow to this town. Some sections of the 12 mile stretch of road were blanketed beneath about eight feet of snow and the average depth was more than four feet.

The vessel was alongside the docks for European service. She was to have had her first dock trial Wednesday and was scheduled to sail from New York, March 24, on her next trip.

The fire is thought to have been started by a gasoline blow torch. Fire boats and tugs stood alongside, but so fierce was the blaze that it was thought the ship would have to be towed out to sea and sunk. Finally, the flames were brought under control.

YEGGS CART 'CHICKEN FEED' AWAY FROM BANK IN DRAV

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Mar. 10.—Here is one bank robbery in which the bandits escaped in a horse drawn truck instead of the more popular "high powered automobile."

During a heavy downpour three old fashioned bank robbers backed a truck up to the rear door of the Silverdale National Bank, near here, yelled "who there?" and then proceeded to carry out the bank's funds in a nonchalant manner. All the paper money was locked up, so the robbers contented themselves with "escaping" with five thousand pennies, weighing approximately 175 pounds and $55 in nickels and dimes.

Pedestrians who hurried by the bank noticed the robbers but believed them to be workmen moving a safe into the bank.

The other indictments charge that on the same day the two men conspired to rob the Smiths of diamonds valued at $15,000.

Americans in Peking Endangered by War

NEW YORK, March 10.—American and foreigners residing in Peking and Tientsin face more complete isolation today than the imperial city has known during all of the civil strife which has continued intermittently through the last few years.

Advices to the state department at Washington and cables from the Far East emphasize the continued closing of the ordinary routes of travel and commerce to the capital.

Foreigners in the two cities face not only inconveniences, but foreign business men face financial losses and there is constant danger while the fighting continues outside the city that straggling bands of soldiers from defeated army units may fall back for loot and cause foreigners even more serious trouble.

LEAGUE DEADLOCKED AS BRAZIL AND SPAIN REITERATE THREAT TO QUIT IF NOT AWARDED PLACES IN COUNCIL

GENEVA, March 10.—Brazil and Spain have combined to threaten a bloc which would strike at the most vital functions of the League of Nations.

The reported threat of both countries to withdraw from the league unless they were admitted to permanent council seats along with Germany was made real Wednesday when the Brazilian delegate, Mello Franco, announced that his government had instructed him to withdraw from the league unless Brazil was given a permanent seat.

His announcement was made to a secret session of the council of the League of Nations which took over the disputed question after preliminary discussions had failed. Shortly before this, Quinones de Leon Spanish delegate, had intimated that he was acting under orders which were of similarly menacing nature.

Mello Franco's threat to the council precipitated the stormy scene in the history of the League of Nations. During the debate the

PURCHASE OR SEIZE ALL COAL DEPOSITS, IS RECOMMENDATION

ROYAL COMMISSION, AFTER PROBE, HANDS IN REPORT

LONDON, March 10.—Seizure by the British government of all "unproved" coal, purchase of the existing known deposits and indirect reduction of wages of miners are recommended to the king in a report by the royal commission on coal conditions.

The commission's report asserted that the continuation of a subsidy by the government, as begun last August when $50,000,000 was set aside to maintain the wage scale in prevention of a strike, was "undesirable."

The seizure and purchase of mines recommended is taken to mean the assumption of ownership by the government but the probable operation by companies such as the railways in the United States were directed by the United States government during the war, but operated by the individual companies.

The commission's report, published Wednesday, had a startling effect in the camp of both miners and mine owners. Coming as they did after a nation wide coal strike has threatened England for more than half a year, and carrying with them drastic recommendations, the commission's findings presented a problem to Premier Baldwin.

The strike of the miners—and a probable sympathetic strike of transport workers and railway men—has been postponed from last August until May 1 through the use of government subsidy. While the report is made theoretically "for the guidance and information of the king," the premier will be expected to make every effort to impress it on the cabinet and parliament. If he does not he will be taunted in the house of commons. If he succeeds in getting the recommendations adopted by the government, he will face a new internal crisis, as the report contains many clauses which will be satisfactory neither to labor nor to the mine owners.

"The mineral should be acquired by the state—by purchase where it has a market value, by declaration of state ownership in cases of unproved coal or coal at deep levels which makes such coal have no market value at present," the report stated. It rejects a proposal by the operators to lengthen hours and the miners elaborate scheme of national operation.

Annual Report Given of Presbyterian Auxiliary

The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church held its annual business meeting, Monday, March 8.

Mrs. McKee, the retiring president, conducted the business session which consisted largely of reports of officers and circles.

The past two years under Mrs. A. W. McKee's leadership have been most successful. The biggest task undertaken by the women was the purchase and installation of the church pews last year, over half of the debt being already paid.

Besides this large item a native worker has been supported in Africa, a school in Brazil, has been aided and also the new school for Mexican girls at Taft, Texas, needy churches in our immediate vicinity have been remembered and all other benevolent causes of the church supported.

Rev. Jack Lewis, conducted an impressive service installing the new officers: Mrs. J. A. Pressley, President; Mrs. Jack Lewis, Treasurer; Mrs. McKee was given a rising vote of thanks and appreciation for her untiring efforts in behalf of the Auxiliary. Mrs. McKee in a brief message summed up the work of the past two years and thanked the women for their hearty cooperation.

Mrs. Pressley, the incoming president, in whom we feel we have another capable and efficient leader, then took charge and read her list of appointments.

The following are the circle chairmen for the coming year:

Mrs. Leidigh, Circle No. 1.
Mrs. Ferguson, Circle No. 2.
Mrs. T. H. Ellis, Circle No. 3.
Mrs. Maxwell, Circle No. 4.
Mrs. Matthews, Circle No. 5, which will be known as the Business Woman's Circle.

Circle No. 4, hostess for the afternoon, served sandwiches, potato chips, pickles and iced tea.

Expressive of Smart Mode Is the Tweed Cape-Coat

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

HAVE the new coat you are envisioning for spring a cape or at least a capelet effect? If not, why not? For to ignore a style designed to appear capacious this season is to ignore the trend.

Have decided that for daytime wear in country or about town the capelet is the thing, what question is it? Material? A word of two, because they are immediate answers. Tweed. For further suggestion as to an ultra-smart spring-time utility coat study the model pictured herewith. It's the very latest, in every detail.

Handsome, elegant, and a note of individualistic interest, this is the season's trend, not in woolen fabrics in general, sweater-tweeds, which have a few bright patterns, characterful, from bold checks and stripes, to intricate designs, these are the new, in lower leather and moose head tones which give it no shame in its own home, in the fashion world, to be a bright star with the tweed coat which has created the spring color-scheme.

If you are wearing a tweed coat, you are wearing a fashion which is perfect, perfect, perfect.

Miss Frances Ford Is Employed as New Librarian

Miss Frances Hoyt Ford, who was formerly assistant librarian at El Paso under Mrs. Sullivan, president of the Texas Library Association, has been employed by the Lubbock County Commissioners' Court to take charge of the Lubbock County Library at Lubbock, and is expected to arrive in Lubbock not later than April 1st to assume the duties of that position.

County Judge Chas. Nordyke stated yesterday that Miss Ford is now in Chicago, where she has been taking special work in library administration, and stated that in his opinion the court has been fortunate in securing her services inasmuch as the salary offered here is not in keeping with that heretofore demanded by Miss Ford, who comes to Lubbock on promise of greater compensation after the county library has been built to larger proportions.

Miss Ford, in a letter received by the court yesterday, declared that she is prepared to leave Chicago at once for Lubbock, however she was assured that her arrival in Lubbock as soon as April 1st will be satisfactory.

The turn-down collar is held together with a brilliant burnt-orange bow with inserts of figured silk at the ends. The dress calls for 3 1/2 yards of taffeta 36 inches wide.

The diagram shows the development of the patch pocket, which is so often added to tailored models this season. It is necessary that the pocket not only be accurately made, but faultlessly applied, the stitching being placed as near the edge of the pocket as possible (Fig. 1).

Of course in tailored models, it is desirable to show as little of the necessary stitching as possible to differentiate between the stitching that is so often used for a simple note of decoration. To avoid a top stitching line in the pocket, turn the hem

LUBBOCK CHILD-STUDY CLUB ENDORSES BUILDING PLAN

The Lubbock Child-Study Club at the meeting Wednesday afternoon endorsed the organization of a City Federation, with the proposed plan to eventually build a Woman's Club house in which several enthusiastic comments were made and the opinion of all the members present was that a place of meeting is the thing most needed by the women of Lubbock at the present time.

Mrs. F. A. Norman was made chairman of the calendar committee for the coming year with Mrs. Hub Jones, Mrs. Percy Spencer, and Mrs. Paul Barrie as members. A social meeting will be held at the close of the club year, and the club also voted to accept the invitation of the Delphian club to join them in their Texas Day program, April 21.

An invitation was received to the silver tea to be given at the home of Mrs. Biedsoe by the Gleaners Class on St. Patrick's day.

The principal feature of the program was a talk by Pro. M. H. Duncan, superintendent of the Lubbock Schools, who spoke of the difficulties of child training and the problems of education.

Mrs. W. M. Caldwell conducted the concluding lesson on the education value of myths and legends Mrs. Percy Spencer told the story of Robin Hood and Mrs. Price gave an account of "How King Arthur Conquered Rome."

Mrs. R. V. Kimmel told the old Greek myth of Prometheus and Pandora.

"SPIRIT OF WEST TEXAS" PAGEANT TO BE STAGED IN JUNE

The spring festivals of the Tech will be climaxed with the presentation of a gorgeous pageant at the college at the close of the Spring term. Plans are already being formulated for the program. The officials will make this one of the best pageants ever witnessed by the citizens of Lubbock and the people of the South Plains.

The pageant will be an attempt to visualize the main events in the history of West Texas, representing pictorially, symbolically and fantastically the influences which through their being have brought about the development of the great section and its crowning achievement, the establishment of the Texas Technological College. The spirit of West Texas will be crowned and entertained in a magnificent fete afterwards.

The pageant will be staged June 1 as the tentative date. The stage will be back of the Administration building and everything will be elaborately decorated. The pageant will be written and planned by members of the Tech faculty. Miss Ruth Pirtle will have charge of most of the work.

"ONE MUST MARRY" CAST PRESENTS GIFTS TO CLUB

Tuesday night was Christmas for the Sock and Buskin Club for they received beautiful gifts. The gifts were presented by the cast of "One Must Marry" a one-act comedy prepared by Dr. Luther Pfeiffer. The cast made journeys to neighboring cities and played to good crowds. They reaped a good sum from the trips and decided to give it to club. At the meeting Tuesday night the gifts were formally presented to the club. One of the gifts was a beautiful cedar chest and the other a fernery. Dr. Pfeiffer, in making the presentation stated that they thought the club needed a "Hope Chest" to contain not dead hopes but realizations. He stated that he hoped that the gifts would be a nucleus for other good donations to the club.

The play "Who's the Boss" was presented after the business of the club and went well with the members. It was the story of a henpecked husband who had been forbidden to fish, when suddenly he rebels after twenty years of obedience and asserts his authority. Members of the cast were: Otis Koen, Francis Ferguson, Doris Rollins, Cornelia Ratliff, Virgil Jones, Albert Schofield, Mae Littleton and Agnes Brown. The play "Between Trains" will be presented at the next meeting night.

STUDENT ACTIVITY TAX TO BE RAISED IS PROBABILITY

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the officers of the Student association held conference with President Horn in reference to the enlargement of the Student Activity Fee for the 1926-27 session of the college. The fee for this year was set at three dollars and has proved to be insufficient for the needs of the different activities of the student body. The officers propose to raise the fee to ten dollars thereby giving each activity a sufficient fund.

President Horn stated that he would leave the matter entirely up to the students as they were the ones who would have to pay it. The question will be discussed at the next convocation by the entire student body. It is thought that ten dollars will be needed and it is hoped that the amount will be set, thereby giving each form of school life proper financial support.

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATES ANNOUNCED

Debates with two different schools have been scheduled by Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the department of public speaking. The first debate comes with Clarendon college, a duel debate, one here and one there, Apr. 30. The next debate will be held with McMurray college, of Abilene.

The tryouts for teams will be held next week, and the four winning teams will have the finals after the examinations. Three inter-collegiate teams will be selected in the contest. The best all-round debater will also be selected in the contest which will also be the try-outs for the Davidson Scholarship contest.

The following men will debate, Monday: Sterling Brown and A. W. Brown, affirmative and Grady Moore and E. E. Jordan, negative. Tuesday Whitesides and Bingham, affirmative, Coleman and Montgomery, negative. Wednesday, Keen and Eddleman, affirmative and Jackson and James, negative. Thursday, Brooks and Holcomb, affirmative and Cooper and Hutson, negative.

The question is "Resolved, That It Would Be To The Best Interests of the United States to Enter the World Court". Judges will be selected later.

BLOOD AND SAND FROM EL TORO

Morning, glory! And how's this for some snappy weather? Ain't we got fun?

Days are passing—ach! so fast. And girls are coming—ooch! so much faster. Even now questions are being asked, which, according to some of the teachers, are pretty vital—to the points, in fact, of the exams.

Press club met last evening. Attendance at the old club is staying right along on a level, and much really worthwhile work is being done in the club. Newspaper work, of course, under the highly technical name of journalism, is the prime issue; and the few diversifications from that line are really part of it, after all.

The Irishman who, during his first night in a city hotel, was awakened by a pair of fire-wagons with open sirens and belching fire and smoke rushing madly by, and who exclaimed to his companion, "that they were moving hell and two loads of it were gone by already," had nothing on the bright young fellow who told a real estate dealer that he didn't care to drive out to New Mexico to look at some land, as enough of it was passing the window (during a sandstorm y'know) that he could form a very good opinion of the property, at that.

Saturday, the Home Economic girls are going to tell us all about how the cow ate the cabbage, and such—how to make biscuits that'll end the next war before it starts, and all such. We're waiting, ladies!

Speaking of papers, the Lubbock High School is putting out a dandy good weekly paper, called "The Westerner". They've got organization down there, evidently; and the funny thing about it is that the editor and associate editor are girls. Now, that's not so very funny either, is it. Maybe that's the reason.

Addison quoted one time the ancient philosopher who said that when, as punishment for gossiping, a woman's tongue was cut out, it continued to mutter even while in the ground. "And if it talked even while in that condition," he said, how much more it might do when it had the rest of the organ of speech to assist it? And maybe the paper is partly the result of that!

We got some honest-to-goodness enjoyment out of English class this morning. If there's one thing we like to do, it's to fuse. And! We had some debating in said class.

What's college for, anyway? One dad about summarized what some of the boys think of it when he told a neighbor that his lad had learned how to open a bottle of ale with a quarter—truly an achievement in this age of few corkscrews.

It is lamentable, of course, but perhaps worse than that, the fact that kind of education is being distributed rather freely in certain parts of the town. And Tech students are responsible for part of it.

METHODISTS MAY CONTINUE CLASSES AFTER SCHOOL CLOSURE

Attendance at the First Methodist training school last night kept up its previous high mark, reaching more than 100. It is expected that 100 or 125 certificates will be issued at the close of the school Friday.

Tonight during the fifteen minute intermission Dr. Simpson of Austin will explain the purpose of the training courses. When the four courses now being taught are completed, Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education at Tech, who has completed one course and entered far into a second, will probably conduct a training class meeting twice a week.

PARRISH TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP TO ROTARY

Members of the Lubbock Rotary Club were yesterday entertained with an oration on "Citizenship," by Hon. Pink Parrish, of Lubbock, who introduced his remarks by declaring he had no intentions of pointing any special path along which the good citizen should walk, and apologizing to the clubmen for his inability to give them anything more than reflections from a "corn bread and butter" viewpoint.

That the apology was entirely inappropriate and the introduction misleading was the unanimous opinion of the clubmen after they had heard the remarks of the speaker, and had gained a better view of their responsibilities as a result of his views.

After Kiwanian Kenneth Klapp had explained the home beautification campaign that is to be launched here soon, Walter S. Posey, President of the Rotary Club, appointed a committee to work with committees from other organizations of Lubbock to carry out the campaign.

An instructive talk on "Rotary Ethics," was made by R. H. Martin, of the Martin Baking Company and a charter member of the local club.

METHODIST MEN TO MEET IN BANQUET TUESDAY

Plans for a Methodist Men's banquet, at which 250 will be expected, to be held in the basement of the Leader building next Tuesday night, were laid last night at a meeting of the First Methodist Young Men's Bible class at Tech Cafe, at which Dr. Paul W. Horn, class teacher, presided.

The following committee was appointed to arrange a "snappy program of mirthful numbers" for the banquet: R. J. Murray, chairman; Mac Single, Garland Woodward, J. B. Morrisant, M. F. Swart, Pink Parrish, C. L. Backenstrom.

The following committee, to nominate officers for the Bible class, to be voted on early in April, was appointed: Dr. R. B. Hutchinson, chairman, Dr. H. L. Garland, Allen Hill.

"Most Beautiful Woman" Tired of Her Regal Title

DOROTHY KNAPP

Dorothy Knapp Wants to "Do Something Real"

New York City.—The most beautiful woman in the world, so named by several leading artists and "beauty purveyors" of the country, is tired of her title. She wants to do "something more real and personal than just to look lovely."

At least, so she says. The "most beautiful woman" is Dorothy Knapp, star of Earl Carroll's Vanities. She started out to be an artist, but got no time to draw in her art class because the other students always insisted that she pose for them. Finally she was discovered by Howard Chandler Christy and by him recommended to Earl Carroll.

"So I got into musical reviews," says Miss Knapp, "solely because of so-called beauty. For awhile I liked it. What girl wouldn't? I liked the flattery and the attention one got in public and the music and glamour of the show itself.

expressly about me and I do get a great thrill at hearing it played every place I go. "I still like what I have to do in the Vanities, but I want something else, too. I want to take up my art work again or else get into the drama. Beauty will carry you only a certain distance and then I suppose it will leave you. Although, from what I can hear of rejuvenators and the like, there must be a chance today of looking youthful at least ten years longer than used to be possible. But I want to take time by the forelock and build myself up another career while I still have this one, too."

Miss Knapp doesn't need to worry yet about the passage of time since she is only twenty at present. Her review career to date has been brief and brilliant. "My friends are always on the lookout for human material for me," explains Mr. Carroll, "and several of them told me about Miss Knapp. They were all agreed that, considering body and face, she was the most beautiful woman they had ever seen. I think she is the most beautiful one in the world."

When "Dorothy" is sung to Miss Knapp the audience get a chance to see this charming girl who wears a gorgeous costume and poses for their benefit.

FARMERS AWAKENING

Another evidence of the growing interest of farmers in the adoption of modern methods is seen in the rural electrification conference to be held in Montgomery, Ala., on April 6, to continue for three days.

No less than a thousand leading farmers,
fairymen, poultrymen, agricultural college instructors and power officials are expected to take part in this conference, the first of its kind to be held in the United States, at which a dozen or more states will be represented.

In discussing the importance of the conference, President E. A. O'Neal of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation said:

"There is no phase of community life not affected, directly or indirectly, by agricultural development. The work which is being done in this and other states toward removing with electricity
of the drudgeries of rural life is one of the greatest steps taken with a view of putting farm life in the South on a par with that in other sections. There are many problems yet to be solved, and the best way to solve them is to bring the ultimate consumers and the power producers together for a mutual discussion. I am glad to sponsor the conference."

Features of the program will be visits to a completely electrified farm and dairy and to two of the great hydro-electric power plants of the Alabama Power Company, which is co-operating with the agricultural college and the farm bureau
in extending electric service by its rural transmission lines.

Farmers of the entire country will watch these developments with interest, for they are awakening to the great possibilities of electricity as an aid to profitable agriculture, as well as toward increasing the comforts of rural life.

CO-OPERATIVE.

"Window displays are the most effective
form of advertising for my particular line of business," said a merchant to the Ad Man a few days ago while he was on his rounds soliciting ads for the Morning Avalanche.

Now, in the opinion of the advertising solicitor for this paper, almost every form of advertising has some merit and selling power. But, naturally, newspaper advertising to him is the most effective form, and the most effective producer, when cost is taken into consideration.

He had no quarrel with the gentleman who believes in window displays as a good form of advertising for his store. He agreed with him, and at the same time took occasion to point out that the selling power of window displays is considerably increased when it is linked up with some good newspaper advertising copy.

And in this connection the ad man did a little missionary work by bringing to the attention of this particular merchant that those stores which follow the practice of putting in good window displays, and also use the newspapers as an advertising medium, are the business houses who reap the greatest volume of trade.

The buying public reads newspaper advertising, and while you may not be able to trace any particular purchase to any single ad, but this is often possible, yet by keeping your ad constantly before the public through the newspapers,
it has been the observation of the ad man, that it is the best paying investment a business man can make in ridding his shelves of merchandise.

FOOLS MUST PAY

A few days ago a couple Americans bet
Leon Collet, a French aviator, that he could not fly through the Eiffel Tower arch. He took the bet, tried the feat and was killed. Now, it is said, the Americans are to be prosecuted for causing his death. The interesting question arises, is every person who goes to witness a dare-devil
stunt of any kind partly responsible should a similar mishap occur. In the early days of aviation dozens of flyers were killed while giving spectacular exhibitions, which thousands thronged to see.
Fatalities still occur occasionally in changing from one airplane to another and through similar foolhardy practices, such as high diving, "human ly" exhibitions, shooting Niagara Falls and the like. We doubt whether anyone is seriously to blame except the one who takes his life in his hands to perform a spectacular feat for notoriety
and financial gain. The fool must pay for his folly and Leon Collet paid for his, so the incident should be closed.

LEADERSHIP

Too many people sacrifice leadership for popularity. Popularity is a very natural desire also but it can be overdone. We are all chemically made to go along certain lines and our whole lives are shaped by three things, environment,
training and our own individual, peculiar, chemical make-up.

The first thing to do to develop qualities
of leadership is to forget everything but yourself.
Until we understand ourselves how can we understand our fellow beings? And if we don't understand man we certainly can not lead him.

You may know that you will never like such
and such a person but you can always keep alive
the desire to like him. When we first meet a person our critical faculty immediately, naturally and automatically jumps up. Is he our social equal or superior? Does he rank with us culturally and so on? We must constantly strive to bury this as much as possible and to change our viewpoint from one of a critical look to one of sympathetic interest in him. Don't copy another person's form of leadership. So many of us try to be the type that breezes into any gathering, slaps everybody on the back and adopts the hailfellow-well-
met attitude when we are totally unfitted for it.
Leadership in the last analysis is a matter of character. What we are speaks louder than our words. Don't try to pose and don't try to put across a dual personality for you are sure to be discovered.

MUSOLINI A PERIL

Mussolini it seems is firmly entrenched in Italy, but some day, like all men who seize authority, he will begin to slip. When he starts down hill, when he begins to lose his hold upon his people, and Italy tires of the man on her shoulders, the peace of Europe will be endangered.
Men who acquire power like it. Mussolini boasts of Italian greatness and links his rule with that of imperial Rome. He talks menacingly about carrying the flag into foreign territory. When his sun sinks he has the choice of two things, accepting the inevitable retirement, or securing a new lease in office by waging a spectacular, successful
war. We are of the opinion that he is already laying the foundation of the latter policy. We may be wrong and we hope we are but our view coincides with that of George W. Wickersham, well known American jurist who is now assisting
a League of Nations committee in codifying international law with working headquarters at Geneva.
"A state of absolute tyranny reigns over Italy,"
says Mr. Wickersham, who characterizes Benito Mussolini as "the greatest menace to the peace of the world today. I don't know how long he can go on, but it is evident that when the Italian leader sees his control slipping he plans to enter upon a program of territorial expansion that will force his subjects to continue to lend their support."

MISSED RACE WITH DEATH

Wanting to bid his son good bye before he was executed for murder Tribich Lincoln, former
M. P., German spy and deported English citizen of Austrian birth, desperately dashed from the far east toward Britain. He was reported in France
the day before the execution but when the last hour came he had not arrived. Fifty thousand people had signed petitions requesting that the execution be delayed until the remorseful father arrived.

What happened? The authorities carried out the law, and the criminal paid for his crime. In this country a smart lawyer, with a new writ, would have delayed the execution. If the client had been too poor to hire legal talent some mushy headed governor would have granted a reprieve.

CHICAGO'S POOR ADVERTISING

The city of Chicago has received some poor advertising by the appeal of a committee to the senate asking that an investigation be made into conditions in the Windy City. The senate committee on immigration rejected the plea, sending work to the good people of Chicago that it was up to them to clean up their own house.

News from Chicago is that many aliens have fled the city since some one suggested deportation.
Much crime has been laid to their doors.
Others suggest a league between local authorities and criminals. There may be something to it but we would dislike very much to believe that the larger American cities can not govern themselves without fraud and corruption.

THE MEN CEASED THEIR WORK

It is recorded on a papyrus excavated in Egypt, south of Cairo, in the pyramids of Sakhara that a female singer from the court of Thath-came to encourage the men in their work. It is also recorded, as one suspected, that the men ceased their work and repaired to the bank of the river to rest.

The ancient Egyptians stuck to their task until pleasure appeared and then they stopped altogether. There are many people living like them.
Every reader knows hard working people who become wealthy, taste pleasure, and stop their work. Later they lose their money and find themselves unable to return to their former thrifty habits.

Little Avalanches

An anxious inquirer wants to know if it is possible to prevent grape fruit juice from squirting
on his immaculate shirt front. Certainly. Either don't eat grape fruit, or eat it shirtless, or use an oil cloth bib. Go to the head of the class.

On the 15th of last October there were reported 34,652 children in the Louisville, Ky., schools. On the same date there were 34,652 savings accounts in the names of those children, amounting to nearly $150,000. That's "higher"
and better education in at least one important particular.

A Maxim(um) Silencer

SO THINK WE

We think that Old Man Flu is not a respecter of persons. He even passes the body guards of the President and stalks right in and attacks the President of the United States and enters the jails and nabs on to some of the inmates there, and even attacks
the women of the household.
He is a bad guy, and seems to delight in snipping a fellow off occasionally.

We think that possibly the perfect automobile will be improved next year, and for that reason
we will probably not buy
one now.

We think that easy money is often hard to get hold of to say the least of it.

We think a lot of folks will hardly be present to claim their treasures in heaven for thinking and worrying about the interest
that it should be drawing here.

We think that the entrance to the postoffice is possibly the most unsanitary place in the city, and it is the place that everybody has to pass through
if they attend the postoffice.

We think the coal man is not yet through with us. The new norther that came up last night
is evidence enough that the ice-men still has competition, and we can not yet cast aside the old overcoat, or don our straw hat
without appearing altogether out of season.

We think the fruit trees that have insisted in putting out their blossoms so early may yet be nipped in the bud.

We think it should be a final offense and punishment assessed at living in east Texas
for one year for a man to spit on the sidewalks in Lubbock.

We think the Matadors will show somebody real stuff when they get on the baseball diamond.

We think Lubbock should be greatly interested in getting all the highways possible to come to this city. It will bring more people through than the railroads
—that is to stop, and look the town over.

We think the Kiwanis Club is to be congratulated on the pretty yards campaign.

We think spats are becoming fashionable. We read it in the fashion sheet. And then we heard about it in the police court, and we presume it must be so. Spats have always been more or less fashionable, or to say the least of it they have always existed more or less. Even Adam and Eve had a spat over the forbidden fruit.

We think a lot of folks are lucky. A big old Ford ran slap dab into the middle of a big Hudson super-six last night and no one was killed. That is just simply good luck.

We think the sky was both
blue and cheerful yesterday.
That is more than any human being can say.

IT IS REPORTED

That the road from Lubbock
to Slaton, through the suburbs of the city of Lubbock has been opened to the south and east of the city, which will divert the traffic around the section of the city occupied by the colored people of the town, but the traffic has not been changed yet,
as it was thought best to let them
use the old highway until the grade and surface of the part of the road is completed and ready for traffic. The thing that is not good about this is that work has not started yet.

That several of the alleys in the residential section of the city
have not been cleaned up since last summer, and they are beginning to need attention.

That the fad has struck negro town. A colored girl was seen on the streets yesterday with rolled stockings.

That somebody is making a practice of killing dogs and cats
and leaving them in the middle of the streets. If you will kill these animals take the time to haul them away from the front of your neighbor's house.

That old battle axe had a very good day. He was able to be out in the open most all day.

That we still have about two weeks more of good tree planting time.

That Joe Taylor of State Press
came to take part in a Charleston contest. If he did no one here ever found it out, and we doubt if the report is true.

That the entrance to the postoffice, known as no-man's land
was nicely swept out yesterday morning. Some one deserves a chew of juicy fruit, and if they will make themselves known to us we will be glad to provide them with this said chewing gum.

PEACE OF MIND

Why so much fuss for money and
and for fame?
The skies for great and humble are the same.

All earth can give of beauty and delight
Is neither fame nor fortune's special right.

Does genius boast one tried and steadfast friend?
On one as loyal does his man depend.

The birds pour music from their golden throats,
Master and servant hear the self-
same notes.

Nature, upon her glories, sets no fee,
The beauty of a sunrise all may see.

There are no books on which the scholars feed
Beyond the humblest man who cares
to read.

Nor wealth nor fame this barrier
can leap,
Distinction passes with the gift of sleep.

Fortune and fame some luxuries supply,
But peace of mind the purse can never buy.

And who finds love and laughter at his door
May know that life to greatness gives no more.

Women Clash Today for Dixie Net Title

DAVIS ISLAND, TENNIS CLUB, Tampa, Fla., March 10.—Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Miss Mark K. Browne will clash Thursday in the finals of the women's tourney here for the Dixie championship. It will be the second time these rivals have met in a Florida tournament. Miss Ryan defeated Miss Browne in the recent Palm Beach classic.

Miss Ryan defeated Mrs. John Raymond, New York, 6-3, 6-1 in the semi-finals today, while Miss Browne eliminated Mrs. A. J. Taylor of Boston 6-3, 6-2.

Being Sick Can't Stop Poker Face

NICE, March 10.—Apparently untroubled by her recent touch of la grippe, Helen Wills breezed through three matches in the Nice tennis tournament Wednesday, winning them all with ease.

Miss Wills defeated Miss Shirley of England in straight love sets and followed this up by a victory over Mrs. Maynard, another English player, 6-0, 6-1.

Partnered with Charles Kingsley in the mixed doubles, the American women's champion defeated Mr. and Mrs. De Bruyn Kops of Holland, 6-0, 6-0.

HERE AND THERE IN LOCAL SPORTS

The Texas Tech Matador baseball uniforms have been received and are very attractive in that they have a good color combination with a solid purple and grey and with the word "Tech" down the front of the shirt in scarlet letters on a black background. The suits were ordered through the Myrick Hardware Company.

Skipper and his gang faced the sand enough to have a short practice. He called the whole gang in and sent out four different teams for a lining a piece. Dillard and Wright, veteran moundmen, looked and will be in fine shape for the opening of the season.

Old Farmer Guber, rather "blind" Emmer, umpired the game for the Westerners receiving the usual razzing from the grandstand.

Southpaws galore—looks like every one on the high school nine is southpaw. Some of these right handed birds had better watch that mound for a crew of wrong handed as working hard for a berth on the Western nine.

Gus Miller's gang of Slaton Tigers have been working out for the past few days. He has several old men back in action for the season. The Tigers were champions of the Lubbock district last season in the great American game.

Post-City is getting ready for the summer baseball. Already a new ball park is being constructed with an 8 foot fence built and the grand stand will soon be under construction. Much interest is being promoted in baseball in Post this year.

There will be nothing lacking in baseball on the South Plains this season. Several of the neighboring cities have already begun organizing for the summer. A number of them are building permanent parks and grandstands. So it will be up to the Lubbock nine to trim these south plainsmen down before they go to Denver.

The Lockney baseball fans met Monday night to organize for the summer baseball. Lockney expects to have a good independent club this season.

"Duckie" Allen has ten letter men back for the baseball season and expects to have one of the strongest high school clubs in West Texas.

The Plainview Bulldogs are taking rather stiff workouts and Allen, the coach is working them rain or shine—and a few of the Bulldogs say he is not slowing up on his teachings.

Daily Workouts For Golf Club

AUSTIN, Texas, March 9.—Daily practice for aspirants who wish to make the University of Texas golf team will be started within a week, according to Robert Murphree, director.

At the present time it is not known who will make up the regular squad, but about 15 men will be chosen from among the thirty or forty out for practice.

Several prospective tournaments to be held within the state, will probably be entered by the University team. Entrance into several city tournaments, as well as two or three intercollegiate contests, is being considered at the present time.

C. H. Smith, representing the Hill-Pender publishing company of Abilene, arrived in Lubbock yesterday and will spend several days in this territory.

Photograph shows Fred Spahn, former University of Seattle crew coach. He and Max Spahn have been chosen as the new coaches of the University of Pennsylvania crew.

Track Stars Enter the Relay Games

AUSTIN, Texas, March 10.—Enough record holders and nationally famous athletes to make up a large-sized track team have already been entered in the second annual University of Texas Relay Games here March 26, a survey of the entry list shows.

Though still far from complete, the list is already bristling with the names of those who rank at the top in their various events.

Among the leading visiting athletes from other states the names of five Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., men hold a high place. Plansky, national decathlon champion, Dwyer, world's record holder in the indoor broad jump, Burgess, national quarter mile champion, Hines, Eastern and Southern javelin champion, and Norton, winner of second place in the 1924 Olympic decathlon, head a team of ten notable performers who are not only going to participate in the Texas Relays but have signed a contract to lay over in Texas for a dual meet with the University of Texas Longhorns in Austin on April 3.

Vernor of Illinois and Guthrie of Ohio State jointly hold the world's record in the indoor high hurdles. Both have been entered in the Texas Relays. Schoch, a member of the world's record holding mile relay team, and Wallace, national champion in the broad jump, are two more notable contributions from the University of Illinois. Wongwai, Great Hawaiian who has seldom met his match in the dashes will probably be a headliner here in his event in the indoor net vault.

Notre Dame has, at the world's mark; he will be seen in action here. Labecker of Kansas, sectional broad jump and pole vault champion, and Vence of Ohio, Westsyan, sectional hurdles champion, are two more important performers listed for the relays.

CAN'T PET 21 CALIFORNIA GIRLS IN ONE WEEK

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Declarations of a Los Angeles educator that a modern youth, given a spunky automobile and ten gallons of gasoline, can, in the course of a week, vamp and pet 21 girls he has never seen before, has caused a strong protest among University of California coeds here.

A group of popular and representative women students told the United News Tuesday that George M. Green, principal of the Ingleside union high school, who broadcast this tribute to modern youth, was "inaccurate, misinformed and certainly self-fashioned."

ARMY BUMP FORCED TO SWIM; NONE HURT

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., March 10.—Developing valve trouble the army blimp TA-5 was forced down into the sea off Willoughby Point near Fortress Monroe here Wednesday afternoon. No members of the crew were injured nor was the airship damaged.

HATCHER WANTS STATE TREASURER JOB AGAIN

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher announced his candidacy for reelection here Wednesday, on his campaign platform, "a public office is a public trust, and must not be used for private gain."

Shaky Infield Dims Prospect for Robins

By United News.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—With a shaky infield that is not yet completed and an uncertain outfield, the chances of the Brooklyn Robins in the coming National League pennant race do not appear to be very bright.

The club which fell last season from a pennant contending position to second division, will have to depend largely on one of the good pitching staffs which Wilbur Robinson usually manages to pick out of the air.

But the best of pitchers will tell you that they can do little with a sieve behind them and an open hole back of the infield.

Milton Stock, the veteran infielder who threatened to forsake baseball for the real estate business if he did not get a boost to $12,000 a year, has Manager Robinson believing it now and Robby is looking around for a second baseman among the rookies.

Jerry Standaert, a youngster, may be tried at third base and Johnny Butler, the high priced American Association star, may be shifted over to second.

Even though they are one of the oldest teams in baseball, with poor prospects awaiting them, Robinson has them hustling and they have fists ready for any of the smart critics who visit their camp to give them the laugh.

The Robins have the best training field in Florida, but they are in a small town and the inhabitants know and care little of baseball. Robinson, however, says the solitude has its advantages. "The boys have to keep in training because there is nothing to do here, and no one bothers them."

Directors to Meet

Directors of the highway project which was organized at the meeting last month will meet at Stamford March 17 at which time they will entertain members of the state highway commission and other highway officials and develop plans for the furthering of the program that was started at Spur.

HOWAT, BAILED OUT, LEADS MARCHING MINERS AGAIN

By United News.

PITTSBURG, Kan., March 10.—Alexander Howat who put the Kansas court of industrial relations to its first important test several years ago when he defiantly ordered a strike of several hundred coal miners is again the moving spirit of a strike, less serious this time but surely as picturesque.

Several hundred union mine workers threw down their picks and shovels in the mines near here about three weeks ago because of trouble over a wage contract. The operators hired non-union men and until Howat put his finger in the affair, it seemed as though the strike would be lost.

Howat has not been an official of the union since he defied the industrial court and lost his job as district president, but he is still active. He organized the striking miners into singing bands. With Howat at their head the miners began to appear daily at the various mines where they sang, pleaded and harangued. After each demonstration usually some of the non-union men quit and joined them.

When Howat went over the line and into Missouri Tuesday with his marching men and induced twenty non-union men to join his ranks, the operators became anxious and decided to do something about it. Howat with nine other men including three union officials was arrested charged with disturbing the peace. The union furnished bonds however, and the men were released.

Howat announced that the marching men would continue to march and that Wednesday's object would be another mine in Missouri. A heavy rain here Wednesday prevented this however, and for the first time since Howat began his campaign the operators breathed easily.

The redoubtable Howat who once defied the Kansas court of industrial relations and the then Governor, Henry J. Allen, declared he will be out again Thursday, weather permitting to lift his voice in song and to march.

CO-ED VINDICATED BY LIFE TERM FOR ASSAULT

MASON, Mich., March 10.—A jury of farmers here has decided that the ultra modern ways of the college-bred have not lowered her morality, according to a verdict late Wednesday, finding Arthur C. Rich, wealthy young Battle Creek sportsman guilty of a criminal assault on Miss Louise Kinn, his companion in a golf course petting party last May 25.

Rich's attorney had claimed that the pretty co-ed's conduct and mode of dress invited his advances but the jury of farmers, three of whom have daughters of their own, threw the argument overboard.

The jury deliberated only 25 minutes. Immediately after it had reported Judge Charles B. Collingwood sentenced Rich to a life term in prison.

GENERAL BUTLER OF PHILADELPHIA FAME HAS OWN HOST ARRESTED FOR SERVING COCKTAILS AT ARMY DINNER

By United News.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 10.—General Smedley D. Butler, the modern Sir Gallahad, has brought his famous crusading spirit to Southern California.

Fresh from reform triumphs in Philadelphia, the militant crusader began his administration of the local United States marine post by ordering a court-martial of his retiring host, Colonel Alexander Williams.

Colonel Williams, former commander of the San Diego marine base, gave a rousing banquet of welcome to General Butler. The Colonel was ordered arrested Wednesday on charges preferred by General Butler, that he was "under the influence of liquor during the occasion."

If General Butler's recommendations are followed by his superiors in Washington, Colonel Williams will face a general court-martial.

The banquet given to General Butler at the Williams home, was attended by all ranking officers of the marine base, as well as high ranking officers of the eleven naval district, according to marine authorities here.

The former commandant's wife, in accordance with local marine and naval tradition, is said to have served cocktails at the festive occasion, and all drank to the health of the new commandant.

That General Butler is said to have told the officers after the feast, was not strictly according to the constitution and therefore not becoming to officers and gentlemen.

"You should, upon all occasions, uphold the constitution and its amendments to the last letter of the law," he was quoted as saying with his characteristic vigor and militancy.

Marine officers here declared tonight they did not expect charges would be preferred against others than Colonel Williams. The general was expected to regard his severe verbal reprimand as sufficient punishment for the officers who sat in on the welcoming banquet and drank to the crusader's health.

The entire affair, however, was reported by General Butler to United States Marine authorities at Washington and Colonel Williams, the retiring host, was recommended for a general court-martial, it was said.

CHORINE SUES FOR BEAUTY, SPOILED IN CRASH

CHICAGO, March 10.—An ex-chorus girl, so old fashioned that she believes ladies of the ensemble are judged by their facial beauty, has decided to sue Wolcott Blair, gold coast millionaire, because he crashed upon her face in an automobile crash.

The joy ride with the prominent young clubman began after an introduction and ended against the steel pier of vindictive Miss Geraldine Markham, who until that moment had been one of the steppers in Fred Stone's stepping stones kept right on going through the windshields and ended per theatrical career on the pavement.

NINE YEAR OLD BEATS OCTOGENARIAN AT GOLF

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 10.—Nine year-old Bobbie Jones Williamson of South Bend, Indiana, defeated O. J. Parker, 82 year-old golfer from Los Angeles in a nine hole golf match here.

They were even until the last hole when the youngster won.

ROYAL BONES ARE STILL IN DANGER; NAGS ARE SAVED

LONDON, March 10.—Fire in the stables of Prince of Wales Devonshire farm in Princeton did considerable damage yesterday, although all of the prince's horses were saved. The fire was the tenth mysterious blaze on country estates of prominent Britishers within the past few weeks.

IMPROVEMENT OF SCHOOL SOCIAL ORGANIZATIONS

FT. WORTH, Texas, March 10.—The public schools of America are under obligations to improve the existing social organization and machinery. The curriculum must be effective in the development of that type of citizenship proposed as the American ideal. It must secure that public education needed to guarantee the Union, justice, domestic tranquility, the common defense, general welfare, and the preservation of the blessings of liberty.

These facts are developed in a survey of recent studies on the public school curriculum, as reported by the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association. Nine Texas men contributed to the survey. They are Superintendents E. E. Oberholzer of Houston; M. E. Moore, Beaumont; Houtner Frizzell, Palestine; Lee Clark, Galveston; J. C. Fyle, Sherman; Madison Hall, Bryan; J. E. Langwith, Terrell; J. H. Newton, Cooper, and J. O. Webb of Harrisburg.

The founders of the Republic held the conviction that the American type of government should be made secure through public education. The public schools, then, must carry out that series of studies and exercises which will preserve those things peculiar to the American nation. Keeping in mind the ideals of the founders, the public school curriculum must keep step with advancing civilization and train a citizenship that will preserve the American theory of government.

It is not enough to sharpen the wits of the public school children by that purpose, the schools must definitely train for citizenship. Every superintendent must secure a course of study best fitted to people of his community in the training of the individuals to that point of greatest usefulness to the commonwealth.

Keeping in mind the American ideal and the advanced requirements of civilization, the superintendent must not lose sight of the individual. The course of study must not only provide that minimum which the least efficient members of the group can assimilate, not only the essentials for the "average" mind but it must also provide supplementary training for the more efficient.

There may be extenuating circumstances for unseemly conduct even for dancing the Charleston. When her landlady had Miss Dorothy Cope of Northwestern University arrested for "nearly shaking the house down" with her dancing, the young lady pleaded that there was no heat in her room and that she had to do it to keep warm.

SLATON AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSE NEXT FRIDAY CAUSING GREAT ACTIVITY OF PREPARATION AMONG FARMERS

SLATON, March 10.—There will be held a one-day short course at Slaton, Friday, March 19, the purpose of which is to forward every movement of the 1926 diversified farm program. A number of speakers will be present on this occasion to discuss and explain the various phases of this far-reaching program.

A number of rural district schools will close and attend this meeting in a body. There is much concern and great interest in every community in the putting over this much-needed program.

Sub units with their officers have been organized in a number of the rural districts, that are working towards that point of stimulating and encouraging more diversified farming for the up keep and maintenance of home and community life.

There is no program that is so far reaching in its purpose as the program that has to do with developing the natural resources of the country. The program that is now being put over deals strictly with more feed, more dairymen, more hogs, more poultry and a better market.

This will not only serve to relieve certain financial conditions but will bring out and develop the true value of the lands on the South Plains.

Some five or seven hundred dollars is now being raised towards the putting on a contest. This will include cotton, feed and many other of those diversified farm products that are natural for both soils and climatic conditions.

There is being shipped into Slaton territory hundreds of fine eggs, baby chicks and pure strain chickens of all kinds. They have been more eggs sold in the town of Slaton by double than during any time of the city's history. This program is creating public sentiment which always carries the one spirit to either build or kill and already new life and new thought has entered into every avenue of agricultural interest.

Merchants and business men are back of this program; not in that individual selfish manner but for the great cause of developing and building both the community and the city, and it is the sense of every true man that to grow a living at home is far better and cheaper than to go to a contest. This program is creating public sentiment which always carries the one spirit to either build or kill and already new life and new thought has entered into every avenue of agricultural interest.

Pure seed is one of the great features of this program. Hundreds of bushels of early maturing cotton is being shipped and sold into every community. Both grade and class, as well as staple, in all lines of farm products will be raised to a higher standard.

Wonderful meetings are being held in all communities surrounding Slaton. The Commercial Club fostering this program is now busy taking orders for a car load of pure bred gilts that will stock this country in fine hogs.

The large commercial incubator is running full capacity with more demand than could possibly be filled with three times the present capacity. Thrift and prosperity is just ahead and around the corner, that only awaits the putting over of this diversified farm program.

SLATON BUILDS FOR FUTURE BY TREE PLANTING

Special to The Avalanche.

SLATON, Mar. 8.—J. T. Overby, chairman of the Slaton chamber of Commerce tree planting committee, has set an example for all of the citizens of Slaton, by planting three hundred, one and one-half inch maple trees around sixteen blocks in West Park addition. A special irrigation system has been arranged by Mr. Overby, whereby the trees may never be without sufficient moisture. A pipe extends about one foot above the ground and is elbowed to a two foot horizontal pipe, so arranged that when the water is turned on, it can throw it either way along the line of trees. By means of this specially designed system of irrigation the three hundred trees can be watered within three hours.

The city of Slaton and Lubbock County have already shown their belief in shade trees by planting them in all the city parks. Slaton plaza, in which the City Hall is located, is filled with trees as is Santa Fe park, the county playground. These trees were planted some years ago, and due to the constant attention that has been given them by thoughtful officials, they have grown to be beautiful trees.

The Slaton Chamber of Commerce is planning to extend this campaign to every section of the residential district. Every property owner will be urged to plant two or three trees in front of his lot, and a consistent effort will be made to have the trees as near the same distance apart will be made to have the trees as is possible, that in the years to come, the streets of Slaton will be adorned with beautiful, stately shade trees along all of the residential streets, of uniform kind and size.

A lack of water for the care of trees which is usually given as the chief cause has been removed for all time to come by the guarantee of an ample supply of water. Just recently a connection has been made with the Santa Fe railroad which insures for the city of Slaton a storage capacity of a million gallons of water. With high powered pumps operating on 4 deep wells, this storage capacity can be kept completely refilled with a city of twice the size of Slaton using it during the dry season.

Slaton will never call on her citizens to cut down on the water, they use," said E. Barton, water superintendent. "We can pump more water in a prolonged drought than there can possibly be any use for. At present we run our pumps only a part of the time, and our tanks are always full. With such assurance of plentiful water, Slaton citizens have shown an inclination to be very much in favor of trees."

BROWNFIELD TO GET RURAL DELIVERY ROUTES

BROWNFIELD, March 10.—Word has been received from Washington that beginning May 2, a new rural route will be established out of Brownfield, which will serve something like 300 boxes. This will give the rural communities around Brownfield splendid mail services, and it is news that will be received with a great deal of interest both by the Brownpeople and those living on the proposed route, or recommended.

The postmaster at this place has also ordered much new equipment for the office at this place and all goes to show that Brownfield is stepping out into a new class in postal service.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS OFFERED PRIZE TO WRITE THEME

Some student in the Lubbock High School can win a prize of five dollars by writing the best theme on "postal service as it affects the general public."

The offer was made recently by Postmaster John L. Vaughn in an address before the student body of the school, when he declared that the people in general are not familiar with the channels through which their mails pass, and that by better acquainting themselves with these channels they can better cooperate with the postal employees in helping them to render better service.

At least six students were asked to enter the contest, and those entered will be carried through the postoffice and shown all of the channels brought which incoming and outgoing mails pass.

Entry Into League of Nations Will Thwart True Aims of Germany, Says Leader Among Monarchist Party

By COUNT VON REVENTLOW
(Leader of the Monarchist pan-German party)

(Written for United Press)
BERLIN, March 9.—I consider Germany's entry into the League a misfortune, because it involves the sacrifice of the last vestige of German independence—notably the forfeiture of a sovereign foreign policy.

Germany's adherence to the League means that Germany is bound, body and soul, to the political and economic policy of the western nations. For the League of Nations is not a League of Peoples but rather a union of the signatory Powers of Versailles, come together to maintain the status which the Versailles treaty imposed upon Europe.

Once in the League, Germany will find herself thwarted in every attempt to form strong connections with the East. And Germany's salvation and chances of regaining freedom depend entirely upon the formation of such link with the Near and Far East.

I and my political friends are not bolsheviks. But we contend that Germany and Russia belong together politically and economically. I am convinced that Western capitalism renders German's liberation impossible. But it is this very Western capitalism which finds its outlet in the League of Nations.

Although the United States are not represented in the League, Wall Street controls the League. This explains why American opinion favors Germany's entry into the League. But this is also an additional reason for those Germans who share my desire for the social emancipation of the German people to oppose this country's adherence to the League.

Having entered the League, according to the League's covenant, Germany can be forced to break her relations with Turkey or Russia or some other eastern nation—or even proclaim war against such a nation—if the League so decide. The League is changed by the Locarno formula regarding Article XVI of the League's covenant. Germany will violate her own interests and become the pawn of western capitalism.

Moreover, the League will prevent Germany from opposing effectively the miserable treatment of German minorities in Europe.

In a nutshell: The League takes much away from Germany; in return the League gives Germany—nothing. And perhaps, in addition to phrases, we can expect credits which ultimately mean only the enslavement of German industry and agriculture.

FORMER CITY MANAGER AND ELECTRICIAN ARE PRAISED

"The good men do lives after them."

The truth contained in this old adage is emphasized in a letter received by the Avalanche editor yesterday in which the faithful work of former city manager Martin S. Ruby and city electrician Flem McSpadden that was rendered in connection with the development of the city's physical properties is given some consideration.

The letter signed "E. G. M." is as follows:

"Have a look at Lubbock's municipally owned light, sewer and water system with total value of $687,000 that pays a profit on the investment even with the lowest rate in the state Commission-manager form of government. After reading this little article I have felt the urge to add a word to 'give the devil his dues.' This state of affairs has been brought about by the commissioner's working in union with Martin S. Ruby, city manager for the past nine years—who has been ably assisted by Flem C. McSpadden, whom Ruby secured six years ago and who is still with the city. Ruby and McSpadden have worked day and night to bring this up to the present standard which Lubbock is so rightfully proud of. These men have had a lot to contend with, as the city has grown so fast they would hardly get their plants enlarged until it would all have to be done over again. But, by determination and stay-on-the-job, when every one else was asleep, sometimes days and nights at a time, that the city of Lubbock might have the conveniences of water and sewer at a rate no other town in the state can afford. To one who knows what these men have gone through with, it seems almost impossible and I think they are due a word of praise.

"E. G. M."

Few will question the appropriateness of the award of a gold medal to William (Dad) Harris, aged 69, by the city of Cleveland. Dad's regular job is selling gasoline, but he shot and captured eight bandits in his spare time.

NEW YORK'S FINEST OUT TO RID GOTHAM OF GAMBLING HOUSES, IN GREATEST DRIVE SINCE JEROME "REFORMED" CITY

BY FRANK GETTY

United News Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, March 9.—Outside the gambling houses of New York, whether these be concealed behind the austere brown stone fronts of the upper West side or the unprepossessing exteriors of "Hell's Kitchen" plain clothed in incessant patrol, as Police Commissioner McLaughlin begins the greatest drive against gambling in this city since the days of William Travers Jerome.

The police department, co-operating with the district attorney's office, is racing against time to check the gambling evil as much as possible before the "show down" comes on March 18.

On that date, corporation counsel Nicholson will argue before the supreme court for an order vacating temporary injunctions obtained by certain "clubs," behind whose doors the police have reason to believe roulette, dice, faro and other unlawful games of chance are played.

Sometime ago, before McLaughlin new to the office of police commissioner, had had time to get organized, police made a futile stab against the gamblers. It was announced, with considerable fanfare that gambling houses which are the successor of Canfields and "Honest John" Kelleys were to be closed.

Assembling their legal forces, the gamblers of 1926 went into court, and obtained injunctions restraining the police from intruding. They represented their houses, most of which are known to those familiar with the city's night life, as "clubs" and professed ignorance of any law breaking.

This move temporarily tied the hands of the police. But when Commissioner McLaughlin found time to turn his attention to the situation, he turned back the pages of time and took a leaf from the note book of that ardent reformer, William Travers Jerome.

Jerome, years ago, faced with an even more critical situation, smashed the gambling ring that bound New York and nightly robbed the citizens, including the late Reggie Vanderbilt and many another rich and famous personage. Jerome smashed gambling by showing through the legislature a new law whereby he was enabled to summon witnesses before a grand jury. This was known as the "Dowling law" and McLaughlin has invoked it for the present emergency.

That there is an emergency, officials admit. With the police powerless to interfere, because of the injunctions, patrons of gambling houses walk openly in and out, laughing at the uniformed minions of the impotent law.

What McLaughlin began may have much effect on checking gambling as did the original Dowling law. Police and plain clothed men, as many as 12 and 15 to a house with a captain in command, have thrown a cordon around the gambling houses.

Alex Eyraud, a Nevada woodsman, who accidentally shot himself in the foot managed to hoist a white shirt above his cabin, which signal brought relief four days later.

SANTA BARBARA ACHIEVES SPANISH IDEA IN RECONSTRUCTION

By LINCOLN QUARBERG

United Press Staff Correspondent.
SANTA BARBARA, Mar. 8.—Santa Barbara, the "dream city" stricken by earthquake last June, is fast rising again into a new city of Spanish splendor and charm.

By fiesta time, next September, Santa Barbara will be completely restored—an architectural symbol of the traditions and romance of Old California.

Throughout its restoration, Santa Barbara is clinging to Spanish Colonial architecture and color schemes. A spirit of beauty predominates the commercial sense of the populace, and there is architectural uniformity in all the new structures.

From sea-front to foothills, the city is being re-built in the softness of the traditional Spanish spirit, which gave birth to Santa Barbara by the Franciscan fathers more than 100 years ago.

State Street never will be revived. This main thoroughfare, its buildings laid low by earth tremors for more than two miles inland from the beach, will become the Estadio, lined with commercial establishments, of adobe and adobe.

The new Santa Barbara will focus at the sea, where formerly a group of scraggly and varied structures but an eye-sore to the metropolis. Destroyed by the quake, these buildings are being replaced by others of uniform Spanish theme.

The ocean-front will be fringed by landscaping of Spanish suggestion. Fronds of high palms and eucalyptus will extend for two miles along the Estadio and other main thoroughfares from the water-front, lending the romantic fragrance of Old California to the modern pueblo.

There will be no blatant electric signs or screaming advertisements along the "Estadio." The facades of the new buildings will be illuminated with mellow floodlights, revealing in modest letters the names and businesses of the firms.

Garages even have the appearance of old Spanish mansions, and the service stations and cigar shops are of adobe and adobe.

Approximately $10,000,000 in building permits have been issued since the quake in June. This does not include the new $3,000,000-Biltmore hotel nor other contemplated construction on which permits have not yet been issued.

It is estimated by officials that upwards of $26,000,000 will have been spent for the restoration of Santa Barbara by fiesta time, when the resurrected "dream city" will be dedicated with brilliant Spanish ceremonies.

WATERWAY PLANS IN CONGRESS HIT SNAG

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Just as congress prepares for an extensive program in the development of the country's inland waterways one half of the system planned has become the center of a dispute which has revealed differences in the administration.

The proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway is opposed by two members of the cabinet, Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and the New York congressional delegation, although the president is on record as favoring it and Secretary of Commerce Hoover is urging it. The other half of the inland waterway program concerns the Mississippi valley system, which congress is planning to develop.

The opposition to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence route was presented vigorously to the army board of engineers here Tuesday by representatives of New York State, who advocate the federal government taking over the New York barge canal and thus finding an outlet from the Great Lakes through New York City instead of the Canadian route. Their attitude is based in reasons of national defense.

Their position was bitterly assailed by Representative Somowski, Michigan, a republican, who got a taste of military discipline and was gagged when he began to criticize Davis and Wilbur for stating their preference before the board of engineers had made its report public.

I. C. C. RATE SETTING UPHELD BY COURT

By United News.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 8.

The case against the Omaha Railroad charging violation of the state long and short haul law, was ruled out of Mennepin county court today by Judge Thomas H. Salmon.

The action prevented for the second time appeal to the state supreme court of suits involving jurisdiction in interstate freight rates.

Railroads are now charging rates as fixed by the I. C. C., which are higher than those ordered by the state railroad and warehouse commission. Discriminations exist in the present scales, it is charged. The first case of indictment of a railroad for charging I. C. C. rates was brought under the Cushman distance tariff law and suffered the same fate as the suit thrown out today.

Zizi's Heart Balm Delayed by League

By United News.

PARIS, March 9.—The meeting of the League of Nations in Geneva is holding up court action on Mme Zizi Lambrino's 10,000,000 franc suit against former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania.

Paul Boncour, noted French attorney, and a member of the French delegation to Geneva, was retained by Carol shortly after Zizi's suit was instituted. According to French law Carol was to appear before the court within three days after the suit was brought, and give reason why the case against him should not proceed. The time limit expired Monday.

So before going to Geneva Boncour appealed to the court to postpone Carol's appearance until after the league sessions were finished. His request was granted and as a consequence Mme Lambrino and her claims must wait.

Blouse Fashioned of Flat Crepe

Trimmed With Embroidery stitches. The separate blouse is interesting not only for the originality of its design, but for its varied and clever treatment and the wide range of fabrics in which it is developed. White crepe with embroidery in colors makes up this model superbly.

Here is a separate blouse of considerable smartness. Its lines are simple, yet it is capable of infinite variety of treatment. The raglan sleeves are lengthened to the wrists, where they are finished with narrow bands of self-material brightened with embroidery in pastel colors. Just below the shoulders there is more embroidery, the designs being outlined with hemstitching. This idea is repeated on the front of the design, forming a deep border. On the collar, again, is embroidery.

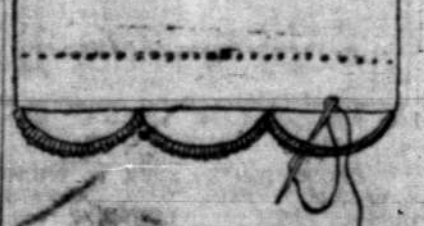

Ladies' Blouse No. 198, cut in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust, will be mailed postpaid, upon receipt of 15 cents. Be sure to give correct number and size of pattern desired when ordering. Write name and address plainly. Send orders to Pattern Editor, this newspaper.

developed in outline and flat satin stitches. The outer edge of the collar is then finished with a bias fold of self-material. The front of the blouse is cut down the center and finished with a bias fold.

If preferred, however, another treatment may be used for the front of the blouse. The collar may be omitted and the fronts underlaid and turned back to form revers. The neck would then be finished in round outline, or, if one be fond of collars, a round or pointed model could be added. One of the very good points about the most of the season's separate blouses is the possibilities they offer for varied treatment.

At the lower edge the blouse is attached to a straight hip-band, which fastens at the side with loops and fancy buttons. These loops are illustrated in the diagram and are very easy to make. A simple method is to thread the needle with coarse silk and double it. If necessary, make the loop the thickness of four strands.

Diagramming Loops for Side Opening of Blouse

One may place a large pencil under the loop to be sure that the threads do not pull. Each loop is then worked over with the buttonhole stitch. Exquisite are the fabrics used for the season's blouses. In addition to crepe de chine, silk and cotton chiffons, printed voiles and prints in which color and design appear in captivating combination are used.

SALVATION ARMY LEADER CELEBRATES SEVENTIETH BIRTHDAY BY GETTING HUGE SUMS IN PLEDGES FOR CAUSE

LONDON, March 9.—White haired and sturdy, General Wm. Bramwell Booth spent one of the happiest days of his life celebrating his seventieth birthday yesterday. Telegrams from every country in the world including those from practically every governor in the United States, poured in on the "second general" of the Booth family during the morning.

The Salvation Army leader spent the entire morning at his home with his family, including a number of grandchildren. From there he went to the Salvation Army headquarters where he faced a battery of photographers and later received the congratulations of his officers.

Physically and mentally alert, General Booth did not tire during one of the busiest days in any public man's history. He seemed to enjoy the crowded plans for his birthday celebration and he arrived at Albert Hall for the most impressive demonstration of his program he expressed pleasure at the huge throng which greeted him. To the United News correspondent General Booth said:

"I am most thankful for the moving assurances I have received from every section of the world. I haven't finished reading the great number of congratulatory messages which have been coming in, but I have already read good wishes from Indian maharajahs, from the governor of practically every state in the American union, from President Hindenburg, of Germany and the King of Norway."

The Albert Hall meeting, which was one long ovation for General Booth he described as one of the greatest moments in his life.

"I received pledges at the meeting of $800,000 for work in non-Christian countries, including a generous portion from the United States," said General Booth.

"It has been a happy birthday and has made me happier than ever that I dedicated my life to God and the services of my fellow men."

Texas State Board of Health Weekly News Letter

Interest in State-Wide Clean-Up Campaign Grows

AUSTIN, Texas, March 9.—Interest in the annual state-wide clean-up campaign sponsored by the state board of health, which will be held the week March 28th to April 3rd, continues to grow. A large number of towns have signified their intention of conducting intensive campaigns for this week, while county-wide campaigns are being arranged in a number of counties.

Hill, Lubbock, Hale, Bailey, Terry, Crosby, Navarro and Van Zandt are among the counties in which plans for a county-wide contest are already under way. Mrs. J. C. Butts, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Hill County, and the originator of the "cleanest-town" contest, movement in her district, has written officials of the state health department that the 3rd annual "cleanest-town" contest sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs in Hill County is arousing unusual interest this year among competing towns.

County-wide campaigns will also be conducted in all counties maintaining a public health nursing service. Much of this work will be done in the rural districts, stressing "arm home sanitation, the prevention of typhoid fever, malaria, and the promotion of maternity and infancy welfare. Birth registration campaigns are also being arranged for a number of counties, which are expected to achieve splendid results in putting axes forward on the road to admittance into the registration area of the United States.

Rural Sanitation Day
The state board of health is making every effort to get the message of disease prevention to the rural districts of the state," stated Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, and for this reason, we have designated one day of "clean-up" week as rural sanitation day.

"Typhoid fever and dysentery are now primarily diseases of rural districts, this being due to the lack of sanitation. The installation of septic tanks, chemical or sanitary closets or farm houses would mean a very large decrease in the state of typhoid fever.

State Board of Health to Wage War on Summer Ills

Dr. H. O. Sappington, president of the state board of health and state health officer, makes the announcement that he is organizing his forces for a vigorous spring and summer campaign in Texas to preserve the health of the state against summer contagious. Work will not end with the close of the state-wide clean-up campaign now well under way, but at its close, continued warfare will be waged on the mosquito, the malarial districts to keep down that deadly to a minimum. Attention will also be constantly given to the protection of water supplies that water-borne diseases, such as typhoid fever and dysentery may be kept under control. As a further protection against these two diseases, efforts will be made to secure the adoption of a milk sanitation program by every city in the state. Sewage disposal will also come in for its share of attention, as it is a very necessary health measure that public water supplies be protected from contamination.

City Officials Talk to Sanitary Class at A. and M. College

"Protection of health should be the first consideration of any government," stated C. N. Avery, water and light commissioner of Austin, who spoke March 5th at A. and M. College to sanitary engineering and city management students.

Congratulating A. and M. College on taking the initiative step in providing courses for students on the training of city managers and sanitary engineers, Mr. Avery further stated, "As the protection of property interests is secondary to the protection of public health, it is very essential that a city engineer be well informed in matters of sanitation and conservation. In fact, 85 per cent of a city's problems are those relative to sanitation, the other 15 per cent being matters pertaining to finance, taxation, street maintenance, fire and police protection.

"Every city manager should be well versed in the methods for the production and distribution of safe water; safe milk; the construction and operation of sanitary sewer systems; garbage disposal; sanitary swimming pools; playground; and the mosquito control functions of a city health department."

UNIVERSITY WHITE WAY INTRODUCED

AUSTIN, Texas, March 9.—The University of Texas "White Way" installed at a cost of $14,000 was "opened" for the first time recently when the 100 additional lights around the campus and on the streets leading to the women's dormitories were turned on. The university campus is now one of the best lighted in the state, it is said.

Runaway Princess of Harvester House Pays for Love Again

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 9.—When Mathilda McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller ran off to Europe and married a Swiss riding master four years ago it looked very much like she might lose her share of the oil king's millions.

And now that the federal court here has taken a hand in the case it looks much more like Mathilda will be cut off from the Rockefeller estate.

Federal Judge Baltzell ruled Tuesday that Mathilda and her baby daughter, Anita Oser, can not share in the $8,000,000 trust fund set aside by John D. Rockefeller for his daughter, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, divorced wife of Harold F. McCormick, head of the International Harvester Co.

McCormick had gone into court to ask that a part of the fund for Mathilda and Anita but the court decided against him at the same time against the little Swiss miss and her mother.

VACCINATION LAXITY CAUSES INCREASE IN SMALLPOX IN U. S.

By SAMUEL WOODWARD, M. D.

Member Gorgas Memorial Institute (Written for the United Press)

CHICAGO, March 8.—Before Jenner, the Englishman, discovered the efficacy of vaccination, smallpox was a children's disease. The adult population was largely immune, the vast majority of people, showing by their scarred faces that they had already suffered from the scourge.

So universally present were there scars that the Frenchman, St. Simon, could think of no greater complimentary comment on the beauty of one of the ladies of the Court of Louis the Fourteenth, than to say that she showed no pock marks on her face.

One tenth of those who died, died of this disease.

A blind beggar is a familiar expression and blind beggars, who were so common in the middle ages and later, were largely the victims of the smallpox which had blinded them. Vaccination changed all this. No longer, where it is practiced do children die in hordes. Pockmarked faces are uncommon, as to cause comment when one is seen.

Yet today people are getting careless. They are enjoying false security.

ity, believing that there is no longer danger of smallpox. The result is a large increase in the number of cases of smallpox over previous years. The latest data from the Public Health service shows over 50,000 cases in 1924. In 1923 there were in round numbers only thirty thousand cases.

Were it possible to vaccinate successfully all peoples of all countries at one and the same time, smallpox would become a memory only. Were all children vaccinated during the first years of life, smallpox would not get much of a foothold; no foothold at all unless introduced from the outside.

Porto Rico, Guam and Hawaii are examples of the protection afforded by such action. Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and the cities of New York of 50,000 and over, show the good effect of the vaccination of school children.

This improvement has come because of the watchful care of health authorities in spite of the fact that except in a few states vaccination laws are poorly or not at all enforced. The United States with the most telephones, the most automobiles, the most railroads and supposedly the greatest civilization is surpassed in the incidence of its smallpox only by the most backward countries—India, Russia, China and perhaps Mexico, Persia, and Afghanistan.

Nothing but vaccination, so far as we at present know, will protect a person exposed to smallpox from the likelihood of acquiring it. Recently vaccinated, he can safely approach, touch and care for those afflicted.

So why not be vaccinated in childhood. Repeat the process in ones "teens" and then be content to try out ones immunity unless directed ex-posure has occurred or a severe epidemic is present. To die of smallpox is a crime against oneself and against the community at this stage of civilization's development.

KANSAS CITY COPS LOSE JOBS IN SHAKE-UP

By United Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 9.—The police department of Kansas City suffered the worst shake-up in its history Tuesday when the new board of police commissioners appointed by Samuel Baker, governor of Missouri, summarily dismissed 26 patrolmen, detectives and dry raiders as it first official act.

Charges of graft and inefficiency in enforcing prohibition which were made by the grand jury is believed to have caused the house cleaning. The police department virtually is shaking in its shoes as it awaits the second official act of the governor's police board.

Included in the list of those dropped was Lee R. Freymuth, former gambler whom the chief of police hired to assist the raiding squad because of "his knowledge of the underworld." Another whose star was taken from him was L. B. Watson, former chief of detectives, who was recently deposed when he failed to arrest bootleggers who received a consignment of liquor from Louisiana.

RECENT RAINS HELPFUL TO WHEAT CROPS NEAR
ABERNATHY

The wheat crop in the vicinity of Abernathy is in fine condition and farmers are looking for a bumper crop, according to Editor Riley of the Abernathy Review who was in Lubbock yesterday.

Recent rains following the snow
that tided the crop over during its stages of early growth have done
the crop a great deal of good and it is growing rapidly at this time, the editor said.

Mrs. Sarah Grady of London left $2,000,000 for the protection and care of dumb animals and for the discouragement of shooting them for sport.

NEW YORK FINANCE

BY E. WALTER MOCKLER
Financial Editor United News
NE WYORK, March 10.—Stocks traded again Wednesday, showing concrete evidence of more substantial bases than have any of the recent partial recoveries. In the first place the recovery extended practically through the entire list and secondly it was not based entirely upon short covering.

Considerable buying was discernible in the total turnover of some 1,877,000 shares for the day. Some fairly keen market students are returning to the long side as the more promising of the two for the time being and it is apparent that the bearish clouds which hung so heavily over the trading marts last week
have been largely dispelled.

It is apparent, however, that operations for the advance are going forward more cautiously than before. Traders who saw their highs in November and held through December and January found their profits very materially reduced as a result of their over confidence. It is safe to assume that quite a few market experts in the future will reflect the mistake boasted of by a late Wall Street leader who declared that he had made all of his money
by "buying too late and selling too soon."

Leaders of unquestioned standing
are in the van of the secondary advance. Texas Gulf Sulphur, steel, Mack Truck, General Motors, Du Pont, American Smelters, Allied
Chemical and other of this character
led industrials while Pere Marquette reflected its increased dividend with a further sharp advance. Atlantic Coastline, St. Louis Southwestern and others of this general class assumed the leadership of the carriers.

The action of the Pere Marquette directors in advancing the dividend rate from $4 a share per year to $6 per share has been generally anticipiated in the street. The declaration of an extra to make up for the two last years during which time
the rate was held down by reason of its consideration of the Van Sveringens was also expected.

There was a lingering belief, however, that the importance of the promoters of the major Nickel Plate
plan might be delayed until a new basis
for organization of the Nickel Plate grouping had been outlined. This action by the Pere Marquette board upsets the whole deal. Pere Marquette's standing has been moved up several steps.

Money continues easy but the approach to March 17 was heralded by an advance from 4 to 4-1/2 per cent
in the call rate Wednesday as soon as the stock market advance got well underway. It is not believed, however, that underlying condition
justify fears of a major advance in the rate and an abundance of funds are expected in the market after the usual stringency incident to the turn over period has passed.

The street expected a decrease in unfilled tonnage on the books of the United States Steel Corporation but it is doubtful if many expected a cut of the size reported. The decrease of some 266,000 tons as of February 27 was decidedly heavy.
However, this was partly due to the fact that shipments of the corporation have been heavy, running about 10,000 tons per day in excess of production.

This would indicate a heavy rate of specifications rather than a slump in demand. Orders booked characterize steel as of rather an elastic character. It is the custom of large users of steel to "order" a certain amount for delivery over the year.
As steel is required, they use specify against their order and take delivery. Heavy specifications rather than heavy book orders ormed an estimate for the estimate for general business.
