Many Motorists
Have Trouble
With License Tags

State Highway Patrolmen have had a busy week with motorists who failed to secure 1947 license plates. There were 37 such motorists stopped during the past week in the five county area covered by patrolmen McFarling and Howie.

The most common reason being given by delinquent drivers is "I was just so busy Monday that I couldn't get to the courthouse," reported McFarling.

The equally common answer to that one is "You had two months before Monday in which to buy license plates," he added.

Many people object quite loudly to the 20 per cent penalty which is added to all plates bought after the April 1 deadline.

In the course of stopping automobiles for driving with 1946 license plates, the patrolmen have found a number of persons who have out-of-date drivers licenses or no license at all. A wide variety of excuses is offered upon these occasions, the patrolmen say.

The missing drivers license is left in the other pair of trousers, has been misplaced around the house, was left in the other car, or baby carried it off to show his playmates.

At a meeting held Saturday afternoon in the county agent's office, the Ochiltree County Certified Wheat Growers Association was organized and elected Luther Wade chairman of the new organization.

Purpose of this initial meeting was to encourage the growing of certified seed wheat and improve the quality of the wheat grown in this vicinity. All of the farmers present at the organizational meeting are now growing certified seed wheat and would like to see the acreage increased.

There are 800 acres of wheat now being grown which can be certified and application will be made to have this wheat certified. The varieties represented by farmers at the meeting are Comanche, Wichita and Westar. Two other varieties, Pawnee and Tenmarq, can be certified, though these two certified varieties are not now being grown.

Wheat is certified by the State Department of Agriculture and this agency makes a fee of $10 for inspecting and certifying wheat plus a 20 cent per acre charge. Members of the association may have their wheat certified merely by applying for certification and paying the 20 cent per acre charge. Association dues take care of all other fees.

THE FINAL PROOF—That gigantic catfish that (left to right) Pat Arrington, Curtis Comer, and Johnnie Arrington are hefting weighed 75 pounds, was four feet long, measured two feet from whisker-tip to whisker-tip, and two and a half feet around the middle. Pat and Johnnie caught it by hand in shallow water after finding it at Cooper's Crossing on Elm Creek, about three miles south of Gainesville.

Latest entry in the "what-won't-they-think-of-next" sweepstakes is the handy gadget, illustrated here, euphemistically known as "Spar-Aire," a Chevrolet accessory. Designed to "steal" air from the spare tire to inflate a punctured or slowly leaking flat, this accessory eliminates tire-changing when within a reasonable distance of a service station. Since approximately 90 per cent of all flat tires have leaks so slow that an emergency inflation will suffice, the new inflator will eliminate most roadside tire changes. It will pipe half the air from the spare, and a few pounds from each of the other tires, if necessary. Women drivers, especially, will appreciate this new convenience.

Snuff Dipping Still Common In America

NEW YORK—When Mrs. Henrietta Garrett died recently in Philadelphia, she left a $3-million-dollar estate, all of it accumulated in the manufacture of snuff.

Snuff, evidently, is nothing to be sneezed at. It is, in fact, a multi-million dollar industry. About 40 million pounds a year is purchased, frequently in highly unusual containers, by some five million Americans.

Pipe, cigar and cigaret devotees often suffer from the delusion that snuff users whiff a bit of the powder and then flit around with a handkerchief until the episode is terminated by a gigantic sneeze.

That is an 18th Century European technique which Americans have never adopted. Our five million almost without exception either chew or "dip" snuff.

In a world eager for change, snuff seems to be an exception.

For years manufacturers have been packing large lots in containers made from cured throat membrane of cattle, called "weasands." The snuff trade buys them by the gross because there exists an ancient and widespread belief that such containers enhance the flavor and quality of snuff. The manufacturers don't comment on this. They also put out snuff in paper, tin and glass containers—but most haven't changed their labels since the 1870s.

There are almost as many types of snuff as there are of cigars. These have interesting and traditional names, including Scotch, Irish, Welsh, Swedish, French macouba, Copenhagen and Rappee.

Manufacturers talk and treat their formulae and products as wine producers treat their vintages—with secrecy and loving care. They fuss constantly over the flavoring and the aging.

The dark-fired tobacco ground for snuff is highly cured and repeatedly fermented until most of the nicotine has been worked out. Then it is flavored with such agents as salt, sugar, cinnamon, cloves, cassia, tonka beans, attar of roses, wintergreen and mint. Some super types have sold for as much as $25 an ounce, but they were specially prepared for an Indian maharajah who insisted it be packed in gold foil.

Snuff is a quiet sort of pastime now, compared with its 18th century heyday when just about everybody who was anybody in Europe sniffed it: kings, queens, warriors and courtiers, Napoleon and Marie Antoinette. Queen Charlotte, wife of George III, took it in such prodigious quantities she was nicknamed "Old Snuffly" by her disrespectful court.

Speeding up air mail deliveries by 100 per cent, the Firestone helicopter recently completed a week of trial runs for the Post Office Department in the New York City area. The helicopter shuttle service picked up mail at LaGuardia and Newark airports and delivered it to small communities within a 65-mile area, saving from 6 to 12 hours over time required for truck delivery of air mail to these same communities. The Firestone helicopter during the tests landed in the "back yards" of suburban post offices and successfully made the first U. S. Mail delivery by parachute ever to be attempted in this country.

Old Time Civil Service Applicants In Korea Had to Be Very Bright Men

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Applicants for government jobs who complain of Civil Service examinations in this country should consider the Korean exams.

Dr. Syngman Rhee, president of the provisional government of Korea, said on a visit to Washington he had to master the Chinese classics before he passed his exams as a young man.

Dr. Rhee, a life-long leader of the Korean independence movement is a dapper personality who dresses with Bond Street impeccability. Humorous, intellectual, the 72-year-old statesman has a habit of blowing on the tips of his fingers in times of emotional stress.

This probably goes back to an experience he had in 1897 when he was placed in prison because of his attempts to force reforms in the government. He led the youth of his country in a movement to keep the government free from Japanese and Russian influence and to secure democratic reforms from the Yi dynasty.

For the first six months of his seven years' incarceration, Dr. Rhee was tortured daily. He was beaten. Oiled papers were tied around his arm and then set afire. Three-cornered bamboo sticks were placed between his fingers and his hands then tightly bound.

Dr. Rhee had attended a mission school in Seoul, Korea's capital, where he learned English and was converted to Christianity. While in prison one of his fellow prisoners held a copy of the New Testament for him to read aloud to the others, bringing about their conversion also.

Behind bars he also wrote a book called "The Spirit of Independence," which he managed to have smuggled out of the prison and published.

In 1904, when the Russo-Japanese war was about to start and a general amnesty of political prisoners was effected, Dr. Rhee was released. Refusing, however, to acquiesce to Japanese domination, he came to this country and studied at George Washington university, Harvard and Princeton. President Wilson personally conferred his Ph.D. degree on him at Princeton. His doctor's dissertation was on "United States Foreign Policy in Asia."

Then Dr. Rhee returned to Korea as representative of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, but after 18 months he fled to Hawaii. He founded a school at Honolulu which he headed off-and-on until 1938.

In 1920 he went to Shanghai and set up a government in exile. In 1932 he went to Geneva to submit a claim for Korean independence before the League of Nations.

It was there that he met Miss Frances Doherty, an attractive Viennese lady whom he married. Poised, vivacious, intelligent, with flashing dark eyes and great style, Mrs. Rhee has joined her husband in advocating suffrage and equal social and economic rights for Korean women.

When the Japanese incorporated Korea into their empire they changed its name to "Chosen," which means in English "The Land of Morning Calm." A poetic name, but the Koreans like Korea best.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Kent of Amarillo came in Tuesday for a few days visit in the Vance Apple and Charley Kent homes.

Mr. and Mrs. "Chub" McGibbon of Big Springs, Texas, were Easter holiday guests of his brother, Glen McGibbon, Mrs. McGibbon, Marianna and Glenda.

Australia's Favorable Trade Balance

SYDNEY (AP)—Australian trade with the United States showed a large Australian export surplus for the seven months ended Jan. 31, according to Commonwealth Statistics Dr. Roland Wilson.

Low Net Cost on Farm and Ranch Loans

We are pleased to announce that in 1946 the average member-borrower enjoyed a net cost on a safe, long-term Federal Land Bank loan through the OCHILTREE National Farm Loan Association of only

This LOW NET COST of credit was realized by means of a ten per cent dividend which was paid by the Ochiltree NFLA in 1946 on STOCK held by the borrowers in connection with their loans to offset to regular 4 per cent interest paid on the total amount of the loans.

LOW NET COST is one of the many rights and special benefits passed back to borrowers because they are the owners.

For 30 years the Land Bank System has been helping land owners pay out to debt-free ownership.

Now is the time to tie down long-term credit with a Land Bank loan that couples safety with economy.

Where Life Stopped 30 Years Ago

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—Forest service surveyors Jim Browne and Bill Barnes have discovered a "lost" cabin and started a round of speculation about what happened to its one-time occupant.

Apparently used by a prospector, the cabin stood on a mountain shelf, concealed by thick timber. Dishes were stacked on a table, canned food was on shelves and a stack of mining tools lay outside the door.

But a mattress left hanging in a tree crotch had been covered by the tree's growth—an estimated 30-year process.

Forger Decides To Try Credit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Donald V. Fraser, president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, was looking over credit reports on thousands of applications which poured into his office for travel-credit cards.

Fire Laddies Rally Must Beware of Engines

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Mayor James Fallon has granted a permit for a week-long, old-fashioned fireman's muster to start June 30.

First of its kind to be held in Pittsfield in more than 30 years, the mayor termed it "of historical and educational value to the young generation."

He had only one proviso—all mechanical properties must be adequately covered with liability insurance.

'ed' Into Sheep Business; Slaton Now Has Wool Blankets to Spare

COLLEGE STATION, April 7.—Smith of Slaton was "forced" into the sheep business, made of it, and started some-business. She voted against selling the wool clip, and Smith hasn't sold a pound of wool since. They ship it to a wool manufacturer and have fancy blankets made, which are very handy things to have when winter comes to Slaton, Texas. Now the Smiths have blankets all over the place; so have all their married children; and Mrs. Smith has one of her bigger problems solved—Christmas presents for friends and relatives.

Jason Gordon, who told this story, didn't say whether he recommended a flock of sheep for home-grown blankets, but he did say that the Smiths get a lot of fun out of their sheep business. Keep the weeds down on the farm, too.

Mrs. Grace Patton and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Correll visited Saturday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brillhart drove to Denton for their daughter, Miss Nettie Mac, and Miss Margaret Hearn, who enjoyed the Easter holidays with home folks.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all the friends for voting for me and I want to thank those who voted against me. They did me a favor as I am glad that I am out of the Mayor's office for good. I hope everybody is satisfied as I am and that there are no hard feelings.

Five Ways to Take Letters off Cotton Bagging Material

COLLEGE STATION, April 9.—Scarcity and high prices of textiles have made the use of bagging material in many instances a wise economy for housewives, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, Extension home management specialist of Texas A. and M. College.

Rural homemakers have long used the sturdy cotton fabric of many flour and feed bags for making everything from tea towels to bedspreads, draperies, luncheon cloths and napkins. Mrs. Claytor says that often the big problem in using bagging is removing the black printed letters that label the bags, and that textile specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have outlined five methods which have been used successfully in taking print from sackcloth.

1. Scrub bags with hot water and laundry soap. This often removes nearly all the ink, and the rest usually disappears if the bags are boiled in soapy water for half an hour and rinsed. Then a chlorine bleach may be used to take out the last traces of black.

2. Wet a bar of laundry soap and rub on the dry bag until it is entirely covered with a thick layer of soap. Roll up the bag and let it stand several hours. Then wash and boil if necessary.

3. Soak the bag in kerosene overnight. Then wash—first in lukewarm water then in soapy water—and rinse thoroughly.

4. Cover the black print with lard or soft petroleum jelly, rubbing the grease into the fabric thoroughly. Leave overnight to loosen the black, then wash in soapy lukewarm water and rinse.

5. Boil bags in water with sodium hydrosulfite or some other dye remover, which may be purchased at drug stores. Always follow directions given on package, and rinse well afterward.

Mrs. Claytor suggests that the homemaker try the one method from these five that seems to suit her best.

WAKE UP, AMERICA!

Is Private Capitalism Practical?

As debated by

Harry Fleischman
National Secretary, Socialist Party—U.S.A.

Harry D. Farren
President, American Speakers and Writers Bureau, Inc.

MR. FLEISCHMAN OPENS: Private capitalism is based on concentrated private ownership of great publicly affected industries. Is it practical to suffer depressions and unemployment every few years? Is any system practical where, even when you have a job, you are worried about losing it? Is it practical to produce only goods making the greatest profit, instead of producing what people need? Is it practical to waste the natural resources of America belonging to future generations as well as to us? Is it practical to add greater costs to products we buy to support numberless middlemen and profits for absentee owners? Is it practical for a few people to become very rich, and the majority comparatively poor? When private capitalists run into trouble, they forget about "free enterprise" and run to the government for help. It was Hoover, not Roosevelt, who created the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for government loans to dying businesses. The workings of private capitalism lead to war and dictatorship. Capitalist rivalries, political and economic, struggling for markets, exploiting cheap labor and monopolizing raw materials, are major causes of modern war; together with narrow nationalism and militarism, manipulated by political and economic overlords unable to solve their problems at home. They "make jobs" by expanding armaments, try to forestall discontent by imposing false "unity," and seek a solution in adventures abroad, resulting in war. Private capitalism is not practical. It is the road to world suicide.

MR. FARREN CHALLENGES: Fifty million investors in our national plant cannot be honestly called "concentrated private ownership." What do the people need that they can't get? It's most practical to have rich men like Ford, McCormick, Edison, Bell, et al., because for every dollar they keep they make $10.00 for others. Besides the incentive to get rich creates such men. We need more millionaires! As for Mr. Hoover, it was not his fault that Britain went off the Gold Standard and that farm prices were allowed to collapse while industrial wages stayed up. It seems to me that the totalitarian states are the real threat to peace—and if capitalism of all things is the road to suicide, what do you call the English Experiment in Socialism?

MR. FLEISCHMAN REPLIES: 75,000 stockholders own fifty percent of all corporate stock in America. Proxy machinery, interlocking directorates, investment trusts expand that control. That is concentrated private ownership! What do we need that we can't get? Homes, for one thing. We need 4,000,000 veterans' homes immediately. Private capitalism refuses to build them. Hoover also followed the "crumb-dropping" theory of subsidies to big business so that wages could filter down to workers. The result—intense depression. Certainly totalitarianism is a threat to peace, but totalitarianism is the legitimate offspring of private capitalism. Socialism, with democratic control of industry for production of the people's needs instead of profits to a few, is the only practical alternative to both capitalism and totalitarianism.

MR. FARREN REPLIES: We have laws to crush monopolies. If we don't have high quality products at low prices today, it is because business hasn't recovered from the strangulation of cock-eyed government price-wage fixing and affiliated control. Let our economy be free! The customer, not some bureaucrat, will decide quality and price and business had better measure up to those demands or go out of business. Mr. Fleischman's war statistics are irrelevant, unless he was in favor of our not supporting our allies or not winning the war. We needed heavy industry not blacksmiths' shops to produce in tremendous quantity the armaments of war—and they were produced by the greatest, most efficient mass production plant in the world. That was practical.

WAKE UP, AMERICA!
Is Private Capitalism Practical?
As debated by
Harry Fleischman
National Secretary, Socialist Party—U.S.A.
Harry D. Farren
President, American Speakers and Writers Bureau, Inc.

MR. FLEISCHMAN OPENS: Private capitalism is based on concentrated private ownership of great publicly affected industries. Is it practical to suffer depressions and unemployment every few years? Is any system practical where, even when you have a job, you are worried about losing it? Is it practical to produce only goods making the greatest profit, instead of producing what people need? Is it practical to waste the natural resources of America belonging to future generations as well as to us? Is it practical to add greater costs to products we buy to support numberless middlemen and profits for absentee owners? Is it practical for a few people to become very rich, and the majority comparatively poor? When private capitalists run into trouble, they forget about "free enterprise" and run to the government for help. It was Hoover, not Roosevelt, who created the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for government loans to dying businesses. The workings of private capitalism lead to war and dictatorship. Capitalist rivalries, political and economic, struggling for markets, exploiting cheap labor and monopolizing raw materials, are major causes of modern war; together with narrow nationalism and militarism, manipulated by political and economic overlords unable to solve their problems at home. They "make jobs" by expanding armaments, try to forestall discontent by imposing false "unity," and seek a solution in adventures abroad, resulting in war. Private capitalism is not practical. It is the road to world suicide.

MR. FARREN CHALLENGES: Fifty million investors in our national plant cannot be honestly called "concentrated private ownership." What do the people need that they can't get? It's most practical to have rich men like Ford, McCormick, Edison, Bell, et al., because for every dollar they keep they make $10.00 for others. Besides the incentive to get rich creates such men. We need more millionaires! As for Mr. Hoover, it was not his fault that Britain went off the Gold Standard and that farm prices were allowed to collapse while industrial wages stayed up. It seems to me that the totalitarian states are the real threat to peace—and if capitalism of all things is the road to suicide, what do you call the English Experiment in Socialism?

MR. FLEISCHMAN REPLIES: 75,000 stockholders own fifty percent of all corporate stock in America. Proxy machinery, interlocking directorates, investment trusts expand that control. That is concentrated private ownership! What do we need that we can't get? Homes, for one thing. We need 4,000,000 veterans' homes immediately. Private capitalism refuses to build them. Hoover also followed the "crumb-dropping" theory of subsidies to big business so that wages could filter down to workers. The result—intense depression. Certainly totalitarianism is a threat to peace, but totalitarianism is the legitimate offspring of private capitalism. Socialism, with democratic control of industry for production of the people's needs instead of profits to a few, is the only practical alternative to both capitalism and totalitarianism.

MR. FARREN REPLIES: We have laws to crush monopolies. If we don't have high quality products at low prices today, it is because business hasn't recovered from the strangulation of cock-eyed government price-wage fixing and affiliated control. Let our economy be free! The customer, not some bureaucrat, will decide quality and price and business had better measure up to those demands or go out of business. Mr. Fleischman's war statistics are irrelevant, unless he was in favor of our not supporting our allies or not winning the war. We needed heavy industry not blacksmiths' shops to produce in tremendous quantity the armaments of war—and they were produced by the greatest, most efficient mass production plant in the world. That was practical.

Houses Cost More Because Labor Does Less Work for More Money, say Builders

CP Newsfeatures

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N. Y.—"Low productivity" of labor is having a serious effect on the cost of small homes, states C. J. Hartwig, secretary of the Long Island Home Builders Institute, Inc.

Using a bricklayer as an example Hartwig says:

"Before the war bricklayers used to lay 900 to 1,000 brick a day on small house construction. At a daily wage of $8 this meant a bricklayer labor cost of 8.10¢ of a cent per brick, or on a typical house using 9,000 bricks, a bricklayer labor cost of $72.

"Today, the average production is 400 to 500 bricks a day. At daily wages of $18.00, which includes six paid holidays a year, this is a cost of 3.6 cents a brick, or $324 for the typical house.

"It takes 54 more hours of bricklayer labor to lay the 9,000 bricks at compared with pre-war. At the current wage levels this adds $139 to the construction cost of the house solely through lower productivity and is the measure of the reduction in costs that might be effected if labor could be induced to step its production up to the pre-war rate.

The same condition, he says, is true in varying degrees in practically all trades in small house construction field.

"It concerns serious minded and earnest union labor leaders as much as it concerns builders," Hartwig continues.

Strong affirmative and aggressive leadership is needed both in labor and management to jointly tackle this problem in terms of ultimate

Look From Kiev Found by Americans

BERLIN (CP)—Fifteen thousand volumes of books and periodicals from the library of the Kiev Institute for research in physics and chemistry have been located by the monuments, fine arts and archives section of the U. S. Military Government, it was announced today.

The library was found at the "Festspielhaus" in Bayreuth, Bavaria, together with 1,000 pieces of laboratory material, and the entire collection is now being inventoried under the direction of U. S. Government Property Control. The property will remain there until a restitution claim from the Soviet Union has been approved.

Some of the books and periodicals in the collection date back to 1830.

Make 'Em Cry!

BERLIN (CP)—An audience of 400 actors and backstage hands in a Frankfurt theater suddenly began to cry during a performance of August Strindberg's "Intoxication." The play had to be stopped. Neue Zeitungs said the theater had been painted with fire-resistant paint which had the same effect as tear gas.

construction costs and final sales prices so that an increasing number of families can, and will, buy homes.

Upper Egypt To Get Power From Big Dam

CP Newsfeatures
CAIRO—Upper Egypt is being electrified. In a few years tourists visiting the cataracts of the Nile will ride on electric railways; cities and towns will receive illumination by current from the waterfalls of Aswan reservoir, pumping plants and irrigation stations as far south as Khartoum will be operated by electricity, and in towns good drinking water will be pumped by electric current. These are some of the predictions of the engineers. Hundreds of thousands of tons of NILE CURBED—Aswan Dam, fertilizer will be produced annually by the atmospheric fixation of nitrogen.

Even Cairo and Lower Egypt will receive current from Aswan Dam. The Egyptian Council of Ministers has already approved a $43,260,000 credit for the electrification of the dam whose total cost is estimated at between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000. The plant is expected to

Southern States Helping Lorient

LORIENT, France (CP)—The Atlantic port, battered in the war, is getting post-war help from England and America.

A campaign to raise $350,000 in eight southern states—Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, North and South Carolina—and in Stamford, Conn., to establish a welfare center in Lorient was reported under way by the American Aid Committee. Medical apparatus for school children was to be installed.

Mrs. Kenneth Munger was in Amarillo this week-end visiting her daughter, Miss Joan Dillingham.

Miss Billy Jane McLaughlin spent the Easter holidays in Liberal, Kansas, with her sister, Mrs. Ann Stevens.

SENATOR'S THE NAME, SON—Nobody is certain of the reason, the fact is that actors playing senators have proved a long Broadway this season. Navy School in Iowa Teaches Navy Students How to Survive in Jungle Without Equipment

(AP) Newsfeatures

OTTUMWA, Ia.—The forested hills along the Des Moines river in lower Wapello county are serving as a laboratory "jungle" for cadets and midshipmen of the U. S. Navy's pre-flight school.

The Navy is requiring three-day "survival hikes" to provide training in the fine arts of living in the wilderness.

The requirement is an outgrowth of lessons learned in the war in the Pacific.

Pilots and crewmen occasionally were cast up on lonely isles after bailing out or after emergency landings. Often they lost most or all of their equipment.

Their problem was to live off the land and stay alive until they were found.

The preflight school course is designed to give the cadets rudimentary lessons in meeting such a challenge.

The course is directed by Lt. (jg) Billy Hubbard.

Among the things which a cadet must do are these:

1. Make a fishhook from a K-ration key.
2. Fashion a fadline from the inner bark of an elm tree.
3. Gather six types of edible wildlife and eat them.
4. Construct a shelter from a parachute.

Aside from the knowledge and skills which the cadet must acquire, the instruction is built in large part around the back pack which each aviator carries with his parachute.

The back pack, which is about the size of a long brief case, contains a machete, energy pills and candy; waterproofed compass and matchbox; fishing kit, rind bait and feather lures; a Very pistol, distillation kit to make six pints of potable water from sea water; first aid gear, water purifying tablets, mosquito head gear, poncho, signal mirror, whistle, pocket knife and half a dozen other items.

The course embraces problems faced when such equipment is lost. But in one respect the tedium of the survival hike is lightened. The

Navy provides the men with one good steak dinner during the three-day hike. That's strictly a bonus—it's not in the book.

The guide had to ask them to return the sugar.

New York's Noise Comes from Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan is the big noise in New York, says the New York City League for Less Noise. Among the other boroughs Brooklyn is runner-up, especially when the baseball Dodgers are in town.

The league cites police records to show that city police issued 203,660 formal warnings to noise makers and arrested or issued summonses in 45,345 cases during 1946. There were 8,650 warnings about noisy children, 60,000 warnings to game players. Two-thirds of the arrests were for being "loud and boisterous."

JACK HOLDEN, Owner — NORTH MAIN STREET

Announces Details of 20,000,000 Price Reductions

of the recently announced International Harvester policy of making price reductions for users of our products approximately 20,000 a year have now been worked out. We have reduced prices on 163 models. These 12 basic models of farm tractors, 123 models of farm machines, 16 basic models of industrial tractors and engines, and 12 models of motor trucks, as well as certain motor attachments. The new lower prices are effective as of March 10, 1947.

These reductions were made not because of decline in demand, but because we believe it is more important to this country than ever the prices of the goods people buy. Our prices have not been changed on all items, we have made reductions wherever possible, in the amounts possible. Prices of our most popular products have been substantially lowered.

Together, more than half of the company's sales will be benefited by the reductions, which range from 1% to 23.8% and from $2.50 to $100 per item, based on list prices, F.O.B. factory.

Since the people have demanded that the government withdraw from price control in time, the responsibility to keep prices in line is back where it should be—in the hands of business and industry. The business outlook is bright, and we have felt a duty to move toward the lower prices, and we have felt a duty to move promptly as possible.

Ability to maintain these lower prices depends on the supply and price of materials from others and on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels.

Prices listed here carry out our announced policy that "Any price is too high if it can be reduced."

BABSON DISCUSSES BIG CITIES

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

NEW YORK CITY, April 4.—Many letters have come to me saying: "Knowing you do not like investments in big cities such as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburgh, what would you suggest as insurance for those who do live in these or other big cities? My answer is very simple—namely, to invest some of your money in small cities and well-diversified industries. Very big cities have reached their maximum of influence; their real estate will gradually decline in value; their workers will be less efficient; their cost of living will abnormally advance and their danger from communistic uprising from within and attacks from without will continually increase.

Bullish on Small Cities

I believe it is safe to say that locally controlled businesses in rural self-supporting and self-contained areas will more and more flourish. What sort of businesses in these rural areas offer the best opportunities? Here are some suggestions:

(1) Locally controlled grain handlers to supply the staff of life; manufacturers of building materials, such as gypsum, lumber, cement, lead, copper;

(2) Bus, truck and airplane

MICROCLIMATOLOGY is a big word for small-size weather, says the Architectural Forum, calling attention to three ways a tree belt can protect a house. A 600-foot tree belt can reduce dust by 75 per cent, deflect noise and, even when bare, the trees will cut wind velocity. Since winter blasts come in opposite directions from summer breezes, a tree belt can be planted strategically.

transportation companies which will be called on to handle a much increased business.

(3) Local oil producers and distributors in contrast to the larger operators with refineries in big cities; also coal and wood yards.

(4) Local hotels and restaurants which will be called on to accommodate the continual influx from large industrial centers destined to suffer from unemployment.

(5) Local trading companies in a position to either sell for cash or barter the valuables most easily transported such as silver, gold ornaments, platinum or diamonds, for living necessities.

(6) Automobile and farm machinery repair shops which should run to capacity plus.

(7) Any well-located buildings of large capacity, which would be in demand for conversion for any of the above purposes.

Own Certain Real Estate

There should be added to this list existing homes and especially small farms over fifty miles from large cities. That is, cottages off the main line, which are not dependent upon the operation of a public utility. Merchants should carry a full line of wood, coal and oil stoves, kerosene lamps and candles as well as a big supply of canned goods. Don't always bank on others to supply garden produce, but each year plan enough of a garden to supply vegetables for sustenance and for canning in season. Remember that potatoes, beans and greens will furnish as good a diet as millions live on today.

It might be suggested that dollar bills, stored in a safe deposit vault would be a good hedge if another war or depression comes. That may not be true. Far better have some good jewels in your safe deposit box! What about local bank stocks? The business of small banks may become very profitable. But large holdings of depreciated securities might make their stocks of little value. However, banks with their chief assets distributed throughout the Central West and South should be safe.

Don't Be An Isolationist
We should continue to put forth our best efforts to make the United Nations a success and free the world both from another war and depression even while re-shaping our investment and living program along the above lines. Because we take out a fire insurance policy it does not mean that we expect our home to burn. Surely business should waste no time in decentralizing its operations; the military should be allowed its full budget estimates; and the Commerce Department should take precedence over the State Department.

Poland Has 40,000 War Prisoner Germans

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The Polish government feels that German prisoners of war should be required to help rebuild what they destroyed during the war in this country, but apparently there is no intention to import any sizeable quantity of Germans here to work. There are only 40,000 Germans war prisoners still in Poland. Five thousand are being used in the reconstruction of Warsaw. Five thousand are working on Polish farms, and 30,000 are employed in the mines. The Germans are housed in 10 separate camps.

Mrs. Thomas B. Zorns and Norma Jo Boyd of Brownfield, Texas, and Mrs. Sue Christopher and Donna Sue of Amarillo were guests from Thursday until Saturday in the home of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Laura Elmore.

Veterans' NEWS

A sharp upward trend in World War II veteran enrollment in Southwestern colleges and universities for the 1947-48 school year is predicted by both Veterans Administration and school officials.

Veterans studying in Texas, Louisiana, and Mississippi colleges now number approximately 58,000. Veterans enrolled in higher institutions of learning throughout the nation number about 1,100,000.

The peak of veteran enrollment in colleges and universities is expected during the next school year, according to VA surveys. After that, a gradual decline is predicted.

Laws under which veterans enroll for education specify that the program must be concluded nine years after the formal termination of World War II.

Nearly half the blinded veterans of World War II either are working or in training for employment, a Veterans Administration survey shows.

The survey, made by VA's Vocational Rehabilitation and Education staff, included 1,133 blinded veterans who had been discharged by the Army and Navy up to November 30, 1946.

Twenty-eight percent were working. Another 20 per cent were in vocational rehabilitation training.

Professional and scientific courses, particularly social work, teaching and law, accounted for the largest number of veterans who were going to school. Agriculture was second.

Nearly half the blinded veterans with full-time jobs were in industrial occupations, chiefly as machine operators and assemblers. Another large group was in business and sales work.

Self-employed blind veterans were found to be engaged in such occupations as general farming, chicken raising, citrus farming, fishing bait business operator, magazine agencies, gift shops, trucking business, mechanics, musicians, clerks and tourist cabin operators.

More than 49,000 veterans of World War II were among the 103,000 patients in Veterans Administration hospitals on February 1, VA reported this week. The remaining 54,000 were veterans of World War I and other wars.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Speer and daughter of Enid, Okla., were guests over the Easter holidays in the home of his mother, Mrs. Mamie Speer.

Mrs. E. B. Morgan visited in Wellington from Thursday through Sunday of last week with her father, T. B. Starkey and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Boxwell attended the wedding of his niece, Miss Barbara Boxwell, which took place in Amarillo on Monday, April 7.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Boxwell, Grainfield, Kan., were day guests in the home of niece, Mrs. S. P. Whitson, Monday, April 7.

Perryton, Texas, April 8.—The Junior Chamber of Commerce, operating with the Texas Transportation Association, announced the opening to "Courtesy and Safety" for Texas highways.

Counting toll of deaths, in property damage in traffic is a matter of grave concern, said John Mangrum, president of the Texas Junior Chamber.

J. B. Rasbury of Orange, chairman of the organization's Safety Committee, called on every local Junior Chamber to participate. He said:

on the part of individual motorists. Management of trucks and buses will be asked to pledge themselves for greater courtesy and safety on the highways, "in the hope that through our efforts the streets and highways of Texas will become a safer place for all Texans to enjoy."

Management agrees in signing the pledge to strive for "the development of a spirit or morale among our personnel that will entitle them to be recognized as 'gentlemen of the highway'."

Drivers promise to "extend our best efforts to drive safely and to render courteous consideration to all other users of the streets and highways at all times, and to do our best to avoid accidents by practicing defensive driving."

A feature of the campaign is the selection of a "driver of the month" for each city monthly during the campaign. At a dinner in his honor, this driver will receive a citation for outstanding achievement in the promotion of highway courtesy and safety.

Local "drivers of the month" will be nominated for the title of "Texas driver of the month" during the campaign, and winners of the state citation will also be given a dinner. Cash prizes of $100, $50 and $25 will go to the Junior Chambers of Commerce who get the most pledge signers in proportion to the number of trucks located in their respective counties.

Wife's Bowling Ball Teaches Follow Through

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stanley Cronin was late for the weekly bowling session with the boys. He dashed in, whipped his bowling ball out of its bag, made a good approach to the alley . . . and went skidding far down the slippery boards with his thumb stuck in the ball. "A mis-step?" asked one of his companions, helping him up. "No," Cronin said ruefully, squinting at the sphere, "my wife's ball."

'Hiya Toots' Is a Good Start

CHICAGO (AP)—If E. Willis Jones has his way, people writing to strangers simply will start off by saying Mr. Jones or Mrs. Smith, without any prefatory term of endearment. He has opened his campaign by organizing "The Society for Abolishing 'Dear' in Business Letters."

10 YEARS AGO

From the Herald files of April 8, 1937.

C. E. Forbes was re-elected mayor of Perryton, receiving 195 votes to 180 for W. C. Bryan, who was not a candidate, but who received nearly enough write-in votes to be elected.

J. C. Beever was re-elected city clerk over Mrs. O. H. Black by a vote of 232 to 151. Howard Holt and F. F. Dodson gained places on the city council without opposition.

Charles Boren, age 20, was acquitted in district court of a charge of murder. Boren was charged with knifing Earl Stevens, age 17, in an affray at Waka.

The grand jury submitted a report to district judge E. J. Pickens, recommending that county and city peace officers put forth more effort in securing evidence for prosecution of law violators, especially in liquor cases. The report also deplored the condition of the jail and called upon citizens for more cooperation with law officers.

Marshal Hinds purchased a credit association formerly owned by Vance Apple. The agency was located in the Ellis Theatre building and Miss Carmen Cofer was employed as stenographer.

Russ Hanna, who held open house at his new drug store, reported that 3,000 ice cream cones were sold at the special price of 2 cents each. One juvenile spendthrift bought 24 cones, Hanna stated.

Abie Green became seriously ill and was taken to the Veterans Hospital in Wichita, Kansas.

Checks totalling $290,468.23 had been received by Ochiltree county farmers for soil conservation practices.

Food prices in Perryton included the following items: Shortening 2 lbs. for 31½¢; bacon, 19½¢ per lb.; tall cans of salmon for 11¢; coffee 21¢ lb.; bananas, 6 lbs. for 29¢; marshmallows, 15¢ lb.

L. C. Boston returned from Stratford, where he disposed of his interests in a Piggly Wiggly store there. He returned to Perryton, where he planned to be associated with his brother, W. M. Boston, in the local Piggly Wiggly store.

Human Fly at 8 Picks Wrong Window

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Troy Garrison stared in amazement at an 8-year-old boy who walked through an open window into his second floor courthouse office.

"I just been walking around the courthouse," the lad explained. Garrison's investigation disclosed the boy's "walkway" was a six-inch ledge around the building just below the second-story windows. The lad spent half an hour in the juvenile jail "just to frighten him a little."

Christian Science

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 13.
 The Golden Text is: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? we shall not die. . . Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity" (Habakkuk 1:12,13).
 Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases" (Psalms 103:2,3).
 The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sin, sickness, and death must be deemed as devoid of reality as they are of good, God" (page 525).

Wheat, rice, oats and corn are the four leading cereal crops of the world.

O GOD of NATIONS

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church, the spiritual and the material religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Never in the history of civilization has there been such a united return to the church. The effort on the part of churchdom to lead their memberships back to regular and active participation in the church programs is also without parallel. Need for the blessings from the great God of Nations has never been so great. Pastors, Priests and Rabbis are pooling their efforts so that nations everywhere may be challenged to an understanding of the term Peace. Prayers from literally thousands of churches go up regularly in behalf of the great international Peace Tribunal in its effort to effect a lasting Peace.

Your church needs you as never before. Attend the church of your choice with your family regularly. Be an influence for good.

Needs More Colleges, T. U. Prof.

April 8—Until there is a college within 50 miles of a town, the need for junior college education will not be enough to get the state to build more colleges, T. U. Prof. Dr. C. C. Colvert, professor of junior college education at the University of Texas, said today.

A newly organized junior college association in Texas is not competing with the private junior colleges, the senior colleges already operating in the state, he emphasized, a junior college is interested in the people around it in college education in the second place it furthers the junior college to the senior colleges.

colleges of the future, he said, are (1) the need for an adequate guidance and counseling program; (2) more emphasis on health and physical education programs; (3) more adult education courses; (4) more adequate public relations.

Six new junior colleges opened in Texas this year, and two more will open next fall. The Frank Phillips Junior College at Borger has had a terminal education program this year, and will have a full program next year, and the Laredo Junior College at Laredo will open next September.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sheets and Verna Gale visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cudd and Genette Sue.

Americans All Over the United States Have Acute Case of 'Joinitis' and Form Odd Societies at the Drop of a Hat

By SAUL PETT
City Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, April 12—Some sociologists of the future may try to measure our civilization by the clubs we join. The odds are he'll go nuts.

The current Manhattan telephone directory, alone, lists 3,214 clubs and associations of all types, or approximately one for every 600 residents of one New York City borough. And that doesn't include the organizations too secret to be listed, too temporary or too small to have a phone.

The reasons Americans join clubs seem as endless as the list of clubs themselves.

Harold Labrow, a New York advertising man, makes it a hobby to collect information on joiners. His favorite is an extinct group, the Ferragut club. It's a good commentary on "joinitis."

Word went around town of this new, highly exclusive club. Applications were distributed. All candidates were black-balled.

Inferiority complexes were beginning to spring up in high places until the truth came out. The membership of the Ferragut club consisted of one man. He held club sessions all alone every afternoon near the Ferragut statue in Madison Square.

The business of each meeting was simply this: the membership sat on a bench, lighted a cigar and thought of all the people invited to join and then black-balled.

Labrow has been collecting information on clubs and societies for years. Here are a few, with odd titles or missions:

Skyscraper Club, for men 6 feet, two inches, or more, demanding longer beds in hotel rooms; Blizzard Men of 1883 who will never forget that storm; Tail Story Club; the Pundites, some New Jersey women who play golf in the snow; Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc.; Society for the Prevention of Disparaging Remarks About Brooklyn, recently replaced by the First Families of Brooklyn;

The Moles, subway contractors; Society for the Promotion of Good Will Toward Men; Seafood Eating, Whiskey Drinking and Fist Fighting Society of Greater New York (in the making); Committee to Abolish Inhumane Treatment to Horses in Motion Pictures; Society of Timid Souls, a fraternity of stage-frightened musicians and actors;

We Do Your Excavation Watching for You Society; Wine and Turkey Tasting Society; Collectors of Religion on Stamps Society; The Plug Shrinkers, for reducing radio commercials; Society for Protection of Animals in North America; Dotted Line Club; National Man's Club, whose slogan reads: "for prosperity and defense, abolish all female labor"; Horseless Carriage Club; Society for Prevention of Married Men Posed as Bachelors; Original Order of Zunks—they're stamp collectors; Seraphic Secretaries of America, secretaries to 83 top-flight people; Society for the Prevention of Calling Sleeping Car Porters George; The Thank God It's Friday Club, started at the University of Missouri; American Grandmas Association; Seven O'Clockers' Club, Philadelphia to New York commuters Electric Railroaders Association, just a bunch of guys who like to ride trolleys; Gag Writers Protective Association;

(Drawn by a member of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartette Singing in America, Inc.)

Colonial Brick Club, people looking for historic bricks; International Association of Peaceful Pipe Smokers; Association for Prevention of Taking Off Hats in Elevators; Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels; Fellows of the Bellows, well known men who once pumped the organ in their boyhood; Bald Head Club of America; Smell Society, to foster good odors and remove bad ones.

Labrow says a survey in little Montclair, N. J., once showed 350 clubs there. So they formed a 351st club to consolidate and merge some of the other 350.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

And That Ain't Hay
—Or Is It?

I guess all of us secretly hanker, from time to time, for the good old days and the good old-fashioned pleasures. Leastways, Buddy Richards done a thriving business reviving the old-time hayride.

With a team of horses, and a stout straw-bedded rack, Buddy can take as many as thirty adults—at fifty cents a head!

Two or three times a week they start from Town Hall, and go out along the river; stop for a friendly glass of beer at Shoreside Tavern; and come home by way of Pound Ridge... nine miles in all.

Not very exciting, you might say. But from where I sit it's not excitement that we need these days—but these simple country pleasures that are part and parcel of America—the old-fashioned hayride, with its song and jollity; the horseshoe games; the friendly glass of beer; and the good companionship that they engender.

The FACTS Are The Gleaner Harvester Corporation was authorized by the W. P. B. to manufacture in addition to the regular allotment set forth by W. P. B. Limitation Orders—

1,606 12-Foot Combines

1,606 in 1943-44 to 1945—to our knowledge the greatest Specialty Authorized production of War Essential combines.

57% Were Gleaners U. S. Department of Commerce figures reveal that Gleaners' production of 12-foot combines in 1945 represented 57% of all combines manufactured in the United States, over 10-foot in size.

All of this special allotment was distributed through established dealers. No special provision was necessary to get them in the hands of farmers and custom cutters, or to service them. Combines are so essential that throughout the war the manufacture of the Gleaner Baldwin has never ceased.

Why? In 1942 one State AAA Committee kept an accurate record of the performance of a group of custom cutters. This record was so impressive that it was reported to the War Food Administration, Washington, D. C. Recognizing the value of custom cutters, W. P. B. issued special service memorandum No. 22 to all State AAA Committees recommending that custom cutters be given preference when issuing purchase certificates. An analysis of the above report reveals that 80% of them made their record with Gleaner Baldwin Combines.

90% of these custom cutting champions operated Gleaners

For Twenty Years the Gleaner Baldwin has been accepted work as well as for individual work. It is simple, dependable, efficient and economical. It is the ONLY "Full Jeweled" combine. It is light in weight. Delays due to breakdowns are rare. Its resale value is higher. The ORIGINAL Auger Type Combine.

A Few Examples

Bode W. Hebrine, Hutchinson, Kansas, writes:—"We have used one of these 1944 12-foot combines and last season cut 3,400 acres. It worked good and shows capacity to handle grain fast with good results."

Marvin W. Schmidt, Buhler, Kansas, states:—"In the 1944 wheat season I cut 2,432 acres with one machine and have a good many hundred left to cut in row crop harvest."

There are thousands of other Gleaner owners producing equally outstanding records.

Any man's Darling—every man's Pride

Who says you're only young once?

Take a look at this trim, new Buick—or better, take its wheel—and see just how wrong that old saw is!

One look at these sleek lines, the long, taste-of-tomorrow fenders—and just watch yourself start getting young ideas.

Find an open road, gun this beauty just a bit—and see how the spirit of springtime wells up in your soul and sets the red blood coursing.

Good road or bad, on these soft all-coil springs you take everything with youthful zip and zest, quite freed from jar or jolt.

City street or country road, with all this poised and husky roadweight beneath you, you travel your level course, steady and non-swaying even on curves.

Pull up somewhere—and see how people turn to note the Very Important Person who's arriving.

Take it through the tangle of traffic and see how nimbly it maneuvers—check it at a boulevard stop and see how sure and positive its controls are.

In all truth, here's a car that's any man's darling, every man's pride. A car that not only meets your needs for transportation, but satisfies your every hankering for size and power, style and room, solid worth and top-dollar value.

Naturally, it's a much wanted car. America's most wanted automobile.

$10,000 of Income Insurance will provide a monthly check of $100, as long as you live. If you don't want the checks when you reach retirement age, an attractive cash settlement can be arranged. Should death interrupt your plans, protection for a beneficiary is provided. Rates depend upon your age. At age 30, for example, you can put this program in effect by setting aside $6 a week.

Just a Drop IN THE BUCKET

That's the way Jim always referred to the cost of his Southwestern Life Insurance. "From my pay check," says Jim, "I set aside ten per cent every month. It was just a drop in the bucket. I never missed it—less than a dollar a day—less than I'd spend on something I didn't need. But it created something real for me!"

Jim is retired now. He quit work at 65. And now he's "living the life of Riley," playing a bit of golf now and then, hunting, fishing—doing the things he always wanted to do, and never found enough time to do before. His Southwestern Life policy made that possible.

You can get the same kind of insurance through Southwestern Life, and you can start your program today. It will take care of your family, should you suddenly be taken out of life's picture—and it will take care of you when you are ready to quit work. You can retire at 55, 60, 65, or at any age of your choice. Now, while you are earning, is the time to start your program. You'll never miss the funds you set aside out of the surplus income for this protection. Some day, they'll seem like "a drop in the bucket." Without obligation, ask for a descriptive outline covering your needs.
