Crazed Man Runs Wild In The Tennessee Hills; Dragnet Flung Over Three States To Capture Desperado

(By The Associated Press)

WHILE the Chicago courts were sentencing forty criminals to prison Friday, five persons were wounded in a battle at Grand Haven, Mich., between four bandits and employes of a bank who were aided by citizens. One of the bandits, wounded by a clerk in a furniture store next door to the bank, was captured.

The robbers escaped with $2,000 in loot from the bank. Two of the wounded were employes of the bank. The other two persons were bystanders.

Abandon Automobile

Police said the bandits abandoned their automobile four miles south of town, with a large part of the stolen money in it, and held up a motorist, taking his car and forcing him to the pavement. State police and deputy sheriffs at once gave chase.

The shooting ensued when a bank employee pressed a burglar alarm as the bandits left the bank. The alarm sounded in a furniture store adjoining the bank and as the bandits reached the sidewalk, Edward Kinkema, an employe of the store, shot one of them. He gave his name as Harry Harris, of Chicago.

Bandits Open Fire

The bandits then opened fire in the crowd which had gathered, wounding Peter Van Lopik in the abdomen and Julius Pleines in the spine. John Lindemulder, assistant cashier, received a slight wound in the back and William Pellegron, a teller, was shot in the foot.

The bandits after seeing Harris fall, ran to a parked automobile occupied by Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. Louis Bonema and four children. They pushed the women and children from the car and sped away. On their way they dropped two bags containing securities and silver.

Texas Day At World's Fair Will Be Gala Event For All

Lone Star State Will Show World It Can Produce A Grand Music Festival

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The rest of the country may think of Texas music in terms of cowboy laments and range-born folk songs, but the Lone Star state intends to show the world it can produce grand opera on the grandest scale ever attempted.

As a climax to Texas Day at a Century of Progress, August 23, Verdi's masterpiece, "Aida," will be presented in Soldier Field stadium by the Texas Grand Opera association's cast of 1,200 persons to an expected audience of 75,000. It will be given in English.

Texan In Title Role

With the title role being sung by Della Samolioff, young Texas girl who has sung at the Royal Opera house in Rome, the cast will be definitely Texan in personnel, though a few "outsiders" will take some of the other principal roles.

That Texas does take its opera seriously is indicated by an anticipated influx of two score special trains, caravans of buses and autos, even airplanes, bringing thousands to Chicago for the state's "day" at the fair, headed by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and her former-governor husband.

Mighty Spectacle

An orchestra of 100 pieces, stage band of 30, a 150-member ballet, choruses numbering 500 voices, and 400 soldiers from the fair's encampment will provide magnitude for this latest effort to produce a super-Aida.

Camels, elephants and horses borrowed from concessions and foreign exhibits of the fair will supply background for the spectacular show.

The state association, organized as a non-profit group for the special purpose of presenting "Aida" at the fair, is an outgrowth of the Houston Civic Opera association, in whose productions many of this spec-

Climax Looms Today In NRA Code Hearings

Big Industries Are Expected To Have Completed Codes In Hands Of President Before He Leaves Today

Goal Draws Near

Johnson Says That Campaign Is Progressing Even Faster Than He Hoped; Auto Code Now Considered

By JAMES P. SELVAGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — The climax of the Roosevelt administration's supreme effort to draw the oil, steel and coal industries into the NRA fold has been tentatively set for tomorrow.

Before he leaves for Hyde Park tomorrow night, President Roosevelt expects to have before him completed codes for the oil and steel industries and an agreement among the bituminous coal operators to blanket themselves under one charter.

REACH AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (Saturday) (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA chief, early today announced that an agreement had been reached upon a code of fair competition for the rich steel industry.

Schedule Dominant

This schedule became dominant today in official circles after days of dramatic and whirlwind developments during which the chief executive and his recovery aide, Hugh S. Johnson, have matched wits and strategy with the spokesmen of the nation's most important financial interests.

Meanwhile, the automobile code, upon which hearings were begun today—with Henry Ford still unrepresented — is to be pushed through the recovery administration's machinery at the highest possible speed so that the four basic industries can take their place in the lineup of employers working under the Blue Eagle.

Moving Faster

Coupled with this dynamic effort to bring under codes the four great industries with their billions of dol-

Old "Pap" Enjoys Life Of Ease

(By The Associated Press)

PARCHMAN, Miss., Aug. 18. — Mississippi's oldest prisoner—who wouldn't think of leaving the prison farm here—has a valet.

A negro trusty has been assigned to A. J. "Pap" Tabor, 90-year old life-termer, and the trusty has no other duty than to look to the needs of "Pap."

Sentenced 18 years ago on a murder charge, "Pap" has declined full pardons from two governors. "What's the use to leave?" he asks. "My 'neighbors' are so nice to me here."

"Pap" says he is happy, but sorry he had to go to prison to enjoy life. His advice to young men is:

"Don't ever become a convict. You can live right and still be as happy as I am."

Raise Of Two Cents Caused By Road Bonds

Tax Rates For Five Districts In School Area Also Set By Commissioners At Meeting In City Friday

Valuations Drop

Budget For Next Year Calls For $218,284.50 Expenditure But $29,607.88 To Be Cut By State Aid

LUBBOCK county's 1933 tax rate was fixed at 58 cents on the $100 valuation by Commissioners court yesterday. The rate is two cents higher than that of last year, due, it was said, to increased expenditure for interest and principal of bonded indebtednedss. The action was unanimous.

The road bond levy was raised two cents, to five cents, Judge E. L. Pitts said after the commissioners meeting at the courthouse. Had not the state taken over a part of the bond payment the tax would have been 72 cents.

School Rates Fixed

The commissioners also fixed tax rates for five common school districts, approving rates reported by Miss Mae Murfee, school superintendent.

Total county valuations have been cut about $900,000, from $22,400,000 last year to $21,500,000. Next year's budget, also approved yesterday, calls for expenditure of $218,284.50, including road bond indebtedness. An additional $29,607.88 will be lopped from this total since the state is assuming that amount of the bond principal and interest payment for the county, Judge Pitts said. Actual expenditures budgeted then, will be $188,676.62, as compared with $211,890.77 proposed for 1933 and $298,068.38 actually spent in 1932.

Division Of Levies

Taxes levied for various funds: General fund, 22 1-2 cents on the $100 valuation; library, 2 1-2 cents; jury, 10 cents; courthouse and jail fund, 5 1-2 cents; park maintenance, 2 cents; new courthouse sinking fund 2 1-2 cents; permanent improvement sinking fund, 5 1-2 cents; county park sinking fund, 2 1-2 cents; road bonds, 5 cents.

School rates set were: Slide, 50 cents on the $100 valuation for maintenance, 50 cents for sinking fund; Center, 50 cents for maintenance and sinking fund; Union, 50 cents each for maintenance and sinking fund; Caldwell, 60 cents for maintenance and 40 cents for sinking fund; New Hope, 50 cents each for maintenance and sinking fund. Maximum school tax is $1.

Young Farmer Murders Trio And Suicides

Rural Community Terrorized; Women And Children Hide As Menfolk Stand Guard With Killer On Loose

(By The Associated Press)

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., Aug. 18.—A young farmer, believed to have gone suddenly insane, went on a rampage with a shotgun today, killed three men, wounded two others, terrorized the rural community of Link for almost an hour and then committed suicide rather than surrender to officers who had him surrounded in a church yard.

The killer was Clem Wright, 33, and his victims were his father, John Wright, 60, and two neighbors, Will Douglas, 45, and Littleton J. Smotherman, 40. Hes Wright, brother of Clem, and Herman Pope were wounded, but are expected to recover.

Starts Down Road

John Wright was shot to death as he emerged from his home onto the back porch to reply to his son's questions about some harness. Clem then started down the road and killed Douglas as the latter was leaving his daughter's home.

Four men passing in a wagon next drew fire from Wright's single-barrel gun. Smotherman was killed and Pope and Hes Wright wounded.

Returning to his father's house, where he also lived, Clem called for his sister, Mamie, but she remained inside and did not reply. A relative, who was with her, leveled his gun on Clem through a window, but the sister prevailed on him not to shoot.

News of the killings spread rapidly and women and children went into hiding while their menfolk stood guard.

Officers, summoned from Murfreesboro, 15 miles away, found Clem in the yard of the old Lebanon Methodist church. They called on him to surrender, but instead of complying he turned and ran behind the church and shot himself, dying immediately.

DALLAS, Aug. 18. (AP)—Absentee voting in the August 26 referendum in legalization of 3.2 per cent beer in Texas, repeal of the eighteenth amendment and submission of four Texas constitutional amendments was halted here temporarily today by a technical error in the printing of ballots.

Section 7 of house bill 807, under which the 21st amendment to the national constitution was submitted, directed that balloting on that question should be separate from any ballot to be used in the election. In Dallas county, the phrase calling for a separate ballot was overlooked until today and the 21st amendment proposition was printed on the same form with the four state constitutional amendments.

Missouri Voting On Repeal Today

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18 (AP)—Missouri voters tonight faced their first opportunity to register direct views on prohibition, with competent observers expressed belief tomorrow's balloting would make the "Show Me" state the twenty-second to embrace national repeal.

Little interest is manifest despite efforts of repealists to bring out the vote. Delegates to be selected by the voters will meet August 29, at Jefferson City, formally to ratify the expression of electorate.

Dry leaders who until the closing day of the campaign centered their efforts in a futile attempt to prevent the election, are divided in recommendations to their supporters.

Woman Gasps In Pain But Smiles As She Says Marital Vows On Deathbed

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Lying on a hospital bed, gasping with pain, Mrs. Alice Covelli was remarried today to the man over whom she shot herself.

Then she died.

She had been "insanely jealous" she said, over his attentions to another woman.

Danial Covelli, an attorney, rushed to the marriage license bureau.

"I want to remarry Alice," he told the chief clerk. "It may save her life.

"There has never been another woman in my life, but but she thinks there was."

Four nurses, three internes and a physician witnessed the exchange of vows.

The physician acted as best man. Rev. Father Kelly pronounced the bans. Mrs. Covelli managed a wan smile and murmured:

"I'm happy now. I want to live. I love you Dan, thanks, Dan."

Covelli tiptoed from the room. A few minutes later word was brought to him that his wife was dead.

Lubbock Business Man Returns From East With High Praise For The NRA

FULLY convinced the National Recovery administration program will work, because "it is the only way out", Spencer A. Wells, Lubbock merchant, returned this week from New York.

Mr. Wells was surprised that the program had not advanced more in this section, but anticipated in would achieve full speed in several weeks.

The NRA campaign is a reality in the east now," he declared. "We here have no conception of what they are doing there. It's going over, and in a big way."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce vice president spent three weeks in New York buying merchandise. He found cotton piece goods and silks could not be bought on Saturdays there, because jobbers, cooperating in the NRA, closed their businesses those days.

"Everyone was cheerful, sure that this would be the way out," he said. Everywhere he heard New Yorkers say:

"Will it work? Sure, it will

Timely hints for housewives, picked up here and there: Mint jelly to which pineapple and celery have been added makes an attractive and tasty summer salad.

To launder organdie, first squeeze it out several times in lukewarm water and mild soapsuds. Do not scrub, rub or wring it, lest the fine threads break and cause holes. No starch is required. After laundering, roll the damp garment in a bath towel and let it stand an hour. Then iron with low heat, laying a damp cloth over the unironed parts. Hang up at once after ironing.

The lunch for the motor tour can be prepared the night before and stored in the refrigerator. Sandwiches made with egg relish, cheese, meat filling or ham—used sparingly—are good. Pickles, fruit juices, oranges and plums are good thirst quenchers supplementing the vacuum bottle. Cookies, candy bars and slices of loaf cake are sweets easy to serve. Waxed paper for wrapping, and plenty of paper napkins for serving should not be overlooked.

Use firm, fresh fruit for jelly making, and under ripe in preference to over ripe. The property in fruit which causes it to jelly is more abundant in under ripe than over ripe fruit.

Summer meals can be prepared with less discomfort from the heat if the cooking is done on certain days, preparing meats, vegetables and desserts for the "leisure" days of the week.

Meats can be re-heated or served cold, vegetables can be creamed, browned or made into salads. A variety of desserts can be made at one time to last for several days.

If you're using marshmallows and wish to cut them up into smaller parts, put some flower on your scissors or knife before cutting.

Lettuce should always be wrapped in a wet cloth to keep it crisp and kept on ice if it is to be at its best.

Mint can be dried and saved for mint sauce during the "off season" when mint is difficult to obtain.

Empty spools should never be thrown away in a house where there are small children. The creeping baby enjoys rolling them on the floor and chasing after them. Strung together on a stout string, he likes to handle them and bang them against hard surfaces. The four or five year old child will find them just the thing to use for smokestacks and chimneys.

Informal parties with refreshments prepared out of doors or in the garage or recreation room, are winning favor. Scrambled eggs, fried eggs and ham, hamburgers or baked beans, with coffee, a salad and dessert make a suitable menu. Sandwiches, buttered biscuits, muffins or rolls can also be served. If an outdoor fire or a fire place is available the guests can toast meat squares, filled buns or sandwiches.

If you allow your children to come in where there are adult callers, advise the child psychologists, don't make them the center of attraction. It is embarrassing for the children, they aver, and for the outside visitors. Have them speak nicely to the visitors but do not discuss them before visitors, they advise.

Cut bread very thin and place in the oven. It will become crisp and curly, making a nice change for the summer breakfast from toast or muffins.

Listening to a badly tuned piano may affect a child's ear for music, experts tell us.

During the summer children like to play barefoot in the yard, dressed in bathing suits and sun suits. A backyard shower under the garden spray before entering the house is an idea. The children are washed clean and enjoy the shower.

Spoken Dislike Brings A Suit

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18 (AP)—Jack Mulhall, actor, is being sued for $135,000 damages because he allegedly allowed his spoken dislikes for Russians to lead to fisticuffs.

Maurice Fine, Santa Monica style creator, his wife and two guests charged Mulhall and his friend, Charles Fredericks, invaded their apartment late at night without invitation.

Then, Fine said, Mulhall asked:

"Are you a Russian?"

Fine, attired in red pajamas, bristled. "No."

"I don't like Russians," commented Mulhall, ignoring Mr. Fines declaimer.

Thereupon a general fight developed.

Fine, his wife and the guests Dorothy Martin and Mildred Fields, have filed suit for damages, Mulhall, whose trial on battery charges is scheduled August 31, denied all allegations.

William Wirt, attorney general during the terms of Monroe and Adams, had the longest term of any other incumbent of that office. He served 12 years, from 1817 to 1829.

Not Worth $6000!

Support Is Asked For Repeal Move

DALLAS, Aug. 18. (AP) — Jed C. Adams, Democratic national committeeman for Texas, in a statement today asked Texas Democrats to support President Roosevelt's rehabilitation program by voting for repeal of the eighteenth amendment Aug. 26.

He said information he had received here had convinced him that Texas would vote for repeal "by a large majority."

Adams, member of the federal board of tax appeals, left for Washington today after a short visit here. Before departing, he cast an absentee ballot for both repeal and legalization of 3.2 beer. He said he voted for the $20,000,000 relief bond issue, stating that he believed Texans should support the issue as an integral part of the recovery program.

New Odorless Way Ends Body Odor Best

Research chemists have discovered that the cause of body odor is not fresh perspiration, but stale perspiration—calcium, salt and particles of fat—lodged deep in the pores.

Most ordinary toilet soaps curdle in hard water. This curdled soap works into the pores, dams up the stale perspiration. Body odor results.

That's why deep-pore cleansing is needed in this hard water. Kirk's Coco Castile, a 100% pure vegetable oil soap, mixes with the particles of perspiration curds, loosens them, then rinses out completely—the only real way to end body odor.

"Nothing Like It for Our Hard Water"
—says citizen of Sarasota, Florida, where water is hardest in the state.

Try Kirk's Coco Castile today. It's odorless. And half again larger than average toilet soaps—an exceptional bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's by name.

Machine Gun Kelly Believed To Have Made Fort Worth His Hideout

Father-In-Law Denies Charge

J. E. Brooks Declares Kelly Has Not Been In Texas City In Three Years; Daughter Has Made Visits

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP) — George R. Kelly, wanted in the kidnaping of Charles Urschel in Oklahoma City and for crimes in other states, has been making Fort Worth his hideout, police said today.

"But that's not so," was the reply of his father-in-law, J. E. Brooks, located in a house which detectives had guarded in hope they could arrest the gunman.

Daughter Visits

Brooks declared that Kelly has not been in Fort Worth in three years. He said he did not know his whereabouts. But he admitted that Kelly was married to his daughter and that she had been driving a 16-cylinder automobile to and from the house. He said she left about a week ago.

According to Brooks, he is the former husband of Mrs. R. G. (Boss) Shannon, who with her husband and three others, Mr. and Mrs. Shannon of Paradise, Wise county, and E. Harvey Bailey, are held in the Dallas county jail on federal charges of kidnaping Urschel.

Brooks said he and Mrs. Shannon were married for 22 years, that they spent 10 years of this time in Oklahoma and the remainder in "other states". He said their daughter, Mrs. Kelly, is 26 years old.

Don't Know Whereabouts

"Kelly hasn't been around Fort Worth in about three years," said Brooks, "I don't know where he must be. My daughter has been here off and on since July 1 when I moved from a boarding house to come out here to look after the place. The house has been rented up until that time."

Brooks was inclined to discredit reports that Kelly was living a life of crime and that he was a kidnaper. He said he intended to remain at the place indefinitely. There is a negro maid on duty at the brick home, which is elaborately furnished.

Sherman Man Is Being Held For The Theft Of $4,000

MOBERLY, Mo., Aug. 18. (AP) — Charles Conlin, Sherman, Texas, was in police custody here today in connection with the alleged theft of $84,000 from Mrs. Anna McDennis, Philadelphia.

Sheriff Andrew Knapp and H. L. Pate, state's attorney, both from Tuscola, Ill., came here to question Conlin. They said he would be returned to Illinois to face charges of theft.

Conlin, officers said, was an employe of a carnival owned by a sister of Mrs. McDennis. The money was taken from a hotel room in Arthur, Ill. The Illinois officers said they traced Conlin to Mattoon and Vandalia, Ill. Conlin was arrested at the circus grounds here last night.

Several Hundred Dollars Is Found In The Blood-Stained Shirt Of Gene Johnson After Shooting Affray

SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 18. (AP)—Several hundred dollars was found in the blood-stained shirt of Gene Johnson, reputed confederate of Wilbur Underhill gang of Kansas prison fugitives, who was wounded fatally near Springtown, Ark., by a posse of officers. Constable Ivan LaFollette of Siloam Springs said the money links Johnson with the robbery of the Peoples' State bank at Harris, Kan., Wednesday.

Johnson died in a Siloam Springs hospital late yesterday, victim of a deadly cross fire from submachine guns and rifles in the hands of Ottawa, Kan., Miami, Okla., and Arkansas officers who trapped him, his wife and a man alleged to be Leroy Wright, hunted bandit, at Johnson's farmhouse.

Officers here said there were numerous reports Wright was seen late yesterday at Watts, Okla., He escaped in the confusion of the gunfire at the secluded farmhouse, and his trail was lost after bloodhounds traced him into the wild country north of Siloam Springs.

LaFollette said several officers of the original posse of 20 were still searching the region north of here along the Oklahoma-Arkansas state line. The remainder of the posse is held in readiness to take the trail should Wright be reported.

Mrs. Johnson, wounded in the arm and leg, was held in jail at Bentonville today, where she was questioned by officers. She was not seriously wounded.

Coal Miners Demand Food

Crowd Of 400 Persons Stages March On Business Area Of City; Their Demands Met By Group Of Citizens

HARTSHORNE, Okla., Aug. 18 (AP)—Jobless coal miners and their families marched on the business district of Hartshorne last night, demanded food and got it.

"You are breaking your way into the penitentiary," Mayor Joe Brown told the crowd, which he estimated at 400 persons.

"That's right, and we'll be fed in the penitentiary," one of the leaders of the march shouted. "We want food, and if you don't give it to us we're going into the stores and get it."

Citizens hastily organized a committee, visited grocers for supplies and other business men for cash donations. About $100 was raised. This was turned over to the food stores, and the throng fed in the streets. Many women and children were in the crowd.

There are approximately 4,000 miners in this district, many of whom have not had steady employment for three years.

Yanks Even Series With Browns; Giants Gain In National Loop Race

Babe Ruth Is Hurt In Game By Hard Toss

Browns Drop 8-3 Decision To Yanks; Bambino May Be Out Of Lineup Several Days; Sens Defeat White Sox

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18.—The New York Yankees acted like the team which won the world championship last fall again today, fell on Wally Herbert and Hank McDonald in a vicious fourth inning attack and scored enough runs to beat the Browns 8-3 and get an even break for the series. The victory still left them 7 1-2 games behind the Washington Senators, who continued winning at Chicago.

The Yanks had a bad scare in the midst of their big rally when Babe Ruth, at the plate for the second time in the stanza, was struck over the right ankle by one of McDonald's pitches and was bruised badly enough to make him leave the game. The Babe dropped to the ground when hit and for a moment the Yanks and the fans feared a broken leg. Examination revealed, however, the injury was nothing more than a painful bruise and Ruth is expected to return to action within a few days.

Ellsworth Vines' Tennis Throne Gets Bad Shake As He Loses To F. Shields

Not Too Late To Enter Net Tourney Here

It isn't too late to enter the Northwest Texas Tennis tournament starting here Monday morning. Entries should be rushed today to Tournament Manager Renford Taylor, 2422 9th street, or to the Avalanche-Journal so that tournament officials may get a "line" on the number to participate in the three-day joust.

Drawings will be made and pairings will be announced Monday morning at 9 o'clock when all entries meet at the Texas Tech gymnasium. Play will begin immediately at the Tech courts, which have been groomed especially for the tournament.

A number of out of town stars are expected to compete with local netters in the tournament, which is designed to restore an outstanding joust to this territory.

Shields And Allison Clash In Final Match Today

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18. (AP) — The tennis throne of Ellsworth Vines rocked violently under the terrific strokes of Frank X. Shields today when that powerful New Yorker gained a surprising straight set victory over the national champion in the semi-final round of the Newport Casino tournament by a 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 margin.

Shields rudely checked Vines' attempt to rescale to tennis peaks and erase the memory of his Davis Cup collapse with a blistering service that kept the titlist struggling along defensive lines from start to finish. The upset placed Shields, who has made a spectacular record in the recent eastern grass fixture, in the final round with Wilmer Allison, Texan who shared the Davis Cup singles assignments with Vines.

Allison Overcomes Start

Allison, after a wobbly start, managed to overtake and then out-wear Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, for a 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 9-11, 6-2 victory which passed him into his third Casino finals in four years. He was Vines' runner-up here last year and in 1930 he finished second to Bill Tilden when the latter christened the current one of the series of Casino bowls.

Vines was far from being at his best in the action against Shields, but his Davis Cup teammates agreed he played much better than he did against Fred Perry and Bunny Austin in the interzone finals with England.

Withdrawn From Team Play

There was little doubles action during the tourney's second rainy day, but a hopeless jam was avoided when Shields and Allison withdrew from the team play to concentrate on tomorrow morning's singles final. The default of Shields and Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, enabled Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., and Berkeley Bell of New York, to go into the semi-finals against Vines and Keith Gledhill, the national champions, who have been Newport winners for the last two years. The teams played three sets and three games in the fourth one between showers and when the postponement was ordered, Mangin and Bell led 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 and one game to two on service.

Allison teamed with Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, defaulted a quarter finals match to Sutter and Eugene McAuliff of Yonkers, N. Y., who will clash with George Lott, Chicago, and Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles, in the second last round tomorrow.

GOLF

By ART KRENZ

BRUTE STRENGHT HAS NO PLACE IN SMOOTH GOLF

Precision in golf is attained by the smoothness of the swing, and no amount of suddenly applied power can take the place of a rhythmic flow of strength from the top of the swing to the finish.

Brute strength is not essential in golf. Trying to make muscle replace skill is a big mistake golfers make. Skill is obtained only by consistent practice and development of the swing until it is as devoid of errors as possible.

Remember direction is more important than distance, and it cannot be obtained by brute strength.

Predicting the largest field in the history of the three-year-old tournament, W. G. McMillan, owner-manager of the Meadowbrook Golf club here, urges that all local entries who will report as early as possible tomorrow morning and start the qualifying round.

Both Lubbock clubs are due to be represented in the one-day joust by their crack golfers, out to keep the championship at home and wrest it away from flaming-topped Edgar Doherty, Lubbock High school and Country club ace.

No entry fee will be required, the usual 60 cent Sunday green fee being the only charge.

Players will tour the 18-hole layout Sunday morning for a qualifying score to determine into which flight they fall for 18 additional holes in the afternoon. The scores of both rounds will be combined to determine winners in each flight.

McMillan urges that players tee off in threesomes or foursomes in order to keep the field moving swiftly all day.

Huge Plan To Boost Hog Prices And Feed The Unemployed Is Outlined

Could The World Live Without U.S.? Nation's Exports In 1932 Said To Be Lowest Other Nations Could Cut

BY FRANK I. WELLER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP) — How well could the rest of the world get along without the United States?

The economist sees that question linked to the consideration of the commercial advantages accruing to foreign nations that buy American goods.

Leading American commodities the world would have difficulty in doing without and their 1932 volume and value are:

Product	Value
Meat Products, Animal Fats 804,013,000 lbs	$ 54,732,000
Canned Fruits and Vegetables 260,150,000 lbs.	19,887,000
Apples 5,640,000 bbls.	22,417,000
Raw Tobacco 411,159,000 lbs.	65,902,000
Raw Cotton 4,803,000,000 lbs.	345,165,000
Sawed Timber Boards Planks etc. 1,132,000,000 b. ft.	26,195,000
Petroleum and Products 85,787,000 bbls.	170,639,000
Motion Picture Films 274,984,000 lin. ft.	6,317,000
Agricultural Machinery 18,964 implements	3,881,000
Motor Vehicles 71,401 in number	35,322,000

From the domestic standpoint, dwlingling exports since 1929 and the anxiety of the London economic conference over international trade barriers has raised the question of this country's future place in commerce. Charts by the department of agriculture show that in 1932 there were only 15 cargo ships en route to Europe for every 20 before the war and every 77 during the 1920 peak.

It was said at the department of commerce that last year's volume and items of export probably represent the lowest point to which foreign nations could cut their American purchases without making expensive substitutions or paying higher prices elsewhere.

Elimination of the gold clause in contracts and depreciation of the dollar to a purchasing power more in line with foreign exchange has made American products cheaper in terms of international currencies. Increased exports were aimed at in the devaluation.

Artificial manipulation of trade, economists hold, has walled up want in most importing countries and burdensome surpluses in exporting countries.

Germany, once a chief market for American lard, has a virtual embargo on the products because of an import tax approximating $10 per hundredweight.

The idea is to protect the German producer, but trade reports say the country is short of supplies, paying comparatively prohibitory prices or using substitutes.

When Liverpool was flooded with 60-cent wheat continental Europeans were paying around $1.50 a bushel for their native products and the United States went out of the export column.

The United States is the world's best source for cotton. At times the American product has been cheaper in Shanghai than Chinese cotton. Yet, any country placing some other cause above commercial expediency could get along without it. Linen could be substituted in the flax-growing European countries while Egypt, India and Brazil could increase cotton acreage if importers were willing to pay higher prices.

A corollary cited at the department of commerce would be bananas grown under glass in Maine to retail at $10 apiece.

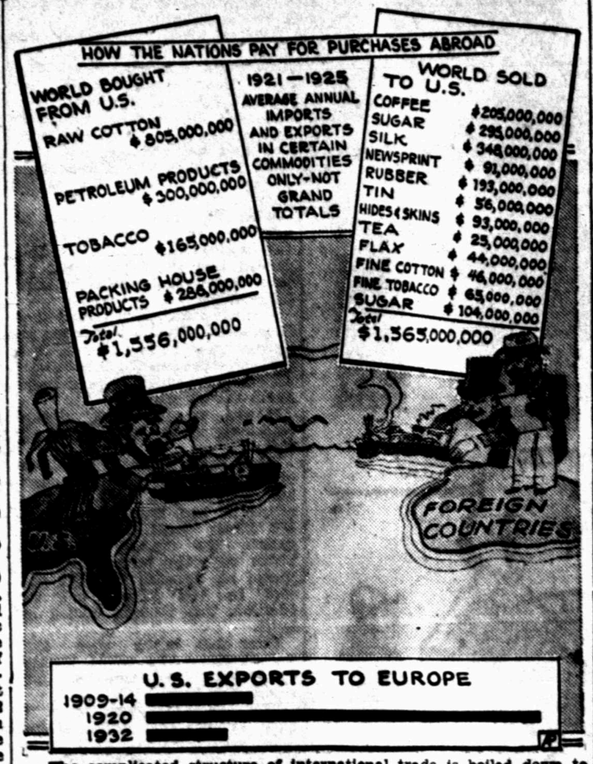

Forty countries purchased 4,803,000,000 pounds of American cotton for $345,165,000 last year, 15 of them taking more than $1,000,000 each and the 7 leading importers accounting in volume and value for:

Country	Quantity	Value
Japan	1,173,664,288 lbs	$85,545,115
Germany	920,268,704	67,373,267
United Kingdom	799,572,936	55,819,371
France	435,711,918	32,622,590
Italy	371,759,374	27,023,646
China	303,234,528	21,808,201

Aside from consumer burden when a country's imports are turned from a normal source of supply is the question of unbalanced international settlements. Imports and exports cannot be divorced in economic equilibrium.

Economists reiterate the view that one country cannot buy from another unless it sells it enough or has a sufficient investment in its securities to provide payment in terms of its currency.

Brazil, for intsance, depends on coffee exports for about 60 per cent of her national income and the United States takes about 60 per cent of the product. Assuming no other trade developments, an embargo on Brazilian coffee would deprive that country of the American dollar credits normally balanced against purchases of United States products.

The complicated structure of international trade is boiled down to a simple "swap" in the illustration above, which shows imports and exports virtually balancing. Such computations are pertinent to consideration of America's export business, and the comparison shown below.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Haymes and their children, David and Nancy Jo, have returned from Chicago and Springfield, Mo.

The Rev. Mr. Haymes, pastor of First Methodist church preached at three morning services at Austin Congregational church in Chicago. The Lubbock residents were accompanied by Mr. Haymes' mother, Mrs. C. R. Haymes of Stamford, to Springfield.

Mrs. Clarence McGhee, 2309 Eighth street, has returned from Sweetwater where she spent three weeks with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mack Brown, and Mr. Brown.

Falling 25 feet from a windmill tower, M. L. Dorsett, 22, who lives seven miles southeast of Lubbock, broke his feet. He landed upright. After his feet had been placed in casts, Dorsett was released from Lubbock sanitarium. The accident occurred at about 9 a. m. Friday.

Wallace Tells Of New Drive

Slaughter Of 5,000,000 Hogs To Boost Farmers' Income By $55,000,000 Is Planned By Government

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Slaughter 5,000,000 hogs, give the meat to the unemployed, and $55,000,000 to the farmers' income and increase the price of pork—that in brief was the corn-hog plan announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

He told several thousand farmers in the court of states at the Century of Progress the plan was a deliberate attempt to "change the economic facts" and give the corn and hog farmer his share of the national income. He said the new deal for the farmer would be put into effect immediately and completed by Oct. 1.

To Reduce Supply

The secretary said the government would buy heavily enough to reduce the fall supply of pork by 16 per cent and would pay more than the present market prices.

The hog farmers, he explained, would get more than the market price for hogs sold in the big butchering drive, and should get higher prices later for the rest of their pork because of the reduction in the supply.

He told them there was a new element in their troubles. The NRA program, he said, would raise prices and make it impossible for the farmer to buy, unless his condition was improved immediately.

Terms Of Plan

The terms of the plan, as he presented it, were:

The government would buy enough pigs; light hogs and sows due to farrow in the fall to remove from the markets between 600,000,000 and 700,000,000 pounds of live pork. This would be done "as rapidly and effectively as possible," and the farmers would be paid prices "which encourage cooperation."

Secretary Wallace put himself in the position of a middleman. He had already sold this huge order of meat, he said, to the federal relief officials. Another part might go to export. About 5,000,000 hogs would be bought in, one million sows due to farrow, four million pigs or light hogs. This sharp reduction the supply of pork should, he said, raise prices from 25 to 30 per cent. To pay for the hogs and the butchering a processing tax of "considerable less than a cent a pound" must be levied, to raise about $55,000,000.

Full Of Danger

The secretary said the scheme was not his, but came "from the grass roots." He was presenting the plan worked out by the beneficiaries themselves, behind which farmers, packers and commission men had agreed to stand. He also said the plan was full of danger.

He had no doubt the plan would work in 1933-34, he said, but unless coupled with a longtime plan of both corn and hog reduction, it might ruin the farmer's market in 1934-35.

Child Falls From A Truck And Lands In Arms Of Man

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 18 (AP)—Thrown from a truck in a collison with an automobile at a street intersection here today, Domingo Ovalle, 10, landed in the arms of an undertaker.

T. G. Smith, employed at an undertaking establishment, chanced to be standing at the intersection. Seeing the boy hurtling through the air, he put out his arms and caught him, breaking the fall.

The boy was unhurt, save for a cut on the cheek.

Rioting Hits Federal Pen

Leavenworth Times Says That Rioting On Two Nights Has Been Controlled; Cause For Disturbance Reported

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Aug. 18. (AP)—The Leavenworth Times says rioting which began in the federal penitentiary annex here Wednesday night and continued last night, has been controlled by prison authorities. The newspaper says the disturbance was among 600 prisoners in wing 6.

It was said that guards in the circular cell house were driven out by a shower of rocks which the convicts had concealed about their persons.

Reserves were summoned, the Times says, and the prisoners were finally induced to enter the cells at 9:30 o'clock.

The disturbance was repeated Thursday night. The newspaper says with the reserve guards working until 10:30 o'clock before the convicts were driven into their cells.

The newspaper says thirteen of the ringleaders have been placed in solitary cells and the disturbance appears to have been quelled.

It is rumored the tightening of discipline following the investigation of unauthorized privileges granted Terry Druggan was resented by the convicts who showed their displeasure by rioting.

Youth Is Freed After Shooting

CLEBURNE, Aug. 18. (AP) — Abe Richardson, 20, was released without bond today in connection with the shooting of his father, J. A. Richardson, 53, Burleson community farmer, at his home southeast of Burleson last night.

Richardson, in a Fort Worth hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen, was not expected to live.

The shooting occurred when Richardson pointed a shotgun at his children, according to evidence at Abe Richardson's examining trial in a justice of the peace court.

Mrs. Emma Richardson, wife of the wounded man, said her son, Abe, shot Richardson, that she was in the room and heard the shot but that she did not see the shooting.

Controversy Over Government Check

Controversy over a government check for $297 in payment for 27 acres of cotton plowed under was revealed in a suit for injunction filed in county court yesterday.

L. H. Denton was plaintiff and Clyde Grant, A. A. Hood, and P. H. Hood were defendants. Denton alleged he rented a farm from the Hoods and sub-rented it to Grant. The petition set out Denton had a verbal agreement with Grant that the tenant was to plant 50 acres to cotton, in which Grant was to have no interest, and an additional 100 acres to cotton and 25 acres to feed.

The plaintiff alleged he was to have one-fourth interest in the other crops.

Denton claimed Grant planted only 55 acres to cotton and plowed up 27 acres in connection with the government's cotton reduction drive. A temporary injunction restraining the defendants from cashing or disposing of the check was granted by Judge E. L. Pitts.

Swatting An Unfair Tax

JUST the other day Oklahoma citizens went to the polls and did what Texas citizens would do if given a chance to speak for themselves. They voted repeal of the 3-cent cigaret tax law slapped onto their flattened pocketbooks by "Alfalfa Bill" Murray and his cohorts.

Without giving anybody a chance to say "aye" or "nay", a Texas legislature, in the late, lamented Sterling administration put a 3-cent tax on cigarets in this state. Mr. Sterling signed it and, as a result, a very appreciable percentage of Texans have been subjected to a nuisance tax, while another very appreciable group has been buying its cigarets from mailorder houses, thus cheating Texas merchants out of needed business.

Had the legislature passing the cigaret tax made it a straight "tobacco tax" no one would have criticized the move greatly. But as the situation now stands, it takes a queer quirk of reasoning to uphold the theory that the cigaret smoker should be swatted any harder than his brother, the cigar smoker, or his grandpa, the "chawer."

One of these days there will be a New Deal in Texas and when it starts out with a clean broom a lot of reforms are going to be made—reforms that have been crying for attention many, many years.

And among the first things the New Deal will bring, if it's the kind of deal it should be, will be abolishment of the cigaret tax or decreasing it materially and letting the other types of tobacco products help bear the burden.

SHUTTING THE GATES

Uncle Sam's wide open gate, through which used to flow freely all the despondent populations of Europe! How proud we used to be of that wide open door, and of that big heart that could take in the poor and suffering of the world, and plant them amid prolific fields and gorgeous harvests, and give every son of despair a new home!

But when jobs became scarce in our land, and there were no fat farms to give away, the propriety of thus admitting the poor and oppressed of all nations was questioned. It was still more questioned when we learned that our beloved country was being looked at as a paradise for criminals. We had plenty enough graduates from our own prison cells, without taking in thousands more.

So we have had immigration restriction, until at last it is almost down to zero. Last year only about 35,000 entered, while 103,000 left us. The door is narrow and quite well guarded, as compared with that enormous gate through which nearly 7,000,000 entered during six of the years from 1905 to 1915.

But there are all the illegal entries, how many, no one knows. A steady procession of stealthy sneaks worming their way in through our ports or over the borders, dropped by airplanes, smuggled in ships, a most unworthy accession, law breakers from the first day. That problem remains unsolved.

But the idea has at last penetrated the European mind, that gold can no longer be picked up in American streets. Nor can an immigrant start in with a pair of overalls and 25 cents, and in a couple of years become a merchant prince. No, the place for those poor folks is at home, where they can speak the language of the land, and will not be forever baffled by strange customs and slick sharpers.

America's vulgar rich visit Europe to get culture; Europe's cultured visit America to get vulgar riches.

A wife is one who asks, after you have nodded to a passerby, "Do I know him?" knowing that she doesn't.

The trouble with this reforming business is that so many imperfect people wish to reform more decent ones.

A lot of the boys would like to help Secretary Ickes spend his $3,000,000,000. Helen Twelvetrees and Peggy Wood would be appropriate entertainers for the reforestation camps.

Whoever he was who figures out the tax exemption a married man needs to make him even with a bachelor, we'd hate to be his wife.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

By REV. MARSHALL RHEW
Of The First Methodist Church

THE LORD'S SONG IN A STRANGE LAND

How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land?—Psalms 137:4.

The Gospel of Jesus is out of harmony with this land of ours. Either the song is out of pitch or the land is strange. If we dare tune our song to the Sermon on the Mount then the contrast is even greater. We must either tone down our song or reclaim our land.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

SECRETARY of Interior Ickes and General Hugh Johnson, respectively bossing Public Works and National Recovery, are getting one swell break. Congress isn't in session.

If the forum were open on Capitol Hill their jobs would be a lot tougher—if that is possible. As it is Ickes and Johnson are enabled to pursue their weary ways without plowing through the welter of critical words that would be their lot if the Honorables were meeting.

One would almost think from the way they are pushing on that our two New Deal leaders are trying to get things all cleaned up and locked away before Congress reconvenes.

ROUGHHOUSE: Sooner or later both gentlemen undoubtedly will tangle with Capitol Hill.

You can't dispense $3,300,000,000 of public money and inspire boycotts where the Blue Eagle fails to fly without treading on a lot of toes.

Quite a few members of Congress probably will come back here next January foaming at the mouth and demanding the life blood of Ickes and Johnson. And Congress won't be anywhere near as docile when it returns as it was while jumping through the hoops President Roosevelt held from March to June.

The boys are now back home. Republicans have been getting a load of poison for distribution at the first sign the administration might be faltering. Democrats in some localities are being fed a good dose of insidious propaganda by interests that think they ain't been done right by.

It will be a sight to warm the cockles of the heart when Messrs. Ickes and Johnson collide with the wise guys of Congress.

Both of them are very sturdy gentlemen.

Ickes has been fighting for lost causes for years as a Progressive. Now at last he's on a bandwagon that seems to have balloon tires. It will take an awful lot of sharpshooting to knock him down.

And remember how former Vice President Dawes won his nickname of "Hell 'n' Maria?" His wartime buddy, General Johnson, is the same type.

CLEAVAGE: When Dr. H. C. Taylor sails for Rome next month to represent the United States at the International Institute of Agriculture he won't find any bon voyage messages from former President Hoover.

Taylor's appointment to this $5,000 job on the clearing house for world agricultural statistics has an interesting story back of it.

At the time Mr. Hoover was Secretary of Commerce, Dr. Taylor was chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Mr. Hoover wanted to transfer the Foreign Crop Reporting Board from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Commerce.

Taylor protested vigorously. He enlisted the then Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace in the fight.

This was the beginning of the cleavage between Mr. Hoover and the farm interests.

Mr. Hoover's inroads on the Agricultural Department were a source of major grievance for Henry C. Wallace.

When he died in office his friends said it had a bearing on his passing. His son, Henry A. Wallace, deserted the Republican Party at the time.

This son is now Secretary of Agriculture in President Roosevelt's Cabinet.

SMOOTH: Robert Fechner, General of the Forest Army, quit school in the fifth grade at the age of 15 to become an apprentice machinist.

He spent 10 or 15 years as a "boomer"—which means he hoboed from place to place working the trade. In that time he worked all over Central and South America as well as the States. Then he settled down to become Vice President of the International Machinists' Union.

But ask any of the stenographers who take his dictation. They say it's easier and smoother than any they've ever transcribed.

NOTES: A caller rushed into Secretary Ickes' office the other day and protested vigorously about the "employees" he had just noticed playing cards. . . . The caller had passed the press room. . . . A few minutes later Ickes had a press conference and the newspaper men asked for a larger press room "so two pitch games could go on without interfering with anyone's work". . . . They got a larger room. . . . If you listen to those on the inside they laugh at you for marveling at the ideas put forth by the Brain Trust. . . . They say it isn't the ideas accepted that should awe one but the ones that have been rejected.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

SMART people, these British. They were perfectly correct diplomatically in urging us to protect their nationals in Cuba. We have a Monroe Doctrine and a Platt Amendment. If we fail to intervene and any Britisher gets hurt they have a legitimate cause to squawk.

You may have heard that we are trying hard to build up trade relations with Latin America. We have a nice little commercial battle on with England in Argentina and at the moment we are gaining. Now will any bright little boy or girl tell the class what will happen to our Latin American trade if we intervene in Cuba? If you don't think England is well aware of the answer you don't know John Bull.

As one New Yorker puts it: "Britain will be happy to cooperate to help us lose our South American business.'

And it's done without mirrors, too.

STERLING: Financial circles hear that Britain is pushing plans for development of Empire paper currencies into a sterling union. This union would be open to other nations if they agreed to share its obligations and responsibilities. British financiers seek an ace in the hole in case international agreement on a reformed gold standard shouldn't come about as soon as desired. And they will be out front if managed currencies win the world.

GOLD: Some of the boys are whooping it up for a one-way gold market. This would mean that gold could be bought but not sold. It would be an enormous help to American gold miners and their stockholders—several influential Wall Streeters among them. Experts say it wouldn't help anyone else, but perhaps that isn't necessary.

The gold people are pretty restive about the government's delay in giving them relief. They thought something would happen before now to enable them to sell at world prices.

There is some talk of getting a mandamus against the government for exports from the mines unless a market is created here. The government wouldn't care for legal proceedings on the subject. So insiders say that some form of restricted market has a good chance.

ELINOR STAFFORD falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN. She is 20 and he is 35. LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's jealous scheming mother, breaks up the romance, by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his house for a year he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives, the rightful inheritors. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place, Barrett, still believing the lies Lida has told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. The doctor orders a change of climate for her father and Elinor goes to Aiken with him.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA RADNOR, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. He has promised Marcia never to reveal the boy's story. Lida Stafford learns about the boy's existence and concludes he is Barrett's son.

Barrett make an unannounced trip to Aiken. Elinor's father dies and she is close to collapse. Barrett tries to comfort her. Her mother arrives and tells Barrett she knows about his ward. Lida demands $30,000 to keep silent about the story. Barrett gives it to her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

On nights when Marcia could not sleep she was haunted by Arthur Palmer's eyes and what he had said. He didn't know what he was talking about, she assured herself. He couldn't understand how she felt about Dick, her husband. If Dick, who believed her to be innocent, should learn the truth about her marriage to Lon Moore it would be a fatal blow. It would kill Dick! He would never, never forgive the fact that she had lied to him.

It was on one of the hottest afternoons in June that Marcia called at her brother's home. Higgins opened the door for her. He said, "Mr. and Mrs. Colvin are expecting you, Miss Marcia."

"Thank you, Higgins," she answered, stepping into the hall. It was cool after the blistering blaze of the street.

She gave the butler a box of flowers she had brought from her garden and slipped from her silk coat which he took. She heard music as she moved toward the drawing room. Elinor and Barrett were there. For a moment Marcia studied them from the doorway.

Barrett stood with his arms on the piano, staring down at the girl. Marcia had never seen him before with that look of adoring tenderness. Elinors face was raised to his and she was smiling. They were obviously devoted to each other.

"Well!" said Marcia loudly, blithely.

The two at the piano started. Barrett turned and called out warmly, "Hello!" He was too happy, she saw, to hold resentment. Elinor rose. "I'm so glad to see you, Marcia!" she exclaimed.

"Darling child!" Marcia murmured, kissing Elinor. "My heavens, but you look lovely! Lovely!"

"I happen to think so too," Barrett said slowly. With a quick shy glance at him, Elinor flushed. Marcia felt herself hardening as she stared at Barrett. She had thought him to be devoted to her but she realized now he had given her only the surface of his love, crumbs from his table. It was not a pleasant thought for one of Marcia's temperament.

She settled herself in a chair. "Tell me, was Cuba amusing?" she asked.

"Rather," said Barrett, again looking at Elinor. "I've always been attracted by the place."

"Did you like it too, dear?" Marcia went on, turning to Elinor.

"Oh, I adored it!" the girl answered.

"You two talk just the way Dick and I did about Dick's place in Canada where we spent our honeymoon. But you aren't honeymooners and haven't that excuse," Marcia murmured. To herself she thought, "What in the world can make Elinor flush so?"

"We were really delighted with the trip," Barrett stated hurriedly. Higgins came in then with the flowers Marcia had brought. Elinor and Barrett both seemed eager to speak of the flowers, admiring them and praising them rather extravagantly. Barrett, drawing his chair closer to Elinor's reached for an end of the string sash she wore about her frock and ran it through his fingers.

He had to be near Elinor, Marcia saw. The thought aroused a flame of jealousy in her heart that was disconcerting.

Elinor asked about the baby and immediately Marcia was off. She related with elaborate detail just how the baby smiled, the way he looked while sleeping. She missed not a bead of the rosary every proud mother tells but she saw in her listeners no tendency to smile or hint at boredom as so many listeners do. Instead she felt she had their whole-hearted attention.

"You've been sweet about listening to all this," Marcia admitted when at last she had finished. "But it's so wonderful—having a baby for one's own! I can't help babbling. I hope some day you'll understand."

"I hope so," said Elinor and blushed.

Again Barrett was looking at Elinor with that humble, adoring look. He laid his hand upon Elinor's. He had to make a trip down town and Marcia volunteered to give him a lift. Before her, and much to her amusement, he said his goodby to Elinor, kissing her and adding, "Don't forget me!" He tried to make it seem a joke but quite obviously it was more than that.

"It looks as if life were happy for you, Barry," Marcia commented after they were on their way.

"Happy doesn't half express it," he responded.

"I'm so glad,' she commented. She assured herself that she really was glad. And yet Barrett's infatuation menaced her. When she had been a child Barrett had always been willing to do anything to stop her tears. Now that was changed! A fool could see that Elinor ruled him, or could rule him if she wanted to.

When Barrett returned home at a bit after six he found Lida Stafford sitting with Elinor. As Lida greeted him she gave him a sly glance and a smile which he knew Elinor noted.

A little time passed and then Lida rose. "Run in to see me tomorrow morning, will you, Barry?" she asked sweetly. "I have some business with which I want help." Again the sly glance.

It was a command, cloaked mockingly in the tone of an appeal.

Elinor and Barrett dined leisurely, played two games of chess, and then Barrett read aloud an article he had liked and that he felt Elinor would like. On the surface the evening seemed as placid as many others they had shared but beneath the calm surface he felt Elinor's unspoken question. The thought chilled his heart.

Later that night when they were upstairs she called through the open door between their rooms, "Oh, Barry—!"

"Yes, dear?" he answered. He knew at once that it was coming—the question he would rather not have her to ask and to which he must respond with a lie.

"May I come in, Barry?"

"Of course, dear."

He had taken off his coat and was fumbling with the studs in the front of his shirt as she entered. Elinor was swathed in a negligee of yellow chiffon. It was the color most becoming to her, setting high lights of gold dancing in her hair.

She sat down on a low stool and watched him, frowning at himself in the mirror.

"These things are obstinate," he murmured. Then, triumphantly, "There we are!"

He was hoping, that he could divert her. He did not want her to ask, "What makes mother look at you the way she does, Barry?" If she asked that or anything like that he would have to find some way of evading.

Her smile became a trifle stiff and he saw that her eyes were wistful, frightened. Always before when she had come into his room he had dropped everything to welcome her.

Elinor noted his preoccupation. She told herself that she should have realized his devotion, all those little attentions, could not last.

"Barry—," she began again.

"Yes, darling?"

"Barry, what makes mother—I don't know just how to express it—but why does she look at you so slyly sometimes? The way she did this afternoon? It's almost as though there was something you and she knew that was a secret."

"Lord, dear, you know your mother better than I do! How would I know why she does anything?"

"I don't know why I asked," Elinor said slowly, "but I thought you did know, Barry. Somehow I've felt that you did. I don't know how to express it but I thought I could see aversion — or shrinking — in your face. These last few weeks I've thought I could tell what you were thinking just by looking at you. You have such an honest face, Barrett."

He hoped he did not — at the moment. But it was true. And Elinor had seen that he was hiding something from her. She had seen that he was ashamed of the deception, too. He couldn't tell her that he and Lida had no secrets. And he couldn't tell her the truth because of his promise to Marcia.

There was nothing for Barrett Colvin to do but curse the luck that had led him into such a trap.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—A late selling wave of moderate proportions unsettled the stock market today, after a brisk initial jaunt, and the list closed down 1 to 2 or more points.

Bonds were fairly firm at the opening but early gains met with profit-taking before the close. Grains followed an uneven downward course, with wheat losing the full allowable daily limit of five cents. Cotton closed 30 to 65 cents a bale lower. The dollar after early weakness in the foreign exchange dealings, displayed resistance and commodities generally remained steady.

Trading in the share market, which was active at first, soon tapered off in the tedious manner which characterized most of the week's sessions. Volume amounted to 2,686,700 shares, and the Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for selected stocks declined 1.5 points.

Profit-taking obviously dominated the share commodity markets following yesterday's gay rally. Selling increased as the day wore on, even though trading proceeded at a less active pace. The real setback in stocks came with the reversal in wheat.

Cotton

NE WORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18 (AP)—Cotton was only moderately active today and prices fluctuated rather freely developing a slight downward trend. The dominating influence was the fluctuations in grain especially wheat although, stocks exerted some influence particularly in the late trading. After advancing 16 points in early trading owing to favorable cables, prices turned easier and declined 47 to 48 points, but 21 to 22 points of this drop was recovered near the end. The market closed steady at net declines for the day of 8 points.

The opening was rather higher as Liverpool cables were much better than due and sterling was firm. October traded up to 9.51 and December to 9.73 or 18 points above the previous close.

Later in the morning as the grain markets opened rather easier and there was a disposition towards further profit-taking prices eased off 25 points below the early highs and 7 points below the previous close.

After ruling steady in the early afternoon values weakened sharply later owing to a sharp break in wheat which induced liquidation. October dropped to 9.04 and December to 9.25 new lows for the day and 47 to 48 points under the early highs and 29 to 30 points below yesterday's close. In the late trading there was a good rally in sympathy with firmer stocks which caused shorts to cover freely prices recovering 21 to 22 points from the lows. October closed at 9.25 and December at 9.47 or 8 points net down for the day on both active months.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 9 to 11 penny points down.

Port receipts 35,857, for week 109,771, for season 213,743, last season 179,822. Exports 24,357, for week 152,340, for season 362,657, last season 257,719. Port stocks 2,903,261, last year 3,238,435. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 62,959, last year 40,200. Spot sales at southern markets 12,001, last year 11,197.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—An opening advance which carried the price of December cotton up to 9.77, or more than a cent above the low level of Wednesday, was followed by reactions in the market today under a renewal of liquidation and scattered selling promoted by the action of the grain and stock markets.

December sold off to 9.32 or 45 points from the early high level but recovered part of the loss closing at 9.51, with the general market ending steady at net declines of 6 to 13 points.

The opening was 12 to 19 points higher. Buyers showed little disposition to follow the advance further, however, and after the initial demand had been supplied, prices turned easier under realizing and some southern selling.

Offerings increased as the weakness in the wheat market developed and there seemed to be reselling by early or recent buyers who were said to have been disappointed by the failure of buyers to become more aggressive on the early advance. Active months sold 25 to 30 points net lower under the pressure. Offerings then subscribed and there were rallies of 18 to 20 points from the lowest in the late trading on covering.

Overnight reports from Washington to the effect that the administration was being urged to use inflationary powers to halt the decline in commodities, encouraged the early talk of inflation.

Liverpool cables reported a steady market on scattered buying which had absorbed continental liquidation. Exports today 14,587 making 351,753 so far this season. Port receipts 32,530. U. S. port stocks 2,891,540.

A small ravine in the northeastern corner of Yellowstone Park is known as "death Gulch." In the early days, numerous bears, elk and squirrels met their deaths there from natural poison gas.

Grass cattle were marketed more freely this week and the movement is expected to have more volume the forthcoming week. Country demand for stocker and feeder classes has been slow with some interest being taken by corn belt finisher for fleshy western steers but thin replacement stock were had to move.

Delivered Texas common points: oats No. 2 red 42-43; No. 3 red 41-42.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP)—In a headlong downward plunge, the wheat market late today hit the bottom price limit allowed for a single day's fluctuation, 5 cents a bushel. Numerous bidders quickly came into the market at the limit but had no time to effect intended purchases including any order of 5 million bushels.

Disclosure of temporary absence of aggressive buying support appeared responsible for the collapse. Considerable selling done on resting orders was looked upon as owing to readjustment of the market position of various speculators but was not of unusual volume. Profit-taking on the part of recent buyers of all grains was a contributing element of weakness with corn losing most of an early gain which for a while had lifted the corn market to but little short of the maximum permitted in one day and had helped other grains.

Wheat closed unsettled at the day's lowest level, 5 cents under the average of yesterday's finish, corn 3-8 off to 1-4 up, oats 1 1-16@3 cents down, and provisions varying from 32 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Three Times Six Equals Eternity For Three In Sing Sing Figuring

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 18. (AP)—Three times six equals eternity for three.

That's Sing Sing mathematics—a multiplication example for murderers.

With the precision of a slide rule, the machinery of doom took life last night from three men. The operation took 18 minutes, divided neatly into periods of six minutes each.

John Jordan, 33, was first. His lips formed the word "frameup" as they strapped him, at 10:04 p. m., (est) into the electric chair.

George Swan, 21, was next, six minutes later. He was convicted, with Jordan, of killing two men while holding up a restaurant in Astoria, Queens. There was a flower in his buttonhole, a cigar in his mouth and something that looked like a smile on his lips. At 10:16 the law had finished with him.

Last came Stephen Witherell, 30, a parricide. He slew his father, Charles, in Hopkinton, because his father wouldn't lend him money.

At 10:22 o'clock they took his body away.

The machinery of death moves swiftly and smoothly at Sing Sing. It is supervised by Warden Lewis E. Lawes, who doesn't believe in capital punishment.

She'll Be His Ninth Wife

Don Meaney, Los Angeles showman, has tried matrimony eight times, all unsuccessfully. But that isn't stopping him from trying again. Here's Meaney with Miss Dorothy Brown, musician, who will be the next and ninth Mrs. Meaney. All of Meaney's former wives were actresses. His marriages netted four divorces and four annulments.

Crime Drive

lous ex-convicts, Charles Connor and Basil Banghart, of Detroit—had been identified from photographs as the two men who escaped from a huge dragnet set by Chicago police Tuesday for the kidnapers of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, wanted in England for alleged swindling.

Heavy sentences was Friday's order in Chicago's war on crime. One youth who pleaded guilty to holding up a resturant was sentenced to serve one year to life. Four of those sentenced were women.

Crazed Farmer Kills Three

In the Tennessee mountains near Murfeesboro a crazed farmer killed three men with a shotgun and then shot himself. Clem Wright, 33, first shot his father to death as he sat on the porch of his home; then he slew two neighbors whom he met on the road. After wounding his brother and a companion, Wright was surrounded and committed suicide.

In other parts of the nation, the law pressed its efforts to bring to justice the lawless.

Here's what happened at a glance:

Dragnet Is Set

From Springtown, Ark., came word police had flung a dragnet over three states to trap Leroy Wright, alleged desperado pal of police-slain Gene Johnson, reputed confederate of the Underhill gang, wanted in connection with the Urschel kidnaping. Posses searched over Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas with bloodhounds and machine guns.

In Rockford, Ill., Mrs. Mary Hanson, stoutly maintained she was innocent of the torch murder of her husband, Earl. She was held on a warrant charging "murder by burning."

Washington, D. C., sent word that President Roosevelt, in a letter to Colonel James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag association, approved of "the crusade against crime" being conducted by the organization's national council of '76.

Services Are Held

In Malvern, Ark., quarduple funeral services were held for the victims of a poison plot to which officers said Mark H. Shank, Akron, O., attorney, has confessed.

In Nogales, Ariz., George J. Shaughnessy, 18-year-old Albany N. Y., confessed slayer of Lon Brankenship, Tucson automobile dealer, was sentenced to be hanged.

From Kansas City, Kan., came reports that W. L. Vanderventer, United States district attorney expressed belief that at least five gangsters participated in the slaughter of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, at the union station, but acceptances must await decisions of the performers many of whom are volunteers who have other occupations from which they cannot remain away for long.

NRA Hearings

lars investments, Johnson injected today an observation that the emergency re-employment campaign was moving faster than even he had expected.

Indicating to newspapermen that the goal sought by the president's blanket code campaign of putting millions of workers back on jobs by fall would be successful, the administrator concentrated his full attention upon the four major industries.

The code for the oil industry, providing for an administrative agency, is to be headed by the chief executive himself, with representatives from the interior department and the bureau of mines.

Confident Of Two

While officials were confident of getting the oil and steel codes through the controversial stage before Mrs. Roosevelt departs, there was a belief that the bituminous coal code could not be signed before next week.

However, Johnson reported to the president that the log-jam on coal, complicated by the 29 codes submitted from various segments of the industry, would be broken shortly.

It became known officially in the meantime that efforts of railway labor leaders to have the railroads brought under the recovery administration have been rejected by President Roosevelt.

Campaign Succeeding

He believes that the emergency railway act with its special coordinator makes it unnecessary to bring the carriers under Johnson, but an attempt is to be made at his direction to apply the principles of shorter working hours and higher wages to them.

Johnson expressed at the opening of the automobile hearing the belief that the re-employment campaign was succeeding.

Asserting that program was "drawing to a close" he said it was "moving far ahead of my expectations and resulting in covering this country, from one end to the other, with Blue Eagles."

He still declined to make any estimate of the number of employes or employers that had been reached with the Blue Eagle campaign but officials calculated informally that the number of workers would run far above 10,000,000.

Ford Still Absent

The absence of Ford from the automobile hearing was given point by the opening remarks of Johnson when he expressed regret that the "industry as here represented does not include 100 per cent of automobile manufacturers."

"I hope that that condition will not be long continued," the administrator added, "because certain it is that in the administration of this law and in the placing of the insignia of cooperation on the products and the merchandise of every manufacturer, no exception can be made in favor of a manufacturer, whether he is large or whether he is small."

Johnson added later to newspapermen that he had no intention unless compelled to of using the penalty provisions of the recovery act. He said he expected industry to regulate itself but warned that the "teeth" of the law which were intended for recalcitrant minorities would be invoked if the necessity arose.

Duties of the Kansas state oil inspector, fire marshal and hotel commissioner were consolidated into one department as an economy measure.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN No. 6
By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At Sidi-bel-Abbes, Tarzan soon became a great favorite with the French garrison. Among the officers he met was the very man he had been ordered to track. For a month nothing of moment happened. Then orders came to move into the desert far to the south. Promised some lion-hunting, Tarzan gladly joined the expedition.

Tarzan, as he mounted his horse, caught a brief glimpse of a strangely familiar figure eyeing him from a native house. Later he noticed the fellow in whispered conversation with the suspected lieutenant. Here was something that would bear watching. The march into the desert continued, and he saw neither of them for two days.

Market day at Sidi A'ssa brought camel caravans in from the desert. Fascinated at these new sights, Tarzan lingered a day's march behind the soldiers. Before leaving the bazaars he hired a youthful Arab as interpreter and servant. Toward nightfall, Abdul plucked at Tarzan's sleeve, whispering, "Look, Master."

"Behind us," Abdul pointed at a figure disappearing in the shadows. "He has been following us about all afternoon." Tarzan caught a glimpse of an Arab in a blue burnoose and white turban. "He is hiding his face. That is not the way with honest Arabs. He is bad!" said Abdul scornfully.

Ginning Rate Reported Set

Rate Of 35 Cents On Each 100 Pounds Set By West Texas Ginners At Meeting Held In Abilene Thursday

A ginning rate of 35 cents per 100 pounds was set by the West Texas Ginners association for the 1933 cotton crop, according to word from Abilene yesterday, where the meeting was held Thursday.

Wrapping charges were placed at $1.25.

The schedule was suggested by J. E. McDonald, state secretary of agriculture. Approval was made as a part of the plans for the Blue Eagle program.

Officers named were: W. J. Ely, Snyder, elected president; George Williamson, Anson, vice-president; William Dorn, Colorado, secretary-treasurer. Ely was named state director for the district and Roy Curtis, retiring secretary-treasurer, alternate director.

John W. Thompson, secretary of the Texas Ginners association was the principal speaker. He urged ginners to "operate under the blanket code outlined by General Hugh Johnson" in so far as they can "until the industry's code is okayed in Washington." The meeting adopted resolutions to this effect.

nI the West Texas territory there are 242 gins. The area includes from Pecos to Snyder, Seymour, Coleman and San Angelo.

AUSTIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—B. F. McDonald, deputy collector of internal revenue for the southern district of Texas, has been assigned the difficult task of handling the taxes imposed under the government's agricultural adjustment act.

McDonald has found the average small storekeeper perturbed over the job of making the reports required by the act.

Taxes are in three classifications, on floor stock, processing and compensating. The compensating tax is levied on imported articles.

The tax on basic agricultural commodities becomes effective when announced by the commissioner of internal revenue. The effective dates of the taxes on articles manufactured wholly or in chief from cotton and wheat have been announced as of July 9 and August 1, respectively.

McDonald said the reports should cause no difficulty as they can be understood by taking time to read instructions.

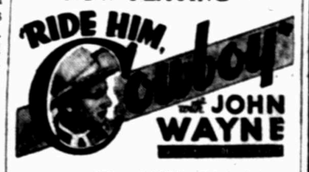

Persons holding commodities manufactured wholly or in cheif from cotton in a separate establishment or department for sale exclusively at retail have until Sept. 1 to dispose of the articles without payment of the floor tax. Holders of retail cotton stocks were required to make an inventory on Aug. 1 and to keep a record of articles received for placement in separate retail stocks between Aug. 1 and Aug. 31, inclusive. At the close of business Aug. 31 they are required to take another inventory and render the stock.

The Aug. 1 inventory must be filed with the revenue collector before Sept 1 and the Aug. 31 inventory and return before Sept. 30.

The first returns on processing and compensating taxes on cotton will cover the period Aug. 1 to Aug. 31, inclusive, and must be filed with the collector before Sept. 30.

All persons who as of Aug. 1 held articles processed wholly or in chief from cotton, other than persons en-
