Textbook Attacked

AUSTIN (AP) - A speaker for the Daughters of the American Revolution attacked a proposed biology textbook today because, she said, it was biased in favor of evolution and birth control.

Mrs. R.C. Bearden of San Angelo told a panel of the State Textbook Committee that "Introductory Biology," published by John Wiley and Sons, should not be permitted in high school classrooms.

She said the book treated evolution as a fact and not a theory in violation of the State Board of Education's proclamation for textbook submissions.

"Genesis cannot be reconciled with anv evolutionary theory of the origin of man," said Mrs. Bearden.

The publisher said he was willing to put a label inside the front cover saying that it was the intent of the authors to protray evolution as a theory and not proven fact, but Mr. Bearden said that was like "putting a bandaid on a cancer."

Kappler Home Free

LUENBURG, West Germany (AP) - Escaped Nazi war criminal Herbert Kappler is in the Luenburg area, where he probably will be allowed to live out his life a free man, District Attorney Gerhard Reifenberg said today.

Reifenberg confirmed that West Germany's constitution prohibits Kappler's extradition to Italy to complete serving a life sentence.

Canal Treaty Essential

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) - Ambassador Andrew Young after a 12-day tour of Caribbean nations says the standing of the United States in Latin American and the rest of the world depends on Senate retification of the new Panama Canal treaty.

"If it works, we're on our way. If it doesn't work, we're in trouble," the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations told a news conference Tuesday at the end of his 10-nation swing.

Asked what might happen if the Senate doesn't ratify the treaty, Young replied:

"It could be very serious. It just can't happen. It's too important to our standing in the rest of the world. It's not a great sacrifice. It's no loss to us at all. We've just got to have that agreement ratified."

The SDN Column

Overheard in a grocery store in front of a produce bin in which fresh California peaches were offered for 59 cents per pound:

"They're trying to sell these things in here and we've got so many peaches we can't give them away."

That was an apt follow-up to a comment reported from a neighboring town in which a resident observed that there was a time when people who came to town locked their car doors to keep anyone from taking things out of the vehicles, but now the cars were locked to keep anyone from slipping a bushel of peaches inside.

It has been a banner year for fruit and most vegetables in the Snyder area, but before complaints are lodged, we should remember that it has been some seven or eight years since there was anything approaching a "normal" fruit crop here. Now that the year of plenty has arrived, most folks seem to be trying to make the most of it.

Unofficial word is that the National Junior Rodeo Association would like to hold its National Finals Rodeo here again next year, which would make three years in a row. However, the final decision on the matter will not be reached until October.

The local committee may want to discuss it some. Putting on such an event runs into plenty of work, and it just about uses up a summer for those directly involved in the planning and carrying out assignments on the local front. On the other hand, now that two successful AJRA Finals have been held here, the experience should make it easier and put the local group in a position to serve even better in the future.

We are told that something probably will be worked out at a meeting set simultaneously with the annual O. S. Ranch Steer Roping and Art Exhibit, set for Oct. 1-2.

Mize To Head United Way Panel Again

Announcement that Roger B. Mize had accepted the chairmanship of the advance gifts division again highlighted a meeting of the Scurry County United Way Board of Directors this morning.

The board discussed plans for the fall campaign and for the United Way booth at the Scurry County Fair, which is set for Sept. 29 - Oct. 1.

George Stewart reported that letters for the branch house division went out last week. And a committee composed of Bob Clifton, Lyle Deffebach and Carol Davis was named to hominate a board member to fill the vacancy created when Bassett Keller moved from the county.

Next meeting of the United Way board is set for Sept. 28.

Inventories Up In July

WASHINGTON (AP)- Businesses increased their inventories by seven tenths of one per cent in July, a slight decline from the one per cent increase a month before, the Commerce Department said today.

The slower increase showed that inventories are just about keeping up with sales. Total business sales increased two tenths of one per cent in June after a one tenth increase in May.

The total business stock-to-sales ratio at the end of June was 1.47, after a 1.46 ratio in May and 1.50 for June, 1976.

If the ratio is kept low, it means businesses will not accumulate such a large backlog that they will have to lay off workers and cut production.

Sales actually decreased seven tenths of one per cent at the wholesale level and 1.3 per cent at retail. But sales among manufacturers went up 1.4 per cent.

Inventories rose $874 million at the manufacturing level, $190 million at wholesale and $1.2 billion at retail.

Total inventories, seasonally adjusted, were $214.2 billion in June, up from $213.8 billion in May.

Total business inventories increased $8 billion in the second quarter after an $8.2 billion rise in the frist quarter.

Young And Old Mourn Death Of Elvis Presley

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)- Fans of yesterday and today, old and young, teenyboppers and their middle-aged mothers, gathered today on Elvis Presley's doorstep, not to scream and cheer but to mourn. Their king is dead.

Elvis Aron Presley, the Mississippi truck driver whose hip-grinding performance style helped launch the sexual revolution as he became America's greatest king of rock 'n' roll, died Tuesday afternoon of a heart ailment. He was 42.

A crowd of more than 200 mourners had gathered by mid-morning outside the gates of Graceland mansion, where Presley's body was to be on public view from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. CDT today in a special solid seamless copper and steel casket.

Jim Stewart, night supervisor at the Memphis Funeral Home where the body was taken after Presley died, said the casket was similar to the one the singer chose for his mother when she died in 1958.

"We don't even keep this casket in stock. They are very expensive." Stewart said, adding it had been flown in from Oklahoma City late Tuesday night.

Outside the mansion, a special police security detail was assigned to direct traffic and keep watch over the crowd, which ranged from young children and teenagers to people in their 40s and 50s.

At one point during the night, the gates opened, several cars came out, and the crowd swarmed around taking pictures and trying to get autographs. One of the cars carried Vester Presley, an uncle who was chief of security, and his wife.

Vester Presley said Elvis' former wife, Priscilla, whom he divorced in 1973, arrived at the mansion at about 3 a.m.

Vester Presley said the decision to open the casket to public view was made by the singer's father, Vernon Presley.

Local Presley Fans In Shock

Shock waves from the unexpected death of Elvis Presley extended even to Snyder, as fans mourned the passing to the internationally-acclaimed "king of rock 'n roll."

There were reports of numerous Presley fans in the area who were especially saddened by his death Tuesday, but possibly none more than Kathy Norris, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Norris, 2208 43rd St. She is the possessor of one of the coveted Elvis scarves, a memento which she cherishes.

And Presley's death was quite a shock to Mr. and Mrs. Billy Tim Atwood, who had been in his mansion at Memphis,

Krueger Is Due Here Tomorrow

Snyder will get a taste of the 1978 political battles Thursday when Congressman Bob Krueger of New Braunfels comes to town.

The 21st District Congressman is scheduled to arrive here shortly before noon tomorrow and will be greeted by Roger B. Mize, his host for the visit to Snyder, and then go to the Scurry County Coliseum where he will speak to an all-service club luncheon session.

Krueger will field questions at the conclusion of the session in the coliseum and then plans to visit around the Snyder business district.

Krueger already has announced as a candidate for the U.S. Senate seat now held by John Tower. He is scheduled to speak Thursday night at a meeting of the South Plains Democratic Council and then attend a reception which will be open to the public.

enough big talk

President Carter has chided the American public for "not paying attention" to the energy crisis and not heeding his calls for voluntary conservation.

In a recent talk with visiting editors and broadcast news directors at the White House, Carter hinted he might call for stronger steps to save fuel.

"I am concerned that the public has not responded well," he said, "and I think voluntary compliance is probably not adequate at all."

Now the President's concern is justified. Last month oil imports ran 12 per cent over the July, 1976 rate. Energy consumption will set a new record this year. In short, we are a nation of gas guzzlers and will not ease up until a shortage hits or the Arab-led oil cartel skyrockets prices from today's $14 a barrel to, say, $25.

That said, Carter is wrong to put all blame for lack of conservation on us energy junkies. He himself has made only occasional statements on the subject and hasn't waged a sustained campaign.

More important, Carter himself has failed to take some fuel-conservation measures within his power. For example, the single most effective gas-saving step would be to enforce the national 55 mile-an-hour speed limit, and it's not being done.

One doesn't have to drive very far this summer to see hordes of trucks, buses and passenger cars roaring past lawabiding drivers at 60 to 70 miles per hour. Enforcement by states is lackadaisical and ineffective.

The federal government has many financial levers to induce states to enforce the speed limit and to punish those that refuse. All it needs is the will to act, which it seemingly lacks.

Another case in point: The Ford administration tried to get the Interstate Commerce Commission to change its notorious "backhaul" regulations. They require many thousands of trucks to return empty after making deliveries, an idiotic form of fuel squandering.

Carter now has his own man as chairman of the ICC. But if anything is being done to end the backhauling scandal, it is not apparent to the human eye.

One could go on and on, but that isn't necessary to make the point. Sure, a self-indulgent, gas-wasting public still drives one block to the drug store. But a big-talking administration, which apparently lacks the nerve to take on powerful lobbies like the truckers and the states, isn't doing its part either.

restaurant industry healthy

NEW YORK (AP)-Americans now spend more than one of every three food dollars away from home, a figure that is expected to rise to two of every five in the 1980s, says the National Restaurant Association.

Food service people accept such predictions as almost automatic, easily documented and richly deserved. There is a confidence about them that few industries have. Says Victor Rosellini of Seattle, the NRA president, the industry is in "specutacular health."

Even when cold weather and rising gasoline prices were pressing on restaurant sales last winter, few serious worries were expressed. Proprietors warmed themselves with the feeling they were riding a wave of social change.

Among the factors involved, they point to the greater presence of women in the labor force, more singles households, the standardization of menus by big-volume restaurant chains, more professional institutional care, rising incomes.

"I feel that underlying forces, demographic especially, are feeding the industry," says Louis Boochever, NRA's chief economist, whose personal elation sometimes is expressed in puns, albeit significant ones. "This is no flash in the pan," he says.

Before the year is out, continues Boochever, the industry is expected to achieve a sales level of $86.9 billion, a 10.6 per cent increase over last year. Two-thirds of the total will come from eating-drinking places.

Meals served in public schools, colleges, hospitals, factories, clubs, airlines, ships, military bases, prisons and in other retail stores make up the other third of the industry, which is now the nation's largest retail employer.

It is the restaurants, however, where innovation and entrepreneurial spirit are being expressed most observably, and it is in this area that a clash of mammoth social dimensions is taking place.

In the first five months of the year, says the NRA pointedly, "eating and drinking place sales totaled $22.942 billion, up more than 9 per cent from last year, while food stores showed a modest 6 per cent gain."

The battle of the restaurant versus the food store hasn't yet taken on the dimensions that some farsighted planners expect it to, because no matter what the restaurants claim, most people are convinced it costs less to eat at home.

But, as the restaurant people can demonstrate, those saved dollars come at the expense of a lot of work, on which more and more people are inclined to put a dollar sign.

There is, to illustrate, the time, money and effort involved in shopping, preparing, cooking, cleaning up. And there is waste. The purchase of doughnuts sometimes means a package of eight, some of which become stale garbage in a household of one.

Rising family income and the growing number of working women is adding impetus to this type of cost accounting. Tired from working, women are said to be less inclined to defrost the dinner when a telephone call or a short drive relieves them of the drudgery.

Note the word "drudgery," a word that has come into common usage in describing the tasks commonly performed in the home by women. Could it be in part a product of the creative imaginations of restaurateurs? Indeed, it could.

While some socialogists are disturbed by what they see as an attack on some solid family virtues, the eating-out outlets are in fact now planning on bringing the family together - over a table at their establishments.

The family style restaurant, that is, is one of the hottest new ideas in the business, aimed at keeping apace the family status of former teenagers, who originally provided many of the customers for fast-food outlets.

One company, for example, plans to develop 100 or more Country Kitchen family style restaurants in California during the next five years. The same style of restaurant is prominent in the plans of the Friendly Ice Cream chain.

These, and ethnic restaurants, are the latest developments in a remarkably adaptive industry seeking to stay atop the crest. The wave, they say, is a permanent one and they intend to ride it like a surfer.

belated justice

For fully half a century, the names Sacco and Vanzetti have been a rallying cry to dissenters and a reproach to the nation's conscience.

It will never be known - certainly it will never be proved to the satisfaction of all - whether or not Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were guilty of the crime for which they were executed in 1927, the murder of two men during a payroll robbery in South Braintree, Mass.

But it has become increasingly clear with the passage of years that these two Italian immigrants and self-proclaimed anarchists did not receive a fair trial. In that decade between the Great War and the Great Depression, ethnic, racial and political intolerance were at high pitch in America and fear of the "red menace" was very real.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has now formally admitted as much in a proclamation signed by Gov. Michael Dukakis, conceding the "very real possibility that a grievous miscarriage of justice occurred with their deaths" and declaring that "any stigma or disgrace should be forever removed" from their names.

While no proclamation can completely remove the stain from this page of American history, Massachusett's overdue action is a sign of this country's heightening sense of justice.

Congratulations are in order to the local AJRA National Finals Committee for an excellent job in producing one of the finest rodeos Snyder has ever had. I have heard many compliments from local residents on how smoothly and quickly each performance was handled. Even though I know very little about the actual work necessary to produce a rodeo, I know that there must be many long hours of preparation and even longer hours in seeing it through to completion. Having been somewhat close to the working end of the Finals last year I learned that some individuals work as long as 15 hours and longer each day for five days straight, without any monetary compensation and it is done from dedication and a desire for the rodeo to be successful.

The AJRA contestants and spectators must spend thousands of dollars during their rodeo week. This of course benefits the local merchants but it also benefits the entire community indirectly.

A large project such as this one could not be completed without the dedicated men and women who contribute their time and personal expense to this endeavor. Snyder is very fortunate to have a facility such as the coliseum to host their event in.

Speaking of National Finals, another Snyder group, the major league, MSA, has gained their right to participate in the playoff (national) in Richmond, Va., next week. This group of girls, coaches, parents and sponsors can be assured we are proud they are to represent the state of Texas and more important, the city of Snyder. A summer of hard work and dedication is evident. Congratulations and good luck to this group.

WASHINGTON (NEA)- For Ralf D. Hotchkiss, a 29-year-old engineer with a strong social conscience, it began with some informal window-shopping on a trip to London four years ago. He was interested in the price of an item most people ignore - a wheelchair.

"I noticed that wheelchairs were selling in Britian for about a third of the price charged for identical chairs in the United States," recalls Hotchkiss. "I inquired about buying one, but the salesman said the parent company didn't allow shipments to the western hemisphere."

Hotchkiss was more than casually interested in wheelchair prices for two reasons. First, he was disabled in a motorcycle accident 11 years ago and, as a result, is one of approximately 400,000 Americans for whom that medical device is a necessity of life.

In addition, he heads a Washington-based organization called the Center for Concerned Engineering, which began as a product safety organization founded by Ralph Nader but now concentrates on independent research of devices for the disabled.

For example, one chair manufactured by Everest & Jennings International (E&J), a Los Angeles firm which boasts that it is the largest producer of wheelchairs in the world, sold in this country for $496.

An identical chair was priced at $161 in Great Britian - and it was manufactured by Zimmer Orthopaedic Ltd., a British firm which E&J owned almost 55 per cent of the outstanding stock until at least 1975.

Hotchkiss' findings inspired Justice Department anti-trust officials to open an investigation, but it dragged on uneventfully for three years until Debby Kaplan became interested in the problem.

A young woman who works for the Disability Rights Center, another Washington-based public interest group, Ms. Kaplan was present at a mid-April luncheon sponsored by Public Citizen, a Nader organization. The speaker that day was Attorney General Griffin B. Bell. When Ms. Kaplan asked about the long-stalled probe, Bell wasn't familiar with it but promised to check.

Less than a month later, the Justice Department filed a civil suit in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, alleging that E&J entered into agreements with the largest wheelchair manufacturers in Britian (Zimmer) and West Germany (Ortopedia GmbH), which prevented them from exporting any wheelchairs to the United States.

B&J is well known if not particualrly beloved by those who are forced to depend on its wheelchairs as their only means of mobility but who criticize the company for producing an overpriced but inferior product.

About 75 per cent of the firm's total sales volume (almost $65.5 million last year) is attributable to wheelchairs. It manufactures 60 per cent of all wheelchairs sold in this country and 90 per cent of the "perscription" chairs sold to the severely disabled.

E&J insists that it produces a high quality product, that it has "done nothing contrary" to the antitrust laws and that the Justice Department suit "comes as a complete surprise."

But one survey reports that wheelchair users complain of chronic breakdowns, inferior equipment and inadequate repair service. Another study claims E&J spent $480,000 for advertising in 1975 but only $300,000 for research and development.

"E&J pays lip service to producing a chair with improved mobility and durability," says Hotchkiss. "But basically it's a monopolistic company which makes a great deal of money (more than $2 million in after-tax profits last year) off the handicapped without really responding to their needs."

Cabbage Rolls, New Stuffing

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Mention stuffed cabbage or cabbage rolls and most think of a ground meat filling. Next time your family yens for cabbage rolls try a new stuffing. Here is one that uses chicken or turkey, wheat germ and chopped mushrooms. This is an economical entree you'll want to add to your weekly menu. It has a rich tomato sauce that goes well on the platter with mashed potatoes or creamed corn.

You may want to double or triple the recipe for larger groups, especially for buffet serving.

CABBAGE stuffed with chicken, wheat germ and mushrooms is a tasty new twist.

WHEAT GERM STUFFED CABBAGE ROLLS

- 8 to 10 large cabbage leaves
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 6 tablespoons butter
- 2 cups chopped cooked chicken or turkey
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup vacuum packed regular wheat germ
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1 teaspoon rosemary
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 (3-ounce) can chopped mushrooms, undrained
- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- Mushroom Tomato Sauce

Gently pull off 8 to 10 outer cabbage leaves, loosening at stem end with knife to prevent tearing. Simmer uncovered in boiling water 3 minutes. Drain. Cut tough portion of stem from cabbage leaves. Saute onion in one-fourth cup butter until soft but not brown. Remove from heat. Add chicken, bread crumbs, wheat germ, parsley, seasonings, undrained mushrooms and all but one-third cup tomato sauce. Mix well. Place about one-third cup filling on each cabbage leaf. Fold in edges and roll up. Place in single layer, seam side down, in greased 13x9-inch pan. Add one-half cup boiling water and dot with remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Cover. Bake in 350 degree oven 1 hour. Serve with Mushroom Tomato Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

MUSHROOM TOMATO SAUCE: To reserved one-third cup tomato sauce add 1 (ten and one-half ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup and one-fourth cup milk. Heat slowly, stirring constantly until smooth and hot.

Some 200 years ago the Duke of Cumberland lost a good part of his ducal estates in a game of whist when he was dealt a hand similar to that held by West. The sad feature about the hand is that there is no way for West to take a trick.

In the Whist hand the Duke actually held four spades and led one. Without a spade lead we can't handle four trumps in the West hand so we only gave him three.

The play at seven spades doubled is short and simple. South ruffs the heart lead in dummy, ruffs a club, leads a trump, finesses, ruffs a club, leads a second trump, finesses again, ruffs one more club to set up the rest of the club suit, leads his last trump to pick up West's last trump and makes the last six tricks with little clubs.

It is a trifle hard to justify the bidding in contract, but if you are going to make up hands you are entitled to poetic license.

Incidentally, a writer named Sam Hellman used this hand in the Saturday Evening Post some 50 years ago as the basis for a very funny bridge story.

Ask the Jacobys

Several readers have confused this hand with the Mississippi heart hand. In that hand the victim holds:

♠ — ♥ A K Q J 10 9 ♦ A K Q J ♣ A K Q

and makes only his six top trumps in a heart contract. His one opponent holds all seven trumps and spades and scores the remaining seven tricks.

That hand was used in the old game of bridge in which all contracts were at the one level and hearts were the highest-ranking suit.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman who's afraid her husband won't be on hand when she has her baby, because she's due Jan. 1, and her husband already has tickets for the Rose Bowl game.

I was born on New Year's Day, and I'm sure I wasn't the only baby who had to compete with the Rose Bowl game.

My mother's doctor (an avid football fan) gave her strict instructions not to come to the hospital until after the game was over! My mother, an obedient registered nurse, was used to taking orders from a doctor, so she waited until the game was over and she barely made it to the hospital in time. Those on the scene tell me that I was very nearly delivered by a neighbor lady.

Sign me . . .

NEW YEAR'S BABY (1954)

DEAR BABY: Read on for another situation in which the doctor was a football freak:

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the expectant mother whose husband loved football reminded me of my own experience.

The day my baby was born I awakened my husband early in the morning to tell him I thought we should call my doctor. We dressed and waited for a grocery store to open because those were depression days and we had no phone. We phoned the doctor from the store, and he told us to get to the hospital fast. We had no car, so we called a cab, a terrific extravagance for a couple living on $16 a week. (Our college degrees cut no ice!)

When we got to the hospital, my doctor said I would probably not deliver before evening. Around noon my doctor invited my husband to go to the football game with him, so the two of them took off.

You guessed it! At 1:20 p.m. a staff doctor I had never seen before brought my nine-pound baby boy into the world!

My "baby" will be 44 in October. He has two fine children of his own, and times have changed because HE was present when they were born.

MRS. P.H.R., CINCINATTI

DEAR ABBY: I'll put my bowling nut up against that lady's football nut any day.

When I was expecting my fourth baby, I knew from experience that the baby was on its way—but in a hurry. So I threw a few things into my overnight bag and my husband drove me to the hospital.

The doctor on duty called my doctor and said it wouldn't be long.

My husband kissed me on the forehead and ran down the hall, saying he had to bowl in a tournament that night!

I didn't whine or cuss him out because I knew the team needed him. (He was top scorer.) They won the trophy, and I finally had a baby girl after three boys!

MAGGIE

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that lady who's expecting her baby on Jan. 1 that she doesn't have to worry about competing with the Rose Bowl game in 1978.

Jan. 1 will fall on Sunday next year, so the Rose Bowl game will be played on Monday, Jan. 2.

Brenda Vaccaro Denies Split

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) -- Actress Brenda Vaccaro has discounted rumors that she and husband William Soencer are splitting because he was jealous of love scenes required of her in her latest film.

"He didn't really get jealous. Well, I guess to a certain extent. He just didn't know the movie business," she said in an interview after three weeks of location filming of "Moonbeam Rider" with co-star David Carradine.

The movie is the story of a cross-country motorcycle race set in the 1920s.

"In the scenes, we are mostly fighting - throwing pillows, things like that," said Miss Vaccaro.

Tuesday's Embarrassment Cranks Ranger Motivation, Notes Hunter

MILWAUKEE (AP)- Much of the 11-3 mugging dealt the Milwaukee Brewers by Texas Tuesday night is detailed in the box score, but that doesn't reflect the degree of motivation which Ranger Manager Billy Huner believes was involved.

An Hunter didn't mean merely the motivation spawned by prospects of playoff money, even though his surging Rangers have climbed into a second place tie with the Chicago White Sox, half a game out of first in the American League West. Rather, Hunter said he thought his players were embarrassed after having blown a 5-0 lead and lost 6-5 to the forlorn Brewers Monday night.

"I didn't say anything to them after that game. I think that game itself did that. I think it told our players something in better words than I could ever think of," said Hunter, whose team is 32-15 since he took over as manager June 28.

The Rangers didn't take long to make amends. Mike Hargrove blasted Bump Wills, hit a sacrifice fly.

loser Moose Haas' 8-8 second pitch into the right field bleachers, his ninth homer of the year and fifth in the Rangers' last six games. It was the third time in Texas' last four games that he led off the Rangers' half of the first inning with a homer.

The Rangers scored again in the first as Bert Campaneris singled, stole second and raced home on the first of Claudell Washington's four hits. They added six more runs in the second as 12 of their first 15 batters in the game reached base and the 16th,

'TD' Returns To Full Drills

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)-The Dallas Cowboys expect No. 1 draft choice Tony Dorsett to return to full drills today as they continue preparation for Saturday's preseason game against Miami.

Dorsett, the Heisman Trophy-winning running back from Pittsburgh, sat out the Seattle game last Saturday with a knee injury.

Tuesday's practice at the Cowboys' training camp here focused on the work of Randy White at defensive tackle. White has been switched from strongside linebacker to tackle, and third-year man Thomas Henderson and second-year man Mike Hegman worked in the strongside slot Tuesday.

The only veteran definitely out for Saturday's game at Irving because of injury is tackle Jim Eidson, who is still recovering from a neck sprain. Right guard Barton Lawless, who did not play in the 23-17 loss to Seattle, may also miss the matchup against the Dolphins.

Lions Elated Over Hubbard

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions were roaring over the acquisition of running back Marv Hubbard. However Twilley was warning the Miami Dolphins not to give away his uniform, and the Chicago Bears were upset over the unexpected retirement of linebacker Ross Brupbacher.

Those were among the major developments Tuesday at the training camps of the 28 National Football League teams.

Detroit, acting like "Paper Lions" in recent years-they have made the playoffs only once in the past 19 seasons—were rejoicing over the signing of the rugged Hubbard to a multiyear contract.

Hubbard, obtained from Oakland after starring with the Raiders for seven years, set the Super Bowl champions' single-season rushing record of 1,100 yards, in 1972.

Twilley, a standout pass receiver with the Dolphins for 11 years, is on Miami's injured reserve list because of an injured knee.

At his home in Tulsa, Okla., where he is recuperating, Twilley said: "I only want to come back if I can play. I don't want to act like I'm giving up, but I'd rather stay in Tulsa if I can't help the team.

"I've had a good career, a long career. It would really bother me to do anything to tarnish that."

Then, he added, "just tell them the Dolphins not to give away my jersey number."

Brupbacher, a key player in Chicago's plans after leading NFL linebackers in interceptions with seven last year and starting 12 games after Doug Buffone was injured, stunned the Bears when he walked out of their camp.

A practicing lawyer in Louisiana, Brupbacher apparently has not fully recovered from a knee operation and was upset over being cast in a back-up role with Buffone's return.

"Ross felt the knee he had surgery on in the off-season was not as strong as he wanted it," said Bears' Coach Jack Pardee. "He was second-guessing his decision to return this year.

"He felt his play was embarrassing to him and he wasn't contributing. We hope he changes his mind and returns...He is a quality player."

Veteran wide receiver Billy Parks also walked out of the Bears' camp, apparently ending his hopes for a comeback. He had been out of football for one year.

In other NFL developments:

—Strong safety Ray Brown, the National Conference leader in interceptions in 1974, signed a series of one-year contracts with the Atlanta Falcons. The Falcons also placed free agent running back Sonny Orange from Southern Mississippi on waivers.

—Minnesota General Manager Mike Lynn said the way still was open for talks geared to bringing All-Pro guard Ed White back to the Vikings. White announced his retirement because of a contract dispute.

—And the Baltimore Colts placed vereran defensive back Delles Howell on waivers.

Dr. Richards 'Now Female' Court Rules

NEW YORK (AP)-Dr. Renee Richards has taken a giant stride toward her goal of competing for the women's singles title at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

State Supreme Court Justice Alfred M. Ascione issued a preliminary injunction Tuesday barring the U.S. Tennis Association, the U.S. Open Tennis Championship Committee and the Women's Tennis Association from excluding Dr. Richards, a 43-year-old transsexual, from the U.S. Open because of her inability to pass a sex-chromatin test.

In a 13-page decision, Ascione held that there was "overwhelming medical evidence" that the 6-foot-2, 147-pound ophthalmologist, formerly known as Richard Raskind, "is now female."

Phillies Take Bounce Top Skip Past Expos

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies are getting all the bounces these days—even the bad ones.

Supposedly constructed to provide true bounces, the carpet at Montreal's Olympic Stadium turned up a nice kink for the National League East leaders Tuesday night.

The ball off the bat of Dave Johnson hit a seam in left field, skipped by Montreal's Del Unser, scattered to the wall and turned into a two-run triple that helped the streaking Phillies beat the Expos 7-5.

Johnson's triple highlighted a five-run eighth inning sending the Phillies on their way to their 13th straight victory and providing them with a 4½-game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates dropped further behind the Phillies by dropping a 15-inning, 6-5 decision to the Chicago Cubs.

Cubs 6, Pirates 5

Chicago beat Pittsburgh as Bobby Murcer scored the winning run in the 15th inning on second baseman Rennie Stennett's throwing error.

The triumph broke a five-game Cub losing streak and ended Pittsburgh's seven-game winning streak. Willie Hernandez, 6-4, picked up the victory in relief while Larry Demery, 5-4, was the loser.

Red Sox 5, Royals 3

Boston rallied for its 16th victory in the last 17 games when Butch Hobson drilled a three-run homer and triggered a tie-breaking two-run seventh inning with a single to down Kansas City.

Hobson belted his 23rd homer into the left field screen in the fourth off Kansas City's Mark Littell, making his first start of the season. Then he started the Boston seventh with a single, took second on a sacrifice, moved to third on an infield single and scored on Rick Burleson's single. Fred Lynn's sacrifice fly scored an insurance run.

Orioles 6, Twins 5, 13 Innings

Doug DeCinces snapped a slump with a single to drive in Eddie Murray with the winning run as Baltimore clipped Kansas City in 13 innings. Murray led off the inning with a double off loser Tom Johnson, 12-5, as Dennis Martinez, 11-6, got the victory in relief.

The Orioles had tied the score 5-5 with a four-run rally in the seventh, capped by Lee May's two-run homer. It was May's 20th homer of the season and his third in four games.

Rod Carew, the AL's leading hitter, had four hits to raise his average to .383. Minnesota's Larry Hisle increased his league-leading RBI total to 93 with a sacrifice fly in the fourth.

At Odessa Plant

Illness Said Mass Anxiety

ODESSA (AP) - A Texas Instruments doctor says he believes it was mass anxiety and hyperventilation and not gas inhalation that caused about 160 employes of the firm's plant near here to become ill late Tuesday.

However, a doctor at an Odessa hospital where about 95 persons were taken for treatment said those who were not treated for hyperventilation were treated for inhalation of activated resin flux.

Dr. Milton Schulman of Texas Instruments, who flew to Odessa from TI's headquarters in Dallas, said all the employes were treated and released.

A Texas Instruments spokesman in Dallas said operations at the plant resumed normally early today after a team of specialists examined the plant and found no organic cause for the problem.

Spokesman Dick Perdue of Dallas said only one employe fainted at first and three others then followed shortly. The building was evacuated and other persons became ill outside the building.

A justice of the peace at the scene told a newsman he smelled a distinct odor of some sort in the parking lot, but TI official said it was probably automobile exhaust fumes.

A female employe of the plant told a newsman she became ill outside the plant after the evacuation as persons "all around me" became ill. She said she suffered numbness in her arms and legs, was dizzy and had nausea.

Parents Charged In Child's Death

GRAHAM (AP) -- The parents of a 14-month-old infant whose partially decomposed body was discovered on a ranch near here have been charged with murder in connection with the child's death.

Harley Junior Collins, 22, and his wife, Vera, 19, both of Seymour, were charged Tuesday with the beating death of their son, Michael Dewayne Collins. They were held in lieu of $20,000 bond each, which was set by Justice of the peace N.L. Barrett of Graham.

Authorities in this North Texas city said the couple's two other children are in the custody of the state welfare department.

A daughter, who was six months old at the time, was taken away from the Collinses in 1974, officials said. A two-year-old son was taken into custody following the report of the alleged kidnaping.

The Collinses claimed Michael was abducted from a Graham motel room Aug. 1. They reported the alleged kidnaping to Olney police officials when they moved to that city one week later.

The Collinses said the abductors were two women who claimed to be welfare officials. The parents said they delayed in reporting the abduction because the women were supposed to contact them within two or three days.

A posse was formed to look for the child and Jim Nance, special investigator for the Graham police department, said the boy's body was found Monday night in a hole "covered with limbs and grass." Nance filed the charges, alleging that the Collinses beat Michael to death with a shoe.

Don Styles, a welfare department spokesman from Wichita Falls, said the other two Collins children "are in protective custody of the welfare department in Young County now. They are with relatives."

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Two minor traffic accidents were investigated Tuesday by city policemen.

Two cars collided in the 2600 block of Ave U yesterday at 2 p.m. Involved in the mishap were a 1971 Chevrolet driven by Walter Blaine Dortch and a 1975 Chevrolet driven by James Elbert Byus.

Moderate damages were reported to the Dortch vehicle and minor damages were reported to the car driven by Byus. No reports of injuries were listed.

A hit-and-run mishap was reported to police Tuesday at 7:12 p.m. in the 4500 block of College Ave.

A parked 1974 Oldsmobile owned by Kelly Burton was struck by another vehicle which allegedly left the scene of the accident. Minor damages were reported to the Burton car.

The lowest retail price of flour on record in the United States was 11.5 cents for five pounds in 1894, reports the U.S. Census Bureau.

ed that a relative found the body and called officers at about 7:45 a.m. today. Justice of the Peace Tom Shelburne ordered the autopsy, which was to be performed at Midland.

No indication of foul play was reported. Shelburne said the body was face down and he speculated that Dodson had been dead some three or four hours. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Dodson of Hermleigh.

Regular public tours of the mansion had been discontinued, but Mrs. Atwood said they were permitted to go inside. They were not allowed to take pictures inside, but took several pictures of the outside of the mansion and of the spacious grounds.

"It is a gorgeous place," said Mrs. Atwood. "It has eight bedrooms and eight bathrooms and there is a large trophy room."

The Atwoods were told that Presley was asleep in one of the bedrooms upstairs when they toured the mansion.

"He was having some of the trees cut down so that people could see the mansion from the street," said Mrs. Atwood.

The Atwoods were on a vacation trip to Kentucky, Indiana, Nashville and Memphis when they visited the Presley mansion.

Miss Norris got her Elvis scarf two years ago when she attended one of Presley's concerts in Odessa. In all, she saw him perform in person four times. At the Odessa concert, she was seated in the second row when she got the scarf.

She also has one of Presley's first records, a 78 rpm pressing in the Sun label before Elvis switched to RCA. The titles on the record are "I'm Left, You're Right, She's Gone" and "Baby Let's Play House."

Miss Norris has some beads that she picked up when they broke and fell to the floor at a Presley concert, as well as a number of books, posters, tapes, etc., of the Presley era.

Man Hurt In Road Mishap

A one-vehicle rollover was investigated by highway patrolmen.

The mishap occurred about 13 miles south of Snyder Monday afternoon and sent one man to Cogdell Memorial Hospital briefly for treatment of minor injuries.

Injured in the mishap was the driver of the 1969 jeep-pickup, Glen Massingale. Massingale, 31, was treated and released.

The vehicle sustained heavy damages, highway patrolmen said, when it left the road about 4:30 p.m. Monday and overturned.

The 48 million tons of rice consumed annually by rats in Asia will this year deprive people of enough grain to fill a freight train stretching more than 3,000 miles, says National Geographic.

Claim Meat Prices Set

Cattlemen File Suit On Grocery Chains

LUBBOCK (AP)-A spokesman for cattlemen who have filed suit against major supermarket chains says the beef producers can prove the stores set meat prices despite the company's statement that similar suits have been thrown out of court.

The suit was filed in federal court here by more than 150 Texas and New Mexico cattlemen alleging that 26 defendants, including major supermarket chains, have stifled competition by agreeing on beef prices.

The defendants include Safeway and A&P, two of the nation's largest grocery companies.

A Safeway spokesman at the company's Oakland, Calif., headquarters said Tuesday the company has not heard of the suit but added, "We have had a number of suits filed by cattlemen and this sounds similar

"A number of those others have been terminated with respect to Safeway by court orders confirming that we do not and have not engaged in any unlawful activity in connection with the purchase or sale of meat. We do deny any allegation that we have violated any law," spokesman Felicia Del Campo said.

But a cattlemen spokesman said the top chains set the price. "No one else will pay more to the packers," he said.

The spokesman said beef prices have fluctuated as much as 25 cents per pound since 1973 but consumers have not seen the change at the supermarket because of price-fixing by major retail chains.

Producers have received as low as 30 cents per pound of beef and as high as 57 cents per pound during the last four years, the spokesman added.

"We've had big drops like this several times yet the retail prices have never changed," he said. "The retailers can control the prices paid to packers and if they pay less it's passed down to the producer."

The suit alleges that some of the top chains, including A&P and Safeway, accept bids one day prior to other retail chains. The major supermarkets set their prices and the nationwide prices are then based at those levels.

He added that producers and consumers lose in the scheme while the supermarkets continue to sell beef at artificially high prices.

Household Sizes Decrease

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-Smaller packages of hamburger may appear at the neighborhood grocery store and more one-bedroom apartments may be built if businessmen act on a new government report showing that over half of all American households have only one or two persons.

The Census Bureau said Tuesday that in March 1976, 51.2 per cent of the nation's households contained no more than two persons, compared with 40.9 per cent in 1960.

Average household size has decreased, the report says, because more people are getting divorced, fewer babies are being born and more young adults are postponing marriage. And more people - both young and old - are setting up house alone or with a friend.

The report says the data will have "a substantial impact on the level of demand for a vast array of products and services, including housing, education and health care."

Married couples last year made up 65 per cent of the nation's 73 million households, the figures show, down from 71 per cent in 1970.

The report also shows that the number of households of at least six persons is decreasing rapidly.

Last year only seven of every 100 households were that size or larger, the government says, compared with 11 of every 100 households in 1960.

The government defines a household as all the persons occupying a single housing unit.

The report also shows that despite the rising cost of housing, many young married couples are still purchasing homes. About half of such couples owned their own homes in 1970, compared with 57 per cent last year.

On treating arthritis

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your comments on Motrin surprised me. I went to my doctor for arthritis in my knees (real bad). He gave me Motrin, I supposed, to help cure it. He is a man of few words and didn't comment. Your articles said it is strictly a pain reliever. I would like to have your Health Letter number 8-8, Aspirin and Related Medicine that you mentioned in your column about Motrin to find out more about these medicines.

Why is it so many doctors will not use cortisone shots in the knees for relief? When my husband (now dead) had painful knees from arthritis his doctor put cortisone in them and he had great relief for a long time but my doctor does not do that.

Thank you for your columns in our paper.

DEAR READER — You shouldn't be so surprised that Motrin is just a pain reliever in the treatment of degenerative arthritis. The truth is there is NO CURE for osteoarthritis (degenerative arthritis). In rheumatoid arthritis cures are rare and may simply be remissions of the disease. The purpose of treatment for the common forms of arthritis is to help control the disease if possible or to relieve pain so the person can live a more normal life.

Aspirin, Tylenol, Motrin and all of these medicines used in the treatment of osteoarthritis (degenerative arthritis) serve only to relieve pain. You may have seen TV ads stating that aspirin relieves inflammation. That is a half-truth. Its anti-inflammation action is accomplished with much larger doses than is used to relieve pain. The common amounts of aspirin and related medicines used without a doctor's supervision do not have any effective anti-inflammation action at all. Nevertheless, these medicines remain the best medicines available in the management of osteoarthritis.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-8 that you requested. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue contains a list of commonly used medicines that contain aspirin. This is important to anyone who has a problem taking aspirin for any reason.

One difficulty people have in understanding what doctors do is thinking that all joint problems are arthritis. Actually, arthritis involves the bone and cartilage. Inflammation of the membranes around a joint or the tendons is bursitis and tendonitis. These are often helped with cortisone injections because of its anti-inflammatory action. Because osteoarthritis is not an inflammatory disease but a degeneration of bone and cartilage simple osteoarthritis is not helped with cortisone injections. This means your husband probably had an inflammatory process in his knees and not just arthritis.

Cortisone is not used for osteoarthritis but it is used in selected cases of rheumatoid arthritis. This may provide temporary relief without inducing any real cure and may even cause undesirable side effects. So, it has to be used carefully in selected cases that cannot be better treated with other medications.

(Because of the volume of mail Dr. Lamb cannot answer your letters personally but he will answer representative letters of general interest in his column.)

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Aug. 18, 1977

If you don't like the way city hall is being run, maybe you should get involved this coming year. You might find it stimulating — and even discover you have a talent for politics.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might find yourself with someone you're very much attracted to today. Just be careful you don't read more into her reactions than they mean. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Before you pay for something you've ordered for the house, be certain it's exactly what you wanted. Otherwise you could buy a white elephant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be a showman if it serves to bolster your image today, but keep it in good taste. Don't try anything outlandish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Your financial outlook is encouraging today, but don't give away the store if you don't have to. Be fair, but also be sensible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't complicate your life today by coveting that which belongs to someone else. This includes possessions or a person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone you think is a booster today may really be a flatterer. Your true ally will be the person who says little, but does a lot for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Seek those who inspire you today. They will uplift your spirits. You will come away refreshed from encounters with them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Much can be accomplished today — don't worry about how long something takes, just do it right and get it finished.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A loved one could disappoint you today because you've placed him on a pedestal, or expect more from him than you should. We all have human frailties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're having something special done for you today, give explicit instructions. Otherwise, the results could offend your artistic taste.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's the little things that count in your romance today. Don't shower her with flowers or baubles. Give her attention, courtesy and respect.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't play the reigning monarch today and delegate all the domestic chores. You'll get much more homage by carrying your share of the load.

Four Are Charged In Slaying

DURANT, Okla. (AP)-Authorities here have charged four men, three of them fugitives, with first-degree murder in the ambush slaying of two Lake Texoma fishermen March 1, according to Dist. Atty. Jack McGahey.

Charged Tuesday were: Clifford Sexton, 32, Calera; J.R. "Silas" Jones, 42, Durant; Roy Lee Leed, 32, Dallas, and Charles Maines, 32, Denison, Tex.

Sexton was arrested Monday night in Denison, where he is being held.

The bodies of commercial fishermen Ernest Fielder, 35, and Junior Metcalf, 33, Platter, were found at a fishing camp a mile north of Platter in Bryan County.

Police said as the pair drove into the camp their pickup was blasted by gunfire from all sides. More than a dozen bullet holes were found in the truck.

Metcalf's body was found under the truck camper and Fielder was 30 yards away, as he apparently tried to crawl to safety.

Certain kinds of turtles can produce fertile eggs up to four years after mating.

New Antirabies Serum Successful In Laredo

ATLANTA (AP)-A newly developed antirabies serum that eliminates previous bad side effects of the medication was apparently successful when given to 59 residents of Laredo, Tex., after an outbreak of canine rabies in the South Texas city.

The outbreak, during which 55 rabid dogs were identified in Laredo, appears to be under control, the national Center for Disease Control (CDC) said Tuesday.

No human cases of rabies were reported, the CDC and the Pan American Health Organization reported.

Public health officials said none of the 59 persons who took the new serum reported any side effects. The antirabies serum previously used, which was made from horse blood, caused reactions in about 45 per cent of those persons treated with it, the CDC said.

"I would say it was a very successful test of the serum," said Dr. Boris E. Delimirovic, who heads the Pan American Health Organization's field office in El Paso, Tex.

"However, a person bitten is not necessarily bitten by a rabid dog, and so it is difficult to prove that it was a successful test," he said.

"But we did not have any human cases. This is always the case when rabies is properly handled - human cases will not appear."

Delimirovic said in a telephone interview one human case developed in the Mexican state of Coahuila, and the victim died in San Antonio, Tex. But he added "this was not in the controlled area."

Delimirovic said that during the rabies emergency in Laredo, 1,700 stray dogs were captured and more than 14,000 animals, including about 1,000 cats, were vaccinated against rabies.

Special, low-cost rabies clinics to vaccinate animals were set up in Laredo last December, and still are operating, although the seriousness of the outbreak is past, officials said.

In neighboring Nuevo Laredo, Mex., 25 cases of rabies in dogs were reported since the outbreak, with more than 15,000 dogs vaccinated and 1,146 stray dogs destroyed, officials said.

The new antirabies gamma globulin, manufactured from human blood, has been available since 1975, and was used exclusively in the Laredo outbreak, according to Dr. William Bildeback, who heads the Texas control program for diseases communicable from animals to man.

Derwin Thompson, president of the Scurry County unit, presided over the meeting. Other officers include: Dr. Gilbert Green, vice president; Mrs. James Beckham, secretary; Mrs. John Voelkel, treasurer and campaign chairman; and Dr. David Wiman, program chairman.

Immediate past president of the local unit of the Heart Association is Joe Sentell.

Arrested On Theft Count

An alleged check writing scheme has netted a 52-year-old man a felony theft charge.

Named in the complaint is Marion McDonald. McDonald was arrested Monday night at a residence on 15th St. and released from custody Tuesday morning after posting a $5,000 bond.

McDonald is alleged to have written four worthless checks totaling approximately $450. The checks were reportedly cashed at a local truck stop between the 20th and 25th of July.
