Three held on $1 million bond each

Police seek more kidnap suspects

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — Three young men sought in the kidnaping of 26 school children and their bus driver are in jail. But authorities say they are pressing their investigation for unidentified suspects who may have been involved in the bizarre mass abduction.

The case broke wide open Thursday with the arrests of Frederick N. Woods in Vancouver, Canada, and his former schoolmate, James Schoenfeld, near Schoenfeld's San Francisco Peninsula home.

The arrests, just five hours apart after a week-long search for the pair, came as Richard Schoenfeld pleaded innocent to 43 felony counts at an arraignment in this small farming community where the kidnaping took place July 15. All three are held on bail of $1 million each.

Although Woods and the Schoenfeld brothers were the only persons sought on arrest warrants in the case, authorities are pursuing various leads that may bring about more arrests.

Thursday's developments tumbled out rapidly, beginning with the arrest of James Schoenfeld, 24, shortly before 7 a.m. in Menlo Park, Calif. FBI agents said Schoenfeld was spotted Wednesday night driving a green van with Idaho license plates by "a person who knew him well." Police spotted the van again Thursday morning and made the arrest without incident.

His arrest so close to home was something of a surprise since authorities had said earlier that Schoenfeld had tried twice to cross the Canadian border nearly two weeks ago and had been linked to incidents in Reno, Nev., Spokane, Wash., and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Attorney Edward Merrill said Schoenfeld had returned to California to surrender that morning to Merrill's law partner, William Gagen. "He was supposed to be in our office this morning at 8 a.m. to make arrangements to surrender."

Gagen said Schoenfeld had been in the area for several days, "perhaps camping on a beach." He said both brothers were "very naive" as to the seriousness of the charges against them.

About noon, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, acting on a tip from San Francisco FBI agents, arrested Woods, 24, at a Vancouver post office. Woods' father owns the quarry in Livermore, Calif., where the school children and their bus driver were held captive in a buried moving van for 18 hours before they managed to dig free.

Officials said Woods, using an alias, entered Canada more than five days ago on a commercial airliner from Reno. He was immediately returned to this country. He appeared before a federal magistrate in Bellingham, Wash., and waived extradition to California.

Woods is to be returned here today or Saturday.

Meanwhile, Schoenfeld's brother, Richard, who surrendered last Friday, was arraigned in the small Chowchilla courthouse while some 350 reporters and curious residents gathered outside, and armed policemen kept watch from nearby rooftops.

Schoenfeld was charged with 27 counts of kidnaping and 16 counts of armed robbery. The robbery charges stem from the taking of clothes and other items from the kidnap victims.

'We're considering it'

New TV channel here soon?

By DANNY REAGAN

A new cable channel may be in the works for Big Spring viewers which would provide top-quality movies and sports packages without commercials.

"We're considering it," said James A. Lancaster, vice president of Big Spring Cable TV, speaking of the new service that is "much talked about in the industry today."

THERE ARE a number of different approaches taken by cable companies offering this service to their customers. The companies in Lubbock, Abilene and San Angelo have a system whereby they pick up a signal via satellite that originates from a New York company that buys movie and sports packages.

According to Lancaster, a deal such as that will cost customers approximately $7-$10 a month more than they are already paying.

The Midland system offers a different package arrangement called "in-house operation," whereby they lease a channel to the movie distributor and "bicycle" or send the programs to more than one location. This system will run customers about $9 a month more, indicated Lancaster, and seven or eight different movies will run throughout each month.

OTHER CABLE operators go to the various movie studios themselves and buy the movies direct, set up their own studio in the town and send the movies out to their subscribers.

And one system in California charged all their customers $2-$2.50 a month more for adding the channel, rather than charging the customers who wanted it $8 or $10 more.

Lancaster said the local company is considering one alternative to provide Big Spring viewers with such a channel, but he said there was no exact timetable for a Big Spring connection.

The local vice president, who just returned from a conference in Denver concerning the question and alternatives for such a cable channel, indicated that some companies get "stung" when instituting such a service.

"WE WILL look at the situation more carefully," he said, "because we want to be sure, first of all, that there is a market here."

There is a possibility that signals from the Midland system could be sent by microwave to Big Spring, and a cost figure for such service should be known within the week by the local cable company.

If the Big Spring company should accept the satellite service from New York, the initial investment for the company would be approximately $100,000 for the 30-foot dish-like pickup antenna that would bring the signals down to Big Spring. There would also be an added cost of $100,000 for additional hardware and all the electronics involved.

"If we did offer the service and it went like we thought it would," said Lancaster, "we think it would interest about 1,500 people initially."

"We'll probably be running a marketing survey to determine how many people would buy this service in Big Spring," Lancaster indicated.

LANCASTER indicated that if they could be sure of that, the company would probably already be into operation with such a channel.

But there is another problem. "This (a pay-channel) is a separate operation, and our contract with the city doesn't cover this situation. We would have to go back to them," said Lancaster. The city would probably have to amend the existing 25-year contract to cover such an added service.

Lancaster emphasized that in this section of the country, "family-type movies" are mainly shown on such a channel.

Beginning Friday, Abilene will have such a cable channel (Q), which will offer current movies, live sports events and on-location nightclub acts.

That channel originates from Home Box Office, a subsidiary of Time Inc. But the question of a pay-channel for Big Spring Cable subscribers is still unanswered. There are a number of factors to contend with in the near future before anyone is certain.

Rodeo provides thrills, Queen

By JOHN EDWARDS

Despite the threat of black rain clouds, a larger than usual opening night crowd greeted participants in the 1976 Howard County Junior Rodeo Thursday.

In addition to traditional events, the crowd was entertained by the goat sacking race, wild calf race and a clown who "dirt-skied" behind a horse.

Stacy Parker was crowned rodeo queen, an honor D'Ann Hall, also of the Knott 4-H Club, won last year. Howard County Youth Horsemen and the Howard County Sheriffs Posse were represented in the grand entry.

Starting at 8 p.m. again, the rodeo will continue today and Saturday at the rodeo bowl, attracting youths from New Mexico, Oklahoma and Central, South and West Texas.

Results from Thursday follow according to age groupings:

BULL RIDING, 16-19 — Jay Scott, 65; and David Pronger, 37.

BAREBACK RIDING, 16-19 — Dennis Howell, 46.

Passage of postal subsidy bill predicted by Hardesty

Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty said Thursday that he thinks the McGee Postal Subsidy Bill will be passed by Congress.

Hardesty had just returned from several days of lobbying in Washington, D.C. for the bill, which would provide $500 million in subsidies this year for the postal service and $500 million next year.

Hardesty, president of the Texas postmasters, said the bill will save 4,000 small offices from closing and will prevent any more cuts in services or layoffs until a commission has time to study postal problems.

The $1 billion subsidy will specifically be used to retire old postal debts, the postmaster noted, and is not operating money.

After his trip to the nation's capital, Hardesty said that he feels it is a "gut cinch" that the measure will be approved in the U.S. Senate next week.

The only problem, he said, will be keeping some House members who feel the postal service needs more from adding on to the bill when it is considered there.

Hardesty said that President Ford has pledged to sign the bill if it passes in its present form.

Unidentified murder victim buried today

A young man, apparently on the run, with four different identifications in his pocket, was stabbed to death 13 days ago under the Highway 87 overpass alongside the T&P railroad.

It was raining and the man was apparently camped under the bridge near an impromptu campfire. Lucky Vernon Tillman, 25, of Granada, Miss. was jailed and charged with murder.

The search for an identification then began for the dead man. No relatives have been located, but police have tentatively identified him as Melvin Earl Dean. He was buried under that name in Mt. Olive Memorial Park today at 2:15 p.m.

If he is Melvin Earl Dean, he was born Oct. 26, 1944 according to an identification card. That would make him 31 years old.

Police Detective Leroy Spires, who spent hours trying to identify the victim, held out a slim hope until Thursday night, when a woman from Haskell came to Big Spring believing that it was her missing son. She failed to identify the body.

Today, a graveside service was held at Mt. Olive with Dr. Jimmie Law, pastor of College Baptist Church officiating. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home was in charge. The bill will go to Howard County.

Action/reaction: Traffic tickets quiz

Q. Are the city police putting more officers on patrol during the day in order to give additional traffic tickets for additional revenue?

A. Capt. Sherrill Farmer, who heads patrol assignments for the city, said there are the same number of patrolmen assigned to each of three shifts; except that two men on morning patrol are held for the swing shift and reassigned to night patrol, because there is more need for patrolmen at night. There is more criminal activity at night.

Calendar: Rodeo continues

TODAY

Midland Community Theater presents "Summer Mommies," 8 p.m. Fourth annual Area Relations breakfast will get under way in Forest Park Community Center at Lamesa at 7 a.m. Friday.

Jean Schumacher associate counselor of Field Services for Texas Women's University will be at Howard College, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. to give information on health careers.

The Howard County Junior Rodeo will continue at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Rodeo Bowl.

Today and Saturday art prints will be sold for 20 per cent less than list price at the Howard County Library.

Offbeat: Odessa justice not blind

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — A shapely Florida teenager pleaded guilty to a theft charge Wednesday but was freed on probation after agreeing to wear a brassiere.

District Court Judge R. L. McKim made that a stipulation in releasing Deloris Ann O'Shea, 17, of Key West, Fla., on three years probation after she admitted taking a $2,526 check from a mailbox.

The attractive young woman appeared in McKim's court wearing what spectators later described as a "see-through" blouse unencumbered by a bra underneath.

In granting probation, the judge stipulated that Miss O'Shea return to Beaumont, Tex., where she had been living, go back to high school and wear a bra.

Miss O'Shea, who told the judge she had been "working as a barmaid and hustling pool," accepted the terms.

Police beat Dental offices looted

The dental offices of Dr. James Cave and Dr. Clarence Peters were broken into sometime during the night. Burglars broke out a window on the north side of the building and bent metal bars covering the opening to gain entrance.

A cabinet was pried from the wall and a drawer was broken into. Damage estimate was $200, and it is unknown at this time if anything was taken from the premises.

Two separate cases of vandalism over the early morning hours appeared to have the same modus operandi.

Jerry Williams, 1009 E. 21st, reported to Officer Frank Costabile this morning at 6:45, that someone had used an unknown object to smash the windshield of his car, and slash two tires. Total damage was placed at $370.

Ten minutes later, Costabile was called to the residence of Virgil Owen, 201 11th Place. During the night, thugs had also smashed in the windows to his car, and had slashed two of the tires. Total damage was placed at $235.

Both victims of the night attack on their cars work at the same company in Big Spring.

Raul Rubio, 111 N. Nolan, informed Officer Melvin Daratt that a rock had been thrown through the rear glass of his car. Police are investigating the reckless damage report.

In a case of criminal mischief, Lynette Brooks, 2908 Hunters Glenn, told Officer Allen Parrish that unknown persons ripped a hole in a window screen. Damage was placed at $15, and entry was not gained into the building.

In three minor arrests over the past 24-hour period, Officers Gary Porter and David Carroth arrested a local man at 9:22 p.m. Thursday at the Blue Moon Lounge, and charged him with public intoxication.

At 1:15 this morning, Carroth, and Officer James Van Ness arrested a man in the 3000 block of W. 80. The man was charged with drunk in auto, and no driver's license.

Twenty minutes later, Officers Dusty Choate and Jerry Pruitt arrested a man at 4th and Birdwell and charged him with reckless driving and drunk in auto.

A 15-year-old Big Spring girl was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital Thursday night shortly after a major accident at 2900 W. 13th.

Mary Cortinez was a passenger in a car driven by Joe Lopez, an illegal alien from Mexico, according to police reports. The Cortinez girl was treated and released from the Malone-Hogan emergency room.

The car driven by Lopez apparently went out of control and careened into a parked vehicle owned by Milton Isiah, 4100 Dixon, a parked car owned by Albert Ridgeway, Box 391, a portion of the Detox Center building, and a tree.

Lopez ran from the scene, and as of this morning, his whereabouts were unknown by local lawmen.

At the corner of 4th and Bell, cars driven by Suzanna Rupard, Rt. 1, Box 174, and Ruby Honea, Rt. 2, Box 23, were in collision in a major accident.

Honea was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital where she was treated and released.

Minor accidents again numbered strong in the activity of local police Thursday.

Officer Jimmy Wallace

was called to the scene of three fender-benders:

—The 100 block of Jefferson, in which a car driven by William Boadle, 103

Jefferson, was in collision with a parked car owned by Hugh Hale, 104 Jefferson.

—A minor collision between cars driven by Shields Norwood Jr., Box 747, Melvin, Tex., and Tamra Eliz Meeks, 4026 Muir.

—The 2400 block of Alamesa, where cars driven by Gary Hale, 2409 Alamesa, and Pauletta Whitaker, 3602 Boulder, collided.

Officer John Burson was called to the 3200 block of Auburn, where a car driven by Earl Erick Dugger, 3225 Auburn, was in collision with a city vehicle.

Officer Allen Parrish investigated a minor hit and run accident involving a parked car owned by R. W. Shafer, Box 156, Coahoma, and an unknown vehicle that left the scene.

game proves dangerous

A woman, who was riding in a car with Midland license tags, apparently went into a local discount store Thursday and picked up an appliance off the shelves and tried to get her money back with it.

She told clerks at the check-out counter that it was a wedding present, but that she needed the money worse to pay a traffic fine.

An alert check-out clerk sent word to the back of the store. While store department heads were checking the number of the item against a list they had of equipment which had just been placed out on the shelf, the woman apparently became uneasy.

She told the clerk that she had to go see about her dog that was probably getting hot in the car.

The store officials watched her leave with two men, and no dog. The license tag numbers which they turned in to law officials were from Midland County.

Other store managers are urged to watch for this particular con game.

Electric energy outlook good

Will Big Spring have the electric energy it needs to prosper in the years to come?

The answer that came out of a tour last week to Texas Electric Service Co.'s Big Brown Generating Plant in Fairfield was yes.

TEXAS ELECTRIC Service Co. (TESCO) and its sister companies under Texas Utilities can point with better-busting pride to their foresight in planning and building Big Brown and their other lignite coal generating stations.

Where parts of the nation, and even the state, have been plagued by a shortage of electrical power and prices that shot skyward, Big Spring and the other areas served by TESCO have remain energy abundant, and at one of the lowest rates in the country. If you don't think so, write your cousin in Austin or Chicago.

WALKING ALONE — This five million pound dragline is shown walking along as it picks up its platform legs (see lower right side) for one of its nine-foot strides.

The thing that really made TESCO look smart was the energy crisis of 1973. Brown outs were common. Many power companies did not have enough petroleum-based fuel as the federal government moved to equalize energy supplies.

But TESCO had already made and executed plans to move away from dwindling natural gas sources. During the late 1960s, it had designed and executed plans to generate electricity from Texas' abundant deposits of lignite, a soft and low-grade coal.

The result was the Big Brown Generating Plant which had come on line in the early 1970s.

Big Brown was at first very controversial. After all, it was a strip mining operation. The land is peeled back to uncover the coal, and environmentalists were charging that the ecology of the area was being ruined. (Sunday's publisher's corner will deal with environmental aspects of the operation.)

BUT AS ENERGY crunched and the Arab nations embargoed oil, Big Brown demonstrated the wisdom of its planners.

Now 8,000 people a year tour the plant to see coal mined, transported and consumed as fuel to make electricity — all at one site.

In last week's tour, TESCO took city officials and newsmen from Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma, Lamesa, Ackerly and O'Donnell to visit Big Brown, located some 85 miles south of Dallas.

The most amazing thing about the tour was watching the 5 million-pound draglines walk along the ground. Yes, the huge machine can actually walk with a nine-foot step every 35 to 40 seconds or a speed of 0.16 miles per hour. It moves like a person sitting on the floor and scooting himself backwards with his hands.

Another thing which came from the visit is that there is no time to rest in the energy business. This area's power needs continue to grow. The life of a generating plant is only about 30 years, a short lifespan in what remains a very young industry. Natural gas supplies keep running out.

NEW ENERGY must constantly be planned, and new investments to provide this energy made.

For example, TESCO officials say that in about 1980 some of the company's long-term natural gas leases will run out, and the cost of electricity to consumers will have to jump up at that time.

Big Spring is benefitting right now from TESCO's foresight a decade ago. Let's hope the same will be true in the decades to come.

The U.S. Senate Banking Committee has been considering amending the Federal Reserve Act to permit banks to pay interest on state and local government checking accounts.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock, Texas, favors this proposal, citing $1 billion in state and local government revenue which is kept in Texas checking accounts.

JUNE 30 FINANCIAL reports of the city of Big Spring, Big Spring Independent School District (BSISD) and Howard County indicated the county might benefit most from such legislation.

Howard County had $339,554 in checking accounts. Financial reserves also included $805,952 pledged for time periods in interest-earning certificates of deposit (CDs).

The BSISD showed $1,565,000 drawing interest and $69,000 in checking accounts. Dr. E. H. McKenzie Jr., superintendent, said.

At City Hall, Tom Ferguson, city finance director, rounded the totals to $500,000 in CDs and $75,000 in checking accounts.

Cash reserves vary during the year, of course, in relation to current expenses and revenue. All three governments will see funds grow after property tax statements are mailed in October.

Coordinating the maturity dates of CDs with the timing of anticipated expenses and receipts creates a problem for local government finance administrators, they said.

"They can't rely on their state and federal support dollars to arrive on time, which means they have to leave large amounts in demand deposits (checking accounts) in reserve," Bullock said.

COUNTY AUDITOR Virginia Black, said, "we don't have that many grants. A lot of counties are just loaded with federal grants."

"No," the city finance director said. "We normally get state and federal funds just when we expect them."

The timing of state funding is more dependable than that of federal funding, Don Green, BSISD assistant business manager, said. This unpredictability creates no problem, though, Green added.

Generalizing again about the smaller local governments, Bullock said: "Their finances are usually handled by one person who also has many other responsibilities and they are unable to dedicate additional resources to cash management."

ALL THREE local officials agreed this was basically the case with their institution. Mrs. Black is responsible for the county investment scheduling; Ferguson, for the city; and Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, for the school system.

Dr. McKenzie wondered whether allowing interest payments on local government checking accounts would be as beneficial as it sounds:

In depositary contract bids, banks might decrease CD interest rates to offset interest paid on checking accounts.

Strenuous life

William F. Buckley, Jr.

I am among the millions of Americans who were hit as by the force of revelation by a stricture of Mr. Eisenhower's doctor, who lifted his famous patient from the bowels of despair after the President was struck down in Denver in 1955. Dr. Paul Dudley White bicycled in from Boston, took over, issued daily medical bulletins, and an occasional homily. The one that changed my life, offered me great strategic serenity in exchange for immediate and quotidian mini-tortures. In order to lead a long and healthy life, said Dr. White one day to the reporters, you must observe three rules: 1) stop smoking cigarettes; 2) do not permit yourself to weigh more than you did when 25 years old; and 3) exercise strenuously.

IT WAS bad enough giving up cigarettes, but eventually the pains of withdrawal ceased. Holding down your weight becomes increasingly difficult as you get older, but you can still permit yourself day-long, and even week-long orgies in between the burgeoning fads. It is the physical exercise that is the endless spirit-crusher. Day after day, I live in mortal terror that science will establish, when I am about 70 years old, that I might have survived by doing 25, instead of the 30 push-ups I do every day, in dutiful memory of Paul Dudley White. These I supplement with one hour, most weeks, in a gymnasium; and recently, in order to avoid jogging, I bought an indoor bicycle, and when I rise from my morning reading, grim-faced and resolute, I propel myself to it for another bout of what I call my daily mortification of the flesh.

Now a concomitant torture of physical exercise, most of us would agree, is the boredom a relief from which it is all but impossible to find. Iron-willed folk like Senator William Proxmire can, while jogging to work, concentrate on ways to pare down the military budget. John C. Calhoun, it is recorded, went from plowing his field, to transcribing at his desk, as fast as he could write it out, the speech he had composed while working the soil.

All I ever managed on those few occasions when I jogged, was to concentrate on what a miserable form of self-punishment jogging is. But with the indoor bicycle, I reasoned, I might achieve distraction by watching television. Which is how it came to be that some time after nine on a recent morning I found myself listening for six and one-half minutes, that is to say, the time required for three miles of indoor bicycling at approx 27 mph, the resistance spring set to medium-high, to a lady called Pat Collins, interviewing Eartha Kitt on the subject (I gather) of a book by Miss Kitt.

I ARRIVED some time after Miss Kitt began answering Miss Collins' questions, and it turns out, one gathers, that Miss Kitt is continuingly indignant at Lyndon Johnson's indignation over an episode in 1968. I dimly remember it, but the ladies refreshed my recollection (as the lawyers put it), and what happened was that at a White House reception, suddenly Miss Kitt decided to give a speech denouncing Lyndon Johnson for his Vietnam policies. Thereafter, it appears, she lost a lot of business — hotels ceased booking her, that kind of thing.

Collins: "Would you do it again, under the circumstances?"

Kitt: "Yes, I would. I believe that I was expressing my right of protest."

There is, of course, no "right" to accept an invitation to the White House, seize the mike once there, and deliver a lecture on the superiority of your views on foreign policy over against those of your host. Perhaps Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas didn't hire her to sing for fear that Miss Kitt might decide to bring along her right to protest, and deliver a speech to her audience rather than, say, Mood Indigo, or whatever she sings.

Well, it turns out — says Miss Kitt — that Johnson ordered the FBI and the CIA to investigate her, and they did, and compiled a dossier on her which, said Kitt, among other things reported that in the description of one informer she was a "sadistic nymphomaniac." Kitt and Collins both laughed, and Collins said it's funny how much emphasis the FBI and the CIA put on sex lives. "Could it be they don't have any?" The girls giggled, but didn't appear to take comfort from the corollary, which is that if it is so, future generations of Americans will be spared Sons of FBI and CIA. At that moment, my milometer hit the three-mile mark, so this story has to end.

Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor:

This letter is written in regards to the Miss Softball America Tournament held for the Mini-Minor League in Big Spring recently.

We the coaches, manager, and chaperone of the Sweetwater All-Stars highly salute the people of Big Spring who worked so hard to make the tournament the success it was.

Special thanks go out to Howard College for the use of dormitory and cafeteria facilities.

The Sweetwater All-Stars enjoyed the weekend and we enjoyed meeting the All-Stars from all the other towns represented. MSA is blessed with dedicated and hard workers in Big Spring and the results were a first-class tournament which all of our girls really enjoyed and will always remember. It would be impossible to name everyone who had a hand in the tournament, but one person stands out — Jane Upton, we love you. Thank you,

Linda Geron, coach;
Sue Henley, manager;
Phil Ortega, coach;

Informal poll

BOSTON (AP) — Among 100,000 visitors to "The Revolution" exhibit here, 47 per cent have been classified in an informal survey as patriots on the colonists' side.

They were rated by a Honeywell computer according to their votes on four major Revolutionary issues — the Stamp Act, the Boston Massacre Trials, the Boston Tea Party and the Siege of Boston.

Loyalists among the visitors totaled 27 per cent. Another 26 per cent were undecided. It is estimated that in 1776 a slight majority of the colonists were patriots, with a sizable minority remaining loyal to the Crown.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have heard people say that anger is one of the worst sins. Well, if it is, I'm one of the worst sinners. Please tell me if anger is that bad, and what I can do to conquer it. — K. P.

DEAR K. P.: Anger is certainly one of the most common sins. We all get angry from time to time. However, anger can be very destructive and can lead us to do things that are wrong and that hurt other people deeply. The Bible says, "An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression" (Proverbs 29:22).

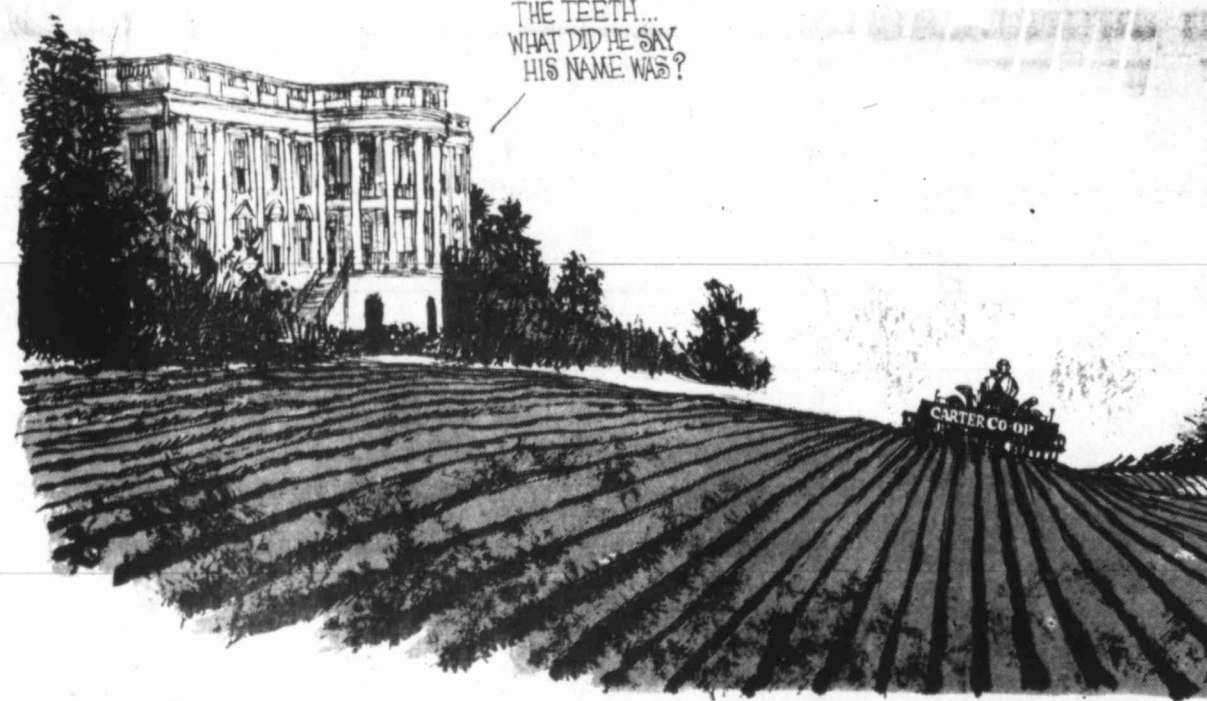

It would be good for you to think about why you get angry. Usually we get angry because things don't go our way. Perhaps sometimes a person says something that injures our pride, and we get angry.

But these things are wrong if you know Christ as your Saviour. You must ask God to help you accept circumstances that come your way, instead of simply getting angry at them. If others hurt you, know that God is ultimately their Judge, not you. Pray that the Holy Spirit will give you true love for others, regardless of what they do. Remember that Jesus "when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously" (1 Peter 2:23).

The Bible says, "If you are angry, be sure that it is not out of wounded pride or bad temper. Never go to bed angry — don't give the devil that sort of foothold" (Ephesians 4:26, 27, Phillips). Staying angry spurts spiritual poison into your system and can hurt relationships. Learn to ask for forgiveness, and to forgive. As you grow and mature spiritually, you will find you are angry less often.

No pills will help in suntanning

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl of 18 who has an unbearable problem. I cannot tan. I have a nice figure, but in the summer I don't ever want to be seen in a bathing suit or shorts because I am so white.

Please tell me if there are any pills or operations that might help me. Is there a certain lotion I can use, any vitamin pills? — C.S.

Maybe "disappointing" but hardly "unbearable," don't you agree? You don't say whether you burn or freckle in your suntanning attempts. If you do either you probably never will tan and, much as I dislike using the phrase, you will just have to "learn to live with that."

No pills, operations or vitamins I know of will help. But you will have to be particularly careful about exposure.

Here's a good rule for frustrated tanners. Remember that the sun is most damaging to skin at high noon and for a couple of hours either side of that. The initial tanning attempt should be limited to about 15 minutes' exposure. Then follow up with 20-minute exposures every day for about seven days. If you haven't tanned by then you probably never will.

Unfortunately, some of the screening creams and lotions, which are fine protection against sunburn, also can mask out the sun's rays that would cause tanning. Fair-skinned people should avoid too much tanning because it can prematurely age their skin and lead to a leathery appearance later in life.

If nothing works for you, I guess your only alternative would be to wear lighter colored bathing suits for that the contrast is not so evident. Also, your nice figure can play all sorts of neat optical tricks on the girl watchers' eyes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was admitted to the hospital recently for a heart attack. The doctors diagnosed it as "anterior septal myocardial infarction." However, when my doctor went on vacation the doctor who took over diagnosed it as "atheromatous and cardiovascular disease." I consulted some books on heart disease, and to me there is a vast difference. Please explain. — L.E.

Here's an old saying I just invented: "Words, no matter how fancy, have never changed a disease."

Both doctors meant the same thing. One was a bit more specific in one sense and more general in another. The same for the other doctor.

Take the first phrase, "Anterior septal myocardial infarction." Your doctor pinpointed the precise artery (anterior septal) involved in your heart attack (myocardial infarction). The second doctor used the phrase, "atheromatous cardiovascular disease." He was a bit more specific in that he noted the obstruction of the artery was from deposits on the inner wall (atheromatous).

And so it goes. If medical diagnosis were readily translatable into layman's English my job would be far easier — and patients far less anxious.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you think tying a child's hands down inside his blanket would break a thumb-sucking habit? I feel a child would develop an emotional problem. What do you say?

— C.M.

I'm with you. I seriously doubt that it would break the habit, and it certainly could create all sorts of psychological problems far worse than thumb-sucking. Thumb-sucking usually stops without use of such methods.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I will be 50 next month and have been on birth control pills. My doctor says I can stop now and not worry about becoming pregnant. Is this true? — Mrs. D.

If you haven't had a period for a year you could (at your age) safely discontinue the pills. Fertility is rare at age 50 and over.

Burgers, bleach go with violence?

NEW YORK (AP) — Television commercials for Burger King and Clorox are more associated with violence than those of Holiday Inn or Raid bug-killer, according to the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting (NCCB) after a six-week study of television violence.

NCCB is a tax-exempt nonprofit group advocating television reform. It is headed by Nicholas Johnson, a former member of the Federal Communications Commission. The study said other sponsors of violent television fare include Tegrin Shampoo, Colgate-Palmolive, Gillette, Breck, Ford, Johnson & Johnson, American Motors and Lysol.

The group said the top 10 advertisers whose commercials were associated with the least violence televised during the period were Aramid Radial Tires, IBM, Lipton Products, No Nonsense Hose, Oscar Meyer, Proctor & Gamble Foods, Frito Lay Products, Chrysler Corp., Holiday Inn and Raid.

The report also ranked the 10 most violent and 10 least violent programs, according to the NCCB's study.

Heading the most violent list were the police dramas "SWAT," "The Rookies," "Starsky & Hutch," "McMillan and Wife," "Columbo," and "Joe Forrester." Rounding out the top 10 were "The Rockford Files," "Sara," "ABC Sunday Night at the Movies," "CBS Friday Night at the Movies" and "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies."

Most of the 10 least violent programs were situation comedies. They included "The Bob Newhart Show," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," "Welcome Back, Kotter," "Chico and the Man," "Doc" and "Rhoda." Others on the nonviolent list were "The Practice," "The Waltons," "Little House on the Prairie" and "Barney Miller."

The report said the violent shows act to desensitize the audience to violence, making confrontation and combat acceptable social behavior. For heavy viewers, it said, it encourages withdrawal, distrust, insecurity and unwarranted fear of crime in one's own life.

Alfred Schneider, vice president of the American Broadcasting Companies Inc., said the report was of little use in helping the industry to understand how to handle violence responsibly on television programs.

CBS and NBC also questioned the validity of the survey.

Johnson said, "There is no longer doubt that violence in American television is doing us grave injury as a people."

began June 17, the committee and its chairman, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., have won virtually every test of strength against a liberal bloc of self-styled tax reformers seeking to change the committee-authored measure.

In most cases, the Senate has rejected efforts to eliminate or scale down various tax incentives approved by the committee which would benefit wealthy investors and business.

The strongest show of Senate support has come in the battle over 73 committee amendments, dozens of which were criticized as tax give-aways because they would benefit only one or two companies.

Twenty-three of those 73 have been considered by the full Senate and only one has been rejected. In response to the criticism, the committee itself voted to knock out 11 of the amendments. The remaining 39 are pending in the Senate.

In action on the tax bill Thursday, the Senate loosened a 1974 law that restricts government agencies' use of Social Security numbers for identification.

Long contended the law has made it difficult for state and federal officials to track down welfare cheats and runaway fathers.

The Finance Committee had voted to virtually repeal the restrictions as they apply to state, local and federal governments. The version approved by the Senate would allow governments to require disclosure of Social Security numbers for tax, welfare, car-registration and driver-license purposes.

Ray has been with Walls since March of this year and following a brief orientation, managed Walls' Breckenridge sewing plant.

Prior to joining Walls, Ray had extensive experience in apparel manufacturing, moving to Texas from Georgia.

Ray and Helen Kraus have two sons, Todd, 4, and David, 11. They will make their home in Big Spring.

Walls is a Cleburne, Tex., based manufacturer of sports and utility apparel with other sewing plants in Sweetwater, Snyder, Breckenridge, Cleburne, Clifton and Gatesville, Tex.

Walls built its plant in Big Spring in 1973 and employs about 135 people at the facility located on the Snyder Highway (350) at I-20. The Big Spring plant produces all of Walls' non-insulated coveralls and jumpsuits.

Finnell, 28, has been manager of the Big Spring plant since it opened in early 1973. His father, Bill Finnell, was senior vice president and one of the original incorporators of the Walls company. Don's training began early and he has worked in all phases of manufacturing, warehousing, shipping and cutting for the company.

Finnell and his wife, Irene, have two daughters, D-Rhea Ann, 4, and Karl Leigh, 2, who moved to Snyder with him.

Settlement may have been slightly premature

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the jury prepared to give its verdict in a $3.5-million malpractice suit, attorneys for Holy Cross Hospital agreed at the last minute to pay a $500,000 settlement.

The 12 jurors then were dismissed before they had the chance to announce their verdict — in favor of the hospital.

The last-minute agreement came Thursday at the end of an eight-day trial after the foreman of the circuit court jury knocked on the jury room door to indicate that 10 hours of deliberation had yielded a verdict.

The lawyers for both sides huddled and agreed on the $500,000 settlement. The judge then announced the settlement and dismissed the jurors.

As attorneys for both sides were shaking hands outside the courtroom, the jurors filed past them and mentioned that if they had been allowed to return the verdict, it would have been in favor of the hospital.

Edward and Myra Farrell had sued the hospital, claiming that their son, Jimmy, now 6, was blinded shortly after his birth at the suburban Silver Spring, Md., hospital as the result of negligence by the hospital and two doctors.

Farm New rules spelled out for labor contractors

Farm labor contractors must obtain information that the migrant workers they recruit or supply to growers are not illegal aliens, Robert B. Snyder, regional administrator of the U.S. Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division, has announced in Dallas.

Under new regulations clarifying the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act amendments of 1974, acceptable evidence of legal employability includes: a birth certificate, certificate of citizenship or naturalization, U.S. identification card, passport identifying the worker as a U.S. citizen, consular report of birth or, in the case of an alien, an alien registration receipt card.

The new rules also spell out:

— requirements for issuing, renewing, revoking, suspending, or denying the certificates of registration that contractors must possess in order to legally furnish migrant labor to growers;

— requirements that contractors must meet to obtain authorization to provide housing and transportation (including vehicle insurance) to migrants; and — procedures for assessing civil money penalties against violators.

The regulations, published in the Federal Register June 25, 1976 and effective 30 days after publication, were adopted following public comment on an initial proposal made by the department Dec. 8, 1975.

Court ruling may save Texas farmers thousands of dollars

A recent Texas Supreme Court decision on agricultural exemptions from ad valorem taxation may save Texas ranchers and farmers thousands of dollars. The directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, meeting in Amarillo, were told this recently by TSCRA's attorney, Ed Small of Austin.

The case in point was Gragg vs. Cayuga Independent School District. TSCRA filed a brief in the case. Although Gragg lost his case, the ruling broadened the category of agricultural exemption in which ad valorem taxes must be based. Under the new ruling, a landowner can qualify for exemption if his gross agricultural sales more than equals the gross sales of any other business he has, rather than the total of all other businesses he may have.

TSCRA directors passed a resolution endorsing Governor Dolph Briscoe's proposed constitutional amendment calling for the creation of a permanent capital reserve fund from the present and future surplus in its collection of taxes from oil and gas production. This proposal recognizes the future depletion of a major source of tax revenue and gives the State an opportunity to generate income to supplement its future fiscal needs.

The group also reaffirmed its support of the Beef Research and Information Act and encouraged organized, active support by its members at the county level in order to assure passage of the referendum.

The TSCRA Animal Health Committee, chaired by J.E. Birdwell II of Lubbock, with vice chairman John B. Armstrong of Kingsville, reported that what started out to be the worst year in history for screwworm infestation has turned out to be a relatively easy one. Credit for the turnaround was given to the new strain of bigger, sterile flies (named 009) now being used in the eradication program.

Brucellosis, a subject of recent controversy, was given special attention at the meeting. Quoting from an interview with Dr. J.H.G. Roerink, a world authority on the disease from The Netherlands, past president Hilmar G. Moore of Richmond reported, "Texas cattlemen will never see the complete eradication of brucellosis."

Execs try to rescue swine flu shot program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Executives of the drug and insurance industries are meeting with government health officials in what most agreed was a last-ditch attempt to rescue the swine-flu vaccination program.

Insurance executives were to report today on the results of their two-day effort to sell about 350 insurance carriers and subcontractors on the idea of writing millions of dollars worth of liability protection policies for the four drug companies manufacturing swine-flu vaccine.

David Mathews, secretary of health, education and welfare, sent a telegram to 24 key insurance officials underscoring what he called "the importance and urgency of this request."

"It is essential, if the flu immunization program is to be undertaken at all, not only that insurance be available for the manufacturers but that this fact be definitely known at the earliest possible date."

Merrell-National Laboratories, the company which has produced the largest number of vaccine doses, says it will shut down production lines immediately if there is no assurance that it will have insurance to cover lawsuits arising from the immunization program.

Federal officials have been urging the insurance industry to write liability policies for the vaccination program.

Dr. Delano Meriwether, director of the HEW vaccination program, said that to the best of his knowledge only $5 million in insurance had been pledged by late Thursday. He said the two unresolved issues were whether the insurance industry could come up with the proposed coverage and whether the premiums for that insurance would be reasonable.

Now she loves Big Spring

You're going nowhere, Filipino nurse told

"You're going nowhere," Daisy Veloso's friends quipped when her nursing assignment turned out to be Big Spring.

Daisy, a Philippine native, had signed for a tenure as a registered nurse in the United States. She couldn't find Big Spring on a map. Her fears heightened when the first person she met in the U.S. didn't know either.

"I guess I'd just go on faith," she recalled, and sure enough, she landed at the Big Spring airport. "It was working then," she laughed as she talked to Downtown Lions Wednesday at the Settles.

But she made friends quickly and after a year she noted that "I can say honestly that now I love Big Spring."

Miss Veloso gave the club a brief rundown on the character of her country. There are many people — 3,900,000 by the latest census — and population continues to grow. Family planning services are being introduced.

"There is a great gulf between the few rich people and the vast majority who are very poor. Large families are the rule (she is second in a family of 10 children), and there is a saying that 'if you are poor, children are your riches.'"

Agriculture is principally rich and fish, and meat is exceptionally high. She said she told her American friends that they are large in comparison to small-statured Filipinos because "your food is so cheap."

The country is mostly Catholic, relating to Magellan's discovery of the islands, but Protestant congregations are growing. Only the well-trained or high IQ students get to enter universities, including St. Thomas which is two years older than Harvard. English is the language of high school and colleges.

The program was in charge of M.A. Barber. Gary Bradbury, president, set a board meeting for 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Big Spring Country Club.

Carter takes defense stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Candidate Jimmy Carter generally parallels broad defense show that Democratic presidential positions.

TEN-FOOT REPLICA — Cecil Gates, of California, poses Thursday with his 10-foot replica of the Second World War battleship, USS Alabama, moored at Montreal's La Ronde marina. The glass fibre miniature fires salvos of water through its guns and stars in a documentary of U.S. naval history being filmed by its master for educational television.

Carter even has adopted Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld's term "rough equivalence" to describe the U.S.-Soviet military balance.

Talking with newsmen in Plains, Ga., Carter said earlier this week that the United States is not in second place. That is what the Ford administration has been saying.

Carter said that "in some areas we're superior and in some areas they are superior." Rumsfeld repeatedly has said essentially that.

Carter said the United States must assure that "we keep a rough equivalence" between ourselves and the Soviet Union in strategic atomic weapons. "This sounds like Rumsfeld's assertion to Congress that such equivalence 'is the foundation we must maintain.'"

Carter said neither the United States nor Russia could launch a "first strike" without receiving a massive retaliatory strike in return. This amounts to the same as the Ford administration's stated position that neither superpower could mount a "disarming" first strike.

Carter said the United States should press negotiations "to slowly move downwards the outer limits of both the numbers and the quality of weapons of nuclear mass destruction."

Ford administration officials have said they hope to put a cap on the nuclear arms race under a new SALT agreement with Russia, then move later to a mutual reduction in nuclear weaponry.

So far, Carter has differed with the Ford administration principally on cutting the defense budget and on the timing of a production decision on the controversial B1 bomber.

But Carter's proposals for cutting the defense budget by $5 billion to $7 billion have focused on such generalities as improving management techniques rather than on eliminating or reducing specific costly weapons programs now underway.

As for the B1 bomber, Carter has said he opposes its production "at this time." But he has not foreclosed the possibility that he might change his mind. "The decision on production of this weapons system should be made by the next administration," Carter has said.

Carter has called for U.S. withdrawal of troops from South Korea over the next four or five years. The Ford administration has avoided any such commitment, and Rumsfeld said recently there are no present plans to reduce the U.S. military presence there.

Twenty-one sergeants attach more stripes

Twenty-one sergeants at Webb AFB were selected for promotion — 11 to master sergeant and 10 to technical sergeant.

The master sergeant selectees are: Technical Sergeants Mont E. Anderson, Edwin R. Friend, James C. Jordan and Carl D. Martin of Field Maintenance Sq.; Marvin E. Alward and Carl P. Braswell of Air Base Group; Richard Carmichael and Peter D. Holden of Supply.

Also, Buford Longwith and James E. Smith of Organizational Maintenance Sq.; and Kirby W. Owens of the Hospital.

The technical sergeant selectees are: Staff Sergeants Samuel J. Alford, Thomas G. Knight and Robert J. Rice of Organizational Maintenance; Edward A. Archer and Herbert E. Bridges of Field Maintenance;

Also, Billy R. Arrant, Victor D. Knoth and Joseph T. Kowalsky of 2050th Communications Sq.; William Williams of Field Training Detachment and Elbert Jackson Jr. of Student Squadron.

Air Force recruiters change made

A shift in areas of responsibility for Air Force recruiters now makes Abilene the recruiting office for Big Springers, instead of Odessa.

Tsgt. Jerry D. Parks, the U.S. Air Force recruiter in Abilene explained that the change doesn't mean all Big Spring people interested in joining the Air Force will have to travel to Abilene. "Testing will still be handled at the Midland Air Terminal," said Sergeant Parks, "and I plan to come to Big Spring every other Wednesday."

All potential blue suiters have to do to avoid the trip to Abilene is call Sergeant Parks at (915) 672-8949, collect, and make an appointment for his Wednesday visits. If in Abilene, one can stop in at the recruiting office at 165 Pine Street.

Air Force hopefuls first had to go outside of Big Spring to contact recruiters last fall when the Air Force closed the one-man office here and placed the area under the Odessa recruiter's area of responsibility.

Jaime Meynarez story published

Tsgt. Jaime Meynarez of Webb AFB Operations is featured in the July issue of Airman Magazine in an article, "Our Tempest-Tost."

The Bicentennial issue of the Air Force's official journal carried this story about people in Air Force blue who had immigrated to the U.S. Meynarez was born in Columbia, South America.

Also featured was CMgt. Brian Bullen, senior enlisted advisor for Air Training Command and frequent Webb visitor, who was born in England.

Cotton fraud convictions upheld

VERNON, Tex. (AP) — The federal convictions of two Vernon men in a multimillion dollar cotton fraud case have been upheld by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, according to a court clerk here.

The two men, Robert E. Huntley and Gipsen Hemphill, had appealed their convictions on all 18 counts in the case, which led to the collapse of the First State Bank here in 1973.

In a non-jury trial, U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Hill of Dallas convicted the two and assessed the cotton company executives the maximum sentence on all counts.

Hill ordered the sentences to run concurrently leaving the two men facing 10 years in prison each.

In an opinion by the New Orleans appellate court, Judge Thomas Gee said the trial court had made only a "harmless error" in rendering judgment in the absence of a defendant in the fraud case.

Huntley and Hemphill also face trial on state charges of theft of more than $10,000 from the First State Bank.

The bank closed July 16, 1973, as a result of loans to the Handley Cotton Co. and a far flung check kiting and bogus cotton warehouse receipt scheme that left the bank insolvent.

Diet may promote chance of cancer

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who fail to eat a balanced diet or eat too much are promoting their chances for cancer, five scientists told Congress.

However, the scientists were cautious when asked for details on what specific foods and brands would be either good or bad for an individual.

Improper diets are related to 60 per cent of all types of cancer in women and 41 per cent of those in men, Dr. Gio B. Gori, deputy director of the National Cancer Institute's division of cancer cause and prevention, told the Senate Select Nutrition Committee on Wednesday.

The scientists were careful to emphasize that an imbalanced diet has not been found to be a cause of cancer but rather is associated with the disease's development.

An excess of fats, for example, has been especially linked in research to breast and colon cancer, they said. The panelists would not condemn any specific types or brands of food, despite urging by some senators.

Gori said that he thought "any modification of our diet in the right direction should effect a decline in the incidences of these cancers in five to ten years." By way of comparison, if everyone stopped smoking, he said, it would be 10 years before lung cancer cases would noticeably decline nationwide.

Smoking is "the single, clearest cause" of cancer, he said, and "the most preventable.... We don't need to smoke, we do need to eat."

Others on the panel were Drs. Gerald Wogan, professor of food toxicology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology;

Dave Kritchevski, of Philadelphia's Wistar Institute; Ernest L. Wynder, president of the American Health Foundation and editor of the Preventative Medicine Journal; and D.M. Hegsted, nutrition professor at Harvard University School of Public Health.

Kritchevski recommended "a well-rounded diet, eaten in moderation."

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., asked what specific diet Gori would recommend for a 50-year-old male blue-collar worker who wanted to cut his chances of getting cancer.

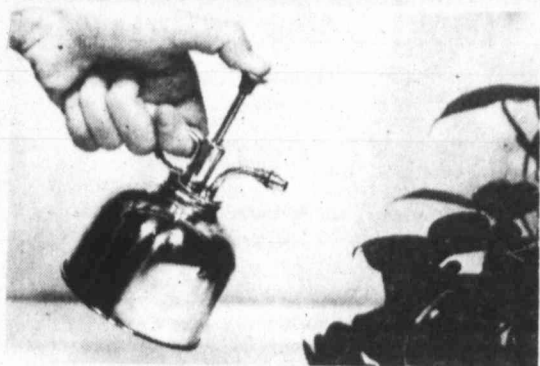

The scientist said such a man probably is overweight and would need to cut calories by reducing his intake of food with fat, such as meat, milk, sugars and starches.

To make sure the worker "feels satisfied," Gori said, he should consume more fruits and vegetables to get bulk in his diet — even if that means eating more fruit a few hours later to quiet his stomach.

The man also should not smoke and should drink alcoholic beverages only moderately, Gori said.

Wynder recommended not only reducing total calories in the diet but specifically cutting those coming from fat to 35 per cent of total calories and cutting cholesterol to less than 300 milligrams a day.

Country cousins suffer from city vultures

DEAR ABBY: I am wondering if other farm families have this problem with city relatives. We almost have to put locks on everything when they come to visit.

The city folks are so antiques-crazy, they tear the boards off the barns, pick up fence posts and go snooping through the cupboards to see if maybe we've got some old, beat-up brass or copper pots they can make into lamps.

They are always asking how old things are and if we know where they came from. We wouldn't mind if they waited until we discarded something, but I can be sitting on a rocking chair, and they'll ask if I'm ready to throw it out.

They think everything they see at a farm house is an antique. We try to tell them, "Maybe so," but that some things we still use ourselves, and if not, we might want to save them for our children.

They make fun of their country cousins, but I wonder what they think if we came to their homes and stood over their belongings like a bunch of vultures.

FROM IOWA

DEAR FROM: They'd probably think you were grasping hayseeds with bad manners, when in fact they are grasping urbanites with no class.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law must have at least 200 pictures standing around. They're on her mantle, piano, television and every table in the place. Her walls are also covered with them. All are pictures of her children when they were babies and in various stages of childhood. I have never seen such clutter in my life.

Should I tell her that no one cares to see a baby picture of her 35-year-old son naked and on a fur rug? (The "baby" is my husband.)

Don't tell me that if I don't like the looks of her house I shouldn't visit her, because my husband is one of those devoted sons who thinks he has to run over there nearly every night, and he drags me with him.

How can I tell her it's time she updated her collection?

ANONYMOUS, PLS.

DEAR ANON: It's your mother-in-law's home, and apparently she enjoys the collection, so if you don't, keep your eyes closed. And your mouth as well.

Spring City chapter meets at restaurant

Spring City Chapter of ABWA met at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Western Sizzler Steakhouse.

Ms. Alyce Butler, president, presided. Marjorie Jordan gave the invocation. June Tucker introduced the speaker, Mrs. Truett Thomas. Mrs. Thomas is national chaplain, State Hospital chairman, past local president and past state president for Gold Star Mothers.

Mrs. Thomas spoke on the Bicentennial year. She said "We've heard more history in the last few months than probably ever in our lifetime. Americanism is very important to all of us. We, as citizens, should face up to history good or bad."

Mrs. Thomas ended her portion of the meeting by playing a tape entitled "I am the Flag," read by John Jones.

Ms. Butler won the birthday drawing. Helen Eggleston gave the vocational talk.

Ramona Molina read a letter from National Headquarters congratulating the chapter on its sixth anniversary.

Debbie Wegman was appointed chairman of the enrollment party to be held 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 14. Place of the meeting will be announced later. It was reported that the group will hold a garage sale Aug. 14 at 2503 Cindy Lane from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Peggy McDonald gave a report on a tea in Odessa held for Alnoma Dinger, national president of ABWA; and Katy Margerum, national first vice president.

Ms. Butler was noted for six years of perfect attendance.

Jean Badwick gave the benediction. Next meeting will be a salad supper.

A cup of coffee

with Marj Carpenter

Every once in a while, I just have to slip back down to the morning coffee club at the Settles Hotel because it happens to be one of my favorite groups in Big Spring.

The waitress always has their corner ready with cups waiting when they arrive. When I turned up the other morning, they just added another cup.

"Say," Hayes Stripling said, "I used to call on that Fairview Store you were wondering about in your column. Jay Land ran it for a long, long time."

"What did you do for a living?" I asked stupidly. "Delivered wholesale groceries for 50 years," Stripling answered. "I used to go to all those little stores — out at Lee's Corner and over where Jack McKinnon ran the store in the Lomax community and all of the rest of them."

"Oh good," I thought, "I'll find out about a bunch of these stores." But I couldn't keep the group on that subject. They got to thinking about the country and their old hunting days.

HAYES STRIPLING
...visited those stores

"The prairies used to be full of prairie chickens, quail and plovers," Stripling recalled. "What in the world are plovers?" I asked.

"That's a bird. They would land and eat and get real fat and when you shot them, they'd splat all over the place," Stripling added.

"On, that's nice," I thought.

Coy Nalley got off on another subject entirely, telling about how the early families used to bring their belongings out on the railroad. "It was either railroad cars or wagons in the early 1900s," he recalled. The group then discussed what year they each arrived. There were a lot of early Big Springers around the table.

Wyatt Eason mentioned two or three of the recent fence columns. He recalled that he had ridden on that "first bus that you've written about." Only we called it a "jitney," he added.

Suddenly, he noticed the picture that was on the table of Dave Duncan's last birthday party the group held. He studied the picture. "Well," Eason said, "I know everybody but that young man. Who in the world is he?"

One of his cohorts chuckled, "that's your preacher. He's going to talk at your funeral. You better meet him." They all laughed.

Dave glanced at the picture. "You got the age wrong on the cake," he recalled. "Oh it doesn't matter how old you are," one of them joked.

The friendship among this group of men is truly amazing. They have gotten together every morning for years. They absolutely know what the other one is thinking.

They know each other's politics, religion, and old stories. They know about each other's families and take the bad with the good.

They know that Big Spring has been home for a long time. They understand the bad and the good about Big Spring and they know how and why it got that way.

It's kind of like a fresh spring shower after a dust storm to visit with this group. They have passed the age where they have to be careful what they say because it might affect their business.

They can say anything they want to. And they do. That's the way I found them when I stopped for a cup of coffee while out ridin' fence.

Panel delays no-fault auto insurance action

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A House subcommittee has delayed action on a no-fault car insurance report because not enough members were present.

Three members showed up, and if they had all agreed on the report, it would have been approved. The report analyzes no-fault insurance but does not recommend any action by the 1977 legislature.

Rep. Joe Hernandez, D-San Antonio, said he would vote against it. Under House rules a majority of the full subcommittee of five is necessary to adopt a report.

"I base it on the constitutional issue of depriving an individual of his right as it has existed for 200 years to sue for his injuries in court," Hernandez said.

No-fault car insurance compensates an accident victim for his or her injuries without regard to who was to blame for a collision. Most no-fault laws enacted in other states limit the right of an injured motorist to sue for money damages.

Absent members were Reps. Bill Blythe, R-Houston, and Ronald Coleman, D-El Paso.

Rep. Carlyle Smith, D-Grand Prairie, subcommittee chairman, declined to release the document to reporters. "I would prefer to wait until our subcommittee has taken official action on any report before it is released as a product of our subcommittee work," he said.

The Associated Press protested and made a formal request in writing for the report. Under the Texas Open Records Act, Smith has 10 days in which to make the report available or to seek an attorney general's opinion as to whether it is exempt from mandatory disclosure.

Another subcommittee of which Smith is a member approved a recommendation that Texas enact a competitive rating law for auto, crop, inland marine and building insurance. Texas now uses a system of uniform rates issued by the State Board of Insurance,

European prince's farm manager killed

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Johann Toifl, 36, manager of a 9,000-acre farm in Miller County, was found dead Thursday, three weeks after he disappeared, sheriff's officers said.

There was no immediate word on the cause of death, but the county coroner said he appeared to have been shot in the face. The coroner said a new 12-gauge shotgun, along with the box it came in, lay near the body.

The Arkansas National Guard said the body was spotted in a heavily wooded area near the farm headquarters by one of its pilots, who was aiding in the search.

Toifl, a native of Austria, was manager for International Farms, Inc., which operates the Miller County farm and another 9,000-acre farm near Clarksville, Tex.

The firm that Toifl managed is the American subsidiary of the Prince of Liechtenstein Foundation.

The eldest son of Crown Prince Franz Josef II, Prince Hans Adam, arrived in Arkansas July 20 to manage the farm and help the sheriff's office with the investigation.

Toifl was last seen alive July 9 at the farm in Miller County.

Life 'beginning at 43' for Austin Shoe Stores

Life really is "beginning at forty" for Austin Shoe Stores. Actually, the Austin chain of 36 stores will be celebrating its 43rd birthday in 1976.

The first Austin Shoe Store was opened in downtown Dallas, 1910 Elm Street, in 1933. Since that time, Austin has grown with stores throughout Texas and Oklahoma.

Two new Austin units will open soon one in Temple, at the Temple Mall, and one at the Windsor Park Mall in San Antonio. October will bring yet another new store to the Ridgmar Mall in Fort Worth.

Contemporary in fashion and merchandising, nonetheless, Austin Shoes is of the old-fashioned school which strives to give

Chaparral to fly routes

Chaparral Airlines of Abilene, which won the nod of the Texas Aeronautics Commission to provide commuter flights between Abilene and four other Texas cities, hopes to start fulfilling its commitments by mid-September.

Trans-Regional Airlines of Big Spring had sought approval to cover essentially the same routes but its application was rejected by TAC.

Chaparral will fly into Austin, Houston, Lubbock and the Midland Air Terminal under the arrangement.

Car flips kill Midland man

ODESSA — An automobile accident which occurred early Thursday east of Odessa claimed the life of Keith Leroy Cooper, 31, of Midland.

Cooper was pronounced dead at the scene. Cooper's car apparently went out of control, clipped a utility pole and overturned three times.

Born in Kansas, Cooper had moved to Midland six years ago. Survivors include a son, Christopher L. Cooper; his mother, Mrs. Chloe Cooper, Denver, Colo.; three brothers and a sister.

Services arrangements are being completed at the Newell Ellis Funeral Home in Midland.

$200,000 DPS unit planned

ODESSA — The Department of Public Safety has announced plans to build new offices in Odessa and Sweetwater.

A $200,000 facility is planned for Odessa while a $175,000 structure will be erected in Sweetwater.

The DPS now spends $500 a month renting office space in Odessa.

Birdwell Church slates revival

A special service emphasizing prayer, praise, and patriotism will set the stage for the Summer Revival Meeting at Birdwell Lane Baptist Church this Sunday, at 6 p.m.

The Teen Choir will be featured as they present the musical, "I Love America."

The pastor, Bob Lee, will conclude the service with a special message centered on the same theme.

The revival effort will continue through Sunday, August 8, with Evangelist Jerry D. Locke, pastor of the Belt Line Baptist Church in Garland.

Ordination set for first deacons

Thirty men will become permanent deacons for the Catholic Church in this West Texas area during the month of August.

"This is a first for the diocese — a very happy first," said Bishop Stephen A. Leven who heads the 42-thousand-square mile, 34 county diocese. "With the ordination of the new permanent deacons, the Catholic clergy of the diocese will increase by 50 percent."

Bishop Leven who has attended each training session of the candidates for the diaconate for the past two years, has done much of the teaching personally.

Those being ordained come from all parts of the area: as far West as Fort Stockton, from Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Abilene, Stanton, Eden, Eldorado, Menard and San Angelo. Nathaniel Conner will be ordained for a parish in Stephenville. Originally from Sweetwater, his work with the USDA transferred him to Stephenville last year. He elected to return for training with his classmates for a weekend each month, and through arrangements with Bishop John J. Cassata of Ft. Worth, Bishop Leven will ordain Mr. Conner for the Diocese of Ft. Worth.

All but one of the men are married. About half of the men are Mexican-American, one is Black.

The new deacons will be ordained by Bishop Leven at six locations in the diocese during August. In Big Spring, David Dean and Wayne Roch will be ordained at 7 p.m. Aug. 28 at Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Those being ordained come from all parts of the area: as far West as Fort Stockton, from Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Abilene, Stanton, Eden, Eldorado, Menard and San Angelo. Nathaniel Conner will be ordained for a parish in Stephenville. Originally from Sweetwater, his work with the USDA transferred him to Stephenville last year. He elected to return for training with his classmates for a weekend each month, and through arrangements with Bishop John J. Cassata of Ft. Worth, Bishop Leven will ordain Mr. Conner for the Diocese of Ft. Worth.

All but one of the men are married. About half of the men are Mexican-American, one is Black.

The new deacons will be ordained by Bishop Leven at six locations in the diocese during August. In Big Spring, David Dean and Wayne Roch will be ordained at 7 p.m. Aug. 28 at Immaculate Heart of Mary.

"Brother Locke is an outstanding young Bible preacher committed to the task of presenting Jesus Christ as the only hope for our nation," according to Rev. Lee.

Locke will teach a series of lessons at 10 a.m. Tuesday through Friday, based on recent slides of the Holy Land and Bible Prophecy.

Evangelistic services will be at 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and at 10:50 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. on Sunday.

The choir, under the direction of Jack Collier, will be featured in each service, along with many special numbers by individuals.

The public is invited by church officials to hear Evangelist Jerry Locke at the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church, E. 16th at Birdwell Lane. For further information, call 267-7157.

Lamesa church homecoming set

LAMESA — The 30th anniversary of the Second Baptist Church will be held Aug. 1-8 with a homecoming and revival event, according to the Rev. Abe Hester Jr.

The Rev. A. C. Hardin, a former pastor, now in Eastland, will be the evangelist Aug. 1. The Rev. Clifton Igo of Lubbock, former pastor, will lead the services Aug. 2-8.

There will be a basket dinner, Sunday, Aug. 1 and a program Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. on highlights of the church.

All former members and friends of the church are invited to attend, according to the Rev. Hester.

Adventist Church history related

The history of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Big Spring begins when Mrs. J. D. Barron and the S. E. Earley family met in their homes for Sabbath School in 1918. They had a visiting pastor once every several months as his district included San Angelo, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Sweetwater, Stamford, Abilene and Colorado City. The Conference Office was in Clovis, N.M.

Later, the Big Spring members moved from place to place, meeting in whatever might be available — the club house on the courthouse lawn, East Ward School, and the Baptist Annex.

By 1937, their membership had grown until they needed a church building. On March 20, 1937, Elder R. P. Montgomery, of the Texico Conference, assisted by several other elders, organized the church and they immediately began looking for a suitable place for a church home.

The following names are of those who had offices in the S.D.A. church for the year of 1937: Jack W. Hughes, N. A. Peugh, Mrs. O. A. Owens, Mrs. L. C. Madison, Mrs. Hardee, Cross, Mrs. J. W. Hughes, Murray Sale, and Mrs. M. A. Peugh.

They soon purchased a lot from the Clay Read Estate at 1111 Rannels, and after paying for it, started planning the church building. Much of the materials and lumber were donated, and substantial gifts were also made by the business people of Big Spring.

The first bill of lumber was purchased on May 15, 1940 and construction began immediately. They had to

TO LEAD SERVICE — Birdwell Lane Baptist Church will hold a revival starting Sunday with the public invited. The Rev. Bob Lee invites Big Springers to attend the special event.

Bible course draws large registration

GLORIETA, N.M. — Bible-Preaching week, covering such areas as professional and personal growth, upcoming church administration, emphases and Bible study, concluded here following a record attendance of 2,575.

According to Reginald McDonough, associate director for the week and supervisor of the church staff section of the church administration department, Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, "the week has wonderful opportunities for ministers and their families to experience stimulating Bible study, skill development and personal growth."

Church administration conferences for staff members highlighted such areas as leadership skills and pastoral care. "Ministers and Wives Group" was a popular conference for husbands and wives.

Personal growth conferences were designed for the layman and professional alike, and were popularly received.

Lutherans eye national woes

ST. PAUL, Minn. — More than 1,200 delegates of the International Lutheran Laymen's League were welcomed here by Warren G. Spannaus, attorney general for the state, and Mayor George Latimer of St. Paul.

The 59th annual convention of the league began Sunday afternoon with a Lutheran Hour Rally in the Civic Auditorium attended by some 6,000 persons.

Speaking on the convention theme "Freedom in Christ," Dr. Oswald Hoffmann reminded his audience that Jesus Christ told the people of His day "If you continue in My Word... you will know the truth and the truth will make you free."

Dr. Hoffmann, speaker on The Lutheran Hour broadcast, said people today would like to believe that mere truth, secular or religious, will set them free.

"They would like to think, he said, 'that the unremitting search for knowledge, which has made gigantic strides forward during the latter half of this 20th century, will eventually free people from their mistaken ideas, as well as the pride, prejudice and passion that have kept the world in chains and held it in a kind of slavery for, lo, these many centuries."

The widely-known radio preacher added that knowledge about the world would not set people free. "Those beautiful pictures that came this week from Mars are not going to set people free," he said, "no matter what speculations may be drawn from them regarding the origin or nature of our universe."

Dr. Hoffmann said the world's problems are the same today as always. "People are trying to elbow God out of the way," he explained.

All The Way

When Pat was younger, he used to think I was a superman. He's older now, and he knows that I'm not. But he still has that special kind of confidence kids have in their parents... and more than anything else, I want to merit that trust.

There was a time when I seldom went to church. Then, one day I realized that if I were going to be the kind of father Pat needed, I had to have help - God's help. I went to church, and I prayed. At first, it wasn't easy to pray. But gradually the words came stronger and clearer.

Maybe I'll never be able to give Pat everything I'd like to give him. But he can always depend upon me for the most important thing of all: truth. I found truth in the Church.

About 31 percent of state's population being left to Democrats

No black or Mexican-American among 100 Texas GOP delegates

By SCOTT CARPENTER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

Texas Republicans claim to have launched a major drive to bring members of minority groups into their party, but you sure can't tell it by looking at the composition of the Republican delegation to the Kansas City national convention.

There isn't a single black or Mexican American among the 100 delegates. In the alternate pool, another 100 persons, Eddy Mae Mosby of San Antonio is the only black and Joe Alvarez of San Antonio was the only Spanish surname that could be identified by Reagan for President state headquarters. THE TEXAS delegation is a little more representative when it comes to the women. The figures are 35 per cent female among the delegates and 39 per cent female among the delegates and alternates combined. That certainly wouldn't fly for Democratic delegates to a national party convention, where the failure of the delegation to be at or near the required percentages can mean the delegates won't be seated. But the Republican national rules are much less stringent than the fair-play Democrats. The Republicans have Rule 29 which asks the states to make every effort to bring minorities into the voting ranks of the party.

THE FAILURE of Texas Republicans to attract black and Mexican American voters has certainly aided in keeping Texas a one-party state. The 1970 Census shows that blacks make up nearly 12.5 per cent of the total population and those with Spanish surnames get another 18.4 per cent. That's nearly 31 per cent of the state's population that is being left to the Democrats.

State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison has set a goal for 1980 — to have a substantial part of the legislature in the Republican camp. He'd like to have 40 to 50 Republican House members, which would be a four to five-fold increase.

To do that Hutchison is well aware that he's going to have to attract some Mexican American and black votes. So far his efforts have been limited to getting the State Republican Executive Committee to recognize and accept the Black Council and the Mexican American Republicans of Texas as ex-officio, non-voting members of the state committee.

BREAKING the national image of Republicans not being in tune with the needs and desires of minorities is the biggest problem, Doug Lewis, state Republican staff chief says.

The last big push by Republicans to attract minority votes was in 1970, when they worked long and hard in South Texas trying to tap into what had traditionally been guaranteed Democratic votes.

IT DIDN'T WORK. The Republicans nominated Ed Yturri of Corpus Christi for attorney general, the most recent Mexican American contender for state office, and found that Republicans didn't get any stronger vote in Mexican American areas than they had before. And, Yturri ran last among the Republicans in his futile race against then Attorney General Crawford Martin.

Currently in Texas, there is no black on the Republican Executive Committee. There are two Mexican Americans, Art Troilo Jr. of San Antonio and Bidal Cantu Jr. of Laredo, among the 61 members.

Postmaster

quits today

STANTON — William E. (Bill) Morrow, a veteran of 11 years on the job, has resigned as postmaster at Stanton. The resignation becomes effective today.

Mrs. Verla E. Doggett, long-time regular clerk in the Stanton post office, will be installed as the officer in charge, pending the selection of a postmaster.

Woman accused of killing parents

HOUSTON (AP) — A former college football coach and the daughter of a wealthy electrical contractor were being held without bond in the nearby Baytown jail today after being charged with slaying the woman's parents.

Charged with two counts of murder were Paula Cantrell Derese, 26, and Vernon Eugene McManus, 33, a former Lamar University assistant football coach.

A Harris County grand jury here indicted the pair Thursday a few hours after Baytown police filed the capital murder charges.

The bodies of Paul Cantrell, 51, and his wife, Mary, 47, were found early Sunday morning in their fashionable Baytown home.

Police said the couple had been strangled, apparently with an electrical cord, and then their throats cut.

The indictments returned by the grand jury alleged that on or about July 24 Mrs. Derese and McManus caused the death of the Cantrells to collect on life insurance and the proceeds of the estate.

Authorities would reveal little about the case although Cantrell was believed to have carried some $100,000 in life insurance.

Baytown Police Chief John Wilkinson said detectives want to determine if anyone else was involved in the slaying.

"I want to be sure in my own mind no one else was involved before we wrap up the case," he said.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Mike Hinton said Mrs. Derese told officers she ran screaming from the home after she discovered her parents' bodies when she returned home from a date.

McManus, a one-time star high school and college football player, was the owner of a Baytown plywood brokerage firm.

Mrs. Derese had been divorced twice and was employed as a secretary in the McManus plywood firm. She is the mother of a two-year old boy. Police said the boy's father had picked up the child Friday and had taken him to his home in Port Arthur.

Mrs. Derese was the slain couple's only child and lived with her parents.

McManus was co-captain of the football team at Baytown Lee High School where he graduated in 1961. He graduated from Lamar University in Beaumont in 1966 after receiving All-Southland Conference honors in 1964-65. He was named a Little All-American linebacker in 1965.

Six U.S. boxers make finals

MONTREAL (AP) — The United States, looking at an embarrassing third place finish in the XXI Olympic Games, can anticipate even greater difficulties four years from now.

"In 1980 in Moscow we will really be killed unless our government supports the athletes," said Arnie Robinson, who claimed an American gold medal — a rare occurrence this week — in the men's long jump.

"A lot of us are amateurs. There's no way to beat the rest of the world if they are professionals. When we get to Moscow, it's going to awaken the world that we are way behind."

And the United States, which adheres strictly to the Olympics' amateur code, fell further behind Russia and East Germany, whose athletes are subsidized by the state, in Thursday's competition, enlivened by a dispute between the two Communist powers.

With only two full days of competition left in these quadriennial celebrations of sport, Russia had a practically insurmountable lead in medals with 94 over-all, built on a total of 34 gold, 33 silver and 27 bronze. East Germany, whose statesupported sports enclaves have produced some phenomenal women athletes, has gained a 32-20-22 count, 74 total, and the United States is at 24-26-23, 73 over-all. West Germany is fourth at 10-8-12.

The Americans will gain more — but it doesn't figure to be enough to catch up. Six U.S. boxers last night fought their way into Saturday's finals. All are assured of a gold or a silver.

The United States also has six men unbeaten through three rounds of the freestyle wrestling competition, and Darrell Pace, Reading, Ohio, and Luann Ryan, Riverside, Calif., lead the men's and women's divisions in archery.

The Americans also have solid medal possibilities in three of today's four track and field finals.

Bruce Jenner, San Jose, Calif., was in third place after the first day of the demanding decathlon but usually has his best performances on the second day. He is rated an excellent chance at a gold. Guido Krastcmer of West Germany led after five events with 4,333 points, followed by Russia's Nikolay Avilov with 4,315 and Jenner with 4,286 — his highest first-day score ever.

Jan Merrill, Waterford, Conn., set an American record of 4 minutes, 2.61 seconds in qualifying for today's final of the women's 1,500 meters.

All three American entrants — Army Lt. Tommy Haynes, James Butts, Los Angeles, and Rayfield Dupree, Lynwood, Calif. — made it to the triple jump finals this afternoon.

The United States does not expect a medal in the other final, the 5,000 meters, where a skinny Finnish policeman, Lasse Viren, will seek to become the first man ever to win both the distance races in consecutive Olympics.

Alberto Juantorena of Cuba and Irene Szewinska of Poland made Olympic history; the East Germans won a protest against Russia, and Robinson of San Diego and Randy Williams of Fresno, Calif., gave the United States a 1-2 finish in the men's long jump, highlighting Thursday's track and field.

The Americans boasted they would shut the powerful Juantorena out of the medals in the 400 meters, but he wouldn't be held off. Juantorena won it in 44.26 and became the first man ever to win both the 800 and 400. Fred Newhouse, Baton Rouge, La., was second and Herman Frazier, from Arizona State, was third.

Mrs. Szewinska, one of the greatest performers in the Games' history, won the women's 400 in world record time of 49.29.

It was the seventh Olympic medal, going back to 1964, for the 30-year-old mother, the only woman to win, at one time or another, the Olympic 100, 200 and 400. But this was the big one — and maybe the last.

"This was the most important race for me because it was all together — a world record and an Olympic gold medal," she said. "I think this was the last Olympics for me."

Robinson got his winning 27 feet, 4 1/4 inches on his third jump and said, "Getting a good jump that early shuts out about half of them." It was only the United States' second gold medal since Sunday. Williams jumped 26-7 1/4.

Johanna Schalker of East Germany won the women's 100, followed by Russians Tatyana Anisimova and Natalia Lebedeva. The protest came in the women's discus and cost the Russians a silver medal. Evelyn Schlaak of East Germany won with a 226-4 throw and Saina Melnik of Russia, the defending champion and world record holder, was listed second.

But the East Germans protested Ms. Melnik had interrupted twice — which is prohibited — on her fifth and best throw. Hours later the judges agreed. Ms. Melnik was dropped to fourth, Maria Vergova of Bulgaria moved up from third to second and an East German, Gabrielle Hinzmann, got the bronze medal.

The United States got a bronze medal in the equestrian dressage team competition, following West Germany and Switzerland. Vladimir Nevzorov of Russia won the welterweight judo contest and Sweden took the epee team fencing event, the only other gold medal events.

It took Cuba's defending champion Teofilo Stevenson just one punch, a thundering right hand, to dispose of ambitious John Tate, a Knoxville, Tenn., truck driver, in their heavyweight semifinal bout. Stevenson knocked him out at 1:29 of the first round.

All other Americans in action advanced and were assured of silver medals — and all have gold medal possibilities. They were flyweight Leo Randolph, Tacoma, Wash.; bantamweight Charles Mooney, Ft. Bragg, N.C.; lightweight Howard Davis, Glen Cove, N.Y.; welterweight Sugar Ray Leonard, Palmer Park, Md., and the Spinks brothers, middleweight Mike from St. Louis and lightweight Leon, a Marine stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Rangers upset by Twin antics

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins added to the woes of the dishevelled Texas Rangers this week, and in the process they also left a potential full-scale feud simmering on the back burner.

The surging Twins took their third straight decision from Texas 2-1 Thursday behind the combined eight-hitter of Eddie Bane and Bill Campbell, but the Rangers left town looking ahead to their rematch next weekend in Texas.

"I don't want to start any controversy, but they kicked us while we're down," said Rangers Manager Frank Lucchesi, who was upset after Minnesota's Dan Ford stole second base in the seventh inning Wednesday night while the Twins held an 8-0 lead.

Then, to add to the furor, Texas pitcher Jim Umberger drilled Ford in the lower back with a fast ball in the first inning of Thursday's game. Ford, who charged Umberger with bat in hand, finally thought better of assaulting anyone with three pounds of hickory although both benches had already emptied onto the field just in case.

"I felt they showed us up," continued Lucchesi, who has watched the Rangers lose 19 of their last 22 games. "I would think that when a club is asleep, you don't wake 'em up."

In the Minnesota clubhouse, Twins Manager Gene Mauch said he gave Ford the steal sign.

Ironically, Ford came around to score in the first inning on a double by Craig Kusick with what turned out to be the difference in the game.

"That's the way it's been going for us," said Lucchesi.

Playing the game

All-Star tilts

By FRED BREWER

Baseball's All-Star game continues to draw capacity crowds and high television ratings while the College All-Star game slips in both categories. Yet, player apathy and one-sided dominance has pervaded both tilts for a number of years.

There are a number of reasons for this apparent contradiction:

LURE OF THE STARS — No matter how the baseball players themselves feel about the game, the fans look forward to seeing all the stars gathered in one park. Half of the players (the ones from the other league) are usually an unknown quantity to the city holding the game.

College stars used to have the same allure. However, with the advent, in recent years, of about four North-South frays and three East-West games, most fans know all about the big-name collegians before they team-up to take on the pros.

Even that disadvantage could be overcome if these top performers were making their final football appearance before becoming doctors, lawyers or Indian chiefs. This used to be the case with several stars of the past. Today, however, almost all pro prospects give the professional game a shot before entering their life-long profession.

Games people play

This year's Texas High School North-South game reminded me that this game used by one of the excuses Pennsylvanians used for Texas thumping them every year in the Texas-Pennsylvania All-Star football games of the sixties.

One of the biggest irritants to me when I moved to Pennsylvania from Georgia was the way Pennsylvanians bragged about how great their state was in high school football. This affliction was most noticeable in the Harrisburg area.

To bolster their ego Pennsylvania used to have an all-star game supposedly between the best from its state against the best from the rest of the country. It was a big farce. For one thing the U.S. All-Stars weren't the best and for another there was no incentive — so players from all over the country beat Pennsylvania, who care?

They would just scoff when I told them an all-star team from Georgia, or Texas, or California etc. would probably beat them. In the sixties it happened. They dropped the Pa.-U.S. farce and began playing Texas.

I received a few jeers after the first game — but not many. Even though Pennsylvania won the first fray, it was a much closer game than the locals expected. They knew that most of Texas' best players couldn't come because of a commitment to the Oklahoma-Texas All-Star game.

Texas came in-force the next three years and stomped Penn each time. Not surprisingly, this game was dropped — bad for the ego. Now Pennsylvania plays Ohio. Once again Pa. doesn't dominate, but it is breaking about even.

The question each July isn't, "How bad will the National League beat the American League?" but, "Can the National League win again this year?" — there's a big difference.

Teenage tourney wrapup

Many of the Clyde Bison fans were still buzzing Wednesday about the game Big Spring Knights' Ricky Cluck pitched against them Tuesday night.

For one thing he hurled a no-hitter, but what impressed them even more were the 19 strike outs he chalked up against their heroes. Their awe isn't surprising. Think of it — 19 strike outs in a seven inning game. That only leaves two put-outs for the rest of the squad.

And the Bisons proved by their play in their other three tourney-tilts that they had a good-hitting ball club.

What's it all about?

If you have any gripes praise or questions concerning players, coaches or sports writers (or sports in general), get it off your chest. Write a letter to What's it all about, Alfie, Big Spring Herald, 710

However, their 21-run burst against the Big Spring Elks in the semi-final fray is deceiving. All the Elks pitchers came up with sore arms and Manager John Workman had to finish the game with non-pitchers.

Players who've been yelling at pitchers for years to throw strikes found out, "let 'em hit it," isn't as easy as it sounds.

All during the game Workman could be seen rubbing arms. "The only thing keeping us in this game," he said, "are guts and atomic balm."

Slugfest goes 15 rounds, Midland nips Arkansas

By The Associated Press

It took 15 innings for San Antonio to pull out an 11-9 victory Thursday night in a Texas League slugfest with Lafayette.

Elsewhere around the circuit El Paso nudged Shreveport 7-6, Midland nipped Arkansas 5-4 and Amarillo beat Jackson 6-1.

In the game at Lafayette, San Antonio had the bases loaded with one out in the 15th when Keith Chauncy grounded to third base and a quick throw caught the lead runner at the plate. But a relay back to third sailed into the outfield and Dan Duran and Doug Duncan scampered home with the tying and winning runs.

Jerry Reedy paced San Antonio with a double and three singles. Craig Barnes socked his 17th home run, a single and a double for Lafayette, while teammate Wendell Kim hit four singles.

Bobby Cueller, who now has a 6-4 record with 11 saves, was the winning pitcher and Julio Divison, 5-11, the loser.

A solo homer by Gil Kubski in the sixth inning snapped a 6-6 tie and won for El Paso at Shreveport. The league's home run leader, Woolie Aikens, belted No. 24 for El Paso in the third. The mound decision went to John Roslund and the loss to Randy Hopkins, 7-6.

Midland broke a 3-3 deadlock in the seventh frame as Arkansas reliever John Urrea walked one run home and a sacrifice fly by Bill Huisman produced another. John Landrum homered and Tito Landrum went three-for-three at bat for the losers. Tony Franklin managed three singles for Midland. Pitcher Wayne Doland, 10-5, was the winner and Urrea, 9-7, the loser.

Course record tied twice

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — John Schlee, a former Army paratrooper and civilian sky diver, is keeping his feet on the ground these days, back on the pro golf tour and hopeful his physical problems are behind him.

Tall and wiry, Schlee is bouncing back from major surgery for the second time in two years, determined to add to his career prize money of more than $400,000.

Schlee equaled a course record with a six-under-par 65 Thursday but had to settle for a share of the lead as Lanny Wadkins did the same in the opening round of the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Classic.

"I'm very fortunate, apparently a fast healer," the 37-year-old Schlee said. "This is a funny thing. I underwent an operation for a ruptured disc a year ago last Jan. 5 and I returned five weeks later to the day, shooting a 65 in the Bob Hope Desert Classic."

"Now I shoot another 65, six weeks to the day after an operation for torn ligaments in my left knee. I hope I don't have to have another operation before I shoot a 65."

Schlee and Wadkins collected six birdies each without a bogey as they tied the tournament course record at Pleasant Valley Country Club's 7,119-yard course. They did things differently with the same result. Schlee went out in five-under par 31 and came back in one-under 34. Wadkins went out in 34 and roared home with a 31.

Despite their performances, Schlee and Wadkins were not assured of dual ownership of the lead until early evening because of a flock of late charges.

But the challenges fell short, and the pair shared a one-stroke advantage headed into the second round of the 72-hole test worth $40,000 to the winner.

Al Geiberger and 126-pound Mike Wynn just missed catching the co-leaders.

Geiberger started his afternoon round with five consecutive birdies. He took a bogey on the sixth hole and, except for a birdie on the ninth, had to settle for regulation the rest of the way.

There was a five-way tie at 67, two strokes off the pace. Deadlocked were Mac McLendon, Lee Elder, Rex Caldwell, Len Thompson and Dave Stockton.

Parker recommended for Stanton post

STANTON — Stanton High School's new head basketball coach likely will be Doug Parker, 33, of Georgetown.

He has been recommended for the job by Stanton school superintendent Russell McMeans. The board of trustees will act on the recommendation at a regular meeting Aug. 9.

In addition to his basketball duties, Parker would serve as an assistant in football and would coach tennis.

Parker has served as a Georgetown coach for 11 years. He graduated from the University of Texas at Austin.

He is married and the father of one child.

Parker would replace Tommy Gregory, who has taken a coaching position in Class AA Lockney.

Connally dislikes vice president job, but...

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "I've never known a happy vice president," says former Gov. John Connally of Texas, whose endorsement of President Ford has thrown him squarely into contention for nomination for that post.

"It's a do-nothing job," Connally said Thursday. "It all depends on what the President wants him to do. I've been in and out of Washington since 1939 and I've never known a happy vice president."

He told reporters he does not like to be told what he can or cannot say and where he has to go.

Nevertheless, he said, "I could do it if that fell my lot."

Connally said he believes he is competent to be vice president or president but added: "Whether I fit anyone else's bill, I don't know." He said he has done nothing to seek the nomination and that although he and President Ford have discussed campaign strategy, they have not discussed the vice presidential nomination.

Connally was in Birmingham to speak to the Southern Commodore Producers Conference and Trade Show, sponsored by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, in his first public address since throwing his support to Ford against former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

He said he does not think Reagan helped himself by tapping Sen. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania as his running mate if he is nominated at the upcoming Republican convention.

And Connally acknowledged at a news conference there is a movement to stop him from getting the vice presidential nomination if Ford is named to the top spot. "I don't know why," he said. "The only place I'm going is back to Houston."

He declined to guess whether his name on the ticket would help counteract former Gov. Jimmy Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee, in the South. "Geography is magnified all out of proportion," he said. "It all depends on the man."

He said he thinks his party will win in November because the national problems the Democrats are talking about were created by them.

"The President has a marvelous record to run on," Connally said.

He said he thinks Ford has the nomination virtually in hand because of a decision by Chairman Clark Reed of the Mississippi delegation to support Ford.

NANCY

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to utilize to fullest advantage by thinking out what your true relationship is with various persons. Come to a better understanding by solving whatever issues may be in effect.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good day to meet with associates and make any new arrangements that are necessary so there is more success in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can accomplish more than expected today if you cooperate more with others. Take time to shop for new accessories.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan the recreational activities that you wish to engage in early in the day. Steer clear of one who is jealous of you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A fine day for having a good time with family and friends. Come to a better understanding with those who oppose you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Discuss your ideas with trusted allies, but use tact in doing so. Evening is the best time for recreational fun. Don't spend too much money.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A financial expert can show you the way to have more abundance in the future. Use practical methods to gain the trust of others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Concentrate on how to gain your most cherished aims and then be resourceful at such. Bring out your true charm and delight others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are capable of investigating and coming up with the right answers, which is difficult for others, so get busy at that.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put business matters aside and enjoy the company of good friends you have not seen in a long time. Avoid one who is pessimistic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you engage in a civic affair your reputation in the community improves. Some philanthropic work will also be helpful to others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day for taking a trip that will gain your desired ends, be it for business or pleasure. Take needed health treatments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure to keep promises you have made with friends. More affection for mate brings the right response at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be naturally endowed with a true consideration for others because of the ruling planets and can therefore become a big success in life. Be sure to give spiritual training early in life. Whatever has to do with art and diplomacy is fine here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
