Keeping tab on our neighbors:

While a lot of candidates put in plenty of time and money trying to get themselves elected to office, Mitchell County has been trying to get someone to take an office.

"Another meeting for the purpose of placing names on November's general election ballot for the office of Justice of the Peace, Precinct, No. 1, will be held this week, advises chairman of the precinct committee, G.D. Foster," reports the Colorado City Record.

"A meeting was held last Thursday for the same purpose but Foster said no one showed up."

The vacancy occurred after Leonard Henderson won the Democratic Party nomination in the primary election, but then resigned.

"People hate inflation, but love everything that causes it. Farmers hate inflation but they like high price supports. Laboring pople hate inflation but they like an increase in the minimum wage. Industrial people hate inflation but they like to keep out cheap foreign goods. The lending community hates inflation but likes a plentiful supply of credit."—Don Paarlberg, U.S. Department of Agriculture economist, quoted in Farmland News.

It was the Farmland News, also, that reported on solutions to energy shortages as suggested by pupils from an elementary school in St. Louis.

How are these for summer conservation?

"Don't drink so much water, then you won't have so much humidity in you and you won't feel the heat so bad."

"Let birds fly around the house to keep the air circulating."

"Play records of real blowy winds and sleet and stuff and shake jingle bells before the news every hour."

And come winter time, how about trying these?

"Lower people's body temperature to 68 degrees.

"Make it a rule that there has to be at least two people in every big bed that uses an electric blanket."

"When beds aren't in use take the blankets and put them around the room to help hold the heat."

"Put more hot sauce in the food."

"Don't have so many days of school."

And these were recommended for any season:

"Give free ear plugs to everyone so if somebody starts talking about how hot or cold he is, nobody has to listen."

"Eat more carrots so we can see just as good with less light."

"Dip everything that's made in stuff that glows in the dark."

"Don't stay in more than one room at a time."

Who can argue with this advice?—WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 21, the 172nd day of 1974. There are 193 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1788, the U. S. Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it.

On this date.

In 1834, the American inventor, Cyrus McCormick, was granted a patent on his reaping machine.

In 1898, the first U.S. troops landed in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1919, in World War I, part of a German fleet interned at Scapa Flow in Scotland was scuttled by the German crewmen.

In 1942, in World War II, 30,000 British soldiers were taken prisoner as the stronghold of Tobruk in Libya fell to the Germans.

In 1945, Japanese forces on the island of Okinawa surrendered to the Americans.

In 1963, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Milan, Italy was elected Pope. He took the name Paul VI.

Ten years ago: Communist China warned underdeveloped nations that they would become subject to Soviet domination if they accepted aid from the Soviets.

Five years ago: At least 62 persons were killed when an express train derailed near Benares, India.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court handed down a new set of guidelines on obscenity, giving local authorities more control over books, magazines, plays and motion pictures.

Colson Receives 3-Year Sentence, $5,000 Fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, once one of President Nixon's highest-ranking advisers, was sentenced today to serve one to three years in prison for obstructing justice.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell also imposed a $5,000 fine.

Maximum penalty on the charge would have been five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

"For 3½ years I worked day and night. I believed I was making a great personal sacrifice for my country," Colson said before sentencing.

"This experience has brought a complete re-examination of myself and I will spend the rest of my life regretting what I have done," he said.

After Colson's 12-minute statement to the judge, his lawyer spent a full half-hour asking that Colson be placed on probation rather than be sent to prison.

Attorney David I. Shapiro told Gesell that Colson should not be sent to prison because of "public expectations."

He said sending Colson to prison "would be, in my view, a most popular decision. It would also be a terribly short-sighted one."

The judge interrupted him saying, "You're barking up the wrong tree ... you are beating a dead horse." Gesell said public opinion would not sway him one way or the other.

As he sentenced the defendant, Gesell said, "The court does recognize that Colson's public image was somewhat distorted" but that he had to send him to prison.

The sentence means that Colson must serve at least one year at an institution not yet designated. The judge gave him until July 8 to surrender.

Colson had been charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and obstructing justice in the Watergate cover-up case and with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in the plumbers case. Both those charges were dismissed today.

Colson pleaded guilty on June 3 to a newly drawn charge of obstructing justice.

In that plea he admitted that in 1971 he concocted and carried out a scheme to "defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Daniel Ellsberg, then nearing trial in the Pentagon Papers case.

Search Resumed

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Authorities resumed a search along the Pere Marquette River today for a U.S. Department of the Interior study team member from Houston, Tex.

Sheriff's deputies said a four-hour search Thursday failed to locate Christopher Flynn of Houston. Flynn was working with two other team members along the river when he tripped and disappeared in the water.

Inflation Rate Moves Up Again

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The annual rate of inflation in consumer prices returned to double digit levels in May following the April slowdown, the Labor Department reported today.

Consumer prices in May were 10.7 per cent above a year earlier and, if the May inflation rate continued for the next 12 months, would be more than 13.2 per cent higher than now at the end of the next 12 months, the department said.

The May increase in the Consumer Price Index was 1.1 per cent. This compared with a six-tenths of one per cent increase in April.

The Nixon administration hopes to bring inflation down to a seven per cent annual rate by year's end.

There were sharply higher prices last month for a wide range of goods and services, including food, health services, clothing and used cars.

Among the bad news reported in the May index was a nine-tenths of one per cent increase in food prices on a seasonally adjusted basis, reversing the four-tenths of one per cent decline in April.

Prices of fresh vegetables were up 19 per cent in May, much worse than usual for this time of year. Also increasing rapidly were prices for fresh fruits, cereal and bakery products, sugar and sweets, and processed fruits and vegetables, the department said.

The only favorable consumer trends in the food area were lower prices for meats, poultry and eggs.

The May increase of 1.1 per cent in the CPI was both on a seasonally adjusted and unadjusted basis. The index stood in May at 145.6 of the 1967 average of 100, meaning it cost $145.60 to buy what $100 purchased in the 1967 survey.

The big increase seemed certain to increase demands in Congress and among consumer groups for new initiatives to bring inflation under control.

E. H. Williamson Rites Pending

Funeral arrangements were still pending today at Bell-Seale Funeral Home for E.H. (Ab) Williamson, who died early Thursday in Hawaii.

Arrangements were due to be announced either late today or early Saturday. Mr. Williamson died unexpectedly after he was stricken with a heart attack while vacationing in Hawaii.

Power To Call Sessions Left To Governor

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates knuckled under to Gov. Dolph Briscoe today and voted 105-27 against enabling the legislature to call itself into special session.

The legislator-delegates had wanted this power, but they yielded to arguments that the governor's support was necessary to win voter approval of a new Texas Constitution.

"I am offering this amendment as a practical matter to gain support for the constitution," said Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur.

When the convention considered the legislative article the first time around several months ago, a sizeable majority voted to give lawmakers the power to call special sessions by means of a petition signed by two-thirds the members of each house.

Briscoe contended this would swing the balance of power among the branches of government too far in the legislature's favor.

"We've greatly enhanced the powers of the governor's office. We've given the governor great power over the executive branch. So such a provision as we are debating today is not a power grab by the legislature but an effort to keep power equal to the executive branch," Rep. Richard Geiger, D-Dallas, said.

Compromises worked out with the governor on two other provisions dealing with the balance of power between the executive and legislative branches were approved Thursday.

A 106-41 vote changed the required majority to override a veto from two thirds of those present and voting to three-fifths the total membership of each house.

Briscoe agreed to a provision allowing legislators to convene in brief special sessions to consider overriding a veto. But he insisted on greater majority than the 51 per cent originally proposed to call such a session. The convention voted 113-37 for a compromise requiring a three-fifths majority of each house on a petition calling a "veto session."

Briscoe's attitude toward a new constitution seemed to be the main subject of Thursday's floor session, and the governor's wife watched and listened for a time from the spectator's gallery.

A convention leader, Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Angleton, said Briscoe's support was "exceedingly important."

"I think if he opposed the document, he could kill it," Caldwell said. Voter approval is needed before a new constitution can take effect.

Briscoe has asserted that the legislative article as approved before the compromises were reached would weaken the governor's power.

Rep. Larry Bales, D-Austin, urged the delegates to keep the section allowing lawmakers to call themselves into special session by a petition of two-thirds of each house. He reminded them of Briscoe's refusal thus far to call a session to deal with the financial crisis faced by many public school districts.

"It is time we drew the line in this convention. We've given in to the county judges, the justices of the peace, the highway lobby, the timber barons, the college presidents. I guess we might as well give in to the governor, too," Bales said ironically.

Study Of Utility Rates Requested

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the House Energy Crisis Committee said today Gov. Dolph Briscoe had assured him a special legislative session would be called if the panel could find a way of giving Texans relief from soaring utility rates.

Briscoe asked the committee Thursday to study the problem.

"He said he would call a special session to deal with this problem if we could find a workable solution that would provide immediate relief," said committee chairman Jon Newton, D—Beeville.

Newton said the committee's first hearing will be in San Antonio next Thursday night.

Briscoe named Rep. Jon Newton, D—Beeville, chairman of the House Energy Crisis Committee, to conduct the hearings and draw up recommendations to the next legislature.

Briscoe suggested hearings in Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and any other pints deemed necessary.

"Many Texas citizens today are having to pay utility rates that are two and three times as high as last year's rate, and it appears that these rates will continue to climb even higher," Briscoe said. "We must find a solution to this problem which will provide some relief from these ballooning costs.

"I am particularly concerned with the added financial burden these exorbitant rates have placed on the thousands of older Texans who are forced to live on a fixed income," he said.

Action On Bid Is Rescinded

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees this morning rescinded action taken Monday night on a bid for a station wagon.

The board had accepted a bid by Mal Donelson Chevrolet for a 12-passenger vehicle. Subsequently, it was determined that a 12-passenger conveyance would be inadequate for the use intended for the vehicle, and a special meeting was called this morning to rescind Monday night's vote.

The college district plans to purchase a larger vehicle to transport the Western Texas College basketball team, coaches and equipment to out-of-town games.

Demands For Water Soar

Water consumption figures have alsmost doubled in Snyder during the past 10 days, city officials reported this morning.

The result has been a sharp drop in water pressure in some areas as the city's water system is functioning at near capacity at certain hours.

Consumption has gone over the 5-million gallons per day mark consistently during the past week. This is in sharp contrast to figures for the month of May when water consumption here averaged about 2½ million gallons per day.

Late night hours are used to replenish overhead storage facilities. Pressure drops in early morning and late afternoon, prime hours for lawn-watering, it was noted. Temperatures near the 100-degree mark and even beyond, plus continued dry weather, indicate the demands for water will continue.

Evidence Dispute Arguments Begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers told the Supreme Court today that if the White House is required to surrender more evidence in the Watergate affair "that decision will alter the nature of the American presidency profoundly and irreparably."

In a 149-page legal brief, the White House argued that the high court should overturn a U.S. district court ruling which would require the President to turn over tape recordings of 64 conversations.

The Watergate special prosecutor says this material is essential for the trial in the Watergate cover-up case.

Oral arguments in the evidence dispute are scheduled in the Supreme Court for July 8 in a rare and historic summer session.

White House Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair said that few cases in the nation's history "have cut so close to the heart of the basic constitutional system in which our liberties are rooted ... at its core, this is a case that turns on the separation of powers."

"All other considerations are secondary, because preserving the integrity of the separation of powers is vital to the preservation of our Constitution as a living body of fundamental law," St. Clair contended.

President Nixon lost court battles over access to tapes last fall in U.S. District Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals. He then provided the recordings at issue in that case rather than take the controversy to the Supreme Court.

Nixon asked the Supreme Court Thursday to give him access to the evidence which led the Watergate grand jury to name him as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Community Development Bill Is Spurred By Worst Housing Slump

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the nation experiences its worst housing slump in decades, the House has overwhelmingly passed an $11.3 billion housing and community development bill.

Thursday's 351-25 vote, the largest for any housing bill in recent history, showed a near-unanimous desire to funnel new monies into hard-strapped cities and to get housing programs for the poor moving again.

Although the bill would leave dormant the subsidized construction programs the Nixon administration froze 18 months ago and would transfer the emphasis to leased housing for the poor, other sections in it were designed to stimulate the home financing industry and thus help the over-all housing industry.

"It's a good, modest bill," said House Speaker Carl Albert after the vote. "I think it's as good as we could get through that would be signed."

In a series of surprise votes on amendments offered by Republicans, the House attached two significant amendments to help the elderly and order the government to start spinning off its huge backlog of repossessed houses for "urban homesteaders" for rehabilitation.

One amendment, by Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., would revive a popular direct loan program for construction of housing for the elderly. The Nixon administration stopped the program in 1969.

Steele said the $1.5-billion revolving loan fund would provide for construction of 72,000 units specially designed for needs of the elderly.

When previously operated, the loans were offered to builders at 3 per cent interest. The Steele amendment calls for the interest to be adjusted to whatever the actual cost of the money to the government, which is at least double that.

Another amendment easily approved, offered by Rep. William M. Ketchum, R-Calif., would give the elderly a rent break by allowing them to deduct future increases in Social Security payments from the gross income.

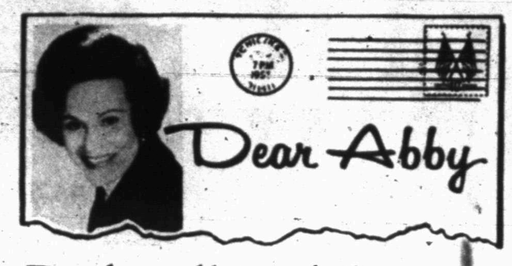

The bill had provided for a minimum rent of 10 per cent of the gross income of elderly tenants in leased housing programs.

The homesteading amendment by Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., was similar to one that Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., had tried unsuccessfully to attach on the bill in committee.

It requires the Housing and Urban Development Department to resell repossessed homes for a token fee to urban homesteaders.

In some cities with experimental homesteading programs, the surplus houses are sold for as little as $1. In others, the sale price ranges up to $30,000.

The Holt amendment would require the homesteaders to occupy the single-dwelling houses for a minimum of five years and to bring them up to building code standards.

Bank teller makes a $1,000 mistake

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work.

I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up?

I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. [$1,000.] As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one else seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man—he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not.

Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should count all money twice before handing it over, and then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. My father forced me to have sex with him. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back.

I think after keeping house for my father and submitting to him for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?

WONDERING IN N. Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M.": A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. [This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

TGRA Sets Expansion

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Good Roads Association (TGRA) is expanding its organization to take in growing interest in mass transportation as well as highways.

The decision was made Thursday at the annual meeting of the highway lobby organization, TGRA officials said.

The TGRA also supported establishment of a new state department responsible for administratin of highway and mass transportation programs.

Another resolution endorsing federal legislation providing mass transporation funds from general revenue was adopted.

The TGRA action on mass transportation made it plain that a separate regenerative state mass transportation fund be set up that would not compete with the present state highway fund, which is supported by the state gasoline tax, TGRA officials said.

COWBOY ART TO SHOW—This oil painting by Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia is typical of the art to be exhibited here at the Texas Cowboy Artists Association show and sale this weekend at the Scurry County Coliseum. The TCA show will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at the coliseum. Also, the Diamond M Museum will be open to the public both Saturday and Sunday afternoons in conjunction with the TCA event.

Soviets Sign Huge Contract

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chemical Construction Corp. of New York has won the largest Soviet contract ever granted an American firm. Worth about $200 million, it covers the developing and equipping of the first four plants of a huge ammonia-fertilizer complex.

The contract was signed Thursday at the Soviet Foreign Trade Ministry by John Clarke, head of the Chemico division responsible for the project, and the head of the Soviet foreign trade department supervising the deal.

Also present was Armand Hammer, chairman of Occidental Petroleum, who negotiated the master Soviet-American agreement under which the complex is being built.

The U.S. Export-Import Bank last month granted a $180-million loan to the Soviet Union for construction of the complex. American commercial banks are to match this sum.

Under a proposed 20-year deal, the Soviet Union will buy superphosphates produced in Florida by an Occidental consortium and use them to make a type of fertilizer greatly needed by Soviet agriculture.

In return the Soviets will ship the United States urea and ammonia to be used in production of nitrogen fertilizers. The new plants will produce the urea and ammonia from natural gas from the Soviet Union's Orenberg field. Chairman William Casey of the Export-Import Bank said this would free enough American natural gas to heat a million homes a year.

In April 1973, when the initial protocol was signed, Hammer estimated it would generate $8 billion in trade. On Thursday he increased his estimate to more than $20 billion, explaining that the price of ammonia and phosphates had more than doubled.

Chemico is to supply the designs, engineering, material, construction advisers and equipment for four plants at Togliatti, on the Volga river about 400 miles east of Moscow. Each will produce 1,360 tons of ammonia a day.

Clarke said he expects construction to start by Jan. 1 with completion four years later. The Soviets plan to build four more plants in the complex, but the contracts for them have not been let yet.

County Court Pleas Heard

Five guilty pleas were entered in county court yesterday.

James Lee Savell, Lloyd Ray Barr, Jerry Dean Barnes and Ralph Chester Hoyle all pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. Each recieved a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term.

Savell was arrested June 2 by Highway Patrolmen. Barr was arrested Feb. 3 by Highway Patrolmen. Barnes was arrested June 15 by City Police. Hoyle was arrested April 20 by Highway Patrolmen.

Jerry Thomas Walton pleaded guilty to driving while his license was suspended. He received a $25 fine plus court costs and a 72-hour jail term. He was arrested May 2 by City Police.

Austin Bond Rating Drops

AUSTIN (AP) — A drop in the city's revenue bond rating will cost Austin taxpayers an extra $500,000 in added interest, city officials said.

The low bid on a $22 million bond issue for water, sewer and electric system improvements was an effective interest rate of 6.116843, about one per cent higher than the last bond sale.

Curtis Adrian, bond advisor to the city, said this means the city must pay about $500,000 more interest on the issue now than it would have last February.

Austin enjoyed a AAA bond rating for five years on its utility bonds but recently that was dropped to AAA primarily because of the city's problems and increased costs in getting natural gas for its electric power plants.

Draft Office Is Relocated

AUSTIN—Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has announced the relocation of the office site of Local Boards Nos. 80 and 96 from Sweetwater to Abilene effective immediately.

Local Board meetings for Local Board No. 80 will will continue to be conducted in Jayton, and for Local Board No. 96 in Sweetwater, but Selective Service files and records will now be kept at the Selective Service office in Room 2106 in the Post Office Building in Abilene.

Any registrant seeking information about his duties and requirements under the law, or who wishes to discuss details of his Selective Service file should now contact the Selective Service office in Abilene.

All young men are still required by Federal Law to register with Selective Service within 30 days before or after their 18th birthday, and should now report to the Selective Service office in Abilene, or to one of the officially appointed registrars in Dickens, Kent, Stonewall, Scurry Fisher or Nolan Counties. They are: Mr. Buford Browning, Court House, and Sgt. William R. Barlow, National Guard Armory in Snyder.

The University of Tulsa basketball team will visit Hawaii next season to play in the Rainbow Classic. Dates for the Honolulu games are Dec. 26-30.

Oil Firms Sued By Con Edison

NEW YORK (AP) — The Consolidated Edison Co. has filed a $208 million antitrust suit charging several major oil companies plotted to drive prices up and keep down the supply of low-sulphur Persian Gulf Oil.

The suit field Thursday in Manhattan federal court drew quick denials from spokesmen for two of the firms named.

The suit "strikes us as straight out of Grimm's Fairy Tales," said a Mobil Oil Corp. official. A Standard Oil Co. of California official said, "We are completely confident we have conducted ourselves within the spirit and the letter of the law and believe this suit is without foundation."

The other defendants are Chevron Oil Trading Co., Texaco Inc., and Texaco Overseas Petroleum Co.

The suit charges the firms with deciding in 1971 to monopolize oil trading in the Persian Gulf area.

Bentsen Says Presidency Is Too Powerful Now

HOUSTON (AP) — The office of the U.S. president has become too powerful and the chief executive too exalted, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said today.

"The office of the presidency has deviated considerably from the original intent," Bentsen said in a speech. "It has become more remote, more exalted, more powerful. And it has become more distrusted and feared—both at home and abroad."

Bentsen, who has been mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential or vice presidential candidate in 1976, spoke at a meeting of the Houston Democratic Forum, an organization formed to hear speeches by leading members of the party.

"In spite of modern demands for protection and security, Harry Truman was one of the most accessible of presidents," Bentsen said. "He got his exercise by taking brisk early morning walks through the streets of Washington—followed by a breathless retinue of reporters and a barrage of questions.

"He kept his perspective by reminding himself, when faced with crucial decisions, that he was just an average American citizen—who happened to be occupying the office of the presidency at that particular time in history.

"It is this perspective that needs to be restored and re-emphasized—by an open president, an accessible president, a democratic president—spelled with a small 'd'—who makes no apology for democracy."

Bentsen said the office of the presidency has become tougher over a long period of time, but the time has come to change the concept of the office.

"The recent turmoil surrounding that office is a clear signal that it is time to re-examine the role of the president in exercising the just powers conferred by the consent of the governed."

Despite the heavy burden placed on the presidential office, Bentsen said there are thousands of persons in this country qualified to lead it.

"I reject categorically the undemocratic idea that there is only one person in either party who is uniquely qualified for the presidency," he said.

"We may have shortages in this country, but there is no shortage of leadership. There is an abundance of talent to be tapped. And it is the responsibility of the political parties to tap it so that they can offer the American people a choice of highly qualified candidates to occupy the office of the presidency," he said.

Israelis Continue To Hit Guerrillas

By The Associated Press

Israel says its search for peace in the Middle East will not stop its strikes at Arab terrorist groups that kill Israeli citizens.

Israel will "continue its wholehearted efforts for speeding the peacemaking process," said a communique Thursday night from the Foreign Ministry in Jerusalem. But the communique added that Israel will also continue striking against the terrorist organizations responsible for "the murder of Israeli civilians."

The statement was issued on the heels of the fourth and most devastating Israeli air raid this week against Palestinian targets in Lebanon in retaliation for the guerrilla raid on the Shamir kibbutz last week.

A guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said 30 Palestinian refugees were killed and 122 wounded in the raids Thursday, when five refugee camps were hit. A spokesman for the Lebanese government said two Lebanese were killed and six were wounded in addition.

The spokesman, Zohair Mohsen of the Syrian-backed Saika guerrillas, told a news conference that Palestinians were "facing a war of annihilation by Israel, which was instigated by Nixon, that false hero of peace."

He said the joint statement issued by President Nixon and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin at the conclusion of Nixon's visit to Israel Monday "signaled the green light for the barbaric raids against innocent civilians."

A clause in the U.S.-Israeli communique said every nation has a duty to abstain "from organizing or encouraging irregular forces or armed bands including mercenaries from incursion into the territory of another state."

Although the Israeli military command claimed its planes hit only military targets, Israeli military sources said some of the targets were inside the refugee camps, and the refugees were endangering their own safety by harboring the guerrillas.

SUNDAY DRIVERS—Pictured are Roy and J.R. (Rob) Strayhorn and a cousin, Fannie Mae Cole. The wagon was made by Allen Warren who also trained the goats to pull it. He drove them all the way from Coleman County to Snyder. Joe Strayhorn bought the wagon and team for $16.00 and the children drove them all over Snyder. (Picture made before 1900).

J. R. Strayhorn Shares Memories Of This Area

By DELILA BAIRD
DAR Chapter Regent

The story of a country is the story of its people, and the present is a composite of the backgrounds of all its citizenry. This does not begin with the creation of a county by the Texas Legislature, nor with the official organization through selection of a County Seat and election of county officials. As a part of a continuing Bicentennial project of making local history live through recording and preserving history and heritage, Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution of Rotan is collecting and compiling accounts of pioneering families of the area.

J. R. Strayhorn and his wife Vera Bartlett Tyson Strayhorn moved to Rotan from Scurry County in 1923. He shares some of his memories of early life in this area. This is his story.

"My Uncle Jim Strayhorn was the first of our family to come to this section of the country. He came for the specific purpose of filing on a section of land and proving it. He filed on land in Scurry County located about seven miles northwest of Camp Springs. My father came with him, but he was too young to file on land. This was in 1885. Uncle Jim built a dug-out on his claim and worked for the Nunn Brothers for three years while proving it. They had about 30,000 head of cattle, and that year they sold 7,000 head to the government for the Indians on reservations. Uncle Jim was put in charge of driving the herd to Montana and delivering them to the government agents in 1888. On the way back home he became ill. They spent the night at Old Tascosa on the Canadian River. Although sick, he left for home the next morning but died before they reached Snyder. His father came from Johnson County Texas to live on his claim. This was my grandfather, R. J. Strayhorn.

"Grandfather ran for County Judge of Scurry County and was elected. He died in 1897 during his second term.

"The Strayhorns brought a large bunch of sheep from Hamilton County to west Scurry. It was all government land there, but is was so dry that in 1894 my dad, Joe Strayhorn and his brother took the sheep to Greer County, Oklahoma. My mother drove the chuck wagon through all that rough country. They didn't hit a fence until they reached the Matador Ranch, but they were permitted to go on through. When we reached the Pease River the plums were beginning to ripen. After a diet of mostly meat and potatoes, those were a treat. My mother always said there were never any other plums as good as those on the Pease.

"After arriving in Oklahoma they had the sheep sheared by some Mexican and Indian shearers. It seemed that they had every disease imaginable including whooping cough, and I caught them all."

The Strayhorns had an Implement business in Snyder where they sold buggies and wagons. As there was no railroad to Snyder they had to go to Colorado City to get them. They also had a grocery store at one time. They traded it for a gin and then traded the gin for 200 head of cattle.

"When I was ten years old we drove cattle to some leased land at Shallowater. There was a good well there and we just turned them loose. Uncle Pope Strayhorn, Mr. DeShazo and I drove the cattle. One vivid recollection is seeing a wagon stopped where we went up on the Cap Rock. Two men were there watching an enormous rattle snake. It was as big around as my leg and very black. They were afraid to tackle it without a gun. Uncle Pope had a shot gun in the chuck wagon so he killed the snake. They cut off its 38 rattlers and took those with them. We camped for a day or two where Mc Kenzie Park now is. It was the first green that the cattle had seen for some time.

"On that same drive when we were on the Slaughter Ranch it came a hard rain and a strong wind out of the west. The girls were driving the chuck wagon and the team was a pair of half broken mules. Uncle Pope thought he should get the team unhitched from the wagon and that left only two of us with the herd. The cattle stampeded and we got separated. I had about half of them, and when my bunch found a lake filled with water they stopped to drink. I was wet and cold and bedded down with the saddle and blanket. Anbout the time I got to sleep the coyotes began howling. It didn't take me long to saddle up and remount. I stayed on my horse the remainder of the night. They found me and the cattle about nine or ten o'clock the next morning. I had had nothing to eat and that was bothering me more than anything else.

"I recall once that we had a big snow that stayed on the ground for a month. We had to shovel a trail to the barn so we could milk the cows. As it kept snowing every day we had to keep shoveling until we had it piled as high as six feet by the trail. So it was always referred to as the six foot snow. And sand storms! Once they let us out of school right after noon because the sand was getting so bad. Of course all of the kids walked, and the ones that went our way got lost. We finally got to one of the girl's home and knew that ours was only a few blocks away.

"My first business was a Ford dealership in Snyder. I started selling Model T's in 1914 or 1915. Then I went into the army in World War I and turned the business over to Dad. A few years after the war I got the Ford Dealership in Rotan and continued with it for twenty-five years.

"One of our favorite sports used to be chasing coyotes in a Model T. We'd hit a fence post, knock it down, and go over it in the car. The wire would raise up behind us and we would continue after the coyote. We'd cometimes go down to Bull Creek and fish for catfish in the sand holes with our bare hands. Once when we went quail hunting on Thanksgiving Day it came such a sandstorm that we had to call off the cooking out and the eating, too.

"I remember the first time I heard what was always referred to as "the turkey story". Two area residents had gone hunting and killed six wild turkeys for Thanksgiving. As they walked home it grew dark and they kept hearing something padding along behind. They threw one of the turkeys back to find out what it was. They had never heard such growling and knew that it was mountain lions. One at a time the other turkeys were thrown down to keep the lions occupied, and they arrived home safely, but without a turkey.

"One incident shows something of the character of the early settlers. The Winstons, who had filed on several sections of land, had a garden on the north side of the house. One morning they saw a deer eating the corn, and Mr Winston grabbed his gun and started out. They were practically tasting that venison when Mrs. Winston said, 'Do you know what day it is?' So he put the gun down and they got along without that meat. He wouldn't shoot the deer because it was Sunday.

"Uncle Ken Elkins was married three times and had twenty-one children. Every year he had a camp meeting for a week or ten days up at McKenzie Mountain. I really can't verify the facts about this, but I have heard it all my life. A bunch of them decided to ride twenty miles into Snyder where a meeting was in progress. They thought it would be fun to shoot it up and break up the meeting. He went down front, got interested in what the preacher was saying, and changed their plans. The camp meetings were the result of that episode."

Once upon a time in the not too remote past, family heritage and traditions were kept alive as they were passed from parents to children and grandchildren. The present hurry-scurry mode of life doesn't leave much time for that. If our history and heritage are to be preserved for future generations, it must be recorded now. This is the purpose of the bicentennial project of Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter DAR.

Retarded Adults Have Own Village

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In a self-contained working community, retarded adults may live happily ever after. The idea gets away from institutionalized communities by providing the kind of housing that is enjoyed by normal people.

Such a plan seems to be ticking away happily on a 400-acre farm, Innisfree Village, in the Blue Ridge Mountains near Crozet and Charlottesville, Va., where the first four of 20 or so pre-engineered houses are nestled, and where 24 retarded over-17s work and live with 17 normal, unsalaried co-workers and their 13 children.

It is another way to solve the problem of what happens to retarded adults. About the time normal children are being kicked out of the family nest to make their own way, the retarded child, who has finished schooling and is unable to cope with public transportation, may begin to face a lifetime of sedentary work in a sheltered atmosphere as an adult.

At Innisfree, named for the W. B. Yeats poem, the longtime dream of its director, Heinz Kramp, has changed that old idea, and he hopes to establish other communities of the sort, he said in a phone interview. He became interested in retardation through studies and teachings of the retarded in Montgomery County, Va.

"We are moving toward the idea of smaller numbers in the future rather than one community that would continue to grow in size, perhaps several communities of less than the 150 planned for this one. We might spread to other states."

The retarded weave, build wooden objects and bake some 100 loaves of wholewheat bread each day during normal work hours. Everything has a ready market.

As more money becomes available, more villagers will be accepted. A nominal fee is charged for tuition.

Other than the fact there are no locks on bedroom doors and every room is safety proof with sprinkler and alarm systems, the contemporary houses with their built-in normal families are not very different from other houses in which normal people live, and the "villagers," as they are known, are free to roam about.

As they progress, a series of houses may accommodate them, commented Margaret Leaf, a design consultant with Techbuilt, who added small changes to the company's basic houses. She was especially interested in the work — she had done studies on the retarded in Massachusetts and had been actively engaged in child legislation in Connecticut before joining the North Dartmouth, Mass., housing company, and she is excited by what she has seen at Innisfree.

"The villagers may move to smaller houses as they go along, after living perhaps in the largest one — 11 bedrooms — at first. As he adjusts, he may move a quarter of a mile away to a smaller house. Later, he may live in a duplex, perhaps," she explained. Since she became involved with the farm, she has noticed marvelous progress in the physical and emotional development of many of the villagers, she says.

She spent four days in the woodworking shop helping to adapt the machinery to the house. There is a liberal use of glass in all the houses. Nine looms are on the second level of one of the houses, which adapt easily to change because of their post and beam construction. Partitions can be put up anywhere because no interior wall bears weight, so there was no difficulty.

"The most marvelous thing was that the villagers helped build the houses with the builder. The four-foot sections are easily put together," shere-marked.

"Sliding glass doors open on some patios from the living rooms and the decks provide a place for sunning and picnicking. Kitchens were adapted to little changes — cabinets open on either side below the pass-through between kitchen and dining room, and shelves are close together so dishes need not be carried too far without being rested," she said.

"The houses can look different on each site depending on placement, size and the mix of panels, yet the architecture can provide a look of continuity, without giving an institutional look, one of the main objectives.

MAWC Begins 21st Year

The Martha Ann Woman's Club is beginning its Twenty-first year of operation.

Founded in 1954, the club's purpose is to maintain and support charitable, literary and educational understanding for the women of Snyder.

Mrs. W.B. McSpadden, board president, presided over the June board meeting in which plans for the coming year were discussed.

Mrs. Truett Bryant, first vice president, presented some of the proposed activities for the coming year.

These include a fall coffee and style show for the members of the club. In December, the annual tour of homes and in connection with this the Christmas bazaar and sandwich supper.

Also planned for the membership is a luncheon to be held in the spring.

The board of directors is composed of one or more members from the participating clubs. Other officers include Mrs. Harry Ward, second vice president; Mrs. Amon Weaver, recording secretary; Mrs. R.C. Lunsford, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bill J. Hood, treasurer and Mrs. Lonnie Knutson, assistant treasurer.

The participating clubs include Alpha Study Club, Altrurian Study Club, Altrurian Daughters, Art Guild, Atheneum, Beta Sigma Phi, B&PW, Cosmorama, Musical Coterie, Snyder Garden Club, Twentieth Century, Twilight Garden Club and Weight Watchers.

Cincinnati Opera Opens With Sills

CINCINNATI (AP) — Opening the Cincinnati Summer Opera will be Beverly Sills and John Alexander in "Roberto Devereux," on June 26. This opera has never been presented by the company and this production, the gift of the Corbett Foundation to the New York City Opera in 1970, has not been seen outside New York and Los Angeles.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Planned unit housing developments are nothing new. Various forms of them have been in existence in the civilized world for thousands of years and may have been utilized even before then by cavemen.

Whereas planned shelter programs of the past were governed by the needs of the population, such as proximity to hunting areas and waterways, today's are predicated largely on recreational amenities. Planned communities are geared to specific life styles. Developers advertise not only the kind of dwelling that is available but access to golf courses, swimming pools, lakes, airstrips, ski runs, tennis courts, clubhouses and various other built-in conveniences for the expenditure of leisure time.

With weekly working hours shrinking and more free time available, this is a trend that will increase greatly in the years ahead. A Chicago architect, Salvatore Balsamo, believes that, before long, all planned unit developments will have what only a few have now — extensive recreational activities programs supervised by full-time recreational directors.

Balsamo says that planned unit developments are receiving increasing acceptance from public sectors and local governmental planning bodies because they ease land scarcity and control growth, establish community identities quickly and provide distinct life styles for the residents. Hopefully, they will also halt skyrocketing land prices, building costs and real estate taxes.

Sophisticated and innovative ingredients will determine the success of future planned unit developments, according to the architect. Especially interesting is his prediction of what is ahead for the residents of such communities in the matter of security. He explains:

"There will be maximum internal and external security through closed-circuit TV, manned entry gatehouse, 24-hour guard patrol and a key card system. Closed-circuit TV monitors can be hooked up in living units so occupants can identify their callers. Entry into living areas can be controlled by a key card system, whereby each home is issued a card with its own electronic combination. Inserted into a recognition device, it affords unique controls for access to resident corridors. Audible and remote alarm systems protect each unit. The warning alarm on an individual's security panel must be de-activated, otherwise a security officer is alerted via audible and printed report.

"Perimeter security can be achieved at the remote areas of a building by personnel who monitor with TV and listening devices Thus, residents are assured of safety when they are in such public places as the swimming pool, clubhouse, laundry area and elevator. Security in 'your own environment' can be taken a step further to allow residents to walk at night with lighted sidewalks."

Dollar Regaining Some Of Its Respectability

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — That $2-billion surplus in the nation's balance of payments during the first three months of the year will likely contribute to an even further increase in the dollar's respectability.

In the eyes of foreigners, the dollar has been growing increasingly attractive in recent weeks, despite its frayed edges. Some of the petroleum exporting nations are becoming its big supporters.

Illustrating this, foreign bank deposits have been rising in recent weeks. Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. estimates that more than $1 billion poured into U.S. banks from foreign institutions in the 30 days to mid-June.

This increase, it said, brought the total second-quarter influx to about $3.5 billion. Among the reasons given for the renewed interest in the dollar was the high rate of interest offered.

The bank, which closely follows developments in foreign exchange, noted that the dollar now was firm against all other major currencies, and much stronger in relation to some.

The biggest gain noted for the period from May 13 to June 18 was against the German mark, about 4.75 per cent, and the Italian lira. Against the Japanese yen, the dollar gained 1.75 per cent.

In general, the improvement seems to indicate relatively greater confidence in the U.S. economy, despite its problems, than in the economies of other industrial nations.

While serious imbalances exist domestically, they tend to pale when compared with the economic disruptions abroad. Inflation, for example, is at a lower rate in the United States than in many foreign nations.

Moreover, the wholesale prices of manufactured goods have been rising at a much greater rate in most industrial nations.

One of the reasons is the extremely high cost of energy in many nations that lack a domestic petroleum supply. Balance of payments deficits exist in Japan, France, Italy and the United Kingdom, at least partially because of higher oil prices.

While the United States also has a deficit in its oil trade account, its over-all payments balance is in surplus because of other factors, including exports.

As a result, those with money to invest tend to overlook the problems in the U.S. economy — problems that in other years might have frightened them away.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE TITANIC

QUESTION: Tell me something about the ship Titanic.

* * *

ANSWER: There are only 30 survivors alive today who were on the White Star luxury liner Titanic when it sunk on the night of April 15, 1912, after crashing into an iceberg in the North Atlantic, south of Newfoundland.

The Titanic, a British ship, the largest and fastest ship afloat, supposedly unsinkable, was on her maiden voyage. There were 1517 people lost. The steamship Carpathia rescued 706 persons who were in lifeboats in the icy waters. The ship sank about 2½ hours after impact with the iceberg. There was a shortage of lifeboats. Many notables, including John Jacob Astor, Benjamin Guggenheim and Isidor Straus, were among the victims. The catastrophe brought about measures for safety at sea concerning the number of life boats and equipment to be carried by vessels. Since that time, ships in certain seasons, take a more southerly course in the Atlantic.

Watergate Changes Job Rating

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Used to be, a college kid could impress his friends by landing a summer job at the White House.

But Watergate has changed that.

"I've been told I'm signing up on the S.S. Titanic," said Linda Smith, a 22-year-old Wheaton College graduate.

"You say you're working at the White House, and you run into a lot of verbal abuse sometimes," added Michael Mulligan, 21, of Newburyport, Mass.

"I come from a Republican conservative area," said Judy Wilson of Cheyenne, Wyo. "And I've had some people say some negative things, like 'How could you go to work for someone up for impeachment?'"

The trio's laughter at each other's stories, underscored, however, what little impact such comments have on the attitudes and enthusiasm of this summer's White House 37 interns.

The 19 women and 18 men were chosen from 350 applicants to work in White House offices including the National Security Council, Domestic Council, news offices and Mrs. Nixon's office.

College students earn $125 a week, graduate students $150.

"I had no second thoughts on coming back after last year," said Miss Smith, of Ardmore, Pa., who works for Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Helen Smith. (They are not related). "It's an experience I wouldn't get anywhere else ... It's seeing what happens in the executive branch from the inside."

Mulligan, a senior at Middlebury College in Vermont, helps with liason work between the administration and big business.

"I had the impression when I came that everyone in the White House would be totally concerned with saving the President," he said. "But in my office, they're not consumed by Watergate."

Miss Wilson, a 21-year-old Fulbright scholar who recently was graduated from the University of Wyoming, helps edit the news summaries delivered daily to President Nixon and his aides.

"You're constantly called on to figure out how you feel about each issue," she said. "You constantly have to be aware of what your opinion is."

Kelly Duncan, a 20-year-old junior at Georgetown University and a registered Democrat from New Orleans, La., said that by talking to White House staffers about their jobs and how Watergate has affected White House operations, he is able to draw his own conclusions about how the scandal has affected the executive branch.

Many Aliens In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Immigration and Naturalization officials say an unusually large number of illegal aliens have been located in the Houston area during the past three weeks.

Officials said Thursday a total of 1,200 aliens had been located in nearly every part of the city. They said 90 per cent were from Mexico.

R. W. Weston, director of immigration and naturalization for the southern district, said a majority of the aliens already have been returned to their own country. He said many of them had been in the city several years.

Weston said the unusually high number indicates that the labor market in the city is good.

Recovered Loot Is Stolen Again

DALLAS (AP) — Two Dallas policemen answered a burglary alarm at an auto parts store here and when they got to the scene they found the burglars had fled leaving a basket full of loot outside the store.

The officers watched over the basket until a search unit arrived to check the store for fingerprints. Then everybody went inside.

When the officers came out, they discovered someone had stolen the basket.

Canada's chief economic problem in 1973 was inflation.

WFL In Spotlight

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Norris Weese of Mississippi, lineman Paul Vellano of Maryland, and Gary Baccus of Oklahoma see the 14th Coaches All-America Football game Saturday as a chance to put the spotlight on the fledgling World Football League.

"It's good for the image of the WFL that we are here on the same field with the National Football League players," said Weese, a quarterback on the East roster who will play for Hawaii.

"It's good exposure for the WFL," said Vellano, who has signed a contract with the Orlando Blazers.

Orlando and Hawaii will clash July 10 on one of the WFL's Wednesday night openers with Weese and Vellano as opponents.

"We started practice June 1 with 111 candidates and you would be surprised at the amount of work we accomplished," Weese said. "Of course, we won't be as polished as NFL teams the first year but it will come."

Baccus, a defensive lineman who disdained an offer from the New York Jets of the NFL, will also play for Hawaii.

"I was surprised how organized everything was in camp," Baccus said. "I didn't think it would be as smooth. Our coach (Mike Giddings) was hospitalized with a hip infection and that hurt some. All practice sessions are filmed and rushed to him at the hospital. He then relays messages on what we're doing wrong."

Baccus said, "I came here because I'm from nearby Brownfield, Tex., and I wanted to show America the WFL has some football players, too."

Baccus said everything hasn't been 100 per cent perfection in the WFL camps.

"We're at Riverside, Calif., and the smog is pretty bad," Baccus said. "Maybe, that's why Weese was issued lineman's shoulder pads when he showed up."

The East-West game featuring some of the finest graduated collegiate talent will be televised at 8:30 p.m. EDT Saturday from Jones Stadium, which has been an oven all week in 100-degree heat.

Johnny Majors of Pittsburgh is the head coach for the East while Barry Switzer of Oklahoma tutors the West. The West holds a 7-6 series lead.

Switzer has introduced a heavy dose of passing in the West practices, abandoning his Wishbone-T for a Slot I offense.

"We threw more passes in one morning of practice than we did all last year at Oklahoma," Switzer said.

Joe Barnes of Texas Tech and drop-back passer Jesse Freitas of San Diego State will quarterback the West while Carl Summerell and Weese will direct the East.

Floyd Has Akron Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "I have more dedication, more devotion to the game of golf," Ray Floyd explained of his resurgence on the pro tour. He nodded his head toward a girl sitting a few feet away and added:

"And I owe most of that to my cute little wife over there."

Floyd, once the game's premier playboy but now a recent bridegroom, is trying to play his way out of a five-year slump.

He took a giant stride Thursday with a five under par 65—including a course-record 29 on the front side—for a one-shot lead in the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who once ranked among the game's most promising young players, led Buddy Allin, already a two-time winner who birdied two of his last three holes for a 66.

Jerry McGee had a 67, Jim Ferriell a 68, two under par, on the 7,190-yard Firestone Country Club course, one of the longest, toughest, most demanding layouts the touring pros encounter.

Those at 69 included Forrest Fezler, Gay Brewer, Jim Simons, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and host pro Bobby Nichols.

Arnold Palmer had a 70, Tom Weiskopf 71 and defending title holder Bruce Crampton of Australia a 72. Newly-crowned U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin blew to a fat 77.

Floyd has been in a deep slump since his banner year of 1969. As a 26-year-old that season he won three times, including the PGA National Championship and a record-setting 263 in this tournament. He collected $109,000 that season and was hailed as a coming superstar.

But he hasn't won since

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — First-round scores Thursday in the $170,000 American Golf Classic on the 7,190-yard, par-70 Firestone Country Club course:

U.S. Stars Shine At Nottingham

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Roscoe Tanner, Stan Smith and Marty Riessen provide a strong American challenge in today's semifinals of the $100,000 John Player tennis tournament, the last major tuneup before Wimbledon begins its two-week run.

Many top Wimbledon choices have been eliminated from this tourney.

Gone is John Newcombe, three-time Wimbledon winner from Australia and top-seeded here, Romanian Ilie Nastase, the No. 2 Wimbledon seed, and Jan Kodes, defending Wimbledon champ from Czechoslovakia.

All entered but fell by the wayside.

Smith, the 1972 Wimbledon winner from Sea Pines, S.C., admits that he has been struggling to find his form, but he has battled a wayward serve and a liberal sprinkling of double faults to reach the last four here.

In today's semifinals, Riessen, like Tanner unseeded at Wimbledon, takes on Alex Metreveli, Russia's top player and the losing finalist at Wimbledon last year, while Smith meets Tanner, who has dumped Newcombe and Kodes already.

Tanner, 22, from Lookout Mountain, Tenn., is ranked only 11th in the United States, but has been the hottest player here.

Meanwhile, 150 miles south at Eastbourne, Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is also among the last four in the $25,000 John Player women's event.

Miss Evert, 19, was the losing 1973 Wimbledon finalist. She takes on Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union today while the second semifinal pits Britain's Virginia Wade against Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia.

Softball Tourney Slated

The Snyder Invitational Softball Tournament will begin at 6:30 p.m. today at Winston Field. Kruse Service of Ira and Pace Packing of Sweetwater vie in the opening game. Sterling City and Lamesa clash in the 8 p.m. game. Wadleigh Star Builders, defending champions, clash with Lone Star Industries from Maryneal in the 9:30 p.m. game, which will be between the second and third place finishers of the Sweetwater Tournament last weekend.

The 11 p.m. game will pit Plains Co-Op of Sweetwater and First Baptist of Snyder. Tahoka drew a first round bye and won't play until 9:30 a.m. in the first game Saturday morning. Saturday games will be continuous until 1 a.m. Sunday morning.

Finals will be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m. Lamesa has been installed as a slight favorite with any one of four other teams capable of winning. Trophies will be presented at the conclusion Sunday.

All games will be held at Winston Field on Thirty-seventh Street. The public is invited to attend.

Cubs, A's Win In LL

The Cubs thrashed the Indians 14-8, and the Athletics nudged the Braves 8-6 in Little League action here last night.

The Cubs collected 11 hits. Robert Bartlett stroked four singles, Toby Neves hit three singles, Roger Overton cracked a double and a single, and Kip Wadleigh and Mike Greenfield each hit one single.

The Indians got seven hits, led by Keith McClain with three singles. Marty Hammond hit two singles, and Leo Gallegos and Jay Withers each hit one single.

The Athletics' Kyle Herrley twirled a two-hitter, giving up one single each to Kyle Short, and to Adam Holladay. The Athletics got six hits. John Simmons doubled, Kyle Herrley stroked two singles, and Barry Mayo, Joe Stewart and Greg Githens each singled.

Cubs, Braves Win In FL

The Cubs bested the Indians 12-6, and the Braves bombed the Athletics 26-5 in Farm League action here last night.

The Cubs' Danny Eckert yielded only two hits—both singles to Scott Marlar. The Cubs got five safeties. Randy Beasley stroked two doubles and a single, G. Cody hit a double, and Tracy Neeves hit a single.

The Braves collected 16 hits. Randy Huddleston stroked four singles, Junior Quiros and Benny Sauceda each hit a double and a single, Ken Kitching and Mike Kirby each hit two singles, and Casy Peterson, Glenn Pherigo, Monty Key and Doyle Phipps each hit one single.

The A's got five safeties. Frisby Bible and Louie Joe Beuerlein each hit a triple, Richard Ruminer hit two singles, and Curtis Stipe hit one single.

Swim Meet Set Today

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Some 300 swimmers from 125 states and the Canal Zone are led by Gary Hall, Olympian and world record holder, in the three-day Fidelity Open swim meet starting today.

Hall, who set a world record in the 400-meter individual medley, will compete in three events.

Thirty swim teams will be competing.

Kathy Whitworth Is Favored

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, fifth-ranked money winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, is the favorite in the Ladies PGA Championship opening Thursday at Pleasant Valley Country Club. She has won more than $30,000 on the LPGA circuit this year, bringing her career earnings to more than $500,000.

Joins Seals

OAKLAND (AP) — The California Golden Seals announced Wednesday signing defensemen Len Frig and Mike Christie to multiyear contracts. Both players came to the National Hockey League club in a trade for center Ivan Boldirev.

Net Tourney Is Planned At Kermit

Entries are now being accepted for the Third Annual Kermit Open Tennis Tournament to be held July 5th, 6th and 7th at the Kermit High School courts.

Events include boys 14 and 16 to 18, girls 14 and 16 to 18, men's open, women's open, mixed doubles, and a special men's doubles for ages 26 and over. There will be both singles and doubles competition

Hobby Pays Fine, Hopes Performance Will Count

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has been fined $100 and given a 30-day jail sentence, probated for nine months, following his arrest on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Immediately after his court appearance Thursday afternoon here the lieutenant governor, accompanied by his wife, Diana, stood before newsmen and television cameras and asked Texans to judge him on his overall performance and not only on the arrest incident.

"Needless to say," Hobby stated, "I am extremely sorry about this incident. I hope the people of Texas will judge me on the basis of all my actions."

Hobby was arrested at 2:48 a.m. Thursday. He told officers he was taking Miss Ann Chisholm, 33, of London, England, back to her University of Texas lodging after a private picnic in the hills west of Austin.

Hobby appeared before Judge Mary Pearl Williams with his wife who had flown in from Houston early in the day. Mrs. Hobby smiled and chatted with reporters and positioned herself next to her husband as he spoke to reporters.

Hobby said he did not expect the incident to affect his political career.

Moments earlier, he stood with hands clasped behind him in front of Judge Williams' bench. His voice was barely audible.

Mrs. Hobby declined comment, except to say she thought Hobby's remarks adequately covered the matter.

Hobby paid the $100 fine in cash, plus $49 court costs and $90 probation fee.

Sheriff's officers took prints of all 10 of the lieutenant governor's fingers. There was considerable paperwork, including swearing to probation conditions such as "avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character," "drink no alcoholic beverages" and "work faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible." Hobby is president of the Houston Post.

He also had a 10-minute talk with his probation officer.

The entire process, from the time the judge walked into the courtroom at 4 p.m. until Hobby left the courthouse, took 47 minutes.

Miss Chisholm, is a journalist doing research at the university for a biography of Nancy Cunard, the great-granddaughter of the founder of Cunard Steamship Lines. Miss Cunard died in 1965 at age of 68 after years of championing civil rights for blacks.

Hobby, 42, said Miss Chisholm was a friend of the family.

She said she met him last week and saw him for the second time Wednesday. They left his Northwest Austin home between 8 and 9 p.m. for the picnic, she said.

A university student from Houston working on a master's degree in library science, whom Miss Chisholm identified as Kay Peters, lives in a garage apartment behind the Hobby home. Miss Chisholm said Miss Peters declined to go on the picnic.

Police say Hobby refused to take a Breathalyzer test, which would have indicated the amount of whatever alcohol he had in his blood.

A justice of the peace could suspend Hobby's driver's license if he determines Hobby indeed refused to take the test.

A petition to the JP for an administrative hearing would be filed within 30 days after the Department of Public Safety receives an affidavit from Austin police that Hobby declined to take the test.

Police Chief Bob Miles said such an affidavit would be sent to DPS. "This case will be treated no differently than any other," Miles said.

500 Sworn Into Army

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A big crowd cheered after 500 men and women were sworn into the U.S. Army here Thursday night.

It was the largest national mass enlistment sworn at one time since the Volunteer Army began in October 1970, the Army said.

The recruits were clad mostly in street clothes and tennis shoes or cowboy boots. Some had shoulder-length hair.

The ceremony was held between games of a Texas League baseball doubleheader between the San Antonio Brewers and the Midland Cubs.

Of the 500 volunteers, 50 were women. They can enter any Army career except the infantry, armor and artillery.

The 500 members of what the Army calls the Alamo Battalion will serve either two or three year hitches, depending on the field of study they entered. They will depart for four Army posts today.

Man Is Held In Shooting

DALLAS (AP) — A man identified by police as David McMath Allen, 25, went free under $3,000 bond on charges growing out of a shotgun attack on a Neiman-Marcus specialty store Thursday.

Officers accused him of blasting 50 rounds from a .12 gauge shotgun through the doors and windows of the Neiman store in Dallas, North Park shopping center about 6 a.m., when the store was closed.

The formal charge against him was second degree burglary.

Police said he broke into a convenience store in the Northpark Mall and took three boxes of shotgun shells before shooting his way into Neiman's. They estimated damage there, including that to a $3,000 statue, at $8,000.

Questioners said Allen told them he hated Jews but he denied statements attributed to him earlier that he was a member of the American Nazi party.

Jaycees Elect Arkansas Lawyer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — David L. Hale, 33, has been elected national president of the United States Jaycees at their annual convention here.

Hale, of Little Rock, Ark., was elected Thursday. He is an attorney, and has been national vice president of the service organization.

The 6,500 delegates finish their convention today.

Confederate Yankee had raced seven times coming into the Kentucky Derby and was always in the money. In the Derby he finished 12th in the field of 23.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE OF SCURRY COUNTY'S INTENTION TO ACCEPT BIDS FOR SALE OF (1) LS 78 LINK BELT SHOVEL.

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Scurry County, Texas, will convene at 10:00 o'clock a.m., Monday, June 24, 1974, at the Scurry County Courthouse to receive and open all sealed bids for Scurry County to sale one (1) LS 78 Link Belt Shovel from Precinct No. 2.

THE COMMISSIONERS COURT CLAIMS ITS RIGHT TO REJECT ANY AND ALL BIDS.

THE COMMISSIONERS COURT OF Scurry County, Texas

The Hobbs Independent School District Board of Trustees will accept bids on the sale of one 1966 Chevrolet 36 passenger school bus.

Bids will be opened at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, July 9, 1974, at the regular meeting of the school trustees. Anyone desiring additional information should contact Mr. Bill Denman, Supt. or Mr. B.F. Clawson, bus mechanic at the school.

All bids should be clearly marked "Bus Bids" and mailed to arrive prior to July 9, 1974. The trustees of the Hobbs I.S.D. reserve the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

Mr. Bill Denman
Superintendent

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: CHESTER LELAND SCHUYLER, JR.
Respondent
GREETINGS:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear and answer before the Honorable District Court, 132nd Judicial District, Scurry County, Texas, at the Courthouse of said county in Snyder, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the Monday next after the expiration of 20 days from the date of service of this citation, then and there to answer the petition of William Park Hamilton and Elnora Hamilton, Petitioners, filed in said Court on the 28th day of May, 1974, against Chester Leland Schuyler, Jr., Respondent, and said suit being number 11,086 on the docket of said Court, and entitled 'In The Interest of Chester Leland Schuyler, III, a Child,' the nature of which is a request to 'terminate the parent child relationship' and 'adoption'. Said child was born the 19th day of October, 1971, in Bridgeport, California.

The court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree in the child's interest which will be binding upon you, including the termination of the parent-child relationship and the appointment of a conservator with authority to consent to the child's adoption.

You are informed that you have a right to legitimate the child by filing a statement of paternity with the State Department of Public Welfare and petitioning the court for legitimation, as provided in Sec. 13.01b, Texas Family Code. If you do so legitimate the child, you will have the rights and duties of a parent. If you do not take the necessary steps to claim the rights of a parent, the court has the authority to enter a judgment which will forever foreclose your rights in and to the child.

Issued and given under my hand and Seal of said Court at Snyder, Texas, this 28th day of May, 1974.

Zada D. Chapman
Clerk of the District Court of Scurry County, Texas.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." St. John 15:13

The more we love, the kinder we are, and the wider our friendships grow,
And those who give love most freely will ever have more to bestow.
So in the best of love there is wisdom and some tact and humor too,
And a knowledge that friends without fault are always exceedingly few.
Yet the art of being amiable one may well pursue with zest
By never hurting a single soul even in well meant jest.

WILL CURTIS

First Presby.

"The Power of Agreement" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. John Gaston at Sunday morning worship services at First Presbyterian Church. His scripture reference will be Matt. 18.

The United Youth Group will meet at 5 p.m. at First Presbyterian, and the prayer and Bible study group will meet at 7:30 p.m. at 2912 Thirty-second Street.

Lightning Hits Air Terminal

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Lightning bolts, spawned by summer thunderstorms Thursday created International Airport's own energy crisis.

Electrical power to the terminal building was knocked out at 4 p.m. when the City Public Service Airport Substation burned out.

By dusk, power still had not been restored although emergency crews were working to hook up a portable transformer. The portable transformer began operating at about 9:05 p.m., restoring power.

Authorities said lightning struck a power line near the airport radar tower causing a fire in the substation transformer.

Switching devices were badly burned and could not be repaired.

Auxiliary power supplies were available for runway landing lights and control tower systems allowing near-normal departure and arrival of flights.

There was, however, no relief for the circuits which supply the terminal building as darkness was falling.

Lighting in the hallways was non-existent. Ticket agents worked beside kerosene lanterns.

The metal screening devices were inoperable and passengers were being searched with battery powered hand screeners.

Everyone except passengers on departing flights was barred from a satellite lounge area.

City officials made an emergency purchase of battery-powered light units which were flown in from Houston.

Temple Youth Is Rescued

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — A 17-year-old Temple youth was in good condition today after spending almost 24 hours struggling to hold on to a raft in the Little River.

A Department of Public Safety helicopter rescued Paul Chambers Thursday seven miles from where he started what he planned to be a short trip.

Chambers told authorities he had planned to go only one mile down river and then return to the point where his brother was waiting for him.

He said his raft tripped over in the strong current causing him to lose his glasses. He added he is so nearsighted he could not see where he was going so he held on to the bottom of his raft.

Chambers said he finally managed to reach the river bank Thursday and call for help. A farmer heard him and notified the youth's parents. The DPS helicopter arrived in minutes.

Restoration Of Temple Is A Longed-For Dream

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An aura of mystery surrounds the idea of restoring the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem. For many Christians and Jews, it's a longed-for dream, a Messianic sign. It is not yet. But something like it is happening.

Construction is due to begin in the next few days on the first large, central Jewish house of worship in the Holy City since the destruction of the temple 1,904 years ago.

"No one is suggesting that this means the restoration of the temple," says Rabbi Dr. Maurice A. Jaffee, president of the Union of Israel Synagogues which is sponsoring the project. "But there are parallels."

For one thing, the prospective new "Jerusalem Great Synagogue" is planned as a central, representative sanctuary to which Jewish pilgrims from all over the world may come to pray — just as they did to the temple of old.

In another respect, every Jew everywhere is being encouraged to contribute something to building of the new edifice, even if only a half shekel — the basic tribute of each practicing Jew to the ancient temple.

Furthermore, the new house of worship is being built of a special radiant stone like that of the temple of Bible times, and is to be situated next to headquarters of Israel's rabbinic authority, as was the historic temple.

"There are many analogies, but we're wary of drawing comparisons," Dr. Jaffee said in an interview. "One gets in hot water even to hint at such a thing. Conditions are out of the question for re-establishing the temple."

Doing so, to many Christians who interpret the Bible literally, would be a prophetic indication of the imminent return of Christ. Many Jews also link restoration of the Temple to a coming Messiah. It would also have political and social overtones.

"Non-Jews seem almost more concerned about it than many Jews," Dr. Jaffee said. "They see it as a natural step now that Israel has been restored to Jews after 2,000 years of wandering."

The first temple, built in Solomon's time about 1,000 B.C., was destroyed by invading Babylonians in 586 B.C., but rebuilt afterwards. The second temple was burned by Roman troops in crushing a Jewish revolt in 70 A.D., which marked the end of the Jewish state until its modern restoration.

Like the temple, the Great Synagogue will be built of Jerusalem's "golden stone" whose color changes in the course of a day from gray to white to gold as struck by the changing angles of the sun.

It won't be the temple, but has subtle connotations of it. It will be a "symbol of our heritage, of the great message Jerusalem has for the world," Dr. Jaffee said. For prophecy specialists, it will be an intriguing inkling.

Policewoman Wounds Man

DALLAS (AP) — Policewoman Marian A. Hoy, 26, shot and wounded a man in a stolen car Thursday night because he didn't stop reaching for what she thought might be a gun between the seats, fellow officers said.

They reported the man, 36, suffered a slight injury from a bullet fragment. He was held without immediate charge.

Police gave these details:

Officer Hoy, 26, spotted a car reported stolen earlier and radioed for reinforcement. Two police vehicles stopped the automobile on a freeway service road.

As the policewoman and her partner advanced, the halted driver turned to extend a hand between the seats. After warning him to stop, she fired.

Officer Hoy received minor cuts on her hand from glass fragments.

Although a stolen car report had stated the driver was armed, police searched and found no gun in the vehicle.

Six horses in the 1974 Kentucky Derby had won their previous start.

HIS Meager FARE

When the season is right, the young boys head for the lake or river to fish. Out only for a good time, they don't depend on their catch for food. Even when their luck is bad, the outing is worthwhile.

Many years ago another small boy went fishing for his evening meal. His luck was not very good, for he only caught two fish. Luckily he had some bread with him to go with his fish. But not much, it would seem.

On his way home, he saw a crowd following a preacher. He was intrigued by the Man and followed Him. After reaching a grassy hill, the Preacher spoke to them. It was late when He finished His message. The people were all hungry but there was no food.

Sensing their hunger, the small boy offered Jesus his meager fare. Then Jesus multiplied it until it became enough for all five thousand people. The catch that had earlier seemed so very small, with God's help, became very big indeed.

Sometimes we seem to hold back, feeling that we have so little to offer. But like that little boy, we should give our meager fare. With God's help, the results can be fantastic.
