LIONS POUR INTO CITY FOR STATE MEETING

1000 Expected to Attend District No. 2 Meet Opening Today

REGISTRATIONS AT 8

New District Governor To Be Elected Here Tommorow

The vanguard of more than 1000 delegates expected to attend the tenth annual convention of district No. 2 of Lions International, which will be held in Wichita Falls Monday and Tuesday at the Memorial auditorium, began to arrive Sunday evening in the city, coming by automobile and train from all over Texas. More than 700 reservations had been received by Lions club officials Sunday from 47 of 127 clubs within the jurisdiction of district No. 2. Last minute reservations and late-comers were expected to swell the total well over the 1000 mark.

Registration Today

Registration of the influx of visiting Lions will begin at 8 o'clock Monday morning, after which the convention will open at 9 o'clock. An elaborate program for the entertainment and the transaction of business has been prepared by Wichita Falls Lions hosts, including music, a banquet, several luncheons, talks and other diversion.

The Breckenridge, Austin, Clarendon, Port Arthur, San Angelo, Electra and Fort Worth clubs are taking active parts in the meet and are furnishing a sizeable portion of the entertainment.

The Breckenridge delegation, which will probably be among the largest groups attending the convention, has chartered the whole third floor of the Kemp hotel for its 50 trippers of 25 Lions and 25 ladies, with a number of entertainers, and is expected to present a surprise program of entertainment the last evening of the meet. This group is also scheduled to give a model luncheon at the Kemp hotel Monday noon as a part of their campaign in support of their choice for district governor, who will be elected the last day of the convention.

Model Luncheons

The Austin delegation will also give a model luncheon at the Kemp hotel Monday, with the Clarendon club giving one at the First Christian church and another at the First Methodist church by the Port Arthur group. On Tuesday similar luncheons will be given by the Electra and the Fort Worth groups at the Kemp, with the San Angelo club at the First Methodist church. All the luncheons will be given in the interest of various candidates for the office of district governor.

At 2:10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the last business session of the convention will be held for the election of a new district governor. Candidates who have announced for the office are Dr. R. H.

Welcome—
See Wichita Falls—
They Can Roar—
Advice to Seniors—

Delegates to the Lions club convention and to the state meeting of retail credit men here will find Wichita Falls anxious to welcome them today, and to make their visit instructive as well as pleasant. Too many residents of other sections of Texas know Wichita Falls chiefly as an oil town, and too few for its many other industrial and agricultural opportunities and advantages.

The petroleum industry has contributed much to the growth of this city, of course, but it alone is not responsible for the solid progress which Wichita Falls has made since the end of the first "boom." Lions delegates and credit men should be told of the great irrigated valley, the livestock industry, the dairying industry, the manufacturing plants and other enterprises of Wichita Falls as well as the oil industry.

Women visitors will want to see the Womans' Forum and to learn about its activities, and should do so by all means. There is no organization in the city or state with a record of accomplishments such as have these Wichita Falls women. The women visiting here will also want their husbands to see Country club estates. All husbands should.

Austin Lions, here bidding for the 1929 convention of the organization, have something to talk about other than the natural beauties of the state capital and its governmental and educational institutions. Austin has just voted a bond issue of $4,250,000 for a five-year program of improvements in streets, sanitary sewers, parks and playgrounds, hospitals, schools, fire station, municipal abbatoir, city market and airport. Austin Lions have a right to roar.

For a city that has been considered "settled" in its population niche, Austin's growth and building program for the last five years has been the most remarkable in the state. It has had no magic oil wells. It has had a progressive and confident citizenship. Now it is to spend $4,250,000 in public improvements over a five-year period. That is the intelligent way to build a city.

Howard Martin, district debate champion and high school student, will deliver the commencement address at Zundelowitz Junior high school. Principal H. A. Glass of the school is to be congratulated for this departure from ancient and accepted commencement custom. Young Martin will not have the experience of a gray-beard in advising the Zundelowitz seniors, but he doubtless will more nearly approach a common ground of understanding with them than many speakers. And what June graduate was ever impressed by the wisdom of years?

More delegates are expected to arrive Monday. A motor caravan from as far south as Austin has been forming on its way to Wichita Falls and has picked up additions in cities all along the route. Trans-Atlantic Plane Is Damaged When Rescue Pilot Attempts Flight

HALFAX, N. S., May 20. (AP)—The radio operator at Point Amour, opposite Greenly Island, reported today that the transatlantic monoplane Bremen was damaged this afternoon in an attempt to take off and must be sent from Labador by boat.

The radio operator's message gave no details of the accident which prevented the takeoff.

Fred Melchior, chief Junkers pilot in the United States was dropped yesterday near the plane by one of the two United States army relief planes sent to the aid of the Bremen under command of Major General James E. Fechet. Floating ice made a landing by the relief planes near the Bremen impossible.

The two army planes which returned to St. Georges yesterday after dropping Melchior, today left for Pictou to await the arrival of the Bremen.

Melchior planned to fly the Bremen to New York.

Introducing "Just Kids" And Their Safety Club

NATION TURNS EYE TO TEXAS

Both Parties Select Their Delegates Tuesday

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Selection of delegates to the national political conventions will slow up this week, with Texas the only state where there is doubt how the Republicans and Democrats to be chosen will line up at Kansas City and Houston.

By the week end all the 1089 Republicans who will have convention credentials will have been designated except the 19 from West Virginia to be named in the contested primary May 29. After this week, however, Democratic delegates from the seven states, the Canal zone and the District of Columbia will remain to be chosen.

Both parties will hold conventions in Texas Tuesday. Friends of Herbert Hoover hope to land the state's 26 delegates, but they have a fight on their hands. R. B. Creager, national committeeman, is an ardent supporter of the commerce secretary. He and Representative Wurzbach, of San Antonio, the only Republican from Texas in the house of representatives, are political foes, and there have been indications that Wurzbach and his allies will challenge the Creager faction in convention, making a fight to control at least part of the delegation.

As for the Democrats in Texas, many of them have been bitter in their opposition to Governor Smith of New York, while others have been demanding a dry plank in the national platform and nominees in sympathy with such a declaration, without favoring definite instructions against Smith. The fight will be threshed out in the convention, with Smith men making no claims that they will be able to win the delegation of 40.

Presidential primaries will be held Tuesday in South Dakota with Lowden certain to pick up 13 delegates and Smith 10, as they have no opposition. On the same day the Maryland Democratic delegation of 16 which is expected to be instructed for Governor Ritchie will be named.

Nationalists Rebuked By German Voters

BERLIN, Germany, May 20. (US)—A rebuke for the German nationalist party for its criticism of the government's position on the Locarno treaty was administered by the German electorate in the balloting for the reichstag today. Early tabulations indicated the nationalists had lost seats, most of the gain going to the peoples party of the foreign minister, Gustave Stresemann.

The election also marked the almost total collapse of the fascist party, and a surprising gain by the socialists, whose representation apparently will be increased by 20 per cent.

WASHINGTON, May 20. (US)—Federal trade commission officials were examineing today an article embodying a vigorous attack on the commission's investigation of the so-called power trust, for which widespread circulation was sought through Washington newspaper correspondents.

New Comic Strip Sponsors Safety Club For Children of Wichita Area

Lester Jones, President of Local Council, Approves "Just Kids Safety Club."

In cooperation with the Wichita Falls Safety council, The Record News is introducing to its readers with this issue a new comic page strip and a safety club for children originated by Ad Carter, noted cartoonist and author of the strip.

"Just Kids," a comic page feature which has been one of the most popular in the nation, makes its bow on the Record News comic page on Page 7 today. Individuals who are featured in the cartoon and in the "Just Kids Safety Club" are introduced above.

"Look Up and Down"

The nation-wide "Just Kids Safety Club," which soon will number its juvenile members of the hundred thousand and should have several thousand in the Wichita Falls area, was created by Mr. Carter as a part of his "Just Kids" strip. But it was the comic characters, "Peanut," "Fatso," and "Bagears"—the policeing kids who entertain and amuse millions of men, women and children every day—who actually brought the club into being.

Every morning when "Ad" Carter drove his own two children, Eileen, aged 9, and Wallace, 5, to school—his warning was: "Remember to look up and down before you cross the street!" When Carter reached his studio on Columbus Circle, overlooking Central Park in New York City, the view of the endless stream of motor traffic around the tall monument crowned with the statue of Columbus, made Carter still ponder the question of child safety in crowded city streets.

Almost unconsciously he discovered his "Just Kids" comic characters repeat: "Remember to look up an' down before you cross the street," and this slogan has become the rule of all the children who join the "Just Kids Safety Club." Rights to the strip were purchased some time ago by The Record News for use in Wichita Falls.

Many Endorse Plan

Following the creation of the "Just Kids Safety club," by Mr. Carter, letters poured in from all over the nation from newspaper readers endorsing the comic characters. To this endorsement, has been added locally that of Lester Jones, president of the Wichita Falls Safety council.

Mr. Jones was submitted samples of the new "Just Kids" strip, and told of the "Just Kids Safety Club," and has joined with The Record News in urging children of this section to become members of the club.

"If every child would just remember to 'look up and down before you cross the street' our accidents would be almost eliminated," said Mr. Jones.

"I hope every child will sign the pledge and become a member of the club, and will have as much fun as I have had in following the adventures of the youngsters drawn by Mr. Carter."

Each member of "Just Kids Safety Club" is required to sign the coupon printed with this story, and bring it to The Record News. A button signifying his or her membership in the safety club will then be issued. Members living out of town will be mailed their buttons. Each button has a likeness of one of Mr. Carter's comic characters drawn on it. And don't forget that each member of the "Just Kids Safety Club" promises to always "look up an' down before you cross the street."

RESCUE CREWS WORK AT MINE

34 Bodies Taken From Wrecked Shaft

MATHER, Pa., May 20. (AP)—Rescue workers, pushing their way hrough the gas-filled tunnels of the Mather mine, where a disastrous explosion occurred late Saturday, had recovered 34 bodies today and were hoping to determine the fate of some 120 miners still unaccounted for. Rescue leaders held little hope for the entombed men.

Fifteen crews equipped with masks to ward off the poisonous after-damp gas, tonight had fought their way through the debris-strewn passageways. Their progress was slow for they were forced to build air locks at intervals so as to flood the explored sections of the mine with pure air.

Working in shifts, the rescuers progressed during the night and today to a point near where the terrific explosion occurred. Behind this point it was believed most of the missing men would be found. And as one veteran rescuer put it, "the chances of getting them out alive are slim."

It was believed that the explosion, attributed by some to gas, had occured at the 14th butt entry, one and three-quarters miles from the main shaft.

Austin Lions First to Arrive Here With Bid for Convention

More than 20 Lion delegates, among the first here, arrived in Wichita Falls Sunday from Austin, with plans to take the convention of the district to that city in 1929.

Dr. E. E. Berwick, president of the Austin club, in announcing the bid of the state capital for the meet next year, stated that since the 1927 convention was held in South Texas and the 1928 convention is being held in North Texas, the 1929 meet should be held in Central Texas.

Austin, which is one of the oldest clubs in the international association, being fourth to organize in the United States, Dr. Berwick said, has an auditorium which will seat 10,000 persons at one time and is building two new hotels in addition to a number of fine hostelries already located in the city, and is in every way a most desirable place to hold the 1929 meet.

The delegates from Austin in addition to Dr. Berwick are: Bob J. Lyles, secretary and treasurer; A. W. Griffith, Thurlaw Weed, W. R. CLUB SHOWS RAPID CLIMB

Local Service Body Has Good Record

The Wichita Falls Lions club was organized in December, 1921 with 25 charter members. It now has 60 members. The club's growth in the six and one-half years has not been outstanding, but its accomplishments have been remarkable, especially in the past few years, fully as much as any other service club in the community.

Aid Playground Work.

Besides the establishment of the municipal zoo, which has given Wichita Falls an added attraction likely to develop into much greater proportions in the next few years, and the organization of the Lions Cub Boys' band, which was uniformed and been constantly kept in training by the club, and is considered one of North Texas' finest bands, the Wichita Falls Lions have consistently equipped and aided in the equipment of public playgrounds and parks. It has backed every civic move in Wichita Falls since its organization and has been a body for the advancement and development of the city.

Club funds have always been at the call of charity. A number of children have been restored to health and happiness by the club's work in paying for operations to relieve the blind and crippled children of the city whose parents were too poor to pay for medical and surgical attention.

Six Presidents.

Since the organization of the Lions club in 1921 these numerous services have been rendered by the organization under six presidents. S. A. L. Morgan was elected the chief officer at the time the club was organized. He was succeeded by Dr. L. D. Parnell, Dr. A. D. Pattillo, H. J. Bruce and Joe B. Hatchett. The club is now functioning in the most active period of its career under the presidency of Dr. R. H. Graham, who has been a most consistent leader of the club.

Dr. Graham's co-officers are: The Rev. S. A. Barnes, first vice president; A. B. Maples, second vice president; Frank Cripliver, financial secretary; W. E. Wilson, corresponding secretary and Jim King, W. R. Duke, S. H. Simmons, K. C. Spell, H. L. Ruell, Sam Gose Jr., and Jim Lyle, directors.

Officers of the Wichita Falls zone of the second district of Lions International are: Dr. R. H. Graham, deputy district governor; P. B. Curd, graup chairman and W. E. Wilson, group secretary. Clubs in the Wichita Falls group are Wichita Falls, Iowa Park, Electra, Vernon, Archer City, Olney and Decatur.

San Angelo Lions Seek '29 Meeting

The San Angelo Lions club, which is represented at the convention opening here Monday by 25 delegates, is bidding for the 1929 district convention, it is announced. Only one other city, Austin, has announced intention of bidding for the convention next year.

The San Angelo club is considered one of the most active Lions organization in the Southwest, having sponsored the organization of more new Lions clubs in 1928 than any other club in the United States. The club has been unceasing in its efforts along this line and has 12 new organizations to its credit.

LIONS CLUB STARTED ZOO

Many Wichita Citizens Aid In Growth

The Lions club of Wichita Falls, which is host to some 1000 delegates from over the state who are attending the tenth annual convention of district No. 2 of Lions International, being held in Wichita Falls Monday and Tuesday, is one of the most active service clubs of the city and the entire state.

It was due to the activeness and civic spirit of the Lions club and its officers that caused a zoo to be established in Wichita Falls. It is also credited to the Lions club for the development and growth of the zoo after it was started and keeping such a project alive. The club has been constantly alert to the development of the zoo and besides sponsoring the idea, has donated numerous animals to the cause, paying for them from the club funds.

How Zoo Started

The establishment of a zoo in Wichita Falls had been talked of for several years by various organizations. Dr. R. H. Graham, president of the Lions club, had been interested in such a proposition all along, and it is told that one day last summer while he was walking across the street, he noticed a boy with a young coyote. Doctor Graham, at the time, was on his way to the weekly luncheon of the Lions club. He proceeded to buy the coyote with the intention of evolving a plan for the establishment of the much talked of zoo.

At the luncheon, Doctor Graham presented the animal to the club, which in turn, called upon R. E. Shepherd, then mayor, to be present at the meeting. Mr. Shepherd accepted the coyote in behalf of the city, and thus was the beginning of the now excellent, although still small, zoo.

An opossum was somehow procured to share the coyote's sole membership in the zoo and both animals were placed at Scotland park. From time to time the club and public spirited citizens made additional donations to the enterprise. The animals were moved from Scotland park about four months ago to a new location in one of the hangars at Call field.

Second Removal

It was at this time that the zoo began to exhibit a pronounced growth. The efforts of the Lions club and its president started to bear fruit. Animals, large and small, were donated nearly every day to the zoo. A pair of buffaloes, several monkeys, an owl, rabbits, a pair of kinkajous, a pair of lions, or honey bears, an ant-eater: seldom a day passed but some addition was made to the flourishing enterprise.

After being located at the Call field hangar about two months, the little collection of animals had grown to such a number that the quarters were no longer of sufficient size to accommodate the zoo. With the view in mind of securing more space and to bring it nearer the city, removal was made back to Scotland park, where it is at the present time.

After the zoo was moved animals were still donated, until there are more than 75 animals now there. Thousands of people visit the zoo every week to view the animals and to spend a few minutes or an hour.

And although the zoo is now in the hands of the city, the Lions club continues to have an interest in its progress. An elephant is to be added soon, and it was the Lions club that submitted the plan whereby such an expensive creature may be purchased, that of allowing all the school children of Wichita Falls to contribute toward the expense.

In establishing a zoo in Wichita Falls and seeing to its growth and development, the Lions club has contributed an immeasurable service to the city, an act of civic spirit which few organizations of its size can lay claim to equalling.

Forum Reaches Many Cherished Goals In Activities Of Year

By MARIE THERESA
The Record News Staff

Members of the Womans' Forum who have just completed their first year of activity since the building of the club house in the Country Club estates, in reviewing the work of the past season, believe that they have accomplished the major part of what they set out to do in the fall.

During the last year, seven departments have been actively and conscientiously at work to give to the women of the vicinity programs along the line in which they are most interested. These departments include art, civic, drama, health and home, literature, music, writers and a department in which young girls are trained to do forum work, known as the Junior forum.

Junior Department

The Junior department is made up of girls of 14 years or upwards who will later become active members of the senior organization. This department emphasizes music and drama, and a program of music or dramatic art is presented at each meeting. The motto of this department is "For even the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

Their contribution to the forum this year has been a grand piano, which is nearly paid for. The membership of this department is now 65 young girls.

The greatest achievement of the forum this year has been the completion and the dedication of the club house which is located at the entrance of the Country Club estates. Additions to furnishings and embellishment of the club house have been contributed from time to time by both departments of the Womans' Forum and by individual contribution.

This year the initiation fee has been changed from the $3 fee to $10 while annual dues have remained at $5 for town members and $3 for out-of-town members.

Cards For Men

The past year has also seen the establishment of an evening entertainment card for men, the result of a demand for such entertainment for men interested in attending evening forum attractions.

Aside from the department programs, the best artists available have been presented to forum members. This year the organization has brought Fritz Lanham, Texas orator; Lorado Taft, sculptor; Frederick Ward, actor; Tom Sheyhill, orator; John Erskine, writer lecturer; Edmund Vance Cooke, poet-lecturer, and Miss Rebecca Smith, educator. Members have been admitted to these attractions on membership cards.

In addition special social attractions such as the Thanksgiving tea, the Christmas party, the Washington luncheon and the St. Patrick tea, and a luncheon for Mrs. W. R. Potter, state president of federated clubs, have been sponsored for the membership and their guests.

The ways and means committee of which Mrs. G. B. Smedley is chairman, has brought several large attractions to the city, among them being the Marion Talley concert and the Galli-Curci benefit. By selling $6500 of grand opera tickets, the Womans' Forum has been able to win the prize of $500 offered by the city to the winning club.

$4500 Raised by Benefits

During the year a total of $4500 has been raised from the various benefits. Thus aided, the end of the year will see $1200 of stage equipment entirely paid for, $2100 paid on club house furnishings, and only a few thousand left to be paid on other items. The organization contributed $164 toward the biennial to be held in San Antonio the latter part of this month and the early part of June.

About $2000 worth of shrubs have been set out on the club house grounds.

The present season has brought 20 literary clubs of the city to affiliate with the larger organization, a part of which are holding their weekly meetings in the club house.

The art department of the Womans' Forum has been active in the presentation of six art exhibits this season and the purchase of three paintings to be left in the club house. These paintings are by Maurice Braum, Herbert Dunton and Eliot Clark.

The Chinese art exhibit by Rountree was exhibited in connection with a Chinese luncheon sponsored by the literature department of the forum. The last exhibit was by Mary Lou Thomas Patterson, local artist and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Thomas of this city.

The drama department of the Womans' Forum, in addition to staging some attractive programs of local and imported talent has sponsored the pageant of the T-O fair in the fall.

Membership of 1200

The music department has sponsored some unusual programs, one of the most attractive of which was the program of Indian music by the Woman's Choral club under the direction of Mrs. Luella B. Thompson.

In resume, it might be added that the organization has been welded into a working club where women of all types and with varying interests in life, have been moulded into one large working order made up of a membership of about 1200 ladies, dedicated to enlarging the scope of woman's interest in this vicinity.

CHIC CHERIE — It's a Good River — LATEST FASHIONS

Cherie is going punting on the Thames—it's a good river and the scenery is grand, but Cherie is feminine enough to admire the costumes of the ladies almost more than the foliage. These two hats, for instance, are delightfully broad in the brim. The one to the left is milan with cire ribbon, the one to the right is natural bakou straw.

Little felt hats still have their day—the dress worn by the young woman to the left who has the felt hat is pique and dimity—white pique for the skirt, flowered dimity pique blouse. Just in back is a frock of washable flannel with a tuck-in blouse.

The enthusiastic young thing in the spotted costume is wearing printed jersey, which is something rather new this season. The skirt and short packet, as you can see, are both printed. The blouse is plain and is made of white crepe de chine. The persons in the punt (lower right) are wearing (1) flowered satin print and (2) cadet blue crepe.

Cherie herself is wearing with grace and distinction a hat of natural bakou trimmed with black satin ribbon, and if you will notice the little one-sided quirk to the brim you will understand perfectly why she bought it—and then, since Cherie seems to be provided with pleasant company for the day, we tactfully withdraw and leave her to him.

Married Women Justly Deserve Consideration in Any Occupation

"There Is No Just Reason Why Married Women Should Be Shut Out of Any Occupation. If Employees Are Picked for Their Need Instead of Their Fitness, Only the Lame and Halt Need Apply."

Women battered for a long time against the door of opportunity before it opened and let them into the business world, where they could earn an honest living for themselves. Now a great effort is being made to close it on married women and shut them out again into the narrow field where they have no chance of earning a dollar except by doing domestic labor.

It is claimed that married women in business are underbidding the men and women who are dependent upon themselves for support because they are not dependent upon themselves and are only working for luxuries and to supplement their husbands' salaries, and that they are literally starving out the workers of offices, stores and mills.

Some of the clerks' unions have had power enough to force a number of railroads to put married women on the blacklist, and a general propaganda is being started among employers to induce them to refuse to employ any woman who has a husband.

It seems to me that this is not only an effort to take away woman's constitutional right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but that it is class discrimination and sex discrimination of the most vicious sort.

Of course, all of us, being selfish and chiefly concerned with our own good, would like to have as little competition as possible in our own particular lines. We are monopolists by nature and we would like to cut down the supply of butchers and bakers and candlestick makers and doctors and stenographers and bookkeepers and salesmen to the point where we could fix our own price for our services.

So it is easy to see why her competitors deside to eliminate the married business woman, but why make her the goat? If a woman must not be permitted to work unless she would starve if she didn't work, why not make every man retire from business just as soon as he has acquired a modest competence? Why not refuse to let the sons of well-to-do parents follow any trade profession and force them to spend their lives in idleness because they do not really need to earn their own livings?

For when they take a situation as a clerk or bookkeeper or hang out their shingles as doctors they take the place of some poor man who may need the money more than they do, just as much as any married woman would do under the same circumstances.

Of course, if the young man was forced to become a parasite upon his parents and spend his life in loafing because he was denied any legitimate outlet for his energies he would degenerate morally and physically. So would many a woman. Perhaps the young man has some special talent and fitness for some particular occupation. So has many a woman. Perhaps the rich young man would build up a great business that would give occupation to many people. So have many women done.

Shall these be denied the right to work because they do not need every cent they can earn? Business cannot be considered just in terms of money grubbing. There are those to whom it is romance, adventure, an absorbing game, even philanthropy, and who need it for their soul's salvation just as much as they would to furnish them bread.

Moreover, business is not an eleemosynary institution, and if employes are to be picked out for their need instead of their competency, nobody but the lame and the halt and the blind need apply.

Doubtless it may be true that some married women work outside of the home whose husbands are able to support them. I cannot believe this number is very large, because I have not observed that women are so overwhelmingly industrious. On the contrary, many a girl gets married for the sole-avowed reason that she is tired of working in a store or office and prefers a cook stove to a mahogany desk.

Those women who continue on with their jobs after marriage when they have go-getter husbands are those who are not domestic by nature or who have some special aptitude for the work they are doing. Not every woman is born a housekeeper and there are plenty of women who were born saleswomen or buyers or office workers and these women have just as much right to follow their bent as any man has.

To bar all married women from business would work a hideous cruelty upon multitudes of women, for there are married women who need to earn money far more than any girl does. Women who have sick husbands, women who have drunken, lazy, no-account husbands, women who have hungry little children, crying for food—what shall a woman do in such a case if nobody will give her any work to do because she is married? Shall she be driven to murdering her husband so that she shall be eligible for a position in order to keep herself and her children from starving?

I know of a case in which an intelligent, energetic woman married a man who just simply would not work—a Weary Willie. There were three or four little children. The family sank deeper and deeper into poverty until finally the wife gave up the hopeless task of trying to make her husband support the family and went to work to do it herself. She got a position in a store, worked her way from the bottom to the top of it. Supported her trifling husband. Educated her children and gave them a good start in life, and is now herself at the head of a manufactory that gives employment to more than a hundred persons.

If she had not been permitted to go to work she and her husband and her children would have been dependents either upon her relatives, who could not afford to care for many one but themselves, or else upon the state. Is it not better economically that such a married woman should be allowed to support her family when her husband fails to do so? And even the butterfly married woman, who uses the money she earns to buy finery, also serves her purpose, because she increases the volume of trade. If we all bought only the necessities of life most of the shops would be shut up and three-fourths of the workers would have no jobs at all.

If no woman could work after marriage it would force immorality upon a large percentage of the young people of today. As economic conditions are, many young men do not earn enough to support a family and would have to wait years and years and years before they could marry, but with the wife continuing on with her job they are able to marry and establish homes in decency and honor.

There is no just reason why being married should penalize a woman and automatically shut her out of following any occupation she desires to follow.

The only married woman who should not work outside of her home is the woman who has little children, and that is because her job is taking care of them.

Montague Poultry Men Organize

Special to the Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, May 20. — W. E. Reynolds, county agent of Montague county, is making an effort to perfect an organization to be known as the Anti-Chicken Theft association, for this county. Mr. Reynolds was induced to take such steps on account of the constant raids that are being made on chickens and turkeys of Montague county.

The association will furnish a method whereby chickens and turkeys can be positively identified by owners, and assures constant cooperation of peace officers. A fund is created from which rewards are paid for the apprehension of the thieves. It unites poultry and livestock owners in their fight against crooks. It is claimed that membership will pay dividents in savings.

SWEET PEAS

Bars of pastel music
Against the fence are flung.
Again, we hear—
Low and clear
Sweetest chorus ever sung.

—D. L. W.

I NEVER feel that summer is really here until the sweet peas that a few weeks ago were humming a little green tune just about the ground, are singing in "bars of pastel music" across the fence, their flowery little notes filling the air with fragrant music.

Mine have a little personal tune of friendship they sing to me alone, for they were planted by a friend. A series of things had prevented my planting and one cold, gloomy day when discouragement rode on the winds of a blue norther and carried me along with it, I came in from down town and found this friend in my back yard where she had just covered up the last sweet pea seed . . . And she didn't seem to think she had done anything unusual!

One never knows what sort of beautiful flower may blossom from the seed of kindness and friendliness, tho we may think little of it as we plant it. We never know even with our closest friends how cold and barren the yards of their hearts. This kindly little act of planting sweet peas called to my spirit like "banners gayly flaunting." Called me to the colors of new endeavor and to a resolve to be more mindful of what I may plant in the yards of hearts. Mrs. Fred Barron, said in her speech at the May breakfast of the Woman's Forum, "Every one is lonely." And they are in some way or other. It is true we may not all actually plant flowers, as my friend did, but if we do the thing our heart prompts us to do, as she did, hearts will blossom all about us in singing blooms, their music "sweetest chorus ever sung."

MRS. BARRON said many other things to make people think and so did the other speakers. Miss Rebecca Smith, of T. C. U. gave the most interesting lecture—to me—ever given from the Forum platform when she spoke on Thomas Hardy. Her personality, her exquisite English and her happy faculty of taking her audience along with her to whatever scene she was describing, made, even for those who care nothing about Hardy—or any sort of literature—an hour of complete enjoyment.

MRS. W. W. SILK is a very versatile toastmistress . . . or, I judged it was Mrs. Silk. The voice was on one side of the table and I was on the other and a forest of fern and gorgeous flowers blossomed between us, but I heard the voice calling across to Miss Modena Howell, the golden-throated, who sat on my right, about discovering a new hill and we all know Mrs. Silk's penchant for discovery, whether it's a hill from which she gets a broader spiritual view or a person in whom she discovers some new talent or quality.

The ferns and flowers had their use for more than adornment. Such a nice screen behind which to make frantic stabs with one's fork at the half of barbecued chicken which was barbecued to just the right turn to put it into a playful mood. In this mood it skipped about my plate scattering potato chips hither and yon. All about me I heard women discussing the proper mode of attack on such a chicken and one went so far as to say it was perfectly proper to take it up in one's fingers. I noticed she didn't though, her chicken being as frisky as mine.

I crunched a potato chip very loudly, nonchalantly wiped my lips and sat back and contemplated the antics of the others with a bored air. A bored air gives one such a look of sophistication, as if a frisky chicken were nothing compared to other gastronomic experiences one had encountered in traveling about the world!

When I was one
I had just begun.

When I was two
I was nearly new.

When I was three
I was hardly me.

When I was four
I was not much more.

When I was five
I was just alive.

But now I'm six, I'm as clever as clever
So I think I'll be six now forever and ever.

SO RUNS the lines of one of the child-poems of A. A. Milne. The last line with its delightful acknowledgement of six being such a clever age, makes us observe more closely children of that age and we find apart from the inconsequence and wonder that is a part of their nature, they have an observant sense that is almost uncanny. If we watch and listen closely we may find out how we appear to them from their "intimate, capricious and serious world."

One little six year old of my acquaintance sat at the table when a man guest, who was noted for his exaggeration of anything he told, was in the midst of some great financial "coup" he had pulled. Suddenly, she voiced aloud what we were all saying mentally. "Oh," said little six-year-old, "what a lie!" At her mother's horrified look her serene, clear eyes grew troubled for why did mother look at her like that when she and the others all thought the same thing? And hadn't she heard mother and daddy both say this man never told the truth?

She sighed as she dropped her face over her plate. Grown people were so hard to understand. The man caught his breath, stammered and changed the subject . . . and who knows, but those forceful words of the little girl made him see himself as she and the others saw him? The mother told me afterwards she never realized before how a six-year-old could understand so much!

A GROUP of Woman's Forum members were discussing their own little six-year-olds along this very line of never knowing just how much they do observe and how they react to what their mothers are thinking and doing. One mother told of a group of little girls, most of whom had never been inside the Forum building, yet they talk of little else and have organized what is perhaps the smallest Woman's Forum in the world—or composed of the youngest women.

They have officers and put on programs. Recently, they had a flower show and raised money with which they purchased a call-bell; one of the sort the presiding officer hits for order. They take turns hitting it. To hear it ring or for future "knowing how," it is hard to tell. They are at present trying in various ways to raise the money with which to buy a dust-pan and brush. Why they want it no one knows, as they have their meetings outdoors.

Mary Magee Rogers, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rogers, is the "madam-chairman" of this group and her natural aptitude for presiding comes naturally from both her mother and father. Another most active member is Mary Shapard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Shapard. Mary puts her Forum before anything else. A few days ago her daddy asked her to drive down town with him, heretofore her greatest delight, but she told him the forum was having two meetings that day and she had to stay home to get ready for them. Whether her preparation was mental or physical her dad never found out.

Some of the other members of this young organization are: Lillie Arbertson, Alma Crouch, Aleece Coombs and Lyle Rose Harkenson and some of the members of the Woman's Forum would be spurred to new work to watch them in action.

A LITTLE "nearly six" year old "as clever as clever" is little Kitty Ruth Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jackson, Jr., who was presented in a dramatic recital Saturday afternoon. Kitty Ruth may acquire more technique as she acquires years, but she'll never acquire more poise or more of the sweet graciousness required of a successful hostess, than that with which she greeted her guests and gave her readings. Landon Cullum, Jr., Elizabeth Perkins, Phoebe Jane Chenault and Josephine Bell who were her assistants made a group of such adorableness one really wished they could stay six forever and ever.

Listen to the bell that Greatness rings,
We fail to hear the bell of nearer things.
Who can tell?
Mayhaps the bell
Of school, calls to a king.

—D. L. W.

Jezica says she wishes she could read one thing I write without its having Junior college or something about a high school or university student in it, but how can I help it when Junior college continues to go ahead of other junior colleges and our students continually emblazon their names on the tablets of achievement? Just listen! Fred Couper, Jr., and Herbert Kirkland defeated all contestants in tennis doubles, putting the Junior college ahead in athletic as well as literary events. To bring home the three gold medals and two loving cups between them, as these two lads did is to put themselves and their school in a class to themselves.

William P. Hood, son of Mrs. Annie Hood, freshman student at the university, has been made president of Delta society, freshman honor organization and was one of 15 issue editors of the Daily Texan, student publication, to receive a bronze award.

Miss Doris Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brown, whose stories and poems appear not only in the student publications, but other papers and magazines has been made secretary-treasurer of the Scribblers, honorary writing club of the university.

At S. M. U. last Tuesday, a former student went back to demonstrate portrait painting before many distinguished guests at a luncheon to the Art club. This student, Mary Lou Thomas Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Thomas is making a reputation as a painter that has already reached outside of Wichita Falls. She will join the Art league of New York in the fall, an organization that extends its membership only to those who show talent and have had some measure of success.

The Symphony orchestra of Wichita Falls comes under the "bell of nearer things" and is one of our greatest musical assets. It is predicted by musical critics that for it the "bell of greatness" will ring soon. Eithel Allen Nelson, the gifted director and composer has assembled a group or artists that made an initial trip to Altus that is a forerunner of many to come, for their fame has spread and other towns are already asking for programs.

Spring Time is Rain Time

CRASH! A mighty flash of lightning. The lights flicker.

What wouldn't flicker under such conditions? Lightning often strikes the electric light wires, but automatic lightning arrestors and switches take care of the sudden surge on the lines and you barely notice the flicker.

But sometimes this crash of lightning strikes a pole and makes splinters of it, or splits it down the middle. Sometimes it hits a cross arm and damages it.

In such latter events your electric service is interrupted until workmen wade through the rain and storm and make repairs.

If spring time and rain time cause slight interruptions to service, please know that somewhere there is a crew working at great odds to restore the flow of electrical energy to your home, office, store or shop.

PROBERS ENTER BATTLE ZONE

South Carolina Campaign Attracts Committee

WASHINGTON, May 20. (US)—A senate subcommittee on campaign expenditures left tonight for Raleigh, N. C., on a mission which may have considerable influence on the presidential campaign of Gov. Al Smith, of New York.

The subcommittee, composed of Senator Steiwer, Republican, of Oregon, and Senator Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, will hold a prolonged one-man hearing tomorrow at Raleigh into the expenditures made thus far for the presidential candidates seekng to capture North Carolina's delegation to the Houston convention.

Dawson to Appear.

More than a dozen witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear, including John G. Dawson, former chairman of the Democratic state committee and now Smith's campaign manager; Zeb V. Turlington, manager for Representative Cordell, and a group of local political leaders who are actively engaged in promoting the candidacy of various presidential aspirants.

The investigation was sponsored, however, by political foes of Governor Smith and it is around the expenditures made on his behalf that the chief interest will center.

Smith is endeavoring to capture North Carolina from Representative Cordell Hull, who entered the primary there at the request of Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, the state political "boss" who is adamant in his opposition to the New York governor. The fight has developed into one of the bitterest pre-convention factional disputes in any of the southern states and the charge has been frequently made that the Smith people are spending money freely to encompass the defeat of his opponents.

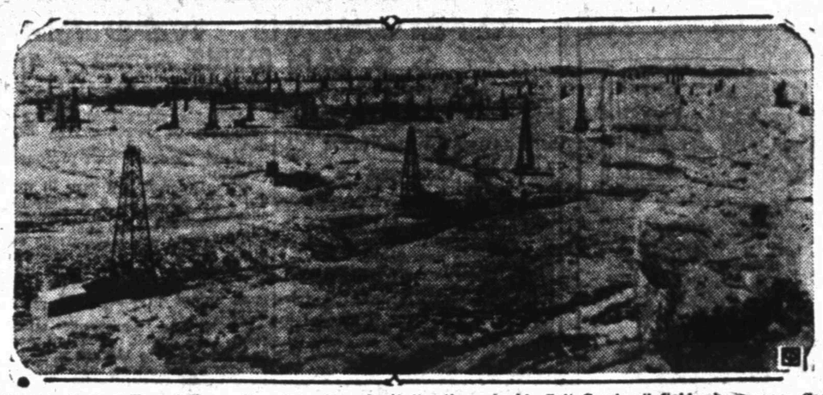

Both Confident.

So certain are the Simmons followers that they can prove these charges that the senate subcommittee is going to Reliegh practically at their invitation.

The Smith supporters likewise assert that they favor a full probe of the North Carolina situation in order to prove the falsity of the "slush fund" charges that have been hurled at his candidacy. They claim the investigation will develop into a "boomerang" which will injure Smith's opponents and considerably enhance his popularity below the Mason and Dixon.

The full senate campaign funds committee will delve a little deeper into the Indiana primary situation Tuesday with Oscar Foelinger, who managed the Hoover campaign there, as the big witness. Bert Thurman, Senator James A. Watson's manager, told the committee that the Hoover camp must have expended at least $100,000 for advertising alone. Foelinger is expected to deny this and counter with a few charges of lavish expenditures against the Watson followers.

Where Government Probes for New Oil Scandals

Overshadowing Teapot Dome in point of productivity, the valuable Salt Creek oil field, above, near Casper, Wyo., has come under the scrutiny of the senate investigating committee because of the leases extended to oil companies during the past. Government royalties from Salt Creek have totaled $45,000,000 since the field was opened in 1889.

Dr. Graham Had Leaing Part In Formation of Lions Club Boys' Band

Among the many achievements of the Wichita Falls Lions club, is one that has become community property, the Lions Club Boys' band. Seldom a parade is held unless this group of young musicians is included.

The band was organized in the late fall of 1926, was uniformed at that time and has been under constant training and instruction since. It is classed as one of the most accomplished organizations of its kind in the city. The band and its members have been unceasing in their willingness to aid in all public and civic activities. Numerous concerts have been given by it in the parks of Wichita Falls.

Besides the number of trips the boys have made to neighboring cities, the band accompanied the Wichita Falls Lions delegation on its trip to the district convention at McAllen last year, from where they were given an opportunity to visit Old Mexico.

The band, under the able leadership and direction of Leo Underwood, has now attained a size approximating 50 members, and is expected to have a "lion's share" in the activities of the Lions district convention being held in Wichita Falls Monday and Tuesday.

And like several other possessions of Wichita Falls, the organization of the Lions club band is due to the unceasing and indefatigable efforts of Dr. R. H. Graham, president of the Wichita Falls Lions club.

Optimists From Henrietta Here

Members of the Henrietta Optimist club will be guests of the Wichita Falls organization at the weekly luncheon Monday noon. A large crowd is expected from Henrietta, who will furnish the entertainment at the meeting.

As a courtesy to the Lions club, who will be hosts to the state convention Monday, the Optimist club will hold its luncheon in the basement of the First Presbyterian church. Arrangement have been made with the Camp Fire Girls to serve luncheon.

'WOOL COTTON' GIVEN TESTS

Dawson County Men In Experiments

Special to the Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, May 20.—A new kind of cotton is to be tried in Dawson county. Jimmie Odell and A. B. Hefferman of this city will experiment by planting six seeds of what is known as "wool cotton." This cotton was bred and started in Southern Siberia, but it is generally agreed that it cannot be successfully grown there. Last year it was tried in Taylor and Haskell counties with what is believed fairly successful reproduction and adaptation. It is believed that the climatic conditions of the South Plains is such as to yield this cotton very successfully.

According to Odell, who has paid a dollar a seed for this cotton, it grows as does ordinary cotton with about the same stalk, bolls and the same sort of cultivation. The lint is of the finer and more silken type strong and with extra long staple. At present there are no gin plants that can take care of this cotton if produced in large quantities, but this feature will be taken care of when the demand is created. Careful analysis shows that the fabric obtained from this wool cotton will be in great demand being used in the weaving of the finer materials.

It is estimated that it will take four years to complete this experiment owing to the fact that only a very limited number of wool cotton seed are now available.

HOUSTON, Texas, May 20. (UP)—Stage girls showing in Houston will not be required to wear hose—because they are too expensive.

Consent to Wed May Save Girl

CHICAGO, May 20. (US)—Consent of her parents to her marriage to John Mayer of Pittsburgh may save the life of Miss Helen B. Owens, co-ed at the University of Chicago, who Tuesday drank a rare poison in an effort to end her life.

The parents, Prof. and Mrs. Frederick W. Owens, of Pennsylvania State college, gave their consent in the hope that it would inspire their daughter in further efforts to combat the poisoning.

The girl has already undergone eight blood transfusions, and fifty students at the university are waiting to be called to give further blood for her.

Doctors expressed the belief that the girl had willed herself to die and this was hurting their efforts to aid her.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens said they had never objected to the marriage of their daughter to Mayer, a young engineer for the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, but had merely counselled delay until she had completed her studies at the university here.

Pot Shots at Politics by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

TIRED OF IT

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri has had his fill of investigating work. He has let it be known that he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and has grown weary of being an investigator. Senator Reed is out on a weak limb. He is the leader of a forlorn hope. He has Missouri and Kansas behind him, but the McAdoo Democrats, the ultra-pro Democrats, and the old fashioned Bryan Democrats, are not invading his reservation. He is a great lawyer, an incomparable prosecutor, an eloquent orator, a master of satire and his command of the English language places him in the front ranks of the gifted speakers of the period. Regardless of all this, he does not appear to be a successful vote getter or a winner of delegates in the outside states.

WHERE IS CYCLONE?

Where is Cyclone Davis? Has his voice failed him. He was a populist for years until the late Thomas M. Campbell became governor of Texas. Campbell converted Cyclone to the faith of his fathers. He returned to the Democratic fold. He lost his seat in congress because he apologized for the Southern Confederacy and its president, Jefferson Davis. All the survivors of the armies that wore the gray, then in the land of the living, camped on the trail of Cyclone when he asked for a third term and sent him back to his farm in Hopkins county. He has made two attempts in recent years to win a congressional seat. But the voice of the people declared against him and doomed him to be a wanderer in the wilderness. Bob Henry is back. Why not Cyclone?

SMITH IN TEXAS

Albert Sidney Burleson was for eight years a member of the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson. He was for many years a member of the lower house of congress. He was the first Texas Democrat of prominence to declare for Smith of New York. Burleson comes nearer to speaking for the Smith followers who are so vociferous in the public prints. This former cabinet officer and congressman is opposed to any caucus or cauceses by the Smith supporters. He will attend the one called for Dallas by Ted Monroe of the city where Boss Love holds forth. He says only a hand full of men will go to any city save Beaumont, and therefore, nothing satisfactory can be accomplished. In addition to this he said a Smith caucus was unauthorized, and that it is "unfortunate from the standpoint of the whole Smith cause and may not reflect the Texas situation either as to numbers or action." There are political buzz flies in all camps. They break into the public prints. They represent themselves. They are vain as society butterflies or front row chorus girls. They can neither be effaced nor squelched They use their tongues alone and permit their brains to sleep.

Filing Cabinet

My heart's a filing cabinet
Of all my hate and love;
In that file, I can plunge to depths,
Or soar to heights above.

I'd give my last lone dollar
If I could just concoct
A way to open my love-file.
And keep my hate-file locked.

One-Minute Sermon

And the next day he shewed himself unto them as they strove, and would have set them at one again, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren; why do ye wrong one to another?

But he that did his neighbor wrong thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a ruler and a judge over us?—The Acts, vi, 26-27.

Nye of North Dakota

SENATOR GERALD P. NYE of North Dakota was elected as a non-partisan Republican. He defeated the regulars of the Republican party and declared his independence of that party. He qualified as senator. He assisted the makers of things in the organization of the senate and he became a full-fledged Republican as far as organization purposes concerned the master minds or directors of the makers of things of America.

Now he has turned a somersault as far as writing and speaking goes. He has let it be known through the current issue of Plain Talk that a coalition of the south and west is the only salvation for the growers of things as a means of ending what he terms "the rule of absolutism of the industrial northwest."

This young senator of North Dakota is reminded that in days agone there was an Indian chief of the Sioux tribe in the Dakotas known to his fellow redskins as Facing Both Ways. There are politicians or national lawmakers who should carry the same name as the Indiana chieftain carried before he was sent to his Happy Hunting Ground.

When he is needed Nye is a regular Republican. When he is not needed, he is a loud talking insurgent. Now where will he go in the campaign to come and how will he vote in November?

For thirty years William Jennings Bryan advocated a union of the political forces of the south and the west and with the exception of the free silver campaign, the Republicans of the west held fast to the Republican party and its presidential nominees and threw Bryan in the discard.

They appeared to be willing to be known as insurgent Republicans, but they never invaded the Democratic reservation. They were not born on the reservation. They were not trained on the reservation. They have their memories and their traditions.

Some day they may see the light, and when that day does come, the growers of things will be found in one camp. Makers of things protect their pockets and their business.

Growers of things cling to their prejudices, sectional and otherwise, and the makers of things shape the legislation of the country and increase their fortunes.

A Wise Dean of Education

THERE is a wise dean in Big Bill Thompson's town. His name? William S. Gray of the College of Education of the University of Chicago.

His viewpoint is that the United States is becoming a nation of newspaper fans, and newspapers and magazines and motion pictures rather than books have made it so.

He is a bit gloomy, this university dean in Bill Thompson's town. He declares in his address that he looked forward to the library as the school of the future, so far as adult education is concerned, in commenting on the fact that there are still five million illiterates in the United States.

Then he made this gratifying announcement, "It is by means of the public library and newspapers that many adults are continuing their education. Books have taken a back shelf in the matter of reading material in America. Newspapers come first in interest, magazines hold second place and books, third."

He admitted that America can be called a nation of readers. He referred to the fact that in surveys, in tests during the World war, it was ascertained that 97 per cent read newspapers, 76 per cent read magazines and 3 per cent read books, a magnificent showing to say the least.

If America as a whole will fall for the thinking habit and in the last analysis the readers may become intelligent thinkers. Of course, the dean, who is a bit gloomy, announced another discovery which did not appeal to him.

"We have found there is a decrease of letters to editors in which people express their opinions, but that the opinion of newspaper men is bing fostered upon the public more than before."

This is another significant sign of real awakening on the part of the people. They appear to know what they want. They appear to know where to get it. They are the makers and masters of their own destiny.

This is a free land. Its sons and daughters are born free. It is well for them to grow up and remain free. It is well for them to digest all the news and know all the arguments and then they will do their own thinking and their own voting.

They will get away from the sheep habit. They will cease to follow the old rams in politics and elsewhere and never jump the tall fences just because the rams go in that direction. There is life in the old land of their fathers.

CONVICTION AND COURAGE

With reference to conviction and courage to express conviction, there are two classes of people in the world. One class has the courage to take a stand for or against a proposition. These are constructionists. To them is due all the reform the world has ever seen. The other class is that which is afraid to express itself but prefers to be popular. That class deserves no credit for what it has done, for it has done nothing. But on the other hand the world makes little or no charge to them on the negative side of the sheet. So they pass through life with little credit and little debit—just popular, good-for-nothing fellows.

MILLS OF JUSTICE GRIND SLOWLY

The supreme court of Texas handed down a decision the other day involving claims of a trust fund when passing into the hands of an insolvent debtor. As part of the case there were questions involving the liability of a state bank and the state department of banking under such circumstances, but these were not the interesting features of the litigation. At least not the most interesting from the standpoint of the layman.

Dispatches to the newspapers announcing the decision conveyed the information that the case had been in the courts five years and it appeared from the dispatches that there had been no new trials but the five years required for its disposition had been consumed in getting it from the district court and through the supreme court to a decision.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

A Cure for Hiccups

Occasionally we read of some prominent individual dying of hiccups, after practically every remedy was tried without success. Most cases of hiccups are only of short duration, however, and usually the nervous system can be restored by taking a long drink of cold water, or breathing in and out deeply a number of times.

This disorder often comes on after a hearty meal which causes a pressure on the diaphragm. It is a spasmodic contraction of the muscular diaphragm, which we use for breathing. This contraction is either nervous in origin, or is caused by irritation or pressure on the diaphragm.

When too much food starts the contraction, this may continue until the stomach has become empty, which may require eight or ten hours. By this time the diaphragm is apt to be sore and irritated and keep on with its spastic jerks unless a remedy is employed.

Hiccups may develop in the course of wasting diseases or from brain irritation, kidney stones or pelvic disorders. In any of these conditions, the principal disease should be cared for, but a great relief will result from stopping the hiccups.

I have been able to stop every case that has come to my attention within a few minutes by the simple pressure upon the central cervical plexus. This is a collection of nerve bodies located on each side of the spine about the middle of the neck.

The patient may administer this treatment himself by placing the fingers of each hand firmly on the sides of his neck, pulling forward and, at the same time, bending the head back as far as possible. The reason is that the pressure inhibits the nerve impulses of the phrenic nerve which is one of the important nerves supplying the diaphragm. This nerve may also be deadened temporarily by the application of ice to each side of the neck.

Should this self-applied treatment not be sufficient to stop the trouble, it would be well to call in an osteopath or chiropractor who, by making pressure at exactly the right spot, will stop the spasms almost instantly.

Of course, you realize that if there is a chronic cause, the hiccup is apt to return in a few hours, and every effort should be employed to ascertain and cure the original cause.

After dinner sufferers should remember what I have said about avoiding eating too much food, eating too rapidly, or using food that produces too much stomach gas. By acting accordingly, they can avoid having future attacks.

Questions and Answers

Question: Mrs. James W. writes: "I have been paralyzed for several months from high blood pressure. It first started in two fingers on the left hand and finally went up in the arm and all over the left side. Have taken electric treatments, and have done everything I know, but get no better. Can you help me in any way?"

Answer: Your high blood pressure can be reduced to practically normal through fasting and dieting. The paralysis will disappear as soon as the blood clot has been absorbed, but you can only accomplish this by living on the most rigid diet. The D'Arsenvol high frequency treatment will temporarily reduce your blood pressure after each treatment, but does not have any permanent effect.

Question: Housekeeper writes: "I am very interested in your health column, and am being greatly benefited, but am having difficulty in knowing which foods to combine. Will you please give some kind of a rule to go by?"

Answer: Proteins, which are the meats, cheeses, nuts, etc., properly combined with non-starchy and salad vegetables, such as string beans, spinach, celery, etc., are extremely easy to digest. The starches, such as potatoes, macaroni, rice, should also be combined with the non-starchy or salad vegetables but never with the proteins. Just remember this, and study the menus given in this column each week and it will soon become very easy for you to select good foods and combine them correctly. I have prepared a special article on "Food Combinations" which I will be glad to send to you on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

TRINITY CHURCH

NEW YORK, May 21.—Who is the great leader of New York society now? This query comes in from a number of readers, indicating that there is considerable interest in the subject in the hinterland.

The answer is that there is no great leader acknowledged as such. New York society no longer is one exclusive body, but a number of groups. The "400" has become the "4000." Instead of one leader, New York society, which means American society, has a number of Great Ladies, such as the dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Francis S. E. Drury, Mrs. Frank G. Griswold, Mrs. James A. Burden, Mrs. W. Goadby Loew, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt (who was Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt II), Mrs. August Belmont. There are, of course, Gould, Drexel and other dowagers to be considered.

Inquiries from readers indicate that lots of persons would like to take the $65 motor bus trip from New York to Los Angeles. I have received inquiries on the subject from Arthur K. Rupp, Shiremanstown, Pa., M. L. Cogan, Charleston, W. Va., Mrs. E. C. R., Columbus, Ohio, J. W. Smith, Augusta, Maine, and others.

The buses operate on a regular schedule, leaving New York daily at 10 a. m. The fare to Chicago is $21. Stops are made at convenient terminal points for rest and sightseeing. Complete information is available from either the Hotel Astor bus terminal or Waldorf-Astoria bus terminal, in New York.

Every time there is a parade, or the U. S. S. Los Angeles flies over the city, or some similar event takes place, employers lose thousands of dollars because of idle workers. As I write, a navy dirigible, the J-7, is moving over the city, and I can see thousands of heads hanging out of skyscraper windows. The show will last for half an hour, the boys and girls will talk about it for another hour, and a half day's work will be lost.

The Fifth Avenue association tries to limit the number of triumphal processions along that thoroughfare. A welcoming parade means the disruption of a day's business. Most of the persons who usurp the pavements along the street to gape at notables aren't of the class who patronize Fifth avenue shops.

Seeing a transatlantic liner off is a popular midnight diversion. Whenever the Majestic or Aquitania go down to sea at the late hour, there is a line of limousines down at the piers, with millionaires, stevedores and wharf rats sharing the sight of a starry skyscraper floating down the Hudson.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROSE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVLEY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR.

Vance believes Skeel was innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell and that he lay hidden in a closet while the strangler did his work. Markham ridicules the theory but Vance is unshaken. He shatters Cleaver's alibi of being out of the city the night of the murder and urges Markham to check up thoroughly on Mannix's whereabouts. Dr. Lindquist, who had lied once before, is brought in again and questioned.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Doctor Lindquist winced and considered the matter at some length.

"And if I admit that my affection for Miss Odell was other paternal—what then?"

Markham accepted the question as an affirmation.

"You were intensely jealous of her, were you not, doctor?"

"Jealousy." Doctor Lindquist remarked, with an air of ironic professionalism, "is not an unusual accompaniment to an infatuation. Authorities such as Krafft-Ebing, Moll, Freud, Ferenczi, and Adler, I believe, regard it as an intimate psychological corollary of amatory attraction."

"Most instructive." Markham nodded his head appreciatively. "I am to assume, then, that you were infatuated with—or, let us say, amatorily attracted by—Miss Odell, and that on occasions you exhibited the intimate psychological corollary of jealousy?"

"You may assume what you please. But I fail to understand why my emotions are any of your affair."

"Had your emotions not led you to highly questionable and suspicious acts, I would not be interested in them. But I have it on unimpeachable authority that your emotions so reacted on your better judgment that you threatened to take Miss Odell's life and also your own. And in view of the fact that the young woman has since been murdered, the law naturally—and reasonably—is curious."

The doctor's normally pale face seemed to turn yellow and his long splay fingers tightened over the arms of his chair; but otherwise he sat immobile and rigidly dignified, his eyes fixed intently on the district attorney.

"I trust," added Markham, "you will not augment my suspicions by any attempt at denial."

Vance was watching the man closely. Presently he leaned forward.

"I say, doctor, what method of extermination did you threaten Miss Odell with?"

Doctor Lindquist jerked round, thrusting his head toward Vance. He drew in a long rasping breath, and his whole frame became tense. Blood suffused his cheeks; and there was a twitching of the muscles about his mouth and throat. For a moment I was afraid he was going to lose self-control. But after a moment's effort he stedied himself.

"You think perhaps I threatened to strangle her?" His words were vibrant with the intensity of his passionate anger. "And you would like to turn my throat into a noose to hang me? 'Paugh!"

He paused, and when he spoke again his voice had become clearer. "It is quite true I once inadvisedly attempted to frighten Miss Odell with a threat to kill her and to commit suicide. But if your information is accurate as you would have me believe, you are aware that I threatened her with a revolver. It is the weapon, I believe, that is conventionally mentioned when making empty threats. I certainly would not have threatened her with thuggee, even had I contemplated so abominable an act."

"True," nodded Vance. "And it's a rather good point, don't y' know."

The doctor was evidently encouraged by Vance's attitude. He again faced Markham and elaborated his confession.

"A threat, I presume you know, is rarely the forerunner of a violent deed. Even a brief study of the human mind would teach you that a threat is prima facie evidence of one's innocence. A threat, generally, is made in anger, and acts as its own safety-valve."

He shifted his eyes. "I am not a married man; my emotional life has not been stabilized, as it were; and I am constantly coming in close contact with hypersensitive and overwrought people. During a period of abnormal susceptibility I conceived an infatuation for the young woman, an infatuation which she did not reciprocate—certainly not with an ardor commensurate with my own.

"I suffered deeply; and she made no effort to mitigate my sufferings. Indeed, I suspected her, more than once, of deliberately and perversely torturing me with other men. At any rate, she took no pains to hide her infidelities from me. I confess that once or twice I was almost distracted. And it was in the hope of frightening her into a more amenable and considering attitude that I threatened her. I trust that you are a sufficiently discerning judge of human nature to believe me."

"Leaving that point for a moment," answered Markham noncommittally, "will you give me more specific information as to your whereabouts Monday night?"

Again I noted a yellow tinge creep over the man's features, and his body stiffened perceptibly. But when he spoke it was with his habitual suavity.

"I considered that my note to you covered that question satisfactorily. What did I omit?"

"What was the name of the patient on whom you were calling that night?"

"Mrs. Anna Breedon. She is the widow of the late Amos H. Breedon of the Breedon National Bank of Long Branch."

"And you were with her, I believe you stated, from eleven until one?"

"That is correct."

"And was Mrs. Breedon the only witness to your presence at the sanitarium between those hours?"

"I am afraid that is so. You see, after ten o'clock at night I never ring the bell. I let myself in with my own key."

"And I suppose that I may be permitted to question Mrs. Breedon?"

Doctor Lindquist was profoundly regretful.

"Mrs. Breedon is a very ill woman. She suffered a tremendous shock at the time of her husband's death last summer, and has been practically in a semiconscious condition ever since. There are times when I even fear for her reason. The slightest disturbance or excitement might produce very serious results."

He took a newspaper cutting from from a gold-edged letter-case and handed it to Markham.

"You will observe that this obituary notice mentions her prostration and confinement in a private sanitarium. I have been her physician for years."

Markham, after glancing at the cutting, handed it back. There was a short silence broken by a question from Vance.

"By the bye, doctor, what is the name of the night nurse at your sanitarium?"

Doctor Lindquist looked up quickly.

"My night nurse? Why—what has she to do with it? She was very busy Monday night. I can't understand. . . . Well, if you want her name I have no objection. It's Finckle—Miss Amelia Finckle."

Vance wrote down the name and rising, carried the slip of paper to Heath.

"Sergeant, bring Miss Finckle here tomorrow morning at eleven," he said, with a slight lowering of one eyelid.

"I sure will, sir. Good idea." His manner boded no good for Miss Finckle.

A cloud of apprehension spread over Doctor Lindquist's face.

"Forgive me if I say that I am insensible to the sanity of your cavalier methods." His tone betrayed only contempt. "May I hope that for the present your inquisition is ended?"

"I think that will be all, doctor," returned Markham, politely. "May I have a taxicab called for you?"

"Your consideration overwhelms me. But my car is below." And Doctor Lindquist haughtily withdrew.

Markham immediately summoned Swacker and sent him for Tracy. The detective came at once, polishing his pince-nez and bowing affably. One would have taken him for an actor rather than a detective, but his ability in matters requiring delicate handling was a byword in the department.

"I want you to fetch Mr. Louis Mannix again," Markham told him. "Bring him here at once; I'm waiting to see him."

Tracy bowed genially and, adjusting his glasses, departed on his errand.

"And now," said Markham, fixing Vance with a reproachful look, "I want to know what your idea was in putting Lindquist on his guard about the night nurse. Your brain isn't at par this afternoon."

"Do you think I didn't have the nurse in mind? And now you've warned him. He'll have until eleven tomorrow morning to coach her in her answers. Really, Vance, I can't conceive of anything better calculated to defeat us in our attempt to substantiate the man's alibi."

"I did put a little fright into him, didn't I?" Vance grinned complacently. "Whenever your antagonist begins talking exaggeratedly about the insanity of your notions, he's already deuced hot under the collar.

"But, Markham, old thing, don't burst into tears over my mental shortcoming. If you and I both thought of the nurse, don't you suppose the wily doctor also thought of her? If this Miss Finckle were the type that could be suborned, he would have enlisted her perjurious services two days ago, and she would have been mentioned, along with the comatose Mrs. Breedon, as a witness to his presence at the Sanitarium Monday night.

"The fact that he avoided all reference to the nurse shows that she's not to be wheedled into swearing falsely . . . No, Markham. I deliberately put him on his guard. Now he'll have to do something before we question Miss Finckle. And I'm vain enough to think I know what it'll be."

Gain in value of securities held by the company and profit from those sold have added materially to net income. The securities held Jan. 1, 1928, had a market value of $74,187,658 and cash amounted to $1,674,802.

As of Jan. 1, 1928, profit and loss surplus was $27,789,109 and total assets were $81,467,067. Book value including $2,500,000 reserve for contingencies, amounted to $33.58 a share, not including 4 per cent of the unearned premium reserve. If the latter amount be included the book value would be $40.65.

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

BY WILLIAM HAINES

William Haines is 27 years old, weighs 145 pounds, stands 5 feet 8 inches tall, is a nice boy and a moving picture star. Knows all about the pitfalls of Hollywood but still blushes over some of the things that happen there.

WILLIAM HAINES

Bill used to push a small truck in a powder plant. After a while he received an advancement — they gave him a big truck to push.

Stanton, Virginia, and Richmond quarrel over the question of which is Bill's home. Stanton says it's Richmond, and Richmond says it's Stanton.

In Hollywood they say that Haines is a regular mama's boy until he sits in a game of draw. Then he becomes a felon, champions claim. He is a golf fiend, knows which tools to use at dinner, owns a dandy recipe and likes the following gag:

"I know a very pretty and shapely actress who was taking golf lessons fro ma professional," Haines told me, "and she seemed to get along wonderfully.

"One day after they had played to the eighteenth hole the pro said to her:

"'Well, it's a funny thing. Your stance is all wrong, but your form is wonderful.'

"'Of course,' said the actress, flashing him a toothpaste ad smile, 'but I've got to diet carefully to keep it like that.'"

SPUDDERS CONCLUDE ROAD TREK TODAY WITH DOUBLE HEADER

CHAMPS HOME FOR LONG STAY

Williamsmen in Own Lot Tuesday for 18 Days

SHREVEPORT, La., May 20.—The crippled Spudders enjoyed a rest today. Torrential rainfall prevented the champions from playing a double header with the rejuvenated Shreveport Sports and as a result two games are to be held Monday with one postponed game still to be played. As Monday is the last trip here of the Spudders in the first half the postponed game will have to be played at Wichita Falls, if at all.

Their idleness today prevented the Spudders from having a chance of returning home Tuesday as league leaders. But the layoff wasn't altogether regretted. With Pete Turgeon forced to retire Saturday from a lame back and Wally Swenson out several days from a twisted ankle the Williamsmen could well appreciate a layoff.

The Spudders have hopes of making their home coming as occupants of second place, which can be realized with two wins today should Fort Worth lose. However, they can't be very far out of first place, no matter what happens today, and have played such excellent ball on this long road trek to date as to give them cause for equanimity.

Williams' men are scheduled for 18 days at home starting Tuesday. Fort Worth, Shreveport, Beaumont, Houston, Waco and San Antonio all are carded for three-day stands at Spudderville, with the Exporters booked for a double bill May 30. There also is a postponed game with Waco, in addition to the one with Shreveport, to be played while the Spudders are enjoying this long home stay.

The Spudders have won six and lost five games to date on this trek. They beat Waco two out of three, divided with San Antonio and Houston in series of two games each, took two out of three with Beaumont and lost the opener Saturday to Shreveport.

ROETZ RECALLED

Ed Back From Abilene To Help Crippled Spudders

J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Spudders, returned home yesterday, after receiving word from Manager Williams that Carl would rejoin the champions today at Shreveport. The skipper had been called to his home at Santa Ana on account of illness in his family.

With Pete Turgeon still ailing from the flu and Wally Swenson's ankle painful, President Gardner has recalled Ed Roetz infielder, from the Abilene club of the West Texas league.

Health Greatest Need, Stagg Says

Vitality Wins, Noted Coach Tells Youth

CHICAGO, May 18. (US)—Father Amos Alonzo Stagg, director of athletics at the University of Chicago, declared today that the "greatest fun in the world is having health."

His statement was made before 200 boys incident to boys' week. He was introduced as the "greatest character builder of young men in the United States."

"A young fellow is licked from the first in his fight for success unless he has power, fight and vitality," the great mentor declared.

"The trouble with many boys of this day and age is that they attempt to get fun in the wrong kind of way, and think they are enjoying themselves when they stay out all night."

Voight Wins North Hills Golf in Brilliant Play

GARDEN CITY, L. I., May 20. (US)—Clicking off 16 holes in even fours, George Voigt, the North Hills Country club's newest acquisition in golfing luminaries, defeated George Dawson of Westchester Biltmore, 3 up and 2 to play in the final round of the Garden City Golf club invitation tournament today.

The two recent additions to metropolitan territory contributed perhaps the finest ultimate round ever seen in the long history of the tournament, the golf was of a brand much faster than is usually put on exhibition in tournaments of this caliber.

Voight played both slovenly and sensationally in accomplishing the effacement of Dawson. But dispite his ragged display at the beginning of the match when he went two holes down to the former Chicagoan, he managed to score well by splendid recoveries. However, after the seventh hole he played brilliantly, negotiating the last nine in two under even fours.

How fine was his effort is made clear by the fact that Dawson had six consecutive fours on the last holes of the encounter and still managed to lose one.

Matsuda Meets Canadian Artist

Frankie Hudson to Hold Weight Advantage

Canadian mat talent in the shape of Frankie Hudson of Vancouver, has been imported by Alec Ross to compare locks with Matty Matsuda, welterweight and claimant to two titles, Monday night at the Gym, 605 Scott avenue.

The Canadian will outweigh the wiry Jap by a number of pounds and the match will be in the nature of a handicap tussle. Hudson has wrestled on the Pacific coast and has been a favorite there for several years, and is here for a finish match with the Nipon.

The preliminary match is also a finish affair, with Teddy Waters going up against Bert Willoughby, a favorite of Dallas.

Helps Tigers

OWEN CARROLL

Owen Carroll, Detroit pitcher, seems ready to take a place among the leading aces of the American league.

Carroll came to the Tigers in 1925, directly from the campus of Holy Cross college. He was sent to Toronto, and in 1926 won 21 and lost but eight, paving his way for a return to the Tigers last season.

CATS TROUNCE STEERS IN 10TH

Joe Pate Bests Slim Love In Southpaw Duel

DALLAS, Texas, May 20. (AP)—Bert Ellison's Steers ran into another 10-inning melee Sunday afternoon to furnish some 4400 customers with thrills resembling those regular features of melees with the Fort Worth Cats up to about two years ago, but the Atzmen nosed out, 6 to 5.

A wild throw to first base by Shortstop Loris Baker paved the way for the score that beat Edwin Love and spelled victory for Joe Pate, portside relief pitchers who had settled down to what had possibilities of being a lengthy and interesting duel. Score:

BUFFS BEAT CRIPPLED CUBS

HOUSTON, Texas, May 20. (AP)—The hot sun and the "hotter" bats of the Houston Buffs Sunday made Bo Molenda yearn for his all-American fullback days at Michigan, as the bingling Bisons clouted hard to defeat the crippled Waco Cubs, 12-5.

Willie Hallahan, crack portsider, in chalking up his sixth victory, fanned eight, to run his string of victims for the season to 55. In the first round, with the bases loaded and one down, Heinie Schuble, shortstop, made a hair-raising stab of Art Shires' drive, and doubled Blackerby off second. After that, it was easy sailing for "Wild William."

Manager Dell Pratt of Waco was on crutches, Saturday, Pratt and Harry Brown collided in center field, Pratt suffering two fractured ribs and an injured knee, and Brown a broken collar bone. Both will be out of the lineup for some time. Score:

EXPORTERS AGAIN BEAT BEARS

BEAUMONT, May 20. (AP)—Beaumont broke Tink Riviere's winning streak of seven straight today, driving him from the mound in the first inning, and making it two in a row over San Antonio, 9 to 2. Holzhauser went the route for the home club, allowing eight scattered hits and fanning seven. In addition he contributed a home run in the fourth, driving in Camalo ahead of him.

Walter Newman relieved Riviere and yielded seven safeties.

San Antonio's scores came in the fourth on Taylor's double and Nason's single and in the ninth on a walk to Boggess, an infield out and Pinch Hitter Gibson's single to center. Score:

ELECTRICS ADD TO LOOP LEAD

Trout and Mates Defeat Continental, 7 to 2

Texas Electrics strengthened their leadership in the Twilight baseball league Sunday afternoon at Katy park by defeating the Continental Conocos 7 to 2.

The two Conoco tallies came in the fourth inning when Carrington doubled to left field scoring Dickey and Ray. Score:

Bare Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, May 20.—Golf was the subject of the congressional recrimination for the matinee performance of Thursday, May 17, 1928.

Which date will thunder down in the catalogues of jurisprudence and kite flying as the most important in history.

Senator Frazier of North Dakota, asked that the exemptions on taxable golf dues be raised from 10 to 25 clinkers.

Senator Robinson asked why there should be any taxes per all on a wholesome, outdoor, entertaining pastime such as golf.

Senator Norris admitted that he didn't play golf but loved it so much he couldn't stop joining clubs.

While these boys were scratching each other's backs in the fairway, another foursome started from spontaneous combustion in the cloak room.

The boys talked golf all over the capitol building and it looks as if that glorious, red, white and blue banner was nothing but a direction flag.

"Don't talk," said Senator Norris to an interruptor, "while I am putting."

The senator was within his parliamentary rights. No senator should start a speech while his opponent is trying to get off the tee.

"Did you ever get a bum's view of a golf club from a bunker?" asked a senator, pro tem, who knew what they were talking about, but didn't like to explain it.

With that, the speaker of the house broke his gavel over a page's head and swore that he would never talk the game again.

Cruickshank Idle Year As Result of Operation

NEW YORK, May 20. (UP)—Bobby Cruickshank, diminutive Scottish pro of Shackamoxon who tied Bobby Jones for first place in the open championship in 1923, is lost to competititive golf for the rest of the year as the result of a recent surgical operation.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

THERE'S MORE to the Texas league race than the fight of the four leaders. The second division occupants have strengthened recently and those clubs are apt to arise at any time to smite the pace setters. Shreveport gained by the return of Williamson, an excellent pitcher, and the acquisition of Bernie Deviveros, a splendid shortstop. Changes have been made in the Beaumont lineup that apparently are beneficial, as the Exporters have played good ball of late. Battle has strengthened the Waco infield. Dallas hasn't made any changes lately but the Steers are playing somewhat improved ball over their loose games of a few weeks ago.

The jinx seemingly pursues athletes of the Waco club. Third Baseman Vigare was so badly injured early in the season that he is out for probably the entire campaign. Saturday Harry Brown, outfielder, sustained a broken collar bone that will keep him in idleness a few weeks. few weeks.

REASON FOR THE failure of the Spudders to make a runaway race such as last season may be found in their batting. Averages for games including Thursday show that only three regulars are hitting .300. Eldred, in nine games, is batting .472, second in league hitting. Swenson has a mark of .306 and Jenkins .305. Lapan in 20 games, clouted out an even .300. Thus, except for Eldred, it will be observed that the Spudders have been very impotent with their maces. They have given recent evidence of a return to the form of 1927. However, one or two of the athletes still aren't macing as they should. But the home town nine still is in the pennant hunt, which, after all, is the important thing.

Katy Captures Pitchers' Duel

Rairoaders Bat Timely To Beat Dimocks, 4-1

M. K. T. team helped its hold on second place in the City league race by defeating Dimock Plumbers, 4 to 1, Sunday afternoon at Jalonic park.

The game was a pitchers' duel all the way but the timely hits of the Katy batsmen defeated the Plumbers.

Schrimher, M. K. T. first baseman, clouted a home run and a three-bagger in his four trips to bat. Score:

Collegian Captures Lap In Pyle's Bunion Derby

WAVERLY, N. Y., May 20.—Paul Bardrock Simpson, Burlington, N. C., collegian, paced the Bunyon derbyists through 58:3 miles of drizzling rain from Bath to the 78th control here today, arriving first in 8:57:10.

He was 39th in standing this morning and has covered the 5155.7 miles from Los Angeles in 830:28:42. "Never felt better," said Simpson, known as the tough luck boy of the race, due to his battle with shin splints and blisters. "Not much chance of finishing in the money, but I had to win a lap to get some satisfaction out of it."

Mandell Still Rules 7-5 Favorite In Much-Postponed Titular Fight

60,000 to See Irish Jimmy McLarnin and Sammy Battle For Lightweight Crown Tonight—If Weather Permits.

By ED FRAYNE

NEW YORK, May 20. (US)—Tomorrow is the night, if it doesn't rain—

The night when Sammy Mandell defends his lightweight title against Jimmy McLarnin in a 15-round bout at the Polo grounds.

The night when 60,000 sit around the little 22-foot ring.

The night when those who guessed McLarnin, will collect around $500,000 or will pay out that much. There is that much wagered on the result.

Provided of course, that it doesn't rain.

According to the latest reports from the weather bureau, the chances are excellent for a clear, warm evening.

If so, there is an excellent chance that the redoubtable George Texas Rickard will yet pull the most-postponed fight in history out on the right side of the ledger. He anticipates a tremendous last minute sale, now that the battle is finally assured.

Both fighters were compelled to visit the gymnasiums today. They will be required to make 135 pounds on the state athletics commission scales at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Both made the weight last Thursday, the original date of their match.

Mandell put in some prodigious licks at Orangeburg, N. J., whence he fled when he learned that the bout would not be held Saturday. The champion is having plenty of trouble keeping down to weight.

McLarnin worked at Grupp's gymnasium. He weighed 134 pounds Saturday and he does not anticipate any bother in being under 135 tomorrow.

Mandell still rules a 7 to 5 favorite.

Hagen Upsets Golf Theories

Walter Proves Intensive Practice Unnecessary

By ROBERT EDGREN

Walter Hagen, winning the British open golf championship a third time, has upset a lot of theories. Hagen played very little golf this past winter, cutting out his usual tournament tours. He went to England fat and apparently far from ready. Many said that he had slipped so far he couldn't come back.

He took the worst beating of his life in a preliminary match with Compston, the best British professional, and then he turned right around after ten days of hard training and won like the old Hagen.

Ordinary rule and theories don't fit Mr. Hagen. And it isn't all because he has iron nerve. The old master has the stuff to back his nerve.

Sarazen Courageous

I don't know but that Gene Sarazen, who finished second, deserves just as much credit as Hagen. Gene is a smiling little fellow, and quiet. You don't read a lot about him. But he wins his share of tournaments and has nerve as good as Hagen's in a tight match. Sarazen may be winning that British title himself next year. It's natural to expect an American to win it. Americans have taken the British open six times in the past seven years. Hagen three times winner, Jones twice, Barnes and Hutchinson each once.

They have good athletes and good sports in England, but the old notion of British athletic supremacy hasn't been standing up very well these last few years. Once all the boxing champions were British. There have been very few in the last quarter of a century.

The only prospect at this time seems to be a remote one—Phil Scott, heavyweight. Scott is a rather clever fighter and might do well with Tunney, boxing for a decision. He was knocked out by Hansen, the tall Dane, but after that setback he went right along fighting, knocked out Morte Munn and recently beat Roberti, the 217-pound Italian who has been fighting so well in the middle west that he looked like the best of the big fellows hunting Tunney's scalp. Modern boxing developed in England and her colonies, but has become more an American than a British sport.

Golf started in Scotland, too, and only a few a few years ago no American club was up-to-date unless it hired a Scotch or an English professional. In a few years, America went into the lead, and now our professionals are practically all Americans.

U. S. Takes Lead

Tennis was a favorite British sport, but the French, Americans, Japanese, Italians and other nations have been cutting into the championships.

Track and field athletics were essentially British until 30 or 40 years ago. The first upset of the British supremacy track tradition came when the London A. C. sent an English track team to New York to meet the N. Y. A. C in a dual meet. The Americans won every event on the program and broke several world's records. Since then, America has held a clean lead in athletics. Lately the Finns, Swedes, French and Italians have cut into the point scoring, especially the Finns.

Now and then the English bring out some fine champions and take some of our pets away from us; men like Abrahamson in the sprints last time, and others in the distance runs. The Germans will cut into the other nations this year, in the Olympic games.

Mr. Pyle's Offer In Regretfully Rejected

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (US)—C. C. Pyle offered to let his bunion derby travelers go down main street of Monticello next Wednesday for $100.

"If I could raise a $100," said J. U Taylor, secretary of the chamber of commerce, "I'd walk out of town myself."

Pyle pulled into town with Mr. Rice and his private pullman bus yesterday afternoon. At last reports $3.76 toward the hundred had been raised and it looks as though the bunion derby would be a brown derby as far as Monticello is concerned.

Education's Aim Is To Guarantee Skilled Labor, McKenney Tells Classes

212 GRADUATES HEAR ADDRESS

Baccalaureate Sermon At Junior College

Using as his theme "The Challenge of a Great Ideal," Dr. S. S. McKinney, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered the baccalaureate address to the 212 graduates of the junior college and high school Sunday morning at the Junior college auditorium.

"The different ideals are as numerous as individuals," said Dr. McKinney. "They come under three divisions, possession, persuit, and personality. Personality, in the real of being is also devided in three parts, the hand, the head, and the heart as exemplified by the three texts, Ecclesiastes 9:10, Proverbs 23:7, and Proverbs 4:23.

"I once heard a great speaker on a similar occasion divide his address into two heads," said Dr. McKenney, "Realization of yourself and sacrifice to yourself." Whether self realization be called the dawn of self consciousness or not, with it begins the philosophy of life. There are four steps in the realization of highest selfhood. They are when the youth says, 'I am, I can, I ought, and I will,' or to change the wording it is the realization of self, ability, duty, and responsibility.

"The aim of education is not to make hand work unnecessary, but to guarantee skilled labor. If an add in a daily paper called for a dozen laborers one hundred might respond, but not one would answer an advertisement for a man to fill a $50,000 position. When you learn to do any one thing better than any one else, the world will make a path to your door. Do not be too easily satisfied, for as the bad is the enemy of the good, so might the good be the enemy of the best.

"The intellectual also challenges you. You cannot afford to go into sharp competition with dull and rusty tools, for that action would doom you to mediocrity. Perhaps some have come to this hour at the cost of a great sacrifice, yet this is not the end. It is in truth only the 'commencement.' Perhaps some of you may not go farther in an institution of learning. Your instruction in a schoolroom ends, yet your education goes on through life. Even if you must work eight hours a day from now on, you will have eight hours each night for sleep and eight remaining hours for self cultivation. It is these hours spent in self cultivation more than all others combined that determine your destiny. If you spend two hours a day consulting the great authors, at the end of 20 years you will be qualified to hold any position within the gift of church or state.

"Finally you are challeneged by a religious ideal. Philosophers have denominated man as 'a religious animal.' The Greek word for man means 'the uplooking one.' The horse's eyes were set so he could see the path before him, the eyes of the swine to see the earth beneath, but the eyes of man were turned so as to behold the heavens above. Only man can trace the Divine footsteps. As Kelper said, 'I am thinking thy thoughts after thee.' We are imitators of God. We fashion our ships after the body of the fish, our airplanes after the bird and our skyscrapers after the towering granite. Like the unhatched eagle, one may die in his shell or emerge to a larger and fuller world. As the heavens call to the eagle, so do they call to us today. As Carl Schurz has well said, 'Our ideals are like stars which we can never touch with our hands, yet we may claim them as our companions and for evermore walk in their light.'"

HEAVY RAINS COVER SECTION

One and Half Inches Fall Here

Heavy rains were reported Sunday afternoon and night all along the lines to Childress and Fort Worth and into Oklahoma points.

An estimated precipitation of one and a half inches fell over the entire area surrounding Wichita Falls, with the heaviest downpour occurring near Hollister and Frederick, Okla. At Hollister, some hail was reported, but not enough to do material damage to crops, it was said.

Although late Sunday night rivers had shown no rise, with the draining of sources of the streams, another increase in the waters were expected. No damage was sustained to railroad lines or bridges.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas reported the opening of the line again over the Salk Fork or Red river at 6 o'clock Sunday evening after three days of suspension. Men were rushed to the scene when a part of the bridge went out Thursday evening during the rise in the river after rains of last week. Reconstruction commenced, upon completion of which service was continued on the line.

Candidates to Draw Rules for Campaign

Campaign speaking rules for the more than 50 candidates who will be stumping the county for public office are to be considered Monday night by the candidates themselves in a meeting in the 89th district court room. Several plans probably will be presented. Harry Bunnenberg, Sam Spence, John P. Marrs, Bob Crain and Max Shumake form a committee on arrangements which will make arrangements for the speaking places.

Oklahoman Arrested After Cashing Check

Capture here of a young man Sunday was made by Officers Will Allen and McLain for the authorities at Shawnee, Okla.

The man is said to have cashed a check of an Oklahoma theater company on a local cafe. Becoming suspicious of the check, the restaurant owner soon telephoned and was told the check was one of several which had been taken from the company. The man is being held for Oklahoma officers.

CONGRESS MAY MISS ITS MARK

Adjourfnment On Saturday Seems Unlikely

WASHINGTON, May 20. (US)—Congressional leaders have designated Saturday for adjournment, but with the tax cut Muscle Shloals, Boulder dam and the $274,000,000 ship building measure on deck for final dispasition the closng day will be filled with fireworks.

Indication were that the senate will pass the tax bill tomorrow, sending it to conferences with the house for a com-promise on disputed feateures.

With democratic tax leaders in the house to accept most of the changes made by the senate, the outlook for speedy agreement in conference and final passage in both bodies was bright.

Both Wary

The senate bill as it stands today carries a total reduction of $228,000,000, while the bill provides $290,000,000. But neither party seems to be disposed to take the responsibility for killing the measure on the eve of a national election.

The Norris-Morin bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals is in conference. An agreement this week was believed certain, with both branches placing their final stamp of approval on this measure before the adjournment gong rings.

As usual the deficiency appropriation bill, carrying supplemental appropriations for governmental departments, is yet to be passed. This has been passed by the house and awaits senate concurrence.

Boulder Dam Bill

The Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill comes up automatically in both branches this week. The house will begin consideration of it Tuesday. As consideration of the measure is limited to 12 hours general debate, to be followed by action on the bill, under a special rule, a showdown in that body on this important issue is assured. A final vote Thursday was expected.

As soon as the tax bill is disposed of in the senate, the Boulder Dam bill automatically comes up again there as it is the unfinished business before the senate.

U. S. Adopt Hands-Off Policy In War Area

PEKING, May 20. (US)—Strenuous efforts are being made to prevent entangling American troops here and in Tientsin with the Nationalist troops in the event of a juncture of the two factions in the Chinese civil war. Admiral Mark Bristol, commanding the American Asiatic fleet, which is massed in Chinese waters, conferred today with Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, northern dictator, and other northern leaders, to make clear that the United States government's policy will be strictly hands-off and that the several thousand American marines and bluejackets in Peking and Tientsin will be used only to protect American lives and property.

Texan Takes Poison And Shoots Self to Death

MEXICO CITY, May 20. (UP)—William Feitelbaum of San Antonio, Texas, died in a hotel room today after he had taken arsenic and iodine and shot himself in the breast.

Business worries are supposed to have caused the suicide. Feitelbaum left an incoherent letter to General Obregon, asking to be buried under a United States flag.

89 Passengers On Fog Bound Ship Saved

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—After spending the night aboard the coast guard cutter Seminole in the lower bay, 89 passengers of the Clyde liner Mohawk, victims of the fog which had paralyzed shipping in the harbor for 24 hours and caused numerous mishaps, were landed on Staten Island today.

There seems to be a sort of a wave that rises and falls which carries to Wichita Falls a number of really big attractions of the screen. Right now, at big houses and little, there are big league players in their respective classes.

Rod LaRocque, the boy who got Vilma Bankey's name on the dotted line of a marriage contract before she had been in America long enough to learn the language well, is being starred in a new action picture, "Hold 'Em Yale," which opened at the Majestic Sunday. It is a live picture that the members of the younger generation will fairly eat up. The older folks will get lots of grins out of it when they see themselves as they used to be.

The Vitaphone is entertaining many at the Strand these days. Reopening the Strand theater Saturday, the vitaphone presentation of Waring's Pennsylvanians has pleased great numbers. Tom Waring sings in pleasing fashion, and the entire number is most excellent.

Tom Mix and Tony the wonder horse are taking down the house at the Olympic in "Hello Cheyenne." There is a good short comedy on the same program. This picture marks the beginning of the new policy in prices at the Olympic which hereafter are 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

Charlie Chaplin, who probably is the world's most famous laughmaker, is setting the crowds wild at the Strand in his latest picture, "The Circus." It is fast, furious and funny and is well worth the price. In bad weather and at times when the roads are bad, it is an ideal thing to see this show for you can't use your automobile to drive over the country with much pleasure anyway. Then, if you go to the show, you can enjoy it and laugh a lot. That puts you in good humor, and you will be happier and better able to do the day's work. Try it.

Keep your eyes open for that great picture, "The Dove," which is announced for Wichita Falls some time in the near future. It probably will be shown at the Strand.

WICHITA BUYS FINE JERSIES

500 Cows Added to Herds In 30 Days

About 500 high grade and purebred Jersey cows have been received in Wichita county and the immediate territory in the past 30 days, according to an announcement made Sunday by J. C. Teissler, manager of the Kraft Cheese company plant.

"Rains in the past few days have cut down the milk receipts considerably," Mr. Teissler said. "However, the prospects for the late summer and fall are good.

"Many owners of cows are rebuilding their herds. Their poorer cows are being replaced with better ones. Several men are milking fewer cows now than they were when the Kraft plant started operations here, but due to study and effort, they are obtaining more milk from their smaller herds than they formerly did from their larger herds.

"Care and attention to present herds, when backed by study, will increase the production of herds. Many are finding this out."

SAVE-A-LIFE CAMPAIGN

It is a moral and Christian duty of every motorist to safeguard and protect little children. Your child, your neighbor's child, once out of their own yard is subjected to the hazardous reckless driver of an automobile. It is criminal to kill or maim a person through some carelessness on your part.

Parents are partially to blame when they knowingly permit their children to play in the streets and make no effort to prevent it. If they must have more room for recreation allow them to go to the nearest public play grounds. It is well then to have some older person accompany them.

The mounting death rate of men, women and children, especially children, whose lives are crushed out annually, or they are maimed and crippled permanently—should arrest the attention of everyone to the performance of his duty in assisting to alleviate this condition.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Statistics show that a large per cent of automobile accidents is due to defective mechanism of your car. "The Save-A-Life Campaign" is directed particularly to the motorist. A number of automobile and service stations has been designated by the State "Save-A-Life campaign" headquarters as official test stations—to test the safety devices of any motorist's car absolutely FREE OF CHARGE. The fundamental safety features of an automobile are; condition of brakes, head lights, steering mechanism and rear view mirrors. These are small, but sometimes costly discrepancies. Take your car to the nearest test station during this campaign and if any of these deficiencies exist have them adjusted and put in a safe mechanical condition.

DO THIS—IT IS YOUR DUTY

Billy Brown Wins Junior Record News Loving Cup

Excellent Work Done Here by Many Pupils During School Year

Billy Brown of St. Mary's wins the loving cup for having had printed during the school year the greatest number of signed items in the Junior Record News.

He is to be congratulated for his splendid work week by week throughout the school year.

Weldon Walker of Huey school was a close second. Weldon made a heavier final dash than any other pupil, but the lead piled up by Billy was too much to overcome.

John Bone of Austin, Harry Strief of Crockett and Tinsey Garrett were third, fourth and fifth, respectively.

The honor roll also includes Rufus King of Crockett, who dropped out because of illness several weeks ago; Rita Ruth Slaughter of Franklin, who stood a good chance but did not save her clippings, and James Hull of St. Mary's.

FROM BILLY BROWN

I would love to win the cup, but if I don't I want to extend congratulations to the one who does.—Billy Brown, St. Marys.

Many others have done excellent work at different times, and they are too numerous to mention.

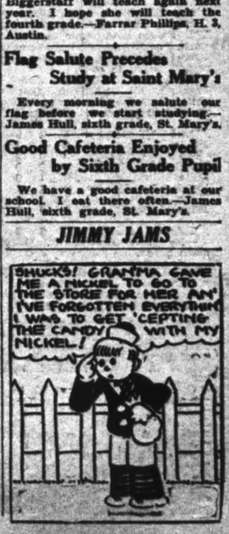

News items written by 3477 children have been printed. Some have written many, and some have written only one.

This little paper is the children's paper and is written by and for them. It gives a chance for all pupils in Wichita Falls schools to write what they see, thing, feel, do or say, and have it printed in their own little paper.

Appreciation of the cooperation of the teachers and principals of the city is expressed by the paper along with the hope that the joint efforts of the teachers, principals and the paper have added something to the lives of the boys and girls of Wichita Falls.

This is the last issue of the school year.

TRIPLE PLAY WINS GAME

Fannin held up its championship pace Thursday afternoon by defeating Huey, 5 to 4, at Huey. The pitcher started off wrong by walking four men the first inning with A few errors and a hit or two gave Huey three runs. The champs came to bat and only made one run. The game went on until the last inning. What do you suppose they did. They made three runs and won the game. They were made three runs to win the game. How they were made is like this: Jack C. walked and stole second. Linnel T. R. at bat, singled to left, scoring Jack, then he stole second and third. Glen R. hit to short who muffed his gram—and Linnet T. scoring. Glen stole second but the pitcher balked and caught him off second. Don Y. doubled over the left fielder. Dexter at bat popped to pitcher. Bib now at bat walked. The pitcher got an infield hit to third, sending Don Y. home. Bell then stole second and third. Leo N. at bat hit left and was out. Jack at bat with Bill at third hit a drive to short who caught it and made a bad throw to third. Bill tagged the base and scored. Box score:

Johnnie (crossly): Oh, look at me, I don't have anything to do either.

Jenny: Well you could whittle with your new knife but I am tired of playing with this old doll.

Johnnie: Listen. Don't you hear something?

Jenny (listening): Yes I do and it sounds as if someone was raping on the door. Let's go see if there is. (Johnnie opens door and jumps back with surprise.)

Fresh Air: Whew, we had a hard time getting in. Don't you ever keep your doors and windows open?

Cleanliness (holding up skirt): My, how dirty everything is, I should think that you would try to keep clean.

King: Silence please, let me talk. (Everyone stops talking at once.) Children do you know who is visiting you?

Children (together): No, sir.

King: Well then I will introduce you to the Red Cross fairies from Health place and each stepe and bows when his name is called). "Fresh Air." "Cleanliness," "Vegetable," "Milk" and Fruit." Now here is the Queen of Red Cross fairies. (King bows low, Queen makes a curtsy.)

Queen: Wait, you have not been introduced yet. Children, this is the King of the Red Cross fairies. (King bows.)

King: Now since we know each other we must tell you what we came for.

Queen: Yes, for we must hurry on to help some one else.

King: We have been watching you for quite a while. We thought that it was through forgetfulness that you didn't brush your teeth and keep your nails clean and we wanted to give you a chance to remember, but now we feel that we should help you.

Queen: You and I will tell you how to remember. First, you must always have plenty of fresh air, she is a very good friend. Second, vegetables, she is very helpful and you will like her better the more you see and know her. Cleanliness is a very important fairy to keep around for she is the keeper of germs away; fruit and milk are both very good for you and I am sure you will like them too.

King: And as you know cleanliness, I am going to tell you how to keep her with you: 1. Brush your teeth at least twice a day. 2. Take a bath at least twice a week. 3. Clean your nails. 4. Keep surroundings clean.

A CHERRY SMILE

This is what we had to learn this week:
There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile.
It always has the same good luck;
It's never out of style.

It nerves us on to try again when failures make us blue;
Such dimples of encouragement
are good for me and you.

So smile away, folks, understand
why by a smile is meant:
It's worth a million dollars and don't cost a cent.—Gertrude Bird, H. 4., Travis.

THE INCREASING FLOWERS

Over the hill and under the way,
We find the flowers increasing day
by day,
Buttercups, daisies, and lilacs true,
Tulips, roses and violets blue.
Making friends with children of forests and towns,
Exchanging for smiles, the sullen frowns.
—Maxine Wilson, H-5, Austin.

MAY FLOWERS

April has no more showers,
But May has lots of budding flowers
That bloom beside their bowers.

I'm coming, I'm coming, said May one day,
With buds and baskets from that Bunnie far away.
—Carleen Sisk, H-3, Austin.

I WISH I HAD

I wish I had a nickle,
I know what I would buy;
I would buy an all-day sucker,
And give you a bite.
—Kathryn Caywood, H-3, Crockett.

FIFTEEN CENTS

I wish I had 15 cents,
I know what I would buy;
I would buy a bottle of sweet milk
Which makes you very wise.
—Kathryn Caywood, H-3, Crockett.

SING A SONG OF SEASONS

Sing a song of springtime,
Flowers everywhere,
To church on Eastern morning,
Our Gayest clothes we'll wear,

Sing a song of summer,
Vacation days have come.
We'll visit in the country,
And have a lot of fun.

Sing a song of autumn,
Back to school we'll go.
We'll try to please our teachers,
Because we love them so.

Sing a song of winter,
With Christmas bells and toys,
Hang up a million stockings,
For a million girls and boys.
—Alice Ray, L-4, Fannin.

NOT IN VAIN

If I can stop one heart from breaking,
I shall not live in vain.
If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin onto his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.
By Erma Lee Stipe, H. 4, San Jacinto.

Poet's Corner

YOU MEAN MY MOTHER

If I were asked to give a thought which,
In one word would speak a unity of brotherhood
A sympathy complete, a hundred happy cherry ways,
A mind that knows its own, contented midst a throng of folk,
Yet peaceful when alone,
A heart that sheds its silent glow to brighten many another,
Without a moment of delay, I'd say,
"You mean my mother."
—Helen Goff, Reagan, high 7-G.

PASS IT ON

Have you had a kindness shown,
Pass it on.
T'was not given for thee alone,
Pass it on.
Let it travel down the years,
Let it wipe another's tears,
Till in Heaven the deeds appear.
Pass it on.—By Erma Lee Stipe, high fourth, San Jacinto.

DO IT FULLY

If you're told to do a thing and mean to do it really,
Never let it be by halves,
And do it fully, truly.

Do not make a poor excuse,
Waiting weak, unsteady,
All obedience worth the name must be prompt and ready.
—Pauline Stipe, high third, San Jacinto.

TRUTHFULNESS

Truth is honest, truth is sure,
Truth is strong and must endure.
If thou wert wrong, be still the same.
Speak the truth and bear the blame.
—Floyd Stipe, high first, San Jacinto.

THE HEN EXPLAINS

I had a little speckled hen,
Her name was Lady Ann,
And when she saw an automobile,
Across the road she ran.

And when she saw another one,
She ran across again;
And many a car that passed my house,
Just missed my little hen.

I said, "Pray tell me, Lady Ann,
Kind creature that you are,
Why do you run across the road,
In front of every car?"

My hen replied with proper pride,
"When I was but a chick,
My mother—best of speckled hens,
Taught me that clever trick.

"For when a savage automobile
Attacks in hooting wrath,
The nicest thing a hen can do,
Is cut across its path.

"For then she has a chance to find
A leafy hiding place,
Before the heavy car can stop and
And turn to give her chase.

"Not many animals, think,
Are wise as we chickens are.
Excuse me—I must cross the road,
Here comes another car."
—Linnie Lee Gilbert, high fourth, Huey.

GHOSTIES

Upon de hill
Dere stands a mill
Where I'm told de white ghosts walk.
You can hear 'em moan,
You can hear 'em groan,
Cording to de negro talk.

De other night,
I'd an awful fright,
Coming down dat lonely road,
And do you know
What scared me so,
Was nothing but a big tree toad.
Edwin Cook, H. 6, Austin.

RAIN

Pitter patter on the pane,
Comes the soft sweet smelling rain,
In the forest deep and dark,
Hear the sad call of the lark.

In the barnyard waddling around,
We see a duck with muddy down,
Children whining at the door,
Wishing rain would come no more.

Farmers gladly welcome rain,
Glad to see it come again.
—Maxine Wilson, H. 5, Austin school.
