Bromley and Gatty Plan to Attempt Pacific Hop Again

Search Conducted for Three Bandits After Texas Bank Is Robbed of $9,000 Cash Loot

Collision and Upset Mark Flight of Two Robbers, Their Confederate; Countryside Combed, Highways Watched as Yeggs Head for Houston; First Car Abandoned

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Sept. 15.—Belief that three bandits who held up the First Bolivien State Bank, 40 miles southeast of Houston, and obtained $9,000 in currency this morning were in hiding here was expressed by officers after a search of the countryside and a careful watch over highways proved fruitless.

A collision and an upset marked the flight of the two men who staged the robbery and a confederate who awaited them in another car several miles away. The pair abandoned a coupe which they drove away from the bank and entered a waiting automobile driven by another man, witnesses said.

The second car collided with another machine occupied by a salesman, but proceeded on its way. Near Crosby, 40 miles east of Houston, a cotton picker reported that the bandit car overturned in a ditch while running at high speed but was righted by the trio and continued on its way apparently undamaged. The cotton picker found $2 in nickels on the ground at the scene.

The money, designed for payroll purposes, had been in the bank about half an hour when two armed men with their caps pulled down over their faces entered and compelled the cashier, a woman assistant and a bookkeeper, to lie on the floor while they obtained the cash and fled.

Fliers are Forced to Return to Japan After Takeoff

(By The Associated Press)

TANABE, Japan, Sept. 15.—Forced to return to northern Japan yesterday after a flight of 1200 miles over the Pacific ocean toward Tacoma, Wash., Harold Bromley announced tonight he would make another attempt to fly to America as soon as his plane could be refueled and made ready. Experts said this would require several days.

The plane must be dug out of the sandy beach at Shitsukari, near here, some minor repairs made and a short hop taken to Samishiro beach, from which Bromley and his navigator, Harold Gatty, soared away at 3:08 a. m. Sunday on a perilous journey over windswept seas.

Gas Pipe Breaks

Bromley ascribed his failure to a broken gasoline feed pipe, from which he and Co-pilot Gatty were sprayed. Their faces chafed and eyes inflamed, they held the plane on its course as long as possible, and then turned back, determined to try again.

On landing, Bromley said his plane had flown 2,400 miles in nearly 25 hours. He said his fuel was sufficient to have carried him to Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian chain of islands, extending thousands of miles from Alaska's mainland.

Whether a landing was possible at Dutch Harbor for a land plane was doubtful.

Party Spokesmen Swing Into Off-Year Campaign; Jouett Shouse Calls for Creation of New Tariff Commission

Representative Says Hoover Rule "Feeblest in History" In Radio Speech; Predict Demo Control of House

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. — A democratic tariff program, coupled with a characterization of Hoover administration as "one the feeblest in history" came tonight from party spokesmen as they swung vigorously into the off-year campaign which will determine whether the Republicans are to retain control of congress.

Speaking over a nationwide radio hookup, Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said the Democratic program called for creation of a tariff commission that "shall be in fact, as well as in name, a scientific expert body."

Reaffirms Adhesion

"It reaffirms adhesion," he added, "to the principle that revenue measures can only be enacted by the congress and opposed infringement of this constitutional authority as exemplified by the flexible provision of the present law, which empowers the executive, and a commission of his own choosing, to modify or nullify the enactments of the congress."

In a speech over the same radio hookup of the National Broadcasting company, Representative Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, assailed the Hoover administration, saying it "so far has been one of the feeblest, if not absolutely the most disappointing, in our history."

"It may not be altogether fair to hold the Republican party responsible for all our financial woes," Byrns added, "but it has always claimed the credit for prosperity and it must bear the burden of adversity. Its battle cry in every campaign has been that it alone could

W.T.C.C. Drive Goes Over Top Monday Night

Goal of Ninety Surpassed by Eight in Canvass Starting Here Thursday; Expect to Obtain Ten More Members

Incomplete reports showed that more than 98 Lubbock memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce had been gained in the canvass which began Thursday and ended Monday night. Possibly 10 additional members had been obtained, as all workers in the drive had not reported, officials said.

A quota of 90 new members was pledged by Lubbock at the last convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Abilene and was instrumental in selection of Lubbock as the 1931 convention city. The West Texas chamber will assemble here in May and achievement of the goal set at Abilene will expedite arrangements for the 1931 convention.

Had 13 Members

Lubbock had 13 members in the regional chamber when the membership drive began under direction of Homer G. Grant and Spencer Wells, directors of the West Texas organization.

The city was divided into eight districts for the campaign, a captain being assigned to each district and assisted by other business and professional men. Prospective members who have not affiliated with West Texas chamber probably will be interviewed by district captains, although the campaign proper ended Monday.

Operation of slot machines and punch boards will not be permitted in Lubbock and persons maintaining those and other gambling contrivances must dispose of them immediately or accept the consequences.

Thirty Citizens from Towns Along Route of Projected Line Visit Austin; Hearing to Be About November 1

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. — Advocates of the construction of a 332 mile rail line of the Texas and Pacific Northern from Big Spring to Vega found official support in three state departments today.

Thirty or more citizens of towns along the line, headed by Judge John P. Slaton of Hereford, visited the railroad commission, the governer, and the attorney general, and received assurance of cooperation. In addition, R. S. Sterling, Democratic nominee for governor, tactily pledged his support with the statement that he was for any move to develop Texas.

Man To Be Assigned

Both the attorney general and the railroad commission will assign a man to the case, the railroad commissioner to sit in at all hearings and the attorney general's assistant to aid citizens working for the line. In addition, Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt promised to enter an intervening petition, on behalf of citizens, in the event it appeared needful.

The railroad, with branches to Lubbock and Amarillo, would pass through thirteen West Texas counties and through some sections which now have no rail connections. It was pointed out by the Rail Commissioner Lon A. Smith that the line would serve not only those thirteen counties, but adjoining counties as well.

It would compete at certain points with the Fort Worth and Denver, the Rock Island and the Santa Fe railroads, and it was expected that these lines would oppose the application before the inter-state commerce commission hearings, scheduled to begin about November 1.

Representatives were present today from Big Spring, Littlefield, Ackerly, Lamesa, Levelland, Brownfield, Dimmitt, Hereford, and Vega.

"We were awakened by a loud clap of thunder," the girl's mother said. "Both of us sat up in bed and I noticed that my daughter was very pale and trembling violently.

"I asked her if the lightning and thunder had frightened her and she answered me in a weak voice 'yes,' with that, she fell back in bed and began trembling violently. Then she lay still. I called the doctor and he pronounced her dead."

Well Known Motion Picture Actor Succumbs to Heart Attack While Playing Tennis with Wife and Son

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Milton Sills, 48, for many years one of the best known actors in motion pictures, died unexpectedly of a heart attack while playing tennis with his wife and son at their suburban home tonight.

Mrs. Sills, formerly Doris Kenyon, film actress, said her husband apparently was in the best of health when the game started. First intimation anything was wrong came when Sills staggered and fell to the court.

Friends of the actor, visiting at the Sills home, carried him into the house and summoned the Sawtelle police inhalator squad. He died at 6:45 p. m., fifteen minutes after being stricken and without gaining consciousness.

Once Instructor

Sills, who once was an instructor of mathematics at Chicago university, was one of the athletes of the screen. Recently his health had not been good. He was confined to his home several weeks last spring with a nervous disorder.

Sills advanced rapidly to stardom in the films after a successful stage career. Like many of those with whom he rubbed elbows in the theatrical world, his start was much by accident.

Girl Twins Fail To Swim Channel

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 15. (AP) — Bernice and Phyllis Ettenfield, the American girl swimmer twins, failed this evening in their attempt to swim the English channel, though nearly reaching the French coast.

Coldness of the channel water, which a sharp wind made increasingly rougher, obliged the girls to abandon their swim within four or five miles of Cape Gris Nez. They climbed into their accompanying motorboat at 7:22 p. m. and returned to Dover.

Their gallant efforts, won the admiration of the people of Dover, who now consider themselves connoisseurs of channel swims. Since the channel was choppy, everyone admitted conndditions were far from ideal.

The twins, who are 13 years old, entered the water at South Foreland, near Dover, at 6:50 a. m., they swam a little over 12 1-2 hours.

Solution of Murder of Jake Lingle Expected in Arrest of Ted Geisking; Police in Intensive Man-Hunt

Suspects Escape in Gun Fight After Four Men Trapped by Posse; Three Captured and Fourth Thought Wounded

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. — As sequel to what they believed the solution of the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, Chicago, Indiana, and Kentucky police tonight were scouring three states for Ted Geisking, gangster, hi-jacker, and suspected hired assassin.

That Geiking has been sought as the slayer of Lingle was learned last night after a sheriff and posse trapped four liquor hi-jackers near London, Ky., and took into custody three men. The fourth, believed to be Geisking, shot it out with the officers and escaped. They said their shots wounded him.

Women Sought

The first objective of the searchers tonight was to women who may know where Geisking would hide. He operated in Indiana and Kentucky. There was a possibility he may have fled into the hills of Tennessee.

Chief investigator Patrick Roche of the state's attorney's office refused to say today whether Geisking was known by him to be the slayer of the newspaperman, but it was learned he dispatched Sergeant George Williams of his staff to London.

Local newspapers said Geisking was hired by the late Jack Zuta of the George "Bugs" Morgan gang, to kill Lingle, because the latter had insisted on too large a cut for police protection of a gambling establishment. Lingle's insistance, they said, deprived the Moran gang of a cut from the gambling profits.

The papers said further that Geisking participated in the murder of Zuta because the latter failed to pay the second half of $10,000 promised for the Lingle slaying, and that Geisking killed William Simons, former board of trade member at Kentland, Ind., through mistake identity when he sought a gangster marked for death by Zuta. Simons' death was listed as suicide, though his family insisted he had been slain.

Primaries to Be Held in 5 States Today

New York, Massachusetts, Delaware, Wisconsin, Connecticut Wind Up Campaigns; Prohibition Issue Faced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Five states wound up their primary campaigns today and tomorrow will set the candidates who will be arrayed against each other in the general election seven weeks hence.

With the exception of New Mexico, which will choose its party candidates later in the week, the primaries in New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin and the nominating conventions in Connecticut and Delaware will conclude the party selections.

Prohibition Injected

Prohibition has marked the primary campaigns in Massachusetts and Delaware where senatorial candidates are to be chosen. Chain stores, chain banking and the Hoover administration have been debated in the Wisconsin gubernatorial contest. Connecticut and New York campaigns have developed little of interest. The former will choose a Republican candidate for governor and the latter, like all other states, will nominate house members. Massachusetts also will nominate gubernatorial candidates.

Three Republicans and five Democrats are seeking the seat the Republican Senator Gillett will vacate in Massachusetts. The Republican candidates are William M. Butler, former chairman of the Republican national committee, a dry; Eben S. Draper, a former state senator, a wet, and Andrew J. (Boss) Gillis, "model" mayor of Newburyport. The Democrats are Marcus A. Coolidge, a wet, former Fitchburg mayor; Eugene N. Foss, a dry, former governor; Peter J. Jones, a manufacturer; Thomas C. O'Brien, a former district attorney, and Joseph F. O'Connell, a former house member.

Democrats will nominate to oppose Senator Daniel O. Hastings, who has been renominated by the Republicans. Their choice will lay between former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, a wet, and Josiah Marvel, national committeeman who was supported by dry.

In Wisconsin, Philip F. LaFollette was seeking the governorship his father, the late Robert M. LaFollette, held for three years. Philip had the backing of his brother Senator Robert M. LaFollette, jr., who like his father is a progressive, and the campaign has brought criticism of the Hoover administration. Walter J. Kohler, the incumbent, a millionaire manufacturer, is running for renomination.

Highway Plans Are Perfected At Road Meet

Designated Route to Portales from Lubbock Discussed by Representatives of Towns at Meeting in Morton

Perfection of plans to connect Texas and New Mexico by a designated highway from Lubbock to Portales through Morton was the object of a meeting attended Monday afternoon in Morton by representatives of Morton and Levelland, Texas, and Portales and Dora, New Mexico.

The conference was preparatory to a hearing which will be held in Lubbock sometime next week before Walter Ely of Abilene, member of the Texas state highway commission, at which official action probably will be taken on the project.

Monday's assembly dealt with taking over of the route as a state highway from the east line to the west line of Cochrane county, there connecting with the New Mexico state highway.

Representatives of Portales, Elida, Dora, Morton, Levelland and Lubbock and county commissioners of Hockley and Cochran counties, Texas, and Roosevelt, New Mexico, are expected to attend the meeting here next week.

The conference will climax a program which was introduced in July, 1929, by George E. Lahon, president of the Morton chamber of commerce and editor of the Cochran County News. Subsequently, commissioners of Cochran and Roosevelt counties approved the project. Cochran county has completed its part of the road to the Texas-New Mexico line and Roosevelt county's strip was expected to be finished the latter part of this week.

H. N. Roberts, Lubbock Consulting Engineer, States West Texas Drouth Is Not Heavy; Confab Under Way

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Sept. 15. — H. N. Roberts, consulting engineer of Lubbock, told the annual convention of the Southwest Waterworks association here today that while rainfall deficiency in the drouth area reached 30 per cent during the past year it averaged only 13 per cent in West Texas. Statistics were compiled from United States weather bureau records at Houston for the water year, August, 1929, to July, 1930.

After 26 years Waco is ahead in its water supply, said W. H. Deaton, superintendent of the Waco water works and vice-president of the association. A lake holding 13,000,000,000 gallons of water, he said, would supply Waco for three years without rain.

The convention was attended by delegates from six states, and arrangements called for it to continue three more days.

Hearst Says America Really "Land of Liberty" After Expulsion from France

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 —Expelled from France by government order, William Randolph Hearst returned today indicating he considered America had a virtual monopoly on freedom of expression.

"If you tell the truth in France," he told 400 disabled veterans who took him from the liner Europa at quarantine in a liner Europa at quarantine in a chartered, "you get shoved out of the country.

"If you tell the truth in Russia you're lucky if you get out of the country.

"If you tell the whole truth in England you're apt to be sued for libel.

"This is indeed the land of liberty, where there is freedom of thought and speech and of the press. I am glad to be home and my advice to independent journalists planning to go abroad is to stay at home."

In a statement his secretary gave reporters on the Europa, Mr. Hearst said nothing that had happened to him in all his life had given him such genuine gratification as his exclusion from France.

German Propagandist, Deported From U. S. In 1915, Succumbs After Fall

(By The Associated Press)

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 15. — Captain Karl Boy-ed fifty-eight, German propagandist and diplomat whom the United States in 1915 deported as an undesirable alien, is dead at his estate near here, after a fall off a horse.

Captain Boy-ed, whose wife was Miss Virginia MacKay-Smith, daughter of a Pennsylvania bishop, was crushed under his fallen mount a short distance from his country home Saturday. He was hurried to a Hamburg hospital for surgical attention, but died before efforts could be made to relieve the effects of fractures and internal injuries.

Outstanding Figure

He was one of the outstanding German figures at Washington, with the Kaiser's ambassador, Count Von Bernstorff, before entry of the United States into the World war. Long an authorized propagandist, his activities at the German embassy in behalf of his government, linking him with fraudulent passports, sabotage in American munitions factories and other operations resulted in December, 1915, in his recall at the request of the American state department. He was decorated by the emperor for his propoganda success in 1916.

WEST TEXAS—Fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

THE WOMAN'S ANGLE

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

"THOUGHTS while strolling" isn't original with the writer of this column, but they evoke a few ideas which link up with an article in the last Literary Digest on "Our Towns are Getting Prettier." A ride up almost any street in Lubbock now reveals the number of trees that are dying from lack of water, and dying unnecessarily, for many of them can be saved with water.

It takes a long time to grow trees on the Plains of West Texas but they can be grown and they add so much to the beauty of the town and the comfort of the residents that they should not be allowed to die at this time. Neither should they be ruthlessly cut down to widen streets or construct new buildings, as often happens here. There is an element of utility in cutting down the trees, which may have been planted long before straight thoroughfares were heard of, but their beauty will offset any slight inconvenience that may accrue from leaving them there.

Two instances of cutting trees down for what seemed to me no particular reason, occurred this spring on 19th street. A number of evergreens and trees which had surrounded one of Lubbock's early homes at the corner of 19th street and Avenue Q were cut down in order that a large signboard might be erected, and trees at another point on the street, near Avenue O, were cut down when a store replaced a residence. These are only two of many such happenings in Lubbock.

To quote the Literary Digest, "Street plans, we are told are everywhere causing the cutting down of great avenues of trees for widening and extensions. In many cases these are needless and avoidable. Our cities are being denuded of their fine old trees and shelters of greenery, and thus become yearly uglier and more forbidding, as these trees were the only saving grace to cover up 90 per cent of bad design and poor architecture with which our municipalities are so carelessly filled."

The pioneers who came to the Plains 40 and 50 years ago may have been hard and thrifty men, but they did not lack the essential appreciation of beauty which every great builder needs. There is hardly an old ranch house in this section that is not surrounded by trees and shrubbery planted when they had to be hauled from places hundreds of miles away, and Lubbock's homes of an early day were surrounded by trees and shrubs, many of which have often been needlessly destroyed with the expansion of the city.

WE CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

HERE'S something that can bring hope to a lot of us who boast more brains than beauty. It is a picture of Miss Dolly Grey, 18, of Washington, D. C. — one of these before and after pictures. Miss Grey was selected from among 600 plain girls to be beautified in an hour before a convention of the National Hairdressers' association. And from a mediocre looking girl as she appears in the first view, Miss Grey is transformed into a beauty for the second view through being garbed in a smart fall frock and given every beauty treatment from a haircut to a facial mold and a marcel.

There is hope in this for the one who believes that she is irreconcilably homely. It may take considerable money to make her beautiful, but it can be done if she will persist.

NEW MONOGRAMS

MONOGRAMS are au fait right now. For hat clips, the modernistic monogram, worked out in jewels, is new and adds beauty.

SPEAKING OF CACTI

THE "thoughts while strolling" started at the first of this column, which continued into a dissertation on saving trees, actually yielded a few other ideas . . . there was a cactus bed in front of a filling station on Main street, for instance, which indicated possibilities for such spots in home gardens and reminded me of a conversation earlier in the summer.

A young woman of the city came calling one day and said that she had not been sooner because she had had an aunt for a guest and the aunt, who was from another section of the United States, was making a collection of cacti. While in Lubbock the aunt and niece had made pilgrimages daily seeking new species and had found more kinds than the latter knew were indigenous to the section.

A nursery is to be maintained again by the First Methodist Mary Helm Auxiliary, according to plans made yesterday afternoon when the society met in the church for a "Voice" program and business and social session.

This society is the young matrons auxiliary in the church and the nursery will be maintained at every meeting so that young mothers may attend. An experienced woman will be in charge, it was announced. The regular meetings are from 3 until 5 o'clock.

The society decided, also, to pay registration fees for a young Mexican Methodist preacher who is to attend Texas Technological college this winter.

Mrs. Allen T. Stewart was leader of the lesson for the afternoon and the topic was "The Material Life." A talk on "Cuba and the United States" was made by Mrs. R. S. Williams.

Mrs. K. L. Riggs was chairman of hostesses during the social hour and her assistants were Mesdames C. P. Carlock, M. K. Foster, H. R. Harman and David S. Martin. Punch and sandwiches were served. There was an attendance of about thirty.

KONJOLA GAVE QUICK RELIEF TO THIS LADY

After Ten Years Illness, Relief Comes Promptly With Use Of New Medicine

MRS. W. C. NIEMANN

"I was troubled for ten years with indigestion and constipation", said Mrs. W. C. Niemann, a dairy farm owner of Southton, near San Antonio. "I bloated terribly after meals. Neuritis then attacked me and I suffered frightfully from this ailment. I was always taking something to relieve constipation but these measures brought only temporary relief. Food lay like a rock in my stomach and I was losing weight and strength.

"I read so much in the papers about Konjola that I decided to try it. I noticed a change in my condition almost at once. Gas pains were greatly relieved and my food was more easily digested. Constipation was much less troublesome and, in fact, my entire health improved amazingly. I shall continue taking Konjola and I heartily endorse it to everyone."

Given a real test over a six to eight week period, Konjola will do for you what it has done for untold thousands of men and women everywhere.

Konjola is sold in Lubbock, Texas at Bowen's Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

THE Q. A. & P. EXTENSION

WHILE many South Plains centers, Lubbock included, study the plans of the Texas and Pacific lines to build a new road through this territory, Lubbock may well study another rail possibility—that of bringing the Prisco's Quanah, Acme and Pacific rails into here.

The Quanah, Acme and Pacific now operates between Oklahoma City and Floydada, touching principally Roaring Springs, Quanah, Altus and Lawton. Daily trains connect the South Plains, at Floydada, with the Sooner capital, Tulsa, Kansas City and St. Louis. A direct connection with these points beckons to Lubbock—if the Prisco can and will build into this city.

Between Floydada and Ralls there stretches a 24-mile distance over which it would be necessary to lay rails should the extension be begun. A 'swap out' with the Santa Fe from Ralls to Lubbock would complete the extension with a minimum of 24 miles of construction. The opportunity appears a golden one and The Morning Avalanche would be happy to see it realized.

There are those who scoff at the idea that the Santa Fe would permit the use of its rails by the Frisco, from Ralls to Lubbock. However, the Frisco runs into Oklahoma City over the Santa Fe's tracks and the Santa Fe runs into Tulsa over the Frisco's rails. Such 'swap outs' are not at all unheard of, but were such a deal impossible to make the Frisco might cut through the country from Floydada into Lubbock, building approximately 50 miles of line, to connect the South Plains capital with its network.

The Morning Avalanche believes the Frisco will run into Lubbock sooner or later. Further, it believes that some day the Frisco will shoot on Southwest, winding up at El Paso.

It is almost impossible to imagine a rail connection more valuable to Lubbock than the Q. A. & P. would be. Frankly, we'd like to see it worked out.

PROBING BUSINESS

The policy of the federal trade commission in dealing with American business comes under frequent consideration and discussion. It is frequently lauded and often criticized, which seems the rule with organizations of this nature. But unlike many criticized, which seems the rule with organizations of this nature. But unlike many commissions it carries on through it all.

The commission has no punitive power. Its primary duty is to protect the public from unfair and crooked business practices. Yet it is the duty of government not to place on honest business any unjust burden, and it is one of government's highest duties to protect honest business from the unauthorized investigating, meddling and snooping of government agents.

When the commission is directed by President or congress to make an investigation, if it has the authority of law to make it, it should be made fully, honestly and impartially, without fear and without prejudice and its findings should not be controlled by what the political effect may be.

There is widespread opposition to any investigation initiated by the commission that is not based upon some alleged violation of the law. It is wrong and utterly unjustifiable to put any American citizen, not accused of a breach of law, to the annoyance, expense, discredit, injury and injustice of an investigation of his business practices.

ICE CREAM FOR ALL

Ice cream everywhere—in cones, in sandwiches, in chocolate coatings, in boxes, in "bridge packages," in burning dry ice, in purse-size portions, in miniature freezers, in giant freezers for picnics, in ice cream palaces and pushcarts. Everybody eats ice cream today, and if it is a luxury to the poor it is one of those luxuries daily indulged in.

Only a little while ago this real world of ice cream would have seemed an Elysian fancy. Rare and uncertain, occuring only on hot holidays and at weddings and church festivals, ice cream was an ambrosia then. The cool, refreshing name alone was a pleasure to tongues which could seldom luxuriate in the reality.

Ice cream in the domestic stage of its evolution was never a matter of caprice. Forethought was essential, and physical exertion. There was the extra milk and other ingredients to be purchased and ice to be dug from the sawdust in the family icehouse. And then followed the cooking of the custard and the pounding of the ice and cranking of the freezer.

In those days of home manufacture and seasonal drug store dispensing ice cream was truly appreciated. That reward of licking off the paddle after the slow, weary yet thrilling revolutions was worth almost any travail.

Living is expensive but worth it.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

SANTO DOMINGO'S HURRICANE

By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

ASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Warm, moist air, breaking through an upper layer of cool, dry air, is what causes storms like the one that devastated Santo Domingo recently.

Warm—therefore such a storm of this sort is always of tropical origin.

Moist—therefore such a storm always starts at sea.

The lower layer of air, breaking through the upper layer, often breaks through quite a small hole, and swishing out through the hole sets the escaping air a-whirling, as water whirls around a washbowl, drawn toward the opening into the wastepipe at the bottom—except that the latter is a downward, while the former is an upward, whirl.

A tropical storm of the character described is known in the orient as a typhoon, but on our hemisphere weather specialists refer to it as a cyclone—ordinary folk term it a hurricane.

The little twisters familiar to the corn belt are not really cyclones, but tornadoes.

Tornadoes are violent enough, heaven knows. It is estimated that they whirl at a 300-mile clip. Experts at the naval hydrographic office, which has studied cyclones ever since we have had a navy, believe that about 160 miles an hour is as fast as a cyclone ever rotated.

In many other respects cyclones and tornadoes are two entirely distinct breeds of meteorology.

The diameter of a tornadoes's whirl generally is less than a mile, frequently very much less; it travels, at most a few miles. A cyclone's diameter is hundreds of miles and it travels thousands.

And they have additional divergent characteristics which do not interest the hydrographic office. What's inland weather to the navy?

The Atlantic's principal cyclone forming area is southeast of the West Indies; thence eastward almost to Cape Verde, on the African west coast—but not too far down toward the equator, where there is a region unfavorable to cyclone generation.

Typhoons usually are born a little southeast of Guam.

An extremely vicious type of cyclone occasionally develops off the Mexican west coast, but ordinarily this Mexican type blows itself out without getting far—concerning which peculiarity the hydrographic office guesses at an explanation, to be mentioned hereafter.

Between the Guam and Mexican breeding ground cyclonic activity seldom or never has its inception—perhaps chilly ocean currents are the preventive; the hydrographic office surmises.

A cyclone or typhoon, started whirling anywhere in the northern hemisphere, invariably begins journeying to the westward, with an increasingly northerly trend as it progresses, until, if it continues, its path finally bends backward to the northeasterly—and it expends itself moving in that direction.

A tropical cyclone's northwesterly swing naturally is calculated to make it sweep the West Indies and sideswipe the Florida coast, just as a typhoon's similar swing is calculated to sweep the Philippines and sideswipe the southern Chinese coast.

The hydrographic office attributes the tempest's initial westerly course to the earth's rotation underneath it. Then, as it strikes land, one of two things happen—either the storm quickly loses strength, for few such storms long survive overland travel; or else, if it does survive, it survives because it has chanced to encounter atmospheric conditions potent enough to deflect it into a northerly, costal pathway, which speedily carries it into a higher latitude, where the earth's spin is so much swifter that the now-weakening air swirl begins to curve backward on its journey.

Why the earth's rotation to the eastward should make a cyclone travel to the westward in the tropics and in the opposite direction across the north Atlantic is too deep for me, I admit. Nevertheless, that's the hydrographic office's version.

Moreover, the cyclone's behavious seems to verify it.

It also accounts for the short lives of the Mexican west coast's breed of cyclones. Their backward curve, instead of sweeping them back, out to sea, hurls them onto the California, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia or Alaskan coast, where they spend themselves trying to get over the mountains.

It is no joke to speak of the mountains as an obstruction.

Tropical storms cannot stand lofty altitudes, which maybe is why land travel is death to them; they cannot get far without striking rising country. Even Santo Domingo's 4,000-foot peaks broke the force of the most recent one—though the town of Santo Domingo was wrecked in the process.

Cyclones cannot crash atmosphere areas of high pressure, either.

Your Health

UP-TO-DATE SAFEGUARDS MAKE IT IMPROBABLE THAT HOSPITALS EVER GET BABIES MIXED

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Heal'h Magazine

At least once in every three or four years the public is startled by publicity relative to the charge that the infants born under hospital conditions have been confused through some error in hospital technique and that the parents have been presented at their departure from the institution with the offspring of some other family.

It is doubtful that this accident ever occurs in any modern hospital, since the methods that have been devised for controlling the situation are as sound as any human achievement. The method most frequently used involves the writing of the mother's name on a piece of adhesive tape, which is then fastened to the back of the baby. This tape is put on the child as soon as it is born.

One of the difficulties with the use of the tape is the fact that it may become soiled or detatched in washing. At the same time that the tape is put on the baby a second piece of tape similar to the first is attached to the wrist of the mother.

Another method involves the use of a necklace of beads made up of the letters of the child's name, this being put around the child's neck and clamped immediately after birth. In some institutions footprints of the child are made immediately after birth, and these footprints are part of the record of the child's birth and of its weight. Of course, the record of the weight of the child constitutes a method of identification, since the weight curves of the individual are usually distinctive.

A Boston physician has recently suggested the use of army aluminum identification disks, which are punched on opposite ends and are stamped in between with serial numbers. At the time of birth the name of the mother is put on the back of each disk. When the child is born one of the disks is fastened to the infant and the other to the mother. The discs bear duplicate serial numbers. Any time the baby is brought to the mother she can compare her serial number with that of the baby and make sure she has the right infant.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE MOST COSTLY SIGNATURE—JOSE MARIA ROMO

Jose Maria Romo, deputy and landowner of the state of Sonora, Mexico, was one of the signers of the famous "Plan de Hermosille," a document, which initiated the Mexican Revolution of 1929, headed by General Escobar, Topete and others. In March 1930 Judge Silvio of the Superior Court of Sonora, rendered a decision that Romo's signature on the plan makes him liable for the full amount of cost and damages which the Escobar Revolution entailed to the Mexican Government and people. The total has been assessed at 100,000,000 pesos for which the Mexican Government has execution against Romo's holdings in Sonora. Thus his signature has proven to be the most expensive ever affixed in history.

The Hollywood Story

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAN RORIMER, a scenario writer in Hollywood, is in love with ANNE WINTER, who, beginning as an extra is now under contract to one of the largest studios. Anne lives with two other girls, MONA MORRISON, a gay little red head, and EVA HARLEY, a quiet girl who has had a tragic love experience. Eva and Mona are extras, but Mona works only occasionally and Eva very rarely, and this is another reason for her despondency.

PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers, shares Dan's apartment with him. Dan is under contract at CONTINENTAL PICTURES but after a reorganization and a quarrel with an executive, he leaves. As a free lance, he is not successful at first, and he broods a good deal over what he thinks is his lack of real ability.

Every step upward that Anne takes seems to Dan to remove her that much farther from him. She has managed to get a contract to her liking after turning down a first offer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVI

Paul Collier had said, "You're invited to lunch at Maris Farrell's. How do you do it, my boy? I'm invited because I occasionally write a piece about Maris which doesn't do her any harm, but you're asked just because you're you. Maris made a special request."

Rorimer looked doubtful, but Collier was firm. He said, "I'm taking charge now. You're getting away from that typewriter—understand? It'll do you good; you need a change of scenery and a pretty gal like Maris to whisper sweet nothings at you. I told her you'd come."

So Dan went. Maris lived with her mother in a pretty little house in Beverly Hills. There was a patio, through which they passed to reach the door, where a frisky cat patrolled the rim of a fountain, with alert eyes on the goldfish swimming tantalizingly out of reach.

Mrs. Farrell was charming and youthful looking. She stayed only briefly, explaining that she had eaten an early and light luncheon and was going shopping. Leaving, she admonished her daughter not to forget a three o'clock appointment at at the photographer's, paused at the door, endeavoring to recall other instructions.

"And try to be quiet, Maris."

Mrs. Farrell turned to Paul and Dan with a smile blending apology and pride in Maris. "Mother speaking again," she said. And she added: "These Hollywood mothers . . . But Maris is such a hard-working person, and she simply won't rest."

"We'll see that she does, Mrs. Farrell," Paul Collier promised. "We won't even let her talk."

And Maris' mother laughed. "I see you don't know Maris as well as I do."

Luncheon was served by a quiet-footed maid. There were pleasant things said about Mrs. Farrell, and Dan gathered that the spectacularly blond Maris was very proud of her. Mrs. Farrell, he learned, was a widow, and Maris her only child, and Maris informed him that she had been on the stage since childhood.

"Under mother's watchful eyes."

Maris told Dan presently: "I saw that pretty friend of yours, Anne Winter, yesterday. I understand she has signed a contract at Grand United."

Anne was now working in Martin Collin's picture at Amalgamated.

Dan nodded. "That's true," he said, and Maris told him she had seen Anne rehearsing.

"She has a lovely voice, so low and sweet and nice to listen to. It's really very pretty; I envy her. You know that she was going to have a couple of songs in Martin Collin's picture?"

Dan said he did.

"He manages to keep posted about her," Collier observed, and Dan smiled and spoke again to Maris.

"Anne is taking vocal lessons, you know. She'll be glad to get your compliment."

"And you may be sure that Maris means it." Collier told him. "Maris is one of the few who are not jealous, and she really speaks her mind. Don't you, Maris?"

"Listen to the man!" Maris cried. "Isn't he a pal?" She laughed merrily, flashing perfect teeth. "Paul likes to believe nearly all screen people are catty. But he doesn't really think so; he's such a half-hearted cynic!"

"Sure, I'm a pal," Paul said, reaching over to shake hands with her, and Maris assured Dan that, regardless of whether he believed Paul or not, she really meant what she said about Anne Winter.

"She has a lot of talent, really, and Martin Collins likes her very much; he told me so. This picture she's in now—it's a comedy of some sort from the stage, isn't it?"

Collier said it was and told her the name. "They're changing the

Letters to the Editor

D. S. Ligon Answers Bob Ripley on Darwinian Theory

Dear Mr. Editor: I see in your paper that Mr. Ripley says in his Believe It or Not sayings that Darwwin did not claim that the human family descended from monkeys.

If Mr. Ripley is not immune from a friendly criticism, and if this immunity does not give him the right-of-way in saying what he wants to get before the public (right or wrong), hiding under the "fully protected," I shall be glad for your readers to hear Darwin speak for himself as to man's progenitors.

We now hear Darwin: "In forming a judgment with reference to man, we must glance at the classification of the Simiadae. This family is divided by almost all naturalists into the Catarhine and Platyrhine monkeys." Now, which of these monkey groups does man belong? Let Darwin tell us: "Now man unquestionably belongs to the Catarhine or Old World division, there can consequently, hardly be a doubt that man is an off-shoot from the Old World Simian stem; and under a genealogical point of view, he must be classed with the Catarhine division, however much the conclusion may revolt our pride, we must conclude, from a genealogical point of view, our early progenitors would have been properly classed with the Catarhine or Old World stock; thus we may infer that some ancient member of the anthropomorphous subgroup gave birth to man."

But hear more from Darwin: "The early prwenitors of man must have been covered with hair, furnished with a tail, pointed ears, arboreal in habits, and classed among the Quatrumana; and at an earlier period the progenitors of man must have been aquatic in their habits, and at a very realy period bot sexes possessed true male and female glands. Hence, some remote progenitors of the whole vertebrate kingdom appears to have been hermaphrodite or androgynous."

Now, aren't these big words? Darwin knew that the average reader would not know what he means by them, but he means that away back yonder when the human family's Catarhine Old World anthropomorphous progenitors were covered with hair, furnished with a tail, some time after our early progenitors had quit their oceanic home washed by the heaving tides and lived in trees, away back somewhere in the prehistoric days. Mr. Darwin means by these big words that man's progenitors possessed both the male and female reproductive organs in the one and the same individual.

Any thoughtful reader of Darwin's writings and the Bible, can see that Darwin's Androgynism and Hermaphroditism is diametrically opposed to the Bible statement: "So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them." (Gen. 1:27). This does not sound like man's progenitors in the beginning possessed both male and female reproductive organs in the one and same individual, does it? But such is Darwin's teaching.

But we must hear Darwin further on this matter: "The Similadae then branched off into two great stems, the New World and the Old World monkeys, and from the latter at a remote period, man, the wonder and glory of the universe proceeded. We thus have given to man a pedigree of prodigious length, but not, it may be said, of noble quality. Unless we willfully close our eyes, we may, with our present knowledge approximately recognize our parentage; not need we be ashamed of it." The reader for the proof of these quotations may see Origin of Species by Darwin complete in one vol. published in 1896, and sixth chapter.

"The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." (Ps. 14:1).

Abilene Plans For Its Fair

Large Exhibits Expected in All Departments; Entertainment Features to Be Larger Than Ever

ABILENE, Sept. 15 — Elaborate plans are rapidly being completed for the fourteenth annual West Texas Fair, which is to be held in Abilene Monday, September 29, to Saturday, October 4, inclusive.

Large exhibits are being expected in all departments. According to C. Metz Heald, the agricultural exhibit is more complete than it was at this time last year, and Miss Caroline Chambers, Taylor county demonstration agent, reports that her club exhibits and women's work will be better than it was last year. W. F. Stange is planning to take care of increased entries in the livestock department. An addition to this exhibit is a rabbit show to be held under the direction of the West Texas Rabbit Breeders association. Mrs. Rupert Harkrider is in charge of all exhibits in the women's department, culinary, textile and floral. She is enlisting the aid of women in all surrounding West Texas towns to make this a large exhibit.

Different Shows.

The entertainment features will be entirely different from all previous shows. Ernie Young's gala revue, "Spanish Nights," will be presented before the grandstand each night. This is one of the outstanding shows of its kind with an immense cast, unique costumes, and an original routine. This show is to be free every night except Friday, at which time a legal wedding will be solemnized between some local couple, in a gorgeous setting under the direction of Ernie Young.

On Monday afternoon, the Abilene Eagles and Big Spring high school will meet on the gridiron, and on Saturday the Eagles will play Sweetwater. On Tuesday there will be a series of motorcycle races.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, a complete rodeo program will be presented before the grandstand.

A special feature of the entertainment will be a terrapin derby, preliminaries to be run about the middle of the week and finals on Saturday. At least 3,500 trained racing terrapins are to be imported for this special event. Each entry will cost $2.00 and present indications are the the purses will run well over $3,000. Any person may enter one of these trained terrapins upon payment of the entrance fee.

METEOR PLUNGES INTO SEA

EUREKA, Calif., Sept. 15. (AP) — A blazing meteor plunged into the sea near here today, throwing spray and steam many feet into the air. The molten mass barely missed the tug Humboldt, which was towing the Norwegian motorship Childar to open sea.

Most Severe Tire Test Is Given Monday

Here's one for believe it or not, and it is unusual.

Firestone again took the lead Monday afternoon when L. B. Sloneker, manager of Beacon Master Service and local Firestone dealer, demonstrated before the astonished eyes of several hundred Lubbock citizens that even though a tire is flat, that's no sign you have to stop.

Four new Supreme Firestones were taken from the local stock yesterday afternoon and mounted on a new Tudor Ford sedan. Five pounds of air were placed in the two front tires while 10 pounds went into the rear castings.

Loaded with five representative citizens and a huge bale of cotton, gross weight being 4,321 pounds, the test was underway. For the first three miles the car was driven with its heavy load on pressure mentioned above.

But—at the third mile, every ounce of air was released and again the motor was started. Over a quarter of a mile of hard pavement was traversed until the tires fell from the rims.

An inspection followed at the Beacon Master Service station by by-standers and those who traveled with the car. Included in the group were Harry Morris, of the Lubbock Auto company; Raymond McClure, State Telephone company; J. R. Wylt, Carter-Houston; Hugh Norman, Avalanche-Journal; V. V. Black, Paul Branom, Lubbock High Westerner band members, and Mr. Sloneker.

Upon inspection no breaks or loose cords could be found in the tires. These are to be on display for public inspection during the Panhandle-South Plains Fair.—Adv.

Will Show In Lubbock Today

They're due early today—the four long trains of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, bearing the big show's personnel of 1600 people, 43 elephants, hundreds of wild animals, almost countless tons of equipment and 800 horses. On board the third section will be the weird Ubangi savages, with their famous disc-lipped women whose mouths and lips are of enormous size. They were imported this spring from the deep interior of the French Congo, as the pre-eminent feature of "the greatest show on earth", and they will be seen in the menagerie and in the big show on the Gillilan circus grounds.

The performances will begin at 2 and 8 p. m., with the doors open one hour earlier so that all may view the Ubangis and the huge zoo at leisure.

Seats 16,000

Long before noon today the nomad city of 31 tents will have been raised, including the big top, the largest tent in the world, which seats over 16,000 people.

Among the outstanding features offered with the Ubangi savages are Goliath, the monster sea elephant; Hugo Zacchini, who will be shot from the mouth of a siege gun in greater and more terrific flights; Lillian Leitzel, undisputed queen of the air; Con Colleano, bounding, tumbling, somersaulting genius of the tight wire; the Wallendas, dome-high thrillers on the 150 foot steel thread; the Flying Codonas; Lulcita Leers, Europe's foremost aerialists; Miss Winnifred, soaring aerial marvel, and the Rieffenachs, the Ernestos and the Davenports, internationally famed riders. There are 800 artists of rings, stages and the air with the big show.

ASKED TO DECIDE

AUSTIN, Sept. 16. The appeal was filed by J. A. Barnett, Panola county farmer, fined $25 for the offense. Barnett shot at the animal at night, uncertain whether he hit it.

the Preserves that boiled over ...and Why!

"They're beauties," said Mrs. Brewster.

"They're beauties!" said Mrs. Brewster to herself as she paused—hands on hips—to view her afternoon's achievement—a score of glistening jars of preserves, standing in soldierly rows on the kitchen table.

"Sweetened to a T", she added as she tasted the final batch, now almost ready to be removed from the stove.

Just then—in the hall upstairs—the telephone rang!

When Jim Brewster came home a little later he found his wife still tearfully scraping the stains from her new stove.

"I can't," she faltered, "I just can't watch preserves and answer the telephone at the same time. I might have known they'd boil over!"

Jim slipped his arm about her consolingly.

"Never you mind," he comforted. "Tomorrow, I'll order an 'extension' telephone right in the kitchen."

Fort Worth Cats Defeat Spudders For League Title

Lil Stoner Is Again Hero of Day; Score 3-2

Panthers Set Precedent by Winning After Dropping First Half of Season; to Play Memphis Wednesday

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Tex. Sept. 15. (AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers won the 1930 championship of the Texas League here today by defeating Wichita Falls, 3 to 2, in the fifth and deciding game of the playoff series. The game resolved itself into a pitchers' duel between Lil Stoner and Milton Steengrafe.

The victory was largely a personal triumph for the lion hearted Lil, who turned in a brilliant six hit game in spite of an injured right thumb and a swollen right wrist. He started with the bad thumb but the wrist injury was suffered in the second inning, when he was hit by a pitched ball.

Larry Cox came in for a large share of the glory by poling a home run over the right field stands in the fourth inning with Fowler on first.

Fowler also scored the winning run in the sixth when he singled, stole second and stepped home on Jack Tavener's clean hit to right.

Steengrafe Pitched Hard

Stengraffe was pecked steadily all through the game, but he was usually tight in the pinches and with the aid of fine support gave Stoner a hard fight.

Jack Kloza scored one of the Wichita Falls runs with a home run. The other was counted when Fowler messed a double play ball with Spudders on third and first.

The cats will leave Tuesday night for Memphis, where Wednesday they open the Dixie Series.

(By The Associated Press)

BROOKLYN, Sept. 15. — The Brooklyn Robins increased their hold on first place in the hot National League pennant race to a full game over the idle Cardinals and a game and a half over the Cubs today, when they won their eleventh straight victory at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds. Many of the Cardinals, who open in all important three game series at Ebbetts' field tomorrow, sat in the stands while the Brooklyn sluggers hit four Cincinnati pitchers hard to win a 13 to 5 decision.

For the second day in succession, the Reds scored three runs in the first inning, knocking the Robins' starting pitcher out of the box. Moss was the victim today. But, as in Sunday's game, a Brooklyn southpaw stepped to the rescue and won. Watson Clark allowing the Reds only two runs for the remainder of the game.

Fighting Cubs Divide with Phils

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—The Chicago Cubs, fighting to regain the National League lead which they lost through two defeats at the handd of the tail-end Phillies, split even with the Phils in a double header today. The Cubs lost the first game, 12 to 11, but won the second, 6 to 4.

The Phils gave the Cubs another scare in the ninth inning by a batting rally which the western team managed to stop after the Phils had scored three runs.

Southland Takes Third of Series Off Tahoka Nine

SOUTHLAND, Sept. 15. (Special.)—The Southland Sluggers lived up to their name here today and won the third game of the play-off series for the South Plains baseball league by a score of 5 to 4, after coming from behind in the ninth to tie a 4-all count and bat a runner across in the tenth to win the fray. Southland needs only one more game to cinch the series, having won their second one today.

The teams meet today in Tahoka to play the game that was scheduled for Sunday but broken up in the fourth inning by a severe sand storm. Should Southland win tomorrow the series will close, with the Sluggers acclaimed the winners. If Tahoka wins Tuesday's game, the teams will draw for the site of Wednesday's game, which will decide the way of the champion.

Lefty Squires pitched for Tahoka today and was touched for eleven bingles, though for seven innings he held the strong Southland team scoreless. Cummings went the route for Southland and permitted half a dozen safe hits, holding the visitors hitless and scoreless for seven innings of first class baseball.

Tahoka was leading by a count of 4 to 3 in the eighth, having scored all of the runs in that frame. Southland scored three times in the third, and went into the ninth trailing by one point. After Fincher had grounded out, Haire doubled to right, and Cummings struck out. Craft hit a high fly to center toward which J. Wells and Kathcart raced but stopped long enough for the ball to hit the ground between them. Haire scored on the play, tying the count.

In the tenth, Tahoka failed to score, and Johnson, for Southland, singled. Jochetz was safe on an error and Floyd singled, scoring Johnson and ending the game.

Sloop Enterprise Outraces Sir Thomas Lipton's Yacht Shamrock V in Second Try

Vanderbilt's Thoroughbred Leads Race All the Way in What Appears to Be Knock Out Blow for Shamrock

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEWPORT, R. I. Sept 15 — Harold S. Vanderbilt's thoroughbred of the seas, Enterprise, sailing a winning race all the way, scored its second straight victory over Shamrock V today in smashing style and dealt what looked like a knockout blow to the lingering hopes of Sir Lipton's challenger in the classic yachting duel for the America's cup.

Better weather, brisker breezes, a ton less ballast and 30 mile triangular ocean course failed to change the ill-luck of the green-bodied British sloop. It was beaten not only by a much wider margin than in the opening leeward-windward race, but given a spanking lesson in sailing skill by the trim, speedy American defender.

The Enterprise crossed the finish line with an advantage of nine minutes, thirty four seconds. She was approximately two and a quarter miles ahead of the challenger as a heavy fog rolled in to blanket the conclusion and enshroud the finish of the badly beaten Lipton sloop.

The winner's elapsed time was four hours, 44 seconds for the chase.

Lipton Disappointed But Not Beaten

NEW PORT, R. I., Sept. 15. (AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton sat tonight in the cabin of his steam yacht Erin, terribly disappointed at the second defeat of the green Shamrock V, pride of his declining years, in his 31-year quest of the America's cup. He says bravely, however, that the series for "the battered old mug" it not over yet, but he feels, like all who saw Enterprise win today's race, that he has no chance of success.

"I'm terribly disappointed," he said, as he leaned back in an easy chair in his cabin, worn with the strain of the day and the weight of his 81 years. "I thought she'd do better than that.

Bill Laval, South Carolina football coach, pitched in the Sally league when Ty Cobb and Nap Rucker were learning what it was all about.

e was a flop, he told Collier, t a flop. Continental signed me bout knowing a thing about me pt that I'd written a few stories they happened to want to make icture out of one of them."

"You're crazy," Paul said. "Just ry."

I'm saner than I ever was. Trou- with me, I had a big head. ntinental didn't like my bright as, so I told them to fire me."

e said, flatly, "Well, nobody else umping at any of them," and he ed on in the same vein, trying persuade Collier to accept his ar- gument that unless he was able to sell a screen story as a free lance he was not good enough to be signed to a contract, at Amalgamated or any other studio.

And Paul said again: "You're crazy. I won't argue with a man that's lost his reason."

Paul was clear-sighted and wise enough to know that Rorimer had other things on his mind that he was saying nothing about, and Anne Winter was one of them. Trying to put himself in Dan't place, he reasoned that it would be rather disheartening to be in love with a girl whose progress was not matched by his own. Anne was going ahead fast now; unless the unexpected happened she would be getting some pretty important roles very soon. And Anne had started from scratch. Some day she might even be a star; it all depended now on the "breaks" she got and how the public liked her.

Sitting beside Dan as they drove to town, Paul remembered the day that Dan had shown him the letter from Ziggy Young, directing him to look up an obscure extra girl named Anne Winter, and be nice to her. And he remembered how Dan had fumed—until he met her.

Well, Dan had been nice to her, all right—too nice, perhaps, if being nice was responsible for Dan's present frame of mind. In Collier's philosophy no girl was worth all that trouble.

They were on Hollywood Boulevard now. "Your old home," Paul said, motioning toward the Roosevelt.

"Yep," Dan said.

"How about that idea of mine? Are you going to call up Anne and ask her to the opening?"

"I'm thinking about it."

Paul said, "Just out of curiosity, how long has it been since you've seen her? I used to keep pretty close track of you, but since you've chained yourself to that typewriter of yours . . ."

Dan said it was two or three weeks. "She's pretty busy; working nights some, too."

"Well, give the girl a break and take her out. You can't expect her to work all the time."

Dan thought: "I'll quit bothering her. I won't even call her up. If she wants to see me she can call me."

Anne telephoned him that evening.

Cotton Prices Rally After Sluggish Opening — Livestock Cattle Trading Is Active on Monday — Grain Grain Market Is Nominal Monday

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15. (AP)—Although the cotton market was disappointing at the opening today it soon rallied and was on the upgrade nearly all morning due to continued rains in the eastern belt and rather heavy trade buying in the market here. Before this demand was satisfied prices had advanced 18 to 20 points from the early lows. Although the market eased off 6 to 7 points on realizing around mid-session the undertone remained firm.

The market gradually eased off during the period after mid-session owing to profit taking and more or less hedge selling but prices kept within the earlier range but somewhat nearer the lows. October closed at 10.90 and December at 11.08, showing net declines on those months of 4 to 5 points. The general market closed steady at net gains of 1 to 5 points.

Liverpool came in 4 points up and first trades here showed no change to 2 points decline. The opening figures proved the lows of the day however, with October at 10.84 and December at 11.03. Prices soon started to rally and by the end of the first hour October traded at 10.90 and December at 11.07 or 4 to 6 points up from the lows.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (AP)—Advances from rather an irregular opening in cotton here today was attributed to covering and trade buying, but after selling up from 11.02 @ 11.18, or about 15 or 16 points net higher, the market eased off again under realizing and southern selling. New December sold back to about the opening price, closing at 11.03, with the general market closing barely steady net 3 points lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 2 points. New October sold up from 10.85@11.00, and March from 11.26 @11.40; during the middle of the day. The demand seemed to taper off at these figures, however, and the market eased later under liquidation or reselling by early buyers and some increase in the offerings from the south.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company; Dairy Products—Bell Ice Creamy company and Mistletoe Creameries; Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company, and Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. Prices subject to change during day.

The cotton was the property largely of Union Parish farmers. Loss was estimated at $30,000.

Heaviness of Grains Plays Into Hands of Bears; Prices Drop In Slow Trade

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (AP)—Persistent heaviness of the grains, combined with a few other news items subject to unfavorable interpretation in speculative quarters, played into the hands of the bears on the stock market today and prices declined in quiet trading.

The selling, in evidence from the opening, came from professional sources and although net losses ranged from one to three points in the important shares, Wall street was probably as much interested in the yacht race as in the course of quotations. Most of the losses had developed by midday at which time the shorts began to encounter increasing difficulty. There was some short covering in the late afternoon, but final prices were mostly around the lowest. Sales in the last 30 minutes amounted to less than 250,000 shares and the total volume to 1,562,000.

One of the outstanding developments in the day's markets was the break in September wheat to 79 1-8 cents, the lowest since 1914. A large increase in the visible supply, as well as favorable weather reports from the southwest, were factors in the selling at Chicago, and although the grain showed some recovery from the bottom closing prices on the various futures were 1-4 to 1-2 cent net lower.

Corn sagged 5-8 to 1 1-8, reflecting a poor cash demand. Cotton finished 3 points lower to 2 points higher, an extremely moderate range.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15, (AP) — Cattle trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by a fairly broad for light weight fed steers and yearlings at firm to slightly higher prices, but packers were bearish on all other killing classes. At a few markets they were able to shade on the less desirable grades of steers and she stock was somewhat improved with the better grades working higher. Chicago had a top of 13.10 on fed yearling steers and secured 12.50 for best heavy steers. Desirable grades of stockers and feeders from 6.50@8.50 with occasional loads of fleshy western steers to finishers at 9.00 and above. Receipts were estimated at 104,500.

Hogs found moderately active outlet at generally firm to 15 higher rates with some weakness reported on heavy butchers. The day's extreme top of 11.15 was paid at Chicago. Arrivals were around 82,700.

The sheep supply approximated 144,100. Fat lambs were tendered an uneven decline of 25 to 50, but matured classes and feeding lambs held about steady. Choice native lambs in Chicago topped at 9.25 while best rangers made 9.15.

Freight Rates On Cotton are Cut

DALLAS, Sept. 15. (AP)—Reduction in freight rates on cotton in territory about 200 to 225 miles from Houston was agreed on here today by representatives of Texas railroads.

The reduction was necessary to fight competition from trucks, it was said, and to assist in maintaining interior cotton concentration markets.

Application will be filed within a few days with the railroad commission at Austin for authority to make the reduction, and a request for an early hearing will be made.

The reduced rates were set at about seventy-five cents to $1 a bale below the old regular rates and from fifty cents to seventy-five cents a bale below the present rates established recently to meet truck competition.

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—Don Budrow, a city fireman was fighting flames of the Sandard Paper Company fire. His wife was a spectator. After conquering the fire, Budrow and his fellow firemen went back to the engine house. A short time after Budrow called a call from his wife notifying him that while he was fighting the paper company fire their own home had burned down.

Miss Jenny Lee, who was familiar to old-time playgoers all over the world as "Jo", the crossing sweeper in "Bleak House," died recently in London, aged 72.

R. W. Orr, Scotland's oldest minister, died recently at Brechin where he had been pastor of St. Ninian's Church for 67 years since his ordination at 25.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 15. (AP)—Market for all grains ruled nominal in Fort Worth Monday. There was no export business. First day of the week offerings were heavy, except in the sorghums. Here, offerings were so light and demand so scattering that values were rather uncertain.

Estimated receipts: wheat, 51 cars; corn, 21; oats, 4; barley, 6; sorghums, 2 and hay 7.

Bids and offers ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 hard milling, any protein, 91 1-2 to 92c.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 96@97c; No. 2 white 97 1-2@98 1-2c; No. 2 yellow 1.07 1-2@1.08 1-2.

Oats, No. 3 white 46 3-4@47 1-2c; No. 2 red 50 1-2@51c.

Barley, No. 2, 68 1-2@69 1-2.

Sorghums, No. 2 yellow milo 1.92 @1.95; No. 2 white kaffir 1.65@1.66.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (AP)—In a deluge of selling, wheat prices today plunged below 80c a bushel, touching the bottommost level since 1907, barring only 1914. Word that a big increase of the United States wheat visible supply had brought the total up to a new high record did much to pull the market down. Selling also was induced by an official statement that $30,000,000 bank credit which the grain stabilization corporation had obtained would be used to refinance the corporation's present holdings of wheat and not for new purchasing.

Despite early upturns in quotations, wheat closed unsettled at nearly the day's lowest points, 1-4, 3-4c under Saturday's finish. Corn closed 3-8, 1 1-8c off, oats varying from 7-8c decline to 1-8c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Downturns of wheat prices today not only resulted in fresh bottom records for wheat but for rye and oats as well. The pressure on the wheat market was chiefly manifest after advices indicated the domestic visible supply total today would be heavily enlarged. Even so, few traders were prepared for the final announcement near the end of the day that domestic stocks had augmented 7,585,000 bushels during the last week, more than double the increase of the week preceding and almost seven times as much as was the case at this juncture a year ago.

WOMAN IS KILLED

BEAUMONT, Sept. 15. (AP) — Mrs. C. Richard, 47, of Pine Island, was fatally injured when struck by a railroad train at a grade crossing two miles west of Beaumont today. It was believed a heavy rain, failing at the time, cut off vision of the approaching train.

Matadors and Westerners in Heavy Work

Lubbock High Team Pointing to Colorado Game Friday; Matadors Start Offensive Drills and Heavier Work

Light scrimmages that will grow heavier and tougher with the passing days are in vogue on both of the local football practice fields this week.

The Matadors, after spending nearly a week on nothing but defensive plays, will begin about today with offensive work, with individuals getting the break they desire to show their stuff. The Lubbock High Westerners started the week with rather stiff scrimmages, after being warmed up during the latter part of last week.

Perfect Pass Defense

Out at Fair Park, Coaches Henry Prnka and Keeling are putting the Westerners through the mill in order to detect possible flaws that might crop out later on, to the chagrin of coaches and players. Especially is the team being drilled in pass defense. The first game of the season is only four days in the offing, and it is shown that the Colorado Wolves, who open the playing season in Lubbock, have perfected an overhead attack tha comes well nigh hitting the mark. They used it effectively against the Abilene High Eagles last Friday and led the Oil Belt contenders most of the way.

Particular stress on individual timing and acting is being paid by the Matador mentors out at the Tech practice field. The team does not open its season until next Saturday week when they entertain the Wayland College eleven here.

Matadors Settle Down

The Matadors will run several plays this week in light scrimmage, as the coaches prepare to settle down to the year's work. The Lubbock squad reported fifty in number yesterday, with a few new hands back on the job from last year's squad. Secret practice will be in order most of the time at Tech. Tech begins its second week of workouts tomorrow, when the freshman crew, over a hundred in number, will turn out for the first time in legitimate practice.

Dutchay Smith, freshman coach and athletic business manager, has been lending a hand with the varsity prospects since last Wednesday, but will turn his entire attention to the first year group tomorrow. He will divide the squad into two groups, working with one team early in the afternoon and taking the second division on later in the evening. Seven games have been carded for the frosh, who will be represented in the conflicts by two independent teams.

He was held on bail to keep the peace for one year.

Wiltse was obtained from the Milwaukee club of the American Association which had acquired title to his services after the completion of the Texas League season.

The Phillies also have purchased pitcher Lil Stoner and second baseman Leo Mallon from the Fort Worth club.
