(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 28—Gov. O. K. Allen died unexpectedly today at 10:40 a. m. from what was announced as a cerebral hemorrhage.

Governor Allen was seized with a sudden attack at the executive mansion at 8:50 a. m. He apparently had been in good health and was just preparing to leave the mansion for his executive offices in the state capitol.

Cause Announced

Dr. C. A. Lorio, an attending physician, said the governor died from "hyperension and cerebral hemorrhage and hemorrhage at the base of the tongue and acute adema of glottis."

A corps of physicians was hastily summoned, including Dr. Lorio, one of the physicians of the late Senator Huey P. Long, political associate of the governor.

Medical Attention Fails

But all medical attention failed to rally the governor and he died at 10:40 a. m.

His death was announced at 10:55 a. m. by A. P. White, secretary to the governor and as the news of the passing of the governor spread rapidly through official circles and over the city a large number of officials and other friends of the governor hurried to the mansion and formed a great crowd around the building.

CUBAN ATTORNEY SAYS HE APPROACHED ON CHANGING MONEY

(By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, Jan. 28.—A Cuban attorney advanced a suggestion today of a Cuban connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping case, asserting he had seen a letter signed "Isidor Fisch" asking a person to cash "some marked money."

Dr. Arturo Gonzalez Alfonso, lawyer and candidate for the house of representatives on the unionist ticket in the recent general election, said a person whose name he did not know, but whom he could recognize by sight, showed him the letter.

Might Clear Up Case

"I want to make this known," said Dr. Gonzalez, "because it might help clear up the Lindbergh kidnaping."

Dr. Gonzalez, president of the Havana provincial assembly of the unionist party, asserted:

"Several years ago, I was acting as counsel for a German firm here in Havana. On visits to the German consulate I came to know a man by sight. He appeared to be a German but was not connected with the consulate.

Asked About Money

"He knew I was a lawyer and one day he asked me if it was against Cuban law to change American marked money that had been used in a kidnaping ransom.

Smith's Talk To Be Answered By Senator Tonight

DEMOCRATIC VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE ON 1928 TICKET TO GIVE VEHEMENT ANSWER

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—New Dealers looked to Senator Robinson of Arkansas to deliver tonight a vehement reply to Alfred E. Smith's charge that the Roosevelt administration has violated the party platform and turned to socialism.

At the same time, political observers were waiting eagerly to hear what Senator Borah (R-Ida), who is boomed by his friends for the Republican presidential nomination, will say when he takes the stump tonight in Brooklyn.

The speech which Robinson, the majority leader of the senate, will make tonight over a nation-wide (Columbia broadcasting system) network at 9 p. m. central standard time, is expected to give an inkling of the administration's attitude toward the "walk" that Smith threatens to take.

As Robinson labored over the address, its contents were not disclosed, but the title, "The Hands of Esau," gave a hint of its nature. It recalled the story in Genesis of how Jacob obtained the blessing of his blind father Isaac.

Disguised As Esau

Jacob put the skins of kids on his hands to disguise himself as the hair-handed Esau, and it is recorded that Isaac said:

Government Tackles Job Of Paying Off Soldiers' Bonus; Bonds Are Printed

MOST TREMENDOUS TASK IN HISTORY IS BEGUN IN CAPITAL; WARNING ON SPENDING ISSUED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Presses thundered and an army of clerks toiled today as the government tackled the task of paying off 3,518,191 World war bonuses—the most tremendous job of its kind in history.

Even as he threw the pay-off machinery into gear, President Roosevelt issued an appeal saying that unless veterans need the money for some "permanently useful purpose" they should retain as nest eggs the cashable "baby bonds" which congress voted them over the executive's veto.

Warn Against "Frittering"

The White House and commanders of major veterans organizations joined in a statement warning against the "frittering away of cash."

Silent on the question of new taxes to finance the $2,491,000,000 bonus bill, the White House had moved to comply with the "mandate" of congress soon after the senate wrote the measure into law yesterday, 76 to 19. The president ordered his subordinates to carry out the act "as expeditiously as accuracy will permit." From 2,500 to 3,000 new government workers are to be hired for the task at a cost of about $7,500,000.

Presses Run All Night

All last night presses at the government printing office roared. By today they had turned out 2,500,000 application blanks and were still rolling.

Within 24 hours, distribution of these blanks will begin through 50 offices of the Veterans' administration, ex-soldiers' organizations and some members of congress. By filling them out, attaching their fingerprints and filing them with the veterans' administration, ex-soldiers will formally apply for the $50 bonds. Under the new law, these bonds may be cashed at local post offices beginning next June 15 or held to obtain 3 per cent interest.

Before the bonds are distributed, however, the blanks must be double checked at the Veterans' administration—an operation requiring 7,000,000 arithmetical calculations. Officials predicted that most of the veterans would have their bonds "by summer."

BELOW ZERO WEATHER ISN'T BOTHER TO QUINTS; THEY SLEEP OUTDOORS

(By The Associated Press)

CALLANDER, Ont., Jan. 28.—While most of the continent shivered in the past week's blizzard and sought firesides, the Dionne quintuplets slept outdoors every morning and afternoon, once in 30 below zero weather.

Twenty months old today, they spent hours on their hospital veranda in their usual perfect health.

Last winter they had slept while the mercury hovered around 35 below and one day dropped to minus 40, the coldest for the quints in the open air.

Unworried about their health, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their physician and guardian, said today the quintuplets walk a bit more confidently each day and are becoming more successful in their attempts to form words.

All gained weight during the past month and each has had new teeth since her last "birthday."

King George Is Laid To Rest In Historic Chapel

ROYAL VAULT OF ST. GEORGE'S CHAPEL HOLDS BODY OF DEAD MONARCH; THOUSANDS MOURN

BY ROGER D. GREENE

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

WINDSOR Eng. Jan. 28 — The long funeral journey of George V ended today in the royal vault of St. George's chapel the burial crypt of Great Britain's kings.

It was a service of pomp, circumstance, and sorrow — beginning with the removal of the body from Westminster hall in London and the silent tribute of tens of thousands of spectators massed along the cortege route and ending with a simple burial service.

AT A FUNERAL!

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ambulance brigades attended 7,000 persons as huge throngs packed London streets today along the route of King George's funeral procession.

One died among the 150 persons who were sent to hospitals.

Police faced one threatening situation at Hyde park as thousands shouted angry protests against mounted officers who rode in and drove them to side streets.

Police were compelled to take drastic action to clear the roadway over which the cortege was to pass.

King George's body came to Windsor at 1:08 p. m. 33 minutes later than scheduled. The delay was in strange contrast to George's punctuality throughout life. The mourning crowds in London had delayed the passage of the cortege.

The nation paused for two minutes of silence at 1:30 p. m. the time the coffin was to have been lowered into the crypt but the delay in marching of the cortege set the time of actual burial later.

Hundred Thousand In Line

From London the king's body was brought by railroad train to Windsor. One hundred thousand mourners were assembled along the mile-and-a-half route from the railroad station to St. George's chapel.

An honor guard carried the coffin from the train over a scarlet carpet to a gun carriage waiting at the station door. Then the procession started its uphill journey to Windsor castle.

Tolls For Dead Master

The bell of curfew tower rang out across the ancient battlements of the royal palace — tolling for the dead master.

The new king, Edward VIII, and his three brothers, for the second time today, fell in behind their father's coffin to walk in procession.

They were preceded in the cortege by the widowed Queen Mary, who rode in a carriage drawn by Windsor greys.

The cortege passed along a route massed with spectators and hung with heavy crepe.

One hundred and fifty sailors again drew the carriage on which

Points To Issue

Shortly before learning Governor Allred declined to call the session, Fischer declared:

"If I am forced to be a candidate for governor, the issue will be: tax the untaxed, untax the overtaxed, discharge our sacred obligation to our old men and women."

Fischer said payment of pensions under a recently enacted law should start at once.

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO AID MOVE

RETROACTIVE TAX OR EXCESS PROFITS TAX MAY BE LEVIED

BY FRANK I. WELLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—Officials of the department of agriculture said today an attempt soon will be made to recover AAA taxes refunded to processors.

They said the department probably would proceed along one of two lines—ask congress to enact a retroactive tax or an excess profits levy.

Could Levy Retroactive Taxes

They said retroactive taxes could be levied on all revenue from the time the old processing tax was enacted to the day of its invalidation at the hands of the Supreme court . . . Assessments would be refunded to those who already had paid taxes to the government, but not to those whose payments had been impounded and returned to them by court order.

WALLACE ATTACKS MOVE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Contending "this is probably the greatest legalized steal in American history," Secretary Wallace today renewed his attack on the Supreme court's decision refunding $200,000,000 to processors.

Wallace in a radio address over a national network cited profit figures of various processors to show the large returns they would obtain.

"In the Hoosac mills case," Wallace said, "the Supreme court disapproved the idea that the government could take money from one group for the benefit of another. Yet in turning over to the processors this $200000,000 which came from all the people, we are seeing the most flagrant example of expropriation for the benefit of one small group.

The second measure would aim at regaining as "excess profits" the $180,000,000 in processing taxes refunded under the so-called "rice millers" decision.

Officials said many questions are

The contract awarded McMillan is for building 9 pens, concrete floored, with cement office and feed storage bins, galvanized roofing, and wood fences. Sanitary sewage connections will be installed.

HOUSTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Marion Parr, 17, was wounded critically last night by a restaurant operator, who mistook him for a holdup man as he entered the restaurant with a muffler wrapped around his face to protect it from the cold.

The restaurant operator, S. M. Lipscomb, 46, was charged with assault to murder following the shooting.

"It was an accident," Parr told police, when he was admitted to a hospital.

Parr entered the restaurant with a bottle of medicine stuffed under his overcoat and Lipscomb mistook the bottle for a gun when he saw Parr's partly shielded face, Lipscomb told police.

"I shouted, 'drop it'," Lipscomb told police, "and dived beneath the counter and got my pistol."

Parr, failing to realize the import of Lipscomb's message, backed away and the restaurant operator said he fired once, the bullet striking Parr in the abdominal region.

FEE BASIS IS MAINTAINED

COMMISSIONERS VOTE NOT TO RESCIND PRIOR ACTION

Precinct offices were retained on a fee basis for compensation by action of county commissioners Monday who declined to change their stand on an order of Jan. 13.

A few minutes after the court had decided to remain status quo on the matter, a telegram was received from the attorney general's office informing the court that it would have been unauthorized to change the original order.

During the meeting, a motion made by B. O. McWhorter, suggesting the first action be withdrawn, died for want of a second.

Ruling Is Received

The telegram, received soon after the court had been adjourned, was addressed to County Attorney Jess C. Levens and read:

"Leon (Moses) out of town. (I am) of opinion that commissioners court (is) unauthorized to pass on (the) order after adjournment rescinding (the) order placing officer on fee basis and placing him on salary basis."

The telegram was signed by Joe J. Alsup, assistant attorney general.

Request for reconsideration by the court of its order was supported by 19 petitions bearing 667 names, ranging from both district judges and business and professional men to farmers and laborers.

Hearing Is Public

The hearing on the request was public and, presided over by County Judge E. L. Pitts, was begun at 10 o'clock that morning. Two hours completed the session.

Commissioners were: McWhorter, J. T. Pinkston of Slaton, P. B. Penney, and T. L. Holt of Idalou.

Speakers who addressed the court were J. E. Vickers, W. D. Benson, jr., Levens, J. J. Dillard, justice of the peace of place 2, precinct 1, A. J. Richardson, City commissioner, J. H. Hankins, and S. M. Wilson, all of Lubbock, and Edgar Gray of Idalou. Commissioner Pinkston also spoke.

Right Of Appeal

Whatever action taken by the court, Judge Pitts said, there would be a right of appeal to the district court, which by law has appellate jurisdiction and supervisory control of work of the commissioners court.

No indication of such appeal was apparent late Mohday.

The hearing was attended by approximately 50 persons, and was held in county courtroom.

Back of the Monday consideration was Lubbock county's endorsement of amendment 6 of the recent amendment election, which provided choice of for or against "amendment to the constitution of the state of Texas abolishing the fee system of compensating all district officers, and all county officers in counties having a population of 20,000 or more; and authorizing the commissioners court to determine whether county officers and precinct officers, in counties containing less than 20,000 population may be compensated on a fee basis or on a salary basis."

Maximum fee payments which may be retained by precinct officers total $2,200 each. By law, they are entitled to all fees up to $1,800. Above that amount, they are allowed one-third of the total until the maximum is reached.

Officials have until March to file their 1935 figures in the office of district clerk. Although none has been filed, County Auditor J. Y. Boyd indicated that no precinct officer last year collected the maximum amount.

There are four justices of the peace and two active constables in the county. Justices are J. T. Trigg and Dillard, Lubbock; Horace Smith, Slaton, and W. R. Buchanan, Idalou. Constables are J. C. Roberts, Lubbock, and Ragan Reed, Slaton.

If the salary basis had been voted, two officers would have been entitled to $2,200, since provisions of the bill specify precinct officers could not be paid less than they earned in 1935, nor more than the maximum formerly allowed under the fee payment system. The two were reported to have earned more than $3,000 each, although that amount was not fully collected. One office was said to have earned only $38.

Ball Is Extended In Indoor Tourney

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—George Ball of El Paso, Tex., had a close call last night, but rallied to defeat Harry Metz of Chicago, 2-6, 6-3, 10-8, and enter the quarterfinals of the Western Indoor men's singles tennis title tournament.

After eliminating Leo Arnstein of Chicago, 6-4, 6-1, Ball, the defending champion, barely overcame Metz. The latter needed match point four times in the third set, only to be outlasted by the Texan.

Phil Hanna of Los Angeles, the likely finalist in the other bracket, advanced to the fourth round by defeating Joe Carrigan, a strong Chicago player, 6-4, 8-6.

To take testimony in a mine disaster at Johannesburg, South Africa, a police court session was held on the 27th level of a gold mine, more than 7000 feet underground.

SUIT IS TO BE TRIED THIS TERM

Suit asking $50,000 damages from the City of Lubbock, filed by relatives after the death of Nat Jordan, accidentally electrocuted May 23, 1932, at his residence at 2023 Main street, will be retried in 99th district court probably during the second half of the present court term. Jordan was killed when a high tension wire of the city snapped and fell in his yard on a garden wire fence which he came in contact with.

In a mandate issued during the past week by the Texas supreme court, refusing writ of error in the opinion of the civil appeals bench at Amarillo which reversed judgment for the city and remanded the case for new trial, the court ordered the suit back for trial.

Verdict Set Aside

The case had been tried here during the April, 1933, term of 99th district court. Although the jury had returned a $2,500 judgment for Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, parents of the boy killed, and his sister, Lucille, they held the young man guilty of contributory negligence in his death. The district court set aside findings of the jury, rendering decision in favor of the city June 5, 1933.

The Amarillo court, in sustaining an appeal from the persons bringing the suit, held the court without power to set aside the jury findings, since no motion had been filed by the city to enter judgment, notwithstanding the jury verdict; and since the evidence was wholly insufficient to raise the issue of contributory negligence, "being not so conclusive" as to support the jury verdict.

To Be Heard Soon

Request for bill of costs has been forwarded to the supreme court, and return of the mandate is expected within 30 days, City Attorney J. E. Vickers said. Attorneys for plaintiffs are Charles C. Crenshaw and George W. Dupree.

HEADLINE VAUDEVILLE ACTS "A CARLOAD OF TALENT"

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this—

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine . . . and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer . . . at the right time and in the right way . . . no "splotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market . . . re-dried for storage . . . then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.

GOLFER 900 UP

LONDON, Jan. 28—Thirteen years ago R. W. Chamberlain, a retired farmer, and George New, a postmaster, began a golf tournament on a course near Swinden.... Today, after 13 years of weekly matches, New is 900 up. Chamberlain, despite his age of 71, expects to even the match before he dies.

LONG DISTANCE SCORING

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 28—Lloyd Phelps, Broadway High School halfback, likes to make his touchdowns from 50 yards or more out.

In one game he raced 51 yards to a score; in another he scored the only touchdown on a 75-yard run, and in a third he made the winning score by catching a pass and running 50 yards to the goal line.

Dolly Stark Joins Ranks Of Holdouts

EVEN UMPIRE JOINS IN DEMAND FOR HIGHER PAY IN BASEBALL

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 — Albert D. (Dolly) Stark, National league umpire who has announced he is a "holdout," believes that $9,000 a year is a pittance for a job in which the "highest praise is silence."

Ford C. Frick league president, said yesterday the umpire had notified him of his intention to quit and he had advised Stark to think it over a little more before arriving at a final decision.

Stated His Stand

Stark, however, stated his stand in no uncertain terms.

"If I can't get more I'm ready to try something else," he said, "but most of all would like to remain in baseball. There are no limits of salaries in baseball. The players, managers and club officials all draw down pay commensurate with their ability. Only an umpire is expected to stick at a fixed wage, and I consider this unfair."

In town from Hanover, N. H., where he coaches Dartmouth's basketball team, Stark said:

List Me A Hold-Out

"You can list me as a hold-out. That's the story. Unless the league sees fit to pay me a lot more money, I'm done."

At the height of his career right now, Stark has been in the National league since 1928. An arm injury cut short his playing career.

Popular alike with fans and players, Stark was presented an automobile last season by a group of New York admirers. Subsequently he was voted the National league's ranking arbiter in a poll of players.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT at Lubbock High gym. The Westerners play Ropesville at 7:30 o'clock.

Ordinarily, the basketball citizens of the town are not much to get in a sweat over high school basketball. It takes a team from one of the other Class A schools of the district to get anybody out to Lubbock's swell basketball court. But this Ropesville team which comes here tonight is something else again.

Ropesville generally turns up with a fine high school basketball team. They've won enough games this year to brand them again as a dangerous district championship contender. Playing in district, bi-district, regional and state tournaments is nothing new for the Ropes cagers of the past.

To review briefly Ropesville's record to date in the current campaign, we find the team started early, what with no football to keep them busy during the winter months. Ropesville conducted a tournament late in 1935, and Meadow won it, Ropesville finishing second. A few days later, Ropesville won a tournament title. Then Ropesville defeated Lubbock High. This year, Ropesville has won a big majority of its practice games, climaxed a long run last Saturday night by winning the Meadow invitational.

One of three teams to defeat Lubbock, Ropesville comes here tonight and the prospects aren't bright for the Westerners. They play a lot of basketball in the smaller towns around here, and Ropesville is one of the hottest South Plains hotspots.

The Westerners, going strong in the Class A, Panhandle league race, which means absolutely nothing in the Texas Interscholastic league campaign, have done remarkably well so far, losing three games in fifteen starts. But we're not ready to concede the district interscholastic league tournament title to them. Those three losses have been at the hands of Ropesville, Abernathy and Whitharral. They haven't played Lamesa yet, and until they do, they're just one game better off.

Lamesa, winner last year, comes up with another strong team. The Tornadoes started out not so good, losing to Denton, which beat Lamesa in the state final last year, and Tuscola on a road trip. They got back the Tuscola defeat last week, however. Even the loss of Kidd, a regular forward, apparently has not set the Tornadoes back much. Kidd, virtually an all-stater last year, submitted to an operation for appendicitis last week, and probably will play no more this season.

THERE'S ANOTHER basketball team in the neighborhood about which we have been intending to scribble. It's Coach Billy McClure's Plainview High school girls team.

Girls basketball rates with the masculine game in the smaller towns, although it is not recognized by the Texas Interscholastic league. But the gals play for county championships anyway, and their goal is the Texas and Southern Amateur Athletic union tournaments.

Been a couple of weeks since McClure was in the office and told us about his team, and we don't know how they've progressed since then. If the Plainview gals have been defeated, though, it would make big news.

They came through Lubbock one night enroute home from Ropesville where they had won their third tournament of the season. They had played 15 games, won 15 games, and rolled up the astounding total of 769 points!

That was not so surprising, however, as McClure's description of his team. The sextet averages 5 feet, 9 inches in height. Ruby Reddell, center, is the tallest, 5 feet, 11 inches. In the final game of the Ropesville tourney, she made 28 points. Next in the scoring was Gladys Walker, twice all-state (AAU) forward. Shortest member of the team is about 5 feet, 6, just a tiny runt. The Plainview Bulldogettes, having won a hard tournament at Dimmitt, another at Meadow and one at Ropesville, and possibly one or two since then, have their eyes on the state AAU tournament, and we haven't heard of any team capable of keeping them out.

TEXAS TECH'S cagers, busy with studies and exams just now, nevertheless find time to do their daily workout. They journey to Albuquerque next week for return Border conference games with University of New Mexico on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, come home to play another conference series with New Mexico's Aggies on Friday and Saturday nights.

The Matador lineup may be shifted in a couple of places next week. With the arrival of the new term, Feb. 1, two good-looking athletes turn eligible for varsity participation. You'll be hearing and seeing more of them later. They are figured to raise the height and potency of the Tech squad by several inches and a few percentage points.

It's interesting to note the basketball progress of Tech's intersectional football opponents, Oklahoma A. & M., coached by Henry Iba, recognized as one of the foremost cage mentors in the country, continues to bowl over all comers. Wichita's Wheatshockers are having a big year.

Copping the big headlines in Chicago papers are our old friends, the De Paul Blue Demons. As a matter of fact, the Demons, until then a lowly stepchild in Chicago's athletic family, started getting the newspaper play when they held Texas Tech to a scoreless tie in a football game last fall.

The Chicago Tribune now gives the De Paul cagers and its coach, Jim Kelly, plenty of to-do about basketball. Latest victim of the Demons was the Western Michigan Teachers, a strong team in that section, who fell last Saturday night, 53 to 34, at Chicago. It was De Paul's 100th basketball victory since Kelly started coaching there six years ago. It was the tenth win in a dozen starts for De Paul this year.

Coach Cawthon of Tech frequently hears from Kelly. The De Paul coach wants to bring his Demons back here for another football game.

We suggest they'd be a fine drawing card. We also suggest that the Matadors would play a lot of football against their Chicago rivals, what with the memory of that 1935 debacle to spur them on.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN GOLDEN

MEMBER OF U. S. RYDER CUP TEAM OF 1927 DIES LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 28.—Johnny Golden, member of the United States Ryder cup team in 1927 and 1929 and Connecticut open golf champion, died of pneumonia last night in the Stamford hospital.

Born April 2, 1896, Golden began his professional golfing career at Tuxedo Park, N. Y., in 1915. His greatest links victory was at Agua Caliente, Mexico, Jan. 17, 1931, when he tied with George Von Elm in a 72-hole tournament, each carding 293 for the four rounds.

They agreed to split first and second price money, $6,750 each.

Golden won the 18-hole playoff the next day.

NEWCOMER WILL WRESTLE HERE

Dale Haddock, a newcomer from Detroit, Mich., home of champions and would-be champions, brings his 165 pounds of nerve and muscle into the Auditorium wrestling arena tomorrow night to make his debut. He comes to this circuit with an impressive record, with recommendations from eastern promoters and matchmakers.

Like the other strangers, he starts out here in something below the main event, but he takes on a man who'll test him when he meets the St. Louis kid, Al Szazs, in the 30 minutes or less semi-final.

The main event spot this week is occupied by Nick Bozinis, the thick-necked Greek from Elmira, N. Y., and Bob Castle, barrel-bellied villain from Kansas City.

It should be a battle to please the customers who like both the contestants to mix it rough, because Bozinis and Castle do it that way. The Greek won the main event slot when he so thoroughly thumped Szazs in the semi-final last week. He crowded the blond Al from the opening gong until it was all over, and it wasn't a draw.

Castle probably will draw the majority of razzberries, although it will be a new experience for Bozinis if the fans give him a cheer.

TARLETON QUINTET FACES CAGE JINX

STEPHENVILLE, Jan. 28. (AP)—The John Tarleton college Plowboys will face a jinx tonight when they attempt to win their 52nd basketball game in a row in a contest here with the Weatherford Junior college Coyotes.

Although the junior college team has beaten many strong senior institution quintets in the long series of consecutive victories, the Plowboys always dread the Coyotes.

"The Coyotes," said Coach W. J. Wisdom, "have always been a jinx for Tarleton. Time and again my teams have had the conference title all but won and then the Coyotes would come along and ruin our chances."

The smallest fog particles have been measured by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was found that 25,000 of them could be placed on the head of an ordinary pin.

HUNTER VICTOR IN FRISCO'S GOLF OPEN

VET COMES THROUGH FIVE UNDER PAR TO TAKE FIRST

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28—Willie Hunter, veteran of many golfing campaigns but never before a big money winner, headed for home today with the San Francisco match play open title and a check for $1,675 in his pocket.

The 43-year-old Los Angeles professional who joined the "play for pay" ranks in 1925 after having won the British amateur title four years before, claimed top money with a 4 and 2 victory over Willie Goggin, San Francisco, in yesterday's 36-hole finals.

Hunter completed the 16 holes of the afternoon round five strokes under par, and clinched the match on the 34th green when he dropped a 30-foot chip shot for a birdie 3 to Goggin's well played par 4.

KIRKLAND WINS ON A KNOCKOUT

CROSBYTON, Jan. 28 (Special)—Another quick knockout, or two of them, featured last night's boxing show staged by the American Legion post here.

Jack Kirkland, middleweight from Waco, kayoed Otis "Jelly" Harry of Monahans in the third set to of their scheduled 10-round main event.

Only a fair-sized crowd attended. Cold weather kept many fans away, but the absence of the big favorite, Marlin Owens, kept most of them at home.

Kirkland, 155 pounds, and Harry, 153, came out fighting, but Harry went down three times in the second round. The Monahans boy was down again in the third for a nine-count, came up, met a stiff jab and was laid out neatly.

Jack Kirkland's younger brother, Bob, a 141-pounder, knocked out Mickey O'Brien of Los Angeles, 136 pounds, in the first round of their scheduled 8-round semi-final, making it a big evening for the Kirkland family. They started fast, but Bob found an opening shortly and floored O'Brien. It was several minutes before attendants revived the California boy.

John Buck of Crosbyton, 180 pounds, out-pointed Orval Curtis of Odessa, 147, in their six-round preliminary, and Jessie Burroughs won the nod over Ray Campbell, both local boys, in the curtain raiser.

BOSTON, AFTER SELECTING NEW NICKNAME, PROBABLY "THE BRONCHOS," ALSO CONFRONTED WITH MARANVILLE PROBLEM

Pretty Posies For Pop

Customary Hawaiian hospitality was accorded Glenn Warner and his college all-stars in Honolulu, where they appeared in post-season football games. Temple University's famous coach smiles as he is bedecked with pretty flowers by prettier Pualani Mossman.

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Jan. 28 — Soon after the management of the Boston Braves selects a new nickname — probably "the Bronchos" — it will take up the future of its popular infield veteran, Walter James Vincent Maranville.

Maranville, the 43-year-old "Rabbit," now is nursing his mended leg in hopes of breaking Hans Wagner's national league record of playing 2,785 games. Maranville needs 119 more to do it.

This major leaguer of 23 years' standing still considers himself capable of holding down a regular berth despite the fact that the leg fracture he suffered in the 1934 training camp would have forced the average baseball youngster into permanent retirement.

Last season he played in 20 games, during which he made but three errors, and boasted that his leg was stronger than ever, but teammates noticed that as he gaily skipped about, his forehead perspired, as if he was suffering intense pain.

Bob Quinn has written twice to Maranville, but has had no reply, he believes that Manager Bill McKechnie, who sadly agrees that the "Rabbit" is done as a player, will make some sort of a decision about him after Feb. 4.

Maranville's host of admirers are hoping that if McKechnie decides that their little idol's playing days are over, he will add him to his coaching staff.

ROPESVILLE WILL PLAY WESTERNERS

The Ropesville High school quintet, one of the three teams which can laugh at the Westerners, invade Lubbock High school gymnasium tonight for a basketball game.

The Westerners, who lead the Class A race, have met all their grief this season at the hands of comparatively small schools. Ropesville is one of them. Abernathy is another, and the Whitharral team is a third. In their other 12 games, the Westerners have been victorious.

Ropesville and Lubbock clash at 7:30 o'clock on the sleek court at Lubbock High school. A large and loud contingent of Ropesville fans is expected to witness what may be Lubbock's fourth defeat.

Seen as a strong contender for interscholastic league laurels in this district, Ropesville, which not so long ago went to the state finals at Austin, has won a big majority of its games this season, including at least two tournament championships.

Coach Keyes probably will start Murray Venable and Bruce Chant at forwards tonight, Orvalee Oden or C. L. Storrs at center, Ralph Letsinger and Othie Upton at guards.

Lubbock defeated Amarillo, 30 to 28, and won from Clovis, N. M., 36 to 20, last Friday and Saturday nights here. They journey into the north Panhandle this week for a Panhandle League game with Pampa on Friday night and another at Borger on Saturday night.

IT'S SOMEWHAT IN THE MANNER OF WRESTLING BUT WITH MUCH MORE ARTISTRY AND SCIENCE—IT'S JUDO

BY BOB CAVAGNARO

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—A couple of squat fellows, dressed like barbers in white uniforms but with their feet unshod, crawled to the center of a mat.

They straightened up on their knees, grimly looked at each other for a second and then solemnly bowed until their foreheads touched the canvas. They jumped to their feet and offered each other a couple of arms, which quickly slipped into vise-like grips and then they grappled—somewhat in the manner of American wrestlers but with much more artistry and science.

The new name for it is judo, but over in the Orient the Japanese still cling to the more popular nomenclature and call it jiu-jitsu. Judo is an eclectic combination of various methods of the original art of self defense and is a compulsory part of the Japanese educational program.

Jiu-jitsu, we were told by Professor T. S. Kuwashima, who is the leading exponent in this country, means the art of flexibility. Flexibility is sought principally in the feet and legs and this is attained easily by the Nipponese because from the beginning of time they've squatted on their haunches to sip tea or hold "round table" discussions.

The art is full of tricks—600 of them. Tricks to defend yourself when attacked suddenly from the front or rear, and tricks to inflict severe and painful punishment—temporary or permanent. They teach them in three stages. One of the elementary tricks, strangely enough listed No. 13, goes something like this:

You've been attacked; you've got your opponent on his back and you bring up your right leg so that the knee is under his left arm at the back. Retaining your hold at your adversary's wrist with your left hand, bend his captured arm over the knee as if to (and you can) break it. At the same time press your thumb severely against the nerve at the upper end of the jawbone under the lobe of his right ear, while the fingers of your same hand are employed in choking him.

It all happens in a flash. A couple of the professor's advanced students demonstrated it last night. There were no bones broken nor was anybody choked, but a little more pressure might easily have turned the trick. In a pre-arranged match the punitive treatment continues until the lips and shoulders of one of the contestants have touched the mat and the four-point landing lasts at least 30 seconds.

Until the jiu-jitsuians land on the mat judo is not comparable with wrestling. In the upper strata of the sport most of the damage is done before the fall. Where American wrestlers rely 50-50 on their weight and strength the Japanese wrestler works his opponent's power to his own advantage by scientific means of attacking from the weak or off-balance side. He does no grunting and groaning but occasionally he lets out an excited, hysterical yell.

BATTLE FOR "HOT CORNER" LOOMING IN RANK OF CHAMPION TIGERS; LIST OF THIRTY-SIX DRAWN FOR TRAINING

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Jan. 28—A battle for the "hot corner" job in the Detroit Tiger infield next season is indicated by the roster of players the World champions will take south for the opening of spring training March 1 at Lakeland, Fla.

Thirty-six players will report, among them four rookie infielders who are expected to bid strongly for the third base position which the Veteran Marvin Owen is determined to hold.

English Given Good Chance

Gilbert English, who hit .320 for Portland last season, is given a good chance to land the position by Manager Mickey Cochrane. Glowing reports also resulted in the signing of Don Ross, with Beaumont in 1935, and Chester Laabs, who walloped the ball at a .304 clip last season for Fort Wayne.

Millard (Dixie) Howell, former Alabama grid star who was with Detroit for a time last year, will be back. He fielded well during the 1935 spring training session, but was farmed out for batting experience.

Among the players obtained since the Bengals captured the World series will be Al Simmons, purchased for $75,000 from the Chicago White Sox.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Any infield worries Manager Bill Terry of the Giants may have had, vanished today with the receipt of the signed contract of Mark Koenig, 11-year veteran who was the life saver for the Giants at second, third and shortstop last season. The signing of Koenig brings every contender for posts in the Giant infield into the fold.

Three Contenders Have Yet To Meet Loss To Favorite

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Three of the leading contenders for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap have yet to meet defeat by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery, the favorite. They are Hal Price Headley's Whopper, Mrs. Silas B. Mason's Head Play and Cleveland Putnam's Ladyman.

Judged by the winter form shown, Whopper is the logical choice to upset the handicap champion, if any horse is to do it, in the mile and a quarter classic on Feb. 22. The only time Whopper and Discovery met, in the Massachusetts handicap last fall, Whopper finished second and Discovery third to A. A. Baroni's Top Row.

The last time Head Play and Discovery met, in the Suburban handicap at Belmont, Head Play won by 1 1-2 lengths and Discovery was a fast-closing second. Head Play then went west and won consistently until he towed a tendon.

Ladyman and Discovery never have met. The Putnam thoroughbred, which was second in last year's Santa Anita, was forced out of competition by injuries and was idle during most of 1935.

A. C. C. Wildcats Win From Trinity

ABILENE, Jan. 28. (AP)—The Abilene Christian college Wildcats opened the Texas conference basketball race last night with a 43 to 34 victory over Trinity university of Waxahachie. It was a see-saw contest after Trinity overcame the Wildcats' early 19 to 6 lead to force ahead. The count was knotted at 20-all at the half. Turner of the invaders was high scorer with 15 points.

ROSWELL, N. M., Jan. 28. (AP)—Lengthening their margin of victory over that of Saturday night, the Mustang five of the State Teachers college of Silver City, N. M., defeated the Cadets of the New Mexico Military Institute here last night 40 to 21. The half-time score was: Teachers, 23; Cadets 17.

Early Sunday morning, after the wreck, Chas. Lingle and William S. Johnson came to The Journal news room and wrote a letter to The Plainsman.

It reads:

"Did you ever hear a siren wail and scream in the night and get in your car and go see what had happened to find that some people had been killed?

"Avenue H is one street in this town that is a mental hazard to all who drive over the streets of Lubbock.

"Drunk or sober, night or day, the dip on Avenue H presents a danger and a mental hazard that should not be overlooked by anyone in town.

"We know that the City of Lubbock or its taxpayers would not permit anything which would prove to be a danger to the drivers if they realized the fact that this dip in the highway causes drivers to swerve or pull their cars to one side to miss a severe jolt.

"This one place on a main highway is one thing that should be eliminated at any cost for Sunday morning the cost has been two lives."

THE PLAINSMAN called W. H. Rodgers, city manager, to get some information about what, if anything, can be done to eliminate that dangerous dip.

Mr. Rodgers says it has to stay there as long as there are no storm sewer facilities to take care of the rain water through that section of town.

He says the city has plans — and has had for some time — to extend storm sewer facilities through there, starting up in the Ellwood addition and cutting through the Avenue H section near where the Denver tracks cross the thoroughfare, and carrying the water on to the canyon.

That project, he said, has not been tackled yet because it would cost in the neighborhood of $300,000.

Mr. Rodgers said he had made personal tests of the dip and as long as a driver is not exceeding the 30-mile speed limit he has no trouble with the dip but "if he gets up to 50 or 60 he'll get his jaw teeth jarred."

The Plainsman knows that is true because one night several years ago he and the Little Woman were riding in the back seat of a car driven by one of these amateur Barney Oldfield's and when we hit the dip the Little Woman was tossed up and her head hit the top support.

It just doesn't do to hit that dip going fast.

WHATEVER is the reason for the dip, it is a dangerous thing to have and should be attended to whenever possible.

Avenue H is one of the most heavily traveled thoroughfares in Lubbock and should present no unnatural hazards, mental or otherwise, to the thousands of people who traverse it daily.

That Man on Avenue Q says find a man who thinks "success" is spelled "l-u-c-k" and you'll find one of life's failures.

ACCORDING to one of The Journal's Washington correspondents, the business of sending official condolences is a serious and meticulous one. Here's what he has to say about the U. S.'s part in the recent death of George V, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain and Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India; (that title reminds us of Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, bishop, Northwest Texas Missionary district, Protestant Episcopal church!)

"Nothing is left to Democratic chance when heads of the world's greatest republic acknowledge the death and birth of a king.

"Two hours before George V died President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull had framed messages of condolence. At 4:25 there came two cables from the American embassy in London warning that death was imminent. These were immediately routed to the protocol division of the State department where experts on note writing were forced to work beyond the closing hour of 4:30. They prepared seven cables for Mr. Roosevelt to sign and seven for Secretary Hull. The President dispatched his to the new king and six governors-general. Mr. Hull to the prime ministers of Great Britain and the dominions. Orders to release the expressions of sympathy were given as soon as the king passed away. It is probable that FDR was the first foreign chieftain to greet the Prince of Wales as "Your Majesty".

"Even in death diplomacy lives. To the dominion heads Mr. Hull forwarded cables referring to the dead monarch in eulogistic terms. But to the Irish Free State, which is not wholly wedded to the idea of kingship, he simply sent a message expressing sorrow. There was no royal panegyric in that note".

Ho hum

Here's a good crack from the Portland Express: If you've never yearned to hit anybody, you've never heard a rich man explain how a poor family can get along on $3.83 a week!

ARE there any members of the Jerry Ogwinn family living hereabouts? If there are, they may be interested in this note recently received.

"Dear Plainsman: I have some cousins somewhere in the West and would like to hear from them. Would like to hear from members of the Jerry Ogwinn family who left Yorkville, Tenn., 35 years or more ago. Yours truly, W. T. Corley."

The name may be O'Guinn, but the way the letter was written in pencil it looks like Ogwinn, as printed above.

Anyway, hooray for the Irish!

Sports Melt Pounds Screen Brings Stars; Film Colony Swarms With Athletes; Bing Crosby Favors Golf Game

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28 — Movie performers would be more inclined toward somnolence if it were not for the illusory broadening effect of the screen. The way things are, though, they have to keep trained down to sub-normal weight. And so they go in for sports, knowing very well that an ounce of prevention is worth a good many pounds by a masseur. Or, as the gender may be, a masseuse.

Practically everybody swims creditably and plays tennis and breaks 100 at golf and rides just about as you'd expect anyone to ride after a $100 course in equitation. Some become very expert, indeed; other are in Hollywood because they originally excelled at certain sports.

Charles Ruggles used to be a great patron of gymnasiums, and was handball champion of the Los Angeles Athletic club. Pat O'Brien is his closest competitor, with Harold Lloyd third. It is Lloyd who donates the cup for the annual Pacific coast amateur tournament, and the matches are held on his private indoor court.

Frank Shields is tops at tennis. And at ping-pong, too: he has been known to bet that nobody else at a party could score a single point against him. Errol Flynn is runner-up at tennis. Carole Lombard leads the ladies.

Bing's Golf Bug

Bing Crosby is the colony's best golfer. Takes it seriously. While working in "Anything Goes" he was required to report at 9 o'clock each morning for two straight weeks. Yet he was always up with the sun and getting in nine holes before going to the studio.

Crosby has broken par at the Oakmont Country club course several times, and once downed Walter Hagen, a close friend, 68-69.

For swimming honors, there are Johnny Weissmuller, former sprint champion, and Buster Crabbe, Olympic distance star. Lanny Ross, now in New York, would be the fleetest trackster if screen people ever staged track meets. He once was Yale's best, and qualified for the Olympics.

Colony Has Pugs, Too

Cleverest boxers are Carl Brisson, George O'Brien, and Victor McLaglen, and probably in that order, although you'd never make the latter two believe it. Brisson is a former pro, and held the middleweight championship of northern Europe, a title of no great negotiable value. He proved much better at singing and acting.

O'Brien used to spar with Jack Dempsey when the old Mauler was out here and feeling indulgent. McLaglen, older and slower than the other two, but tougher, boxed in Canada in a business way, and in an exhibition once stood off Jack Johnson for a draw.

Wrestling, if you call that a sport, is best represented in Hollywood by "Man Mountain" Dean. Mr. Dean, one of the leading burlesquers of the flop-and-grunt pastime, crashed the movies in "Henry the Eighth" and since then has appeared in several pictures.

Minor sports: Harry Richman is the best bowler, Julie Haydon the tops at badminton. Pistol shot and archer, Cecil B. De Mille. Undisputed free-for-all champion at parlor games, Dorothy Parker.

It's Larry Now

His studio would be grateful if hereafter, you thought of the aforementioned Mr. Crabbe as Larry instead of Buster. "Buster" sounds more than a little juvenile, and not at all an appropriate name for a Zane Grey hero.

You may recall that Buster grew up mostly in Hawaii, where he learned to dominate the bucking surfboard and bulldog the cow-nosed ray. That, no doubt, is the reason they led him out to a corral and introduced him to a horse. He has appeared in seven Zane Grey pictures, the latter six successively. His current effort is the role of a desert Indian.

Go Wild West, Young Man

At that, one of the best Hollywood success formulae seems to be to get set into a pair of chaps, sling a saddle on Old Paint, and gallop to the studios. Western heroes and heroines trained on six-guns and chuck-wagon grub, are easily broken for drawing-room dramas.

Gary Cooper started hell-bent for stardom on his cayuse in "The Winning of Barbara Worth." Clark Gable was hoisted into a saddle for a small role in a Zane Grey picture. Margaret Lindsay made her movie debut in a Tom Mix piece.

Jack Holt, George Brent, Richard Arlen, and Randolph Scott all are graduates of horse-opera.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

AN EXAMPLE OF REAL JUSTICE

Every once-in-awhile someone in authority has a bright thought, forgets about the statutes and passes out some real, sure-enough justice.

Down in Bexar county the other day, San Antonio city detectives ran across three men busily engaged in "stripping" a stolen car 10 miles from the city. Rounding the three up, the sleuths discovered that the car was out of gas and forced the thieves to push it, by hand, all the way back to the Alamo city.

Just what other kind of punishment will be meted out to the trio when their cases come to trial news dispatches did not hazard. But whatever it is, it is not likely to be as unpleasant as that ten mile push from the country to the city.

The Journal is of the opinion that similar punishment would do a lot to stop car theft and "stripping" in Texas. We believe thieves would be less likely to fall for temptation if they knew they might have to do some good hard work, as well as get a fine or a jail sentence when caught.

The news stories from San Antonio didn't give the name of the detective whose fertile mind originated the ten mile push penalty but whoever he was he should be commended.

He has the right idea in not coddling lawbreakers.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

(Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 — The story placed upon the records by the Senate Munitions committee since the Morgan partners appeared before it has been blurred and obscured — partly by its complexity and the difficulty of reporting it from day to day, partly by interjection of side issues, and finally by the furore created through the attempt to kill off the committee by denying it further funds.

To summarize the case and clarify the situation, here are the high spots of the investigation disclosures, based mostly on documents held secret until now:

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, asserting that "money is the worst form of contraband," embargoed loans and credits to belligerents at the outset of the war.

Morgan & Co., which admitted to the committee its complete sympathy for the Allies, undertook to arrange credits for Germany's foes.

Robert Lansing, as acting secretary of state, conferred with President Wilson the night of Oct. 23, 1914, and was told that Wilson differentiated between loans and credits, but that these views must be conveyed as Lansing's, not his.

The bankers got this word and Morgan and National City bank promptly arranged a $10,000,000 credit for France.

The Morgans deny they brought pressure, but this was the "camel's nose" with which America began to provide the financial as well as material sinews for the Allies.

Morgan Saves Order

In 1916 the House of Morgan dissuaded England from canceling $55,000,000 in contracts for American rifles, upon Morgan's warning that cancellation would cut off further American financing for the Allies.

Morgan, who handled three billion dollars of Allied war orders for 900 industrial concerns, admitted war orders swung the popular mind to un-neutral trends.

Morgan stopped supporting the pound sterling Aug. 15, 1915.

Treasury Secretary McAdoo, after conferring with Morgan Partner H. P. Davison as to resultant dangers to American war trade, urged on Wilson the argument of Davison, that those dangers could be averted only by large American war loans.

Wilson, again reversing neutrality policy, replied that he wouldn't interfere with such a loan, but that this must be conveyed orally and not put in writing. Arrangements for the first big $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan began promptly.

Morgan partners heatedly denied that they had unpegged the pound as a lever on government policy and senators failed to prove they did, though everyone admitted the ensuing exchange panic had caused Wilson to shift ground.

Clark Hits Sub Argument

Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri sought to explode the Morgan insistence that unrestricted German submarine warfare, soley, forced the United States into war, by showing that America's statesmen could have dissuaded Germany if they hadn't fumbled and feared to interiere with the war boom over here.

Germany insisted that Wilson make the Allies stop arming merchantmen. Wilson and Lansing, piqued by continued Allied defiance of their protests against violations of international law, agreed it would be unfair to expect Germany to order her submarines to rise to the surface for "search and seizure" if that were going to mean that the subs would be sunk at once by armed merchant ships.

Wilson and Lansing evolved a plan by which the Allies would disarm merchantmen and Germany would stop torpedoing merchant ships without warning. Meanwhile, Chairman Stone of the Senate Foreign Relations committee was favoring the Gore-McLemore resolution to forbid American citizens traveling on armed belligerent ships. Wilson undertook to dissuade him, in a public letter.

Lansing Feared Criticism

Lansing persuaded Wilson that their plan to solve the submarine problem should be shown to the Allies, but not to the central powers, because, Lansing explained, he was sure Germany would agree, whereas refusal by the Allies, if it became known, would "arouse adverse criticism in the press of this country and excite resentment against the Entente powers, which seems to be growing from day to day."

Lord Grey's memoirs assert the Allies would have had to accede to any American demand, because they were so dependent on this country for supplies. But Colonel House urged the submarine plan be held in abeyance.

Ambassador Gerard at Berlin reported that Wilson's letter to Stone had convinced the Germans that a secret Angelo-American understanding existed and that "nothing can be arranged."

Both the British and the French finally refused to accept the submarine-merchantman proposal and it was dropped.

Senators inferred, of course, that pro-Ally sentiments plus fear of interfering with the war trade boom dissuaded Wilson from forcing an agreement. Germany resumed use of her last desperate weapon — unrestricted submarine warfare — and severance of diplomatic relations was followed by war.

Nye Stirs Bitter Clash

Finally, Senator Clark placed evidence in the record indicating that Wilson knew of the secret treaties by which the Allies had divided up victory spoils in advance, and then cited Wilson's post-war testimony to senators that he hadn't known of the treaties until the Paris peace conference.

On the basis of this evidence, Nye said Wilson had "falsified." And that was the cue for the bitter Connally-Glass-Byrnes attack against the committee on the senate floor.

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Bowman

SYNOPSIS: Anne Farnsworth has lost name, fortune and the man she loves through the circumstance that her wealthy parents neglected to take adoption papers, she is not downhearted. She has taken refuge with Tecla Sorki and her family in Union Town and expects to learn something about her past from Tecla, who was formerly her nurse. She wonders what she may do for the family with which she lives.

* * *

LIISA'S PLANS

A slow smile touched Anne's pale lips. At least she could make Miina happy, and ease life a little for Tecla. Miina had said the boys might buy a gilnetter of their own. She could loan them the money for it, and instead of Miina's taking Tecla's place in the cannery, she could go to business college as she'd dreamed of doing.

When Anne awakened the next morning the house was still. A fresh wind billowed the curtains, sunlight flooded the room. Donning robe and slippers, she opened the door and listened, no sound of voices, or footsteps. She called once, and receiving no answer went down the steep narrow stairway.

The big kitchen was empty. The round table as set for one, and before the plate, tipped against cup, was a note:

Nikki: I'm off to work. The kids are taking their lunch. Open the draughts and the fire will pick up. Coffee on back of stove, bread in green box with red roses. In the cooler's some stew to heat up for your lunch. Aunt Liisa says to take the magazines in her room. She's coming home early today. Don't bother about the work.

Love, Miina.

Anne looked about the room. The dishes were unwashed but neatly stacked in the sink. Miina's couch was open; it looked tumbled, as if she hadn't slept well.

Anne went back to her room, found an old housedress of Miina's and set about her first housework. This was different from the kitchen of her old home where she had played at housekeeping under the amused eyes of the servants.

An hour later, unable to find anything else she could do, she slipped into an old sweater and went out on the rear porch, which backed up against the hill. A steep wooden stairway led to a ramshackle old house above. Anne looked at it a moment. It was deserted. There would be a good view from there.

There was. Finding a sheltered, sunny corner in the yard, she settled down and for a while was content to sit basking in the sun, looking down on Union Town, the wharves with their drying fish nets, the red canneries jutting out of the water.

From here she could see how the two bays joined the Columbia to pour their waters in to the Pacific ocean, marked by the lip of foam at the bar, and a line of black rock

DATA ON BONUS

Veterans' administration, the one nearest his home.

Q. What information must be given on the application?

A. The number of the adjusted service certificate, its date of issue, its amount, the "A" number of the certificate, the name of the veteran, place and date of his birth; his army serial number; date of his enlistment and discharge; rank and organization at time of discharge.

Q. What if the veteran has lost documents containing information required on the application blanks?

A. He should give as much information as he can.

Q. Should he mail the application, or file it in person?

A. He should mail it.

Q. Should he write a follow-up letter to hurry things?

A. Officials say such letters will delay matters, not hurry them.

Q. How soon will veterans receive the bonds which are cashable after June 15?

A. Officials hope the distribution will be completed "by summer" but they counsel "patience" in view of the magnitude of the task.

Should Give Address Changes

Q. What if a veteran changes his address after making application?

A. He should keep the Veterans administration informed of all such changes.

Q. What means of identification will be used?

A. In general, fingerprints will be relied upon. The prints of the four fingers of the right hand must be placed upon the application blanks.

Q. How about veterans who lost their hands?

A. They will be identified by their service records, or the affidavits of public officers.

BLANKS EXPECTED TO BE HERE SHORTLY

Receipt of forms required to be filled by ex-service men for obtaining their bonus was expected this afternoon by A. I. Glassman, local V. F. W. commander, who announced cooperation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization in aiding all men in getting certification necessary.

A letter received today from E. E. Wiseman, state commander at El Paso, read in part: "You will receive under separate cover the blank forms that are required to obtain the bonds . . . no officer or member of the V. F. W. will in any way attempt to collect any fee for this service."

Information available on the bonus payments will be discussed at a meeting of the V. F. W. tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Hilton hotel, Glassman said.

at 23 pounds 13 1-2 ounces, four pounds heavier than Marie, the lightweight.

Dr. Dafoe measured the youngsters today and found Marie was the only one to grow during the past month. She was a quarter of an inch taller at 30 inches. Yvonne is 30 1-2 inches tall, Annette 31 1-2, Cecile 31 1-2 and Emilie 30 1-4.

LAMB ISSUES EXTRA

HALE CENTER, Jan. 28. (Special)—Using a handbill for an extra, Vic Lamb, editor of the Hale Center American, broadcast the news of the passage of the bonus bill over President Roosevelt's veto, to residents here Monday afternoon.

Mr. Lamb heard the radio flash of the passage at 1 o'clock. He wrote a brief account of the vote, wrote another brief story and used an item from his last week's issue on poll tax payments.

One hundred copies were printed and distributed free.

GORMAN SUCCEEDS QUINN

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—John M. F. Gorman was appointed business manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers today, succeeding Bob Quinn who now is general manager of the Boston Braves.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Wheat went lower early today, with trade lacking volume. Cessation of exchange business at Liverpool and Winnipeg because of King George's funeral pointed to inactivity of exporters.

Opening unchanged to 1-4 cent lower, May 1.01 5-8 to 3-4, wheat soon sagged all around. Corn started unchanged to 1-8 off, May 60 1-2 to 5-8, and then receded further.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28. (AP)—After postponing the opening of trading for an hour out of respect for the late King George of England the cotton market showed small recessions ranging from 2 to 6 points at the first call.

There was no definite pressure on the market, but small hedge sales and switching from near to new crop months proved sufficient to unsettle price movements.

March opened at 11.29, May at 11.01, July at 10.74 and Oct. at 10.31. Active positions held around their opening levels during the early dealings.

The market eased a few more points during the morning as March sold at 11.27, May 11.02, July at 10.80 and October at 10.35.

The volume of business was limited and most of the important interests were out of the market.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Cotton futures (11.00 a. m.) opened barely steady, 3-4 points decline under New Orleans and southern selling with the demand slow. March 11.35; May 11.04; July 10.78; Oct. 10.22; Dec. 10.31; Jan. 10.31b.

(B-bid.)

The disposition to await something more definite with reference to the proposed farm legislation kept the market quiet in later trading but the undertone was generally steady.

At mid-day March was selling at 11.37 or 1 point net lower while other months were unchanged to 4 points higher with Oct. ruling around 10.40.

Livestock Market

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—Hogs: 2,000; fairly active, uneven; 10-25 higher; desirable 140-300 lbs., 9.75-10.00 sows 8.35-90.

Cattle 4,000; calves 700; fed steers opening steady to strong; fat she stock slow; lower grades of cows opening steady; bulls, vealers and calves steady; two loads choice 1286-lb. steers 11.50; several loads good grade 9.25-10.00; medium short feds down to 7.25; cutter cows 3.50-4.50; better grades vealers 9.00-11.00.

Sheep: 8,500; very little done; most opening bids and scattered sales fed lambs around steady to 10.00 down.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 28. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs 1,600; strong to mostly 10c higher; top 9.75; good to choice 185-290 lb. averages 9.65-75; good 150-180 lb. averages 9.00-60; few good feeder pigs 6.50; packing sows steady, mostly 8.50.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Rallying rails gave the stock market a lift today, although the majority of price advances was oin a fractional range.

The stock exchange, along with other major markets, postponed its opening in observance of King George's funeral. Trading was quite active following the opening gong at 11 a. m. The greatest turnover was recorded by low-priced equities.

The dollar firmed against leading foreign exchanges. Cotton and grains backed and filled indifferently. U. S. government securities improved and carrier bonds were in demand.

Rail share gainers up to a point or more included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Pennsylvania. Douglas Aircraft got up about 2 points to a new high. Chrysler and General Motors were higher as were Goodyear, American Telephone, International Telephone and Sears Roebuck. Lively advances were scored by Sparks Withington, Continental Motors, Armour, Commonwealth & Southern, Warner Bors. and General Cable. The steels were diffident and the mines lower.

G. G. GREEN OUT FOR COMMISSION

G. G. Green, manager of Buffalo Springs, Monday announced his candidacy for commissioner of precinct 2.

Green said formal statement would be made later. He has lived at Buffalo Springs the last three years, formerly residing at Slaton 14 years.

PROCESSING TAXES

being received from the public along three lines:

1. Does the government intend to continue 1936 crop adjustment contracts with the farmers and remunerate them?

2. Will taxpayers have to make up for the money that is being paid back to processors?

3. Has money been spent by the AAA in anticipation of receipts held in escrow?

Officials answered the first question by saying that while AAA contracts were invalidated, the government intended to pay benefits to farmers for compliance up to the date of the AAA decision in the Supreme court.

"Where there has been compliance by the contract signer," they said, "the government is morally bound to pay the producer in direct ratio to his performance. He took his acres out of production in good faith and it is not his fault AAA was declared unconstitutional."

Bills Introduced

Bills have been introduced in congress to appropriate $293,000,000 to meet these "moral obligations," approximately $60,000,000 of which is ear marked for wheat growers on the 1936 contracts. The remainder is to be apportioned among producers of other contract crops.

To the second and third questions officials replied that in most cases farm benefits had been paid in anticipation of tax collections, consequently, they said, unless the government recovers refunded money the taxpayers will have to provide it.

The administration's new plan to replace AAA was still tied up in the senate agriculture committee today, with senators discussing questions of constitutionality.

Under the plan, farmers would receive subsidies direct from the federal government for conserving soil. At the end of two years, however, the program would be administered by state agencies cooperating with the federal government.

GOV. O. K. ALLEN

Noe of Monroe automatically succeeded Governor Allen as chief executive of Louisiana.

As lieutenant-governor and presiding officer of the state senate, he has always been a staunch supporter of the administration of Allen and the late Senator Long.

ALLEN DIES AT HEIGHT OF CAREER

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 28. (AP)—Governor O. K. Allen, who died today in the governor's mansion, was born in 1881 in the small town of Winnfield, La., and grew up as a boyhood companion of the late Senator Huey P. Long, who carried him along with him to political power in Louisiana.

After Huey Long's death from a pistol bullet, Allen became the titular head of the strong Long political machine and led the organization to a sweeping victory at the polls on January 21st. In that election he was elected to the United States senate for the unexpired term of Senator Long running until January 1937.

At Height Of Career

He died at the height of his political career and after a strenuous stumping campaign over the state. For some time Governor Allen had been suffering from heart trouble but in recent months his health was regarded by his friends as improved.

His parents were regarded as substantial citizens of Winn parish and Governor Allen amassed a sizeable fortune in his career as school teacher, cotton planter, small town business man and oil operator.

He was a member of the state legislature when Huey Long came on the political horizon and challenged the power of the old Democratic organizations. Allen immediately joined forces with Long and when Long became governor he appointed O. K. Allen chairman of the state highway commission, which handled the huge road building funds.

At the end of Long's term as governor and after Long had been elected to the United States senate, Allen was elected governor with Long's support. The Allen term expires next May when he expected to take Long's seat in the United States senate.

Man And Woman Held For Burglary

At least two burglaries were believed to have been cleared with the arrest of a man and a woman late Monday, Deputy Sheriff Bedford Carpenter said this morning. Filing of complaints was pending further investigation into the cases.

A sack of sugar and a bedspread, taken from the home of J. N. Waldrop, 1 mile north of Barton, Jan. 4 were recovered.

A pan, which had been taken when it contained eggs, was identified by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith, who live 3 miles northwest of Slide. They also had reported the loss of two hams, two pork shoulders, a turkey tom, and a bedspread. Smith identified a small piece of a ham found when the pair was arrested.

The sheriff's department also had, unidentified, a ham, a shoulder, two new shirts, a pair of trousers bearing the name "C. S. Henley," and a "friendship" quilt top.

Deputy Sheriff Carpenter said he had learned that the man suspect had sold the turkey, taken from Smith, at a grocery store here.

KING IS BURIED

the royal regalia of crown and sceptre rested.

The slow funeral march of a military band reechoed in the stone courtyard.

Within the chapel, Prime Minister Baldwin, his cabinet, and other high government officials who had not walked in the procession, awaited the coffin.

Commands Ring Out

Sharp military commands rang out as the funeral party halted in front of the wide west doors of the chapel.

King Edward, whose uniform boots were muddy from his walks through the streets of London and Windsor, stood silently as the coffin was lifted from the gun carriage and carried into the church through lines of honor guards.

It was placed on a bier near the fluted stalls of the order of the garter, the oldest chivalric organization in the country, whose spiritual headquarters are in St. George's.

The bagpipes played a last, mournful lament and the robed choir began its first hymn, ending with a soft "Amen" just as Edward reached his place at the head of the coffin and the service began.

The bishop of Winchester started the reading of the lesson.

Sing Favorite Hymn

Then the choir sang "Abide With Me"—George's favorite hymn which the monarch sang in the little parish church at Sandringham on Christmas day, the last service George attended in life.

As the archbishop's words ended, King Edward stepped forward. The coffin began sinking slowly beneath the level of the floor.

Edward himself sprinkled earth on the wooden case which held the mortal remains of his father. The body entered the grave at 2:14 p. m. The earth Edward scattered came from a silver urn.

Fifth Of 38 Kings

George is the fifth of the 38 kings of England, since the time of the Norman conquest, to be entombed in the chapel. However, he is the first king of the modern house of Windsor to be interred there.

The castle itself is the spot where Normans, Plantagenets, members of the house of York, Tudors, Stuarts, and Hanoverians have been born, lived, ruled, and died.

Some of the kings beside whom George's body was placed have slept their deep sleep in that crypt 300 years and more.

Three feet from George's coffin lies that of Henry VIII and Charles I. A bit farther away is the coffin of George III, from whose reign the American colonies revolted, giving birth to the United States.

Immediately after the burial service, the royal family and the regal entourage of visitors, returned to the station and entrained for London, bringing to a close eight days of the most solemn high ceremonial.

RAINS TAKE STING OUT OF TEXAS COLD

(By The Associated Press)

Drizzling rains took some of the sting out of the present cold wave in South Texas last night and saved winter vegetable crops from frost damage.

The mercury sagged below the freezing mark except along the Mexican border as the current cold wave took a final fling at the southwest and made way for predicted warmer weather.

Rains, varying from mist at Brownsville to slow showers farther north, dampened the entire southern part of the state during the last 24 hours, while to the north conditions generally were cloudy.

Minimum temperatures this morning included Brownsville, 34; Corpus Christi, 32; Galveston, 30; Port Arthur, 30; Houston, 28; San Antonio, 26; Del Rio, 32; Austin, 30; Palestine, 28; Dallas, 25; Dallas airport, 22; Abilene, 228; El Paso, 38; Amarillo, 18; Borger, 24; and Oklahoma City, 18.

A complaint sworn to by a grandmother of the child and prepared by Jess C. Levens, county attorney, was filed Monday afternoon in the court of J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace. It alleged the youth "did ravish and have carnal knowledge" of the child.

The grandmother told authorities the youth saw the girl passing his home and asked her to come in, saying her mother was there. The mother lives near the youth's home.

OLD, YELLOWED FAMILY BIBLES ARE EXPECTED TO PLAY ROLE IN PENSION

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 28.—Old, yellowed family Bibles are expected to play an important role in establishing proof of claims to old age pensions.

Orville S. Carpenter, pension director-elect, believes persons eligible for pensions will establish their qualifications without paid assistance and has listed possible sources of information that should be helpful in passing upon applications.

Suggested As Source

Recalling an old custom, Carpenter suggests the family Bible as the first source of information. In earlier days it was the practice to enter names and dates of births in that book.

Establishment of the old-age assistance system has caused citizens and officials to bemoan the failure of early legislatures to provide for a vital statistics bureau to register births and deaths.

Look For Documents

Carpenter suggests that persons having difficulty proving their ages legally, search for old documents and memoranda for supporting evidence. These should include marriage certificates giving the ages of both parties, birth certificates of children listing the ages of parents, naturalization papers, passports and service books of immigrants, baptismal certificates, insurance policies, employment, schools, trade union, fraternal and civic organization records, state or federal records in event of civil or military service, hospital and physicians records, vaccination certificates, poll tax receipts that show correct age, national and local census records, hunting and fishing license applications, proof of silver and golden wedding anniversaries, and other genealogical memoranda.

Carpenter indicated serious effort would be made to keep administrative costs at minimum when he announced counties would be required to furnish office space for local pension agents. He estimated this would save the state approximately $90,000 annually.

BAPTISTS PLAN CELEBRATION

RELIGIOUS SERVICES TO BE HELD MARCH 1 OVER NATION

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 28.—The Texas Baptist convention has asked every Baptist church in the United States to join in a religious celebration of the birthday of Sam Houston, father of Texas independence.

Houston's birthday is March 2, but Texas Baptists and, they hope, Baptist churches all over the nation will hold special services on Sunday, March 1. On March 2 it will be 100 years to the day since Texans proclaimed their freedom from Mexico, although they did not win it until April 21 when General Houston led a small army to victory over the much larger forces of Santa Anna, the Mexican dictator-president.

The Rev. Howard Williams, executive secretary of the Baptist general convention of Texas, said in a letter to 2,000 congregations he had urged union services in every community where there are two or more Baptist churches. Special services will be held in the First Baptist church at Washington, which Houston attended when a United States senator, and at Baylor university at Waco. The founder of Baylor, Dr. Rufus C. Burleson, baptized Houston. A special service also will be held at Independence, Texas, where Houston joined the church.

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Bowman

jetties. Riding gently on the broad boats drifting with the tide, net buoys gleaming red.

Anne remembered the last trip on the Ahti and how she had told Luke that she felt as though she were only then coming home, and he had seem startled. Well, perhaps it was to be home, for a while at least.

She looked down on the town. It seem sheltered from the rest of the world. The hill behind her thrust two arms towards the water, holding it between them. The thought of ever having to leave it; to pass those protecting barriers, brought a rush of fear.

* * *

"Nikki! Oh Nikki!" A strident voice which could belong to no one but Liisa sounded from below. Anne stood up and looked over the rough board fence which bound the deserted garden to its hillside.

"I'm up here," she answered.

"So will I be, in a minute," came the tart rejoiner, and a moment later Liisa hove in sight, arms burdened with waxed paper packages, coffee pot, tin cups dangling from a crooked little finger.

"Nice here," she observed, as she topped the steps. "Picnic, sit down."

Ann sat. Liisa gathered a few rocks, a few twigs and took a cover from one bag, then later starting a little fire over which she balanced the coffee pot, she turned to the girl.

"You know of course that you can't stay on at Tecla's; there isn't room."

Anne had just been teling herself the same thing, but hearing it from another came as a shock. She looked at Liisa. She had bent over to tend to the fire and th queer conical shaped pile of hair she wore on top of her head slanted side-wise like a hooligan hat. Anne wanted to laugh and cry at the same time.

"But . . . but you see Aunt Liisa, I intend to pay board, it isn't—"

"Of course you do," barked the woman, straigh ening up and sending the cone of hair to the opposite side with a quick slap. "Drat the thing," she snapped, and gouged it to temporary balance with a hairpin. "Of course you do, but there isn't room for you. Isn't room for me either."

"Where would I go?" The complete hopelessness of the girl's voice caused the woman to crane her neck in a near-sighted survey of the speaker.

"Bless my soul and body, you didn't think I was driving you out did you? Oh, Nikki, and here I was thinking I was about to make such a hit with you you'd never want to leave me. Child, listen, how about taking a little place together, here in Union Town. Now don't speak," she held up a warning hand, "hear me through first."

She let Anne wait, however, until she had cut two willow saplings and stripped them of leaves. Then she stabbed a frankfurter on each, handed one to the waiting girl and motioned for her to hold it over the coals.

"I know I'm an old crank," she began, "Oh, yes I am but I'm not half as cranky as I could be if had a chance. Nikki, I love every blessed child in that family, but you can't expect growing boys to be quiet and you can't expect them not to have company and you can't expect them not to tear the roof off the house. And after I've had a day in the cannery, with machinery roaring over my head, I'd like a little quiet. Have some salad."

Anne put some potato salad on the paper plate Liisa had handed her, accepted a brown topped bun, and a stuffed egg.

"Have you looked at this house?" she asked abruptly.

"No," confessed Anne.

"Isn't much, but it's liveable and we could rent it for twenty a month. We'd have to do a lot of repairing itinsde, but it would be worth it in the long run."

"Don't owners do things like that?" Anne inquired meekly, looking up at a sagging shutter.

"Tecla's the owner," came the surprising answer, "but she's never had money enough to make it habitable and therefore she couldn't rent it. That brother of mine never left her anything that didn't need upkeep before it could be made profitable; seven children and two broken down houses, bah!"

Into the white cheeks of Anne came a flush of pink, and the dark eyes sparkled with the first interest they had shown. "Oh that would be fine. She'd be getting something out of the house, and we could be fixing it up for her all the time."

"If we didn't let her know it," interposed Liisa. "My dear, there's nothing as independent as a Finn. We pay our way and we pay our debts, but we never accept favors we can't return. If you only knew the trouble I've had making her take board from me."

"Then how," wailed Anne, "will I be able to buy a gilnetter for the boys?"

"A what?" The cone of hair popped forward at Liisa's surprise. "What a gift from heaven that would be for the whole family, Nikki. But they'd never take it unless—"

"Unless what?"

"Unless you could get John to talk them into it."

John. Did even Liisa, independent business woman that she was, depend upon him? And where was he? Had he been successful in her mission?

Liisa gae her no time for conjecture; a quick glimpse at the shadowed face and she was on her feet with a brisk, "come on."

They rounded the western face of the house, went up the slanting, shelf-like yard to the front entrance, which opened onto a dirt road, the highest on the hillside. The door was locked, but a broken window was readily unlatched and they climbed through to the interior.

Anne looked about her in dismay. Five, small box-like rooms with plaster sagging, wall paper peeling from the walls, wainscoting scarred with rough usage.

"Nikki, see, we could knock the partition out between these two rooms. That would give us one, long living room with two, three, five windows."

Anne has word, tomorrow, from Judge Kellogg.

FORMER KAISER WAS 77 MONDAY

DOORN, The Netherlands, Jan. 28. (AP)—White-bearded Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, former Kaiser of Germany, became 77 years old Monday, still proudly erect and enjoying firm health.

Formal observance of his birthday anniversary was postponed until Friday in respect to the memory of his cousin, King George of England, who will be buried today at Windsor.

Even the exercises arranged for Friday were restricted to the family circle and immediate household.

Unusual Interest

To residents of this village, home of an imperial exile for 17 years, the event of a birthday anniversary in spacious Doorn house, nevertheless, was of unusual interest.

The increasing seclusion of the former Kaiser and the gradual limitation of his contracts with the villagers have made him a shadowy figure, seen only occasionally as a fast automobile glides through the streets.

There has been' speculation over the thoughts of the sturdy former ruler of imperial Germany as he looks from the windows of Doorn house toward a re-arming third reich.

Thoughts On Germany

Nothing has interested the former Kaiser more during the last year, informed sources said, than the decision of the nation he ruled before the World war to arm once more.

On the whole, these sources said, the man who fled across the border into the Netherlands views with the serenity of old age the events of Europe, both in Germany and elsewhere.

His daily routine goes on uninterrupted. He rises early, proceeds to his daily exercises, usually chopping wood, walks in a nearby park and then turns to his scientific studies.

Evenings usually are devoted to conversation with members of his household, or with visitors from whom he gains much of his information on international affairs.

AGED INVENTOR LOOKS TO U. S. WAR DEPARTMENT FOR ROYALTIES ON NEW WAR MACHINE; RUSSIA MAKES OFFER

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A 69-year-old inventor, at the threshold of developing a "flying" tank he says would revolutionize military strategy, looked to the war department today for an answer to his ultimatum on payment for royalties he asserts the government owes him.

J. Walter Christie, developer of the lightweight, high speed Christie tank, his personal fortune sunk in the experiments, said a negative answer would force him to accept offers of other countries for the manufacturing rights to the plane-carrier tank.

Wants U. S. To Have It

"I'm an American and I want the United States to have this equipment," Christie said.

"But I've put more than $400,000 into the experiments. My fortune has shrunk. My wife and I have sold properties to finance the experiments. I am an old man.

Russia Offers $10,000 Monthly

"Russia wants to pay me $10,000 a month for my new four-tone tank designed to be carried by planes for landing behind enemy lines. Other countries want it, too. Against my will, I may be forced to accept their offers."

The new tank, which Christie says will be ready for its final trials when a military plane is built to carry it, rests behind locked doors of a Staten Island plant.

NOTED ARTISTS TO DO CENTENNIAL'S STATE HALL WORK

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP)—Two noted artists, Pompeo Coppini of San Antonio and Eugene Savage of New York have been commissioned to execute principal decorations in the $1,000,000 state hall at the central Centennial exposition in Dallas.

John V. Singleton, chief of the board of control's centennial division, said Savage, Yale university artist, was chosen to do large murals while Coppini was selected to fashion the statuary.

Six Texas heroes to be honored, selected by the board, were:

Stephen F. Austin, founder of the first American colony in Texas.

Mirabeau B. Lamar and Thomas J. Rusk, the statesmen.

James W. Fannin and William B. Travis, the defenders.

Sam Houston, the soldier-statesman.

Disagree Over Heroes

Sharp disagreements among historians beset the board in making the choice. Several hundred chose Austin, Houston and Travis. No two could agree on any six.

Statues eight feet high and placed on raised bases were designed to reflect proportions of the large building for which contracts recently were awarded. A long pool was designed for the building's entrance to reflect its tower.

Has Executed 40 Memorials

The board said Coppini, a resident of Texas for 20 years, had executed 40 public memorial statues, including the war memorial fountain entrance donated to the university by the Major George W. Littlefield family.

Mammoth murals covering more than 6,000 feet of space were designed for the state Centennial building. Singleton said they probably would be the largest in the United States. Two will be 31 by 80 feet.

SENATE ACTED AS "BIG BROTHER" DURING DEPRESSION ERA

(By The Associated Press)

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxines. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)
