Gold Star Award For Two 4-H'ers

Winners Earn High Honors

Gold Star awards were presented here Saturday evening to Dolores Holman and to Johnny Tiller. The highest award offered on a county level to 4-H Club members climaxed Achievement Day events in a program held in Meditation Room at Lone Wolf Electric Coop.

Dolores Holman, 4-H girl winner, is the 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holman and has been a 4-H club member for six years. She has been a member of the Mitchell County 4-H Council serving as county 4-H girl chairman for the past two years. Her projects have been varied. They include foods, clothing, recreation, home improvement, swine and beef cattle with which she has won blue ribbons. She is a freshman (9th grader) in Junior High School here.

Johnny Tiller, also 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tiller, is a freshman student and football player. His demonstrations have been in field crops, leadership, swine, and in beef cattle, his star project. He showed the Grand Champion steer in the 4-H & FFA Livestock Show here for the past two years. He also showed calves in El Paso and Houston shows.

Both Gold Star winners took part this year in several district competitions. Both attended district Leadership Camp and the Electric Camp at Cloudercroft, N. M.

The Mitchell County 4-H Gold Star girl and boy will be honored at a banquet in Lubbock Monday. The party, an all-district affair, will have as guests parents of Gold Star award winners from all counties in this district, county agents, HD agents, along with the honor guests, the award winners.

Bruce Frazier, teacher of Agriculture Howard County Junior College and TV personality from Big Spring, made the chief address in the Saturday evening Achievement Day program.

Freeway Day Friday Highlights Ceremony

Freeway Day coming Friday is to find Colorado City playing host to a large number of visitors from this area. Freeway Day is a formal celebration planned for the opening of Interstate 20.

Herbert C. Petry, chairman of Texas State Highway Commission, will be among the distinguished visitors. Petry is to be guest speaker at two of the functions planned by the Chamber of Commerce Freeway Day committee. J. Ralph Lee heads that committee.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies at 11 a. m. will be held at the point, just north of town, where Interstate 20 intersects Highway 208. The Snyder Highway, Petry will deliver a short address for that ceremony.

Another visitor to join in this town's observation program is J. C. Roberts, Texas Highway District Engineer. Roberts and Judge Elmer Martin will take part at ribbon-cutting time with short talks. Judge Lee, 62, home coming Queen at Colorado City High School, will do the actual ribbon-cutting, and the high School will do the actual ribbon-cutting, and the high school band will play. Earlier in the morning, City National Bank is playing host to out-of-town visitors at a reception and coffee hour. Reception is from 9:15 until 10:30 in the bank's party suite.

Noon luncheon for Lions, Kiwanis, and Jaycee organizations, their wives, along with all interested citizens and their wives, is to climax Freeway Observation Day's celebration. Master of ceremony for the luncheon program is to be District Judge Eldon Mahon. Music will be played by the girls' combo the 7-Teens, and the Rev. Mr. Alan Conley, vicar of All Saints will say the invocation. Petry will make the chief address.

Working with Chairman Lee and Hallie Norman, Chamber manager, are G. D.

Lewis and Morren Attend Tax Seminar

Henry Lewis and Joe Morren attended a Tax Seminar held in Dallas Friday by the Internal Revenue Service.

The new 7% investment tax credit, depreciation, guidelines, and audit procedures were among highlights of discussions held. Lewis said, following the seminar, that the investment tax credit should be of special benefit to local business men, contractors, and farmers.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

Carriker Named To Important Post

State Representative Max Carriker, of Raby, re-elected without a run-off to a third term, has been appointed to the Legislative Council.

House Speaker James A. Truman announced this week appointment of this district's Representative to fill a vacancy caused by a recent opinion of the Attorney General. The opinion created three vacancies on the ten-man committee. That opinion declares that when a successor of a member of the 57th Legislature takes oath of office on or after Nov. 23, 1962, the member whom he succeeds ceases to be a member of the House and ceases to serve on any interim committees.

Of Max Carriker Speaker Truman announced this week Carriker will do a good job on the important Legislative Council as he has served so ably as a House Member on many important committees during his tenure of office.

"He has been an outstanding member of the House. He deserves promotion and recognition," Speaker Truman said.

This week, Tuesday, Wednesday, Representative Carriker is in Chicago attending a conference of the Council of State Governments. The national meeting, to be held in Sheraton-Chicago Hotel, is the Fifth Annual meeting of the Interstate Conference of Water Problems.

Among conference considerations will be river basin planning legislation; water research developments; flood insurance; and policies and procedures in the formulation and review of plans for water resource development.

Appointed to attend the conference, also, was State Representative Ben Barnes of DeLeon.

INTERSTATE 20

Tourist Billboards Ready for Friday

Colorado City tourist billboards on Interstate 20, east and west, will be set to shine on Freeway Day.

Four signs west of town were erected this week and are complete except for lighting plans. The signs for Interstate 20, East, will be put up beginning Monday.

Each of the two billboard groups is made up of 1 large and 3 smaller signs pointing the way to Colorado City, bragging a little about the two lakes and historical museum.

Large signs wave the welcome emblem with a promise of "Fun for everyone," and a space for advertising special events, such as Tumbleweed Festival Week as the events take place.

The big billboards are flanked by two smaller signs boasting of the 70-mile lake shoreline, at Lake Colorado City and Champe Lake, sandy beaches, great fishing and boating. The other smaller signs invite travelers to visit Mitchell County Historical Museum.

James Hill is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce billboard committee. Working with him are Don Benson and Wayne Worley.

Signs are being erected and are to be maintained with money contributed by Colorado City merchants and business firms.

An additional billboard, by the way, is being erected on Interstate 20 West I Veterans Post.

by Texas Electric Service Co. The TESCO sign points out Colorado City as the home of Morgan Creek Power Plant, largest electric generating plant in West Texas.

Members of the auxiliary, with Mrs. E. N. Burk of 720 East 10th as president, announced today a holiday project. Auxiliary members are readying Christmas gifts for the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring. They invite all citizens to join them in helping make Christmas merry at the hospital.

Gifts of any size, kind, or price are welcome. They may be toilet articles, stationery, stamps, Christmas cards; shaving accessories or for the veterans, themselves. They may be, instead gifts for veterans to send to members of their families, including toys for children.

Presents for the gifts project are to be taken to Mrs. Burk. Gifts should be ready by Dec. 10, said Roy Harrison, commander of World War Veterans Post.

Three of this year's United Fund Drive workers check last-minute details and facts from the chart setting quotas for the various divisions. At left is Paul Boyd Hunter, general chairman for the '62 Drive here.

Pictured, center, is Phillip Berman, chairman of the Advance Division. Dick Wistrand, at right, is treasurer for the United Fund organization and a member of the Publicity committee.

New total for the current United Fund Drive is $7,370.90, a Saturday morning report session showed.

"That puts Westbrook 77.8% of the way to over the top cooperation," said Paul Boyd Hunter, drive chairman. Plaques for businesses and offices having 100% participation by employees have won by four groups of employees giving to the fund through the Employee Division headed by Don Benson.

First to win a plaque for the 100% honor were employees of Colorado Steam Laundry, The Henry Lewis Tax Service office, the office of County Superintendent Roy Davis Coles, and the office of County Judge Elmer Martin were also awarded the employee plaques.

Lorraine has yet to report. Everett Henderson is chairman for United Fund Drive there.

Branch House contributions, with Charles C. Thompson as chairman, rate a creditable second place percentage-wise, said chairman Hunter.

Branch Houses have contributed to date $1,142.50. With a hoped-for $1,500, Thompson's See FUND Pg. 7

Cotton Allotment For County 7,831

Mitchell County's share of production of upland cotton in '62 are eligible to vote in the national referendum, coming up Dec. 11. At least two-thirds of those voting must approve quotas if they are to continue in effect.

If marketing quotas are approved, marketing penalties will apply to any "excess" cotton raised by farmers who do not comply with their acreage allotments. Price support to those who do comply will be available at a level within range of 63 to 90% of parity.

If quotas are not approved by the referendum, the allotment program will remain in effect and price support at 50% of parity will be available to growers who comply with their allotments.

Notice of farm acreage allotments were mailed to Mitchell County cotton growers Friday.

UNITED FUND DOLLARS

Boy Scout Troops? Have Boys, Need Men

BY RUTH COFFEY
Record News Editor

Boy Scouts of America — the ones here at home — have been allocated $3200 of this County's United Fund campaign money.

Boy Scouts in Mitchell County are part of Buffalo Trail Council. The council, in turn, is part of an 18-county district the Lone Buffalo District.

Just now there are four Boy Scout troops active in the county, plus two Cub Packs of four Dens each. Troop 23, sponsored by Colorado City Lions Club, has as Scoutmaster Henry Lewis. The 25 boys who belong to Troop 23 meet regularly and are enthusiastically pursuing scouting each week.

Troop 22 with Johnnie Johnson as assistant Scoutmaster is sponsored by First Baptist Church. At this time Troop 22 has only 8 active members and is due for reorganization and a new member drive.

Pastor of the Payne Chapel Methodist Church, the Rev.

E. O. Simpson, is Scoutmaster for a troop of 10 boys who meet at the church every week. There is to be a meeting Tuesday night for organization of a Pack of Cubs. Wallace school pupils, between the ages of 8 and 11 are invited by Rev. Simpson to come to the organizational meet.

Under the Boy Scout program a boy is eligible for Cub Scout training at 8. Boys 11, 12, and 13 are eligible for Boy Scout troops. Between the ages of 14-17, a boy becomes eligible to be an Explorer.

In Lorraine, Raymond Holt is Scoutmaster for a Troop of 15 Boy Scouts. The Lorraine Lions Club is sponsor.

Here in Colorado City, Primary P. T. A. sponsors Cub Pack 2, with four dens. Larry Kinard is Cubmaster for Pack 2. George Hudson, Cubmaster of the other Cub-Pack with its four Dens, sponsored by First Baptist.

Jim Edison accepted the week post of District vice president. Gene Vaughan, field director for Lone Buffalo District with office in Midland, said Friday that new life is in store for existing Boy Scout troops here.

"Edison will appoint six or eight men to help service existing units and to enlarge; See SCOUTS Pg. 7

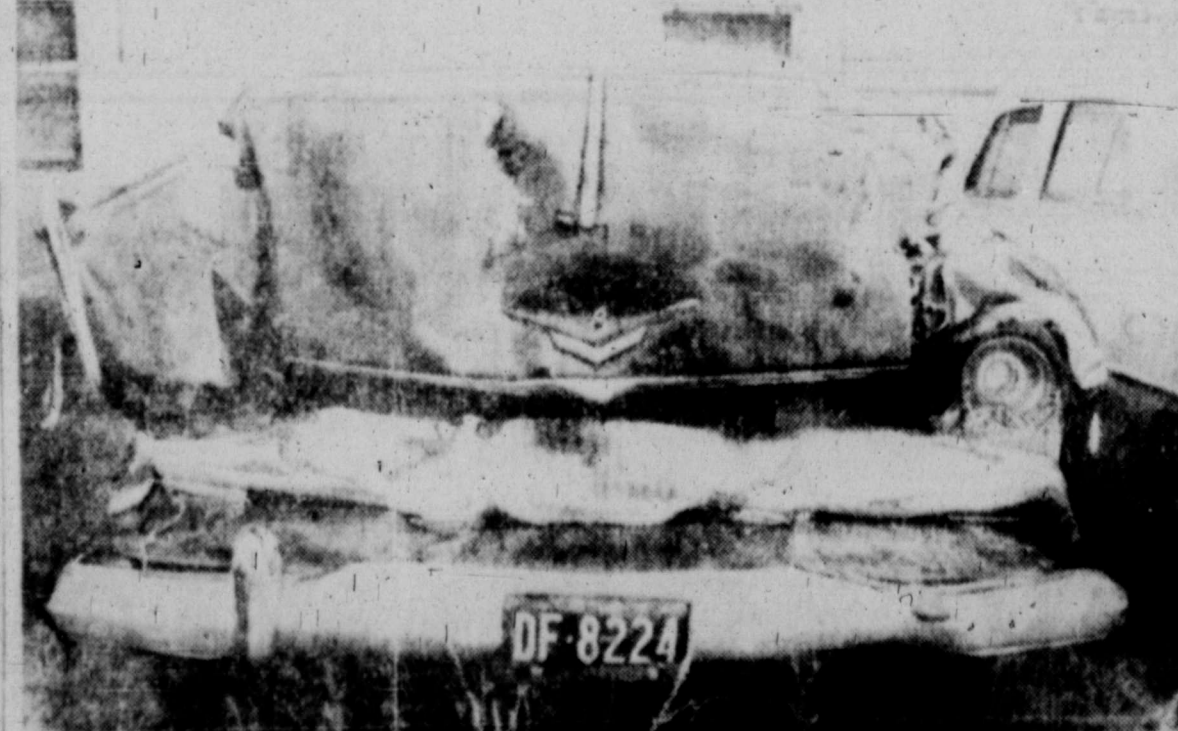

CORRECTION— Owner, Not Passenger

A Record story of an auto crash, last issue, was in error in stating that Julian S. Mendoza, owner of the car involved, was riding in the car when it collided with a Greyhound bus.

Mendoza, 25, is a Colorado Steam Laundry employee. He was not in his car, but had lent it to his brother, who in turn had lent it to Narciso Contreras, 17-year-old driver of the vehicle. Riding with was 19-year-old Ramon Pena. Mendoza said today, Mendoza's car, a '55 Plymouth, was a total loss.

This is the way a '55 model car looked after smacking a big Greyhound bus from the rear at a stop signal, 2nd and Hickory Sts. here. Driver of the car, Narciso Contreras, 17, and his passenger Ramon Pena, 19, received slight injuries. The car, only partially insured, belongs to Julian S. Mendoza.

Tra la la, la-la! The Day draws nigh!
'Tis the time for present-lookin'
Tra la la, la-la! Oh, what to buy?

Deck the halls with tinsel—rusted—
Tra la la, la-la! December's here!
'Tis the season to be busted
Tra la la, la-la! Bankruptcy's near!

BEST PART of the old-fashioned Christmas could be summed up in one little word: surprise!

There isn't a child alive who doesn't love surprises. The little girl living in the hearts of most grown women dotes on surprises, too. Most any wife would rather have a $5 surprise on the tree than a $500 gift of finery she has to choose herself by gift check or charge account.

A feminine creature—be she five or fifty—goes all shiny-eyed over surprises.

THERE ARE, of course, exceptions—those times when surprises backfire. There was that year, back in the early thirties, when the last thing we wanted was to be surprised. Only thing on this earth we truly wanted was a blue quilted satin robe. So we went to work with wifely cunning to see that it came as a lovely surprise.

LITTLE HINTS became part of daily routine. We confiscated Mr. C's old beatup flannel bathrobe and appeared each morning at breakfast looking cold and as pitiful as possible.

Admired audibly all advertisements of quilted satin robes. Dropped pointed remarks all over the place like "If I had the money I'd buy that beautiful blue quilted satin robe I saw in the window downtown."

IT WORKED. Come Christmas Eve, the man dashed down to purchase the "surprise."

Come Christmas morning, there flanking the tricycle and doll buggy was a gorgeous gift-wrapped package marked "Ruth." Ah, Joy to the World! He'd bought the robe.

THE SURPRISE element came after we'd oh-ed and ah-ed a while. Then we tried it on. It was size 44. It would have made a splendid tent or a nice comfort for the baby bed.

The surprise on our trusting countenance would have frozen the heart of an Eskimo hunter.

"WELL, HECK!" said Mr. C. in disgust. "Why didn't you say the blasted things come in sizes?"

"It wouldn't have been a surprise," we told him brokenly. "Who wants to know what she's getting for Christmas?"

The logic of that reasoning escaped the gentleman entirely. But it made perfect sense to his little woman.

IT MADE perfect sense to our Mother, too, that year she came home from a holiday party, years and years ago, to find her three little girls sitting in their three little red rocking chairs, rocking their three big curly-haired dolls bought for Santa Claus delivery. It was about a week before Christmas.

OUR BIG SISTER, Frances, was the real culprit. It was she who unlocked the closet and pushed the high chair in to get the loot and distribute it to her little sisters, Mary and Ruth, while the cook (old-fashioned version of a baby-sitter) fed the little baby brother.

MOTHER dissolved into tears. And promptly locked the little red chairs and dolls back in that closet.

Our Daddy thought and said right out loud that she was being ridiculous.

Mrs. Wayne Griffin Reviews Life of Veteran Newsmen

"Don Hampton Biggers was a West Texas newspaper editor, printer and chronicler," Mrs. Wayne Griffin told members of the 1949 Study Club at their Thursday meeting in the home of Mrs. H. Jene Steakley, 1621 Watson St.

Mrs. Griffin presented the program at the meeting. Her subject was "A Biography of Don Hampton Biggers." The biography was written by Seymour V. Connor.

Mrs. Griffin told the members present of Biggers' urge to preserve the past and how it prompted him to write many early chronicles of West Texas.

"He was born in Meridian, Texas, Sept. 27, 1868," she continued. "He was the eldest of four sons of a Confederate veteran whose family migrated to Texas from Georgia. He spent his boyhood on a ranch near Brokenridge. His mother died when he was in his early teens. He attended school at Cisco and when he became old enough, worked in the summers as a herdsman for sheep ranchers in the Fort Griffin country."

"At the age of nine, he accompanied a buffalo hunter friend of his father to the buffalo range. He later recounted this trip in both 'His story 'That Will Never Be Repeated,' and 'From Cattle Range to Cotton Patch.' He was livestock enumerator for a large West Texas district in later years and in traveling through this area he gained much knowledge later to be used so impressively in his books."

She told of his debut as a newspaper man, when he came to Colorado City about 1884 as a "cub" setting type for the "Clipper." She told of his marriage in 1890 to Nettie Lee Cox and their move to Midland. She said the family did not stay in Midland long and in the following years moved approximately 20 times.

Mrs. Griffin continued, "He wrote many historical articles, edited numerous newspapers and edited small circulations in newspaper format that dealt with various subjects."

"For 10 years he lived in Lubbock; this was the longest he remained in one place during his lifetime," she continued. "It was here that he drilled one of the first underground water wells in his attempt to pioneer irrigated crop production."

"He had a varied political career, serving in the state legislature in 1915 and in 1920 was elected to fill a seat vacated by the representative of Eastland County. He then lost during the regular session. In 1927 he ran for U. S. Senator but dropped from the race to support Tom Connally, a long-time friend.

"About 1931, he made an unsuccessful bid for U. S. Congressman at large, and in 1936, he ran for the state house and lost."

Mrs. Griffin told of his move in 1939 to El Paso. She said he was not well, but, with the help of his children, was soon back to normal. She said he and his wife roamed the country living out their last years and he never lost his ability to express himself most forcefully.

"Nettie Lee Biggers died of a blood clot in 1957," Mrs. Griffin said. "Less than a month after his wife's death, Don Hampton Biggers joined her. Thus ended the career of a man who had a part in our Mitchell County heritage."

Arrangements of holly and pine cones were displayed around the meeting rooms of the Steakley home. The refreshment table was accented with miniature buckets of poinsettia and holly with original Christmas greetings, written by the hostess, in each.

Club president, Mrs. Art Dibble, presided at a brief business session. A report was presented on the subject of the Christmas box to be sent to the State Mental Hospital in Wichita Falls. Members also voted to make a contribution to the United Fund.

Mrs. Bill Holbert was leader for the day.

Members present were Mmes. Tom Neff, Arlene Morris, Dwight Tomb, Ben Sparks, Austin McCloud, Gwan Strange, Jimmy Kelley, Bill Carter, Theron Henderson, Dibble, Griffin, W. B. Crockett, Jr., Robert Barman, Jack Jordan, Jr., Dick Gregory, Jr., and the hostess, Mrs. Steakley.

The next meeting will be Dec. 13, in the home of Mrs. Dick Gregory, Jr., 1001 E. 16th St.

Baptists Hear Missionaries

The School of Missions work with the deaf people in schedule for Wednesday and Thursday at the First Baptist Church included addresses by Rev. James A. Foster, Southern Baptist missionary from the Philippine Islands and Mrs. C. F. Landon, home missionary from Phoenix, Ariz.

Rev. Foster, the Wednesday night speaker, is dean and professor in the Philippine Baptist Theological Seminary, Baguio, treasurer of the Philippine Baptist Mission and pastor of the Baguio Chinese Baptist Church. He is on furlough from the Philippine and will return after the end of his speaking engagement schedule.

He spoke of the training of Chinese people to be preachers. He said that when the Chinese preachers go out to teach their own people after their training, many more of the population can be reached than by the single missionary.

Rev. Foster spent a year in China, before he had to leave because of the Communist threat. He expressed the need for more missionaries and told of the missionaries' appreciation to the churches for their help through the Lottie Moon Christmas offering. Annie Armstrong Home Mission offering and the Mary Hill Davis State Mission offering.

It is through these offerings and the co-operative program that the missions are supported.

Mrs. Landon was the Thursday speaker for the School of Missions. She is a native of Oklahoma, and serves with her husband who was appointed in 1934 as a Home Mission Board missionary to the deaf. They served a number of years in Texas and California. In June, 1958, they began their present part of his life.

In for office visit were three preachers—at three different times—Dorris Egger of the quick laughter, Thomas C. Moore, nice-voiced Austin Street Baptist. and Fletcher Cauten, minister of North Side Church of Christ, who's a bit on the distinguished looking side, himself.

P. S. to all you nice people who've been asking about Mr. C's health these last few weeks. He's coming home from the hospital Sunday. By now, that's today! So now, with your permission, we'll be having belated Thanksgiving in the house on Chestnut St.

BY MRS. J. A. SADLER

Indian Music Is Discussed

"The music of the Indian has always been a very important part of his life," Mrs.

J. A. Sadler told members of the Hesperian Study Club at their Friday Nov. 23, meeting. The club members observed Fine Arts Day at the meeting in the home of Mrs. J. W. Watson, 704 E. 7th St.

Mrs. Sadler told the group that the Indian communicates with the unseen world through music and worships, plays games, hunts and fights with a background of music.

"The romantic quality," she said, "and wide variety of his music is therefore unequalled. There is special music for all his ceremonies, such as prayer songs for rain or bountiful crops, thanksgiving songs in case of victory, songs of love and songs of war."

She told the group that the Indian has given a basic and fundamental introduction to the true melodies of the western hemisphere.

She continued, "Through his diligence to persist in the native traditions handed down from generation to generation, we are now privileged to obtain this picture of the Indian and his ideals. Their use of music was a stimulating power to make better citizens in their tribes."

Guests of the club members were the Girls' Ensemble from Colorado City High School. The ensemble sang Indian songs, including "By the Waters of Minnetonka," "In the Love Call" and "From the Land of the Sky Blue Waters."

Members of the ensemble are Misses Annette Freeman, Jean Findley and Carol Ellis.

Out-of-town guests at the meeting were Mrs. R. W. Wheeler of Commerce and Miss Mary Lyn Moeller, a University of Texas student from San Antonio.

Members present were: Mrs. Watson, S. O. Wulfjen, Lynn Halbert, Bennett Scott, C. C. Thompson, J. D. White, E. H. Winn, C. E. Cogswell and Perry Barber.

Next meeting will be Friday, December 7, in the home of Mrs. O. L. Simpson, 739 Locust St.

ment of the program for other boys." Vanhook said. Training for leaders is part of an immediate plan.

Lack of adult leadership in this town has sometimes handicapped and halted Boy Scout work in Colorado City.

Just as lack of interested grown-ups hinders growth progress, and joyful success of any youth project in any community, sometimes it is a case of "Have boys — need men."

Lone Buffalo District owns two camps for Boy Scouts. Both are immense fun for boys who get to go. Camp Murphy is a 25-acre aquatic camp at Lake Thomas where summer campers is put on boating canoeing, life saving, water skiing, all water sports.

Scout Ranch in Davis Mountains boasts 6,000 acres, horses, pack mules, a big swimming pool. Emphasis there is on the basic skills, camping, and exploring wonderful mountain trails with a pack train. All Scouts Ranch ever costs any Scout in his food.

Facilities are provided by the Boy Scouts of America organization.

Scout troops usually are eligible to attend camp for one week during any summer.

Boy Scouts of America — all over this country — are boys with a chance to learn things. Things like crafts, camping, life saving, good citizenship, public health, and so on.

Boy Scouts of America — here at home — need only a better public awareness of their program, their potential.

Women Leaders Is Discussion

Thumbnail sketches acknowledging the contributions of recognized women leaders, was the program for the recent meeting of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma in the Civic House.

The chapter met for their annual Thanksgiving dinner and meeting. Hostesses were Miss Mable Smith, and Misses Newby Pratt, Orin Feaster, Jack Johnson, John Merritt and C. C. Burt.

Margaret Chase Smith was the woman leader discussed by Mrs. Gerald Gordon. She told the members of Mrs. Smith's habit of never wasting time. She said that she was tireless, worked 15 hours a day and is interested in everything and everybody.

"Madam Pandit is a sister of the Prime Minister of India," Mrs. A. L. Geer told the members. "She has been an official representative to the United Nations since its third meeting. She is a nationalist leader and an author."

Mrs. R. M. Reed told the members of Malvina Hoffman, an American sculptor. She said that 101 pieces of her work are displayed at the National History Museum in Chicago.

"Helen Hayes has played many leading roles in her lifetime," Mrs. Laurence Ruddick said in discussing that woman leader. "She is considered a great actress. The Helen Hayes Theatre in New York City was named in her honor." Roll call was answered with "Echoes from our regional meeting."

Mrs. Austin McCloud presented the history and meaning of the "Delta Kappa Gamma song."

Committee chairmen who presented reports were Mrs. Weldon Moore, personal growth and services, and Mrs. J. F. Quinney, constitution.

Next meeting will be Dec. 9 in the home of Mrs. R. B. Cope in Loraine.

County Girl Scouts Schedule Meeting

The Mitchell County Girl Scouts will conduct a Neighborhood Meeting Monday morning at 9:30. The meeting is to be conducted in the Medallion Room of the Lone Wolf Electric Building. Mrs. Raymond Fuller will present the program on "How To Make Christmas Decorations."

PEGGY'S

Paragraphs

By PEGGY BELVIN

IT'S SO NICE TO KNOW that the sustenance of a child's life — his belief in fantasy — has not been altogether destroyed.

Child psychologists may say that it's not wise to allow a child's imagination to run away with him, but I was never married by my child-belief in the good fairy, the tooth fairy, the Easter bunny or Old St. Nick.

Since the only relative near my age on our out-in-the-country farm was a kid brother who didn't want to play my silly games, I spent countless hours in close companionship with an imaginary playmate named Sally.

SALLY AND I WERE GREAT FRIENDS. We played dolls, made mudpies, took long walks together and did everything little girls do. . . even had childish quarrels now and then.

A child's world is one of blissful happiness, free from worry and free from the daily problems of an adult's life. Children grow up much too soon. But as long as is possible they should be allowed to live in the rosy radiance of innocence. . . content with their faith in fairies and elves and Christmas reindeer.

"TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY!

And jolly are the townspeople of our little city. Never saw faces so friendly, voices so cheery or smiles so quick to come from those who are usually much too busy to realize what is going on in the world around them.

LOVE THE CHRISTMAS SEASON!

With chubby little Santas peaking around the corners in every store, with Christmas trees showing through the picture windows along every street and everybody being so nice to everybody else.

Everyone forgets, jolly indifference at Christmas. Like who bought the darling little red hat that would match your new outfit. . . or whose politician came out ahead in the election.

Seems like mankind is bonded by something more important during the Yuletide.

CAN'T BELIEVE that winter isn't here yet!

Almost believe it's been cold forever. In the chilly atmosphere of a cold sunrise, it seems that there never was such a thing as a warm, sunshiny morning.

Somewhere, the artificial warmth provided by floor furnaces and heaters just can't match the golden rays of a summer sun.

Have just about decided that it's next to impossible to get warm once you get cold. . . I think the blood freezes to ice-water or something.

But, before we know it, this old earth will go 'round the moon again, and, like a miracle, all will be light and bright and gay and warm again.

What really hurts about a revolution like that is, by the time I see next Winter, I'll be one more year older. . .
