Two fatalities

Two Midlanders were killed and another injured in a one-car accident Thursday near Van Horn, according to the Department of Public Safety. Killed were Maryann McCombes Flora, 22, and Alec Patrick Kirkpatrick, 5, and injured was Alice McCombes, 50. The accident occurred about 6:45 p.m. on Interstate 10 in Culberson County. A 1993 Nissan Pathfinder, driven westbound by Ms. Flora and traveling at a high rate of speed, drifted off the southside of the roadway, DPS officials said. The vehicle was overcorrected, lost control, skidded into the median and flipped 1½ times landing upside down, officials said. Ms. Flora was pronounced dead at the scene about 8:09 p.m., and Alec was pronounced dead at Midland Memorial Hospital about 3:45 a.m. Friday. Ms. McCombes remained in stable condition with broken bones and abrasions at Midland Memorial Hospital Friday.

Clinton: More will be done

President gives himself high grades for first 100 days

■ Clinton may announce tougher action against Serbs.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Clinton acknowledged that he underestimated the power of Republicans who killed his jobs bill but gave himself good marks overall Friday for his first 100 days in office.

"We are moving in the right direction," he told a White House news conference.

Smarting from the GOP filibuster that effectively killed his jobs bill in the Senate, Clinton conceded, "I did not have an adequate strategy to deal with that."

Overall, though, Clinton said, "It's amazing how much has been done" in the opening days of his presidency. He cited swift congressional passage of a $500 billion deficit-reduction plan, his adoption of an environmental policy "dramatically different" from the Reagan-Bush era, and his proposals for tough voluntary standards for schools. He also noted work on health care, welfare reform, political finance and lobbying reform plans.

"More will be done," he promised at his second full-dress news conference since taking office.

Questions about the bloodshed in Bosnia arose throughout the 48-minute session, and Clinton said he

Despite the U.S. Army's current downsizing, opportunities are still available for youngsters who want to be all they can be. That was the message brought to Midland/Odessa Friday by Lt. Col. Brad Beasley, commander of the U.S. Army recruiting battalion, Albuquerque, N.M.

"A lot of people ask the question today 'Is the Army still hiring?'" Beasley told a group of educators and other interested individuals at the Petrojet hangar at Midland International Airport.

Doctors may be nearing ID on Koresh

WACO (AP) — Medical examiners said Friday they may be closing in on the identification of Branch Davidian cult leader David Koresh, who is believed to be among 86 who died when his sprawling religious compound became engulfed in flames.

Dr. Rodney Crow, a forensic dentist assisting in the case, said he was expecting to receive some dental records that may help identify the body of Koresh.

"I can't say yet because I don't have it, but we are very hopeful we are going to have some very significant evidence coming in some time today that will be pertinent in a very important identification possibly," Crow said.

Medical examiners have found at least 48 bodies, 40 of which have been removed from the charred graveyard where Koresh once commanded his religious followers, Dr. Nizam Peerwani, head medical examiner for the case, said Friday.

Richards signs vaccination bill

AUSTIN (AP) — During a ceremony before those who will be most affected by the legislation, Gov. Ann Richards signed into law Friday a bill that aims to ensure all Texas children are immunized against disease.

Surrounded by children at the Creative World Capitol Complex Child Care Center, Richards said the measure is an example of the state's growing interest in improving health care programs.

"The effort here is where the effort should have been and will be in the future — on the prevention side of medicine," she said. "What we're trying to do is treat kids while they're well, to try to keep them from getting sick."

The bill requires hospitals and physicians to immunize a child under age 18 who is not current on vaccinations for such diseases as measles and polio. It is estimated to cost $56 million over the

Union organizer Cesar Chavez dies at age 66

SAN LUIS, Ariz. (AP) — Cesar Chavez, son of a migrant farm worker who organized itinerant laborers into a union and led a nationwide grape boycott in the 1960s, was found dead Friday, apparently of natural causes. He was 66.

"He was really a visionary," said Jerry Brown, the former California governor and a close political ally. "What he was looking for was a more cooperative society and a more caring society."

President Clinton issued a statement calling Chavez "an inspiring fighter for the cause to which he dedicated his life."

"Cesar Chavez was an authentic hero to millions of people throughout the world," Clinton said.

Chavez was president of the California-based United Farm Workers Union, which gave voice to farm workers, many of them poor and Hispanic.

Praised in 1968 by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as "one of the heroic figures of our time," Chavez called attention to his causes by going on a 25-day fast in 1968, a 24-day fast in 1972 and a 36-day fast in 1988.

His doctors said the water-only fast in 1988 to protest the use of pesticides on California table grapes caused Chavez to lose 19 percent of his body weight — 33½ pounds — and left him with kidney damage.

It will be hard to say goodbye to Somalians, Marines say

■ Americans prepare to hand over control of their final sector in Operation Restore Hope.

Associated Press

MOGADISHU, Somalia — Capt. Robert Abbott was making his next-to-last cruise through the cactus jungle of Little Tokyo.

No, he said, it won't be difficult for his Marines to head back to Twentynine Palms, Calif. — back to family, cheeseburgers and beer. But it will be tough to say goodbye to those aided by Operation Restore Hope.

Marines aren't supposed to get emotionally involved with the people they help, but "It's hard not to be," he said.

Friday was the last full day of patrols for Marines in Mogadishu as the Americans prepared to hand over control of their final sector in Operation Restore Hope. Pakistani troops take over Monday.

The U.N. will assume most of the costs for the humanitarian effort on May 1, but the date for the actual transfer to U.N. control probably will occur in mid-May. Still, that "seamless transition" which officials refer to is already well under way.

U.S. and U.N. flags both fly atop the headquarters of the American-led coalition forces. Most of the Marines have left the soccer stadium where they have been living. Instead of pickup football games on the packed dirt infield, the Pakistanis are playing cricket.

GRADES: He underestimated GOP's power to kill jobs bill, Clinton admits was within days of announcing tougher action against Serb aggressors in the former Yugoslavia.

He said that air strikes against Serb artillery sites and the lifting of an arms embargo against Bosnian Muslims deserved "serious consideration" by the United States and its allies to stop "ethnic cleansing" by the Serbs.

He said the "ethnic cleansing" in Bosnia was not on a par with the Holocaust, in which 6 million Jews died. "On the other hand," Clinton said, "'ethnic cleansing' is the kind of inhumanity that the Holocaust took to the nth degree.

"The principle of 'ethnic cleansing' is something we ought to stand up against," he said. "But that does not mean the United States or the United Nations can enter a war" to settle boundary disputes.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., joined Clinton's call for tougher steps. "The least we can do is lift the arms embargo," Dole said. "We should work with NATO forces before we start any unilateral air strikes. I support air strikes."

With a referendum on Boris Yeltsin's leadership two days away, Clinton praised the Russian president as "a genuine democrat" and underscored U.S. determination to help him.

"If he wins the election, if he is ratified by the Russian people to continue as their president, then I think we should do our best to work with him toward reform," Clinton said.

He also said he would not begin to restore relations with Vietnam until he was convinced "we had gone a long way toward resolving every case" of missing Americans. "And we're not there yet."

The news conference ended a difficult week in Clinton's presidency, including the fiery deaths that ended the 51-day siege of an armed cult in Waco, the failure of his jobs bill, and uncertainty about how to stop the bloodshed in Bosnia.

"I spent a year here this week," Clinton joked later at a reception.

The jobs bill — including money for hiring 700,000 teens for summer work — died at the hands of unyielding and united Republicans in the Senate. Acknowledging that he misread the Republicans, Clinton said he was exploring what he could have done differently.

Clinton defended the administration's handling of the standoff with followers of cult leader David Koresh in Waco, saying he did not think that he, as president, should be involved in the planning for dealing with situations like that.

"The questions will be asked and answered: Did all of us up the line of command ask the questions we should have asked and get the answers we should have gotten? And I look forward to that."

UNION: Cesar Chavez fasted to call attention to his causes his sleep at the home of a union supporter, said police Lt. John Miranda. His body was to be flown to California for an autopsy and funeral.

Dolores Huerta, union vice president, had worked with Chavez since 1955 and co-founded the union with him in 1962. "We know he is irreplaceable, but people are in place to continue the work of the union," Huerta said.

Condolences and praise came from supporters and opponents alike.

Farm leaders like Bob Vice of the California Farm Bureau Federation expressed grudging admiration.

"He was a worthy advocate for his cause," Vice said. "He was no saint, but he certainly changed the face of California agriculture."

Chavez was in this southwestern Arizona border town to testify in the retrial of a lawsuit filed by a farm company that said the boycott hurt business. Bruce Church Inc. won a $5.4 million award against the union in 1988.

His death came at a time when the union's influence was dwindling.

Membership, which totaled about 109,000 in the 1970s, was down to about 20,000 by the early 1990s. Conditions and wages for farm workers peaked in the late 1970s. They suffered through the 1980s and continue to decline. Workers often live near farm fields in shacks, cars or out in the open.

Chavez once said: "If the union falls apart when I am gone, I will have been a miserable failure and it will have been a terrible waste of a lot of time by a lot of people."

Chavez was born March 31, 1927, on a small farm near Yuma. The Depression shattered his father's finances and the family took to the road as migrant laborers. He never graduated from high school, and once counted 65 elementary schools he had attended "for a day, a week or a few months."

Chavez got his first taste of union organizing in 1952. Ten years later, he started the National Farm Workers Association, forerunner of the current union.

Chavez first attracted national attention in 1965 when his fledgling union, its standard a red flag with a black eagle in the center, struck table grape growers in California's San Joaquin Valley.

The union called for a national boycott to reinforce "La Huelga" — the strike — and organized a 300-mile march from Delano, Calif., to the state Capitol in Sacramento.

The boycott lasted five years, and ended when growers agreed to a contract with the union in 1970, the first big labor victory for migrant workers in the United States.

In 1973, growers refused to renew early United Farm Workers Union contracts and signed with the Teamsters instead.

Chavez called a strike, organizing mass protests that resulted in 3,500 arrests for picketing violations.

Today's high to be near 90

Staff report

Today's forecast calls for mostly sunny skies with a high near 90 and west winds 15 to 25 mph and gusty, according to the National Weather Service in Midland.

Tonight will be clear with a low in the lower to mid-50s.

Sunday is expected to be sunny with a high in the lower 80s.

After an overnight low of 60, Friday's high was 89 compared with the record high for that date of 98 in 1989. The record low for today's date was 37 set in 1968.

STATE

Skies were mostly cloudy across much of Texas Friday as an upper level trough swept through from the west. Scattered showers developed over parts of the state.

Extremely dry air near the surface in parts of North Texas evaporated the rain before it reached the ground.

Mid-afternoon temperatures were in the 70s and 80s across North Texas with winds 15 to 20 mph on average. Midland had a high of 89 degrees. Winds in West Texas were 20 to 30 mph.

It was cloudy in South Texas, where winds were strong and southerly with gusts reaching 40 mph. Gulf moisture increased humidity and caused low clouds.

Forecasters said North Texas will remain cloudy today with scattered thunderstorms central and east with highs from the higher 70s to lower 80s. The same on Sunday. Lows should be from 59 to 66 with highs Sunday reaching 85.

In West Texas, clear skies were forecast for today and Sunday. Lows should be in the 40s overnight in the north and 60s in the south. Highs Saturday will range from the 70s north to 90s south.

South Texas will remain windy and cloudy today with highs in the 80s and 90s.

NATION

Thunderstorms developed Saturday over the Plains states, temperatures dropped to record lows in the South, and the remnants of a storm moving away into Canada spread rain and snow along the northern East Coast.

Strong southerly wind ahead of an advancing storm system prevailed from the southern Plains and the lower Mississippi Valley to the lower Ohio Valley during the afternoon. Southerly wind blew at 20 to 30 mph across parts of Texas, Oklahoma and eastern Kansas.

Showers and thunderstorms were developing across central Texas and central Oklahoma.

Showers associated with a low pressure system centered over western South Dakota were scattered across the north-central part of the nation.

Strong westerly wind prevailed in the high Plains region, gusting to 45 mph during the morning at Casper, Wyo. Up to 4 inches of snow fell during the night in the Big Horn Mountains of north-central Wyoming.

Farther north, New York City's Kennedy airport hit a record 39.

A storm system which dropped heavy rain and snow on parts of the Northeast during the week had moved to southeastern Canada by Friday, but it continued to produce light rain and snow in the northern Atlantic Coast states as far south as Maryland, the weather service said.

On Thursday, Syracuse, N.Y., got 6.2 inches of snow, a record for the date, and traces were reported at Philadelphia and Atlantic City, N.J.

Elsewhere, showers developing ahead of an advancing cold front developed over western Washington state and western Oregon at midday, and showers also extended into northern California.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

ID: Autopsies to begin today

(From 1A)

"At least half of the bodies that I recall have only fragments of torso or extremities left," Peerwani said. "They have sustained very high-intensity fire damage. We don't know what we will do to identify them as yet."

Most of the bodies — some of them children — have been taken to the Tarrant County medical examiner's office in Fort Worth for X-rays.

Darrell Thompson, of the medical examiner's office, says the radiology tests will not settle the debate over whether some of the bodies had been shot before Monday's blaze.

"They will not show whether there were bullet holes, just if there are metallic objects in the bodies," said Thompson.

"The metal could be a bullet or a fracture from a bullet, but it also could be any type of foreign object — buttons, zippers or other debris. We can't tell from the X-rays."

Peerwani on Friday said he "can not confirm" reports by Carl Stern of the Justice Department in Washington, who said three bodies had been shot.

The Justice Department assertions raised speculation that some cult members may have murdered the others or the group committed suicide together before Monday's fire that ended the 51-day standoff.

"All I know is that an FBI agent walked through (the carnage at Waco) and said he thought he saw three people who had been shot, and he was positive one guy had a hole in his head," Stern said Friday, pointing to his forehead.

"The agent may have been mistaken" in saying the people appeared to have been shot, Stern said, but that will not be ascertained finally until the autopsies are completed.

Adding to the controversy, U.S. News & World Report says in its May 3rd issue available on newsstands Monday that perhaps all of the 17 children inside were shot by cult members minutes before the blaze erupted.

An unnamed FBI source told the magazine that up to 30 rounds were fired inside the complex less than two minutes before the fire and that, "Right now, I would have to say they put the children away."

Barry Smith, an FBI spokesman, said Friday, "That story's just pure speculation at this point."

Autopsies were to begin today and more than 40 forensic dentists are scurrying to find dental records for the victims, many of whom are foreigners.

Peerwani said five bodies have been located in crude graves outside of the compound. He said the bodies are likely of those who were killed during a Feb. 28 gunfight with agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Four agents died in the raid. Koresh claimed that six cultists died that day.

Peerwani said Friday four bodies are lodged among a million rounds of ammunition piled up to 3 feet high.

"The bunker is full of munitions, some places as high as my hip," Peerwani said. "We are very much concerned about our safety and the safety of the persons helping us."

The bunker is believed to be where Koresh hid his massive weapons cache and also where he and top lieutenants may have been hiding to avoid the gas and flames Monday.

Smoldering fires continue to set off rounds of ammunition spread throughout the crime scene.

Peerwani says more victims are likely buried beneath what used to be a three-story structure that totally collapsed in the blaze.

Peerwani said many of the bodies are "soft and crumbling."

The cause of death for Branch Davidians who perished in an inferno after a 51-day standoff with authorities may not be known for weeks, a justice of the peace investigating the disaster said Friday.

The Department of Public Safety Friday released a tape of a 911 call revealing difficulties the Waco Fire Department had in responding to Monday's inferno.

Firemen can be heard saying they would need additional sources of water because of the remote location of the compound, 10 miles east of Waco.

RECRUIT: Army emphasizes quality, colonel says

(From 1A)

"We are trying to dispel that rumor that the Army has stopped hiring," said Beasley, with a Blackhawk and Apache helicopter displayed on each side of him.

That rumor has been fueled by the downsizing of the U.S. Army from about 780,000 in 1980 to an anticipated 520,000 by 1996. Nevertheless, that branch of the armed services continues to recruit, Beasley said.

And today, the U.S. Army seeks a more educated person with promises to develop the quality of each enlistee.

"The quality of the United States Army is the highest in the history of the United States Army," Beasley said.

For example, every soldier that came into the U.S. Army last year was a high school graduate, he said. And the entry-level examination scores have jumped from 25 percent upper middle range in 1980 to 78 percent last year, he added.

Emphasis on quality has arisen from the highly technical jobs involved and fewer problems with such soldiers.

As a result, statistics show a drop in drug use, court-martials, and crime in the last decade in the U.S. Army, Beasley pointed out.

But as the U.S. Army improves, youths and drugs, crime, suicide and dropping out are on the rise creating an education crisis, he said.

To insure consistent recruiting quality individuals, U.S. Army recruiters have launched a campaign to keep youngsters from dropping out of school. The program includes recruiters visiting schools.

The U.S. Army still offers incentives to high school graduates that includes college educations and teaching skills, Beasley said.

By reaching students in the community now, youngsters who subsequently join the U.S. Army are better citizens when they return home, he said.

RICHARDS: Legislation requires children to be immunized

(From 1A)

next two years.

The bill exempts children from immunizations if they have a religious conflict.

Sen. Judith Zaffirini, a sponsor of the measure, noted that children will now be guaranteed immunizations for diseases that, if not prevented, can cause death.

"It is so important to recognize that this bill will save lives. With immunizations, we are talking about protecting our little ones, little ones like we see here today," said Ms. Zaffirini, D-Laredo.

Funding for the bill is on hold until a legislative conference committee hammers out differences in the House and Senate versions of the state budget.

However, Richards said she is confident the measure will be properly funded, and that once the program is in place, it will save the state money.

"Immunizations may cost $20, but complications to a sick child can cost $20,000," she said. "The lives of human beings depend on us to make certain the funding is available for those who need us most."

State Health Commissioner David Smith said the state has already begun providing immunizations at clinics statewide, using federal dollars.

He said once the state money is available, additional clinics will be set up in public schools, where most children are expected to receive the shots.

A recent Texas Department of Health survey showed that only 10 percent of kindergarten children in Houston, 30 percent in Dallas, and 40 percent in El Paso had received their recommended number of doses of vaccine by age 2.

In 1989, Texas reported the highest number of measles cases in the United States, with 3,313. It had the second highest number in 1992, with 4,409.

GOODBYE: Marines near end of mission

(From 1A)

Semper Fidelis" adorns the ruins of the former Central Bank building, but the Marines who guarded adjacent Checkpoint 77 have been replaced by Italian troops. A couple of U.N. armored cars mounted with light cannons and manned by Nigerians sit where U.S. tanks used to command Checkpoint 50.

There's a buzz of activity as Americans stream home. A group of 341 Americans, mostly the Marines who handed control of the Bardera district to Botsawana last Saturday, left a couple of days ago.

There's a long line for U.S. vehicle crews to use high-powered steam cleaners on their vehicles to wash away Somalia's dust and pass rigorous American Customs regulations. The process can take days for a tank.

Humvees, the American all-purpose military vehicles, still cruise the streets in convoys. But they increasingly are being outnumbered by armored vehicles of all shapes and sizes from the various coalition forces, like Zimbabwe's coffin-like "War Wagon."

After today, the Light Armored Vehicles of Charlie Company will be only a memory in Little Tokyo, a hellhole within a hellhole when the Marines arrived Dec. 9 to make sure food shipments got through to the needy.

Located in a depression, the narrow warrens of seven-foot cactuses became a hiding place for thieves chased from other areas.

"It's kind of a spooky place, a little intimidating," Abbott said.

Residents asked the Marines to clear roads wide enough for the Humvees to squeeze through. Now when the Marines go on patrol, 30 or more children tail along. While the routine is wearing a little thin with the prospect of leaving so close, the men still manage smiles.

The two schools that Charlie Company helped get started weren't open Friday, the Muslim holy day, and the police station appeared sleepy. So Abbott planned to go back for a final visit Saturday to see the teachers, the students and the new police force.

"It's going to be tough saying goodbye," he acknowledged.

House fire claims 5 children

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five girls, aged 2 to 6, died early Friday in a house fire accidentally sparked by brothers trying to light a furnace.

Four victims died in a crib; another was killed trying to hide from flames in a closet, Fire Capt. Martin Kavanagh said.

The girls' mother and four other children escaped the fire, which gutted their east Baltimore rowhouse and damaged three adjoining homes.

Officers use tear gas to put down prison outbreak

GROESBECK (AP) — A riot among 75 to 100 prisoners at the Limestone County Minimum Security Detention Center resulted in tear gas being thrown into a portion of the building Friday night.

"They destroyed anything they could destroy in their cells," said Limestone County Sheriff Dennis Walker.

There were no immediate reports of injuries to guards or inmates.

The privately operated facility has 500 beds, officials said. But a spokeswoman at the sheriff's department said the number of prisoners at the center was unavailable.

The riot began about 5 p.m. CDT between inmates from two of the three buildings at the facility, Walker said. It continued at 10:30 p.m.

Officials believe the riot may have started when some of the prisoners lost their privileges.

"Some of the inmates had their TV taken away until they cleaned up their living quarters," Walker said.

Selena Quintanilla concert set for tonight

Staff report

Selena Quintanilla is to performs at Midland's Chaparral Center at 8 p.m. today.

Tickets are $12 general admission and $15 reserved.

Every year since 1987, the 21-year-old singer has received the Tejano Music Awards for Singer of the Year and Performer of the Year. This year she also received the award for Album of the Year.

Despite her age, she didn't achieve overnight success.

"We've been doing this for such a long time, I think I lost out on some of my teen-age years," Miss Quintanilla said. "I think I had to grow up a little bit faster than some of the other kids."

She began singing when she was 6½, recorded her first record when she was 8 and began traveling with the band at 9.

Her musical career is a family affair.

Most of the songs she records and performs are written by her brother, Abraham Quintanilla III, a staff writer for EMI Records, who also arranges and produces her music. Her latest album, which is being released this month, is "Selena en Vivo."

Her sister, Suzette Michelle Quintanilla, is the drummer in her band and in charge of all equipment, while her father, Abraham Quintanilla II, a former member of the original Los Dinos, is her manager.

Miss Quintanilla and her family hope to produce an English album, an international album and become more of a household name in Spanish-speaking countries.

They also have a common goal "to become international artists not so much to become rich and famous, but to have everybody accept our music and get to know what Tex Mex music is all about," the singer said.

LOCAL/AREA REPORTS

■ Sexual assault

A newspaper delivery woman was abducted early Friday morning and sexually assaulted twice before she escaped near Sweetwater, local and Sweetwater officials reported.

The woman, in her mid-20s, was abducted in her car while on her delivery route in southeast Midland about 5 a.m., officials said.

She was assaulted near Big Spring, and again near Sweetwater. When her assailant stopped to ask directions about 20 miles southeast of Sweetwater, the woman escaped, officials said.

The man left in her vehicle, a 1990 Plymouth. He was described as a black man in his mid-20s, 5 feet 8 inches tall, 180 pounds with short hair and a goatee.

The woman underwent medical examinations Friday in Sweetwater, where the Nolan County Sheriff's Office will investigate the sexual assault. Authorities in Big Spring will work the case as well, since the woman was sexually assauted there also.

Midland police will investigate the abduction, officials said.

■ Body found

ODESSA — A nude decomposed body was discovered Thursday in a pasture southwest of town, Ector County Sheriff's Office officials said.

The body was brought to the attention of authorities about 8:50 p.m. The badly decomposed body was found near Murphy and Maurice streets by three out-of-town men who stopped on a dirt road near the pasture, officials said.

Officials will release the sex, race and age of the body following the results of an autopsy, expected this weekend.

■ Drug possession

BIG SPRING — A 32-year-old man remained jailed Friday after being arrested in possession of 17½ pounds of suspected marijuana the day before, police reported.

Michael Lee Collins was arrested about 4:50 p.m. at a hotel in the 2900 block of Highway 80 after police received a tip from a citizen, officials said. In addition to the drug, with a street value of about $17,000, police seized $1,000 in cash, reports indicated.

Bond for Collins was set at $30,000, police said.

Yeltsin sketches vision as referendum nears

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Yeltsin offered Russians on Friday a vision of their future if they support him in this weekend's referendum: private land ownership, a stronger executive branch and an American-style legislature.

Yeltsin said he sketched his vision in a draft constitution so citizens would know "a vote of confidence in the president is a vote not for an abstract and bright future, but for concrete, legal guarantees, civil rights and human values."

The president was trying to raise the stakes in the Sunday referendum and ensure a high turnout among Russia's 106 million registered voters, as well as seeking to win over those who remain undecided.

But no matter the outcome, Yeltsin's new constitution is likely to become entangled in the same bickering that has paralyzed his reforms since fall. The Communist-dominated Congress is likely to object to many of the proposals — particularly the creation of a bicameral legislature that would cost the lawmakers their jobs.

Yeltsin's aides have said they might try to bypass the Congress by convening a special "constitutional assembly" to approve the new charter.

The president's critics were already working against him on the streets of Moscow. More than 10,000 nationalist and pro-Communist demonstrators marched downtown to urge a vote against Yeltsin.

They waved signs saying, "Yeltsin Means Civil War" and "Yeltsin is the destruction of Russia." Some shouted anti-Semitic slogans.

In the front row of marchers was Anatoly Lukyanov, the former Soviet parliament leader who went on trial this month for treason. He is one of 12 former Kremlin bosses accused of conspiring to overthrow Mikhail Gorbachev in August 1991.

Hundreds of police lined the route. No violence was reported.

To counter the opposition's last-minute charges, Yeltsin was planning a nationwide television address Saturday night.

Akihito offers prayer at Okinawa memorial

ITOMAN, Japan (AP) — Emperor Akihito visited memorials to the suffering of Okinawa in World War II, making a solemn start Friday to the island's first imperial visit.

For nearly an hour, Yuriko Minei, an 82-year-old survivor of a student medical corps, led the monarch through exhibits depicting the hardships that she and more than 200 other young women were forced to endure in the name of Akihito's father, the late Emperor Hirohito. Most of them died.

In all, nearly 150,000 soldiers and 100,000 civilians died on Okinawa, Japan's southernmost prefecture, in the closing days of the war. The wounds remain deep from the 90 days of fighting, which also killed 13,000 American soldiers, sailors and Marines.

"Thinking of people who lost their lives in the war, I felt the sadness of those who have lost their relatives," Akihito said after offering a silent prayer at a national cemetery to the war dead.

Serbs demand concessions before agreeing to peace plan

BOSANSKI NOVI, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Bosnian Serbs demanded more concessions Friday before they agree to a U.N. peace plan, but the world's patience was growing thin and sentiment for armed intervention built.

After the Serbs' self-proclaimed legislature rejected the plan again, Serb leader Radovan Karadzic remained defiant about international pressure, saying his people were ready for peace but prepared for more war.

Tougher economic sanctions on Serb-dominated Yugoslavia are to take effect Monday unless Bosnia's Serbs accept the U.N. peace plan already signed by Muslims and Croats. The sanctions are designed to increase pressure on Yugoslavia to stop helping the Bosnian Serbs' rebellion.

Fighting ebbed in most parts of Bosnia on Friday while diplomatic consultations intensified.

In Washington, President Clinton said bombing Serb artillery should be considered as a way to halt Serb offensives that have overrun 70 percent of Bosnia since it seceded from Yugoslavia a year ago.

Clinton told reporters he would decide on a tougher policy on Bosnia with other leaders of the international community. He said no option had been ruled out, except that the United States would not act alone or commit ground troops.

The foreign ministers of the 12 European Community nations planned to meet over the weekend to discuss the possibility of military intervention.

In Copenhagen, Danish Foreign Minister Niels Helveg, who will preside at the EC meeting, said pressure for military intervention was rising despite reservations by military leaders.

Britain appeared to edge reluctantly toward backing air strikes on Serb forces after a visit by Defense Secretary Malcolm Rifkind to Washington.

"It might be a price worth paying," Rifkind told reporters in London late Thursday, referring to the widespread view that air strikes would mean the end of the U.N. relief operation in Bosnia.

Newspaper reports said Britain planned to pull out its 2,600 soldiers from the U.N. peacekeeping force in Bosnia if an air campaign were adopted. The Defense Ministry refused to comment.

Britain and France, which have the largest contingents in the peacekeeping operation, fear air action would provoke Serb militiamen to attack U.N. troops.

Karadzic appeared unbent before leaving for Belgrade, Yugoslavia, to meet with the European Community's peace mediator, Lord Owen.

He said concessions were needed before the peace plan could be accepted by the Bosnian Serb assembly, which met Friday in Bosanski Novi, on the border with Croatia in northwestern Bosnia. He did not describe any of the Serbs' demands.

Karadzic suggested the talks with Owen could make the difference between war and peace.

British doctor suggests icy baths

LONDON (AP) — A British doctor has made a big splash here and abroad with his claims that cold baths can cure yuppie flu and rev up your sex hormones.

Any data, doc? Not yet, but Dr. Vijay Kakkar said he feels better and so did his 99 volunteers.

"A limited number of patients swear they will not get up without having had a cold bath," Kakkar, director of the Thrombosis Research Institute, told reporters Friday.

Kakkar said his volunteers claim cold bathing "improves their circulation and their bodies' ability to fight off infections such as colds or flu." Some said their fingernails got harder, their hair stronger, their skin healthier.

"I'm sorry for throwing cold water on his potential remedy, but people with heart disease may be exposing themselves to a risk of a heart attack," said Dr. Sidney Gottlieb, a cardiologist at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

Durable goods orders record worst decline in 15 months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders to American factories for big ticket durable goods such as cars and computers recorded the worst drop in 15 months during March. "The economy's doing the hesitation waltz again," one analyst declared.

Orders fell 3.7 percent to a seasonally adjusted $130 billion, the sharpest decrease since December 1991, the Commerce Department reported Friday. In advance, economists had expected a far milder drop of 1 percent or less.

Robert G. Dederick, an economist with Northern Trust Co. in Chicago, who saw a return to "hesitation," said the latest report fits with other evidence showing the economy losing momentum early this year compared with the end of last year.

The broad-based decline in March followed an increase of 2.2 percent in February, a decrease of 2.3 percent in January and a large 9.7 percent gain in December.

"This is still an expansion that doesn't have all the cylinders firing. We still don't have the process going where strength begets strength begets more strength," Dederick said.

Durable goods — items from toaster ovens to turbines expected to last three or more years — are considered a crucial barometer of the economy's strength. Before businesses and consumers buy durable goods, they need enough faith in the economy's health to be willing to borrow.

Even with the latest setback, March orders were 6.3 percent higher than a year ago.

"I think it's premature to conclude this is a really disturbing sign for the economic outlook," economist Stephen S. Roach of Morgan Stanley & Co. "We had an enormous surge in orders at the end of the year. ... I think we're seeing a little bit of an overdue unwinding of that."

Economist Gordon Richards of the National Association of Manufacturers said the report supported his prediction that overall economic growth will slow from a 4.7 percent annual rate in the fourth quarter to around 2.5 percent in the first quarter.

From Tokyo, where he was on a trade mission, Commerce Secretary Ronald H. Brown said the report "provides further evidence that the pace of recovery is slowing and that action is still needed to stimulate economic growth."

Senate Republicans have killed President Clinton's $16.3 billion jobs bill with a filibuster.

Analysts had taken the three consecutive increases in the backlog from December through February as an indication that factories were having trouble keeping up with the flow of orders and would have to hire additional workers. The latest decline in the backlog could set back hiring plans.

140 military officers face possible discipline for Tailhook incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 140 Navy and Marine Corps officers face possible discipline as a result of the 1991 Tailhook convention, which was marked by an "atmosphere of debauchery" that led to dozens of sexual assaults, the Pentagon's top investigator said Friday.

Files detailing the actions of the officers have been sent to military legal authorities and to the Department of Justice, according to a report by Pentagon deputy inspector general Derek Vander Schaaf.

In graphic terms, the report outlines a three-day bacchanal where men and women engaged in public sex, nudity and excessive drinking. Dozens of women were pushed through a "gantlet" of groping, pawing pilots.

The report said the attendees "viewed the annual conference as a type of 'free fire zone' wherein they could act indiscriminately and without fear of censure or retribution in matters of sexual conduct or drunkenness."

The report also faulted the Navy's top ranks for a "serious breakdown in leadership" that had allowed the misconduct to become a tradition at the event.

Vander Schaaf found that 83 women and 7 men were assaulted during the aviators' convention in Las Vegas in September 1991. In most instances, the males said they were pinched on the buttocks by women or men.

The report said 23 officers were found to have participated in sexual assaults and an additional 23 in indecent exposure. A total of 117 officers were implicated in one or more incidents of assault, exposure, conduct unbecoming an officer or failure to act in a proper leadership role.

The report also said 51 officers lied during follow-up investigations.

In addition, Vander Schaaf said he was forwarding the files of 30 Navy admirals, two Marine Corps generals and three Navy Reserve admirals to Defense Secretary Les Aspin for possible review "with respect to the responsibility of each flag officer for the overall leadership failure" in the Tailhook affair.

Federal prosecutors probe asset transfers from Eastern Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal prosecutors are investigating the transfer of Eastern Airlines' assets to its sister airline and parent company in the years before the carrier collapsed in 1991, a court document says.

The investigation by the U.S. attorney's office in Brooklyn, N.Y., is mentioned in a Jan. 8 document filed as part of the bankruptcy court reorganization of Continental Airlines, which used to be Eastern's sister in the airline empire once headed by Frank Lorenzo.

The document was obtained by The Associated Press.

The U.S. Transportation Department now is considering Lorenzo's application to start a new carrier, Friendship Airlines.

Transportation Department spokesman Hal Paris declined comment Friday.

The transfers of assets from Eastern to Continental and their parent, Texas Air Corp., were made when Lorenzo controlled all three companies in the mid- to late-1980s.

The transactions occurred before Eastern's employees went on strike in March 1989, sending the airline into federal bankruptcy court. The airline closed in January 1991.

The same transfers have been at issue previously. Eastern's court-appointed examiner, David I. Shapiro, investigated them in 1989 and 1990 and ruled Texas Air had improperly drained Eastern of assets. Shapiro alleged the parent had bought away Eastern's assets at unfairly low prices, leaving the carrier in poor financial shape to compete.

In March 1990, Texas Air rejected Shapiro's findings but agreed to pay Eastern more than $280 million in a settlement of claims.

The U.S. attorney's probe was cited in a disclosure statement submitted by Houston-based Continental earlier this year in federal bankruptcy court in Wilmington, Del., as part of its proposed reorganization plan.

The Continental document noted, for example, that the assets transferred included Eastern's System One computerized reservations system. Shapiro's report concluded that Texas Air underpaid Eastern by $150 million to $250 million for the system, which was sold in 1987 for a note worth about $50 million.

When asked about the document's reference to a probe, Matthew Fishbein, chief assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, declined to confirm an investigation but added, "I wouldn't say it's inaccurate."

Continental spokesman Art Kent confirmed his airline had filed the document with the court but declined further comment.

Judge reduces charges in school bus case

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — A major victory behind them, defense attorneys for a Coca-Cola truck driver accused in a wreck that killed 21 schoolchildren began Friday to give the jury two large companies to blame.

After the state rested its case, Judge Fidencio M. Guerra Jr. granted a defense motion to reduce charges against Ruben Perez, whose 44,000-pound tractor-trailer passed through a stop sign and knocked a school bus into a water-filled caliche pit in Alton.

"Ruben Perez did not fail to yield the right of way, his equipment did," defense attorney Bob Binder said in his opening statement. The judge dismissed the jury for the weekend and scheduled the defense to begin its case Monday.

Defense attorneys want to show that the truck, owned by Valley Coca-Cola Bottling Co., had brakes that malfunctioned in an emergency stop.

They also will try to show the school bus manufactured by Blue Bird Body Co. had insufficient escape hatches, trapping the students as it filled with murky water.

Judge Guerra, out of the jury's view, agreed with a defense motion that the state didn't present enough evidence for the jury to consider felony charges of involuntary manslaughter.

The judge dropped the 21 counts to criminally negligent homicide, slashing the maximum time Perez faces from 10 years in state prison to one year in the county jail.

Hidalgo County District Attorney Rene Guerra, not related to the judge, clearly was disappointed.

"I will muster the force and the strength necessary to proceed and see if I can salvage a criminal conviction in this case," he said.

Prosecutor Guerra said he believed Perez did nothing to stop his truck. "The only thing that stops him is an 82-person-filled bus," he said. Sixty students and the bus driver survived the plunge into the pit.

Snapping a week of often-tedious testimony, Connors shouted the words "Coca-Cola" and "Blue Bird" at the jury in his opening statement.

Both companies have paid multi-million-dollar settlements against civil lawsuits by the families of those injured and killed.

Connors is collaborating with attorneys representing Perez on a separate civil lawsuit pending against Coca-Cola. He told the jury that the soft-drink giant sent out a "loaded missile" each day because the truck had poorly maintained brakes.

Binder, in his shared opening statement, also cast blame at the deep, unfenced pit where roadside miners had extracted caliche — a sand-gravel mixture used in construction.

The state's weeklong case was simple: Perez, as a professional driver, should have anticipated the sign and stopped. The state depended on testimony that Perez was warned in time to stop and that his brakes functioned properly.

Witnesses said Perez had driven the route — his own shortcut — four times before the collision on Sept. 21, 1989.

Perez's helper in the Coca-Cola truck cab, Ruben Pena, testified Monday that Perez was driving 45 mph when he reminded Perez of the stop sign about 300 feet away from the intersection of Bryan Road and Five-Mile Line.

Perez then hit the foot brakes, downshifted from fifth to fourth gear and manually applied the trailer brake, Pena said.

Pena told the jury he believed the truck was going to stop.

A pathologist told the jury that 19 students died from drowning, and two who died later at hospitals suffered complications from inhaling too much of the caliche pit's dirty water.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1993

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Radical changes can work to your advantage. Listen to advice, especially in June, but make your own decisions. Next fall, avoid taking any unnecessary financial risks. Although someone may accuse you of showing favoritism in the workplace, you know better. Follow your conscience. In November, new business opportunities deserve a close look. Investigate all of them. Greater give-and-take is the only way to make a romantic relationship last.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actresses Barbra Streisand and Shirley MacLaine, artist Willem de Kooning, critic Stanley J. Kauffmann.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Although you dislike having your choices questioned, go along with the crowd for a change. Let romance simmer while you concentrate on business. Cash in an investment that is not producing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A business decision may be out of your hands. Step back and take a closer look at an on-again, off-again relationship. Give partners a real chance to express their desires.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Sharp words between two allies or family members could leave both parties feeling misunderstood. You cannot expect everyone to see things your way all the time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): New personal rewards are featured this morning. Married couples should find more recreational activities to share. The love that binds is the one that no one can object to.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Long hours of practice pay off handsomely when you win a competition. The public arena is the best forum for networking now. Develop your plans in a deliberate and conscientious way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): To reduce financial pressures, avoid buying non-essential items. Business plans are subject to change. Be patient and flexible. Influential people will be reassured by a commonsense attitude.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Creative ideas bring professional advancement. Showcase your talents to best advantage. An exercise program could be the beginning of a whole new you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A suggestion may be more upsetting than constructive. Furnish whatever papers are required by government officials. Talking candidly with a loved one will ease your financial worries.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): One-to-one relationships are in the spotlight. Although a discussion with an older person could be difficult, you can charm your way through. Make a command appearance to please your mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Almost everyone you approach now will be willing to give information or extend a helping hand. Follow up quickly. Question an offer that sounds too good to be true.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Be sure to take into account any objections raised by your allies. A new approach may be desirable. It takes a high degree of perceptiveness to foresee the possible consequences of your decisions.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Joint plans regarding education or travel should be outlined. The idea of visiting faraway loved ones holds great appeal. Share both expenses and the driving.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are traditionalists with a tendency to do things the way they have always been done. Their stubbornness is both a strength and a liability. They will stand up for their beliefs even when they are wrong. Openly affectionate with their loved ones, these Taureans will turn a cold shoulder to anyone who hurts them or those close to their heart. Their tender, sentimental side is best revealed in their love for children and animals.

'Evening Shade' star to wed in town portrayed on show

LITTLE ROCK — Charlie Dell, who portrays wagon-pushing Nub Oliver on television's "Evening Shade," will be tying the knot in one of Arkansas' two towns by that name.

Dell and actress Jennifer Williams are to be wed July 4 at the Evening Shade United Methodist Church in the Evening Shade in Sharp County.

The wedding is expected to draw some of Dell's co-stars on the series, which stars Burt Reynolds. Dell will be grand marshal of the town's annual holiday parade.

Ms. Williams has appeared in "As The World Turns," "Another World," and "Cheers."

The town invited Dell, of Corpus Christi, and Ms. Williams, of Houston, after learning of their wedding plans.

That Evening Shade, population 400, is about 120 miles north-northeast of Little Rock. The state's other Evening Shade is about 130 miles southwest of Little Rock.

NEW ORLEANS — Thousands of people gathered for this weekend's New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival, with Bob Dylan the top name on Friday's bill.

Featured Saturday are cajun singer Zachary Richard, jazz trumpeter Wynton Marsalis, the Allman Brothers, Rockin Dopsie and the Zydeco Twisters, the Louisiana Repertory Jazz Ensemble, and a reunion performance by the cast of the stage show One Mo' Time.

Dylan

Coincidentally, Paul McCartney is appearing tonight at the Superdome.

Sunday's list for Jazzfest ranges from modern jazz by Terence Blanchard to performances by Fats Domino, Sonny Rollins and Pete Fountain.

The festival, in its 24th year, resumes next Thursday through Sunday.

About 380,000 attended last year's seven-day run, said festival spokeswoman Anna Zimmerman.

NEWTON, Mass. — The American-born queen of Jordan will be commencement speaker at Boston College, the university said Friday.

Queen Noor al Hussein, wife of King Hussein, was born to an Arab-American family and educated at nearby Concord Academy and at Princeton.

She will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at the school's May 24 commencement.

Also receiving honorary degrees will be outgoing Boston Pops conductor John Williams and Henry Hampton, producer of the PBS television series "Eyes on the Prize."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Country singer Crystal Gayle will help raise money to restore a local replica of the Parthenon in time for its 100th anniversary in 1996.

Gayle

"There are a lot of people in Nashville who give their time and money, and they're going to give more," Gayle said.

The original Parthenon was built in Athens, Greece, as a temple to the god Athena. Nashville's smaller version was built to commemorate the city's centennial and its self-proclaimed nickname "The Athens of the South."

City government has appropriated $3 million for roofing at the structure, located in a park and featuring an art museum.

Gayle's hits include "Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue."

WORCESTER, Mass — Natan Sharansky, the outspoken advocate for Soviet Jews, says he wants to make sure people don't forget that 6 million Jews died in the Holocaust.

"In the Soviet Union they tried to create a new society — without religion, without nationality, without memory," he said. "And they failed."

"It is better to be honest about the past — to teach the past and hope the mistakes of the past are not repeated," he said in an interview Thursday with the Telegram & Gazette.

He said the Holocaust could happen again, citing the "ethnic cleansing" in the former Yugoslavia as proof that the sentiment behind the Holocaust persists.

Sharansky spent nine years in a Soviet prison on charges of treason and espionage. Since his release in 1986, he has worked to support Jewish emigration to Israel.

Police arrest three in failed murder scheme

HOUSTON (AP) — Three people were jailed Friday on charges of attempted capital murder in what police say was an intricate scheme to collect an inheritance.

Charles Stover, 24, and Amy Stover, 25, both of Deer Park, were held at Harris County Jail. Robert L. Chappell II, 24, a student at Abilene Christian University, was in custody in Abilene, and Deer Park police expected to bring him back to Houston Friday night. Bond was set at $50,000 each.

Police said the Stovers wanted to kill Charles Stover's parents and were arrested in the parents' bedroom.

Deer Park police said the trio plotted to kill Billy J. and Ovida Stover and collect an undetermined inheritance, if there was one.

Lt. Stan Shafer said they planned to kill Mrs. Stover by injecting her with atropine, a drug used by the military to counteract nerve gas and intended to fatally stab and beat her husband.

When officers responded to a family disturbance call Monday night, they found Ovida Stover, 51, holding a handgun on her son and daughter-in-law. Billy Stover then walked into the room, bleeding profusely from the head and side.

Shafer said the plan called for Charles Stover to strike his father with a pair of brass knuckles and then use a knife and the brass knuckles to beat and stab him to death.

Amy Stover was supposed to inject Ovida Stover with the drug, designed to speed up the heart rate, in an attempt to induce a heart attack, Shafer said.

The plan began falling apart because Ovida Stover sleeps with her hands across her chest, Shafer said. When Amy Stover attempted to inject the drug into her mother-in-law's chest, she allegedly jabbed the needle into her hand and woke up the woman.

Ovida Stover then grabbed a handgun from the dresser drawer and ordered her son and daughter-in-law to the floor, Shafer said.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

(From 1B)

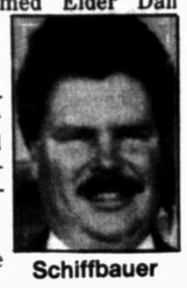
The 8 p.m. concert, which is open to the public at no charge, will be part of the Madeleine Festival of the Arts and Humanities, a series of events celebrating the reopening of the cathedral after a major renovation.

"We are delighted that the Mormon Tabernacle Choir will be coming to the cathedral," said Monsignor M. Francis Mannion, rector of the cathedral. 'This appearance is a first, and one we welcome and celebrate enthusiastically."

The program of religions music, under the direction of Jerold Ottley, will feature soloists Robert Breault, a tenor who is a catholic, and soprano JoAnn Ottley.

■ Pastor welcomed

Midland Seventh-day Adventists recently welcomed Elder Dan Schiffbauer Jr. and his wife, Christa, to take up responsibilities as pastor of the Midland and Odessa Seventh-day Adventist churches.



Schiffbauer

They replace Elder and Mrs. Eddie Card, who retired in December.

Schiffbauer, who moves here from Las Cruces, N.M., has around eight years of ministerial experience and has pastored 16 churches in West Texas and New Mexico.

Schiffbauer is a graduate of the Adventist college, Andrews University in Michigan, and also attended the seminary there. He is bilingual, having spent time in Spain and South America while in college. He also has pastored several Spanish congregations during his career and said he has "a great interest" in the Hispanic culture.

He spent four years in Las Cruces, N.M., pastoring churches there and in Alamogordo, where he helped start an elementary school and presided over community services activities that included food and clothing distribution to low-income and indigent families.

Mrs. Schiffbauer is an elementary school teacher. She sings contemporary Christian music and has performed in concerts in West Texas and New Mexico with her husband as piano accompanist. She also is the president of the regional Seventh-day Adventist ministers' wives association, "Shepherdess."

The Midland church operates an elementary school and is making plans to open a kindergarten this fall. The church also has recently completed a community services center that will be used to present community benefit programs, help low-income families and present bible seminars. Currently, the Red Cross is using the facility on a weekly basis, and it is hoped other civic organizations will be able to use the facility as well.

The church, 3114 Travis St., has services from 9:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays and at 7 p.m. Wednesday. For more information call 694-2746.

■ Area to have speaker

Dr. Don Whitaker of Longview is scheduled to speak in the Midland-Odessa area this month.

His schedule includes:

—10 a.m. to 4 p.m., today, nutrition seminar at Holiday Inn Country Villa, 4300 W. Highway 80, Midland; —and 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Life Unlimited Christian Center, 4224 E. Loop 338, Odessa.

Since a conversion experience in 1975, Whitaker has been active in Christian ministry including a weekly program.

Flora support

Angels prospect Kevin Flora, an infielder-outfielder at Class AAA Vancouver, left the team to join family members after his wife, MaryAnn, was killed Thursday in an auto accident outside Van Horn on Interstate 10.

In the wake of the wreck, which also killed Flora's 4-year-old nephew and left his mother-in-law in critical condition, Vancouver's game Friday at Calgary was canceled. The Canadians announced that gate receipts tonight against Las Vegas will be placed in trust in memory of Flora's wife.

Flora, who turns 24 in June and played for the Midland Angels last season, is hitting .359 with a team-best five stolen bases through 11 games.

A Magic owner?

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — For years, Magic Johnson has made it clear he wants to own an NBA team some day. Now, he's taking a step in that direction.

Johnson, reportedly offered the Los Angeles Lakers' coaching job next season, is part of a group hoping to obtain an expansion franchise in Toronto, it was learned Friday.

The former Lakers star is part of a group than plans to pay the NBA a non-refundable $100,000 for an official application for an expansion team, a source close to the situation who requested anonymity told The Associated Press.

Bosio savors no-no

AP Laserphoto

Seattle teammates, including former Midland Cub Henry Cotto (28), surround Chris Bosio, center, after his no-hitter Thursday against Boston.

■ Formula for no-hitter is control, great curve, good location, savvy and plenty of heart.

By Jim Cour
AP Sports Writer

SEATTLE — Chris Bosio. A control guy. Great curveball. Great location. Lots of savvy. And, most important, plenty of heart.

"You don't pitch a no-hitter unless you have a great deal of mental toughness," catcher Dave Valle says.

Bosio turned in the Seattle Mariners' second no-hitter — and the first of the season — when he beat the first-place Boston Red Sox 7-0 Thursday night.

Bosio once pitched back-to-back no-hitters on his birthday in high school in Cordova, Calif.

"Against the same team," he said with a laugh. "It was a long time between no-hitters."

For Milwaukee, where Bosio pitched and won 67 games from 1986 through 1992, he pitched two two-hitters. But he never felt he had the kind of fastball that it took to pitch a major league no-hitter.

So he was almost shocked when he did it.

"I'm going to savor it," he said. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime thing. I'm fortunate to have one."

Bosio was good. He was lucky, too. The Mariners made play after play behind him to take hits away from the Red Sox.

Seattle pitcher Chris Bosio ...hurling season's first no-hitter

"There were five or six balls that could have been base hits," Bosio admitted. "It was just the luck of the bounce, I guess."

The play of the night happened in the fifth inning. Mo Vaughn hit a hard grounder that went off first baseman Tino Martinez's glove. But second baseman Bret Boone, backing up Martinez, grabbed the ball with his bare hand and threw to Bosio on the bag for the out.

Whew!

"It was just unbelievable," Bosio said, smiling.

'Dogs face road games in baseball

Staff report

Midland High will take to the road for the last two baseball games of the 1993 season, as the Bulldogs play at 2 p.m. today in San Angelo and close the year with 4:30 p.m. game Tuesday at Abilene High.

Today's other 4-5A games see Odessa Permian at Abilene Cooper while Abilene High plays at Odessa High. Midland Lee is idle.

MHS, 7-13 overall and 3-7 in District 4-5A play, was officially eliminated from the playoff race in its 6-3 loss Tuesday to Odessa High. But the Bulldogs can still have some bearing on who the third-place team from 4-5A will be.

With Lee and Cooper having already sewn up postseason berths — the two are ½-game apart and will play for the district championship on Tuesday — San Angelo and Permian are battling for the last playoff spot. With two games to play, San Angelo is 6-4 in league play while Permian is 5-5.

"We're out of the playoffs, but now we're playing for pride for our seniors and for experience for our younger kids. We also have a chance to dictate who that third-place team is by playing the role of the spoiler," said MHS head coach Rick Wood.

The Bulldogs will also close the season by trying to hold off OHS and remain in fifth place ahead of the Bronchos and AHS.

Of the regulars in the MHS batting order, Mike Melzer is the leading hitter with a .423 average from the lead-off position. Melzer, a senior who has played every infield position but first base in the past two seasons, is a leading candidate for postseason honors along with MHS right fielder Chad Benson (.393) and catcher Tim McLaughlin (.343).

Third baseman Justin Duffield, who has missed the last three games with a broken foot, and center fielder Abel Sanchez are also hitting in the .300 range at .286 and .280 respectively.

Rebels seek larger prize

■ The District 4-5A crown is in the bag, but now comes the larger challenge of the Region I golf tournament for Midland Lee's boys.

By Terry Williamson
Sports editor

The Midland Lee boys golf team hasn't been to the Region I tournament since 1986, but that will change Friday and Saturday when the Rebel golfers hit the Meadowbrook course in Lubbock in search for even loftier heights.

The prize in Lubbock, of course, is earning a state berth in Austin, May 13-14, and Lee coach Bobby Dunn feels the goal is reachable.

"We have a shot at a state berth," Dunn said after his Rebels wrapped up the District 4-5A title by 12 strokes over second place Abilene Cooper at Green Tree Country Club. "There will be some good teams there, but we can play with them if we go out and shoot like we can. It looks like Amaril-

The meaning of freedom in the NFL

By William C. Rhoden
N.Y. Times News Service

■ Sports Analysis

Freeman McNeil wept earlier this week as he announced his retirement from professional football.

After 12 seasons of ducking and dodging, the New York Jets' 34-year-old running back decided that he'd had enough, and that he'd given enough.

For all that he accomplished on the field, however, McNeil's lasting legacy will be the pivotal role he played in forcing owners to grant unprecedented access to free agency for National Football League players.

In 1990, McNeil and seven others filed suit against the NFL, charging that the league's Plan B free-agency system constituted an illegal restraint of trade.

Last fall, in a monumental ruling, the court agreed. In January, attorneys for players and owners devised a new plan that effectively ended a two-decades-long feud over the issue of player movement.

The paradox of the fight, and the players' ultimate triumph, is that McNeil will not benefit from the new system he and other veteran players helped push through. It was a victory for the next generation of players.

Two former teammates, Irv Eatman, 32, and Erik McMillan, 27, have immediately capitalized on the recent surge of open-market liberty. Eatman, who was part the original suit, signed with Los Angeles on March6.

As for McMillan, history will probably show that his career was rescued by the ruling. After Pro Bowl seasons in 1988 and 1989, McMillan and the Jets fell out of favor with each other. He was taken out of the starting lineup, gradually phased out of the defense and labeled as a troublemaker and malcontent.

Earlier this week, the 27-year-old strong safety signed three one-year agreements with Philadelphia.

Under the old restricted system, Philadelphia would have been obliged to give the Jets a player deemed to be of equal value to McMillan. Compensation, as mandated by the owners, generally discouraged teams from selecting free agents because it forced them to mortgage their future for an uncertain present.

But under the new rules of free agency, the Eagles could sign a proven commodity like McMillan without having to relinquish personnel.

Free agency without restrictions, the owners had argued, would wreck competitive balance in the league. But now they seem to love it. By last night, since free-agent signings began on March 1, 89 players had been snapped up by teams other than the ones for which they played last season.

On the eve of the NFL's annual draft there is, in fact, a certain discernible harmony between owners and players. Don't mistake calm for peace: This is merely a truce until the next battle, which could conceivably be waged over the draft.

McNeil wept on Wednesday, but decades of tears will be needed to soften the hardness that has set in between player and owner.

Brewers one-hit Rangers

Associated Press

MILWAUKEE — Cal Eldred pitched one-hit ball for eight innings and struck out 10 Friday night, leading the Milwaukee Brewers over the Texas Rangers 3-0.

Eldred (3-1) gave up a one-out double to Rafael Palmeiro in the first inning and then retired 23 straight batters. After giving up his first walk, to Manuel Lee, to start the ninth, Eldred was relieved by Jesse Orosco.

■ AL Roundup

Brewers manager Phil Garner was booed for taking out Eldred. Orosco finished the combined one-hitter for his first save.

A day after former Brewers teammate Chris Bosio pitched a no-hitter for Seattle against Boston, Eldred came close.

After striking out David Hulse to start the game, Eldred gave up a double into the right field corner by Palmeiro. That was all the Rangers got as they only hit three balls out of the infield all night.

The 6-foot-4, 215-pound Eldred had nine strikeouts through the first five innings and struck out the side in the second and fifth innings. Eldred, 11-2 last season with a 10-game winning streak after his promotion from the minors in July, is now 11-0 in night games during his career.

Milwaukee broke through against Kevin Brown (2-1) in the third, ending his 15-inning scoreless streak with a pair of unearned runs. B.J. Surhoff singled and moved to third when Palmeiro missed John Jaha's grounder to first for a two-base error.

Surhoff was tagged out on bouncer to the mound with runners taking second and third, and Darryl Hamilton then hit a two-run single.

Kevin Reimer singled home another run in the eighth.

White Sox 5, Blue Jays 4

TORONTO — Ron Karkovice hit a three-run double off the glove of third baseman Ed Sprague, highlighting a five-run fourth inning.

Joe Carter's home run off Kirk McCaskill (1-3) put Toronto ahead 3-0 in the third. But the White Sox bounced back the next inning against Al Leiter (1-2).

George Bell drew a one-out walk, Robin Ventura singled and Ellis Burks and Bo Jackson both walked, forcing home a run. Karkovice followed with a two-hop grounder that Sprague tried to backhand, but the ball deflected off his glove and rolled down the line in foul territory.

Lance Johnson was credited with a run-scoring single when he bounced to John Olerud at first base and Al Leiter failed to cover the bag. Karkovice, running hard from second, beat Olerud's throw to the plate for a 5-3 lead.

McCaskill allowed three runs, two earned, on nine hits in 6 1-3 innings. Roberto Hernandez pitched 1 2-3 innings for his third save.

Leiter gave up five runs on four hits in 3 2-3 innings. He walked five and struck out two.

An error by Ventura at third base and singles by Carter and Olerud gave the Blue Jays a 1-0 lead in the first.

Roberto Alomar doubled to start the third, stole third and scored on Darnell Coles' groundout. One out later, Carter hit his fifth home run of the season.

Toronto closed to 5-4 in the eighth on Sprague's RBI grounder.

Royals 7, Orioles 6

KANSAS CITY — Brian McRae hit a three-run homer and Kevin McReynolds also connected during Kansas City's seven-run second inning, and the Royals held off Baltimore.

The Orioles rallied for three runs in the ninth, but lost for the fourth time in five games. Baltimore dropped below Kansas City for the worst record in the majors.

The Royals, who homered twice in a game for the first time this season, have won four of five.

Mark Gardner (1-1) got his first American League victory, giving up three hits in seven innings.

Brady Anderson hit a two-run triple off Rusty Meacham with two outs in the ninth and scored on third baseman Phil Hiatt's error. Jeff Montgomery retired Cal Ripken on a fly ball for his fourth save.

Tigers 12, Twins 4

MINNEAPOLIS — Alan Trammell's first hit of the season, a two-run, pinch-double, keyed a six-run sixth inning and Detroit beat Minnesota.

Tony Phillips led off the game with a home run and Travis Fryman also homered for Detroit and drove in four runs. Minnesota's Dave Winfield hit his 11th career grand slam.

The score was tied at 4 when Detroit batted around in the sixth against Scott Erickson (0-2) and reliever Mark Guthrie. Trammell, hitless in his first 11 at-bats, keyed the burst with his double and Fryman had a sacrifice fly.

Mike Moore (2-1) won for the first time in the Metrodome in 11 starts. His last victory in Minnesota was April 13, 1986, while with Seattle. Erickson lost to Detroit for the first time in eight career decisions.

Angels 4, Red Sox 1

ANAHEIM — Mark Langston held Boston to three hits, a day after the Red Sox were no-hit by Seattle's Chris Bosio.

Langston (2-0) gave up only one hit through eight innings. Boston scored in the ninth on a one-out double by pinch hitter Bob Zupcic and a two-out single by Carlos Quintana.

The Red Sox had gone 27 innings without scoring. Randy Johnson blanked Boston on four hits Wednesday night and Bosio pitched a no-hitter at the Kingdome on Thursday night.

Not since April 27-29, 1981, had the Red Sox been shut out in three straight games.

Astros sting Buc relief

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — Greg Swindell allowed three hits in 8⅓ innings and the Houston Astros, shut down for seven innings by Dave Otto, worked over reliever Denny Neagle for three runs in the eighth to beat Pittsburgh 4-2 Friday night.

The Pirates have lost six of their last seven games.

Swindell (3-1), who started the season 8-2 last year for Cincinnati, has won his last three decisions and is 9-4 against NL East teams the last two seasons.

In the Astros' last two games, Doug Drabek and Swindell — who signed off-season contracts worth a combined $36 million — have limited the Cubs and Pirates to one earned run in 17⅓ innings. Drabek, the former Pirate who won't pitch in this homecoming series, beat the Cubs 2-0 on a five-hitter Wednesday.

Otto, the left-hander who failed to retire a batter in a 6-3 loss to the Dodgers in his previous start, left with a 1-1 tie after limiting the Astros to one unearned run and five hits for seven innings. But the Astros didn't need long to get to Neagle (0-1).

Rockies 5, Marlins 4

DENVER — Colorado beat Florida in the first meeting between baseball's two expansion teams as Charlie Hayes and Jerald Clark hit homers in front of a crowd of 57,784 at Mile High Stadium.

Junior Felix had a club-record four RBIs for the Marlins.

The Rockies (6-9) spotted starter Bruce Ruffin a 4-0 lead in the first inning as Eric Young led off against Chris Hammond (0-3) with a walk and scored on Alex Cole's triple. After another walk, Hayes hit his fourth homer of the season, a 365-foot drive that just cleared the left-field wall.

Ruffin couldn't hold the lead, however. In the third, the Marlins cut the deficit to 4-3 when Hammond walked, Chuck Carr singled and Felix hit a 430-foot homer over the center-field wall.

Steve Reed (1-0) pitched 3⅓ innings of one-hit relief for the victory and Darrin Holmes got the last three outs for the first save by a Colorado pitcher. Holmes entered the game with a 34.71 ERA.

■ NL Roundup

Braves 3, Cardinals 1

ST. LOUIS — Tom Glavine pitched four-hit ball for eight innings and slumping Ron Gant had a tie-breaking single in the eighth as Atlanta beat St. Louis.

Gant, who had just two hits in his previous 27 at-bats, singled with one out in the eighth off reliever Rob Murphy (0-1) to make it 2-1. Gant's hit drove in Jeff Blauser, who had reached second on an error by shortstop Ozzie Smith.

Blauser was on first base when he was caught in a rundown after being picked off by catcher Tom Pagnozzi. But Blauser was awarded second when umpire Tom Hallion ruled that Smith had interfered with Blauser in the rundown.

Phillies 2, Dodgers 0

PHILADELPHIA — Curt Schilling pitched a five-hitter for his second shutout of the season and Dave Hollins hit a home run as Philadelphia beat Los Angeles, sending the Dodgers to their fourth straight loss.

Schilling (3-1), who had 10 complete games and four shutouts in 1992, struck out a career-high nine and walked two. He also shut out Chicago, 3-0, on April 11.

The Phillies scored two runs in the fourth inning off Ramon Martinez (2-2). Hollins led off by hitting a 3-2 pitch for his second home run. He has 10 RBIs in the last seven games.

Darren Daulton followed with a single, moved to third on Wes Chamberlain's double, and scored on Milt Thompson's groundout.

Martinez allowed five hits in seven innings. He struck out one and walked five.

In their four straight losses, the Dodgers have scored eight runs.

Meanwhile, it was the first-place Phillies' 11th victory in their first 15 games.

Cubs 7, Reds 4

CHICAGO — Sammy Sosa hit two home runs and a single, driving in five runs to lead Jose Guzman and Chicago over Cincinnati.

Sosa capped a four-run third off loser Tim Pugh (1-1) with his two-run single, homered with two outs in the fifth after Derrick May had reached on a fielding error by second baseman Bip Roberts and hit his fourth homer in the seventh.

It was the third time Sosa had a two-homer game, the last being last July 10 at St. Louis. The five RBIs equaled his previous high against Baltimore April 8, 1991.

Guzman (3-1) did not have the form he showed in pitching a one-hit shutout in his debut with the Cubs April 6. He gave up Chris Sabo's third homer in the second and, after being saved by a great catch by May in left in the fifth, was knocked out in a three-run seventh. Randy Myers pitched the ninth for his fifth save.

Mets 6, Padres 1

NEW YORK — Bobby Bonilla hit two homers and drove in five runs as New York beat San Diego behind left-hander Frank Tanana.

Bonilla hit a two-run homer in the first inning off Greg Harris (1-3) and added a three-run shot off reliever Pat Gomez in the eighth. Bonilla now has four homers this season — all at home. He hit only .214 at Shea Stadium in 1992 with five homers.

Tanana (2-0) scattered eight hits and gave up one run in eight innings. Mike Maddux finished.

Tanana, signed by New York as a free agent last December after eight seasons with Detroit, struck out seven and walked two.

Expos 7, Giants 2

MONTREAL — Dennis Martinez gave up two runs in 6⅔ innings for his first victory of the season and Greg Colbrunn hit a two-run homer as Montreal beat San Francisco for its fifth straight win.

Martinez (1-3) settled down after allowing a run-scoring double to Will Clark and an RBI single to Barry Bonds in the first inning.

Marquis Grissom hit a solo homer, his third.

LEE: Depth aids title

(From 1C)

lo High, El Paso Coronado and El Paso Hanks have very good teams. There will be others."

Lee cruised to the 4-5A title with a wire-to-wire, four week victory. And one of the big reasons for claiming the title was the fact that the Rebels had the top two medalists in the district.

Senior Eddie Hatch posted a four-round 304 to win the medalist title by six strokes over teammate Mitch Spence, who is also a senior.

"It didn't surprise me that those two came out on top," Dunn said. "First of all, they're both good players. They work hard enough to be good players. Good players overcome bad coaching every time."

Hatch says that winning the individual title wasn't as important as the team winning the championship.

"It's nice to win the medalist title, but I really wasn't thinking much about that until the last couple of holes," Hatch said. "You just want to go out and shoot as low as you can. It's nice that you can have the whole team go with you to the region tournament."

Spence, too, is excited about being region bound.

"It really feels good," Spence said. "We felt like we had a shot a winning district, but we started off playing real well this season and then we had a stretch where we were playing bad. Now we're playing good again."

Spence showed his competitive nature by finishing second to Hatch. Spence, Midland High's Jeremiah Luttrell and Cooper's Chad Wellhausen were all tied for second place with one hole left to play on the 4-5A tour. Spence produced a birdie to take the spot.

While Hatch and Spence are the senior scoring leaders, the Lee team is pretty complete with juniors Matt Clements and Brian Jeffreys and sophomore K.J. Sanchez.

Sanchez, the young lion, finished seventh in the 4-5A medalist race at 317 to earn All-District honors in his first season. Jeffreys and Clements weren't far behind, both at 325. That's pretty solid balance.

"I've never played the Meadowbrook course," Sanchez said, "but it will be a lot of fun to compete in a tournament like that."

Just looking at the two juniors and sophomore keeps a smile on Dunn's face.

"We have three of them back next year, and they can only get better," Dunn said.

However, Dunn said "improvement" is the key word for Lee golf this year.

"Every player improved their stroke average from last year. Hatch improved by 26 strokes," Dunn said. "Also, I think it has helped that they have had a coach all the school year. It used to be that the golf coach was also a football coach and he could spend little time with them in the fall, but we've been out there working nearly every day.

"Also, there are more than five players on this team," Dunn said. "They have pushed this bunch hard. They know if they don't score well, they don't keep their spot."

Chris Hale, for instance, played on Lee's No. 2 team and shot 329 in district play. Gene Ivie, Rob Freeman, Blain Morgan and David Holquin led Lee's No. 2 squad to a seventh place finish, and was 27 strokes better than any other No. 2 team in the district.

BOSIO: Wins expected

(From 1C)

that Valle and the others Mariners admire about the 30-year-old right-hander in the first inning. He walked the first two Boston hitters. He got out of the jam after having a pep talk with himself by getting Mike Greenwell to hit into a double play and then striking out Andre Dawson.

Bosio is in Seattle because the Brewers decided they couldn't afford to keep him.

Bosio put together a 10-game winning streak during the second half of last season. That club-record streak helped Milwaukee push eventual World Series champion Toronto down to the wire.

Sullivan still solid

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Mike Sullivan continued his solid play Friday, posting his first consecutive sub-70 rounds of the year to grab a two-shot lead in the $1.5 million Greater Greensboro Open.

■ Greensboro Open

Sullivan, who has won only twice in 17 seasons on the PGA tour, followed up his 67 of Thursday with a 68 for a 9-under-par score through 36 holes on the Forest Oaks Country Club course.

The former University of Florida golfer had only two top-10 finishes last season and his best this year has been a tie for 23rd after struggling with back problems and playing in only six events.

"I don't think there is anything you can really do to make yourself play better other than to just convince yourself you have to be patient," said Sullivan, whose tour wins came in 1980 and 1989. "In the past that has been my drawback."

Dudley Hart was 7-under par Friday after starting play at the Greensboro Open at even par on Thursday.

Laoretti strikes early

FRISCO, Texas (AP) — U.S. Senior Open champion Larry Laoretti overcame tough conditions to emerge with the first-round lead Friday at the $500,000 Muratec Reunion Pro-Am at Stonebriar Country Club.

Amid winds measured between 35 and 43 mph by the National Weather Service, Laoretti finished with a 2-under 70, two strokes ahead of Don January and Gene Littler.

■ PGA Seniors Golf

He was the only pro in the 78-player field to break even-par 72 at the 6,737-yard course.

Laoretti emerged with the lead on the strength of an opening round that included three birdies and one bogey. Laoretti, 53, was one of only five players to birdie Stonebriar's 411-yard, par-4 18th hole, which played to the highest scoring average on the Senior PGA Senior Tour last season (4.675 strokes per player).

After holing a 40-foot par putt at No. 17, Laoretti knocked a 176-yard approach shot to within four feet of the flag with a 4-iron at No. 18. He made the birdie putt.

George Archer, the defending champ, soared to a 77. Tom

Longhorns own 10-shot lead in SWC golf

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The third-ranked Texas Longhorns fought off windy conditions to post a 2-under-par total of 286 and take a 10-shot lead after the first round of the Southwest Conference Men's Golf Championships at the Pebble Creek Country Club.

Texas took advantage of an early tee time to put a solid start on its bid for a fifth straight conference title.

"As windy as it was today, I think 2-under is a good score," Texas coach Jimmy Clayton said. "This is exactly what we needed to do today."

The big story for the Longhorns was not two-time defending champion Justin Leonard, but No. 5 player Stuart Wallace.

Wallace, a senior from Houston, made the most of his first SWC tournament, firing a 3-under 69 to

Bodine becomes seventh to win pole position

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Geoff Bodine became the seventh different NASCAR Winston Cup polesitter in eight events this season, breaking the Martinsville Speedway record Friday on the way to earning the top qualifying spot for Sunday's Hanes 500.

Bodine, driving a Ford Thunderbird owned by Bud Moore, turned a lap of 93.887 mph on the slightly banked .526-mile oval, smashing the mark of 93.171 set in September of 1991 by Mark Martin. It was tghe 30th pole of Bodine's career.

Six drivers were faster than the previous record, including runnerup Hut Stricklin at 93.530 in another Ford.

Rookie Jeff Gordon, driving a Chevrolet Lumina, was next at 93.479, followed by the Pontiacs of Kyle Petty and Winston Cup point leader Rusty Wallace, at 93.322 and 93.93.276, respectively.

■ Hanes 500

Davey Allison, who calls the Martinsville track his "nemesis," came up with a solid 93.184 in a Thunderbird, finally giving him an opportunity to pit on the front straight in a Martinsville race.

Only the top 17 qualifiers pit in the front, with the rest of the field having the disadvantage of making their stops on the back straightaway.

Bodine, who came up with his seventh Martinsville pole — second only to Darrell Waltip's eight — said, "We'd run pretty good in practice, but we hadn't even come close to that. I'm really surprised that we were that fast.

"When I saw Hut go that fast, I thought that was going to be it, but we just had a real good lap."

Stricklin said, "That's pretty good, but it was a tick tight. We thought the track was going to loosen up a little bit. We were debating whether to change the car or not and decided just to leave it like it was. ... But that's not bad."

Bodine's last previous Martinsville pole came at the 1990 Hanes 500.

Asked if his background in modified racing on this track gave him an edge as a Winston Cup driver, Bodine said, "It doesn't matter what you drive here. You drive it in deep and get on the gas early.

"The trick is not to hit the wall after you drive it in deep, and not spin the tires when you get on the gas."

Taking note of the half-dozen drivers who were faster than the old track record, Bodine said the weather, with sunny skies and temperatures in the 60's, combined with Goodyear's latest radial racing tire were the reason.

"The sun normally slows you down some, but the tires Goodyear came out with like the heat," Bodine explained. "They need the sun to heat 'em up. It was just the right combination."

The top 20 qualifiers locked in positions for Sunday's 500-lap race, with a round of time trials on Saturday determining the final 12 positions.

Among the drivers who failed to make it into the top 20 Friday were Waltrip, Harry Gant, Jimmy Spencer, Derrike Cope, Morgan Shepherd, Sterling Marlin, and Dale Earnhardt, currently second in the Winston Cup points.

Mustangs drop two to LCS

Though Midland Christian suffered a doubleheader sweep Friday at Angels Stadium, the Mustangs are headed for the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools baseball playoffs.

MCS was defeated by district champion Lubbock Christian 22-1 and 16-2 Friday, sending the 'Stangs to 11-10 for the season. The victories made LCS 4-0 in league play while second-place MCS fell to 2-2.

The Mustangs now prepare for the TAPPS postseason, where they will face Fort Worth Calvary in the first round. That game will be Tuesday in Abilene, but a time and site have yet to be determined.

Sand Slam '93 set at new MC court

Sand Slam '93 will be the inaugural event at the Midland College's new sand volleyball court, according to architecture faculty sponsor John Edgar.

The event, scheduled for Thursday and Friday, will feature a men's division and co-recreational division. The tournament is three-on-three competition.

The tournament will begin at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, with a tuneup bracket starting at 10 a.m. There is no charge in the tuneup bracket. The regular tournament will feature prizes for first, second and worst places.

"This is our first tournament," said Edgar, whose architecture club is building the court. "So we are limiting the number of teams to 12 in each division. We have also limited the entry fee to $15 per team, to make sure that everyone who wants to come out and help us get this kicked off will be able to do so."

Edgar said rollerblading will also be featured during the tournament, with the college providing a route for the skaters. Rental fee will be 50 cents per hour.

There are still a few spots open in each of the volleyball divisions. Teams interested in signing up should call intramural director Tommy Ramos at 685-4701 or 685-4544 on Monday. Edgar said Sand Slam '93 will be the first in a series of events to be held at the volleyball court this summer. There are also plans for several summer leagues, as well as tentative plans for another, larger tournament around July 4.

Edgar said with the entry fee being so low, he is hoping to raise money at the concession stand to help pay for the cost of the court — estimated at $1,750.

The court will be located next to the Physical Education Building inside the circle across from Chaparral Center. Edgar said anyone interested in joining or forming a summer league can come out to the tournament and talk to him then.

Mavs avoid worst team tag

Associated Press

■ NBA Roundup

DALLAS — Rookie Jim Jackson scored a career-high 32 points Friday night and the Dallas Mavericks avoided association with the 1972-73 Philadelphia 76ers as the worst team in NBA history with a 103-100 victory over Minnesota.

The Mavs earned their 10th victory of the season to get out of a tie with the 76ers with just one game left. Philadelphia was 9-73 in 1972-73; Dallas is now 10-71.

But there's nothing the Mavericks can do abut the worst season in club history. The previous low win total was 15 in the expansion year of 1980.

Jackson, the No. 1 pick from Ohio State who didn't join the team until March, scored 20 points in the second half as the announced sellout crowd of 17,502 celebrated the team's escape from NBA infamy.

Micheal Williams was 11 for 11 from the free-throw line to pass Larry Bird for third place in NBA history with 74 free throws in a row. The record is 78 straight by Calvin Murphy of the Houston Rockets.

Knicks 99, 76ers 84

PHILADELPHIA — New York, taking advantage of Chicago's loss at Charlotte, clinched homecourt advantage in the Eastern Conference playoffs with a victory over Philadelphia behind Patrick Ewing's 26 points and 24 rebounds.

The Knicks needed a win against the Sixers and a loss by the Bulls to avoid a Sunday showdown with Chicago at Madison Square Garden. Because of a disadvantage in records against playoff teams in the conference, New York would have had to beat the Bulls Sunday in order to gain homecourt advantage.

Friday night's results left the Knicks with a 59-22 record compared to Chicago's 57-24.

Hornets 104, Bulls 103

CHARLOTTE, NC. — Chicago, needing a victory to set up a Sunday showdown with New York for homecourt advantage in the Eastern Conference, lost to Charlotte on Larry Johnson's two free throws with 2.9 seconds left.

Michael Jordan's basket gave Chicago a 103-102 edge with 17 seconds left. After a timeout, Johnson took the ball from Kendall Gill and drove toward the basket, where he was fouled by Darrell Walker.

Johnson, who scored 31 points, sank the free throws, and the Hornets' third victory over the Bulls in 21 ties was sealed when Dell Curry intercepted Scottie Pippen's inbounds pass intended for Jordan, who scored 38 points. The win also kept Charlotte tied with Atlanta for the sixth spot in the Eastern Conference playoffs.

Magic 119, Nets 116

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Orlando kept its slim playoff hopes alive with a victory over New Jersey as Nick Anderson capped a 50-point performance with a jumper in the lane with 37 seconds left.

The Magic scored 10 straight points and 12 of the final 15 to rally from a six-point deficit with 2:20 to go. The Nets loss was their ninth in 10 games.

Orlando has a chance at the NBA's final playoff spot, which is now up for grabs between Orlando (40-41), Indiana (40-41) and Detroit (39-42). If all three teams finished tied, Detroit will get the spot.

Celtics 107, Cavaliers 99

BOSTON — The Boston Celtics outshot the NBA's best shooting team and capitalized on injuries to Brad Daugherty and Larry Nance to dominate inside in a 107-99 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers on Friday night.

The score was tied four times in the fourth quarter before two free throws by Rick Fox with 4:53 left gave the Celtics the lead for good, 96-94.

Boston, 5-1 in its last six games, hit 57 percent of its shots to 51 percent for the Cavs, who saw their 10-game winning streak end. The Celtics held a 41-28 advantage on the boards.

Hawks 122, Bucks 106

ATLANTA — Rookie Adam Keefe scored a career-high 30 points as Atlanta reserves outscored the Hawks' starters 71-51 in a victory over Milwaukee.

It was the third consecutive victory for the playoff-bound Hawks and was the seventh loss in a row for the Bucks.

Keefe, whose previous best output was 17 points, had 13 in a 22-6 second-quarter run that gave the Hawks a 58-47 lead, then added 14 points in the fourth quarter. Keefe made 12 of 13 shots and all six free throws.

Heat 121, Bullets 120

MIAMI — Grant Long capped a 31-point performance by hitting a 20-foot jumper with 3.8 seconds remaining in overtime, lifting Miami Heat past Washington.

Rex Chapman, who missed a 3-point attempt at the end of regulation, missed the rim on a desperation 26-footer at the buzzer.

Long tied his career scoring high and grabbed 10 rebounds in the Heat's final home game of the season.

Pistons 109, Pacers 104

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. — Isiah Thomas scored nine of his 20 points in the fourth quarter and Bill Laimbeer had a season-high 24 points as Detroit staved off elimination from the NBA playoff picture with a victory over Indiana.

But the Pistons still need help to avoid missing the playoffs for the first time since 1983, when Thomas was a second-year player and Scotty Robertson was the coach.

Jazz 105, Warrior 91

SALT LAKE CITY — Jeff Malone scored 19 points and Karl Malone added 18 as Utah used a 16-4 fourth-quarter run to defeat Golden State.

Toronto returns home after win over Detroit

Associated Press

TORONTO — Dave Andreychuk scored two goals and Felix Potvin sparkled in goal to lead the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 4-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings in their Norris Division playoff series on Friday night.

It was the Maple Leafs' first victory in the best-of-7 series after the Red Wings opened up with two wins at home. Game 4 will be played at Maple Leaf Gardens on Sunday and Game 5 is Tuesday in Detroit.

Wendel Clark and Rob Pearson each had a goal for the Maple Leafs. The total team effort had a capacity crowd of 15,720 on its feet applauding in appreciation during the final minute.

Detroit's goals were scored by Sergei Fedorov and Steve Chiasson.

The Red Wings had killed the Leafs with special-teams goals in winning 6-3 and 6-2 in Detroit. Toronto coach Pat Burns pleaded for smarter hockey from his players, and they delivered Friday night, avoiding the needless penalties that got them into so much trouble in Detroit.

Blues 3, Blackhawks 0

ST. LOUIS — Curtis Joseph shut out the suddenly punchless Chicago for the second straight game as St. Louis won to take a commanding three games to none lead in their opening-round playoff series.

The Norris Division champion Blackhawks had 106 points in the regular season, 21 more than the fourth-place Blues, but to advance in the playoffs they face extremely long odds. Only two teams in NHL history, the 1942 Toronto Maple Leafs and the 1975 New York Islanders, have rallied from 3-0 deficits to win in the playoffs.

Game 4 is Sunday afternoon in St. Louis.

The Blackhawks were shut out only three times in the regular season, but they haven't scored since Brian Noonan scored his third goal for a 3-1 lead at 8:51 of the second period in Game 1 Sunday. The Blues rallied to win that game 4-3 and Joseph made 47 saves in the Blues' 2-0 victory in Game 2 Wednesday night.

Joseph didn't have to work as hard in Game 3, making 34 saves, and facing few tough chances. He stopped Steve Larmer after a giveaway in the St. Louis zone late in the first period and Noonan hit the right post at 6:35 of the third.

Jets 5, Canucks 4

WINNIPEG, Manitoba — Teemu Selanne shook off his shadows and scored three goals to lead Winnipeg over Vancouver.

The Canucks, whose tight checking kept the league's leading goal-scorer scoreless in the first two games of the NHL playoffs, still lead the best-of-7 Smythe Division semifinal 2-1. Game 4 is Sunday.

Luciano Borsato, with a rare shorthanded goal, and Keith Tkachuk had the other Winnipeg goals.

Trevor Linden and Pavel Bure each scored twice for Vancouver.

Canucks goaltender Kirk McLean made several good saves early in the game but could do nothing on Tkachuk's tip of a Phil Housley blast from the point or Selanne's drive from the circle on a power play.

Vancouver then scored on another of Winnipeg's all-too-frequent miscues. Alexei Zhamnov coughed up the puck at his blue line and Bure's weak shot slid under a falling Bob Essensa on the ensuing breakaway.

But Selanne scored again — another power-play goal from his favorite spot to the right of the goal.

■ NHL Playoffs

UT beats Tech, 4-2

Associated Press

LUBBOCK — Brooks Kieschnick won his 12th game and hit his 18th homer Friday as the second-ranked Texas Longhorns beat No. 15 Texas Tech 4-2.

Kieschnick (12-2) struck out 10 and gave up six hits in nine innings as the Longhorns improved to 43-8 overall and 10-3 in the Southwest Conference. Tech fell to 37-12 and 7-6.

In the fourth, Kieschnick hit a Kevin Hannah pitch over the fence and tied him with Scott Bryant (1988) in the Texas record books for homers in a season.

■ SWC Baseball

Chad Blessing added a two-run double in the inning for a 4-1 Texas lead.

Hannah (6-1) went the distance, allowing seven hits and striking out six.

Tech scored in the first when Brody Gregg, who led off with a walk, scored on a sacrifice to center by Cliff Bryant.

The Raiders' George Kilford hit a homer in the seventh.

Texas A&M 7, Rice 6

COLLEGE STATION — Junior lefthander Jeff Granger struck out 14 batters and allowed four hits in Texas A&M's 7-6 victory over Rice. Brian Thomas hit two homers for the Aggies.

Despite committing five errors, the Aggies (42-6) maintained their one-game lead over Texas in the Southwest Conference race. Texas A&M is 11-2 in the SWC.

Rice fell to 35-14 and 7-9.

Granger (11-2) allowed just one earned run as third baseman Lee Fedora committed four errors and right fielder Stephen Claybrook dropped a flyball as Rice rallied from a 5-2 deficit to take a 6-5 lead after four innings.

But Thomas, who hit a two-run homer in the fourth, tripled with one out in the fifth and scored on Rob Trimble's infield single.

In the seventh, Thomas hit his second homer, a solo shot to left and his 12th of the season.

Brent Binder (0-1) suffered the loss.

Baylor 11, Texas Christian 5

WACO — Joe Wharton scattered seven hits in nine innings and Mike Bohny drove in three runs in Baylor's drubbing of Texas Christian University.

Wharton allowed three earned runs, walked four and struck out eight.

Kelly Johns was tagged with the loss, giving up 10 hits, nine runs, seven of them earned, in 5⅓ innings. He walked four and struck out five.

Baylor broke open a close game with a six-run sixth inning. Every hitter in the Bears' lineup got at least one hit. Mark Martin went 2 for 4 with two RBIs and Wharton went 2 for 5 and scored thrice.

TCU's Joe Cardenas went 2 for 3 with a homer and three RBIs.

Baylor improved to 31-16 overall and 7-6 in the Southwest Conference. TCU fell to 32-19 and 3-10.

Edberg back to net basics

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Top seed Stefan Edberg went back to basics to stop Andrei Medvedev's clay-court run with a 6-4, 6-3 quarterfinal victory Friday at the Monte Carlo Open.

The Ukrainian teen-ager had won two tournaments and 13 matches in a row, advancing to No. 11 in the world.

Defending champion Thomas Muster joined Edberg in the semifinals by routing Spanish qualifier Alex Corretja, 6-2, 6-2. France's Cedric Pioline defeated Jonas Svensson of Sweden, 6-3, 6-4.

In an all-Spanish quarterfinal, 1991 champion Sergi Bruguera beat Carlos Costa, 7-6 (10-8), 6-2.

Saturday's semifinals of the $1.65 million event match Edberg against Pioline and Bruguera against Muster.

Edberg said he played smart and didn't want to complicate things.

Gimme Moore

LOS ANGELES — Moviegoers continued shouting "gimme Moore" as they flocked to "Indecent Proposal" for the second blockbuster weekend in a row. The provocative, $1 million-for-a-night-with-Demi drama earned another $14.7 million, bringing its 12-day, cumulative gross to almost $48 million — the fastest financial pace of any 1993 release so far.

How fast? Consider this: The weekend past also saw Disney's "Aladdin" become the first movie to gross $100 million in 1993 — and that accumulated since way back on Jan. 1. If "Indecent's" torrid early pace holds — and with little distracting competition scheduled until well into May, there's nothing to impede it — the love-for-money movie could hit the century mark within a month.

Pay-for-new

Tele-Communications Inc. and Carolco Pictures are negotiating a deal that would allow Tele-Communications, the nation's biggest cable operator, to show new Carolco films on its pay-per-view network at the same time they are released in theaters, several people close to the negotiations said Thursday.

The agreement would represent the first pact between a cable operator and a film company to release films simultaneously. However, one executive close to Carolco said that the deal would apply to only four or five films annually during a four- or five-year period. He said Tele-Communications would probably charge viewers $20 to $40 a film.

Universal banking on 'Jurassic Park'

By Bernard Weinraub
N.Y. Times News Service

HOLLYWOOD — Every major movie studio moves in cycles, good years and poor ones. And every so often a studio will pin its hopes on a single film to rescue it from the wounding financial and even psychological doldrums of a slate of unsuccessful films. This spring that studio is Universal, which is banking just about everything on Steven Spielberg's "Jurassic Park."

Based on Michael Crichton's best-seller about dinosaurs genetically recreated for the ultimate theme park, the movie opens June 11. That can't be soon enough for Universal, whose senior executives haven't even seen the movie yet but are plainly edgy about the success of the venture.

Talk of Hollywood

Since it's Hollywood — where studio executives always profess "light at the end of the tunnel" optimism — no one at Universal is publicly expressing anxiety. "It's not that big a risk," said Thomas P. Pollock, the chairman of the MCA Motion Picture Group, which is owned by the Matsushita Electrical Industrial Co. "It's only a risk in terms of our expectations."

Well, not quite. Officially "Jurassic Park" cost $56 million, although other executives and financial analysts said the movie and its advertising would probably run nearly $100 million. MCA is planning to turn the film into an industry of its own, with virtually every marketing and merchandising gimmick in the book. This will probably include making the "Jurassic Park" dinosaurs a theme park attraction.

Unlike Spielberg's last film, "Hook," which had such stars as Robin Williams, Dustin Hoffman and Julia Roberts, "Jurassic Park," whose cast includes Sam Neill, Laura Dern, Jeff Goldblum and Richard Attenborough, focuses on special effects.

To give Spielberg a free financial hand in making "Jurassic Park," Universal has deliberately cut back on most of its other films. A result has been a spate of cheaper films, a handful of them good but most of them much less so.

While such Universal movies as "Scent of a Woman," "Sneakers,"

Laura Dern and Richard Attenborough star in "Jurassic Park."

THIS BOY'S LIFE

Bronx-born beauty tackles difficult roles, career

By Bob Strauss
N.Y. Times News Service

Childhoods and wicked stepparents in the 1950s have been beaten so thoroughly into dust that a compelling, dramatic interpretation of either is nigh impossible by now.

With the help of two outstanding actors, "This Boy' s Life" director Michael Caton-Jones has come close to achieving the impossible. Based on Tobias Wolff's award-winning memoir, the film's script, by Robert Getchell ("Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore"), is virtually allergic to false sentimentality and cheap nostalgia.

But it is the profound honesty with which Robert De Niro and young Leonardo DiCaprio inhabit their roles that sells the whole, sadly stirring thing.

DiCaprio plays the adolescent Toby Wolff, wandering the West with his free-spirited, divorced mother Caroline (Ellen Barkin doing wonders with an underwritten part). They're searching for who knows what, moving on whenever she doesn't find it. More to the point, Caroline's also running, from memories of Toby's charming betrayer of a father (described in Wolff's brother Geoffrey's book "The Duke of Deception") and too many subsequent, tattooed lovers.

By the time they hit Seattle, Caroline's running on empty. When the ardent Dwight Hansen (De Niro)—a fake hipster who seems congenitally incapable of sounding sincere—comes around, her weakened defenses crumble.

As part of their charadelike courtship, Dwight takes Toby, who's drifting into delinquency, up to his hometown of Concrete for a get-to-know-each other month. The real Dwight emerges on the harrowing drive to the isolated, Cascades burg: Toby's getting a paper route (no bike, Dwight keeps the money), joining the Boy Scouts and Ellen Barkin bites into a strawberry and takes a sip of decaf. Slowly, her face crinkles up into her signature lopsided squint-grin. "Just look at this body," she says, at once amused and exasperated. She is pointing to herself.

Esthetically speaking, it is a pleasing body, as those who have seen her sexual duels in "The Big Easy," "Sea of Love" or "Switch" will vividly recall. And from the perspective of a visitor roughly her age (still under 40 and, says Ms. Barkin, we'll just leave it at that), it is downright enviable: slender and full and taut in all the right places. So?

"I just had a baby three months ago. Would I look like this if I wasn't an actress? I mean, come on!"

If one wonders why Ellen Barkin, a perennial critic's darling, hasn't yet clambered onto the A list of Hollywood actresses that includes Barbra, Michelle, Julia and Geena, the answer is apparent by meeting's end: the woman has a bit of an attitude problem.

True, she puts in the gym time to stay in competitive shape. She pops up in Liz Smith's column and People magazine just enough to meet her minimum celebrity-party requirement. She has costarred with a few good men: Dennis Quaid, Al Pacino, Jack Nicholson and now Robert De Niro, in "This Boy's Life," which opened

ON SCREEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: The rating system for the film list: 4 stars — Don't miss it; 3 stars — worth your while; 2 stars — Has it moments; 1 star — If you must.

N.Y. Times News Service

THE ADVENTURES OF HUCK FINN: Kiddie version of the Mark Twain Mississippi classic, with the key kid miscast. Elijah Wood is too young, bland and moppety to convince as the rangy, peculiar-talking, adolescent adventurer. Courtney B. Vance is much better as Huck's river raftmate, the escaped slave Jim; he brings dignity to a potentially negative stereotype, and comes off fully human to boot. PG. Rating: 2 stars

BENNY & JOON: Johnny Depp enlivens this quirky romance with his fresh performance as an illiterate, slapstick genius. He brings laughter and love into the lives of Joon (Mary Stuart Masterson), an artist who suffers bouts of insanity, and exasperated liberation to her over-protective brother (Aidan Quinn). Too cute by half — the script's by a former circus clown — but well-made, charming and ultimately winning. PG. Rating: 3 stars

THE BODYGUARD: Ludicrous romantic thriller starring Whitney Houston as a glamorous Hollywood superstar and Kevin Costner as the bodyguard hired to protect her from a psychotic fan. It's predictable and slackly performed. R. Rating: 1 star

BORN YESTERDAY: Not a bad remake of the old Garson Kanin warhorse about a dumb blonde smartened up by a Washington intellectual, although it needs more laughs. Judy Holliday won an Oscar for her performance in the 1950 film, but Melanie Griffith's contemporary version is arguably richer — not as funny, but warmer, sexier and less of a caricature. PG. Rating: 3 stars

COP AND A HALF: Insultingly stupid story about a kid who witnesses a murder, but won't share his evidence with the police until they make him a cop-for-a-day. Burt Reynolds stars as the gruff, kid-hating cop assigned to take care of the youngster. High jinks ensue. PG. Rating: 1 star

THE DARK HALF: It may just be Stephen King's "Dr. Jekyll" rehash, but "The Dark Half" makes for one of the formulaic author's better movie adaptations. The fact that the transfer to film was handled by Gothic satirist George A. Romero, who created the "Night of the Living Dead" trilogy, was clearly an enormous help. R. Rating: 3 stars.

A FEW GOOD MEN: Director Rob Reiner's solidly entertaining adaptation of the hit Broadway courtroom drama has everything — strong performances, brisk dialogue, crackling intrigue and tension — except a satisfying finale, where a climactic confession comes far too easily and diffuses the drama. Tom Cruise and Demi Moore star as Naval attorneys defending Marines on murder charges; Jack Nicholson plays the commanding officer of the base where the incident took place. PG-13. Rating: 3 stars

FOREVER YOUNG: Dumb and derivative, but surprisingly easy to take, romantic fantasy nonsense. Mel Gibson plays a 1939 test pilot who agrees to a suspended animation experiment when his lifelong love is hit by a truck. Unfrozen in 1992, he helps a fatherless boy (Elijah Wood) and his neat nurse mom

REVIEW: 'Proposal' still popular choice

(Jamie Lee Curtis), who in turn help the rapidly aging good guy escape from government goons. PG. Rating: 2 stars

HEAR NO EVIL: "Wait Until Dark" retooled for Marlee Matlin, so the jeopardized heroine is deaf rather than blind. The new approach doesn't work as well — there's always a 50-50 chance that she'll turn and see the killer sneaking up on her, which she almost always does. R. Rating: 2 stars

INDECENT PROPOSAL: The latest date-night debate movie from the "Fatal Attraction" people runs out of steam halfway through, but it's pretty provocative up to then. Robert Redford's amoral financier offers Demi Moore and Woody Harrelson's financially stressed married couple $1 million for a night with her. So far, so sleazy, but after the dirty deal is consummated, the drama collapses into a cowardly, conventional romantic triangle. R. Rating: 2 and a half stars

THE JUDAS PROJECT: The ads say, "In a time of darkness, a man of true greatness gave his life to save humanity. The man was the Son of God. The time is now." A drama that translates the last months of Jesus's life to the present-day. PG-13. Not yet rated.

THE SANDLOT: Slackly written and poorly directed reverie over how baseball brings a group of disparate boys together in the summer of '62. Kids may enjoy some of the high jinks, but parents will have to really love their progeny to sit through this. PG. Rating: 2 stars

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES III: More of the same, only more confusing. Writer-/director Stuart Gillard, thinking he'll go artsy on us and make a reptilian "Yojimbo," slapped together this muddle concerning time travel, 17th-century Japan, corrupt gunrunners, social rebellion and bonding with kids. PG-13. Rating: 1 and a half stars

UNFORGIVEN: Clint Eastwood's finest achievement is an unflinching examination of the price paid for violence and other dysfunctions of the American character. Finally giving a soul and a fate to his Man With No Name, the director plays a decrepit ex-gunslinger out to earn one last bounty. R. Rating: 4 stars

THE VANISHING: Fans of Dutch director George Sluzier's 1988 psychological drama about two men obsessed with the disappearance of a woman (one who knows her fate, the other who desperately wants to know) will likely loathe this hopped-up Americanized version. Thriller fans unfamiliar with the earlier film, however, should find it pretty engaging, at least until the overheated finale, which deviates egregiously from the original's shocker conclusion and veers into standard-issue horror fare. It concerns a young man (Kiefer Sutherland) seeking his missing girlfriend (Sandra Bullock), who has been abducted by a sinister science teacher (Jeff Bridges). Nancy Travis plays a woman whose relationship with Sutherland is sorely tested by his obsession. R. Rating: 2 stars

Ratings for children are by the Motion Picture Association of America: (G) general audiences; (PG) parental guidance suggested as some material may not be suitable for children; (PG-13) special guidance for children under age 13 as some material may be inappropriate for youngsters; (R) restricted, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian; (NC-17) no children under 17 admitted; (NR) not rated by the MPAA.

PARK: Studio seeks success

(From 1D)

"Housesitter," and "Beethoven" were generally well-received, and have made money, they were outnumbered by such financial disappointments as "Mr. Baseball," "The Babe," "Stop! Or My Mom Will Shoot," "Leaving Normal," "Out on a Limb," "Dr. Giggles" and the big-budget Tom Cruise epic, "Far and Away."

The net effect is that across Hollywood, the Universal movie list over the last two years is generally viewed as an unhappy one. "Universal has had two terrible years in a row," said one of the most powerful agents in town, who spoke on condition of anonymity. "They don't seem to have an agenda, except for 'Jurassic Park.'"

The major competition for "Jurassic Park" this summer includes "Last Action Hero," starring Arnold Schwarzenegger, opening June 18, and "In the Line of Fire," starring Clint Eastwood, opening on July 9, from Columbia; "Cliffhanger," starring Sylvester Stallone, opening May 28, from Tri-Star; "The Firm," starring Tom Cruise, which was one of the last films approved by the former studio chief, Brandon Tartikoff, from Paramount, and "Rising Sun," opening July 30, from 20th Century Fox. Each of those films has blockbuster potential.

There are also potential comedy sleepers that have received strong word-of-mouth support, including Tri-Star's "Sleepless in Seattle," with Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan, opening on June 25; Warner's "Free Willie," about a boy and a friendly whale, opening on July 16, and John Hughes's latest, "Dennis the Menace," which opens on June 25.

Overall, the summertime, which generates 40 percent of annual box-office business, will offer 60 new films, a 33 percent increase over last year, according to Variety.

But though the summer lineup appears formidable, Pollock, the head of Universal, makes it plain that he's not too worried — at least publicly — and he strongly defends his studio's strategy.

Films like "Cop and a Half" or "CB4" may not exactly make the 10-best lists, he said, but they will make money, which is, after all, what counts in Hollywood.

BARKIN: Director feels feistiness a sign of caring

(From 1D)

on Friday. And she's certainly publicity-savvy. At tantalizing moments during an interview she insists that a tape recorder be stopped. Then she'll dish memorably, all off the record.

So?

Well, there is that insinuatingly vague, kiss-of-death label: difficult. Blake Edwards, who directed her in "Switch" and is fond of her, nonetheless says: "She can be somewhat of an emotional bully. She's very suspicious of people. She's a street fighter, very complex, very sexy. And there's also a frightened little girl in there; that's where the mistrust comes from. You know that line, 'She's an interesting cat, but don't put your hand in the cage' ? "

Michaal Caton-Jones, the director of "This Boy's Life," takes Ms. Barkin's contentiousness in stride. "One man's difficulty is another man's conversation," he says, and then sighs. "She is very intelligent and would quesion me a lot. Ellen is feisty. But that never bothers me: it means an actor really cares."

Ms. Barkin does concede that she's a practiced scrapper: as a teenager from Queen, N.Y., in the 60s she ran with a tough girl gang and, in the 70s, she was a snarlish downtown waitress par excellence ("I trained at the Mickey Ruskin School of Surly Waitressing"). so she has no problem getting in the face of a screenwriter, a director or a producer. But, she retorts, "having an opinion and sticking to your guns — if you're a man, like Nick Nolte, Al Pacino or Robert De Niro — means 'deeply talented and deeply committed.' If you're a woman, it means 'You're difficult.' "

Other A-list disqualifiers: she's not a workaholic — just about one big picture a year — she lives on the wrong coast and does summers and Christmas in ... Ireland (with her husband, the Irish actor Gabriel Byrne.)

She also makes strange, anti-leading lady career choices. She turned down a role in a subsequently much-debated film because she hated its sexual politics. (She declines to specify which movie.) Boldly leaped instead for "Switch," in which she played a male lustivore who is reincarnated as a woman: a farce that, despite some hilarious moments, got dissappointing reviews.

And then Ms. Barkin shows up in small, independent movies and takes bite-size roles. She appears in her friend John Turturro's current movie, "Mac," playing a self-absorbed artists model. In "This Boy's Life," in which she portrays a vivacious woman who leaves one violent relationship only to get trapped in another that's far more ominous, the part is a supporting one, beind De Niro and Leonardo DiCaprio, who plays her teen-age son.

In the lyrical "Into the West," directed by Mike Newell and opening in August, she plays fifth banana in a role smaller that that of her husband (the film's associate producer), two young boys and a large white horse.

Over a languorous Sunday brunch last month in a barrowed East Village apartment, she nibbled at food and picked at Hollywood, talked about sexuality, marriage and motherhood.

A visit with Ellen Barkin is not like a visit with a typical movieland diva: no sign of pampered, baroque behavior. Her blond hair bobbed, her voice husky, she is wearing tight black leather pants, black work boots, a shapeless gray sweater, and saucy gold hoop earrings and bangle bracelets. Less a personality than, well, a person, she checks in with the baby sitter for her two chidlren and rinses oput the coffee filter. Blunt and often quite funny, she likes to turn the tables ("Well, what do you think?" she'll say) and seems to relish questons that make her work hard.

Since her tour-de-force performance in the 1989 thriller "Sea of Love," her name has come to be associated with powerfully sexual roles.

LIFE: 18-year-old takes command with DeNiro

(From 1D)

generally doing whatever Dwight demands. He'll straighten the undisciplined lad out if it kills him.

A month later, on one of the most appalling wedding nights ever filmed, Caroline discovers just how deep Dwight's creepiness runs, too. They remain in his house of horrors for three torturous years.

De Niro proves here that the master of cinematic sociopathy still has a lot to show us. Dwight is as unsettling a presence as Jake LaMotta or Al Capone, but unlike a lot of recent De Niro characters, apart from his energetic rage he resembles neither.

As insecure as he is duplicitous, selfish and mean, Dwight is a fearsome fool, prone to looking goofy in loud ties and scoutmaster uniforms that he thinks are sharp. His northwest backwoods accent makes him sound even dopier. Yet there's a terrifying brilliance to his tyrant's mind. It registers every possible slight, every vague (and not so vague) insult — then deduces the most hurtful possible ways of payback.

And up against this virtuoso display by one of the world's greatest actors, 18-year-old DiCaprio takes command. The film unfolds from Toby's viewpoint — which perhaps excuses the way his three step-siblings all but fade into the wallpaper — and the observant, resentful, egocentric boy is always in control of the story's interpretation, if not its events.

DiCaprio exhibits an impressive range and an even more impressive sense of proportion. Called upon to be sensitive, smart-mouthed, naive, hurt, angry, cocky and more, he does them all without ever overwhelming the character's fundamental intelligence. It's as full and convincing a portrait of rebellious adolescence as the movies have given us.

An efficient traffic director up until now, Caton-Jones ("Memphis Belle," "Doc Hollywood") connects with this emotionally rich material, investing it with all the subtlety and vibrance it deserves. Then again, Wolff's story is so well-detailed — despite his myopia about others who did not affect him as strongly, the author's sympathy for the roots of Dwight's monstrousness is never in question — few who see it will fail to be moved.

In so faithfully recounting the specific incidents of "This Boy's Life," the author, filmmakers and actors address everyone's parent-child traumas. It's that rare movie that will make you feel for Wolff and his painful upbringing, while making you reconsider your own.

"STUNNING.
This is well-crafted Hollywood filmmaking in full bloom - moving, smart and made with passion. Leonardo Di Caprio is astonishingly talented. De Niro at his best."
- David Ansen, NEWSWEEK

DELIVERY

MOONLIGHTING!
The Midland Reporter-Telegram has several distributorships which need to be filled with responsible individuals

OFTEN ASKED QUESTIONS:
Is it worthwhile for adults also?
Yes! Our current distributor force is already 90% adult and 10% youth. Morning newspaper routes are attractive for:
- ADULTS who have full-time jobs, yet want to supplement their income with a steady part-time job.
- MOTHERS who can't justify a small job and daycare, because as a distributor, you do not need daycare!
- STUDENTS needing a part-time job which will work with classes!
- SENIOR CITIZENS wanting regular exercise, added income, or just want to work with people, neighbors, and friends.

How much money can I make as a distributor?
Depending on the size of distributor ship from $300 to $700 monthly! Some make even more!

How long does it take?
The actual delivery takes 1-2 hours Monday-Saturday, and 2-3 hours on Sunday, again depending on the size of the distributorship. Also, a few hours a month are needed to collect from subscribers. Many distributors choose to handle some of this by putting envelopes in subsribers' papers. Collecting in person will be necessary though!

When do papers have to be delivered by?
6 a.m. Monday-Friday and 7 a.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Do I ever get a day off?
