Final U.S. hostage freed

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said American hostage Terry Anderson had been freed today by his Shiite Muslim captors and was safely in Syrian hands.

The statement followed contradictory reports earlier about the whereabouts of Anderson, who had been held 6½ years and was the last American hostage in Lebanon.

Perez de Cuellar, who oversaw the negotiations for the release of Western hostages, told The Associated Press in New York that Anderson was with Syrian officials in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley and heavy snow had delayed his transfer to Damascus.

"I am sure this is a technical problem. I think mainly due to snow, the usual road they use to go from somewhere in Lebanon to Damascus," Perez de Cuellar said. "I'm still hopeful it will take place today," he said, referring to Anderson's anticipated arrival in Damascus and his handover to U.S. officials.

"He is on his way and he is being protected by the Syrians, I imagine, because I think he must be in the Bekaa Valley," the secretary-general said.

Earlier today, it was not clear where Anderson was, despite reports from Arab and U.S. officials that he was released and turned over to the Syrian.

Anderson, 44, The Associated Press chief Middle East correspondent, said in a videotaped statement that he was to be freed. The tape, released by his captors to The AP in Damascus, gave no indication of when that would happen.

American, Syrian and Lebanese officials initially said Anderson had been freed and turned over to Syrian troops in Lebanon. Later, however, Syrian Foreign Minister Farouk al-Sharaa said, "We hope he will be released this evening — the sooner the better."

A five-page Arabic-language statement from the Islamic Jihad group, which has held Anderson for 2,455 days, announced that he would be set free, but its wording was unclear as to whether he had already been released.

In the accompanying videotape Anderson spoke in the future tense, saying he will be freed. It was not known when the videotape was made.

In the initial portion of the tape, Anderson read the Islamic Jihad statement in English, which he said he did not agree with. Among other things, it denounced the group's enemies and accused Israel of blocking the hostage-freeing process.

"This is the statement of my captors," Anderson said after reading the kidnappers' statement. "Mine is only that with my release, and I hope soon the release of the two Germans and all the Lebanese held in Israel, this tactic (hostage-taking) will never be used again."

"The causes of this troubled episode are complex and difficult. It is these causes which must be redressed and eliminated. The holding of innocent people by anyone solves nothing," he added.

Anderson, wearing a dark sweater and white shirt, spoke in a clear voice. He appeared in good physical condition.

At the White House, spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said U.S. officials had no official word that reports of Anderson's release were true.

Mobil closing office

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

Mobil Exploration & Producing US Inc. announced Wednesday morning the closing of the Mobil field office in Coahoma.

Larry Bohot, area manager of Mobil Midland Area Producing said in a prepared statement, "As previously announced by Parker & Parsley Petroleum Company, Mobil and Parker & Parsley have entered into negotiations involving the sale of several Mobil Permian Basin producing properties to Parker & Parsley. If the sale is consummated the Mobil properties in the Coahoma, Texas area will be operated by Parker & Parsley. Mobil will close its Coahoma Area field office when this occurs, however, Parker & Parsley currently intends to operate these properties from the Coahoma Office."

The Coahoma field office employs 16 people. It is undermined in what capacity the employees will be effected. Bohot discounted an earlier report confirming the possibility of employees transferring to other Mobil operations.

"Mobil is making that decision at this time," Bohot said. "It would be unfair to all people concerned to make any further statement. Because of the nature of the transaction, the only thing that we have definite is the written statement."

Officials of Parker & Parsley were unavailable for comment on the acquisition and intent of operations once the transaction is complete.

Dan Wilkins, of Edward D. Jones & Co., a member of the New York Stock Exchange said "Parker & Parsley is a oil and gas exploring, producing and developing company, which has producing properties in Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma."

"They announced on Nov. 15th the purchasing of 600 producing wells from Mobil— all in the Permian Basin."

Earlier this year, Parker & Parsley completed the acquisition of Damson Oil from Houston for $100,000 cash and 150 million shares

Patients have right to execute living will

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

Hospital patients in Texas now have the legal right to execute a 'living will' and may also appoint another person to make their medical treatment decisions.

At Scenic Mountain Medical Center and Big Spring State Hospital, officials will give out brochures to patients explaining their rights in these areas.

The Patient Self-Determination Act, a federal law, became effective this month. It instructs hospital personnel to explain these rights to a patient upon admittance into a hospital, nursing home or hospice.

"In the U.S., every adult of sound mind has a right to accept or refuse medical treatment. This right of self-determination allows a patient to make all medical decisions, whether they be simple or difficult," said Ann Ward, vice-president, media and public relations with the Texas Hospital Association in Austin.

Texas enacted the Natural Death Act and the Durable Power

ANDERSON WALLACE of Attorney for Health Care Act to comply with the federal statute.

Debra Wallace, quality assurance coordinator at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, said she has been conducting workshops with the staff to prepare for the new laws.

"The advance directive is there for patients suffering from terminal illness who will die anyway. This instructs the doctor not to do anything to prolong the illness. This is not suicide-related. Suicide is directly against what the physician does."

"It means not to do anything excessive to make me live. It

Officers STEP-ping up DWI enforcement

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

Big Spring police will soon augment their efforts to arrest intoxicated drivers during peak weekend hours.

The program, which will be funded by the Texas Highway Department, should be in place by the first of the year, said Police Chief Joe Cook.

It places two extra police officers on the street during the hours of 10 p.m. to 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday, for the sole purpose of seeking out people driving under the influence of alcohol, said Cook.

The highway department will be footing the bill for overtime pay for the two officers.

A $15,000 grant was offered to the city under the state's Selective Traffic Enforcement Program, or STEP.

In the Nov. 26 meeting of the Big Spring City Council, a unanimous vote gave authority to City Manager Hal Boyd to accept the grant. "They (the state highway department) made the overtures... the council accepted the grant," Boyd said.

Boyd and his staff completed necessary paperwork, mailing it to Austin Tuesday. The TDPS is expected to send the funds upon receiving the official acceptance.

The grant will provide the extra DWI surveillance through the end of the fiscal year in September 1992, said Cook.

STEPS are used by many cities throughout the state to encourage and increase traffic safety, according to STEP literature.

Although the grant (85 percent) of the grant will be used for overtime pay, some (12 percent) will be used to reimburse the city for mileage on the vehicles, as well as for public information and education (3 percent).

The grant is for direct cost; the city will be responsible for employee benefits.

Four killed in accident

HOUSTON (AP) — A speeding car triggered a four-vehicle accident that claimed four lives on a busy Houston street, police said.

Witnesses said a car was heading at a high rate of speed on Farm Road 1960 in northeast Harris County when it swerved across three lanes of traffic Tuesday afternoon.

Sheriff's Sgt. S.R. Parker said the speeding car skidded about 150 feet, sideswiped a van and was then broadsided by another car. That car was then struck the rear by another.

The speeding car was split in half and spilled its three occupants onto the street.

Coach stops prayer practice

DALLAS (AP) — Duncanville High School's girls' basketball coach Sandra Meadows used to end each game in prayer with her team at center court.

But because of a federal judge's ruling two weeks ago, Ms. Meadows will no longer continue the practice that is a 34-year-old tradition at the school south of Dallas.

"After I congratulate the other team's coach, I just leave the court," said Ms. Meadows, who has coached her team to three state championships. "To turn and walk off is very, very difficult for me. I don't see anything right about that."

U.S. District Judge Robert Maloney issued a preliminary injunction Nov. 19 against the Duncanville Independent School District in response to a student's lawsuit against the practice.

Killeen cafeteria to re-open

KILLEEN (AP) — When the cafeteria that served as the scene of the nation's worst mass shooting reopens next year, one of those wounded says he'll eat there "if nothing else, just strictly out of defiance."

"I want to be able to go eat anywhere I want to eat, anytime I feel like it. This is America," said Kirby Lack, pastor of a non-denominational church in Copperas Cove.

George Hennard, 35, drove his pickup through a front window at the cafeteria on Oct. 16, then began a shooting rampage that lasted about 15 minutes before he killed himself.

Before the rampage ended, 23 people had suffered mortal wounds and at least 20 others were wounded.

The cafeteria's dining room will be remodeled and will reopen, possibly in February or March, in the wake of overwhelming community support, said Ralph "Pete" Erben, president and chief executive officer of Luby's Cafeterias Inc.

"Again and again, we have heard that Luby's is just more than a dining place in Killeen. It has been a gathering place — for meetings, for social occasions, for business people, citizens and families," he said Tuesday.

He added that a few people expressed concern about reopening the cafeteria, but that most supported the idea.

Lack said that if the cafeteria were closed, "It would give Hennard the memorial that he was looking for."

But he acknowledged that returning "probably won't be the easiest thing I've ever done. I lost one of my best buddies in there."

He said he had considered the possibility that someone with a "twisted mind" might decide to repeat Hennard's crime.

Killeen Mayor Blair added at the announcement of the reopening, "The overwhelming expression from Killeen and the surrounding communities, and from people across this country for that matter ... was that whatever you do, don't let 'em close Luby's."

Erben said that although the cafeteria's dining room would be redesigned and redecorated,

Richards meets with U.S. trade negotiator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite tough economic times, the United States must think globally and adopt a free trade agreement with Mexico, Texas Gov. Ann Richards says.

"We are beginning to try to survive by washing each others' hair and cooking each others' hamburgers and we all know that's not possible," she said Tuesday in Washington.

"Unless we create trading partnerships that make us competitive with the European Community and with the Pacific Rim, then I have real long-term concerns for my grandchildren."

Richards' comments followed a private meeting with U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills during which the governor discussed what Texas would like to see in a free trade agreement.

The two agreed that Richards would probably meet in the near future with Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari, in a bid to get him to back off his call for rapid approval of a trade pact.

"I think that the timing he needs to be looking at is longer than attempting to get some hurried agreement early next year," Richards said. "I just don't see that as a possibility."

Richards, who met with Salinas two months ago, said she doubts an agreement will be ready until after the election next November.

Hills "does not have a target date" for completion of a pact, the governor said. "Her feeling is they will bring it to the Congress when they feel they are ready to bring it to the Congress."

Still recovering from the economic downturn of the 1980s, Texas cannot allow federal negotiators to work out an unfair trade pact, Richards said.

"I think Texas was in this recession earlier and has been there longer than the rest of the nation," she said. "And we are beginning to see just glimmers of blue sky."

"I don't want to see that clouded over by the federal government and the national economy."

A free trade pact with Mexico is just one step in liberalizing trade, Richards said.

"I have been convinced all along that this free trade agreement with Mexico is a beginning step for us. I see it only as opening the door to what is going to be the largest trade opportunity, and that is to the South — South America, Central America."

Richards said she and Hills discussed the need for "an equal playing field" in the areas of transportation, tariffs, energy and jobs.

Richards also stressed to Hills that a free trade agreement must address existing environmental problems along the 2,000-mile border — problems that in some cases will worsen if trade is liberalized.

Health hazards remain

LA MARQUE (AP) — Researchers who studied a 1987 chemical spill in Texas City have found that some residents exposed to toxic hydrofluoric acid continue to experience health problems.

But the studies also said that women who were pregnant at the time of the accident and exposed to the toxic substance showed no detectable ill effects.

Thousands of Texas City residents were exposed and hundreds were treated at hospitals for breathing and eye problems and skin rashes in the wake of the chemical spill Oct. 30, 1987 at Marathon Petroleum Co.'s Texas City plant.

Researchers at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston surveyed nearly 2,000 people for the studies, which were released Tuesday. The reports were based on information gathered two years after the spill.

The accident occurred when a piece of equipment fell from a crane, shearing pipelines atop a tank full of hydrofluoric acid.

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor canceled another appearance because of a bout with the flu that has kept her in bed with a fever of 103, her spokeswoman says.

Miss Taylor, who canceled a U.N. lunch on Monday, has dropped out of Thursday's annual masquerade ball for the American Foundation for AIDS Research.

Miss Taylor was following doctor's orders to rest at home in Los Angeles, spokeswoman Chen Sam said Tuesday.

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas has been added to Van Halen's latest tour — and today's show won't cost fans a cent.

Lead singer Sammy Hagar is keeping a promise he made in 1988 when he stopped a concert at the Cotton Bowl to apologize, saying his voice was weak because of a sinus infection and strep throat.

"Like a fool, I said, 'I'll do a free concert for you folks,'" Hagar recalled Tuesday. "And I meant it."

The outdoor concert was scheduled for this afternoon at Dallas Alley.

The ballplayer, who owns two restaurants in Cincinnati, refused to comment Monday after looking over the kitchen and dining area of the Arcade Tap Room.

The former Cincinnati Reds star was banned from baseball in 1989 for gambling. He served five months in prison for cheating on his taxes.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Johnny Paycheck is headed back to prison, but this time to sing.

The country singer will perform Dec. 8 for inmates at the Federal Corrections Institute in Phoenix, spokeswoman Lisa Wysocky said Tuesday.

Paycheck was released from an Ohio prison earlier this year after serving two years for shooting a man in a bar.

"I wanted to do this because I know how much something like this would have meant to me," said Paycheck, best known for the hit "Take This Job and Shove It."

NEW YORK (AP) — Bryant Gumbel, who will celebrate his 10th anniversary on NBC's "Today" show in January, has signed a three-year contract to continue as co-host.

Salary terms weren't disclosed. Gumbel's previous contract reportedly paid him $7 million over three years.

Gumbel, Katie Couric and Joe Garagiola are co-hosts of the morning show. Gumbel is on vacation until Monday.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II will make U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar an honorary knight when he retires at year's end after a decade in the top U.N. job.

Britain's Foreign Office said Tuesday that Perez de Cuellar will become an honorary Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, one of Britain's highest orders of chivalry.

White House Chief of Staff John Sununu and President Bush arrive at the White House Tuesday evening in the rain after visiting Florida and Mississippi. During the trip, Sununu offered his resignation, effective Dec. 15, which Bush accepted.

Sununu resigns as Bush's chief of staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Bush will act quickly to select a new chief of staff, the day after abrasive John Sununu offered his resignation.

While sources said Transportation Secretary Sam Skinner headed the list of candidates, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said he did not believe Bush had made the offer to Skinner.

Fitzwater said as far as he knew Bush had not made a decision. "He doesn't have a timetable," Fitzwater said, but added Bush would act soon.

One GOP congressional source said Tuesday that the decision to give Skinner the job was "definite but not official."

Others said to be in the running were Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, who was chief of staff under President Ford; former GOP Rep. Bill Frenzel of Minnesota; and former New Jersey Gov. Thomas Kean, a strong Bush loyalist who now is president of Drew University.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said only, "The president is thinking about it," when asked if Bush had selected anyone. Sununu submitted his resignation in a five-page handwritten letter to Bush as they flew to Florida for a speech at a juice factory Tuesday.

The former New Hampshire governor, ending weeks of speculation and criticism of his performance, told Bush in the letter he "would never want to not be contributing positively, much less be a drag on your success."

He later told reporters that the president did not push him to resign, but "we've been talking a long time about just the general situation over the past eight or nine months."

Bush said he regretted but supported Sununu's "good decision" to resign. He said his aide would remain on at the White House until March 1 as a presidential counselor with Cabinet rank.

Although Sununu's resignation is not effective until Dec. 15, officials expected Bush to act quickly to name a successor and move ahead with troubles on the domestic agenda. Chief among those are the nation's economic woes.

Government forced to share power

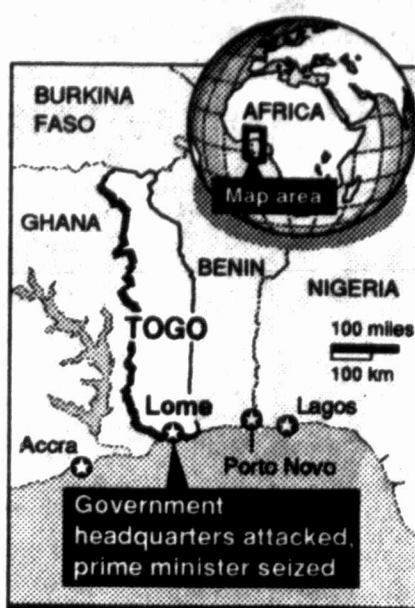

LOME, Togo (AP) — Soldiers loyal to ousted ruler Gen. Gnassingbe Eyadema withdrew today from a broadcast station, a day after forcing the fledgling civilian government to share power by assaulting the prime minister's office.

At least 17 people, including Eyadema's half-brother, died in the attack on the prime minister's office outside the palace that followed the military's fourth coup attempt since August.

Eyadema, a former president, was stripped of all but his ceremonial powers in August after widespread unrest and strikes. A national conference then named Joseph Koffigoh as prime minister of an interim government.

After Tuesday's attack, Koffigoh went on national television to announce his "surrender." A radio report said he and Eyadema agreed to form a coalition government and had ordered the troops back to their barracks.

But today Koffigoh said he needed some time to put together a government the soldiers would accept.

"Please give me some to reorganize. I even lost my address book in the battle," Koffigoh said in a telephone interview.

Russian, Ukraine discuss problems

MOSCOW (AP) — Having recognized Ukraine's independence, Russia is moving quickly to resolve thorny problems like divvying up the Soviet debt, gold and hard currency reserves.

But Russia on Tuesday also suggested that an economic alliance could replace the Soviet Union, whose republics remain closely interdependent after more than seven decades of central Kremlin control.

Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, left out of the proceedings and further undermined by Ukraine's weekend referendum approving independence, said Tuesday that ethnic fighting could result if the Soviet Union falls apart.

Gorbachev, whose power has eroded since the failed hard-line coup against him in August, called on the republics to sign a new Union Treaty that would include economic cooperation but also keep the Kremlin in charge of foreign affairs and nuclear weapons.

In a statement Tuesday, the Russian government of President Boris Yeltsin cited the need for "quick formation of new interstate relations between Russia and Ukraine" to assure "strict observance of obligations."

General Assembly confirms Ghali

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Egyptian statesman Boutros Ghali, who helped craft a historic peace agreement with Israel, was unanimously confirmed as U.N. secretary-general today. The 166-nation General Assembly supported the 69-year-old Ghali by acclamation and he received a standing ovation.

He formally takes office Jan. 1. Ghali, Egypt's deputy prime minister for external affairs, succeeds Javier Perez de Cuellar for a five-year term. He will become the sixth chief of the world body and its first leader from an Arab country and the African continent.

Ghali is expected to face daunting challenges of U.N. peacekeeping and election supervision in Cambodia and Western Sahara, North-South problems and economic development and reform of the sprawling U.N. bureaucracy.

Ghali, whose full name is Boutros Boutros Ghali, has been holding private meetings outside U.N. headquarters about the transitional period and has made no public statements.

David Duke enters presidential race

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Duke is launching a renegade Republican campaign against President Bush in selected primaries, hoping to garner enough support to be a voice at the party's national convention next summer.

"Blacks would be a lot better off if I were president," the former Ku Klux Klan grand wizard and Nazi sympathizer said today. "I think I've got a lot of support around the country."

Duke refused to confirm his plans before his noon announcement, but aides said Duke would run, concentrating on Southern and Southwestern primaries scheduled for early March.

For Duke, the presidential campaign comes less than three weeks after his landslide loss in the Louisiana governor's race, in which blacks flocked to the polls to oppose Duke. In defeat, Duke won the majority of white votes and sounded many of the national GOP's themes.

It will be Duke's second presidential campaign. He ran in several Democratic primaries in 1988, barely causing a ripple.

Peace talks to begin without Israelis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arab and Palestinian negotiators were ready to take their seats at a second round of Mideast peace talks despite an expected Israeli no-show.

The Bush administration said the talks would open this morning at the State Department even though Israel said it would not attend because it needed until Monday to prepare for the bilateral talks.

Without the Israelis, there is not much the talks can achieve. But the Palestinians, Jordanians, Syrians and Lebanese intend to make the most of it as proof that the Jewish state is not serious about peace.

"We are here and we are ready to talk peace," Abdul-Salam Majali, head of the Jordanian delegation, said Tuesday.

Both parties pile on taxes

As another election year approaches, both Democrats and Republicans on Capitol Hill are raising their voices in support of tax relief for middle-class voters. But a study just completed by the non-partisan Tax Foundation shows that both parties have been guilty of piling on taxpayers at all income levels.

The Washington-based group concludes that nearly all Americans are paying higher taxes today than at any time in the past. In fact, total federal, state and local taxes are consuming 35.1 percent of the nation's income. That is the largest tax bite in U.S. history.

Contrary to popular belief, top wage earners did not experience a windfall tax cut during the 1980s. Rather, the taxes paid by the top 10 percent of Americans increased from 48 percent of total receipts in 1981 to 56.9 percent in 1988. A year later, the figure leveled off at 54.5 percent. In reality, then, the tax burden has not shifted much during the last decade.

But the beleaguered middle class continues to be squeezed by the increase in the overall level of taxation.

Higher federal taxes, combined with inflation, mean that the average American family is $362 poorer in 1991 than it was last year. Although the typical two-earner family with two children will make $53,265 in 1991 — $1,254 more than last year — the gain will be more than wiped out by the increased tax burden.

The average family's $362 loss in real income comes after losing purchasing power in two of the last three years. Factor in higher state and local taxes, and government's cumulative cost is a hefty 37.9 percent of the average family's income.

Thus, after paying its tax bill, the average family sees its annual earnings of $53,265 pared to $33,074 in disposable income. Deduct the ever-increasing cost of food, clothing, shelter, health care, transportation and other necessities, and the average middle-class family is left with little money for discretionary spending and savings.

No wonder middle-class families are frustrated. They are running faster and faster and still falling behind economically. This treadmill prompts demagogic politicians to advocate tax policies that exploit class resentments.

The Tax Foundation, on the other hand, suggests cutting everyone's taxes and making up the difference by shrinking the size of government. That way, consumers would be able to spend more of their money as they please and government would have to get by with less. Now there's a politically radical idea.

School nurses need support and recognition

To the editor:

The Texas School Nurses Association Convention in South Padre Island on November 8-10 was a huge success. The speakers were innovative and extremely knowledgeable.

I would like to thank all the newspapers in the state of Texas, but especially yours for the support and recognition you have provided to all Texas school nurses.

We have become one of the primary health care givers to the students in the community, therefore, it is essential that we update and educate ourselves with current health issues and materials.

All school nurses are invited to join T.S.N. and make plans to attend the next convention in San Antonio, Texas, November 6-8, 1992. It will be held at the Marriott Rivercenter.

We will celebrate School Nurses Week January 20-24, 1992.

Remember your school nurse on Nurses Day, Jan. 22, 1992.

Work with builders instead of wreckers

To the editor:

It is a good thing to remember. But a better thing to do — always to work with the construction gang. And not with the wrecking crew.

I don't know who wrote this — a few bad apples can destroy any good life, a town, an area, without thinking or for their own gain. Think! What do we want in our town? Who?

Letters

Letters to the editor on issues of general interest always are welcomed by the Big Spring Herald and always are printed if these guidelines are followed:

Letters should be typewritten if possible, and double-spaced. If not, the handwriting must be legible to reduce chances for mistakes.

Letters are subject to editing, but the essence of the writer's message will not be altered. Long letters may be cut because of space limitations.

Letters must be signed, free of libelous statements and in good taste. Political endorsements won't be accepted during a campaign; candidates are allowed a single letter during a campaign. Letters listing numerous donors to projects are not published.

Please write your name and address on the letter and include a daytime phone number for verification.

Alzheimer's patients sue FDA

WASHINGTON — A little relief may be on the way for victims of Alzheimer's disease. A dozen victims of this dreaded affliction have filed suit in U.S. District Court. The plaintiffs represent 4 million others who will die by inches over the next few years.

The object of the suit is to compel the federal Food and Drug Administration to make available an experimental drug known as THA. For reasons that seem to me indefensible, the FDA is stonewalling every effort to release the drug. Dr. David Kessler, the commissioner, professes compassion for the victims, but he professes compassion with a heart of stone.

I have certain serious reservations about the lawsuit as such, but let me get to these reservations in a moment. The important thing is to put the identical pressure on the FDA that the AIDS lobby has put on the FDA. It worked for AIDS; it should work for Alzheimer's also.

This is a devastating disease. It is like AIDS in some ways. No one knows what causes Alzheimer's; no one knows how to cure it. The disease strikes slowly. The victim at first is unable to recall daily events. Then memory fails as to earlier events. Reasoning wavers. Judgment falters. In many cases the patients become bedridden, unable to care for themselves. The brain rots, and within six to 12 years they die.

In November 1986, a California psychiatrist, Dr. William K. Summers, published a paper in the prestigious New England Journal of Medicine. He described the results of treating 17 Alzheimer's patients with THA in combination with lecithin, a nutritional supplement that appears naturally in soybeans and other foods. Sixteen of the 17 showed improvement on one series of tests; 10 of the 17 showed "dramatic improvement" on another series.

Dr. Summers made no extravagant claims. He set forth his findings and concluded with this paragraph:

"Prudence in judging these results is advised. THA is no more a cure for Alzheimer's disease than levodopa is a cure for Parkinson's disease. Just as levodopa ceases to have effects in patients in the final stages of Parkinson's disease, we anticipate that oral THA will cease to have effects as Alzheimer's disease progresses. Indeed, two of our subjects have had some deterioration despite maintenance therapy with oral THA, one after 17 months and the other after seven months of therapy. However, THA is a potential palliative treatment."

The dismaying facts, set forth at length in the plaintiffs' motion, are that instead of encouraging Dr. Summers to get on with his research, the FDA "took concrete steps to discredit his work and to severely limit his future research."

The FDA leaked adverse reports on Summers' procedures to the press. Then the FDA and the National Institute on Aging entered independently into an agreement with Warner-Lambert to conduct large-scale tests. The plaintiffs contend that these tests were "fatally flawed" from the beginning: The test protocols left out the supplementary lecithin. Nevertheless, the Warner-

Lambert studies continued until July 1990, when results were given to the FDA for review. Meanwhile, similar research was continuing in England, Canada and Sweden. The conclusions everywhere were encouraging. Roughly 40 percent of the patients appeared to improve. Some patients undergoing experimental treatment suffered liver damage, but this was small and easily reversible.

To shorten a long and sad story, this evidence was not enough to satisfy Dr. Kessler. THA, known professionally as Tacrine or Cognex, still is unavailable. Victims of Alzheimer's still are denied an opportunity to learn if THA will benefit them.

My reservations: The prospect of having federal judges second-guess the FDA leaves me uneasy. Over the past 30 or 40 years we have seen judges transform themselves into school superintendents and prison wardens. Their performance has not been impressive. Judges were not meant to be doctors.

The lawsuit is based in part on the Ninth Amendment, which says vaguely that the enumeration of certain rights in the Constitution "shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people." I would regret to see judges left free to romp around in the unbounded pasture of "unenumerated rights."

Even so, this lawsuit could be a great test not only for THA but also for a towering principle of individual freedom. If we are not free to treat ourselves, after full warning has been given, the ideal of freedom is gravely tarnished. I hope the plaintiffs prevail, for the Alzheimer's victims and for everyone else.

Media is obsessed with KKK

Big time media seems obsessed by the Ku Klux Klan. Give them anything that has a sheet or a pointed hat involved in it, and it's time to pull out all the stops.

David Duke wasn't about to be elected in Louisiana, but he was a former Klansman so he winds up on the front pages across the country.

And David Duke was a Southerner, as well. A white Southern male with a Ku Klux Klan background can get more press than Mario Cuomo flipping a coin to see if he's going to run for president and then putting off the decision again to go for two out of three.

The Northern media is especially fond of the Klan as a basis for a news story. It's their geographical ignorance showing. What many know of the South they learned watching the "Beverly Hillsbillies" or "Mississippi Burning."

I was on the phone with a New Yorker, and he asked me, "What time is it in Atlanta?"

The Northern media is especially fond of the Klan as a basis for a news story. It's their geographical ignorance showing.

"What time is it in New York?"

I asked him back.

"Four-thirty," he said. "You're not going to believe this," I said, "but Atlanta is in the same time zone as New York. It's 4:30 here, too."

Where did he think Georgia was? Next to Texas?

One of those talk show hostesses came to Atlanta. Apparently she couldn't find any Southern left-handed lesbian cross-dressers who were being denied their right to marry goats, so she rounded up a few Klansmen, or people who said they were in the Klan, in order to get on television.

Several years ago, Larry King came to Atlanta to do his show and I was asked to appear on the second half. The first half Larry King interviewed some kook from the Klan.

"How can you do this to me, Larry?" I joked with him. "Everybody watching this show sees me following a nut in a robe and a pointed hat and they figure my outfit is in the cleaner's or something."

The Klan hasn't had any influence in the South in decades. What few members remain are too stupid for one thing. What wears robes and pointed hats and has three teeth? 58 members of the KKK — which is about how many you could turn up, given a year, a gasoline credit card and road map of the South.

I remember how the rest of the world wanted the Klan involved during the horror of Atlanta's murdered and missing children experience. A Northern reporter walked in my office one day and asked if I knew how to get in touch with Atlanta's Grand Wizard.

"I'm certain the Klan is involved in this," he said.

"Call 1-800-GET-REAL," I told him.

But what a story it would have made had the Klan been involved. The Ku Klux Klan killing black children in Atlanta, which is in Georgia, which is in the South. Think of the books. Think of the movie starring Northern actors and actresses trying to fake Southern accents.

Forget the Klan. Forget David Duke. He's not going to get elected to anything. He couldn't even beat an opponent in Louisiana's gubernatorial race whose supporters sported bumper stickers that said, "Vote for the Thief. It's Important."

Want something to worry about? OK, how about being laid off from your job? The Soviet nuclear arsenal winding up in the wrong hands? Jerry Brown getting elected president?

Or, the doo-doo head you wound up with under the sheets last night had AIDS.

Even Klansmen probably have enough sense to use condoms.

Mel's is the place for fresh seafood in Big Spring

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

Here the arid West Texas sands, one restaurant serves food that will please the palate that yearns for a taste from the sea.

Mel's Catch of the Day Fish Market, 504 Gregg St., is widely known for their battered catfish and other seafood delicacies, such as gumbo, shrimp, and oysters.

The catfish and shrimp are battered in a meal recipe that has been in the family for generations. The gumbo is a seafood stew made with catfish, shrimp and okra.

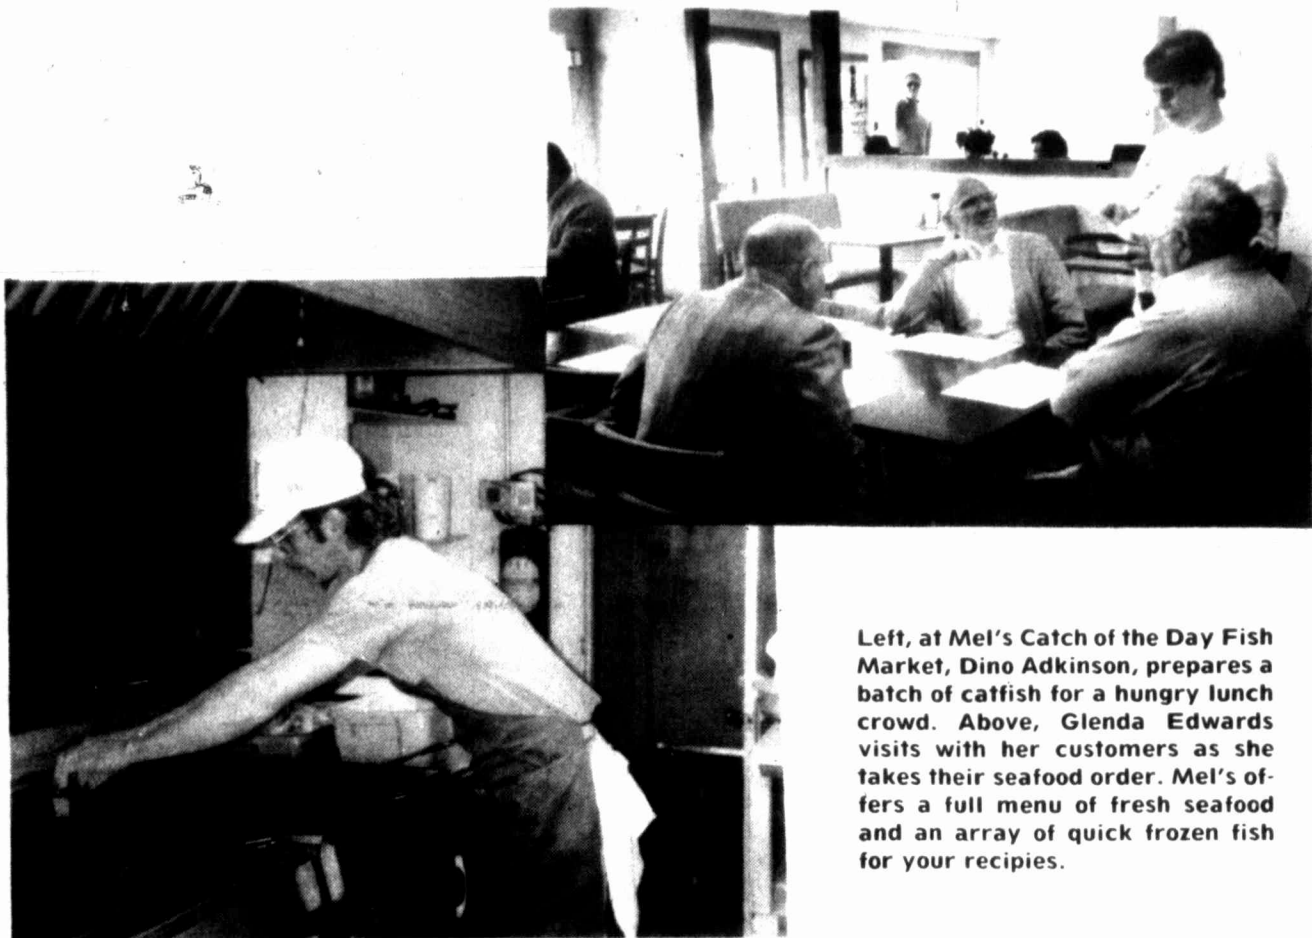

"The catfish is fresh. It comes from Mississippi," said Mel Dickerson, owner. "We batter all the fish and shrimp here at the restaurant."

Mel's was first opened five years ago by Dickerson and his mother. Last year he bought out his mother's share of the business. Today Dickerson with his wife Denise, brother-in-law, Dino Adkinson, and Glenda Edwards operate the fish market in Big Spring. Dickerson's mother has opened up Mel's Fish Market too in Midland.

Both restaurants offer the same menu items with a fresh frozen selection of seafood available to customers who wish to prepare it at home.

"The fish we stock to sell uncooked is quick frozen, which is a freezing method that only takes minutes," Dickerson said. "It seals in the flavor, and you can't taste the difference."

The quick frozen selection includes whole catfish, catfish fillets, blackened catfish and cajun catfish. They also carry large medium and small size shrimp, breaded and popcorn. Mel's has a variety of other types of fish that are not available otherwise in the area, including buffalo, shark, swordfish, red snapper, freshwater perch, salmon steaks, flounder and sole. More exotic choices available are scallops, crawfish, octopus, lobster tails and frog legs.

"We have a great deal of customers come from Snyder, Lamesa and other neighboring cities to buy seafood," he said. "Before we opened the Midland location, we had people come from Midland and Odessa come two or three times a week to eat with us."

Dickson attributes Mel's success to good food at reasonable prices. In an effort to upgrade their services, Mel's will begin to accept major credit cards by the end of the week, he said. It is also applying for its beer and wine license.

"We hope to be serving wine coolers and a variety of longneck beers," Dickerson said. "I also have to say that we appreciate the support of Big Spring. The community has been real good to us."

Mel's Catch of the Day Fish Market is opened Tuesday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Hotline is like personal dietitian

CHICAGO (AP) — Just how bad for your health WAS that extra ladle of gravy on your Thanksgiving turkey and mashed potatoes?

A toll-free, year-round hotline going into operation today connects callers with a dietitian for the answer to this and other food questions.

The hotline, which operates from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST Monday through Friday, is run by the National Center for Nutrition and Dietetics, an arm of the American Dietetic Association.

"We are pleased to provide consumers with access to professionals who can help them separate nutrition fact from fiction," said Nancy Schwartz, director of the nutrition center.

Callers can talk to a dietitian or listen to one of three recorded messages containing tips on healthy holiday eating and nutrition for children and men.

On the nutrition tape for men, callers are reminded that "you are what you eat. Regular exercise is a key for shaping a healthy body."

The tape goes on to say that it takes the body four hours to digest fats, which is why people often feel sluggish after eating. Coffee, tea and other caffeinated drinks drain the body of fluids, so drink water with them, it suggests.

After hours, callers can leave a message and a dietitian will return the call during regular hours.

Mindy Hermann, spokeswoman for the American Dietetic Association, said she expects person-to-person questions will "run the gamut: the fat content in Cheetos; what to order on a restaurant menu; what to feed one's children."

"If your overall diet is pretty good, and Thanksgiving was the exception more than the rule ... then you're probably not in bad shape."

"The problem is when people overdo it — or take Thanksgiving as an invitation to overeat until after the first of the year," she said.

The hotline number is 1-800-366-1655

Busy with no bake fun

The warmth of traditional decorated cookies recalls fond memories of holidays past. But with today's hectic lifestyle, who has time to roll, bake and decorate? Now, thanks to Sara Lee Pound Cake, decorated cookies, so good even Santa will like them, and so quick and easy they accommodate the most frantic schedule are possible.

It's as easy as slice, spread and sprinkle. Slice a Sara Lee Pound Cake horizontally into three or four layers depending on the thickness you want. Use cookie cutters to make shapes. Spread the tops with your favorite icing or jelly. Place on a plate with red or green doily and you're ready for Santa.

Because they're so easy, the kids can have a great time making them with in all shapes and letters. So, sit back and enjoy the easy way out of holiday baking.

Baking with kids can be a holiday boost

(AP) Baking cookies is a way for children to have fun as they learn to cook. Let them mix and shape dough with their hands, roll out and cut or drop dough, and decorate with colored sugars, candies, and icings.

Better Homes and Gardens Christmas Cookies magazine offers these tips for making cookie baking a happy experience for experienced and inexperienced bakers:

— Let the child choose his job and how much he wants to help. Clear a large work area — kids need more space than adult bakers. Find an apron or an old shirt to protect the child's clothes.

— When a school-age child is helping, read through the recipe together before beginning. Get out all the ingredients and utensils necessary before starting to bake.

— When a young child is only helping shape the cookies, mix the dough during playtime or naptime so the child won't lose interest before it's time for the child to help.

— Let a young, first-time baker place chocolate candies in the center of a cookie before baking or decorate already baked cookies.

Encourage creativity and fun by providing icings, sprinkles, and candies for decorating. Allow children to be as artistic as they wish.

Federation holds big money contest

The National Turkey Federation is pleased to introduce its third annual National Turkey Lovers' Recipe Contest designed for young chefs, ages 12 to 18.

Contest entries will be accepted through April 1, 1992. Each entry will be judged on three parts: the recipe (60 percent), an essay describing the nutritional content of the recipe (20 percent) and an essay describing the food handling techniques to follow when preparing the recipe (20 percent).

Recipes must use at least one pound of fresh or fully-cooked turkey meat. A panel of food professionals will judge each recipe for taste, originality, appearance, appeal, simplicity and two written essays. One essay should describe the nutritional quality of the recipe and the other essay should describe proper food handling techniques to use when preparing and storing the dish. Essays, not to exceed 200 words, must be printed or typed on an 8 1/2 x 11-inch piece of paper, attached to the recipe.

The lucky grand prize winner will receive $2,000 for his/her original recipe. Other prizes to be awarded include: 2nd place — $1,000; 3rd place — $750; 4th place — $500; and 5th place — $250.

Readers may obtain a copy of the rules by sending a self-addressed, stamped, business-size (#10) envelope to:

Indians hooked on satellite dish

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — This fall, Prakash Durrani bought a few miles of cable and a giant dish antenna, which he aimed at a satellite showering non-stop music, sports and news on India.

A few days later he was in business, joining a growing band of entrepreneurs distributing satellite broadcasts from a Hong Kong-based company to millions of Indians via cable TV.

Most viewers are ecstatic. For the first time they have an alternative to the censored news, stodgy old movies and boring discussions on the state-run monopoly television network, Doordarshan.

"We have never seen anything like this before," said Durrani. "The youngsters are going crazy at the flashy music videos. They may not know who Madonna is, but they like the rhythm."

Durrani used to sell saris, the traditional Indian dress for women.

Experts believe satellite and cable distributors in major cities are changing the way Indians see the world — even if what they watch is rock'n'roll music, Western situation comedies, movies and occasional news.

"Kapil is always glued to the musicals," said Kanta Juneja, a New Delhi mother glancing at her teen-age son as he intently watched a video featuring a gyrating Madonna.

Lalit Mehta conducted a viewer study in this nation of 844 million people and 25 million TV sets. "The imagination of the viewers has been fired," he said. "There is no stopping satellite television."

Mehta, who works for India's top marketing research company, Operations Research Group, says an estimated 2.5 million people now watch satellite television. Most of them understand English and are from the middle class or the upper middle class in Bombay.

TV satellite dishes aim skyward from a cable television company in New Delhi, India, as thousands of Indians are finding an alternative to the state-run monopoly television network.

Experts believe satellite and cable distributors in major cities are changing the way Indians see the world.

New Delhi, Calcutta, Madras and Bangalore.

When it first started this summer, satellite television raised concern among Indian officials because of its Western entertainment and news programs. Some Indians have a deep-rooted belief that the liberal Western way of life undermines native traditions.

Doordarshan — which means "seeing from afar" in Hindi — rarely shows Western movies, news, entertainment or music programs. It has no foreign news bureaus, and video clippings obtained from other networks are carefully edited to avoid offending friendly countries.

Government officials say there is nothing they can do to stop satellite television.

"First, we cannot ban satellite or jam its signals," said an official of the Information and Broadcasting Ministry, which controls Doordarshan. "Secondly, we are not unduly disturbed because satellite is only viewed in cities and our television's reach is far wider."

Most of Doordarshan's estimated 600 million viewers live in rural India, and few understand English.

The 24-hour satellite programs include the musical video channel MTV, the U.S. sports network Prime Network International and separate English- and Mandarin-language entertainment channels. They are beamed from Hong Kong by STAR-TV (Satellite Television Asia Region) of HutchVision Productions Ltd.

In addition, the British Broadcasting Corp. transmits news and entertainment programs.

Dads patrol halls

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A special security force is roaming the halls of Arlington High School, doing more with one stern look than some rent-a-cops could do with a badge and a billy club.

The men are Security Dads, a group of fathers recruited to help patrol the halls after a student was stabbed in the school cafeteria earlier this year.

"It's that father image," said Principal Jackie Greenwood. "They don't even have to say something. They just give them a look when students are doing something wrong."

"It makes you uncomfortable to do something wrong in front of someone's parent," said senior Maria Baker.

Security Dads was an idea of Linda Wallace, president of the school's Organization of Parents, Teachers and Students.

Mrs. Wallace saw it as a way to get more men involved in school activities and to deter student violence.

"I think the students enjoy the fact that somebody cares," said Mrs. Wallace's husband, Anthony. "We approach them in a respectful manner and they respond in kind."

American automobiles improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The author of an annual rating guide to new and used cars says the American ones are getting better.

"Planned obsolescence is clearly a thing of the past because today's consumers plan on keeping their cars for four or five years and the industry knows it," Jack Gillis said Monday.

And as American automakers produce more quality cars, the long love affair of American drivers with Japanese vehicles appears to be cooling, Gillis said.

"In used cars, we're beginning to see consumers express more honesty about their experience with Japanese cars," he said. "We're seeing Americans less afraid to say they are having problems with Japanese cars."

For example, he said, many owners of the 1989 Toyota Camry have registered complaints with the U.S. Department of Transportation.

"In the past couple of years there have been improvements in the quality of U.S. cars, creating a more level playing field with Japanese cars when it comes to quality," he said.

Gillis, who a year ago said consumers no longer had need to fear buying an American car, says that advice is still good.

Owners urged to check doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing the deaths of 48 children, the government on Tuesday urged owners of electronic garage doors to test them for a safety feature to stop and retract the door if it hits something in its path.

By law, garage-door openers manufactured for sale in the United States since the beginning of this year must have the automatic reversal system.

Since 1982, 48 children aged 2 to 14 have been killed by the doors, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, which held a joint news conference on the matter with an industry group.

The commission and the Industry Coalition for Automatic Garage Door Opener Safety urged owners of the devices to test them to see if they have safety features that work. A suggested method was to put a board an inch or two thick on the floor and close the door. When it hits the board, it should stop and re-open itself.

The industry also was issuing warning stickers telling people not to close a door with somebody under it, not to let kids play with the controls, and to watch the door while it shuts.

"A garage door is the largest moving object in the home," noted Jacqueline Jones-Smith, chairman of the safety commission.

Bill Atkins, executive director of the Triton Museum of Art in Santa Clara, Calif., previews an art exhibit from AT&T Laboratories of a 172,000 transistor microprocessor magnified between 85 and 2,847 times the actual size.

Computer chips used as modern art exhibit

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Pat Gelsinger, the engineer, spent four years helping design the intricate workings of a fingernail-size computer chip.

Pat Gelsinger, the artist, is now taking bows for that same work as displayed in an unusual exhibit of the most complex patterns people have ever devised in the name of science, technology and business.

"These designs were in fact not meant to be seen," wrote Cara McCarty, the original curator of the show that started last year in New York's Museum of Modern Art and is now touring the country.

"(But) the texture of the lines, intrinsic spatial features, delicacy, repetitive detail, and colors create sumptuous patterns that have the same power to inspire and intrigue us as some of the best paintings of our time."

The exhibit of two dozen computer chip designs opened Saturday at the Triton Museum in Santa Clara. After it closes there Jan. 7, it will travel to Boston; Montgomery, Ala.; Albany, Ga.; Washington, D.C.; Austin, Texas; and Portland, Ore., over the next two years.

The exhibit includes chip designs from Intel Corp., AT&T Bell Laboratories, Digital Equipment Corp., Hewlett-Packard Co., LSI Logic Corp., Synaptics, Inc., Texas Instruments, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Gelsinger, now a computer division general manager for Intel Corp., helped design the company's X86 line of microprocessors. That includes the 386 and 486 chips, the most popular "brains" of personal computers.

But can modern technology be modern art as well?

Yes, say some critics, artists and scientists who have compared the colored geometrical integrated circuit designs with ancient architecture and the intricate textiles and basket weavings of past civilizations.

"Like the complex geometries of Persian and Moorish architectural ornament, they draw the eye into an abstract realm in which the elaboration of the rational evokes the mystical," Thomas Hine, architectural critic for the Philadelphia Inquirer, wrote after seeing the show.

Charles Bigelow, a computer science and art professor at Stanford University, said people have long appreciated complex and repetitive patterns such as those found in textiles, weaving, rugs and even wallpaper.

"Fundamentally, the chip designs are appealing in the same way the band patterns on Greek vases are appealing," Bigelow said.

President-elect defends her lifestyle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president-elect of a national feminist group has a husband in Miami and a female companion in Washington, and she doesn't intend to give up either one of them.

"People are so interested in saying you should limit your love, you should not have this husband," says Patricia Ireland. "I love him. He is a very important part of my life and has been for nearly 25 years. I have no interest in having people tell me how to choose my family and who to love."

She said her female companion of more than four years is also important to her, and said she sees no reason to end either relationship.

On Dec. 15, Ireland will succeed Molly Yard as president of the National Organization for Women. And though political foes have painted the group for years as a haven for radical lesbians, earlier NOW presidents have been conventionally married or exceptionally discreet.

The headline on the Dec. 17 issue of The Advocate, a national gay and lesbian magazine, reads: "America's Most Powerful Woman Comes Out." But in the lengthy interview inside, Ireland refused to label herself lesbian or bisexual and did not describe either of her arrangements in intimate detail.

She refused in a telephone interview Monday to say whether she is having physical relationships with her husband, artist James Humble, and her companion, whom she did not identify.

"I feel very strongly about the right to privacy. I don't invite the Supreme Court or the state legislature or the media into my bedroom," she said. "At the same time, the outlines, the public facts of my life are not something I have any interest in hiding."

Ireland, 46, a lawyer and former flight attendant, has been executive vice president of the 250,000-member feminist group for four years. She said her personal life is no secret.

Lesbian rights are a significant part of NOW's agenda, although the group struggled with the issue in its early years.

Some of NOW's other concerns are mainstream — protecting abortion rights, for example, and improving women's economic lot — but it's still perceived in some circles as a far-left fringe organization.

Several feminists said Monday that they feared the revelations about Ireland's personal life would reinforce that stereotype.

"There's already a perception that they're out of the mainstream of feminism, on the edge of feminism," said one veteran feminist who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Another longtime activist who also refused to speak on the record said polls show many people feel "uncomfortable about alternative lifestyles. And she's opening a discussion on more than just a lesbian relationship. This also raises the issue of extramarital relationships."

says, "we don't want heroics. We want to all comfort measures and to be cared for but nothing to speed up or prolong the illness," Wallace said.

Evelyn Anderson, public relations for the Big Spring State Hospital, said patients admitted there will also be informed of these rights.

"We'll follow the same guidelines and we'll explain these rights to our patients as many times as we have to," Anderson said.

Anderson said that unlike Scenic Mountain, the state hospital does not regularly treat medical problems. Patients are transferred to another hospital for circumstances requiring the care of a medical team.

Matt Wall, associate general counsel for THA, said, "This does not change existing Texas law. We have a number of laws dealing with informed consent of patients. This adds to our existing laws."

Wall said that anyone at any time may make an advance directive to physicians, outlining what medical treatment is acceptable in the event of a terminal illness.

"But the directive does not become triggered until the person is diagnosed with a terminal illness," Wall said.

The Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care Act allows an individual to name another person as authority over medical matters.

"The distinction between the two is that the former is triggered by terminal illness and the latter is triggered by incapacitation," he said.

The directive to physicians, part of the Natural Death Act, becomes operative when a patient has been diagnosed with a terminal illness by two doctors, one of whom is the attending physician. And the law also prohibits civil lawsuits against doctors acting on the instructions of the patient.

By signing a physician directive, a terminally ill patient makes his or her wishes known concerning life-sustaining medical procedures. This allows the patient to give clear-cut orders to the doctor and hospital concerning the use of life-support systems, such as artificial nutrition and hydration and respiratory equipment.

The directive will not effect insurance policies, the law states. Notifying the document is not necessary, but it must be witnessed by two persons who cannot be related to the individual nor an inheritor of any estate or property.

The witnesses may not be a patient in the same facility as the individual nor may they be the physician or employee of the facility. The individual may revoke the directive at any time, including the final stages of the illness.

"An expressed desire to receive life-sustaining treatment will at all times supersede the effect of the directive," the law states.

Celebrities remember where they were

By ROBERT DVORCHAK
AP National Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of features concerning the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

Oscar-winning actor Jimmy Stewart was an Army corporal on a three-day pass. Author Alex Haley was washing lunch dishes in a Coast Guard ship's galley. George Bush, soon to be piloting warplanes from a Navy carrier, was in prep school.

Hungarian-born physicist Edward Teller, already working on an atomic bomb, was about to get much busier. Pitcher Bob Feller traded his Cleveland Indians uniform for a military one.

And evangelist Billy Graham, a part-time pastor, hurriedly rewrote his Sunday evening sermon to talk of peace in a time of world war.

Dec. 7, 1941, is a date that indeed lives in infamy, a defining moment for a generation of Americans.

"It's almost like it happened yesterday," said Stewart, the first major movie star to don a uniform. "Pearl Harbor changed my whole life."

Stewart had been drafted seven months earlier as a private earning $21 a month — $11,979 less than he earned from his movie studio. He was on leave in San Francisco when he was ordered to return for duty.

Because he had pilot's experience as a civilian, he was commissioned an officer and later flew 20 combat missions over Germany in a B-24 Liberator, earning the Distinguished Flying Cross. By war's end, he was a colonel.

"Roots" author Alex Haley had

of Parker stock, he said.

"Also this year the company split their stock this year in a two for one," Wilkins said. "A normal split, such as this one, is a sign of good times for the company. It is a reward to the shareholder and an incentive for someone looking at buying into the company."

The company's revenue for 1990 was 165 million and has accelerated this year, he said.

Parker and Parsley was founded by Howard Parker and Joe Parsley. It drilled its first well in 1964 in the Sprayberry Field near Midland.

The announcement of the Coahoma field office closing is the second oil company closure within the Big Spring area in the last two weeks. Halliburton Services announced the closing of its service centers in Big Spring and Andrews on Nov. 21. Halliburton employed 35 people locally.

The economic impact in figures of the two closings is not known," said Linda Roger, Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. "Any loss of jobs in our area is a serious matter, and we are concerned."

Hearing on fired teacher to continue

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — A school board hearing on an appeal by a teacher fired for allegedly pinching a student's face adjourned at 1:30 this morning and will continue Thursday.

Eighteen witnesses testified for more than six hours Tuesday night and this morning in front of the Colorado Independent School District board of trustees, one board member said. The hearing, closed to the public, was requested by fired middle-school teacher Thelma Blake of Sweetwater.

Blake, fired last month following a school administration investigation of the alleged Oct. 23 pinching incident, has declined to talk about it but denied the allegation. "I disagree 100 percent," said Blake, an educator for 26 years, including three years with the Colorado ISD.

There have been other complaints against Blake since she joined the Colorado ISD but no disciplinary action was ever taken, Superintendent Don Nimmo has said. Nimmo said he does not know why Blake was transferred from begin a 20-year Coast Guard career in 1939 and was washing dishes aboard the U.S.S. Pamlico off New Bern, N.C., when a sea man brought the news.

from that island could attack the United States," Haley said. "Pearl Harbor unified the country instantly. All differences of opinion were set aside. It became us — us against them."

Edward Teller, a lecturer at Columbia University, was driving to Leonia, N.J., to lunch with fellow atomic physicist Enrico Fermi. The Germans had split the atom three years earlier, and Teller was occupied with what became the Manhattan Project and the atomic bombs that forced Japan's surrender.

"The country changed overnight," said Teller, who later developed the hydrogen bomb. "Pearl Harbor didn't affect me because we were already working on the project. From that time on, I had to argue about it less. The attitudes surrounding it changed."

George Bush was at Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass.

"My reaction was one of shock and almost disbelief, and then I guess that was followed by the typical American reaction that we had better do something about all of this," he wrote in a 1981 letter.

On June 24, 1942, his 18th birthday, Bush joined the Navy and put off entering Yale University.

At boarding school in Charleston, S.C., Barbara Pierce — Bush's future wife — remembered sailors filling the streets after the news flashed.

"We all felt scared for our brothers and friends," she said. "It was a different world from that day on."

Prayer had special meaning that day for Billy Graham, a student at Wheaton College in Illinois.

"I had no idea where Pearl Harbor was," he said. "When it was explained to me, I found it impossible to describe all that ran through my mind as I thought of the fact that the United States was now engaged in this gigantic world war."

"That night, I changed my text and preached on peace. I remember the little outline I used: peace with God, peace from God, and the peace of God."

H. Norman Schwarzkopf was a 7-year-old frolicking with a friend in New Jersey when his sister alerted him.

"All day we huddled around the big old radio in the living room and listened to the reports," said Schwarzkopf, who grew up to command a distant Desert Storm.

On the West Coast, singer-dancer Lena Horne had gone to Hollywood to make movies for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"People thought they sighted submarines off the coast. Then came the restrictions on driving at night and rationing of gas and butter," she said.

LENA HORNE

This U.S. Navy photo was made at the exact moment that the destroyer USS Shaw blew up in Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. USS Nevada's silhouetted main battery is at right.

Actor Gregory Peck was in a play at San Francisco's Geary Street Theater.

"There was a blackout because it was thought by the Civil Defense that the Japs might bomb San Francisco," he said.

Only 20 people braved pitch-black streets to reach the 600-seat theater by the 8 p.m. showtime. The cast waited and waited. By 10:30 p.m., 150 patrons were seated. Then the star, Katharine Cornell, gave the green light, "Let's go."

"Meanwhile, the poor guys in the orchestra, they had been playing all night," Peck said. "They ran out of songs after a while and had to start all over."

Like life, the show went on, despite all the misgivings.

Suspended sheriff may run for office again

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — Suspended Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant, indicted on three sexual harassment charges and one misconduct charge, said he has not decided if he will run for office again.

"I haven't made up my mind yet. I'll just have to decide in the next week or two," said Bryant, 40, who was suspended with pay in June after four misdemeanor indictments were handed down by a Mitchell County grand jury. Bryant, who first took office in March 1981, has denied all allegations.

Since July, six people have filed the necessary paperwork with the county clerk to run for the office, including Acting Sheriff Patrick Toombs and other local law enforcement officers. The race has gained more attention than any other race in the Crossroads Country area. The filing deadline in Jan.

"It's going to be a rats race, I'll say that," Bryant said. "It's a good position and there's a lot of qualified people coming out for it."

A conviction on any of the misdemeanor charges would automatically remove Bryant from office, if he is still sheriff. But since the charges are not felony offenses, he could run for office again.

Also, a civil jury could remove Bryant from office based on a petition filed in June by County Attorney Clay Strange, even if Bryant is found innocent of the criminal charges. The petition was filed in connection with the harassment and misconduct charges.

A trial on the criminal or the civil allegations has not been set in 32nd District Court. The next regular trial date is Feb. 24. Strange said District Attorney Frank Conard is looking for a special prosecutor to handle the case to avoid a conflict of interest. Conard, who presented the evidence to the grand jury in June, could not be reached for comment.

The petition says Bryant "without provocation or consent, touched, squeezed, grabbed, kissed and stroked various female employees in the area of their backs, their stomachs, their legs and, most unconsciously, their inner thighs." The alleged incidents involved a sheriff deputy and two jailers and occurred in the sheriff's office over the past year.

Announcing intentions since July to run for sheriff were:

• Toombs, 32, who has been with the sheriff's office for two years and was chief deputy sheriff before his appointment to acting sheriff by district judge Ray L. McKim.

• Augustin Alvarado, 31, who has been a deputy sheriff since last year.

• Tim Atkins, 34, a sergeant with the Colorado City Police Department.

• George Oliver, a patrolman with the city police department for the past two years.

• David Ginkinger, an employee of Production Operation in Snyder, a reserve officer for the Colorado City police the past two years and a former Mitchell County sheriff deputy.

• Randy A. Wilkinson, 44, a general contractor in construction in the Abilene area and a former law enforcement officer for the sheriff and police departments here as well as the Texas Highway Patrol.

District 4-5A and 3-4A football teams are really flexing their muscles in the state schoolboy playoffs.

In 4-5A, all three teams are going strong. Odessa's Permian Panthers and Midland Lee's Rebels have advanced to the regional finals in the 5A small school division while San Angelo Central's Bobcats have reached the 5A big school semifinals.

And if that weren't enough, the Sweetwater Mustangs, champions of District 3-4A, are in the state quarterfinals.

Permian proved that Mojo is alive and kicking after last season's probation by defeating then-No. 1 ranked Arlington Lamar 25-7. Lee beat Sherman 29-7 to earn a rematch with Permian Saturday afternoon at 2 in Jones Stadium in Lubbock. Permian handed Lee its only loss of the season, 33-0.

Central pulled off an upset by defeating Arlington Sam Houston, 33-28. Central now plays Killeen at 4 Saturday afternoon in San Angelo Stadium with the winner advancing to the state championship game.

Permian simply dominated Lamar. After trailing 7-6, Permian led 12-7 at the half and added two second half touchdowns to cruise to the win. Lamar has now lost three straight playoff games to Permian.

Lamar's star running back, 225-pounder Shawn Walters, was clearly shown up by Permian running back Malcolm Hamilton — with some help from Mojo's defense. Walters picked up 65 yards on 15 carries while Hamilton gained 200 yards in 30 carries.

Overall, Permian outgained Lamar 360 yards to 147 yards. It was pretty much the same story in Lee's win over Sherman, as the Rebels took advantage of a strong north wind at Wichita Falls' Golding Memorial Stadium to run past the Bearcats.

The Rebels scored 17 first quarter points and never looked back. Utilizing a two quarterback system with sophomore Courtney Turner and senior Jimmy Patton, the Lee offense outgained Sherman 300 yards to 220 yards.

Central's win was a little harder. The Bobcats jumped out to a 19-0 first quarter lead and had to hold on for a 33-28 victory.

Sam Houston clearly outgained the Bobcats, but Central made the most of its opportunities. Central quarterback Shea Morenz, who is reportedly favoring Stanford as his college of choice, threw four touchdown passes while Chris Cloninger returned an interception 34 yards for a touchdown. Due to an injury, Morenz also wound up handling the 'Cats placekicking.

Sam Houston outgained Central 457 yards to 369 yards, but eight turnovers proved fatal for the Texans.

Sweetwater continued to roll by whipping Everman 35-7 and now faces Pampa's Harvesters at 8 p.m. Saturday in Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

The Mustangs were dominating in the win, limiting Everman to just 117 yards total offense. Meanwhile, Sweetwater's tailback duo of James Moore and Chris Hines combined for 224 yards in 41 carries.

The Permian-Lamar contest was definitely the game of the week in Texas football, attracting writers from across the state.

This week, the game of the week would seem to be the one pitting Fort Hancock against Sands in the Six-Man semifinals.

Both teams are undefeated with Fort Hancock ranked No. 1 in the state and Sands No. 2. Fort Hancock's 55-game winning streak adds even more to the game.

Sands coach Randy Roemisch went 1-1 in coin flips regarding the contest. He won the flip for day and time.

Hawks slaughter ASU Rams, 119-71

By LORNE FANCETT
Staff Writer

The Hawks simply dominated.

The Rams from Angelo State sent down their junior varsity team to Dorothy Garrett Coliseum to get a demonstration on how to get their socks blown away as Howard College obliterated them 119-71.

The game was hardly a contest as the Hawks carried a 95-34 lead into the final ten minutes of play and from there coasted home for the victory.

Leading scorer for the Hawks on the evening was Chuckie Robinson with 19. He also led the Hawks in rebound with nine. Following Robinson was Will Macon with 18. Macon played a well-balanced game as he brought down seven rebounds, made six assists and stole the ball a couple of times to add to his 18 points for the evening.

Angelo State was led by Stephen Thorne with 13. Thorne accumulated 11 of his 13 points in the final 10 minutes of play. Dale Warnken followed with 11 as all of his points came in the second half.

The Rams were out of the game right from the tipoff as the Hawks opened the game with a 10-point run. The Rams scored on three of the next four baskets before the Hawks opened another run, this time of 16, helping bring the score to 30-8 just ten minutes into the ballgame.

The Hawks defense didn't let up for the rest of the half as they played strong man-to-man with some double teams thrown in, holding the Rams to just 20 first half points.

With five minutes left in the half Howard started another scoring run, this time of 17, to help them take a 64-20 lead into the lockerroom.

The opening of the second half was no different as the Hawks stretched their lead with a great scoring attack and strong defense, bringing the score to 95-34 with ten minutes left in the ballgame.

The rest of the game the Hawks just put it into cruise control. The Rams took advantage of the defense that was once stopping them like a wall and doubled their score in the last ten minutes as the Hawks only put 24 points on the board to bring the game to a close with a 119-71 victory.

After the game Howard Coach Jeff Kidder felt that the game was a mismatch from the start.

"We just played a bunch of freshmen and sophomores that just aren't the caliber of team that we are," said Kidder. "The second half I just told the guys to start preparing for Western, and that's who we have to go over and beat. I'm happy with the win and I feel that our top eight players played hard."

Lady Steers defense Dunbar

By LORNE FANCETT
Staff Writer

The Lady Steers moved their game to the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and turned it to their advantage as they defeated the Panthers from Lubbock Dunbar by the score of 67-31.

Leading the way for Big Spring with 16 points was Amber Grisham. She converted on eight of 15 attempts from the floor and also led the Lady Steers in the rebounds category with eight. Following Grisham was Leslie Fryar with 15. All of her points came from the three-point line as she was five out of nine from long range.

Lubbock Dunbar was paced by Lynette Ward who had 12 on the night. She scored the majority of her points in the first half as she fouled out with 2:25 left in the third quarter. LaTonya Walker was next with seven.

The key for the Lady Steers was the first quarter as they opened with a 23-9 lead as Fryar hit on three three-pointers and Grisham put in eight points to lead Big Spring.

The defense put strong pressure on the Panthers and forced them to miss the majority of their shots in the first half. Lubbock was also hampered by turnovers as it lost the ball 10 times in the first half.

"It's one thing to play a game bad offensively," commented Big Spring's head coach Ron Taylor on the Lady Steers defensive game. "But you should never have a bad game defensively. And that is the way we feel about it."

The second quarter the Lady Steers spent a lot of time at the foul line as Lubbock dug itself deeper and deeper into a hole. Foul trouble would bench Ward for the end of the second quarter as she took a seat with four fouls. Big Spring took a 40-16 lead into the lockerroom.

The third quarter was all Lady Steers as their defense held Dunbar to just four points, all by Ward before she fouled out. The Panthers shot only 2-13 from the floor and added more on to their growing pile of turnovers. The Lady Steers kept it even on offense as six of their players each scored one bucket each to bring the score to 54-20 with just eight minutes left to play.

In the final quarter Lubbock's head coach Buford Wiley changed his offense by going to a three-point attack to try and narrow the gap. But by this time the team was frozen cold as it only hit one out of five attempts.

Wanda Peterson helped lead the Lady Steers outscore the Panthers in the final quarter with five of her nine points on the night.

After the game Coach Taylor related how the girls felt during the game.

"I'm glad to see us score," said Taylor. "I am just glad to see for once Big Spring is on this side instead of being on the other side of the scoring column. The girls were talking about this on the bench tonight. They said things like 'it feels good to be on the other side for a change.' They have come a long ways since the first ball game and the key is work."

The win brings the Lady Steers record for the season up to 3-1. Their next challenge will come from Stanton in the Coahoma Invitational Tournament Thursday night. Game time will be 3:30 p.m.

BIG SPRING (67) — Leslie Fryar 5-10, 0-0; Teresa Ross 1-5, 0-0; Casey Cook 1-4, 0-0; Wanda Peterson 4-5, 1-3; Teveyan Russell 4-7, 0-2; Amber Grisham 8-15, 0-2; Kayla Roberts 2-3, 0-0; Cassie Underwood 1-3, 2-4; Syretta Sheltman 2-2, 3-3. LUBBOCK DUNBAR (31) — Debbie Lopez 1-3, 0-0; Angela Johnson 0-3, 0-0; Ronda Adams 0-12, 1-2; LaTonya Walker 3-12, 0-0; Olivia Flores 0-1, 0-0; Lynette Ward 6-9, 0-5; Carmesha Ward 2-4, 0-0; Cherry Stewart 2-5, 1-2. Snyder Tigers conduct hoop clinic for Steers

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Snyder Tigers put on a clinic for the Big Spring Steers. Unfortunately for Big Spring, it consisted of good shooting, superior rebounding and sound defensive play. It all added up to a 82-47 win for the Tigers. The loss drops the Steers to 1-5 while the Tigers move to 4-1.

The Tigers dismantled anything Big Spring threw at them. They attacked Big Spring's man-to-man defense by going inside to Will Clay and Barron Wesley. They bombed a zone with the outside shooting of Jeff Wortham and Eric West and knifed the press with fast break points.

Orchestrating the attack was sophomore point guard Eric Brazier, who had eight assists and forced several Big Spring turnovers. Clay and Barron had their way inside, combining for 33 points and 20 rebounds. Jeff Wortham and Eric West were the firepower from the outside, scoring 17 and 14 points respectively.

Steers coach Tommy Washington called it plain "ugly." • STEERS page 2-B

Cubs sign
LA pitcher

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs continued their quest for a respectable starting rotation by signing Mike Morgan to a $12.5 million, four-year contract.

Morgan, who is 67-104 lifetime, was 14-10 with a 2.78 ERA for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1991 and then became a free agent following his first winning season.

"One of the things I wanted to accomplish was to bring in a pitcher who would be capable of going every five days and give us quality starts," new Cubs general manager Larry Himes said after the deal was announced Tuesday night.

"Mike has been one of the most successful pitchers for the Dodgers over the last two years," Himes said. "We feel very fortunate that he will be able to step into a starting role and play a big part of the Cubs staff for 1992 and the near future."

Morgan, a 32-year-old right-hander with a 4.10 career ERA, was selected as an NL All-Star in place of injured Ramon Martinez. Morgan made $650,000 last season and now gets a $1.5 million signing bonus, $2.5 million in 1992, $3 million in 1993, $2.5 million in 1994 and $3 million in 1995.

Pirates may unload Barry Bonds

PITTSBURGH (AP) — They're breaking up the Killer B's in Pittsburgh. Bobby Bonilla is gone and Barry Bonds may not be far behind.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, staggered by Bonilla's $29 million deal with the New York Mets, apparently are ready to further dismantle baseball's best outfield by trading Barry Bonds — perhaps as early as next week.

The B's may be gone, the result of skyrocketing salaries that threaten the ability of smaller-market franchises like the Pirates to keep their superstars.

"If we're going to trade (Bonds), now's the time," general manager Larry Doughty said Tuesday.

Asked if he will explore trade talks at next week's winter meetings in Miami, Doughty said, "It might be too late to wait until then. We have to find out our options now."

Doughty hopes to get at least two starting players in return for Bonds, the 1990 National League MVP and the 1991 MVP runnerup.

"Barry's always wanted to play in California ... (and) there may be one team out there that thinks Barry can put them over the hump for '92," Doughty said.

Bonds combined for 58 homers and 230 RBIs the last two seasons, including career highs of 33 homers in 1990 and 116 RBIs last season. He also has won two consecutive Gold Glove awards for defense.

Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder Barry Bonds, shown here in action last year, may be on the trade block, according to the Pittsburgh front office.

The Pirates apparently believe not only that they can't afford to resign Bonds, but their chances of repeating as National League East champions were lessened greatly by Bonilla's departure.

"I felt like with Bobby, we'd have a chance to win in 1991," Doughty said. "Without Bobby, it would be tough to win ... Even with Barry, I'm not so sure about that in 1992."

"Now that you're looking to replace probably two of the three outfielders, you got to get back to a point where we were when (Andy) Van Slyke, Bonds and Bonilla were young players without a big salary demand, players that can be productive and hopefully superstars of the future."

Van Slyke, the Pirates' marquee player before they traded for Bonilla in 1987 and Bonds emerged as the NL's best all-around player, may find himself in the same position in 1992.

And it's all because of money.

The Pirates' 1991 payroll was $26.1 million, a figure that Doughty and team president Mark Sauer are reportedly under orders to trim. They'll save millions by losing Bonilla and by trading Bonds, but a less-competitive team — and a 16.8 percent ticket price hike — could be disastrous at the box office.

"I'm sure we'll still be competitive," Sauer said.

"We'll survive," manager Jim Leyland said.

Mavs, Rockets both lose

(AP) — In different ways, the Denver Nuggets and Atlanta's Kevin Willis both were looking to rebound on the road.

The Nuggets, winless away from Denver since beating Milwaukee 126-122 on Jan. 29, snapped a 25-game road losing streak Tuesday night with a 110-100 victory over the Houston Rockets.

Willis, meanwhile, was rebounding in a literal sense.

Continuing his recent domination on the boards, Willis had a career-high 31 rebounds — the most in the NBA since the end of the 1988 season — and scored 29 points in Atlanta's 103-99 victory at Dallas.

In grabbing 20 or more rebounds for the seventh time in nine games, Willis also had double figures in points and rebounds for the 16th time this season.

Willis broke the Reunion Arena mark of 27 rebounds set by the Mavericks' James Donaldson on Dec. 29, 1989.

choosing Friday night. Fort Hancock coach Danny Medina, who lives 100 miles away in Las Cruces, N.M., wanted to play Saturday afternoon.

Roemisch lost the site flip, however.

He wanted to play in Monahans, where Sands trounced Sierra Blanca 54-6 last week, while Medina wanted Wink — where The Fort has already won two playoff games this year.

So it's Friday night at 8 in Wink and, with a break here and there, Sands could snap Fort Hancock's lofty win streak and end its three-year Six-Man reign.

Lady Hawks treading troubled waters

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Howard College Lady Hawks are heading into Western Junior College Athletic Conference play at an inopportune time.

The Lady Hawks who were ranked No. 2 in the nation at the start of the season, go into their conference opener having lost two of their last three games. The 9-2 Lady Hawks start conference play Thursday in Snyder against the Western Texas Dusters at 6 p.m.

Howard is coming off a 74-58 loss to Weatherford College Monday, a team the Lady Hawks had beaten earlier, 97-61. Howard's other defeat was a 56-52 loss to South Plains.

Howard Coach Royce Chadwick called the loss to Weatherford one of his team's worst games. Weatherford outscored Howard 50-29 in the second half to get the win.

"We're getting the shots, we're just not knocking them down," said Chadwick. "After the South Plains game I thought, 'Oh well,' but when you play like we've played in two of the last three games it makes you wonder what's going on."

"If this were chili, it would be a three-alarm chili dish. If we play against Western Texas like we did against Weatherford we won't win Thursday because Western Texas is better than Weatherford."

Chadwick said some of the problem may have been his team had a Thanksgiving break. "We had about three or four days off and it's hard to get back started. But we'll have two intense practices."

"After the game I told my squad since it's Thanksgiving we have three things to be thankful for. One — it wasn't a conference game; two — we didn't get anybody hurt; and three — we've got two days of practice."

The Lady Hawks have played WTC once this year and beat them 79-43. In that game guards Vernetra Allen and Yumeca White scored 14 and 12 points respectively.

For the season the Lady Hawks have been led by sophomore post player Yolanda Wells, who's averaging 12 points and seven rebounds. Freshman point guard Lekisha Wiley is averaging 10 points and freshman power forward Regina Huff is averaging nine points and seven rebounds.

Royce Chadwick will go for his eighth consecutive win over dad Kelly Chadwick at WTC. He says he isn't expecting any surprises. "I think they know what to expect and we know what to expect," said Royce. "We want to push the ball early and they (WTC) don't want to run. If the score is in the 50s, then we're in trouble. We need it to be in the 60s or 70s."

As far as the rest of the conference goes, Chadwick said it's been a humbling experience for his highly-regarded team thus far. "We started out thinking we were a Picasso and we're turning out to be a watercolor," he said. "We're going to get better the next couple of days in practice."

We have to develop mental toughness, when something bad happens we can't get our heads down. The intensity level goes up about five notches when you get in conference.

"New Mexico is 14-0, they beat Weatherford by 10 and they beat Tyler, who will be in the top 20 by the time the next poll comes out. They also beat Paris and Panola."

"Clarendon is 10-2 and they play their first two conference games at home. Odessa has some kids get hurt, they'll be tough when they get back. South Plains has turned it around quicker than I thought with all those freshmen."

"It's going to be hard for us to get to the regional tournament. We'll have to play some quality ball every night."

Hawks hope to have their game fine-tuned

By LORNE FANCETT
Staff Writer

Until Tuesday night's basketball game against the Angelo State University junior varsity squad, a game Howard won 119-71, Howard College's Hawks have been working to get an overall feel for their game and fine-tune their approach to conference play.

Now, the serious part of the season gets under way as the Howard roundballers travel up Texas 350 to face Western Texas College Thursday night.

The contest with WTC looks to be a good one to start conference play, according to Howard head coach Jeff Kidder.

"I think in a lot of ways they are similar to us," Kidder said.

"They have a lot of young kids." Kidder said he thought the Westerners had around 12 freshmen, just like the Hawks.

One factor that will come into play is that the Hawks are away from home for their first two conference games. Kidder said he views this as a major obstacle.

"It's going to be a battle to beat them at their place. They rise to the occasion and play real well on their home court, like most teams do. They compete hard and they are well coached."

With only a single loss to Panola counted among the Hawks pre-conference decisions, Kidder said he is pleased with the way his team is performing.

"I think that right now we are playing well," said Kidder. "If I get a great defensive effort out of these guys, more than just 10 to 15 minutes, then we'll have a great chance of going over there and beating them."

"They (the Westerners) pose some problems as far as athletic ability," he continued. "They have three or four players that can play with our guys. We just have to hope that our bench is a little bit deeper and if our guys come ready to play then we'll have a chance to beat them."

Key players for the Hawks thus far have been scoring leaders Chuckie Robinson and Will Macon. Both players have utilized their size and strength inside to put some big numbers on the scoreboard. The two are averaging 19 and 18 points per game, respectively.

The floor leader of Kidder's offense is point guard Markee James, currently fourth in the conference with just over five assists a game.

Kidder said one of the more pleasant surprises of the season for the Hawks has been Demond Thomas, who has come off the bench and scored well in the last few ballgames.

"Demond came in late to us because he also plays baseball and he injured his knee during the season," Kidder said. "It was just a matter of getting this freshman used to college basketball. The big thing with him is when I recruited him out of Kentucky, he was an exceptional outside shooter and a good athlete. I think at the beginning of the season he wasn't shooting good shots, but he has really sprung out these last few games and should be a big reason for our success this year."

After the contest against Western the Hawks travel to Clarendon Saturday — a trip that has Kidder concerned.

"It's a five-hour drive and that might hurt us," he said. "Spending that much time on a bus can make anything happen to any team, especially when you are talking about 18-and-19 year-olds."

"They're going to be ready to play us. It's going to be the last game they before the break, so it's going to be nothing but a battle."

Forsan splits with Roscoe

By GLENDA LOW
For the Herald

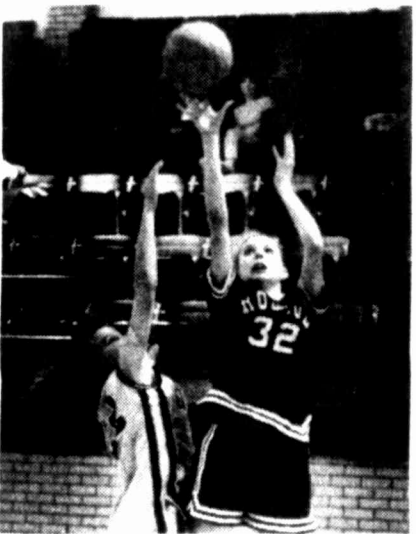

BUFFALOES 63, ROSCOE 45
FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes defeated the Roscoe Ploymboys at Forsan by a score of 63-45.

After two minutes into the ballgame the Ploymboys started off the scoring with a basket by Buster Frierson, but Forsan's Joey Conaway answered with a basket and the Buffaloes went on a 10-3 run with two baskets by Jacoby Hopper and baskets by Micah Epley. Josh Wooten and Conaway.

The Ploymboys Ralph Cuellar nailed a three pointer. With only 48 seconds left in the quarter Roscoe's Kevin Buchanan hit a basket for two points, but Buffs Wooten went in for a basket for the last score of the quarter with the Buffaloes on top 14-7.

In the second quarter the Buffs went onto keep the lead in 28-20.

The third quarter Buffs Wooten started off the shooting and went on to score six baskets in the quarter. Forsan outscored the Ploymboys FORSAN — Forsan's Barbara Mitchell (22) plays defense against Roscoe's Becky Barnes (32) during action Tuesday night. 20-13 to take a commanding 48-33 lead.

ROSCOE 51, QUEENS 30
FORSAN — The No. 6 ranked Roscoe Ploymgirls defeated the Forsan Queens 51-30.

In the first quarter of the game the Ploymgirls held the Queens to five points (baskets by Becky Gerstenberger and Mickie McAdams and one of two free throws by Jenny Conaway). The Ploymgirls hit seven baskets and two of two free shots for 16 points in the quarter.

The second quarter was a disaster for the Queens' scoring. Queens' Jenny Conaway made the only basket for two points and was fouled, but missed the free throw. While the Ploymgirls hit six baskets for 12 points in the quarter, (Becky Barnes one, Kasey Buchanan one, Stephanie Frierson one and Ursula Santiago three).

Roscoe outscored Forsan 10-8 in the third quarter and the Queens outscored the visitors 15-13 the final quarter.

"Roscoe just did not make any mistakes, while we made enough for us and them both," said Coach Johnny Schafer of the Forsan Queens.

Kings upset Spurs, 99-94

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — It's a far cry from the NBA Championship, but the Sacramento Kings are off to their best start in Northern California.

Anthony "Spud" Webb produced two free throws, a steal and a fastbreak layup in the final 10.2

seconds Tuesday night to give the Kings a 99-94 upset victory over the San Antonio Spurs.

The win pushed Sacramento's record to 6-11, the team's best season-opening mark since moving from Kansas City to Northern California for the 1985-86 season.

Pokes have sight set on playoffs

IRVING (AP) — When it comes to NFL playoff optimism, coach Jimmy Johnson is the conservative and owner Jerry Jones is the liberal.

"If we can win 11 games I think we have a good chance at winning the Super Bowl," Jones said of the Dallas Cowboys playoff drive. "But the first thing you have to do is get out there where the big boats are."

Johnson on the same topic says "You've got to concentrate on just one opponent a week. This week we play New Orleans."

Johnson only wishes last year was this year. "A year ago eight victories would have put you into the playoffs," Johnson said Tuesday. "Obviously, it's going to take more this year. We have a difficult schedule the last three games but we knew how that was going to be before the season started."

The Cowboys were 7-9 in 1990, losing a playoff berth in the final game of the season to Atlanta.

Dallas is 8-5 with a home game Sunday against New Orleans, a road game in Philadelphia, and a home game against Atlanta left on the schedule.

Now, Johnson is worried a 10-6 record might not make it. The Cowboys can clinch a wild card by winning their last three games.

"Well, we've got two out of three games at home and that helps," Johnson said. "We've got to keep things going. Our players are feeling good about themselves."

Jones said "there are teams a lot less talented than we are who have played in Super Bowls. Why not us?"

The Cowboys will have to beat New Orleans on Sunday in Texas Stadium without Troy Aikman.

"Troy will be out for the game although he's trying to work," Johnson said. "He's done some throwing. We'll see if he could take a few snaps and be available in an emergency role."

Aikman has recovered rapidly from a partial tear in a lateral collateral knee ligament. Aikman has targeted the Philadelphia game in two weeks as his possible comeback game.

Johnson said he hopes his punter, Mike Saxon has recovered from a sprained left ankle suffered in the Pittsburgh game.

"Saxon feels he can punt by the end of the week," Johnson said.

Also, returning to practice was wide receiver Kelvin Martin who suffered a mild concussion in the victory over Pittsburgh. Johnson wasn't certain whether Martin or Alexander Wright would return punts against the Saints.

Steve Beuerlein, who has led Dallas to two victories since Aikman was injured, will start against the Saints, who have lost three consecutive games and are two-point underdogs.

Beuerlein was hampered by a sprained ankle in a 20-10 victory over Pittsburgh on Thanksgiving Day.

"Steve's fine now," Johnson said.

Lines drawn at Kent State still divide people

DEAR ABBY: You recently published several letters on the Kent State killings that reflected your readers' prejudices, not the facts as determined by the official investigative bodies, particularly the President's Commission on Campus Unrest. Some of the myths your readers cling to cannot be adequately addressed in a short column, but I would, at least, like to set the record straight on a few points:

1. The anti-Vietnam War rally that the National Guard broke up at Kent State was peaceful until the Guard made what the President's Commission called a "highly questionable" decision to disperse the crowd. The President's Commission concluded: "There was no apparent impending violence. Only shooting was "neither necessary nor proper." Similarly, the President's Commission concluded the killings were "unnecessary, unwarranted and inexcusable."

3. The students who were killed were not the same students who were responsible for the burning of the university's Army ROTC building or any other act of violence which occurred in the city of Kent the weekend before May 4, 1970.

4. On May 4, two of the four students who were killed had participated in the demonstration and may have at some point thrown rocks at the soldiers. The other two (an ROTC student and a coed carrying books to class) were strictly bystanders. The Justice Department concluded that because all four fatalities were located more than 300 feet from the firing soldiers, none were "in a position to pose even a remote danger to the National Guard at the time of the firing."

WILLIAM A. GORDON, AUTHOR, "THE FOURTH OF MAY: KILLINGS AND COVER-UPS AT KENT STATE" (PROMETHEUS BOOKS, 1990)

DEAR MR. GORDON: Thank you for setting the record straight. I bought and read your book, a fascinating as well as factual account of what really took place at Kent State.

DEAR READERS: Your chuckle for today: When George Jessel took Lena Horne to a famous restaurant, the doorman asked, "Who made your reservations?" Jessel replied, "Abraham Lincoln."

People are eating them up! For Abby's favorite recipes, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

FOR THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1991

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: A generous older person will play a major role in shaping your future. Reviewing your career options early in 1992 will simplify certain business decisions. Exciting financial opportunities come through old friends in the spring. A change of lifestyle will enhance your social life. The evening of next summer give you a new emotional maturity. Family ties grow stronger by late fall.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: cartoonist Walt Disney, actress Morgan Brittany, author Joan Didion, rock star Little Richard.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): It is time to make a major career decision. Unless you pursue your goals with vigor, the competition will soon leap ahead of you. Let romance develop at its own sweet pace.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Put your drive and determination to good use. Raising funds for your high school or college can be a heartwarming and wholly satisfying experience. New romance is possible.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): An excellent day for making and announcing business decisions. Do not procrastinate! You gain a big advantage by moving quickly. Check your credit rating.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Handle any cash-flow problems discreetly to avoid panicking investors. Accepting a challenge puts you in a position to gain great wealth and power. Choose your allies with care.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): An admiring older person helps you get an unusual opportunity. There is no reason to feel insecure; you have everything going for you! Dress to impress — appearances are very important now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Talks with higher-ups and experts can be very helpful to an important project. Career advantages are shown. Give romance a second chance; take the initiative in patching up a misunderstanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Conditions are right for out-of-the-blue opportunities and unexpected encounters. Make the most of them! Avoid acting stubborn or going to extremes. Wrap gifts and address Christmas cards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): It is tempting to skip the basics when things are so obviously going your way. Don't. The more work you let pile up now, the more you will suffer later. Be diligent.

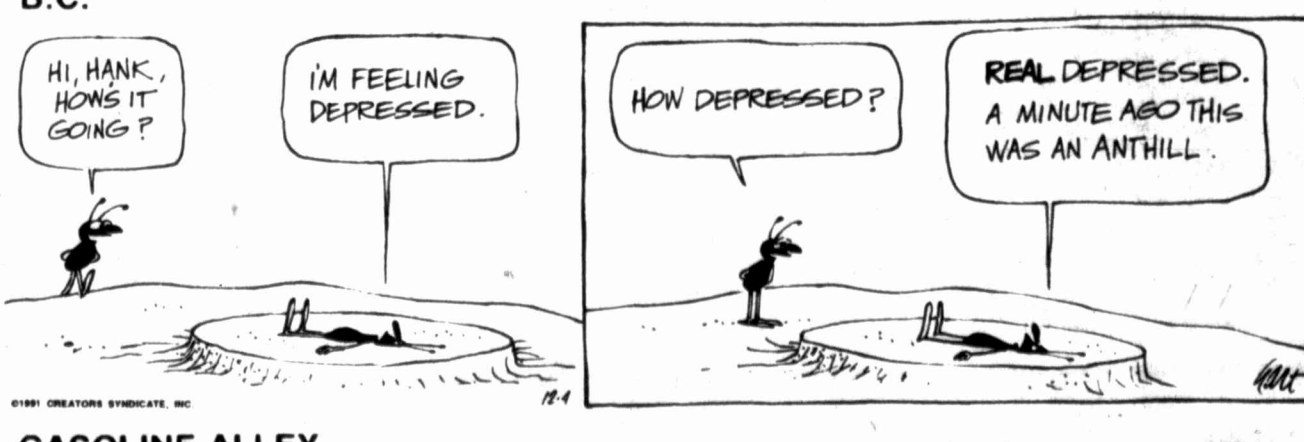

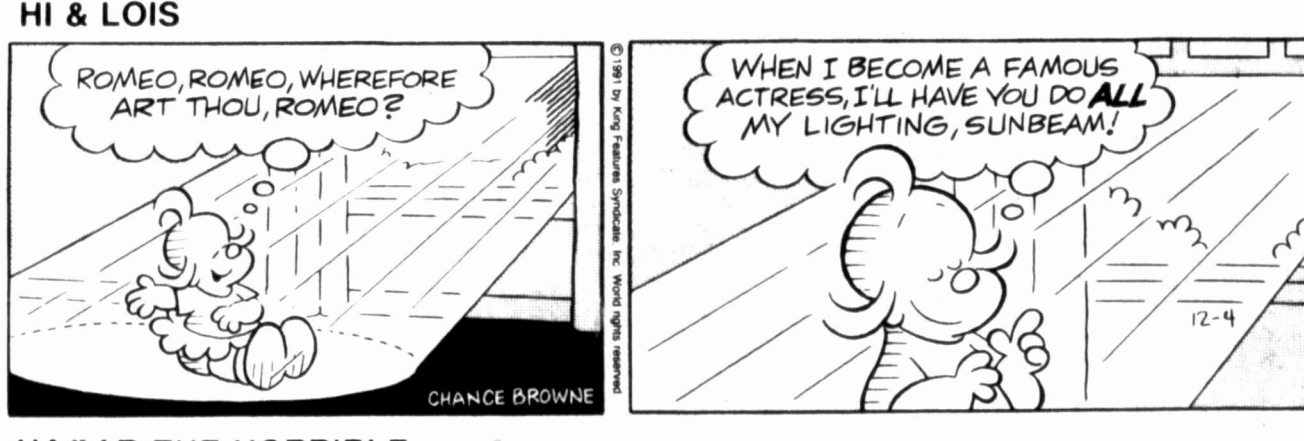

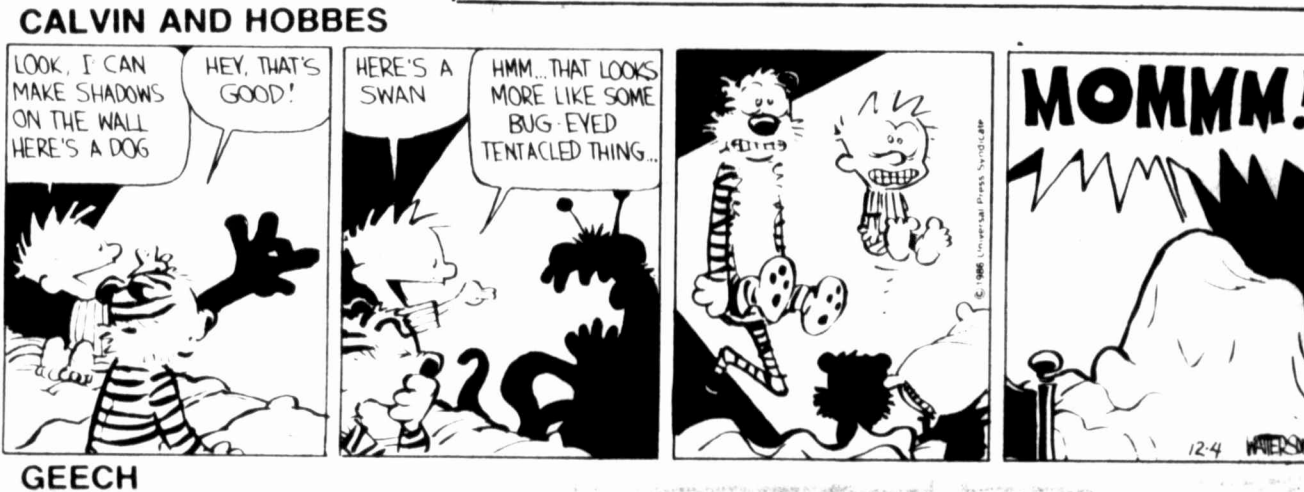

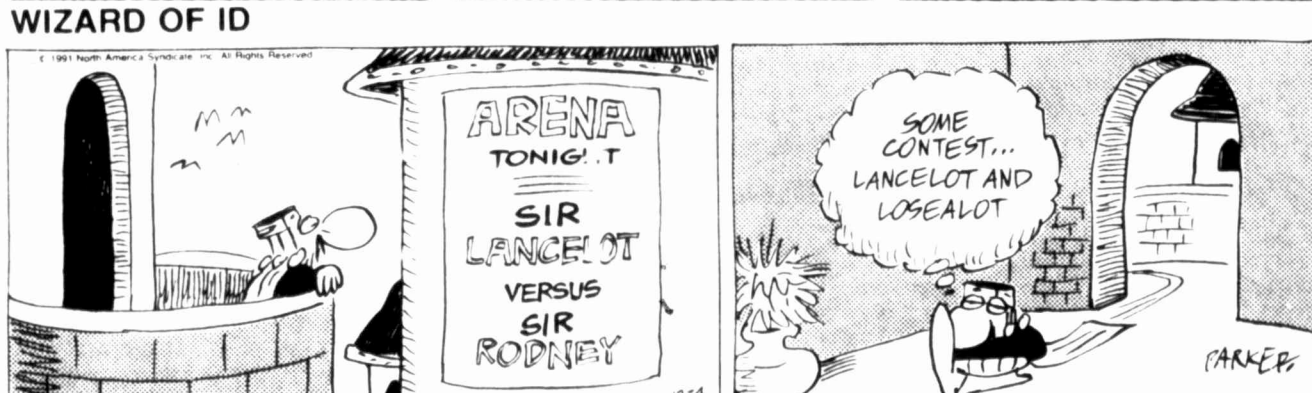

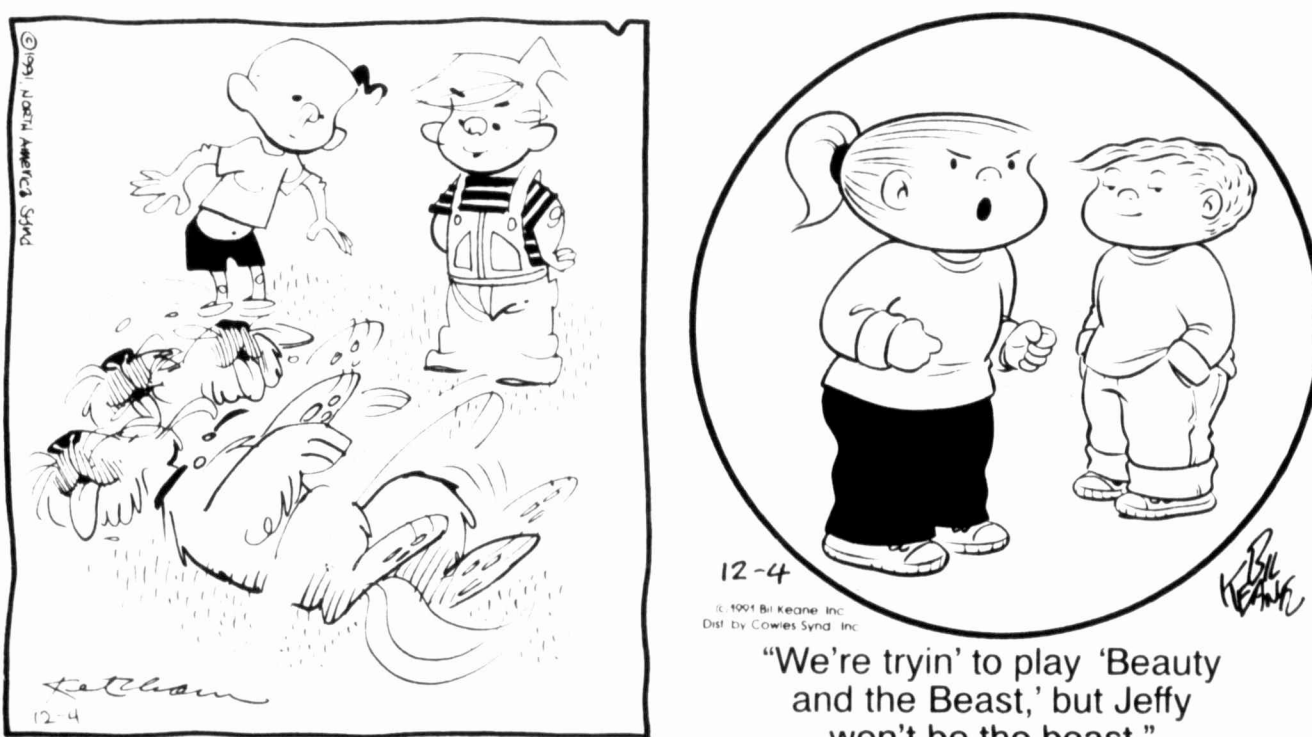

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Keep to a schedule and fulfill your promises. Behind-the-scenes connections will be very valuable one way or another. Seek your co-workers' support. Romance will move into high gear this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Why hide your light under a bushel? Your ideas on furthering your employer's goals will hit home if voiced today. Contracts and purchases are favored. Question your loved ones about their needs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your creativity is at a peak over the next two days. Express your thoughts aloud and in writing. Contact with influential people could prove highly profitable.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Cooperation and sharing are in the spotlight. Be willing to see both sides of the coin in any pressured situation. A platonic relationship begins to intensify. Subtle changes occur on the home front.

NEWS OF JOBS

Jobs Now For All Ages In Hotels And Motels

More and more people are checking in to the many job opportunities in the hotel/motel industry, statistics show.

Says Roger Saunders, president of the American Hotel & Motel Association, "The lodging industry is growing. It means there are more opportunities for work in all kinds of jobs for people of all ages." He adds, "Hotels operate year-round, 24 hours a day. So jobs are not just full time. There are also part-time, flex time and hourly positions."

The hotel business can be ideal for young people planning careers. People have risen to the top from virtually every position in a hotel. Mothers may find that hotel jobs can fit their available time. Seniors and the handicapped find that hotel and motel work is not physically taxing, but is mentally stimulating. The ability to deal pleasantly with people is the prime essential.

Ready to launch your career in the hospitality business? Ask about job openings at hotels and motels in your area.

A Good Night's Sleep

Lady Macbeth couldn't do it at all. Rip Van Winkle did it too much. Dorothy and Sleeping Beauty did it at the bidding of the wicked witch. "It" is sleep, the state of rest that naturally follows a day of activity—for some.

Unfortunately a large number of Americans identify closely with Lady Macbeth when it comes to slumber.

Insomnia, the inability to sleep, is a common sleep disorder that varies from patient to patient in cause, severity and duration.

Insomnia is by far the most prevalent of sleep disorders. It has been reported that approximately 32 percent of Americans are affected by insomnia and 15-20 percent of them consider their sleep disorder serious.

Now there is new hope for people with insomnia. Baker Cummings Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and Wallace Laboratories have introduced Doral, a safe and effective prescription medication which treats insomnia. This new product has not been associated with the memory and behavioral problems reported with other sleep medications.

Doral can be characterized by either difficulty falling asleep, interrupting sleep during the night, or waking up too early and not being able to fall back asleep.

Insomnia occurs most frequently among young and elderly people. People suffering from insomnia are typically tense, anxious and ruminate at bedtime as they worry about health, death, work, personal problems and getting enough sleep.

Understanding Your Pension

Facts From The U.S. Dept. Of Labor

Q. What is vesting?
A. Vesting is your right to the benefits you have accrued, or some portion of them, even if your employment under the plan terminates. This relates to money contributed by your employer. Voluntary and mandatory employee contributions are always fully vested. Most plans allow you to vest after five years. Union plans usually require 10 years of service while seven year graded vesting is prevalent among endowments and foundations.

Q. What does it mean when my pension benefit is integrated with Social Security?

A. Normally, only plans in which the monthly benefit is defined are integrated with Social Security. When you retire a percentage of expected monthly Social Security benefits is subtracted from the private annuity. Any type of plan, however, may provide that lower pension accruals be applied to an employee's earnings below a specified wage base, generally the Social Security wage base.

YOU CAN HELP

Environmental Action At Home

There's a new story almost every day—the environment in peril, another blow to the health of our small, watery planet. You might ask "What can I do?" Actually, quite a lot and right in your house too. A key place to start is the kitchen. The following tips from product development experts who make KitchenAid appliances can help you save energy, help the environment—and save money too.

Recycling Refrigerants

Most of us have heard about the ozone layer, the protective gas around the earth that helps screen out harmful rays of the sun. The ozone is being damaged, in part by chemicals called CFCs, which are used in many types of products. The home appliance industry uses about one percent of the CFCs used in the U.S., mainly in refrigerators, freezers, and air conditioners.

Until recently, when a refrigerator needed service or repair, CFCs from the cooling system would escape into the air. Now, CFC recovery bags created by the parent company of KitchenAid enable appliance servicers to capture CFCs. The CFCs are transferred from the bags into pressurized tanks where they are held until they can be used again.

Because of their effect on the ozone layer, CFCs will eventually be eliminated in appliance production. Appliance manufacturers are working closely with chemical companies to develop safe, reliable alternatives to CFCs, that can be introduced as soon as possible.

For now, the CFC recovery bag is one small step to a safer environment. Ask your refrigerator repairman to use one.

World's Most Spectacular Sights

Portugal: Spectacular in Beauty, Rich in History

Travel to Portugal: For children, it's a fantastic educational experience. For adults, it is even more so. A land steeped in history, Portugal abounds in museums with some of the finest collections in the world; and centuries-old monasteries and palaces, some of which are now converted into charming Pousadas, the state-run inns dotted about the countryside.

The Costa Verde region is especially renowned as the cradle of the Portuguese nation. It was originally inhabited by Celtic tribes, followed by Romans, Visigoths and Moors. Here you'll find Porto, home of the Port wine trade; Braga, one of the earliest Christian towns with a 12th century cathedral, baroque churches and shrines; Valença, a lovely 13th century fortress town guarding the border with Spain; and Viana do Castelo, capital of Portuguese folklore, famous for its colorful costumes, embroidery, filigree jewelry and ceramics.

Portugal is much more than a land of history. It's a place to relax over a glass of wine in a little cafe overlooking a 16th century piazza; unwind on long sandy beaches; swing a golf club on courses said to be the finest on the old Continent; or swing at night, in glamorous casinos or discos; join the fun in a country folk festival; cast for trout in crystal mountain streams; go after big game fish or hike on mountain trails.

When people come to Portugal they find Europe as they expect it to be—old world culture, old world tradition, old world charm. You find it wherever you go in Portugal—old walled cities with cobblestone lanes leading to castles rising above the plains; fishing villages where life revolves around the tempo of the sea; strangers are invited to join village festivals where young people dressed in local folk costumes handed down from generation to generation whirl to the tune of a "vira."

There's shopping galore, especially in the markets of the Algarve region—colorful and noisy, where bargaining is the order of the day. Also shop in Lisbon, the glittering capital city with its delightful "Tax Free" shops. Load up your suitcase with fine Portuguese wines, jewelry, porcelain, colorful pottery, woven textiles, and the unique, handpainted tiles called azulejos.

Also in Lisbon visit the Alfama, the charming ancient Moorish quarter with narrow, winding streets, crowned by St. George's Castle; Belem, from where the ships of Vasco da Gama and other explorers set sail; Azeitao, the picturesque wine region; and Cabo Espichel, a popular ancient pilgrimage center with spectacular views of sea and mountain.

Colorful folk dancers entertain visitors.

Accommodations in Portugal range from luxurious five star deluxe establishments to a 15th century manor house, to the pousadas, where the roof over your head can be that of a former palace, castle or an old monastery.

For free brochure that can tell you more about vacations in Portugal, see a travel agent or write to the Portuguese National Tourist Office, 590 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10036-4704 or call 212-351-1403.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Pleasant living with rental plans to fit your needs

Sharon Minyard, manager stands inside the courtyard of Coronado Hills Apartments. Where living is pleasant and beautiful.

CORONADO HILLS APARTMENTS has long been the prestigious apartment address in Big Spring where the residents enjoy a beautiful, serene and secure living environment. The pleasant complex is located very conveniently at the intersection of Marcy Drive and FM 700. Coronado Hills offers 68 large apartments with one, two, and three bedrooms and is the only complex in Big Spring to offer a four bedroom design. These homes are sized from 700 square feet to 2600 square feet, and feature from one to four baths. The apartment property is owned by local residents and managed by Sharon and Don Minyard.

Each apartment home at Coronado Hills has a private patio and direct access to a lovely courtyard which features pool and party room. The two, three and four bedroom units have double attached carports, while one bedroom units have reserved front door parking. Most larger units have washer and dryer connections and two laundromats serve the remaining units. All apartments are heated by gas and the gas and water are included in the rent.

Coronado Hills offers rental and lease plans to fit the needs of the resident. Rates are available for longer term leases or shorter term, daily or monthly, rentals. A popular offering at Coronado Hills is the "Executive Suite" or "Resorty Condominium" rental which provides apartment comfort with total furnishings, kitchen equipment, telephone, television, utilities, and maid service to enable the occupant(s) to be "at home" whenever you desire. Coronado Hills is popular with both owner employees and non-owner employees in Big Spring and with families who need a pleasant, comfortable apartment for a short or long period of time.

Whatever your housing need, Coronado Hills can serve you with a comfortable, pleasant living environment. Remember "You Deserve the Best" and the BEST in Big Spring apartment living is CORONADO HILLS APARTMENTS.

NEWS OF JOBS

Jobs Now For All Ages In Hotels And Motels

More and more people are checking in to the many job opportunities in the hotel-motel industry, statistics show.

Says Roger Saunders, president of the American Hotel & Motel Association, "The lodging industry is growing. It means there are more opportunities for work in all kinds of jobs for people of all ages." He adds, "Hotels operate year-round, 24 hours a day. So jobs are not just full-time. There are also part-time, flex-time and hourly positions."

The hotel business can be ideal for young people planning careers. People have risen to the top from virtually every position in a hotel. Mothers may find that hotel jobs can fit their available time. Seniors and the handicapped find that hotel and motel work is not physically taxing but is mentally stimulating. The ability to deal pleasantly with people is the prime essential.

Ready to launch your career in the hospitality business? Ask about job openings at hotels and motels in your area.

A Good Night's Sleep

Lady Macbeth couldn't do it at all. Pinocchio Winked did it too much. Dorothy and Sleeping Beauty did it at the bidding of the wicked witch. "It is sleep," the state of rest that naturally follows a day of activity—for some.

Unfortunately, a large number of Americans identify closely with Lady Macbeth when it comes to slumber.

Insomnia, the inability to sleep, is a common sleep disorder that varies from patient to patient in cause, severity and duration.

Insomnia is by far the most prevalent of sleep disorders. It has been reported that approximately 32 percent of Americans are affected by insomnia and 15-20 percent of them consider their sleep disorder serious.

Now there is new hope for people with insomnia. Baker Cummings Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and Wallace Laboratories have introduced Doral, a safe and effective prescription medication which treats insomnia. This new product has not been associated with the memory and behavioral problems reported with other sleep medications.

Doral can be characterized by either difficulty falling asleep, intermittent awakening after falling asleep, or waking up too early and not being able to fall back asleep.

Insomnia occurs most frequently among women and elderly people. People suffering from insomnia are typically tense, anxious and ruminative at bedtime as they worry about health, death, work, personal problems and getting enough sleep.

Pleasant living with rental plans to fit your needs

Sharon Minyard, manager stands inside the courtyard of Coronado Hills Apartments. Where living is pleasant and beautiful.

CORONADO HILLS APARTMENTS has long been the prestigious apartment address in Big Spring where the residents enjoy a beautiful, serene and secure living environment. The pleasant complex is located very conveniently at the intersection of Marcy Drive and FM 700. Coronado Hills offers 68 large apartments with one, two, and three bedrooms and is the only complex in Big Spring to offer a four bedroom design. These homes are sized from 700 square feet to 2600 square feet, and feature from one to four baths. The apartment property is owned by local residents and managed by Sharon and Don Minyard.

Each apartment home at Coronado Hills has a private patio and direct access to a lovely courtyard which features pool and party room. The two, three and four bedroom units have double attached carports, while one bedroom units have reserved front door parking. Most larger units have washer and dryer connections and two laundromats serve the remaining units. All apartments are heated by gas and the gas and water are included in the rent.

Coronado Hills offers rental and lease plans to fit the needs of the resident. Rates are available for longer term leases or shorter term, daily or monthly, rentals. A popular offering at Coronado Hills is the "Executive Suite" or "Resort Condominium" rental which provides apartment comfort with total furnishings, kitchen equipment, telephone, television, utilities, and maid service to enable the occupant(s) to be "at home" minus the hassles of owning. It is popular with both young professionals and families, who need a comfortable, pleasant living environment. Rent a home. You Deserve the Best. And the BEST in Big Spring is living in Coronado Hills APARTMENTS.
