Vision 2000 to unveil final goals in Wednesday meeting

By Mella McEwen
Staff Writer

Nine months after the process began, Vision 2000 And Beyond will unveil its final goals Wednesday during a public breakfast at the Midland Center.

Following a continental breakfast at 7:30 a.m., the final form of the 38 goals compiled by nine task forces will be revealed, followed by a speech by Tom Wageman, former president of First National Bank of Midland. He addressed the public forum in March that kicked off the process.

"Every idea in the 38 goals came from the public forum at First Presbyterian in March," emphasized Joan Baskin, chairman of the Vision 2000 committee.

She called the presentation Wednesday "a final report on Vision 2000, which is a blueprint to work on for the next 10 years."

All the ideas, she stressed, came from Midland citizens at the March forum, "and now it's up to all of the citizens to make it happen."

Warren Gardner of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, who worked on the project and supervised two UTPB graduate students in formulating surveys and statistics and doing research, said the sports complex approved earlier this month by Midland voters was listed by the facilities task force and "is one of the first goals we've finished."

"It was a source of pride for all of us when we realized the voters had approved the sports complex," said Julia Vaughan, chairman of the facilities task force.

She added that while she is pleased voters supported the sports complex, she hopes they will now support efforts to upgrade or replace Midland's secondary schools.

"I'm partial to bringing the school issue to the voters because I feel the voters will see the merit, and I feel the other items are desirable and the voters should get behind them, but the schools are the most logical next step," she said. "Education was a key theme for our task force and other task forces."

All of those involved in her task force and in the Vision 2000 project "want Midland involved in economic development, and facilities and improving the schools will impact the city's ability to attract new industry. I see it as a quality of life issue. People here deserve the nice amenities available in other cities our size."

Ms. Baskin said that while some of the goals require brick and mortar, others will require a great deal of effort and coordination.

"One of the goals from the youth task force calls for all the churches, the scouts, Camp Fire Boys and Girls and other nonprofits to make an effort to get together and see that everyone knows what programs they have available. It has nothing to do with new programs or bricks and mortar," she said. "And it's going to take a lot of effort, probably putting up a Web site since this is the generation that's pecking away. It will be a matter of people working together."

The three topics that drew the most comments, she said, were:

- Economic development, as Midlanders worry about the loss of good jobs in the oil downturn.
- Education, as improvements to Midland's elementary schools are completed, "the problem is the secondary schools, especially the high schools, aren't up to speed."
- Transportation, the needs of elderly, and children of two working parents who need a way to after-school activities. Too, she said, "we have these wonderful clinics on the east side and you can get

Big Spring's new StarTekkies head to work this week

By T.E. Jenkins
Big Spring Correspondent

BIG SPRING — Since early summer, the "buzzword" in Big Spring has been StarTek — and the possibility the billion dollar company would locate a new technical support call center in Big Spring.

The buzz is now official ... and a reality, according to a press release made by StarTek to the Internet's Yahoo! Finance.

And come Wednesday, the first of the Big Spring employees will be on the job.

"We're excited about the quality of the work force in Big Spring and are anxious to complete our facility renovation and the hiring of our new associates," said Michael W. Morgan, president and CEO of the Colorado-based StarTek.

"We want to especially acknowledge the efforts of Kent Sharp, executive director of Moore Development, without whose extraordinary efforts this new facility would not be possible. We look forward to becoming a vital part of the Big Spring community."

Sharp said StarTek's investment in Big Spring not only marks an excellent milestone for the local economy but also represents future investments for the area.

"It's kind of like the saying, 'build it, and they will come,' " said Sharp. "When a company like StarTek opens up shop in a new area, others in the same industry immediately sit up and take notice. They want to know why they chose that particular area. What do they have to offer?

"We hope to see other computer industry companies piggyback in on this. We now have the point of presence set up, and the work force will be trained for this type of work, and that's something other computer industry companies look at first."

Of course, the national attention pointed in the direction of Big Spring doesn't hurt, either.

"National attention from the media is always a plus for economic development," said Sharp as he walked around the College Park Shopping Center building, site of the new facility. "It will be interesting to see how much of an impact the indirect benefits from this

Sports complex marketing plans already in works

Editor's Note: This is the third installment in a three-part series looking at issues involving the planned sports complex, which won voters' approval on Nov. 2.

By Jeff Stevens
Staff Writer

Long before the first shovel of dirt is turned, Midland will begin touting its new sports complex around the country.

"I think it's important to market it as early as you can. So many events are planned two or three years out into the future. It's critical to begin marketing as soon as possible," said Midland Mayor Bobby Burns.

The city staff is working with local chamber representatives and sports organizations to begin the process and has plans to make the new football/soccer stadium and baseball stadium a popular local attraction. According to Burns, the stadiums will host everything from sporting events to concerts to car shows.

"I hope we would tie in every aspect of our city. It (the complex) will certainly be a tremendous asset, and we plan to use every opportunity we can find," Burns said.

Midland Chamber of Commerce President Marvin Wynn said the chamber will begin including the new stadiums in its marketing materials and also begin submitting proposals well before the complex is complete.

One obvious use for the stadium is brought to mind by the current state football playoff season. Teams across Texas are shopping for stadium sites an equal distance from towns as far away as El Paso and Amarillo.

Beyond playoffs, Burns said the popularity of local football programs could really enhance the opportunities for marketing the stadium.

"We've actually discussed an event similar to San Antonio," said Burns of the preseason football showcase held in San Antonio each year. "As big as football is in West Texas, the opportunities are certainly there."

Rae Lynn Brott, special events and tourism coordinator for the Odessa Convention and Visitors Bureau, added that a joint venture between the new football stadium and Ratliff stadium, could result in an impressive weekend of football.

"If you talk to anybody, people already know about football at Permian and Midland Lee," said Ms. Brott. "People in surrounding states know where Midland and Odessa are, not just for the oil but for the football."

Tim Whalen, athletic director for the Midland Independent School District, even suggested that such an event, pitting Lee or Permi-

Midland-Odessa crime index for '98 worsens

By Richard Acosta
Staff Writer

The FBI report on 1998 crime in the United States shows the Midland-Odessa area worsening by three slots, from 23rd to 20th — where No. 1 is the worst — out of 27 Texas cities surveyed.

The index showed Midland-Odessa has worsened in six areas: total crime, violent crime, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny theft and motor vehicle theft. The largest increase was in aggravated assault where Midland-Odessa moved up six spots.

Deputy Chief John R. Smith said the Police Department will work to improve in areas where the numbers show they need work.

"We're always working to keep crime down in the city," Smith said. "When we get something like this that shows where there are areas we can work on, we will respond."

The report also showed that robbery, forcible rape and murder and non-negligent manslaughter were down while property crime remained the same. The two big drops were murder and non-negligent manslaughter, which dropped eight to 26th, and forcible rape, which fell nine places to 18th.

Smith said some local programs have made an impact on the community and have helped to keep the numbers down.

'We're always working to keep crime down in the city. When we get something like this that shows where there are areas we can work on, we will respond.'
— Deputy Chief John R. Smith, Midland Police Department

"Midland is fortunate to have different organizations that address these subjects," Smith said. "The Rape Crisis Center, the Battered Women's Shelter and other organizations bring awareness to problems, and I'm sure that's helped keep the numbers down."

Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter, though he had not seen hard numbers, thinks the county crime numbers have stayed about the same.

"If we have any increase, I'd say it's staying about normal, if you can call crime normal," Painter said. "We have occasional incidents, but overall I don't see it going up."

Odessa Police Chief James Jenkins was out of the office Monday and was unable to comment.

The following is a list of the worst cities and where Midland-Odessa fared in each of the nine crime categories (with No. 1 being the worst and 27th the best):

■ Total Crime Index — 1998
1. Laredo moved up from No. 2
2. Amarillo moved up from No. 4
3. Corpus Christi dropped from No. 1

Mass burial sites discovered on two ranches near Juarez

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Mexico and the FBI have launched a joint investigation after the bodies of about 100 missing U.S. and Mexican citizens were found on two ranches near this Mexican border town — possibly victims of drug-related killings, officials said Monday.

At Mexico's request, the FBI is sending agents and forensic experts south of the border to help recover and identify victims' remains, the Mexican Attorney General's office said in a statement.

The statement made no mention of the graves, but said the investigation aimed to resolve the apparently drug-related killings and disappearances of Mexican and U.S. citizens.

"In the past four years in Ciudad Juarez citizens of both nationalities have disappeared without a trace," the statement said.

A spokesman for the Attorney General's office said he had no official information about whether bodies had been discovered. But an FBI agent speaking on condition of anonymity told The Associated Press in Washington that as many as 100 bodies had been found on two ranches near Ciudad Juarez, a city across the border from El Paso.

On Monday night, dozens of armed soldiers, some wearing black ski masks, surrounded one of the ranches, in a desolate area about 10 miles south of Ciudad Juarez. White iron gates towered in front of the ranch, while a concrete block wall, covered with graffiti, surrounded the rest of the property, located across the street from a junkyard. Topping the concrete wall was a chain-link fence with razor wire.

COMPLEX: City plans to begin marketing soon an against other premiere football programs, could be marketed as a tourist destination.

"We've got tremendous programs that are known, feared and respected across the nation," Burns said, adding that football fans would come to Midland to see some of the state's best teams go head to head.

The mayor added, that another aspect of the new complex that shouldn't be overlooked is that it will include a first-class soccer field. For the past several years, Midland has hosted the annual Cinco De Mayo Soccer Tournament, which brings teams from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Mexico and even Guatemala to the Permian Basin.

'Sports in Midland and Odessa are a major draw. ... And now we are going to have first-class stadiums to support them. We have to capitalize on that opportunity, and we will.'

— Midland Mayor Bobby Burns

Burns said that soccer is rapidly gaining in popularity and will prove to be a boon to the local economy.

"Many people forget and underestimate the soccer stadium, but it very well may bring in a lot more dollars than football," Burns said, adding that the soccer stadium will put Midland ahead of the curve in predicting the popularity of soccer. "There aren't many cities that have a first-class soccer facility like this one will be. I think it's an extremely important part of the package."

The new sports complex won't just be marketed as an event location, however. According to Wynn, the new stadium will be used to entice conventioneers, tourists and even businesses to the area.

"That's part of the amenities of a community, is the quality of life," Wynn said, adding that many conventioneers include a trip to a RockHounds game as part of their activities while in Midland.

"Sports in Midland and Odessa are a major draw. Clearly we have a combination of good weather, good teams and a love of sports. And now we are going to have first-class stadiums to support them. We have got to capitalize on that opportunity, and we will," Burns said.

an appointment to see the doctor, but no way to get there."

"This community values education and sees economic development as very important," said Gardner, "and it sees transportation as an ongoing problem."

Ken Burgess, chairman of the economic development task force, said Midland has benefited from the oil and gas industry, "but its cyclical nature has put us in tough times now and then, and we need to develop the economy to smooth those cycles out."

He said his committee tried to develop goals that were broad-based and not so narrow they limited what could be accomplished.

Having just suffered a down cycle with the oil and gas industry, he said Midlanders are now seeing the need for economic development.

"If we don't do the things we need to do while energy prices are up, we'll suffer later on," he said. "I think we need an educational program so that everyone understands the need to diversify and develop the economy. I also think the task before us now is to go implement these goals."

Richard Jolly of Midland College, chairman of the transportation task force, said he was pleased to hear last week that the Texas Department of Transportation had approved a connection between FM 1788 and State Highway 349, first on his group's list of highway improvement recommendations.

Other items his task force would like to see completed in the next 10 years include a four-lane divided highway from Midland to Lamesa, including a Lamesa reliever route; converting Highway 158 between Midland and San Angelo into a four-lane divided highway; an interchange between east Loop 250 and Interstate 20 and I-20 interchanges at Midkiff, FM 1788 and Cotton Flat Road and additional ramps off I-20 to provide better access as well as economic growth potential for Midland.

For the airport, he wants to see new airlines attracted, new routes from current airlines and international air traffic with Mexico.

"I think these will help the city and the area grow tremendously," he said. "It will give us additional and improved arteries, and we'll be able to move people and goods faster and that will be good for all of us."

The transportation task force also called for a public transportation system to be in place by 2010, which also happens to be the first and foremost goal of the seniors and housing task force.

"We found that transportation was just as important for older people and the disabled and for young people who need transportation to jobs, school and activities," said Barbara Tom Jowell, chairman of the task force.

Other goals include improved health care for seniors, including bringing a geriatrician to the area, and developing wellness clinics for senior citizens and providing them assistance with prescriptions, eyeglasses, hearing aids and dental care.

"We felt it was important to have a larger supply of affordable housing and financial assistance available to all citizens," she said.

There is no way, Gardner said, that the goals can be finished in a year or two. While some, like the sports complex, can be achieved by passing a bond or increasing the sales tax, others are ongoing.

"Like making Midland a premiere retirement center," Gardner said. "That's a hot market, very competitive. Do you know where Sun City is building its newest center? Chicago. So it's a very competitive market that everyone wants," he said.

Ms. Jowell said that Midland and Odessa have been successful in attracting younger retirees who are wealthier and more entrepreneurial, wanting to start a second career or their own business.

"We also want those on fixed incomes," she said. "One of our goals is also to provide senior citizens and those with special needs of all backgrounds with quality long-term care, assisted living centers and nursing home facilities. We also need to provide assisted living facilities for those who can't afford them. We also need housing for the homeless and displaced, like battered women and their children living in a shelter, who need a place to go after they leave the shelter."

Another goal is to establish a multipurpose senior citizen facility near Midland College to make it easier for senior citizens to further their education at the college.

The nine-month-long process of Vision 2000 "has been a wonderful process, and I think Midland will be very proud of the results," Gardner said.

BIG SPRING: StarTek employees prepare to start

(From 1A)

project will be. You just never know."

Providing outsourced process management services primarily to Fortune 1000 companies all over the world, the majority of StarTek's clients remain in software, Internet, e-commerce, as well as the technology and communications industry.

The first new StarTek associates are expected to hit the floors of the 30,000-square-foot location Dec. 1, an opening date thought to be unrealistic by most.

"To be truthful, it was unrealistic," said Lee George Construction on-site coordinator Pat Collins, as everyone from electricians to painting crews hurried about the College Park Shopping Center building, preparing it for its start-up date.

"The subcontractors really made this whole thing possible. They have all bent over backwards to make this Wednesday's opening a reality."

Collins said efforts by the contractors went well above and beyond the normal scope of labor, however.

"We knew we would have to work through Thanksgiving if we were going to meet this Wednesday's deadline," Collins said. "A lot of these guys aren't from around here, so that meant they had to spend their holiday away from their family.

"My wife told me that it just wasn't right for all of them to miss out on Thanksgiving dinner, so she and I invited all of them over to share dinner with us. We figured it was the least we could do."

General Contractor Lee George said the project has been anything but easy, but with the assistance of his crews, as well as the efforts of Big Spring City Inspector Kenny Davis, the project has gone well.

"It really has gone great," George said. "Everyone involved is really excited about this project. We've gotten great cooperation from the people at StarTek, and that makes it a great deal easier on us as contractors."

George said speaking from the aspect of a Big Spring businessman, he believes the economic possibilities presented by StarTek will be seen not only by area business owners, but by the average resident.

"I see a tremendous economic impact associated with the call center," said George. "To have that many jobs above minimum wage coming into the community promises to raise overall living standards for everyone in Howard County. Other businesses will have to compete with StarTek for the work force, and that's good news for everyone."

A great deal of the work performed by Lee George Construction has been done on faith.

"When we first started the project, we didn't have a written contract for it at all," George said. "I met with the chief operating officer for StarTek and he really seemed like a man of his word."

With StarTek's national announcement of the upcoming opening of the Big Spring call center, which will join the ranks of similar facilities in Denver, Greeley, Colo., Grand Junction, Colo.; Laramie, Wyo.; Clarksville, Tenn.; Hartlepool, England; and Singapore, how does Sharp view the victory?

"I'll just be glad when all of the paperwork is finished," said Sharp with a smile.

A Protestant-Catholic government takes shape in hopeful N. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — On a day many thought would never come, Protestant and Catholic adversaries on Monday formed an extraordinary Northern Ireland government that attempts to bring together every branch of opinion within this bitterly divided society.

The unprecedented four-party administration — due to receive powers Thursday from the British government — includes Catholics who long vowed never to accept Northern Ireland's right to exist, and Protestants just as unwilling to accept Catholics as political equals.

Triggering an exercise envisioned in the Good Friday peace accord but delayed for more than a year, the four biggest parties within Northern Ireland's legislature took turns unveiling their choices for a 12-member Cabinet, an exercise akin to a pro sports draft pick.

Picking first were the province's major British Protestant party, the Ulster Unionists, and major Irish Catholic party, the Social Democratic and Labor Party or SDLP. They both got four posts.

But Protestant legislators gathered at Stormont Parliamentary Building in Belfast gasped when Sinn Fein leader Gerry Adams announced his first pick — his party's chief negotiator, Martin McGuinness, as education minister.

McGuinness — who rose to the top of the Irish Republican Army's command in the 1970s — will now oversee the predominantly Protestant state schools as well as the separate Catholic system.

Sinn Fein's other candidate, schoolteacher Bairbre de Brun, had been considered the far more likely pick for the education post. She instead received the health ministry, arguably the toughest job in the administration, since closing hospitals is on the agenda.

"The reality is that very many young people do look up to Martin McGuinness," said Sinn Fein chairman Mitchel McLaughlin, who pledged that both McGuinness and de Brun would help project "a vision of a society at peace with itself."

And even the Democratic Unionists, the province's most uncompromising Protestant party, took their two allotted posts within a Cabinet they had hoped would never be born.

The Democratic Unionists promised to do their jobs impartially but vowed never to sit in the same Cabinet room as McGuinness, a factor certain to make the government's early days particularly problematic.

"We will never rest until we rid this country RA-Sinn Fein and all other brand of terrorism. They have no place in any democracy," said the Rev. Ian Paisley, the Democratic Unionist leader.

Paisley's deputy party leader, Peter Robinson, became minister for regional development, and a longtime aide, Nigel Dodds, will be minister for social development.

"We now have a mastermind of murder in a position to educate our children," said Dodds, whom the IRA tried to kill three years ago while he was visiting his gravely ill boy in a hospital.

But the Ulster Unionists, who made Monday's Cabinet formation possible by dropping their longtime demand for IRA disarmament in advance, took a far more upbeat view.

Ulster Unionist negotiator Reg Empey, who became the Cabinet's minister for enterprise, trade and investment, blamed the Democratic Unionists for letting McGuinness take the education portfolio. He noted that Paisley had the third pick, Adams the fourth.

"The fact is we're all in government with Sinn Fein now," Empey said. "We have to make the best of it, to show people in our long-suffering communities that politics can work, and to hope the IRA delivers their side of the bargain by decommissioning their weapons soon."

Municipal bond basics

The municipal bond market is one of the world's largest securities markets. At the end of the first quarter of 1999 outstanding state and local debt obligations totaled $1.5 trillion according to Federal Reserve estimates. The largest group of owners of tax-exempt securities are individual investors. (Source: The Bond Market Association) Following is a brief overview of this special segment of the fixed income market that could help you decide if these bonds are appropriate for your portfolio.

Types of Municipal Bonds Municipal bonds (also known as "munis") are debt securities issued by states, municipalities and public authorities to raise funds to build schools, highways, sewer systems and other public projects. When purchasing municipal bonds, an investor not only makes an investment in their future, he or she also affects the quality of life in local communities.

Daniel Watts

There are two basic types of tax-exempt municipal bonds, general obligation bonds and revenue bonds. General obligation bonds are backed by the full faith, credit and taxing authority of the issuer. Only government units possessing the ability to levy and collect taxes may issue general obligation bonds. They are typically secured by sales, income, gasoline, property or other taxes collected on a state level. Revenue Bonds are generally secured by the revenues of a specific project that the bonds were issued to finance—hospitals, tolls, bridges and airports, for example.

Maturities, yields and calls Municipal bonds have maturities (the date upon which the issues repays the principal) as short as one month to 30 years or more. Short-term issues (notes) typically mature in a year or less, while long-term issues (bonds) have maturities that extend out one year or more. Short-term notes are issued, for example, to raise funds for future revenues such as taxes, to cover irregular cash flows and to raise immediate capital for projects until long-term financing can be arranged. Bonds are usually issued to finance capital projects over the longer term. Bond yields (the relationship, usually stated in a percentage, between the price and the annual income of the bond) may vary depending on the characteristics or type of bond. Most municipal bonds have "call" features that enable the issuer and, in some cases, the holder, to "call" or redeem the bonds before maturity dates.

Risks and benefits Individual investors buy municipal bonds because munis are generally safe investments. In fact, according to The Bond Market Association, less than seven-tenths of one percent of all outstanding municipal bonds have ever defaulted. And they offer a wide range of benefits.

When compared to other taxable fixed-income alternatives, tax-free municipal bonds offer attractive yields. For example, look at the taxable equivalent yield for bonds maturing in 2010: the triple-A-rated municipal bond yields 5.00 percent and the high-grade corporate and government bonds yield 7.25 percent and 6 percent respectively (based on rates as of 10/29/99). At first glance, the municipal bond indexed may not appear attractive. But remember, corporate and government bonds are taxable. For an investor in the 36 percent federal tax bracket, the taxable equivalent yield is 7.81 percent. When making a buying decision, compare taxable yields to tax-free yields that are available.

How to decide Determining the right municipal bond mix for your portfolio depends on your age, retirement time horizons and risk tolerance. Bonds can provide an important complement to equities for investors who are seeking to maximize the total return on their portfolios relative to risk.

While all bonds, including municipals, carry a risk of reduced market value should rates increase, many investors are comfortable with the fact that they will earn a fixed rate (coupon payment) regardless of how the markets perform.

Income is generally exempt from federal income taxes and may be subject to state and local taxes. A portion of the income may be subject to the Alternative Minimum Tax.

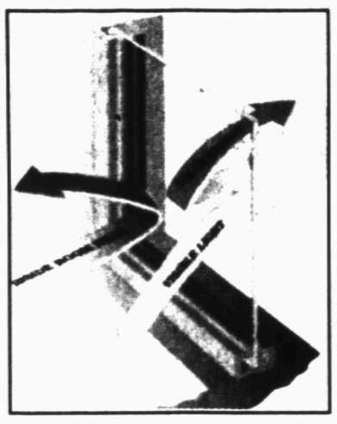
Window tinting beautifies and protects your home or business

Windows are wonderful because they let in light and allow you to see outside. But they also let in summer's heat and damaging ultraviolet rays. Is the only solution to close the drapes and live in the dark?

There is a better way, says Brandon Herring of Mid West Glass. Mid West can apply tinted film to your windows which will let in most light and reflect most of the heat. This translates to lower cooling costs during long West Texas summers. Window film also blocks the sun's UV rays which can fade furniture, drapes, carpeting and artwork.

You'll notice the difference most in rooms with expansive windows. Businesses with large western-facing windows can use window film to reduce harsh glare as well as heat. Any room can benefit from film's protection against fading.

Window film holds the glass together if broken by things like baseballs, rocks thrown by the lawnmower and others. Maximum breakage protection is provided by specially designed security films which resist breakage even when hit by a hammer.



Attractive architectural tones enhance the look of your home from the outside and the inside. By "softening" the sunlight, tinting film gives your home's interior a gentle look. State-of-the-art window films are designed to keep their great looks year after year. Reflective film can give you privacy as well.

Window film is so versatile, it fits windows of any size, shape or location. It works with single pane or thermal windows, sliding glass doors, bay windows, sun rooms, French doors and storm doors, just for starters. You don't need to replace windows to cut your energy loss.

Mid West can do most installations quickly, so you'll begin enjoying the benefits with little inconvenience. Since they keep most window films on hand, they can start your job soon after you give them the go-ahead.

"Window film is surprisingly affordable," notes Brandon, adding that "it can pay for itself with lower utility bills."

Call Mid West today and find out how easily you can benefit from window film.

Mid-West Glass, located at 906 W. Front, offers glass and windows for any use, as well as patio enclosures. For a free estimate call 682-7373.

Windows are your home's number one energy waster. Window film reduces heat, damaging UV rays and glare from the sun at a very affordable price. Call Mid West Glass today at 682-7373 for a free estimate.

Landscape pro: It's time to have trees pruned

The mild weather of fall and winter in West Texas is much easier on your trees than summer's heat. As Charlie Cook of Precision Landscape Maintenance explains, that's why now is the perfect time to have your trees pruned. "Trees heal much faster in mild weather than in summer's heat," Charlie says.

There are several reasons for pruning. First, trees that grow by themselves tend to develop large low limbs, leaving weak branches that can break off. Low branches also get in the way when you're in the yard. Precision can prune your trees in a way that will help promote the right kind of growth. Removing dangerous dead branches can promote growth as well.

Pruning helps your yard by letting in light, allowing grass or flowers to flourish under the tree.

Branches touching the roof or rubbing against your house, carport or other structure also need to be removed before damaging the structure and the tree.

No job is too big or too small. Charlie offers a 15 percent discount if you have pruning or dead tree removal done by December 31.

Charlie is a native Midlander who has been in the landscape business here for many years. He is fully insured.

Call Charlie Cook, owner of Precision Landscape Maintenance, for a free estimate at 694-7758.

Fashion Cleaners pampers wedding gowns and formals

This time of year is becoming more popular for weddings, with some fall months rivaling June as couples' favorite time to get married. Fashion Cleaners is ready to clean and press your dress before the wedding and to heirloom it as a lasting treasure after the ceremony.

"Even a brand new gown may have spots on it from having been tried on by others," notes Fashion's Philip McCain. It's a good idea to check yours over thoroughly for such things as makeup on the collar or other stains elsewhere, especially if you have worn it for photos before the wedding. Of course, a white dress will show almost any stain very prominently.

Fashion will check and treat your gown for any spots, then clean it inside an extra-long wedding gown bag, which assures no beads or ornaments are lost. The bag also protects your gown from stress in the cleaning process. Fashion then does any needed repairs. Next, they press and finish your gown.

In order to allow Fashion to take the great care your gown deserves, Philip asks that you bring it in at least one to two weeks before the ceremony. They can also clean and press your bridesmaids' dresses and deliver everything to the church. That will help make certain that your carefully-selected dresses will look picture-perfect on your wedding day.

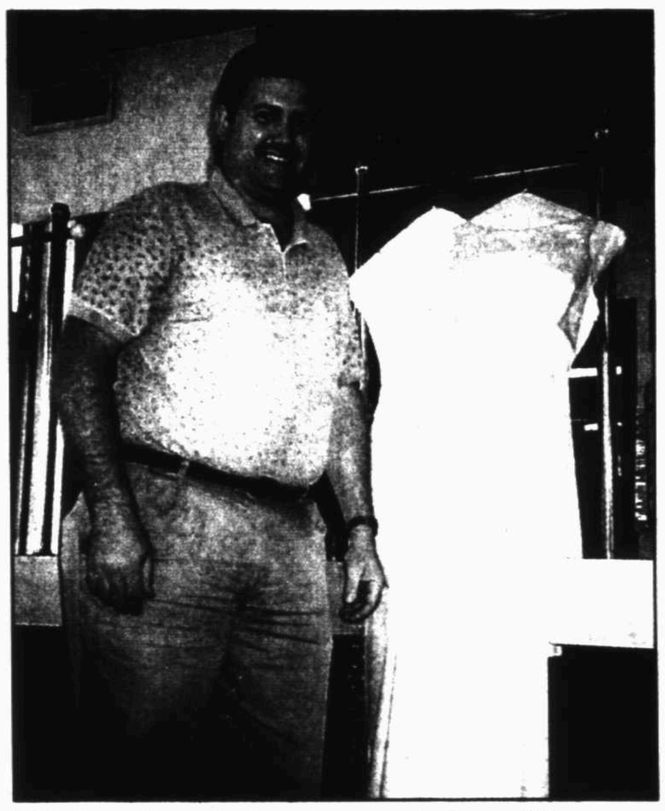
The heirlooming process begins with the same careful cleaning and repair involved in preparing the dress for the wedding. Fashion then stuffs your gown to maintain its shape and places it in a preservation box filled with acid-free paper to reduce yellowing. This box is sealed in a plastic bag and placed in an outer box. Your dress will be ready for you about a month after you take it in.

Fashion's Philip McCain recommends heirlooming your gown as soon as possible after the wedding. "Any stains get harder to remove the longer you wait," he explains.

This is also a busy time of year for formal parties and dances. Fashion takes the same care of formal dresses as they take with wedding gowns.

Whatever your special occasion this time of year, it makes sense to trust your clothing to the folks whom Midlanders have voted their favorite—Fashion Cleaners.

Fashion Cleaners has two convenient locations: 801 W. Wall and in the Imperial Shopping Center at Midkiff and Wadley. They do all kinds of cleaning and laundry, as well as alterations, reweaving and keepsaking of bridal gowns. Pickup and delivery are available.



This time of year is almost as popular for weddings as summer months. Fashion Cleaners takes great care of wedding dresses and other formal gowns, as Philip McCain demonstrates. Let them clean yours before the wedding and heirloom it afterwards.

Social Security retirement age climbing, eventually to reach 67

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security retirement age is going up — from 65 to 67 — and Americans will begin to feel the effects next year. The changes have been in the works for 16 years, but pollsters say most people have no idea they're imminent.

Now 65, the normal Social Security eligibility age eventually will reach 67 for those born in 1960 or later. Also, taking early retirement at age 62 is becoming less of a good deal.

"Americans are living longer and healthier lives, which is very good news, but the system needed to create greater incentives to work longer in order to continue to function," Social Security Commissioner Kenneth S. Apfel said.

The changes initially affects people born in 1938, who will turn 62 in 2000 and become eligible for Social Security's early retirement option.

Those people can still choose to collect reduced Social Security benefits next year. If they do, however, their early-retirement benefit will be slightly less than in the past — 20 5/6 percent less than it would be if they wait until to retire until the usual retirement age, rather than the 20 percent reduction that has been standard before now.

That means the typical person retiring at age 62 in 2000 will receive $721 a month, rather than the old formula's $728.

For those born in 1938 who decide to retire only when they're eligible for regular Social Security benefits, the wait will be two months longer than before, until two months after their 65th birthday.

Although the Social Security eligibility and benefits change has been planned for 16 years, most Americans either don't know it's coming or don't understand how it will affect personal retirement plans.

A poll of Americans over age 25, taken this year by the Employee Benefit Research Institute, found that almost six in 10 think they will be eligible for Social Security benefits before they actually will be.

Don Blandin, president of the American Savings Education Council, said people attending retirement seminars he conducts across the country are shocked when he tells them they won't be eligible for full Social Security benefits at age 65.

"I go through that and hear a lot of gasps in the room," said Blandin. As a result, many people may be underestimating how much they need to save on their own if they want to retire in their early 60s, he said.

New annual Social Security statements mailed starting this fall to working Americans about two months before their birthdays are meant to help people understand the coming changes. The letters tell people their eligibility ages for normal Social Security benefits and their benefit levels if they choose earlier or later retirement.

Starting with people born in 1938, the normal Social Security eligibility age will rise by two months for each year, until it reaches 66 for those born in 1943. It then stays at 66 for everyone born through the end of 1954.

If people whose normal eligibility age is 66 choose early retirement at age 62, their benefits will be 25 percent lower.

After that, the two-month-a-year climb in the retirement age starts again, until it is finally capped at 67 for those born in 1960 or later. People whose normal retirement age is 67 will see a 30-percent benefit reduction if they choose to retire at age 62.

On the bright side, the yearly rate of increase in benefits for those who wait past their normal eligibility age to start collecting Social Security will gradually rise, up to 8 percent for those born in 1943 or later. It is 6 percent for someone turning 65 in 2000. This incentive is not offered beyond age 70, however.

The retirement-age increase was agreed in 1983 by Republican President Reagan and Congress, then controlled by Democrats, as one of several changes to postpone looming Social Security cash shortages.

Lawmakers reasoned that with life expectancies rising, Americans could manage to work a little longer.

They preserved the age-62 early-retirement option for people who can't go on working because of health problems and because it is extremely popular. About 60 percent of workers choose to start collecting Social Security benefits at age 62.

The explanation for reduced benefits for those who take early retirement is that the size of monthly Social Security checks corresponds to a total lifetime amount allotted based on average life expectancy and time of retirement — much like a private annuity.

That means people who start collecting benefits earlier get them in smaller increments spread over a longer period of time. Retiring at age 62 becomes an earlier getaway in relation to a rising normal retirement age.

The eligibility age for Medicare, the nation's health insurance program for the elderly, is not affected by the Social Security changes and will remain at 65.

Delayed gratification

The Social Security Administration is raising the age at which Americans can receive their retirement benefits. Here's a look at how the changes will affect recipients.

Study: Violent crimes against children not reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only 28 percent of violent crimes against children are reported to police — much smaller than the 48 percent of violent crimes against adults that police are told about, the Justice Department said Monday.

Even when a weapon was used against a child or the child was injured, the police were less likely to find out about such attacks than when an adult was the victim, according to the department's Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

"Serious categories of juvenile victimization that should be coming to the attention of police and other authorities are not," wrote David Finkelhor and Richard Ormrod in the office's study, "Reporting Crimes Against Juveniles."

One factor in the underreporting is that 16 percent of violent crimes against children — ages 12 to 17 — are reported to other authorities, like school officials, instead of police, the study said. But even taking that into account, violence against juveniles is not as frequently reported as violence against adults. Including reports to other authorities as well as police, violence against children is reported 44 percent of the time, compared with 55 percent for adults.

Trinity team's TCAL victory boosts pride

Midland's Trinity Chargers surged to the Texas Christian Athletic League (TCAL) championship Saturday, defeating the San Antonio Town East Eagles 64-18 in a dominating performance.

The awesome victory was Trinity's last in the TCAL, however, since next season the Chargers will be giving up six-man football to play 11-man in Class 3A of the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools.

That move doesn't worry Trinity Coach Karl Kitto. The team is leaving as winners and he says confidently, "Our kids can show that we are the state champions and we're going to show them what we can do." We think they will.

Of course, Trinity's gridders are not newcomers to the tough competition of Texas football. The Chargers literally dominated the TCAL and, according to Kitto, will continue to play their tough brand of football in the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools next season.

What that means for Midlanders is that there are even more champions in the Tall City to excite sports fans here and bring enjoyment and pride to the community's residents. The Trinity championship underscores the hard work and dedication of the young people of Midland who succeed not only in the classroom but also on the field of athletic competition.

We salute the Trinity Christians on their outstanding TCAL championship and wish them the best of luck next season as they join the ranks of 11-man football. It will be an exciting time for these young people who have shown the residents of Texas that they are first and foremost champions.

Texas A&M should save bonfire tradition

The tragedy at Texas A&M will force university officials to re-examine an important tradition.

It's important that A&M officials find a way to make that tradition safer. It's also important that they find a way to preserve it.

In the wake of the tragedy, some people say the big bonfire simply has to go. The value of the bonfire is certainly insignificant when compared to the lives of those students.

But the students who died in Thursday's accident would likely be the first to say that traditions are important, especially at A&M.

Those students not only honored those traditions, they celebrated them.

For generations, much of the rest of the state has scratched its collective head at the ways of Aggies.

The institution prides itself in its quirky habits and traditions, which mystify other folks, especially those educated at Austin.

Those traditions are a part of the institution, and, in a mysterious way, they become part of the people who are educated there.

Even those of us who were educated in Austin hope that the Aggies will find a way to preserve that valuable part of their university during these awful, heartbreaking days.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 30, the 334th day of 1999. There are 31 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Nov. 30, 1782, the United States and Britain signed preliminary peace articles in Paris, ending the Revolutionary War.

On this date:

In 1804, Supreme Court Justice Samuel Chase went on trial, accused of political bias. He was acquitted by the Senate.

In 1900, Irish author Oscar Wilde died in Paris.

In 1936, London's famed Crystal Palace, built for the International Exhibition of 1851, was destroyed in a fire.

In 1939, the Russo-Finnish War began as Soviet troops invaded Finland.

In 1949, Chinese Communists captured Chungking.

In 1966, the former British colony of Barbados became independent.

In 1993, President Clinton signed into law the Brady gun control bill.

Ten years ago: President Bush left Washington for his first summit with Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev that took place aboard ships off the Mediterranean island of Malta. Alfred Herrhausen, chairman of West Germany's largest bank, was killed in a bombing claimed by the Red Army Faction.

Gov. Bush will serve as Reagan III, not Bush II

The symbolism and rhetoric in Gov. George W. Bush's foreign policy speech at the Reagan library and in his "Meet the Press" appearance last Sunday were unmistakable. Bush is sending a message that if he is the next president of the United States he will give America the third Reagan term voters thought they were getting when they elected his father president in 1992. A George W. Bush presidency, he signaled, will be Reagan III, not Bush II.

Thomas

First, Bush chose the Reagan library — not the Ford, Nixon or Bush library — for his foreign policy address. He was introduced by George Shultz, Reagan's secretary of state, not Nixon's (Henry Kissinger) or Bush's (James Baker). He mentioned Ronald Reagan's name six times and made just one passing reference to his father's successful handling of the Persian Gulf War.

On China, Bush was tough. In his speech and on "Meet the Press," Bush pledged he would "help Taiwan defend itself" with a theater missile defense system. And he'll build one "with or without" Russia's approval. "China is rising," said Bush, in an apparent reference to a new book, "Red Dragon Rising," by Capitol Hill staff veterans Ed Timperlake and William Triplett II, which documents in chilling detail the way the Beijing regime is becoming a military threat to the United States.

Bush might have touched on other hot issues, such as the Middle East and how he would defend against terrorism. Perhaps he hasn't gotten that far with his advisors yet. He might also have dealt more with corruption in Russia. Vice President Al Gore is vulnerable on this.

In his television interview, Bush mimicked Reagan's limited agenda: "I believe that government should do a few things and do them well." His priorities will be reforming Social Security and Medicare. For the first time, Bush would allow some private investment so that future retirees could take advantage of compounded interest that is now helping people in Britain and several other nations compile substantial nest eggs, much larger than ones based on a system of payroll taxes that earns no interest.

Four times Bush said he would spend "political capital" to achieve some of these objectives. This contrasts with his father's failure to withdraw political capital after the Gulf War when his approval ratings were at 90 percent.

Bush's agenda? "Entitlement reform, lower taxes to keep the economy growing, a stronger military to keep the peace and education reform." Details to follow shortly, he said. Bush's plan could not sound more Reaganesque. Like Reagan, Bush is optimistic, preferring to focus on solutions instead of problems. In chemistry, two negatives make a positive, but in politics multiplying negatives produces more negatives.

He told the gay rights lobby it shouldn't expect the same rights as heterosexual married people because marriage and adoption of children ought to be for men and women. And he won't meet with homosexual Republicans. He called Gore advisor Naomi Wolf's recommendation of masturbation to cool the ardor of teenagers "pathetic." Bush said that abstinence works when it is tried, and that kids will respond to an abstinence message if it is properly taught and modeled.

Rather than emphasizing abortion, Bush emphasized life and, like Mother Teresa, spoke of its interconnectedness: "It's not only life for the unborn, it is life for the elderly, it is life of the young, it is life of the living." Bush sees in the recent high-profile school and church shootings a reflection of the general devaluing of all human life. He would immediately sign a partial birth abortion ban, and he supports other pro-life measures. But he acknowledges that while he favors a constitutional amendment protecting the unborn, "the country is not ready" for one. But he pledged as president to "promote life" in hopes of heading toward that goal.

Bush clearly sent a powerful signal to those who think he might appoint a liberal justice to the Supreme Court, such as his father's mistaken pick of David Souter. He mentioned the Court's most conservative members, Antonin Scalia and Clarence Thomas, as his favorites.

Bush's message could not have been more clear, especially to those conservatives worried that the perceived sins of the father may have been visited on the son. The son loves the father, but the son is his own man.

Parents should monitor what their children read in school

Do you know what your kids are reading? Have you as a parent picked up one of your high school student's novels and read it? You may be surprised at what you see.

One of my daughters told me of a book that she was required to read for her English class. She sparked my interest just enough to make me want to read it for myself, and I did. I could not believe that what I was reading was not only required by a high school English teacher, but was also approved by our school board. As a parent I do not want my children reading a book that explicitly pictures a woman's naked body as described by a young man in puberty, nor do I want them reading a book with our Lord's name taken in vain. Among the profane language in the book was an extremely vulgar word that means "to copulate!" Why does this so-called "literature" have to be incorporated into our young minds?

I was told that she should have been able to choose an alternate book, but the teacher obviously neglected to tell the students that they had a choice.

As a parent I have set high standards, and I expect the same from those that are teaching our youth and setting an example for them to follow. Unfortunately, we have chosen to sit silently and have allowed sin to become acceptable, and then we wonder why we have moral decay in our country. What happened to the shock felt by America when the movie "Gone with the Wind" was released with only one use of profanity? We should be ashamed of ourselves! Is this supposed to be progress? I don't think so.

Bible teachings on creation are part of civilization's 'basic laws'

We are confronted with two words: "evolution and creationism." Which road do we take? One is described as follows, creation that was derived from the Bible, Geneses l:l, "In the beginning, God created the Heaven and the Earth."

From this book in the Bible, the basic laws in America were taken. The teachings are the principles that have caused the safety, morals, honesty and a civilized people. The teachings are the only comfort in this life of many problems that we have, the promise that in the end of this life we have a hope of eternal joy; our only comfort that gives one happiness.

Evolution is the theory that we were once something that came from the ocean, attached to a limb and something happened. Through the years, our forefathers would swing from a limb by their tail. But there is another question. Where did the ocean come from?

If there is no God, Creator, no hope of nothing after we die, what then? There is no reason to be good, be honest and appreciate our neighbor. What a wicked world this would he. No need for laws, no restrictions of how much we kill or steal. I would have no desire to stay.

Our country has grown into such evil and shame. If we do away with God and His teachings, close the church doors, everyone will have to have a concrete bunker like Hitler had. That did not keep him from harm.

There are so many teachings in the Book of Life. If God is not in charge, we are in serious trouble.

It is best to be safe than sorry.

Midland's good Samaritans help stranded motorist on her way

There are a lot of wonderful people in Midland and the other day I met two of the finest.

My car died on a busy street and while I sat trying to decide what to do, a young man knocked on my car window and asked if I needed help.

I told him I couldn't start my car and he said I needed some gasoline, so he put five gallons in my gas tank. He refused to let me pay him.

At the time he stopped, a young woman stopped her car and came to see if she could help. I thanked her and she said that "we are supposed to help each other." They both waited until I started my car and drove off.

So my heartfelt thanks to Steve and that young woman.

Two evils join forces where abortion is concerned

The politicians in Washington ought to build a museum for the American holocaust — the slaughter of 42 million American babies by abortionists since the Roe vs. Wade Supreme Court decision.

If 42 million deaths isn't a holocaust or genocide, I guess I'm just not politically correct. Gee, I always thought I was.

Of course, the filthy abortion business has developed a sideline of selling human parts in a scheme carefully worked out by Clintonlike lawyers to evade the poorly written law which forbids commercial traffic. These human parts and tissues are eagerly wanted by the Frankensteins working in American universities, medical-research facilities and the medical-industrial complex.

Reese

Here's the cold words of your taxpayer-funded National Institutes of Health's information of where to find human parts:

"Human embryonic and fetal tissues are available from the Central Laboratory for Human Embryology at the University of Washington. The laboratory, which is supported by the National Institutes of Health, can supply tissue from normal or abnormal embryos and fetuses of desired gestational ages between 40 days and term. Specimens are obtained within minutes of passage and tissues are aseptically identified, staged, and immediately processed according to the requirements of individual investigators."

Well, you get the idea. Within minutes of passage means as soon as the abortionist has killed the baby. Notice you can get tissues between 40 days and term. Term means a fully developed baby.

The middlemen — the body snatchers — are outfits which set up inside abortion clinics. They pay rent for space and subsidize the abortionists' staff payroll. In exchange, they snatch the baby, slice it up and send out the parts. "Donations" or "service fees" evade the law against selling dismembered human beings.

Thus you have two evils joining forces to create a new and evil industry. One evil, of course, is the dismemberment of the U.S. Constitution by political hacks appointed to the federal bench. No sane human being can find two syllables in the Constitution that would justify the Supreme Court forbidding the states to ban abortions.

The other evil is science, devoid of God and human compassion, which sees humanity as so many pieces of tissue. There is no good pretending that the dark side of human nature does not manifest itself among men of science. No human is immune to evil impul ses.

This monstrous evil is scabbed over with euphemisms — embryo, fetus, specimen — but in fact, from the moment of conception there exists a unique human being who, from that moment on, will do nothing but grow if left alone. Common language is more truth ful than the propaganda. When women decide to get an abortion, they say, "I don't want this baby," not "I don't want this fetus or specimen."

Abortion is the core poison in the American soul. It says as plainly as anything can that human life is disposable, not sacred. As long as the government sanctions the murder of millions of innocent children, there is little hope this country can turn aw ay from degradation. After all, if innocent life isn't sacred, then how much less so are the lives of adults. What hypocrites are those who yap about family values while condoning abortion.

Clinton signs huge spending bill but says it falls short

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton, after a year of quarreling with Congress, got the last word on the budget Monday as he signed a mammoth $390 billion spending plan. He said it represents progress but "leaves some challenges unmet."

Sitting at a wooden table in the Rose Garden, the president was surrounded by police officers and teachers as he used 20 pens to write his name. It was a chilly day and he wore a sweater vest under his suit. Clinton passed out 11 pens to members of Congress at the ceremony.

The measure earmarked $1.3 billion for a seven-year plan to hire 100,000 teachers to reduce class size in early grades. It also included $595 million for the first installment of a program to hire 50,000 community police by 2005. Further, it provided $926 million for unpaid U.N. dues and $1.8 billion to implement the Middle East peace accord reached at Wye River, Md.

But the year ended with a long list of disappointments for Clinton. He failed to win any increase in the minimum wage, was denied an increase in cigarette taxes and lost battles for tougher gun controls and stronger rights for patients in managed care programs. Congress also rejected his proposals to extend the solvency of Social Security or Medicare programs or to add a prescription drug benefit to Medicare.

"As we celebrate what we've accomplished," Clinton said, "I ask us all to be humble and mindful of what we still have to accomplish." However, prospects for cooperation between Republicans and Democrats likely will diminish next year amid partisan campaigns for the White House and control of Congress.

There were pointed reminders of the bruising battles of the past year. Clinton boasted that the budget "avoids risky tax cuts that would have spent hundreds of billions of dollars from the Social Security surplus and drained our ability to advance education and other important public initiatives."

Republicans still are angry about Clinton's veto of their prized $792 billion tax cut.

"We'll be back next year," Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said as he left the signing ceremony. "We'll have another major tax cut without touching Social Security and we'll see where we go."

Domenici shrugged off Clinton's list of administration achievements. "I was wondering where he got such a long list of things that he accomplished," the senator said. "I wasn't paying attention to what he wanted to do next year."

But Clinton got a more enthusiastic response from Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., who came to the microphone after Domenici.

Leahy said the bill Clinton signed shows "the president is a long way from being a lame-duck president. ... He still has a great deal of clout in this town."

The president signed the bill even though he had accused the Republicans of budget gimmickry. "There's some less-than-straightforward budgeting in this, and we think there is some wasteful spending in this bill," White House press secretary Joe Lockhart said. But he said Clinton decided, on balance, it was a good bill.

Groups demand networks increase minority presence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The NAACP said Monday it will decide by the end of December whether to follow through on threats of boycotts and demonstrations if major television networks don't quickly put more minorities in front of and behind the cameras.

Boycotts, picketing of network headquarters, affiliate stations and advertisers would be "aimed at driving down the stock value of the four major networks (ABC, CBS, NBC and Fox)," NAACP President Kweisi Mfume said at a daylong hearing on television diversity organized by his group.

Minorities have complained about a perceived lack of progress and even indifference to improving the depiction and employment of blacks, Asian-Americans, Hispanics, American Indians and other ethnic groups.

The NAACP invited top executives of the four big networks to the hearing, but only CBS Television President Leslie Moonves showed up. ABC, NBC and Fox all sent broadcast content and standards executives.

Moonves used his time before the panel to tout CBS' success at improving its depiction of minorities, including producer Steven Bochco's upcoming series, "City of Angels," about an inner-city hospital. The cast and crew is mostly minorities.

While 21.5 percent of CBS employees are minorities, only 14.8 percent of the executive ranks are minorities, "an area where we clearly need to improve and where we will improve," Moonves said.

Actor Blair Underwood, one of the stars of "City of Angels" and a former regular on "L.A. Law," told the panel that boycotts and protests over minority issues should be directed at the source of the money that pays for TV production.

"I love the idea of a boycott, but if you want to effect serious change, it has to be the advertiser," Underwood said.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has researched the top 100 TV advertisers and their products likely to be bought by minorities with the idea of boycotting those manufacturers, Mfume said.

DEAR ABBY

Holiday cheer can't be spread too thin for dieting guests

DEAR ABBY: Along with millions of other Americans, I am overweight. This time of year is particularly difficult for me because of the well-intentioned but misguided actions of friends and family. With the holidays upon us, I have the following suggestions for anyone who knows someone who is fighting the battle of the bulge (and who doesn't?):

Abby

1. Avoid giving gifts of food. This means ALL food — even your special sugar-free coconut cream pie. Giving chocolates or other fattening treats is, at the least, insensitive and borders on downright cruelty.

2. Do not "push" food on another person. If you're hosting a meal or a party, make a variety of healthy foods available along with any special treats you've prepared. Allow your guests to choose for themselves without comment. It is especially unfair to use guilt ("I made these just for you") to force food upon someone.

3. Do not comment on how much (or how little) someone is eating. Such comments draw unwanted attention to attempts to maintain control of holiday eating.

4. Have some compassion. We don't want to be fat. Losing weight and keeping it off is extraordinarily difficult for some of us. Don't think that you know what our problem is, because you don't. Obesity is a complicated issue with behavioral, emotional and spiritual elements. A single formula that works for everyone has yet to be discovered.

Finally, be supportive. If someone you love is trying to lose weight, be available to listen. Do not judge.

— CHUBBY IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR CHUBBY: Your suggestions are terrific and well worth space in this column. Obesity has reached epidemic proportions in this country, and those who are trying to do something about the problem deserve all the help and support they can get. Dieting is difficult any time of year. But during the holidays with temptation all around, it's especially difficult to make it through the minefield.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 38 years. During the past 10 of them, we have taken up dancing, and folks think we're pretty good.

My problem is, the place where we go has women who have no dancing partner, and they all want to dance with my husband, which leaves me sitting part of the night. There is one woman in particular who is younger than I am and who wants to do all the dances that I like to do with him. She had a dancing partner until just a few months ago. Actually, her husband is there, too, but he doesn't dance.

My husband will tell me he's too tired to dance to anything fast, and then she will ask him and he jumps up. He always says I should go ask other men to dance, but there is really no one there who can dance the way I like. Am I wrong to let this bother me?

— CONFUSED IN WHITE PINE, TENN.

DEAR CONFUSED: It all depends upon how many dances you're sitting out. Your husband is probably flattered by the attention he's getting from all of these partnerless ladies. If one of them asks your husband for a dance that's one of your favorites, speak up and tell her that it's already spoken for — and she should try again later. It's better than sitting and fuming.

County designates Reinvestment Zone

By Ed Todd
Staff Writer

The Midland County Commissioners' Court designated a Reinvestment Zone on Monday, encouraging a Midland industry to expand through a tax-abatement program.

Among other items, the commissioners discussed jail overcrowding, jail-building, and bonding-out programs for pre-trial detainees.

In a unanimous 3-0 vote, the court designated a 16.59-acre tract near Midland International Airport at Farm-to-Market Road 1788 and Interstate Highway 20 as a Reinvestment Zone for a $2-million expansion of Hanover Compressor Company's Midland unit.

The designation would allow for abating property taxes for five years on an increase of values due to the $2-million Hanover expansion.

"There is no abatement of existing taxes," noted Dennis Clayton, the Midland Chamber of Commerce's economic development manager.

"Whatever the existing tax value is now, they will pay," Clayton said.

The tax abatement is initiated first at the county level before other tax abatements are sought from other taxing entities.

The program would encourage economic-development expansion without an added tax burden for five years.

The abatement would range from 100 percent the first year to 60 percent on the fifth year, Clayton said.

The court also nominated Hanover Compressor Company as an "Enterprise Project" of the Texas Department of Economic Development since Hanover bought the 16.59-acre tract within the city-county joint Enterprise Zone.

If the Houston-based Hanover qualifies as an "Enterprise Project," then the company would get a refund of its state sales tax" of 6.25 percent for five years, Clayton noted.

"They are investing about $2 million in construction. They can get state-sales tax rebate on that," Clayton said.

"It's a win-win situation," noted Commissioner Randy Prude. Hanover would get "a break on additional taxes from added value. And we (commissioners) help them get a rebate from the state sales tax. It doesn't hurt our existing taxes."

Prude said that he would "encourage other businesses to look into this" tax-abatement through expansion and to the Midland-Midland County Enterprise Zone programs.

H.O. Shrunk, who is working with Hanover's Midland expansion, noted that the company is expanding in Louisiana, New Mexico, and in Kilgore, Texas.

"And we're excited about what's happening here in Midland with the expansion project. We're excited about the prospects."

The expansion would mean at least 15 additional workers to Hanover's almost 100-person Midland work force.

The Midland Hanover plant is off Loop 250 in northeast Midland.

The company specializes in natural-gas compressor sales and service and does "light fabrication and light manufacturing here in Midland," Shrunk said.

Clayton noted that Hanover is an "existing business, well established, very successful," and has been "successful through this economic downturn.

"They are expanding. They are creating new jobs. They are expending capital," Clayton said of Hanover. "The fact that we have these incentives that are available to existing businesses is very important, and they have taken advantage of that."

While he noted that Midland is a very attractive community, Clayton said that other West Texas cities, such as Odessa, Amarillo, Abilene, and San Angelo, are

Mayor to respond to AM radio show

■ Monahans mayor is special guest on radio show today after facing heavy criticism Saturday

By Richard Acosta
Staff Writer

First, Envirocare of Texas filed for an application with the Texas Department of Health for a low-level radioactive waste storage facility.

Then, on a radio program in Monahans, citizens made it clear that they were not happy about Envirocare's decision and held some local elected officials responsible.

Today, one of those elected officials will be on another radio program and he is sure to draw the wrath of some Monahans citizens.

Mayor David Cutbirth will be a guest on a KLBO-AM radio show this morning in Monahans.

Cutbirth was not in town Saturday afternoon when he and some other officials came under heavy criticism from listeners, and some of it was personal.

That, according to Cutbirth, is wrong.

When you get to the point where you're making personal attacks you really have nothing," Cutbirth said. "Your arguments should stand on their own merit. This country was founded on free speech and I will listen to other people's point of view even if it disagrees with mine. But I'm not getting on the radio and talking bad against them.

"And, I would have to check with a minister, but I don't think 40 days and 40 nights is blasphemy," he said.

One of the statements on Saturday was made by Laura Burnett, chairwoman for the Friends of Ward County, which is against the waste site.

"He said that 40 days and 40 nights of rain couldn't do anything to the site," Ms. Burnett said. "Is it mocking God or is he saying that even God can't stop them from doing what they want to do?

"I think all the local public officials are cowards. Why will they not hold a public meeting about this? The only time they do is during commissioners court and working people can't go to that."

Cutbirth said people should focus on the science of the project not personal feeling.

"If I thought this was bad I would probably be out there with the rest of them," Cutbirth said. "We should be looking at water, tornadoes and things like that to make sure it is really safe."

Henry Goulet opts not to seek re-election to Midland County Commissioners' Court

By Ed Todd
Staff Writer

Goulet

Henry Goulet, the ailing Midland County Precinct 1 commissioner who has been in recuperation since his May 1999 heart surgery, announced Monday that he would not seek re-election to the post he has held since 1993.

"The county has been an important part of my life since becoming a commissioner seven years ago," Goulet, 78, said in a statement read to the Commissioners' Court by Dale Little, a Goulet friend who is the Midland County fire marshal and safety officer and the Midland-Midland County emergency management coordinator.

Goulet, who was hospitalized following surgery and then was in rehabilitation, currently is living in a retirement and assisted-living center in Midland.

"I am proud to have served the residents of Precinct 1 and Midland County," Goulet said.

The statement said that Goulet announced his decision "to allow potential candidates to plan for and file for election" to the $31,500-salaried post by the 6 p.m. Jan. 3, 2000, filing deadline.

Since his May surgery, Goulet has participated in three Commissioners' Court meetings — on July 14, July 28, and, the last, on Aug. 25, according to minutes of the Commissioners' Court.

Members of the court wished Goulet well.

"Just because he has elected not to seek reelection, we are not voting him out of our county family," County Judge Bill Morrow said. "We continue to treat Henry as family like we always have.

"We wish him good health and recovery and send our love to him," Morrow said.

Goulet is "full of wit and good humor," Morrow said, "and is a person who always thought the issues through, and voted his conscience."

A World War II veteran of air campaigns, Goulet is "an absolutely delightful person," Morrow said. "It's been a real pleasure to work with him for this year."

Morrow was elected county judge in 1998 and took office in 1999.

Were Goulet to resign from his post prior to the end of his four-year-term at the close of 2000, Morrow said that he, by statute as the county judge, would appoint an interim commissioner who would serve until a suc-

Coleman High gets scholarship boost

By Jeff Stevens
Staff Writer

At today's meeting, the Midland Independent School Board will accept a $10,000 gift to benefit the Viola M. Coleman Red and Black Scholarship fund.

"With this money to help, we took in enough revenue to sponsor three $1,000 new scholarships," said Helen Lackey, principal of Coleman High School.

The money comes from the hotel/motel fund and was bestowed upon the school for its promotion of the arts. On Oct. 23, Coleman hosted the Dayton Contemporary Dance Company (DCdC) at the Yucca Theater. DCdC is a world traveled dance company, and their performance locally was considered quite an accomplishment. Their performance was staged to raise money for Coleman scholarships.

"I think it's very important," said Mayor Bobby Burns, of bringing the dance troupe to Midland. "This city has always held the arts in high esteem. The arts are very important to this city and the council is happy to support it where we can."

Burns added that the city council also saw an opportunity to assist Coleman High School.

According to Ms. Lackey, the performance netted approximately $7,000, allowing the addition of three new scholarships and the perpetuation of four scholarships already in existence.

"(The Coleman Scholarships are) very important. Between 80 and 90 percent of our students qualify for free and reduced lunch. What that means is almost every student is in some kind of need for assistance," said Ms. Lackey.

She said that without the scholarships, Coleman students might not be able to attend post secondary education. Additionally, students at Coleman don't qualify for many of the scholarships offered at Lee and Midland High School, even though the students initially come from those campuses.

"Without the Coleman Scholarship and

COUNTY: Commissioners also looked at jail expansion options holders of a certain "resource" that has escaped Midland: the economic-development sales tax.

(From 1B)

"That makes them more competitive," Clayton said. "The ED (economic development) sales tax provides the resource to attract businesses."

Commissioner Mike Bradford observed that Hanover, an international company, apparently views Midland as fair and good to the company and offers a great place to live.

The tax-friendly expansion would allow Hanover to hire more Midland workers, Bradford said.

In other business, the Commissioners' Court considered the stance of Midland bail-bondsmen who feared that the county's plan to set up a discount bonding-out program for pre-trial detainees to help reduce Midland County's overcrowded jail population would make inroads into their businesses.

In certain cases, Midland County's plan would allow bonds to be made at a 3 percent cost of the bond amount or at $20, whichever is higher.

The rate charged by private bondsmen is 15 percent of the face value of the bond, noted Midland bondsman Manuel Lujan, who is a former Midland law-enforcement officer.

On a $1,000 bond, for example, the price of temporary freedom for an inmate under the county's 3 percent program would be $30. At 15 percent in the private sector, the cost would be $150.

"We're helping the system" by working to alleviate overcrowded jails, noted Lujan, who asked the county to "give us (bondsmen) the first shot to get people out" of jail.

In viewing the two programs, county vs. private bonding, Commissioner Louisa Valencia asked Lujan, "If you were behind bars, which one would you take (the 3 percent cost or the 15 percent cost)?"

Lujan noted that a bondsman by law may write up to 10 bonds on one piece of unencumbered collateral and at the value of that property.

Lujan said he feared that the county's bonding program could bankrupt bondsmen.

Velma Jackson, who is in the bail-bond business, noted the high cost of doing business. She cited cases of spending $5,000 to bring back a person who had fled to Florida in jumping bail and $4,000 to return to Midland a person who had fled to California.

The county's bonding program to reduce overcrowding jails is "just a Band-Aid," Ms. Valencia said. "We still need more (jail) beds.

"We (commissioners) have been dragging our feet now for 11 months" on jail expansion, she said. "I think we should start building."

Bradford noted the inflated cost of jail expansion: $8 million to build a 200-bed jail, $12 million to construct a 400-bed jail, and about $14 million to build a 600-bed jail.

Any expansion would entail closing down the old jail atop the Midland County Courthouse and converting that space to offices and courtrooms.

cessor were elected by the political process.

Commissioner Mike Bradford, who was elected to the court in 1998 and first served this year, said that "Mr. Goulet has always voiced his opinion whether I agree with him or anybody else does. He has been a faithful worker for the people of his precinct."

Commissioner Randy Prude, who, like Bradford, was elected to the court in 1998, said that he has "gotten to know him (Goulet) more as a man and a gentleman — very tender-hearted."

Commissioner Louisa Valencia, who has announced she will retire from office at the end of 2000 when she has 12 years on the court, noted that Goulet "has been a good asset to this court.

"He's very outspoken on issues," Ms. Valencia said. "It has been good to him to be on this court after the loss of his wife. It is sad that his illness will not let him continue serving more than his (two four-year) terms."

OBITUARIES

Bill Parrish

Bill Dean Parrish was born June 10, 1940 in Kansas City, Missouri to Lloyd and Berlene (Jamerson) Parrish. He was reared and educated in Kansas City. Mr. Parrish has lived in the Midland area for the past 18 years and was employed with Industrial Communications in Odessa. He was a member of the Optimist Club.

Mr. Parrish died at a local hospital Sunday, November 28, 1999.

Mr. Parrish was preceded in death by his mother, Berlene Parrish. He is survived by his wife, Shirley Parrish; his sons, Chris Parrish, Craig Parrish, and B. J. Parrish; his daughters, Carlene Thebo and Joanna Parrish; his father and step-mother, Lloyd and Mable Parrish; brother, Jerry Parrish; sisters, Barbara Parrish, Vickie Dominguez, and Nikki Hernandez; and 11 grandchildren.

Visitation will be on Tuesday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Ellis Funeral Home. Memorial services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday, December 1, 1999, at the First Church of the Nazarene with Reverend Jerry McGuire officiating. Ellis Funeral Home is handling the arrangements.

Elwanda Ward

Elwanda Hays Ward was born October 31, 1922 in Santa Anna, Texas to Brice McKinley Hays and Pearl Goddard Hays. After living in Brownwood, she moved to Midland at the age of seven. Elwanda attended Midland schools and graduated from Midland High School in 1940. She worked for Southwestern Bell Telephone and Gulf Oil Company.

Elwanda married Carl Ward in Midland on July 12, 1947. The Wards owned and operated Hays Motor Service for 36 years, retiring in 1990. Elwanda died at her home in Midland on November 27, 1999, after an extended illness.

Elwanda is survived by her husband of 52 years, Carl Ward; daughter, Rebecca (Becky) Middleton; son-in-law, Mike Middleton; and two grandchildren, Megan Middleton and Spencer Middleton, all of Midland. She is also survived by her sister, Maxine Taylor and her brother, Gene Hays, both of Lake Brownwood; and her niece, Bryce Anne Passmore of Early, Texas. Other survivors include her sister-in-law and brother-in-law, Marjorie and Jack Livingston of Midland.

Elwanda was preceded in death by her parents and her sister, Betty Hays Thomas.

Graveside services are scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday, November 30, 1999, at Resthaven Memorial Park with the Reverend Jim Houston-Henken, of First Presbyterian Church, officiating under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home. A reception for friends and family will follow immediately after the service at the Ward residence.

Donations may be made in memory of Elwanda Ward to the First Presbyterian Church Deacon's Fund, 800 West Texas, Midland, Texas 79701; or to Hospice of Midland, P. O. Box 2621, Midland, TX 79702.

Obituary & Death Notice policy

There is no charge for death notices of residents or former residents of Midland or for those who have Midland relatives. We also publish death notices for residents of the surrounding West Texas area.

Free death notices include date and place of death, service and burial information, funeral home handling arrangements, date and place of birth, brief biography, survivors and memorials. A longer, more detailed obituary is available for a charge. It may include tributes, expanded biography, organizational associations, notes of appreciation, pallbearers, honorary pallbearers and a photo.

Deadline for both free death notices and paid obituaries is 3:30 p.m. and information must be either received from or verified by a funeral home.

COLEMAN: Scholarships give students chance for education the Bertha Starks scholarship, many of our students would not be able to pursue education after high school graduation," said Ms. Lackey.

To qualify for the scholarship, students must be Coleman graduates. They also must enroll in a community college or a university for 12 semester hours and must maintain a 2.5 GPA. Once accepted, the students receive an additional $1,000 each year, as long as they meet the requirements. The recipients can receive the scholarship for up to five years (long enough to complete their degree requirements).

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the board will

- Reconsider a vote for representatives on the Midland Central Appraisal District.
- Consider campus improvement plans for the 1999-2000 year.
- Hear calendar proposals for the 2000-2001 school year.

The meeting is set to begin at 4 p.m. at 615 W. Missouri in the board room.

World AIDS Day service to be held at First Presbyterian

From Staff Reports

AIDS victims will be remembered at the 6th Annual World AIDS Day service, led by Midland Area AIDS Support, Inc. (MAAS), 7 p.m. Wednesday in the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church, 800 West Texas. The theme for this year's event is "End the Silence."

"It is a service that contains music and singing, worship, a time of remembrance of loved ones, who have died of AIDS, by three family members, and candle lighting for everyone who attends," said Judy Warren, executive director of MAAS.

Following are some little known facts about AIDS, according to MAAS literature:

- Between 1,500 to 2,000 individuals in the Permian Basin are HIV positive and don't know it.
- There are 300 new cases of AIDS every day.
- There is one AIDS death every minute worldwide.
- AIDS is now the number one cause of death in Americas aged 25-44.
- Harvard Medical School estimates 110 million people will be infected worldwide by next year.
- It is predicted that 10 million children will be infected with HIV worldwide by next year.
- By the end of this year, 10-15 million children will be orphaned by the death of one of their parents through AIDS; 2.5 million will reside in the USA.
- 2.5 million teens get sexually transmitted diseases, including HIV, each year. Most are heterosexual.
- The number of teens with HIV infection has doubled in the past 10 years.
- Texas is fourth in the nation with AIDS cases.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Tuesday, Nov. 30, 1999:

Reach out for others and share your inner thoughts more often this year. Others are highly responsive to your leadership and ideas. You might easily push beyond your limits; fatigue is often present. Realize the importance of a good diet, exercise and plenty of vitamins. Take good care of yourself; then you can perform at the level you want. If you are single, you could easily meet someone from work, but it might take a while for this relationship to really take off. If attached, you could be hard on each other. Halt! Realize what this person means to you. Make special plans for a much-needed trip together during the summer months. VIRGO plays a key role at work.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★★ Talk about financial needs before signing off on a project. You tend to be overly responsible, and others know they can count on you. Communicating on a one-on-one level with another brings positive, lasting results. Tonight: Bring extra work home.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★★★ You naturally put your whole self into your work. You might feel undermined by another, however. Flow with the moment. Discussions purge negativity and allow true feelings to come out. Go with your intuition. Another presents his point clearly. Tonight: The fun begins.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
★★★★ Build on established knowledge; you don't need to break into new territory. Let co-workers have greater say, and really listen to their points of view. Remember, they experience similar situations. Work as a team. Eliminate negativity. Tonight: Browse some home-decorating magazines.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
★★★★★ Ask questions, and you'll get interesting feedback. Not everyone sees a particular venture as you do. Though you are determined, you could be making something more complicated than it needs to be. A child or new friend has interesting insights. Tonight: Talk about your ideas over dinner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
★★★ Discussions remind you that there is another financial alternative. Someone in charge comes down on you quite hard. Don't buckle under pressure; go for what you want and need. Family members keep you busy with news and requests. Tonight: Clear out a key errand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
★★★★★ You might not see everything you need to see, but others are happy to point out alternatives and different solutions. You could be bogged down by a demand from an in-law. Don't feed office gossip — just ignore it! Beam in high energy instead. Tonight: Use your charisma.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
★★★ A partner is inordinately tight and straight-laced. You might not be able to establish the kind of dialogue you need. Question what you want to do about this. What seems to cost a lot of money could actually free your soul. Tonight: Do some hard thinking.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
★★★★★ Put your two cents in when discussing a common goal. Partners don't mean to be uptight; nevertheless, they are. Loosen up; make a must meeting; network all you need to. Your sense of humor comes through with a friend. Tonight: Plan a holiday get-together.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
★★★★ You can subdue a difficult boss as you discuss work problems. What he may have been blaming on you is actually a problem within the structure. Ask for help. Don't allow everything to fall in your lap. Recognize your limitations here. Tonight: Call an older relative.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
★★★★ Reach out for another; make calls. Someone you dearly care about could be a bit incapacitated emotionally and may need your help. Be sensitive to this person. A meeting charges you with enthusiasm and ideas. Follow through. Tonight: Surf the Net.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
★★★★ Associates have great ideas for work, but it is you who must determine just how feasible they are. You might be weighed down by a sense of depression. Try to reverse this trend by talking to trusted friends. You don't have to carry this burden. Tonight: Togetherness counts.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
★★★★★ You rarely have a hard time with discussions, yet talks appear to be stymied now. You'll need to force yourself beyond the immediate problem and take an overview. Others appear on the horizon with different ideas. Listen. Tonight: Socialize with friends.

Opening lead: Five of ♣

For the sake of partnership trust, it is usually a good idea to return the suit partner led. That is particularly true when defending a no-trump contract, where your aim is to set up long cards in partner's suit. When declarer is in a suit contract, however, collecting your winners might have to take priority.

The contract is routine. With careless defense, 10 tricks present no problem — six hearts and four diamonds are there for the taking.

West led the five of clubs to East's ace. A good defender will look at the problem in this way. Assuming the defenders can collect two club tricks, they will still have to score two more to defeat the hand. That can come from a variety of holdings in the West hand: the aces of spades and diamonds, or one of those aces and a trump trick, or the king of spades and a side ace. But there is one other holding that must be catered to — the possibility that partner holds the ace and queen of spades.

Should East routinely return a club, West will win with the king but now will be unable to get to partner's hand. No matter how the defense proceeds, declarer will be able to harvest the 10 tricks in view. The only way to assure the contract's defeat, if it is at all possible, is for East to shift to a spade at trick two! That not only leads to immediate defeat if the cards lie as in the diagram, but it also allows for most other holdings where the defenders are able to prevail.

Monica remains mum on who will get her vote

NEW YORK — Will Monica Lewinsky, New Yorker, be voting for Hillary Rodham Clinton for Senate next year?

She's not saying.

"I think that, uh, voting preferences should be kept private," Ms. Lewinsky said in an interview with ABC's Barbara Walters to be broadcast Tuesday night.

Ms. Lewinsky, whose affair with President Clinton led to his impeachment, will likely be forced to choose between her former paramour's wife and New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani if she votes for a U.S. Senate candidate next year.

Ms. Lewinsky also said she's been dating but is not in love. Her qualifications for a romantic partner: someone who's "single, straight, emotionally available."

She said people feel very comfortable with her in public.

"Somehow everybody seems to feel that they know me," she said. "It's a little like being at 'Cheers.' Everybody knows my name."

NEW YORK — Michael Jackson wants to be a daddy over and over again.

The pop star said in the latest TV Guide that he wants 10 children, just like his father, Joe Jackson.

"I thought I was prepared because I read everything about child rearing but it's so much more exciting than I ever imagined it would be," Jackson said. "The only regret I have is that I wish I had done it earlier."

Jackson, 41, denied rumors that he and ex-wife Debbie Rowe are not the biological parents of Prince Michael, 2, and Paris Katherine, 1.

"That's total garbage," he said. "It's trash and it's not true."

Jackson is raising the children at his Neverland Ranch in California.

LOS ANGELES — Ozzy Osbourne now has five bedrooms and 11,000 square feet to call his own.

The rocker bought a Beverly Hills mansion for close to the asking price of $6.5 million, the Los Angeles Times reported Sunday. He didn't waste any time, making his bid the first day the house went on the market.

Osborne put his old Beverly Hills house on the market for $4.5 million.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — Four-time Olympic gold medalist Greg Louganis still makes people cheer.

Starring in the musical comedy "Nunsense A-Men," he's getting rave reviews for his role as Sister Robert Ann, a streetwise nun who always wanted to be a star.

That's nothing new for the 39-year-old Louganis, who has spent most of his life in the spotlight.

He won his first Olympic diving event at 16, claiming a silver medal at the 1976 Summer Games. In 1994, he told the world he was gay and HIV positive. A year later he had AIDS.

He detailed his struggles in his 1995 autobiography, "Breaking the Surface."

"People everywhere, all the time, ask me what accomplishment I'm most proud of," Louganis said. "And they expect me to say the gold medals, but that's in the history books. I was doing what I was trained to do and I was just doing my job.

"But the book made a difference. It made people realize that AIDS isn't a death sentence."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Two members of the rap group Digital Underground were arrested on sex charges for allegedly fondling a woman backstage after a concert.

Kyle James Eastern Jr., 21, of Reno, Nev., and Michael Sheldon Pierson, 30, of Redondo Beach, Calif., face first-degree sexual abuse charges.

A 21-year-old woman told police the two men forced her into a bathroom early Sunday and kissed and fondled her against her will after the Digital Underground concert at the Arkansas State Fairgrounds.

Eastern also was charged with drug possession after police said a small amount of marijuana was found in his pocket.

The performers were released on $2,500 bond each.

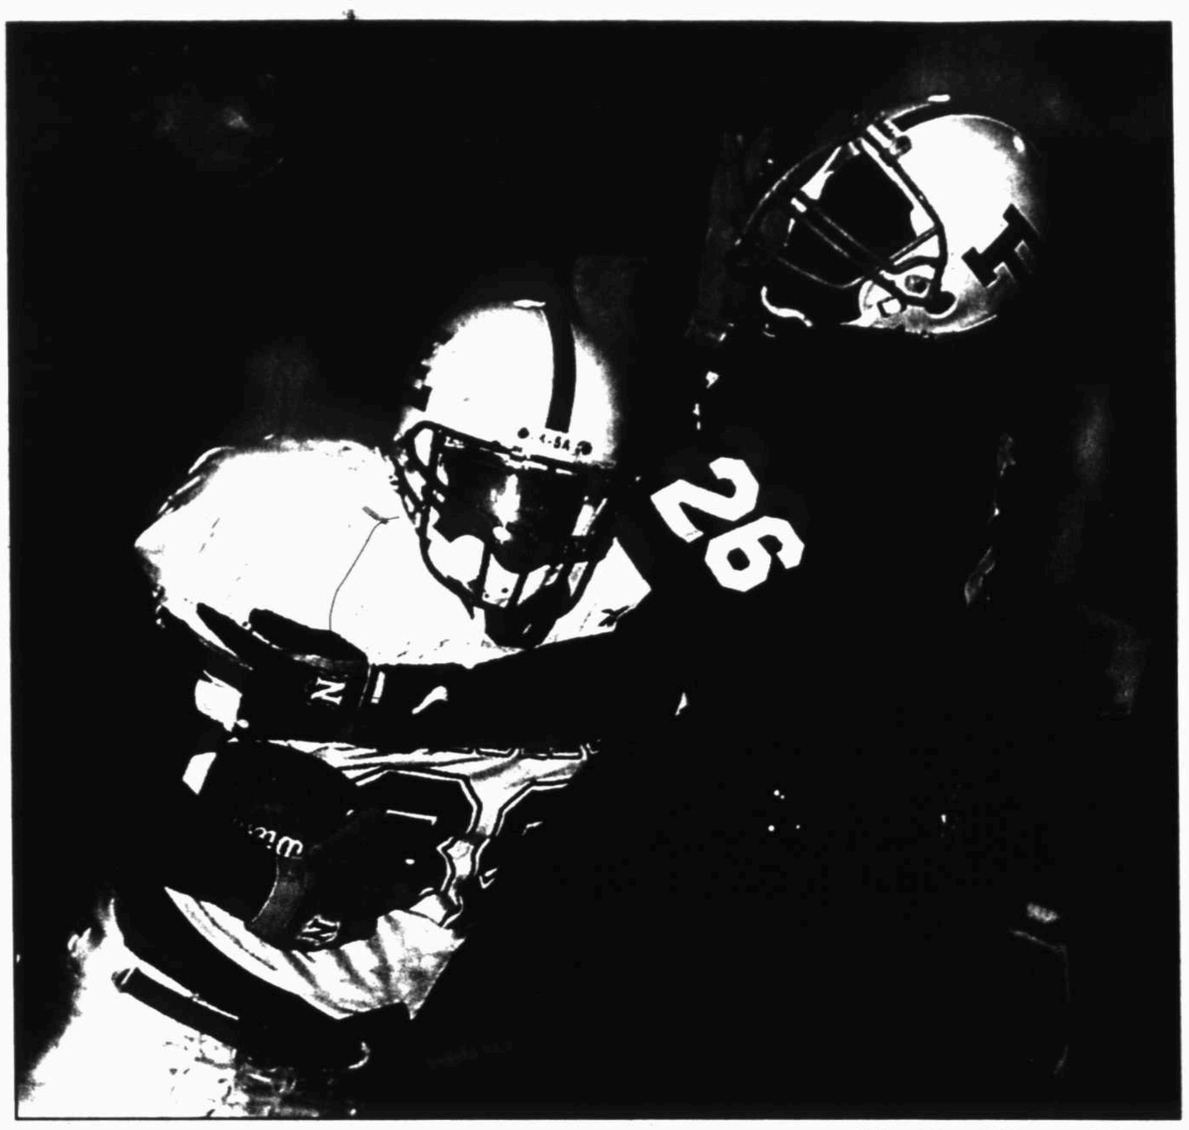
DISTRICT 4-5A ROUNDUP



Brian Adamcik/Reporter-Telegram
Midland Lee running back Cedric Benson fights off Permian's Roy Williams in District 4-5A action played earlier this season in Ratliff Stadium. This weekend, the 13-0 Rebels return to Ratliff to face 9-4 Mesquite in a Class 5A Division I state semifinal.

High flying Warriors from South Grand Prairie up next for Eagles

By Stewart Doreen
Assistant Sports Editor

■ 4-5A Report

When Abilene High meets South Grand Prairie at 4 p.m. Saturday in a Class 5A Division II quarterfinal at Texas Stadium, the Eagles will be facing as explosive a team as there is in the Division II bracket.

"They have got speed at every position," AHS head coach Steve Warren said. "Any time you go out and play a Metroplex school, you will find teams with athletes at every position. You have to be ready for that."

Of course, South Grand Prairie's athletes are better than most.

This season, the Warriors are 12-1 and have outscored their opponents, 469-200. Its lone loss came in a 20-18 loss to Lewisville in Week 4. Since that day, SGP has outscored its opponents, 321-117.

Also, the Warriors are averaging 383 yards a game at a ratio of nearly 50:50 (rushing:passing). SGP rushes for 191 yards a game and passes for another 192.

But no matter how balanced, SGP's biggest threat will be on the outside. His name is B.J. Johnson and he is one of the top — if not the premier — wide receiver recruits in the nation.

This season, Johnson has 61 receptions for 1,523 yards (almost a 25.0 average) and 17 TDs. He will not only catch passes but make big plays. His per-catch average is nearly 25 yards, and of his 17 TDs, 11 have come on plays of 30 yards or more.

Last Saturday in a 35-13 mugging of Amarillo High, Johnson, who stands 6-foot-1, torched a good Sandie defense for 180 yards receiving and three scores.

"He is Roy Williams good," Warren said of Johnson who's reportedly narrowed his list of colleges he will attend to Texas, Tennessee, Florida State, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State. "He has 4.3 speed and great hands. He will get (the ball) when it is thrown. I don't know if we can double him."

If AHS had to just worry about Johnson that would be one thing, but the Eagles must also contend with Gavin Boothe, a 6-foot-2 leaper. Last year, Boothe, another wide receiver, showed his athleticism, clearing 6-9 in the high jump at the regional track meet and setting a new AAU state record in the decathlon. This year on the football field, Boothe has 31 catches for 631 yards and 10 TDs.

To go with their deadly wideouts is Gideon Leonard, a power back who has rushed for 1,150 yards and 17 scores.

"Their passing attack is a big play passing attack. They will run, run, run and then throw the ball deep," Warren said. "(Last week), they threw five times in a jump-ball fashion and those guys go up and get it. They are so talented."

Abilene High will not go into this game lacking in offensive firepower.

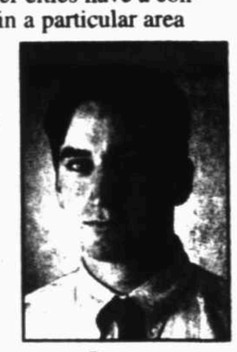
STEWART DOREEN

Skeeters take long road, while No. 1 Lee Rebels go next door

When it comes to forming a non-district schedule, Class 5A football coaches in bigger cities have a considerable advantage. More teams in a particular area mean more options and few bus rides to out of the way areas.



Doreen

Take Mesquite High, Lee's opponent this week in a Class 5A Division I state semifinal. The Skeeters never had to leave the Metroplex this year, while the Rebels traveled to El Paso and Arlington.

Well, this weekend a coach's dream of a schedule turns into a potential nightmare.

Mesquite, whose furthest road trip this season has been a 30-minute bus trips to Texas Stadium, has to pack its gear and travel across the state.

"Anytime you change the routine for the kids, it could create a potential disadvantage," Mesquite coach Steve Halpin said. "Hopefully, we can get over that."

Monday, that meant securing plane reservations for Saturday.

"We're still waiting (to see about the reservations)," Halpin said. "There is nothing definite, yet."

In some respects it is hard to feel sorry for the Skeeters. For 13 weeks, they reaped the benefits of being close to home.

Also, they didn't want Abilene as a neutral site. When it came to traveling, it was all or nothing.

"We have not played on grass all year," Halpin said. "We wanted to play on astroturf, and give our kids a shot to win the flip and play at Texas Stadium."

It just happened that Parchman won the flip. Although when it came down to deciding the site of this week's state semifinal with Mesquite, the Rebels couldn't lose.

Lee teams, like most teams in West Texas, know what it is like to travel and play after a long bus ride. They have been there and done that. So flipping for the right to host the game was no big deal.

"With our kids, it (traveling) won't affect us as much as someone else who never travels," Lee head coach John Parchman said.

In fact, in preparation for this week, Parchman rolled the dice, flipping with Bryan High School and Mesquite.

"It was a win-win situation for us," Parchman added. "If it was Bryan, then we would have played at Kyle Field, somewhere we had never played before. That would have been a treat for our kids. If it was Texas Stadium (Mesquite's choice of home field), then we have a good record there."

But Parchman won and will get to sleep in his own bed Friday night as will the entire Rebel faithful.

The fact that Lee will not play in its own hometown is a little disconcerting, although knowing the condition and size of Memorial Stadium and Halpin's desire to stay off the natural grass, it is understandable.

So there will be a few miles to trek, and I guess seeing the Rebels play closer to home should make a trip into Odessa slightly bearable.

Here is another plus — Parchman's Lee teams have not lost a game in the stadium, he once called "the concrete playhouse."

Not that any of this should matter. Lee is 13-0. Mesquite is 9-4.

The Rebels are the No. 1 ranked team in the state and nation. Mesquite finished third in its district.

Lee is the undeniable favorite and would be no matter where the game was played.

It is just nice to know that this time the game will be played a little closer to home, and in an odd turn of events, an out-of-the-way West Texas school had something go its way.

Virginia Tech set for national title shot in Sugar Bowl vs. FSU

By Richard Rosenblatt
AP Football Writer

■ BCS Standings/3C

Book it: No. 1 Florida State vs. No. 2 Virginia Tech in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 4.

In what will become a perfect ending to a perfect regular season, Virginia Tech is certain to hold off Nebraska in the final Bowl Championship Series standings, setting up a No. 1 vs. No. 2 game for the national title in New Orleans.

The Hokies (11-0) increased their second-place lead over the Huskers from .63 points to 1.54 points in the latest BCS standings released Monday. The final BCS standings, which determines the teams that will play in its title game, will be released Dec. 5.

The advantage, according to one computer expert, is all but impossible to overcome — even if Nebraska routs Texas in Saturday's Big 12 Conference title game in San Antonio.

"There's no suspense," Chicago-based computer expert Jerry Palm said. "If Nebraska wins 50-0, I'm not sure that could overtake Virginia Tech."

From the start of the Hokies-Huskers points battle, Virginia Tech coach Frank Beamer has been confident the top teams would end up in the national title game. But until the final results are in, he's not taking anything for granted.

"There's too much invested in the BCS so that the two best teams will play," Beamer said. "I personally think one of the teams has to be Virginia Tech.

"With all the hard work by our coaches and all the hard work by our players, I would be devastated if we did not make it."

The BCS standings are based on a formula that considers The Associated Press media poll and the USA Today/ESPN coaches' poll, eight computer rankings, strength of schedule and losses.

Florida State and Virginia Tech are 1-2 in the AP poll and the coaches poll.

Nebraska (10-1) blew its chance to stay close to Virginia Tech by barely beating unranked Colorado 33-30 in overtime last Friday. The Hokies, meanwhile, rolled to a 38-14 win over then-No. 22 Boston College.

The results lowered the Hokies' computer average and raised the Huskers' average. Tech's strength of schedule went from 66th toughest to 54th.

Florida State (11-0), which locked up first place two weeks ago with a 30-23 win over Florida, has 2.24 points — 1 for poll average, 1 for computer rank average, 0.24 for strength of schedule and zero for losses.

Virginia Tech has 6.16 points — 2 for poll average, 2 for computer rank average, 2.16 for strength of

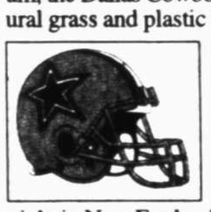
Cowboys need detour from ruinous road trips

By Jaime Aron
AP Sports Writer

IRVING — Away from Texas Stadium, the Dallas Cowboys have lost on natural grass and plastic turf, during the day and at night, on Sunday and on Monday.



The Cowboys (6-5) have two chances left to get it right: Sunday night in New England and Christmas Eve in New Orleans. Their playoff chances probably depend on it.

"I think that we understand exactly where we are and what needs to be done from here on out," coach Chan Gailey said. "We know what's at stake."

Since an overtime victory in the opener at Washington, Dallas has lost five straight road games. The sad part is that the Cowboys led those games by 17, 14, 10, 7 and 3 points.

The key has been the second halves. Over those 10 third and fourth quarters, the Cowboys have been outscored 81-16 and their offense has been shut out in eight of those periods.

"We're just not finishing the job on the road the way we have at home," Gailey said.

Gailey refuses to buy into the theory that Dallas is a bad road team. From his perspective, the problem is strictly second halves, not second halves outside Texas Stadium.

Texas players say Nebraska deserves to be favored in this weekend's Big 12 title game

By Jim Vertuno
AP Sports Writer

AUSTIN — Even after beating Nebraska three straight times since 1996, Texas players said Monday the Cornhuskers deserve their role as favorites in the Big 12 Conference championship.

Texas (9-3, 6-2 Big 12) is the only team to beat the third-ranked Cornhuskers (10-1, 7-1) three times in the 1990s, including a 24-20 victory in Austin Oct. 23.

But Nebraska's three national titles since 1994 and its status among college football's elite make the Huskers legitimate favorites on Saturday in San Antonio, said Texas wide receiver Kwame Cavil.

"We'd be underdogs if we were 11-0. They deserve it," Cavil said. "They have more wins than we do and fewer losses than we have. We're just going to have to beat them every time we play them to get the respect we deserve."

Probably only Texas fans think the Longhorns can beat the Cornhuskers, who are favored by eight points, said Texas coach Mack Brown.

"Everybody in America outside of Texas thinks we're going to lose," Brown said.

Harsh words flew between the locker rooms when the teams last played.

EAGLES: Breakout victory awaits winner

(From 1C)

The Eagles (11-2) also have a big-time Division I recruit on their side. Arturo Beltran, who committed to Texas this summer, has rushed for 2,104 yards this year and 4,804 yards for his career (good for third place in District 4-5A history).

Also junior quarterback Kevin Goodman has passed for more than 2,000 yards (one of eight passers in district history to do so).

However for the winner here may be the team that can win on the defensive side on the ball. Both defenses aren't great. SGP is giving up 245 yards a game while AHS allowed approximately 300 yards a game in the regular season but had the district's best turnover ratio. Both have turned up the defensive intensity in the playoffs.

No matter who wins, this will be a breakout victory. AHS is making its first postseason appearance in 40 years and SGP is the Eagles' toughest opponent yet.

SGP has already topped a Grand Prairie city record for most wins in a season and is advancing to the quarterfinals for the second straight season. Last year, the Warriors lost to Midland Lee in this round. A win this weekend would give the program its first state semifinal appearance.

Pack pounds 49ers for 7th straight loss

By Dennis Georgatos
AP Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — There was no miracle finish this time for the San Francisco 49ers, not even the hope of one. Instead, it was just one more bad performance in a season of failure.

Brett Favre passed for two touchdowns and Green Bay's defense held San Francisco's struggling offense without a touchdown as the Packers sent the 49ers to their seventh straight loss, 20-3 Monday night.

It's the longest skid for San Francisco (3-8) since losing eight in a row in 1980, and ensured the 49ers would finish with their first non-winning campaign since going 3-6 in the strike-shortened 1982 season. And a crowd used to seeing the 49ers win turned on the home team, showering them with boos even as the players were pelted by rain late in the game.

Green Bay (6-5) pulled to within a game of Detroit, Tampa Bay and Minnesota in the NFC Central with five remaining and ran its record to 6-1 against the 49ers since 1995, including four playoff encounters.

San Francisco's lone victory in that span came in last January's Wild Card playoff when Steve Young threaded a 25-yard touchdown pass to Terrell Owens through three defenders in the final seconds.

But this time, Young watched from the sidelines, probably out for the rest of the season with a concussion suffered Sept. 27.

First-year Green Bay coach Ray Rhodes, a former 49ers assistant, got his first win in eight Monday night games. The 49ers saw one more streak end when San Francisco coach Steve Mariucci, a former Packers assistant, lost for the first time in eight Monday night games.

Steve Stenstrom, who began the year as the team's third stringer, threw an end zone interception to end one promising drive. On another occasion, he had the ball slip out of his hands trying to pass, and the 49ers had to scramble to recover the fumble.

Late in the game, Fred Beasley lost a fumble and J.J. Stokes was flagged for offensive pass interference in yet more signs of San Francisco's free-falling offense. The 49ers reached the Green Bay 1, and had a third-and-goal but Beasley was stopped short, then Stenstrom's fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

The lone bright spot was Jerry Rice's four receptions for 63 yards, boosting his career total to 18,025 yards receiving. He's the first player in NFL history to surpass the 18,000-yard plateau.

But Stenstrom has yet to throw for a score in his three starts. San Francisco's offense has managed just one touchdown in its last five games, while failing to score in double figures in the past four games for the first time in franchise history.

Green Bay, seeking a playoff berth for a seventh straight season, was sluggish offensively at the start but drew a key pass interference penalty to get going.

TV reports: Michigan State's Saban to be next LSU coach

By Dee-Ann Durbin
Associated Press Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Michigan State football coach Nick Saban will replace fired Gerry DiNardo at LSU, two Louisiana television stations reported Monday.

Saban was not at his office Monday evening and could not be reached for comment. Spartans offensive coordinator Morris Watts and player Amp Campbell said Saban planned to talk with his family Monday night to try to make a decision.

But one of his Michigan State players said Saban was noncommittal when they met to discuss the team's trip to the Florida Citrus Bowl.

"All he said was that he had been contacted by another school," said tight end Ivory McCoy.

WAFB television in Baton Rouge and WWL television in New Orleans cited unidentified sources in their reports. LSU sent an airplane Michigan to Saban to bring him to Louisiana Monday evening, WAFB reported.

LSU's sports information office said they could not confirm reports of an agreement.

John Lewandowski, Michigan State's sports information director, said LSU officials contacted Michigan State on Monday morning to say they wanted to speak with Saban about a job. Lewandowski expects Saban to make his decision quickly and for the matter to be wrapped up by Tuesday.

"I just know this is something that coach would like to resolve quickly," Lewandowski said. "We've got a bowl game to prepare for."

Saban has not been out of the state and any negotiations have been conducted by telephone, Lewandowski said.

LSU Chancellor Mark Emmert met with LSU players Monday and told them a new coach would be named "within 24-36 hours," WAFB reported.

WLNS-TV in Lansing reported that LSU is offering Saban about a million dollars a year. At Michigan State, he has a base salary of $203,530 and makes $493,000 from other sources, including his TV show, for a total of $697,330, The Detroit News reported Sunday.

BCS: Nebraska third in six computers schedule, and zero for losses. Last week, the Hokies totaled 6.78 points.

Nebraska has 7.70 points — 3 for poll average, 2.86 for computer rank average, 0.84 for strength of schedule, and 1 for losses. Last week, the Huskers had 7.41 points.

Tech gained the upper hand in the eight computer rankings — the BCS uses seven, and discards the lowest rating. A week ago, Virginia Tech was second in six computers; third in one and fifth in the other. This week, the Hokies are second in seven and third in the other.

Nebraska was third in six computers, including The Dunkel Index which had the Huskers first last week, second in one and fourth in the other.

Rounding out the top 10, Florida was fourth with 13.48 points, followed by Tennessee, Kansas State, Alabama, Wisconsin, Michigan and Michigan State.

ROAD: Dallas has lost 7 of last 8 away

(From 1C)

"I make a much bigger deal about playing better in the second half than about being on the road," he said.

This isn't exactly a new problem. The Cowboys have lost seven of their last eight road games and nine straight against teams from outside the NFC East. The Patriots and the Saints both fall into that category.

Breaking that streak, which dates to August 1997, is crucial to Dallas' playoff hopes.

The Cowboys are a game behind Washington in the NFC East, but they hold the tiebreaker over the Redskins. Winning the division is the only sure Dallas has of making the playoffs because of the pack of teams fighting for wild-card spots.

"The good thing about us," quarterback Troy Aikman said Monday, "is that if we make the playoffs, we're going to be hitting our stride, because if we're not, we won't be in."

The Cowboys know they only have themselves — on their 1-5 road record — to blame.

"I think everyone realizes how close we have been to not talking about how vital each one of these games is," Gailey said. "That's what upsets you the most."

Another offshoot of Dallas' road woes is that it has prevented winning streaks. The Cowboys haven't won consecutive games since starting 3-0.

They hoped a 27-13 victory over Green Bay would be the boost they needed, then they lost 13-9 in Arizona

Now they're hoping a 20-0 victory over Miami on Thanksgiving will be the kickstart they need.

"That's got to be a confidence builder," linebacker Randall Godfrey said. "This last win was good, but we've got to keep it going."

BIG12: Teams expect a lot of trash talking

(From 1C)

Nebraska players said they hated No. 12 Texas and were still upset about the Longhorns' 20-16 win in 1998 that stopped the Huskers' 47-game home winning streak.

Cavil, a trash talker who enjoys verbally sparring with defensive backs, said the jabs likely will continue until the end of the game Saturday.

"I know they'll really want to beat us. I know they'll be running their mouth a lot more. I don't think I'll have to initiate it," Cavil said.

Nebraska will feel more pressure to win, Texas players said.

Not only are they looking for revenge, the Cornhuskers also hope a lopsided win would push them past No. 2 Virginia Tech in the complicated Bowl Championship Series ratings and into the Sugar Bowl against No. 1 Florida State.

But those hopes grew slimmer Monday as Virginia Tech (11-0) increased its second-place lead over the Huskers from 0.63 points to 1.54 points in the latest BCS standings. The final standings, which determines the teams that will play in its title game, will be released Dec. 5.

The advantage, according to one computer expert, is all but impossible to overcome — even if Nebraska routs Texas.

"There's no suspense," Chicago-based computer expert Jerry Palm said. "If Nebraska wins 50-0, I'm not sure that could overtake Virginia Tech."

The BCS standings are based on a formula that considers The Associated Press media poll and the USA Today/ESPN coaches' poll, eight computer rankings, strength of schedule and losses.

Florida State and Virginia Tech are 1-2 in the AP poll and the coaches poll.

Nebraska could have pulled closer to Virginia Tech but lost ground when the Huskers only barely beat unranked Colorado 33-30 in overtime.

Even if the national championship is gone, Brown said Saturday's game remains important. The winner goes to the Fiesta Bowl and a victory would be a big step toward winning a national title in the future, Brown said.

"We came here as a staff to win a national championship," Brown said. "You can't win the national championship if you can't win the conference championship. You have to grow into it. You don't just win it."

Explanation Key

Poll Average — The average of The Associated Press media poll and USA Today-ESPN coaches poll. Others receiving votes are calculated in order received.

Computer Average — The average of Richard Billingsley, Dunkel Index, Kenneth Massey, New York Times, David Rothman, Jeff Sagarin, Matthews/Scripps-Howard and the Hester & Anderson/Seattle Times, rankings. The computer component will be determined by averaging the seven highest computer rankings. The lowest computer ranking will be disregarded. The computer ranking disregarded is in parentheses.

Schedule Rank — Rank of schedule strength compared to other Division I-A teams divided by 25. This component is calculated by determining the cumulative won/loss records of the team's opponent (66.6 percent) and the cumulative won/loss records of the team's opponent's opponents (33.3 percent).

Losses — One point for each loss during the season.

Sports Briefs

Eusebio stays with Astros

HOUSTON — Catcher Tony Eusebio chose to remain with the team that signed him as a teen-ager, agreeing Monday to a $2.4 million, two-year contract with the Houston Astros.

Eusebio, 32, hit .272 with four home runs and 33 RBIs as the team's primary starting catcher last season. He is a career .277 hitter with 18 home runs and 194 RBIs.

Eusebio has been in the Houston organization since the Astros signed him as an 18-year-old free agent in 1985. He first reached the majors in 1991 and has been a regular on the Astros roster since 1994.

The trade of Brad Ausmus to Detroit in January and a season-ending shoulder injury to rookie Mitch Meluskey gave Eusebio the chance to play every day.

Eusebio will make $1.1 million in 2000 and $1.3 million in 2001, up from $900,000 last season. The salary in the second year would increase to $1.5 million if he is traded.

Eusebio lives in Kissimmee, Fla., the Astros' spring training home.

Colorado St. to face Southern Miss in Liberty Bowl

FORT COLLINS, Colo. — Colorado State on Monday was selected to play Southern Mississippi in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn., on Dec. 31.

The Rams stumbled early, but finished with an 8-3 overall record, including 5-2 in the Mountain West Conference. On Saturday, Colorado State wrapped up the season with a 35-17 victory over Nevada-Las Vegas.

Colorado State, Utah and Brigham Young were tied with 5-2 conference records. Each team won one and lost one against the other two. The Rams won out because they defeated Wyoming, while both BYU and Utah lost to Wyoming.

Idaho to Sun Belt Conference

METAIRIE, La. — The University of Idaho was invited Monday to join the Sun Belt Conference, effective with the 2001-2002 academic year.

Idaho would become the seventh Sun Belt football member for the 2001 season, joining Arkansas State, Louisiana-Lafayette, Middle Tennessee State, New Mexico State, North Texas and Louisiana-Monroe. It will be the Sun Belt's first venture into football.

Middle Tennessee, New Mexico State and North Texas are to begin competition as full members of the Sun Belt Conference by 2001, while Louisiana-Monroe and Idaho will become football-only members by 2001.

Other all-sports Sun Belt members, in addition to Arkansas State and Louisiana-Lafayette, are Arkansas-Little Rock, Denver, Florida International, New Orleans, South Alabama and Western Kentucky.

Idaho currently competes in the Big West Conference, where the Vandals competed in all sports.

Robinson's hurt but Spurs are continuing to thrive

By Kelley Shannon
AP Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO — Even with David Robinson injured, the San Antonio Spurs are winning and off to one of the best starts in franchise history.

Credit the Spurs' defense or their league-best 3-point shooting or the dominating presence of Tim Duncan.

All those explanations are fine. The Spurs simply like their 12-3 record a lot better than their 6-8 start last season, before they went on to win their first NBA championship.

"There are going to be ups and downs throughout the whole season," Duncan said Monday. "But right now we're in one of those ups, and we're feeling good about each other."

The Spurs have not let an opponent score 100 points this season. The team is leading the NBA in 3-point shooting at 46.9 percent.

San Antonio has won five consecutive games and a victory over Detroit on Tuesday will give the Spurs a franchise-record 21 straight regular-season victories in the Alamodome.

The streak dates to March 26 last season, when Vancouver managed a victory. The Spurs lost only one playoff game in the dome, to Minnesota in May.

"It feels good here," Duncan said. "We're very comfortable here. We practice in here. Our shots feel good in here."

The Spurs will play in the Alamodome until moving into a new arena in 2002.

Mario Elie, in his 10th season, said the Spurs are taking advantage of the players' collective experience.

"We're a veteran team, the oldest team in the league," he said. "We're guys who understand the game, who are a lot of role players who know our roles on this team."

At this point last season — a month into the lockout-shortened NBA schedule — San Antonio had a losing record and rumors circulated coach Gregg Popovich might lose his job.

This year, Popovich credits his players with the strong start. He says they have built on what they learned during the championship run.

"They've got character," he said. "We've got a long way to go before we are going to be where we want to be. So that's great."

Robinson missed Saturday's game against Denver because of back spasms. He was injured last week against Boston when Duncan accidentally hit him in the head and right shoulder. The next game, against Chicago on Friday, Robinson aggravated the injury and was out most of the second half.

Robinson did some running and had contact in practice Monday. Popovich says he'll probably play Tuesday.

"I'd love to have him back," Duncan said. "It's hard playing out there without David. Just having him in the lineup, not even playing 40 minutes, just having him out there takes so much pressure off."

In the meantime, Duncan has help inside from Malik Rose. Outside there's help from 3-point shooters Elie, Terry Porter and Jaren Jackson, and the three of them often find themselves open when defenders descend on Duncan.

"We've got time out there to size it up and let it go," Elie said.

Boys

San Angelo Lake View at Midland Lee

When: 7:30 p.m.
Where: Lee gym.
Records: Lee is 4-3, Lake View is 1-2.
Coaches: Lee — Jon House. Lake View — Mitch Freeman.
Notes and quotes: Lee split two games at the Chap Thanksgiving Shoot-Out over the weekend, beating El Paso Parkland 73-57 and losing to El Paso Del Valle 49-47 on a last-second shot. The Rebels are still without six football players they are counting on for the coming season, but at best, House won't get them back for at least another week. "We've got two experienced players and a bunch of guys who've only had JV experience and they're still trying to learn what it takes to play at this level," said House. "We need to have people step up."... This will be the second clash between Lee and Lake View this season. The Rebels opened the season by defeating the Chiefs 57-51 in San Angelo. Chris Packer and Cory Simmons led the Rebels with 15 points in that game.
Next Game: Lee will be off for a week before returning to action next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. with a neutral site game against Temple at Abilene's McMurry University.

Girls

Midland Christian at Midland High

When: 7:30 p.m.
Where: Chaparral Center.
Records: Midland High is 6-1, Midland Christian is 1-2.
Coaches: MHS — Terry Gray. Midland Christian — Dub Huckabee.
Notes: Midland High split two games at home over the weekend. The Lady Dawgs recovered from loss to El Paso Hanks impressively, routing El Paso Austin 87-52 Saturday. MHS had four players in double figures in that game... Midland Christian has played Kermit twice this season and split those games.
Next Game: Midland High travels to the Concho River Classic in San Angelo starting Thursday.

Midland Lee at Andrews

When: 7:30 p.m.
Where: Andrews gym.
Records: Lee is 7-1.
Coaches: Lee — Elise Kail. Andrews — Randy Courtney.
Notes: Lee won the Harlingen Classic for the second straight year, beating Harlingen High 60-51 in the title. Freshman Adrianne Ross kept up her torrid pace in Harlingen, scoring 40 points in the last two tournament games, including 21 against Harlingen, and she is now averaging 19 points a game. The Lady Rebels have now won five in a row.
Next Game: Lee hosts District 3-5A power Lubbock Coronado Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lee gym.

North Texas drops Texas A&M to 0-2 record

DENTON (AP) — Kyle Crawford scored 20 points, leading the University of North Texas to a 91-88 victory over Texas A&M Monday night.

The victory was sealed when Aggie guard Andy Leatherman missed a 3-pointer with 5 seconds remaining. The Eagles' Brandon Gilbert grabbed the rebound to end the game.

Chris Davis added 19 points for North Texas (1-2). Deginald Erskin had 13, while Dexter Tennell and Gilbert each had 10.

Carlton Brown led Texas A&M (0-2) with 24 points. Bernard King had 23.

North Texas led the game by 18 points with just over 12 minutes left, but the Aggies began chipping away.

Texas jumps to highest ranking since 1982

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas started the season talking about the Final Four. After winning the Puerto Rico Shootout with two victories over ranked teams, that doesn't seem so far-fetched.

The Longhorns (4-0) jumped from No. 20 to No. 9 in this week's Associated Press Top 25 poll, their first visit to the Top Ten since 1982.

"I don't know if any of us know how good we are," said second-year Texas coach Rick Barnes, whose first Longhorns team started 0-4 before winning the Big 12 Conference regular season title.

Texas beat No. 8 Michigan State and No. 22 DePaul in Puerto Rico. Seven-foot center Chris Mihm was chosen the tournament's most valuable player.

"I knew we had a different team than last year," Barnes said. "Chris Mihm and (forward) Gabe Muoneke are two of the top players in college basketball.

"But to get to the Final Four, the first thing you have to do is get to the NCAA tournament and that's a long way away."

Malone passes MJ for 3rd place on NBA scoring list

Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — Karl Malone scored 27 points, passing Michael Jordan for third place on the NBA career scoring list, as the Utah Jazz beat the Golden State Warriors.

With Malone making his first six shots, there was no suspense about whether he could reach the scoring milestone. He came in needing six points to pass Jordan, and he did it on an 18-foot jumper with 9:24 left in the first quarter.

Malone made 12 of 14 field-goal attempts and narrowly missed a triple double with 10 assists and eight rebounds. He now has 29,299 points, trailing only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (38,387) and Wilt Chamberlain (31,419). Jordan finished his career with 29,277 points.

Damon Jones hit all five of his 3-point shots and led the Warriors with 17 points.

■ NBA Roundup

Heat 98, Kings 88

MIAMI — Jamal Mashburn scored 22 points on his 27th birthday, and P.J. Brown added 18 as the Miami Heat snapped Sacramento's eight-game winning streak, 98-88 Monday night.

Alonzo Mourning added 16 points and 11 rebounds for the Heat, who built a 62-45 lead in the third quarter and were never seriously challenged after that in a meeting between teams that started the night as division leaders.

Chris Webber led Sacramento with 18 points and 10 rebounds. Jason Williams added 17 points for the Kings.

The loss was the first in North America this season for the Kings (9-2), whose only other defeat came in Tokyo to the Minnesota Timberwolves.

Knicks 107, Mavericks 82

NEW YORK — Charlie Ward made seven 3-pointers, tying the most in the NBA this season, and scored a career-high 25 points as the New York Knicks routed the Dallas Mavericks.

It was the most lopsided victory for the Knicks in more than two years and moved them above .500 (8-7) for the first time in more than two weeks.

Ward's seven 3-pointers were two shy of the Knicks record of nine by John Starks against Milwaukee in January 1998. Jaren Jackson of San Antonio also had seven 3-pointers in a game this season, doing it against the Mavericks on Nov. 20.

Michael Finley led Dallas with 20 points.

Dayton upsets No. 13 Kentucky

Associated Press

CINCINNATI — Tony Stanley scored 23 points and hit a pair of clutch 3-pointers down the stretch as unbeaten Dayton rallied from a 10-point deficit to a 68-66 victory Monday over No. 13 Kentucky.

The Wildcats (3-2) blew the double-digit lead with turnovers and then lost it because of their inability to hit a 3-pointer. Tayshaun Prince's 3-point attempt at the buzzer went off the rim.

The Flyers improved to 4-0 for the first time in 17 years and snapped their streak of 25 consecutive losses in games played in Cincinnati since the 1981-82 season.

■ Top 25 Roundup

No. 5 Connecticut 89, Coppin State 44

HARTFORD, Conn. — Khalid El-Amin scored 18 points and Souleymane Wane had 10 rebounds and three blocks as the Huskies overpowered the Eagles.

Connecticut's size in the post — 6-foot-11 Wane, Jake Voskuhl and 6-10 Ajou Deng — kept the smaller Eagles off the boards and forced several turnovers inside. The trio combined for 19 boards and four blocks.

Kofi Pointer led the Eagles with 17 points.

No. 14 Syracuse 83, Colgate 49

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Jason Hart scored 18 points and Etan Thomas blocked six shots to set the Orangemen career record in the win over the Red Raiders.

Colgate (2-2), fresh from a 76-59 upset of Canisius, reverted to familiar form against Syracuse (4-0), losing to the Orangemen for the 35th straight time.

Thomas, who had 13 points, has 332 blocks surpassing Roosevelt Bouie's mark of 327.

No. 11 Florida 131, New Hampshire 72

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Mike Miller scored 19 points and the Gators got the lift it needed after a rough trip to Hawaii, setting a school record for points in a victory over the Wildcats.

Florida (4-1) played its second straight game without Brent Wright, who was suspended for showing up for a team meeting with a bad attitude that seemed to pervade the team after a loss to No. 19 Purdue last week in Maui.

Reserve Brett Nelson led New Hampshire (1-3) with 18 points.

No. 10 Temple 69, Florida St 58

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Lynn Greer scored 20 points and the Owls' inside defense smothered the cold-shooting Seminoles.

Sophomore Kevin Lyde recorded eight of Temple's 13 blocked shots as the Owls forced Florida State to the outside and limited the Seminoles to just 29.9 percent shooting.

The Owls (2-1), who led 28-26 at the half, used an 8-0 run to start the second half to take command of the game.

Quincy Wadley and Lamont Barnes each added 13 points for Temple, which shot just 38.5 percent from the field.

Ron Hale led Florida State (2-2) with 21 points and Damous Anderson added 13.

No. 15 Ohio St. 74, Vermont 51

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Michael Redd overcame shooting problems to score nine points in a 17-2 second-half run as the Buckeyes beat the Catamounts.

Redd had hit just six of his first 24 shots from the field in Ohio State's opening loss to Notre Dame and the first half against Vermont.

The Catamounts (0-4) hit seven of its first nine shots of the second half to pull within four, with Tony Orciari scoring 10 of the points in the 18-9 surge.

But then Redd scored the next seven points for the Buckeyes (1-1), starting the streak with a 3-pointer from the left wing.

No. 18 Tennessee 102, South Florida 90

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Tony Harris scored a career-high 29 points, including five 3-pointers, to lead the Volunteers past the Bulls.

After South Florida (0-2) pulled within six points midway through the second half, Tennessee (4-0) only allowed South Florida to hit six more field goals the rest of the game to seal the victory.

Harris hit 8-of-14 shots, including 5-of-10 3-pointers, to lead the Vols. His previous career-high was 25 last season against Arizona.

"Encourage your children to read the newspaper every day. Children need to read every day, and the subject variety offered in the daily newspaper gives each child something informative and interesting to read. Reading is the doorway to knowledge, a basic survival skill necessary for existence in today's world. The knowledge we gain today illuminates all that we will experience in the future. Reading is also the doorway to adventure, enriching us more than any other activity. We can travel to far lands, visit ancient civilizations, become best friends with notable people both living and dead, and understand and influence the world around us simply by being able to read."

Coffee

Coffee futures prices surged on the New York Coffee, Sugar and Cocoa Exchange as the market reacted to continued dry conditions in Brazil's coffee producing regions, further placing the size of that nation's crop in doubt.

Forecasts last week called for rains in the Minas Geris and the Sao Paulo coffee growing regions over the weekend. However, little rain fell in the areas. Forecasts indicates that the regions will remain dry during the week.

This is the rainy season in Brazil, the world's largest coffee producer, however the weather has turned extremely dry, which is unprecedented in recent history, according to analyst Judith Ganes of Merrill Lynch & Co.

There have been reports that losses to Brazil's 2000-01 crop could total 30 to 50 percent of the estimate of 40 million bags as a result. A bag is 132 pounds.

Previous estimates placed the size of the 1999 Colombia coffee crop at 10.6 million bags. It is estimated it will now total 10.1 million bags.

Coffee for March delivery settled 7.65 cents higher at $1.1850 a pound.

Natural gas

The arrival of seasonably cool weather in the eastern United States lifted natural gas prices on the New York Mercantile Exchange.

Unusually warm weather in much of the U.S. in recent days had pushed gas prices lower.

Monday saw the January contract rise as much as 9 cents. However, ideas that the chill may not last trimmed gains.

January natural gas was 2.2 cents higher at $2.352 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Crude oil

Crude oil futures prices fell on the belief that Iraq will accept an extension of the 6-month U.N. oil-for-food deal proposed last week. Iraq stopped shipping oil after it rejected a two-week extension of the program.

The program, imposed after the Gulf War, allows Iraq to sell $5.2 billion worth of oil every six months to buy food, medicine and other humanitarian supplies, as well as to pay reparations stemming from the 1991 Persian Gulf War.

January light sweet crude was 91 cents lower at $25.96 a barrel; December heating oil was 2.71 cents lower at 67.13 a gallon; December unleaded gasoline was 2.29 cents lower at 74.82 cents a gallon.

Dollar mixed

LONDON — The U.S. dollar was mixed against other major currencies in European trading today. The euro hit new all-time low against the U.S. dollar and Japanese yen as it became evident that European, Japanese and U.S. financial officials weren't going to act to influence currency levels in U.S. trade.

Dollar rates in Europe, compared with late Friday, included 101.89 Japanese yen, down from 103.58; 1.5926 Swiss francs, up from 1.5812; 1.4738 Canadian dollars, up from 1.4652.

The British pound was quoted at $1.6009, down from $1.6043.

In midday trading in New York, the dollar bought 102.22 yen, and the pound was worth $1.6032.

Gold down

Gold dealers in London closed at $292.50 bid per troy ounce, down from $296.80 on Friday.

In Zurich the bid price was $292.20, down from $296.62.

Gold was down at $294.65 in Hong Kong.

Local investors to organize bank

By Mella McEwen
Staff Writer

A group of Midlanders is helping organize a new private bank in Las Vegas, and a special event at Midland Country Club is being held from 5:30 to 8 p.m. today to attract local investors to the project.

"I think it's unique to have such a strong group of Midlanders opening a bank in Las Vegas," said Bob Dutton, an investor and one of the hosts of the event.

Rob Robinson, who worked six years as chief operating officer of Midland American Bank, will serve as chief operating officer for Southwest USA Bank when it opens in Las Vegas in early 2000. Board director Charles Tiece was a Midland American Bank founder and director.

Dutton said the fundraising event will be similar to one held recently in Las Vegas because "our goal is to have equal capitalization from Texas and from Nevada. We plan to open a branch in Austin in a couple of years, if this bank is successful."

Other branches could be established in other markets with similar concentrations of wealth, like Santa Fe, N.M., Salt Lake City and Boise, Idaho, he said.

He said the idea for the bank came about because of the wealth and rapid growth in Las Vegas.

"The demographics are incredible," he said. "The number one growth rate among wealthy retirees is in southern Nevada due to the tax climate. There's no state income tax in Nevada and a 10 percent state income tax in California, so when it comes time for them to draw down their huge 401(k) plans, they move across the state line to Nevada."

The goal of the private bank is to offer highly personalized service to professionals, executives, entrepreneurs and their business interests, and select individuals who do not have the time to stand in line at a bank.

"We'll bring the service to them," Dutton said, adding that the bank will also allow online banking.

These individuals, Dutton said, require an extraordinary level of service, innovative technology and a closely knit, long-term, confidential relationship with their financial services provider.

The business plan calls for experienced, professional relationship managers to build strong relationships with clients by focusing on the personal, corporate and investment-oriented needs of the clients and their families.

Peter Kingman, who will serve as chief executive officer of Southwest USA Bank, said he expects an initial capitalization of $10 million.

Applications have been submitted to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., Federal Reserve Bank and State of Nevada Financial Institutions Division. Bank expectations are expected to start early next year, Dutton said.

Chamber gears up for annual winter bash

By Mella McEwen
Staff Writer

The Midland Chamber of Commerce plans to help Midlanders get an early start on Christmas festivities set for downtown Midland Saturday.

The chamber will host its annual "World's Largest Christmas Party" Thursday at the Midland Center from 4 to 7 p.m.

"We don't know if it's the world's largest Christmas party, but we feel sure it's the largest in Midland," said Bruce Partain, director of membership and communications for the chamber.

Tickets to the event, which is open to the public, are $7 in advance, $10 at the door. Those who buy tickets are registered to win a 27-inch color television with stereo sound and picture-in-picture capability.

This year's party will have a Victorian Christmas theme, according to Clawson Pipkin, chairman of the event.

"We decided to do something different," Pipkin said. "We'll have old Victorian-style lampposts around and carolers around them and we may even have an old-style carriage making its way around the room."

Last year's event drew approximately 700 chamber members and guests, and Partain said the hope is that even more will attend this year.

Between 15 to 20 restaurants and caterers will offer samples of their menus, such as Black-Eyed Pea, Cattle Baron, Clear Spring Cafe, Main Event, Susie's South Forty, Ruby Tuesday and Graham's Pharmacy, which will bring its famous fudge.

Bob Haskell, general manager of Clear Springs, said his restaurant will be serving barbecued pork tenderloin and chicken and shrimp gumbo as they participate for the first time.

"It's community involvement," he said. "It's good for the community and some advertising for us, so everyone benefits. We expect it to be a real good time."

Over 100 items have been secured for a silent auction; among them a pair of tickets donated by Southwest Airlines and four decorated Christmas trees.

"We try to get things that are suitable for people to give as Christmas presents and that allow the donors to show off what they are offering for Christmas," Partain said.

"One of the concepts is that people don't have the time or resources for an office Christmas party, so we're doing it for them," he said. "Some companies buy tickets for their employees and bring them, some buy tickets for their customers."

Williams Energy finishes reef gas well

By John Paul Pitts
Oil Editor

Clayton Williams Energy Inc. has completed its second major Cotton Valley pinnacle reef gas well in Robertson County and announced the spudding of a third well.

After treating three intervals of the reef, totaling 596 feet of net pay, the J.C. Fazzino No. 2 is flowing to current plant capacity of 15.7 million cubic feet per day, with a flowing tubing pressure of 9,260 psig on a 16/24 inch-choke.

Officials of Clayton Williams Energy are still evaluating the well and are not saying what the potential or calculated absolute open flow for the well is at this time, but it is assumed the well is prolific.

The company is in the process of building a new $3 million gas plant with the capacity to process 70 million cubic feet per day. When the new plant is completed in April 2000, the company will have the ability to process 85 million cubic feet of natural gas per day.

Clayton Williams Energy owns 100 percent of the well, subject to the payout of certain vendors who financed portions of the well. After vendor obligations, the company will also own 100 percent of a third well (Varisco Estate No. 1) which has been spudded 2500 feet from the J.C. Fazzino No. 2.

Completed earlier this year, the J.C. Fazzino No. 1, which was the discovery well on 100,000 acres owned by Clayton Williams Energy was treated to produce a calculated absolute open flow of 44.3 million cubic feet of gas per day. On May 31, 1999, the well was reported flowing 9.2 MMcfd, on a 13/64 choke, with a flowing tubing pressure of 8,800 psig.

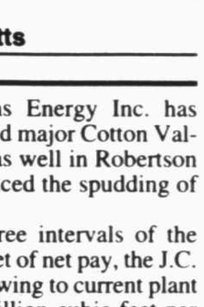
The company has called a Wednesday press conference to discuss the results of the well and future exploration plans for the East Texas reef play.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Use of bonds as alternatives to CDs

By Eric Tyson

Q: My son is trying to convince me to invest in bonds and to not keep so much of my money in my local bank (most of the money is in CDs). I admit that it makes me feel secure that I know the people there and that the FDIC covers my money. But I worry abo ut investing in bonds. What should I do?



Tyson

A: First, please don't overrate the importance of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) insurance that comes with bank accounts. It's true that if your bank fails, your account is insured up to $100,000. Any Treasury bond is issued and backed by the federal government — that same $5 trillion-in-debt organization that stands behind the FDIC. Plenty of other equally safe lending investments pay more.

Just because the federal government stands behind the banking FDIC system doesn't mean that in the event of a bank failure there is a 100 percent certainty you'll be paid back in full or paid back with dollars worth anywhere near what a dollar is worth today. Banks have failed and will continue to fail. Although you're insured for $100,000 in a bank, if the bank crashes, you'll likely wait quite a while to get your money back — and you'll probably settle for less interest than you thought you would get too.

Any investment that involves lending your money to someone else or to some organization carries risk. That includes putting your money into a bank or buying a Treasury bond issued by the federal government. Although I'm not a doomsayer, any student of history knows that governments and civilizations fail.

The attraction of a certificate of deposit (CD) is that you get a higher rate of return than on a bank savings account or money market fund. And unlike a bond, a CD's principal value does not fluctuate. Of course, CDs also give you the peace of mind afforded by the government's FDIC insurance program.

The reason CDs pay higher interest rates than savings accounts is that you're committing to tie up your money for a period of time. The bank pays you 5 percent to 6 percent and then turns around and lends your money to people through credit cards, auto loans and the like and charges the borrower an interest rate of 10-plus percent.

When you tie your money up in a CD, you're making a sacrifice. If you want it back before the CD matures, a hefty penalty (about six months' interest) is shaved from your return. With other lending investments, such as bonds and bond mutual funds, you can access your money without penalty and often at little or no cost.

In addition to penalties for early withdrawal, CDs yield less than a high-quality bond with a comparable maturity (for example, two, five or 10 years). Often, the yield difference is 1 percent or more, especially if you don't shop around and simply buy CDs from your local bank where you keep your checking account.

A final and perhaps fatal flaw of CDs comes from high-tax-bracket investors purchasing them outside of retirement accounts. The interest on CDs is fully taxable at the federal and state levels. Bonds, by contrast, are available in tax-free (federal and/or state) versions.

You can earn higher returns and have better access to your money in bonds than in CDs. And bonds make especially good sense when you're in a higher tax bracket and would benefit from tax-free income on your non-retirement account investments.

CDs make the most sense when you know, for example, that you can invest your money for one year, after which you'll need the money for some purchase you expect to make. Just make sure that you shop around to get the best interest rate. If having the U.S. government insurance gives you peace of mind, take a look at Treasuries, which often pay more interest than available CDs.

Challenger steps up for Railroad Commissioner

By Mella McEwen
Staff Writer

Austin oilman Andy Draughn has announced that he plans to oppose Midland native Michael Williams for Railroad Commissioner in the Republican primary in March.

Draughn is running because "My primary goal is the energy industry is still Texas' driving force and I feel it's vital to the Texas economy. I'm concerned because it provides a lot of Texans with high-paying jobs and health insurance and I want to ensure that remains the case," he said.

Draughn has appointed Midlander Frank Kell Cahoon his treasurer.

Cahoon said he supports Draughn because of his experience as an oil scout, land man and oil investor since graduating from Texas A&M in 1980.

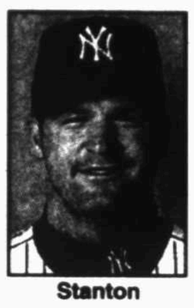
"I feel we've really gone astray in the last few years in not having anyone on the commission with oil experience," Cahoon said. "The commission can play a good role in helping stabilize the oil industry. Though we're all excited about the present price, it's unstable and people are reluctant to drill."

He added that he has known Williams for some time, "and he's a fine individual but, by his own admission, he knows nothing of the oil business. He's an attorney and I think it's critical at this point in the history of the Texas oil business to have someone on the commission with oil experience."

Stanton agrees to $7 million, 3-year deal with N.Y. Yankees

By Josh Dubow
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Now that the New York Yankees have kept one of their key free agent pitchers, their attention turns to re-signing David Cone.



Stanton

Completing a deal that had been in the works for weeks, the Yankees and reliever Mike Stanton agreed Monday to a $7.35 million, three-year contract.

"There were a number of options open to me but this is where I wanted to be," Stanton said. "I've had a great run in New York so far and obviously I didn't think it was over. We got the numbers where we needed to get them and I'm happy to still be in the pinstripes."

The 32-year-old left-hander was 2-2 with a 4.33 ERA in 73 games this season. He is 12-4 with a 4.20 ERA and nine saves since joining the Yankees in December 1996.

Stanton, a former Midland High Bulldog, has won two World Series championships with the Yankees and pitched in the last eight postseasons. He has 1.09 ERA in 33 postseason innings.

"Mike has established himself as one of the most durable and versatile relievers in the game today," Yankees general manager Brian Cashman said. "He has also become, like so many others on this team, a player who thrives and excels in postseason play."

Keeping Stanton addresses part of the Yankees' bullpen needs, but they still have not resolved their biggest offseason question — whether to re-sign David Cone, who went 12-9 last season with a 3.44 ERA and pitched a perfect game.

Cone, who turns 37 on Jan. 2, has a history of arm problems and struggled down the stretch, making the Yankees hesitant to give him a two-year contract. But Cone rebounded in the postseason, going 2-0 with a 1.29 ERA in two starts.

Owner George Steinbrenner met with his front office staff Monday at the team's offices in Tampa, Fla., and the Yankees' brass had lunch at Malio's Steakhouse — the same restaurant where they approved February's deal for Roger Clemens.

The Yankees are said to be mulling a $9.5 million, one-year offer to Cone with a club option for a second year. Cone is holding out for a second year, yet it is uncertain whether any of his other suitors — Cleveland, Boston, Baltimore or the Mets — will offer him that.

If the Yankees can't re-sign Cone, they will turn their attention to free agent left-hander Chuck Finley. Before the July 31 trade deadline, New York had talked about acquiring Finley from Anaheim.

Stanton's preference is to keep Cone.

"I think he would be missed," Stanton said. "It would be difficult to not have him there. Baseball is still a business and at some point ownership has to draw a line. I hope that line will include David. If it doesn't, we will have to go about our business and win again."

Stanton, coming off a $5.5 million, three-year contract, gets $2.4 million in 2000, $2.45 million in 2001 and $2.5 million in 2002, plus the chance to earn more in performance bonuses.

He said he turned down other offers, including from teams who would have made him a closer, to stay in New York.

"There were a lot of things I had to weigh, but none of those things kept me away from wanting to stay in New York," he said.

Phillips to learn fate today

NEW YORK — Richie Phillips finds out Tuesday whether his union has been thrown out by major league umpires.

The National Labor Relations Board is scheduled to announce the result of a month-long mail ballot that asked umpires whether they wanted to keep the Major League Umpires Association, which Phillips has headed since 1978, as their collective bargaining representative.

Following a petition filed by dissident umpires, mostly in the American League, all umpires were asked to chose among Phillips' union, a new union led by the dissidents or neither.

Pete Rose launches Web site petition to end his lifetime ban from baseball

By Ronald Blum
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Pete Rose is launching an Internet petition and may sue baseball to end his lifetime ban.

"You can't keep a guy from making a living," he said Monday in an interview with The Associated Press. "It's not the American way."

Following an investigation of his gambling, baseball's career hits leader agreed in August 1989 to a lifetime ban from the sport. He applied for reinstatement in September 1997 and while commissioner Bud Selig has said several times that he has seen no evidence that would make him change the ban, he hasn't formally responded to Rose.

"If you find in your heart you didn't want to give me reinstatement, just write back and say, 'No,' " Rose said. "I know he has stationery. I know the mail is delivered in Milwaukee."

Rose claimed baseball's lawyers "blackmailed" witnesses against him during its investigation 10 years ago. When pressed for details, he referred comment to his lawyer, Roger Makley, who declined comment when contacted at his Ohio office. Those who led the investigation at the time, Fay Vincent and John Dowd, denied Rose's accusation.

Rose was in New York for Tuesday's launch of sportcut.com., which through Jan. 15 will contain a fan petition calling for Rose's admission to the Hall of Fame. As long as he's banned from baseball for life, Rose is ineligible for the Hall.

"One thing you have to understand is we're not looking for a fight," Rose said. "If that has to be an option, that will be an option. That's a last resort. I don't need it. The game doesn't need it."

While baseball's rules allowed Rose to apply to reinstatement after one year, he's waited eight. He didn't want to apply while Vincent was commissioner — Vincent headed the Rose investigation as deputy to commissioner A. Bartlett Giamatti and hired Dowd, who compiled the report on Rose's gambling.

"Fay Vincent wasn't going to give me a chance," Rose said. "I have no respect for John Dowd. He didn't do an impartial investigation. We're sick and tired of him going on the air and talking about all this evidence he has."

Rose also is angry Dowd put his report on the Internet.

"How much is he making on the Dowd report?" Rose said. "If I died tomorrow, we wouldn't hear about John Dowd again until the day he died."

Dowd said Rose is wrong.

"We did it to educate the public, and we did it solely at the firm's expense," he said. "We never charged anyone a dime."

The document Rose signed says, "Nothing in this agreement shall be deemed either an admission or a denial by Peter Edward Rose of the allegation that he bet on any major league baseball game" but it also says, "Peter Edward Rose acknowledges that the commissioner has a factual basis to impose the penalty provided herein, and hereby accepts the penalty imposed on him by the commissioner and agrees not to challenge that penalty in court or otherwise."

Giamatti said he personally had concluded that Rose bet on the Cincinnati Reds, the team he was managing, to win. Rose repeatedly has denied betting on baseball.

Rose said baseball originally proposed he wait 22 years to apply to reinstatement, then cut it to 11 and then to one — the period specified in the Major League Rules.

Rankin plays Saturday

RANKIN — The Rankin Red Devil football team will play its state quarterfinal football game at 1 p.m. Saturday at Lowrey Field in Lubbock.

Rankin (10-2) will play 12-0 Wheeler.

Johnston makes USA Today team

Midland High guard Blake Johnston was named as one of the players to remember this season by USA Today.

Johnston, a senior, scored 38 points last Saturday for the Bulldogs in their win over El Paso Parkland. He was one of 32 players from Texas mentioned.

USA Today also ranked Duncanville as the 16th best team in the state, and its big man — Brian Boddicker — as one of the top 25 players in the nation.

Tatum scores 10 for Arkansas

HILO, Hawaii — Former Midland High standout Charles Tatum scored 10 points as the Arkansas Razorbacks defeated Santa Clara in the third-place game at the Big Island Invitational.

Rebels to play at home gym

The Midland Lee boys basketball team will play its game tonight versus San Angelo Lake View at the Lee Gym, not Chap Center, as originally scheduled.

The varsity game will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Merritt earns ASC honors

ABILENE — Former Midland High standout Ogonna Merritt was named the American Southwest Conference West Division Player of the Week.

Merritt, a senior, helped McMurry University get off to a 4-0 start, the best start in school history. She was also named the MVP of the Emory University Tournament in Atlanta.

Merritt, a preseason All-American in Women's Division II Basketball News, has led the team in scoring in two of the first four games and is averaging 14 for the season. She also ranks second in the league in steals (5.5) and is third in assists (4.5).

Notes from the Jack Shack

ODESSA — Here are some notes from the most recent road trip of the Odessa Jackalopes Hockey Club.

The team has won a season-high three straight games.

Paul Vincent now leads the franchise in hat tricks (4).

The Jack Pack Booster Club has named Billy Pye as the Jacks Player of the Year. In his two road starts, Pye was 2-0 with a goals against average of 2.00.

Vincent re-aggravated a hip flexor Friday causing him to miss Saturday's game. He is expected to be back in the lineup Friday against Tupelo.

Chris Morque is day to day while Karson Kaebel has been activated from the Injury Reserve list.

Reyes scores Hogan hole-in-one

J.R. Reyes aced the eighth hole of the Roadrunner Course Monday at Hogan Park. The 6-iron from 200 yards was witnessed by John Reyes, Chris Andros, Derek Edmonds and Charles Roberts.

Spending limits imposed by judge on scandal-tainted IBF

By Ronald Smothers
N.Y. Times News Service

NEWARK, N.J. — A federal judge, acting on part of a request by prosecutors that the court take sweeping control of the International Boxing Federation, issued an order Monday barring its indicted leadership from making any individual expenditures in excess of $5,000 without court permission.

In issuing the temporary restraining order against the boxing sanctioning and ranking organization and its founder, Robert W. Lee Sr., Judge John W. Bissell of U.S. District Court said he was concerned about "preservation of the entity's resources for the future" and saw some validity to federal prosecutors' concerns that funds going into the organization in the coming weeks could be misdirected by those under indictment.

He rejected arguments by federation lawyers federation and Lee that the restrictions were an unnecessary move by the federal prosecutors who were illegally and improperly trying to become boxing reformers.

The restrictions on spending were an initial step sought by Robert J. Cleary, the U.S. attorney for New Jersey, in his battle to wrest control of the organization from private hands in what is the first attempt to bring a sporting organization under court supervision. Cleary's office, using the civil provisions of the Racketeering Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act, moved last week to have the court appoint a monitor to take over and reform the IBF less than three weeks after his office obtained a 32-count indictment against Lee and three other top officials of the federation, charging them with bribery, racketeering and money laundering.

Also last week the prosecutors proposed to the court that they appoint Zachary W. Carter, the former U.S. attorney for the Eastern District of New York, who is now in private practice, as the monitor of the sanctioning group with authority to remove the indicted officials and hire new executives, restructure it and reform it.

On Monday, Bissell scheduled Dec. 22 for final legal arguments on the appointment of the monitor. While he did not hint at his leanings, he did telegraph during the hearing that he saw a proper and legal role for federal and court intervention in the sport. "The court perceives a public policy interest in the enhancing of the integrity of an activity as pervasive as boxing and particularly one which plays a big role in interstate commerce," Bissell said.

Lee, 65 of Fanwood, N.J.; his son Robert Lee Jr., 38, of Scotch Plains, N.J., who was liaison to his father; Donald William Brennan, 86, of Warsaw, Va., chairman of the group's ranking committee; and Francisco Fernandez, an international commissioner and South American representative of the group who lives in Colombia, are charged with extracting $338,000 in bribes from fighters and their managers in exchange for moving them up in the rankings and in line for lucrative purses and broadcast proceeds.

Bissell said Monday's order directs the elder Lee and others to carry on the IBF's "normal course of business," but to avoid "extraordinary expenditures," including any payment of legal fees for the officials out of organization funds. Bissell said that the order was not an absolute prohibition and that he would entertain requests for modifications "to minimize the impact on the normal operations" of the IBF.

Gerald Krovatin, the elder Lee's lawyer, called the sweeping civil action by the prosecutors to seek a court takeover of the sports organization overreaching and typical of the way prosecutors try to use the powerful anti-racketeering laws. But Krovatin said that the civil provisions of the law were as "vague and amorphous" as they were sweeping, and he accused prosecutors of trying to use them to "bootstrap" remedies to which they would not be entitled even if Lee were eventually found guilty of the criminal charges.

Joseph Braunreuther, the assistant United States Attorney and chief of the civil division in New Jersey, raised the specter of diversion of funds by noting that the IBF was both a nonprofit organization and a for-profit group in which the elder Lee controlled 62 percent of the shares. While there has been no "looting" of either entity, Braunreuther said, the possibility exists that Lee could "hijack" funds from one organization and place them with another.

In addition to the current federal, civil and criminal proceedings involving the IBF, there is also a state court action in which Lee is seeking to oust three minority shareholders from Oregon of the for-profit IBF, accusing them of bilking the group of $1.5 million over the last seven years. Hearings in that case are scheduled in Essex County Superior Court on Dec. 16,
