Bootlegger Surrenders To Deputy Saturday

A 21-mile, high-speed chase through the southwest portion of Floyd County early Saturday morning ended in the capture of a young Floydada man and the confiscation of 43 cases of beer.

Units from the Floyd County Sheriffs Department and the Floydada and Petersburg Police cornered Carlos Trevino, 22, on a dirt road east of the C.L. Hammond farm after the young man reportedly fled from the Petersburg patrol car and ran a roadblock set up in Floyd County.

Sheriff's deputy Jim Gollihar, who made the arrest, took up the chase after being alerted by the Petersburg police that Trevino was heading for Floyd County with a load of illicit beer.

Deputy Gollihar began pursuing the fleeing auto after Trevino reportedly refused to halt at the roadblock near the intersection of Ralis Highway and Highway 37. Gollihar reached speeds as high as 70 m.p.h. through the dirt backroads before forcing Trevino to stop. The Petersburg police claimed that they clocked the young man at more than 100 m.p.h. at times.

The law officers discovered eight cases of the beer in the car's back seat and more than two dozen in the trunk. The official inventory claimed 43 cases, or more than 900 nine-ounce cans, was siezed.

Trevino pleaded guilty in county court Monday to one charge of transporting alcoholic beverages in a dry area. Judge Choise Smith assessed a $600 fine plus court costs and a 30-day probated jail sentence for the defendant.

At last report, Trevino still faced charges of resisting and evading arrest.

The beer joined more than a hundred other cases in the Sheriff's security room, along with dozens of bottles of liquor.

The beer will be emptied by Boy Scouts, under adult supervision, and the aluminum cans donated to the Scouts for recycling, Gollihar said.

County 4-H Girls Win Blue and Red Ribbons For Clothes Design At Lubbock Show

Two Floyd County 4-H Club members, Libby Williams and Lisa Terrell, won blue ribbons for their clothing projects which they modelled in the 4-H District Dress Revue Friday in Lubbock.

Libby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Williams, placed in the top four in the Junior II (ages 12-14) division at the district revue.

Lisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Terrell, competed in the Junior I (ages 9-11) division.

Both were blue ribbon winners at the district revue, held Friday night in the homemaking department auditorium on the Texas Tech University campus. Libby's project was a two-piece jogging suit. Lisa modelled a skirt, blouse and bolero jacket.

Jill Whitfill, who competed in the Senior division, won a red ribbon for her wool two-piece suit and blouse. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Whitfill.

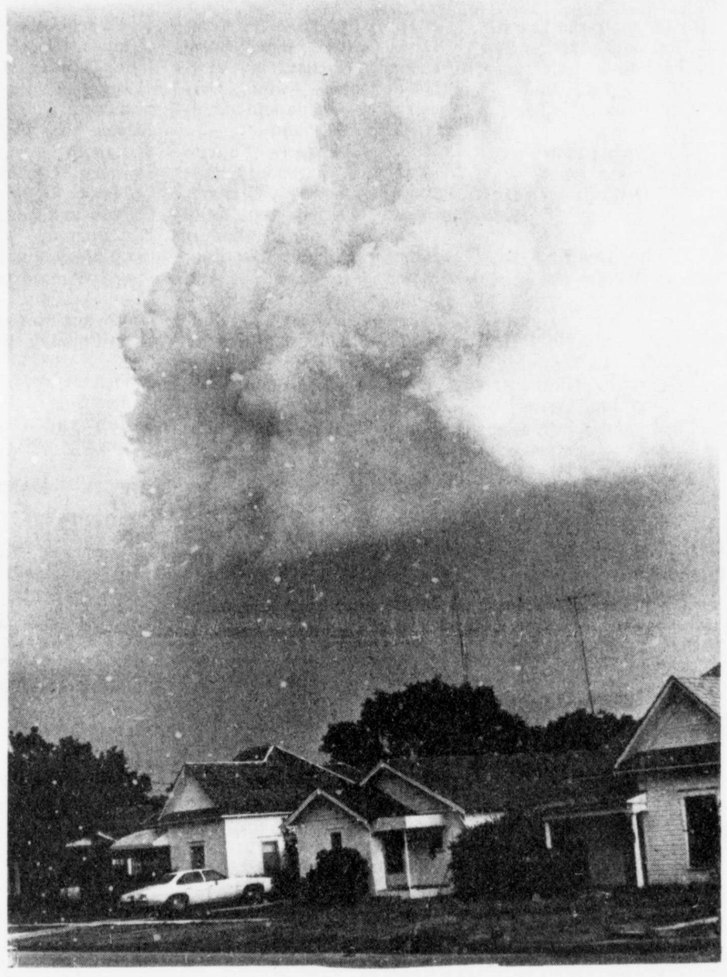

Theme of the district dress revue was "Fashion Fever." The stage setting and music carried out the "disco" theme.

A banquet in the University Center Ballroom preceeded the dress revue.

Test Disappointing To Floydada City Council

...t deal of discussion about ...tion in Floydada, the city ...day evening decided to ...e of a new water well and ...rther study and consider-

...rn, the city water super- ...ressed before the council ...ging news about an old ...t was being tested for ...ability.

...ell, located west of the ...e Ralls Highway, began ...week the prospect of a ...encouraged by the 143 ...nute flow rate. But by ...ing, the flow had dropped ...s per minute and was ...ow even then with the 20 ...nter on the pump. Wel- ...hat the flow capacity could ...drop even further.

The council members had hoped the well would produce 150 gallons per minute, and would have been satisfied if it would sustain 100 gallons, but with the prospect of irrigation wells in the area possibly drying out the underground water available to the city they decided to cap the test well.

The council also discussed possible sites for new drilling. They noted that the price of land was most likely significantly higher than the price paid for the previous purchase in 1967.

City manager Bill Feuerbacher reminded the council that the problem was serious and something must be done soon to ensure drinking water for the city.

"It might necessitate a change in our lifestyle, Feuerbacher said. "The water rates could go as high as $10 plus $2 per thousand and even then be restricted to drinking use only."

The council agreed to look into the possibility of undertaking a feasibility study for Federal grants to help develop the water reserves.

"Twenty five years ago no one even guessed that we'd ever be short of water," commented mayor Parnell Powell. "They just wasted it and they're still wasting it."

PROBATION EXTENSION REJECTED

In other business, the council rejected a proposal passed along from police chief Scott Newton that the probationary period be increased from three to six months.

City manager Feuerbacher reported that Chief Newton considered three months too short a time to thoroughly evaluate a new employee. But the council questioned the advantages of extending the probationary period.

"If you can't tell about a person in three months," councilman Johnny Bill Sue noted, "they've got you fooled anyway."

"I think it would hurt more than it would help," added the mayor.

GARBAGE RATES TO RISE

Businesses can expect to pay a higher rate for garbage pickup in the near future. The council tentatively agreed to raise the sanitation rate to a base of $6.25 for the first four pickups in the month and 95 cents for each pickup thereafter.

The council based their decision on the fact that the city lost approximately $3,000 on sanitation last year.

Feuerbacher is expected to submit a proposed schedule to the next council session.

TURN-ON CHARGE PASSED

The councilmen approved a $15 turn-on charge for delinquent utility customers after working hours and on weekends.

On the advice of Bill Kincaid, the city attorney, the city fathers decided to send final notices to persons who owed money for damaged power cables before filing suit in state district court. Several incidents of farm equipment damaging the cables while being transported across the highways have occurred in the past few years.

BIDS AUTHORIZED

Feuerbacher received authorization from the council to advertise for bids for traffic signs for the city. Mayor Powell noted that the money was approved for the grant and the contract had been signed with the Highway Department. All that was left was to solicit a minimum of three bids and choose one. The signs will be funded by a $5,000 state Traffic Sign Replacement program grant.

FIRE SCHOOL APPROVED

Fire marshall Bobby Welborn and two firemen to be elected by the department personnel will attend the annual fireman's training school at Texas A & M from July 23 to July 27.

The council approved expenses of $325 per day for each of the three to cover rooms, food and the registration fee.

AUDIT RECEIVED

The council also accepted the city audit prepared by Newell Burk, certified public accountant of Floydada.

According to Burke's report, the city very nearly broke even for the year ending March 31, 1979. Revenues and expenditures both hovered around the one-and-one-half-million dollar mark.

Bank Deposits Up For Quarter

Deposits in the First National Bank of Floydada for the second quarter of 1979 passed last year's mark for the same period by approximately 16 percent in what bank president Tom Farris called "one of the best quarters the county ever had."

"The first quarter showed significant increase," Farris said Tuesday, "but it wasn't nearly so great as the second quarter."

The Floydada bank recorded a total of $28,454,493.73 in deposits for the three months ending June 30. That figure is an increase of $3,918,146.43 over the 1978 deposits of $24,505,886.43.

"A primary cause of the increase, we believe, is that the wheat crop was better than anyone expected," Farris said. "Also, it appears that money is being drawn back into Floydada."

Loans for the second quarter also showed a large increase over the 1978 figures. The bank approved $12,608, 592.81 in loans by June 30 of this year, compared with $11,252,610.74 for the same period in 1978. Total loan increase was $1,355,982.07.

Deposits in the First National Bank of Lockney also showed a dramatic rise over last year.

Deposits listed as of June 30 this year in Lockney amounted to $16,907,786.47, the highest figure ever on a reporting date, but not the record for deposits at a single time.

Last year's second quarter stood at $14,158,823.73.

Loans at the Lockney bank remained nearly steady, showing only a slight increase over the second quarter of 1978. Lockney reported a total of $6,648,584.57 in loans last quarter, compared with $6,599,274.42 for the same period in 1978.

NEWS 'N' NOTES
(by Sharon Hillis)

WINDOW WASHING

Schedule window washing as a cleaning priority to rid windows of the last vestiges of winter.

Begin by taking down curtains and draperies. Stand on a sturdy chair or ladder to do this.

Shake out dust from window coverings. Launder or have them dry cleaned if dirty.

Next, dust shades or blinds. Take them down and wash, if necessary. Set aside.

Pick up dirt around the window trim with the crevice tool attachment of the vacuum.

Wash frames and sills with a cloth or sponge and detergent or soap suds. Pipe cleaners, cotton swabs or an old toothbrush help coax dirt from corners.

To wash windows, make a mixture of one tablespoon of ammonia to a quart of water for greasy soil. Use one tablespoon vinegar to a quart of water for windows with hard spots, she continues.

Pour the solution into a clean spray bottle or apply with a clean cloth. Use clean, dry, lintless cloths or paper towels to dry windows.

Or, try a squeegee or windshield wiper. Hold flat against the glass and pull down, Dry the wiper after each stroke.

Use crumpled newspaper to polish the glass.

Avoid washing windows in direct sunlight because the glass dries too quickly and causes streaking. Polish windows up and down on one side and back and forth on the other so missed spots and streaks will wipe away more easily.

OUTDOOR ANTENNAS CAN KILL

"Breaker one-nine" for a warning on CB radio base station antennas — and other home gadgets. They pose a death threat — by electrocution.

1,200 ELECTROCUTED

Almost 1,200 people died from 1975-1977 in the United States from accidental electrocution, says Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Antennas for television and CB radio base stations were the number-one hazard, she adds.

ANTENNAS HIT POWER LINES

Most deaths linked with antennas happened when the device hit an overhead power line as the victim put it up or took it down.

As a result, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission now requires manufacturers and importers to include warning labels — and insulation instructions — with all outdoor television antennas and those for CB base stations.

They must do the same with masts or other devices intended to support these antennas.

HOME GADGETS CAN KILL

Other electrocutions involved hair-care equipment and other devices.

Hair dryers were a major culprit — killing children who dropped a plugged-in hair dryer into a sink full of water or into a bathtub while bathing.

Many appliances can kill when NOT turned on — only PLUGGED IN, Ms. Kerbel warns.

Never leave electrical appliances in the bathroom plugged in, she says.

Even better, do not use electrical appliances in the bathroom.

Industry has agreed to put stronger warnings and more visible markings on hair dryers to caution against their use in or near water.

Still other electric-shock accidents involved drills, saws, other electric power tools, ladders and electric garden equipment, she adds.

The Family-Occasion Cak...

Count the birthdays, anniversaries and "just special" occasions when the family has good reason to celebrate. Then, file this jewel of a pudding cake recipe and rely on it to make each a delicious celebration. What makes this cake so simple to prepare is a package of Jell-O pistachio flavor instant pudding and pie filling right from the cupboard shelf. It's combined with yellow cake mix, eggs, sour cream and a little oil and blended together. Part of the cake batter is blended with raspberry preserves and layered between the top and bottom layers, which are all-pistachio cake batter. Then, a quick zigzag of a knife through the batter produces the ripple design which bakes into the cake. There's no need to fuss with frosting when just a sprinkling of confectioners sugar adds the crowning touch.

Pistachio Raspberry-Ripple Cake

- 1 package (4-serving size) pistachio flavor instant pudding and pie filling
- 1 package (2-layer size) yellow cake mix or pudding-included cake mix
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup (1/2 pt.) sour cream
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1/2 cup raspberry preserves

Combine pudding mix, cake mix, eggs, sour cream and oil in large mixer bowl. Blend; then beat at medium speed of electric mixer for 4 minutes. Blend preserves into 1 cup of the batter. Pour half the pistachio batter into a greased and floured 10-inch fluted tube pan. Spoon raspberry batter into pan, away from sides of pan. Spoon on remaining pistachio batter. Zigzag a knife through batter to marble. Bake at 350° for 50 minutes, or until cake springs back when lightly touched and pull away... Do not ... pan 15 ... from pan ... on rack. ... fectioners ... SHOWER THE BRIDE WITH GOOD WISHES

The bridal shower—an old-fashioned tradition that's still popular with the modern bride. It's a time when friends and family can "shower" the bride with gifts for her new home and good wishes for the future. An at-home shower is fun for all, including the hostess when she serves dishes that are made ahead with no last minute fussing. "Golden Ring" Salad is perfect for a bridal shower—easy to make and serve, and pretty enough to be the centerpiece.

"GOLDEN RING" SALAD

1 can (16 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained (reserve syrup)
1 can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges, drained (reserve syrup)
2 envelopes Knox® Unflavored Gelatine
1 cup boiling water
1/4 cup lime juice

In 5-cup blender, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over reserved syrups; let stand 3 to 4 minutes. Add boiling water and process at low speed until gelatine is completely dissolved, about 2 minutes. Add pineapple, oranges, and lime juice; process at high speed until fruit is pureed, about 2 minutes. Pour into 4-cup ring mold and chill until firm. To serve, unmold onto serving platter; mound your favorite chicken or seafood salad in center. Makes about 8 servings.

Floyd Philosopher

Gets His Mind Off The Energy Shortage By Reporting On Woodpeckers

Editor's note: The Floyd County Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm talks around the energy problem this week.

Dear editor:

When you're surrounded by something like the energy shortage and can't figure out how to talk your way out of it, a sensible scientist or Congressman or columnist will turn his attention to something else.

For example, woodpeckers.

Scientists have been studying woodpeckers and are bewildered by the birds' ability to pound away with machine-gun rapidity at a telephone pole without suffering brain damage.

Using high-speed film they photographed one in action and report his beak hits the wood with an impact speed of 1,300 miles per hour. This, they say, means his head then snaps back with a force 1,000 times the force of gravity. A car, they point out, hitting a brick wall at 35 miles per hour hits with a force of 10 times that of gravity.

How, the scientists wonder, can a woodpecker's head sustain a blow 100 times that of a car smashing into a brick wall without suffering brain damage?

This doesn't bumfuzzle me. Any creature trying to get something to eat by drilling a hole in a telephone pole with its beak already has brain damage. Probably born with it.

Changing the subject, how many kids do you suppose will tell their teachers next fall they were late for school because their bus had to wait in line to get gas?

Have you stopped to think that if the estimated 50 million people owning power lawnmowers would shut them down and let their grass grow, we'd save at least 500 million gallons of gasoline this summer, and produce enough hay to feed 300 thousand cows next winter? I'd accept a few hundred bales if it's delivered.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

KEEPING COOL

Hot Weather Tips

As the expression goes, cool it—especially in the summer—it's better for your health. Here are some hot tips on keeping cool: Drink an ample amount of water, about 8 glasses a day if you work or play in a high temperature. A cool summer diet: fruits, juices, vegetables, only a limited amount of fatty foods, or iced beverages.

* * *

Some people believe that, to cool off in the summer, a hot shower's best. Not true. The body temperature is reduced safely, gradually and for the longest period of time if you take a shower which is not ice cold but somewhere between cold and tepidly luke-warm.

Spearfish, S. Dak., experienced a phenomenal 49° change in temperature in January 1943, when the thermometer rose from minus 4°F to 45°F in two minutes.

Most men like to look cool, but shaving's an unpleasant task when you've got to work up a steam to lather your face. One answer is an electric razor.

QUERY: Questions and Answers about managing your money

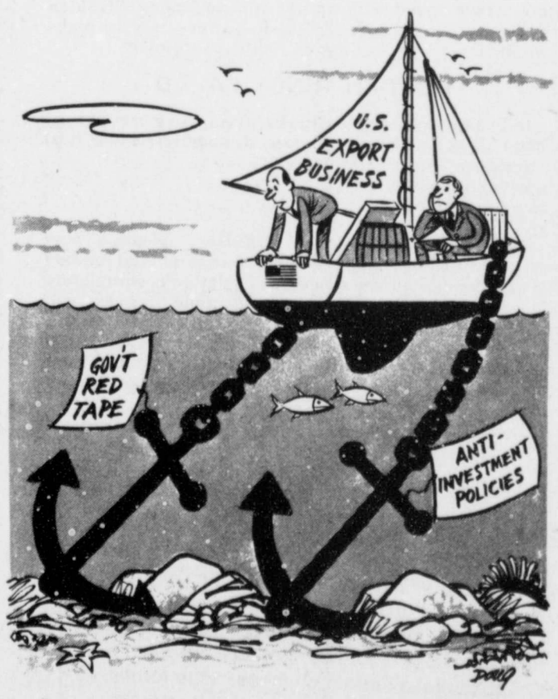

Question: I've given up hope of getting rich quick, but between income taxes and the Tax Reform Act of 1976, is there any way to get rich at all?

Qualified retirement plans offer many people a means of accumulating substantial wealth.

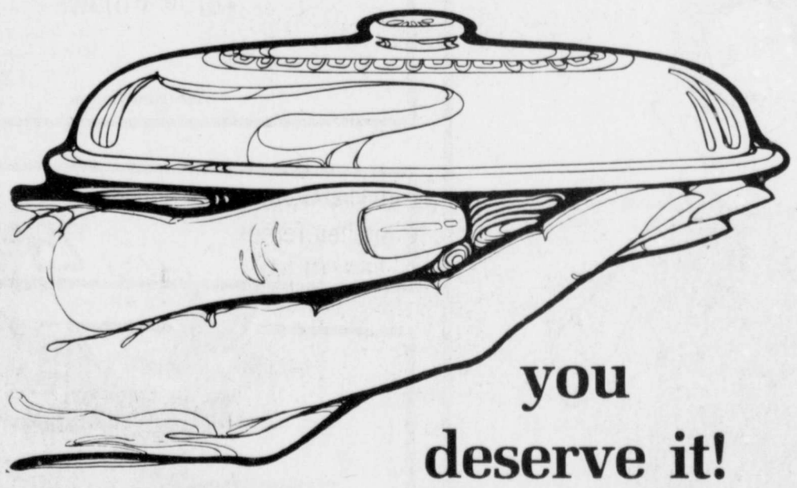

Answer: If, by "getting rich," you mean accumulating wealth, the answer is yes. The American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, points out that qualified retirement plans are still an excellent vehicle. Contributions by an employer to pension or profit-sharing plans are income tax deductible. And the earnings on the funds set aside are income tax free.

Duvall Sisters Qualify For National Playday Finals

Tiffani and Dana Duvall, daughters of Jan and Don Duvall of Aiken, have qualified for the National Playday Finals sponsored by the American Association of Sheriff Posses and Riding Clubs July 25-28 at Bowie.

Each AASP&RC district (there are 21 in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico) may send six persons in each of eight different riding events and nine age classes to the National Finals. Tiffani and Dana will represent the Lubbock Saddle Club of District 2.

Tiffani, a 12-year-old Lockney Junior High School student, was among the top six in all eight events — barrel race, straight away barrels, flags, pylon, poles, baseball race, Flying W, and rings — in her class at the district competition last month in Lubbock. She will compete in the junior girls (age 12 to 14) class at the national finals. This is her second year of AASP&RC Playday competition.

Dana, a seven-year-old who'll be in the second grade next year, qualified for the nationals in the barrels, straight away barrels, poles, and rings, in her very first year of Playday competition. She's in the "Super Pee Wee" class, for boys and girls age eight and under.

Dana's mount in the Playday races is named White Lightnin'. Tiffani usually rides three different horses — Blackjack, Smoke and Ansheran — in the various events. Ansheran won't be available for the nationals this year, however (she'll be home with a new colt), so Tiffani will ride her father Don's horse Widowmaker in the pylon and flag races.

"FAMILY AFFAIR"

The Playday competition is a family affair, with classes for all ages, and Don also qualified for the nationals in all eight events in the senior men's class. His wife Jan isn't in the Playday competition this year, but she has promised the kids she'll start riding again next year.

The other members of the Duvall family — Dodd, 11, and Lauri, 13 — hope to compete in the Playday events next year, too. Dodd is no stranger to competition involving horses — he has competed in rodeo bareback and bull-riding events.

RODEO RIDER

Tiffani is a rodeo rider, too. She won the barrel race event last Saturday in a junior rodeo at Muleshoe and recently turned an 18.04-second time in the barrels at the Bar-None Rodeo at Plainview. She was contesting with older girls at the Bar None, her first professional rodeo, and the 18.04-barrel race at the district Playday was 17.26 seconds, so she has hopes of doing well in the event at Bowie.

TOUGH CLASS

The junior girls' class is one of the largest and one of the toughest, though. The April AASP&RC "Top Times" list shows the junior girls' best time of the year to be 18.12 seconds, only half a second slower than the senior men's best, 17.62. Last year at the national finals, there were 122 contestants in Tiffani's class.

A WALL FULL OF RIBBONS

The Duvall girls have won about 30 trophies, four belt buckles, and a wall full of ribbons so far this year in Playday and similar contests.

Tiffani won the all-around buckle at the Little Rustlers Rodeo in Lockney three years ago, and since then she's taken five more all-around awards. Her ambition is to make it to the national rodeo finals.

New Employees Approved For Floydada Schools

The Floydada Independent School District Board of Trustees in regular session Tuesday evening approved hiring seven new employees and accepted resignations from four former employees.

The newly-hired employees were Bobby Rainer, who will teach music at Andrews Elementary; Mrs. Sherri Riddle, who will teach the kindergarten class at Duncan; Mrs. Amy Hollums, a language arts instructor for the junior high school; Miss Luz Monclova, teaching English at the high school, Miss Rhonda Lyles; Miss Robbie Sparkman, to serve as band director, and Mrs. Nancy Montgomery, a homebound teacher for special education.

Employees leaving the system were Mrs. Joyce McCormick, a fourth grade teacher at Andrews; Mary Jo Gillespie, who taught reading at Duncan; Mrs. Mary Cross, a math teacher at the junior high school and Duncan librarian Mrs. Judy Campbell.

In other business, Harry Radloff appeared before the board to discuss repair and renovation on the different school campuses and to clarify his new responsibilities for the 1979-80 school year.

The board adopted Subchapter E of the School Depository as the method of selecting a bank for district funds. Finance coordinator Leonida Cleveland explained that the district had a choice of methods available this year and opted for the same selection procedure that will be mandatory in 1980.

In final business, the trustees made a preliminary study of the 1979-80 budget.

The trustees accepted a contract with the Education Service Center in Lubbock to provide instructional films to the district.

Also accepted was a commodities contract for district groceries received through the U.S. Department of Human Resources.

The board opened bids for the high school snack bar equipment but decided to defer action on awarding the contract until a later date.

Attending the meeting were board members Travis Jones, Adrain Helms, June Ware, Martha Farris, Weldon Pruitt, superintendent Jerry Cannon, finance coordinator Leonida Cleveland and business manager Tommy Cathey.

County 4-H Camp Halted By Rain

The Floyd County 4-H Camp at Roaring Springs was rained out Monday night, and the campers were forced to cut short what was to have been a two-day camp after only one afternoon at The Springs.

They managed to get in some swimming, volleyball, horseshoe and washer pitching and a barbecue supper before the rains came, but additional recreation and the 4-H Council installation planned for Monday evening and breakfast, more swimming, and an adult leaders' meeting scheduled for Tuesday were either cancelled or postponed. Forty-two Floyd County 4-H Club members and adult leaders attended the abbreviated camp.

Q: I've been living with a man for three years, and we consider ourselves married although we never got a marriage license or had a wedding. If we decide to split up, do we have to go to court and get a divorce?

A: Because a common law marriage is just as valid as a traditional marriage, a divorce is necessary in both types of marriages. Accordingly, any property or children from either type of marriage must be divided between the husband and wife. Furthermore, neither party is free to re-marry until the common law marriage is dissolved. The law defines a common law marriage as one where the partners agree to marry, hold themselves out as being married, and live together. Contrary to popular belief, there is no minimum number of months or years a couple must live together to have a legal common law marriage.

Q: I was married here in Texas a couple of months ago. I want to keep my maiden name as my legal last name for both personal and business reasons. I still use my maiden name at work and I havent changed my name on my driver's license. Is this OK?

A: There is no law requiring a wife to use her husband's last name or any particular name for that matter, so long as she is not attempting to defraud creditors. As far as your driver's license goes, the Texas Constitution prohibits governmental agencies from requiring a woman to use the husband's name on official documents, including a driver's license. However, to make sure that merchants carry accounts in the maiden name, you may need an order from a district judge making the decision official.

Q: Can a finance company look to a man for payment of a debt which his ex-wife agreed to assume in their divorce settlement? Both parties had signed at the time of the loan.

A: When a husband and wife sign a note to a creditor, they are jointly liable to the creditor, regardless of whether they later divorce and assign that community debt to the wife. If a creditor successfully sues the wife for payment, but is unable to collect the judgment, the creditor can then seek a judgment against the former husband.

Q: My wife and I are planning to buy a house that is presently under construction. The builder promised us he'll complete the house in 90 days if we'll sign the purchase contract. How can we protect ourselves and make sure he keeps his promise?

A: A promise for a particular completion date should be included in the written purchase contract. Further protection could be achieved by insisting that a damage clause be included in the contract to provide for alternatives in the event he failed to meet the completion deadline. Your lawyer could draft the damage clause to give you the option of rescinding the contract or of collecting damages for the contractor's breach of promise.

Q: A district court has appointed me guardian of the estate of my brother, who is incompetent to handle his own affairs. Does this give me the authority to place my brother in a private home, rest home, or state institution for his physical care?

A: No. Your appointment as guardian of the estate of an incompetent is limited to management of the incompetent person's property. Commitment to a state mental hospital, a private mental hospital or a state facility for the mentally retarded involves a separate proceeding in the county court. The legal requirements for obaining a commitment order from a county judge vary according to the length of commitment and whether the person is mentally ill or mentally retarded.

Conserving Energy Benefits Ever

This summer your car's gas tank may have something to say about where you'll spend your vacation or weekend get-aways.

Royal-Globe Insurance Companies remind you there are measures you can take to reduce gasoline consumption and at the same time spend less money—up to $60 annually for car fuel. And, there are ways you can reduce energy costs at home, too.

According to the U.S. Department of Energy, if everybody who operates an automobile, 100 million private cars in the United States, and every light trucker conserved just five percent of the gasoline used, the result would be more than 5.5 billion gallons of gasoline a year. That's enough gas savings to drive the average car coast to coast 25 million times.

One of the best ways to increase your car's fuel efficiency is to drive at a moderate speed, usually 35 to 45 miles per hour. On the highways, hold your speed to 55 m.p.h. Most cars get around 18 percent better mileage at 50 m.p.h. than at 65 m.p.h. and 20 percent better mileage at 55 than at 70 m.p.h.

Try to avoid unnecessary accelerating, braking and tailgating. Start and drive at a smooth and steady pace. Anticipate traffic flow 10 to 12 seconds ahead and maintain a two to three-second buffer space between your car and those around you. Note when a car ahead passes a fixed point and count the seconds until you reach the same mark.

If you expect to wait more than 30 seconds, restarting your car instead of idling it will take less gasoline. This is especially useful when waiting in line at a drive-in window. Also driving the car a few miles slowly is more fuel efficient than idling the motor to warm up the car. Now that you've made adjustments in your driving technique, you should consider the importance of the trips you use your car for and decide if you can combine several trips—the grocery store, visiting friends and the post office into one jaunt instead of several. Consider eliminating an unessential trip by car. Use your phone or write a letter instead if possible.

About one-third of all private automobile travel is for commuting. If you share the ride, gas savings should amount to half the usual costs. You may want to consider organizing a vanpool, which is a popular trend these days.

Take public transit whenever you can. If a large group of friends is planning a trip, a chartered bus will probably be a lot more fun and far less worry.

The effect of all the careful driving and planning will be reduced if the car you drive is not properly maintained. Check tire pressures regularly. Mileage can be improved one ... every two ... pressure ... your tires up ...

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Mark White blasted the national energy policy last week, painting a gloomy picture of double-digit inflation and a continued energy crisis.

The crisis brings "economic chaos" at a level of "deeper concerns than Vietnam or Watergate," White told a Young Texas Lawyers convention in San Antonio.

The national policy has a particularly negative impact on the economic vitality of Texas, he told them, and Congress "has not dealt with us (Texas) in an even-handed fashion."

White referred to a series of rulings by the Interstate Commerce Commission which granted increases in coal freight hikes . . . "additional gouges," White called them.

Coal transport rates have risen from less than $8 per ton to more than $18 per ton.

Later this week Governor Bill Clements took advantage of authority given to him by President Jimmy Carter to announce he plans to shift up to five percent of the state's monthly gasoline allocation from low-use rural areas to metropolitan areas.

Clements is considering a plan to require some service stations in big cities to sell gasoline on weekends or not get their share of an additional 40 million gallons of fuel expected to be channeled to the big cities this month.

Kubiak Pushes "Agrihol"

If fuel continues to flow from rural to urbal areas, the slack in tractor fuel tanks may be taken up by alcohol fuels, according to one state legislator.

State Rep. Dan Kubiak told a Capitol news conference Tuesday that Texas farmers will one day have "agrihol" plants on their farms and burn pure grain alcohol in their tractors and farm machinery.

Kubiak also announced he is building a pilot "agrihol" plant in Milam County to demonstrate how farmers can grow their own fuels. Irked by Clements' veto last month of a Texas A&M University alcohol fuel plant, Kubiak went to farmers and engineers in his district for financial backing for the plant.

Clements, meanwhile, submitted to Environmental Protection Agency officials a Texas plan for complying with federal clean air standards.

If it is not accepted, the state could lose millions in federal funds in highway and sewage treatment plant construction grants and face a ban on building new industrial facilities.

The plan calls for Texas to meet the Clean Air Act of 1970 guidelines through additional pollution controls on refineries, chemical and manufacturing plants and automobile emissions.

Demos Favor Convention

While Texas Republicans will hold a presidential primary election next spring, Democrats will probably choose their delegates to the 1980 Democratic National Convention through the convention system.

The overwhelming sentiment of testimony at a Democratic Party Rules Committee hearing in Houston was that the party reject the idea of a binding presidential primary.

Only one of 21 witnesses opted for the primary: Franklin Garcia of San Antonio who said, "Let the people choose. Period."

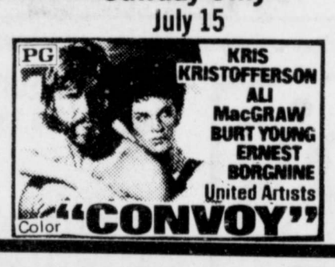

On the eve of the Fourth of July, Republican presidential contender John Connally met in Austin with a group of 200 of the state's most powerful lobbyists.

When the group discovered a news reporter in the adjacent room, Connally's microphone was shut off and the press was effectively left out of the meeting.

Clements has also been entertaining the political movers and shakers lately trying to pay off a ... campaign debt ... his 1978 opp... Attorney Gener... said he will ... to decide whet... Predictions And Projections For Aquifer

Two reports published by the Texas Department of Water Resources predict the depletion of and the possible replenishing of the South Plains Ogallala Aquifer, the major source of ground water in this area, according to a recent South Plains Association of Governments bulletin.

Report 222, an analytical study of the Ogallala Aquifer in Terry County, charted the impact and future course of underground water depletion through the next 44 years and its effect on irrigation water production, the bulletin said.

If present water use and irrigation practices are continued, the report claimed, the aquifer will decline an estimated 44 percent by the year 2,000 and approximately 63 percent twenty years after that.

Report 222 pointed out that during the past 30 years the withdrawal of ground water from the aquifer greatly exceeded the formation's natural recharging abilities, a trend which seriously threatens to end future irrigation. The aquifer, Report 222 said, is literally the lifeblood of the area's agriculture, where nearly 70 percent of the state's irrigated food and fiber is grown.

Report 220, however, described methods and techniques which can artificially aid in recharging the aquifer, primarily with water from playa lakes. Compiled by the U.S. Geological Survey, the report supported such artificial means as being a manageable and significant technique for this area.

Recharge from the lakes would consist of either water-spreading basins which would allow water to infiltrate the aquifer, of injection wells to deposit water directly into the formation.

Both reports are available without charge from the Texas Department of Water Resources, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Tex. 78711.

Inheritance Tax Forms Simplified

AUSTIN — State comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said he has authorized a simple declaration form for certain beneficiaries to use in lieu of an inheritance tax return for estates less than $200,000.

Bullock said the declaration of no tax due from Class A beneficiaries will replace the additional step of filing a more complicated return and having the Comptroller's Office issue a no tax declaration.

A Class A beneficiary is defined as a person most closely related to the deceased person, including the surviving spouse, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. Sons-in-law, daughter-in-law, parents and grandparents of a deceased person are also included in the definition.

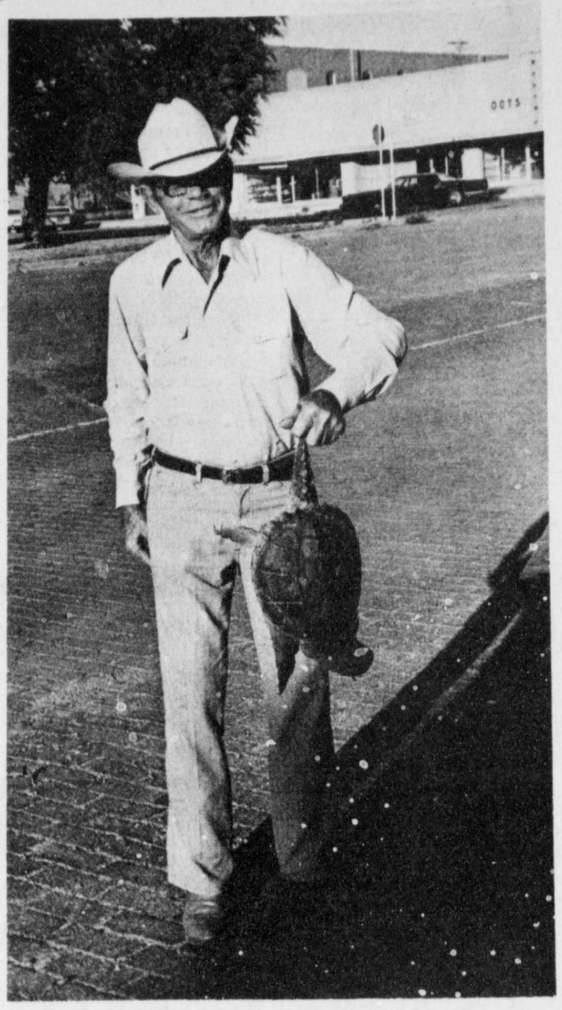

"The new form is an effort to cut down on the amount of paperwork for small estates on which no Texas inheritance taxes are due and make our inheritance tax division a little more efficient and responsive at the same time," Bullock said.

Estates which have a gross value of less than $200,000 are exempt by law from state inheritance taxes for Class A beneficiaries. Beginning, September 1, 1982, this figure will be increased to $250,000, and to $300,000 on September 1, 1985.

Preliminary estimates show that nearly 80 percent of the more than 50,000 inheritance tax returns sent to the Comptroller's Office each year could be handled with the one-page declaration of no tax due.

The new form is being made available in all county courthouses and through Texas attorneys.

It is also available from the Comptroller's Inheritance Tax Division as well as the Comptroller's field offices located throughout the state.

JAWS AND CLAWS — Hillery Polvadore shows off a large snapping turtle he captured Monday while coming into Floydada on the Ralls Highway. DRIVELINE

It Only Hurts When We Laugh Department. Here are some statements filed by dazed motorists in actual car insurance claims:

"My car was legally parked as it backed into the other vehicle."

"The pedestrian had no idea which direction to go, so I ran over him."

"I collided with a stationary truck coming the other way."

"One of my friends refuses to wear his seatbelt because he says he's afraid of being trapped in the car if it catches fire after a wreck or goes off a bridge into some water." —R.A. — Rockport

That's one of the poorest excuses we've ever heard. Statistics show that motorists are five times more likely to be killed if they are thrown out of a car in an accident. As for fires and submersions, seatbelts can help keep you conscious and uninjured so you can escape. It takes only a split second to release the safety belt.

Barroom Bets Department . . . How many miles do Texans drive every year?
Five hundred million? Five billion? Well, it's probably more than you think. The Department of Public Safety estimates there were over 102 billion vehicle miles traveled in Texas in 1978, more than any other state except California.

History Lesson: The first speeding ticket was issued in 1902 to T.H. Shevlin of Minnesota, who was the first of the hot rodders. He was fined ten dollars for going over ten mph.

Read it and Weep! This year America will send $60 billion overseas to buy foreign oil. Over half of all the oil we use goes for transportation. We're petroleum junkies, and we may become the first people in history to drive ourselves to the poorhouse.

Monumental Trivia . . . The world's largest dump truck is the "Terex Titan," made in 1974 by General Motors. It stands 56 feet high and holds 700,000 pounds of dirt . . .

Stenholm Explains House Windfall Tax Vo

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, of the 17th Congressional District, reported that he voted against President Carter's Crude Oil Windfall Profits Tax because the proposed tax was unfair to the royalty owner and the independent producer.

The bill creates complicated new law that will require additional accounting each month, the congressman warned. He said that the land and royalty owners, of which there approximately are 28,000 in the 17th district, would bear a disproportionate burden for paying the tax.

To tax any one specific group in this manner is inconsistent with any basic principle of fairness, Stenholm added.

The independent producer, Stenholm said, drills 90 percent of the wildcat wells and finds 75 percent of the new fields, accounting for more than half of all the oil and gas reserves discovered. During the last five years, he said, they have reinvested more than their total wellhead revenues in exploration. These funds come from private investors and borrowed capital, Stenholm noted.

No investor would put money into a wildcat well, knowing that if a discovery was made part of the revenue would be taxed away, Stenholm continued.

The idea of crude oil price decontrol is to stimulate new production incentives, he said. However, the windfall profits tax counteracts these incentives with respect to the independent producer.

Congress recently voted to use taxpayers' money to develop synthetic fuel, Stenholm said. Why then, under the guise of a windfall profits tax, are we attempting to take revenues from the independent producer who is currently investing such a great amount of search of new asked.

The bill, which House of Rep now goes to Finance Com sideration.

Gas Shortage Causing Poisoning Increase

A "tenfold increase" in the number of reported gasoline poisoning cases across the state seems to be related directly to the gasoline shortage in the area, according to the director of the Texas State Poison Center.

Director Mike Ellis said his department now receives an average of 10 calls a day about gasoline poisioning. "This time last year," he said, "we were only getting one call a day for the same thing."

The increase of siphoning gas from car to lawn mower or to can or to another car is to blame for the rise in gasoline poisonings, Ellis believes. He called the practice "dumb at the very least."

Two primary major problems most often result from gasoline siphoning accidents, according to Ellis. First of all, if a person swallows gas, the effects can be serious, or even deadly.

"Gasoline can go into the stomach," Ellis said. "Once there, it is absorbed and the aromatic hydrocarbons, of which gasoline is made, can sensitize the heart to other compounds such as adrenalin."

"With gasoline in the stomach and the heart sensitized." he explained, "if a person becomes startled or experiences any sudden emotion that causes an adrenaline release, that adrenalin potentially can cause a heart attack. Death could result in as little as four minutes, if the proper remedial methods are not performed."

A second major problem with gasoline siphoning is aspiring it into the lungs.

"If a person coughs or chokes after sucking on the hose, he may have gotten some of the liquid into his windpipe and a set of new and different problems will occur," Ellis said.

Besides being a severe irritant, Ellis said that the oil-based gasoline physically spreads out and coats the inside of the lungs, hindering the transfer of oxygen to the blood. A large percentage of coated lung could mean death in a short time.

"Children are more likely to aspirate petroleum products than adults," Ellis said. He recently watched two 15-month-old girls, in unrelated cases, die of petroleum distillate aspiration. "We put them on respirators," he recalled, "but only about one-third of their normal body oxygen was getting through."

"Once a child ingests a petroleum product," Ellis said, "they're not out of the woods for 18 hours." It takes that long to see what the harshest effects of the dose will be.

That kind of danger to a child's life makes the poison center personnel very cautious. "Sometime it may be that we tend to overtreat," Ellis said, "but we would much rather be safe than sorry."

Suspected gasoline or other petroleum poisioning should be reported to the Poison Center at 1-713-765-1420 immediately.

Postal Service Slates Odd Mail Deadline

U.S. Postal patrons have until July 15 to use up all their odd sized stationery, according to Postmaster Douglas Meriwether.

After that date, mail measuring less than three and one half inches by five inches will not be deliverable and will be returned to the sender. Letters with no return address will be forwarded to the "dead letter office."

First class envelopes measuring more than 6 1/8 inches by 11 1/2 inches will be assessed a seven cent surcharge if they fail to meet the one-ounce minimum. These pieces will be returned to their address of origin and can be remailed after the surcharge is added.

Thin or flimsy cards and folded sheets of paper are also prohibited under the new regulations. After July 15, the cards must be at least seven thousandths (.007) of an inch thick. Folded sheets must be enveloped.

Washington, D.C. — In ancient Greece the messenger of bad news was often beaten and sometimes even killed. In 5000 years of civilization human nature has changed very little and we still often accuse the messenger instead of the culprit.

For many years now energy experts have been telling us that if we continue the current regulatory policy of allowing cheap energy, we will eventually face a large shortage of hydrocarbon fuels. This is what is happening today. We are consuming fossil fuels at a rate that is one million times faster than it took nature to produce them and nothing will change the reality of the shortage — no matter who we blame or how much the issue becomes victim to demagoguery.

The decisions on how to deal with the current shortage now rest with our elected officials. President Carter recently proposed a plan to decontrol oil prices which I support. This proposal will save thousands of marginal wells which only produce 35 barrels a day or less. These wells have been abandoned in past years because they were losing money. Federal pricing policies only allow them to receive $5.86 a barrel while we were paying many times that for foreign oil. This new policy will allow domestic producers to recover billions of barrels of oil that otherwise would not have been retrieved. There will be a small inflationary effect but this will be offset by a reduction in import costs and a strengthening of the dollar. When President Carter announced his decontrol decision it was hailed by most leaders of industrialized countries and confidence in the dollar was increased. Encouraging News About Our Energy Supply

FLIPPING THE SWITCH

Most people's knowledge of electricity is limited—flip a switch, a light goes on.

What's electricity? Converted energy. How's it made? A generator has two main parts: a rotor (a big magnet) and a stator (coils of copper surrounding the rotor). When the rotor rotates, the moving magnetic field produces electricity in the copper wire.

There's more to it than flipping a switch.

What makes the rotor rotate? Fuel (coal, oil, natural gas, uranium) is used to heat water in boilers. Heat changes water to steam which turns the turbine which spins the rotor to generate electricity.

So when you flip the switch, the electricity is delivered to you at nearly the speed of light—186,000 miles a second. You pay for it on a basis of 1,000 kilowatts per hour.

Will it always be thus? According to the Edison Electric Institute, there appears to be an adequate electric supply at least through 1985.

The electric industry keeps building with an eye on the future. From 1978 through 1992, it expects to spend $850 billion for new construction. Electric utilities will be responsible for at least a third, possibly half, of all business financing during the next decade and a half, to expand facilities needed to fuel our nation's economy and provide jobs and consumer products in the years ahead.
