First annual award ever presented by the Chamber to the "Outstanding Mitchell County Farm Ranch Family" of the year went to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anderson, who live northeast of Colorado City.

John Russell, of the Farmers Home Administration here, presented the plaque citing the Anderson family for outstanding achievements in community, civic church and agricultural practices for 1963.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and their four children, Kathy, 16, Woody, 12, Leslie, 9, and Randy, 3, were all praised by Russell for widely varied and comprehensive activities as a farm family.

Lt. Gov. Smith Talks Problems & Progress

"Develop your local economy programs first and then promote invite outsiders to see what you have," said Lt. Gov. Preston Smith in an address to the 1964 Chamber of Commerce banquet crowd of 300 persons, here in Civic House, Tuesday night.

Lt. Gov. Smith chose as his subject "You and Your State Government or Planning for the Future." He spoke to the 55th Annual Chamber banquet capacity crowd after an introduction by Bob Reily, master of ceremonies.

"When you have developed your local potential, then go into a program of advertising," he advised Colorado City's civic leaders. "Let that be the basis for attracting new industry, which is your primary objective.

"Job opportunities need to be increased, but please keep in mind that you should seek to attract industry that fits in with what you have to offer," Smith said as he concluded his three points for progress.

First of his three points was what he called the "actual development of people. You should develop and maintain an attitude of cooperation by all citizens in the area. You should work at all time to new industry should be tempered by cold, economic facts. You should examine your prospects carefully and separate the promoters from the legimiate business people. Incentives should be of mutual benefit.

"Please keep in mind that economically sound businesses backed by economically solvent people are what you need. People who are sincere and sound in their business judgement are just as interested in a successful investment as you are . . . It is also important to remember that sound business, backed by sound people, will have no problem attracting private capital.

"I will do what I can," the lieutenant governor promised, "to help us all realize the objective of building a better Texas for our children, our grandchildren and those yet to come."

Smith's speech began with the customary after-dinner speaker's levity, punctuated with several appropiate jokes. "I especially like to visit with Chamber of Commerce members in our smaller towns and cities throughout our State," he said after his humorous introductory remarks were completed. "I feel that I am associating with the lead-

Wolf-Tiger Battle Winds Up 73-59

Colorado City Wolves lost a heart-breaker here Tuesday night, when Snyder Tigers took a hard-fought battle, 72-59.

Wolves scored the first basket, which Tigers quickly matched, then the C-City boys jumped to the lead, by 6-2. Wolves had Snyder down under by 18-11 when first quarter ended.

First half, the touted Snyder Tigers, tops in District 3-AAA ratings for now, wound up behind the fighting Wolf five by a score of 36-31.

Wolves out-shot the Tigers during all the first half, dropping in 44 percent of their tries from the field to 42 percent for Snyder. C-City team was busy adding to their score points with free throws, too.

Second half saw Snyder boost their basket average to 47 percent. And saw the Wolf change with a lower 22 percent of the tries connecting. Wolf luck for free throws held up, however.

David McKay was leading point-maker for the Wolf team with 18 points, 10 of them for free throws. Freddie Fox was on his heels with 16 points and Ronny Hillhouse came up with 13 points for the Wolves.

High scoremen for Snyder were Jimmy Wilson and Leslie Brown with 16 points each. Jerry Vestal looped 13, Drew Bullard, 12, Billy Stewart, 11.

Snyder's 'B' team took the night's opener by 65 to 37. Snyder took an early lead, developed it to 30 to 17 at half time, and stayed the victors for the rest of the game.

Cotton Just About In Total 38,741 Bales

Newest cotton guesses now stop at "about 39,000 bales" for Mitchell County.

Ginned to date, including China Grove gin totals, have been 38,741 bales. Colorado City gins have processed 11,471; Loraine gins have baled 11,267; Buford, 3,900; Planters at Westbrook, 2,550; China Grove, 6,553.

Customary count of half the China Grove total as produced in Mitchell County, gives county approximately 35,465 bales ginned to date. The crop is now nearly harvested with only 621 bales ginned this week.

Poll Tax Total Lags & One Week to Go

With one week to go, Mitchell County poll tax totals still lag far behind the voting strength potential here.

Montie Hardegree, tax assessor-collector, reported Thursday morning that 1,324 poll tax receipts have been issued, plus 21 exemptions. As of this date, then, only 1,345 citizens in Mitchell County could vote for or against anything or for or against anybody.

Poll tax receipts will be required in Texas this year, Hardegree is reminding citizens as deadline date for paying the poll tax draws near. Deadline date is Friday, Jan. 31.

This year, 1964, will bring National Elections in November. It will bring earlier Primary Elections to choose candidates. It will bring county and district and state and national races, choices and decision to be made by American citizens.

American citizens who live in Mitchell County now have exactly six days to secure the poll tax receipt which assures the right to vote in Texas this year. There will be a deputy in Lions Club building beginning Monday for convenience of Loraine citizens.

Colorado City Jaycees will furnish transportation to the courthouse here for anybody without a way to go down for the business of getting a poll tax receipt.

There is now one week to go and Mitchell County citizens have reached not quite half the number who were issued poll taxes in time to vote in 1960, the last General Election year.

Golden Scepter Of The Bible Explained At Study Club Meet

The Maranatha Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Wayne Shawn Thursday afternoon for another in their series of programs following a theme of "God's Masterpieces."

Mrs. Wilfred Fox presented the program, "The Golden Scepter," based on the life of Esther. In her opening remarks, she defined the scepter as "an ornamental staff, used as the badge of command or sovereignty . . . used by kings in Bible times.

"All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces, do know, that whosoever, whether man or woman, shall come unto the king into the inner court, who is not called, there is one law of his to put him to death, except such to whom the king shall hold out the golden scepter, that he may live," the speaker quoted from the fourth chapter of Esther, to explain the power of the scepter as used by the king.

Mrs. Fox gave a brief background of Esther's life before she became the queen of king Ahasuerus, ruler of the Persian empire. When Esther was orphaned by the death of both parents, her cousin, Mordecai, adopted her and took her to his own home where she was reared in the customs and traditions of the Jewish people.

King Ahasuerus, in the meantime, had rid himself of his former queen, Vashti, who had displeased him by refusing to appear before a large gathering in garments she considered immodest, the speaker related. On the suggestion of his servants, the king then called for all the most beautiful virgins of the land to be brought to him, that he might select a new wife, she continued.

"Then the call came for Esther. Her serious dark eyes expressed the depths of an earnest character. It was she who pleased him above all the others. She was to be his queen," Mrs. Fox said. Then she told of the plot against the king which was overheard by the cousin, Mordecai, who told Esther of the plan that she might warn the king.

Mrs. Fox spoke next of a man called Haman who, having been promoted to a high station in the kingdom, was angered by Mordecai's lack of respect and failure to bow before him. But Mordecai knew him to be an evil man with wicked intentions, she said openly to make her desire known. She told how Haman plotted to turn the king against the Jews so that Mordecai and his people be slain.

Again Mordecai told Esther of impending danger, Mrs. Fox said, and he asked her to go to the king with a plea for their people. "It was a serious request and if the king would not see her it meant death. But it also meant death if she did not go, for she was a Jew and would be slain also," the speaker told her audience.

She then related how Esther went to the king wearing the royal garment, and how upon seeing her, he held out the golden scepter to her that she might come forward. Instead of stating her plea for mercy, she invited the king and Haman to a banquet which had been prepared for them, thus causing Haman to feel proud and pleased that he was making such an impression at court, Mrs. Fox said.

"... on the second night, (of the feast) Esther made known the brutal plot against the Jews. She had been asked openly to make her desire known, and whatever it was it was it would be granted," the speaker said. Then Esther asked the king to spare her life and the lives of all the Jews, and she accused Haman of plotting to kill all of them.

"We will close the curtain over the canvas, for we know how promptly the evil one was justly punished, and that Esther's 'good' kinsman was spared and honored greatly in his stead, and we are told that the Jews whose lives were safe again, had light and gladness and joy and honor, because a brave, beautiful woman spoke up in their behalf," Mrs. Fox concluded.

Leader for the day was Mrs. Hulen Bagwell. Mrs. Newt Miller read scripture from Esther 4:16, followed with prayer. Pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Shawn. Mrs. Fox reported to the club on the November meeting of the County Federation. Mrs. B. D. Bassham was welcomed as a new member of the club.

Guest for the meeting were Mrs. Jim Wood and Mrs. Buster Stevens.

Winner of the Outstanding Member award, Ratliff, has served as president of the Historical Museum Association since its organization here.

Citizens who have watched museum-minded Ratliff work at museum plans, heard him speak for museum expansion and have seen him win approval of city adoption of the Historical Museum here, enthusiastically applauded the awarding of the plaque for outstanding service to Ratliff.

City of Colorado City is expected to arrange for transfer of title and properties in a February mee of City Council. A museum board will be appointed by Council to assist with operational plans. But the museum will become part of the city's recreational program operated with city funds.

ing citizens and the most civic minded people of any given community.

"My feeling is that the judgement and action of these groups lies the solution to many of the problems that may eventually take on state wide significance unless they are solved on a local level," he said.

Three areas of most local concern, Smith said answers to his recent questionaire proved were Water, industrial development, taxes and fiscal responsibility."

"While Chamber of Commerce must take the lead in any progress and development made, it is highly important that representatives from surrounding communities are brought into the picture because solutions are an area effort and must be treated as such," the speaker said.

"Decline of our farm population shift from rural areas to unban areas have created problems that must be solved if we are to maintain a favorable balance in our economy and the location of our people," he went on to say.

"Industrial development in our smaller towns and rural areas seems to be the most obvious answer to providing income necessary to prevent more and more of our people from joining the population shift," Lt. Gov. Smith added. He then gave figures concerning the economy solutions of Houston County.

"To promote industrial development we must first lay the groundwork to solve our water problems. You have done and are doing a great job on this," Smith told his listeners.

Race problem?

Men of conscience feel our nation's problems in their souls. And our souls must be the starting place for our recognition of the inalienable rights of man.

If you live in an area where, because of tradition, acceptance of human dignity for all is undiscovered—seek to discover what your faith says about human dignity, the brotherhood of man.

If you live in an area where greater "freedom" seems apparent—examine the situation in the light of your faith, for the fullest meanings of unselfishness and brotherhood.

You can help overcome the lack of understanding in our land . . . and possibly a chasm in your own heart. Worship this week . . . put your faith to work for a fuller understanding of yourself, for a fuller unity of spirit among all men.

CONVERSATION CORNER

DEAR Hearts and Gentle People Who Live in this Hometown did a bit of celebrating Tuesday, when C City was host to Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Mrs. Smith.

Most of the afternoon, the C. C. Thompson (Charlie and Emmabeth) entertained with a reception honoring the Smiths in the beautifully appointed Thompson Ranch home, near Lake Colorado City.

Tuesday night, 300 C Cians and out-of-town guests showed up in Civic House for one of the most successful Chamber banquets in the town's history, with Lt. Gov. Smith as speaker and that versatile versifier Bob Reily as M. C.

SO it was a case of "up town, down town and in our city's chamber" for more of the citizenry than one little notebook could record.

For the "up town" part, out at the big white colonial Thompson home, there were beautiful flowers, beautiful refreshment table resplendent in gleaming silver and bearing trays of delightful foods, and beautiful ladies in the houseparty.

There was also the beautiful feel of greeting a number of long-time-no-see faces, Harold Bennett and his wife Lois, currently a biggie there from Snyder, for instance.

WHILE we were there feeling very partified in high heels, hat and the "other dress," saw George Womack, our bachelor banker-artist greeting guests at the door.

The Otto Joneses, L. L. Baileys, and the attractive blond S. M. U. coed neice, Diana Taylor of New Jersey . . . Glee and Frances Chesney, Charles and Maxie Lee Root, Mrs. Jas. O. Jarmon . . . Bobbie Steakley (Mrs. H. Jene) and Lela (Mrs. Oscar) Price.

Saw Frank and Frances Deregibus (gorgeous as usual, in red) and Paul and Dorthea Hunter (wearing a pert white coat) who were going when we were coming . . . and the Prudes, Carey and Pat, coming when we were going, if you follow. Pat looked lovely in a rich shade of red with shoes to match.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS at the reception, too, included swapping greetings with the Sam Thompsons, the Elmer Martins, H. I. Bermans, and the Phillip Bermans . . . just home by the way from a six-weeks vacation visit spent in California and in Ft. Worth with sons Melvin and Joe.

Saw Lona Pritchett (Mrs. Travis) and her twin sister Lena Porter . . . Mrs. C. P. Gary, Mrs. E. H. Winn, Mrs. J. A. Sadler Sr. . . . Mrs. Kirk Taylor of Loraine, sporting a crutch for benefit of a broken bone in her foot . . . the Dock Simpsons and the Jess Craddocks . . . Mrs. A. J. Hooks . . . and the Perry Barbers.

BEFORE we leave the scene of the reception let's note here that the biggest party for the season followed by one day an important celebration for two at the Thompson home Monday was the eighth wedding anniversary of Charlie and Emmabeth.

Downtown, Monday, Emmabeth was wearing stars in her blue eyes, carrying two gift-wrapped packages, and admitting that it wasn't a birthday party she was headed for. "It's our wedding anniversary," she smiled.

BANQUET hour, Tuesday night, exhibited again the originality of the BPW club. Their decorative theme for tables, "Taking Stock for Progress," featured Mitchell County industries in miniature, even to the little mirror ake centering speakers' table.

Sitting at the head table were the John Russells, the Chesneys, Bob and Charlene Reily (and what an exceptionally pretty girl she is!). Also the Roots, Don and Jackie Benson, Darris Egger, and the Preston Smiths, of course. Mrs. Smith, wedding bells, is an unusually attractive asset to the lieutenant governor.

FACES in the area near where we sat with what Bob Whipkey always calls "the working preee" were Whipkey, himself in person from the Big Spring Herald, Joe Pouns of Abilene Reporter-News and Abilene photographer Jimmie Parsons . . . [illegible] Standard Times . . . and T. J. Goss.

Saw Judge Austin McCloud and his glorious-looking wife, Mary Anne (Kelley) the Bill Randles, Ross Danielses, R. J. Hoback . . . Roy Davis Coleses . . . Dr. an dMrs. Steakley . . . Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Rhode . . . Rev. and Mrs. Claude Cogswell, here from Eldorado.

BAPW gals also served the dinner. Remember seeing, for instance, Nelda Garrett, Elizabeth K. Jones, Margaret Oyler, Alice Berman, Ida Miles . . . Ida Kirschbaum . . . and Sallie Miller.

. . . R. J. Hoback . . . Roy Davis Coleses . . . Dr. and Mrs. J. Ralph and Mary Lee had as their guest her sister, Ethel Biggerstaff of Childress.

Exchanged hellos with James Hull, Monte Hardegree, the Jim Watsons and the Harold Watsons . . . the J. Ed Richardsons, Anita and Porter Richardson. Porter, by the way, did himself proud in the backdrop for speaker's table, a mural effect centered by a map of beautiful, beautiful Texas. Porter also helped the Dwight Tombs with harmony and rhythm for the dinner music.

LOOKING around between dessert and dissertation, spied Dr. Dave and Emily Bridgford . . . Roy and Lottie Bates . . . Jay and Marian Craddock . . . Bob and Maurine Carver . . . Rev. and Mrs. Rush Barnett . . . Mack and "Acey" Benson . . . Eldon Mahon, here from Ft. Worth . . . the John Mahons here from Loraine . . . Also the Percy Bonds.

Here from Lawton, Okla. were the Max Caddells . . . From Midland, came the Sam Cokers. Mahon, Caddell, and Coker are all former holders of the Jaycee DSA.

Mrs. H. F. Towle was over from Snyder. Ditto the Harold Bennett, State Senator David Ratliff, of Stamford, was here greeting friends. And here from Sweetwater were Temple Dixon and Bill Mathews.

ALL THOSE, and the pleasure, too, of seeing Mrs. Byron Byrne getting her hair and nails done, Tuesday morning, made Tuesday rather special.

Mrs. Byrne, a lovely "lady" in the real sense of the word, was remembering our very first meeting. We decided it was at the old Barcroft Hotel at the very first Pioneer Party we ever attended here in 1936?

WHICH started us to remembering, on our own, the first Chamber banquet we ever attended for purposes of "covering" for the Record. It was in the Junior High gym. The Then Governor, Coke Stevenson, spoke . . . Pat Bullock was master of ceremonies . . . and a group of musicians locally famed as "The Cowhand Band" played spring band music.

Tempus fugit. The year had to be . . . let's see, now . . . 1944! That's a few seasons back even for optimists like your reporter. Your reporter . . . and a man named Jack Benney.

BEAU TELL Department: And too good to keep, hear tell that arm bouquets of red roses for wives of senior Chamber outstanding member and of the Jaycee 'DSA winner at the ed banquet got "switched."

Rumor has it that Don Benson accidentally grabbed off the bigger bouquet for the Jaycee honored ones . . . leaving the smaller bouquet for the Chamber's honored ones.

Not that anybody was less happy . . . unless it was Bob Reily who'd ordered and intended to present, "a big bouquet of roses." And, I'd'n content himself with substituting the Jaycee's somewhat smaller offering.

Oh Well, Roses are red
And is it not true
They make a heart happy
Be it one dozen—or two?

DESSERTS . . .

If you are one of the lucky ones who attended our annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night, then you know how the program moved interestingly, quickly from high point to high point.

And we were reminded again just how fortunate we are for Civic House—with banquet facilities most towns envy.

But those original decorations, the colorful backdrop and the program (it was all over in exactly 1 hour 50 minutes) just didn't happen. Planning, hard work and constant detailing did it and, for this, we owe special hanks to George Womack, the general chairman; the Business & Professional Women, who each year decorate and serve the banquet tables, and Porter Richardson, who designed the backdrop.

Better Training Needed For Our Youth

For a dynamic society such as ours to survive it must be able to maintain its labor force, says Reagan Brown, sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To accomplish this it must replace persons who die or become unable to work, and teach young people to fill a useful place in society, he says.

The United States is doing well in the replacement of personnel, with a rate of 1.8 percent a year, according to Brown. This rate is high for an industrial nation but a significant factor in this picture is the age distribution of these replacements.

The sociologist points out that over half of the increase in the nation's population between 1960 and 1970 will occur among people under 18 years of age or over 65. The number of people between the ages of 35 and 44 will decline slightly as will their proportion to the whole, says Brown. This means there will be more dependents to care for and fewer people of the productive ages to care for them.

In the task of teaching young people to be useful citizens, our nation is not faring so well, explains Brown. Today it is difficult to earn a good living with only an elementary education. Many young boys and girls with limited training, especially those of lower I. Q.'s may never learn to do useful work, he says.

Not only is the young person of low ability being neglected, but the exceptionally gifted youth is not getting proper training either, says Brown. Just as the slow student needs special attention, so does the gifted student.

To be able to produce a new "crop" of useful, well educated people to meet the labor demands of our society we must place greater emphasis on both groups.

Tending To Our Commitments

We Americans often refer to the nations in Asia and Africa as "uncommitted", unmindful that there are many such people in our own midst.

In any local or national election a large percentage of the people stay away from the polls—"uncommitted".

On any question that is up for discussion there are always those people who can be listed—"no opinion".

The Gallop poll indicates that a large percentage of the adult population (over 50% for the past year) were not in attendance in any house of worship in any given week.

Jackie Robinson states his Mother was right when she said, "If you plant a crop and don't cultivate it, nothing grows. That's the way with religion . . . it dries up if you don't tend it."

The coming of a new year serves as a challenge to each of us to get out of the "uncommitted" area and tend to our religion . . . tend to it in a manner that will take our religion with us into our every walk of life and not leave it in the church pew at 12 noon each Sunday.

President Looks To Big Oaks

President Johnson's order that the number of big government limousines used by officials be reduced by about 85 per cent may have raised skeptical eyebrows in some quarters. This will amount to a virtually invisible saving in a $98 billion national budget.

But there is more to this seemingly small matter than that. As one metropolitan newspaper puts it, "... the psychological impact should be good, both on government officials and the taxpayers they are hired to serve. The public may have a little more confidence in the integrity of its federal government if it sees fewer civil servants traveling about like mahdrajahs in chauffeured Cadillacs. And perhaps government employes may have a better understanding of the needs and wishes of the taxpayers, most of whom also are required by the limitations of their personal budgets to ride in austere conveyances."

It was this idea, no doubt, that led to the President's directive. And from such little acorns, may great oaks grow.

Publicity To Encourage Boys

The tragic increase in juvenile delinquency has become a national problem of the utmost importance—and a solution is beset on every hand with complexities and difficulties.

This fact alone gives high significance to Boy Scout Week, which is to be observed during the February 7-13 period. The theme of that week—and it is an apt one—is "Strengthen America—Scouting Can Make The Difference."

A head of the national scout organization says, "The Boy Scouts of America for 54 years has enjoyed success and public acclaim for it's part in the training of American youth in character values, citizenship skills and attitudes, and physical fitness. Over these years we have grown and flourished because each of us involved has had a deep conviction of the worth of Scouing to boys and to America and because we resolved to act upon our convictions."

A wide variety of events and programs will take place during the Week. Beyond these, the hope is that the publicity and notice they create will encourage more and more boys to join their local Boy Scout organization — and, additionally, will lead their elders to do whatever they can to advance the work and the ideals that Scouting stands for. Rarely does a Boy Scout become a delinquent.

TEXAS LEADS NATION

'Medical Self-Help' For Family Training

Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, TEX.—For the past three months, Texas has led the nation in the number of people taking a newly developed, 11-lesson course in "Medical Self-Help."

Prepared by the U. S. Public Heaqn Service, the plan is to train at least one member of each family in emergency do-it-yourself doctoring.

Thousands of Texans have been taught what to do until the doctor comes. But state health officials agree with federal officials that still more need to know what to do in case doctor never gets there. Prime reason of course is case of a disaster or attack.

Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Commissioner of Health, says more than 4,334 Texans have "graduated" in the pilot program of the Medical Self-Help project and others are studying now. He says that instructions complement rather than duplicate existing programs and has been endorsed by the Texas Medical Association.

Information or assistance in setting up a local program may be obtained from the State Health Department in Austin.

HIRING POLICY— State Hospital Board has announced tough new hiring rules. Board has drawn fire due to hiring of a former mental patient as a doctor in the Wichita Falls Hospital and a one time convict as a medical assistant at San Antonio Hospital.

Close checks will be made by a special five-member screening committee into background of all future applicants.

Board tentatively approved an in-service psychiatric training program at four facilities. Also okayed was a contract for a 10-bed psychiatric unit at Beaumont to care for some patients unable to get in the crowded Rusk Hospital.

PATIENT PAYMENTS— Patients in seven state schools for the mentally retarded, four state tuberculosis, eight state hospitals for the mentally ill (including senile persons) and the Houston State Psychiatric Institute paid a bigger share for their care and treatment in December than ever before. A report by the state hospital system shows that patient collections for that month totaled $424,931, bringing the total paid under the patient part-pay program during the past five and a fourth years to more than $20,000,000.

Patients at Houston State Psychiatric Institute paid the highest percapia share—$78.61—for the month of December. Those in Harlingen State Tuberculosis Hospital averaged only $6.42 for the month. Overall average was $17.14.

APPOINTMENTS— J. E. (Dutch) Winters, former Tarrant County first assistant district attorney, is the new judge of Criminal District Court No. 2 in Fort Worth. Gov. John Connally named him to succeed the late Judge Dave McGee.

Connally also appointed William H. Gardner, Houston Post, and Former Gov. Price Daniel, Austin, to the State Library and Historical Commission; and Byron Grady Bronstad of Kilgore, D. L. (Pete) Brooks of Amarillo and James W. Fisher of Brownwood to the State Board of Public Accountancy.

He named Michael A. Myers of Olney as a administrative assistant to his staff.

House Speaker Byron Tunnell named Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake as chairman of a House interim committee on protection and development of soil and water resources.

COURT SPEAK—In upholding the conviction and eight-year prison sentence assessed Billie Sol Estes, the Court of Criminal Appeals announced conclusions of importance to news media, as well as to attorneys and those facing felony trial.

Estes' attorney had complained of television coverage of the trial and contended that widespread newspaper stories on the case kept jurors from being open minded.

Wrote Judge W. A. Morrison:

"The wheels of justice must not stop merely because an accused is such prominence that he and his alleged misdeeds have been publicized throughout the state . . . It is apparent that nothing beneficial to appellant could be accomplished by changing venue countless times."

As to the "controlled" TV coverage, Judge Morrison wrote:

"Under the fact certified, we fail to perceive any injury to the appellant as a result of the telecasting of the proceeding . . . Of the many cases coming to this court, we know of no case where the accused received better or more efficient representation than appellant in the present case."

Same Court declared "constitutional" the Sunday "Blue Law" passed by the 57th Legislature. Court's ruling was in the case of a Henston auto salesman charged with violation of the Sabbath sales Statute.

Under the law a retail merchant may observe either Saturday or Sunday as the Sabbath, but cannot make on both.

Ruling is considered a setback for Spartan discount stores which is appealing a San Antonio court order curtailing its weekend sales in several Texas cties.

Texas Supreme Court threw out the effort of East Texas oilman to have 35 civil penalty suits resulting from slant hole oil investigations tried in their home counties rather than Austin.

CIGARETTE REVENUES

A federal study committee's report linking cigarette smoking to lung cancer and other serious ailments is slowing state tobacco tax revenues little so far, according to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Calvert recalls that an earlier warning caused smoking and revenues to decline for about a month. An increase followed.

Last year's cigarette tax take hit an all time high ... —$80,300,000.

OIL RAISED—Railroad Commission set the highest oil production allowable in 12 months when it put the February allowable at 29 per cent of capacity. It's an estimated increase of 25,249 barrels a day over January.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers

If the birth-death ratio in Jones County might be taken as being typical of the rest of the country, all this you hear about the population explosion is not just so much wind.

Although all records are not in yet—reports from hospitals usually run a week to ten days late—there were more than two and a half times as many births as deaths in the county.

With last entry carrying a Dec. 19 date, there were 467 births as compared with 181 deaths. This, I understand, is about the way it is running elsewhere so it is not hard to see that there is room for concern.

On the other hand, this increase in population will supply the answer to farm surpluses.

Time might very well come when it will be a tremendous challenge to produce enough food to feed this country.

—STAMFORD AMERICAN

The sagging livestock market has been a problem for cattlemen. Cattlemen, through their organizations, have consistently opposed farm programs, particularly when the price of livestock was high and the price of feed crops was depressed. And many of the larger ones were happy to accept lower prices for their animals several years ago, when many of the little cattlemen lost their shirts, thus leaving the field to the big operators.

Livestock organizations have advocated a free market, no interference with "the law of supply and demand," the abolishment of "government interference."

At least two factors are responsible for the present depressed condition of the livestock market.

Major factor is over-production. The livestock producer produced more livestock last year than in any year in history. While the consumer has gained no benefit in lower meat prices over the counter, the income to the grower has nosedived.

Overproduction is the root of the problem.

A secondary factor has been the import of meat from other countries.

Loud cries are now coming from the livestock industry ... and, as usual, much of the blame for the situation is being hurled at Uncle Sam.

This doesn't make sense. When we want no farm program, when we demand no interference from government, when we demand to go it alone, we can only expect dark days. Can't the industry take its own medicine?

And the demand is heard that Uncle Sam do something about the import of meat!

In the first place, that is easier said than done in a free country such as ours. Uncle Sam can't go around telling Armour or Swift that it can't buy corned beef from Argentina. Of course, Congress could pass such a law but it would certainly be revolutionary.

Tariff on such imports could be boosted ... but wait a minute! This is that terrible "government interference" which is so much despised. This is a violation of the law of supply and demand.

Thirdly, it's easier to hurl wild demands that we "stop imports" and take care of our own people than it is to suffer the consequences.

This business of imports and exports is a highly complicated problem. It isn't a one-way street. Every nation on earth is in the business of buying and selling. All would like to sell a little more than they have to buy. Sales mean prosperity for the country. Purchases tend to throttle this prosperity.

We buy corned beef from Argentina ... but there is another side of the coin. We sell other products to Argentina. When we quit buying Argentina's corned beef, she will immediately retaliate by cancelling her purchase of some other commodity from the United States. Thus, we find ourselves in a vicious circle.

Small Farm Also Can Be Inefficient

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flat Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses, of all things, efficiency in his letter this week.

Dear Editor:

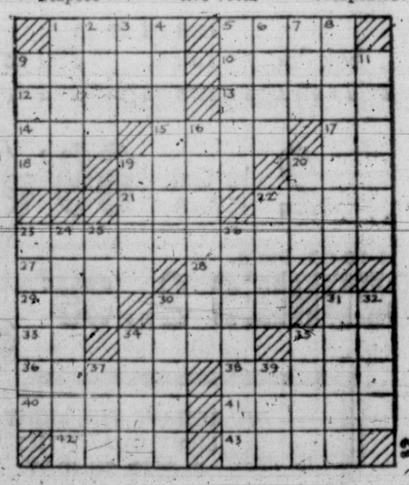

The trend in agriculture toward fewer and fewer farmers and bigger and bigger farms throughout the United States has caused a lot of comment in recent years, and one of the most interesting was one I read in a farm magazine last night.

According to the expert doing the commenting, here is a gray danger in a farm's getting too big.

A farm can get so big it's "inefficient," he said. His point was that as a farmer takes in more and more land,

Answer

YES, YOU DO HAVE A SINUS

Some patients come to me with the complaint, "Doctor, I think I have a sinus."

My first reply to such a statement is to explain to them that we all have sinuses; and what they are probably suffering from is not the presence of a sinus but an inflammation of these tissues, call sinusitis.

We are usually unaware of the sinuses except when they give us trouble and, therefore, are inclined to associate the term "sinus" with a disease rather than as a normal and necessary part of our physical structure.

The sinuses are a group of little "caves" inside the skull connected with the back part of the nose by tiny openings. There are two of them above the eyes called the "frontal" sinuses, one on each side of the nose called the "antrum" (or maxillary sinus); and some more behind and between the eyes.

If your nose is badly stopped up for long, an infection may back up through those tiny openings into the sinuses. They may become inflamed and swollen and even fill with pus which, if not cleared up, can get into the blood stream and cause many other problems just the way abscesses of the teeth can. So if your physician's physical examination doesn't show the trouble he may want to have a specialist examine them. Infected sinuses show up much differently from normal ones on an x-ray film.

In most patients, the administration of antibiotics will clear up a sinus infection. Some cases, however, require that the infection be literally flushed out. In chronic sinusitis (a constant inflammation which causes changes within these delicate membranes) it is often necessary that the patient undergo an operation in order to obtain relief.

MR. & MRS. LEON JENKINS

Reception Fetes 50th Anniversary

A reception in Terrace Room of the Baker Hotel honored the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. Leon Jenkins Sunday afternoon.

Hostesses were the couple's three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Aden, Mrs. Robert C. Quinlan and Mrs. W. R. Walner.

Refreshment table was centered with a large block of ice in which were frozen a miniature bride and groom and gold orchids. At the base of the centerpiece was a garland of gold roses and smilax. The center arrangement was flanked by brass candelabra. Three drapes of braided gold satin ribbon hung from the ceiling over the table. A large wedding bell was fastened to the center drape. Mobiles of white doves were suspended from the other drapes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins were married Jan. 18, 1914, in Colorado City. In addition to their daughters, they have seven and one great grandchildren.

Mr. Jenkins has lived in Colorado City almost all his life, moving here from Tennessee when he was two months old. His father, Jim Jenkins, took him on his first trail drive when he was a boy of nine. He rode the old Chisolm Trail for several years, and later went into business for himself. Jenkins owned and operated a barber shop here for forty-nine years and retired in 1950.

The former cowboy still rides in his spare time and plays a lively fiddle as well. An enthusiastic baseball fan, he played for a number of years.

Mrs. Jenkins, the former Miss Peggie Waller, was born in Indian Territory, now the state of Oklahoma. When a small child, her family moved to Arlington where they lived for a number of years, returning to Durant, Okla., when Mrs. Jenkins was eight years old. Following the death of her father, M. M. Final deadline Saturday for ACT Exams

Saturday is the final deadline for high school seniors here to register for the American College Testing Program (ACT) exams scheduled for Feb. 15. It has been announced by Dr. Alton Lee, Bay for University Registrar, and state coordinator for ACT.

Seniors may obtain test-center information and registration forms from their high school counselor or principal. The February test date is one of four during the school year a student may choose.

The ACT battery is used in admission by 75 colleges in Texas, by 83 per cent of those in this region and by 830 colleges in the U. S.

Results are used by colleges in admission, placement, counseling, granting of scholarships, class sectioning and for other purposes.

ACT compiles scores, high school grades and other predictive data, providing a basis for the student to select a college suited to his education goals. The non-profit agency reports this and other research information to colleges without charge. Scores are also reported to students and high schools.

Ford Wins Motor Trend's "Car of the Year" Award

January 8: Motor Trend magazine's "Car of the Year" Award goes to an engineering breakthrough! It honors all the '64s from Ford "For engineering advancement in the concept of Total Performance, proven in open competition."

Thunderbird, Falcon, Super Torque Ford, Fairlane (reading counterclockwise): winners of Motor Trend's "Car of the Year" Award

Here's what the Motor Trend Award means to you...

The editors of Motor Trend, America's largest general automotive magazine, watched Ford's total performance in open competition . . . saw competition-modified Fords win every 500-mile stock car race in the last year, saw Ford-built engines end an era at Indianapolis and sweep the sports car circuits.

Then they drove the 1964 Fords, Falcons, Fairlanes and Thunderbirds and discovered how the lessons of open competition have helped breed into them a new kind of total performance for the open road, for your kind of driving. And then they made their award!

The "Car of the Year" Award is an impressive testimonial, but see for yourself—take the wheel of a '64 from Ford. These cars speak for themselves with their ease of handling in a supermarket parking lot or their greater stability on a rain-slick blacktop.

Before you buy any new car this year, test-drive total performance in a Solid, Silent Super Torque Ford, now hundreds of pounds more car than anything in its field. Try America's only total performance compact, the Falcon V-8, totally new, totally changed. Or, any of the '64 Cars of the Year from Ford!

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Intersting Women Program Includes Inventor, Composer

Program for the meeting of the 1921 Study Club on Friday afternoon was on the subject of "Interesting Women," and concerned the lives of a woman inventor and a woman composer.

Mrs. R. P. Price told of the life and inventions of Beulah Louise Henry of North Carolina, a descendant of Patrick Henry, the American patriot. She said that Miss Henry is a victim of synesthesia, which is odd, dealing with shape and form. She colors then takes on outline, which the mind fills in and transforms into objects.

the speaker explained, adding, "ever since she was a child, Miss Henry has had this gift of inner vision."

The speaker told that the feminine inventor has 52 active patents to her credit at the U. S. Patent office in Washington. She is also president of three corporations which have been organized to market her inventions.

Among Miss Henry's inventions are an umbrella with detachable cover and handle, a [illegible] with special features which include a detachable cover and a doll called Miss Illusion. Her latest success is a bath sponge which will hold a bar of soap. To market this product, however, Miss Henry had to also invent a machine which would make the necessary incision in the side of the sponge, Mrs. Price told her audience.

The speaker also told how the inventor always had pencil and paper handy to write down any ideas which might come to mind, whether in the middle of the night or on a speaker's platform in front of a large audience.

The other famous woman featured on the study club program was Mme. Mana-Zucca, composer of songs. Mrs. W. B. Martin reported on her life and works which now number 1001 published songs.

Mrs. Martin said that Mme. Mana Zucca, a concert pianist, is the composer of the well known "I Love Life," "Nirvana," "The Big Brown Bear" and other timeless songs, as well as music for the piano, violin, cello, flute and saxophone and for ballets and orchestras. "She is considered one of the most versatile and prolific of modern American composers," Mrs. Martin said.

The speaker related that the woman composer, born in 1891, was a child prodigy who gave her first public recital at age 4, having received her first piano when she was three. Her discoverer was Jacques Danielson, husband of novlist Fannie Hurst, who heard the little girl trying to improvise on a toy piano. He recognized that she had perfect pitch and persuaded her father to buy a piano and give her lessons, Mrs. Martin told club members.

She said that the composer had admitted that she did not like to practice as a child, but that she also said that mothers ought to make their children stick at the piano, as hers did.

In speaking of Mme. Mana-Zucca's method of composing, Mrs. Martin said that she writes primarily in the classical tradition, and that her piano and violin concertos are said to be in the Romantic style. She told that the composer occasionally writes a modern, pigge, but that she regards it as too easy."

Mme. Mana-Zucca is the wife of Irwin M. Cassel, a stock broker, and the mother of one son, Marwin S. Cassel, an attorney in Miami, stated Mrs. Martin, adding that she also has three grandsons.

Club met in the home of Mrs. V. R. Trulock with Mrs. M. J. Dawson as leader. Following the reading of the minutes, Mrs. J. F. Quinney, president-elect, announced the yearbook committee for 1964-65. They are Mrs. J. S. Craddock, Sr.; Mrs. Doyle Hester, Mrs. Leo Lavendera, and Mrs. M. J. Dawson.

Members present were Mmes. Pete Ainsworth, Glenn Penn, Craddock, Dawson, Hester, A. O. Tieckman, Lavendera, P. K. Mackey, Sam L. Mayors Sr., Martin, Price, J. T. Pritchett, Quinney, R. H. Ratliff, W. W. Rhode, Trulock.

Club will meet next with Mrs. Coop on Jan. 31.

Wallace Teams Whip Abilene A & B

Wallace A and B boys swamped Abilene in two games here in the Wallace gym Monday night. The A game ended 91-67 and the B game score was 67-34.

In the A game five Wallace players hit in double figures. Frank Biggers had 31; Oscar Amos 20; Eddy Campbell 14; Jesse Burton 11; and Willie Hill 10. The other pointmakers were Howard Belvin with three and Emerson Henderson two.

Abilene took an early 3-0 lead but held it only temporarily. The Wallace starters of Frank Biggers Oscar Amos, Jesse Burton, Eddy Campbell, and Willie Hill caught up with the visitors, passed them, and coasted easily to victory. Abilene was earlier this season one of the two teams to beat Wallace. The other team was Midland. Their chance for a second win comes up Jan. 30 in the Wallace gym.

Howard Belvin (19), Melvin Williams (17), and Curtis Taylor (12) led the Wallace B's to a runaway 67-34 win over Abilene. Bell John had 11 for the losers.

Plainview plays here Friday night. Wallace travels to Sutton Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harrison and son, David, of Lubbock were guests of the Altis Clemmers Sunday afternoon.

President Carla Britton presided at the regular meeting of the Future Teachers of America Chapter of Loraine High School Monday morning in the FTA Club room.

Following the invocation by Don Small, a panel discussion on college and noncollege attendance was presented by a panel of four teachers, Preston Lightfoot, club sponsor, introduced the panel. Coach Bobby Dodds, Mrs. Joy Dickenson, Pat Newbrough and Mrs. Iris Preston.

Coach Dodds spoke on "Why Finish High School?" and "Will You Be Ready for College?" Mrs. Dickenson discussed "How to get into College and Stay There" and "What to Do to Succeed in College."

"College Costs, Can I Afford College?" and "How to Choose a College" were topics of Newbrough. Mrs. Preston talked about "If you're Not Going to College" and "What Employer Want."

During the business meeting a survey was conducted at the request of the state organization to obtain a true picture of the intentions of members planning to teach, not planning to teach, or undecided. A total of eleven members stated that it was their intention to prepare for a career in teaching. Twenty-three were undecided, and five members do not plan to be teachers.

Charla Hamilton, bake sale chairman, asked each member to take orders for pies and cakes and turn them in to her or Sherry Graham and Carolyn Sue Schroeder this week. Delivery will be made between Jan. 29 and Feb. 1. The bake sale proceeds will be used to further club projects.

Tentative plans were discussed for attending the 15th Annual Texas Future Teachers of America State Convention in Austin Feb. 28-29.

300 SERIES

Chevelle's most economical series—but don't let its gentle price tag fool you. The 300 has all Chevrolet's traditional value and reliability. Full Coil suspension. Body by Fisher. Flush-and-dry rocker panels. Your Chevy dealer will tell you all the rest.

he can give detailed attention to less and less, to where he winds up spread out too far and costs soar and efficiency drops off.

This is probably true, as Mr. Khrushchev is finding out as he tries to farm the entire Soviet Union as one homestead.

Moreover, the expert went on, the same is true of cities. A city can get so big it's no longer efficient.

This is probably true too, but it doesn't cover the entire situation.

I mean, a farmer doesn't have to get big just to be inefficient. You can do it on a little farm the same as you can on a big one. I don't care how big a farmer is, I'll compare my inefficiency with his any day.

Also, a small city can be just as inefficient as a big one. While it's true that some cities in this country have grown so big it's almost impossible to move around in them and you can spend almost as much time getting to work as working, I doubt if the smaller a city is the more efficient it is. There are just as many small cities that can't patch their streets as there are big.

As a matter of fact, I don't know how to explain efficiency. It's like splitting an atom, it's something I've never had any experience with.

Yours faithfully,
