ALL TRADES ARE ENTERED IN ONE GENERAL STRIKE

PREMIER BALDWIN TELLS PARLIAMENT NATION IS THREATENED

LONDON, May 3.—One thousand troops were landed at Liverpool today and proceeded to the famous Aintree race course. They are being held in readiness to move to any part of Lancashire at a moment's notice.

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 3.—Premier Baldwin today told the House of Commons that as a result of the order for a general strike at midnight tonight, the government finds itself challenged by an alternative government.

The Premier declared that the labor leaders ordering the strike were threatening the basis of orderly government and were nearer to proclaiming civil war than Great Britain has been for centuries.

Says Further Talk Wrong

Further talking would be wrong the Premier said, unless the government got immediate and unconditional withdrawal of instructions for the general strike.

He became convinced last night, he asserted, that a fight chairman of the trades union congress, and his colleagues were no longer in control of the situation within their own ranks.

The Premier said that it was no use disguising the facts of the seriousness of the situation with words that cancel the truth.

He did not believe that there had been a thorough consultation with the rank and file of the trades union council before the power of calling a general strike had been put into the hands of a small group chief executives in London. This, he felt, was gross travesty of every Democratic principle.

Says "Freedom In Peril"

"The only light hearts in the country today are those who either enjoy or hate us, because they see the whole of democratic freedom in a course of democratic freedom in a course

Victor Napoleon, 'King Of France', Dies In Brussels

(By The Associated Press)

BRUSSELS, May 3.—Prince Victor Napoleon, 64, Bonapartist pretender to the throne of France, died today. He was stricken at his home last week.

The exact nature of the illness of the prince was not revealed.

With the arrival from Geneva of Prince Louis Napoleon, at the bedside of his brother, Brussels became alive with rumors of what action leaders of the Bonapartists would take in the event of the death of Prince Victor.

Heir Is 12 Years Old

The heir of the house is Victor's son Louis, 12 years old, it is thought his age will preclude his taking an active part in the party's councils.

Prince Louis has military experience as a general in the army of Russia. He has executive capacity and is popular with the French imperialists, many of whom have not yet given up the dreams of a member of the Bonaparte house being recalled to the throne of France.

Belgium is expected shortly to have another pretender to the French throne as a guest. This is the Duke of Guise, who recently succeeded the late Duke of Orleans as royalist claimant of the throne.

Was Napoleon's Cousin

Victor Napoleon was born in Paris in 1862, grandson of King Jerome Bonaparte and cousin of Emperor Napoleon III. He never renounced his claim to the throne of France and in 1886, like the late Duke of Orleans and the Duke of Guise, was banished from the land of his birth. Like the Duke of Orleans, Victor made his home in Belgium.

He married Princess Clementine of Belgium, daughter of the late Leopold II, after a clandestine courtship.

During the World War, like the late Duke of Orleans, Victor offered his services to the French government and they were refused.

HARRY MITCHELL STRUCK DOWN BY LIGHTNING BOLT

WIND, RAIN AND HAIL IN COUNTY SUNDAY HURT MANY SECTIONS

One man is dead and more or less damage was done to crops, fruit and truck patches as the result of an electrical hail and rain storm in Lubbock county early Sunday night. Harry Mitchell, 24, a Lubbock county farmer near Idalou, was killed when he was struck by lightning at his farm home about 3 o'clock p. m., the second victim of lightning in the county during the past two weeks. J. H. Burroughs, prominent farmer of the Carleton community, was killed by lightning Tuesday morning, April 29.

Mr. Mitchell was in the yard looking after his flock of chickens at the time of the bolt, and died almost instantly, according to reports brought here by the ambulance driver of the Rix Undertaking Company, who answered the call to the scene, and brought the body here where it was prepared for burial. The body was shipped today to Cisco, former home of the deceased, where interment will probably be made tomorrow. Mr. Mitchell survived by his wife and one child.

Some Damage Reported.

Some damage to gardens, fruit, and young crops was sustained by farmers in various portions of the county by hail that fell in good quantity in scattered sections, during the storm. This damage will be very little, however, in the opinion of Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station here, as a very small amount of the crop planted to date have come up. The damage will be largely confined to a packing of the soil that will have some effect on seed that will have been planted recently, Mr. Jones said, but as far as could be learned, the fall of hail was in spots.

Rain which followed the hail fell in torrents for more than an hour in Lubbock, flooding the streets and making occasional inroads on stocks of goods and other merchandise stored in basements of the city. The rain covered a wide scope of territory, according to reports reaching here, being heavier to the south and east. Very little fell in the Hale Center and Plainview sections. The fall at Lubbock during the night was .86 of an inch, the weather bureau here reported Monday morning, bringing the total fall since January 1 to nearly eight inches.

A light mist fell here throughout the morning Monday, and low hanging clouds early Monday afternoon indicated that more precipitation was in store. The rain will halt farming operations throughout the county, except possibly to the west near Wolf-farth where very little rain was received. Farmers had planned to begin intensive planting Monday morning, according to farm agent David F. Eaton, who said that planting in most of the county will now be delayed several days more.

Although She Stands By 'Rigid Coolidge Economy', Mrs. Coolidge Is Best Dressed Of First Ladies

Vanishes

By ALLENE SUMNER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Grace Goodhue Coolidge, first lady of the land for nearly three years, is known to social Washington as "the best dressed woman who has ever graced the White House."

But this doesn't mean Mrs. Coolidge has deserted the cause of Coolidge economy. No president's wife within memory spent as little on her wardrobe as does Mrs. Coolidge. She has solved woman's hardest problem—how to spend little, but be well dressed.

And she makes no bones about it. She even chuckles a bit over the consternation she sometimes sees on the faces of high-hat guests when they see her in a made-over gown at a White House reception.

Dislikes Formality

Mrs. Coolidge dislikes formal dress of stiff brocades and glittering stuffs. Hundreds of pictures of her have been taken—but rare indeed is the picture showing her in décolleté.

"The president doesn't like it," says one picture agency.

Besides, the expense! This is an economical administration.

Although Mrs. Coolidge is rarely seen without a string of beads of some sort, she does not wear expensive jewels. In fact, it is said that she owns no diamonds but her simple little engagement ring. But she loves earrings.

She is as conservative in dress as her husband is in politics. No matter what the mode, she wears skirts that reach nearly to her ankles. She seldom pays more than $2 for a pair of hose, although she buys large quantities of them, owning hose in a hundred shades to match various costumes.

Looks For Bargains

When she does her own shopping in one of Washington's specialty shops she is not above picking up a "bargain"—a flower from the tray of those "slightly soiled," a "sample" comb or a string of beads.

An incident at a recent glittering White House reception is illuminating.

The cream of Washington's society was in the line that moved past her. As the gowned and jeweled women walked up to take her hand, a woman less modestly dressed came up. She was a "society tattler"—a woman who has made her living for years by attending Washington's functions and writing articles about them.

Her eyes were busy as she approached Mrs. Coolidge, trying to note every detail of the first lady's costume. Mrs. Coolidge noticed it. Her eyes sparkled. She leaned forward and whispered:

"You can get the description from some old clippings. Miss . . . It's an old one again. Just made over a little bit."

I know this is a true anecdote, for I heard it myself. I was next in line.

Always Genuine

White House attachés who have attended countless receptions in many administrations marvel at Mrs. Coolidge's poise. Always she manages to inject real warmth and sincerity into the hundreds of greetings she must give to strangers.

And she seems to enjoy it, too. She almost grins when she comes down the marble stairway into the Blue Room while the Marine band plays "Hail to the Chief." Some of her intimate friends say she has said: "I rarely go through this act but what I am thinking of the days when my daily promenade consisted of going to market in Northampton with a basket on my arm, while I tried to decide whether to buy steaks or chops for supper."

Another woman, who knew her in the days before she entered the White House, says:

"She has refused to be made miserable by the demands put upon her."

Mrs. Henrietta T. Hargrove, 20, wife of an Elmira (N. Y.) high school teacher, has been seen for four weeks, and relatives fear she has been afflicted by amnesia. This picture shows her as she looked on the day of her disappearance.

FEDERAL JURIST ANSWERS SENATE ON IMPEACHMENT

SOLON HEAR TRIAL FOR FIRST TIME IN MANY YEARS TODAY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3.—For the first time in years, and one of the few times in history, the Senate today transformed itself into a trial court to decide an impeachment case brought by the House of Representatives.

Federal Judge George W. English, of Illinois, accused of "manipulating bankruptcy cases" and "usurping of the authority of the courts," was brought to court and entered a detailed denial of the suit.

The trial will be left in that status for a few days.

To File Rejoinder.

The step will be the filing of a rejoinder by the House. A trial date is yet to be selected.

A "state of civil war" in Southern Illinois in August, 1922, during the shopmen's strike and his efforts to avert "a repetition of the Herrin massacre" were pictured by Judge English without the aid of an attorney's charges of impeachment.

He Denies Charges.

The jurist denied he had been guilty of usurpation of power and other high misdemeanors in office. He declared that even if the allegations set forth in the articles were true, they did not constitute impeachable offenses.

The answer said the judge "discharged his duties as judge of said court honestly, conscientiously, and without partiality and according to law, to the best of his ability."

Final Appeal Is To Go To "Ma" Thursday

FORT WORTH, May 3. (AP)—Final appeal to Governor Ferguson to call a special session for Texas road district bond validation will be made at 2 p. m. Thursday. It was announced today by William T. Wheeler, secretary of the Texas Highway Association.

After this appeal, Wheeler said, all responsibility for failure to call a session would rest on the shoulders of the governor.

VENTURA, Calif., May 3. (AP)—A severe earthquake shock of between ten and fifteen seconds duration was felt here at 5:45 o'clock this morning.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., May 3. (AP)—A light earthquake was felt here at 5:45 this morning. It was not heavy enough to awaken sleepers.

Revolutionists In Nicaragua Active

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 3. (AP)—Liberal revolutionists have captured the town of Bluefields after a fight in which persons were killed and several wounded.

The town was captured early yesterday.

The government is recruiting and it is believed that a strong force soon will attempt to retake the place. Business is normal in Managua, and quiet prevails.

Busses Used To Try To Halt Car Strike

AKRON, Ohio, May 3. (AP)—Every available bus was pressed into service by the International Transit Company to supplement the fifty percent street car service despite the strike of union carmen which began Sunday night.

Non-union men operated the cars and although strikers had pickets at car barns there was no disorder.

Jury Called To Try 3 Accused Bankers

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3. (AP)—A panel of forty petit jurors was summoned by the government today for the trial of cases against Granville M. Smith, and L. C. Smith of this city and M. M. Moss of Llano, Tex., charged with misappropriation of funds of the Commonwealth National Bank here and with conspiracy to violate the national banking act about four years ago.

Whether the taking of testimony would be reached today was problematical.

The government has sixty witnesses and the defense about twenty.

150 Sailors Missing As Result of Wreck

TOKYO, May 3. (AP)—A navy dispatch from a destroyer near the Kurile Islands, the Northeast archipelago of Japan, declare that 150 fishermen and members of the crew of the "Chichibu Maru" a small fishing steamer, which was wrecked on the rocks off Paramushiro early last week, still were missing.

Ninety-nine of those aboard the vessel had been picked up by rescuing steamers.

Flashes Of Life

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Miss Alisa Mellon, heiress daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, is engaged, friends understand, to David K. E. Bruce, son of Senator Bruce of Maryland. Since Mr. Bruce, who has been attending the State Department's foreign service school, expects to leave July 1 for a diplomatic post abroad, perhaps there will be a June wedding.

Slaton Cares Not For WEDNESDAY IS RE-NAMED Calendar's Traditions

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, May 3.—No one up until this time, it seems, has had the audacity to attempt to change the standard calendar as it was adopted by the Romans, but now a change has been made. In this little city it was felt that one day of the calendar had the wrong name; Wednesday is a word of intricate spelling, is far too long, and carries no personality. To remedy this defect which our forefathers have allowed to exist these many centuries, the citizens of this town have solemnly declared that henceforth the middle day in the week shall be called "Slatonday" and all of the calendars in this vicinity have been changed accordingly.

Brownfield Pastor Fills Local Pulpit

Rev. C. E. Ball, pastor of the First Baptist church, Brownfield, preached Sunday morning at the First Baptist church, Lubbock. His sermon was especially in the interest of boys, in observance of National Boy's Week, and one local Boy Scout troop attend in a body. No service was held at the Baptist church in the evening.

PASTORS OBSERVE NATIONAL BOY'S WEEK

Initiating National Boy's Week, pastors of Lubbock held services in the interest of boys Sunday morning and special sections of the church auditoriums were reserved for boys. A mass meeting for parents and boys will be held Wednesday evening at the First Methodist Church, with President J. A. Hill, of Canyon Teachers College, making an address. Pastors stressed the possibilities that youth has today and adjured the boys to accept Christ in their youth and begin working for Him. God has made each person a gift of talent, of genius, or ability of some kind and the best life comes from making use of this gift, while one is young, the pastors said. A man may work for Christ in other ways than in being a preacher or missionary, the boys were told. Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the First Methodist Church, preached on "Wanted—A Boy." Rev. W. P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian Church, preached on "Seeking God in Life's Morning." Rev. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, talked on "A Full Armored Soldier," and Rev. K. I. Ingram, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, talked on a subject of special interest to youth.

Miss Thelma Frazier Weds Monday Morning

Miss Thelma Frazier, a junior student at the high school, and Clarence McGee, of Sweetwater, were married about 10:20 o'clock Monday morning and left immediately for Sweetwater to make their home. Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performed the ceremony at the church, only immediate friends and members of the family were present. Miss Frazier is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Frazier, who live out of Lubbock on the Taboka road. She was a popular member of her class and of a younger social set here. She was popular in Sweetwater, where she lived before coming here. SEVERAL CASES OF CHICKEN pox are reported in the city. None of them are serious.

Menu for the Family

(By Sister Mary) Breakfast—Grapefruit, cereal, thin cream, crisp bran toast, soft cooked eggs, crisp broiled bacon, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Asparagus shortcabs, cottage cheese, whole wheat bread, rhubarb, bread pudding, milk, tea. Dinner—Veal timbales, creamed carrots, head lettuce with Russian dressing, rice soufflé, graham rolls, milk, coffee. The veal timbales are planned to use up some of the "left-over" of the roast suggested in the preceding menu. This is an interesting way to use up veal, chicken or ham. The meats can be used singly or in combination. A creamed vegetable of some sort prevents the meal from being dry, serving as a sauce for the timbales as well as the vegetable of the dinner. Veal Timbales One cup chopped cooked veal, 2 tablespoons soft stale bread crumbs, 1 egg, milk, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 2 eggs, salt and pepper. The bread must be stale for the crumbs but no crust should be used. Melt butter, stir in crumbs and milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add meat, salt and pepper, parsley and eggs slightly beaten. Mix thoroughly and turn into well-buttered individual molds. Fill molds about two-thirds full. Put into a pan of hot water, cover with heavy buttered paper and bake 25 minutes in a hot oven. Remove from molds to a hot platter, garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve. Earthware custard cups can be used perfectly well if no other molds are at hand. The creamed carrots can be poured around the timbales to serve if preferred.

Farm Reverses This has been a most unusual spring in baseball circles aside from the cold weather. In the exhibition games the Boston Braves were the sensation of the Florida Grapefruit while the Phillies had trouble winning a ball game from anybody. With the start of the season, the Phillies immediately broke into the games won column while the Braves suffered repeated reverses. The St. Louis Cardinals after winning 26 straight exhibition games came home to meet the St. Louis Browns in a two-game spring series. The Browns won both contests. With the opening of the regular season the Cardinals resumed their winning ways while the Browns lost five straight. Even the world-champs, the Pittsburgh Pirates, fell a victim to the break spring and instead of immediately going out in front have been trailing from the start. More Variety Speed is once again to become a prominent factor in winning a major league pennant. For five or more years speed has been in the background, due to the live ball, making it foolish to take chances on the bases in the pursuit of one run. Baseball is sure to be more interesting this summer, as there will be a greater variety to the play. The steal will be an important factor. The sacrifice will get a greater play, the bunt as a method of reaching first will be resorted to by fast men, while the hit and run will also continue popular. Incidentally the home run will carry an even greater thrill because it will not be nearly as common a happening. A slower ball will give the pitchers and infielders a chance to cope with these various forms of diamond strategy. Carey's Value Down south when I talked with Rogers Hornsby about the chances of his club, also those he would have to beat to win a pennant, he remarked to me, "The Pirates will miss Max Carey if his illness prevents him from starting. Carey is a remarkable ball player, who does his work in such easy fashion that his greatness is sometimes overlooked. Carey is the balance wheel of the ball club and if for any reason he should not be able to play his usual brilliant game, the Pirates are going to be badly handicapped." It took only a week for the wisdom of Hornsby's speech to be verified, providing what one great ball player means to a club.

Donohue Wins Pete Donohue of Cincinnati had trouble but ended up a victor over the Pittsburgh Pirates, four to three, when Walker registered his fourth hit of the day in the ninth and scored Critz. New York's Giants, supposed to be candidates for high honors in the national, went down before Philadelphia's swarms, 7 to 4, using six pitchers in the failure. Bentley and Leach led the Philadelphia attack. Ken Williams gained his fourth homer of the season in his fourth game over the Detroit Tigers 5 to 6. Cobb Hits Homer Bennett also hit for the circuit for St. Louis and Ty Cobb shot one over the fence. Twenty-eight homers were recorded in this competition, with the Browns having fifteen of them. The Chicago White Sox listed their fourth straight victory over Cleveland, 8 to 2, collecting 18 safeties, three each coming from Mostil, Sheely, Falk and Scott. The Indians found Blankenship dangerous but were unable to match the lead gained by Chicago in the first two innings when six runners dashed across the plate. Washington, after three defeats from the Yankees, beat Philadelphia, 4 to 2, although the Athletics threatened in the eighth. Roger Peckinpaugh, voted the most valuable player to his team in the American League last season, but who erred at critical moments in the world's series, returned to his short stop post for the first time this season and drove out a triple, double and single.

Hubbers Trounce Amarillo Here Sunday 6-0

Sted Allen's "Granddaddy" baseball nine, so named by a sport scribe in Amarillo, evidently is none too ancient despite the jibe, for the club took a very decided victory here Sunday afternoon from the Amarillo Metropolitan. Lefty Middleton's crack crew from the North Plains 6 to 0 in one of the best diamond exhibitions seen here this season. Skipper "Lefty" himself started mound duty for his club, and performed admirably to hold the hard hitting Hubbers to one run until the seventh inning when a hitting spree led by "Boss" Hamilton, of the Tech College Matadors, who was playing short for the Hubbers, changed four men across the rubber to ice the contest. Middleton retired during this session in favor of Thompson, who allowed two hits, one a double by Hamilton to score Goler, who singled ahead

Matadors Leave For Canyon and Clarendon Coach Ewing Y. Freehand, of the Tech College, accompanied by more than a dozen Matador diamond performers, left here Monday morning at 8 o'clock via automobile for Canyon, where this afternoon the Matadors were to meet the Canyon Normal Buffaloes in the first of a two game series. The second game of the series will be played Thursday, weather permitting, after which the Matadors will go on to Clarendon to meet the Bulldogs there Wednesday and Thursday for a pair of games. The Matadors to date this season have won seven games out of ten played for a percentage of .777, one of the games being a tie. Clarendon and Canyon have each taken one game from the Tech crew.

Big League Batters Maul Hurlers In Sunday Games; Jess Barnes Is Only Man To Pitch Steady Fracas

(By The Associated Press) Pitchers, with one exception, found their offerings well received as the fourth week of the major league baseball season opened. The exception was the veteran craver, Jess Barnes of Brooklyn, who granted the Boston Braves seven hits which developed a lone run. Chicago and Cleveland staged the merriest of the slugger's feuds, producing thirty blows, seven of them doubles. Grover Cleveland Alexander was among the sufferers but he managed to down the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 2, when Jim Bottomley erred on his bunt in the ninth. Healthy hitting by Leo Hartnett and Mack Wilson, the latter clubbing a home run, accounted for the Cubs' victory in the late innings. Pete Donohue of Cincinnati had trouble but ended up a victor over the Pittsburgh Pirates, four to three, when Walker registered his fourth hit of the day in the ninth and scored Critz. New York's Giants, supposed to be candidates for high honors in the national, went down before Philadelphia's swarms, 7 to 4, using six pitchers in the failure. Bentley and Leach led the Philadelphia attack. Ken Williams gained his fourth homer of the season in his fourth game over the Detroit Tigers 5 to 6. Cobb Hits Homer Bennett also hit for the circuit for St. Louis and Ty Cobb shot one over the fence. Twenty-eight homers were recorded in this competition, with the Browns having fifteen of them. The Chicago White Sox listed their fourth straight victory over Cleveland, 8 to 2, collecting 18 safeties, three each coming from Mostil, Sheely, Falk and Scott. The Indians found Blankenship dangerous but were unable to match the lead gained by Chicago in the first two innings when six runners dashed across the plate. Washington, after three defeats from the Yankees, beat Philadelphia, 4 to 2, although the Athletics threatened in the eighth. Roger Peckinpaugh, voted the most valuable player to his team in the American League last season, but who erred at critical moments in the world's series, returned to his short stop post for the first time this season and drove out a triple, double and single.

QUAIL AND SAMSON WIN MATCH FROM LOCAL GOLFERS

Chas. Quail and Jimmy Samson, of Post, two of West Texas' best golf players, won an 18-hole match 4 up against Spencer A. Wells and Lee Duggan, of Lubbock on the municipal course here Sunday afternoon in one of the most flashy exhibitions of the Scottish game seen here in many months. Quail and Samson were leading the match at the end of the first nine holes one up, this lead being steadily increased as the match proceeded. Jo Dick Slaughter, pronounced as one of Lubbock's most proficient and consistent players, was to have paired with Wells for the match but was unavoidably kept from the game. Slaughter and Wells recently won in the municipal tournament here when pairings were made for the Quail-Samson match. Quail, who is among the first flight players in the state is considered as one of the most consistent drivers in West Texas, and he was considerably handicapped during the match by the shortness of the course. Quail drives consistently at 325 to 350 yards, and as there is only one hole on the municipal course that is longer than this, Quail resorted to his wood club only once. This was on No. 2, 425 yards. Quail drove within approximately 60 yards of the green. Samson, Scotchman by birth, is undoubtedly one of the most consistent players with an iron in this section of the state. His iron shots are exceptionally accurate, and his distance is remarkable, especially to West Texas golfers. Medal score on the match was not kept, but this was admitted to be very low due to the condition of the greens which have not yet been brought to the standard required in professional performance. More trouble was encountered by each of the foursome on this score than any other, each time and again losing a short distance putt that should have been sunk without trouble. Six or eight players from Post accompanied Quail and Samson as onlookers, and a good gallery was present with the foursome throughout the match. The gallery, however, was termed by the performers as exceptionally noisy. The match was arranged through officials of the Municipal golf association, who expect later in the season to bring others of this nature for the benefit of lovers of the game.

Coolidge Is Given Blame For Tariff Commission's Fuss

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—President Coolidge again was blamed today for friction in the tariff commission. Commissioner Costigan, concluding his testimony before the Senate tariff investigating committee, declared the trouble in the commission was directly traceable to the White House and was due to the reticence of the President and a majority of the commission to deal judicially with the flexible tariff.

If the President had not interfered, he said, but had adhered to the policy of the flexible tariff and appointed sympathetic commissioners, the benefit to the country could not be estimated. "Powerful forces are attempting to destroy the commission and it would be better to destroy the whole commission rather than let its graduation continue," he said. "Under President Coolidge this highly significant experiment, demanded by the people, has been almost destroyed. Politics should be taken out of the tariff and the tariff should be taken out of politics."

Farm Relief Goes On In Senate But No Bills Passed

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—While awaiting House consideration next week of farm relief legislation, Senators from the agricultural states continue their conferences today in an effort to agree upon a measure designed to command the support of a majority in the Senate. Those favoring the corn belt plan as written into the Haugen bill, pending in the House, called in a number of Senators to whom spokesmen for farm organizations explained the principal use of their proposals.

At the same time Democratic Senators from the cotton states initiated a series of conferences with a view to reaching an agreement on the fundamentals of farm relief on which they might go along with Senators from the wheat and corn belts. The chief stumbling block to a general agreement on the Haugen bill appears to be the provision for levying an equalization fee on basic farm products. Some Senators hold that this provision is unconstitutional and inadvisable, but other support it as a real method of solving the problem of crop surplus and price fluctuation.

ENGINEERS LOOK OVER PLANS FOR ELECTRIC POWER

PERMITS ISSUED FOR FIVE DAMS; ANOTHER MAY BE GRANTED

(By the Associated Press) AUSTIN, May 2.—After granting the hydroelectric power company of Dallas permits to construct five large hydro-electric power dams on the Colorado River, the State Board of Water Engineers today took under advisement the application for a sixth dam. Three of the dams will be built in Burbot and two in Travis County. Work must be started on two of the dams within two years of issuance of permits, and completed within five years, while one of the other three work must start within two years, but the company is allowed seven years on two and nine years on the other for completion. This is a red letter day in the history of the development of Texas water resources. John C. Norris, chairman of the Board of Water Engineers, told the Associated Press. "The dam behind this project have vision and abundant capital. The dams will cost between 15 and 20 million dollars. "But this project, big as it is, is only the beginning of utilization of the potentialities of Texas streams. Before long the people of the state will be receiving large dividends from the executive appropriations for surveying Texas water resources."

SOCIALISTS PUT WORLD COURT ON TABLE

(By the Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, May 2.—Resolutions dealing with the World Court and the League of Nations were tabled until the next convention by the Socialist Party of America at its national meeting here today. The resolutions were laid aside to permit members to study further the issues. The resolutions declared that "whether the U. S. joins the World Court and the League of Nations at this time are of no immediate concern of the working class of United States." During the debate that preceded the action on the League of Nations issue, Morris Hillquit, Socialist attorney of New York, defended the League against attacks that it would strengthen the power of "capitalists" and "imperialism," while Charles L. Berenson, of Wisconsin, asserted that there was more militarism and more men under arms today than ever before. Another resolution approved denounced "the continued attempt of our government to bully the government of Mexico," and affirmed the party's belief that "the Mexican people have a right to control their own natural resources in the way they see fit."

Donald B. MacMillan To Search Northland In Attempt To Prove Vikings Landed Before Columbus

CHICAGO, May 2.—A thousand years ago, when this continent was hidden in darkness and the roads of the ocean led mostly to an unknown death in the shadow of great waves, certain low, black ships with early painted sails crept westward from northern Europe to see what lay beyond the mysterious sun-set rim of the Atlantic. Just what happened to these hardy voyagers is not definitely known. It is believed, however, that they reached North America and established colonies there. And now a twentieth century American, Donald B. MacMillan, is going north to find out. Within the coming year he expects to have definite proof that the Norsemen discovered and settled North America nearly 500 years before Columbus. For Field Museum MacMillan leaves Wisconsin, Me., in his schooner Bowdoin on June 19. He is making his trip under the auspices of the Field Museum here, with Frederick Rawson, Chicago millionaire, financing it. "Our operations will carry us to a point about 70 degrees north latitude," MacMillan says. "This will bring us about 300 miles beyond the arctic circle. For three months we will work in and about Labrador, Baffin Island, South Greenland and Ellesmere Island." It is in this territory that MacMillan expects to find proof of early Norse settlers. Particularly is this true of Labrador. The old Norse sagas tell of a land beyond the ocean that was colonized

Few Girls Taking Agriculture At Tech College Here

CANYON, Texas, May 2.—Prof. R. C. Mowrey stated while at the stock judging contest that there were between forty and fifty students enrolled in the agricultural department at the Tech. At present there are about sixty college students and between thirty and forty high school students enrolled in the agricultural department of this institution. A small percentage of these students are girls. Last Saturday Miss Lillian Richardson, a teacher in the Lubbock public schools was a visitor in Canyon and stated that she has been advised by members of the A. & M. college extension force to come to this institution and do work in the agricultural and home economics departments for the purpose of preparing for county and home demonstration work. She stated that she had been advised that every girl recommended by this institution had made good.

PONZI GOES TO WORK

One year of hard labor in the state penitentiary is the bitter mood laid out to dapper Charles Ponzi, famous Get Rich Quickster.

And penitentiary hard labor means battling with rocks, toiling by the sweat of one's brow with the smart of raw and broken hands.

It does not mean that sort of "hard labor" which a Ponzi knows - that kind of hard labor which uncannily pays into human follies, finds the weak spots and sells it glads!

Ponzi and all other Get Rich Quicksters find prison "hard labor" more gruelling than the thug who has made his living by bending his back to the steel of massive safes.

A good dose of such punishment may make the Ponzis more able to divert this insight into human psychology to more laudable channels.

The change in the political alignment of E. L. Doherty of oil scandal fame is of interest chiefly because of the potential power he has to contribute yet more to the republican chest.

HELLO, EUROPE

Radio-Telephonic conversations between persons separated by thousands of miles is now a practical and common feat.

And one might predict, the same spirit which will greet television and broadcasting power by radio.

A few years hence it may be commonplace. A mountain of work separates our scientists from final success, but, then, a mountain always appears larger from the bottom than from the top.

THE PROPER THING

His son having renounced the Jewish faith, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise comments as follows:

"It was the only decent and honorable thing for him to do. When a man, above all in the ministry, finds he cannot affirm the elementary items of his creed, there is nothing for him to do save, after mature deliberation, to withdraw."

Here is pretty good advice for some of the Christian ministers who are unable to accept the fundamental tenets of their faith.

If they cannot agree with their own creed, they should withdraw - as young Wise did from his faith. Too many of them insist on staying in and trying to destroy the faith and rebuild it to suit their own notions.

A Game Two Can Play At

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. - The general impression in Washington is that President Coolidge means to be renominated in 1936.

If, however, by any chance he changes his mind, it is said Secretary of Commerce Hoover is his choice.

The essential point is that Coolidge thinks well enough of his commerce secretary to believe he'd make the best president he knows of, next to himself.

That the President depends more on Hoover than any other member of his cabinet, with the single exception of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in the latter's own particular department, isn't much of a secret.

This is speaking, of course, of official relationships. Personally the chief executive doubtless is more intimate with Attorney General Sargent.

Hoover's department is near the foot of the list in formal order of cabinet seniority, ranking only the Department of Labor, but actually, the California has succeeded in making it the most important of all in many ways.

Barring the portfolio of justice, for which he lacks the legal training, and of the treasury, so long as it remains in Mellon's hands, Hoover could have had any other place in the President's official family long ago, had he wished.

Indeed at various times the President has wanted to transfer him, but Hoover preferred not.

The more kindness you radiate the more you'll retain.

A good time is expensive, real pleasure is cheap.

Looking on the bright side of things doesn't get a man nearly so much as digging in.

Too many people confuse "lights" with "life."

It often happens that a man's "fool streak" is the only agreeable thing about him.

Diamonds are beautiful things, but an intellect that sparkles with wit and kindness is vastly more attractive.

It takes a strong character to go right ahead doing what he regards as his duty without the stimulus of praise or the opposition of criticism.

When everybody else appears to be happy, the optimist has the blues.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY The story centers around HARRY MORTON (rich, unmarried, middle-aged, much pursued by women); AUDREY, his adopted daughter (who is in love with him); NONA, a Chicago stage girl (who also loves Morton); and JOHN PARRISH, Morton's secretary (who loves Audrey, and is encouraged by Morton).

Audrey's rehearsals with Nona went on, day after day. The work became longer and more arduous, as she became hardened to it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.) CHAPTER XXXI Audrey's soprano voice, to the accompaniment of the organ, was telling an aria from the operatic score that lay open before her.

Audrey's soprano voice, to the accompaniment of the organ, was telling an aria from the operatic score that lay open before her.

"I think it is my private affair, whether I want to marry Miss Morton or not," he said, coldly.

"Don't be a brute," said Nona, impatiently. "Morton knows, and Audrey knows, and I know, that you are in love with her."

"Does she know it?" he exclaimed, with deepening interest.

Nona shrugged her shoulders. "The mat would know it-if there were a rat around here. Do you suppose we are all deaf and blind."

The severe lines in his face had smoothed out, and he was smiling a little.

"Don't sinner like that!" Nona commanded. "You look too simple for words!"

His smile vanished, and he frowned again.

"I'm not going to be insulted by a woman like you," he said. He started to move away.

"She took him by the coat-sleeve. 'I'll swallow that-for the moment,' she murmured, her face flushed, 'but I'm going to tell you what I started out to tell.'"

The music at the other end of the room stopped, and Nona and Parrish applauded.

"Please sing something else," called Nona.

Audrey assented, and Morton, at the keyboard, began the prelude to another song.

"You don't know anything about women at all," Nona continued, to Audrey.

"I'm a woman, and I do know. I think you're a poor specimen, but I'm willing to help you, for reasons of my own."

"But," objected Parrish, "I Miss Morton knows I love her, I don't see how I need any help."

"You don't!" Her tone was scornful. "I suppose that she has fallen into your arms, huh?"

His face fell.

"Of course not," he confessed, "but nice girls don't do things like that."

"The devil they don't!" was her brisk retort. "Nice girls and un-nice girls are just about alike, when they are in love with a man. The trouble, isn't even interested in you. And what's more, you don't know how to make her interested."

He drew a design upon the windowpane with his forefinger.

"Well, what am I to do," he asked, at length.

"I can't give you a course in love-making here," she said. "But you'll have to take me home."

"I'm interested in you. He made an involuntary movement. "Yes, you will-you'll have to, as a gentleman, wear your gentleness. I'll tell you what I'm thinking about, then."

When Parrish and Nona had gone, late that evening, Audrey perched herself on the arm of Morton's chair.

"Nona says she's in love with you," she said, stroking his hair, "but I wonder if she is, so very much?"

"Why?" he inquired, in you. She twisted a lock of his thick hair about her forefinger.

"Did you notice her tonight, while I was singing, and afterward? She leaned against Mr. Parrish, and once I saw her put her hand on his shoulder, and they were talking a long while together, very low, while you and I were in the alcove."

"She considered, as she started twisting another lock of hair.

"I like Nona. But I wonder if she isn't really a flirt!"

Morton started her own day hours earlier.

"I've reformed," she confided to Morton. "If I'm going to do any serious work, after this little fling of Audrey's, I've got to get into shape to do it. So I get up at eight in the morning instead of at two in the afternoon, and I walk two miles, practice hard for an hour, and then wait for Audrey!"

"Not staying up 'night, then?" he suggested.

"Bed at ten o'clock sharp," she said, "except once in a while."

"I'm glad we've all settled down for a bit," he said. "For about two weeks, things were so hectic I was seriously thinking of taking Audrey and running away."

Parrish, still acting as Audrey's escort, patiently sat through the afternoons of practice, soaping himself with a soap. His evenings were free now. Audrey's fatigue left him to himself, and she appeared after six o'clock. He employed his time diligently.

One morning he appeared in Morton's office with his guitar.

"I want you to hear me," he told his employer.

Sitting down, he drew the instrument from his leather case, and with puckered brow, carefully played a tune.

"Shall I let Miss Morton hear me play on it?" he asked, hopefully.

"She will be charmed," Morton gravely assured him.

"I've been taking lessons, and working on it every night," Parrish said. "I've been going to dancing school, too. When Miss Morton isn't so tired, I'm going to ask her out to dance near place."

"Excellent," Morton said. A smile hovered on his lips. "You're only a young kid, after all, aren't you?" he added.

Parrish frowned. "You told me to learn to dance and to play this thing," he returned, reddening.

Morton soothed him. "I didn't mean to offend you. But it really is a bit of an un-sophisticated young man these days!"

With a doubtful stare, Parrish put away his guitar, and withdrew. Morton laughed silently, as he returned to his work.

Before Parrish left the office, for his daily tryst with Audrey, Morton asked him to come to dinner that evening, "with your guitar," he added. "Audrey will want to hear you."

The young man, his spirits restored, assented gladly.

"I'll be there at seven o'clock," he said. "I can play three times pretty well now."

It was nearly six when Audrey entered the apartment, and dropped into a chair. Taking off her hat, she threw it on the floor, and then let her arms hang wearily straight downward.

"I'm so tired I could just die!" she exclaimed.

"Is it too much for you?" Morton asked.

"No-I'm doing better," Nona says. But daddy."

She stopped.

"Yes?" he said, encouragingly.

"Daddy," she resumed, "Mr. Parrish has been seeing Nona. Privately, I mean."

He hid a smile with his hand, but his eyes were grave.

"Yes?" he said, again.

"I don't think it's right." The girl drew up her drooping body, and leaned forward, her elbows on her knees.

"What's wrong about it?" Morton asked. "They're young things, unmarried, care-free. Why shouldn't they meet?"

The girl made a restless movement with her shoulders. "They don't belong together," she explained. "She's millions of years older than he is, in experience. And I've seen them whispering together in that place where Nona and I dance. He's just a nice boy, and he'll be wax in her hands. And by a word he dropped, I know he called on her at least once, at her apartment."

Morton waited for her to continue, but she was silent.

"Do you think she's after his fortune?" he asked, amusedly.

"I think she's just practicing on him," she said, "and he may fall seriously in love, and she'll break his heart."

"But what do you care?" he pursued, "You've told me you don't like him."

"Oh, I like him all right," she said. "I couldn't love him, of course. But neither does Nona. She's just playing with him, and I don't think she ought to."

She arose, and went upstairs to dress. "I wish you'd do something about it," she called, over the balcony railing, before she entered her room.

Morton waved at her, and then settled back in his chair, an expression of contented mirth upon his face. When Parrish came, armed with his guitar, Morton greeted him with unaccustomed warmth.

"All dolled up," he commented, glancing at Parrish's new evening clothes. "We've been talking about you."

"Daddy! Hush!" It was Audrey, just descending the stairs.

Entering the drawing room, she took the situation into her own hands.

GENERAL STRIKE WILL START IN ENGLAND TONIGHT AS 4 MILLION WORKERS LAY DOWN THEIR TOOLS

1,405,000 UNION MEN JOIN 1,120,000 MINERS IN SYMPATHY STRIKE; GOVERNMENT TO TAKE OVER OPERATION OF ENTIRE COUNTRY

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 3.—Great Britain at midnight tonight faces the gravest domestic menace which has overcome the nation since the fall of Stewart dynasty. This is a general strike which it is estimated will call out 1,405,000 men to join the 1,120,000 coal miners, who went on strike at midnight Friday.

The crisis culminated early today when the government announced that its negotiations with the trade union congress in an endeavor to prevent a walkout of the workers in various trades had broken down. The announcement said the government would decline to re-open the negotiations unless the congress withdrew its order for a general strike and repudiated overt acts which were described as challenging the constitutional rights and freedom of the nation.

Workers Tell Story

On behalf of the workers it was declared that their efforts to obtain an honorable settlement had been wrecked by the government's unprecedented ultimatum and that the negotiations for peace were ended. Surprise was expressed that the government had summarily ended the four parleys before giving the trade unionists time to investigate the overt which incurred a walkout by the printers of the Daily Mail.

The printers refused to set up an editorial on the strike entitled, "For King and Country," which said: "A general strike cannot be tolerated by any civilized government."

The general strike call affects all of the transportation services except those dealing with food stuffs.

Government Prepared

To meet the emergency the government has made elaborate preparations. The country is divided into ten districts, each under a civil commissioner with large staffs of officials. These will assume complete control of public necessities.

Apparently the unions proposals to run food trains and transport other necessities will not be considered.

The work of looking after the nation is the government's work, said an official today. "Any one who wishes to assist is perfectly entitled to do so, but only as a private citizen and under the direction of the various civil commissioners."

"There is no need for anxiety, and still less for panic," declared a government official today.

To Safeguard Public

"If the public will carry loyally and unselfishly the government regulations regarding food, coal and oil, refrain from hoarding and face the situation courageously, their comfort and convenience will be safeguarded."

One outward sign impressing Londoners was the closing of Hyde Park for use as a depot for the government's milk distribution service.

The park, which is London's nearest equivalent to Central Park in New York, is surrounded by high railings, and all the entrances were closed and locked, except for Lorries bringing in milk.

Newspapers Paralyzed

The situations in the printing industry is not quite clear. The latest statement, however, is that the special agreement between the men and the newspapers that bar a strike or a lockout, except with a fortnight's notice, are not favorable in the present case, and that the printers will cease work at midnight. This will mean that there will be no newspapers during the strike. The government is prepared to meet this difficulty by taking over the radio casting service for the transmission of news and possibly also will issue daily printed news bulletins.

It was announced that the sending of troops into the mining region was only a precautionary measure. Reports from the fields showed no indication of disorder.

The council of the trade union congress issued a manifesto blaming the mine owners for locking out the miners and the government for its failure to make acceptable proposals to enable the mining industry to continue without further lowering the standards of life and labor in the coal fields, pending a re-organization of the industry.

as president's wife. She giggles and chatters as much as in the days when we lived together at the hotel and borrowed on another's ironing board."

Everyone in Washington, in fact, has a good word to say for Mrs. Coolidge. It has been many years since a first lady was as well liked as the present one.

The young woman who comes to the White House to dress her hair is one of her boosters.

"I was scared to death the first time I was called in," she says. "I kept thinking, 'what if I got water down the back of her neck?' But, honestly, I'm not afraid of it at all now. In fact, I did spill some water on her once, and she only laughed and said, 'Do I get a bath, too?'"

The Funny Presents

A White House attaches says: "She gets a big laugh out of the funny letters people write her and the things they try to give her. And whenever a child tries to send her a guinea pig or a white mouse or a rabbit, she is especially sure that the little letter is answered at once."

Mrs. Coolidge does not give interviews, she did, when she first entered the White House—but she found that the reporters wrote of her only as an economical housewife. And her vanity was a bit hurt.

"They might at least have remembered that I like music as well as to bake shortcake," she is said to have commented.

Miller Expected To Win Mile For Longhorn Squad

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—Harry S. Miller of Austin is the best bet in the Texas University Longhorns to capture the 1926 mile championship of the Southwest conference.

While not in the class of Jim Reese, captain of the 1925 Steers who won the national collegiate mile title, Miller is improving with every race, and Coach Clyde Littlefield is expecting several performances of him in 1927, when he will be running his last season for the orange and white.

The long-legged Miller, possessed of excellent judgment of pace, and an abundance of competitive spirit, needs only a bit more sturdiness to make him a top-notch performer. Coach Littlefield now is putting him through exercises calculated to develop his upper body.

Miller, who won his letter in the quarter mile last season, is now running the mile in around 4:30, and Coach Littlefield believes he will be able to "make" the mile in under 4:25 before he completes his collegiate career.

The Austin lad will be hard pushed to win conference honors in the mile, with Texas A. & M. and Rice runners doped to finish strong.

Esquivel Rounding Out For Aggie Track Meet

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—Sandi Esquivel of El Paso, captain of the 1925 Texas university track team and holder of the Southwest conference record for the two mile run, is making every effort to get in shape for the dual meet with the Texas Aggies here May 7, and for the Southwest conference meet at Fort Worth the following week.

The king of the conference long distance runners is handicapped by an ankle injury suffered in basketball. Esquivel was also captain of the basketball squad. This injury prevented his participation as a member of Texas University Longhorn teams competed in the Kansas and Drake relay carnivals.

The war on rodents in Lubbock county, carried on through County Farm Agent David F. Eaton, is gaining momentum daily following a visit of the state official from the pest extermination department last week when one day's efforts against a rat nest on a Lubbock county farm netted 28 or 30 rats that are known to have been killed at the time. Others are believed to have died and were not found after poison was administered.

Ground squirrels and wharf rats are the main source of worry now, according to Mr. Eaton, the prairie dog, which until recently was one of the worst crop pests in West Texas, having been largely exterminated. Farmers throughout the county are joining in the rodent fight.

which if successful can only substitute tyranny," he said. "It is not wages that are in peril, but the freedom of our very constitution."

J. H. Thomas, Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, who spoke after the Premier, declared passionately that there was still a solution for the situation.

Leader Makes Statement "Whoever the result of the strike," he said, "any man is a blind idiot and a fool who does not see that the economic facts of the coal position will remain. There was no other course open to labor but to strike."

Mr. Lloyd George dispaired of the situation, except through Parliamentary action. He declared that the members of the trades union congress, who ordered the strike, were a little revolutionary as any one in the House of Commons and that the government could well continue the negotiations without loss of rights or position.

May Reach Settlement LONDON, May 3. (AP)—A basis for settlement of the general strike can still be reached if the negotiations are resumed, says a statement issued this afternoon by the council of the trades union congress.

The statement followed a joint meeting of the council, the Parliamentary labor party and the miner's executive.

LONDON, May 3. (AP)—Premier Baldwin told the House of Commons this afternoon that continuance of the government subsidy to the coal industry was out of the question.

Printers Refuse To Work LONDON, May 3. (AP)—The compositors on the Evening Standard, Star and Daily News today declined to set copy which they considered harmful to labor's cause and went to consult their union chiefs. Early editions of the afternoon papers appeared, but the others were held up pending the union's decision.

Religious War In Mexico Is Serious

MEXICO CITY, May 3. (AP)—Reports indicate chaotic conditions at Zitacuare, state of Michoacan, as the result of conflicts over the government's enforcement of the religious clauses of the constitution.

The correspondent of El Universal, Mexico City newspaper, has left the town because of lack of protection. He reports that personal rights apparently are being abrogated, the people raiding homes and persons being killed without the usual legal formalities.

The inhabitants have sent a telegram to President Calles requesting protection.

BOYS WEEK OPENS WITH SERVICES AT CHURCHES

Boys Week in Lubbock, a part of a nationwide movement to more thoroughly acquaint boys under 18 years of age with the responsibility that will eventually rest upon them when they attain their majority and take hold of affairs in the commercial world, was formally set in motion here Sunday morning, when pastors of various churches throughout the city devoted their services to a program for boys and made addresses along the line of boys' work.

Good attendance was had at all churches, and the boys were given some sound suggestions by the speakers. Wednesday night, there will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church a giant union service for the benefit of the boys and their work, when Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers college will deliver the principal address. Every church in the city is cooperating in the service.

Dr. Hill is recognized as one of the best boys workers in West Texas, and he will have a message worth while not only for the boys but for the parents as well. Rev. Walter P. Jennings of the First Christian church who is a member of the publicity committee and a leader in the boys' work program, said here Monday.

High School Girls Returning Monday

Misses Clara Price, Lucille Peady, Mary Parker Brown, Laura Hard and Louise Paulger are expected to return to Lubbock this afternoon from Beaumont where they attended the State Clothing contest. Miss Peady won first place in the state on a difficult silk dress. Miss Hard won third place on a wash gingham and the entire exhibit from Lubbock won third place in the state contest. Miss Price accompanied the four girls who were contestants.

War On Rodents In County Gains Force

The war on rodents in Lubbock county, carried on through County Farm Agent David F. Eaton, is gaining momentum daily following a visit of the state official from the pest extermination department last week when one day's efforts against a rat nest on a Lubbock county farm netted 28 or 30 rats that are known to have been killed at the time. Cupid Hard Hit In English Territory

CARDIFF, Wales, May 3. (AP)—Cupid is already hard hit by the coal crisis. Numerous miners in Wales, Lancashire, Dorham, New Castle and other districts have postponed their wedding owing to the gloomy outlook.

Instances are reported where food and wine provided for wedding festivities have been stored away for the difficult times which the miners now see before them.

OIL TEST IS GIVEN MUCH RUMOR AT SLATON

(Special To The Journal) SLATON, May 3.—With the signing of the contract by an Oklahoma driller to commence the oil and gas test in the Boles ranch between Slaton and Lubbock comes the news from all over this section of extensive oil operation on the part of independent drillers and the bigger companies.

Word was received today that an oil company had taken 1,500 acres of land near the headquarters of the Yellow-house ranch in Hockley County and that a well was to be sunk within the next ninety days, according to S. E. Stagers, local oil dealer.

The Hinkle No. 1 test is being sunk in Hockley County in section 320, suffering a cave-in at 310, after striking a showing of oil at 267 and 306 feet; the cave-in has been repaired and the drilling is being continued now by Truick and his associates who are sinking the well.

It is rumored that the Gulf company has taken ten sections of land near shallow water in Lubbock County. Local oil men believe that the coming year is going to be the greatest one in the history of oil development that has ever been seen.

TEXAS DOCTOR BURIED

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—Dr. Ralph P. Steiner, former state health officer, who abolished the public drinking cup from Texas, was buried here at 7:00 o'clock this morning. He died late Sunday. Funeral services were private.

Young vigor to old folks

"Five years of poor health followed by influenza and pneumonia left me too weak to walk. I thought my time had come. My niece recommended Tanlac. It did me good. My vitality is restored and I am vigorous again." Mrs. Sarah A. Fox, 637 Ellis St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

One of Tanlac's greatest blessings is the new life and vigor it brings to old folks. Every day men and women up in the seventies and eighties thank us for Tanlac's wondrous benefits.

Tanalac is a natural tonic, made from roots, herbs and rare berries. Harmless to man or child. It cleans the blood, stirs up the liver and puts digestive organs in working order.

If your body is weak and run-down, if you lack ambition, can't get on sleep, you'll be delighted with Tanlac's results. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.

What it Does

(1) IT GIVES YOU A QUICKER START On account of the low initial boiling point, and high percentage of the volatile fractions which vaporize quickly in a cold engine.

(2) IT GIVES YOU A QUICKER PICKUP Because of its higher volatility and low end point, it forms a dry gas in the manifold which feeds evenly to the cylinders and avoids flooding.

(3) IT GIVES YOU MORE MILES PER GALLON Because it works best on a leaner mixture—more air, less gas. This insures fuel economy that shows itself in more miles per gallon.

(4) IT GIVES YOU RELIEF FROM CARBON OR SPARK KNOCK Because it has anti-knock qualities and smooth combustion characteristics tempered to engine needs.

(5) IT GIVES YOU BETTER LUBRICATION Gasolines with heavy ends do not vaporize and burn completely. They dilute the crankcase oil because the liquid gasoline cuts the oil film and seeps past the piston rings.

The new Texaco Gasoline leaves no heavy ends. It forms a dry gas. It burns completely. It does not flood the cylinders. All this means less crankcase dilution, hence better lubrication.
