Confessions Clear Recent Burglaries

Two men arrested in a recent burglary at the home of Gerald Gerner, northeast of Tahoka, earlier this month have signed confessions which sheriff's officers say clear four other burglaries in Lynn County in last few months of last year.

Raymond Perez, 23, of Slaton and his brother, Reyes John Perez, also known as Alex Perez, 28, of Lubbock, have been charged with the burglary of the Gerner home. Their confessions reportedly have also cleared these burglaries:

The home of Cal Huffaker, burglarized Oct. 22, and the home of Ginger Hughes, burglarized the same day.

The residence of Ronald Howard, on Oct. 17.

The residence of Delbert L. Byrd Jr., on Sept. 15.

Officers said most items taken from the Gerner home, plus two guns stolen from Huffaker, and a camera tripod from the Howard residence were recovered. They said that the two suspects, who are in Lynn County jail, also are implicated in five Scurry County burglaries, and one of the men also is involved in some Hockley County burglaries.

Clifford Sims, 29, of Tahoka, was charged this week with forgery after an attempt was made to pass a check in the amount of $201.60 to pay for a box of cookie dough at Thriftway Super Market. The check and some others obtained at the scene apparently had been stolen in a recent burglary at Witt Butane.

Sims was arrested after Thriftway employees chased him a couple of blocks Monday afternoon.

THS Principal Charles Cate reported that someone wrote obscenities on the Sundown School Bus while it was parked at the school during a basketball game Tuesday night. Tahoka school officials washed the words off.

A 38-year-old Tahoka man was charged with assault on the complaint of a Tahoka woman who said he beat her last Wednesday. She was treated at Lynn County Hospital.

In jail during the week were three persons for public intoxication, one for forgery, one for assault, and one person brought in by Dept. of Public Safety officers after a chase and charged with fleeing, expired vehicle registration, expired inspection sticker, no liability insurance, disregarding stop sign and no drivers license.

ABOVE THE PACK—Katy Huffaker gets higher than the crowd as she shoots for the basket against Sundown Tuesday. Katy had 12 points in the game. No. 12 at left is Tahoka's Myra Williams, who led scoring with 19 points. Other Tahoka players here are Jennifer Patterson (14) and Jill DeLeon (15). The Tahoka girls lost the district game here 58-48, after leading for most of three quarters. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO by Gary Jones)

THERE ARE more diets and people with advice on dieting around than there are red ants at a picnic, and usually someone is trying to sell you something which will magically make you thin. Of course, there ain't no such thing.

I did read a release from the dietitian at Lubbock Methodist Hospital giving suggestions about dieting, because she wasn't selling anything. Her only ax to grind was to promote Methodist Hospital and maybe keep her job.

Kelly Cochran, R.D. at Methodist, says "going on a diet doesn't have to be as complicated as as many believe." When I read that, I was sure the next sentence would be "All you have to do is quit eating." But what she said was "Beginning a diet doesn't necessarily mean you have to give up the food you love. It is possible to greatly reduce fat and calories without compromising the taste of food." In other words, I guess, we should just eat a lot less of what we're eating.

She gives some tips on weight loss, including:

Don't skip breakfast—The body needs calories and nutrients to fuel daily activity. (I interpret this to mean it's okay to skip breakfast if you're not going to do anything all day). Missed meals slow the rate at which calories are burned and can lead to overeating at night when energy demands are low and calories are more likely to be stored as fat.

Eat more white meat—Red meat is a major source of fat.

Eat real food—Liquid diets can last only so long. Learning to eat a variety of foods while still losing weight is the best long-term method.

Drink plenty of water—The body requires a quart of water each day to rid itself of waste. Drinking water also curbs the appetite. I never knew that. I did know that drinking Canadian River water will rot your innards, even if they do tell us the water is perfectly good to drink, because I've seen what happens to the plumbing and the insides of our washing machines and ice-makers when they use regular water.

Exercise—Any type of exercise burns calories. To promote weight loss from body fat, exercise at a moderate intensity for 30 to 45 minutes three to five times per week. (But this is so tiring...).

YOU CAN GET your free Bill Clinton Victory Card by writing Box 72967, Chattanooga, TN 37407-5967. It's laminated and it has a picture of Bill and Hillary on one side and a map of the U.S. on the other, showing which states voted for Clinton and which ones voted for Bush. You can even get a 10-card set (but they cost money). The laminated victory card is free, though, unless you voted for Bush, in which case it costs you four years of good government.

I didn't vote for Clinton (I figured the government has enough Bills), but he can't be all bad because, like me, he plays saxophone and rides a motorcycle. Not at the same time.

Advisory Group To Map TISD Redistricting

by JUANELL JONES

An advisory committee comprised of nine local residents met with Tahoka Independent School District Board of Trustees last Thursday night to initiate proceedings that will change the way trustee elections are held in the school district. Trustees voted recently to change the election process from an at-large method to single member districts, a method similar to how Lynn County commissioners are currently elected.

The district hired Dr. Mark Turnbough of El Paso to assist the board in the process, who met with trustees, Superintendent Dr. Duane Carter and the advisory committee at the Thursday night meeting. Members of the advisory committee are Danny Moore, David Graves, Wanda Williams, Dan Garcia, Juan Alvarado, Maurio Marez, Wayne Huffaker, Charlie Louder and Dayton Parker.

Dr. Turnbough briefed the group on the redistricting process, saying he expects about a three-month process before the district can submit a plan to the justice department for approval. Due to time factors, the single member district election plan will not affect the 1993 school board election, but is expected to be in place for the 1994 election.

Dr. Turnbough has assisted many other school districts in redistricting plans, and currently is also involved with Brownfield and Plainview school districts. He recommended forming an advisory committee representing the ethnic communities of the district to provide input in forming districts which would fairly represent the minority populations in the school district. The committee will seek citizen input from the community, and critique plans provided by Dr. Turnbough for precinct, or district, lines.

As to whether the school district will choose to go to a 7-0 single member district plan or a 5-2 plan (with five single member districts and two members elected at-large) is a question which is still open for debate. Advisory committee members will discuss options with Dr. Turnbough before presenting a plan to the school board for consideration.

"There are two basic criteria involved in the development of single-member districts," said Dr. Turnbough. "Number one, the districts must be roughly the same size in terms of population, and secondly,

Commissioners Discuss Health Insurance, Naming County Dirt Roads For 9-1-1 Service

by JUANELL JONES

Lynn County Commissioners met Monday to discuss the ramifications of a recent opinion by the attorney general's office that Lynn County should not offer employees an "either/or situation" in health insurance benefits or an additional $200 in their monthly salaries. Also discussed, among other business, was the naming of county dirt roads and house numbers for rural homes to aid the 9-1-1 emergency service operation in the county.

Since 1983, the county has offered employees an option of either paying for health insurance premiums, or if an employee chose not to have medical coverage, to give that employee an additional $200 per month, a figure arrived at by averaging the amount of insurance premiums paid for those employees who elected to have health insurance.

In a recent letter sent to County Attorney Jimmy Wright, dated Dec. 18, 1992, however, the attorney general's office said the county did not have the right to offer compensation to those employees who refused health insurance.

Currently, 27 of 43 county employees are declining health insurance in favor of the $200 compensation, according to treasurer Janet Porterfield. After discussion with Joe Hays of Love, Hays accounting firm who does the county's auditing, commissioners voted unanimously to advertise for bids for health insurance and/or a cafeteria plan for county employees and elected officials, with bids to be opened Mar. 29.

Hays recommended the county look at a cafeteria plan in conjunction with their insurance needs, as a corrective measure in responding to the AG's opinion, but mentioned that his firm was "not in a position to give legal counsel." Gail Faries, representing the local CPA firm, was also present at the meeting.

In other business, County Judge J.F. Brandon informed commissioners that South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) has allocated $5900 in funds to Lynn County for the purpose of addressing county roads and houses to aid the 9-1-1 emergency service operation. All roads in the county, including dirt roads and private roads and drives, and any roads inside city limits which are not named, would have signs with names or numbers, and all rural homes would have house numbers in order to provide exact locations for computer listing purposes.

Donna Whitley, who heads the 9-1-1 service at the Lynn County Sheriff's Office, explained to the group that the 9-1-1 computer system will be upgraded to where the computer automatically brings up any information associated with a number, and that phone companies would provide that information to the county. "The new addressing for rural homes would provide more accurate information, instead of rural routes and box numbers we would have actual street addresses," she said.

At this point, however, it is not known whether the grant from SPAG would require any matching funds. After some discussion, commissioners took no action on this item and asked Mrs. Whitley to provide further information at the next meeting.

In other routine business, commissioners voted unanimously to pay an annual fee of $1875 to the O'Donnell Fire Department, signing a contract with the department for their services. The county contracts with the other three fire departments in the county as well, paying $1125 to the Wilson Fire Dept., $1125 to the New Home Fire Dept., and $4500 to the Tahoka Fire Dept.

Commissioners appointed Jacky Henry to the South Plains Community Action Association Board of Directors, ordered bills paid, and authorized $50 for the annual fee for Texas Good Roads membership.

Commissioners Jacky Henry, T.A. Stone, Sandy Cox and J.T. Miller were present at the two-hour meeting, as well as other county officials and guests.

Tahoka's Kathy Davis, Back From Costa Rica, Tells Of Experiences As An Exchange Student

by JUANELL JONES

A young Tahoka woman has been busy giving presentations during the two months since she returned from a six-month stay in Costa Rica as an exchange student. Aside from her studies at Texas Tech University, Kathy Davis, the 21-year-old daughter of Billy and Ann Davis of Tahoka, has spoken to a professional organization at Tech, the Tahoka Rotary Club, at an exhibit at the Littlefield Extension Office, to 4-H Clubs, and to several Spanish classes at Tahoka Junior/Senior High School.

Miss Davis stayed with five host families in Costa Rica, from June through November, 1992, through the International Foreign Youth Exchange (IFYE) program. During the first few months of her visit, at least one member of her host family could speak English, but during the latter part of her stay she said her host families spoke only in the native Spanish language.

Conversing almost totally in the Spanish language for six months proved to be a challenge for Miss Davis. "I took two years of Spanish at Tahoka High School, and was a poor student!" she laughs, saying she undertook a "quick study" of the language when she arrived in a country where English was a foreign language to most of the people.

"There were times when I'd get frustrated, but I talked a lot with my hands and was able to communicate pretty well," she said. "One day, though, I walked out the door in mid-conversation when I heard 'Gracias a Dios,' which I later realized meant 'thank the Lord' instead of 'thank you, goodbye,'" she recalled with grin, adding that smiles and laughter are truly a universal language for all people.

She says she learned about many aspects of the region through her five host families, and that the heart of Costa Rica is the family. "The traditional family is extremely united and conservative, which may be the basis for the country's stability," said Miss Davis. "In days of old, families would rise together with the sun, work on farms, sit on the front porch as children danced and farm animals ran at their feet, and went to bed at sunset. Today, electricity and television have provided an option that results in less family time. Many visitors say it is harder now for outsiders to enter into the family, but once included, membership is forever. I now have five mothers, two fathers, eight brothers, fifteen sisters and a countless number of relatives in my five host locations," she said fondly.

During her stay in Costa Rica, she went on many outings with her newfound siblings, touring cities, churches, farms, museums, mountains, wildlife reserves, mangrove swamps, a coffee mill, banana plantations, volcanoes, fairs, rivers and beaches of both the Atlantic and Pacific. "They believe in doing things as a family, and because of their acceptance of me into their families, I was able to be a part of their unity," she explained.

Her first five weeks were spent in San Jose, learning Spanish, city life, history and adjusting to the culture. "Little distinction is made between different classes or races, I learned, and humor is a great factor there,"

"School is often called off for a dance, soccer tournament or a work day when one can find students cutting the grass with machetes."

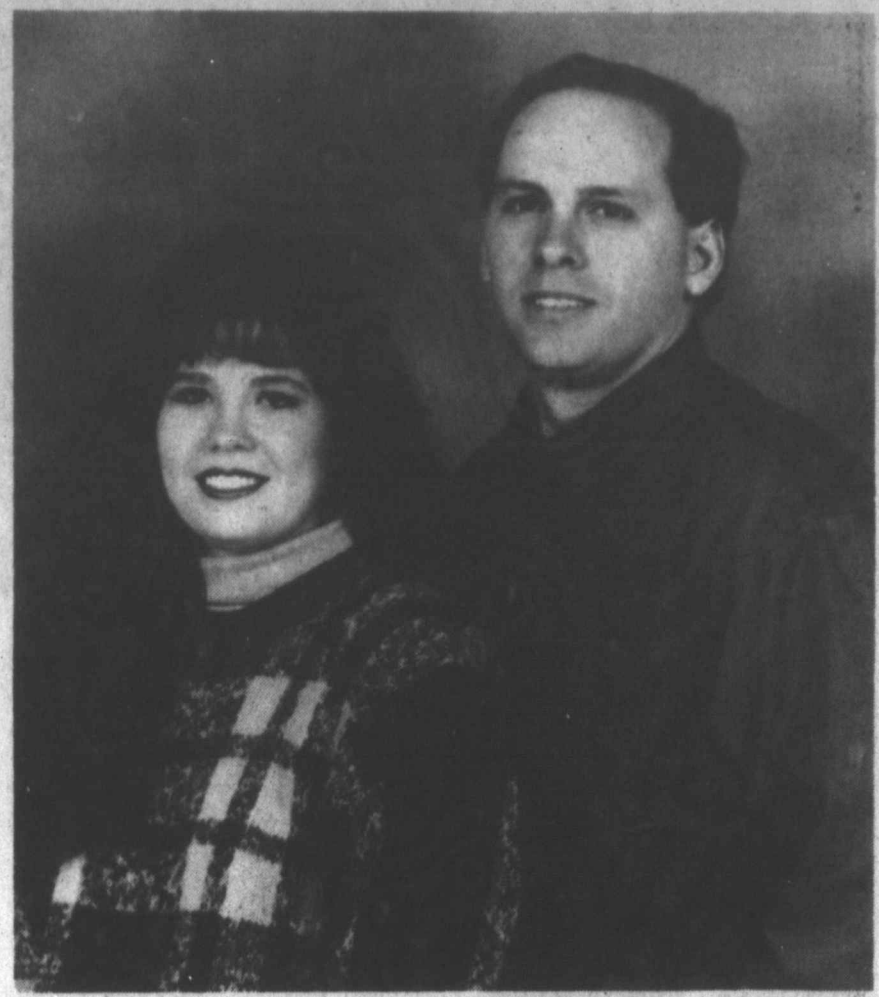

said the young woman in one of the newsletters she sent to IFYE during her six-month stay. "One day, I got in trouble for not ironing my permanent press clothes, and for not sharing my snack with the stranger beside me on the bus," she recalled.

The winter season in Costa Rica is June through November, with rain expected everyday and temperatures averaging between 45 and 70 degrees in the central region. "When they say 'rainy season', they mean it!" said Miss Davis.

"I was pleasantly surprised by all the luxuries this developing country offers," she said, noting that the phone system was very good considering the difficulty in maintaining enough lines, and that there were many television and radio stations and many homes had VCRs. "San Jose had all the smog, commerce and people of any major U.S. city," she added.

Food customs differed from meals to which a young Tahokan was accustomed. "So, how do you want your rice and beans?" Miss Davis says when asked about the Costa Rican diet. "I once counted 32 different forms of these Costa Rican staples," she said. A typical meal would consist of heaping spoonfuls of gallo pinto (a combination of black beans, rice and spices), fried sweet bananas, cabbage salad, a boiled vegetable, tortillas and a portion of either pork, beef, fish or chicken.

"Whenever I felt a little homesick, I'd visit 'the world's best ice cream store' called Pop's. Being a Daddy's girl and an ice cream fanatic, I frequented Pop's quite often," said Miss Davis. On the lighter side, whatever fruit or vegetable suits the taste, Costa Rica has it, she said, noting that she tasted eight different varieties of bananas. Sea bass, prawns, and lobster are among the fresh seafoods available.

LISA CARTER and JEFF JENNINGS

Couple Announces Engagement

Clayton and Margaret Carter of Tahoka announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa D'Lynn, to Jeff L. Jennings of Webster, TX. He is the son of Phil and Peggy Jennings of Tahoka.

The couple plans to marry July 7, 1993 at the First United Methodist Church of Tahoka.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the University of Houston with a BBA in Accounting.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Texas Tech University and is employed as a Project Engineer at Rhom & Hass Texas, Inc.

Other meat specialties that her hosts "liked to sneak into my diet to see my reaction" were venison, tripe, pig's feet, wild boar meat, pesquinty (prized meat from a large rodent), true fried pig skins (hair included at times), caviar, pate, and fresh caught conch muscles.

In return, Miss Davis says she taught her host families how to make chocolate chip cookies, oatmeal use a class set, and teachers have few teaching materials. Classroom walls are usually bare except for student artwork, and teachers move from room to room in larger schools. "English teachers from the States are extremely welcome," she said.

She noted that schools are somewhat inconsistent in attendance and planning, and that classes are often canceled due to the teacher's unavailability which leaves the students wandering the campus. Substitute teachers are not used, and school is often called off for a dance, soccer tournament or a work day when one can find students cutting the grass with machetes. "Despite the faults in the system, however, I have a great respect for the Costa Rican education system," she said.

She returned to the United States on November 20, to anxious family members who were ready for her to come home. "I really enjoyed my experiences in Costa Rica as an exchange student, and someday, after I complete my education and before I have a family of my own, I would like to visit other areas and experience other new cultures through the IFYE program," said the enthusiastic young woman.

"One of the first newsmen many people told me on my return was the dramatic rise in racial tension in the USA over the months I was gone," said Miss Davis. "I think that respect and understanding of all races starts with each individual humbling himself and realizing that others have a lot to share. Maybe the problems we are facing have no room for this as a solution, but I want my presentations on my experience to encourage open mindedness in forgiving, learning, teaching, and communicating as a way of national and world peace. Individuals made a difference on me in Costa Rica, and I believe individuals can make a difference here as well," she concluded.

Laughter actually helps control pain. First, it distracts your attention. Next it can reduce tension and then your body actually produces pain killers called endorphins. Dr. David Bresler of the UCLA Pain Control Unit says, "Almost always, people who have chronic pain are also depressed." "It's not just their lower back that hurts, their life hurts." Laughter not only changes your perspective, it increases your heart rate, improves circulation and works your stomach. Go ahead, Laugh!

Jammin' January Activities Offered Students Wide Variety Of Career, Recreational Courses

Tahoka Junior/Senior High School students participated in activities designed to provide learning and fun during Jammin' January, held during the week following Christmas holidays.

A program in the high school auditorium gave parents and community members an opportunity to see some of the work accomplished by students.

Tutorials in academics were also offered during the week to any student who wanted extra help in a class. The tutorials in academic classes could be by student request to raise a grade for the semester or by the request of a parent or teacher.

"We were hoping students would be able to raise a failing semester grade to passing if given the opportunity to have tutoring with a teacher," said Principal Charles Cate. "Our hopes were realized because 44 grades were actually raised to passing."

The opportunity to raise a failing grade was one of the main goals of Jammin' January this year. In addition, the activities from which students were able to choose were selected in hopes of broadening both career opportunities and recreational options for students.

"Our whole goal in educating our kids is to make them healthy, happy adults," said Glo Hays, the teacher who organized the event.

A program in the high school auditorium gave parents and community members an opportunity to see some of the work accomplished by students.

The program featured a style show by modeling and make-up students. The style show was narrated by John Webster and modelling instructor Jennie Sowell. The models wore clothes furnished by Jennings, owned by Peggy Jennings.

Byron Norwood conducted students who participated in choir in a musical selection.

Carol Christmann, owner of Billie Jo's Dance Studio in Lubbock, choreographed 50 students in a modern jazz routine. Carol returned for the Saturday evening program to perform with some of the students.

Country western dancers showed off by performing the Achey Breaky Heart line dance and Jitter-Bug. Western dancers also learned the country two step, Cotton-Eyed Joe and other dances. Byron Norwood and Leah Taylor taught over 100 students in western dancing classes throughout the week.

Lubbock television personnel and commentators who helped THS during Jammin' January were Amy Brown, KJTV; Mary Jane McCord, Ron Roberts and Sally Post, KMAC; and Lisa Thompson of KCBD-11.

First aid and CPR were taught by Barbara Cook, Jolene Tomlinson, Ron Fant, and Ginger Henry.

Shadowing of high school students in Lubbock was arranged and coordinated by Dr. Mike Bennett of Monterey High School, Mr. Kenneth Wallace, Estacado High School, Mr. Wayne Havens, Coronado High School; and Ms. Debi Pigg, Monterey High School.

Some other activities and their organizers/instructors were: golf, Altah Harvey and Nancy Buxton of Pine Grove Golf Course in Lubbock; rock band, Arron Miller; medical lab, Austin Simpson and Danny Summers; guns, B.L. Miller, Kelly Kring, and Britt Robinson; bronzing, Bill Craig; airport tower tours, Bill Stalvey; meat slaughtering, Bo Jackson in Post; courtroom law, Cal Huffaker and Sandra Laws; Glamour Shots, Candice Bailey, Susan Tipton, Quaydene Bailey, Byron Norwood, and Betty Stennett; day care shadowing, Cecilia Pruitt; volleyball tournament, Chastity Hood, Jay Jay Wiseman, T.C. DIABETICS MUST BE CAREFUL WITH THEIR TEETH

Any focus of infection is harmful, but especially so for a diabetic. Higher blood sugar levels lessen resistance to infection. Still a diabetic can, like anyone else, develop deep root abscesses, or pyorrhea, both of which are infections. And, you don't have to have a toothache to have a root infection, or loose teeth before your physician can diagnose infection.

Have dental checkups at regular intervals and be sure and tell your dentist, if you are a diabetic, so he can take extra precautions if an extraction is needed. He can't tell by looking at you. We carry complete stocks of diabetic and dental medications and supplies.

New Home hosted Southland for District games on Friday, Jan. 15. JV girls started the round of games, followed by the JV boys finishing with a win. Varsity girls won their second District game with a score of 51-45 over Southland. High point was Farrah Huddleston with 18. Kara Askew had 16 rebounds and 10 points. Rita Torres had 12 points.

Varsity boys came up with a big win of 102-77 over Southland. Channing Crisler was high point with 26; Greg Armes had 18 points and 17 assists; Blaine Fillingim had 18 points; and Shannon Zant had 12 points.

Wellman came to New Home on Tuesday, Jan. 19 to play four games. The JV girls started the action with a win, but the JV boys lost 56-58. The varsity girls suffered a disappointing loss of 61-37. Kaury Turner had 13 points. The varsity girls record is now 9-10 and 3-1 in District play. The varsity boys found themselves behind at the final buzzer against Wellman with a score of 68-73. Their overall record is 12-5 and 2-1 in District. Their next games will be against Wilson on Jan. 28 at New Home.

Jr. High hosted Wilson on Monday, Jan. 18. Jr. High girls fell behind and ended up with a score of 10-28 making their record fall to 6-3. The Jr. High boys won over Wilson, 35-25. Their next games will be at Southland on Feb. 1.

Student Council

A large group of Student Council members and sponsor, Mrs. Scott, attended the District Student Council meeting at Texas Tech on Wednesday, Jan. 20. The Student Council is trying to become more involved in school activities this year and at the meeting they were taught different methods to incorporate involvement into all phases of the school.

The Student Council held a lock-in earlier this year, helped with various Homecoming events, sponsored the food drive for the South Plains Food Bank, and gave each of the school employees a ceramic Santa candle to wish them a Merry Christmas. The Council members are planning more events in the future.

From Inside the School

The New Home school cafeteria held a contest in December for all of those participating in the school breakfast program. A drawing was held and three prizes were awarded. First place was a gingerbread house won by Emily Gill; second was a pair of cookie sleighs, won by Dana Swartz; and third was a candy cane basket, won by Christina Vitolas. All prizes were made by the cafeteria manager, Betty Holder.

The New Home School staff and students would like to wish Mrs. James a quick recovery from her broken ankle. Mrs. James underwent surgery on Jan. 19 to repair damage done when she fell on

The end of the third week will be on Thursday, Jan. 28.

Tumblers

New Home tumblers were invited to the New Deal Invitational meet held Saturday Dec. 12. Those who competed won the following awards:

1st place: Caleb Gill, age 5; Brooke and Brittany Keith, 6; Holly Kolb, 6; Stephanie Keith, 8; and Lindsey Kolb, 9.

2nd place: Cody Keith, age 5.

3rd place: Kristopher Hirachita, age 5; and Heather Keith, 8.

Watch for the New Home tumblers to perform at half-time of the New Home vs. Wilson basketball game on Jan. 29. The game begins at 8 p.m. in the New Home gym.

AMBER WRIGHT Wins Area Essay Contest

Tahoka seventh grader Amber Wright was notified this week that she entered the winning essay in the junior high category, grades 7-9, of a Lubbock area essay contest sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Southwest Airlines and La Quinta Inns. She wins two roundtrip airline tickets to a destination of her choice from Southwest Airlines, and two nights stay at any La Quinta Inn. TISD English teacher Nan Adams encouraged Amber to enter the essay contest, where students wrote about "What The Holidays Mean To Me."

"Amber says she will probably want to fly to California and go to Disneyland," said her father, Jimmy Wright of Tahoka.

Marine Lance Cpl. Ruben Rios, a resident of Wilson was recently meritoriously promoted to his present rank and reported for duty with 6th Motor Transport Battalion, 4th Force Service Support Group, Lubbock.

159,147 Cotton Bales Ginned In County

Lynn County cotton farmers ginned 159,147 bales of cotton in this year's harvest, according to recent information given by Lynn County Extension Agent Wade Shackelford. Bales averaged 609 pounds of cotton per bale, and Shackelford said farmers averaged 1.21 bales per acre this year.

Redistricting

the minority community must be afforded the opportunity to elect a representative to the board," he said.

"The problem with going to seven single-member districts in a school district as small as Tahoka, is making the districts so small [in registered voter population] that it is possible for a trustee candidate to be elected to the board with just a handful of votes, leading to questions of validity," explained Dr. Turnbough. In a 7-0 plan, he recommended three of the districts should represent the minority population.

Should the district choose a 5-2 redistricting plan, then two of the five districts should strongly represent the minority population, thereby strengthening the minority vote to two large districts with a larger percentage of minorities in each district than the three smaller districts in the 7-0 plan. "Based on this size district," said Dr. Turnbough when asked which route he thought the district should go, "I would recommend a 5-2 redistricting plan, due to your population size and the fact that you've already had a minority person elected through your current at-large system."

Dr. Turnbough will create some district (or precinct) lines for the advisory committee to critique, using population data compiled from the 1990 Census, and will meet with the committee in about two weeks for further discussion. "I will create some precinct lines, and then committee members will critique the plan so as not to split neighborhoods or other criteria, and then we'll keep changing the lines until everyone approves," he said.

Preliminary figures indicate a total population (including total household occupants, including children) of anywhere from 4500 to 5200 persons in the Tahoka school district. Single-member district lines will be drawn to divide that figure into five or seven districts which will roughly equal in population.

Other considerations will also include percentages of ethnic population, percentages of persons who are eligible to vote, and percentages of persons who are currently registered voters inside each district.

Citizen input is encouraged, and any member of the school district may provide input to advisory committee members or school board members. Several public hearings will be held during the process.

Once the advisory committee and trustees agree upon a plan, then the redistricting plan will be submitted to the justice department for approval. Upon receiving approval, trustees will adopt the single-member district plan for the school district. The new plan, however, will not affect trustees who are already serving on the board, as they will finish the term for which they were elected. As positions open on the board the single-member plan will be implemented.

Present at the two-hour meeting were all advisory committee members except Wanda Williams; Supt. Dr. Carter; and board members Dan Lee Stone, Brad Hammonds, Delbert McCleskey, Juanell Jones, Greg Henley and Myrtle White. Trustee Mike Huffaker was absent.

Steen Completes Training Course

W.R. Steen, Chairman of the Lynn County soil and water conservation district headquartered at Tahoka, recently completed a two-day training course in Temple for directors serving on local SWCDs. SWCDs are politically chartered subdivisions of state government responsible for assisting farmers, ranchers, and local communities resolve conservation problems within jurisdiction of the SWCD.

The training course was conducted at the headquarters of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board.

Training sessions enabled directors to become familiar with the history of Texas soil & water conservation district programs as well as with legislation granting statutory powers, duties, and responsibilities to SWCDs.

Steen was one of 17 soil and water conservation district directors at the conference. Seventeen SWCDs had directors participating in the conference.

Steen has served as a director on the Lynn County SWCD since October 1974. He is engaged in farming.

Phebe K. Warner CLUB NEWS

Phebe K. Warner Club met in its regular meeting Tuesday, Jan. 12 at the home of Gerald-Deane Wood. Minnie Lou Ash served as co-hostess. There were 17 members present.

Mrs. Wood, vice-president, presided. After the routine business meeting, a skit entitled "Are We Awake to the 3 R's of Ecology" was presented by Dorothy Kenley, Thalia Burks, and Mildred Abbe. Kenley, narrator, said that the 3 R's, Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, were the answer to the problems we face in the massive trash piles that fill our landfills. She also said that we have not inherited the earth from our fathers, rather we have borrowed it from our children.

It was agreed by the club that this program should be shown to others such as the City Council in encouraging placement of recycle bins in Tahoka.

After repeating the club collect in unison, the meeting adjourned.

Cody Smith Named To Honor List

Cody Smith, a senior finance major from Tahoka, has been named to Texas A&M University's "Distinguished Student" honor list. The designation recognizes students who earned a 3.25 to 3.74 grade point ratio for the 1992 fall semester.

Smith, a Tahoka High School graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Tahoka.

Card of Thanks

God only knows the depth of fear and devastation that overwhelmed me and my family when I was told my newborn daughter, Caitlynn, had to have major open heart surgery to survive and was taken from me and flown by medical jet to the Dallas Children's Medical Center hours after her birth. I could never express the heartfelt gratitude we will forever feel for all the prayers, visits, calls, cards, letters and other acts of love, concern and comfort shown by you in behalf of Caitlynn, myself and my family. Because of the multitude of prayers, wonderful doctors and advanced medical science and God's love and mercy, we have all survived a most frightening and difficult time in our lives only to feel grateful and honored by how much everyone has shown they care!

You're wonderful people and we thank you from the bottom of our hearts. God bless each of you is our prayer.

The Wilson News

by Buster Abbe • 628-6368

Wilson 4-H will meet Monday, Feb. 4, at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The program is tentatively scheduled to be about first aid. All members, parents and guests are invited.

The Lynn County Stock Show is this week with the showing being done Wednesday-Saturday morning. There will be a meal on Saturday from 11:30 to 12:30, prior to the sale, and the sale will begin about 1 p.m. The meal will be served in the show barn and tickets are $4.50 per plate.

Tickets are available from any Lynn County Stock Show Association member, and will be available at the door.

Normally, the first items sold at the sale are the winners from the baked goods show. This is a double good deal in that the buyers actually get a duplicate item of the winning baked goods if they are the high bidder.

Zora Powers had a quiet weekend this past week, since Phyllis and Danny Holt had gone to Albuquerque for Phyllis' aunt's funeral. Phyllis is the woman who stays with Zora when Shorty isn't there. Dyer White, of Lubbock, and Ms. Sadie Langley from Malvern, Ark. did come to visit for a while on Sunday. These folks are old family friends and while Ms. Langley was in town she stopped to visit with Ira and Lucille Clary, who are also old family friends.

The Wilson Fire Department is still receiving some welcome donations. These funds will be used to upgrade the department's equipment and building. All donations are greatly appreciated.

Several people who live outside the Wilson City limits have received letters from the Tahoka fire department explaining their fund raising activities which include the voluntary assessment of $3 per month which is added onto the city water bills in Tahoka. Some of the people who live in the Wilson trade area who have received these letters have asked if the Wilson dept. will receive any of this money that the Tahoka department collects. The answer is no. Money collected by the Tahoka fire department is for their use in upgrading and updating their department. The fire protection in Lynn County is handled by four local volunteer departments who often help each other in fighting fires but are individually responsible for their own funds. The Tahoka department, because it is the largest and more active of the four departments has the largest expense to cover. They need all the financial help they can get.

The Wilson fire department conducts its own fund raisers in response to the need for funds, so the people in the area which could be reached by either department are welcome to contribute to whichever one they wish or better yet, support all, since they are all quality organizations and warrant your support.

What is the rumor about one of the swings at the park being seen swinging all by itself even when it is empty, the air is still, and the other swings on the same set are motionless?

St. John Lutheran Church celebrated its 75th anniversary this last Sunday. About 225 people came out for the morning worship service which featured guest speaker Rev. Rodney Maeker, who grew up as a St. John member. After a catered BBQ meal, several former pastors or members of their families told of remembrances of their time at St. John. Representatives of several of the other churches in the panhandle conference of the ELCA, were in attendance to give greetings and congratulations to the congregation. Also several letters from former pastors, other area congregations, and local congregations were presented. Former pastors Louis Balderach, Clarence Ehler, Leslie Huebner, Malcolm Hoffman, and Bob Zacharias were in attendance as well as Mrs. Elmer Roth, wife of the late C.N. Roth who was pastor of St. John from 1926-1934. Mrs. Roth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Mueller who lived and farmed in the Wilson area for a number of years. After the afternoon service, a reception was held in the educational building.

Wilson Lions club will meet Feb. 4 at 7 p.m. for their first meeting in February. The program will be by a group called "Soujourn" from Lubbock. They will be presenting "The Face of Lincoln," a multimedia presentation about the life of Abraham Lincoln. This is an open meeting and all are invited. The meeting will begin with a meal, followed by the program. If you are not a Lions member and would like to eat with them, contact Lion president David Rohde or club secretary Robert Abbe to let them know how many to prepare for. The meal cost is $5.

The Lions club has decided that since they now have several women as members that from now on, all meetings will be known as Ladies or Spouses nights, and that the members spouses are welcome at all meetings, without invitations on the meeting cards.

The next blood drive scheduled for Wilson will be Feb. 18. Wilson has been lagging behind with their participation in these drives so let's get on the ball and help these folks at United Blood Services. You never know when you might be the givee instead of the giver.

Billy Henry began his new position as Agricultural Sciences and Technology teacher on Jan. 15. Henry grew up in Crowell and graduated from Texas Tech with a degree in Agricultural Education in 1991. He is currently working toward his Master's degree in Educational Administration at Tech.

This year's English III students had a 100% pass rate on the exit level TAAS test in writing and reading. Congratulations to our juniors and a special thanks to Ms. Hoertz for all her hard work in getting our juniors ready for the test.

Members of the English III and Theatre Arts classes attended a performance of Barefoot in the Park at the Lone Star Playhouse this past Thursday. This play may be adapted for our use in the UIL One-Act Play competition.

TFB Praises Governor For Legislative Issue

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau, the state's largest farm organization, has complimented Texas Governor Ann Richards for including a cotton boll weevil eradication program as an emergency issue for the current legislative session.

S.M. True, of Plainview, who raises cotton in addition to grain and cattle, said, "Texas cotton producers appreciate the steps the governor is taking to address one of our most serious production problems."

If the legislature approves a boll weevil eradication program, federal dollars will be available for control of the damaging crop pest, once the program goes into effect. If favorable legislation passes, cotton producers will be asked to vote in a referendum.

Basketball Roundup

The Tahoka Varsity Boys basketball team inched by Sundown Tuesday night, Jan. 26, 47-45 following a fast-paced game. Leading scorer for the Bulldogs was Robert Jackson with 15 points, followed by Cory Whitley with 8.

The Bulldogs won a 66-63 victory over Post last Friday, Jan. 22, one which Coach Hulon Kirkland called "one of the best games as a team we've played all year." He added, "Robert Jackson and Cory Whitley played well, but the entire team came in and carried their full share of the load to win. Brian Moore had his best all-around game to date in hustling, shooting and defense," he added.

The team fell to the Crosbyton Chiefs last Thursday night, 49-32. Leading scoring against Crosbyton was Moore with 9 points and Whitley with 8.

The Varsity Lady Bulldogs lost a tough game Tuesday night against Sundown, who overtook the Tahoka girls 58-48 in the last quarter. Several Tahoka players went to the bench with too many fouls. Leading scorer was Myra Williams with 19 and Katy Huffaker with 12 points.

Against Post last Friday, the Lady Bulldogs fell 47-40. Leading scorer was Myra with 15 and Katy with 8.

Crosbyton edged out Tahoka 53-44 last Thursday, Jan. 21. Leading scorer for the Lady Bulldogs was Katy Huffaker with a whopping 20 points.

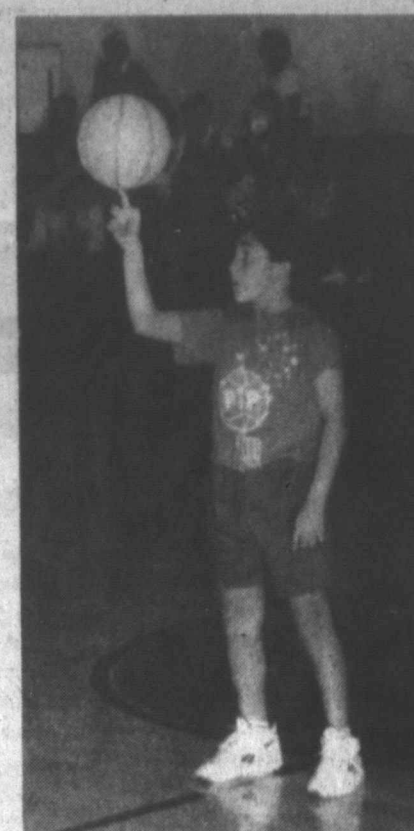

In JV action, sophomore Drew Stone made the winning basket for the junior varsity Bulldogs against Post last Friday night, Jan. 22. This is Stone's second time to sink the winning basket in the last crucial seconds of a game. The Bulldogs beat the Antelopes 31-30.

"Perseverance won the game against Post," said Coach Kirkland. "It seemed like one of those nights where nothing would fall for the Bulldogs. Greg Smith kept us in the game with key shooting and hard-nose rebounding," he added.

High scorers were Curtis Erickson and Smith with 8 points each.

The JV team took a decisive victory over the Sundown Roughnecks this week, beating them 46-29. All players saw some playing time, but Smith took high point honors with 18. Stone was also in double figures with 12.

Last Thursday the boys won 54-35 over the Crosbyton Chiefs. Smith took high point honors with 18 and Terry Gwin with 16.

Tahoka Junior Basketball League Signups Scheduled

Signup dates have been scheduled for the Tahoka Junior Basketball League for students in grades K-6. Signups will be held Feb. 2 at 6 p.m. in the high school gym; Feb. 6 from 9 a.m.-12 noon in the Lyntegar Meeting Room; Feb. 10 from 3:30-5:30 p.m. in the Tahoka School Cafeteria; and Feb. 13 from 9 a.m.-12 noon in the Lyntegar Meeting Room.

Feb. 13 will be the final signup date, with no exceptions to the deadline. Entry fee is $10 per player, or $30 for three or more players in the same family. Money must be returned with signed forms from a parent, with checks payable to "Tahoka Junior Basketball League".

All players in the league will receive a t-shirt which they will be allowed to keep.

The JV boys are 11-2 for the season and 5-0 in district play.
