Compromise On Truman's Plans Sought

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), key foe of President Truman's civil rights program, said today anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills "are less objectionable" than other provisions of the program.

Byrd made his statement in commenting on reports that a compromise may be worked out in the 81st Congress between the administration and Southern Democrats to avoid a Senate filibuster on civil rights.

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), proposed that the administration agree not to push for enactment of legislation barring racial discrimination in employment and the armed forces.

Compromise Doubted

Priest, who may become Democratic House whip in the new 81st Congress, said that if this is done he believes southern senators will agree not to filibuster against anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation.

Byrd expressed doubt that the administration could compromise on civil rights in view of the President's statement yesterday in Key West that he intends to press for the entire program. Byrd said:

"I do not see how the administration can do anything but press for the whole civil rights project in view of Mr. Truman's Key West declaration.

Legislation Predicted

"We regard the anti-lynching and anti-poll tax parts of the program as less obnoxious than the bills to create a permanent Fair Employment Practices Committee and bar racial segregation in the armed services."

Byrd added that he and most other southern senators believe that all phases of the civil rights program "are unconstitutional." He said:

"This applies to all parts of the administration's racial program. We could never vote for any part of it."

Vice President-Elect Barkley predicted that the new Congress would enact some sort of civil rights legislation.

Barkley, who returned to Washington after visiting Mr. Truman at Key West, said that he "presumed" the President would "stand by" all his civil rights recommendations.

AFL Invites CIO, Miners Into Powerful Labor Organization

By ROBERT VINCENT
INS Staff Correspondent

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17—The American Federation of Labor today extended a new invitation to the CIO and United Mine Workers to join it in a single powerful labor movement.

The 700 delegates to the AFL's 67th annual convention in Cincinnati unanimously adopted a resolution instructing its policy-making executive committee to work for creation of one national labor union.

The resolution was directed especially to the CIO. However ,the executive committee already had reported favorably on re-affiliation with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

The convention then voted to retain permanently its political affiliate, Labor's League for Political Education, "on a national, state and local level."

However, the executive committee, composed of officers of 105 national and international unions, decided to finance the league's educational work by assessing members 10 cents.

Earlier, the delegates voted to increase the yearly salaries of President William Green and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany by $5,000 to $25,000 and $23,000, re-

Chinese Claim Red Toll Of 93,000 Men

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, Nov. 17—The Chinese government claimed a Communist casualty toll of 93,000 today in the million-man battle for Suchow—key to the fate of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government.

The fighting in which the Nationalists have claimed a major victory east of Suchow raged into its eighth day with the issue still in doubt although Suchow remained in Nationalist hands.

Marines Sent To City

In an unexplained move, the Chinese cabinet declared martial law in the north China port of Tsingtao, site of a United States naval base.

Some observers believed the action was taken in connection with reported plans for a new Communist offensive in Shantung province where the Reds occupy the provincial capital of Tsinan.

Persistent rumors in Nanking that the government was preparing to move its headquarters to Canton could not be verified by official sources.

Evacuation Completed

Meanwhile, the joint U.S. military advisory group headquarters in Nanking announced that it has completed the air lift evacuation of dependents from the Communist imperiled capital.

The dependents, mostly women and children, were flown to Tsingtao and Shanghai where they will be put aboard homebound U. S. Army transports.

The announcement said a big reduction in the group's personnel has not been accomplished yet. It is planned to send home all but 50 of the 1,300 officers and men in the command.

Reports from Suchow, 175 miles from Nanking where it is believed that China's civil war is being finally decided, continued to conflict.

Despite the government's claim of victory east of Suchow yesterday, it was announced that a new defense line is being formed along the Huai river, 100 miles north of the Nanking-Shanghai area.

A Communist break-through at Suchow would leave this area virtually defenseless.

Reds Claim Major Gains

The government had cheered loyalist circles with the announcement that 93,000 casualities were suffered by the Communists and

HST, Forrestal To Meet Today

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 17.—Word that Secretary of Defense Forrestal is flying here tomorrow to talk with President Truman coincided with grave developments in China.

The White House tonight confirmed the President has received a letter direct from General Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Chinese government.

White House spokesmen would not disclose its total contents or comment upon the letter, but it was later learned it contained an appeal for encouragement to the hard-pressed armies and people of Nationalist China in their critical battle with the Communists. This appeal parallels a similar request made by Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo to Undersecretary of State Lovett Thursday.

Important Talks Loom

That Forrestal's trip to the President's vacation retreat here for lunch might concern more than a possible discussion of how long he will remain in the cabinet was indicated by:

1. The defense secretary's announcement at a news conference in Washington that Marine forces are to be increased by 1,250 men at Tsingtao, China.

2. His further disclosure that three transports are going into Chinese ports to remove Americans from the path of advancing Communist forces. There are now 3,600 Marines at Tsingtao.

3. Undersecretary of State Lovett's report that the President had received a letter direct from the Chinese leader.

4. President Truman's own assertion at a news conference here yesterday that we are in direct communication with the Chinese president.

Marshall Due Monday

5. Evidence here that Lovett was in telephone communication with the temporary White House here more than once today.

Forrestal also told his news conference that while he had submitted his resignation, along with other members of the cabinet, he is "at the service of the President."

This was just another indication that his desire to see the President did not concern his own future, but a serious foreign policy discussion.

This would be a preliminary to a full scale review of the international picture Monday at the White House with Secretary of State Marshall and ECA roving Ambassador Harriman. Mr. Truman is flying back to Washington Sunday.

Ships Rushed To Evacuate U.S. Citizens

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — The Navy is sending 1,250 Marines along with ships to China to evacuate American civilians ahead of the advancing Communist armies.

The Marines, traveling light from Guam, will reinforce 3,600 now stationed at naval headquarters at Tsingtao, vital port city on the edge of the Communist battle line. They are to leave Guam next Tuesday in the transport Bayfield, a Navy announcement said.

The number of civilians fleeing China was not estimated. One high speed transport, the Gosselin, is due at Shanghai from Tsingtao tomorrow. A larger one, the General H. W. Butner, arrives at Shanghai Friday from Manila. Officials said the Bayfield with a capacity of 1,500 would be available for evacuees at Tsingtao.

To Aid Evacuation

Earlier in the day, Secretary of Defense Forrestal disclosed that Marines would be sent to Tsingtao, but he put the number at 1,000. It was some two hours later before the Navy confirmed the movement and set the figure higher.

Forrestal didn't make it clear whether the Marines would fight the Reds if necessary to maintain the U. S. position at Tsingtao.

The Navy announcement said: "This Marine force will assist in the orderly evacuation of the United States nationals through the port of Tsingtao. It is expected that in the near future United States nationals from Tsingtao and the interior will be evacuated. The Navy is taking these steps to meet evacuation problems."

Question Unanswered

What to do if the Communist horde grabs the city has become a growing question. It involves American naval strategy, and American prestige. Tsingtao, a Yellow sea port, is China headquarters and fleet anchorage for the Navy. There are 3,600 Marines there now, along with a 12-ship task force.

At a news conference, Forrestal was asked:

1. Would the Marines "fight" Communists if they seize Tsingtao? He wouldn't comment. "Their purpose," he explained, "is to aid whatever steps are necessary for evacuation."

Western Allies Balk At Talks With Reds

UN Leaders Renew Berlin Peace Appeal

By EDWARD CURTIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Nov. 17 — United Nations leaders Herbert V. Evatt and Trygve Lie renewed their appeal for Berlin peace today after the western powers refused once again to negotiate with Russia until the blockade is lifted.

The western power viewpoint was set forth in three separate notes handed to the assembly president and secretary-general by the United States, Britain and France this afternoon.

* * *

These notes, replying to last Saturday's appeal by Lie and Evatt for four power Berlin peace talks, said the Berlin situation is still a threat to peace and must remain in the hands of the Security Council under present circumstances.

The new Lie-Evatt plea carries a significant shift in emphasis. In the original appeal the stress was placed on possible four-power talks; in today's appeal, the two leaders urged the big powers to note "in particular" the part of the earlier Lie-Evatt letter calling on them to "lend their full and active support to the efforts at mediation of the Berlin dispute by the president of the Security Council."

One "neutral" source said the new Lie-Evatt statement apparently indicated the two leaders had accepted the western view that the Berlin conflict should remain in the Security Council.

In any event, it seemed obvious that the appeal to cooperate with Council President Juan Atilio Bramuglia was directed at Russia since each of the three western powers in their replies to Lie and Evatt specifically pledged cooperation with Bramuglia.

Deeds Are Sought

A UN source said Lie and Evatt expected no formal answer to their latest appeal.

"What is wanted is an answer in deeds, not in words," this source said.

In the past Russia has taken the position that the Berlin dispute should be settled by the council of foreign ministers and not by the Security Council. In her reply to the Lie-Evatt note yesterday, Russia made no reference to the Security Council but indicated she would be willing to discuss the Berlin issue either in the council of ministers, along with the entire German problem, or possibly in a meeting of the big four chief executives.

It was noted, however, that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky conferred informally several times with Bramuglia last month when the Argentine foreign minister was trying to win big power agreement on a formula drafted by the council's six neutral members. This formula eventually was vetoed by Russia.

Bramuglia, who was reported to

Allies Study Own Blockade Plans

BERLIN, Nov. 17 (INS) — A top-ranking American informant said tonight the Western Allies are considering drastic counter-blockade moves in Berlin—but will use them only if Russia persists in trying to wreck the western sectors.

This highly placed informant said the American, British and French military government plans could speedily strangle the Soviet-controlled eastern sector "in a matter of weeks" and increase the already heavy Russian economic burden in all of Germany.

This American stressed that the western powers do not want to resort to these "squeeze play" measures until they had exhausted every possibility of successful negotiation.

The informant did not say at what point the western moves might be put into effect, but he did say the Allies "are tired of being pushed around."

One phase of this plan would be a prohibition of barge travel for Russian supplies at points through the British sector of Berlin. The bulk of Russian supplies for the eastern zone of the city travel this way.

A second device to harass the Russians would be the banning of all Soviet rail service through the British and U. S. sectors which would cut off another important supply line.

In addition the western powers could expel the Soviets from all the buildings they now use in the western sector, including the Reichsbahn directorate in the U. S. sector and the Berlin radio center in the British zone.

The American source who disclosed these plans pointed out also that the western powers could disorganize the Russian communications network since Soviet telephone headquarters are in the U. S. sector.

Plan To Hold Elections In Spring May Be Suggested

DALLAS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Primary elections in the spring instead of in the summer?

That's a possibility, says a member of the Texas Association of Democratic county chairmen. The association holds a one-day meeting here tomorrow.

County Chairman W. A. McIntosh of Gilmer said tonight that the chairmen would probably propose the election date change.

Primaries in April and May instead of in July and August would be advisable because of hot summer temperatures, McIntosh said. He said that a resolution would ask that the primaries be held on Tuesdays instead of on Saturdays. That would result in less delay in making election returns, he said.

Soviets May Seal Off Red Zone

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 17—The Russians announced tonight a new system of passes which threatened to seal off the Soviet sector of Berlin from the three western sectors.

The new system will apply to the entire Soviet occupation zone and the Russian-controlled area of Berlin.

Col. Frank S. Howley, the U.S. military governor in Berlin, said the Russians had not told the other powers of the move. He said their ability to act alone and in violation of four-power regulations "seems without limit."

The Russians said over the Berlin radio and through the Soviet-licensed news agency ADN that starting tomorrow three kinds of identity cards would be in use: for Germans, for those without nationality and for "foreigners."

It was not clear what the Russians meant by "foreigners." Both ADN and the Soviet news bureau did not elaborate except to say another announcement may be made later.

U.S. Seeks End To Dock Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (INS)—The federal government stepped into the East coast longshoremen's strike today hopeful of settling the eight-day tieup which has idled thousands of other workers and caused port and business losses estimated in the millions.

The government's ace "trouble-shooter"—William N. Margolis of the Federal Conciliation and Mediation service—set up conferences with employer and union groups shortly after his arrival in New York.

Tonight Margolis said that both sides had been "very cooperative." He announced that he will hold a joint meeting with employer and union representatives—the first since the strike started—at 11 a. m. Friday.

Losses In Millions

Hardest hit by the walkout of 45,000 AFL dock workers is the export-import trade. The New York Board of Trade alone estimated that losses in the city amount to $25,000,000 a day.

Marshall plan officials estimate that 20,000 tons of "high quality" cargoes are being held up daily and their value ranges from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Importers of perishable commodities fear that unless their cargoes are unloaded within the next 48 hours their losses will run into millions of dollars. An estimated $30,000 worth of bananas is reported rotting at a

Cheaper Feed May Bring Cut In Meat Prices Next Year

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Nov. 17. (INS)—Lower meat prices for consumers in 1949 were foreseen indirectly today in an observation made by a Fort Collins economics expert.

Dr. T. R. Burdick, chief economist of the Colorado A. & M. college experiment station, said that a 38 per cent decrease in hay and grain costs may make it possible to fatten cattle this winter on the narrowest price margin in more than 30 years.

Since feed formerly has constituted about 80 per cent of feed lot costs, the outcome of decreased feed prices implied lower meat costs next year. Dr. Burdick said that in 1947, feed accounted for 85 per cent of fattening costs.

IN December we received word that the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain, each accompanied by a considerable civil and military staff, would hold a meeting in Casablanca during the month of January. We were directed to make all preparations for the meeting.

I have never learned the exact reasons that led the President and the Prime Minister to choose Casablanca as the location for the conference. Possibly the spot was selected with the idea that Premier Stalin might be induced to come that far to join in a conference; possibly the President and Prime Minister saw certain psychological advantages in meeting at a place so lately seized by Allied forces.

At the time it seemed to us a risky thing to do, both because hostile bombers were occasionally visiting that area and because there were many dissident elements in the population, including number of fanatics who might be expected to undertake any kind of extreme action. Preparations for the meeting involved anxious care and a very considerable amount of work, not the least of which was spent to preserve secrecy.

The conference convened on schedule. During the course of its deliberations a number of British and American officers of all services were called before it in the role of professional witnesses. I spent a complete day at the conference, after a journey that suddenly and unexpectedly became somewhat hazardous owing to the loss of two engines. Under orders of the pilot, Captain Jock Reedy, we flew the last fifty miles of the journey with all the passengers standing by the nearest exits, equipped in parachutes and ready to jump on an instant's notice. With an anxious thought for an old football knee, I was delighted that I did not have to adopt this method of disembarkation.

I had long talks with General Marshall, the Prime Minister, and others. In the early evening the President sent word that he would like to see me alone. This was one of several intimate and private

Round-The-World Flier Pays Short Visit In Lubbock

George Truman, the man who, with his partner, Cliff Evans, flew Piper Cub super cruisers around the world last year, dropped into Lubbock late Wednesday in the same around-the-world, flag bedecked plane.

The modern-day adventurer is now engaged in a series of lectures connected with an aviation educational program, and says emphatically that he will never attempt another trip around the globe, at least not in a small plane. The educational lectures he is now giving all over the country are sponsored by various groups where he appears, such as high schools, flight schools, clubs and the like.

On Way To Washington

Truman is now on his way back to Washington, D. C., his present home, from Douglas, Ariz., where he made his last appearance. He stopped for the night in Lubbock to visit a friend, Roy Neal, Piper Cub distributor for the West Texas area, who also operates a flight school here. The flight from Lubbock this morning will probably be made around 10 a. m., when he warms up the engine on the famous plane, which is now plastered with flags from almost every country of the world.

Truman and Evans, each flying their own small planes, took off for their dual round-the-world trip on Aug. 9, 1947, from New York City, and between then and Dec. 10 of the same year, when they landed at the same field, they spent 265 hours in the air.

Truman was born in Saskatchewan, Canada, but has spent

Cold Front To Hit South Plains Tonight

The Weatherman forecasts cloudy skies and cooler weather today and Friday, with low temperatures dropping near the freezing mark tonight as the result of a weak cold front slated to move into the area this morning.

Minimum temperatures this morning, however, are not expected to drop below the high 30's, the Weather bureau north of the city said at midnight. Wednesday's high was 78 degrees and the minimum was 36.

High winds which Wednesday whipped up dust clouds over the South Plains reached a sustained high of 28 miles per hour. Fairly high winds are forecast for today, but are not expected to reach above the Wednesday mark. The wind was still blowing at 19 miles per hour at midnight.

Order Issued In Paving Dispute

Fronia S. Johnston, an elderly single woman living on the North end of Ave. A between Fourth and Sixth, was placed under temporary restraining order of 99th district court Wednesday afternoon, after a petition filed by the City of Lubbock, charged she had threatened to stop a paving project in that vicinity by use of a shotgun.

The petition, filed by Vaughn E. Wilson, city attorney, informed the court the woman had placed signs or obstructions warning all doing the actual construction to desist, or else be injured.

Hearing Set Nov. 27

It asked the court to issue a restraining order enjoining her from threatening or otherwise abusing all concerned in the project, on any part of Fourth. It asked also that she be enjoined from carrying weapons near Fourth lying west of the east boundry of section 1, block 0, or in the vicinity of where workmen are constructing a highway extending from the center of the intersection of Sixth and Ave. A northwestward and across Fourth and beyond the north boundry line of section 1, block 0.

The petitioner further asked that Miss Johnston be cited to appear and answer, and show cause why

29 Persons Hurt As Two Trains Crash

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — The "Meadowlark," fast streamliner of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, crashed into the rear of a suburban train tonight near Dolton, outside of Chicago, and at least 29 persons were injured, .

The fast train was running about an hour late after replacing its diesel engine shortly after leaving Chicago.

Most of the injured suffered light bruises, lacerations and cuts. They were taken to the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, Ill., and to the Thompson clinic at Dolton.

S. E. Madix, Tuscola, Ill., and his wife were passengers aboard the Meadowlark. Madix told a reporter he was sitting in the first passenger car when "suddenly there was a big jolt."

"I was braced in my chair so I didn't get hurt, but my wife was thrown against the seat in front of us and was hurt."

He said there was "plenty of confusion and noise, but no panic" after the crash.

Three Persons Burned In Quanah Rooming House Fire

QUANAH, Nov. 17. (AP)—Three Quanah residents suffered serious burns here tonight when a fire swept the two story Willis rooming house, long a landmark in this county.

The injured were:

Rube Lindsey, 66, who suffered second and third degree burns on the face and back and injury to his back when he jumped from the top floor.

Arch G. Hull, 60, who received burns on the face, neck and back.

John Simpson, 79, who was burned on the face, neck and back.

The three men either jumped or swung down from their second story windows and were taken to Memorial hospital where the condition of Lindsey and Hull was termed critical.

Sanders Loses Contempt Fight

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. (AP) — The supreme court today refused relief for Judge-elect P. C. Sanders from a contempt of court charge and remanded him to the custody of the sheriff of Bexar county.

Sanders had been charged in contempt of court Nov. 9 when he tried to take over the bench of the 37th district court in San Antonio to which he had been elected in the Nov. 2 general election.

Judge William C. Davis, who had been appointed to fill the unexpired term after the death of Judge Robert W. Terrell, was preparing to hear a divorce suit in the court at the time.

Ran For Full Term

The supreme court held that Sanders had "neither legal right nor color of legal right to the judgeship on Nov. 9."

"In the first place, he was never in any sense a candidate for the unexpired term of Judge Terrell, deceased, either in the primary or in the general lection, but ran for the full term to begin on Jan. 1, 1949, and to end on Dec. 31, 1952," the appeal court's written opinion said.

As such candidate, he knew, as the electors were presumed to know, that under the provisions of . . Texas statutes. the term of office he was seeking did not and could not begin until Jan. 1., 1949."

The supreme court noted that "any other conclusions" would make the beginning of a term of office depend on "the will of the electee rather than the will of the electors."

Sanders had contended that the appointment of Judge Davis was

FRENCH FEARFUL OF RENEWED GERMAN AGGRESSION

United States, Britain, France Are Divided Over Future Control Of Germany's Industrial Power

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — The United States, Britain and France are still badly split over eventual control of the industrial power of western Germany—the industrial heart of Europe.

This became apparent today as American officials reviewed the latest French objections to British-American plans for eventually turning Ruhr management and ownership over to the Germans themselves.

The French are sticking to their long-time insistence on some form of international control and operation of the great Ruhr resources—on which depend the success of the Marshall plan and other European recovery projects.

The United States and Britain take the view that a primary problem now is incentive for German workers to produce and that one major inducement for them is eventual German operation of German industries.

As American officials size up the situation at the moment, there is no disagreement between the United States on one hand and France on the other over the need for long range security against reborn German aggression. The argument rather, according to the American view, is how to achieve security in relation to production required for European recovery.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet spent 40 minutes with Undersecretary of State Lovett going over the situation yesterday and pressing his government's arguments for an international hand in the management of Ruhr industries as well as long-term international control.

Gen. Charles De Gaulle told newsmen in Paris today that the plan to turn the Rhur coal mines and steel mills back to the Ger-

$70,000,000 PLAN PROPOSED

Federal Official Urges Major Expansion Of Medical Facilities

By EARLE MARCKRES
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Federal administrator Oscar Ewing today proposed expansion of medical facilities and services under a 10-year national health insurance program.

The health program, designed at President Truman's request, is part of an estimated overall three billion dollar plan for expanded federal security which the chief executive is expected to request of the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Huge Fund Urged

Shortly after Ewing made his proposal, the State and Territorial Health Officers association, before whom he spoke, recommended that the U. S. spend $70,000,000 on state and local health during the 1950 fiscal year.

This sum would be $40,000,000 above the present ceiling on federal grants-in-aid for state and local health units and the improvement of general and mental health conditions.

Surgeon General Dr. Leonard Scheele told reporters that he will ask Mr. Truman "to remove the ceiling" and indicated that he favors the $70,000,000 proposal.

The association, conferring with federal health officials, urged elevation of the federal security agency to a department of health, education and welfare. The President also is expected to make this request of the new Congress. Other recommendations included:

Other Proposals Made

1. That the federal government seek "additional funds" to increase the recruiting and training of public health officials.

2. That "a form of wartime organization" be developed immediately at local levels to meet the "extraordinary demands of war" in the field of health.

Dr. Valdo A. Getting, Massachusetts commissioner of public health and retiring president of the Health Officers association, said that the $70,000,000 sum proposed would provide a federal grant-in-aid of about 50 cents per capita.

He explained that to this amount the state and local governments would add one dollar per capita to provide an average of adequate service.

Getting added that total federal, state and local contributions in this connection now average only 39 cents per capita.

He said that fewer than five per cent of the nation's total population "has adequate minimum health service," and more than 40 per cent have no local health service whatever. Getting said:

"Thousands of persons are dying annually for reasons which could have been prevented."

Onions should be held under water while peeling to avoid shedding of tears.

Star Farmer Group Selects Lubbock Man As Officer

Elton Ellison of Lubbock, who as a member of the Cooper Future Farmers of America chapter won in 1944 the title of Star Farmer of America, the nation's top honor in FFA activities, was elected secretary-treasurer of a Star Farmer association, organized Tuesday at Kansas City in connection with the FFA national convention.

The press dispatch did not give further details concerning other association officers, or the plans and purposes of the group. Based on its name ,however, the organization would be made up of FFA members who have been declared annual winners of the Star farmer award since the designation was started 20 years ago.

Is Married Now

Ellison, now married and living with his family at 3113 Twenty-ninth street, is employed by the Lubbock Implement company. His wife was Betty Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Perkins, 2405 Ninth.

His win of the 1944 award came shortly after he entered military service, and since he was unable to obtain leave to attend the convention and accept the award personally, his wife made the trip from California, where he was in training, to accept the award in his behalf.

Enters Military Service

Ellison entered service Aug. 24, 1944. He had been in college the previous year, but retained his affiliation with the Cooper FFA chapter, where during his high school career his agricultural coaching had been done by J. D. Strickland, vocational agriculture teacher who now is in business at Plainview.

He is the only one from Texas who has ever won the Star Farmer award. The designation this year went to 19-year-old Kenneth Lewayne Cheatham, of Greenville, Ill. With the honor goes a check for $1,000.

A total of 214 FFA members received the American Farmer award this year, second to highest honor conferred by the organization. These included Alton Brazell of Lubbock, Dale Harrell of Ralls, and Robert Bruce Isom of Idalou.

Friends Must Pick Up Funds Donated To Aid Odessa Woman

ODESSA, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—Friends of Mrs. Emma Louise Wilson will get 48 hours' notice to pick up the money they donated to help her pay the $2,181 she is accused of embezzling from the Fort Worth Trinity bank.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson changed Mrs. Wilson's original 18-month jail sentence to one year on probation in a decision at Fort Worth yesterday.

The Odessa American, which had started the fund-raising campaign last Saturday, and Mrs. Wilson's personal friends could not agree with Judge Davidson, who said he didn't think the public should be asked to help her pay back the money.

"We did not condone in any way the crime with which Mrs. Wilson was charged," publisher V. L. Debolt of the American said. "But when we learned that the judge was lenient enough to permit her to return to her four daughters, we felt someone should help.

"We were trying to help the children, and if we helped the mother in doing so, that was all right too."

Family Of Condemned Jap Leader Does Not Want Petition

TOKYO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Koki Hirota's family does not want a petition circulated to save him from the gallows.

A son of the former premier asked that such a petition be stopped.

Hirota was one of seven Japanese war leaders condemned to be hanged by the International War tribunal. The petition in his behalf is being circulated by a girl friend of his daughter.

Said the son, Masao Hirota: "We feel grateful for the idea expressed by the petition movement but are rather disturbed about it. We have asked our attorney to stop it."

Houston Harris, 67, a negro who lives in Slaton, escaped injury when the automobile he was driving overturned at about 7:45 a. m. Wednesday two miles from Lubbock on the Slaton highway. Harris, driving to work in Lubbock, started to pass a car when that car pulled to the left to pass a third vehicle ahead. Harris swerved his 1936 Chevrolet sedan into the bar ditch, where it overturned. Only slight damage was done to the car, however, and he drove it into town after it had been righted.

Pickett Will Urge Increased Forest Fire Fighting Funds

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Noting a current outbreak of forest fires over East Texas, Rep. Pickett (D-Tex) said today he will press in the new Congress for increased federal forest fire lighting funds.

"The present annual appropriation by Congress for this cause is only $9,000,000," Picekett told a reporter.

"As soon as the new session gets underway I will reintroduce legislation I sponsored during the past year to increase this to $20,000,000. That is a minimum that should be provided. It would pay huge dividends in reducing timber losses."

Fire Losses Heavy

He said 1948 forest fire losses in Texas may exceed those of last year, when the damage in one section of East Texas alone amounted to more than $1,000,000.

An agriculture subcommittee amended and approved Pickett's bill but it never reached the House.

The Texan's measure originally called for $11,000,000 as federal aid for fighting forest fires in the year ending June 30, 1950, with an increase of $2,000,000 each year for four years and $1,000,000 for the fifth year. The sum would then have remained at $20,000,000 annually.

The subcommittee voted for a flat $13,000,000 annual fund.

Pickett said he hopes to get his bill through unchanged next year.

Texas Gets Small Share

Texas' share of the $9,000,000 federal appropriation this fiscal year is $162,069. The state put up another $223,074 and contributions from private forest owners in the state for fire fighting provided an additional $119,727.

Pickett said he had been informed Texas Forest service officials would try next year to get the Texas legislature to provide $900,000 during the 1949-50 fiscal year and $750,000 during the 1950-51 fiscal year.

Federal aid to states is on a sliding basis which should approximate one dollar for each dollar provided by the state governments, Pickett said, but he contended it actually amounts to only about 50 cents of federal money for each $1 put up by the states.

The ratio of aid to the states could be substantially increased if his legislation is passed, Pickett said.

Tucker Auto Corporation Official Resigns Position

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Herbert Morley, a director and vice president of the Tucker corporation, resigned today from the automobile company.

Morley accused President Preston T. Tucker of creating conditions under which "no business can be properly conducted." He said that Tucker by-passed and withheld information from the board of directors.

Morley is one of 16 defendants in a federal receivership suit brought against the corporation. Two stockholders and two distributors charged the firm with mismanagement. A hearing on their complaint will be heard here Friday, but Morley has not said what position he will take.

'HUMMON' MAY AMAZE GEORGIA

Talmadge Invites Everyone To His Inauguration As Governor

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Nov. 17 — Once upon a time we came up with a president named Andrew Jackson who abhored political parties, though he had one behind him, and decided to think of himself as a man of the people, for the people and by the people.

So when he latched on to the White House he invited all those who had put him in to come to see him on his inauguration and drink the house red-eye. A lot of them came, and horrified memoirs of his wife note that the frontiersmen and the like broke up the joint. They ripped the stuffings out of chairs that had been sent over by LaFayette some years previously, swung from the chandeliers and beat each other unconscious with the bottled joys of the time.

Thompson Fled Mansion

There was a modest throwback to those days here today at the governor's mansion when the youngest governor in the United States—Hummon Talmadge—was installed as the head man of this largest and proudest state east of the Mississippi.

Seems that acting governor Melvin Thompson, a retreaded country schoolteacher who was given the governing job by the supreme court after the death of Eugene (Ole 'Gene) Talmadge a few years ago, and who was beaten by a rather handy margin in the recent showdown with young Hummon, fled the mansion in despair a week ago in anticipation of Hummon's taking over.

This was a deed of considerable discretion, because Hummon, who apes his old man in some particulars but, curiously, not in all of them, had make a Jacksonian gesture and invited all those who voted for him to show up at the mansion for the inaugural shindig. Matter of fact he went ole Hick, his extrovert father, and Old Hickery, the prez, one better. Hummon invited everybody. The blanket invitation specifically said ". . . barefooted or tuxedoes."

Enemies Fought Hard

Old Gene used to graze cattle on the mansion grounds when he was handling the job down here. But his son, though a farmer, probably won't go in for that. There seems to be a belief here that Hummon will branch off in several different directions from the iron-bound white-supremacy dictums of the old man. His inaugural address, which reached Atlanta newsdesks a day before today's party, sounded as if it had been concocted by Tom Dewey's speech-writers. It mentioned unity, which Hummon apparently considers a safe word to use after attracting 354,711 votes. Which were enough.

Even Hummon's most vibrant enemies — including those who tried their best to wipe out Georgia's "little electoral college" system, which made Hummon head man though nearly half of the voters of the state were indignantly opposed to him—are inclined to say that he might do a good job.

Tech Alumni Group To Hold Business Meeting In Abilene

The executive board of the Texas Technological college Alumni and Ex-Students association will meet at 10 a. m. Nov. 27 in Abilene to discuss plans for developing the Tech loyalty fund and appoint committees to install new chapters and carry out the new years work, D. M. McElroy, executive secretary, announced Wednesday.

The meeting will be held in the Wooten hotel, and the group of nine board members will attend the Tech-Hardin Simmons football game in the afternoon. Members of the board are McElroy, of Lubbock; Hurley Carpenter, of Lubbock, president of the board; E. A. McCullough, of Midland; Wayne Sellers, of Fort Worth; Vestal Askew, of Sonora; Fred Rollins, of El Paso; O. R. "Chick" McElya, of Dallas; Guy Carter, of Dallas; and George Langford, of Lubbock.

Ford Says Fourth Round Of Wage Boosts 'Inevitable'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17. (AP) —Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., said today a fourth round of wage increases "is inevitable."

"Workers are going to get another pay boost," Ford told a news conference. "I don't think anything can prevent it."

Ford came here to inspect the Ford assembly plant at nearby Chester, Pa.

The 31-year-old executive, commenting on the possible wage increase, said flatly:

"Prices can't go anywhere but up. If wages go up and materials go up, prices too must go up. There is no place else for them to go."

Would price control help?

"No", Ford insisted. "Price control would wreck the nation—the auto industry included—and ruin the economy.

"It is ridiculous to think that any person sitting in Washington can tell a company how much to charge for its product."

A friendly warning on a frosty morning!

When the geese head South, that's the time for you to head for the nearest Conoco station . . . and a change to winter-grade Conoco Nth Motor Oil.

The pay-off will come on the first frosty morning. A touch of your toe to the starter sends free-flowing Nth on its way through your engine. That's because lighter, freer-flowing winter-grade Nth is specially refined to help eliminate balky, grinding starts . . . to save wear on your battery.

And Nth pays off all winter long. A special added ingredient fastens an extra film of lubricant so closely to your engine's working parts that metal surfaces are actually OIL-PLATED. This OIL-PLATING stays up on cylinder walls . . . won't all drain down, even overnight. That's why you get extra protection from "dry" friction starts . . . from sludge and carbon due to wear.

So make a change for the better. Right now . . . this minute . . . this morning . . .

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THE only way you can impress some people is to do something that you cannot afford.

* * *

OBSERVATION — An Eastern columnist says he finds two chief faults with the world. Too many of the women are not attractive, and too many of the men lack brains. If only one of these could be corrected, he would prefer the first.

The writer must be a young man. As one grows older he realizes that wisdom is to be preferred over looks, which will not stay with you, no matter what the beauty culturists say.

* * *

SUGGESTION

IF you listen to the radio program, "Sing It Again," you may be trying to decide who is possessor of the "phantom voice." Choc Hutcheson says he thinks it belongs to Harold (Red) Grange, the "galloping ghost" of football fame several years ago.

* * *

THE OLDER PERSON

THOUSANDS of words are written daily on the problems of the younger generation and the life and times of young couples and middle-aged ones. We think something should be done about problems of the aged and we are not speaking in terms of money exactly, because there is a lot more to living than the cost of it.

From conversations with elderly women from time to time we have gathered that neglect and loneliness are the two most dreaded spectres in their lives.

They like to have regular jobs to do around the house and not to be perched in a rocking chair or packed away in moth balls.

* * *

They like to have persons listen to their views. After one has lived a good many years, she has ideas based on vaulable experience. We'll admit one difficulty encountered here is in getting an old person to refrain from giving her views all of the time and in refusing to listen to any new ones.

And grandmothers like to be allowed outside contacts. A person of all ages who stays forever within four walls loses all perspective.

* * *

LOST BUTTON

A READER writes she lost a black button with shiny trim off her suit coat and she is provoked about it because it "just made the suit." All of our feminine readers will understand her distress. She thinks she lost the button in front of Hotel Lubbock and if someone has found the pretty button and will telephone 9709 it will be appreciated.

DOG DEPT.

MRS. C. J. SHIPLEY, 1632 Eighth, says her five year old son is heartbroken because of the disappearance of his light blonde cocker spaniel that was last seen Monday night in the 700-block on Ave. Q. He has had the dog, named Honey and one and one-half years old, since she was a puppy and life is rather drab to him just now. She wears a brown collar with veterinary rabies tag and license tag attached and if any of our readers see her and telephone 2-6852 a small boy will be made happy at Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Harry Wheeler, 2420 Twenty-sixth, telephone 4823, says her 7-months old light red female cocker has left home. The little animal is being treated for a ring worm on its mouth and its owner is especially anxious to get it back. It does not wear tags and is a friendly little animal.

Littlefield Wildcats, Post Antelopes To Clash For 4-A Championship Friday

Winner To Get Playoff Berth

Championship of District 4-A, and the right to represent the loop in bi-district playoff competition, will be at stake when the Littlefield Wildcats tangle with the Post Antelopes at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Post.

The Wildcats were voted as the representative of the north 4-A circuit following their 7-6 upset win over Levelland last weekend. The Littlefield victory threw the north bracket into a three-way tie between Littlefield, Sundown and Levelland, since each team had been defeated once in conference play. A meeting of north 4-A officials resulted in the selection of Littlefield as the district representative.

Post's Antelopes chalked up an impressive record in moving to the south 4-A crown, with a record of nine consecutive wins this season. The Antelopes topped the barrier to a south bracket title last weekend, with a 12-6 win over Slaton.

5000 Attendance Seen

An overflow crowd of more than 5,000 persons is expected to jam Antelope field for the crucial setto, Post officials reported last night, and the attendance may be boosted still higher. All regular tickets for the game have been sold, but officials reported last night that another 1,000 bleacher seats will be erected in the end zone in order to provide more space for the fans.

An extremely close game is predicted when the two teams clash, since both elevens boast strong defenses and dangerous offenses. Post has an edge in scoring punch, with speedsters Junior Malouf and Ronnie Boucher in the secondary, but the Wildcats have a heavier, more impressive forward wall.

The difference in the two teams is shown by the statistics for the season. Littlefield has won a total of five games this season, while losing two games and deadlocking two tilts. Only one of the losses was in district play, however. The Wildcats have tallied a total of 100 points this season, against 49 for their nine opponents.

Post Has Won Nine

Post has chalked up a total of 212 points in winning nine straight games this year, against 32 for the opposition.

Littlefield's Wildcats are not strangers to playoff competition, since Wildcat elevens reached bi-district play the first three years that Coach Jay Fikes took over the duties as head mentor. The Wildcats won a bi-district title in 1944, copped the regional crown in '45, then took bi-district honors in 1946. Last year, the Wildcats were defeated by Levelland for the district crown.

Post was edged out by Tahoka for their district championship last year, as Coach Bing Bingham's eleven chalked up a fine record, then surged back this year to gain the playoff berth.

Both squads will be in near-top physical condition for the battle, mentors reported Wednesday night, although several key players will be slowed by injuries. Littlefield's Jiggs Walker, ace fullback who has been out of action for several weeks, will probably see little action. Several of the Post players are hampered by bruised and pulled muscles.

Probable Starters

Probable starters for Littlefield will include Bill Currin and Billy Perkins, ends; Jerry Cotter and John Fowler, tackles; Freddie Dirickson and Bill Renfro, guards; George Kirk, center; John Srygley, quarterback; Frank Gage, right half; Lilburn Bales, left half; and Tommy Bailes, fullback.

Post starters will be Maurice Fluitt and Buddy Hayes, ends; Maurice Stelzer and George Pierce, tackles; Calvin Storie and Donald Carpenter, guards; Jimmie Smith, center; Charlie McGuire, quarterback; Kay Kirkpatrick, right half; Junior Malouf, left half; and Ronnie Boucher, fullback.

LOBO HALFBACK— Billy McLaughlin is one of the Texas boys on the New Mexico football team, hailing from Borger. McLaughlin is a 19-year-old, 176-pound, five foot ten inch back and is taking an education major. The rugged halfback probably will see a lot of action against Texas Tech Saturday.

Techsans Hold Intensive Drill

Horseplay still was prominent on the gridiron at Texas Tech yesterday afternoon, as the Red Raiders continued to go through offensive drills in preparation for their meeting with New Mexico university here Saturday.

The kidding and general easy going attitude wasn't quite as evident as Tuesday, but there was enough of it left to show that the gridders aren't entirely ready for a serious game yet. At the same time, several players took stories of their overconfidence seriously and offered to demonstrate just how intent they were on winning.

Morgan In Good Mood

To all of which the coaches opined "fine, but let's not play Hardin-Simmons Saturday. We're playing New Mexico." Coach Dell Morgan was in a more mellow mood yesterday and sent the Raiders through intensive work on defensive plays, then ended up with another intensive drill of offense. Physically, the Raiders are at top strength. The question of mentally is another thing.

Meanwhile, indications from Albuquerque are that Jerry McKown of Ft. Worth may see limited action due to a leg injury. McKown played only a quarter against Drake last week, with Joe Stell, alternating between halfback and quarterback, stepping in to take over. Stell also has an injured knee.

The following is from a university press release: "The Cherry and Silver attack suffered the same trouble that has jinxed the team all season. They were able to gain consistently on the ground near the mid-field stripe, but seemed to bog down just before they seriously threatened the Bulldog goal line. A team that could conceivably have beaten any of their opponents with the exception of Texas University, the Hilltoppers have thus far turned in an unhappy season that defics analysis.

Have Top Guards

"The Lobo line features two of the best guards in the Border Conference in Moffa and Lyden, and they are backed in that position by Gentry, Pharr and Fierino, who leave little to be desired. Center is capably handled by Virgil Boteler and Gene Loury and few experts have been able to find fault with the tackle play of Hart, Williford, Delayo and Milton. The flanks are well guarded by Willis and Speer on the offense and Charlton and Knapp defensively, giving the Lobos one of the best and deepest forward walls to appear on Zimmerman Field for several years."

Grove's 20 Points Sparks Techsans

Tech Cagers Defeat Wayland, 102 To 46

Don Grove's 20 points in the first of three 20-minutes halves yesterday afternoon sparked the Texas Tech basketball team to a 102-46 victory over Wayland college in the Tech gym.

Grove played only the first two halves, during which time he led the Raiders for the afternoon. He gained support, during the practice session from Charley Pinnell, who hooked six baskets, and Chet Jackson, who had the same number.

Robison Sees Mistakes

But Coach Polk Robison wasn't too pleased with the way the court fives looked. He noticed many troubles, many errors, and set a lot of hard work in store for the Raiders as a result. They play their first game here Nov. 30 and time is growing short.

The Raider varsity was able to take only a 22-20 lead at the end of the first 20-minute half, but they came back to run up a staggering score. Coach Robison used three combinations during the first half and cleared the bench during the other day halves.

Harry Burch, the hefty Wayland center, led the visitors with seven field goals, receiving help from D. W. Harkins and other players. But Wayland couldn't keep up its early pace when they had to use second and third stringers.

Some Looked Good

Several Raider players looked well on the court, with consistent play turned in by Bill Edins and George Belchef. Center Durwood Patterson also showed signs of developing into a capable reserve, while C. W. Dukes had occasional moments of showing great ability.

But Coach Robison didn't like the way the Raider first string looked. They appeared slow and sluggish, failing to cover the way they should and losing backboard shots. Their timing was off and they lacked coordination in their attack.

Fenton, Getz Win Tag Team Grapple

A bruised and bleeding Dory Funk was unable to climb back into the ring last night during the third fall of the Australian tag team match and the Rod Fenton—Al Getz duo was declared the unpopular winning combination.

The tag team match highlighted a night of wrestling in which two falls were completed in the main event and three falls went the limit in the preliminary, with Bennie Trudell flipping Vic Weber in two out of three.

In the main go, Getz pounced on Dick Trout of the losing duo with a rope rebound and body pin after 17 minutes of grappling, during which Fenton and Funk both were active.

The second fall went to Funk over Fenton, with both members of the winning team knocking their opponents down. The decision went to Funk, although Getz wasn't in good shape at the end. It took 11 minutes, with Funk winning on an inside stepover toehold.

The final fall went to Getz, when Funk couldn't get back into the ring. Up until that point he had taken a severe pounding and had gone out of the ring on two of its four sides. The bout lasted six minutes.

Trudell won the first fall from Weber in 12 minutes with a half crab, but the New Yorker came back with a fast start to win the second with an Irish whip in one minute flat.

Council Will Meet Today To Decide On Tech Sun Bowl Bid

The athletic council at Texas Tech probably will meet at noon today to decide whether to accept an invitation to the Sun Bowl football game in El Paso on New Year's Day.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, has been out of town and returned late yesterday evening. J. William Davis, chairman of the athletic council, immediately discussed the invitation with him and Dr. Wiggins called the meeting for today. The Sun Carnival committee, of which C. D. Belding is chairman, requested an answer not later than Friday.

The Red Raider eleven three times previously has appeared in the Sun Bowl, losing each time. Tulsa, West Virginia and Miami of Ohio all scored victories, while St. Mary's won from Tech in the Cotton Bowl.

Tech Fish Meet Cameron Friday

Coach Maxey McKnight and 35 Texas Tech freshmen are scheduled to leave the campus this afternoon for Cameron, Okla., where Friday night they will play the Cameron Aggies.

The game is a return meeting between the two squads. Last year the Aggies, rated as one of the strongest junior college squads in the nation and recipients of several bowl bids, visited Lubbock. They handed the outmanned, undrilled Red Raider first year men a 33-6 licking in the rain and mud.

That was last year and since then there have been changes. The vaunted Aggies, who went to the Little Rose Bowl, have lost a lot of their topnotch men and the Raider freshmen have gained in prominence.

Coach McKnight's crew has won two and lost two for the season and they will be looking for another victory Friday night to end the season with a plus record. They have a good chance, for the fish have a good defensive team and, of late, they have shown signs of producing an offensive.

Spur, Floydada Tangle Friday

Andrews Battles Seminole Friday

Seminole's Indians and the Andrews Mustangs, traditional rivals in the "oil belt" of the South Plains, will clash at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Andrews in a conference tilt that will determine the runner-up position in the District 5-A race.

Monahans' powerful Lobos have already clinched the 5-A crown, but the annual meeting of the Indians and the Mustangs will hold plenty of interest for West Texas sports fans. Both Seminole and Andrews have chalked up five district victories this season, against two defeats.

Seminole's eleven will be slightly favored in the important encounter, but the dangerous Mustangs are slated to give their rivals one of their toughest battles of the season. Seminole's chances for a victory were dimmed Wednesday night, when Coach Gordon Wood reported that Fullback Ira Bobo and Guard Wesley Patton would probably be out of action Friday as a result of injuries.

Two other District 5-A games will be unreeled Friday, with Monahans' invading Pecos and McCamey journeying to Fort Stockton.

Monahans will be a top-heavy favorite over the Pecos eleven, upset last week by Fort Stockton, and McCamey rates a definite edge over the lowly Panthers.

Saturday Kermit will play host to Hobbs, N.M., in a non-title encounter.

District 4-B Slate Will Close Friday

Two games will bring football competition in District 4-B to a close for 1948, when Meadow meets New Deal and Ropesville goes to Whiteface Friday night.

Idalou wrapped up the championship Nov. 6 and now is waiting for its bi-district game against Hale Center, winner of District 3-B.

Meadow currently is tied for third place with Whiteface and faces the second-place New Deal Lions on their gridiron. A Lion victory would send the Broncs down to fourth, or give them no better than a tie for third.

Whiteface Must Win

Whiteface must win if it is to finish as high as third and a defeat would send the Antelopes down to a tie with Ropes for fourth.

The Lions appear to have an edge on the Broncs, who were picked as one of the strongest elevens in the conference before the season opened. The New Deal team has compiled a good record in and out of conference play, although losing Friday to Eunice, N.M.

Whiteface might have an edge on Ropesville's Eagles, but it is only a slight one at best. Both teams, according to comparative scores, have shown a weak offense, but the Antelopes have shown a better defense. It should be a close game, with the Antelopes having a slight edge, especially at home.

Second Place In 3-A Is At Stake

Second place in District 3-A will be at stake Friday night when Spur invades Floydada for the final game of the year on the final week end of conference play.

The Bulldogs, in second place, meet the Whirlwinds, in third place, and a Whirlwind victory would deadlock these two rivals. But a Floydada loss would make it possible for Crosbyton, which goes to Ralls, to enter a tie for third place. In the only other game of the schedule, Matador goes to Paducah in a game that will make little difference in the standings.

Bulldogs Slight Favorite

Coach Sam Hawks' Bulldogs reign a slight favorite to down the Whirlwinds, although the latter eleven has shown a great deal of improvement lately. On comparative scores, Spur has run up bigger point edges in most cases, but Floydada beat Crosbyton 25-13, while Spur could eke out only a 13-8 victory. The only vast difference is in the Paducah game, the Dragons beating Floydada 20-19 and Spur winning from the Dragons 40-6.

The clash between Crosbyton and Ralls appears to be a relatively easy victory for the Chiefs. They beat Tahoka 13-0, while the Jackrabbits lost 19-6. Crosbyton beat Paducah and Abernathy, teams that, in turn, beat Ralls. And all the other games also point to at least a two-touchdown spread in favor of Crosbyton.

Game Is Toss-Up

The Paducah-Matador game can be regarded as a toss-up, Lockney beat Matador 39-0 and Paducah 48-0. Paducah beat Floydada, but the Whirlwinds beat Matador. The Matadors haven't won a conference game yet, while Paducah has two loop victories. The edge appears to lie with the Dragons by about a touchdown or two margin.

Lockney and Abernathy have finished their seasons and the Longhorns now are drilling for their bi-district meeting against the winner of the Post-Littlefield encounter Friday.

Hale Center Out To Capture Sole Possession Of Top Place In 3-B

A full schedule of games is carded in District 3-B this Friday night, with Hale Center given a chance to win undisputed possession of first place in the conference.

The Owls, upset victors over Dimmitt last week in a game decided on first downs, after the game had ended in a 6-6 tie and penetrations were even, still will be district champions even if they should lose. Since they beat Dimmitt, the second place team, not even a loss and Dimmitt victory could take the crown away from them.

Hale Center goes to Olton for the final game of the conference season, while Dimmitt invades Petersburg. Both first and second place teams are expected to win and remain in their present standings.

Friona Meets Anton

In other games on the schedule, Friona goes to Anton and Whitharral visits Amherst to close out the conference schedule. Springlake concluded its schedule last week and might tie for second place, or be tied for third by Olton.

Hale Center has a slight edge on Olton according to comparative scores, although in games against Whitharral, Amherst, Friona and Anton, scores indicate a close game. The only two wide divergences are in games against Dimmitt and Petersburg, games that Hale Center won and Olton lost.

Dimmitt shouldn't have too much trouble running over the Golden Buffaloes, having a wide edge on the basis of comparative scores. The Bobcats have run over every opponent save Hale Center by nearly astronomical scores and rate at least a five-touchdown margin over Petersburg.

Amherst Has Edge

Friona has been playing Anton's opponents one week later all season and has been making a better showing. Whether it is because Anton wore the opponents down to the Chief's size, or whether the Chiefs really are that much better will be shown Friday. It would appear, from comparative scores, that Friona is two touchdowns better.

Whitharral, in the cellar without a conference victory, meets Amherst, next to last with only one victory, and the edge apparently lies with Amherst, but by a slim margin. Neither team has made an impressive record and the game could be rated as even without trouble. By the same token, Whitharral might end its season with a victory.

Hale Center, after this week of play, will get ready for a bi-district meeting with Idalou, champions of District 4-B.

Nalley Tops In Punt Returns

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Lee Nalley, Vanderbilt university's ace safety man, can set a new record for punt returns in one season of collegiate football Saturday. All he has to do is bring one back 10 yards against Maryland.

The Commodore back is a cinch to take seasonal honors in this department, and break the old mark set by Bill Geyer of Colgate in 1941, for Vanderbilt has three more games to play.

Nalley has returned 34 punts a total of 607 yards, compared with the all-time high of 616 yards made by Geyer.

Other figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed John Freeman of Portland university topping the list in kickoff runbacks, Bill Olson of Columbia leading in pass interceptions, Bill Boston of Montana State heading punters, and Red O'Quinn of Wake Forest the leading pass receiver.

The individual leaders:

Punt runbacks—Lee Nalley, Vanderbilt, 34 returns for 607 yards; Jack Mitchell, Oklahoma, 19 for 433; Henry Pryor, Rutgers, 23 for 433; Hal Littleford, Tennessee, 30 for 395; Bill Doherty, Villanova, 23 for 347; George Sims, Baylor, 13 for 303; Wilford White, Tempe State 11 for 293; Bobby Vinson, Army, 23 for 286; Bud French, Kansas, 23 for 283; Charlie Justice, North Carolina, 17 for 266.

Kickoff runbacks—John Freeman, Portland, 21 returns for 503 yards; Billy Grus, Wake Forest, 18 for 473; Jerry Williams, Washington State, 10 for 407; Roy Malcolm, Montana, 17 for 406; Bob Goode, Texas A&M, 18 for 387; Jerry Hiller, Marquette, 16 for 373; Corrbin, Western Reserve, 14 for 358; Everett Faunce, Minnesota, 15 for 336; Alan Ezier, Colgate, 12 for 335; Andy Davis, George Washington, 17 for 335.

Punting—Bill Boston, Montana State, 39 punts for 44.4 yards; Hall Haynes, Santa Clara, 4 for 44.1; Charlie Justice, North Carolina, 49 for 44.0; Doak Walker, Southern Methodist, 23 for 43.8; Paul Stombaugh, Furman, 27 for 43.1; Dike Middleman, Illinois, 50 for 42.6; Bud Collins, Louisiana State, 50 for 41.7; Fred Wendt, Texas Mines, 24 for 41.3; Richard Melke, Marquette, 40 for 41.2; Levi Jackson, Yale, 46 for 41.1.

Pass receiving—Red O'Quinn, Wake Forest, 35 for 563 yards; Jim Powell, Tennessee, 33 for 433; Jimmy Ford, Tulsa, 31 for 366; Jim Lukens, Washington and Lee, 29 for 297; Snake Bailey, Texas Christian, 28 for 321; Robert Larsen, Arizona, 27 for 354; Bob McChesney, Hardin-Simmons, 26 for 270; Dick Wilkins, Oregon, 25 for 495; Art Weiner, North Carolina, 25 for 381; Scott Beasley, Nevada, 25 for 309.

Blue Jays Win Boys Club Cage Battle

The Blue Jays beat the Wildcats 15-3 in a Pee Wee game at the Boys Club yesterday and the Little Devils took the Fighting Irish 62-4 in a Midget league game.

Dean Fawcett paced the Blue Jays in the opener with seven points, while Bobby Tyner scored the only field goal for the losers.

In the nightcap, Glen Akin and Jimmy Martin each scored 22 points for the winners, with two boys each getting a field goal for the losers.

Today's schedule will bring together the Hellcats and Wolverines in the Pee Wee league, the Fighting Irish and Mustangs in the Midgets, the Dirty Five and Hotshots and Roughies and Alley Rat Five in the Juniors and the Hardwood Five and Bombers in the Senior loop.

Sports Study

By Earl Sceddag

Although we failed to forecast three or four major schoolboy grid upsets last weekend, including Littlefield's win over Levelland and the Childress triumph over Wichita Falls, we connected on 32 predictions in 39 tries for an average of 82 per cent—one of our best efforts of the season. Other wrong guesses included Denver City's win over Seminole and Fort Stockton's triumph over Pecos. We did pick a few of the major upsets however, including Texarkana's win over undefeated Henderson. This week's slate includes some tough settos, although many of the top teams are idle. Here's how they line up:

* * *

District 2-AA

WICHITA FALLS over Vernon . . . Coyotes bounce back.
QUANAH over Electra . . . but it could be close.

District 3-AA

SWEETWATER over San Angelo . . . Mustangs roll again.
ABILENE over Big Spring . . . in a romp.
MIDLAND over Lamesa . . . Midland by a touchdown.

District 3-A

SPUR over Floydada . . . should be easy.
CROSBYTON over Ralls . . . little more power.
PADUCAH over Matador . . . Matador very weak.

District 4-A

POST over Littlefield . . . if Malouf is able to play.

District 5-A

SEMINOLE over Andrews . . . Indians back on warpath.
KERMIT over Hobbs, N. M. . . . Texas pride.
MONAHANS over Pecos . . . by four touchdowns.
McCAMEY over Fort Stockton . . . another easy pick.

State Specials

BONHAM over Sulphur Springs . . . Bonham has a better offense.
McKINNEY over Grand Prairie . . . by two touchdowns.
BRECKENRIDGE over Mineral Wells . . . Buckies are improving.
BROWNWOOD over Weatherford . . . too many fast backs.
CISCO over Eastland . . . but we don't know why.
HENDERSON over Gladewater . . . in a dogfight.
TEXARKANA over Kilgore . . . unless Texarkana gets overconfident.
TEMPLE over Corsicana . . . Wildcats have better line.
WACO over Cleburne . . . Tigers head for playoffs.
CONROE over Palestine . . . Conroe is under-rated.
LUFKIN over Jacksonville . . . on the flip of a coin.
NACOGDOCHES over Bryan . . . we've been wrong on Bryan all season.
ORANGE over South Park . . . by a couple of touchdowns.
PASADENA over Galena Park . . . gazing in the crystal ball.
TEXAS CITY over Freeport . . . still guessing.
BAYTOWN over Galveston . . . money in the bank.
AUSTIN over Corpus Christi . . . Maroons have too much speed.
KERRVILLE over Victoria . . . Antlers still tough.

Jim Honochick Now On Umpiring Staff

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (INS) — Former minor league player Jim Honochick, with just three years experience as a baseball umpire, has been assigned to the American league umpiring staff for the 1949 season.

The transfer was announced today by Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International league, where Honochick worked the past two seasons.

Honochick, 30-year-old native of Baltimore, starred on Temple university baseball and football teams and later played professional baseball in the International league. He began his umpiring career in the Eastern Shore league in 1946.

Bobby Jones Reported In Good Condition Following Operation

ATLANTA, Nov. 17 (AP) — Bobby Jones, one-time emperor of golf, is reported in "good" condition at Emory University hospital where he underwent an operation about three weeks ago.

Jones received an injury to the base of his neck, several years ago. The operation was to relieve pressure. He does not remember receiving the injury.

Officers Close Down Oklahoma Bookmakers' Racing Service

SAPULPA, Okla., Nov. 17. (AP) — The Oklahoma tickers of a bookmakers' racing service from Chicago were quiet today, after a raid on its "branch office" by state and Creek county officers.

Jake Sims, head of the State Crime Bureau, revealed today that he and Sheriff Guy Willoughby led a group that closed a building operated by the bookie service near the Creek-Tulsa county line of northeastern Oklahoma.

The officers also arrested a man identified as L. G. Egbert, Tulsa, who was charged with possessing gambling equipment. Tickers in the building were seized and turned back to the Western Union Telegraph Co., Sims said.

Attendance May Exceed 800,000 For All Of Nation's Grid Bowls

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (U.P.) — The post-season bowl game fad has had such fantastic growth that 32 games with probably attendance in excess of 800,000 have been arranged for Thanksgiving Day to New Year's Day, a United Press survey showed today.

That record total includes games in every section of the nation but New England with crowds ranging from 90,000 in the "graddaddy" Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's Day, down to a few scattered thousands in some of the lesser extravaganzas.

Fischer Is Named Week's Lineman

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Bill Fischer, Notre Dame guard, was named football lineman of the week today in this week's Associated Press poll.

The 21-year-old senior from Chicago gained the honor for his sterling defensive play against Northwestern, a factor that helped keep Notre Dame in the unbeaten and untied ranks.

Fischer was a standout in a battle of fierce line play. In addition he recovered a fumble deep in Northwestern territory in the last quarter.

First Guard To Win

He is the first guard to win an award this fall. Previously two tackles, Laurie Niemi, Washington State, and Al Derogatis, Duke; two centers, Alex Sarkisian, Northwestern, and Chuck Bednarik, Pennsylvania; and an end, Lou Hoitsma, William and Mary, had earned the nod.

Niemi, Sarkisian and Bednarik again were among the other linemen singled out this week for their efforts up front.

The play of Ray Peters, Arkansas guard, against Southern Methodist was regarded as outstanding.

Linemen nominated this week:

Week's Nominations

Abilene Will Field WT-NM Club In 1949

ABILENE, Nov. 17. (AP)—Assurance that Abilene would operate a franchise in the West Texas-New Mexico league in 1949 was given in an announcement today that W. V. Young, Bud Mills, Mack Eplen and another Abilene businessman yet to be named had purchased the Blue Sox grounds, grandstand and other properties from Howard Green and Dr. James F. Bridges.

Green and Bridges had asked $30,000 for their baseball holdings here which do not include any players or player contracts. Abilene was operated under business managership of Green, as a Brooklyn farm club last year.

Hayden Greer, who managed and played shortstop at Abilene in 1946-47, is expected to assume managerial reins for the 1949 campaign.

Main Go Fighters Find It Tough To Get Matches In N.Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — Main go fighters, seeking buildup wins over setups, are finding it tough to get matches in New York State.

Some promoters, anxious to captalize on a "name" as a drawing card, are willing. But the New York State Athletic Commission is cracking down.

Under the regime of chief deputy Dan Dowd of Commissioner Eddie Eagan's staff, All-Star boutpairings are being reviewed. This has been the law for several years but too often in the past, the approval has been automatic.

Now they're throwing many matches into the ash can.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 — We're a bit scared to stick out our fuzzy little neck too far after seeing what happened to a few political forecasters, so we'll just put it down as a hunch that California will not play in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

The hunch is based on the assumption that California and Oregon each wins its remaining game, and that the two will not meet in a playoff to determine the Pacific Coast champion.

Should both teams go through their conference schedules undefeated, the team to represent the west in the Bowl will be chosen by a vote of the league schools, and that is where Oregon comes into the picture.

We figure that sectional pride, if nothing else, will make the Northwest schools stick together. Oregon, Oregon State, Washington, Washington State and Montana would give that section five votes, and if they can swing Idaho to their side they'd clinch the bid for Oregon.

If Idaho stuck with the four California schools that would make it a tie, in which case Oregon would get the bid anyway because of its longer absence from Pasadena.

Anyway, the situation is intriguing. California's only hope would seemed to be to meet and defeat Oregon in a showdown game, but the school's authorities have balked at Oregon's challenge, giving a reason that doesn't leave much of a rebuttal. The boys have to study.

Nutt, Levermann Top LSC Ground-Gainers

(By The Associated Press)

Richard Nutt of North Texas State and Gerald Levermann of Trinity continue as the leaders in ground-gaining and scoring in the Lone Star Conference.

Nutt's record is 689 yards rushing and 61 points; Levermann's 454 yards and 48 points.

North Texas is tops in rushing with a total of 1,729 yards followed by Stephen F. Austin with 1,593.

Trinity has held the opposition to a total net of 1,171 yards as compared with 1,198 yards made by the opponents of Southwest Texas for the two best defensive records.

Stephen F. Austin has gained 941 yards passing while Sam Houston has gained 838.

Bobby (Red) Griffin of East Texas State still leads the Conference in individual passing, punting and total offense with 722 yards, 910 yards and a puting average of 42.0 on 69 punts, none of which were blocked.

Deadline Set For City Cage Teams

Rosters of all independent basketball teams planning to enter the league sponsored by the City Recreation Department must be in the hands of Curtis Barrett not later than 5 p. m. Friday.

Barrett said yesterday that each team would be allowed 12 players, with final deadline for signing players set at Jan. 1. All roster changes must be reported to the league chairman before the players are eligible to play.

An entry fee of $25 is being charged and should be paid to Barrett not later than Nov. 23. The money will be used to pay for lights, janitor fees, referees and incidentals. Any money left over will be returned.

Team trophies will be awarded to the champions and runners-up and there will be two divisions, the City League and the Industrial League. Games will be played Monday and Thursday nights.

Eligible players will be those high school boys with no eligibility left, graduates of high school, junior college or college and others. No man who has played as a member of a freshman or varsity team of a college, junior college or university—and still enrolled—shall be eligible.

Allies Used Experience Gained In Early Campaign Against Nazis To Speed Conquest In North Africa

conversations I had with Mr. Roosevelt during the war. His optimism and buoyancy, amounting almost to lightheartedness, I attributed to the atmosphere of adventure attached to the Casablanca expedition.

• • •

SUCCESSFUL in shaking loose for a few days many of the burdens of state, he seemed to experience a tremendous uplift from the fact that he had secretly slipped away from Washington and was engaged in a historic meeting on territory that only two months before had been a battleground. While he recognized the seriousness of the war problems still facing the Allies, much of his comment dealt with the distant future, the post-hostilities tasks, including disposition of colonies and territories.

He speculated at length on the possibility of France's regaining her ancient position of prestige and power in Europe and on this point was very pessimistic. As a consequence, his mind was wrestling with the questions of methods for controlling certain strategic points in the French Empire which he felt that the country might no longer be able to hold.

FDR Was Optimistic

We went over in detail the military and political developments of the preceding ten weeks; he was obviously and outspokenly delighted with the progress we had made. However, when I outlined some of the possibilities for reverses that the winter held for us, his manner indicated that he thought I took this too seriously. While both of us were aware that the Axis forces in Africa could not permanently withstand the pincers effect that General Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander's forces and our own were developing, President Roosevelt's estimate of the final collapse was, in my opinion, oo sanguine by many weeks.

Under his insistence that I name a date I finally blurted out my most miraculous guess of the war. "May 15," I said. Shortly thereafter I told Alexander of this and he, with a smile, said that in answer to the same question at the conference he had replied, "May 30."

I found that the President, in his consideration of current African problems, did not always distinguish clearly between the military occupation of enemy territory and the situation in which we found ourselves in North Africa. He constantly referred to plans and proposals affecting the local population, the French Army, and governmental officials in terms of orders, instructions, and compulsion.

• • •

IT was necessary to remind him that from the outset we had operated under policies requiring us to gain and use an ally—that, far from governing a conquered country, we were attempting only to force a gradual widening of the base of government, with the final objective of turning all internal affairs over to popular control.

To me, the most satisfying part of the whole conversation was the assurance I gained that the President firmly adhered to our basic concept of European strategy, namely the cross-Channel invasion. He was certain that great results would flow from the spring and summer compaigns in the Mediterranean but he properly continued to look upon these as preliminaries to, and in support of, the great venture which had been agreed upon almost a year before as the true line of Allied effort for accomplishing the defeat of Germany.

When I later called upon the Prime Minister I was delighted to get a similar assurance. He said, "General, I have heard here that we British are planning to scuttle Roundup. This is not so. I have given my word and I shall keep it. But we now have a glorious opportunity before us; we must not fail to seize it. When the time comes you will find the British ready to do their part in the other operation." Roundup was the code name that was later changed to Overlord.

I departed from Algiers just after midnight on February 12, and, holding several conferences on the way, arrived at General Fredendall's headquarters on the afternoon of the thirteenth. It was my first trip as a four-star general, to which temporary grade I was promoted on February 11. I was still a lieutenant colonel in the regular army.

I found a number of things that were disturbing. The first of these was a certain complacency, illustrated by an unconscionable delay in perfecting defensive positions in the passes. Lack of training and experience on the part of commanders was responsible.

• • •

AT one point where mine fields were not yet planted the excuse was given that the defending infantry had been present in the area only two days. The commander explained, with an air of pride, that he had prepared a map for his mine defense and would start next day to put out the mines. Our experience in north Tunisia had been that the enemy was able to prepare a strong defensive position ready to resist counter-attack within two hours after his arrival on the spot.

I spent the remainder of an exhausting night conferring with commanders and noting the matters that I wanted to take up with General Fredendall. Our little inspecting party started back before dawn, but we were delayed at Sbeitla by an outbreak of sporadic firing ahead of us.

After a reconnaissance in force, in which my aide, Captain Lee, and Lieutenant Colonel Akers composed the assault wave, while I with a .45 formed the mobile reserve, we remounted our cars and made our way through the town without incident. A short time later my driver fell asleep and we ended up in a shallow ditch, but with no casualties. Upon arrival at corps headquarters I found that the German attack had already struck. It was too late to make changes in dispositions.

Realizing by nightfall that reinforcements in men and equipment would be needed quickly and urgently, I hastened back to headquarters to hurry them forward. We scraped the barrel and then I started back to the front.

Enemy Pushed Forward

During the withdrawal the Americans fought a series of ineffective, though gallant, delaying actions on the way back toward Kasserine Pass, a spot clearly indicated as one to be strongly held. But there was a local lack of appreciation of exactly what was happening and the troops assigned were neither numerous enough nor skillful enough to hold that strong position. The enemy armor pushed on through the hastily constructed defense in the pass.

Finally, however, in spite of surprise and relatively large losses, our troops rallied in good fashion and fell back to cover the important center of Tebessa and the routes leading northward from Kasserine toward Le Kef.

• • •

THE enemy's advance, by the twenty-second, was completely stalled. George Patton, who always liked to bring up historical precedent, remarked, "Well, Von Arnim should have read about Lee's attack at Fort Stedman." There outside Petersburg, the last desperate Confederate counter-attack was stopped and driven back in bloody retreat by strong Union reserves.

On the evening of the twenty-second I discussed the situation personally with General Fredendall and told him that the enemy was no longer capable of offensive action. I informed him that he was perfectly safe in taking any reasonable risk in launching local counter-attacks that could be properly supported by his artillery.

By next morning it became apparent to everybody that the German was beginning his retreat. The enemy moved rapidly by night and, favored again by cloud cover during the day, successfully withdrew a large part of his attacking force.

Four Causes Cited

Technically, our embarrassment resulted from four principal causes. The first and vastly most important of these was the inescapable conditions resulting from failure in our long-shot gamble to capture Tunis quickly.

The second major reason was faulty work by intelligence agencies. Staffs were too prone to take one isolated piece of intelligence in which they implicitly believed and to shut their eyes to any contrary possibility.

The third reason was the failure to comprehend clearly the capabilities of the enemy and the best measures for meeting them.

A fourth cause was greenness, particularly among commanders. The American divisions involved had not had the benefit of the intensive training programs instituted in the United States following the actual outbreak of the war. They were mainly divisions that had been quickly shipped to the United Kingdom, and since transportation facifities had not yet acquired their later efficiency, they had been separated from their organic equipment for long periods.

• • •

THESE lessons were dearly bought, but they were valuable. Eventually the cost was reduced, since most of our personnel losses were in prisoners, whom we largely recovered at the end of the war. We suffered casualties in personnel and equipment, but by the time the enemy had succeeded in retiring to his former positions his losses in both categories were equal to ours. American losses from February 14 to 23 were 192 killed, 2,624 wounded, 2,459 prisoners and missing.

However, the stage was now almost completely set for the final all-out effort against the enemy position. Improving weather was eagerly seized upon by the air forces to harass the enemy's line of communications between Africa and Italy, and the Axis position grew more precarious. Under our growing air superiority our naval forces also pushed forward their bases and operations and added to the enemy's difficulties.

The results were speedily decisive. On the left the American II Corps, with some detachments of French "Goumiers," advanced magnificently through tough going and captured Bizerte on May 7. Just to the southward the British First Army, under General Anderson, carrying out the main effort, was in Tunis at approximately the same time that the II Corps reached Bizerte.

Drive Was Ended Quickly

Some fighting continued until the twelfth but by the following day, except for a few stragglers in the mountains, the only living Germans left in Tunisia were safely within prison cages. The number of prisoners during the last week of the campaign alone reached 240,000, of which approximately 125,000 were German. Included in these captures was all that was left of the Afrika Korps and a number of other crack German and Italian units.

Von Arnim surrendered the German troops, and Field Marshal Messe, in nominal command of the whole force, surrendered the Italian contingent. When Von Arnim was brought through Algiers on his way to captivity, some members of my staff felt that I should observe the custom of bygone days and allow him to call on me.

The custom had its origin in the fact that mercenary soldiers of old had no real enmity toward their opponents. Both sides fought for the love of a fight, out of a sense of duty or, more probably, for money. A captured commander of the eighteenth century was likely to be, for weeks or months, the honored guest of his captor. The tradition that all professional soldiers are really comrades in arms has, in tattered form, persisted to this day.

• • •

FOR me World War II was far too personal a thing to entertain such feelings. Daily as it progressed there grew within me the conviction that as never before in a war between many nations the forces that stood for human good and men's rights were this time confronted by a completely evil conspiracy with which no compromise could be tolerated. Because only by the utter destruction of the Axis was a decent world possible, the war became for me a crusade in the traditional sense of that often misused word.

In this specific instance I told my Intelligence officer, Brigadier Kenneth Strong, to get any information he possibly could out of the captured generals but that, as far as I was concerned, I was interested only in those who were not yet captured. None would be allowed to call on me.

I pursued the same practice to the end of the war. Not until Field Marshall Jodl signed the surrender terms at Reims in 1945 did I ever speak to a German general, and even then my only words were that he would be held personally and completely responsible for the carrying out of the surrender terms.

("Husky" was the code word used to describe the invasion of Sicily, the next big step in the "Crusade in Europe" led by General Eisenhower. In the ninth installment of his book, which will be published here tomorrow, General Eisenhower outlines the plans which were made for this great undertaking. He also names the five pieces of equipment which helped most to win the war, and he describes how he won a bet of 40,000 centimes from Prime Minister Winston Churchill on the number of prisoners captured on Pantelleria.)

May Cut Water Supply

Americans fleeing the north China fighting areas have poured into Tsingtao. All Americans in China have been warned they had better leave. Forrestal said two transports are headed for China from the West coast. One is due to arrive in Shanghai tomorrow and a second is due at a China port on Friday.

There are 4,624 Americans in China, exclusive of military police. Of these, 3,050 are in the Shanghai-Nanking area, and 1,574 in other sections.

Even if the Communists fail to capture Tsingtao, they might create a tough situation by cutting off the water supply, which originates in territory they control. Much of the U. S. Naval force is stationed ashore.

Tsingtao is on the Shantung peninsula, controlling Yellow sea approaches to Manchuria.

Situation To Be Studied

The naval ships at Tsingtao compose task force 38 on training cruise. It includes two carriers, two light cruisers and eight destroyers.

China has appealed to the United States for a policy statement to stiffen her Communist-driven armies and the morale of her war-weary people.

Undersecretary of State Lovett told newsmen today that China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek wrote directly to President Truman.

Secretary of State Marshall is flying here Monday. That same day he will go into conference with Mr. Truman on foreign policy.

In the face of China's grave situation, they are expected to discuss not only Chiang's appeal for a strong American pronouncement, but what this country should do for China in arms and goods.

Encouragement Asked

Chinese diplomats have recently been talking in terms of a $1,000,000,000 American program for China, with most of the money going into military supplies. At present, Congress has authorized $400,000,000 for China, including $125,000,000 in military aid.

Because of the extreme delicacy of the Chinese situation, Lovett held his comment to a minimum. He said he could not go beyond what Mr. Truman told reporters at Key West, Fla., yesterday—that the American government has been in communication with Gen. Chiang.

It was learned later that Chiang had appealed for an expression of encouragement. The Chinese apparently would like the same kind of commitment that the United States made in the case of Greece—a determination that the Communists will not be permitted to take over.

MURRAY LASHES RED SYMPATHIZERS IN CIO

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 17 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray made a scorching attack on the pro-Communist minority of the CIO today.

In a five-hour meeting of the 51-man CIO executive board, Murray delivered what some members said was perhaps the strongest language he has ever used against Communist activities in the labor movement.

Murray himself, holding a news conference, neglected to mention the attack, but others who were present told reporters about it privately.

One official quoted Murray as calling Communists "filthy" and "vicious"—and as saying that all CIO union leaders must make a choice between loyalty to the CIO and loyalty to Russian foreign policy.

The CIO's left wing, which has been declining in strength for the last two years, is squarely in the doghouse with Murray just now because the left-wingers departed from CIO policy in two big respects.

They supported Henry Wallace for president and they kept up their attacks on the Marshall plan.

Retail Grocers Group Installs Officers At Annual Meeting Here

New officers of the Lubbock district of the Texas Retail Grocers association were installed at that organization's annual installation banquet Wednesday night at Hilton hotel. Herb Teal, retiring president, introduced new officers and Rufus Starnes of Abilene, state representative of the association, presided at the installation.

Approximately 125 members and guests attended.

Teal presided at the gathering. Starnes spoke, advocating support of both state and national independent retail grocers associations.

Co-Operation Is Urged

"America today is a great country because we, its citizens, have had the right to operate our own businesses. When we no longer are permitted to run our businesses, we no longer will be the same America" he declared.

"We need to work together wholeheartedly for the preservation of our businesses. We need to join hands to promote and preserve them," he added.

Starnes then introduced Miss Jerry Johnson of Waco, secretary-manager of the Texas Retail Grocers association.

Miss Johnson said that the success of the local and state organizations have been due primarily to the members themselves.

New Officers Named

Miss Johnson also urged that grocers trade through their wholesalers rather than buying "drop shipments" directly from manufacturers, as has frequently been done, declaring that the "wholesaler is vital to the retail business," and that "all distribution has a place in the lifeline of America."

Following Miss Johnson's address, Teal called officers and directors of the local association for the forthcoming year, including: Clyde A. Stovall, president; B. W. Crawford, first vice president; Ray Sandlin, second vice president; Homer Hill, secretary-treasurer; and T. O. Petty, Levelland; Raymond Young, Post; S. K. Ardis, Ropesville; Arvil Dean, Plainview; and W. L. Wallace, Kirby Nutt, June Roberts, Harry Burrus, Fay Holt, and Joe French, all of Lubbock, members of the board of directors.

Teal, outgoing president, acknowledged the co-operation he received during his tenure, and Stovall, new president, thanked members for the honor of the presidency.

Members attending, in addition to those from Lubbock, were from Ralls, Levelland, Slaton, Tahoka, Brownfield, Ropesville, Idalou, O'Donnell, and Anton.

Civil Rights Program

iterated by the Democratic platform, calls for enactment of federal anti-lynching and anti-segregation laws, a permanent FEPC and statutes outlawing the poll tax in states where it exists.

Mr. Truman's original request for such legislation in the 80th Congress detonated the southern revolt which led to formation of the States' Rights Democratic party.

The States' Righters, with Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, as their presidential candidate, carried Mississippi, Louisiana, South Carolina and Alabama in the Nov. 2 elections, with a total of 38 electoral votes.

Priest predicted that all four points in Mr. Truman's civil rights program could be enacted in the new House, which convenes Jan. 3, but he added they would run up against a southern filibuster in the Senate.

This has doomed civil rights legislation in the past, as Republicans discovered during the pre-election special session when they tried to obtain Senate approval of a House-passed anti-poll tax bill.

Priest contended that there are sufficient votes in the Senate to pass anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation if a vote can be forced on the floor.

Berlin Talks Urged

have refused to join Lie and Evatt in their big power appeal last week, has continued to work behind the scenes on what his associates call a new "fluid" formula for ending the Berlin dispute. This is believed to involve some form of gradual lifting of the blockade along with application of a new Soviet-backed mark in Berlin.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard 3.49¾-52¾.
Oats No. 2 white 1.03¾-1.04¾.
Corn No. 2 white 1.85-95.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.78-83.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — The advance in grain prices moved right along today, despite some heavy selling on the way up. Wheat took over the market's leadership as milling interests bought large quantities of December and May contracts.

Activity of mills reflected good flour business. December wheat sold at the best price since April while July and September reached new seasonal highs. Most selling appeared to be profit-taking as little hedging pressure was reported.

December corn touched a new high for the past four months. September corn and July and September oats made new seasonal highs. Continuation of the longshoremen's strike on the northern Atlantic coast had little influence on prices.

Wheat closed ⅛-¼ higher, December $2.37¾-⅞; corn was ⅝ to 1 cent higher, December $1.44¼-$1.44, oats were ¼-⅜ higher, December 84-83⅞.

New York pier and a fruit spokesman said that figure will jump to $170,000 by Saturday.

Port Is Booming

Railroads announced that more than 3,100 employes now are idled by the strike, and an official of the Motor Carriers Association of New York said 2,000 trucking employes were out of work temporarily. The AFL teamsters union set the figure at 3,500.

Gulf coast stevedores who pledged their support to the East coast strikers not to work on diverted ships faced their first test today when the SS New Jersey arrived in New Orleans. Longshoremen refused to work the ship.

Port officials in Houston, meanwhile, clamped a semi-embargo on grain shipments into that Texas port because heavy deliveries diverted from eastern ports have choked storage space and bogged down operations.

The booming port of Halifax, N. S., however, slightly dented the armor of the East coast dock workers. Canadian longshoremen today reversed their previous stand and announced they will handle diverted ships but will not work on cargoes consigned to the United States.

The Port of New York has the appearance of a "ghost harbor." U. S. customs officials said 123 ships are stranded, including 30 at anchorage waiting to be docked. The ships at anchor all carry full and costly cargoes.

The Communists, on the other hand, reported major gains south of the embattled city. A north China radio broadcast declared that the Reds had taken the Sushien rail center 50 miles south of Suchow.

They said the "Nationalist 148th division was "destroyed." A Chinese division corresponds roughly to an American regiment of 2,000 men.

The exodus from Nanking of thousands of Chinese and hundreds of foreigners continued to swell. The Chinese foreign office is reported to have advised foreign embassies in Nanking to send their women and children out of the capital.

County-Wide Meeting Of CROP Organization Is Slated Monday

The second county-wide meeting of CROP—Christian Rural Overseas Program—will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the office of the county agent, Fourteenth and Ave. Q, Rev. Fred McPherson, chairman of the county steering committee of the organization, announced Wednesday.

CROP, as the program is known, is sponsored by Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief, and is a program for relief of starving peoples overseas. It is not, however, in competition or duplication with any other relief activity.

Drive Planning Slated

The Lubbock county organization of CROP, designed so that rural and townpeople may contribute of their products for relief of needy peoples throughout the world, was set up at an Oct. 25 meeting in the courthouse. The steering committee was named at that time.

Rev. McPherson said that at Monday's meeting, final plans will be made for the county-wide drive, and a date will be set for the collection of commodities. Steps also will be taken to designate points of collection throughout the county, he said.

Every church and civic club in Lubbock county has been urged to send a representative to the meeting. Committees in every participating church will be set up, it was announced.

T. H. Holmes of Ralls, assistant field director of CROP in this area, will be present at the meeting in an advisory capacity.

The steering committee met last Saturday at the county agent's office, and plans were made for the forthcoming meeting. The committee asked Rev. McPherson to serve as chairman and Mrs. John Redwine of Shallowater as secretary-treasurer.

Housewives Benefit From 'Coupon War'

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 17. (U.P.) — Indianapolis housewives rushed to stores to take advantage of a $2,000,000 "coupon war" being waged by chain grocery stores and independent proprietors.

A local chain fired the first gun in the battle by mailing every metropolitan home a book of coupons worth $5.20 in trade. Most of the coupons were worth 10 cents toward the purchase of a single item.

Independent grocers retaliated by offering to honor the chain's coupons. One stocked up on the bargain-type items and waged an intensive campaign to latch on to the customers enticed by the chain.

Another chain joined the fight by cutting its prices outright 10 cents on all coupon items for one week.

"Why monkey with coupons?" the second chain asked in an advertisement. "We'll give you the coupon price right over the counter."

It was estimated today that the value of coupons floating around the city had reached $2,000,000.

Official Vote Totals Announced For Texas

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (AP) — The formal canvass of the Nov. 2 general election vote in statewide and district races today gave Harry S. Truman 750,700 votes. Lyndon B. Johnson, U. S. Senator-elect, received 702,985 votes.

Secretary of State Paul Brown said the totals of today's canvass will be considered the official totals for the general election despite the fact official returns were not in from a number of counties.

Thirty-seven counties failed to report their returns to the Secretary of State in time for inclusion in the tabulation of votes for presidential electors, and 2 counties did not report on the U. S. senatorial race.

Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, received 282,240 official Texas votes; J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights party, 106,909; Henry A. Wallace, Progressive party, 3,764; Claude A. Watson, prohibition party, 2,758; and Norman Thomas, Socialist Party, 874.

TOKYO, Nov. 17. (INS) — The commander of U.S. occupation troops in South Korea conferred at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters today amid reports that the United States is planning to evacuate troops from South Korea.

The talks were described officially as being concerned with "routine matters of training and supply."

Unconfirmed reports circulating in Tokyo are that America may withdraw from South Korea now that the Russians are leaving North Korea.

Participating in the talks at MacArthur's headquarters are Maj. Gen. John B. Coulter, commander of U.S. occupation forces in Korea, and his operations officer, Col. Andrew Tychesen.

Israel Says UN Order Blasted Jewish-Arab Peace Discussions

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 17 (AP) — A high Israeli spokesman today declared the acting UN mediator's order for Jewish withdrawal in the Negev has dynamited Jewish-Arab talks which might have led to separate peace treaties.

"The blow that broke down the talks was acting mediator (Ralph) Bunche's order for an Israeli withdrawal in the Negev and the return of the Egyptians to positions inside Israeli territory from which they had been driven last month," the spokesman said.

He said the order gave the Arabs to understand they might expect more from the UN than they could ever hope to get in direct negotiations with the Jewish state.

WOULD SET UP FUNDS

Need For Good Teachers Seen As Chief Educational Problem

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (INS)—The Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching said tonight that the recruiting of good teachers is the "central problem of higher education" because teachers are "more important than buildings, endowments, libraries . . . or curriculum."

President Dr. O. C. Carmichael, in the foundation's 43rd annual report, declared that the imperative need is a system for the "proper training of college teachers.

Dr. Carmichael suggests a new use by universities and colleges of special college-teacher recruitment fellowships for graduate students.

Would Set Aside Funds

As another step in the "selection, training and stimulation" of better teachers, the foundation president urged a proportion of the funds to be granted colleges be set aside for this purpose.

He said the foundamental need is a "broader, better balanced educational program at all higher levels, including the graduate school."

Dr. Carmichael added:

"Restoring the balance in emphasis as between science and technology on the one hand, and humanistic and social studies on the other, is one of the chief problems of higher education.

"An understanding of society and of its fundamental problems is an imperative need.

"Other types of experiment looking to the enhancement of intellectual interests of faculties are sorely needed. An imaginative and courageous administration could undertake no more fruitful effort than that of discovering new ways of keeping the faculty alive and alert, for after all, what happens in the classroom is the chief measurement of the quality of educational results."

At the same time, Carmichael pointed out that there is now no criterion of what good teaching really is.

The foundation president declared that faculties and administrations have been so concerned about curriculum, libraries, financial support, etc., that they have largely overlooked the most important element in any effective educational program.

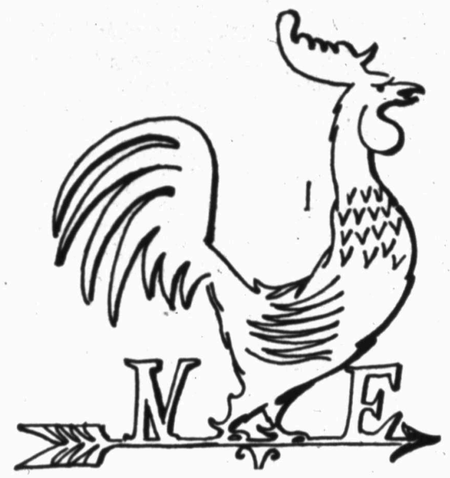

This, he said, is "the quality of the classroom performance and the means of appraising and improving it."

Carmichael said all higher education will be "greatly benefitted" if some faculty "with imagination and courage" would start a comprehensive study to "formulate criteria of good teaching . . . and the most effective steps for its improvement."

Party Issues To Be Threshed Out

By DICK COOKE
INS Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Nov. 17—Texas Democratic party leaders will gather in Dallas tomorrow to beat the drums to the refrain of the loyal Truman wing of the party.

The gathering opens with a joint meeting of the state executive committee and the Texas Association of Democratic chairmen. It is billed as a harmony session.

Delicate Question Up

But all is not fair weather for the executive committee which, after glad-handing the county chairmen, goes into a meeting of its own. It has a delicate question in deciding who is to be the national Democratic chairman from Texas.

Wright Morrow of Houston, Gov. Beauford H. Jester's hand picked committeeman who was given the office when the chief executive had more political power, has been hired and fired twice this year already. It is predicted he will again be fired by the committee.

Morrow, linked with the southern revolt movement, was chosen national committeeman early in the year. He was fired by loyal Trumanites at the Sept. 14 state convention at Fort Worth. Governor Jester also was snubbed rather badly and the convention ousted all delegations which had felt the stroke of the state's rights paint brush.

The Fort Worth convention elected Byron Skelton of Temple as national committeeman, but both the governor and Morrow declared that Morrow had been seated by the national committee and could be fired only by the national committee.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana has joined the move to oust Morrow and in a letter to Gov. Jester demanded that the state committee be requested to petition the national committee to take away Morrow's seat.

However, the "conservative" element of the party hasn't rolled over and died since the Truman victory. It is fighting back and probably will add the Morrow ouster, (if the decision is objectionable) to its already long list of grievances. The conservatives already have won one decisive battle in the courts. More legalities can be taken in stride.

Injunction Secured

The conservatives have secured an injunction in a Fort Worth district court which says in effect that the purge of anti-Truman Democrats at the state convention was not legal. The writ may have a decided effect on the ouster of Morrow.

However, it has already been learned that the executive committee is planning to select a legal staff at tomorrow's meeting. The staff is expected to be kept

State Supreme Court Rules On Procedure For Tax Foreclosure

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. (AP)—Taxing agencies must foreclose in court on property they want to sell for delinquent taxes, the supreme court ruled today.

Justice G. B. Smedley's opinion in a case from Harris county upheld a trial court injunction prohibiting summary sale of a piece of property on which taxes were delinquent.

The effect of the opinion was to uphold constitutionality of a law passed in 1929, declaring sales for delinquent taxes may be made only after the taxing agency has gone into court and foreclosed a tax lien.

The case was styled J. A. Duncan, tax assessor and collector versus Harvery E. Gabler. It was appealed by Duncan directly to the supreme court from district court.

ROYAL WELCOME IS PLANNED

Local Store Still Looking For Jolly And Plump Old St. Nick

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

The advertisement in Wednesday's Morning Avalanche read: "Help Wanted—Santa Claus . . . Position will be open from November 22 through December 24."

But the job had no takers by the close of business Wednesday, said W. C. O'Mara, manager of Sears, Roebuck and company store here which has started a pre-Thanksgiving search for a suitable Jolly Old St. Nick.

Santa Claus—whoever he may turn out to be—will receive a royal welcome to Lubbock, if O'Mara's plans work out.

Sitting in his office waiting for an applicant to show up Wednesday, he revealed some of the plans for the reception of the idol of the small-fry set a day or so after Thanksgiving.

A helicopter, if available, will land Santa Claus on the store's parking lot, and he will then be escorted to the toy department where an elevated "throne" will be waiting for him.

A ramp will front the throne so that any youngster who wishes can go up and whisper in Santa's ear just what he wants for Christmas.

A North Pole and a Santa Claus mailbox for letters to Santa will also be handy.

The advertisement mentioned "suitable qualifications."

These, O'Mara explained, fall into two broad classifications: appearance, and love of children.

As for appearance, Santa must be 45 to 55 years old, have an ample waistline — admittedly an unusual requirement for job-seekers—a good voice, preferably jolly and booming.

The job requires a man who genuinely enjoys talking to children, and what's more can tactfully handle large crowds of them.

Santa is to read many of the letters he receives over an evening radio program from Thanksgiving until Christmas.

busy. Its first act probably will be to seek a favorable appeal court ruling on the Fort Worth court order.

But the odds for Morrow's ouster is with the loyal Democrats who have won every political round in the state this year. The Trumanites can count on even more strength now.

After the battle is over, all Democrats will meet Saturday night to bury the hatchet . . . at a $4 per plate fund raising banquet at Dallas.

Lubbock Man Is Robbed Of Car

R. G. Snodgrass of 1628 Thirteenth was robbed of his car early Wednesday morning by four negroes who threatened to "cut my head off if I didn't get out" and turn the machine over to them, Snodgrass reported to police.

Snodgrass and a companion were sitting in the car on North College, about 2:30 a. m., the victim said.

Four negroes came up, forced the occupants to get out at threat of death, then two of them got in his car and the others got in a 1937 Plymouth coach. Both cars left toward Littlefield on U. S. highway 84.

Purse Snatcher Sought

Snodgrass' car was described to police as a 1941 five-passenger coupe. License number was AM-2743.

An unknown white man, about 35, reportedly snatched a purse from Mrs. Bob Phillips about 1:15 a. m. Wednesday, when she was about to enter her residence at 2401 Ninth. Mrs. Phillips said she had closed a cafe at 2401 Main and had $20 in money and approximately $200 in checks, receipts of the business, in her purse. She described her assailant as approximately 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing about 130 pounds.

A total of 20 cases of permanent type antifreeze was stolen from two trucks in the night. It was valued at approximately $520.

Fifteen cases were taken from a truck of T. G. Jones of 1709 Ave. H, from 200-block Ave. N.

Assault Fines Assessed

The other five cases were removed from a truck of Bill Stewart of 1510 Arnett. The truck was parked at Sixteenth and Texas Ave.

Police said they were informed by Dep. Sheriff Whitlock of Ropesville that a negro had been robbed by another there, of a billfold containing $210. No arrest had been reported.

Gasoline and rubber hose from a gasoline pump were taken in burglary of the wellhouse of I. W. Randolph of three miles south and four west of Shallowater, the sheriff's office was informed.

Theft Is Reported

Mrs. J. M. Marshall informed police Tuesday night that her residence at 1208 Ave. U. had been entered between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. and two watches, valued at $20 each, and a $35 rifle removed by the intruder.

The watches, one a 17-jewel and the other a 7-jewel, were taken from a bureau drawer. The rifle, a .32 caliber Winchester, was disassembled for cleaning and was carried away in parts, Mrs. Marshall said.

George Daniel, 38-year-old Hockley county negro, was charged Wednesday in the justice court of C. E. Lynn with theft by bailee on Oct. 10 of a 2-wheeled trailer valued at more than $50 from M. E. Carver. Carver swore to the complaint before A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney.

Marvin Charles Wilson was fined $50 and county court costs on a plea of guilty to driving a motor vehicle without a driver's license, County Attorney John Steele's records showed.

TRIAL AGAIN DELAYED

Texas Solon Scores Capehart's Stand On Basing-Point Pricing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Rep. Patman (D-Tex) accused Senator Capehart (R-Ind) today of being hypnotized by "selfish, greedy big interests" favoring a basing-point pricing system for industry.

The two have been engaged in a running word battle over national effects of a supreme court rule banning use of the basing-point system of pricing by the cement industry.

Patman contends the ruling should stand "if you are for small business.

Businessmen Divided

Businessmen, too, have appeared sharply divided on effects of the ruling which upheld a Federal Trade commission order. The issue seems headed for a sharp battle when Congress convenes next year.

Capehart's Senate Trade Policies committee currently is holding hearings on the pricing dispute. Patman is due to resume chairmanship next January of the House Small Business committee, which he helped set up in 1941.

Patman touched off his controversy with Capehart last month. He accused the Indianan of "putting out a lot of propaganda" in favor of a law to overturn the court's decision.

Solons Exchange Blasts

Not so, said Capehart at his committee hearing yesterday. He read Patman's remarks, then said there was no basis for them. He expressed the view that 16 years of the Democratic "New Deal" had resulted in "big business getting bigger and small business smaller."

Patman came back with a written statement today saying Capehart "is demonstrating the weakness of his case . . . in 'blowing his top' yesterday before his committee in an unjustified denunciation of me." He added:

"Senator Capehart will see the light if he keeps on studying the question, and if he will remove the invisible fog around him created by selfish, greedy, big interests."

Under the disputed basing-point plan, companies within an industry include freight charges in quoting standardized prices regardless of the buyer's distance from the producing point.

Going ahead with its hearing, Capehart's committee heard beet sugar producers say any drastic change in the industry's present pricing system would produce a "business nightmare."

They said a switch would bring higher consumer prices and "radically change" the economic life of many western states and communities.

Re-Testing Program For TB In Cattle To Start Monday

Three-year re-test of cattle in the government's tuberculosis eradication program will be started in this county Monday under direction of Dr. John A. Phillips, veterinarian with the U. S. Bureau of Animal industry, it was announced Wednesday by D. W. Sherrill, county agent.

While not making any estimate on possible numbers of cattle to be tested, Sherrill said the work in this county will require about four weeks.

Factory For Boys' Clothing Is Operated In Lubbock; Products Sold In Wide Area

Between 400 and 500 stores in 12 states receive little boys' clothing bearing the label, "Dotty Dan —Lubbock, Texas."

Helping to "break the ice" in clothing manufacturing in this area, Miss Bethel Rogers and Mrs. Irene McDaniel operate the Dotty Dan Manufacturers of Children's Clothes at 217 N. College.

Their factory, which employs 14 persons in addition to the owners, sells extensively in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado, and has scattered accounts, as low as one in some states, in Mississippi, Kansas, Florida, California, Utah, Nevada and Louisiana.

Both of the owners believe that Lubbock some day will be a clothing manufacturing and possibly a textile mill center.

"It's pretty centrally located. We have a good trade territory around here," said Mrs. McDaniel.

Asked why more clothing factories have not been established here previously, Miss Rogers said, "I think they just never have broken the ice and gotten started.

"I think that eventually textile mills will be established in this part of the country, when people find out the possibilities," said Miss Rogers. She pointed out that "with so much cotton out here," Lubbock logically might be considered as location for textile mills.

In Texas, she said, "a lot more factories are being established all the time."

Clothing Types Given

The owners believe the Dotty Dan factory to be the only manufacturers of children's clothing in a wide area, a factory at Dallas being the nearest. A factory which makes women's clothing is located at Amarillo, said Miss Rogers.

At the Dotty Dan factory, approximately 2,500 yards of material are cut each month and converted into boys' clothing in infant's and one, two and three sizes. Apparel includes overalls, coveralls, corduroy suits, slacks and jackets, plaid shirts and boy's infant dresses.

Difficulty in obtaining material is the principal block in the way of clothing manufacturers and establishment of mills would remove that problem, the owners pointed out. Cost of shipping material from far-removed mills to the factory here also is a big item, they said.

"When there is a shortage of supplies, they pay attention to the old customers and large users," Miss Rogers said of mills.

The manufacturing business at 217 N. College opened on July 15, 1947. It had originated from the Dotty Dan shop which formerly was located on Nineteenth street and which made clothes, mostly girls' clothing, almost exclusively for sale in that shop.

The present business differs in that it has no retail outlet and manufactures for wholesale customers.

The former business on Nineteenth once made an exception by making clothing a downtown store was having difficulty in obtaining during wartime.

The factory now in operation includes four Lubbock stores among its accounts. In building up its out-of-town accounts, the owners have worked to create a demand for products of the factory by mailing a few samples but mostly by employing salesmen to whom they send samples of their products.

Pigeons Take Hint From Boston Pair

BOSTON, Nov. 17. (INS)—Residents of Boston's Beacon Hill district were ready to believe today that their pigeons don't like to get drunk.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Dewey, who have been determined to get rid of some 300 pigeons which have been annoying them and dirtying their home, set out a feed of gin-and-mash for the birds yesterday.

Dewey said later that the pigeons staggered, fought among themselves, flew wobbly, and finally settled down wherever they could to "sleep it off."

Today, nary a pigeon bothered the Deweys.

Princess Elizabeth And Son Reported 'Making Good Progress'

A Buckingham palace announcement said that Elizabeth and the three-day-old prince of Ediburgh continue to do well. Elizabeth was said to have spent an "excellent night."

French Object To Return Of Industry To German Control

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

There's a lot of ground to be covered before German industries can be returned to German administration as planned by the Anglo-American military governments.

Reports from Paris indicate the French government is awfully sore over the announcement, and that it will continue to insist on complete international control for at least as long as Germany is under occupation.

Fear Dead Germany

Assurance that no revival of political power in the hands of German industrialists will be permitted mean little in Paris. Even though France has a fifth column which the government itself charges is financed and controlled by a foreign power, the French are still more afraid of a dead Germany than of a live and well armed Russia.

The Anglo-American front is not solid on the subject, either. The British give lip-service to revival of German industry for European recovery. But they don't want German steel production to threaten the markets they hope to get through a $700,000,000 expansion of their own industry after it is nationalized.

France also has similar economic aspirations. She really wanted German industry transferred to France for reparations so she could be the big boss of European steel. The economic soundness of such a proposal is open to grave question. But both she and Britain have their eyes on the world's annual 25-million-ton steel shortage.

Plan Questioned Here

The real French consideration, however, is military. Some officials admit that some revival of German steel production makes sense at this time, but insist that France get the coal allotments and machinery to keep ahead.

There was some question even in American diplomatic circles as to why the military governors announced this plan right at this time. The Germans had already been promised they would be permitted to decide for themselves, when they had a stable government, whether they wanted to socialize the industries or just what form ownership would take. There is general agreement that the former owners are out for good. Control by German companies under Allied supervision is intended as an interim plan. The military governors apparently think it will spur production.

Nobody is saying much publicly about one factor which I found under consideration both in France and Germany. Several German officials told me that American capital investment would be welcomed. Several Frenchmen said that if American capital was heavily interested in the Ruhr and Rhineland, many French fears would be considerably allayed. It's something that may come to the fore before the problem is really settled.

Reminder Is Issued On Rent Controls, Sale Of Some Units

Landlords and builders were reminded in statements from the rent control office here this week of what was described as two important phases of the housing and rent act of 1948.

One of these was the veterans' preference regulation, requiring that new housing accommodations completed after June 30, 1947, be offered for rent or sale exclusively to World war 2 veterans or their families during the construction period and for 30 days after completion.

The other was a reminder that under certain conditions rent adjustments are approved to benefit landlords.

The statements came from Roy B. Carnes, area director, who said that 25 petitions for rent adjustments were handled by the office during October, and that of these, 18 were approved for increases.

The cumulative monthly rent on the 18 approved petitions, which included 25 living units, had amounted to $533, and adjustments increased that to $741, an average of $8.32 for each unit.

The 25 petitions brought the number of such cases handled by the office since April 1, this year, when the present law went into effect, to 222. Of the total 178 were approved, and 44 denied, Carnes' report showed.

The adjustments are based on what the law calls hardship cases, and are possible under one or more of 13 circumstances, or conditions.

Carnes pointed out that for small landlords who own four or fewer units and who do not keep complete records, the law provides for a short form petition under which landlords can show increased expenses over a prior base period because of higher taxes, fuel, utilities, and insurance costs. A complete accounting system is not required in this form as is the case in the long form.

Carnes asked that questions concerning this be referred to his office, now located at 1108 Fourteenth.

The veterans preference regulation on sale or rent of new properties, requires that builders give veterans preference for a 30-day period after completion of the unit, to purchase or rent the property.

The law requires certain advertising procedure, which among other things must stipulate the price, either rent or sale, and must be advertised at least three days during the first 20 days after completion.

The regulation does not apply, however, if: first, the housing was completed prior to June 30, 1947; second, new units are created by conversion of old structures; and third, the sale of other than single family dwellings, although rent of units in multi-family dwellings is covered by the law.

Minnesota Youth Held Here On Federal Auto Theft Charges

James A. Dougherty, 18, of Branery, Minn., was placed in Lubbock county jail Wednesday afternoon by federal officials for trial of a charge that on Feb. 5 he transported a stolen motor vehicle in interstate commerce.

He was arrested in San Antonio, where bond of $1,500 was set by P. A. Lockart of the western federal district of Texas conditioning his appearance for trial here. In lieu of bail, he was removed here under custody. The charge was sworn to by Curtis L. Perryman, resident agent of the FBI in Lubbock.

Four More Suspects Are Freed In Study Of Colorado Slayings

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 17 (INS) — Four of five suspects questioned in the rape-murder of an 18-year-old Colorado university coed were exonerated today, and the fifth appeared to have little connection with the case.

Boulder authorities have checked clues in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, but so far have nothing definite in the slaying of Theresa Catherine Foster, freshman student whose mutilated body was found last Thursday under a bridge south of the college town.

A man identified as Thaddeus R. Sonleitner, 52, of Hailey, Ida., was being held by Ogden, Utah officials. He was taken into custody after he was overheard to comment nervously:

"They can't pin that Colorado deal on me."

Detective Lt. W. K. Milligan of Ogden expressed belief today that the salesman is innocent of any connection with the case.

The detective said, however, that the city bacteriologist was to make further comparison tests of stains found on Sonleitner's clothing and specimens of the slain girl's blood.

Sonleitner told authorities that he was a fisherman, and the blood stains got on his clothing when he cleaned fish during a recent angling trip in Wyoming.

No New Clues Found

Meanwhile, no progress was reported in the hunt for two other missing Colorado girls.

At La Junta, Sheriff George Friedenberger and the parents of Mrs. Kay South, 17-year-old waitress, expressed fear she is dead.

The pretty girl, mother of an infant daughter, disappeared early last Friday morning, and an extensive search by plane, auto and on foot has not turned up any clues as to her whereabouts.

The disappearance of Lillian De Bell, 17, Colorado State college freshman, left authorities baffled. The attractive brunette left her college dormitory at Greeley on Nov. 1, after writing a note that indicated she "might be walking into a trap."

Eleven Families To Get $31,916 For Damage From Plant

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Eleven families who claimed they were nauseated by fumes from a soap plant were $31,916 richer today.

A jury in Judge H. W. Fillmore's district court awarded the plaintiffs $15,500 in personal damages and $16,416 in property damage.

At the same time the jury ruled that women suffered more discomfort than men from the odors and said each male plaintiff should receive $500 and his wife $1,000.

"Women were forced to remain at home and suffered the odor throughout the day, while the men had only to contend with it in the early morning and evening."

The defendant was the Soap Corporation of America, which operates a plant on the south side of Wichita Falls.

Some 50 witnesses testified that fumes from the plant smelled like "dead salmon," "something that had been dead a long time," or "something foul."

The jury's verdict was that the soap plant "discharged foul and obnoxious odors into the atmosphere, causing injury, damage, harm or inconvenience to a person of ordinary sensibilities."

The plaintiffs now are seeking an injunction to restrain the company from further operation of the plant.

Choir Gives Program At Rotary Meeting

The Carroll Thompson Junior High school choir, under direction of Mrs. Eloise Elliott and Miss Sue Tyson, presented a varied program of musical numbers at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday at the Hilton hotel.

Miss Tyson, a Texas Tech student, who is doing practice teaching at the junior high school, alternated with Mrs. Elliott in directing the choir of 80 to 90 voices, and also sang "Come to the Fair," as a solo.

Melba Jeane Blake was at the piano, and Roy Burrows, member of the choir, was narrator.

After two opening numbers, "Shoo the Blues Away," and a reworded verse of the National Anthem, the choir rendered The Lord's Prayer as a choral number, and Love Divine, All Love Excelling.

Turning to a lighter vein, the program then included Viva Lamour, There's Music in the Air; two Mexican folk songs, Under the Stars, and Juanita; two American folk songs, Water Boy, and Stephen Foster's Old Black Joe.

Other numbers, also typically American, included Battle Hymn of the Republic, and the concluding number, an educational parody on Now the Day is Over.

Homer D. Grant was program chairman. Club President Irving L. Jones announced that the club's Ladies night will be held Nov. 29, when a Mexican consul from Amarillo will speak and show films of his native land.

Visiting Rotarians included J. H. Howard of Stamford, Bill Rossiter of Albuquerque, Al Pettigrew of Austin, John Morton of Levelland, Earl W. Rogers of Borger, James H. Morrison of Sterling, Colo., Ed J. Namel of Hutchinson, Kas., C. F. Hodges of Dallas, and Weldon Crawford of San Antonio.

Invocation was by Dr. Chas. J. Wagner.

Texas Solon Again To Propose National Air Force Academy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) says he will try to get quick action in the new Congress on a bill that would establish Randolph Field, San Antonio as an Air Force academy.

Kilday told a reporter yesterday he will introduce the same bill he sponsored last session.

"Sealand" amphibian aircraft are now being produced in Northern Ireland.

New Superbomber To Be Turned Over To Air Force In 10 Days

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—Carswell Air Force base will receive its first B-36-B, the more powerful version of the B-36 Superbomber, within 10 days.

That was the estimate today of Col. Beverly Warren, Air Force procurement officer at Convair.

Each of the six engines on the new bomber will produce 3,500 horsepower instead of the 3,000 of the earlier model. Convair officials said they expect to complete at least 18 other B-36-B Superbombers before the year is out.

De Gaulle Disturbed By United Germany

PARIS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle said today the western powers are creating a new Germany that might not be willing to oppose Russia.

Turning the Ruhr coal mines and steel mills back into the hands of the Germans, he added, is "the gravest decision made so far during the 20th century."

De Gaulle told newsmen that not only the British and Americans, but the Russians as well, are trying to create a United Germany.

"England and America flatter themselves they can make something of the Reich to oppose Russia," De Gaulle said, "perhaps they can. But perhaps they can't.

"Hitler didn't have any difficulty reaching an accord with Russia when he wanted to dominate Europe . . . To which side will the new Reich turn? The question is very disturbing."

Attorney Leaps To Death In Vatican

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—A 65-year-old attorney climbed to the great dome of St. Peter's basilica today and leaped 164 feet to his death among thousands of the faithful gathered in Christendom's largest church.

A great moan went up from the massed worshippers as the body of Pietro Puglieri crashed on the mosiac floor in front of the altar of confession.

Second Suicide

It was the second suicide within six months to desecrate the great church. Six months ago, an unemployed youth shot himself to death before the main altar.

Puglieri climbed to the first loggia inside the cupola of the great dome. He shed his overcoat and hurled it over the railing to warn the throng gathering for the first vespers of the feast in commemoration of the dedication of the church.

Then he climbed the waist-high railings, paused for a moment while white-faced faithful below watched in horror, and jumped. He uttered not a word.

He cleared the bronze canopied altar over the tomb of St. Peter, before which the marble statue of Pope Pius VI kneels in prayer, and crashed on the mosaic floor.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

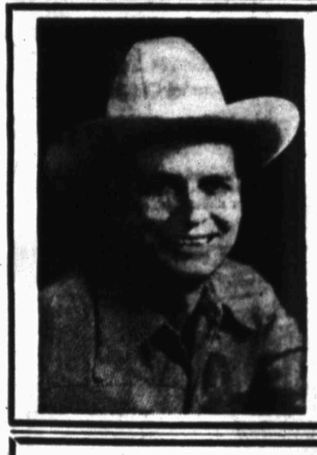

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulgy person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit — back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money.

REAL PROGRESS

Our 'Ersatz' Rubber

WHILE the infant synthetic rubber industry was being expanded under the stimulus of critical war needs, Americans were virtually unanimous in their matter-of-fact confidence that, given time, an artificial product superior to the natural eventually would be developed.

Indications are that the time may be near when all who shared this confidence can join in a chorus of, "I told you so." Significant of the prospect was the announcement this week by Herbert E. Smith, president of the U. S. Rubber Co., that scientists have developed a synthetic tire giving 30 per cent more mileage than those made of natural rubber.

This nation's ability to provide a sufficient quantity of synthetic rubber for all purposes has been demonstrated after starting practically from scratch during the war. Mr. Smith's statement indicates much progress toward solving the problem of a synthetic product of superior quality.

The summation of all the factors seems to be that the U. S. will have only itself to blame if it ever lacks an abundance of the best rubber known to man, wholly without dependence upon the product of trees on the other side of the world.

It is pertinent in this connection for Texans to recall with certain pride that their new senator-elect, Lyndon Johnson, was the foremost champion of preserving our synthetic rubber industry during his service in the U. S. House of Representatives. Many observers say that he, more than any other individual, saved that industry from being reduced to impotence by several selfish and powerful interests.

Grain For Relief

FIRST reaction of most people is likely to be support of the President's request that Foreign Aid Administrator Paul G. Hoffman abandon plans to let private traders buy the grain for the U. S. relief program.

On first blush, Mr. Hoffman's proposed procedure seems highly vulnerable, if not indefensible. More careful study produces arguments which appear to support his announced buying policies.

Mr. Truman's intervention in the matter naturally will cause many Americans to wonder how there could be justification for the payment of commissions to private traders — most of them speculators — to handle the buying of several hundred million dollars worth of relief grains. Why can't the government do its own buying and save this added cost? Why should speculators get a rake-off at taxpayer expense?

The contention of Mr. Hoffman and supporters of his policy boils down to this: That it would be cheaper to use private traders than for the government to set up and maintain its own buying organization.

Few can pretend to know whether Mr. Hoffman's argument is valid. The consensus of those in best position to judge credits the administrator with complete sincerity and honesty of purpose. They agree that if his policy is at fault, the error is one of judgment—and most observers concede his judgment usually is sound.

The question of what is best clearly has two sides. Even the most partisan of fair-minded observers are justified in confidence that the policy finally approved will be dictated by the honest convictions of those who are striving to do what is best for the nation.

The average man doesn't want to play second fiddle nowadays. He wants to lead the orchestra.

Down Memory Lane

(From the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche of Nov. 18, 1928.)

At Brownfield, the Presbyterian Aid Society met in the home of Mrs. John B. King for regular business and study, with Mrs. H. W. McSpadden leading the lesson. Mrs. J. D. Miller assisted in serving, and Mrs. E. G. Alexander was given a handkerchief shower as honor guest. Others attending were Mesdames J. E. Shelton, F. H. Perkins, J. H. Griffin, Tom May, King, W. A. Bell, and Mrs. Dallas.

At Crosbyton, Mrs. J. A. Parks entertained in an informal dinner party jointly honoring her husband and Roy McDaniel on their birthday. A three-course dinner was served to E. H. Hendricks, M. R. Hibbitts, R. S. M. Carter, E. W. Gregg, Ed Haynes, F. A. Green, Robert Webb, Sam Caldwell, Mrs. Roy McDaniel and the honorees. Bridge, forty-two and dominoes were diversions.

THE STORY

Time, 1880 Place, New Orleans

(Louis Durand, 37, a well-to-do bachelor, has been corresponding with Miss Junia Russell, whom he has never seen. He has proposed marriage and she has accepted. According to her picture, Miss Russell is dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young. Durand goes down to the dock to meet the boat that is to bring her from St. Louis. He is dumfounded when an exquisite young blond creature introduces herself as Julia. She explains her little deceit by saying she didn't want him to fall for just a pretty face. They are married and after a gay wedding supper, Durand takes his bride to the lavish new home he has built for her. Julia appears delighted with everything.)

VI

IT was a week later, 10 days at most. Rosey-cheeked, dewey-eyed, winsome in the early morning sunlight, in a dressing sack of warm yellow whose hue matched the sunny glow falling about her, she quickly forestalled Aunt Sarah, took the coffee urn from her hand, insisting as she did every day on pouring his cupful herself.

He smiled, flattered, as he did every day when this same thing happened.

Settled in her chair, she raised her own cup, eyes smiling at him over its very rim.

"This is really excellent coffee," she remarked, after a sip.

"It's some of our own. One of the better grades, from the warehouse. I have a small sackful sent home every now and again for Aunt Sarah's use."

"I don't know what I should do without it. It is so invigorating, of a chilly morning. There is nothing I am quite so fond of."

"You mean since you have begun to sample Aunt Sarah's?"

"No, always. All my life I—"

She stopped, seeing him look at her with a sort of sudden, arrested attention. It was like a stone cast into the bubbling conversation, an dsinking heavily to the bottom, stilling it.

There was some sort of contagion passed between them. Impossible to give it a name. She seemed to take it from him, seeing it appear on his face, and her own became strained and watchful.

"But—" he said at last, and didn't go on.

"Yes?" She said with an effort. "Were you going to say something?"

"No, I—" Then he gave himself the lie, went on to say it anyway. "But in your letter once you said the opposite. Telling me how you went down to a cup of tea in the morning. Nothing but tea would do. You could not abide coffee. 'Heavy, inky drink.' I can still remember your very words."

She lifted her cup again, took a sip. She was unable therefore to spea kagain until she had removed it out of the way.

"True," she said, speaking rather fast to make up for the restriction, once it had been removed. "But that was because of my sister."

"But your preferences are your own, how could your sister affect them?"

"I was in her house," she explained. "She was the one liked tea, I coffee. But out of consideration for her, in order not to be the means of causing her to drink something she did not like, I pretended I liked it too. I put it in my letter because I sometimes showed her my letters to you before I sent them, and I did not want her to discover my little deception."

"Oh," he grinned, almost with a breath of relief.

HER complexion was a source of considerable wonderment to him. It seemed capable of the most rapid and unpredictable changes, almost within the twinkling of an eye. These flushes and pallors, if such they were, did not actually occur before his eyes, but within such short spans of time that, for all practical purposes, it amounted to the same thing.

It was most noticeable in the mornings. On first opening the shutters and turning to behold her, her coloring would be almost camelia-like. And yet, but a few moments later, as she followed in his wake down the stairs and rejoined him at the table, there would be the fresh hue of primroses, of pink carnations, in her cheeks.

One morning, however, his concern got the better of him. He rose from the table they were seated at, breakfasting, went over to her, and tested her forehead with the back of his hand.

"What do you do that for?" she asked, with unmarred composure.

"I wanted to see if you had a temperature."

He thought he saw her lips quiver treacherously, but they formed nothing but a small smile of reassurance.

"Oh no, I am in perfectly good health."

"You are as white as a ghost, at times. Then at others—A few moments ago, in our room, you were unduly pale. And now your cheeks are like apples."

She turned her fork over, then turned it back again the way it had been.

"It is the cold water, perhaps," she said. "I apply it to my face with strong pats, and that brings out the color. So you need not worry any longer, there's really nothing to be alarmed at."

"Oh," he exclaimed, vastly relieved. "Is that all that causes it? Who would have believed—!"

He turned his head suddenly. Aunt Sarah was standing there motionless, a plate she had forgotten to deliver held in her hand. Her eyes stared at Julia's face with a narrow-lidded scrutiny.

He thought, understandingly, that she too must feel concern for the state of her young mistress' health, just as he had, to fix upon her such a speculative stare of secretive appraisal.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

I HAVE always wondered how it feels to be a millionaire.

Everyone seems to want to be one. But every millionaire I have ever met looked as if he either had a stomach ache or was scared to death that I would touch him for five dollars.

BRANDIES

Well, I have found out about one phase of being a millionaire or at least about being supposed to be a millionaire.

Somehow or other my name got on some sucker list and I am being bombarded with all sorts of advertising matter trying to sell me things that only a very rich person could afford.

For instance, here is one telling me about a $5,000 radio.

It must be a magnificent thing, worthy of a king—that is, of a king who hasn't been fired from his job as yet.

I would feel very much tempted to buy that $5,000 radio, if I were a millionaire.

The only trouble is that I would have to listen to exactly the same programs that come over a $19 set—and a lot of those programs aren't worth any part of $19.

• • •

Here is another offer. It's a suggested Christmas gift for your wife.

A diamond and sapphire combination necklace, clip brooch and ear clips at $5500.

And, just to show you what a bargain it is—the Federal tax is included.

A third announcement this morning makes it absolutely imperative that I, as a recognized gentleman of distinction, purchase this 32-inch "Man's 5-Suiter" for $182.92, it being understood, however, that in this case the 20% Federal tax is not included—a fact which I recognized immediately after studying that very small line on the bottom, with the help of my new eyeglasses.

• • •

BUT the climax is the invitation to become a member of the Epicure Club.

And, believe me, that thing made my mouth water.

How I wish I were a millionaire!

How I wish the doctor hadn't put me on a strict diet to keep my weight down!

I would immediately sign the application blank, enclose my check and pray that they might accept me as a member.

You have no idea what $100 could do for you, if you, too, wanted to feel like a millionaire.

For Christmas, for instance, you would receive the club's Connoisseur package, consisting of Sea Food Newburg, Crab Gumbo, Rum and Brandy Fruit Cake, Newburg Sauce; Lobster Newburg, Crab Meat, Whole Roast Chicken; Canadian Lobster Meat; Kippered Shad; Black Bean Soup with Sherry Wine: Stuffed Olives; Maraschino Cherries; Green Turtle Soup with Sherry Wine.

So it would go all through the year.

Every month you would get a

RED DRIVE IN CHINA

Soviet 'Sneak' Play

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Stalin has pulled the smartest squeeze play in modern military and diplomatic history through the Communist conquest of North China, with the prospect that this sprawling continent of almost 500,000,000 people will fall into Red hands.

TUCKER

The rush of events in the Orient tends to substantiate official and unofficial warnings from diplomats, missionaries and business men in that area that Moscow had deliberately staged the German and Balkan crises during the last six months as a screen for his even more threatening activities in the Far East.

• • •

PLUNGE: To change a football figure, the quarterback in the Kremlin has faked a plunge through the European side of the line, while he directed his real charge against Chiang Kai-Shek's topling China. If prospective developments show this to be his strategy, it will mean that the western powers, including the United States, were caught asleep and off guard.

For the U. S., Britain and France have committed themselves to holding the line thousands of miles away from Stalin's undercover offensive, despite desperate, last-minute efforts at Washington, London, Paris and Key West to shift and strengthen their oriental front.

• • •

LATE: Marshall Plan Administrator Paul Hoffman has been in almost constant conference with Under Secretary of State Lovett, with military experts and his own advisory staff. But he admits wearily that it is "too late" now for any large-scale resistance.

He dare not forward civilian supplies lest they be captured by the advancing Communist forces, inasmuch as their lines move forward every hour. Anyway, he has only $275,000,000 for this purpose.

Ordnance experts dare not step up shipments of weapons for the same reason. Moreover, since the amount on hand for military reinforcement of the beleaguered Chinese is only $125,000,000, it would not provide sufficient weapons and ammunition for a month of fighting. Privately, the disheartened officials here and among our anti-Red Allies admit that it is another episode of "too little and too late."

It may be some time before Stalin's further strategy unrolls. But it is pointed out here that already the Commie sweep through Nothern China constitutes a flanking threat to our position in Japan and Southern Korea. Even more dangerous, however, would be an eventual sweep and propaganda war in India, the Malayan peninsula and turbulent Indonesia.

• • •

DISCOURAGED: The irony of the apparent Chinese collapse lies in the fact that the discredited generalissimo belatedly chose as his military leader in North China the one man whom such an expert as George C. Marshall characterized as "a real soldier." He is General Fu Tso-yi, the bald, moon-faced but rugged, jeep-driving ruler of Shansi Province.

So discouraged has he become, according to reports, that he may not accept the too long delayed offer of independent authority in massing his men against the invaders. He may simply rally his tough warriors, known as the "Yellow River Bend Babies," to hold the narrow corridor he now occupies in North China.

• • •

GRAFTING: For some time our more skilled students of Chinese affairs have urged that we use our offices to persuade Chiang to relinquish power in favor of General Fu. But Washington did not like to offend the sensibilities of the man who was eulogized during the war by Roosevelt, Churchill and even Stalin as the "rock" of China.

Meanwhile, Fu won local victories, but could not offer extended resistance for lack of arms. Meanwhile, too, the weapons and supplies which we forwarded to the Chungking government were resold to line the pockets of Chiang's lieutenants.

It was the knowledge of this grafting which led President Truman and General Marshall to withhold the billions in aid demanded by Capitol Hill Republicans during consideration of Marshall Plan financing.

• • •

REFORMS: Should China be able to hold out pending a decision here on proposals to swing our strength to this strategic front, Fu may emerge as the new leader of China. Besides being the only successful fighter there, there and here he has initiated the reforms advocated by economic, agricultural and land experts.

He has sponsored land redistribution, stimulated industries, practiced thrift and industry, and subsidized scholarships to the United States and Europe.

It is not enough, he says, to stop the Communists militarily. The populace must be won over by improvement of their daily lot.

• • •

INDIGESTIBLE: Abashed Allied diplomats profess to find some consolation in a Soviet conquest of China and other Asiatic lands, although they may be whistling again, as they did after Munich.

It is their belief that Stalin may take over so many different races and nationalities and tribes that they will prove indigestible. They do not believe that one man or his Politburo can administer successfully and permanently an empire extending from Berlin to Bombay. In short, they remember the fate which met Napoleon when he invaded Russia.

A Chicago man knocked out a bear with his fists. We are glad to see the days of rugged individualism returning.

It seems to be a hard matter to get Uncle Sam to live within his income.

Ho, hum! It's usually the middle-class who are squeezed by the middle man.

A fair-weather friend will usually cloud-up upon any excuse.

Life nowadays seems to be one juke box after another.

There are no curse words in the Japanese language. We wonder what a Jap says when he can't open a window that is jammed.

An old-timer is the one who can recall when photographer couldn't retouch a picture and make it better looking than the subject.

An old-timer is the one who can remember when they would refer to a girl as a modest young maiden.

Usually the place that is tourist conscious soaks the tourist until he is unconscious.

Many a social experiment nowadays is the dish the hostess serves as refreshments.

Believe It Or Not - - By Robert Ripley

SOUTHERN BLOC STILL ACTIVE

Congress Holds Key To Program

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The program upon which President Truman was re-elected is only so good as Congress makes it. That is the court to which the case of the people goes, come January, for a final decision.

To back up the President the people at the same time infiltrated the new 81st Congress with many new progressive Democrats pledged to carry out his program, especially from the East, the industrial Middle West, the West and, to lesser extent, from the middle western farm belt.

STOKES

These members come with a clear mandate fresh from the people. They reflect interest in housing, health and education and increased security for old age, minimum wage increase, projection for the farmer in his markets and prices, conservation of natural resources and extended reclamation and public power among other things.

• • •

Southern Revolt Hit

But this mandate will be diluted in Congress, just as were others before in the Roosevelt New Deal years.

This is because of the seniority system in Congress which not only assigns chairmanships of committees which will have charge of the President's program on the single basis of longevity of service, but also affords less representation and less influence to new members than that to which such a mandate of the people entitles them. In other words the election can not carry its full weight in Congress.

It was the progressive wing of the Democratic party outside the South that made the Truman victory possible. The South contributed little. In fact, as we know, there was actual revolt against the President in four southern states—Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina—which were carried by the States Righters with the support of big economic interests that always have fought the sort of program that the President and progressives espoused.

• • •

There are 38 members of House and Senate from these states, most of whom kept completely under cover in fear of the States' Rights revolt and did not lift a finger for the President. They surely deserve little voice in councils of their party in Congress. Yet some of them are highly placed. Elsewhere in the South the result was, by and large, the re-election of incumbents who, because of the one-party system, do not come fresh from a contest over current political and economic issues.

Yet the South will have the usual lion's share of key posts far out of proportion to its numerical strength either in the party or in Congress, just as the Midwest always has a undue balance when Republicans are in power, as was the case in the 80th Congress. This is because of the virtual certainty of long tenure for members from both sections which, under the seniority rule always gives them a disproportionate number of key places.

• • •

South Holds Key Posts

Of the 18 committees of the House, the chairmanships of nine in the next Congress will be southerners, with two from border states, four from the East, three from the Middle West, and not a single one from the West which contributed so much to the party's victory.

In the Senate, southerners will occupy five chairmanships, maybe six, of the fifteen committees, with two from border states, and seven from the west. The East is heir to only one, banking and currency, but if Senator Wagner of New York is too ill to serve in that chairmanship, it would go to a southerner, Senator Maybank of South Carolina, one of the States' Rights states, making six for the South.

• • •

While nothing can be done about the seniority system immediately to reflect more nearly the mandate of the election, Democratic leaders could, if they were so minded, see that newcomers representing the mandate were given due representation on important committees so that the will of the people was more nearly expressed in Congress.

And, beyond that, it would seem that there might very well be added to the Truman program in the next Congress a reform in the seniority system which is condemned generally by students of Congress as a negation of true parliamentary Democracy. The seniority system was left untouched in the 1946 Congressional Reorganization act which accomplished other reforms, though the Joint Congressional committee which framed that act was urged to abolish the system. There are several proposals for selection of chairmen on other bases which will be discussed here subsequently.

FRENCH LEADER DEMANDS GENERAL ELECTION

De Gaulle Renews Bid For Power With Blast At France's Middle Of Road Coalition Government

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Gen. Charles De Gaulle, renewing his bid for the leadership of France, said today that the nation faced a complete political and economic collapse unless it threw out its middle of the road coalition government.

Nine days after he scored a sweeping victory in elections to the upper chamber of parliament, De Gaulle demanded general elections for the national assembly, the lower chamber in which the legislative power lies.

Alarm Sounded

The wartime leader of the anti-Nazi French sounded the alarm together with his new demands at a jammed press conference in the headquarters of his Rally of the French People. The movement has no deputies as such in the national assembly, since it was not in existence when the last elections were held.

Pledging his group not to join any coalition with the third force parties now threading a troubled way between the threat of Communism on the extreme left and the demands of De Gaulle on the extreme right, he also:

1. Accused the United States and Great Britain of restoring a German reich which inevitably would ally itself with Russia for an attack on the west.

2. Attacked the Anglo-American decision to restore the Ruhr industries to German ownership —"an infinitely grave decision for France."

Scores Defense Plans

3. Advocated restoration of the former Italian colonies to Italy.

4. Attacked the defense plans of the union of western Europe, insisting it would be "intolerable" for the defense of France to be entrusted to non-Frenchmen.

5. Proposed a new global strategy scheme by which France would be in charge of the European and North African theater, Britain would be in charge of the Middle East and East Africa, and the United States would be responsible for the defense of the Far East and Pacific.

6. Hinted he probably would dissolve and outlaw the Communist party if he rose to power.

He urged the scrapping of the Western Union and North Atlantic defense plans, to be replaced by a world strategy board consisting of the President of the United States, the Prime Minister of Great Britain and the head of the French government, aided by their chief military advisors.

Special Venire Ordered For Murder Trial Here Dec. 1

An order has been drawn for signature of Judge G. V. Pardue of 99th district court for a special venire to report Dec. 1 for selection of a jury in the murder case of Walter Echols, former deputy constable of Slaton.

The case was to have been tried this week—for the third time. Two mistrials resulted earlier, when juries could not reach verdicts.

Roy Sansing, special prosecutor from Higgins, was here Wednesday in connection with the case.

By agreement of counsel on both sides, veniremen will be served by postcard.

A plea of guilty in one other case may be accepted this morning by Judge Pardue, court officials said.

Splicing telephone cable

TO SERVE WAITING CUSTOMERS

"I'm a cable splicer for the telephone company.

"I splice every one of the hundreds of wires in one section of telephone cable to its mate in the next section.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

"All of us cable splicers are busy these days helping put new cables into service so that people waiting can get telephones.

"Cable and wire tie together the parts of the telephone system. To serve a new customer we need not only a telephone instrument and room on the switchboard, but also there must be a pair of wires to connect the two. Right now, most of the wires in telephone cables are in use.

"That's why we're putting in new cables as fast as the factories can deliver them—and the factories are turning out twice as much as they did before the war.

"To you people waiting: We want you to know that we're doing everything we can to get you a telephone—just as soon as we can."
