Steers game moved to Tech's stadium

The Big Spring High School football game against Lubbock High in Lubbock Saturday has been moved to Jones Stadium on the campus of Texas Tech University.

The teams originally were to play at Lowery Field in Lubbock. The game was moved because of heavy rains.

Game time Saturday is 2 p.m.

The Steers take their unblemished 2-0 record against the 0-2 Lubbock High Westerners.

Social Security issues reminder

The Social Security Administration reminds everyone that for 1991 income tax forms all children age 1 year or older must have a Social Security number to be claimed as a dependent.

Applications are available at the Big Spring office, 501 Main St., second floor of the post office. Office hours are 8:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

The administration also said Supplemental Security Income benefits have changed, and some children previously denied may now be eligible. Notices are being mailed, but contact the nearest office for further information. Dial toll free, 1-800-234-5772.

Plea for unknown caller unanswered

A plea for an unidentified caller to CrimeStoppers more than a year ago concerning a double homicide to call back has gone unanswered, a Howard County Sheriff Deputy said today.

"You'd think at least one would call in," said Deputy Tony Chavez. "Not a darn thing."

Sheriff officials more than two weeks ago asked that the caller, assigned the confidential CrimeStopper number of 1210, call back. The caller may have crucial information linking a suspect to the double homicide of Jeane and Lloyd Davidson in Big Spring in April 1990, Chavez said.

The call came in at 11:30 a.m. April 20, 1990, the day after the Davidsons were found dead with multiple stab wounds in their trailer home in the I-20 Trailer Park, Chavez said. Lloyd Davidson, 79, had been confined to a wheelchair at the time of his death. His wife was 60 years old.

Woman indicted for killing stepdaughter 36 years ago

LUBBOCK (AP) — The sisters of an infant girl who died in 1955 in what was ruled an accidental fall say they have lived most of their lives knowing their baby sister was murdered and have come forward to let "the justice system work," according to police reports.

The sisters' testimony resulted in a grand jury indictment Thursday against Colleen Parker McMorris on charges that she killed her 23-month-old stepdaughter 36 years ago.

Mrs. McMorris, 60, now living in the Oklahoma City suburb of Nicoma Park, waived extradition and was expected to be brought to Lubbock today, said Lubbock County District Attorney Travis Ware.

Mrs. McMorris was arrested Wednesday and charged with one count of murder. Bond was recommended at $250,000.

Carolyn Yvonne McMorris died Dec. 5, 1955, in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock of a cerebral hemorrhage. Doctors determined the 23-month-old infant's death was accidental after Mrs. McMorris told them the baby fell from her crib, Ware said.

But Carolyn's sisters, Anita Kay Clark, 41, and Debra Callarman, 39, came forward Tuesday, saying they witnessed Colleen McMorris kill their baby sister when they were 5 and 3, Ware said.

"(Kay) saw Colleen throw the baby onto the hardwood floor, and she saw the baby slide across the floor and underneath a rocking chair. The baby didn't move after that."
Police report

According to Kay Clark's testimony in the police report, she recalled Mrs. McMorris becoming angry with Carolyn because the baby was crying.

"(Kay) saw Colleen throw the baby onto the hardwood floor, and she saw the baby slide across the floor and underneath a rocking chair. The baby didn't move after that," according to the police report.

The sisters say they had repressed the information for years and finally had to clear their consciences to "allow the justice system to work," according to the police report.

Mrs. McMorris caused the death of the child either by "striking the child's head on the floor, by shaking the child or by manner or means unknown to the grand jurors," assistant district attorney Rebecca Atchley said, reading from the indictment.

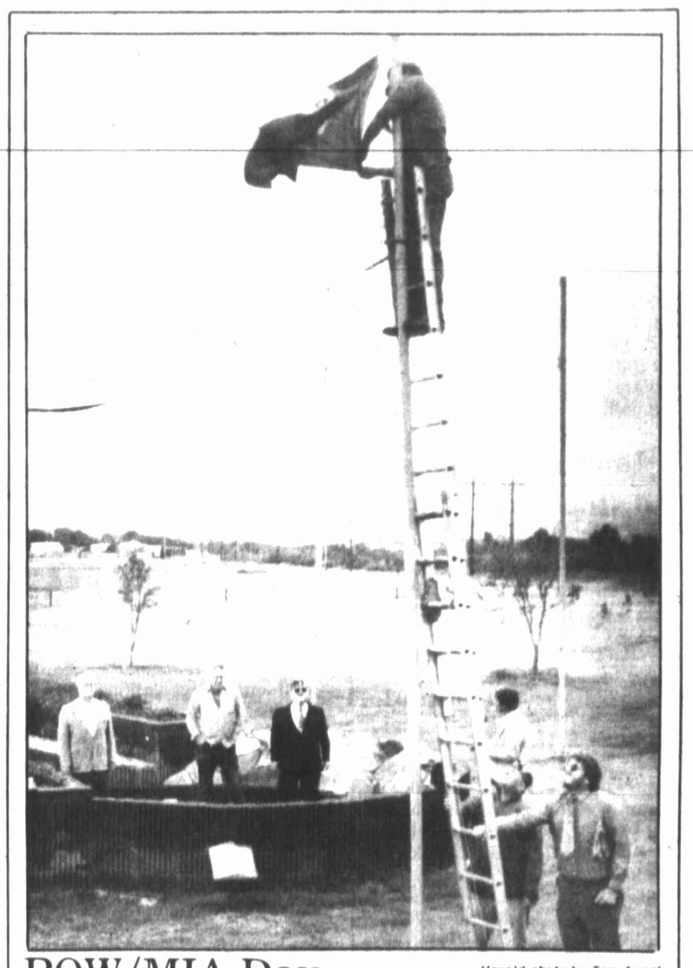

A woman identifying herself as a friend of the McMorris' answered the phone Thursday at the couple's house in Nicoma Park. The woman, who refused to reveal her name or comment on Mrs. McMorris' arrest, said she had "no idea where (the couple) is."

Kay Clark could not be reached at her residence by The Associated Press.

Mrs. McMorris' attorney, Floyd Holder of Lubbock, said his client was being framed by vindictive stepdaughters anxious to have her removed form their ailing father's will.

Mrs. McMorris, whose name was Colleen Parker in 1955, is not the natural mother of the children. But she had lived with the children and

Child bitten by rattlesnake possibly saved by a mouse

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

A mouse may have saved the life of a 15-month-old boy bitten by a diamondback rattlesnake earlier this week.

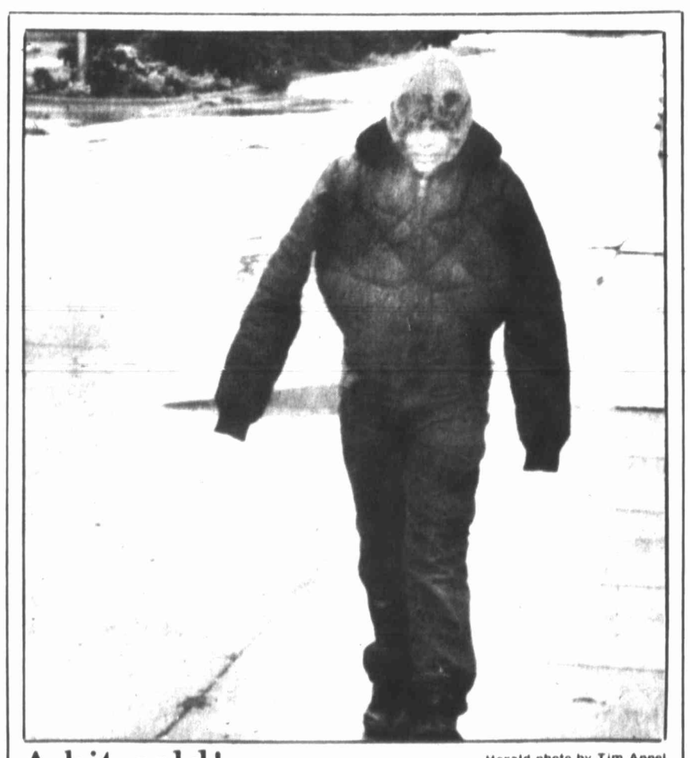

John Andrew Metcalf, son of Jesse and Lori Metcalf of Coahoma, may have gotten a smaller dose of venom because the rattlesnake had just devoured a mouse, said Howard County Sheriff Deputy Woodie Howell, who had driven the boy to Scenic Mountain Medical Center in Big Spring. The boy was bitten Monday.

Metcalf is listed in good condition today following surgery at a Lubbock hospital Wednesday. He was in serious condition after being taken to the hospital in Big Spring and then flown by helicopter the same day to University Medical Center Hospital in Lubbock.

"They said we could have lost him between Monday and Tuesday, and then we heard he could have lost his hand or a finger," said Lori Metcalf. "We're not going to lose a finger or a hand. That's the best news. We can live with the scars."

Doctors had cut the boy's arm

Bond election:

Early returns heavy

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

An unusually high number of voters have turned in ballots early for the Sept. 28 election on a $11.745 million school bond issue for new schools in Big Spring.

Margaret Ray, Howard County clerk, said 954 ballots have been cast as of early today, and there remains three more days for voters to take advantage of the no-excuse vote.

"We've mailed out 37 ballots. It's going to go high," Ray said.

For the Aug. 10 election that granted tax exemptions to the county education district, 550 early votes were cast. A total of 1,059 Big Spring Independent School District residents voted during that election, about 100 more votes than have been cast early for the school bond.

Big broker discloses violations in trading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Salomon Inc. today disclosed more cheating in a Treasury auction bidding scandal that has engulfed the Wall Street powerhouse, and said it was likely to find additional violations.

In a one-page statement, Salomon said it promptly reported the misconduct, which involved submission of two unauthorized customer bids for Treasury securities by the firm's government bond trading desk.

"It seems to us likely that still other instances of similar behavior will be uncovered in the future through our internal review or by the investigating authorities," Salomon said.

"We have provided the details of these two instances of misconduct to the investigating authorities and will continue to do so as and if additional misconduct is discovered," it said.

Salomon didn't identify the dates of the cheating or identify the customers whose names were used without permission. But, it said, "We have no reason to believe that persons other than one or more persons from the Government Securities Desk — already implicated in misconduct — were involved."

Martin County:

Water district agrees to inspect sewage systems

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

STANTON — Board members of an underground water district agreed Thursday to a 90-day contract with the Martin County Commissioners Court to inspect county residents' sewage systems. It is effective Oct. 1.

The temporary contract should provide enough time to solve an underground water pollution problem in an area northeast of Stanton, said board members of the Permian Basin Underground Water Conservation District, previously known as the Martin County Underground Water Conservation District.

Later, board members said it will be decided if a permanent arrangement is desirable. Board Chairman John Campbell said he is concerned about how a contract to inspect septic tanks would be affected by a proposed annexation of rural areas of Midland County. The annexation, if passed by Midland County voters, would

250 people assigned to MIA search

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is putting more than 250 people onto the search for Americans missing from the Vietnam War and is concentrating first on the cases it believes are most promising.

But for the families of the missing, the quality of the evidence the Defense Department turns up seems to depend on whether it confirms or dashes their hopes of seeing their loved ones again.

"As far as I'm concerned they could go over there and stage this whole thing," said Dan Borah Sr., who disputes the Pentagon's evidence that a picture he believes shows his son is really an old man from Laos.

"I'm not saying they did that, but they could have," Borah said in a telephone interview from Olney, Ill. His son, Navy Lt. Daniel V. Borah, was shot down over South Vietnam in 1972.

Acting Assistant Defense Secretary Carl Ford said Thursday that U.S. investigators in Southeast Asia and laboratory experts in the United States have determined that most of the pictures of alleged American MIAs are fakes.

However, Ford said a well-focused, well-lit photograph of a man with a wide grin looks enough like Army Capt. Donald G. Carr, who was shot down over Laos 20 years ago, that investigators are putting their first efforts on his case.

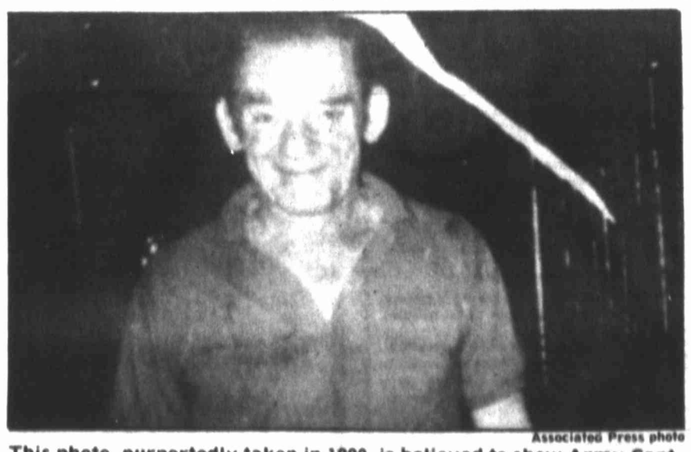

"This is going to be right at the top of our investigative list," said Ford, who has headed the Defense Department's efforts to determine the fate of the 2,273 Americans still listed as missing from the Vietnam War.

Carr's family is cheered by the Pentagon's attitude.

"Definitely, it's a big step for the government," said Matthew Carr of East Chicago, Ind., the missing man's half-brother. "I'm real happy their posture has changed."

Ford said there is reason for hope that some of these cases will

Nations trade ideas on tariff reductions

DALLAS (AP) — The number crunching has started in the creation of a North American free trade zone.

Negotiators from the United States, Mexico and Canada formally exchanged their first ideas to reduce tariffs and other trade barriers during a meeting in Dallas Thursday.

"Until you exchange this type of document, you're really talking in generalities," said Robert Fisher, director of Mexican Affairs for the U.S. Trade Representative's Office and leader of the U.S. tariff reduction team.

"The heart of tariff negotiation isn't generalities. It's the specifics. It's going through and saying 'What do you want to do on carrots?'" Fisher said.

The tariff reduction team is one of 19 "working groups" of trade negotiators in the talks. The teams returned to their capitals Thursday night with plans to meet again next month.

Man killed trying to stop shoplifters

ARLINGTON (AP) — Michael Levey's willingness to lend a hand cost him his life, his wife of five days says.

Levey, 35, was killed Wednesday while trying to stop four teen-agers shoplifting jackets from a store in an Arlington mall, police said.

"He believed in helping people," said Zorahida Levey, who married Levey Saturday in a simple ceremony at their home in Irving. "If people were in trouble, he figured he could help them."

Levey was shot in the back with a large-caliber revolver after taking the keys from the ignition of a car where the suspected thieves were sitting, investigators said. The youths locked themselves in the car, but Levey pounded on the windshield until they threw out the clothing.

When he bent over to pick up the items, he was shot, police said.

Border residents evacuated

More than 100 South Texans, including residents in a flooded subdivision, remained away from their homes today, but authorities said high waters from a swollen river were receding.

Many of the Vega Verde subdivision's 150 residents were evacuated Thursday as water threatened their homes near Del Rio.

Authorities along the Texas-Mexico border were closely monitoring the level of Lake Amistad after heavy rainfall caused rivers emptying into the reservoir to rise.

"Some people are concerned about the flow from the dam and that it will cause the river to rise a bit. This is not uncommon after heavy rains," said

Ray Hernandez, a Val Verde County sheriff's communications officer. "I don't know when they will start releasing water out of the dam. But it will have to be sometime soon."

The International Boundary and Water Commission said Thursday if heavy rains persisted in the Rio Grande watershed, water releases from Lake Amistad might have to increase.

Hernandez said this morning that heavy rains had subsided in the area, but more precipitation was forecast.

"It has been sprinkling and misting, and it is pretty cloudy," he said. "If the rain returns, the Rio Grande will come up a little bit more."

Up to 4 inches of water fell through Thursday in Val Verde County, flowing into the Rio Grande and the Pecos and Devils rivers. The flooding hit waterways feeding into Amistad Reservoir, authorities said.

Sheriff's deputies said there were no injuries. Residents were expected to be allowed to return to their homes later today if heavy rains don't return.

The swollen river and Amistad Lake also forced officials to close all campgrounds in the Amistad National Recreation Area on the Texas side of the border.

Flooding was more severe on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, as water filled the streets of Ciudad Acuna and about 600 people sought shelter Thursday in schools and other public buildings.

Del Rio Mayor Alfredo Gutierrez Jr. called on local residents to donate food, clothing and supplies for the displaced families in Ciudad Acuna.

The mayor said Del Rio committed three fire trucks to help pump water from the flooded areas and one vehicle to haul drinking water to the displaced Mexican families.

Richard Peace, an assistant project manager with the boundary commission, said the Amistad Reservoir had risen nearly 2 feet above its normal level by late Thursday.

He said increased discharges from the reservoir would boost levels in the Rio Grande downstream in Eagle Pass, Laredo and other cities.

"We still have flood storage capacity to contain some of it," Peace said in reference to the backup of water at Amistad Dam.

Society calls for control of population

AUSTIN (AP) — Controlling the world's population is "the ultimate environmental issue," says the president of the National Audubon Society.

"If you think of any classical environmental problem, you can't think of a single one that would not be less severe if population pressures were less," Peter Berle said Thursday.

He attended the society's southwest regional conference, "A Vision for 2020: Population and the Environment," which ends Sunday.

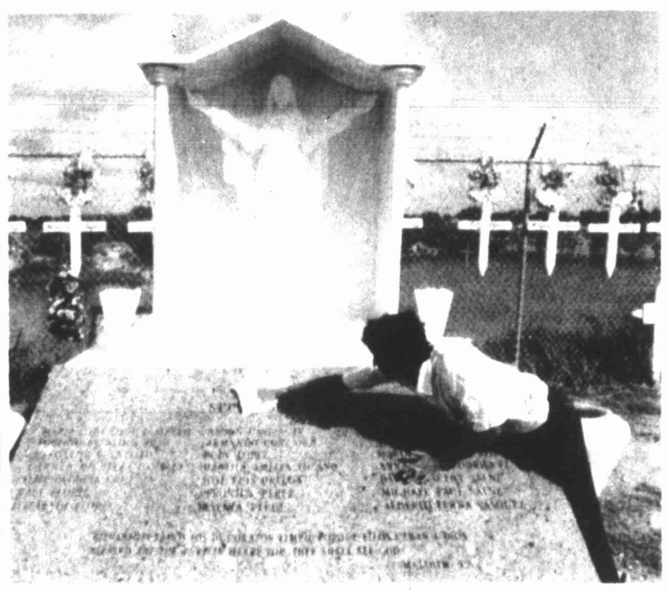

The conference is meant to help people make the connection between human population growth and such issues as wildlife and habitat, as well as food supply and health care, said Patricia Waak, Audubon's director of population programs.

"Family planning is important to bring about what our vision is of the future . . . Let's save wildlife, and let's save the planet for humans as well," Waak said.

Berle said, "Environment and wildlife is where we start, but we don't deal with wildlife issues without dealing with the threats to habitat which make wildlife possible . . . You cannot deal with any environmental problem in isolation."

He said other environmental groups also are involved in the push for population control.

"This is one of the core issues that the whole environmental community ought to be concerned about," Berle said.

Second anniversary

ALTON — Jose Torres wipes the dust away from the marble monument that lists the names of the 21 school children who died in the state's worst school bus accident two years ago Saturday. A delivery truck collided with the bus sending it into the caliche pit in the background. About 60 children were pulled from the pit.

Immigration office coping

DALLAS (AP) — Despite long lines outside the Immigration and Naturalization Service district office, INS officials believe they can cope with additional business provided by office closings.

The district office gets about 1,000 visitors each day, many picking up forms or getting information.

People needing to conduct more detailed business, such as applying for change in legal status, are given numbers for a place in line. The office can handle about 150 such transactions a day, said Jane Friday, an INS spokeswoman.

The line begins before dawn as hundreds of immigrants wait for the 150 slots to apply for work permits, register for residency programs or conduct other business with the government.

But traffic at the office is expected to more than double because of several factors including the closing of an office in Arlington.

Best, worst named

AUSTIN (AP) — One of the lawmakers branded among the Legislature's "10 Worst" by Texas Monthly magazine has responded by naming the magazine one of the state's worst publications.

Texas Monthly on Thursday released its biennial picks for best and worst lawmakers, angering some legislators and entertaining others.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, was listed among the worst legislators but was given a "special exemption" for helping defeat "a bad bill encouraging development of environmentally sensitive South Padre Island."

Truan's response was to "rank Texas Monthly among the 10 worst publications in Texas."

"I'm in very good company when an upscale magazine filled with glossy ads for expensive jewelry and pretentious clothing puts me on the same list with (Rep. Ernestine) Glossbrenner and (Rep. Eddie) Cavazos," Truan said.

As a whole, the magazine said, "This was a year when the Legislature was as bad as the public has always suspected."

The magazine accused lawmakers of fumbling key education, prison and tax issues, producing "only patches on leaky tires."

The legislators picked as this year's worst, according to executive editor Paul Burka, "seemed to personify the failings of the 72nd Legislature — the absence of courage, comity, vision, integrity, independence, leadership, or commitment to the state."

Sen. Temple Dickson was not laughing about being called "the most disappointing member of the Legislature."

"I think it was entirely unfair, and I'm shocked at the shallowness and the inaccuracy in the piece," said Dickson, D-Sweetwater. "It was inaccurate to the degree that one would almost believe it was done maliciously."

Sen. Gene Green, D-Houston, said by Texas Monthly to have "epitomized the Senate's fallen standards," responded: "I'll take my lumps for what I've done."

"My goal is to represent the district that I'm elected to represent," Green said.

Rep. Charles Finnell, a 22-year lawmaker called "a walking argument for term limitations" by the magazine, responded with a written statement.

"I think it's the highest honor a fiscal conservative can receive to be on the receiving end of the tongue-in-cheek ribbing and negative editorializing by the liberals at Texas Monthly and their faceless lobbyist friends," wrote Finnell, a Holliday Democrat.

Kindergartners included in search

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Kindergartners were searched for weapons and drugs in a sweep school officials said was necessary to ensure campus safety. A civil rights activist called the searches preposterous.

The Indianapolis Public Schools system held unannounced searches at Howe High School on Monday and Thomas Edison Junior High on Wednesday.

The junior high school houses a kindergarten class, whose students were searched by security guards using hand-held metal detectors.

Superintendent Shirl E. Gilbert II said the searches were meant "to deter anyone from taking weapons into the school." He said kindergartners were searched because officials feared older students might have the youngsters carry weapons or drugs for them.

But Michael Lee Gradison, the executive director of the Indiana Civil Liberties Union, said the searches frightened the youngest children and taught the older ones disrespect for law and school authorities.

"I heard students say, 'If we wanted to get drugs or weapons on the campus, this isn't going to stop us,' " Gradison said Thursday. "The kids, I swear, are laughing at this like crazy. It is having no impact."

Senate bans funds for offensive art

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate and House are again headed toward a fight over government-funded art after senators voted to impose specific prohibitions against subsidizing "patently offensive" sexual exhibits and performances.

The Senate included the ban as part of a $12.7 billion appropriations bill it passed Thursday night for financing the Interior Department and the National Endowment for the Arts in fiscal 1992, which begins Oct. 1.

But it rejected a proposal to slash the endowment's budget. And Senate leaders resorted to parliamentary moves and threats to derail several senators' home-state pet projects in order to preserve subsidies now going to New York, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Chicago and other arts centers.

The entire bill was approved 93-3, with only Sens. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.; William Roth, R-Del.; and Robert Smith, R-N.H., in opposition. It now goes to a conference committee, where Senate and House negotiators will try to resolve differences.

By a 68-28 vote Thursday, the Senate accepted a Helm-authored provision prohibiting the arts endowment from using any tax dollars "to promote, disseminate or produce materials that depict or describe, in a patently offensive way, sexual or excretory activities or organs."

Testimony about Gates conflicts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Intelligence Committee is hearing sharply conflicting testimony on whether Robert Gates, President Bush's nominee to head the CIA, could have been kept in the dark about the Iran-Contra operation.

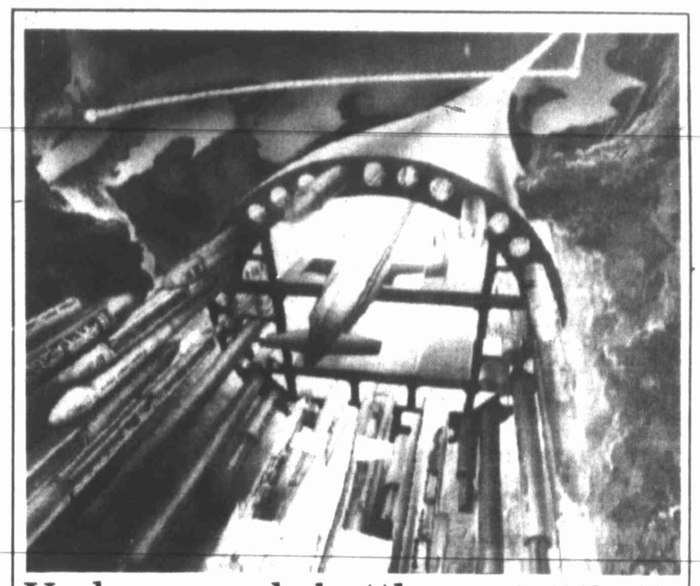

Retired Adm. Bobby Inman, who like Gates served as deputy to CIA Director William Casey, was expected to testify today that Casey frequently kept him out of the loop about sensitive operations.

But the intelligence panel was told Thursday by Thomas Polgar, a former career CIA operative, that "Gates was in the loop."

Polgar, who retired in 1981, served on the staff of the Senate Iran-Contra investigating committee in 1987.

Underground shuttle

TOKYO — This is an artist's conception of a rapid transit sytem of the futre, conceived by Prof. Emeritus Hiroshi Sato of the University of Tokyo. The plan calls for a two-tiered, 106-foot wide tunnel, 165 feet under the ground, connecting Tokyo and Osaka in western Japan. The turboprop plane, capable of carrying about 400 passengers, could make the trip in under an hour.

Bush warns Iraq not to doubt U.S. resolve

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Bush, still threatening to use force in Iraq, is warning Saddam Hussein not to underestimate U.S. resolve to protect international inspection teams looking for hidden Iraqi weapons.

Bush on Thursday indicated a willingness to renew bombing attacks on Iraq. "We've demonstrated, thanks to our technology and to the ability of our pilots, that we can be very specific as we apply this air power," he said in an interview with Hispanic journalists.

The president repeated in much stronger language what he had said Wednesday — that if Saddam does not allow United Nations helicopters to freely carry inspection teams to Iraqi nuclear, chemical and biological weapons facilities, U.S. military aircraft will provide escorts.

The U.N. inspectors are operating under the mandate of the cease-fire resolution that ended the Persian Gulf War and required destruction of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction.

Bush said the way to defuse the situation "is for Saddam Hussein to do what the U.N. is calling on him to do. One way to have him to do it is to understand that if he doesn't, he is going to find that we are prepared to use military action to see that he does comply."

The United States will not be acting alone if that day comes, Bush added. "We'll have others with us," he said, presumably referring to U.S. allies with whom he has been talking.

He said he wanted to tell Saddam through the media outlets that "he should comply. He should not miscalculate again . . . and I've never been more determined."

The president said he has set no deadline to activate his contingency military plan, and he wants Americans to know he is "not talking about a massive mobilization" in the gulf or a "son of Desert Storm" operation.

Bush was flying today to Chicago for a speech to the U.S. Hispanic Chamber of Commerce convention.

Palestinian meets Baker in Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III held a surprise meeting today with a Palestinian representative who came to the Jordanian capital with the approval of the Palestinian Liberation Organization.

Hanan Ashrawi, a professor of languages who lives in the West Bank, is one of three Palestinians who has met six times with Baker in Jerusalem and Washington.

"We need more clarification on the letter of assurances," she told a news conference Thursday at the Palestinian embassy before her meeting with Baker.

"We made some progress," a State Department official said after the meeting. But he also indicated the United States was unwilling to yield on any of the major demands by the Palestinians.

The Palestinians want the United States to support their demand for an independent state, a position at odds with U.S. thinking on that issue. The United Stated does support autonomy for Palestinians living in the West Bank and Gaza, a solution that would give the Palestinians control over most activities involving their people.

Mrs. Ashrawi said she wanted to discuss three issues: self-determination for Palestinians, the status of Jerusalem, and the Israeli policy of building settlements in occupied territories.

Hostage's wife gives up on release

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two days after reports indicated her husband would be freed from more than two years in captivity, a tearful Sunnie Mann told reporters today she had lost all hope he would be released soon.

Mrs. Mann, the wife of British hostage Jack Mann, spoke after kidnappers announced they will not release any of the Westerners held in Lebanon unless Israel freed 20 more Arab prisoners.

"The disappointment this time is something I'd hoped I'd never go through," said Mrs. Mann, her voice choking with emotion and eyes brimming with tears. "I'm just back to where I was 2½ years ago."

On Thursday, the pro-Iranian group holding her 77-year-old husband since May 12, 1989 stalemated progress toward a hostage release.

"The Revolutionary Justice Organization is sorry to freeze the hope of an imminent release of a few hostages until the picture becomes clearer about the Israeli position and the United Nations' movement," said a communique from the Shiite hostage-holding group.

Mrs. Mann took the news hard.

"I don't think there will be a release soon. I've lost all my optimism. I just feel that it's finished," she told reporters from behind the barbed wire of the British consulate in west Beirut.

10,000 boys live in swamp in Sudan

GORKUO, Sudan (AP) — On a patch of dry land in a vast, steamy swamp live 10,000 hungry boys, wrenched from their village by an 8-year-old civil war and surviving without family or parental love.

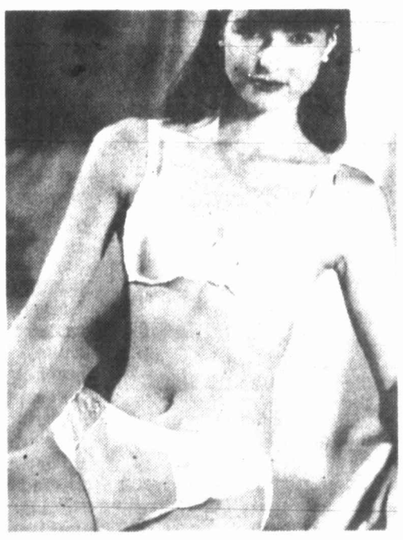

Sudan's government and dissident rebels say the children have been forced to serve as fodder for the southern guerrilla movement. On Wednesday, Sudan asked the United States to work to help free the children.

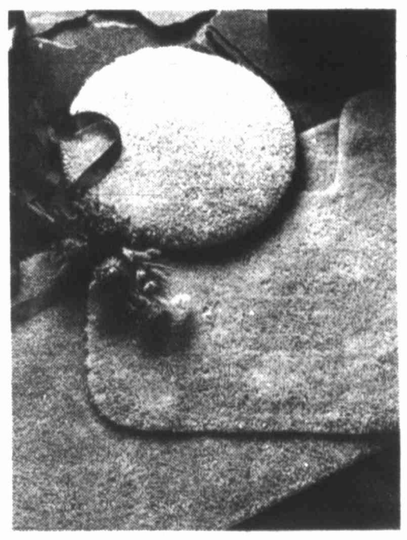

But relief workers, some allied with the guerrillas, say the children are just hungry kids desperate for food and education. They said they also want to resettle the boys back in the villages when they can.

Rules should be reformed

The U.S. Sentencing Commission essentially has confirmed the contention of many federal judges that mandatory sentencing guidelines have produced the same kind of disparities they were intended to eliminate.

Congress adopted the sentencing reforms seven years ago after complaints by prosecutors and defense attorneys that widely varying sentences were being imposed for similar crimes. The Comprehensive Crime Control Act created the U.S. Sentencing Commission, which was charged with drafting sentencing rules and revising them annually.

The guidelines rate crimes in severity from 1 to 43. Such factors as a prior criminal record or parole violations add time to a sentence. Such factors as a clean record or cooperation with law enforcement authorities lessen a sentence. So many complex variables must be taken into account in calculating a sentence that many judges compare the rules to the IRS code.

In a recent report, the sentencing commission said mandatory sentences are not being applied uniformly because prosecutors have wide latitude to decide what charges to file against a defendant. That decision has a major bearing on the sentence that ultimately is imposed.

For example, no matter how terrible the crime, a prosecutor can cut a deal with an offender, perhaps to acquire information that might lead to the arrests of others. Because the number of charges filed against an offender figures prominently in the sentencing calculations, a prosecutor who reduces some charges in exchange for information may significantly shorten the length of a criminal's sentence.

This flaw in the federal guidelines is especially glaring in sentences imposed against drug offenders. According to data compiled by the commission, street-level dealers have received mandatory minimum terms 70 percent of the time, while higher-level distributors have received such sentences only 62 percent of the time, and top-level dealers 60 percent of the time.

In addition, the discretion extended to prosecutors has resulted in certain crimes being treated differently, based on the policies of a particular prosecutor. Consequently, widely varying sentences still are being imposed for similar crimes committed in different parts of the country.

To correct these and other flaws in the federal rules, the U.S. Sentencing Commission urges that Congress refrain from passing new mandatory sentencing laws. Instead, lawmakers should work with the commission to reform the existing guidelines.

Going too far in protecting animals

Mental floss

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

A non-profit organization in California, whose members never get out of bed, is accepting donations to stop the death and suffering of millions of insects trodden upon every day.

Animals are our friends — but they won't pick you up at the airport (Bob Goldwaithe, 1986).

Look, I'm as much for animal rights as the next guy — Well, that's not entirely true. There are some on the lunatic fringe who would rather see people die than animals.

To do away with animal testing puts a stranglehold on medical research and will put every man, woman and child in America at risk.

Their concern is understandable, but if they don't look at the big picture, they could screw us all up! Like those California idiots who broke into a research facility and released 11 cats that had been injected with an experimental vaccine and later injected with the disease organism.

Let's say, hypothetically, that the vaccine didn't work, it being experimental and all. In their haste to save 11 cats, they could have wiped out every cat on the West Coast!

Regular rocket scientists they were. Yes indeed, quite the brain trust!

The only sane avenue of action in this animal testing controversy is to restrict the use of test animals to scientific, not commercial research, and eliminate or minimize their suffering.

It's tough thinking about fluffy bunnies being injected with potentially lethal doses of medications but, otherwise, with every new drug, somebody is going to have to die. It can be rats, mice and rabbits or it can be you or your children. (It's so cliche to bring up kids, but it seems to be the accepted way to make people think about the value of human life).

Take a very helpful drug like Digoxin or Lanoxin® .

There are many people in this very town who have to have this drug. But its dosage is very tricky. There is a fine line between therapeutic and toxic levels.

Without this drug, many people would die. Without animal testing, however, many people would have died testing this drug.

I do, however, want to see rigid controls placed on painful testing, especially in cosmetics. There is simply too much stuff out there that's already been tested to warrant harming animals over facial powder.

Physicans and other scientists are charged with prolonging and/or improving the quality of human life. But restrictions have already been placed on them, which limit the already limited number of substances they have to work with.

Because of the emotionally charged abortion issue, president Nixon signed a bill eliminating the use of fetal tissues in medical practice.

On the surface this may seem like no big deal, but fetal tissue is not like other tissues. It is not completely specialized and and has remarkable adaptive characteristics. It is also far less likely to be rejected than mature donor tissue.

Fetal nerve tissue has shown to be helpful in regenerating nerve pathways, damaged in spinal fractures.

It is a potential cure for type-A or juvenile diabetes, as fetal pancreatic cells can be injected into the diabetic host and produce needed insulin.

Fetal tissue transplants in the brain have been shown to have dramatic effects in treating Parkinson's disease. Parkinson's is a common affliction in elderly patients (and Mohammed Ali), which causes uncontrollable muscle tremors, and can eventually lead to death.

It has also shown promise in treating potentially fatal birth defects in newborn infants.

The abortion issue is polarizing in that people feel vehemently one way or the other. There is very little ambiguity.

But, since fetal tissue is available — even from avenues other than voluntary abortions, to force human beings to suffer and die because of a political move, is a travesty.

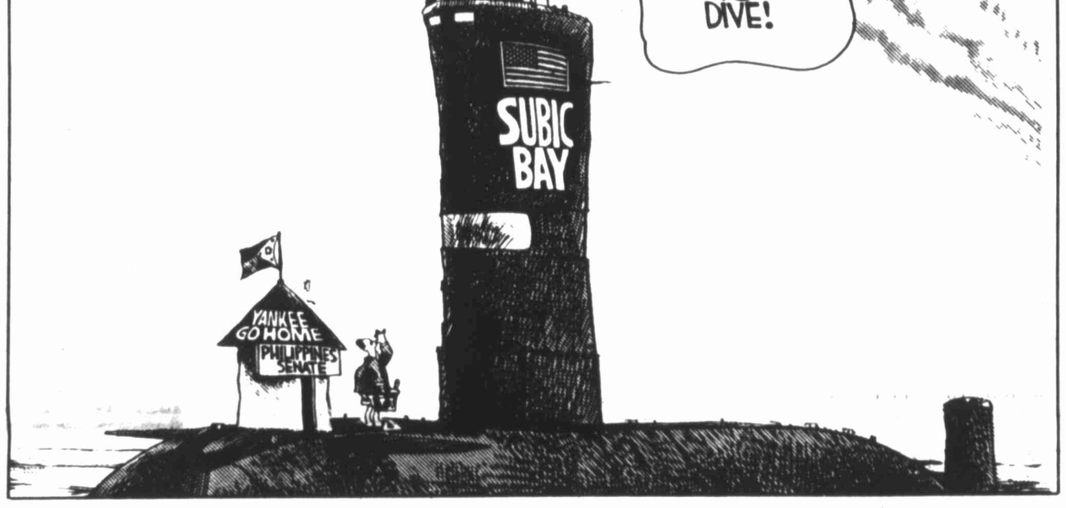

And if the political clout of the lunatic fringe animal warriors increases much more, this adverse effect on research and human life will grow exponentially.

So if you're thinking of giving to an animal rights organization, look closely at their agenda. You don't want to be paying for life threatening legislation.

Editor Dude's note: This turned out to be the second in a two part series on the wonders of science. I'm not sure why.

Oh well, I guess I'm just replete with soapboxes.

Keep the faith!

Making turn around on school bond issue

To the editor:

When the bond issue was first publicized, I shared some of the same views and concerns of those who are in opposition to it now. After becoming informed of the facts, I have made a complete turn around and support the bond issue wholeheartedly. Some facts have been clouded by rumor and should be brought to light.

I too was concerned about the fifth graders being moved out of elementary school into middle school, but the fact is that school administrators have said Goliad will be an elementary school with elementary certified teachers. In essence, this means that rather than the fifth graders being moved up to middle school, the sixth graders will be moved down to elementary school.

Because I have a great respect for older buildings and their architecture, one other point of concern for me was that Runnels would be standing empty. After touring the building and seeing what changes would have to be made to make it safe and somewhat comfortable, I now realize that the appearance of the building would be altered in such a way that it would no longer be an attractive landmark and the improvements would be marginal at best.

One glaring fact that has become more evident, as I have spent time doing volunteer work on an elementary and the kindergarten center campus, is that our schools are bursting at the seams. We now have more students than the elementary schools can accommodate. The rooms are all full; the cafeterias are full; students are being bused away from their neighborhood schools at many grade levels; the traffic is dangerous during afternoon pickup times and the children are the ones who are being shortchanged. This is a problem that needs to be addressed immediately and without any more band-aid solutions such as more portable buildings.

These are some of the facts that have caused me to change my point of view. There is no better way to spend our money than on our children and grandchildren. Aren't children and their education more important than a building? I would urge everyone to get the facts before they make a decision. Call your school board members and ask questions; take a tour of Runnels; talk to school administrators; find out why this bond issue is so important and make a decision based on facts. In my opinion, approving this bond issue is the best investment we can make in the future of Big Spring.

Taxes not as bad for those who get raises

To the editor:

A $12 million bond — what will that cost the taxpayer when it is paid for? $36 million — or $40 million when you add the other costs, etc.?

Yes, if you are a person with a cost-of-living or other raise added every year, taxes don't hurt as much. But on a fixed income — or an income that is questionable each month — they hurt much more.

Residences — 1991 school taxable values: $187,683,000 — 1990: $220,816,000.

1991 Industry & Business: $80,66,000 — 1990: $95,870,000.

Total 1991: $268,349,000 — 1990: $316,686.000.

Less Homesteads — $35,920,000.

Less 20 percent over 65 — $37,570,000.

1991 Taxable Values — $194,859,000.

You can see the drop in valuations, and can you see the other economic troubles? Don't cut anything or anybody!

The school administration, school board, etc. are searching for the way to go. But why the whole ball of wax at one time?

They ask for the citizens' answer.

If the Runnels school is as bad as they point out, why are we still having school there? I have toured the building and believe it can be renovated at many dollars less. Yes, more can be spent if you gold plate it.

Boydstun or East Ward can it be renovated. Has this cost been pursued?

Do you wish to build a junior high school north of the YMCA? Traffic would be a major problem. The building site in years gone by was a very large gravel pit.

Yes, planning has gone into this bond issue, but does the public know all the intentions other than a bond for $12 million and the magnitude this spells for our town? Will the cost of building keep going up? Sure as long as taxes and insurance continue to grow and grow.

Please vote for we must go to work, for we owe; we owe.

Mining the lode of English

James J. Kilpatrick

In its annual report for 1990, the giant Centel Corp. offered shareholders some encouraging words and a brand-new verb: Centel is promoting regulatory policies — are you ready? — that incent companies to provide high-quality services.

Incent them? That verb crawled out from under the same rock that conceals its ugly brother, "to incentivize." Bury them!

Am I incensed? Not really. One of the many charms of English lies in its rich lode of words as yet uncoined. Our mother tongue constantly is birthing new progeny. Is "birthing" a verb? Sure. It has been around since the 14th century.

A reader recently sent along an item from the Newhouse News Service about actor Simon Callow. He has directed plays on Broadway "and helmed opera and television as well." Is "to helm" a new verb? No, indeed. It dates at least from the time that Shakespeare wrote "Measure for Measure."

What about "to transition"? A liability insurance company "has completed transitioning its operations from California to Montana." In the Portland Oregonian, a personnel director notes that summer jobs for students "provide a way to transition into the full-time work force." I don't believe my own fingers could be coerced into typing the verb, but it's respectably listed in several of my current dictionaries.

In the Retired Officer Magazine in May, a reader asked about his plan "to gift assets to my children and grandchildren now." The verb makes me wince, but "to gift" has been a transitive verb since the early 1600s.

The mail brings citations of other verbs that look new but aren't. A staff writer for the Oregonian interviewed a prominent feminist. She believes that "after making rapid strides, women have plateaued." Old verb. An advertisement for Aveda shampoo boasts that "our researchers are sourcing organic ingredients from around the world." A banker says that "we're outsourcing things all the time." Both "source" and "outsource" are barely 10 years old, but they are now well entrenched in the jargon of industry and government.

Some verbs come along that actually are new, but they're more pyrite than gold. A magazine called Association Publishing carried an article in May on "the generation of alternate revenue in a multifaceted world of marketing planning." Any writer who speaks of something that is "multifaceted" and doesn't know the difference between "alternate" and "alternative" ought not to be left alone in a room with a typewriter, but let it go. The author said that "tactics will need to be calendarized to be truly useful." Calendarized? Yuccch!

A business writer for the Las Vegas Sun helpfully defined a "CMO." It is "a pool of mortgages that have been securitized and resold." I have an uneasy feeling that the next lexicographical wind will blow "securitize" into the semi-respectability of "prioritize" and "funeralize."

Here is another. The Palm Beach (Fla.) Post reported in February on a new movement in biblical scholarship. Led by black professors, the effort is to explore evidence that Noah's son Ham (and others, including Egyptians and Canaanites) were black. A divinity professor at Howard University said this is not an attempt "to blackenize the whole Bible," but is intended to fill in a few holes. I don't believe "to blackenize" will make it.

Neither can I see a future for "to statementize." This cropped up in a program of the Lake County (Ind.) Bar Association. One seminar dealt in part with "statementizing of witnesses."

Readers have sighted some other interesting new verbs. Let me cite them. In Clinton, S.C., the chairman of County Council warned against taking on too many new employees. "If we don't watch out, we're going to personnel ourselves out of business."

A high school senior in Seattle was eager to gain admission to Washington State University. He was a good quarterback but a poor scholar. After assiduous coaching, on his fifth try, he finally got his Scholastic Aptitude Test up to 700, and behold: "Within three or four days they scholar-shipped me."

A good word came a couple of years ago from the Occidental Petroleum Co. It had completed "a debottlenecking project." It's always a good idea to debottleneck when the opportunity arises.

The Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot-News provided a hopeful note in May. "In homes looted and filthied by Iraqi soldiers, Kurds and other returning refugees were unpacking, cleaning and starting over." The new Random House Webster's College Dictionary lists "to filthy" as a transitive verb, and fine with me. I expect it's here to stay.

Club news

Jean Money demonstrates the process of clay facial reconstruction at a recent meeting of the Big Spring Art Association.

Art Association news

Linda Rupard gathered favorite recipes from members attending the Big Spring Art Association meeting last Tuesday. These will be in a cookbook which the club will publish and sell.

Members donated paintings to be auctioned by Robert Pruitt.

Proceeds from the cookbook and auction will help finance a Howard College Scholarship and a spring show which will feature art work of students of area schools.

The process of clay facial reconstruction was demonstrated by Jean Money.

The membership show will be open to the public at the Heritage Museum Oct. 5, 1:00-6:00 and Oct. 6, 1:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m.

Six members will have paintings displayed locally. Thelma Blagrave's painting will be in Furr's Cafeteria window. Doris Roberts' painting will be at the Bluebonnet Savings. Mary Horn's painting will be at the Citizens Credit Union. Elnora Hart's painting will be at the Courthouse Annex Tax Office. Leatrice Brown's painting will be at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Quinn Martin urged all members to take part in the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Celebrity Paint-In Sept. 28.

Spade and Hoe club

The Spade and Hoe Garden Club met September 3 in the home of Mrs. James Welch. Mrs. Ernest Welch was a guest.

Mrs. Red Womack reported on the Garden Club Style Show to be held October 19 at Garrett Hall. Tickets are to be sold by members.

The project committee reported on having a "Spring Fling" where each garden club would do a table setting. Each table would have a different theme. Terry Johansen reported on the Clean Big Spring Committee. At the present time the concentration is on 3rd and 4th Street.

Meeting time was changed from the Big Spring Country Club to each hostesses home or the hostesses place of choice. The next meeting will be October 1, at the Golden Corral.

Terry Johansen gave a program on mums. She stated that gardeners need to plant garden or cushion mums. They stay smaller than the florist mums. Plant mums where they have a natural look. She stated that sometimes mums don't bloom because of street lights. She also stated mums needed to be pinched to fill out and bloom.

Linda Fraser reported on the recycling committee. She passed out information to all members.

Talk talkers

Tall Talkers Toastmasters Club held its weekly meeting Tuesday morning, Sept. 10.

Toastmaster of the day was Dene Sheppard.

Table topics were led by Carl Johansen, and the word of the day was frappe, meaning to strike or chill.

Each member was given the opportunity to speak on the topic of the day, which was being frapped. Best table topic speaker was Donna Jackson.

Myrl Humphrey was voted best speaker. Her speech was titled "Consideration of Hospitalization." The best evaluator was Earl Bushey.

The goal of Tall Talkers is to educate people to become better leaders and communicators. If you are interested in becoming a Tall Talker Toastmaster, please contact Bailey Anderson at 267-3008.

Mary Jane's brunch

The Mary Jane Club opened their club year Sept. 12 with a Brunch in the home of Roselle Coates. Cohostesses were Ruth Mitchel and Pat Nash.

The brunch tables were laid with dusty rose cloths. Twelve members were served quiche, assorted fruits and muffins.

President Patricia Barr conducted a business session during which the Year Books were presented. The programs for the year will explore the influence of Our Western Heritage on our families, celebrations, literature, music and food.

Roll Call was answered with "My Favorite Western Hero". Juanita Stonerook resigned from membership, and Marie Ethridge was elected as a new member. The Club will have the Cake Walk at the Coahoma Harvest Festival which will be held on October 26.

The next meeting will be October 10.

Garden club notes

The Rosebud Garden Club met at Millie Cunningham's on Sept. 10 for our annual membership tea.

There were nineteen ladies present of which seven were guests of some of our members.

It was a very nice meeting. The next meeting will be at Kathryn Perry's on Sept. 24. The program is on fall bloomers presented by Teri Johansen.

DAR celebrates

The Captain Elisha Mack Chapter, Texas Society, of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, joined in the celebration of 200 year celebration. We would like to inform the public of the objects of our society.

1. To perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence, by the acquisition and protection of historical spots, and the erection of monuments; by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results; by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of the Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries.

2. To carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American People, "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion, and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens.

3. To cheris, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

Safari designed to save animals

PILANESBERG GAME RESERVE, South Africa (AP) — Bob Keffen encourages wealthy tourists to shoot white rhinos in order to save them.

Keffen, chief veterinarian at Pilanesberg, has combined the use of tranquilizer darts with computer technology in a program he says will increase the thrill of a safari while preserving the rare rhinos.

Instead of firing bullets, a hunter shoots darts. While the animal is asleep, Keffen inserts a microchip into its horn for future identification and prepares it for transport to another game park that needs rhinos.

In May, Bruce Thatcher became the first of Keffen's hunters, paying $7,000 instead of the $30,000 it costs to kill a rhino.

"I have my trophy and she will still run free in another reserve," Thatcher, an American dentist, told Personality magazine afterward. "And let me tell you something ... I've never been on such a difficult and challenging hunt."

Because of conservation efforts in the past decade, the number of white rhinos roaming the wilds of Africa has increased from 3,841 to 4,745.

Keffen's program at the Pilanesberg reserve, in the black homeland of Bohuthatswana, not only helps save the rhinos, but has opened up hunting to more people by slashing the cost.

Fees from the hunters, most of them Americans, pay for most of the conservation effort, including the cost of transporting rhinos to other parks.

"In the end, they found that darting a rhino is much harder than shooting it," said Keffen, who went on Thatcher's hunt and mixed the antidote for the tranquilizing dart.

"A lot more things can go wrong," he said. "If you're too close, the dart can bounce off. If you're too far away, the dart will drop before the animal. There's much more skill involved in the whole operation. Ultimately it's a much better hunting experience."

A conventional hunter can down a rhino with a high-powered rifle from up to 90 yards. With a dart-gun, the hunter has to be within 35 to 45 yards.

After the dart hits, the three-ton animal may keep going for 10 or 15 minutes, at speeds that can reach 20 mph, while the hunter tries to keep up.

Bob Keffen, cheif veterinarian at Pilansberg, encourages wealthy tourists to shoot white rhinos, shown, in order to save them. Instead of firing bullets, a hunter shoots the animal with a dart after which it is transported to another game park that needs rhino.

Dart hunting was proposed last year at a hunting convention in the United States. Keffen, a Canadian who has been in South Africa since 1982, added the microchip and developed a working system in Pilanesberg.

One concern expressed at the convention, Keffen said, was "the marking of these rhinos: How were we going to keep the same rhino from being darted over and over again?" That's the job of the computer chip, about the size of a rice kernel.

South Africa has one of the continent's best conservation programs and increased its white rhino population from 2,500 in 1980 to 4,225 in 1990, giving it nearly 90 percent of all the white rhinos in Africa.

Smoking not cause of all cancer

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The letter from Marvin H. Leaf, D.D.S., who listed some prominent people who had died of lung cancer, struck a very painful chord within me.

Dr. Leaf mentioned Steve McQueen among those who had died as a result of smoking. Abby, Steve McQueen died of a malignant pleural mesothelioma, which is almost always due to long-term exposure to asbestos and is completely unrelated to smoking. I understand that Mr. McQueen at one time worked as an automobile brake repairman, which would have exposed him to asbestos on a daily basis.

My mother was a physician and the director of health for Alamance County, North Carolina. She was also a tireless crusader for good health habits. Two years ago, she died of malignant pleural mesthelioma. My mother never smoked nor was she exposed to asbestos, and we have no idea why she developed lung cancer.

I certainly do not appreciate Dr. Leaf's implication that all lung cancers are the result of smoking and should be so publicized in the obituaries of the deceased.

You will no doubt hear from many other families who were equally offended by Dr. Leaf's misinformation, and I am sure that as usual you will set the record straight. — JILL B. KOURY, M.D.

DEAR DR. KOURY: Thank you for writing. I tried to locate Dr. Leaf, who is now retired and has an unlisted telephone number. I hope that after this appears in my column, he will write again and set the record straight.

DEAR ABBY: I think Dr. Leaf was absolutely correct when he said the public has the right to know the cause of death when a prominent person dies.

At 35 years of age, I have already lost a father and my best friend to lung cancer from smoking. Meanwhile, some members of my family continue to smoke.

I only wish that we nonsmokers could do more to help those nicotine addicts kick the habit. Actually, the ones I would really like to fight are the tobacco companies. —BEEN "CLEAN" FOR FOUR YEARS

DEAR "CLEAN": Congratulations, but please don't blame the tobacco companies. We live in a country where people have a right to choose, and adults are responsible for the choices they make.

Chicago clergy fights ills of society

CHICAGO (AP) — It's a sweltering Sunday and the priest, draped in his African-style robe with a mural of a black Jesus in his shadow, is preaching the gospel of the ghetto: drugs, death and destruction.

"We are living in a New Jack City," he says, his raw voice rising into the rafters. "It's a place where crime is catching. It's a place where murders are senseless. ... It's a place where police can beat somebody up while 10 more stand around and watch!"

The sanctuary is filled with black parishioners, draped by black nationalist colored banners, reverberating with black gospel music. St. Sabina is a black church. Its pastor, the Rev. Michael Pfleger, insists on that. He's white.

Pfleger is an unconventional man in a world bound by convention, a blue-eyed blond with the face of a Vienna choirboy and the soul of Wilson Pickett, a priest who doesn't believe in sacred cows — not corporations, not courts, and sometimes, it seems, not even his church.

"I think the No. 1 institution that has failed America is the church," says the 42-year-old Roman Catholic priest. "We have become part of the status quo. ... You can't renew the face of the world if you look just like it."

Pfleger is no look-alike. He challenges and confronts, riles and inspires, threatens and is threatened back, but the man who is a saint to some and a sinner to others never doubts his cause is righteous, whether it's fighting drugs, booze, tobacco or racism.

And he never doubts victory.

"The Bible that I preach and that I believe in says good always wins over evil," he says confidently. "It's never IF I'm going to win, it's just WHEN."

This cleric with a cause has gained national notoriety, marching against drug paraphernalia, and getting arrested, protesting at the headquarters of G. Heileman Brewing Co., and getting arrested, and smearing red paint on alcohol and tobacco billboards, and yes, getting arrested.

But each ended in victory. The state now has tougher drug paraphernalia laws. The brewer, under federal government pressure, this summer discontinued PowerMaster, a potent malt liquor critics said was aimed at young black men. And the number of alcohol-tobacco billboards in his South Side community, he says, has dropped from 118 to 40.

"Alcohol and tobacco are killing my community," he says. "My kids shouldn't have to grow up seeing 118 things that tell them to drink or smoke ... (saying) here's how you can have power, this is how you can be sexually attractive, this is how you can be successful."

"Life and death is a greater law than some paint on a piece of paper," he adds. "They hide behind this free speech thing and in the meantime are allowed to be immoral. .., When you saturate a community with two top killers ... that's genocide."

Local United Mehtodist Women meet

United Mehtodist Women from area churches within the Big Spring district will gather at 2 p.m. this Sunday at the First United Methodist Church in Big Spring.

Joan Cunningham of Midland, President of the district women's group, will preside during the business session which includes the election and installation of officers, officers' reports and adoption of a 1992 budget. All women from the surrounding area United Methodist Churches are expected to attend.

Area churches comprising the district reach communities east to Snyder and Loraine, south to Garden City and Midland, west to Andrews and Seminole and north to Lamesa.

The program speaker for the annual event is Dr. Charles Whittle, district superintendent of the Big Spring district. Dr. Whittle graduated from Texas Wesleyan College in 1950 and Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University in 1953. He received honorary doctorates from Texas Wesleyan in 1977 and Asbury Theological Seminary in 1979.

Unity gatherings

The first gathering of the Live Poet's Society will meet at Unity House of Prayer on September 24th at 8 p.m. Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a healing service. Saturday at 8:00 the subject of the presentation is "Prosperity and the Christian." Unity services and presentations are always open to the public. For more information call 263-6311.

United Methodist Women have annual meeting

United Methodist Women from across the Northwest Texas Conference will meet October 11 and 12 at First United Methodist Church in Midland for their Eighteenth Annual Meeting. The theme is "Faithful Witnesses for God's World". Registration begins at 10:00 a.m. with the meeting beginning at 1:30 p.m. A dinner will follow at 5:30 p.m., in the church fellowship hall.

The women are invited to bring their families. While the women attend their meeting, their families can attend the Confederate Air Force Show at Midland International Airport.

Featured speaker will be Rev. Meridith Whitaker. She is a United Methodist missionary serving as Director of the Cookson Hills United Methodist Center and General Board of Blobal Ministries mission to the Cherokee people in Cookson Hills, Oklahoma.

She is a graduate of Brockport State University in Brockton, New York where she received a B.S. in Physical Education. She taught four years, then she returned to school at Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary in South Hamilton, Maryland, where she received a Master of Religious Education degree. She became an ordained pastor in April 1984 in Lockport, N.Y. She continued her education while in New York at Colgate Rochester Divinity School, working on a PH.D in Church history.

The women are invited to bring clothes for children or monatory donations which will go to Cookson Hills United Methodist Center. Fabrics will also be accepted.

Gospel meeting

Sand Springs Church of Christ will be having a gospel meeting on Sept. 22 through 25. The Rev. Bob Kiser will be preaching.

BOB KISER

Services will be at 7 p.m. on Sunday and Wednesday. Sunday classes will begin at 9:45 Sunday morning and our worship service at 10:45.

The theme for this meeting will be 'God's Beautiful Heaven.' All are invited and encouraged to attend. For additional information call 393-5631 or 393-5352.

St. Lawrence hosts fall festival

This year's St. Lawrence Fall Festival will be on Oct. 6. The festival will be held at the St. Lawrence Parish Hall which is located 10 miles south of Garden City on Highway 33, and then 5 miles west on Highway 2401.

Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. We will stop selling tickets at 1:45 p.m. The meal will consist of homemade German sausage, barbeque, and all the trimmings. For dessert there will be homemade cakes and pies. Plates to go will be served at the noon meal only.

Meal tickets will be $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for children under 12. Sausage sandwiches, dessert, and tea will be served from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Uncooked sausage will be sold at $3.50 per pound starting at 10 a.m.

Booths will be open at 10:30 and close at 4 p.m. They will consist of: Spin-a-Wheel, Grab Bag, Balloons, Coke Ring Toss, Sucker Tree, and the Kountry Kitchen, which will feature handcrafted items and homemade baked goodies. Candy and cokes will also be available in the concession booth.

Bingo will begin at 12:00 noon and end at 4:00 p.m.

An auction will begin at 2:00 p.m. Items to be auctioned off are bales of cotton donated by members of the St. Lawrence community and other items donated by various business men.

Raffle tickets will be sold for a handmade quilt by the St. Theresa Altar Society. Catholic Life will be raffling off two ½ beefs. The K.C.'s will have a drawing on $500 or a trip to Las Vegas. The St. Lawrence Men's Society will sell chances on a gun. All drawings will be held during the dance. You need not be present to win.

A Country and Western Band, Tomahawk, will entertain from 7:00 p.m. until 11:00 p.m. Admission will be $5.00 per person.

Come and enjoy the Fall Festival.

The search for lasting happiness ends with God

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My English teacher is getting us to write essays on different topics, and the subject she assigned us this week is, "What do people really want out of life?" By the time you get this I will have it turned in, of course, but I am still curious how you would answer that question. — M.K.

DEAR M.K.: If you took a poll of people on the street corner or in a shopping mall I suspect almost everyone would answer this question with one word: happiness. I find this is universal, not limited to any one culture or society.

The real question, however, is this: How do we find happiness? What is happiness anyway? Some people try to find happiness in material security and money, or in business or professional success. Others try sex or drugs or alcohol or some other kind of pleasure. Still others think they will find happiness in power over others or in prestige and social position. People try all kinds of ways to find happiness — far more than I could ever list here.

The tragedy is that none of these will give us lasting happiness. Yes, they may satisfy us for a while. But soon the "happiness" they give us fades, and all that is left is inner emptiness and dissatisfaction. The Bible tells about an ancient Jewish king who was extremely wealthy and powerful. He devoted his life to searching for happiness and meaning, and because he was wealthy and powerful he could explore virtually any path he wanted. But in the end he cried out, "Yet when I surveyed all that my hands had done ... everything was meaningless, a chasing after the wind" (Ecclesiastes 2:11).

What is the answer? The answer is God — because only He can give us true meaning and peace. And this is true for you as well. Don't go down a wrong road in life, but open your heart to Christ and discover the peace and joy He alone can give.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think the danger of a nuclear war is now over? It seems like there has been so much progress that we probably don't have to worry about such things anymore. — M.E.J.

DEAR M.E.J.: Certainly the danger of a global nuclear war has lessened in the past few years — and we should thank God for this, because ultimately He has brought it about. Remember the Bible's teaching: "God is our refuge and strength, an ever present help in trouble. ... He makes wars cease to the ends of the earth; he breaks the bow and shatters the spear" (Psalm 46:1,9).

This doesn't mean that all dangers have vanished — not at all. The number of nations that have nuclear weapons probably continues to grow, and the danger of a smaller, unstable nation using nuclear weapons against an enemy is very real. There also is always the danger of nuclear weapons falling into the hands of terrorists. Some years ago I began to call for what I called "SALT X" — the destruction of all weapons of mass destruction (including chemical and biological weapons).

Although the threat of war between the superpowers has lessened, let us never forget that our ultimate security should be in God, not in military or economic might. "Nations are in uproar, kingdoms fall. ... Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations" (Psalm 46:6,10).

No matter what the future holds for our world, the real question for each one of us is this: Have we trusted Christ for our own futures — including our eternal salvation? When our faith is in Christ, we know that we are secure no matter what happens. When we belong to Christ we know that "neither death nor life ... nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 8:38-39).

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We are having a lot of controversy in our church because we have grown very rapidly and many people feel we need to build a new building. The problem is that this would make us take on a great deal of debt, and some of us feel very nervous about that — particularly in these difficult economic times. Do you think it is wise for churches to go heavily in debt? — Mrs. A.T.

DEAR MRS. A.T.: First of all I hope everyone in your church will give thanks to God for the growth you have experienced. Then pray that you will know God's will concerning your church's future, and that Satan will not be able to divide people over this question — which he will try to do. Satan loves to get Christians sidetracked into controversies and quarrels. And Satan hates nothing more than a praying church.

I find nothing in Scripture that would forbid borrowing to construct a new church building — although there are certainly many cautions about the dangers of debt and unwise borrowing. The Bible reminds us that "the borrower is servant to the lender" (Proverbs 22:7), and I have heard of a few churches who had to spend so much money paying their interest bills that they could do very little to support missionaries or help those in need.

I would hope your church board would look carefully at the experience of other churches, and also evaluate carefully how big a building they really need so they don't overbuild. One alternative would be to collect advance pledges from members, and not proceed with construction until those pledges cover the cost of the building.

Make sure, however, that your church keeps its priorities straight, even if it does build. Buildings are necessary — but more important is spiritual growth, so you are "rooted and built up in him, strengthened in the faith" (Colossians 2:7).

Mortgage broker Dick Modzeleski advertises with an ad in the Christian Buyers Guide, a directory that helps the born-again do business. The concept of targeting advertising to fellow believers is part of of growing trend in the United States. A trend that has drawn criticism from some who say it's not right to use religion as a business tool.

Born-again business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mortgage broker Dick Modzeleski wanted to say a lot on a small budget, so he put an ad in the Christian Buyer's Guide, a directory that helps the born-again do business.

"It was a good source for me because I was actually trying to appeal to the Christian market," Modzeleski said. "I felt that there needed to be a voice in the Christian community as far as mortgage brokers. It worked out really well."

Such targeting of advertising to fellow believers has come under fire from some people, especially because directories in some states exclude business owners who don't belong to the faith.

Richard Fandrich, who publishes Christian Buyer's Guides in a dozen Northern California communities, said his guide is no different from any special-interest catalog. The books are distributed free at churches and Christian bookstores, with circulation ranging from 5,000 to 50,000 depending on the city.

"It's a biblical principle. It's found in Galatians 6:10. 'Do good unto all men especially those of the household of faith,'" said Fandrich, who started the business 18 years ago. He said consumers trust his advertisers.

"That's not saying that a Christian is better than anyone else," Fandrich said. "You can get ripped off by a Christian ... but primarily a guy that's really true to his faith won't do that."

Bible verses and sayings extolling Christian virtures are scattered throughout the guides, and some ads carry Christian symbols. There are advertisements for auto mechanics, pest control companies and insurance companies, but also ones for churches, Christian radio stations and anti-abortion groups.

Army forces attack towns in Croatia

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Federal army tanks and artillery roared into Croatia today and attacked the secessionist republic's forces in three small border villages, Croatia said.

The offensive appeared aimed at breaking Croatian blockades of federal army barracks, a Croatian Defense Ministry spokesman in Zagreb said. The blockades have cut off food, water and electricity to soldiers and forced some troops to surrender.

It also marks a sharp escalation in the 2-month-old fighting and could be a prelude to a major assault on the few remaining Croatian strongholds in eastern Croatia, such as Vukovar and Osijek. The two cities stand in the way of total Serbian control of the ethnic Serb enclave in Croatia.

Nearly 500 people have died in battles between the republic's forces and anti-secession ethnic Serbs backed by the Serb-led federal army. The violence began after Croatia declared independence June 25.

Salomon

A number of key Salomon executives and traders have resigned or been fired since the biggest trader in government bonds first disclosed in August that it had flouted the rules for bidding in the $2.2 trillion market for Treasury bills, bonds and notes.

The scandal has shaken investor faith not only in Salomon but in the entire process for the bidding of government securities, and has led to a widespread government inquiry and lawmaker calls for tighter rules.

The admission by Salomon today came a day after Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Richard Breeden said the regulatory watchdog agency is receiving enough information to monitor Salomon's financial health.

Court docket

Filings in 118th Judicial District Court indicate the following:

Woman slightly injured at concert in Odessa

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

ODESSA — A woman was taken by ambulance to Odessa Medical Center during Thursday night's Warrant concert in Ector County Coliseum.

Starla Scarber, 17, of Odessa, became crushed in a crowd of Warrant fans when lead singer Jani Lane leaped off the stage and into the stands. Scarber said she was hit in the abdomen and "blacked out." Her husband Bryan, 23, said she had a Caesarean section two months ago, and she said that was the area that was injured.

According to hospital officials for Odessa Medical Center, she was treated and released.

Coliseum security guards, paramedics and Ector County sheriffs were on hand to bring the crowd under control after Lane left the stage. Another woman, Sonia Franco, 17, also of Odessa, was carried out following the incident, but she recovered and returned to the concert.

Jim Ellis, an off-duty paramedic at the concert, carried Scarber away from the arena. "For him to get off the stage was the worst mistake he made all night. In the 30 seconds he was in the stands he gave us more work than the entire concert," Ellis said.

Review

Lane, known for his anti-censorship stand, talked to the crowd as much as the band performed. Before singing the ballad "I Saw Red," Lane said, "They tell me not to sing this song because its too wimpy. But this means something to me and I hope it means something to you."

Wearing black biking shorts and a black T-shirt before he left the stage, Lane returned to stage without his shirt. He finished the concert in his shorts.

Warrant performed such favorites as "Down Boys," "Cherry Pie," "Heaven" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

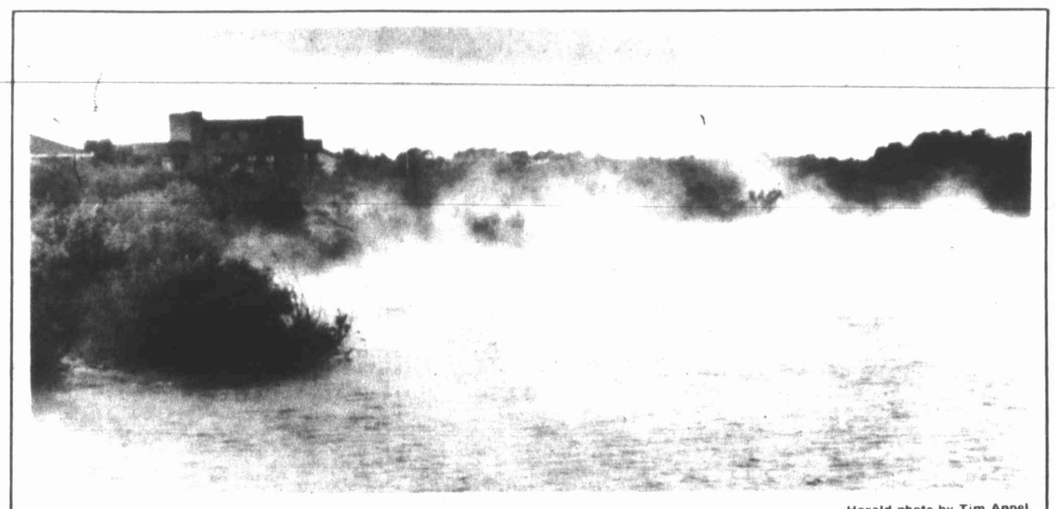

"You guys are putting San Antonio to shame," Lane said. His down-to-earth style had the crowd swaying, shouting and singing.

Appearing with Warrant was Trixter, who warmed the crowd for 10 songs and nearly an hour of solid rock 'n' roll. Lead singer Pete Loran displayed a range of vocals that time and experience can only improve.

Lead guitarist Steve Brown, the founder of the band with Loran, dazzled the crowd with several guitars, including a double neck, a turquoise blue guitar and an emerald green one. Brown played solid rock and managed to dance, twirl and high jump on stage while he stroked out such tunes as "Heart of Steel, Bad Girl and Ride the Whip."

More than 3,500 people attended the concert. Circuit Electronics in Big Spring sold 200 tickets for the show.

Sponsored by Pace and Stardate, the tour will continue in Colorado Saturday night. The trio of bands is scheduled to appear in Lubbock Sept. 24. Tickets are $17.

Rattlesnake

from the elbow to the palm of his hand to relieve pressure from swelling.

"That mouse may have been a million-dollar mouse in the long run," Howell said. The mouse was found after a lump in the snake was cut open, said Howell, who had smashed the snake's head with a baseball bat and brought it to the hospital in Big Spring.

Local snake handler Bobby Sullivan of Coahoma said Howell may be right. "From the tapes I've reviewed from different snake handlers, a victim does have a better chance if the snake just ate something, because it has to use venom to control its prey; therefore, it has less venom to use."

Metcalf was bitten as his mother was getting out winter clothes from an indoor garage at her home off Midway Road. Her son was with her. The snake was apparently in between some boxes, she said.

"I know what he did. He thought it was something to play with, and he reached out to touch it before I saw it," Lori said.

The rattlesnake, probably recently born, was less than a foot long and only had one button on its rattle, Howell said. As a result, it could not even rattle, he said.

Sullivan said the snake, like other snakes this time of year, probably sought shelter in the garage because of cold weather.

"This time of the year is when the snake is seeking shelter," he said. "It looks like on account of the weather we're having that we got a good crawl (into residential areas). Rest assured that we've had an increase here in Coahoma."

He warned that people on the edge of rural areas need to be careful when going through flower beds, garages or other places that snakes may hide. "We've got to live with them, this is their country."

Four other rattlesnakes have been killed in Coahoma, including two in cotton fields on the Metcalf farm, Howell said. One was killed in a yard of a residence and another on the side of a road.

The signs of a poisonous snake bite are quick swelling and a decrease in the blood's ability to clot, said Cheryl Carpenter, a poison information specialist with the Poison Control Center in Tucson, Ariz.

If bitten, a victim should be kept calm, with the bitten area kept below the heart level, and they should be taken to a hospital as soon as possible, Carpenter said. "You're best first aid is your car keys."

But if the victim is not within a one-hour drive of a hospital, a constriction band — not a tourniquet — should be used near the wound between the wound and heart, Carpenter said. It should be possible at all times to slip two fingers under the band. So as swelling increases, the band should be adjusted.

Besides tourniquets, which can cut off blood flow, it is also recommended not to cut and suck a wound or put ice on it, Carpenter said. "All of these are shown to cause more tissue damage to limbs."

There are also venom extractors on the market, she said. The center does not have an official policy to recommend use of extractors, she said. "But I think if I was anywhere over an hour out (from a hospital), I would use one."

Also, since initial treatment and tests for snake bites are similar, it is not crucial to capture the snake, Carpenter said. It is more important that time saved not chasing the snake be used to transport the victim to a hospital.

take effect immediately following the Nov. 5 general election.

District Manager Mark Hoelscher explained to two Martin County commissioners at the meeting that the district would probably be obligated to also inspect tanks in Midland County and that could stretch the resources of the district too far. Regardless of whether state or local officials do the inspections, Hoelscher said, "It's a neccessary function."

"I would not want to step in on this until we annex this other area or not," Campbell said.

But Commissioner Don Tollison stressed to board members that a temporary contract would at least help solve current pollution problems. "Folks, try. Give it a try. If it doesn't work we'll both pull out of it," he said. "I'll be real honest with you, I think if we can get half a dozen of them out of the way, I don't think we'll have any more problem."

"I really would like to help the people over in Mulberry Lane," agreed Hoelscher. "If we have the 90-day backout, I think we're protected."

Prior to a 4-0 vote being cast, Campbell remarked, "That'll give us time to get rid of the Mulberry Lane problem." Board member Earl Dickenson was absent from the meeting.

Local officials first began discussing local enforcement of state sewage tank regulations last year after Texas Department of Health officials balked at talking to two owners of septic systems suspected of contaminating 11 water wells in the Mulberry and Milholland lanes areas. A third owner was told by a state official to replace a cesspool with a legal septic system.

Underground water district officials can only seek voluntary compliance and replacement of septic systems found to be polluting water tables. The county attorney can file charges in county court and fines between $10 to $200 for each day of noncompliance can be levied.

District board members on Thursday also approved annexing the rural areas of Midland County into the district, which currently includes all of Martin County and the northwest section of Howard County. A recent change in state law allows board members to approve an annexation instead of voters in the current district. Voters in the annexed area still must approve it.

In other business, the board heard a presentation of the proposed 1991-92 budget. About $109,000 in expenditures is proposed. It is a balanced budget.

be resolved because the governments of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia are cooperating with the U.S. effort to locate the servicemen who were lost in those countries.

The United States now has five search teams in the area, is being allowed access to Vietnam's archives and has relative freedom of movement in the country. But so far, "I can't tell you we've made any real progress," Ford said.

with controversy since the school board members called for the election in late August. Two citizens groups have formed, one in support and one opposed, and school board trustees have met with area organizations and citizens to explain the bond issues.

The nearly $12 million will be used to build a new junior high school to replace Runnels Junior High, built in 1916, build a new elementary school to replace College Heights, built in the 1930s, and repair the roofs at Goliad Middle School and Moss Elementary and upgrade the air conditioning system at Big Spring High School.

Opposition to the bond includes the amount of money being requested, the necessity of tearing down Runnels instead of renovating the building and the unused Boydstun Elementary on Sixth Street.

Citizens in support of the issue are seeking new schools to replace deteriorating and old buildings and to make necessary repairs to other existing buildings. Big Spring district's current bond indebtedness stemming from the last election in 1964 will be paid in 1993.

According to Ron Plumlee, assistant superintendent for the district, the proposed bond will increase taxes by about 10 cents per $100 property valuation, or about $25 a year on a $25,000 home. The bond repayments will not begin until the 1992-93 school year.

their father, W.T. McMorris, after he and his wife separated, said Lubbock police Capt. Frank Wylie. McMorris eventually divorced his wife and married Colleen Parker.

Cecil McMorris, W.T.'s brother, said Thursday Mrs. McMorris' arrest came as a complete shock to his family.

"I don't have any idea why Debra and Kay would bring this out," Cecil McMorris said.

"Certainly it's a surprise," Cecil McMorris said. "We went to the funeral 36 years ago and there were no questions then. The police questioned W.T. and Colleen, and they were satisfied it was an accident. Why they are putting them through this now I have no idea because both of them are in real bad health."

A team of four medical examiners in Lubbock studied the baby's medical records and gained permission from the court to exhume the body.

Deaths

Herman Jeffcoat

Herman Cleo Jeffcoat, 70, Seminole, died Wednesday, Sept. 18, 1991, in a Lubbock hospital after a long illness.

Services were today at 2 p.m. at Avenue B Church of Christ, with the Rev. Robert Love officiating. Burial was in Gaines County Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Roger Pool Funeral Home Inc.

He was born Sept. 25, 1920, in Knott. He moved to Seminole from Hobbs, N.M., in 1960 where he engaged in farming. He was a member of Avenue B Church of Christ in Seminole. He married Willie Laverne Marks on April 30, 1944, in Big Spring.

Survivors include his wife Laverne Jeffcoat, Seminole; one son, Daryel Jeffcoat, Baird; one daughter, Donna Foote, Seminole; his mother, Addie Lee Jeffcoat, Big Spring; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Clint Jeffcoat, Nathan Foote, Dwight Foote, Jason Foote, Patrick Armstrong and Buddy Long.

Ernestine Stephens

Ernestine B. Stephens, 61, Big Spring, died Thursday, Sept. 19, 1991, in a Midland hospital.

Services will be 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21, 1991, at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel, with Royce Clay, minister 14th and Main Church of Christ, officiating. Entombment will be in Trinity Memorial Park Mausoleum under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

She was born Oct. 8, 1929, in Duke, Okla. She married Kenneth B. Stephens, June 1, 1947, in Vernon. She grow up near Altus, Okla., and graduated from high school at Headrick, Okla. She moved to Big Spring in September 1949 and worked for the Big Spring Independent School District in the payroll department until retiring in 1988. She was a member of the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband, Kenneth Stephens, Big Spring; one son, Michael L. Stephens, San Angelo; one daughter Cynthia L. Big Spring (2-0) at Lubbock High (2-0)

The big question for Big Spring is, have the Steers come back to Earth after beating the No. 5 team in the state? The big question for the Lubbock High Westerners is, will they score?

On paper this one looks like a Big Spring romp. The Steers have a nasty defense and a well-rounded offense. Lubbock High is rebuilding, indicated by a starting lineup full of sophomores.

The rain might help keep this one relatively close, but the paper's theory holds up.

Big Spring 21, Lubbock High 6

Coahoma (2-0) at Tahoka (1-1)

The battle of the Bulldogs. Coahoma goes for its third straight victory, trying to gear for momenteum for its district opener with Iraan next week.

Tahoka is coming off a 19-12 decision over Friona, a game in which it scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to nab the victory.

Coahoma's defense has been steady and its offense was spectacular last week. Another big game for Mike Mendez and Steve New.

Coahoma 21, Tahoka 8

Stanton (0-2) at Greenwood (1-1)

The Greenwood Rangers are coming off an impressive 21-14 victory over Class 4A Fort Stockton. The Stanton Buffalos are still trying to score their first points of the season.

Greenwood has a good rushing attack and a good defense. The Buffalos are still learning a new system. Stanton quarterback John Eric Wycoff will be back, but it won't be enough.

Greenwood 28, Stanton 0

Forsan (0-2) at Roscoe (0-2)

The Forsan Buffaloes finally get to pick on someone their own speed. Both teams are similar in the fact that both are very young.

The Plowboys return all 22 of their starters back from last year's 0-10 team. Forsan's defense has played failry well, but the offense is struggling.

This will be a good game, but because of the home field advantage — and more experience — the Plowboys will break their 12-game losing streak.

Roscoe 14, Forsan 12

C-City (1-1) at Slaton (2-0)

This has developed into quite a rivalry. Both teams know each other well.

Colorado City knows it has to stop Slaton all-state running back Joe Williams, who scored four touchdowns last week in Slaton's 42-7 victory over Post. On the other hand Colorado City will be without star running back Kevin Green, who's out with an ankle injury.

Williams will run wild, the Slaton defense will snuff the C-City offense. A long night for the Wolves.

Slaton 28, Colorado City 0

G-City (2-0) at Rankin (2-0)

This one is the area game of the week for 11-man football fans.

Two undefeated and state-ranked teams collide tonight when the No. 1 Garden City Bearkats travel to Rankin to take on the No. 8 Red Devils.

Rankin has owned this series, taking the last three from the Bearkats, including last year's 27-14 victory in Garden City. The Red Devils return 18 lettermen from last year, including all-everything quarterback-cornerback Kirk Kennedy.

But if Rankin is loaded, the Bearkats are more so, returning 26 lettermen from last year. G-City's offense has scored 97 points this season while its defense has surrendered only 12.

This one will be tight, but experience and the revenge factor will keep the Bearkats No. 1 for another week.

Garden City 28, Rankin 23

Christoval (1-1) at Sands (2-0)

Six-man fans will be in for a treat when the Christoval Cougars and Sands Mustangs, both state-ranked, tangle in Ackerly Saturday night.

The Cougars, a traditional state power, suffered an unusual regular season defeat last week when they fell to Harper. The Mustangs, meanwhile, have been awesome so far, destroying Hermleigh and Loraine.

Christoval will rebound from the loss and play extremely tough, but the Mustangs have the home field, homecoming, revenge and an unbelievable defense on their side.

Sands makes it case as one of the top six-man teams in the state.

Sands 34, Christoval 29

Wellman (2-0) at B-County (1-1)

Another doozy from the six-man ranks.

The Borden County Coyotes, fresh off their first victory of the season, host the unbeaten Wellman Wildcats in BC's homecoming tonight.

The young Coyotes found their running game in a big way last week, crushing the Grady Wildcats, while Wellman kept its record perfect by downing previously ranked Meadow, 26-12.

Homecoming excitement and the home field advantage will keep this close, but the Wildcats' experience (17 lettermen, five returning starters on both sides of the line) will tell in the end.

Wellman 30, Borden Co. 20

New Home (2-0) at Klondike (0-2)

Two teams heading in opposite directions will meet in Patricia tonight when the New Home Leopards and the Klondike Cougars meet at 7:30 p.m.

The Leopards are unbeaten this season, while the Cougars are still looking for victory number one. Again, experience (New Home has 14 lettermen and five returning starters on both sides of the line) will be the difference in the game.

New Home 45, Klondike 24

Top 10 showdown Saturday

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs and Christoval Cougars have become common foes over the past few years.

That's not the only thing the two teams have in common. For openers, both are among the top-ranked six-man football teams in the state, and both teams are methodical in what they do. Also, both coaches are in their fourth year at the school.

Saturday night the two will clash for the third time in as many years when Sands hosts Christoval in its homecoming game at 7:30 p.m.. For coach Randy Roemisch's Mustangs, it will be a chance to get even for two previous losses. For Coach Billy Barnett's Cougars, it will be a chance to see what his team does when the going gets tough.

RANDY ROEMISCH AARON COWLEY ERIC HERM JASON HODNETT

Sands, of District 5-A, enters the contest with a 2-0 record and ranked No. 4 in the state. Christoval, of District 11-A, fields a 1-1 record and ranked 10th in the state. The Mustangs have been little short of awesome in two games, defeating Hermleigh 50-0 and Loraine 48-0. Christoval defeated Brookesmith 44-6 and lost to Harper 50-21 last week.

Both coaches have built spectacular records. Barnett is 38-4 and Roemisch is 33-4.

The two teams first met two years ago and Christoval defeated Sands 50-34 in the state quarterfinals. Last year in non-district play, Christoval defeated Sands 24-9. Roemisch and crew still haven't forgetten those losses.

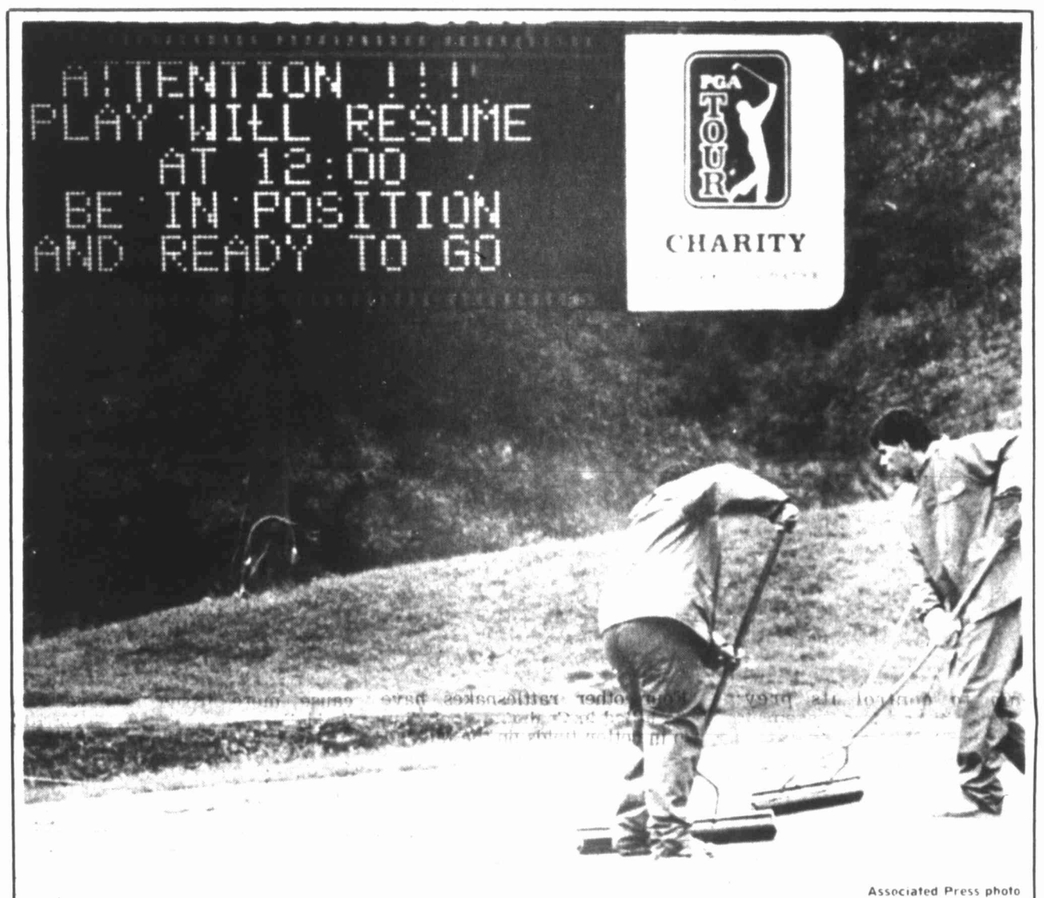

"When we lost to them in the playoffs, we proabably should've won that game," said Roemisch. "They fumbled inside their 10 when we were down 28-26 and we recovered and they (referees) didn't give it to us. Then once they called a clip and it wasn't even close to being a clip and that took a scoring drive away from us.

"Last year when they beat us we played in a lot of rain. We couldn't get many yards on them offensively. They moved the ball on us — they got something like 391 yards — but they couldn't get into the end zone."

Barnett, whose team lost in the state championship to Fort Hancock 66-17 last year, will be trying to see what his team is made of.

"This is all a mystery to me. We have never been in this position before," said Barnett. "Since I've ENDICOTT, N.Y. — Groundskeepers at En-Joie Golf Course squeegee water off a green to get the course ready for play after a four-hour rain delay during the first round of the 1991 B.C. Open Thursday. Blaine McCalister of Fort Stockton was the first-round leader.

U.S. team hopes to slow the pace in today's Davis Cup semifinals

KANSAS CITY, Mo (AP) — Boris Becker's pullout from the Davis Cup may have been the best thing for the German team, given the U.S. team's plot to maximize its home-court advantage with a $40,000 investment.

That's how much the United States Tennis Association paid to haul in tons of crushed red brick from Florida and set up an indoor clay court just as slow as America's top players, Jim Courier and Andre Agassi, like for the semifinals series starting today.

Courier edged Agassi in a grueling five-setter on a similar court in the French Open final this year, and they're both pleased to be cheering for each other this time on a surface perfect for their baseline styles.

But with Becker out because of a leg injury sustained at the U.S. Open, the court strategy could backfire. His replacement, Carl-Ewe Steeb, is a baseliner better suited than Becker to the long rallies that clay demands.

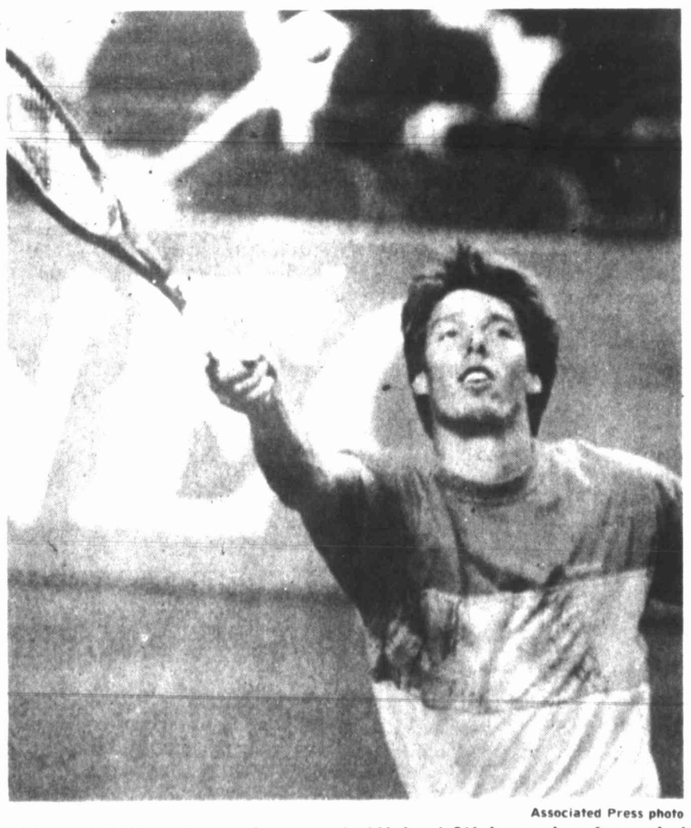

How slow will the court be?

"That depends on how much we water it tonight," Courier quipped Thursday as the Americans straddled the line between good sportsmanship and clever gamesmanship.

Just as baseball teams sometimes give an extra sprinkling to the basepaths to slow down base-stealing opponents, so might the USTA dampen the chances of Germany's serve-and-volley master Michael Stich.

The slower the better for Agassi, who faces Stich, the Wimbledon champion, in the first best-of-5-sets match Friday. Courier follows against Steeb.

A doubles match will be played Saturday, and two singles matches are scheduled on Sunday, with the winner going to the final in November against the winner of this weekend's France-Yugoslavia match.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Germany's Michael Stich reaches for a shot during a practice session at Kemper Arena Thursday. Stich and his teammates will face the United States in Davis Cup matches beginning today.

The idea of bringing in red clay was inspired in part by Courier's and Agassi's success in the French Open, and in part by the earlier prospect of facing Becker and Stich, whose styles are more suited to hard courts or indoor carpets.

Courier beat Stich in the semifinals on the red clay at Roland Garros in Paris and Agassi beat Becker in the same round, both in four-set matches.

Though these matches will be played indoors at the Kemper Arena, and though red clay is as foreign in these parts as haute couture, the Americans decided to play on clay just as they did when they beat Australia on a makeshift court in the Davis Cup final last year.

In the second round this year against the clay court specialists from Spain, the U.S. team pulled a switch, choosing to play on grass at Newport, R.I., with a completely different squad: John McEnroe,

BIG SPRING JV 34, ANDREWS JV 0

Quarterback Wes Hughes had a hand in three touchdowns, and the Big Spring junior varsity defense turned in a sterling performance as Big Spring defeated the Andrews JV, 34-0, Thursday night at Blankenship Field.

Hughes passed for two scores and ran for another for the JV Steers, now 3-0 for the season. The Big Spring defense, meanwhile, limited Andrews to six total first downs in the game.

Hughes opened the scoring in the first quarte by passing 30 yards to end Todd Parrish. Mike Oliva then passed to Noe Trevino for the two-point conversion, making the score 8-0.

Tailback Lonnie Jackson then made the score 14-0 later in the first when he had a 25-yard touchdown run.

Hughes and Parrish hooked up again in the third quarter, this time on a 15-yard TD pass that made the score 20-0. Hughes added a three-yard TD run in the quarter to boost Big Spring's advantage to 28-0.

Tailback Brian Scott closed the scoring in the fourth quarter with a 7-yard touchdown run.

"The whole team played well," JV coach Rickey Long said. "The weather didn't seem to bother them at all. They kids played real hard."

The JV Steers return to action next Thursday when they play at Snyder.

BIG SPRING FRESHMEN 22, ANDREWS 12

ANDREWS — A time-consuming 80-yard scoring drive late in the game provided the icing on the cake as the Big Spring freshmen downed Andrews' ninth-graders, 22-12, in Andrews Thursday.

With the win, Big Spring's record improves to 2-1.

The Steers were holding a narrow 14-12 lead in the fourth when they launched the clinching drive, which was capped whena tailback Donald Vanderbilt scored from 40-yards out. Vanderbilt's brother Michael provided the two-point conversion.

Donald opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 70-yard TD run. Dustin Waters added the two-point conversion to make the score 8-0.

In the second quarter, linebacker Mario Cavazos intercepted a pass at the Big Spring three and returned it all the way for a touchdown. The try for two failed, but Big Spring led, 14-0, at the half.

Andrews scored two second-half touchdown on runs of six and eight yards, respectively, before Vanderbilt sealed matters in the final quarter.

Coach Gary Simmons had praise for the offense for its final scoring drive.

Big Spring returns to action next Thursday when it hosts Snyder at 5 p.m. at Blankenship Field.

COAHOMA JV 30, TAHOKA JV 8

COAHOMA — The Coahoma junior varsity improved its record to 2-1 by thrashing Tahoka's JV, 30-8, in a game played in Coahoma Thursday night.

Tailback Jeff Phernetton opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 29-yard TD run, and quarterback Juan Ruiz added a six-yard scoring pass to Jay Chris Bingham in the second to give Coahoma a 14-0 lead at halftime.

Coahoma scored in an unusual manner in the third. Ruiz fumbled the snap, picked up the loose ball and ran to the Tahoka one, where he was hit and fumbled again. Fortunately for Coahoma, Brad Harrison pounced on the loose ball in the end zone, giving the Bulldogs a 22-0 lead.

Court rejects Hebert challenge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A California appeals court has rejected New Orleans Saints quarterback Bobby Hebert's challenge to the NFL's Plan B restrictions on free agents' ability to move from one team to another.

Hebert said in his suit that he was prevented from signing with the Los Angeles Raiders last season because the Raiders were unwilling to compensate the Saints as required by Plan B. He argued that the rule denied him the right to work in the occupation of his choice, in violation of California law.

The 2nd District Court of Appeal ruled in a 3-0 decision this week that California law could not be used to restrict a nationwide business like the NFL without becoming an unconstitutional burden on interstate commerce.

The rule is being challenged separately in a federal suit in Minnesota by nine NFL players as a restraint of trade in violation of federal antitrust law.

Millard to miss season

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Vikings defensive tackle Keith Millard has decided to have surgery on his right knee and will miss the rest of the season.

Knee specialist Dr. Richard Steadman examined Millard this week in Vail, Colo., and agreed with Vikings physician Dr. David Fischer that surgery was needed. Steadman will perform the surgery in the next week.

Millard tore his anterior cruciate ligament of the right knee in the fourth game of 1990.

Jenkins Mr. Mysterious as Houston preps for Illini

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston coach John Jenkins wasn't satisfied with merely forcing Illinois coach John Mackovic to work overtime to devise a way to stop the Cougars' run-and-shoot offense.

He had to add some mystery.

"I'm breaking out a new look that I've yet to present since I've been in Houston," Jenkins announced. "We're coming out with a little bit of a change up that I think is really going to help us."

Is it a change in offense, defense?

"Don't worry, it's not going to be the wishbone or the Power I," Jenkins joked. "I don't want to present an entire scouting report of it here. The fun part of it is to see what happens on game day."

It should be great fun for Mackovic, whose Fighting Illini play host to the Cougars Saturday. Illinois lost to Missouri 23-19 and the No. 21 Cougars are coming off a disappointing 40-10 loss to No. 2 Miami.

In other games Saturday: No. 14 Baylor hosts Missouri; No. 13 Auburn visits Texas; Rice is at Tulane; Arkansas is host to Southwest Louisiana; Texas A&M plays at Tulsa and Texas Tech travels to Wyoming.

Southern Methodist has the week off to prepare for Baylor next week.

Jenkins said his latest innovation was not the result of losing to Miami.

"It's something that Miami took advantage of," Jenkins said. "But if we'd won that game 50-0, this is still something I've had conversations with a couple of particular players about.

"I think it's going to really jump out and enable us to be right on track as we've been before."

The Aggies also will have a new look when they play the Hurricane an injury necessitated all-freshman backfield of quarterback Jeff Granger, fullback Clif Groce and running back Greg Hill.

The Aggies played 24 freshmen in their 36-7 victory over Louisiana State and 10 sophomores were starters.

"We've got some young guys that need to play," Slocum said. "I may be crazy but I said early in the summer I'm not going to sit around here and worry about it."

Baylor moved up to No. 14 national ranking after beating defending national champion Colorado. Defensive tackle Santana Doton, named the AP Defensive Player of the Week for his performance against Colorado, will play despite a sprained ankle.

"He's one of those athletes that you dream about," Baylor coach Grant Teaff said. "He's got the athletic ability to play defensive end or tackle."

Matt Vogler or Tim Schade will replace TCU quarterback Leon Clay against Oklahoma State but coach Jim Wacker won't announce his starter until kickoff. Clay is out for the season with a broken leg.

"We want them to feel a little heat because there's going to be heat when the game starts," Wacker said.

The Longhorns' lack depth at linebacker as they resume play against Auburn.

"We're fortunate that our starters have been healthy but we've lost the second team group."

Davis Cup

Brad Gilbert, Rick Leach and Jim Pugh.

Court surface aside, America's Davis Cup team this weekend represents the coming of age of Courier and Agassi as top players on an equal plane and playing on the same side for the first time.

Once teen-age rivals at Nick Bollettieri's bang-from-the-baseline tennis academy in Florida, they are putting aside for the moment any lingering animosity from those days or from their French Open final.

"We both have true respect for each other as players," said Courier, ranked No. 3 in the world behind Stefan Edberg and Becker after reaching the U.S. Open final. "I'm certainly glad to have him on my side this week. As he said, and I back him up, he's playing about the best tennis I've ever seen him play. I feel I'm playing some pretty good tennis, too."

Agassi said he was "mentally and emotionally fatigued" going into the U.S. Open after a summer of illness and was not as prepared as he should've been.

Football

Robert Martinez scored the final Coahoma touchdown later in the third quarter when he crossed the goal line from 15 yards out. Jon White added the two-point conversion.

Although he didn't get into the scoring act, Coahoma running back Juan Moran had a fine night, gaining 202 yards on 20 carries.

Coahoma coach Kim Nichols also had words of praise for offensive linemen Brad Hunt, Brandon McGuire, Kraig Walker, Murphy Henry and Andrew Duenes.

Defensively, Nichols credited Henry DeLaRosa, Rocky King and Terry Don Martinez with having fine games.

Coahoma's JV returns to action next Thursday when it hosts Ira at 6:30 p.m.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Games involving Runnels Junior High, Goliad Middle School, Coahoma Junior High, Forsan Junior High and the Forsan junior varsity all were cancelled because of bad weather.

been here, the only games we've lost have been to Fort Hancock, until we lost to Harper last week.

"I guess we're all going to find out what we're about. It's a mystery to everybody, we want to find out. I've issued a challenge to the kids. The ball is in our court, we can either take it and run or take it and fall."

Barnett lost nine lettermen from last year's 13-1 squad. He returns only one offensive starter and two defensive starters. "The way I see it, we were living in the past," said Barnett. "We were thinking everybody was going to get out of our way just because we were Christoval."

Christoval has two preseason all-staters on the team — offensive and defensive end Colby Donaldson (6-2, 220) and safety and running back Tim Parker (6-2, 170). Junior Andy Young (6-2, 190) is the leading rusher with 200 yards.

Sands returns five starters on both sides of the ball from last year's 13-0 squad. (Sands had forfeit wins over Christoval and McLean because of ineligible players.)

Like it has since Roemisch arrived, Sands' strong suit is defense. The starting lineup of ends Jason Hodnett and Clay Parker, middle linebeker Eric Herm, cornerbacks Hank Grigg and Charles Rhodes and safety Aaron Cowley have been awesome so far.

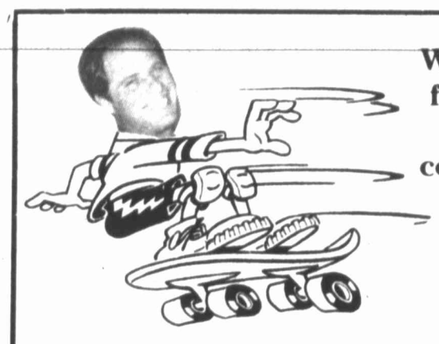

The Muatangs have oinly allowed 52 yards this season. "Any program I've ever been in I've stressed defense," said Roemisch. "Defense is what wins you ballgames. You keep them out of the end zone, make them punt deep in their territory, it makes it easier on the offense."

A good indication of that is that Sands is averaging 260 yards per game offensively, yet averaging 49 points per game.

Offensively the Mustangs have Parker at center, Hodnett at one end while Torbin Lancaster and Adrian Zarate alterate at the other end position. Cowly is the quarterback. Herm and david Ybarra alternate at fullback and Rhodes and Heath Gillispie alternate at tailback.

"That's why you don't see our kids with big stats because they all play. That way we can keep them fresh," said Roemisch.

Roemisch thinks his defense will continue to play steady and his offense will come through. "I feel like we can move the ball on them," he said. "We're going to get in three sets and run at them. We'll try to keep their heads mixed up, keep them guessing."

Texan leads PGA event

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Blaine McCallister of Fort Stockton shot a 7-under-par 64 for a one-stroke lead in the rain-delayed first round of the PGA Tour's BC Open.

A 3½-hour delay prevented 75 players from completing the round.

Billy Mayfair was 6-under after 13 holes on the 6,966-yard En-Joie Golf Club course when play was suspended.

Lance Ten Broeck and Steve Lowery opened with 66s and Jeff Sluman, Billy Andrade and Ed Humenik had 67s. Peter Jacobsen, Curtis Strange, Joey Sindelar, Mike Hulbert, Don Shirey and Barry Cheesman opened with 68s.

Reps introduce baseball bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling baseball "a unifying element to the nation," Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., introduced a bill to help Seattle and other small-market major league cities by forcing teams to share their television revenue. Republicans Rod Chandler and John Miller cosponsored companion legislation in the House.

The bill would require teams to give 20 percent of their broadcast revenue from home games to their league for equal redistribution among all teams. For road games, teams negotiating broadcast contracts would get 20 percent of that revenue and 80 percent would go to the league for redistribution.

Dombrowski new Marlins' GM

MIAMI (AP) — Dave Dombrowski is leaving the Montreal Expos to become general manager of the expansion Florida Marlins. Dombrowski, 35, said he signed a four-year contract. The Marlins and Colorado Rookies begin play in the National League in 1993.

Oilers trade Fuhr, Anderson

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — The Edmonton Oilers traded two more of their Stanley Cup-era players, sending goaltender Grant Fuhr and forward Glenn Anderson to the Toronto Maple Leafs in a seven-player deal.

Forward Craig Berube was also sent to Toronto. In return, the Oilers received forwards Vincent Damphousse and Scott Thornton, defenseman Luke Richardson, goaltender Peter Ing and future considerations.

Mark Messier and Kevin Lowe are the only remaining players who played on all five of Edmonton's championship teams in the last eight seasons.

Big Tex guns down Angels; Abbott returns favor

ARLINGTON (AP) — Nolan Ryan got up to 120 pitches Thursday and the results tickled him so much he can't wait for 1992 to start.

"I'm very pleased with my health and my stuff's back," Ryan said after he earned career victory No. 313 in Texas' 10-3 victory over California in the first game of a doubleheader. "It helps your outlook for the upcoming season."

Ryan (11-6) will be 45 next year. Jim Abbott (17-9), meanwhile, celebrated his 24th birthday by pitching the Angels past the Rangers 5-2 in the second game for a split.

Ryan's fastball was measured in the low and mid-90s most of the game. He struck out seven in six innings. He allowed three runs on six hits while working in a light mist and 63-degree weather.

Ryan is just one victory away from tying Gaylord Perry for 13th on the all-time win list. He has already signed a contract for next year with an option for 1993.

"You want to come back and finish strong coming off the injury like I did," Ryan said.

Ryan was on the disabled list twice this season, not that anyone would know it from his latest performance.

"When I'm questioned abut Nolan this winter, I can say I saw him with his velocity at the end of the year," Texas manager Bobby Valentine said. "His fastball is there."

California manager Buck Rodgers, who came to the Angels after Doug Rader was fired, said he hadn't seen Ryan up-close since his NL days. Rodgers was with the Montreal Expos.

"He's amazing," Rodgers said. "I haven't seen him since he was in Houston. Anytime a 44-year-old man can throw a fastball like he can in the majors it's unbelievable."

Ryan outpitched Chuck Finley (17-9), who lasted only four innings, yielding five runs on six hits and six walks.

Dean Palmer homered in both games for Texas. Abbott pitched 7 2-3 innings and gave up six hits, including home runs by Rafael Palmeiro and Palmer.

Bryan Harvey finished for his 40th save. Max Venable drove in two runs with singles for the Angels. Kevin Brown (9-11) was the loser.

The opener was tied at 3 in the fifth when Finley walked Julio Franco and Ruben Sierra. They pulled off a double steal and Juan Gonzalez hit a two-run single.

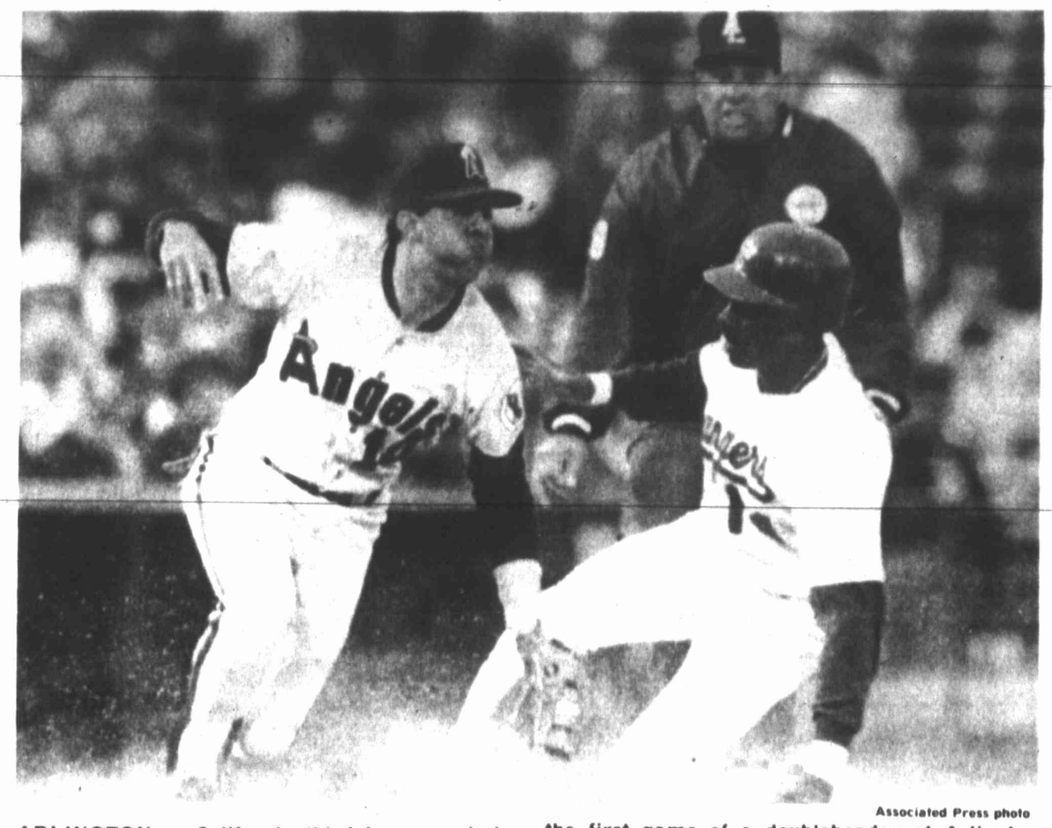

The Rangers staked Ryan to a 3-1 lead with single runs in the first, third and fourth innings but the Angels came back to tie it.

Palmeiro doubled in the first inning and scored on consecutive wild pitches by Finley. A walk, groundout, and Franco's single scored a run in the third.

In the fourth, Palmer hit his ninth homer of the year and first homer since Aug. 10.

The Angels scored in the third on a double by Luis Polonia and Wally Joyner's single. California scored twice in the fifth on RBI singles by Dave Gallgher and Dave Winfield.

Sierra hit a two-run double during a four-run sixth, making it 9-3. Kevin Reimer hit his 18th home run of the season in the eighth.

ARLINGTON — California third baseman Luis Sojo, left, is late with the tag as Texas baserunner Julio Franco steals third during the fifth inning of the first game of a doubleheader at Arlington Stadium Thursday. Third base umpire Greg Kosc makes the call.

Notes: Texas pitcher Bobby Witt, a 17-game winner in 1990, will undergo an arthrogram of his right elbow Friday and is expected to miss the rest of ths season.

Dodgers, Atlanta set for weekend showdown

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Even at Dodger Stadium, the fans might be in their seats early and stay late this weekend.

'In a very California way, it's going to be an exciting time," pitcher Jim Gott said, looking ahead to the NL West showdown with Atlanta. "These people in LA are very used to winning. We've had great crowds all year long. I think you're going to see the volume turned up."

The Braves and Dodgers each won Thursday, meaning Los Angeles takes a one-half game lead into tonight's opener of a three-game series. The Braves went into last weekend with a one-half game lead and then beat Los Angeles two of three in Atlanta.

"I think being a half-game out, the players will tend to be a little more relaxed and a lot more confident," said Lonnie Smith, who scored the go-ahead run in the 10th inning Thursday night as Atlanta won in San Diego 4-2. "Our goal right now is not to sweep them, but at least to win two out of three."

The Dodgers are the best home team in the majors at 48-24 after beating Houston 4-3. The Braves are the league's second-best road team, next to Pittsburgh, at 39-33. Los Angeles is 9-6 against Atlanta this year.

"It's nicer to be where we are than where we were when we left Atlanta," Los Angeles manager Tom Lasorda said.

In other games Thursday, Pittsburgh rallied past St. Louis 5-1, San Francisco stopped Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia beat Montreal 5-4 in 10 innings and the Chicago at New York game was canceled because of rain.

Andy Benes, with an NL-best nine-game winning streak, held Atlanta hitless until Smith homered in the sixth inning to tie it at 1. After Fred McGriff's RBI double put the Padres ahead in the bottom of the sixth, Smith singled home the tying run in the seventh.

San Diego threatened in the ninth, even after a disputed interference call cost it a runner at second base. The Padres went on to load the bases with two outs, but Mark Wohlers (2-1) got pinch-hitter Tom Lampkin on a sharp grounder.

Smith singled off Craig Lefferts (1-6) to start the 10th. Vinny Castilla's sacrifice bunt was mishandled by McGriff for one error, and McGriff then threw the ball into right field for another error that put runners at second and third. After Terry Pendleton was intentionally walked, David Justice hit an RBI single and Ron Gant followed with a sacrifice fly.

Alejandro Pena pitched the 10th for his 10th save.

"There were a couple of balls in the bottom of the ninth inning that were hit right at our infield," Braves manager Bobby Cox said. "Maybe we caught a break, I don't know. But they played awfully hard and awfully good. It was a good game to win to go into Dodgertown."

Dodgers 4, Astros 3

Darryl Strawberry again haunted Houston, this time with a two-run homer in the first inning that sent Los Angeles to its fourth straight victory.

Strawberry has 10 home runs and 27 RBIs in 18 games against the Astros. He has 25 homers and 92 RBIs overall. He is tied with Dale Murphy for the most home runs in a season against Houston.

Kevin Gross, pitching in place of Tim Belcher, helped the host Dodgers win for the 16th time in 21 games. He gave up two runs on three hits in seven innings, and Roger McDowell pitched 1 1-3 innings for his seventh save. Belcher, slowed by a groin injury, was pushed back one day in the rotation and will start tonight against Atlanta.

Strawberry, who has 41 RBIs in his last 35 games, homered off Mark Portugal (10-9).

Pirates 5, Cardinals 1

Pinch-hitter Curtis Wilkerson's grand slam with two outs capped a five-run rally in the bottom of the ninth inning and Pittsburgh trimmed its magic number to four.

The Pirates lead the second-place Cardinals by 12½ games. It's the biggest lead for Pittsburgh since Sept. 16, 1972.

Rookie Omar Olivares (9-6) took a two-hit shutout into the ninth. But singles by Cecil Espy and Bobby Bonilla brought on reliever Bob McClure, who gave up Barry Bonds' RBI grounder.

Wilkerson, hitting .185, batted for reliever Stan Belinda and connected on the first pitch from Lee Smith for his first home run since April 29, 1989. Wilkerson's slam was the first by a Pirates pinch-hitter since Richie Hebner's homer on Sept. 15, 1983, also against Smith.

Belinda (7-5) pitched the ninth. Todd Zeile homered in the fourth for St. Louis.

Giants 4, Reds 1

Dave Anderson and Jose Uribe squeezed home runs in the eighth inning as San Francisco scored three times at Candlestick Park to win its fifth straight game.

Cincinnati's loss pushed the World Series champions one game away from elimination in the NL West.

The Giants loaded the bases against Randy Myers (6-13) in the eighth. Anderson's bunt scored one run and another scored when Myers threw wildly past the plate. Uribe's squeeze capped the burst.

Francisco Oliveras (6-5) pitched the eighth and Dave Righetti worked the ninth for his 24th save.

Phillies 5, Expos 4

Darrin Fletcher singled home the winning run with two outs in the 10th inning and Philadelphia beat Montreal in a game delayed by rain for 2½ hours.

The game was supposed to be played in Montreal, but was shifted last week after a 55-ton concrete chunk fell at Olympic Stadium. Instead, the Phillies batted as the home team and won in their final at-bat.

The start of the game was held up for 1 hour, 16 minutes. There was another delay of 1 hour, 15 minutes in the bottom of the ninth.

John Kruk opened the 10th with a double off Scott Ruskin (3-4) for his fourth hit. Dale Murphy singled, but Kruk was thrown out at home by center fielder Marquis Grissom. After an intentional walk, Fletcher singled off Jeff Fassero.

Mitch Williams (11-5) was the winner. Kruk hit his 17th homer and Charlie Hayes his 12th homer in the sixth, tying it at 4.

Last-second FG sinks Cavaliers

ATLANTA (AP) — Kicking clutch field goals late in a game is nothing new for Scott Sisson of Georgia Tech.

He did it again Thursday night, a 33-yarder on the final play to give the 17th-ranked Yellow Jackets a 24-21 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Virginia.

It was the fifth time in the senior kicker's career he has either won or tied a game in the final 61 seconds, and the second year in a row he's denied Virginia a tie.

The Cavaliers were ranked No. 1 in the nation with a 7-0 record last November when Sisson kicked a 37-yarder with seven seconds remaining to break a 38-38 tie.

Costner looks for site

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Wanted to rent: rustic lakeside home with view of snow-capped mountains. Call Kevin Costner, Hollywood, Calif.

Actually, it's the state Film and Video Office that's in the market for such real estate, as it tries to woo Costner and Whitney Houston to Washington for the movie "Body Guard," which is to begin filming in March.

Film office spokesman Jim Boyle said the movie's producers reportedly found a cabin they like in Oregon, but are giving Washington a chance to come up with a better one before they make their decision where to film next week.

KEVIN COSTNER

JIM PALMER

Palmer to have talk show

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer has made a good living pitching baseballs and underwear. Now he's going to try his hand at pitching ideas.

The Hall of Famer said Wednesday he will begin filming a 30-minute talk show called "Living Today" on Sept. 30.

Palmer, who pitched for the Baltimore Orioles and now appears in ads for Jockey underwear, said the daily show will deal with the same kinds of topics that Oprah Winfrey, Phil Donahue and Geraldo Rivera cover, but will do it "a little more lightheartedly."

Producer Samuel Maturo said he he hopes to announce a syndication deal shortly and have the show on the air next year.

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1991

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: A summer romance could continue into late fall and beyond. Do what you can to solidify an important professional relationship by Christmas. Travel abroad for business or pleasure in January of 1992. Your financial luck improves as the new year gets underway. Next spring ushers in a change in lifestyle. Everything seems to come together for you. Stash extra funds in the bank.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: comedian Bill Murray, actor Larry Hagman, novelist Stephen King, comedian Fannie Flagg.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Long-term financial arrangements and your use of joint funds are possible trouble zones. If you must make a guess, base it on logic. Your intuitive powers help you hit the bull's eye.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Expect the worst if you splurge today. Monitor your expenses closely. Travel and business talks occupy most of your time. Channel your passions into constructive projects.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Plan ahead where your finances are concerned; costs could rise. An unusual person or place is in the spotlight today. Your friendship with a newcomer brings great pleasure.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Break a familiar pattern for the best results today. Write letters, pay bills and go grocery shopping. A health concern deserves prompt attention.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Writing projects are favored. Be creative. Your efforts could lead to a second income! Influential people are well disposed toward you. The evening is ideal for socializing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take things into your own hands but use good judgment. Greater self-reliance wins you new respect. Be more aggressive in romance and an attractive member of the opposite sex will get your message!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be diplomatic but firm today. A hectic social life can be both tiring and expensive. Avoid overindulging in food and drink. Select a designated driver if attending a party with friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Think twice before spending a lot of money at a sale. Look at the needs of other family members. A friendship that has stood the test of time comforts you. Be affectionate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Do not get discouraged if unexpected expenses drain your Christmas funds. A missing item will be replaced by someone who cares. Show your heartfelt appreciation for a generous gift.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): An important business project finds influential support. Make certain your mate or a key associate is entirely honest with you. Keeping secrets from a loved one could spell trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Certain economic barriers are very much in evidence today. Try not to get involved in your friends' financial woes. Romance begins to heat up. You will want to have extra cash on hand.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A friend or ally helps you make an important point today. Be very careful about lending money or extending credit. Make new friends and your social life will take off like a rocket!

Garden City gets revenge against Rankin

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

RANKIN — It took four years, a frantic comeback and a last-minute stand, but the Garden City Bearkats finally own a win over the Rankin Red Devils.

The Bearkats rallied from a 14-point fourth-quarter deficit, then withstood a last-minute Rankin push to take a 22-21 win in Red Devil Stadium Friday night.

The win improved the top-ranked Bearkats' record to 3-0. Rankin, ranked eighth in the state, falls to 2-1.

The Red Devils took advantage of two third-quarter Garden City fumbles to break a halftime tie and take a 21-7 lead into the fourth quarter before the Bearkats finally began to rally.

Starting at their own 31, the Bearkats began a 12-play drive that took more than five minutes off the clock. James Soles, playing his first game after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery, kept the drive alive with a nifty catch and run that gave the 'Kats a first down at Rankin's 47.

Six plays later, quarterback Shae Scott hooked up with his brother, Jim Bob, for a first and goal at the Red Devils 7. Rankin was called for pass interference on the next play, and Soles capped the drive with a dive over the line.

Garden City elected to kick the extra point, but an offsides penalty against Rankin convinced the Bearkats to try for two. Soles again dived over the line, cutting Rankin's lead to 21-15.

"When they were offsides there on the extra point, that was the turning point of the game, I think," Garden City linebacker Eric Seidenberger said. "Our intensity went right up."

Garden City forced a Rankin punt on the ensuing series, then began the drive that clinched their first-ever victory over the Red Devils with 8:14 left in the game.

Again Soles was the workhorse, rushing seven times during the drive. He scored the go-ahead touchdown when, on third down and one at Rankin's 15, he broke off left tackle, shook a tackler at the 10 and raced into the corner of the end zone.

"Well, we knew we had to do something quick," quarterback Scott said. "We came back and executed well. We knew we had to do it and we did."

The Bearkats had to withstand one more scare before nailing down the victory.

Rankin's Roy Abalos took the ensuing kickoff, headed right and tightroped down the far sideline before Shae Scott finally tackled him out of bounds at the Bearkats' 43.

Kennedy gained six yards on a quarterback draw, but lost four the next play when Wesley Glass broke through for a sack. A pass to Joey Varela gained six yards, but, on fourth and two, Kennedy was stopped inches short of a first down, giving Garden City both the ball and the victory.

"You have to give credit to Sam Scott and his kids," Rankin Coach Troy Kennedy said. "They gave a great effort. . .We've got a long season ahead of us and we're going to get better. Maybe we'll learn to tackle better. James Soles just played a great game."

Soles ended the game with 138 yards rushing on 21 carries and two touchdowns. Kennedy was Rankin's leading ball-carrier, gaining 69 yards on 15 carries.

"(When Garden City began its comeback) I told the kids that we were either going to battle back or get beat by 40 — and they said we were going to come back," Garden City Coach Sam Scott said. "I think we showed a lot of character on defense. .I kind of wish we had scored that last touchdown with only 30 seconds left, but I am glad we got it into the end zone.

"This was a non-district game that meant a whole lot to a bunch of seniors that have been beat by those guys the past three years," Scott added, putting the game into perspective.

The Bearkats wasted little time getting on the scoreboard, driving 91 yards the first time they took possession midway through the first quarter. The drive was a football purist's delight, as all but one of the 20 plays was on the ground.

Soles and fellow running backs Mario Aguilar and Jody Bradford did most of the damage on the drive.

Soles contributed runs of 15 and 14 yards, respectively, and added a big six-yard run on fourth down at the Rankin 40. Eight plays later, fullback David Rodriguez bulled over from one yard out. Jody Bradford's point-after kick made the score 7-0.

Garden City threatened again in the second quarter, but, on fourth down at the Rankin 26, Soles was dropped for a three-yard loss, giving the ball to the Red Devils.

They wasted little time cashing in on the stand, marching 69 yards in 10 plays. Quarterback Kirk Kennedy capped the drive by throwing a perfect 31-yard pass to Jeff Jones to knot the score at 7-all with 1:35 left in the second quarter.

Rankin mounted another drive late in the first half, but Matt Seidenberger stepped in front of Kennedy's last-second pass to quell the threat.

Soles showed little rust from his layoff in the first half, gaining 74 yards on 10 carries. Statistically, the Bearkats outgained Rankin, 159 yards to 118 in the first half.

The wheels almost fell off for the Bearkats during a disastrous third quarter that saw the Red Devils convert consecutive fumbles into 14 points and the lead.

The first turnover came when Andy Lopez muffed a Kennedy punt, giving Rankin the ball at the Bearkats' 17. Four plays later, Abalos went around left end from 10 yards out, giving the Red Devils a 14-7 lead.

The next score was like something out of Ripley's Believe It or Not.

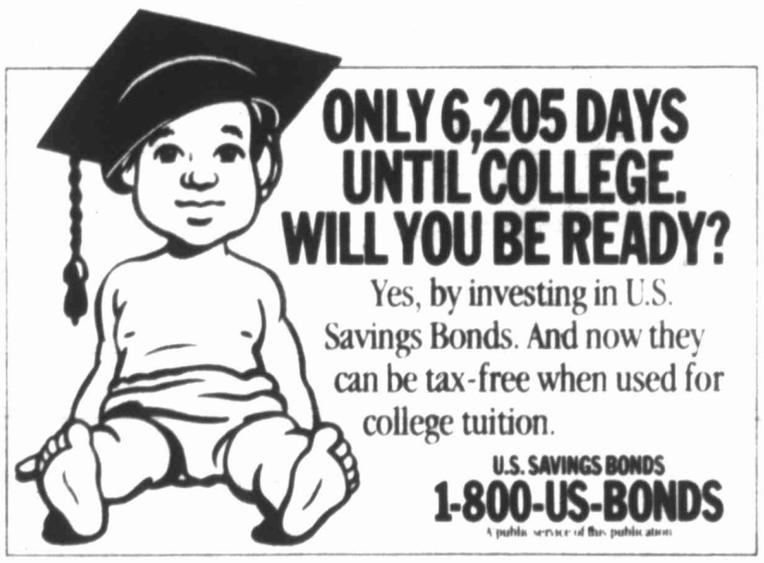

Soles lost a fumble on the next play from scrimmage. Two plays later, however, Rankin returned the favor, giving Garden City the ball at its own 15.

Not to be outdone in the charity departement, however, the Bearkats again lost the ball on the next play, and Rankin took over at the 'Kats 20.

Rankin was unable to gain a first and settled for a Kennedy 32-yard field goal try. The effort was blocked by Eric Seidenberger, but Varela scooped up the loose ball, went around right end, and scored from 22 yards out.

"We told them that we had to go get it," Seidenberger said. "We were only down 14 points with 12 minutes to go — and 14 points is nothing to this offense."

Garden City returns to action next Friday when the Bearkats play Wink. Game time is 8 p.m.

Rangers get past fiesty Buffalos

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ
Staff Writer

STANTON — The Stanton Buffalos played host to its neighbor from the south, the Greenwood Rangers in Friday night action as the visiting Rangers took a 20-7 win in Buffalo Stadium.

The Buffs received the football with 2:09 left in the second quarter, after the home team stopped the Rangers on a fourth down play. Robin Barnes and Allen Prough sacked Greenwood quarterback Irvin Welch to give the ball to Stanton its own 30-yard line.

Stanton took the lead first, as senior quarterback John Eric Wyckoff found wide receiver Kenny McCalister in the middle of the Ranger secondary and to score the first points of the contest. McCalister caught the bullet in the middle of two Greenwood defenders and outran everyone with 42 seconds left in the half.

Buffalo placekicker Chris Dahl added the extra point to give the upset-minded home team a 7-0 lead.

Wyckoff directed the scoring drive with fine running of his own to gain important yardage to keep the drive alive. Running back Jim Bob Kelly had a 13-yard run in the drive.

Wycoff found McCalister for an 18-yard gain and a first down first down in Ranger territory. Facing a third and 11 situation, Wyckoff and McCalister hooked-up to draw first blood.

This was Wyckoff's first game since a shoulder injury sidelined the senior quarterback for the first two ballgames. "My arm felt good tonight," said Wyckoff. "I was a little off target, or it felt like I was. But the pass to Kenny (McCalister) felt good.

In the third quarter, the Rangers scored on their first possession, driving 53 yards on six plays. The drive was capped off on a nine-yard scoring run by Irvin Welch. The extra point kick was blocked by Rick Posey and Sherman Bryand. Stanton led 7-6 with 9:23 left in the third quarter.

Stanton took the ensuing kickoff and began at their own 26-yard line. On the first play Wyckoff found his favorite receiver, McCalister, for another 34-yard gain.

Four plays later, facing a third-and-25 yards, he found the senior split end again for another big gainer. But the play fell short by two yards.

On fourth-and-two, Stanton elected to go for a first down, but came up short on a running play.

The Rangers took over at their own. 33-yard line. The Buffalo defense again stopped the Rangers on third down and forced a punt. With good field position, Wyckoff and company went to work from the visitors 47-yard line.

Facing a third down and seven the Buffs tried a pass, but the toss went incomplete. An unsportsmanlike conduct penalty, moved the Buffs from field goal position.

Stanton went for it on fourth down. The Rangers held another Stanton threat as the third quarter came to an end.

With 10:51 left the Rangers got good field position but good defensive efforts by Bryand and Shane Louder, forced the Rangers to kick again.

The Ranger punter placed his kick at the Buffs two-yard line with 8:48 left in the game. Two plays later the Rangers took the lead tackling Wyckoff behind the goal line.

On their next possession, Greenwood drove 43 yards for another score and taking a 14-7 lead.

Disaster struck the home team again as Wyckoff was intercepted by Welch at the Stanton 28-yard line, returning it to the the seven-yard line. Welch scored on a keeper to give the Rangers added insurance. Greenwood moves its record to 2-1 mark and Stanton falls to 0-3.

Stanton coach Bill Grissom said the kicking game was a main key in the game. "The turning point of the whole ballgame was when (punter) Rick Posey got flattened right on his back. The official called it running into the kicker," said Grissom. "That call made the whole difference in the ballgame. We never did recover and started getting in poor field position and it went their way. Other than that we played great. It was a great effort out of our players. We're getting there."

Colorado City

Final minutes add excitement to game

COLORADO CITY — Slaton Tiger quarterback Shaye Murphy (11) gets the ball away in time as a pack of Colorado City Wolves surround him during first half action Friday evening. Slaton defeated Colorado City, 28-21.

By Lorne Fancett
For the Herald

Colorado City — The Wolves of Colorado City lost to the Slaton Tigers in a game that was predicted to be a blowout and ended up a nail biter.

The Wolves received the opening kickoff and turned in a very impressive drive lasting seven plays and resulting in a six-yard touchdown run by fullback Coty Strain. With the kick by Frank Brisno sailing through the uprights, Colorado City had an early 7-0 lead.

Their enthusiasm continued on defense as they stopped the Tigers first drive just short of the end zone. An interception by David Castillo on a Shaye Murphy pass gave them the ball on their own 13.

Unfortunately for the Wolves, their spark died out, with the next three plays gaining zero yardage and a punt going 22 yards. That gave the Tigers good field position on the Wolves 37.

Slaton would not pass up this good opportunity, using eight plays to get the ball into the end zone. The Tigers' premier running-back Joe Williams capped off the drive with a two-yard run around end. A successful kick by Michael Bentancout tied the score at seven.

The Wolves offense was still stuck in neutral, only gaining one yard in three plays, then having to kick.

Slaton again started with good field position and seemed determined to make the best of it, gaining 30 yards in the next three plays. But the defense of Colorado City prevailed, as Mark Monroe intercepted a pass from Murphy on the Wolves seven-yard line. From deep within their own territory, Colorado City went to work.

Again the Wolves offense could go nowhere, with a minus-one loss in the first two plays. The third play started off strong with Strain taking the ball up the middle. But around the 19-yard line the defense closed in and forced him to give up the ball.

Slaton again was blessed with great field position and made the best of it, only using three plays to score. Again Joe Williams took the ball in, this time from four yards out. With Bentacourt's successful kick, the Tigers grabbed a 14-7 lead.

The offense of the Wolves, needing to gain some yardage, got off on the right foot with an eight yard gain from quarterback Kelly Ramsey on a keeper. The next two plays got Colorado City a first-down and they seemed to be headed in the right direction. But misfortune struck as the next play saw Bentacourt doing the job on both defense and offense, intercepting Ramsey's pass and giving Slaton field position on Colorado City's 37-yard line.

COLORADO CITY — Mark Monroe heads upfield with the ball during first half action against the Slaton Tigers Friday evening. Colorado City dropped to 0-2 after being defeated, 28-21.

The Tigers decided to take their own sweet time in putting the ball in the end zone, using nine plays and consuming a good portion of the clock in the process. The score came on Joe Williams scoring his third score of the evening on a 15-yard run. With the extra-point kick successful, Slaton carried a 21-7 lead into half-time.

At first glance, the third quarter seemed to be picking up right where the half-time left it, with Slaton's offense moving the ball down the field well on the opening drive. But the Wolves defense, along with a little help from a personal foul penalty against the Tigers, finally forced the first punt of the evening from Slaton.

C-City's offense still couldn't get it going, only gaining four yards on the first series of downs and then having to punt.

Almost the entire third-quarter went this way for both teams until, with :53 left on the clock, the Wolves' Coty Strain broke through the middle and carried the ball 29 yards into the end zone. Their luck continued as Briseno's kick bounced off the goal post and over for a successful point-after. This left the score 21-14 going into the fourth quarter.

More of the same type of action that took place in the third quarter continued until Slaton, again with good field position, brought it home with a 23-yard pass from Murphy to flanker Andrew Jones. A successful point-after kick left the Tigers with a commanding lead, 28-14, with 7:28 left in the game.

Colorado City, with time no longer a luxury and down by two touchdowns, proceded to put together a successful drive, capping it off with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Ramsey to Mark Monroe. Briseno's kick left the score 28-21 with 4:39 left.

The Wolves stepped up to the challenge presented to them by both the Tiger's offense and the clock, holding Slaton to negative yardage and putting good pressure on the punt, resulting in their offense taking over at the Tiger's 43 with 1:30 left in the game.

The offense proceded to put the ball in the air, bringing it all the way down to the six-yard line with :13 left. With a hush over the crowd and tension high, Ramsey took the ball from center and faded back to throw. He spotted his flanker, Monroe, in the corner and let the ball loose. The pass unfortunately did not have enough loft, ending up in the hands of the Tigers' Garland Wilkinson in the end zone. The next play saw Murphy kneel down and end the game.

After the game, Colorado City's head coach Tom Ramsey said, "We feel like we've arrived now. . .We felt like we had them on the ropes in the last part of the ball game. If we had had more than thirteen seconds, we were out of time-outs, so it had to be one of those things."

"I was very proud of the kids," continued Ramsey. "Unfortunately we turned the ball over too much tonight and we gave a good team excellent field position. In the end we paid for it."

Next week sees the Wolves traveling to Merkel for their first inter-conference game. Kick-off time is 8 p.m.

Defense wins for Wildcats

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

GAIL — Defense was the name of the game for the Wellman Wildcats in their 38-12 win over the Borden County Coyotes Friday night.

In bringing their record to 3-0, the Wildcats came two plays from a near-perfect defensive game. Borden County, which falls to 0-2, scored both of its second half touchdowns on big plays.

Offensively the Wildcats rode the one-two rushing punch of half back Wade Rowden and fullback Martin Franco. Rowden rushed for 163 yards on 25 carries and scored on runs of 30, 6, 6 and 34 yards. Franco carried 19 times for 71 yards.

Wellman was especially dominating in the first half, limiting Borden County to 28 total yards as the Wildcats took a 12-0 halftime lead. Borden County hampered its own cause by fumbling the ball 11 times, losing four of them.

The Borden County defense, led by cornerback John Paul Harris, played well. Harris intercepted two passes in the game.

Wellman's first half scores came from short range.

The first score in the opening quarter followed a 23-yard Borden County punt. On the ensuing play Rowden went around the end for a 30-yard scoring run, giving Wellman a 6-0 lead.

Wellman's next scoring drive came following a blocked punt by Kurtis LaBadie. The Wildcats had to drive 14 yards for the score. On a fourth down play, Rowden scored from the six.

In the third quarter Wellman took advantage of its kicking game again. Borden County punter Clay Miller's punt went 14 yards. The Wildcats answered by driving 38 yards in seven plays for the score. Again Rowden scored from the six. Franco ran in the extra point, giving the Wildcats a 19-0 lead.

The Coyotes finally got on the scoreboard late in the third quarter. Harris proved he was just as lethal on offense as he was on defense when he raced 62 yards for a score. The speedy Harris broke at least three tackles on his way to the score.

Wellman scored again early in the fourth quarter, going 46 yards in three plays. Rowden finished off the drive with a 34-yard run. LaBadie ran in the extra point.

Borden County squandered a scoring threat after that. Harris' 32-yard run gave the Coyotes a first-and-goal at the Wellmasn seven. The Coyotes went backwards and fumbled the ball at the 17.

Wellman added two more touchdowns sandwiched in between a Borden County touchdown. The next-to-last Wellman score came on a 24-yard scoring pass from James Harlin to Jayson Lusk.

Borden County answered with a 41-yard scoring pass from Clint Wills to Kirk Jones.

Wellman finished out the scoring when freshman John Cornelius scored from 21 yards out. The TD was set up by a 50-yard kickoff return by Lusk, and a late hit penalty on Borden County.

Harris was Borden County's only bright offensive spot, rushing for 118 yards on eight carries.

Borden County coach Bobby Avery credited Wellman's defense. "They've got a real good defense. They scored 38 points on us but we played pretty good defense," said Avery. "In the first half we gave them four good possessions and they scored on two of them.

"The fumbles have been bothering us all year. We're using three different quarterbacks and that has a lot to do with it, plus it was just wet. We've got a lot of juniors, we're still about a year away."

Borden County will be on the road against Loop Friday.

At halftime, Amanda Anderson was crowned homecoming queen. Melody Harrison was named band Sweetheart and Kaela Van Vleet was named Football Sweetheart. Pep Squad Beau was Harris.

Neither team scored until the second quarter.

With 8:03 left before half-time, New Home's Jessie Rodriquez made the first touchdown on a two-yard run.

Klondike then scored with 7:54 left on the clock with a 45 yard pass thrown to David Rawlings by Brandon Oakes. The point after kick failed.

The next touchdown was scored by Rodriquez with a 20-yard run, making the halftime score New Home 12-Klondike 6.

The first touchdown in the third quarter was scored for New Home by Troy Fillingam with an eight yard run. Conversion play by Larry Zant was good.

In the fourth quarter, with 1:50 left in the game, New Home's Jeff Armes completed a 23-yard pass to Blane Fillingam. The point after kick failed.

With 27 seconds left, Klondike scored on a 14-yard run by Brandon Oakes. The point after kick was good, making the final score New Home 25-Klondike 14.

Jessie Rodriquez led in yards rushing for the New Home Leopards with 117 yards on 25 carries.

In the first quarter, Coahoma's Steven New ran for a 40-yard touchdown with 5:27 left on the clock. The point after kick failed.

With 3:24 in the second quarter, Coahoma scored again with a 19-yard pass thrown to Matt Cotes by Brent Elmore. Elmore then completed the pass to Kenny Lowrie for the two point conversion.

New then ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Shannon Smithie kicked the extra point.

With 10 seconds before half-time, Smithie kicked a 20-yard field goal, making the score 24-0.

In the third quarter with 7:57 left on the clock, Mike Mendez ran five yards to score. Coahoma attempted a two point conversion play, which failed.

Also in the third quarter, Elmore completed a 4-yard pass to Matt Cotes, with Smithie making the point after kick.

In the fourth quarter, with 11:50 left on the clock, Coahoma fumbled on Tahoka's 20-yard line, giving Tahoka their only scoring drive. Tahoka's Heath Brener completed a 11-yard pass to Mike Burleson for the touchdown. The point after attempt failed.

Coahoma scored again with a 22-yard run by Gregg Atkinson. Smithie made the point after kick.

Steve New led Coahoma with 90 yards rushing, and Mike Burleson led Tahoka with 65 yards.

Coahoma will attempt to hold on to their no loss record at their first district game at Iraan next Friday.

The Forsan Buffaloes hosted the Roscoe Plowboys in non-district play Friday night, with the guests carrying home a 14-6 victory.

Just under eight minutes remained in the second quarter when the Ployboys' Buster Frierson scrambled in on a 2-yard run for the first score of the game. Manuel Sanchez kicked the PAT, and the score was 7-0.

With 17 seconds remaining in the half, Clark Fields of the Forsan Buffaloes connected with Ryan Hamby on a 7-yard pass to make the only Forsan score of the game. The extra point attempt was no good, and the score at halftime was 7-6.

The last score of the game came with 57 seconds remaining in the third period when Buster Frierson's 26-yard pass found Manuel Sanchez in the end zone. Sanchez then kicked the point after, and the final score was 14-6.

Outstanding players of the game were Buster Frierson of the Plowboys, who stacked up 66 yards rushing, and the Buffaloes' Clark Fields, who completed 13 of 24 passes for a total of 135 yards.

The Buffaloes will travel to Ozona next week to take on the Ozona Lions.

MIDLAND — The Andrews Mustangs visited the Midland High School Bulldogs Friday night in non- district play, where the Mustangs thoroughly trounced the Bulldogs 31-3.

One and a half minutes into the game, Brad Heidelberg of the Midland High Bulldogs kicked a 24-yard field goal. This would be Midland's only score of the game and the only time they would lead the Mustangs in points.

The Andrews Mustangs scored for the first time with 3:18 remaining in the first quarter. Following a 78-yard drive, Al Gonzales carried the ball the last two yards for the TD. Eric Langehennig kicked the point after, and the score was 7-3.

Second-quarter scoring held off until the final 57 seconds, at which point Heath McBeth of the Mustangs captured a misguided Bulldog pass and ran in in from 22 yards out. Langehennig kicked the PAT again, and the score at the end of the first half was 14-3, Andrews.

With 8:08 to go in the third quarter, Gonzales scored on a quarterback sneak from the one-yard line. The kick failed, and the score was 20-3.

The next Andrews TD was on a 4-yard run by Xavy Emiliano. The conversion pass from Gonzales to Jay Harper was successful, adding another two points to the Mustangs' total. At the end of the third, Andrews was ahead 28-3.

The only score in the fourth quarter was a field goal kicked by Langehennig, ending the game at 31-3.

Next week, the Andrews Mustangs will tangle with the Levelland Lobos in Levelland.

The Frenship Tigers traveled to Monahans Friday night, where they were soundly trounced by the Loboes 26-9.

The first score came with 8:38 remaining in the first quarter on a 1-yard run by Paul Fletcher. The TD capped a 68-yard, 8-play drive and netted the Loboes six points.

Frenship's scoring commenced later in the first quarter on a 30-yard field goal, edging closer to the Loboes with a score of 6-3.

In the second quarter, Jason Bounds added six more points to the Loboes' tally on a 2-yard run with 11:57 remaining in the quarter. On a pass from Rusty McDonald to Sal Sanchez, the Loboes were able to add two more points on the conversion play, upping their lead to 14-3.

With 3:40 to go in the third quarter, Jason Bounds plowed into the end zone for another Lobo score. The PAT attempt failed, and the score stood at 20-3.

Only 30 seconds remained in the third period when Frenship's Trenton Taylor dove in on a 1-yard run to give the Tigers their only TD of the game, taking the score to 20-9.

The last score came with 9:41 remaining in the game on a 1-yard run by Jason Bounds. The conversion attempt failed, and the final score was 26-9.

Bounds was the outstanding player of the game, with 26 carries and a total of 192 yards.

The Loboes will play at home next week against the Dumas Demons.

The Sweetwater Mustangs hosted the Stephenville Yellow Jackets Friday night in Sweetwater and sent the visitors home with a 35-6 loss.

Jimmy Norman made the first score for the Mustangs, with 10:59 remaining in the half, on a quarterback sack in the end zone, giving the Mustangs 2 points.

Just 35 seconds later, Chris Hines scored for Sweetwater on a 14-yard run. The kick was no good, and the score was 8-0.

Brian Mitchell kicked in a 33-yard field goal for Sweetwater with only 56 seconds remaining in the half. Then as time ran out on the clock, he kicked yet another field goal — this one for 39 yards — giving Sweetwater a 14-0 lead at the half.

In the third quarter, James Moore scored on a pass from David Ritchey with 8:35 to go in the quarter. Mitchell's kick was good again, and the Mustangs led 20-0.

Chris Hines made his second TD of the night on a 5-yard run with 1:08 to go in the third quarter. Mitchell's aim held true, and the Mustangs led the Yellow Jackets 27-zip.

The Yellow Jackets were finally able to get on the scoreboard with 9:52 remaining in the game on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Chris Harkey to J. Matt White. The conversion attempt failed, so the Yellow Jackets had to be content with six points.

The Mustangs were at it again with 5:34 remaining in the game when Pete Ortega scored on a 19-yard run. Mitchell's last kick of the night boosted the score to 35-6.

Outstanding rushers for the Mustangs were Chris Hines with 23 carries for 132 yards and 2 TDs, and Pete Ortega with 13 carries for 120 yards and 1 TD. Stephenville's leading rusher was Mark Blackburn with 4 carries and a total of 28 yards.

Leading the passing game for Sweetwater was David Ritchey with 4 completions on 8 attempts for a total of 17 yards and 1 TD. The leader in passing for the Stephenville Yellow Jackets was Chris Harkey with 31 attempts, 12 completions and 1 TD.

In receptions, James Moore of the Mustangs led with 2 receptions for 10 yards and 1 TD. The Yellow Jacket's top receiver was State Lewellen with 5 receptions for a total of 92 yards.

The Mustangs will play Borger High School in Borger next week.

SAN ANGELO — The Clyde Bulldogs ran their record to 2-1 as they manhandled the San Angelo Lake View Chiefs here Friday night.

The Bulldogs scored three first quarter touchdowns and never looked back. On its first possession Clyde scored on a 27-yard run by Chris Chorn. This was followed by a 16-yard run by Richard Drew and a 63-yard punt return by Drew.

Lake View scored early in the second quarter on a one-yard run by James Jackson.

Clyde followed with an 89-yard kickoff return by Drew. The Bulldogs closed out the scoring in the half on a one-yard plunge by Jon Hutton.

The Bulldogs made the score 41-7 in the third quarter when Jeff Roberts scored from 10-yards out. The final score of the game came late in the fourth quartr when James Cauthen scored from four yards out.

A Chicago fairy tale

CHICAGO (AP) — This a short story about the Seven Little Sox Smurfs.

They play among giants like Frank Thomas in a land called Comiskey Park, and their nickname comes from the tiny, blue-skinned cartoon creatures on Saturday morning TV.

The long and short of it is that the White Sox, challenging for the AL West flag for the second straight year, have seven players 5-foot-10 or shorter, four of them 5-7 or 5-8.

Left fielder Tim Raines gave the group the nickname Smurfs during spring training when he joined the club in a trade from the Montreal Expos.

"I saw a lot of guys shorter than me, and I said, "Gee, we got a lot of Smurfs on this team,"' said Raines, just 5-8 himself.

"I watched the show with my kids. I thought it was appropriate for the guys 5-10 and under to be called Smurfs," said Raines, who watched with his sons, ages 8 and 12.

The other Sox Smurfs are Joey Cora, Craig Grebeck, Warren Newson, Ozzie Guillen, Lance Johnson and Scott Fletcher.

They have to look up to teammates like Thomas, 6-foot-5 and 10 inches taller than Grebeck and Cora.

Raines may be small, but his baseball numbers are big.

His lifetime batting average is over .300. With the Expos, he led NL in hitting in 1986 and was the league's top base stealer four times.

But Raines complains that big guys like Oakland's 6-4 Jose Canseco and 6-5 Mark McGwire get most of the attention.

STANTON — It was your typical opening-day game — on a slightly smaller scale.

Under overcast skies that threatened to turn the already muddy field into a quagmire, defense dominated as the two teams struggled to get any kind of offensive attack going.

Suddenly, the Vikings' quarterback took the snap, dashed around left end and ran untouched 70 yards for the touchdown.

The first score of the 1991 Stanton Pee Wee football season was in the books.

No one will ever confuse the quality of Pee Wee football with that of its high school or college counterparts, but the intensity and atmosphere rivals almost any Friday night locale.

Coaches nervously pace the sidelines, shouting instructions and words of encouragement to the players. Behind them, cheerleaders root for their teams. In the stands, parents and friends cheer the players' efforts.

And, of course, the concession stand does a booming business.

For the record, the Vikings defeated the Patriots, 14-0, in the first game of the 1991 Stanton Pee Wee season, but the final score was not as important as giving the collected group of pre-teens their first taste of competitive football, officials said.

The Stanton program, sponsored by the local Noon Lions Club, is now in its 21st year and boasts four teams, 60 players, 50 cheerleaders and at least 16 coaches.

Youngsters in grades 4-6 can participate in the league for a $20 fee, which covers the uniform jersey. The league applies remaining funds toward equipment costs. That fee, League Commissioner Randy Moore says, is a bargain.

"Football helmets, even the cheap kind, cost around $50 . . . and shoulder pads cost about $35," Moore said. "We could spend $100 easily caring for one of these boys.

"It's not play equipment either," he added. "It's as good as equipment you'd find at junior highs."

drafted onto the various teams on a rotating basis: sixth-graders are divided evenly among the teams, and so on. After the draft is complete, coaches draw numbers to see which team they will lead, Moore said.

The draft is not limited to players. "Anyone wishing to cheerlead can," Moore said. "We draft them the same as we do players."

The coaches are volunteers, but know the game, he added.

"The coaches we have are good teachers," Moore said. "Most of the guys here have played. . . . They're all out here to win, but they're good at teaching football to the kids."

The Patriots' head coach, Luis Gonzales of Stanton, is in his first year with the program.

"I coached Little League baseball (in the summer) and a bunch of those kids wanted me to coach football," he said. "Of course, I enjoy working with these kids."

Gonzales said he has enjoyed the job so far, but it has not been without its problems.

"I only had nine players for the longest time," he said. "We didn't even have a full practice until (three days before the first game)."

Coaching a bunch of beginning football players means keeping things simple, he added.

"We just teach them basic fundamentals," Gonzales said. "We've got a bunch of fourth-graders who've never played the game . . . but we'll be a different team next week.

"You really can't expect much from these kids right now," he added. "But I'm proud of them. They didn't quit — they gave 100 percent."

The games are played under regular high school rules with two exceptions: players weighing more than 105 pounds are not allowed to carry the ball; and quarters are limited to six minutes apiece.

"Everybody gets to play at least one half," Moore said. "The only reason kids don't get to play is if they don't attend practices and they don't have an excuse."

Marcellino Chavez, a certified referee, is the head official for all games. Various league coaches serve as assistant officials.

Moore said that coaches are not required to receive any sort of training to treat injuries. Emergency medical technicians are present at games to handle such occurances.

"We've been real fortunate; we've never had any serious injuries," he said. "About the worst thing that ever happened was one kid who broke his fingers doing calesthinics."

Puckett leads Twins past Rangers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Kirby Puckett, the Minnesota Twins' most valuable player the last half-dozen years, hasn't felt very valuable lately.

Nevertheless, he showed why he is still one of baseball's most dangerous hitters Friday night, when his two-run, two-out single off Rich Gossage snapped an eighth-inning tie and lifted Minnesota to a 6-4 victory over the Texas Rangers.

"I'm used to doing something to help this club and I felt I haven't been doing it. I'm supposed to get them when they count. That's what I'm paid to do," Puckett said. "When you're hot, there's no battle. It doesn't matter what the pitcher does. But everyday has been a battle for me lately. You just hope what you do is good enough."

Although Puckett is batting .179 in his last 10 games and had been 2-for-14 in bases-loaded situations this season, his teammates were confident he would come through Friday.

Despite his recent struggles, Puckett is batting .322 with 84 RBIs this season for the AL West-leading Twins, who won for just the third time in their last nine games to stay six games ahead of Chicago.

Third-place Texas fell 10 games back.

Asked if the Rangers needed to sweep this three-game series to have any realistic chance, manager Bobby Valentine said: "I don't tell the future. I try to win them all. We'll come out tomorrow and try to win again."

Shane Mack opened the eighth with a single off Wayne Rosenthal (1-3), the fourth of six Texas pitchers. Mike Pagliarulo bunted, but Mack beat catcher Ivan Rodriguez's throw to second. After pinch-hitter Paul Sorrento struck out, Rosenthal walked pinch-hitter Randy Bush on four pitches.

Gossage relieved and got Chuck Knoblauch to pop out before Puckett lined an 0-1 pitch to right.

Rick Aguilera pitched a perfect ninth to join Jeff Reardon as the only members of Minnesota's 40-save club.

Dean Palmer's two-run homer off Carl Willis made it 4-4 in the seventh. It was Palmer's 12th home run of the season, second of the game and fourth in two days. He has only one hit in his other 43 September at-bats.

The Twins scored in the first on singles by Knoblauch, Kent Hrbek and Chili Davis. Knoblauch extended his hitting streak to 16 games. Davis leads Minnesota with 90 RBIs but has only 10 in his last 32 games.

Palmer's first homer made it 1-1 in the fourth. Texas took the lead and chased Twins starter Denny Neagle in the fifth, when Brian Downing walked, went to third on Julio Franco's double and scored on Ruben Sierra's sacrifice fly. Franco went 3-for-5, raising his league-leading average to .341. Sierra has 106 RBIs.

Thanks to some shoddy Rangers defense, Minnesota went up 4-2 in the sixth.

Oil Can Boyd allowed Hrbek's leadoff single and walked Davis. Brian Harper singled and, after left fielder Juan Gonzalez booted the ball for an error, Davis went to third — even though Hrbek was still there.

Hrbek raced toward home and third baseman Palmer held the ball too long before throwing wide of the plate. It appeared Rodriguez still had time, but his tag was high and umpire Rich Garcia called Hrbek safe. Mack doubled in Davis, and Harper scored on Terry Mathews' wild pitch.

"Our guys got caught up in some young mistakes," Valentine said. "To think (Rodriguez) knows what to do on every play is too much to expect. He's only 19. Can you remember what you were like at 19?"

Red Sox 2, Yankees 0

BOSTON (AP) — Roger Clemens shut down New York on three hits for his 29th career shutout and the surging Boston Red Sox beat the Yankees 2-0 Friday night to stay close in the AL East race.

Clemens won his fifth straight decision, and gave Boston its 13th victory in 16 games. Jody Reed homered and hit an RBI double as the Red Sox pulled within two games of division-leading Toronto, which played later in Oakland.

Clemens (17-8) struck out seven and walked two in his fourth shutout of the year. He kept alive his hopes for a fourth 20-victory season in six seasons with his 11th complete game in 32 starts.

Scott Sanderson (15-10) lost to Boston for the first time in seven career outings. He was 5-0, including three victories this year, with a 1.76 ERA against the Red Sox.

Sanderson gave up six hits, walked none and struck out two in seven innings.

The Red Sox went ahead 1-0 in the third. With two outs, Luis Rivera beat out a slow grounder to the right of the mound for a single and scored when Reed lined his 40th double of the season to right-center.

Brewers 8, Tigers 5

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Spiers hit two homers, one a grand slam, as the Milwaukee Brewers beat Detroit 8-5 Friday night and kept the Tigers from making up ground in the AL East title chase.

Detroit started the game in third place in the East, six games behind Toronto.

It was Spiers' first two-homer game and his second career grand slam. His five RBIs also represented a career high.

Dan Plesac (2-7) won his first game since Aug. 10, allowing two runs in five innings, and three Brewers relivers held off the Tigers at the end. Doug Henry pitched the ninth for his ninth save.

Mark Leiter (8-5) lost his third straight decision after a six-game winning streak. Leiter, the first of six Tigers pitchers, gave up four runs on seven hits and three walks in 4 1-3 innings.

Milwaukee broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth. Singles by Paul Molitor, Willie Randolph and B.J. Surhoff loaded the bases with none out, and Robin Yount drove in the go-ahead run with a sacrifice fly.

Greg Vaughn lined a single to left and Willie Randolph slid around Andy Allanson's tag to score the Brewers' fourth run.

Jerry Don Gleaton relieved Leiter and induced Darryl Hamilton to line into a double play to end the rally.

Travis Fryman cut the margin to one run in the sixth inning with his 20th homer.

Cone throws one-hitter at Cardinals

NEW YORK (AP) — David Cone, bidding for the first no-hitter in New York Mets history, wound up with a one-hitter — allowing an eighth-inning double by Felix Jose — in a 1-0 victory Friday night over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Cone (13-13) struck out 11 and walked only one in his first shutout of the season. Jose spoiled Cone's bid when he led off the eighth with a clean drive to left-center field that bounced over the fence.

The Mets, who played their 4,782nd game in their 30th season, and the San Diego Padres are the only teams in the majors that have not pitched no-hitters. Cone's effort came 22 years to the day that Pittsburgh's Bob Moose pitched a no-hitter against the Mets at Shea Stadium.

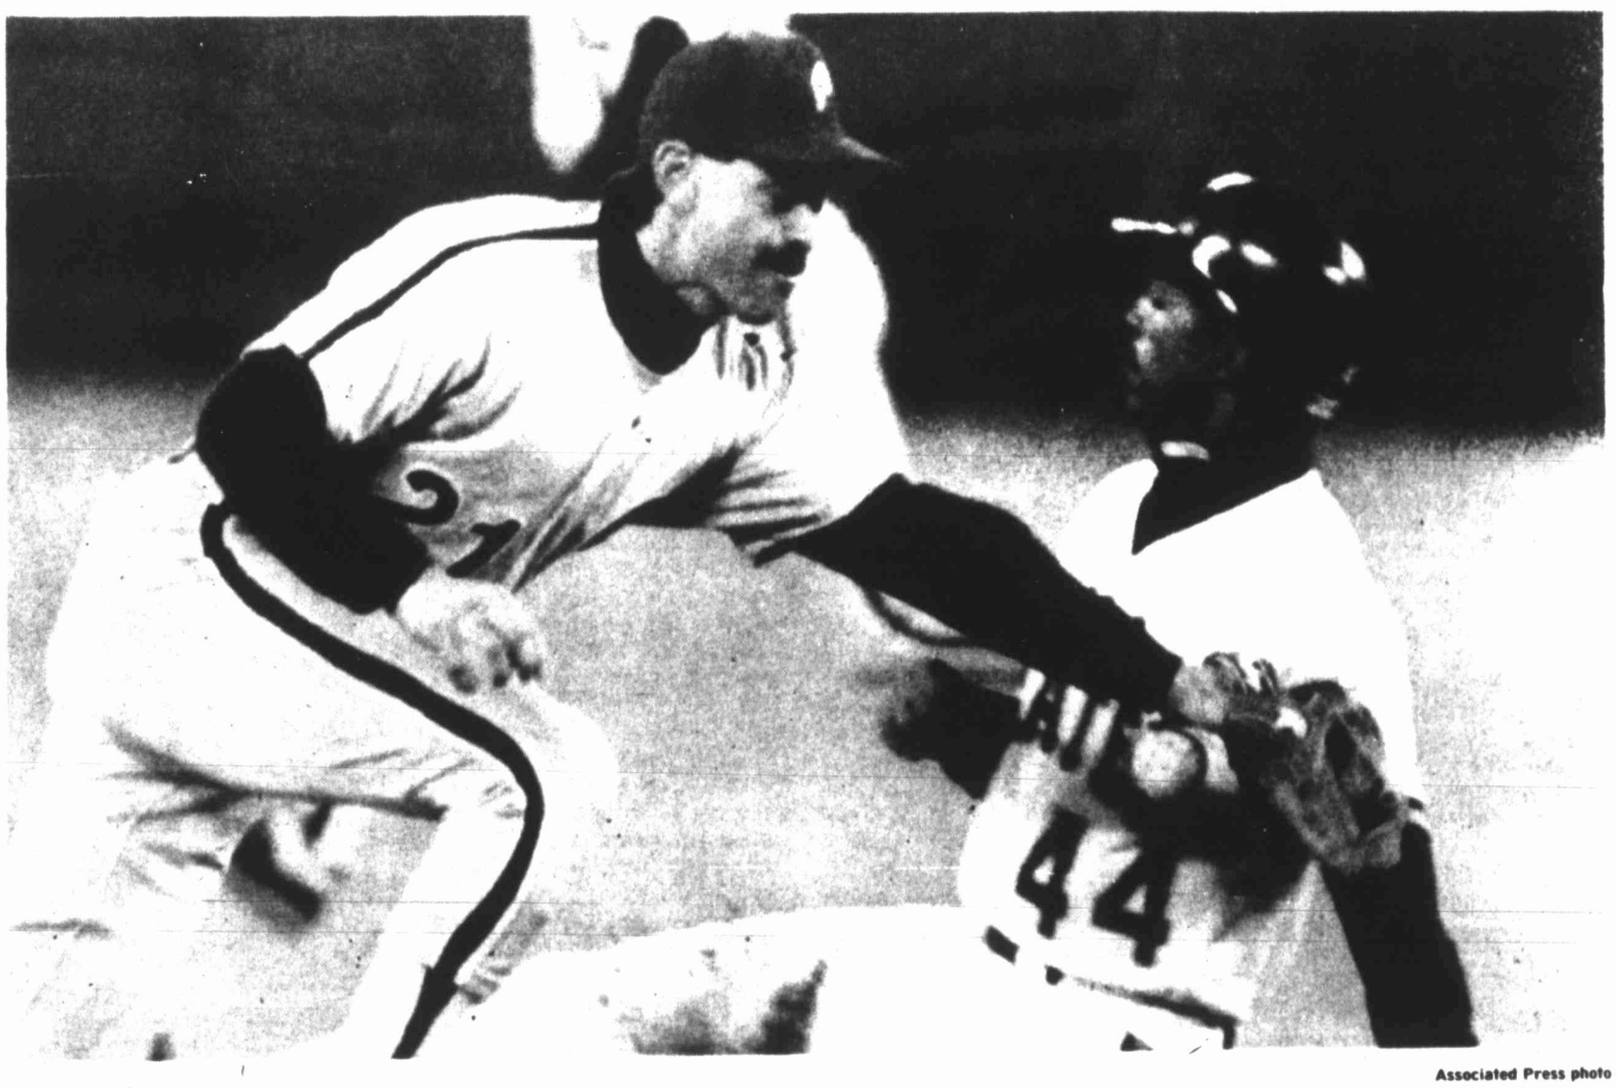

Cone's second career one-hitter was the 20th one-hitter in team history, and third this season. In his last start Sept. 14, Cone combined with Jeff Innis on a one-hitter. Cone's complete-game one-hitter was Aug. 29, 1988, against San Diego.

Cone retired the first 14 batters before walking Milt Thompson on a 3-2 pitch in the fifth. He set down the next seven batters before Jose's one-hop double. Cone struck out two in the ninth inning, raising his league-leading total to 209.

Rheal Cormier (3-4) gave up six hits, and the only run he allowed was unearned. He struck out three and walked two.

In the sixth, Kevin Elster walked and took second on balk when Cormier accidentally dropped the ball while on the rubber. A two-out error by shortstop Ozzie Smith moved Elster to third, and he scored when Mark Carreon hit a line drive that fell out of third baseman Todd Zeile's glove for a single.

PITTSBURGH — Philadelphia Phillies shortstop Dickie Thon can't find the handle on a throw by catcher Darrin Fletcher as Pittsburgh Pirates Cecil Espy steals second base in first inning action Friday night at Three Rivers Stadium.

Phillies 8, Pirates 3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charlie Hayes had four of Philadelphia's 15 hits and the Phillies took advantage of two errors to beat Pittsburgh 8-3 Friday night, preventing the Pirates from further reducing their magic number for clinching the NL East.

The Pirates' number was cut to three earlier in the evening when second-place St. Louis lost to New York 1-0. Hayes matched his career-high for hits as the Phillies won their fourth consecutive games.

Tommy Greene (12-7) beat Pittsburgh for the second time in six days. He gave up five hits, struck out three and walked three in winning his third straight start.

The Phillies scored four times in the third against Randy Tomlin (8-7) without hitting the ball out of the infield. First baseman Orlando Merced and shortstop Jay Bell made errors, and the Phillies added three scratch singles and a walk.

Wes Chamberlain hit an RBI triple and scored on John Kruk's single in the fourth for a 6-0 lead.

Astros 3, Reds 2

HOUSTON (AP) — The World Series champion Cincinnati Reds were officially eliminated from the NL West race Friday night with a 3-2 loss to the Houston Astros.

Jose Rijo, the MVP in Cincinnati's victory over Oakland last October, was the loser. Not since the New York Yankees won in 1977-78 has a World Series winner been able to repeat.

The Reds, who were in first place every day last season, were in first this year as late as May 5. But a 10-game losing streak around the All-Star break sent them sliding, and they never recovered.

Rijo (14-5) had won six straight decisions. Rookie Ryan Bowen (5-4) gave up two runs in six innings, and Xavier Hernandez pitched one inning for his second save.

Rijo allowed three runs on six hits in six innings. It was his first loss in seven starts, and only his third loss in his last 16 decisions.

Bowen retired 17 of the first 19 batters he faced. He didn't allow a runner as far as second until Mariano Duncan reached on an error in the sixth.

Houston took a 1-0 lead in the third when Bowen singled with two outs, Kenny Lofton walked and Steve Finley hit an RBI single.

The Astros made it 2-0 in the fourth. Jeff Bagwell was hit by a pitch and scored on singles by Luis Gonzalez and Ken Caminiti.

Bagwell singled in the sixth, advanced on a single by Gonzalez and scored on center fielder Billy Hatcher's error for a 3-0 lead.

Padres 10, Giants 5

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Fred McGriff homered twice, drove in five runs and reached the 100 RBI-mark for the first time in his career, leading the San Diego Padres past the San Francisco Giants 10-5 Friday night.

McGriff, whose previous best was 92 RBIs with Toronto in 1989, went 3-for-4. He hit a three-run homer in the first inning and hit a two-run shot, his 29th, in the fifth.

Darrin Jackson hit his 19th homer and drove in three runs and Tony Fernandez got three hits and scored three times as the Padres ended San Francisco's five-game winning streak.

Braves 3, Dodgers 0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Steve Avery, who has never lost to Los Angeles in six career starts, pitched a six-hitter that led Atlanta to 3-0 victory that put the Braves back on top in the NL West by one-half game.

Ron Gant delivered the only big blow in the opener of the three-game series, breaking a scoreless tie in the sixth inning with a two-run homer off Tim Belcher (9-9).

Gant's drive to left-center field enabled him to reach the 30-homer, 30-stolen base level for the second straight year. He joined Willie Mays and Bobby Bonds as members of the 30-30 club in consecutive seasons.

Avery (17-8) looked sharp all the way, especially against Darryl Strawberry, Eddie Murray and Kal Daniels, the main reasons for Los Angeles' September surge. The big three had combined for 12 homers and 55 RBIs this month, but couldn't solve Avery, and neither could anyone else.

U.S. one victory away from winning semifinals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Andre Agassi and Jim Courier, schooled in the same art of flying baseline blasts and karate-style tennis, ganged up on Germany in the Davis Cup semifinals Friday night.

Agassi and Courier leaped off the red clay as if they were bouncing on a mat as they beat Wimbledon champion Michael Stich and Carl-Ewe Steeb to put the defending champion United States within one victory of the final.

Agassi and Courier, teen-age rivals not long ago in the same tennis academy and opponents this year in the French Open final, cheered each other on as they gave teammates Scott Davis and David Pate the chance to wrap up the series in doubles Saturday.

Courier, who beat Agassi on a similar red clay court in Paris in June, had the tougher match of the two in the Kemper Arena but came through with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Steeb, a clay-loving late replacement for injured Boris Becker.

Steeb played better than Becker might have in the first set, surprising Courier with a show of power and accuracy that had the American scurrying from side to side chasing balls.

"If he kept playing like that, I knew it would be a long day," Courier said. "But I didn't think he could keep up that pace. It was a matter of getting used to the clay. Once I got aggressive, I wasn't slipping as much. I got control of the points, and didn't have to run as much."

In the second set, Courier hit a stunningly hard forehand into the corner that gave him a 4-0 lead and briefly silenced the annoying rattlers German fans had been twirling. Steeb, unable to touch the ball, simply stared in amazement at the mark in the clay.

The American fans in the crowd of 11,259 roared and waved little flags, and Courier's victory after that was never in doubt. Though he blew one opportunity to end the match when he was broken in the ninth game of the fourth set, he didn't waste another as he broke back immediately, closing it out with another powerful forehand crosscourt.

Agassi played so much in his own world in that he almost served to an empty court while an overwhelmed Stich changed rackets.

"Wait, please," the umpire said, surprising Agassi, who hadn't noticed that Stich had gone to the sideline for a moment during the third set and was picking a new racket from his bag.

Agassi could hardly wait for this match to begin and end, to rid himself of the frustration that had been festering since his first-round loss at the U.S. Open a few weeks ago.

He wasted little time against Stich, taking apart the Wimbledon champion 6-3, 6-1, 6-4 in 101 minutes of power tennis from the baseline to give the United States a 1-0 lead in the best-of-5 weekend series.

Agassi played boldly and accurately against Stich, a tall, lanky serve-and-volleyer who looked awkward sliding on the court. Far from the distracted and erratic Agassi who showed up "mentally and emotionally fatigued" at the U.S. Open, Agassi could not have played more solidly.

"I've been working so hard since the U.S. Open," Agassi said. "I've been so focused. It hurt me real bad to go out that early. I used that to get strong. I've never been so focused."

Over and over, Agassi used that word, focused, and his concentration was never more obvious than when he almost served into an empty court during the sixth game of the third set. Neither the amusing caution by chair umpire John Bryson, nor Bryson's several ventures onto the court to inspect ball marks on disputed calls disrupted Agassi's attention.

Agassi showed that some riveting, consuming drive two games later when he battled back from three break points to put himself in position to win.

Agassi faced his only crisis of the match in that game, falling behind 0-40 on his serve with Stich leading 4-3. But Agassi bore down and won five straight points, one of them on his third ace and the last on a backhand pass that even Stich applauded with his racket.

"I don't think there's one point where I didn't have a purpose," Agassi said of those five comeback points.

Said Stich of those five points by Agassi: "That's the story of the match."

Stich then succumbed to Agassi's relentless pressure in the next game as Agassi fought off four game points and broke Stich after the fifth deuce with a backhand pass down the line that Stich could only feebly volley into the net.

Agassi closed out the match on his serve, ending it with a booming forehand topspin volley approach from midcourt that Stich couldn't touch. Agassi dropped to his knees, got up to shake hands with Stich, then whooped round and round on the court as the crowd roared and waved American flags.

"I didn't win this because of luck," Agassi said, recalling his last two weeks of work and his conversations with John McEnroe. "I started to accept responsibility when it comes to my game. I had to focus on making things happen, instead of hoping things happen. I put my mind in a totally different direction, and started taking steps to better myself as a player. I'm playing the best I've ever played right now."

"He made maybe 10 unforced errors," Stich said. "I had no chance to win. He was going for every ball he had and it was tough for me to start my kind of game. He put pressure on me the whole time."

Agassi actually committed 15 unforced errors, but Stich couldn't be blamed for thinking there were fewer than that. Stich made 40 unforced errors and won only 68 of the total 161 points in the match.

The winner here will play in late November against the winner of the France-Yugoslavia series, which France leads 2-0.

KANSAS CITY — Andre Agassi of the United States returns a shot by Germany's Michael Stich during their match at the Davis Cup semifinals in Kansas City Friday. Agassi won in straight sets 6-3, 6-1, 6-4.

Pistons' general manager resigns from selection committee

DETROIT (AP) — Angry that Isiah Thomas may not make the 1992 Olympic basketball, Detroit Pistons' general manager Jack McCloskey resigned from the Olympic basketball selection committee, a newspaper reported.

"The committee has said to me that Isiah must prove himself again next year while others can have a horrible year, but they are still members of our Olympic team," McCloskey said in the letter to the committee dated Sept. 11, The Detroit News reported Friday.

"This is ridiculous, because we are penalizing perhaps the greatest small man ever to play the game. I have no animosity towards the committee. I merely disagree with their judgment and fairness."

A woman who answered the telephone but declined to give her name at USA Basketball offices in Colorado Springs, Colo., said committee president Dave Gavitt, executive director William Wall and other officials were unavailable for comment.

McCloskey was out of town and also unavailable for comment Friday, said Pistons spokesman Matt Dobek, who would neither confirm nor deny McCloskey's resignation.

"Obviously he's not happy about the way things have been going, but there's still a possibility that Isiah could make the team," Dobek said.

Next year's Olympic basketball team will be the first to include NBA players. A joint NBA-USA Basketball news conference is scheduled for 5 p.m. today, when seven to 10 NBA players are expected to be named to the 12-member Olympic team.

While at Indiana, Thomas was a member of the 1980 Olympic team that didn't compete in Moscow because of a U.S. boycott over the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Pistons coach Chuck Daly will coach the Olympic team in Barcelona, Spain, next summer. The Pistons captain said he would play if he were invited, but he would not feel snubbed if he were not chosen.

Magic Johnson, Michael Jordan, Larry Bird, Dominique Wilkins, Patrick Ewing, David Robinson, John Stockton, Chris Mullin, Karl Malone and Charles Barkley reportedly have been sent invitations.

C.M. Newton, chairman of the USA Basketball selection committee, said only players who have accepted invitations will be announced today.

If fewer than 10 NBA players accept by today the roster probably will be filled in April with more pros or college players.

If Thomas is ignored today and all 10 NBA spots are filled, he could be selected in April if the committee allows an 11th NBA player.

"I want to play if invited, and if I am named, then fine," Thomas told the News. "If not, then that's OK too."

But, he added, "I think I deserve to be on the team."

Dravecky thanks to San Diego fans

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dave Dravecky was back in one of his old ballparks, soaking up the memories of San Diego's only National League pennant-winning season and saying thanks to the fans who supported him in his fight against cancer.

The fans said thanks, too.

Toward the end of his pre-game speech Friday night, Dravecky said, "I don't know what I can say because there's so much swelling up in my heart right now."

As he paused, a fan yelled, "Thank you, Dave!"

Dravecky's visit to Jack Murphy Stadium for a matchup between his old teams, the Padres and the San Francisco Giants, was his first to a major-league ballpark since having his left arm and shoulder amputated June 18.

"Dave Dravecky Thanks You Night" coincided with the seventh anniversary of San Diego's clinching the 1984 NL West title.

Dravecky earned the save that day as the Padres beat the Giants 5-4. That night, the Los Angeles Dodgers eliminated the Houston Astros, giving the Padres the NL West title.

"There are so many fond memories when I think about this date and what took place seven years ago," Dravecky told the crowd of 12,409. "I remember standing on the mound when the play was made for the last out. We were in a position for the first time to represent the National League West in the playoffs against the Chicago Cubs.

"Those are memories I will never forget. I wish that I could still be throwing a baseball. It is hard to come to this place tonight and not be able to go into the clubhouse and put on a uniform and throw backdoor sliders and get people out."

The Padres beat the Cubs in the 1984 playoffs before losing the World Series to the Detroit Tigers.

A thunderstorm hit San Diego three hours before gametime, but stopped an hour before Dravecky's talk.

The ceremony opened with tributes from Giants catcher Terry Kennedy and Padres reliever Craig Lefferts, both of whom were Dravecky's teammates in San Francisco and San Diego.

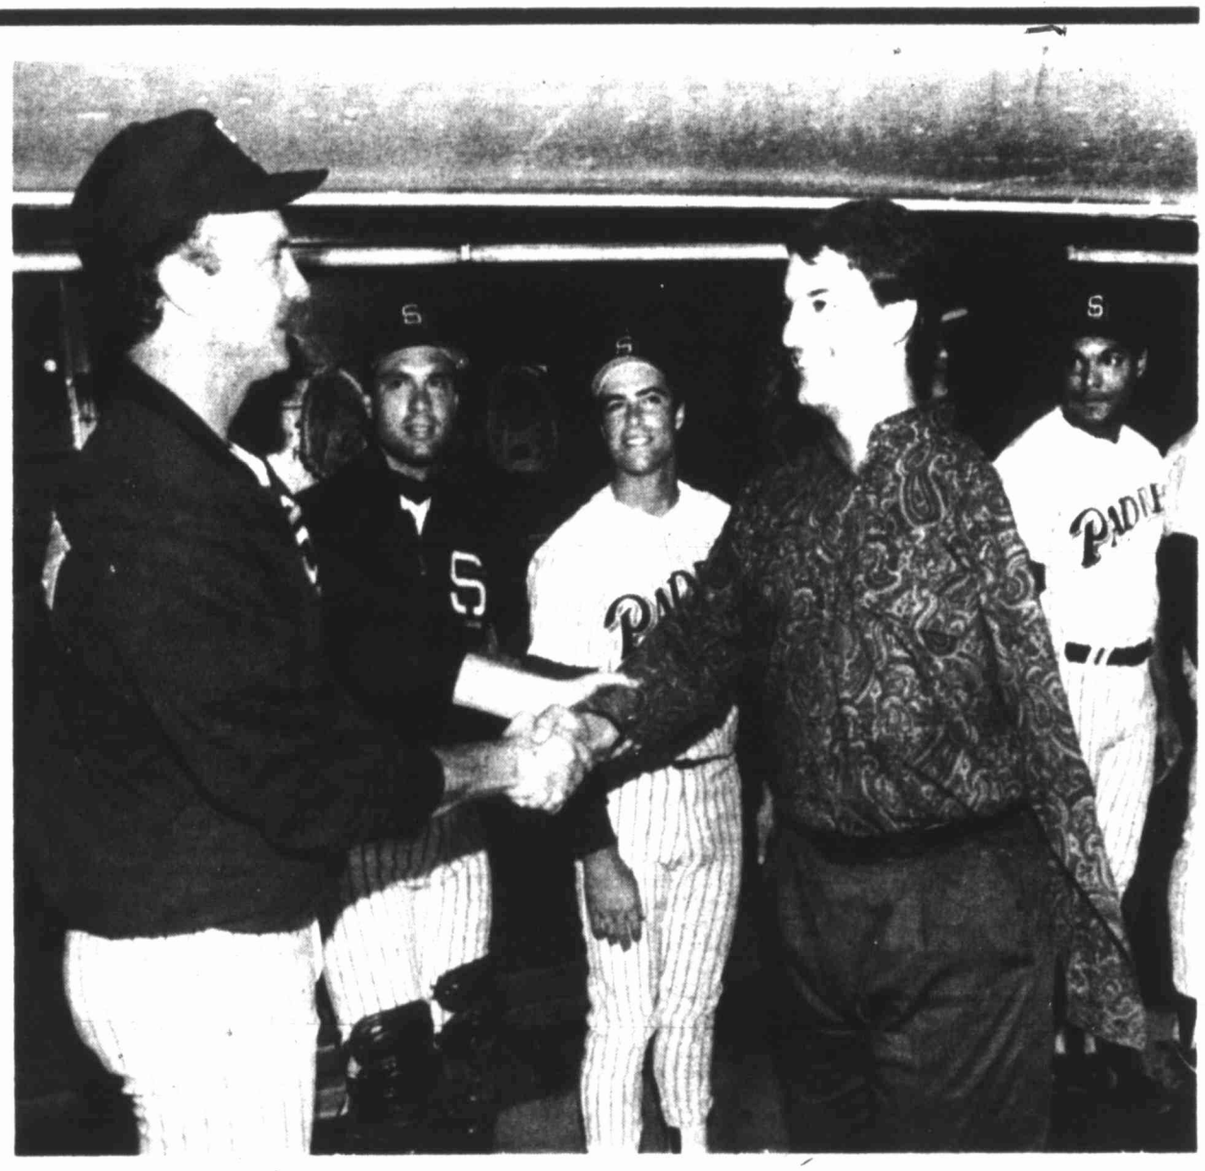

"Cancer may have taken his arm, but it didn't take one bit from the complete person that Dave Dravecky is," Kennedy said.

Lefferts agreed.

"It's ironic that the one thing Dave was known the most for, he lost," he said. "But through all that the true Dave Dravecky showed courage and unshakable faith in Jesus Christ. Dave, we thank you and we love you."

"Guys, please don't take this the wrong way, but as you were sharing stories about my career and what I meant to the ballclubs I played for, I felt like I was a part of a eulogy," Dravecky said. "My life is still going on.

"I really appreciate what Terry Kennedy said. Terry knows how deep the feelings go. Without Terry Kennedy behind the dish, I don't know that I would have been the pitcher that I was."

SAN DIEGO — Former San Diego Padres and San Francisco Giants pitcher Dave Dravecky, right, shakes hands with former teammate Ed Whitson in the Padres' dugout Friday in San Diego. Dravecky thanked San Diego fans and former teammates for their support in his battle with cancer that has taken his left arm and shoulder.

Dravecky was traded from the Padres to the Giants on July 4, 1987. Still, he said he and his family received a great deal of mail from San Diego during his battle with cancer.

"I want to thank the San Diego Padres for just allowing me this opportunity to come before all of you and let you know how much Jan and myself and our children appreciate the prayers and support all of you have given to us," Dravecky said.

"This is our opportunity, publicly, to be able to stand before you and say that we love you, we thank you, and we thank God for the peace which he has given us through all of you who have supported us through your prayers."

Huskies, Huskers ready to rumble

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Can Washington's vaunted defense stop Nebraska's prolific running attack when the two meet in Lincoln's Memorial Stadium?

Don't ask Huskies' coach Don James.

"I don't have a clue," James said as his fourth-ranked team prepared to meet No. 9 Nebraska tonight. "Their strength is their offense. Our strength is our defense."

Washington held Stanford to 28 yards in rushing in the Huskies' 42-7 win two weeks ago.

Nebraska, meanwhile, has rushed for more than 1,000 yards and piled up more than 1,400 yards in total offense in beating Utah State (59-28) and Colorado State (71-14).

"I think we've got the capability to move the ball against most people," Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said. "Whether we will against these guys, I don't know. We'll find out."

Both coaches said they are anxious to see how they match up with a quality opponent.

"It's such a young season, I can't say if we have a long way to go or if we're pretty good. I do know Nebraska looks good," James said.

Osborne said his pregame assessments of Utah State and Colorado State may have been too generous after watching Nebraska mash both teams.

"Washington, of course, will not have a problem with strength or size," he said. "We'll find out a little more about what we can do."

Nebraska inside linebackers coach Kevin Steele said the Cornhuskers has yet to show its entire defensive package this year.

"We took a lot of things out to simplify things for the kids," Steele said. "By that, we've got some stuff we didn't allow Washington to see. If we had used some of those things against Utah State, we probably could have done some different things against their passing game. But we felt we had the game under control, so we saved it."

James said he saw enough to figure what Nebraska could do.

"I saw speed. I saw blocking. I saw great backs, a good secondary and excellent team talent overall," he said.

James and Osborne both noted one of the key matchups will likely be between All-Big Eight guard Will Shields and All-Pac 10 defensive tackle Steve Emtman.

"A lot of time Will Shields will be blocking him," Osborne said. "That will be interesting if you want to follow two guys going at it. But they'll use a lot of different fronts so he won't always be on Will.

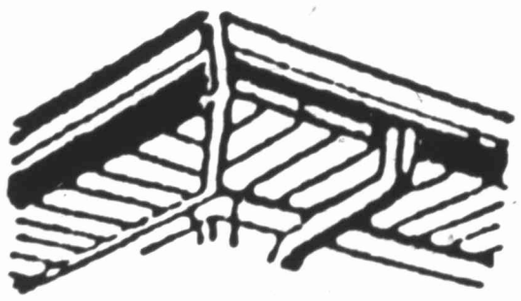

Will is a good player and Emtman is a really good player but they have a lot of good players on defense."
