800 To 2,000 Are Missing In Floods

Japanese City Drenched By Two Feet Of Rain; 500 Homes Reported Washed Away

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Sept. 17—Between 800 and 2,000 Japanese were killed, injured or missing in flooded Ichinoseki City 60 miles north of Sendai, Japanese and occupation authorities said today.

A Kyodo news agency report from a technician to his prefectural office at Morioka in Iwate prefecture placed the number of dead at 2,000.

Allied headquarters, however, said reports from army units at Sendai listed 800 dead or missing.

Kyodo said two feet of rain deluged the city in a typhoon last night. Some 500 homes in Ichinoseki were washed away and 1,600 were flooded, the news agency reported.

The swollen Iwai River burst through its dikes near Ichinoseki and poured through the city of 35,000 population.

News reports added at least eight more dead and 24 missing in the 10 prefectures struck by the moderate typhoon. Tokyo officials said five were dead or missing here and more than 4,000 homes were flooded or partially flooded by the heavy rains that preceded the storm.

SCHOONER CRIPPLED IN ATLANTIC

Rescued Crewmen Kiss Ship's Deck

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 — Saved from a crippled schooner in the hurricane-swept North Atlantic, Portugese sailors threw themselves prone and kissed the deck of the famed Coast Guard rescue cutter Bibb.

The Bibb—which accomplished one of two dramatic ship rescues yesterday in which 79 men in all were saved—radioed early today the details of how she picked up 40 men from the Portugese fishing schooner Gaspar.

About 390 miles away, two merchant ships rescued 39 men from the sinking British freighter Leicester.

Captain Gives Report

Seven men from the two stricken ships were believed lost.

Capt. Donald G. Jacobs, skipper of the Bibb, radioed his rescue log to Coast Guard area headquarters here today, and ended it this way:

"After the tenseness of the night-long, high-speed run, the actual rescue of the 40 survivors of the Gaspar seemed almost anticlimactical because of the smoothness of the operation.

"That it was something altogether different in aspect to the survivors, however, was apparent from the actions of several of them who, upon reaching the safety of the Bibb, flung themselves down and fervently kissed the deck.

"The master (of the Gaspar) appears weary and discouraged. The others, after warm food and drink, are sprawled out sleeping the sleep of the utterly weary—too tired even at the moment to mourn the loss of a shipmate.

French Civil War Feared

PARIS, Sept. 17. (U.P.) — The Communist challenge to Gen. Charles DeGaulle's bid for power appeared ready today to flare into open fighting which observers feared might bring France to the brink of civil war.

Communists and members of DeGaulle's Rally of the French people, who hope to boost the general to the leadership of France, fought a pitched battle for 10 minutes yesterday in Vizille, six miles from Grenoble, as DeGaulle stood by.

Crisis Might Spread

Observers said such disturbances, appearing amid a labor crisis in which almost 500,000 workers were idle, might spread to other parts of the country and lead to civil war because of the current dissatisfaction with the government.

The battle started when Communist demonstrators tried to interfere with DeGaulle as he prepared to place a wreath on a mon-

Slayer Gets Death In Electric Chair

MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 17. (U.P.) —A three-judge court today sentenced Robert Murl Daniels, 24, Ohio's "mad-dog killer" to the electric chair.

The judges deliberated two hours and 15 minutes before deciding that Daniels, who admitted three murders and was implicated in three others, should die on Jan. 3, 1949, at Ohio penitentiary.

The three common pleas judges were G. E. Kalbfeisch, Chester Pendleton and H. E. Culbertson. They gave no recommendation of mercy.

Only moments before the verdict, Daniels had told newspapermen "I'm a sure shot for that chair. I'm a dead duck."

Deputy Jailed On Ex-Wife's Charge

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (INS)—Deputy George W. Smith, 34, of Climax, Colo., wound up behind bars today in Chicago.

In the city to visit his mother, Smith's ex-wife learned he was in town and promptly had him arrested for allegedly owing $1,276 in support money since their divorce six years ago.

Superior Judge Julius Hoffman declined Smith's plea for an assignment on his wages in Colorado because the jurist said it would be too hard to collect.

When Smith heard the six months sentence pronounced, he fainted.

CITATION IS SERVED

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (U.P.) — An official citation restraining Secretary of State Paul Brown from listing the name of Lyndon B. Johnson as the Democratic senatorial nominee on the November ballot was served on him today.

Lyndon Johnson's name on the November general election ballot.

Stevenson's attorneys amended the petition filed before Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson to include Brown's name. Brown was notified by telephone last night that he would be served.

Filed Early Today

The amended petition bearing the name of Brown was filed with the federal court clerk's office in Fort Worth at 9:55 a. m. today. Allen B. Conner, Fort Worth attorney representing Stevenson, filed the amendment.

The original injunction proceeding named as defendants Johnson; Tom Tyson, chairman of the convention which voted to certify him, and Vann M. Kennedy, secretary of the state Democratic executive committee.

Permission Is Refused

The development came after the state Supreme court had refused permission to Johnson attorneys to file a petition to force the secretary of state to list Johnson's name on the ballot.

The state court, in its brief opinion handed down late yesterday, said:

"The motion for leave to file petition of mandamus is overruled, because the respondent, Honorable Paul H. Brown, secretary of state, has notified the court in writing that he has not refused and has no intention to refuse to perform the acts which the petition for mandamus seeks to compel him to perform."

Court Hearing Tuesday

The next step in the legal battle will be Tuesday's hearing in Fort Worth, before Judge Davidson, in which Stevenson will be seeking to have a temporary restraining order made permanent to keep Johnson's name off the ballot as the Democratic nominee.

Johnson won approval of the Democratic state convention last Tuesday as the nominee, being declared the winning candidate by 87 votes. This was out of the near-

Ad For Spouse "Big Mistake"

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 17. (U.P.)—An ad in a weekly paper for a wife with $20,000 constituted the biggest mistake of his life, Alex Pierre Jackson, 22, decided today.

Alex Pierre sought the wife with money so he could set himself up in the business of glamour photography.

But a gnawing conscience, he said, took all the glamour out of his idea.

"After I placed the ad," the Wadsworth, Kan., youth said, "I went home, but I couldn't sleep. I felt a sense of guilt coming over me, that I had done wrong and that it actually was against my sense of ethics.

"I don't know how I got up enough nerve and courage to do it, but in any event I'm convinced I should acknowledge now that I was wrong."

Alex Pierre said he realizes now "you can't become rich and successful in life taking a short cut, or an easy road." He said he also realized that he "could not become a leech or a parasite and only by long hours of hard work can I become somebody someday."

Alex Pierre, in the ad, referred to himself as an excellent cook, a dancer "divine," and a linguist who speaks three tongues fluently. He said he had traveled widely.

"A lot of people make mistakes Alex Pierre summarized. "I just made the biggest one of my life."

Houston Paper Backing Dewey

HOUSTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—In a page one editorial today, the Houston Chronicle endorsed the candidacy of the Republican nominees, Governors Dewey and Warren, for president and vice president. The Chronicle is published by Jesse H. Jones, former secretary of commerce.

In taking this unprecedented step, the Chronicle which has been Democratic since its establishment in 1902, said:

"It should be obvious to all thinking people that we need a change in our national administration. To deny this would be to close our eyes to conditions, both at home and abroad and generally to the MESS we are in.

Coordination Missing

"However well intentioned President Truman may be, he has not shown the leadership necessary for the successful management of our national and international affairs.

"Our foreign situation could hardly be worse. The war has been over for more than three years, and we yet have no peace. Furthermore, the specter of another and more terrible war hangs over us.

"It has been well demonstrated that Mr. Truman cannot work successfully with Congress or even lead members of his own party.

"The co-ordinate branches of government do not coordinate."

Allied Leader Claims Japan Calm, Stable

General Declares Communism To Be Gravest Danger

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Sept. 17.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today brushed off as "baseless" Russian charges that he was hampering democracy and labor unions in Japan.

In a formal statement answering the charges in Washington of Soviet Ambassador Panyushkin, the Allied commander told the Russians to practice what they preach.

Said MacArthur:

"There is an old Oriental proverb equally understood by the West as well as by the East which says there can be 'no greater hypocrisy than to fail to practice what you preach.'"

Warning Given Labor

The supreme Allied commander further told Japanese labor that its greatest danger" lies in its absorption and ultimate destruction by Communists who seek to exploit it to spread disorder, anarchy and revolution."

". . . Were the concept of Communism to prevail here, Japanese labor would be the first to feel its completely totalitarian suppression and control and the trade union movement would perish to be replaced by the oligarchic control of a handful of self-appointed masters," he continued.

"Communism, he said, is making very little headway in Japan." Despite frantic Communistic efforts to achieve the contrary, Japan continues calm, stable and well ordered", he said.

Russians Work Prisoners

MacArthur reminded the Russians that "there is deep and natural resentment throughout Japan at what is generally regarded by all Japanese as a basic disregard of human and moral values in retention in Russia after more than three years following their surrender half a million Japanese prisoners."

These prisoners, he said, are "employed under shocking conditions of forced servitude in works designed to increase the Soviet war potential."

MacArthur promised to fight Communism in Japan and added that if its doctrine prevailed the "liberty of the worker would disappear and labor would become merely a commodity."

"It is not the purpose of the

Son Is Reunited With Family After 18 Months Wandering

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—Mrs. Mary Murdock and her 20-year old son Edward were together today after an 18-month separation during which she never gave up hope that he would return.

Young Murdock — called "Jack"—walked away from Fork Union Military academy in Virginia in the spring of 1947 and was not heard from again by his family until he telephoned to the home of an aunt in this city yesterday

"I left school to find myself," he told reporters. "I wanted to wander and I did. I went everywhere I had always wanted to go and did everything I had always wanted to do."

"The next place I'm going," he said to his mother, "is home with you, mom."

Murdock said "something—I don't know what" caused him to call his aunt while passing through the capital. He didn't reach her, but he spoke to a friend of the family, at whose urging he agreed

Truman Goes West In Quest Of Votes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—President Truman left today on a 16-day western campaign tour with this pledge: "I'm going to fight hard and I'm going to give them hell."

"It's a victorious trip," the President also told his running mate, Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who was at Union station to see the President embark on the second swing of what may be the most strenuous campaign ever waged by a White House occupant.

Over 100 Addresses

The President will deliver more than 100 addresses in at least 18 of the 21 states his special 17-car train will touch on a 9,500-mile vote seeking tour to the Pacific coast and return. The President is due to return to Washington Oct. 2.

In addition to Barkley, Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Sawyer were at the station to say goodbye to the President.

Mr. Truman took along Jonathan Daniels, editor and publisher of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, as a top consultant and adviser.

The son of the late Josephus Daniels, one-time secretary of the Navy, Daniels was an administrative assistant and later press secretary to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He served for a short time in that capacity under President Truman.

Margaret Is Along

Mr. Truman drove to the station with his daughter, Margaret, for the departure. Mrs. Truman will board the train at Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. Truman will make the first major speech of the vote tour at Dexter, Iowa, tomorrow.

Democratic national headquarters said the Dexter address will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup by Mutual Broadcasting System.

West To Send No Ultimatum

LONDON, Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Authoritative British sources today discounted reports that the Western powers would deliver an ultimatum to the Russians unless the Kremlin talks among the Big Four ended within 24 hours.

Informed sources said the Western envoys now in Moscow might send a so-called "reminder" to Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov if he refused to see them today. But they added there was no question of setting a deadline for a reply in an ultimatum

These sources said Britain rejected the idea of a specific deadline. Earlier, foreign office sources had denied that next Tuesday, when the United Nations general assembly convenes in Paris, had been set as the deadline for the talks.

Uncertainty regarding Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's speech in Commons next week during foreign affairs debate and the absence of any instructions to British Envoy Frank Roberts to leave Moscow were interpreted as indications that Whitehall has not yet decided its "next steps."

Even though there is pessimism in Whitehall regarding the talks, authoritative sources said Bevin "disliked loose talking about a breakdown."

Circuit Judge Faces Income Tax Charge

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Circuit Judge Emory E. Smith of Monett, Mo., serving his 20th year on the bench, today was charged with income tax evasion in a six-count federal indictment.

Part of the money on which he was alleged to have evaded payment of taxes was obtained, the indictment charged, through salary "kickbacks" by his court reporter.

UN Mediator Is Shot Down In Jerusalem

French Aide Also Is Slain; Jewish Gang Is Blamed

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, Sept. 17.—Count Folke Bernadotte and a French aide were shot to death today in the Jewish-held part of Jerusalem.

The mediator and French Col. Serot were killed by "men in Jewish army uniforms," said a telephone message to the Associated Press here.

American Wounded

John Joseph MacDonald, the American consul at Jerusalem, reported to Washington Bernadotte's party was ambushed by four men, "presumably the Stern gang," Jewish extremists. U. S. Col. Frank Begley, U. N. security officer, was reported slightly wounded in the face when he grappled with one of the men).

Bernadotte had arrived in Jerusalem by air from Damascus, Syria, at 11 a. m. Jerusalem time. He flew in despite anonymous threats upon his life, declaring that he refused to be frightened.

He was killed at about 5 p. m., a victim of the war he tried for four months to end.

This reporter flew with him from Damascus to Kollandia airport, just outside Jerusalem. Aboard the special plane he passed me a radioed note which read:

Warning Was Given

"Urgent — Inform all aircraft against landing Kollandia airport. They will be fired upon."

"Do you want to jump now or be fired upon with us?" he asked me with a wry smile. I said I'd take a chance.

"This is an obvious attempt to frighten me," he said. "If so, someone is mistaken. I will not be frightened."

An hour later, after he climbed from the plane into his automobile at the airport, a sniper's bullet thudded into the left rear wheel of his automobile. He got out to examine it and found a small-caliber bullet hole.

"I don't mind being shot at by regulars," he said. "But not by irregulars."

Wished Him Luck

When the count, Col. Serot, General Aage Lundstroem and their aides climbed back into the car, I wished Bernadotte luck.

"I'll need it," he replied.

Gen. Lundstroem, who was with him, said:

"I'm no coward, but I don't

Soviet Threat Seen In Asia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — Secretary Marshall today listed a conference with the Netherlands foreign minister, who came here to enlist support against the spread of Soviet Communism in strategic southeast Asia.

The meeting between the secretary of state and Derk Ude Stikker was announced by the State department. Even before hearing Stikker's formal proposals, the United States pressed a sharp propaganda counter-attack against the Communist "drive for power" among colonial peoples in the Far East.

Reds Seek Power

It took the form of broadcasts to southeast Asia by the Voice of America, and of distribution to U. S. diplomats in that area, of the government's statement last night that Communists are "using the ambitions of the Asiatic peoples for national independence as a cover under which they seek power.

In that statement, the State department said Moscow's crackdown on Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia through the Cominform demonstrated international Communism's "ruthless interference" in the internal affairs of a sovereign nation.

Communists Treacherous

Officials here said one of Communism's greatest appeals to the colonial people of southeast Asia lay in its insistence on their rights to national independence.

Evidence that Communist leaders would betray that independence, once attained, was regarded as a powerful argument against Communism and was promptly put to use for that purpose.

Press officer Michael McDermott said the government is also considering a further "course of action" regarding the "rapid increase of Communist activity" among the colonial peoples of Indonesia, Indochina and Malaya, and the citizens of independent Burma.

Negotiations With Rail Workers Fail

CHICAGO, Sept. 17. (AP)—Wage and hour negotiations between the nation's railroads and 1,000,000 non-operating workers collapsed today.

The non-operating workers are clerks, telegraphers, yardmen, boilermakers, machinists and others not actually employed in the operation or switching of trains.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17 (INS)—A 42-year-old Syracusan said today he's willing to exchange an eye for a ranch in Texas.

BARBERSHOP POLL CHECKS TREND

Poor Man's Gallup Warns GOP Candidate Truman Moving Up

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. — A few weeks ago I wrote a piece about Harry and his barber poll.

How he had organized the barber shops across the country. Told 'em to ask their customers to drop a straw ballot for president into a box on their way out. Harry's got 800 shops lined up—but more about the background later.

Well, I went back to check up on Harry Rich, the barber's barber and the poor man's Gallup. I'm prepared to give you the first report on his poll. Harry has just returned from a tour of New England—with little advice for Tom Dewey.

He warns the New York governor that if the barber poll means anything (winners since 1928), Mr. Dewey had better stick a needle into his campaign.

Harry Truman is sneaking up—barberwise, at least—in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and even Maine and Vermont.

Up there, according to Rich, it's still Dewey by five to four, but H. T. is making fast hoof beats in the stretch.

Total among the haircut votes in those states was:

Dewey 5,868, Truman 4,840, Wallace 460.

Rich, who has been keeping a clipper-eye on the situation since the campaign started (through his poll) said that Truman seemed to have the most strength in Massachusetts, "although he's picking up in my book in Maine, Connecticut, and Rhode Island." He'll report on other sections later. After all, a barber only has two hands.

Harry looks at the situation this way: Most people who visit barber shops also vote. With one exception, about which more in a minute.

Harry started his poll as a sort of hobby in Washington when Hoover was running against Al Smith. He hand-wrote a few ballots for his customers and asked them to deposit them in a little box after each haircut or shave. This poll showed a Hoover victory—which, of course was correct. Next came Roosevelt-Hoover; Roosevelt-Landon; Roosevelt-Willkie; and Roosevelt-Dewey.

The barber poll called 'em right down the line.

"It's just a hobby with me," Rich said today. "I have all the customers I can handle and I certainly don't want people coming clear out here from California just to get a haircut."

Harry pays all expenses for his poll, such as postage and printing the ballots. He and his wife and a girl, whom he pays, count all of the votes and do the tabulations.

Last election he pulled in 600,000 straw votes. This year the demand for ballots is so great he thinks the total will run well over 700,000.

"Might cost me as much as $1,000 out of my pooket, but a lot of people spend that for a hobby and I get a kick out of mine," Harry says.

His ballots have four lines. Truman, Dewey, Wallace printed in bold type. There is a blank space for a write-in.

Harry Rich has only a few hundred customers—and no count on how many of 'em vote twice in his poll. Last election he counted 1,500 ballots in his shop.

Already he'd received 4,000—in the voteless District of Columbia.

Harry figures they're just coming in to do what they can't do anyplace else — cast a vote for president of the United States.

TO SPEAK HERE—R. Guy Carter, Dallas attorney and president of the ex-students' association at Texas Tech college, is to address the Lubbock County Bar association at the group's regular luncheon Saturday noon at Hotel Lubbock. The address, one of an educational series for the bar on Texas legal procedure, will be a discussion of preparation and trial of negligence cases from the plaintiff's standpoint, an announcement today said. Thomas B. Duggan, jr., is president of the association.

Man Will Die For Strangling Niece

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17 (AP)—George A. Neill, 22, displayed no emotion yesterday as he was sentenced to death in the electric chair for strangling his 11-year-old niece, Isabelle Mallon.

Neill's three sisters sobbed in the courtroom as they heard the sentence passed.

Fate Of New French Cabinet Rests On Vote Of Committee

BY ROBERT C. WILSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept. 17—The fate of Premier Henri Queuille's new cabinet rested today with the 42 members of the National Assembly's finance committee.

The committee representing all French parties, is expected to start voting today on Queuille's plan for raising 80,000,000,000 francs ($260,000,000) in new revenue by additional direct and indirect taxes. An adverse committee vote likely would cause the downfall of the six-day-old coalition government.

The test comes as Communists are keeping up a steady series of sporadic strikes throughout the nation. Latest in the walkouts was yesterday's protest strike by several hundred thousand Paris metal workers, scheduled to end this morning.

Program Unpopular

Queuille's fiscal program is inherently unpopular. It calls for increasing prices on many things like tobacco, railroad fares, and postage stamps that would hit all pocketbooks.

The Catholic Popular Republican movement (MRP) adopted a motion last night hailing the premier's financial measures as courageous. At the same time, however, MRP said it would support them only if Queuille takes steps to force down meat prices and imposes economies in all government services.

The Socialists, who have caused the downfall of three governments during the past two months by withdrawing support on wage and price proposals, are believed to be even more hesitant.

This puts Queuille under fire from all sides, with the Communists, who are not included in the coalition, using the strike technique.

Most troublesome of the walkouts for the moment is that at Orly and Le Bourget airfields, which grounded all Air France planes.

The strikes have centered mainly in the nationalized aviation industry, automobile plants, steel and textile mills. No new violence was reported yesterday.

Meanwhile, Gen. Charles De Gaulle, touring the provinces to urge new national elections, was booed for the first time near Grenoble yesterday. The incident was started by a group of men carrying red flags who exchanged blows with supporters of the wartime free French leader, the French news agency reported. De Gaulle was placing a wreath on a war monument at Vizille, about six miles from Grenoble.

Two Cardinals Of Catholic Church Die

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 17. (AP)—Rafaele Carlo Cardinal Rossi, 72, secretary of the consistorial congregation, died last night at Bassano Del Grappa Veneto, in northern Italy, it was learned here today.

Rossi had been ailing for some time and suffered a heart attack in Rome several months ago.

News of his death reached the Vatican almost at the same time as that of the death of another prince of the church, Emanuele Cardinal Arce Y Ochotorena, Archbishop of Tarragona, Spain, who died yesterday.

The two deaths reduce to 57 the number of cardinals — 13 below the full quota of the sacred college.

Julius Barrett of Dallas, for state railroad commissioner.

Cyclone Davis of Dallas, for U. S. Senator.

Police Seek Owner Of Dog With Pistol

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 17 (AP)—The owner of a pistol-toting dog was sought today by police.

Alfred La Tourneau, a fireman, turned up at police headquarters yesterday with a .45 calibre army weapon which he said he had taken from a dog.

He reported the animal was carrying the revolver in a small bag between its teeth.

Several excited persons had called police to report they had seen the dog with the weapon.

Yoga Brings Quick Recovery To Dancer's Sprained Ankle

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—Eric Victor said today he owes it all to Yoga.

Victor, a professional dancer, sprained his ankle during a performance of Inside U. S. A. Doctors recommended three weeks in bed.

But Victor is a Yogi. Yoga, he said, makes it possible for him to snuff out cigarettes on the back of his hand without feeling any pain. He also can stick himself full of pins and needles by "controlling" the nerves in various portions of his body.

Controlling nerves, he said, is achieved through concentration. So Victor began concentrating on his sprained left ankle. He missed one performance because the swelling was "simply enormous." But concentration won out, and he has been leaping as well as ever.

He began studying Yoga in Europe at the age of 6 or 7 but "didn't know until I was nearly 12 what my instructor had been teaching me. I thought it was balance."

There are three stages to Yoga, he said. "The first is when you first take it up. That's like joining a secret order.

"The second is when you learn such control that you can block off nerve areas by will power.

"The third is when you relax completely from the rigidity you forced upon yourself. Instead of a slave to worldly practices they are a means to reach your end. Very few people reach this stage."

Yoga Principles Taught

Victor said he was teaching Yoga principles to his pupils without going into the metaphysical end of it. Mostly just balance.

"It's a form of emotional economy," he explained. "You concentrate on one thing and forget your other troubles.

"For example, if I stood on my head for quite some time this would jumble the outside world and I would be able to think more clearly. All Yogis do this, usually in the morning. It clears your head like nothing else."

Victor said many people practice the principles of Yoga without realizing it. The housewife who sits down and rests is following Yoga and so is the Englishman who stops and has tea, he said.

Falling Bomb Sticks Injure Infantrymen

EGLIN FIELD, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Bomb sticks which fell from a B-29 yesterday injured 33 Army infantrymen—a white captain and 32 negro enlisted men.

The troops were taking part in a fire power rehearsal when the accident occurred, Air Force officers reported. They were members of the 505th Airborne regiment and the 758th Heavy Tank battalion from Fort Bragg, N. C.

Twelve of the men were hurt severely. All suffered lacerations, bruises, and shock.

Maj. Gen. William D. Old, Ninth air force commander, said investigators would seek the cause of the accident.

PRINCIPAL, FACULTY HONORED AT TEA

The tea table was decorated in blue and white, P-TA colors, and the tea napkins were lettered with "George M. Hunt P-TA." Approximately 150 persons attended the tea and visited the home rooms of their children under the direction of a group of Girl Scouts. Piano numbers were played during the afternoon by Mrs. Jeanette Jenkins.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL . . .

Couple Who Drinks, Serves Liquor In Home Dread Moral Censure If Her Parents Know

DEAR Mary Haworth: I am a wife and mother, in my early forties, happily married 15 years. I am an only child, my parents are completely wrapped up in me and my family, and mother is a very positive person who has always assumed that her ideas are right.

Also she unconsciously expects to be told what she wants to hear, and in growing up I learned that was the best response to her, and father is aware of it, too. Due to her frequent spells of poor health — nervous breakdowns in my childhood and a heart condition more recently—we have always been careful with her, and while this devious course definitely disturbs me, I have adhered to it nevertheless.

My parents oppose drinking and for some years after marriage my husband and I neither drank nor served liquor, but more recently we've been doing both, very temperately. Now my parents are coming soon for a visit of several months; and the problem is how to work out a civilized adjustment to their viewpoint.

WIFE'S MOTHER WOULD WORRY HERSELF SICK

WHILE father would be disappointed, I believe he would accept the situation in the light of present-day customs, but mother would be terribly upset that we had "stooped" to liquor. She considers it morally wrong and probably would worry herself sick, and I don't want the visit marred by discord.

Perhaps my conscience would bother me less if I were to give up liquor altogether, as my religion doesn't sanction it; yet I do enjoy a drink on occasion and John favors it as a friendly amenity in certain circumstances, although we could go indefinitely without missing it.

I'd rather not serve liquor while my parents are here; but if friends should drop in, to whom we've served liquor before, I'd feel a bit awkward offering only a soft drink; and even if we had no liquor in evidence, I wouldn't know what to say if the subject came up. Mother finds it difficult to recognize, much less accept the fact that I'm a grown woman; hence my dilemma. Please advise.

Signed C. P.

WIFE'S FEAR DERIVES FROM HER IMMATURITY

DEAR C. P.: Essentially, there are two problems here. One, your mother's "momism." The other, the fact that you don't accept yourself as a grown woman in instances where your adult-age attempts to accommodate yourself to other social relations run contrary to your mother's rigid rules of conduct for herself and household subjects.

There is an old saying that others accept a person at his own evaluation of himself; and so long as you, in first-hand dealing with your mother, feel and react as if you are a "child" (naughty or nice, as the case may be) in that relationship, for so long will she continue to wield a big stick over you as such.

Although in the forties, and a matron and mother, you are strikingly immature. A classic symptom of immaturity is lack of courage and honesty, or call it integrity, in dealing with persons one fears; and by indirection you confess to a life-habit of defensive duplicity, or call it diplomatic deceit, in relation to your mother, a callow form of behavior into which she bullied your father also, it seems.

MOTHER ISN'T QUALIFIED TO PASS MORAL JUDGMENT

INASMUCH as she is a woman who compulsively exerts such ignoble influence on intimates, she is not in the real sense a moral person; she isn't enlightened enough to be. And it seems to me this consideration confronts you with double measure of adult-age responsibility to "live by your own lights" during the forthcoming visit, rather than relapse into shivering hypocritical pseudo-submission to her outworn autocracy.

She will see fit to worry herself sick about the way you live, only if her intuition tells her that she can worry you sick also by such "emoting." But if on the contrary she feels in her bones that you can no longer be reached and beaten by this old form of tyranny, she will settle peaceably for what she finds. Before she arrives, study Dr. Edward A. Strecker's book, "Their Mothers' Sons," to get a line on what makes her tick, and how to take the emanations thereof in stride.

Mexican Hurt In Fight Here

A material witness was held and a suspect was sought this morning in connection with the early morning stabbing of Ray Cisnero, 18, a Mexican living near Post according to hospital reports, at a dance in 100-block North Ave. P.

At Lubbock Memorial hospital where the victim was rushed about 12:30 a. m. by Plains ambulance, it was indicated that Cisnero's condition seemed critical, but showed perhaps some improvement.

Happened In Dark

Cisnero when admitted, was suffering of shock, puncture wounds in the right side and hemorrhage. Investigating police said the stabbing happened in the dark near several parked cars, at conclusion of a three-day Sixteenth of September celebration in commemoration of Mexican Independence day.

The suspect, officials said, has been in trouble here several times, and is under felony charge in another case.

Police said they had arrested three youths, one of them a juvenile, in connection with investigations into pilfering of cars.

Took License Number

The arrest followed closely a complaint of Alvin Druesden of 2107 Ave. L that he had left Colonial apartments, on Fifth, about 12:30 a. m. and had seen three youths leap from his car into one they had parked nearby. They fled, but he took down a license number. Police soon arrested the youths after the car was discovered in 2200-block Sanders.

Drueseden said personal belongings that had been in his car were scattered near the machine when the youths fled.

V. M. Albers, of 2000-block Fifth, reported his car had been ransacked. Later, after arrest of the three youths, he allegedly identified property in their possession as having come from his car.

The suspects are 18, 17 and 16, police said.

Drill Is Stolen

L. W. Evans informed police that E & F garage, at 112 East Broadway, had been entered after burglars had pried a lock off the front door. A three-quarters inch drill was taken, he said.

Julian King Lawson of Lubbock was charged with drunk driving after investigation of a 7:43 p. m. crash of a car into the East Broadway underpass. Lawson was taken to West Texas hospital in a McDonald ambulance for examination, but was released and taken in custody by police, reports indicated.

Sheriff Horace Owens of Lea county, N. M., was here to accept custody of Horace Simpson, 24, a Lubbock man who waived extradition to return to Lea county, where there is a swindling by worthless check charge naming him, officials announced.

Negro Delivered Here

Texas Ranger W. E. Renfrow of Lubbock delivered to Lubbock county jail D. L. Spriggs, 27, a negro who recently was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary from Amarillo, for burglary. Spriggs, officials said, is wanted on burglary charges here and in Lynn county. He was being held in Potter county jail.

Renfrow also brought from Amarillo John Thomas Thompson, 29, of Canyon, described as named in a Tom Green county indictment charging theft over $50, a saddle.

A charge of liquor law violation was filed in county court against Randolph M. Williams, 25, of Lubbock. He was arrested Thursday night by members of the Liquor Control board, officials said.

Thefts Are Reported

Jack M. Jordan, of 1525 Hill, informed the sheriff's department that his pocketbook had been stolen from the shower room of an industrial plant here. He said it contained $60 in travelers checks, several personal checks, $15 in currency and personal papers.

A gray, gabardine coat to a suit was reported stolen from Don Holton of 2811 Walnut, the theft being from a car parked in downtown Lubbock. Value of the coat was placed at $50.

Two juvenile negro girls were turned over to John Wilson, city juvenile officer, Thursday afternoon after they were arrested in a downtown store on charges of shoplifting. Two sweaters were in their possession when they were accosted by the store manager, police reports showed.

Jackson College in Mississippi has begun its 72nd year of operation for Negro students. All graduates receive a bachelor of science degree.

Report On Prisons Made At Club Meet

Money is needed to make the Texas Prison system into a clean and self-sustaining system and an appropriation of more than four million dollars will be asked of the next legislature, Waggoner Carr, Lubbock attorney and county attorney-elect, said in a talk at the American Business club luncheon at the Hilton hotel today noon.

Carr returned last week from a tour of the prison at Huntsville and a visit to the Darrington and Retrieve farms with Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce leaders, county officials and newspapermen.

"All the prison systems of the United States don't smell like ours," Carr said at the outset of his talk in which he described various conditions existing at the prison and on the farms.

The prison system is without adequate medical facilities and laundry equipment, Carr said. There is absolutely no isolation for prisoners with contagious diseases on the farms and he quoted one prisoner as saying, "When we get sick, we either live or die."

He praised O. B. Ellis, the newly-employed manager of the system and outlined briefly the program the former Tennesseean hopes to put over in the system. He also urged support from ABC members in urging votes from their representative and senator for the prison appropriation.

Red Ramsey, San Angelo coach, was a guest at the luncheon. Preston Johnston presided in the absence of President A. B. Watkins, who was in Clovis for a charter presentation program of the Clovis club. Pink L. Parrish, jr., was introduced as a new club member.

Campaign To Hire Physically Handicapped Planned At Meet

Plans were outlined, and committees named, for an anticipated county-wide participation in national Employ the Physically Handicapped week, Oct. 3 to 9, at a meeting of representatives of service organizations Thursday afternoon at the offices of the Texas Employment commission here.

Carl Smith, commander of the local post of the Disabled American Veterans here and Red Cross representative with the Veterans administration, presided at the meeting, and explained the purposes of the week.

Committees To Be Announced

Committees are to be announced soon, Smith said.

The chairman explained that the primary purpose of such a week is to promote employment of physically handicapped persons, a large percentage of whom, records show, can handle jobs to which their handicaps can be adjusted in as well or better manner than a normal employe.

Smith said records show that as a rule a suitably-placed handicapped person is more conscientious, and less liable to accident or other mishap than his or her normal co-worker.

On the compensation insurance question, it was explained that under the second injury clause of the present Texas law, the employer is not liable for any hazards occasioned by previous mishaps.

51 Applicants Here

Latest records show approximately 28,000,000 physically handicapped persons in the nation, including about 13,000,000 with various types of heart trouble.

Records at the employment office here show that there were 51 active unplaced applicants for jobs among handicapped persons here. F. C. Rector, who handles such placements at the TEC office said the number is below normal, which ranges from 65 to 130 each month.

Chairmen of the various working committees are to meet at a date yet to be set, to coordinate efforts.

Wallace Raps GOP, Demos

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP) Henry A. Wallace used his first campaign jaunt into upstate New York's Republican stronghold for a sharply-worded attack on Governor Dewey and what he termed Dewey's "retinue of reaction."

The Progressive party presidential candidate characterized last night Dewey's campaign as one of silence, and Dewey himself as "the man who does not want to be remembered."

Both Parties Attacked

Wallace, who also appeared at an informal meeting of labor leaders in Buffalo and at a rally in Niagara Falls, asserted in his principal address at Kleinhans music hall that the two major parties are participating in a profit-seeking war program.

"The leaders of both parties," he declared, "elbow each other out of the way in their rush to ameliorate the condition of the downtrodden corporation."

The "monopolists," he said, created a reign of fear behind which "they have converted the government of Franklin Roosevelt into the model of Republican reaction which he fought."

The principles that guide the Democratic administration are not the principles of Roosevelt, but the principles of Hoover and Dulles and Dewey," he declared.

Democratic Strategy Hit

Wallace said the Democratic campaign strategy is "to hide the Truman of the fear-breeding Truman doctrine and the Truman who breaks strikes and the Truman who incites witch-hunts behind a Truman who embraces the program of Roosevelt, a Truman who speaks of peace, a Truman who proclaims his devotion to the cause of labor, a Truman who suddenly champions civil rights—a Truman, in short, who is running once again on the platform of Roosevelt."

This, said Wallace, is a "great and overwhelming tribute to the power of Roosevelt's ideas."

"But an even greater tribute," he continued, "is the curious Republican campaign . . .

"Dewey does not dare pit himself openly against the ghost of a dead man. He does not dare expose his retinue of reaction to the symbol of progress. He does not dare again reveal the ideas which Roosevelt so soundly defeated in 1944.

"The man, the retinue, the ideas have not changed. Dewey is the man who does not want to be remembered."

Sheriff Finds Where West Is Really Wild

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17 (AP) An Oregon sheriff now knows where the west in really wild.

Sheriff O. T. Carter of Roseburg, Ore., is here with Deputy A. A. Eckhardt to pick up a fugitive from Douglas county.

While they slept the other night, a pants burglar went through their hotel room and picked up $343, also from Douglas county.

The pants were Eckhardt's, but that doesn't make Sheriff Carter any happier.

"Here I am," he moaned to a sympathetic sheriff here, "running for re-election . . ."

Newly Married Hitchcocks Fly To South American Honeymoon

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—The newly married Hitchcocks—Stephany Saja from the Pennsylvania coal fields and her socialite husband Francis—planned to embark today on a South American honeymoon.

The 39-year-old groom and his 23-year-old bride booked passage on a Pan American World airways plane leaving Miami this morning for Rio De Janiero. They were due to reach their destination tomorrow night (8:45 p. m.)

Acceding to Stephany's wish, the balding Hitchcock yesterday exchanged marriage vows a second time with his tall bride daughter of a Pennsylvania coal miner. The solemn rites were those of the Greek orthodox church.

Ceremony In Greek

Wednesday night, the couple eloped to Folkston—Georgia's "Gretna Green"—where they were wed the first time in a simple civil ceremony before Judge A. S. McQueen.

The Rev. Demosthenes J. Mekras, Greek orthodox minister from Miami, performed the second ceremony yesterday at the executive Kentucky-Florida club a few miles from Deland. The scene was framed with white flowers and ferns.

The bride was in sharp contrast to the night before when she wore slacks and a print blouse. For the second ceremony she was dressed in a white lace gown fitted with an off shoulder bertha collar, a white tulle veil and a tiara of mother of pearls orange blossoms.

She carried a bouquet of white tube roses and an orchid.

After the rites, Hitchcock, who was attired in a white and blue-gray striped suit with white shirt and dark blue tie, said:

"It was entirely in Greek. I do not understand Greek. In fact it was all Greek to me."

ExWife Granted Divorce

Stephany said she didn't understand Greek either but the best man, John Kalas of Daytona Beach, who does, said "they are married."

The bride's maid of honor was her sister, Nancy Saja of New York City. Col. Arch Wall of Wilbur-by-the-Sea gave the bride away.

The way for the wedding was cleared Tuesday when circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth of West Palm Beach granted a divorce degree to Mrs. Marie Grammer Hitchcock, the groom's second wife, on her counter suit.

The possibility of a perjury investigation still hangs over Hitchcock because he obtained a Florida marriage license by saying he was divorced before the suit was ended.

After graduation from high school in her native Windber, Pa., Stephany worked as a secretary in a Wall street brokerage firm. Hitchcock, a law student at Stetson university, expects to be graduated in December.

Friends Tease Girl Right Into Office

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 17 (AP)—Virgina Lee Ratliff was interested in politics, as she felt was fitting as she came of voting age.

She was so interested, in fact, that her fellow office workers teased her into running for precinct committee woman.

Now the office is amazed. Miss Ratliff won.

"That'll teach 'em," she said.

Youth Is Not Certain How He Got Mixed Up In Plane Crash

CRANE, Tex., Sept. 17 (AP)—Richard Null, 15, walked away from a plane crash here yesterday. He wasn't sure how he got mixed up in it.

Motorists driving near the Crane county airport saw the plane fall and watched the boy crawl from the wreckage and flee.

Several hours later the youngster was found in a clump of mesquite, bleeding and in a dazed condition.

Remembers Falling

He was unable to say what happened except that "I remember the plane started falling."

J. N. Moore, manager of the airport, said the boy apparently tried to take the plane off by himself during the noon hour when there was no one at the field.

The boy was taken to a hospital here. Hospital nurses said they understood that the lad was from Comanche but was visiting a brother in Odessa near here.

Princeton defeated both Harvard and Yale last season for the first time since 1939 and the tenth in history — but the Tigers have never before been able to turn the trick in two successive seasons.

Dwarf Held After Shooting, Beating

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (INS)—Detective Joseph Carroll said late today that Floyd Connors, 21, a powerfully built dwarf, admitted shooting a University of Illinois medical student and slugging his wife.

The couple, John Stephenson, 26, and his wife, Elizabeth, 21, are in Cook county hospital.

Stephenson was shot twice and his wife beaten over the head with a blunt instrument. Stephenson's condition was described as "fair" by hospital officials. Mrs. Stephenson was said to be in "good" condition and not suffering from a skull fracture as supposed earlier.

Last night Stephenson heard his wife scream. She had been sleeping in the living room while he occupied a back bedroom. Rushing to her rescue, he collided with the four-foot dwarf in the dark.

A savage battle ensued, during which Stephenson hit the dwarf over the head with a kitchen chair. The medical student said the little man pulled a revolver which went off during the fight. The men slugged it out all the way down a flight of 16 stairs, after which Stephenson collapsed.

Abnormal clotting of the blood often causes death during surgical operations.

San Angelo's Bobcats Tangle With Westerners Tonight

10,000 Likely To See Battle

San Angelo's Bobcats, one of the top grid powers in District 8-AA, invade Texas Tech's new Jones stadium at 8 o'clock tonight for a feature non-conference tussle with the youthful Lubbock High school Westerners of 1-AA.

Coach Pat Pattison's Black and Gold squad moved into the state spotlight by battling the potent Odessa Broncos, also of 3-AA, to a 7-7 deadlock last week, but the Hub city schoolboys will be shooting for their first clear-cut triumph tonight. The Bobcats lost a 25-6 setto with the highly-ranked Denison Yellowjackets in their opening tilt, and will also be trying for their first entry in the win column.

A fast, high-scoring tussle is expected in the annual meeting of the two West Texas gridiron rivals, with San Angelo matching its pass-minded T-formation against Lubbock's powerhouse single wing attack. Both elevens boast some top grid performers, with the San Angeloans sparked by 175-pound Quarterback Bobby Clatterbuck and a standout 175-pound center, Walter Schleyer.

Brown, Young Top List

Bobby Brown, slender 150-pound triple-threat tailback, and Malcolm Young, hard-driving fullback, head the Lubbock backfield; with Donald Decker, letterman wingback, and Quarterback Charley Williams carrying the brunt of the blocking chores. A pair of steady ends, Ted Vaught and Bob Rooker, and Center Leon Stuart bulwark the forward wall.

The teams are well-matched in the non-title encounter, with Lubbock holding a weight advantage in the line and San Angelo holding a slight edge in the backfield. Both elevens depend heavily on boys who played with the "B" teams in 1947 and are relatively inexperienced.

The Bobcat and Westerner gridders have met in non-conference games every year since 1942, with Lubbock taking three wins, chalking up two ties and losing one tilt. The only San Angelo victory in the present series was recorded in 1943, when the powerful Bobcat eleven went all the way to a state championship. Two of the three Lubbock triumphs have been by one-point margins, however.

A crowd of approximately 10,000 is expected for the tilt tonight, officials reported. Tickets will be on sale today at the Senior High school athletic office, and reserved seat ducats will be sold tonight at ticket windows under the west stands of the Jones stadium. End zone bleacher seat tickets will be sold at the north end of Jones stadium, officials emphasized.

Two Junior College Teams Lose Games

(By The Associated Press)

Two Southwestern junior college conference football teams opened the season last night by taking lickings, one of them being the defending champion Tyler Apaches.

The Apaches lost to Little Rock Junior college 14-7. Schreiner Institute bowed to Southwest Texas Junior college 12-0.

Two other members of the conference won their games, John Tarleton beating Clifton 13-0 and Paris licking Panola college of Carthage 13-7.

San Angelo swings into action tonight, meeting Hillsboro, champion of the Texas Junior college conference, at San Angelo. Tomorrow night Kilgore will play Ranger at Kilgore and Lamar of Beaumont will engage Brownsville junior college at Beaumont.

JITTERBUGS FALL IN

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Two young couples sought to escape the heat by rowing out to a partly submerged ship in the East River. A few hours later a police launch went to rescue them. While jitterbugging they had fallen into the river.

Raiders Are In Top Condition For Game

When the Red Raiders of Texas Tech called it quits last night about 9:15 under the lights in Jones Stadium, they almost completed their final work in preparation for their game Saturday night against West Texas State Teachers College.

The backs and linemen were sent through a long dummy scrimmage, with particular attention paid to timing and blocking assignments. Coach Dell Morgan, looking for offensive combinations, used several groups in the backfield, with the emphasis on speed.

The Texas Tech-West Texas State Teachers opening game of the season at Jones stadium Saturday night will be on the air. Radio Station KFYO has announced that it will start broadcast of the Raider-Buffalo tilt at 8 p. m. Ray McNally, new sports announcer for KFYO, will give the play-by-play description for fans unable to attend.

After the drill was over, the Raiders were almost as ready to play the Buffaloes Saturday night as they could be. They still were learning plays, but they showed signs of picking up the tempo from their performances of the past two weeks.

The Raiders are in good physical condition, with no serious injuries on the squad. Physically they are ready; the big worry hinges on whetner they are mentally up for the Buffaloes. Coach Frank Kimbrough at Canyon will have his visiting Buffs more than ready and the fact that gambling cards are giving WTSTC and 14 points is another factor in his favor.

Buffs Remember Last Year

Kimbrough would rather have his team on the short end of the odds. It's a good psychological factor to use on his eleven and the Buffs hardly need much more to spur them on. They remember that 21-13 defeat handed them by the Raiders last year, after they had been leading 13-0. If this year's Buff team gets that much of a lead, they might not be beaten.

When Tech takes the field Saturday night in the season's Border Conference inaugural, look for the Raiders to throw a lot of short passes from an intricate T, along with quick-opening line plays to give the backfield speedsters a chance to hit the open. The Raiders will field a team that largely is experienced, both in the line and backfield, with a good deal of heft in it.

Today the coaches will hold a chalk talk with the players, perfecting blocking and play assignments. A light practice drill will be held in the afternoon, after which the Raiders will do no work until Saturday night.

Coaches Polk Robison and Tipp Mooney leave today for Philadelphia, Pa., where they will scout the Villanova-Texas A. and M game.

WTSTC BUFFS EXPECTED TO GIVE RAIDERS GOOD TILT

CANYON, Sept. 17. (Special)—The West Texas State College Buffaloes went back to the practice field this week with but one purpose in mind—to get in the best possible mental and physical condition for their Border Conference football game with Texas Tech in Lubbock next Saturday night.

Winners over Arizona State College of Flagstaff by a score of 28 to 0 in the first game of the season here last Saturday night, the Buffaloes are doped strong enough to give the Red Raiders a good tussle. However, Coach Frank Kimbrough found plenty to criticize even though the Buffs were in no danger of being defeated in the Flagstaff game.

In fact, the starters played only the first nine minutes of the game. The second team and other reserves played all the rest of the way. Kimbrough knows better than anyone the result of the Tech game depends in a great deal on manpower. While he has utmost confidence in his first team's being capable of holding its own, he knows the Tech coaches have him bested in numbers, especially in the line where some of the Buffaloes are ailing.

Chief worry of the Buffaloes coaches is the problem created by injuries to both starting guards. Harold Dalton, sophomore of Brownfield, left guard, and Pete Bromley, junior of Clarendon, right guard, played only a couple of minutes against Flagstaff. Dalton suffered a broken leg in last spring's training and it hasn't healed correctly. Bromley hurt a leg during the summer vacation when a team of horses ran away with him on a ranch. Neither can possibly be anywhere near par for the Tech game. Too, it is doubtful if Dalton will be ready to go a full game until after mid-season.

The rest of the regulars, including the famed ball-carrying trio, Bill Cross, Eddie Conner and Lloyd Johnson and the passing quarterback, Cloyce Box, are hale and hearty. Too, there are more adept reserves in the backfield.

Local Softball Team Defeated

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 17 (Special) — The Lubbock, Tex., Bluebonnet-Sunbeamer laundry softball team was still in the national softball tournament here today, but they no longer boasted of a perfect record.

The Lone Star state nine suffered its first defeat of the tournament here last night, going down 5-1 before the Taft, Calif., Merchants. Manager Mac Peeples, one of the nation's best hurlers, limited the Lubbock team to three hits ning to avert a whitewash. The California hurler flew 1,200 miles California hurler flem 1,200 miles yesterday just to join his team for the final games of the tourney.

The Sunbeamers will play again Saturday night, when they enter the semi-final round of the elimination bracket. A victory would send them against the California nine again.

J. D. "Junior" Brown, acquired by the Lubbock team just for this tournament, wasn't hit hard, giving up only five safeties, but his teammates made four costly errors behind him.

Taft Rolls In Sixth

Taft scored five times in the top of the sixth on three singles and four Lubbock errors. Peeples scratched an infield hit, but was erased in a pickel barrel. Then Lufrail was safe on A. J. Collier's error, Holmstead singled to centerfield and both runners scored when G. W. Warden booted on MacMillan's grounder. Francis punched a single over third scoring MacMillan and James Abbott's error gave Durgsone life, and allowed Francis to cross the plate.

Durgsone was caught in a rundown for the second out of the inning, but Bechtol singled over second and scored when Collier dropped Morris' fly for what should have been the third out. The next batter popped to Warden and the inning was over.

Boyd Watkins led off the Lubbock sixth with a single to centerfield and advanced on Brown's single to left. Wally Fowler and Abbott fanned, but Jim Joe Rieger lined a single into left centerfield to plate Watkins.

The line score:

Junior Squads Launch Drives

Eight area junior elevens blasted the lid off the 1948 schedule in the new South Plains Junior High football league Thursday, with the three Lubbock teams and Plainview chalking up initial triumphs.

Brilliant running, passing and punting by Billy Presley, hard-driving fullback, paced the J. T. Hutchinson Rangers of Lubbock to a surprising 14-6 victory over the Seminole juniors last night at Chapman field.

Jumped Into Lead

The speedy Seminole crew jumped into the lead in the first minute of the tilt when Richard Lindley, left halfback on the fast-breaking T-formation, took the opening kickoff, and romped 85 yards to paydirt. But Presley smashed 10 yards to the double stripe late in the initial period, scored on a 45-yard gallop in the second quarter and cracked through the line for two extra points to give the light Hutchinson crew the win.

Tailback Jerry Rooker turned in a standout performance for the Hutchinson gridders, as did Center Joe Don Boyd, with the elusive Lindley taking top honors for the Seminole squad.

In a nightcap setto, the Seminole junior "B" team took an 18-0 win over the Hutchinson "B" squad. The Lubbock boys made several scoring threats, but couldn't push across the double stripe.

O. L. Slaton Junior Win

Lubbock's powerful O. L. Slaton Junior High eleven rolled to an impressive 20-0 victory over the Lamesa Juniors Thursday afternoon at Lamesa in another opening tussle.

Fullback Johnny Tatum tallied the first O. L. Slaton touchdown on a five-yard smash in the first quarter, then Quarterback Dickie Lowrey added a second six-pointer on a one-yard quarterback sneak. Bo Sexton, right halfback in the O. L. Slaton "T" and single wing offensive setup, chalked up the final touchdown on a 10-yard jaunt over right tackle in the final period.

Lubbock's Carroll Thompson crew turned in the most top-heavy triumph of the slate, pounding out a 45-0 win over the Brownfield juniors last night at Brownfield.

Fullback Don Jones set the scoring pace for the Hub city representatives, tallying three touchdowns on runs and passing to End Tommy Yelvington for two more six-pointers. Hight Half Paul Henson scored a single touchdown and Yelvington added three extra points on placement kicks.

Plainview's smooth-working junior gridders sounded a warning in the loop title chase by handing the Littlefield youngsters a 24-6 drubbing Thursday afternoon at Plainview.

Right Half Wilbur Wilson topped the Plainview scorers with two touchdowns, but Fullback Jackie Hoover and End Lee Dye added single six-pointers. Hoover made his tally on a run, but Dye caught a pass from quarterback Charles Harris to mark up his touchdown.

They salvaged the second, 8-4.

The league-leading Boston Braves were idle in the National so the runnerup Pittsburgh Pirates and third place Brooklyn Dodgers each gained a half game.

Pittsburgh fanned its hopes by walloping New York, 10-6, but they still trail the Braves by 4½ games.

Brooklyn slugged Cincinnati, 12-6, their 18th victory in 22 starts against the Reds.

Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis were idle in the National and Philadelphia and Chicago were not scheduled in the American.

Two Conference Tilts Are Scheduled

St. Louis Browns Slap Bosox Again

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Wrier

Those pore little St. Louis Browns who sold their stars to Boston for some $375,000, are biting the hand that fed them.

Last night's nibble, a 3-1 Red Sox loss, reduced Boston's American league lead to one game over New York. It also provided Bill Dewitt with more marketing material.

No sooner had the Browns' general manager, Dewitt, announced the re-hiring of Manager Zack Taylor for another season, than the sixth-place Browns started chewing on the faltering Rex Sox. A lean Willowy gent by the name of Cliff Fannin did the most damage.

Just An Also Ran

Fannin was just another 6-won-8-lost also ran at St. Louis last year. When the Sox came shopping with about $375,000 they didn't buy him.

Boston went into the game, knowing that the runnerup New York Yankees had divided an afternoon doubleheader at Detroit. If they won they would pick up a half game. Instead they were victimized by Fannin's magic.

Fannin shut out the Red Sox until the ninth.

Cleveland took advantage of Boston's loss to close the gap between first and third place to 2½ games. The Tribe handed Washington its 16th straight loss 6-3.

The Yankees missed a chance to tie Boston for the lead by losing the first game at Detroit, 2-1.

Paschal Falls To Breckenridge 6-0

(By The Associated Press)

Class AA schools did better than break even against city conference teams last night in Texas school boy football games.

Breckenridge beat Paschal (Fort Worth) 6-0 while Ennis was tying Crozier Tech (Dallas) 6-6 and Baytown was doing the same against Lamar of Houston.

In the only other game played during the night John Reagan of Houston trimmed its city conference brother, San Antonio Tech, 26-18.

Tonight there will be more than 50 games over the state.

South Plains And Panhandle Elevens Face Action Tonight On Wide Front

Inter-conference, non-conference and two conference games are on the schedule for South Plains and Panhandle football teams tonight, as the high school elevens again return to the gridiron for a full slate of games.

Two conference games in District 5-A gets that group of schools off to the jump on the other conferences, with Pecos going to Andrews in one tilt and Wink traveling to Denver City in the other. The other grid elevens take on outside opposition, while building for the conference race.

Three clashes on the South Plains involve teams from District 3-A and District 4-A, with the latter appearing to have the upper hand. Ralls' Jackrabbits go to Levelland, where the Lobos appear to have too much cannon fodder for them to beat. Crosbyton visits Tahoka and the Bulldogs shouldn't have too much trouble with the Chiefs, one of the potential powers in 3-A. And Spur's Bulldogs go to Post, where anything but mayhem can be expected by the visiting eleven.

One Saturday game is listed, Kermit of 5-A going to El Paso to play Austin.

The complete slate of games follows:

DISTRICT 1-AA
San Angelo at LUBBOCK.
Childress at Amarillo.
Pampa at Graham.
Lamesa at Plainview.

Plains Licks Denver B Eleven, 44 to 0

PLAINS, Sept. 17 (Special) — The Denver City B squad returned to its home last night following a 44-0 defeat at the hands of a smoothly working Plains High school eleven, the Cowboys scoring almost at will.

Leland Ellison, with three touchdowns and an extra point, led the scoring parade for the Cowboys, with assistance from three other backs. Jess Worsham had two touchdowns and an extra point, while Bob McCargo and Rufus Brian each scored once.

Outstanding in the line for Plains was J. T. Jackson at a guard position, while Edward Taylor and Teeter Wauson were great defensively in the backfield. Jimmy O'Neil and Charles Hall performed superbly for the visitors' backfield, while Bill Fisher at tackle and Jim Maynard at guard were the outstanding linemen from Denver City.

Between ... The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

We usually pay little or no attention to anonymous letters, notes, cards or what have you, but yesterday we received a card that tickled our humor bone. It was, as you might guess, from that irrepressible band of baseball fans in Lamesa. You may say what you may about the small crowds at their games and their baseball team, but they do get out and talk it up for them. And this card is typical of their ability to sympathize with their fellow baseball fans. Only from Lamesa would it have been appropriate this year.

• • •

The card, one of those that folds once from a square sheet and then folds again to make a book, bears a spray of flowers in the bottom righthand corner. In the left center there is a wreath and adjacent to the wreath, this lettering: "A Message of Sympathy." Inside, in flowing script, are these printed words: "Thinking of you in your time of sorrow and extending sincere sympathy to you." And under that, in neat feminine handwriting, is this tender message: "My deepest sympathy goes to you and the Hubbers in your time of loss. A Lamesa Fan!" Personally, we loved it. Thank you.

• • •

The Lubbock Baseball club threw a nice party for the Hubber players Wednesday night at the Supper club, a reserved climax to the baseball season. Everyone but the Lamesa pair, Chris Haskins and Jackie Wilcox, were able to get to the party, although Floyd Walker, Red Ramsey and Fred Pollock already had left for their homes. This is the second year that the party has been held at the club and even though the season ended differently, the players forgot baseball for one night—part of the time.

• • •

Most of the Hubbers are breaking up their temporary homes here and returning to their homes. Manager Jackie Sullivan has gone to his home in McKinney for a week. Royce Mills and his wife left for a visit in Wyoming. Gene Hixon went to Dallas. Roland Miller is going to St. Louis, Mo. Cotton Russell and Bob Clodfelter have gone to their homes in Fort Worth. Roy Larue will be pulling out for his home, and Haskins and Wilcox, of course, live in Lamesa. Frank McAlexander and Chick Fowler will remain in Lubbock, if they can find jobs. And Don Moore is staying here for a while, then will go to Clovis, N. M., for a railroad job.

• • •

Mills also will be job hunting when he returns. He already had begun before he left, but he will be looking in all seriousness when he returns. We were told, at the start of the season when he left the Lubbock Packing company, that he would return to his job there. But apparently the company changed its mind. Jackie Sullivan, of course, sold his filling station mid-way through the season. Fowler said that he might go back to Silsbee for a visit, going to Santone Sept. 25 to spot football for us. The players ended the season disappointed that they didn't win the playoffs, but entirely satisfied in every other way.

Floyd Walker, incidentally, is in the process of trying to talk his girl into marrying him. She visited out here during the ball season and is a lovely girl. But Floyd doesn't have much time to work. She leaves for college Saturday and he didn't get home until yesterday. If we know Jumbo, that will be just that much more challenge to him!

Apparently some Texas Tech students, instead of sowing wild oats, took time off this summer to plant wheat. They did a pretty thorough job, too, if the following word for word report in the Abilene Reporter-News is correct: "The sign of the Double T, familiar brand of Texas Tech, has appeared here numerous times during the football season, but never until recently has it been 'painted' by Mother Nature. Recent visitors to Eagle Stadium at Fair Park were astonished to see out in the middle of the stadium field two bold, green letters—the sign of the Double T. Close observation shows that the two letters are not formed by paint, but by green, growing wheat."

• • •

Hardin-Simmons students seem to have received a double cross, as well as a Double T. An anonymous caller last night, we didn't bother to check the name or other identification, seemed to know something about it. He declared that the base of the T was one yard across, while the Double T top bar was three yards across. The entire T was 20 yards high. It is a beautiful green. And our informant went on to say that if they had enough rain in Canyon this fall, a similar mysterious growth might appear there!

Pressure In SWC On SMU Mustangs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Sept. 17—Matty Bell would dearly love to get the heat off his Southern Methodist football team but is taking the wrong route to do it. He'd have to get rid of a guy named Doak Walker, which would be just like chopping off his right arm.

Walker heads a star-studded backfield that will keep speculation away from any possible line weaknesses, at least until somebody gives S.M.U. a licking.

No Weak Sisters

Bell says he could have an even better team than last year when Southern Methodist was the undefeated champion of the Southwest conference and still lose four games. It's all because of the fact that the conference doesn't have any weak elevens this season, Bill explains.

The cagey Methodist mentor isn't admitting that he expects a better team than in 1947, pointing to losses that swept away a half-dozen or more top linemen and put him fresh out of blocking backs. He thinks he has solved the blocking back situation but can't reconcile himself to believe his forward wall will be as good.

Set-Up Is Revamped

Bell said he had revamped his backfield set-up in order to let everybody not carrying the ball, along with a flock of linemen do the blocking. He has worked out deep and shallow double wingback formations along with a Y formation. He will even show you on his blackboard how these formations operate. It's convincing.

All-America Walker looks even better than last year if that's possible. He's one of the finest all-around backfielders ever to step foot on a Southwestern gridiron. He's one of four speedy backs, all doing 100 yards in 10.2 or better.

Three members of that rampaging backfield of 1947 return. They are Walker, Paul Page and Dick McKissack. The fourth member of the backfield will be Kyle Rote, versatile sophomore. The opposition had found Walker enough to watch; now there's double trouble because Rote is the same type as Walker—likely to run or pass for a touchdown any minute.

Plenty Of Replacements

There are plenty of top replacements—Gil Johnson, that passin' man; Gene Roberts, who can throw that pigskin, too; Dave Moon, who can do any job—he's filled three positions in three years, and Frank Payne, a dashing young man with the ball.

The best of punting will be furnished by Bill Richards, who lettered in 1946 but was ineligible last season. And there are others to round out one of the most imposing backfield groups in the country.

Bell says his question marks are at guard and center, meaning he isn't worrying about ends and tackles. But he has some good starters at guard and center.

Bobby Folsom and Raleigh Blakley are the regular ends and Joe Ethridge and John Hamberger the tackles. Carl Wallace is about as good as either Folsom or Blakley and there are plenty of sturdy fellows back of Ethridge and Hamberger although none are lettermen.

Goodwin At Center

Guards will be Floyd Lewis and Walter Roberds. From there on reserves are numerous but not many of them are anywhere near equal to Lewis and Roberds.

Fred Goodwin, who operated back of Cecil Sutphin and Lloyd Baxter enough to earn a letter last year, will be the center. Bell hopes he doesn't get hurt. There isn't much experience backing up Goodwin and it's uncertain what might be expected.

"I'll have a fine football team," says Bell, who is getting more irritated every time somebody calls him "Moanin' Matty," a tag hung on him years ago. Bell wants it understood that if he just comments on the facts and they indicate his team will have trouble it isn't moaning.

Pro Loop Will Start Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The National football league opens its 29th season tonight in Boston, three weeks and 12 games after the first kickoff in the rival All-America conference.

The initial attraction matches the Green Bay Packers against the Boston Yanks in Fenway park with the Packers favored.

Green Bay newcomers include Jug Girard of Wisconsin, Perry Moss of Illinois, Jay Rhodemyre of Kentucky and Fred Provo of Washington. Rhodemyre, a center, is the only one listed to start.

New Yank Faces

New Yanks are Frank Muehlheuser of Colgate, Bob Davis of Georgia State, John Nolan of Penn State, Vaughn Mancha of Alabama and Jim Tyree of Oklahoma.

The National league won't get around to playing a full schedule until Oct. 3. Following tonight's contest the next game will be Wednesday night when Detroit visits Los Angeles.

The All-America conference also has a game tonight. Cleveland's champion Browns meet the revived Chicago Rockets in Soldier field. The Browns have won their only two conference games, against Los Angeles and Buffalo. Chicago upset Baltimore after losing to the same clubs Cleveland beat.

Make It Two In Row

The surprising Baltimore Colts made it two in a row last night over the eastern division champion New York Yankees. This time the score was 27 to 14 as Bally Hillenbrand and Y. A. Tittle did most of the damage.

With Buddy Young sidelined by injuries and several other backfield men battered and bruised, the Yankees haven't been able to put together a successful offense. They've been outclassed in three straight games, two with the Colts and one with San Francisco.

Tittle, who set a passing yardage record in his first meeting with the Yankees, again found the New York defenses no puzzle. He passed 19 times and connected with 10 for 241 yards.

With Baltimore staking claim to eastern honors, the western division race still is wide open. San Francisco, undefeated in both exhibition and conference play, takes on Los Angeles in San Francisco Sunday. The Dons have won two and lost to Cleveland.

BOWLING SCORES

Hub Laundry's keglers retained ....f spot in the three-way deadlock for the lead position in the City Bowling league by winning two of three games from the Lubbock National team Thursday night at Plamor Lanes.

Maxine Buckner paced the Laundry crew with a 194-508 series, while Paola Patton topped the losers with a 233-546.

The State Drug pin-toppers, sparked by Millie Godsey's 172-450 series, swept two of three games from the KCBD crew.

Lubbock Packing, another league leader won two of three games from McGuire's in a feature match. Ines Green led the Packing representatives with a 146-418 total, while Lorrie Beavers tallied a 179-395.

Mission Orange capitalized on Ann Owen's 192-503 series to win two of three games from Hemphill-Wells. Oliver Behrens topped the losers with a 180-518.

The league standings:

Teams	Won	Lost
Hub Laundry	4	2
State Drug	4	2
Lubbock Packing	4	2
Hemphill-Wells	3	3
Mission Orange	3	3
K. C. B. D.	2	4

Cadets Facing Hardest Task

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest conference plunges into tough intersectional schedule this weekend with prospects of coming off to the good in the opening round of games.

Texas plays Louisiana State at Austin, Texas A. and M. meets Villanova at Philadelphia and Texas Christian tackles Kansas at Lawrence, Kans., tomorrow.

Must Stage Upset

Texas and Texas Christian are expected to come through but the Aggies will be staging a major upset if they lick the veteran Villanova outfit.

One other conference team also swings into the campaign tomorrow, Arkansas meeting Alibene Christian college of the Texas conference at Little Rock.

Rice, Southern Methodist and Baylor will be watching the proceedings with interest. These conference members do not play opening games until next week.

Texas is a two to four-touchdown favorite over a Louisiana State eleven that fails to stack up with any LSU team of recent years. The heavily-manned Longhorns will be playing before probably the largest crowd ever to see an opening game at Austin.

The stadium has been enlarged to handle 66,000 if necessary.

Has Never Lost

Texas Christian plays a Kansas team that appears well below the 1947 outfit that battled the Christians to a scoreless tie. TCU never has lost to Kansas and doesn't appear ready to do it this time.

The Aggies would dearly love to lick the powerful Villanova team and put fear into Southwest conference foes who have marked the Cadets off as championship contenders this year.

Here's how they look Saturday:

Texas vs Louisiana State at Austin, 2-PM-The Longhorns should win without too much worry; four touchdowns.

Texas Christian vs Kansas at Lawrence, Kans., 2-PM—The Horned Frogs should trample the Kansas Jayhawks by a couple of touches.

Arkansas vs Abilene Christian college at Little Rock, 2:30-PM—Arkansas by three touchdowns.

Texas A. and M. vs Villanova at Philadelphia, 1 PM—We're taking a flier on the Aggies to nose through and surprise everybody—including us.

Black Hubbers Drop Contest To Senators

Lubbock's Black Hubbers, playing as the visiting team, lost 8 to 6 to the Detroit Senators on the Hereford diamond last night, and the Senators maintained their record of no losses this year to Lubbock.

The Black Hubbers go to Hobbs Sunday afternoon for a game with the Tigers at Memorial park at 3 o'clock.

The last game of the season for the club is to be played at Sam Rosenthal field here next Thursday night, with the Midland Black Indians supplying the competition. The game was announced as a benefit for the Black Hubbers.

The line score last night:

Black Hubbers	001	020	300	—	6	7	4
Detroit Sens	201	03x	20x	—	8	11	3

Childress, Johns and Bracey; Barnes and Stallworth.

Midland Leads 2-0 In Longhorn League

MIDLAND, Sept. 17 (AP) — Midland held a 2-0 lead over Vernon today in the battle for the Longhorn league championship.

The Indians made it two straight last night by trimming the Dusters 3-0.

The clubs will be idle tonight and will move to Vernon tomorrow night to open a three-game stand.

Sam Van Hoozer pitched a four-hitter at Vernon and never came close to getting into trouble.

Idalou Wins, 46-0 Over Cooper Squad

COOPER, Sept. 17 (Special)—Halfback Leon Jarrett and Fullback Don Seale sparked Idalou's potent grid machine to a 46-0 triumph over Cooper in a District 4-B conference tilt here last night.

Jarrett and Seale paced Idalou's short punt formation offense with three touchdowns each, with Back Alvin Joiner tallying the other six-pointer.

Center Bobby Vinson was probably the outstanding Cooper gridder, although Backs Ernest Cobie and John Allen turned in creditable performances.

The fire on the SS Morro Castle in 1934 killed 125 persons.

Colleges To Lift Lid On 1948 Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) —The lid lifts just a crack on the college football season this weekend. Popping out are the first games of three major conferences, a pair of intersectional affairs, a good southern scrap and a whole hatful of other contests.

Much of the action centers on the West Coast. The Rose bowl Trojans of the University of Southern California entertain the University of Utah at Los Angeles tonight. Tomorrow the Pacific coast conference opens with Oregon State at U.C.L.A. and Idaho at Oregon State. Santa Clara will be at California and San Jose State at Stanford in other Saturday games.

The intersectional clashes pit Texas A. & M. against Villanova at Philadelphia and Texas Christian at Kansas tomorrow afternoon.

The University of Texas' Sugar bowl champions will open at home tomorrow against Louisiana State.

Four Southern conference elevens will see action. The Colonials of George Washington university will test Wake Forest's new T-formation in a conference affair at Wake Forest tomorrow afternoon. In night games Davidson will be at home to Elon and the University of Richmond entertains Randolph-Macon.

Oklahoma A. and M. opens Missouri Valley proceedings against Wichita at Wichita. St. Louis U plays host to Dubuque and Drake takes on South Dakota State tonight in non-conference games.

None of the major eastern schools are scheduled but Iowa State of the Big Seven will get underway tomorrow. The Cyclones play Iowa Teachers in Ames.

Others scattered games include Montana State at Utah State (tonight' Morningside at North Dakota (tonight); Abilene Christian at Arkansas; Santa Barbara at Oregon; Colorado at Colorado A. & M. (tonight); Colorado Mines at Denver U.; West Texas Teachers at Texas Tech; Waynesburg at West Virginia; and Loyola (Los Angeles) at St. Mary's (Sunday).

Scribe Not Too Hopeful With First Pick Of Football Crop

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—With one eye on the national amateur tennis championship and the other on the pigskin prospectus — the first edition of Fraley's Follies or a cross-eyed short cut to the poorhouse with the weekend football selections!

NATIONAL

Villanova over Texas A. and M. —The Wildcats are big, burly and bent on capturing this to start a season aimed at paying back the Army for some of those war-time lumps. The Aggies don't rank among the mighty in the cow country and this shouldn't help their rep much.

Texas over LSU — The Longhorns are touted as the best in the Southwest and that means they have quite a football team. As for LSU, well, it is located in Baton Rouge.

WEST

California over Santa Clara; UCLA over Washington State; Oregon State over Idaho; Stanford over San Jose State; Oregon over Santa Barbara; Colorado A. and M. over Colorado college; Utah State over Montana State; Denver over Colorado Mines, and San Diego State over Brigham Young.

SOUTHWEST

TCU over Kansas; Arkansas over Abilene Christian; Texas Tech over West Texas; Hardin-Simmons over Jonesboro.

MIDWEST

Drake over South Dakota State; St. Louis over Dubuque; Oklahoma Aggies over Wichita; Nebraska Wesleyan over Omaha; Toledo over Bates.

SOUTH

Wake Forest over George Washington; West Virginia over Waynesburg; Catawba over Atlantic Christian.

SOUTHWEST OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Washburn over Peru State; Carson Newman over Newberry; High Point over Cullowhee.

Pampa Holds Game Lead Over Amarillo

AMARILLO, Sept. 17 (AP) — Pampa and Amarillo, finalists in the battle for the West Texas-New Mexico league championship, rested today with Pampa holding a one-game lead in the play-off series.

The clubs will resume tomorrow night, then will shift to Pampa Sunday to play three games before returning here.

Last night the clubs hooked up in a slugging duel that saw 30 hits pounded on both sides, with Pampa edging through 13-10 mainly on the work of Roy Parker, Pampa pitcher. Parker went the route on the mound and drove in five runs with a homer, double and outfield fly.

Cats Hold Narrow Texas League Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas league's top finishers were out in front today in the first round play-offs but it wouldn't take much to change it.

Fort Dorth, which wound up first over the full season route held a 2-1 lead over Shreveport, the fourth-place club, by taking a 7-1 decision last night.

Tulsa, the second-place club had Houston 2-0 as the clubs prepared to resume play at Houston after being idle last night because of rain.

Fort Worth will call on Chris Van Cuyk, a 14-7 winner, to oppose Shreveport while the Sports rely on Garth Mann, who took 10 decisions against 16 defeats in the regular campaign.

Fort Worth and Shreveport play two more games at Shreveport before moving back to Fort Worth—that is unless the Cats were to take the next two, which would close out the series.

Big State Playoffs Shift To Wichita

SHERMAN, Sept. 17 (AP) — The Big State league play-off shifts to Wichita Falls tomorrow with the Spudders hungry for a victory. Sherman-Denison has Wichita Falls two-down and the Spudders have made only one run in both games.

Last night Sherman-Denison whipped Wichita Falls 7-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Rafael Rivas. The night before Sherman-Denison had whitewashed the Spudders 6-0.

The clubs take tonight off.

Manufacturing plants have more than 41,000 fires annually.

Longview In Finals Of Lone Star League

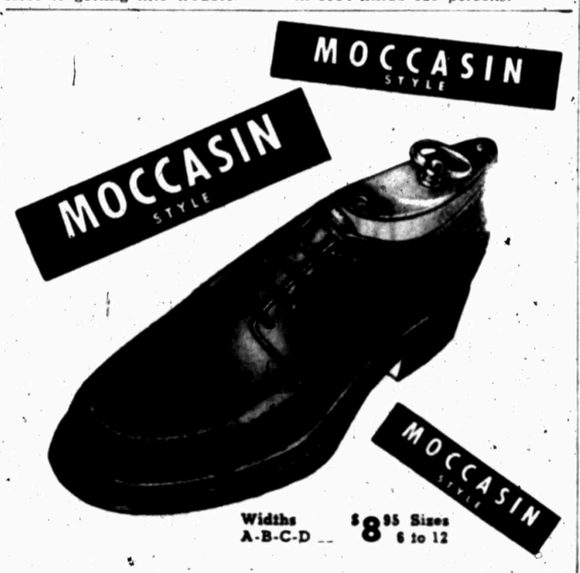

(By The Associated Press)

Longview's Texans waited today for an opponent to be determined for the championship play-off of the Lone Star league.

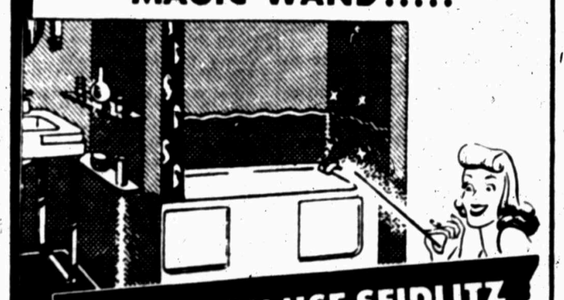

The Texans last night licked Tyler 6-3 to take the series four games to three and advance to the finals.

Meanwhile Kilgore was beating Henderson 8-2 to square the other series. The clubs meet at Kilgore again tonight to determine the winner.

FRONTIER PATROLS INCREASED

West Tightens Its Embargo In Berlin

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 17—The Western Allies tightened their counter-blockade of the Russian zone today to shut off the last flow of goods from western Germany to the east.

Patrols were increased at crossing points along the length of Bizonia's frontier with the Soviet zone to halt any east-bound freight on the highways.

Meanwhile, German Communist leaders assailed the planners of a western German government today as Soviet jeeps prowled Berlin's sector borders. Several vehicles made quick sallies into American territory.

Reds Blast Convention

Leaders of Germany's Communist-controlled Socialist Unity party (SED) loosed a blast at western Germany's constitutional convention at Bonn and branded it a plan to disrupt Germany.

The Allied counter-blockade was imposed late in June as reprisal for the Russians' sealing the roads to Berlin. It stopped rail and highway freight movement to the Soviet zone from western Germany, cutting off vital Ruhr and steel supplies to the Russians.

Since then, however, Germans on both sides of the interzonal borders have developed leaks and restored varying amounts of local trade. Frequently subterfuge and trickery have been employed to get cargoes past border controls.

The western counter-blockade has pinched sharply the economy of the Soviet zone.

To keep the embargo lid on tightly as long as the Russians maintain their Berlin blockade, the western powers are plugging border leaks.

At Helmstedt, major control point between the British and Soviet zones district, police were increased by 100, and police at the highway points were boosted from eight to 24. The amplified guard forces have been given strict orders to stop any shipments of goods eastward.

British transport authorities said similar measures were taken throughout Bizonia.

The Russian-licensed newspaper Neues Deutschland carried a front page resolution passed by SED members at a meeting last night attacking the Bonn meeting.

Jeep Patrols In Force

Soviet jeep patrols were in force in the blockaded city yesterday as western sector anti-Communists held funeral services for a 16-year-old youth killed in bloody fighting after last Thursday's anti-Soviet mass meeting.

No trouble resulted from the incursions into American territory, although a Soviet soldier fired one shot over the head of a German thief near the U. S. sector.

SED leaders charged that the Bonn meeting was "against the Soviet union and Soviet occupation forces on the grounds of recent events in Berlin."

The statement declared the parliamentary council "is employed by a capitalistic monopoly of the United States."

Truman Trip

likely will make three other railroad trips and a plane visit to Florida to round out a 15,000 to 20,000 mile stumping campaign.

Mr. Truman's first major campaign stop tomorrow, at the national plowing match in Dexter, Iowa, may find him behind a plow.

At least he told a rural electrification meeting here last night:

"If they're going to have a mule, I might try my hand and see if I can still plow a straight furrow."

Important addresses during his first week's travel are at: Denver, Monday; Salt Lake City, Tuesday night; San Francisco, Wednesday night and Los Angeles, Thursday night.

Others To Be Made

In addition, there will be scores of rear platform talks as the presidential special rolls west.

The President will spend tomorrow night at his home at Independence, Mo., before starting the second leg of the trip.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his GOP opponent for the presidency, meanwhile stocked up more ammunition for his opening campaign address Monday at Des Moines, Iowa. He will confer with farm paper editors tomorrow on agricultural problems which are expected to figure largely in the campaign crossfire.

Crewmen

among those rescued."

The Bibb said nearly all those rescued had bruises and minor injuries and all were weary from "25 hours of fighting rising water."

Coast Guard and Navy planes participated in the Gaspar rescue operation.

The Bibb, under another skipper, rescued all 69 persons aboard the Bermuda Sky Queen when the huge flying boat was forced down on the stormy Atlantic more than 800 miles east of Newfoundland last Oct. 14.

Yesterday's two rescues were effected within a few hours—the Leicester 750 miles east of New York and the Gaspar 390 miles northeast of the freighter.

The rescue of the 39 men from the Leicester was made by the American freighter Cecil N. Bean and the Argentine freighter Tropero. Six of the freighter's crew were believed lost.

The Gaspar lost one man overboard before the rescues.

Twenty crewmen of the Leicester got to the Bean in lifeboats through high waves and a gale. Nineteen others reached the Tropero in like manner. Among the latter was the freighter's captain, H. N. Lawson.

ly million votes cast in the Aug. 28 runoff primary.

Stevenson's allegations in his petition for the permanent injunction claim fraud in the voting in Zapata and Jim Wells counties, and that a revision from those counties would swing the election to him.

Has Not Refused

The affidavit which was handed to the Texas Supreme court in yesterday's proceedings said the secretary of state "has never stated that he would not so certify the name of Lyndon B. Johnson, but, on the contrary has made positive statements to the press and radio . . . that, under the present condition of the record, he would certify the name of Lyndon B. Johnson as such candidate (for senator).

Furthermore, the affidavit signed by Brown said, "the only way he (Brown) could be prevented from so doing would be a proper action in a proper court restraining him from so doing."

Brown said he would not accept a telephone call as official notification and planned to send the ballot—with Johnson's name included to the printers at noon tomorrow.

No Official Citation

He said he had received no official citation, and that he would have to be served with court notice before he would stop the listing of Johnson's name.

Brown said he was notified by Clint Small, attorney for Stevenson, in a telephone call late last night.

"I asked him when I would be served," Brown said.

The secretary of state quoted Small as having said he thought the telephone call was sufficient legal notice.

However, today Small expressed the opinion "a citation will probably be served."

Brown said he would make no effort to dodge the service.

"I will be available at my office all day," he said.

Once the citation is served, he will follow the order of the court, he said.

Small said he was advised of the action in a telephone call from C. C. Renfro, Dallas attorney and legal adviser of Stevenson's.

Bernadotte twice succeeded in bringing about a truce in the war for Palestine between Jews and Arabs. The truces have been fitful, punctuated by shelling and fighting. Both sides appeared to expect the present truce, now two months old, to run out at almost any moment.

Head Of Red Cross

Bernadotte was head of the Swedish Red Cross and the husband of the former Estelle Manville of New York. He was 53.

Bernadotte had been shuttling for months between the Arab and Israeli capitals in his efforts to bring peace and enforce the truces. He was scheduled to report to the United Nations in Paris next week.

While in Damascus he told newspapermen that both Arabs and Jews in Jerusalem were "trigger happy."

He explained that frequent shooting broke out in the city without either side knowing what it was shooting at.

"It's like this," he said. "They shoot into the dark at night. They snipe by daylight. Excuse me, but it is a most idiotic thing."

Weather To Be Good For Football Games

Good weather is on tap for both grid games scheduled this weekend at Jones stadium, a forecast issued early this afternoon from U. S. Weather Bureau station here said.

The weekend grid weather menu, as mixed by the forecaster, calls for clear skies, light southerly winds, and temperatures hovering around 70 for both games.

No precipitation is expected either tonight or tomorrow. It hasn't rained in Lubbock since Sept. 8, and the weatherman says coaches can toss out the idea of having mud cleats ready for weekend grid tussles.

CISCO, Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Charles H. Rabbe, jr., 28, of Hamilton, who died in the hospital here yesterday of injuries received in an oil rig fall.

Rabbe fell eight feet Wednesday night while working on a rig 25 miles north of here. Witnesses said he climbed up on the derrick to place a new light blub in a socket and suffered a shock, freezing to the socket. When the current was turned off, he fell and landed on his head on the derrick floor.

Two Hurt When Bus Passes Through Cafe

BEAUMONT, Sept. 17 (AP)—A loaded bus crashed into the front of a cafe at Buna last night, passed on through the side and hit a house next door with two men being injured.

More than 20 passengers in the bus escaped with only bruises. The driver of the bus, Bill Tucker of Beaumont, and O. J. Cowan, who was sitting on the porch of the house, were injured and brought to Beaumont hospitals.

The cafe was empty of customers at the time of the accident. The building was badly damaged.

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 17 (INS)—Jack Levine, Harrison restaurant owner, launched a one-man deflation campaign tonight. The bill of fare: eight-cent sandwiches.

Levine, who operates in Harrison's industrial district, said he was tired of hearing customers complain about high prices.

On 2,000 handbills, headed "beat down inflation," Levine told lunch-hungry workers exactly what the eight-cent sandwich would include:

"Cheese or spiced ham or salami or baloney—two slices.

"White bread—mustard optional—no butter."

"All sandwiches—to go."

Strike Vote By Phone Workers In Five States Will Be Taken

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17. — Union leaders prepared today for a strike vote after the breaking off of negotiations between the Southwestern Bell Telephone company and union representatives for 50,000 employes in five states, including Texas.

The union rejected a company wage offer yesterday. Frank P. Lonergan, vice president of southwestern division 20, Communications Workers of America, described the offer as "ridiculous and insulting." He said the strike vote will be taken "in the near future."

The company and the union met twice yesterday at the request of a federal conciliator. The negotiations on wages and working conditions had been underway since April.

Lonergan said the company made one overall proposal "and said that was it." He asserted "in its total effect it would mean less than we are getting now."

The proposal involved no wage increases in smaller cities, and offered raises ranging from $1 to $3 weekly in larger cities, with the $3 top to apply in St. Louis, the union leader said. He said the increase would average 3.5 cents to 4 cents an hour. But the proposal included withdrawal of certain working conditions in force many years and thus would virtually mean a loss, rather than a gain, he said.

"The offer could hardly be considered . . . a realistic bargaining proposal," Lonergan said.

Southwestern Bell operates in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Thousands Over U. S. Observe Anniversary Of Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Thousands of Americans gather at patriotic ceremonies throughout the nation today to honor the signing of the United States Constitution just 161 years ago.

While the anniversary will be observed in every state and territory, President Truman declined to issue a presidential proclamation, saying that was done just once—on the famous document's 150th anniversary.

One of the major address of the day was scheduled for Lexington, Va., where Chief Justice Vinson was the main speaker before the opening convocation of the bicentennial year of Washington and Lee university.

Organizations Cooperate

S. Denmead Kolb, national chairman of the Sons of the American Revolution—who had asked Mr. Truman to issue the proclamation—said his organization is cooperating this year with the National Association of Real Estate Boards in observance of Constitution day.

The Real Estate association has presented special gavels to each of 310 local boards that have planned programs. The gavels are made from wood grown at Monticello and Mount Vernon, the homes of Thomas Jefferson and George Washington. The wood is banded with steel from the battleship Missouri.

Kolb said he plans to ask Congress next year for a law to honor the occasion.

Constitution day was practically ignored nationally for the first 100 years or so.

Interest in it revived in the early 1900s, when the American form of government was under attack by radical groups, and again in the early part of the late President Roosevelt's term, when many critics believed his recovery legislation was undermining the Constitution.

Kolb said "subversive activities" have increased concern over the Constitution in the last two or three years.

Although warmly defended today, the document had few friends when it was signed on Sept 17, 1787, after four months of secret debate.

Of the 55 state delegates who met in Philadelphia, only 39 signed the finished document. They all went home to strong and widespread criticism.

Rhode Island had refused point blank to send any delegates to the meeting, and did not ratify the Constitution until three years later—and then by a majority of only two votes.

As the years went by, historians and statesmen gave high praise to the drafters of the Constitution and today it is regarded widely as a great and monumental plan. The fundamental framework is unchanged despite 21 amendments, scholars point out, and is expected to remain so for many years.

U. S. Judge Finds Iowans Skeptical

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17. (INS)—Iowans are pretty skeptical as far as Judge John Caskie Collett of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals is concerned.

Judge Collett, a close friend of President Truman, had a flat tire while driving near Lamoni, Iowa, recently.

So he picked out a used tire, for $8, but the tire dealer refused to cash a $10 check issued by the American Bar association, of which Judge Collett is a member. He also declined to cash a personal check for $8.

Judge Collett visited a Lamoni bank, displayed his credentials—including a personal pass to the White House—and the banker turned him down. However, he later relented and cashed the check.

Truman Will Open Drive With Speech At Iowa Plowing Meet

DEXTER, Ia., Sept. 17 (AP) — The best rural drawing card since the days of the national cornhusking contests will mark the occasion of President Truman's opening western campaign speech in this small central Iowa community tomorrow.

It's the national plowing meet for which thousands of midwesterners turn out annually to see the cornbelt's champion plowmen display their artistry.

The President's presence will be an added fillip to an event which in past years has drawn 50,000 persons in its own right. State Democratic chairman Jake More, with his fingers crossed for a break on the weather, predicted today that from 75,000 to 100,000 persons would attend this year's contest at the Mrs. Lois Agg farm near here.

Anxiety Is Acute

More's anxiety over the weather, however, was no more acute than that of the eight women who are preparing a farm dinner of country fried chicken for the President, Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret.

The dinner will be cooked in the house on the Agg farm and served when Mr. Truman completes the major campaign address scheduled for 1:05 p. m. (EST).

The President will speak from an open platform made of wooden planks laid across empty oil drums. The crowd area he will face is surrounded by tents and stands filled with farm equipment displays and facilities for feeding the huge throng.

Although it's a major political appearance for the President, the bi-partisan aspect of the event is pointed up by the fact that Senator Wilson (R-Iowa) will be honor guest at a plowmen's banquet tonight.

Wilson To Be Introduced

Wilson will be introduced tomorrow from the same platform Mr. Truman will use. Democratic hopes that Guy Gilletie, their nominee, can defeat Wilson Nov. 2 are listed among reasons for the President's decision to speak in Iowa.

In addition to the plowing contest numerous soil conservation demonstrations will be in progress or completed. Mr. Truman will visit these after his noon meal and return to the platform to tell the crowd his observations.

The plowing contest is the sixth such national event sponsored by radio station WHO of Des Moines.

Mansfield tumbled to fourth in the event. Buff Douthitt, Pecos, Tex., who won the calf-roping yesterday morning, missed in the afternoon when he took 16 seconds to hogtie his critter. Dan Tylor, Odessa, Tex., was third at 17.1.

First High School Assembly Is Held

The first assembly of the new school year was held at Senior High school Thursday, at which time school life, activities, and clubs were presented.

The program, which took place on the stage of the auditorium, was presented in front of the new cyclorama curtains which were installed at the time the auditorium's window drapes and pull curtains were cleaned and refurbished.

New Organ Installed

As the students gathered for the program, Gerry Hancock played popular selections on the new Hammond organ which was recently installed.

Charles Galey, president of the student body, introduced Floyd Honey, principal, who in turn introduced new teachers.

J. C. Chambers, vice president of the students, acted as master of ceremonies for the program as typical high school scenes passed in review on the stage.

School Life Explained

Chambers, during the program, "explained" school life to two sophomores, Pat Rhea and Tommy Rainey.

Bobbie Jean Mitchell told why she belongs to school clubs, and Kara Sam Dunn explained outstanding traditions of the school.

At next Thursday's assembly, a formal presentation of the new organ will take place, at which representatives of high school alumni classes will participate.

Veterans Get Aid From States In Addition To Federal Help

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Every state gives its war veterans some help besides the benefits they get from the federal government.

A Veterans administration survey discloses that:

All of the states provide for guardianship of veterans who are mentally unable to care for themselves, and all have central agencies to plan, administer and coordinate veterans programs.

All except Louisiana and New Mexico protect the veteran from loss of unemployment compensation benefits during the period he spent in armed forces.

All except Colorado and West Virginia cancel for veterans the payments ordinarily required for certain job licenses, and in some cases exempt veterans' property from taxation.

Job Preference Given

All except Delaware, Mississippi, New Mexico and Oklahoma give veterans preference in (1) employment in public departments and on public works, and (2) state civil service or merit system examinations and appointments.

Thirty-two states let a minor veteran or his minor spouse sign contracts for insured or guaranteed loans.

(Those that do not are Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, Nevada Oregon, South Carolina, Utah and Washington).

Thirty one states provide (1) money or other assistance to needy veterans and their dependents (2) vocational training programs and (3) funds for housing and public works projects.

(Those that do not: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada; North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming).

Twenty-eight states provide educational benefits such as grants to educational institutions, free scholarships, special schools for veterans subsistence payments to students and preference in admission to state schools.

(Those that do not: Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia and Wyoming).

In thirty-three states the state or county will pay for the burial of needy veterans and, in some instances, of their dependents.

(The states in which this is not done are Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, and Virginia).

These 18 states give veterans homestead privileges or preference in the sale of state or county lands: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, North Dakota, North Carolina, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming.

Bonus Spreading

These 11 states grant direct loans to veterans or guarantee loans by private lenders, in most cases for farm and home purchases:

Arizona, California, Georgia, Mississippi, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin.

At the time the summary was prepared, nine states were providing veterans with a bonus—cash payments based upon length and place of service—and eight others had similar legislation pending.

The bonus states: Connecticut, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Those with bonus legislation pending: Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesota, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

New Jersey provided a pension for blind veterans.

Six Different Colors To Change Sameness

Futuristic Hairdo Priced At $35 Per Do Is New York Plot

By JOHN ROSENBURG
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 — Men, the women are at it again. This time it's nothing as mild as demanding the vote or wearing pants.

In a shuddering word "modernism" has reached the feminine hairline.

From Broadway to Park Avenue, the girls have gone slightly mad over something called "the futuristic, non-objectivism" hairdo. It's in six different colors and at $35 a do.

The creator of this hair-raising hairstyle is a diminutive, red-haired coiffurist who has a booming 200-pound voice in 100-pound frame. His trademark is Mark.

"Women," Mark said with a majestic wave of this thin hands, "need, positively need, to be lifted from the slough of sameness they have fallen into in the past century."

Like True Art

To attain that lofty achievement, Mark said, he gives the girls "individuality, personality and beauty by arranging their hair to resemble a work of art—an abstract painting, really true art."

Mark said he uses wires, props, lacquer and colored pieces of false hair to support his hairdos.

"For black haired women," he said, "I use false hair that is either silver-blonde, pink or green. For red-heads, pink, green and turquoise go nicely. And for blondes almost any color will do."

Mark said his most popular futuristic is the "Bird's Nest."

"It's abstract, like a Dali painting," he said.

It's Elaborate

The Bird's Nest has a diamond-shaped bang over the forehead and a coil of braided hair around the crown. From the center of the coil, a heavy, six-inch shock of hair shoots ceilingward. That is the body of the "bird."

Pushing out from the right temple is the bird's neck. It winds around to the left temple, leading to the "head," complete with colored eyes.

An additional feature, is a wad of hair studded with colored sequins, propped above the bird. The wad glistens and sparkles in the light.

"If the woman is black-haired, the bird can be green or pink," Mark said. "If she is blonde, the bird can be black or blue, and so on."

Mark said that before he attempts his artistic creation, he "types" his patrons during a pre-do consultation.

"While I talk to her, I learn something of her personality and am able to sketch a plan for the hairdo," he said. "Of course, the most important phase of the consultation is the reading of the hairline at the back of the patron's neck."

It's like reading palms, he said, only "more tell-tale."

"If the woman is a high three-pointer, I know she'll go for anything," he said. "On the other hand, if she has five or seven points, I know she's the type who can't make up her mind and will be hard to please."

"It won't be long," he predicted dreamily, "before the futuristic will appeal to men. After all there's no reason why they shouldn't have individuality."

OVERSIGHT MENDED

COLFAX, Wash., Sept. 17 (U.P.) —It finally is illegal to drive while drunk in Colfax.

The city collected fines for years from drunken drivers. Then City Councilman William Henderson discovered there was no ordinance on the books about driving while drunk.

The council got busy and enacted one right away.

Missionary To Lecture Here

Giving a first-hand account of conditions in Germany as he has found them, Delmar Bunn, Church of Christ missionary to Germany, is to speak at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at the Broadway Church of Christ here, it was announced Thursday by Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister.

In one of about 20 lectures he is to make at different cities while in this country, Bunn also is to show moving pictures of conditions in Frankfurt, and of relief work being done there. He plans to return to Germany about Oct. 1.

Germans Fear Russians

Like others who have returned from Germany, Bunn has advised the church here that Germans are very much afraid of the Russians, and speak of war not just as a possibiilty, but as a certainty.

The missionary, graduate of George Pepperdine college in Los Angeles, went to Europe two years ago, and has taken a leading part in relief work at the Church of Christ mission in Frankfurt. He has studied in the University of Zurich, Switzerland, in an effort to better prepare himself to help the German people.

Dr. Young said that since August, 1947, the missionary personnel of nine at Frankfurt have received more than 12,000 relief packages valued at $125,000, much of which goes to the ten per cent lowest income among workers in factories, schools, and government institutions. Relief is given regardless of race or creed, or previous political affiliation, he said.

Home For Boys Set Up

In addition, the mission has established a home for some of the 10,000 homeless boys in the state of Hessen, thus taking the boys off the streets and away from the black market, and giving them a home and an opportunity to work.

Fifteen boys have been taken as a start, but preparations are being made to house more than 100 between 12 and 18 years of age.

As evidence of what he called deep appreciation by the German people, Bunn reported that more than 600 people are attending teaching and preaching services of the mission, and that 112 have become members of the local church in the last 12 months.

He believes that the money reform has definitely helped the economic situation, although many people have much less money than before. He sees a great need for more food and clothing.

The public was invited to hear his discussion of the situation here Saturday night.

The eighth annual dahlia show, sponsored by the South Plains Dahlia Society, is to open at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the showrooms of the Kuykendall Chevrolet company, Nineteenth and Texas Ave., Mrs. H. S. Weiss, of the publicity committee, said today.

At that time judging will have been completed and ribbons awarded, the announcement said. The display will be open to the public until 10 o'clock Saturday night, and from 1 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon

There is no admission charge, and the public is invited to see the display.

THE CROSSLEY POLL

Dewey More Likely Than HST To Bring Out Potential Voters

By ARCHIBALD M. CROSSLEY
Director, The Crossley Poll

Truman, as of September first, was the more apt to suffer from stay-at-homes, and Dewey the more likely to induce his supporters to vote.

Out of each 100 adult citizens preferring Dewey, the first poll indicated that some 64 would be likely to vote. But out of each 100 picking Truman, only about 56 would be apt to vote.

If today the mounting tide of Republican confidence should shift the current trend and keep Dewey supporters at home, feeling their votes unnecessary the Dewey lead on Election Day could shrink appreciably.

Non-Voters Significant

How important these stay-at-homes may be in key states has been clearly shown in past elections. In Michigan, for example, Dewey would have won the state in 1944 if a little over 22,000 more of his supporters had turned out. There were considerably more than a million persons of voting age in that state who did not vote at all. He could have had the 35 electoral votes of Pennsylvania if approximately 105,000 more supporters had voted. Total adult citizens (of all parties) staying home numbered nearly two millions.

Under all normal circumstances, Dewey's election is now reasonably certain. But in America, elections may be decided by the people who stay at home, this year expected to number 38 millions against 56 millions likely to vote.

In New York, for example, whose 47 votes are now reasonably sure for Dewey, failure to vote by one out of six of his supporters now intending to vote could throw the state into the tie zone. It is unlikely, but nevertheless not impossible that loss of New York could keep Dewey's total under 266, and send the decision to the House of Representatives.

Further polls will make possible close observation of this all-important factor of turnout. In the meantime, it is of interest to discover the proportions of likely stay-at-homes by types of people, as of September first.

The turnout percentage among women appears likely to be less than that for men. The younger people are less apt to vote this year that the older ones. The farm turnout is likely to be a little higher than the city turnout.

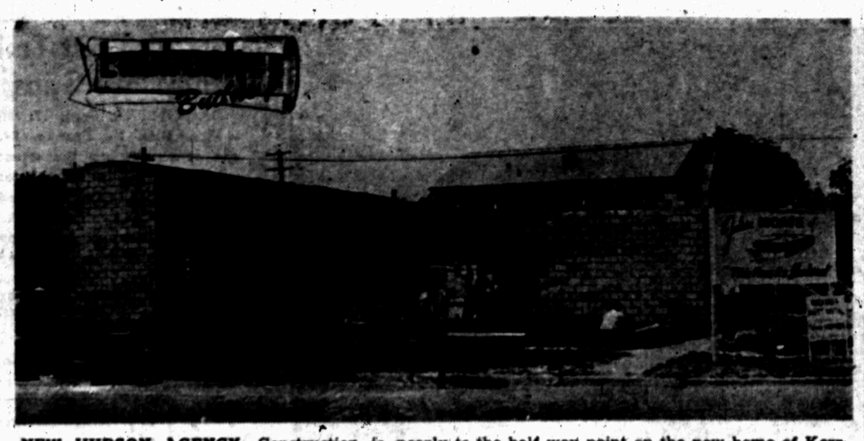

Union members will probably go to the polls in only slightly higher percentages than the overall averages for everyone. Persons in the top income level are more likely to cast ballots than those in the lower income levels.

Roosevelt supporters in 1944 are less apt to vote in 1948 than Dewey's previous followers.

The following table shows the likely turnout percentage by segments of the population based upon a poll taken before Labor Day.

	% Likely To Vote	% Likely To Stay At Home
U. S. Total	60	40
Men	62	38
Women	58	42
Age 21-29	55	45
30-44	59	41

Sinatra To Play Tinker Role In Unique Movie Of Ireland

By JACK QUIGG
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17 — A tinker, as J. Carrol Naish explains it, was a wandering handyman who circulated news and gossip as he patched the pots of village housewives. Such a tinker (played, he hopes, by Frank Sintatra) will be the central figure in a unique film Naish plans to make in his native Ireland.

Though he has generally played Latins on the screen, the 48-year-old actor says his family has lived in Ballycullen, county Limerick, for 700 years. It is there that he wants to film his story, "The Tinker Of Ballycullen."

To Show Charm

"It will show the charm and atmosphere of Ireland as it was 70 years ago," Naish said. "Frank Sinatra, singing the songs of that period, would be ideal as the tinker."

Naish has interested Sinatra in the project and is going ahead with plans to form his own production company.

Danny Kaye's plan to bring modern vaudeville to New York's Palace theatre is definitely off. The old showhouse is being converted for television, he says. Now the comic is mulling a personal appearance tour of Australian cities.

Vallee Wants Role

Rudy Vallee, whose screen career was rejuvinated when he began playing character parts, has a yen to be a troubador again. "I'd like to do a singing role," he said on the "Mother Is A Freshman" set. "But I wouldn't want to be typed as a singer again. I prefer a variety of roles."

Walter Brennan will play a sharpshooting hillbilly in his next film. He'll be the head of the feuding McCoy clan in "Roseanna McCoy" . . . Victor Jory is readying for a part in "Sirocco." Rita Hayworth is the off-again-on-again leading lady.

To make movies easier to photograph and save the expense of location trips, studios build ingenius sets in their own backyards. Here are some of their latest creations.

Whaling Brig Built

For "Down To The Sea In Ships," 20th Fox built a 130-foot whaling brig indoors. Fully equipped, it's mounted on rockers. With wind machines bellying the sails, it pitches and rolls like the real thing.

John Wayne will battle an octopus, raise gold from a sunken ship and free a boy from a giant clam in "Wake Of The Red Witch." He'll be photographed in a special cement tank through underwater camera ports. After seaweed, coral, fish and a fragment of a ship are put in, the scene will be a ringer for a tropical lagoon.

Renewed Palestine War Seen As Threat

TEL Aviv, Israel, Sept. 17 (AP)—Israeli leaders have expressed fear the United Nations Palestine truce may be ended soon by full-scale Arab attacks.

Col. Yigal Yadin, chief of operations of the Israeli army, told newsmen yesterday the two-months truce "may come to an end in the very near future."

Yadin said heavy Arab concentrations of men and equipment were massing, suggesting the possibility of imminent renewal of the Palestine war.

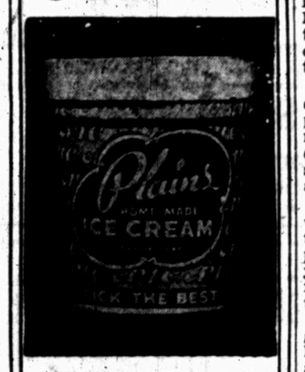

At the same time Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok declared Israel regards the present truce as unsatisfactory and its enforcement by U. N. observer teams as "futile."

Shertok said Israel considers the truce immediately threatened by renewal of full-scale Arab attack.

(In Damascus Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator, said last night Arab and Jewish soldiers in Jerusalem are "trigger happy.")

Harry Jacunski, the "other" end with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League during the Don Hutson regime, is now an assistant football coach at Yale.

Hyderabad Surrenders To India After Troops Move On Capital

(By The Associated Press)

NEW DELHI, Sept. 17 — The Hyderabad government radio broadcast today that the princely state has yielded in its 100-hour war with the dominion of India.

The Moslem Nizam, ruler of the state, ordered a cease fire effective at 5 p. m. (5:30 a. m., CST) and accepted the resignation of his government. He informed India he will form a new government tomorrow.

Mir Laik Ali, the Nizam's premier, announced this in the Hyderabad broadcast. The broadcast was in the Urdu language and in English. It was picked up by the Indian government radio at Nagpur. The government awaited a full text before reaching a decision, a spokesman said.

Indian troops invaded Hyderabad at 4 a. m. Monday with the avowed aim of restoring order.

The Nizam, Gen. Sir Mir Osman Ali Khan, is the Moslem ruler of the predominantly Hindu state of 16,000,000.

(Informed sources in Karachi, Pakisan, said Indian troops today reached the outskirst of Secunderabad, military cantonment six miles from Hyderabad City, the capital).

The troops were closing in upon the heart of Hyderabad, which is surrounded by Indian territroy, when the report of the end came.

(A dispatch from Madras said the Nizam had surrendered to the dominion of India).

Union Refused

Dominion troops early today were near Bidar, stronghold of the Razakars, general headquarters announced.

India's invasion was from all sides and in streingth. It met some stiff resistance along the way from the Razakars, a private army of volunter Moslems, but its progress was rapid.

India undertook the invasion after the Nizam refused to join his state to the dominion. The Nizam presented his case to the United Nations security council, which took it up in Paris yesterday and is due to consider it again Monday.

The Indians used tanks, armored cars and air support to spearhead their drive. The dominion charged disorder was rampant throughout the state, which is about the size of Minnesota. India has demanded a plebiscite to determine the future of Hyderabad

Andrews Test Well Planned

Ray M. Pair, of Tyler, and associates, have filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling immediately on its No. 1 Frank Orson, of Midland, as a 5,500-foot wildcat in Southeast-Central Andrews County.

The prospector will be 660 feet from north and west lines of section 28, block 3, psl survey, and six and one-half miles southeast of the town of Andrews.

The projected depth should take the venture into the San Andres Permian lime.

Terry Well Planned

Southern Minerals Corporation and Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 J. M. Newsom is scheduled to be a 5,500-foot wildcat in Central-Southeast Terry County.

Drilling is to begin by September 20. The drillsite is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 47, block 7, D & W survey. That puts it seven miles southeast of Brownfield.

Placid Oil Company has made location for an 8,000-foot prospector in Northeast Scurry County. It will be that concern's No. 1 T. Cornelius Davis.

The project is to be seven and one-half miles northeast of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 387, block 97, H & TC survey.

Operations are to start immediately. The slated destination of 8,000 feet should take the development into the Ellenburger.

Burglar's Coat Tail Didn't Have Grips

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17. (AP) —Mrs. Rita N. Franko, 24, ran screaming up the street yesterday, holding to the coat tails of a burglar who had looted her house of $12.

By the time police came on the scene, the robber had broken away and escaped. They asked passers-by why they had not come to Mrs. Franko's assistance.

"We thought it was just a husband-wife spat," they said.

Air Between West Germany And Berlin Is Full Of Planes; Aerial Juggling Feat Is Necessary

By DONALD DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 17.—The air between west Germany and Berlin is so full of planes these days it takes a feat of aerial juggling to keep them from hitting each other.

There is a plane load of food or fuel landing in the blockaded, divided city every couple of minues—day and night, rain or shine.

The task of keeping these aircraft safely apart is one that makes the job of a train dispatcher look simple by comparison.

The hazards are obvious. Yet so far, after 81 days of supplying Berlin's western sectors by air—"Operation Vittles" has cost only one aerial collision and two other fatal accidents.

Careful Planning Required

This record was achieved only by careful planning and close cooperation between the British and American airforces.

Together they have worked out a complicated aerial traffic plan by which more than 600 big, heavily loaded planes are brought safely into two Berlin airports every day.

Since the Russians cut Berlin's land and water supply routes from the west last June, British and American planes have flown in more than 200,000 tons of supplies to Berlin in more than 41,000 flights.

The Americans have 182 planes and the British more than 100 planes in the "vittles" operation, and there are often nearly 100 of them in the air simultaneously.

All this traffic moves over the Russion zone along three aerial highways, called corridors. Two of these lands lead into Berlin. The other takes the empty planes back to western Germany.

Corridors Further Divided

This keeps all traffic moving in the same direction in each of the aerial corridors and thus cuts down the danger of collision.

But the solution of this gigantic puzzle is not so simple as that. Each corridor is further divided into several traffic lanes — each lane at a different altitude. In these lanes the traffic is staggered so as to provide the greatest possible distance between all planes. The craft are so spaced that they not only fly at least 15 minutes apart in each altitude level but at least three minutes in front or behind the nearest plane at any level.

This intricate pattern requires perfect coordination between several airfields and an almost foolproof system of radio beams to keep planes from straying off their path.

Most American planes use the southern corridor into Berlin. This runs almost on a beeline from Frankfurt. Into it feed the 78 huge C-54 transport planes from Frankfurt's Rhein - Main airbase and the 60 C-47's flying from nearby Wiesbaden. All these planes land at Tempelhof, the U. S. airdrome in Berlin.

Radio Guides Planes

All the British planes and about 40 American craft use the northern corridor to Berlin, running southeast from the Hamburg area and landing at the British operated Gatow airfield in Berlin. The British take-off fields are at Fassberg and Wunstorf with flying boats basing at Hamburg and landing at Berlin's Havel lake.

Once over Berlin, all planes are guided to the landing strips by radio instructions from the airport control center.

After discharging their loads in Berlin, all planes fly back out of the Russian zone along a central corridor towards Brunswick, then separate to fly to their respective bases.

Back of these spectacular operations, lies another vast undertaking—that of assembling the food, coal and other vital supplies and loading them into the planes.

Schedule Fast

All this freight, which once went by train and barge, now must be trucked to the airports, where the scene resembles a big ship loading dock. Only these plane loaders must move faster. In an hour or so they stow 10 tons aboard a C-54. In only a few minutes they take it off at the other end. Ofter planes are on their way back west within half an hour after landing at Berlin.

Also the planes require constant servicing to keep them flying.

U. S. Airforce officials estimate it takes a total of 10,000 men fliers, ground crews and freight handlers for the American operations alone.

At present the U. S. Air Force, with its bigger planes, is flying about 60 per cent of the total tonnage, the British about 40 per cent.

Man Struck By Car After Leaving Bus

James T. Jeffers, 69, of 708 Forty-fourth street was dismissed from West Texas hospital following treatment of minor abrasions he suffered when struck by a car about 8:20 p. m. last night at Forty-fourth street and Ave. H.

Jeffers had alighted from a city bus, State Highway Patrolman L. W. Wilhite said, and was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Mozelle Hays of 402 Forty-Sixth street.

A woman who left the bus at the same time as Jeffers had crossed the street, he said, and believing the street was clear, Jeffers stepped from behind the bus into the path of the oncoming car.

A 25-year-old Lubbock man will be charged with driving while intoxicated as a result of a head-on collision between his auto and the west end center post of the East Broadway underpass, police reports indicated.

The man was thrown clear of the car and was unconscious when a McDonald ambulance arrived at the scene. At West Texas hospital, it was reported that he suffered only a slight cut on one ear. The car suffered considerable damage, city patrolmen said.

Funeral For Former Lubbock Woman Set

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. today in Foursquare Gospel church for Mrs. Lydia Martin, 69, who died Monday morning in Los Angeles, Calif., where she had lived for the past three years. She was a resident of Lubbock for 20 years.

Rev. Floyd Dawson, pastor of the church, is scheduled to officiate, and burial will be in Lubbock Memorial park with Rix Funeral home in charge.

She is survived by seven sons, Ray of Levelland, Ed and Hayden Martin, both of Fort Worth, Jesse of Waco, Rube of Houston, George of Lorenzo, and Ellis Martin of Greenville; six daughters, Mrs. Bessie Patterson of Lubbock, Mrs. Marion Tate of Slaton, Mrs. Wilma Tucker of Levelland, Mrs. W. T. Richardson of Houston, Mrs. O. H. Royal of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Gleh Wilkins, also of Los Angeles; and one sister, Mrs. Notie Holt of Monitor, Wash.

Thirty-four grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren also survive.

A Crop to Cultivate

America is famous for good crops. But finest of all is the bumper "crop" of 11,000,000 boys and girls growing up on our farms and ranches.

Trained teachers and leaders are helping cultivate this bumper crop. Vocational agricultural teachers in over 7,000 high schools do their part. Most of these schools have Future Farmers of America chapters. Membership of F. F. A. is 250,000. In their "outside classroom" work they receive additional on-the-job training from their vocational agricultural teachers. They learn to accept leadership responsibility. On graduation, many go directly into farm or ranch management. Others go on to agricultural college.

County agents and over 180,000 unselfish volunteer leaders do another great job through the 4-H Clubs. Through 85,000 local 4-H Clubs, more than 1,750,000 boys and girls get invaluable training. Advice, encouragement, know-how from practical experts. Their projects keep them abreast of what is new in agriculture. They learn through doing. Achievement and leadership become habits.

It is well that American agriculture has these leaders and teachers. By teaching the business and science of farming, they are helping make life on farm and ranch rich and profitable for a new generation of Americans. They are showing them the way to economic security and a good way of life. Better farm planning; power machinery; scientific modern methods; control of weeds and plant and animal pests . . . All these our farm and ranch youth are learning. In many ways they are qualifying themselves to be better managers of land and better businessmen. They are increasing their knowledge of science and selling—of machinery and markets—of costs and conservation.

Swift & Company has always been proud to encourage farm youth activities. We shall continue to do so. We have no doubt or fear for the future of America. For, properly cultivated, this crop will ripen surely into our nation's richest harvest.

Livestock and Meat Prices

Livestock is marketed when it is ready. The supply of animals coming to market at any one time is controlled by your decisions as producers. These decisions may have been made months previously, depending on your breeding and feeding program. The weather—blizzards, storms and droughts—also have a bearing on when you market your animals.

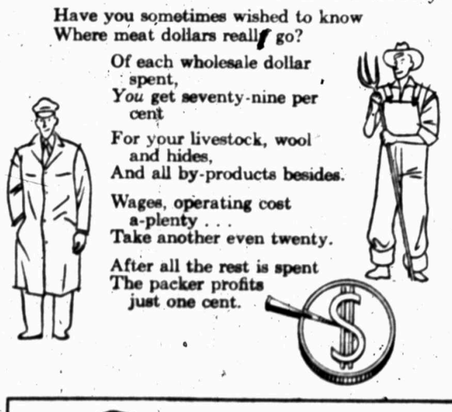

Meat packers have no control over the supply of livestock.

The meat packer must sell meat and by-products for what they will bring. When people have to economize, they spend less money for meat. Consumers, retailers and meat packers reduce their bids. The prices of both meat and livestock fall accordingly. But when people make more money, they are eager to buy meat. Then buyers all along the line increase their bids. And the prices of both meat and live stock rise accordingly. For each meat packer and each retail meat dealer knows that if he does not pay a little higher for the livestock or meat he wants, somebody else will—and get the business.

Thus the old law of supply and demand—plus competition in buying livestock and selling meat—forces price changes in meat to be reflected quickly all the way back to the livestock on the hoof. At all times the market price is a balance between the supply of livestock and the demand for meat.

A HUNDRED CENTS MAKE A DOLLAR

You get seventy-nine per cent

And all by-products besides.

New Idea in Junior Feeding Projects

by T. W. Thompson
State 4-H Club Leader, Montana

T. W. Thompson

Boys and girls are trying out a new kind of livestock feeding project. In several states—including Montana, Nebraska, Colorado and Indiana—people are enthusiastic about it. Here is how it works. The boy or girl buys an average lot of feeder steers or lambs, from a uniform herd or band. The number bought is usually 3 or more steers, 15 or more lambs. That depends on finances, feed supplies and equipment available.

These lots of animals are bought at a central market. They are taken home and fattened. Careful records are kept of feed costs and rates of gain. At the end of the feeding period, they are shipped back to market. They are sold on Junior Marketing Day.

Boys and girls consign their animals to commission firms of their own choice. Upon arrival the animals are penned separately, according to ownership. Each lot is graded and weighed separately. Then all animals are assembled in pens according to grade. They are sold for slaughter in the usual manner used on that market. The boys and girls profit according to the market value of their animals.

Sponsors claim the following benefits: (1) It is practical. (2) It promotes better farm feeding methods. (3) Boys and girls learn about market grades of livestock. (4) They learn about central markets and their operation. This new idea in junior feeding is not intended to take the place of feeding for show. It is a separate project, to give youngsters practical experience in feeding for market.

It's a Two-Way Road

In my work with farmers and ranchers I have visited just about every part of this country. I can't begin to count the number of times I have traveled out of Chicago and back—to the range country of the West . . . through the Corn Belt states . . . the wheatlands . . . the cotton country—Florida, Maine, Washington, California and all the other states in between.

I do not know how anyone who travels much can help being impressed with the need for team play in America. As farmers or ranchers, your prosperity depends to a large degree on the ability of workers in industry to purchase the food and fiber you produce. Likewise, city businessmen know that your power to purchase their products is equally important to them. And all of us depend on the men in the mines, in the forests, in the steel mills, and oil fields.

But what we are apt to overlook is the fact that it is the earning of a reasonable profit which keeps all these businesses going, and all of us at work. Of course, profit rates vary. That depends on many things, including volume of business done. For example, here at Swift & Company we process millions of pounds of agricultural raw materials each year. On each pound handled, we earn an average profit of a fraction of a cent. Few could stay in business on the margin we meat packers earn. But whether one's business volume is large or small, some profit is essential to any individual or any enterprise.

And here's another thing. Often I hear someone say—"Those farmers are the lucky ones—completely independent!" I can't agree with them. I know, and you know, that you on the land are independent—but only to a certain degree! Of course, cities couldn't exist without the products of farm and ranch. Maybe you could produce your own food, clothing, shelter and fuel. But country living would be pretty grim without cars, telephones, radios, fences, tractors, windmills and modern labor-saving, comfort-giving equipment. It is a two-way road! Our standard of living in America is something we are all proud of. It is the result of the profit system and of good team play.

BY DREW PEARSON: THOMAS' CAPACITY AT PUBLIC FEED TROUGH UNDERESTIMATED

Real-Estate Lobby Suddenly Discovers Constitution

WASHINGTON. — On Aug. 4, 7, 10, and 13, this column published various statements reflecting on Congressman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, chairman of the un-American activities committee. It was reported that Representative Thomas had persuaded the army to keep two soldiers away from the battle front and in return had received substantial campaign contributions from their families.

PEARSON

It was also reported that the New Jersey congressman had put Myra Midkiff on his payroll for four years though she did no work in his office and during which time she kicked back her salary to him personally. It was also reported that the congressman put a cleaning woman, Arnette Minor, on his payroll for a short time, who also kicked back her salary to him; and that following this, Miss Grace Wilson, aunt of Mrs. Thomas, was put on the Thomas payroll for $2,500 for two years, until the congressman pressured officials of Bergen county, N.J., into putting his wife's aunt into a county home.

This column now wishes to apologize to Congressman Thomas.

It is deeply regretted that these reports were unfair to him, in that they ommitted some of his operations and failed to report all of his amazing capabilities for brazenly feeding at the public trough.

While other members of the un-American activities committee have kept their skirts clean and let no nepotism mar their effectiveness, the chairman of their committee has been just the opposite. Here is more of Thomas's record:

• • •

Daughter-in-law On Payroll

Beginning in 1946, Thomas put his daughter-in-law, Lillian Thomas, on his payroll at $2,900 — despite the fact that she lives in Allendale, N. J., and never comes near the office. When Newman Wright of the Passaic Herald News queried Thomas about his daughter-in-law, he claimed that she "carried a heavy load of work." Other members of the Thomas office staff say that she "does nothing." Lillian is still carried on the payroll, however, though at a reduced salary.

In July, 1947, Thomas added a new name to his payroll, Mrs. Jacqueline Voss Hill. Mrs. Hill did a little work for the congressman, but not too much, first, because she was about to have a baby, second, because it became apparent that she was not supposed to work. She was on the payroll so she could kick back part of her generous $3,000 salary to the congressman.

This became evident later. For when Chairman Thomas went on his junket to Panama last winter and was taken ill, he sent a letter, Feb. 2, 1948, to Miss Vera Halyburton, his secretary, which read in part:

"My protracted stay here will necessitate some quick bookkeeping on your part. I assume from Mrs. T's (Mrs. Thomas) letters to you, that you have placed Jackie's funds in Sis's hands."

"Jackie" was Jacqueline Hill, who was then drawing $3,000, despite the fact that she spent almost no time at the office.

Simultaneously, Mrs. Thomas wrote from Panama to Miss Halyburton as follows:

"He (the congressman) says to take a couple of days off and go to Allendale and get the money from Jackie and give to Sis to pay the household bills. I think the money goes to Jackie the first of the month."

By this time Jackie Hill's salary had been transferred from Congressman Thomas's own payroll to the House un-American activities committee's payroll. She was listed as clerk and typist for the committee and was supposed to help expose un-American activities. How she could do this while living in Allendale, N. J., is difficult to understand.

However, the congressman did not hesitate to use part of the salary paid out by the un-American activities committee for supposedly bona fide employees, to pay his own personal bills.

That is another chapter in the record of the New Jersey congressman who poses as one of the greatest examples of good Americanism in our nation.

NOTE—It is against the law for any government official to require a government employee to kick back a salary.

• • •

BEN CROSBY, assistant chief of the State department's public liaison division, was talking on the phone to a capital newsman when the loud wails of a baby came over the wire.

"Who's making all the racket?" asked Crosby.

"I'm calling from my home," explained the newsman. "That's a little Communist we have here."

It was Crosby's turn to yell.

"Don't ever, ever say that word," he warned, "when you're talking to the State department!"

Lobby "Discovers" Constitution

The real-estate lobby has got itself in such bad public odor that it is now trying to stage a comeback by capitalizing on Constitution day.

With some of their organizations under indictment, the high-pressure real-estate boys who violated the spirit of the constitution by lobbying for their own, rather than the public's interests, have now suddenly discovered the constitution and wrapped it around them.

For some days, the lobby's propaganda machine has been grinding out patriotic speeches and tributes to the constitution with the same force that it pulled wires against public housing and slum clearance. This is fine—except that the lobbyists quite candidly admit among themselves that their sudden activity is to divert public attention.

The real-estate boys even hired such big names as Adm. Chester Nimitz, former chief of naval operations, and Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan, wartime chief of the OSS, to make statements and to address real-estate boards on Constitution day.

The statements are supposed to be released today with the name of the National Association of Real Estate boards prominently featured. Nimitz made only one reservation. He insisted that his statement be released in full or not at all. However, California's Republican Congressman Richard Nixon went so far as to give the real-estate lobby permission to write a statement for him—with no strings attached.

Speeches fitting the occasion are being delivered before real-estate boards across the country today, with Admiral Nimitz heading the list before the real-estate board in Berkeley, Calif. Nixon will talk in Alhambra, Calif., and General Donovan will speak at Rochester, N. Y.—both under the auspices of real-estate boards.

As a publicity stunt, the real-estate boys also dug up a couple of dead trees from the homes of Washington and Jefferson at Mt. Vernon and Monticello, and made special gavels for the Constitution day meetings. They also wangled a chunk of the battleship Missouri from Secretary of Defense Forrestal, rolled it into tin strips and fastened a strip to each gavel.

Important as it is to promote Constitution day, however, the public isn't likely to forget the housing problem and the real-estate lobby's "patriotic" backstage wirepulling at the last session of Congress.

* * *

AS a reporter in the press box of the 1932 Democratic National convention, and in several following national conventions during the New Deal regime, we saw the revamping of the original Democratic party into what it has become today on a national basis.

Last Monday and Tuesday, in the press sections of the Democratic State convention and the preceding committee meetings, we saw this same metamorphosis taking place, and rapidly, in the Democratic party in Texas.

It may be what the majority of Texans want, and if that's so, let 'er rip!

But make no mistake about it: the leadership of the Democratic party in Texas today is lock, stock and barrel for President Truman AND his platform.

Any statements to the contrary are purely phooey.

* * *

The leadership of the Democratic party in this state insists that it is necessary for all Democrats to "take the party pledge" in order to keep the Republicans, or the States' Righters from getting powerful in Texas.

What they really seek to do is make the so-called "pledge" stick as a "pledge" to the party's national philosophies, including civil rights.

* * *

IF most Texans are ready to accept the FEPC, and all that it stands for, we say that's the business of most Texans.

If most Texans wish the Democratic party to be an implement of organized labor; the party of tax and tax and tax, spend and spend and spend; of increased socialistic tendencies; of wide open immigration; of sloppy administration and the comforting of Reds and fellow travelers on federal payrolls, then that is the business of most Texans.

Our form of government rests, and should rest, upon the desires of the majority.

But don't let anybody flimflam you into thinking that you can be a Texas Democrat in good standing without accepting all the national party's platform as well as its nominees.

You'll get thrown out on your ear from any convention you may attend as a delegate, or out of any party position you may hold, if you think you can deviate one iota of an inch from the party's platform aimed at catching the votes of as many minority blocs as possible into its net.

* * *

Byron Skelton, probably the state's next Democratic national committeeman; Tom Tyson, permanent chairman in the recent convention; Charlie McDonald, the convention's temporary chairman; Bob Calvert, executive committee chairman,—all the "higher echelon" boys of the party in Texas—are ready and willing to "go the whole hog" in turning the national party more and more leftward at the whim of the northern faction now in the saddle.

Furthermore, they are willing to scare the pants off the more easily scared rank-and-file Democrats in Texas to make sure they "go along" with the party, wherever the party may lead.

* * *

AS we said before, if that's the sort of political philosophy most Texans are willing to embrace, then that's the kind of political philosophy the Democratic party in Texas should embrace.

We do not contend that any American political party should be operated in any way other than as the majority rules.

But we do contend—and those who watched the recent Fort Worth convention must admit—that no Texan can be what the party's leaders call "a loyal Democrat" without accepting, verbatim, the Truman-Barkley platform and the national leadership hook, line and sinker.

The Democratic party in Texas today has no independence from the northern wing of the party. Under its present leadership it can have none.

Don't let anybody tell you anything different.

* * *

You've heard of Texacrats, Dixiecrats, Hoovercrats and Bureaucrats, but have you heard of the newest kind of "crats?"

They're the "Pixiecrats" and the chances are you're eligible for membership.

A "Pixiecrat" is any Texas Democrat who is confused about anything political, and who admits it.

Slogan of the Pixiecrats is "United We Stand—Provided We Can." Motto is "All Profits Divided Into Fifths." Its principal objectives are:

Cold War only in Summer.

Substituting an Amusement Tax for the Poll Tax so it will be More Fun to Vote.

Grant the Federal Government the Tides and let Texas retain the Lands.

The Pixiecrats, who favor the education of "the masses, the classes and the jackasses among us," are more explicit than the other "crats" in the matter of party loyalty. All Pixiecrats pledge themselves to "support the nominee as far as the door—and then let him get home the best way he can!"

* * *

THE Pixiecrat party made its bow at the Fort Worth Democratic convention and hundreds paid a buck to join up—including leaders of both wings of the Texas Democratic party. Some of the most dignified politicians in the state ran around wearing lapel badges labeled "I Am A Pixiecrat."

The Pixiecrat party is the brainchild of a handful of Austin newspapermen, led by the unpredictable Wick Fowler, of the Dallas News. The money raised by the sale of memberships will be spent in staging in Austin this Winter a "Texas Gridiron party," which will lampoon everything political.

There virtually is no limit—save the population figures—to the number of Texans who can join the Pixiecrats, since the only qualification for membership is that an individual must be a confused Texas Democrat.

Incidentally, every Pixiecrat is not only a member of the party. He also is, automatically, a national committeeman.

No wonder all the politicians joined up quick!

Merry Macs Spurn New Show To Entertain Boys Overseas

MEMOS of a Girl Friday—Dear Mr. W.: Kay and I are still up to our collar buttons in the mail, lots of it packed with Runyon Fund money, which we are handling first. The Warner Bros. $50,000 check was banked via their N. Y. office. We have the receipt . . . The Paramount check ($10,000) you got for narrating Bob Hope's "Sorrowful Jones" ditto . . . And we received $5,000 from the U. S. Lines for the show Eddie Cantor, Vera Ralston and E. G. Robinson put on while the S. S. America returned from England. This check was made out to the Runyon Fund "In Memory of Babe Ruth." Miss Ralston donated $1,000 of it . . . The $25,000 allocation to Oklahoma Medical Foundation and the $25,000 for Colorado University cleared, also the check we sent to Cincinnati . . . The $25,000 from the Motion Picture outfit (headed by Edward Arnold) will go to American Cancer Society, Los Angeles, tomorrow . . . In sum, the Fund is now on the way to its 3rd million.

Scientific Research Can Be Harmed By Smear, Suspicion

WASHINGTON — "We cannot drive scientists into our laboratories, but, if we tolerate reckless or unfair attacks, we can certainly drive them out."

The profound truth of those words spoken by President Truman should be pondered by every American. The President was addressing the centennial meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Washington.

CHILDS

His words go to the root of the matter in this moment of tragic uncertainty. In the immediate past is repeated proof of the truth of his statement. In Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy the scientists were literally driven out of their laboratories.

Many of them sought refuge in this country. It was the knowledge of Albert Einstein, Enrico Fermi, Lise Meitner, Niels Bohr that helped make possible the discovery of atomic fission.

Germany's scientists were herded into what amounted to concentration camps, watched over by gauleiters. It is hardly surprising that German research on the atom did not progress much beyond the theoretical stage.

• • •

Contribution Is Wonder

The wonder is that German science contributed as much as it did to the German war effort. But the base of German science goes a long way back into the past. It goes back to the great tradition of the German universities, when scholars from all over the world went to Heidelberg and Bonn. You do not destroy that kind of foundation overnight.

The important fact for us, however, is that it can be destroyed. The Nazis, once they had come to power, showed how quickly you could squeeze the life out of a free institution. They succeeded in driving the free spirit of inquiry out of the lecture hall and the free spirit of research out of the laboratory.

The question today is whether scientists in this country do feel intimidated and encroached upon. Do they feel that they cannot work for the government without subjecting themselves to suspicion and humiliation? This is no academic question, since the government, through the Atomic Energy commission and a half dozen other agencies, is supervising research vital to future security.

• • •

IT SEEMS to me that evidence is growing to show the answer to the question must be yes. The latest piece of evidence is the telegram from which the President quoted in his speech to the scientists. It was signed by eight distinguished men of science, none of them among those publicly harried by the House Un-American Activities committee.

Heading the list of signers was Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Another signer was Philip Morse, a distinguished atomic physicist.

Until recently Morse was director of the laboratory on Long Island operated by the Atomic Energy commission. He resigned, stating publicly that the chief reason was that he could not work or get other scientists to work in an atmosphere of smear and suspicion. Morse has gone back to his professorship at M. I. T. convinced that the atomic energy project is definitely being retarded by current attacks on scientists.

• • •

Trouble Dates Back

The trouble, it seems to me, goes back to the attitude too common when the army ran the Manhattan project during the war. Scientists got the feeling then, and with reason, that they were looked upon as long-haired eccentrics who had to be closely watched lest they give away vital secrets. This was a funny business, so the attitude went, and too bad you had to bother with queer people like scientists.

Some scientists may be more temperamental than ordinary people. But to regard them as long-haired eccentrics, subject to constant surveillance, is to take an attitude that can properly be called Fascist.

Scientists do not want to be singled out for special

THERE are times in every woman's life when her husband seems a little less than perfect. Some of those times are:

When one of his possessions gets misplaced at home and he says, "Now if you'd just run this house the way I run my office—"

When he cooks up some scheme so that he can get away from home and leave her to entertain boring guests alone.

"Try And Stop Me"

AN ECCENTRIC Wall Street millionaire died recently. When his will was opened, the lawyers discovered he had lived up to his reputation to the very end. This is what they read:

"To my wife, I leave her gigolo and the knowledge that I wasn't the fool she thought I was. To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For thirty years, he has thought the pleasure was all mine. He was mistaken. To my daughter I leave $100,000. She'll need it. The only smart thing her husband ever did was to marry her.

"To my valet I leave the clothes he has been stealing from me regularly for the past ten years; also my fur coat he wore last winter while I was in Palm Beach. To my chauffeur I leave my Rolls-Royce and station wagon. He almost ruined them, and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job."

MYSTERY OF THE WEEK

One of the minor mysteries of the week concerns why the four-power conference was held in a pretended effort to reach an agreement upon the disposition of the Italian colonies.

Everyone involved apparently was agreed in advance that the effort was doomed to failure. There was not the slightest prospect of reconciling the wide differences between Russia and the democracies, or among the democracies themselves. Yet the meeting was held and the taxpayers, as usual, must pay the cost. The amount probably was not large, despite the luxurious setting in which all such meetings invariably are held. But it was a deliberate and premeditated waste.

The conference failed, as everyone knew it would. The problem now is in the hands of the United Nations General Assembly, as everyone expected, after having been forced to follow an unnecessarily long and expensive routing to its inevitable destination.

Entries already have been received from 15 counties in the county agriculture exhibit division of the Panhandle-South Plains fair in Lubbock Sept. 27 through Oct. 2, Superintendent Dave W. Sherrill announced Thursday.

The number is largest within the same time of any of the 30 annual fairs, officials said. Only 14 county exhibits were shown last year.

Expectation is that several others will be added to the list before entries close at 6 p. m. Sept. 25. Indications are, the superintendent said, the number actually shown will be the largest in history.

Previous Winners Listed

Among the first of the entries for the approaching fair, he announced, was Parmer county, which won the $100 blue ribbon last year.

Also in the list this year are Garza, Floyd, Castro and Bailey counties, which ranked in that order at the 1947 fair.

The entries likewise include two New Mexico counties, Lea and Roosevelt, and the following from the South Plains: Briscoe, Swisher, Lamb, Hale, Hockley, Terry, Lynn and Scurry.

Fair association officials were especially pleased by the entries of the New Mexico counties. They interpreted them as evidence that the fair is accomplishing its purpose of serving constructively an expanding territorial area.

Top Awards Offered

The entries received thus far are remarkable for several reasons, the superintendent pointed out.

The dry weather has added to the difficulty of obtaining specimens for inclusion in an exhibit. Farmers have been so busy that cooperation in the provision of such a display is a drain upon their time. Under the existing conditions, officials of the fair consider the total received to be remarkable.

They reminded that the premiums offered in the division are well worth winning. They include a top prize of $100, a second of $85, third of $75, fourth of $60, fifth of $50, sixth of $40 and nine of $25 each.

It was pointed out, too, that it should be relatively simple matter when the farmer is helping to contribute specimens for his county exhibit, to prepare entries for competition in the individual agriculture department. Many of the individual premiums usually are unclaimed simply because there are no exhibits. The department offers the opportunity, officials said, for farmers to pick up some splendid ribbons as well as some extra cash.

Slaton, Santa Fe Center Of West Texas, Showing Growth

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

SLATON, Sept. 17—Slaton people like to refer to their town as the "Santa Fe Center" of West Texas. The description is eminently fitting since Slaton is reliably said to headquarter the longest division in the Santa Fe's great system, and the third longest railroad division in the United States.

Conceived, laid out and largely built by the Santa Fe railroad and the tremendous annual payroll it brought, Slaton never forgets the offices, shops and roundhouse which have helped make it a substantial, prosperous town although it hovers in the shadow of Lubbock 15 miles to the northwest.

The railroad company's engineers laid out Slaton somewhat after the manner of Washington, D. C., or a San Francisco without hills, with spokes emanating from a hub on which the City Hall was built.

The sale of lots to highest bidders began on June 15, 1911, and some of Slaton's business buildings date from about that time.

Periodically over the years the rumor has been heard, either in Slaton or in Lubbock, that "the Santa Fe is moving its roundhouse to Lubbock." The rumor s never been based on fact, and railroad men see little likelihood that the change will ever be made.

Slaton's population probably ranges at present between 5,800 and 6,500, with 6,200 providing the most probable figure. In that total are included no few persons who work in Lubbock and commute back and forth daily. Slaton today is nearly twice its size in 1940, at which time the official census was 3,587.

The city's 1947 assessed tax val-

Woman Says British Husband Can Not Join Her In Russia

MOSCOW, Sept. 17. (AP)—Izvestia published a letter from a Russian woman today which quoted her as saying British authorities will not allow her husband to join her in the U. S. S. R.

The woman, identified as Maria Aish, was quoted in the Soviet newspaper as saying she did not want to go to Britain to live with her husband, whom she married in 1934 and lived with until he went to Britain in 1941.

Letter Quoted

"Every healthy-minded individual understands that for husband and wife to be together, it is not necessary for the wife to go where the husband is," the letter said. "The husband can also come where the wife is.

"Evidently the English have forbidden my husband to leave and come to the Soviet Union and because of this he does not journey to his family here."

Protest Is Made

"I protest against interference by anyone in my personal life," the letter said. "I like it in the Soviet Union and don't see any reason for going to England where, as I well know, many suffer from want and unemployment."

The letter gave her age at 35.

The British embassy in Moscow said the woman's husband is R. Aish who lives in Scotland.

Careless use of matches and smoking materials is the greatest cause of fire in the United States.

Total payment was $4,597,425, based on 1,532,475 scholastics.

Television Set Owners Should Be Prepared To Meet Rush Of New Friends With A Bat

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—The television industry, still on its first half million sets, hopes to have 11,000,000 in American homes within five years.

Hosts complain that no sooner do they get their video set working than it begins to draw more kibitzers than a picnic lunch does ants.

Comedian Hank Ladd has made a survey among television addicts who howl about guests that bring saloon manners into the salon.

Visitors Classified

If you're getting a television set, here are the types of visitors you had better be prepared to deal with:

The "dial gypsy"—this guest wants baseball when a fight is on, wrestling instead of football, drama instead of sports—always vice versa.

The "furniture mover" — he comes in and immediately rearranges all the furniture on the excuse everybody will be able to see the screen better. He never puts the furniture back in the same place.

The "critic"—can be recognized by his shouts of "how about a little more light?" or "get that shadow," or "is that out of focus?"

The "gate crasher"—the uninvited guest who breezes in with a group of dressy strangers just as you've taken off your shirt and are sitting there in your socks.

"Engineer" Toughest

The "incurable Ham"—An exhibitionist who competes with the program on the screen. No matter how funny the show, he has to prove he's funnier.

The "standee"—can't be made to sit down. Always crosses in front of the screen just as the program reaches a climax.

The "hair arm-dweller"—invariably perches on the arm of the weakest chair, and guaranteed to break it during the telecast.

The "engineer"—toughest of all to cope with. Tries to rebuild the set in the middle of every program. Unfortunately, he rarely electrocutes himself—just wrecks the set.

Well, there they are—charming reasons why the proud new owner of a television set should answer each knock on his door with a baseball bat in his hands.

It's the only way to keep out video vipers.

Armed Force Morale Commission Set Up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—President Truman is setting up a new civilian commission to supervise "religious and morale welfare and character guidance" in the armed forces.

Announcing plans for the new group yesterday, Mr. Truman said in a statement:

"The spiritual and morale health of the armed forces is a vital element in our national security."

Using methods worked out at the Army's experimental universal military training unit at Ft. Knox, Ky., the advisory commission will coordinate morale programs of local communities and the military services. Its members will be named later.

Governor Warren Sets Pace In Republican Campaign By Calling For National Unity

BY BARNEY LIVINGSTONE
Associated Press Staff Writer

En Route With Warren To Pueblo, Colo., Sept. 17—The blueprint, for an election campaign geared to the "essential" preservation of national unity in a world "beset by fear" was laid before Republican voters today by Gov. Earl Warren, GOP vice presidential candidate.

It was the highlight of a campaign-opening speech at Salt Lake City last night before a Republican audience comfortably filling the auditorium of South High school.

Warren gave his audience little of old fashioned campaign oratory to cheer about.

Good In Both Parties

For the most part, it was a grave presentation of American political tradition and its potential in current world affairs.

He said the "main question" of 1948 was whether the Democratic administration was "displaying the unity, the competence and the leadership to warrant extending its tenure to 20 years."

Speaking over a national radio hookup, the nominee set the tone of his projected coast-to-coast tour with the politically unorthodox admission that "good Americans are to be found in both parties."

No party, Warren declared gravely, "has a patent on progress, a copyright on governmental principles, or a proprietary interest in the advances made in former days."

Under the traditional American two-party system, he said, America has achieved vigor and national unity.

Both must be maintained, he declared, in a time when "there is apprehension in every American home."

Totalitarianism Danger

The preservation of the two party system depends today upon political campaign free "from the prejudice of party, class or race," and unifying rather than dividing the American people, he told his listeners.

At this time, Warren said, totalitarianism is "still on the march under the trade name of 'cold war,'" and the American people "are living in a precarious world."

"The eyes of the world are upon us," he said.

Some in the world, he declared, hope the 1948 elections will not diminish America's stature in the world. Others hope for discord to disrupt the nation.

"What we do in this campaign will give satisfaction to one or the other of these groups, as it determines the future happiness of our own people."

It was not "unusual," he added, for "political parties of governmental administrations after long exercise of power to develop internal frictions . . . and become incapable of self criticism."

Dewey Experience Cited

The Republican party under the leadership of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican standard bearer, was on the other hand conditioned by 16 years of "apprenticeship" in state governments for assuming the job of leading the nation, he said.

"There is no left segment to splinter off," he said of the GOP. "There is no segment of the right to secede.

"The unity achieved within the Republican party can be used by its leaders to unite the nation in an all-out effort to solve the serious problems of the day . . .

"And this is of vital importance—Governor Dewey will have behind him a strong, united, progressive Republican party."

Warren made no mention of the warm Utah gubernatorial contest between Gov. Herbert B. Maw, the Democratic incumbent, and Republican nominee J. Bracken Lee.

Colorado Schedule Given

Both Lee and Sen. Arthur V. Watkins were on the platform with him, as was Rep. William A. Dawson of the second Utah district.

Today Warren's campaign special swings southward through Colorado to Pueblo, where he speaks tonight. Brief stops are on tap for Glenwood Springs, Minturn, Malta, Salida, Royal Gorge, and Canon City with platform talks scheduled at Malta, Salida and Canon City.

Warren will be met at Grand Junction (6:10 a. m. MST) by Rep. Robert Rockwell, former Gov. Ralph Carr, and Colorado national committeeman Leon H. Snyder.

A large contingent is to board the train at Glenwood Springs. Heading the group will be Sen. Eugene Milliken; Will F. Nicholson, opposing Sen. Edwin Johnson for the Senate this fall; and David Hamil, Republican candidate for governor.

Slaton

uation was $3,562,865 and the 1948 total may reach $4,000,000 when this year's tax roll is completed. With a tax rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation, Slaton has a remarkable number of city advantages. For example, its 158 blocks of street paving that total 9.6 miles in length give rise to the claim that Slaton has more paving than any other town of its size in West Texas.

A new street sweeper and packer-type garbage truck were recently purchased by Mayor L. B. Wootton and the city commissioners, J. B. Huckaby, O. N. Elkhorn, W. T. Brown and Howard Hoffman. Incidentally, Mr. Brown has to endure a lot of "ribbing" because he is the only Republican on the city commission.

Financed by a $55,000 bond issue, extensive water improvements have been completed and sewer extensions are in progress. Slaton has 1,225 water connections.

The city maintains a police force of on man on day duty, two at night.

According to records in the office of J. J. Maxey, city secretary, 30 permits for new residences have been granted since Jan. 1, and seven permits or business buildings with a declared total cost of $58,130 have been issued.

New School Being Built

Among the largest construction projects under way in Slaton currently is the new $240,000 elementary school building which will replace an older building.

Supt. of Schools P. L. Vardy evpresses great pride and enthusiasm when he speaks of the new building. It will help solve overcrowded conditions in Slaton schools, which have a total enrollment this term of 935 students.

The school system employs 34 white teachers and four colored teachers, operates two school buses and an athletic bus, and boasts a manual arts shop. The Slaton school district covers 64 square miles of southeast Lubbock county.

Roy S. Mack is president of the school board, Wayne Liles is secretary, B. B. Castleberry, W. T. Davis, Fred Stephens, Ray C. Ayers and T. C. Reynolds are members.

Hospital Facilities Available

Excellent hospital facilities are available in Slaton at the Sisters of Mercy hospital, built in the late 1920's at a cost of $225,000.

The hospital has a 60-bed capacity. The staff includes five Catholic sisters, five graduate nurses and five nurses' aides.

Nearby is Slaton's parochial school, St. Joseph's, where 96 children are enrolled in eight grades. Thomas D. O'Brien is superintendent.

A $20,000 community club house contains the Slaton unit of the county library and provides a community gathering place.

Feed Plant Busy

One of the largest industries in Slaton is the firm of Ray C. Ayers and Son, feed manufacturer and grain dealer.

Mr. Ayers is generally supposed to be the largest independent handler of milo maize in the United States. Asked if this is true, he replies that he is so busy looking after his own affairs that he hasn't had time to stop and figure it out.

At any rate, he is certainly one of the largest and his expensive plant in northeast Slaton adds extensively to Slaton's high annual payroll. In his office hangs a photostatic copy of a $45,000 check in payment for one grain transaction.

Many other firms in Slaton have built new buildings or additions, among them the Cudd Implement company, Slaton Gas Appliance company, Hestand-Kimbell Grocery company, Henzler Implement building and others.

With J. G. Meading as its manager, Slaton has a wide-awake and aggressive Chamber of Commerce, well supported by Slaton business institutions. The chamber of commerce, among other activities is operating a migratory labor camp just south of the city where as many 80 farm workers can find a stopping place.

Another active association is the Retail Merchants association, of which Mrs. Lee Green is manager.

Bank deposits at the Citizens State bank of Slaton at the close of business June 30 totaled $3,472,631. Officers of the bank are J. S. Edwards, president; H. T. Swanner, active vice president, C. F. Anderson and Bob Merrell, vice presidents and William R. Sewell, cashier. Directors are Anderson, Sewell, Swanner, Edwards, Merrell, Abe Kessel and B. G. Guinn.

The Mission of San Miguel, in Santa Fe, N.M., which was built in 1621, is considered the oldest mission church in the United States.

Our Policy on
PONTIAC
Deliveries and Prices

Despite the fact that Pontiac has built over a half-million cars since the resumption of production after the war, demand still exceeds supply. In the face of this production record, those who place orders now will still experience some delay in delivery. If you are among the many people who feel that Pontiac represents an outstanding value—and wish to order a Pontiac for future delivery—you will be interested in the following policy on retail distribution which we, as Pontiac dealers, will observe:

WE WANT YOUR ORDER
And the sooner you place it, the sooner you will get delivery. So if you want a Pontiac, order it now.

WE WILL ESTIMATE DELIVERY DATE
Due to conditions beyond our control, we cannot give you an exact date of delivery. But based on anticipated future shipments from the factory, we will, when you place your order, give you an honest estimate of when you may expect your car. Such estimates will be reviewed any time on request.

ORDERS FILLED BY PRIORITY
A definite proportion of the cars we receive from the factory is set aside for preferential delivery to users whose work is in the public welfare and to others with certain occupational requirements. Otherwise, all orders will be filled on the basis of the time when they are received.

YOU PAY ONLY OUR ADVERTISED PRICE
Due to changing economic conditions, we cannot, when you place your order, tell you exactly how much the car will cost when delivered in the future. But, at the time of delivery you will be charged only our advertised price on your model—which will be shown in a published list of local prices.

YOU SPECIFY ACCESSORIES
While most of our customers order their cars equipped with accessories, we do not force accessories as a condition of sale. You specify what accessories you want when ordering your car, and these are the ones (and the only ones) it will carry when delivered. Some items may be lacking due to current shortages; but none will be added.

REGARDING TRADE-INS
Naturally, if you have a car to trade, we would like to have it in order to take care of our regular used car customers. Our appraisals are fair, based on current conditions. But if you do not have a car to turn in, we still want your order and will accept it for delivery based on the conditions outlined above.

Since this is our "home town", our business and its future is based on our good relations with the people of this community. We are most happy that so many people here—as all over the country—have made Pontiac their number one choice as a new car.

Nothing pleases us more than to turn over the keys of a new Pontiac to one of the many people whose orders we have, because we know they have chosen well—for Pontiac is always a thoroughly good car, and a thoroughly good value, this year, next year, any year.

Executors Of Will Of Mrs. Patterson Deny Court Charge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS)—Executors of the will of Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, late publisher of The Washington Times-Herald, today denied charges made in an attack on the will by Countess Felicia Gizycka, Mrs. Patterson's daughter.

The executors denied Countess Gizycka's assertions that her mother was not "of sound mind," that the will was not properly witnessed and that "fraud," "deceit" and "coercion" had been used to obtain it. The answer was filed in U. S. district court.

The will, which disposed of an estate estimated at 16 and one-half million dollars, gave The Times-Herald, largest single property item, to seven of its executives. Miss Gizycka feceived personal property and real estate and an income of $25,000 a year.

The executors, William C. Shelton, Frank C. Waldrop and Joseph Brooks, said they are willing to have a jury trial on the issues raised by the daughter "at the earliest possible date."

Meanwhile, Countess Cizycka filed in U. S. district court a new petition asking that the court take charge of papers and effects of Charles B. Porter, former Times-Herald treasurer, who died in a plunge from a Clarksburg, W. Va., hotel window Tuesday.

She declared that at the time of his death Porter "was possessed of highly important written evidence", in connection with her mother's estate.

The Countess also said she had been informed that some of Porter's belongings "have been delivered to and removed by an agent or an employe of the proponents of the will of Eleanor Patterson."

Additional "important documents," she asserted, are in Porter's Washington apartment and "have been or are about to be" removed.

The daughter expressed a fear that "important and vital" evidence might be "lost or destroyed through ignorance of their importance and value" and asked that a collector be named by the court at once to take charge.

Signs Show Actress Coming Out Of Coma

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17 (AP)—Actress Rita Johnson, after 10 days, shows signs of coming out of her coma.

Dr. Lee Siegel said the actress was able to hear his words yesterday and attempted to respond when he asked her to raise her hand.

She was unable to talk, however and her condition remained critical. Miss Johnson suffered severe brain injuries when struck Sept. 6 in her apartment, apparently by a heavy hair drier.
